Widow Consoles Injured Child

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI)—Ebel Kennedy sent a black and white stuffed dog to the 3-year-old girl injured while watching the Kennedy funeral train.

Five agencies opened investigations into the accident. They were the Interstate Commerce Commission, the State Public Utilities Commission, the county prosecutor's office, Elizabeth police and the railroad.

Police said policemen at the scene warned spectators to stay off the tracks. They said one policeman blew his whistle as the train approached but he failed to clear the track.

get underway by June 25. Streets released today included:

Jordan from Lefors to Magnolia, Jordan from Magnolia to Doucette, Jordan from Doucette to Lowry, Jordan from Lowry to Powell, Jordan from Powell to Red Deer, Montagu from Faulkner to Hobart, Buckler from Hobart to Ward, Crocker from Faulkner to Banks.

The commission awarded several contracts for purchase of water meters and city vehicles. Hersey-Sparling Meter Co. of Massachusetts was low on water meters. Culbertson-Stowers Chevrolet was awarded contracts for three sedans for the police department, and a three-quarter ton and a 1/2-ton pickup for the park department.

Only one bid was received for the purchase of seven two-way radios and the commission held it up for two weeks pending further study.

The commission rejected the request of a property owner to accept ownership of property at the northwest corner of Wynne and Short Sts. City Manager Charles Hill told commissioners the property would be of no value to the city.

Approval was given to the Southwestern Public Service Company's proposed lighting plan for the improved portion of Alcock St. from Hobart to Rider St. It will consist of approximately 36 mercury vapor lights to be installed by SWPS on metal poles 110 feet apart.

The council approved a recommendation of the City Planning Board to rezone the East half of Lot 5 and Lots 6 through 24 in the East Fraser addition in view of deed restrictions that would restrict the property as follows:

1. Zoning restrictions to remain the same as semi-commercial except that packaged beer for off premises consumption may be sold; 2. That the city be given injunctive right; 3. All deed restrictions subject to approval of city attorney; and 4. That 50 percent of sales from establishment on the property must be other than beer.

The council also approved salary schedules for new employees and routine salary changes for (See PAVING, Page 3)

Rockets Rain Into City At Daybreak

SAIGON (UPI) — A handful of Viet Cong firing from suburban rice paddies rocked rush hour crowds today in their bloodiest barrage of Saigon sending thousands of civilians into screaming panic and killing or wounding a record 135 Vietnamese.

The shelling has intensified to the extent that bomb shelter builders have begun business in the capital. Today's barrage killed 19 civilians and wounded 116 others. The barrages have killed more in a single day but never claimed so high a toll of both dead and wounded.

The South Vietnam government announced shortly later that more Vietnamese civilians than allied troops were killed in Saigon fighting in May. The cost of urban warfare last month in Saigon included 443 civilians killed and 3,500 wounded. Another 161,000 were left homeless by the destruction of 10,500 houses.

From Congress
BOB PRICE SEN. DISTRICT, TEXAS
NEWSPAPER OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D.C. • 20534

Congress reacted quickly to the tragedy in Los Angeles. The Crime bill passed by the House last year and amended by the Senate was already scheduled for approval by the House when Senator Robert F. Kennedy was gunned down. Efforts by the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to send the bill to a House-Senate conference where it could be emasculated of the Senate amendments were decisively defeated. The next day, the House passed the bill by an overwhelming vote.

While there is a firearms section in the bill which I consider too stringent—shotguns and rifles are not included—the choice after the effort to send it to conference was a straight "yes" or "no" vote for the whole bill. The National Rifle Association, although recognizing the objectionable features in the firearms legislation, also recognized the need for a strong bill to help curb crime. NRA, under the circumstances did not object to adoption of the bill. Had the bill gone to conference, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee would undoubtedly have attempted to substitute much more restrictive gun controls than those actually in the Act. And there undoubtedly will be a renewed effort now for stricter firearms laws.

But in spite of the emotional outcries against firearms, those who demand more laws, overlook the most important factor in the whole crime problem—the laws we now have are not enforced. Congressman Tom Curtis of Missouri, a Republican who is running for the Senate, made a point of this on the House floor the day the crime bill was considered. "We do not need more laws," Curtis told House members. "We need enforcement of laws that are on the books. Our Committee on Ways and Means held hearings on this matter two years ago. We had the Attorney General of the United States come before us with examples of guns being sold across our borders to criminals. This is against these laws. I think 40 were sold by one operator in Maryland which were shipped to criminals in the District of Columbia. I asked the Attorney General then whether they had revoked the Federal license that this gun dealer in Maryland had. They had not done that. Had they carried out the law requiring this gun dealer to keep a list by name and address of those to whom he sold the guns? They did not check on that. Did they require these people to identify themselves so that they could not use fictitious names? They had not done that. They had done nothing. To this very day the Attorney General of the United States is not enforcing these laws, nor is the Department of the Treasury, which has a part of this jurisdiction for the enforcement of these laws, enforcing them."

Preceding Curtis, Rep. Paul C. Jones, also of Missouri and a Democrat was highly critical of the Attorney General and the need for law enforcement. He said, "I am referring particularly to the attitude of those in high places—in the executive, in the judicial, and in the legislative branches of our Government—where we apparently have been more interested in protecting and justifying the lawless actions of those who riot, kill, burn, steal, and rape than in protecting the innocent." The wave of fear that grips the nation's capital and other cities will not be dispelled by more study commissions but only by a return to law enforcement by all departments of the government. And this new direction must come from the White House before the nation degenerates into a complete state of anarchy. Continued tolerance of violence could spell the end of Democracy in America.

Cost Of New Heart Reported As 'High'

By DAVID WIESSLER
United Press International
Recipients often do not know about it, and hospitals do not like to talk about it. But the cost of a new heart is high.

In little more than six months, 20 heart transplant operations have been performed on every continent in the world except Australia.

The costs of most of the operations have not been released and many of the recipients and their families have not been notified how the operations are to be paid for. But what has been found is that each operation runs into the thousands of dollars.

The most expensive known operation occurred Jan. 6 in Palo Alto, Calif., when a team of surgeons headed by Dr. Norman Shumway put a new heart into the body of Mike Kasperak, 54, a steelworker from East Palo Alto.

Cost Nearly $29,000
The price on the new heart was $28,845.83. Most of this—$21,580—was paid for by medical insurance Kasperak carried as a member of the United Steel Workers of America. The balance was for 288 pints of blood. This was paid for by a number of persons, including Mrs. Kasperak's fellow workers at Ampex Corp., who donated pints.

Kasperak, the fourth person to receive a transplanted heart, died Jan. 21. The Model Clinic at the Buenos Aires suburb of Lanus estimated the cost of the heart transplant operation on Antonio Serrano at about $10,000, but said none of the cost was passed on to the patient.

Officials in Paris said the first heart transplant operation in Europe cost approximately $2,000, all but $2,000 of which was paid for by French Social Security. The hospital did not say who paid the other $2,000. In the nine-hour operation, the heart of Michel Gyppez, 23, was transplanted into the body of Clovis Roblain, 66. Roblain died 53½ hours later. Most of the hospitals refuse to discuss the price tag on such an operation.

The University of Sao Paulo Hospital in Sao Paulo, Brazil, would not comment on the cost in terms of hospital needs and surgery, but said the patient, Joao Ferreira da Cunha, did not have to pay any of it. Cunha received the heart of a 20-year-old man May 26 in the world's 17th and Latin America's first heart transplant operation.

Mum on Costs
The Medical College of Virginia also refused to release the cost of the May 25 operation on Joseph Kleet, 54, of Orange, Va., and said it probably would not be released in the near future.

Most of the patients and their families, who would normally be billed for medical expenses, never know the costs, possibly because such operations are still in the experimental stage. St. Luke's Hospital in Houston, the site of four heart transplants, would not reveal the costs and nobody has asked families of the recipients to pay.

The widow of James C. Cobb, 48, of Alexandria, La., said she has gone back to teaching in Alexandria's Brame Junior High School to support her family. But she said "nothing has been done" about payment of the Houston bill.

She said she expected to pay some of the costs but her husband had medical insurance. She said Dr. Denton Cobb, who performed the operation on Cobb May 5, told her he would contact her later about the bill, but so far has not done so.

U.S. POPULATION IMBALANCE FAVORS (?) WOMEN

Good news for finicky males of the nation: the number of adult women in the United States will continue to increase more rapidly than the number of adult men, according to Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. statistics. More and more women have been returning to the labor force after their children are settled in school or are old enough to be on their own. It is expected proportion of women aged 35-64 in the labor force will exceed 50 per cent in the 1970s.

Outlook Brighter For Farm Income

By BABSON STAFF
Based upon figures for the first quarter in 1968, farmers should enjoy a more profitable year in 1968 than they did last year. Although the total acreage of crop plantings has been slashed this spring, other factors should take up the slack and create a more prosperous year income-wise for the nation's farm population. Last year the record output of crops softened farm prices. The adverse price situation also was a factor in dropping the value of farm exports. As a result, farmers' cash receipts from farm marketings in 1967 eased off a bit from the preceding year, and with the continuing rise in operating costs realized net farm income tumbled sharply from the 1966 record.

ularly with respect to meat products. This is one factor helping to firm prices; but equally important is the anticipated improvement in the supply-demand ratio due to the restraint upon over-all crop output and a leveling off in total livestock output. However, the steady inflation of operating costs is likely to keep realized net farm income from rebounding to the 1966 peak. More than half of the increase in gross farm income may be absorbed by advances in the costs of wages, taxes, and production and interest expense. Nevertheless, the outlook for gains in both gross and realized farm incomes should be beneficial to sentiment in farm regions, and may revitalize farm equipment sales.

Prospects favor a rise to a new peak level in gross farm income in 1968. This should enable the realized net to rebound to near-record proportion. Firmer prices, increased consumption of farm products, a higher level of exports of agricultural products, and a rise in subsidy payments from the government constitute favorable aspects to the 1968 farm income picture. The rapid advance in consumer buying power — due to the steady uptrend in personal income — is raising domestic demand for farm products and upgrading their quality, partic-

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "I think it's high time we recognize that we no longer are Dodge City."
This reference to the romanticized frontier town and its gunslings was made by a dean of theology at a California college after last week's shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy.
But a close look at the new schedules and future plans of network television indicates that, unless sharp changes now come about, an increase in violence is in store for video watchers.
To begin with, consider television's most popular commodity—movies. The supply of old ones is growing short, and NBC-TV has led the way in presenting new two-hour films as filler.
The films have been greatly successful in the ratings, and this means there will be many more. But the fact is that, unlike the older movies—a mixture of adventure, romance, comedy and drama—the new ones are essentially action epics.
Aim At Ratings
Made specifically for television, they try to hit hard with the elements that are proven ratings-getters, and this means a kinship with a steady diet of violence, or suggestion of it.
Take, for example, this coming Saturday's scheduled NBC-TV rerun of one of these two-hour made-for-television stories — "Prescription: Murder," about a doctor who plans to kill his wife.
Another network, ABC-TV, also seeking movie filler, has like "The Virginian" and "The announced plans for a series of 90-minute, so-called motion pictures. Like NBC-TV's two-hour products, these can also be depended on to be, in the main, elongated television melodramas, and there is no doubt the emphasis again will be on "action" to use the euphemism.
There isn't any evil plot in all this. It's just that superior comedy and drama, and even top flight adventure tales, take more time to turn out than easy action-violence, which is ground out like so much sausage. And there are executives who would like to do something better—but ratings are the name of the game, and everybody would have to cooperate, and you'll, and there are all those cushy salaries to protect and mortgages to pay and cars to buy and new fashions to show off at discotheque parties for charity.
Time For Action
You begin to wonder if, and when, some truly big men will step forward in the video industry and say: we simply have to do something, and now. Its not enough to fidget until another assassination.
There is increasing violence too in the early prime time hours that used to be reserved for children. Advertisers seeking sales sought shows that would reach adult buyers, we now have in the very early evening hours such series as "The Avengers," "The Saint," "The Prisoner," "Gunsmoke" and tonight's news NBC-TV entry, "The Champions."
And when fall rolls around, we will have even more additions, such as the western "Lancer" and "Mod Squad," not to mention continuing shows like "The Virginian" and "The Wild, Wild West."

"Let's start a 'Rich People's March!'"

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen this problem in print before, but you have no idea how much it means to those of us who are faced with it.

My husband thinks his car is a plaything. It is unbelievable how immature he becomes when he gets behind the wheel.

For example, he'll pick out a car on the road, and try to "race" with it. Or he'll drive with no hands on the wheel, and steer with his KNEES. Or if he sees a pedestrian slowly crossing the street, he'll speed up and aim his car right at him, to scare him. He also tries to frighten other drivers by seeing how close he can come to them without actually hitting them.

Believe me, we have had some pretty close calls.

He does these things with our four impressionable youngsters in the car, and they seem to enjoy it. If I say one word to him, he flies into a rage, so I don't dare to open my mouth. What should I do?

"anonymous" complaints. Of course they can't touch him until they catch him breaking the law, but if he drives as you say he does, they'll soon nab him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a very nice girl (I thought) for about 6 months. About a week ago I asked her to marry me. She said she couldn't give me a definite answer until I talked to her father.

Well, I made arrangements to talk to her father and this is what happened. He took me into another room and closed the door. He didn't pull any punches. He asked me how much money I made, how much I had saved, how much insurance I had, and what I owned. I told him. The whole thing didn't take 5 minutes. Then he told me I wasn't meant for his daughter, and he showed me the door. On my way out, I passed by my "nice" girl, and she didn't say a word. She just gave me a blank look. I have thought this over and I am wondering now if maybe I wasn't lucky to have it happen this way. Signed,

STILL WONDERING

DEAR STILL: No doubt about it. Everyone was lucky.

DEAR ABBY: In regards to the mother who came home early one Sunday afternoon and caught her teen-age son and the young Scandinavian maid "fla-grante delicto".

You advised the mother to tell the boy about the birds and the bees. It would appear that the maid has already done that.

If the mother "cans" the maid, I would like to hire her. I love Scandinavian cooking.

Summer Pattern Sizes Sound Flattering

By JOANNE SCHREIBER Starting to pick your patterns for summer sewing? Check pattern sizes carefully. You just might find that you now require a small size!

All pattern companies are shifting to new sizing standards. These have been developed and approved by the industry-wide Measurement Standard Committee in a move to bring pattern sizes closer to ready-to-wear sizes.

During the changeover period both old and new pattern sizes will be represented in the pattern books. The new patterns, in the new sizes, will be clearly marked by special symbols. They will be accompanied by the new sizing charts. Very likely, you will take the same size in a new pattern as you do in ready-to-wear. Chances are it will be a size smaller than your former pattern size.

How will you determine your new size? Here are suggestions from a sewing company: First determine your basic figure type within the following general categories: junior for small, slim, high-waisted figure types; misses for average figures, women's for larger taller figures, and half sizes for shorter, fuller figures.

Then take your measurements: bust over the fullest part, waist at the natural line, and hips, about seven inches below the waist. Very important is the back-of-neck to waist length — take that by tying a cord around your natural waistline, and measuring from the prominent vertebra at the back of the neck down to the cord.

Check your measurements against the new size chart and select your pattern size by bust measurement. The woman who took a size 20 may be thrilled to find that she takes a size 18 in the new size range. Bust and hip measurements are the same and the waist is an inch smaller. The old size 14 is nearer the new 12.

Size Chart

Remember, too, that the sizes of the pattern pieces are larger than the corresponding body measurements to allow for ease. A woman with a 36-inch bust, ordering a new-pattern-sized 14 pattern according to the 36-inch chart listing, will find that the pattern piece is cut to allow the ease — she doesn't have to allow for it when ordering.

There will be no changes in the men's and boys' sizes and the small changes in the children's sizes will not require new charts.

A new shift pattern today is while doing your housework.

one of the first in the new size range and is offered with the exclusive new photo-guide to show at a range how the pieces fit together. This snappy little shift, with modified mandarin collar and high yoke seaming, may be made with short or three-quarter sleeves. It's interpreted in daffodil-yellow low bonded wool jersey, an ideal choice for late spring and early summer. The lightweight, porous wool fiber is comfortable in all temperatures. The bonded backing simplifies sewing, for it eliminates the need for a separate lining and stabilizes the fabric.

Miss Kay Abraham Named as Honoree For Area Brunch

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Malouf Abraham was hostess recently at a brunch honoring her niece, Miss Kay Abraham. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bill Ed Abraham and Mrs. Malouf Abraham, Jr.

Colorful for Toddlers

Spring and summer fashions for toddlers are cuter and more colorful than ever, with emphasis on flowered prints for girls and vertical stripes for boys. They are also easier to keep smooth and spotless because many styles are made of durable press fabrics now treated with a soil-release finish. This means that most common juvenile stains will come out during ordinary laundering in soap or detergent suds. Mothers, check labels for these extra service features before buying.

House dresses should be well-cut, well-made and easy to launder. They should fit loosely so that you can move easily while doing your housework.

The new Spring and Summer edition of Basic Fashion shows additional styles in the new size ranges, as well as information on sewing with knits. Get a start on summer sewing for yourself and your daughters—the new issue is only 50 cents. It contains dozens of summer styles, each with the new Patt-O-Rama Sewing Guide.

NIGHT AND DAY — For HomeFair touring by day or night: the cotton costume as a swirling black and white print. The short-sleeved jacket covers a sleeveless dress with white bodice and bowed belt.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

(FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12) GENERAL TENDENCIES: Group activities of a materialistic nature or where persons of real prestige are concerned are excellent for you today and tonight. Contact the most influential officials or heads of corporations and companies and let them know what you have in mind of a very matter-of-fact, mundane or practical nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Be clever in stating to bigwig what you most desire and you find that he gives you a real boost. Stop trying to argue with a higher-up. Simply come out with your ideas in a very frank and soft-voiced way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Listening with both ears to what an expert suggests can be helpful in making new arrangements. But are modern and worthwhile. Plan that little trip now for whatever your purpose. Get together with whoever is going to accompany you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Stop putting your time away and get busy discharging the responsibilities that are exclusively your own. The evening is then good for making real time with heart. Don't let your favor fair be expressed.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) — You have plenty of spare time today — live it up a bit. You have the ability to be very amusing — delight your buddies. Avoid anyone who isn't really interested in you, gives you the wittles.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You just have to get busy during the work necessary at home if you are to start uptrend you desire. Now is the time to get rid of that annoying situation, etc. that has been keeping you down. Be your swiftest best.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Call those individuals with whom you want to enjoy some hobby. You need to get out of the house some time, get an early start. Stop being so stiff and let your hair down somewhat. Get into the swing of things.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — No better day than this for that extra shopping looking up old buddies and making new ones, some bookkeeping, etc. Making sure those statements are made out promptly is very important. Do write that letter to one you love.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Be a more thoughtful associate and consult with the others before you make some important move. Please them. And if they have something planned, get in on it with alacrity and efficiency.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are appreciative of the finer things of life almost more than any other sign so be alert to better ways to making more money. That clever business person you know can give you a cooling idea. Accept it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — It's all right to follow your inclinations today, but be sure these are on the practical side and on a bigger scale than heretofore. You can contact fine business people at social affairs. Do so.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You just have to get those business affairs thoroughly straightened out if you want to advance even if dull. Show others your business qualities. Don't be so busy you can't see how others are suffering.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Really show others that you are a good party entertainer, giving them a hand where it is most needed. Add new ones to present roster. Join some club that is to your liking, where you fit in naturally.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, . . . he or she, will be one of those forever young people, who early in life, will always be focusing upon one very thing that will bring in the most money. The field of business is best here, especially where new ideas are needed. However, teach early to complete one thing before going on to another. Teach ethics.

Arrest Of Ray Ended Manhunt Of The Century

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Royal Canadian Mounted Police turned up a fraudulent passport and, in London, Scotland Yard got their man: James Earl Ray, the suspected assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The arrest of Ray ended the manhunt of the century. The following report, compiled by UPI correspondent John G. Warner, details how Ray was tracked down. It is based on reports from (UPI) correspondents in London, Montreal, Lisbon, Washington, Memphis and Atlanta.)

By JOHN G. WARNER
United Press International
British European Airways Flight 075 from Lisbon rolled up to the cavernous international terminal at London's Heathrow Airport, the whine of its triple jets dying abruptly, and disgorged its 96 passengers.

Most of them, British businessmen and tourists returning from the continent, grudgingly got off the plane and joined lines for customs and passport checks.

One of the passengers, a slight, dark-haired man with hornrimmed glasses and an odd protruding left ear, turned away and strode toward the transit lounge, where travelers could wait between flights. Nervously, he reached up and tugged at his ear. High light raincoat flapped against his legs, hiding the bulge of the pistol in his pocket.

It was 7:50 a.m., in London. The leaden skies and chill air would soon give way to warm and welcome sunshine.

It was 2:50 a.m., in New York, a city steeped in grief for Robert F. Kennedy. The United States was in mourning, stunned by an assassin's bullet for the second time in four and a half years.

Beginning of Trail
It was 1:50 at Memphis, Tenn., where wilted wreaths and a marble plaque mark Room 306 at the Lorraine Hotel. It was there, on April 4, that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain, and the massive manhunt for his killer was all but forgotten in the fresh grief of Kennedy's death.

As the passenger from Lisbon hurried toward the transient lounge a burly man with an official air stepped beside him, gently took his arm, and asked him to step into a nearby office. Inquiries, he explained, needed to be made.

Around the vast terminal, dozens of men watched tensely. Hundreds more noticed nothing. Calmly, the passenger from Lisbon allowed himself to be steered into the office, ending the greatest manhunt of the century.

Eight hours later, as six cardinals, 18 bishops and 200 priests were celebrating Requiem Mass for Robert Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark in Washington announced the arrest of the man accused of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

James Earl Ray, the small-time, Midwestern thug charged in Memphis with King's murder, was whisked from Heathrow Airport to the 19th century Cannon Row Police Station by Chief Supt. Thomas Butler, head of Scotland Yard's flying squad.

He was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, obtaining a Canadian passport by fraudulent means, and warned that anything he said might be used against him.

His arrest, the result of a dozen Canadian mounties spending 15 nights rummaging through passports, answered some of the questions of how James Earl Ray disappeared. But the man still is shrouded in mystery.

Possible Hired Killer
Despite Atty. Gen. Clark's technical statement that King's killer acted alone, most investigators believe the assassination was hired, and the killer's escape carefully arranged.

Ray, it was revealed, arrived in Montreal on April 8, four days after King died. He left there on May 6, bearing a shiny new passport issued in the name of Ramon George Sneyd.

Ramon George Sneyd is a Toronto policeman. But Ray apparently produced a fake birth certificate, showing that he was Sneyd, and listing Sneyd's actual parents. Policeman Sneyd, his superiors say, never heard of James Earl Ray outside the investigation. Neither did Eric S. Galt, who lives about two miles from Sneyd in the Toronto suburb of Scarborough. But it was under the name of Eric Starvo Galt, the FBI says, that Ray purchased in Birmingham, Ala., the .3006 rifle that killed King.

The simplest explanation authorities think, is that someone in Canada is adapting identities for sale to persons who want to make use of the nation's loose passport laws.

Ray—traveling as Galt—visited Canada at least once before King was killed. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police revealed that he appeared in Montreal in September 1967, and spent six weeks there.

Ray turned up in Toronto in April—four days after King was killed—and rented a room under the name of Paul Bridgeman. Not surprisingly, a man named Paul Bridgeman lives not far from Constable Sneyd and his neighbor, Eric S. Galt.

He purchased, for $345, a plane ticket from Toronto to London through the Kennedy Travel Bureau. The agency handled all the details—including mailing his two fuzzy photographs and his faked birth certificate to Ottawa to get his passport in the name of Sneyd.

Ray departed Toronto on May 6 and, on May 8, he appeared in Lisbon, Portugal.

He took a $2.10 a day room in the Hotel Portugal and, according to the clerk there, "behaved like a rich tourist, spending the nights in night clubs and coming back late, sometimes at six in the morning."

On May 17 he left Lisbon and his movements from May 17 until his arrest Saturday have not been revealed—although he evidently spent the week before his arrest in London.

A London reporter said a man who identified himself as George Sneyd, called him several times wanting to know how he could become a soldier of fortune in Angola. The reporter said he gave him an address in Brussels.

The alert for Ramon George Sneyd was issued last week. It came after a dozen Mounties launched a massive search through the more than 200,000 Canadian passports issued since Ray's September visit to Montreal.

They worked only at night and on weekends—keeping their search secret even from employees of the passport department. They set aside every passport bearing a picture that remotely resembled the FBI photographs of Ray. One of those was of Sneyd, and when it proved to be fraudulent, the FBI, Scotland Yard and Lisbon police were alerted.

Memphis greeted his arrest with considerable joy, officially. Witnesses, however, seemed reticent.

Mrs. Bessie Brewer, who soared to brief fame when police determined the assassin fired the fatal shot out of her bathroom window of her flop-house, was hesitant.

"I don't know if I'll have to testify," she said, "I never could recognize him. I haven't heard anything about it in a long time. I've been so busy I haven't paid any attention."

Few Negroes believe that King's assassination was planned and carried out by only one man. The FBI, in its warrant, said Ray conspired with a man he claimed to be his brother in the killing.

Ray's actual brother, no suspect in the crime, believes that if James Earl killed King, he was well paid to do it.

A man who served time with him in the Missouri State Prison said another convict told him that a "million-dollar contract" was out for King's death. Ray, the convict said, replied that if he ever got out of prison he would pick up that contract.

From the way Ray appears in public reckoning of the FBI—in 1967—he was dashing about the country with reckless abandon, putting 19,000 miles on his now-famous white Mustang. He was spending considerable amounts of money, and there is no indication where the money came from. Nor is there any indication where the money came he apparently spent so lavishly in Europe—although he left the Hotel Portugal without tipping the chambermaid.

A resident of Memphis, learning of Ray's arrest, said that "Now we'll find out what was behind it." But Ray's convict buddy recalled his taciturn nature and ventured the opinion that "If anybody was in it with him, he'll take the secret to his grave."

LIBYA'S KING Idris I visited Zueituna recently to commemorate opening of a new oil terminal designed to handle oil at the rate of 10 million tons a year.

National League Hurriers May Break Longtime Mark

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
A 1-0 game used to be a rarity but now it's just routine. Symbolizing the predominance of pitching that has plagued baseball recently is the epidemic of 1-0 games—and there isn't much action for the fans when just one run is scored in a game.

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets and Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers hooked up in the 18th 1-0 game in the National League this season Monday night. It went 10 innings and Seaver and the Mets got the victory.
As recently as 1956, there were only five 1-0 games all season in the NL. Now the league has a good chance to break the record of 43 set in 1907 in the "dead-ball era."

Nicklaus, Casper Favored In Open

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper, who have had widely varying degrees of success this year, must rate as the men to beat in the U.S. Open that starts Thursday—but no one any longer discounts the impressive "new breed" of golfers.
Nicklaus has several things going for him despite the fact that he has not won a tournament this year and is 21st on the money-winning list. He is the defending champion, for one thing, and the 6,932-yard tree-infested Oak Hill Country Club course is similar to Baltusrol where last year Big Jack fixed a record 275 in winning the 1967 Open.
Nicklaus usually gets off to a slow start and generally plays best in the big ones. The Oak Hills course also demands a good second shot and errorless putting. That's Nicklaus all over, since his booming tee shots often leave his good lie.
Casper, who has won three tournaments and is by far the No. 1 money-winner with $100,000 already this year, may not fit the mold in his putting but has near perfect approaches which make him a constant threat at Oak Hill.
Arnold Palmer cannot be discounted despite a bad hip. He has finished second the last four years and he'll be tough as usual. Then there's Tom Weiskopf, the dean of the "new breed" who many consider Palmer's successor as the new gallery god. Cowboy George Archer, with his steadily improving game, PGA champion Don January and eversteady Gary Player appear to have a good shot at the demanding course and a tournament that has more built-in pressure than any other.

But, new names are on the horizon—and not just as first day leaders who disappear as pressure mounts. One of these could be Bobby Lynn, relatively unknown a few weeks ago but now has put together back-to-back victories in the Memphis Open and Atlanta Classic. With that impetus he could be relaxed enough to make a real run for it.
Leo Trevino, virtually unknown outside El Paso until he surged into prominence in last year's Open, is playing well and could be a factor. Mary Fleckman, an amateur, led everybody after the third round last year, only to fold on the final 18. Now a "seasoned" pro, he could be in contention if he can control his booming drives.
Whoever wins will have to have more than his quota of stamina and nerves of steel. Oak Hill, usual Open pressure notwithstanding is a tough course—one with a remarkable variety of tests for the golfer and one which saves its best for last. The final three holes probably will decide the issue. All are well over 400 yards, play to par fours and are laced generously with trees and bunkers.
The 16th is a straightaway hole, 441 yards from tee to cup with menacing trees on both sides. On No. 17, there is a good swing to the right, stretching 463 yards and again runs between trees. Two front bunkers yawn ominously on either side of a skinny approach to the green. And, the 18th boasts a right-hand swing, goes 449 yards and requires a bold tee shot to jump a bunker in the crook of the bend about 250 yards from the tee.

BULLETIN
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay Monday lost his appeal for a rehearing of his conviction for refusing induction into the armed forces before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Red Schoendienst, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is smiling now that his team is again perched on top of the National League standings.

Churchwoman Puts Churches On Spot

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Fermont yes, lawlessness no!
This in essence sums up the views of one of America's leading churchwomen as she ponders today's violence.
"The cauldron bubbles, the ferment is healthy, it is necessary if things are to settle. But all of us must be greatly concerned with a mental attitude that says the way to overcome an obstacle is to shoot somebody. Civilization learned a long time ago that you can't solve a problem by anarchy or the gun."
"Lawlessness, violence cannot be countenanced by either whites or Negroes."
The words are those of Mrs. Stuart E. Sinclair, of Greenfield, Mass., the 1968 churchwoman of the year of the Religious Heritage of America, Inc. (RHA). She is one of the few women on the executive committee of the National Council of Churches.
Edna Sinclair puts the church right on the spot.
"We must have the conviction that we can't keep some of our people down," she said, in an interview. "We in the church have not looked at the causes of apathy in our country. I'm afraid some of our people don't want to... there's a rigidity against change."

"But we have the responsibility to human beings."
In truth, Mrs. Sinclair, challenges church membership. "It is a fearful thing," she said, "when we don't trust our own leadership."
Mrs. Sinclair calls on all in religion, Christian and Jew alike, and no matter what denomination in the church, to help the disadvantaged including "the 10 million who are hungry."
"We are in deadly crisis and there must be strong will to change America."
Mrs. Sinclair and other church and lay leaders were cited during RHA's national leadership conference in Washington, D.C. RHA is a nonprofit, nonsectarian organization to foster renewal of religious values and redemption.
