Fortas Given Committee Approval For Court Post

Appointment Is Sent To Floor Of Senate

By RAY MCGHEE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The controversial nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice was approved, 10 to 6, today by the Senate Judiciary Committee and sent to the floor. But its fate was uncertain because of a threatened filibuster. After nearly three months of wrangling, the committee cleared the nomination of Fortas, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court and the first Jew ever proposed for the nation's top judicial post.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats teamed to raise objections to the nomination ranging from legal philosophy to presidential cronyism. These senators vowed to keep the Senate from voting on the nomination through the parliamentary device of "extended debate" or filibuster. The opposition to the Fortas nomination could lock the Senate in a drawn-out talkathon in the waning days of the 90th Congress and the Johnson administration.

Among those opposing confirmation of Fortas is Sen James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee. In announcing the committee reported the nomination favorably to the floor, Eastland at the same time predicted the Senate would not approve it.

Fortas has been a personal friend and adviser to Johnson since the New Deal days. Fortas admittedly kept up the relationship after Johnson named him to the Supreme Court in 1965. Critics contend this was in violation of the Constitution's doctrine of separation of powers.

Other objections leveled against the nomination include Fortas' opinions as an associate justice on obscenity, civil liberties, and communist subversion cases; his extra-judicial activities, such as accepting fees from funds raised by former legal clients to conduct a law school seminar, and the method by which Johnson arranged for Chief Justice Earl Warren to announce his retirement and for Fortas to succeed him.

The President also nominated another personal friend, U.S. Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry, to replace Fortas as an associate justice on the high court. The Judiciary Committee will not act on the Thornberry nomination unless the Senate confirms Fortas. It has been a virtual certainty for weeks that a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats would filibuster against form that includes a strong law and order plank. Agnew's talk was scheduled for 10:45 a.m. The convention starts at 9 a.m. in the Hotel Texas. Agnew and his wife arrived Monday night. As the Agnews entered their hotel to a chant of "We want Agnew," the candidate said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A meeting between the head of the striking teachers union and the city's superintendent of schools ended in stalemate early today, crushing hopes for an early end to the walkout which has idled most of the city's 900 public schools.

The strike, now in its fifth day, has kept most of the 1.12 million students in the nation's largest school system on an extended summer holiday.

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Public Safety Commission today announced the appointment of Wilson E. "Pat" Speir as permanent director of the Department of Public Safety.

Nigeria Says War Near End

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Nigeria said rebel Biafran forces clung to one town and one airfield today, and added the end of the 15-month civil war was near.

Federal forces Monday announced the capture of Owerri "this morning," leaving only Umuahia in the hands of secessionist Biafran forces. The announcement said the seizure of Owerri "might signal the end of the rebellion."

Nigeria said its troops are taking care of the civilian population. This apparently meant it was feeding starving refugees who reportedly are dying at 6,000 a day in rebel-held territory. Federal troops have blockaded major relief attempts.

The Nigerian 3rd Marine commandos began their drive toward Owerri after capturing Oguta, 15 miles to the north. Approaching Owerri from the north and south, federal soldiers said resistance was "strong." However, the fighting stopped when the federal troops swept into the city. Reports reaching Lagos said both sides suffered heavy casualties.

The Nigerian announcement also disclosed the capture during the weekend of the rebel airstrip at Uli-Ihiali, which the International Red Cross had been using to fly food and medicine to thousands of starving Biafran war refugees. At Umuahia, the last rebel stronghold, construction was reportedly underway on an airstrip to be used as an escape for Biafran leaders when federal troops close in.

Demos Schedule Political Rally Here October 15

A political rally featuring the top of the Democratic ticket in this fall's general election is scheduled here October 15th.

Preston Smith, candidate for governor; Ben Barnes, Lieutenant Governor nominee; and Dick Brown, 18th District Congressional candidate, will be on hand for the rally which will have the slogan, "Demos Rate in '68."

The rally will be held in the Pampa Youth and Community Center and is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 p.m. State Legislator Ralph Wayne of Plainview will serve as emcee for the affair.

Local Democrats said today that the rally is being announced at the party's state convention in Austin and that all local and area Democratic Party candidates are being invited and are expected to attend.

The shift in power did not bode well for Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey. Smith has pledged to "support the ticket," but he has avoided personal identification with Humphrey and has not worked for him.

Portugal's Premier At Brink Of Death

By EDOUARD KHAVESSIAN
LISBON (UPI) — Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, 70, who has ruled Portugal with an iron hand for 36 years, hovered on the brink of death today. Doctors said he appeared to rally slightly from a deep coma brought on by a stroke Monday but was still critical.

He was placed in a breathing apparatus and doctors performed a tracheotomy to open his throat and ease his breathing, an indication his breathing functions might be impaired or paralyzed. Salazar's surgeon, Dr. Vasconcelos Marques, said Salazar had shown some slight signs of improvement but did not describe them.

Other medical sources said he showed some signs of lucidity today when he was visited by Donha Marinha de Jesus, the woman who has been his housekeeper for half a century.

She left his bedside in convulsive sobs. The medical sources said Salazar pressed her hands and looked at her. Despite these reassuring words, Portuguese in all walks of life waited anxiously for the next medical bulletin. They also speculated on a successor should Salazar die or be incapacitated by the stroke. Police and Republican Guards were said to have taken "adequate measures" to cope with any emergency, but the atmosphere in Lisbon appeared calm.

Diplomatic sources said one of the doctors who attended former President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he suffered his heart attacks was flying to Lisbon today to treat Salazar. They said the U.S. Embassy offered the services of the doctor and Portugal accepted. The American surgeon was not identified in Lisbon.

Chrysler First To Announce Price Boost

By DAVID W. CHUTE
DETROIT (UPI) — Once again, Chrysler Corp. has taken the first, chilly plunge and marked up prices for its 1969 models.

But the leap was a bit more conservative this year. The third-largest of the "big four" automakers Monday announced average price increases of $84 per car, less than two-thirds of the $133 jump it initially announced for 1968 models last year.

The year's increase was promptly labeled a "dangerous inflationary threat" by the Johnson administration's watchdog Committee on Price Stability. "If it becomes the pattern for the industry, it would cost the American consumer $750 million. The Chrysler action is clearly not in the national interest," the committee said. John J. Riccardo, Chrysler group vice president, U.S. and (See CHRYSLER, Page 3)

N. Viets In Surprise Attacks Near DMZ

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops in two surprise attacks killed 25 U.S. Marines and wounded 126 near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) Monday and routed an entire South Vietnamese Ranger battalion which fled for its life near Da Nang early today.

U.S. advisers with the South Vietnamese said there was mass confusion in the dark and that they also had to flee through rice paddies and rivers in the confused action which killed 27 South Vietnamese. Another 200 men in the battalion were reported missing. The advisers said the battalion had begun to move to a new position 10 miles south of Da Nang when it was hit with rockets and a ground attack in the early morning darkness. The Communists charged with grenades and the South Vietnamese broke and ran.

The North Vietnamese used the same tactics against the U.S. Marines on a ridgeline four miles south of the Demilitarized Zone—a heavy mortar attack followed by a ground assault. The Marines held and killed 27 of the North Vietnamese, driving them off.

An American adviser with the South Vietnamese, one of four attached to the unit, said the South Vietnamese had killed more than 200 North Vietnames in battles during the past few days but buckled under the surprise attack.

"We started out after dark to move across a field and then they hit us with rockets and the whole operation fell apart," a U.S. survivor said. "The South Vietnamese wouldn't move during the day and when they tried moving after dark they got completely messed up."

Under a hail of rocket fire two squads of Communists charged through the South Vietnamese positions throwing grenades. The allied troops scattered in every direction and the Ranger command post was overrun and radio communications were knocked out.

The four Americans fled into a field, swam across a river where one of them nearly drowned and then crawled to a sister unit, the 21st Ranger Battalion.

The North Vietnamese attack on the U.S. Marine outpost was preceded by a mortar barrage that was more costly than any single attack during the siege of nearby Khe Sanh.

The Marines were sunbathing, writing letters home and playing cards when the first shells of a five-hour barrage fell. The Communists followed up the 200-round barrage with a ground attack, but the Marines rallied and drove them back, killing 27 North Vietnamese.

The Marine force on a hilltop four miles below the DMZ and about midway between the sea and the mountains were part of a force stationed in the North to block North Vietnamese infiltration. The whole I Corps—the five northern provinces—showed signs of erupting again.

U.S. B52 bombers pounded the Demilitarized Zone where a Marine tank force struck last week against massed North Vietnamese troops and bombed gun positions just across the border in North Vietnam in one of their rare forays across the DMZ.

The attack on the Marine outpost was the only success reported by the Communists in a day of setbacks that saw attempted ambushes backfire with heavy loss of Viet Cong life and allied troops generally successful in fights ranging from the DMZ to the Saigon area.

A U.S. Marine patrol a few miles east of the attacked outpost fought 40 Communists holed up in bunkers and killed 27 at a cost of seven Leathernecks wounded. The Marines captured a munition cache that included 1,800 grenades and mortar rounds, 465 mines, 110 cases of ammunition and 240 pounds of (See N. VIETS, Page 3)

Chrysler

(Continued From Page 1) Canadian automotive, said the '69 price rise averaged about 2.9 per cent. The new prices do not include the cost of head restraints which become a safety requirement for all cars built after Jan. 1, 1969.

The head restraints will be a $25 option on Chrysler cars until the new year when the cost will be automatically added to the $84 increase.

Presumably, pressure from the federal government was one factor in keeping the increase relatively small. Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., last week claimed that automakers reportedly were planning a $200-per-car boost.

Magnuson urged the President's Council of Economic Advisers to investigate car pricing policies.

Another factor was Chrysler's embarrassment last year when it was forced to roll back its $133 hike to keep pace with General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co.'s smaller increases.

Besides the jump in base price and the charge for optional equipment, there is a hidden increase in the '69 Chrysler because of changes in the new car warranty program.

It sliced the basic warranty coverage on most parts of the car to 12 months or 12,000 miles from 24 months or 24,000 miles.

A further hitch is that the new warranty is not transferrable. In 1968, the 24-24 portion of the warranty could be used by the car's second owner.

Three To Attend Austin Session

The three-day conference will deal with arrests, convictions, evidence and other problems faced by county and district officials.

Quality Control Group Schedules Thursday Meet

AMARILLO — The Amarillo SubSection of the American Society for Quality Control will meet on Thursday, at the Amarillo Bowl, 4100 Wolf in Amarillo.

R. L. Sanders, senior sales engineer for the Taylor Instrument Co., will be guest speaker. He will talk on "Quality Aspects of Instrument Manufacture."

The meeting will be preceded by a social hour at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

JC's Honor Johnson At Meeting

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce today honored senior end Jay Johnson as "Hustling Harvester of the Week" at their meeting in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Johnson scored the Green and Gold's first touchdown of the new season when he caught a pass from quarterback Ross Holman in the third period of last Friday night's game at Hereford. The Harvesters won the game, 12-6.

Johnson, who weighs 186 lbs. and is a senior, is a returning letterman.

A certificate was awarded to Johnson by the club for his play in the opening game of the season, according to Alvin Sharp, youth and sports activities chairman for the club. Pampa High School head coach and athletic director "Suede" Lee introduced Johnson to the club.

KC Members Attend Meet In Borger

Seven members of Pampa's Frank Knight Council No. 2767, of the Knights of Columbus, attended the organization's district meeting last Sunday at St. John's School in Borger.

They were Grand Knight Chuck Albus, Trustee Joe Dick, Outside Guard Jim Keough, Inside Guard Hubert Johnson, General Program Chairman Huey Prater, Membership and Design for '69 Chairman Jules Fontenot and Fraternal Activity Chairman Don Warminski.

District No. 45 deputy Max Meyers of Borger presided over the meeting in which discussions were held on how each council program ties in with the State and Supreme Council goals.

Rev. B. A. Erpen, chaplain of the Borger Council, opened the meeting with a prayer.

Smith

Smith's choice for party chairman, D. E. C. Baum of Austin, has said he would support the national ticket but would concentrate his efforts on getting Smith elected.

Smith opened convention activities at a "victory dinner" Monday night, asking for unity within the state party.

"I will bend over backwards in attempting to promote fairness, to give all sides a fair hearing and a fair chance for the success of their interests," he said.

GOP's Optimistic — Smith said "The Republicans are very optimistic this fall, but they have about as much chance of winning the Texas governor's race as Chicago has of getting the 1972 Democratic convention."

At platform hearings Monday, Smith asked that the platform be based primarily on results of questionnaires he sent to delegates.

He said his poll showed "law enforcement" was the major issue on delegates' minds, with majorities favoring stronger efforts against riots and demonstrations, narcotics sales, drunk driving and liquor law violations.

Smith said the platform should be a composite of the poll results, his own views, and the views of the platform committee.

U.S. infantrymen killed another 135 Communists in four clashes near the Cambodian border and northwest of Saigon. In two of the actions the Viet Cong attempted to ambush U.S. 25th Division convoys but were shattered by the return fire.

The most spectacular fight though involved the Marines at their outpost five miles from a fortification they call the Rockpile.

How They Voted On Fortas Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 10 to 6 vote by which the Senate Judiciary Committee recommended confirmation of Abe Fortas to be chief justice:

For—Sens. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., Quentin Burdick, D-N.D., Joseph P. Tydings, D-Md., George A. Smathers, D-Fla., Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Roman Hruska, R-Nebr., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Against—Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and James O. Eastland, chairman, D-Miss.

Agnew

"We're delighted and we hope it gets better," he said.

Private Conferences — Agnew went directly to his suite for private conferences. Republican Sen. John Tower said he believes Texas Republicans strongly approve what Agnew has been saying in campaign speeches.

Agnew is strong for law and order.

The scent of victory is in the air. Tower told the state Republican Executive Committee. "But this is our year only if you choose to make it."

In a reference to former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, in Dallas where his American Independent Party is holding a state convention, Tower said he doubts that people want to "throw away" a vote on a candidate who cannot win nationally.

Harmony Expected — The Republican convention was expected to be conducted with a maximum of harmony and a spokesman for the platform committee said the committee expects delegates to accept the platform as it is presented.

Pampans

Campbell opened the caucus as temporary chairman. He urged party unity in the coming campaign.

Yesterday, Campbell and Ed Schuhart of Dalhart announced a plan at a press conference for reorganization of the Texas Agriculture Department.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband accuses me of having affairs with other men, but I swear I've never let another man touch me. He says he is sure he is right because I am cold as ice with him.

Abby, if he would only shave and take a bath maybe that would help some, but he goes to bed in the same dirty undershirt he's worked in all day. (He does construction work.)

He shaves maybe every 3rd or 4th day, and he seldom uses a toothbrush. The sight and smell of him kills all my desire to even kiss him. I am only 32. Is my reaction normal, or is there something wrong with me?

COLD IN HUNTSVILLE

DEAR COLD: You are normal, but there could be something wrong with your husband. The husband-wife relationship is probably the most intimate of all human relationships, and in order for it to provide the ultimate in marital relations, cleanliness is indeed next to godliness.

Tell him, Lady, tell him! But tell him out of love, not anger. A little soft soap sometimes goes a long way.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Mortician's Son" interested me because it sounded like my husband and me before we were married. I liked him a lot, but I didn't want to be a funeral director's wife either, so I was all for calling it quits before it got too serious.

Well, my husband-to-be decided that being a mortician wasn't as important to him as I was, so he went into another line and we were married. We've been happily married for 18 years now, and neither one of us has any regrets.

That was real cute the way you told that mortician's son that if his girl didn't dig his profession he should "bury" the romance, but I hope you print this to show another point of view.

HAPPY CHOICE

DEAR HAPPY: Regardless of the choice in the beginning, we all end up with the funeral director in the end.

DEAR ABBY: "IN A QUANDARY" has set me to thinking. I am not asking you to betray a confidence, Abby, but that letter sounded like it could have been written by the wife of the man I am going with. Was her last initial "M"? This is

In the Senior Citizens party Thursday, 72 seniors attended to play table games. Mrs. Katie Vincent and I were invited to the Altrusa Club luncheon Monday at the Coronado Inn to represent the Senior Center, since that was the program theme that day.

Altrusans asked me to speak on my role as reporter to the Pampa Daily News on Senior Center events. Mrs. Vincent explained how the Center members had met so many new and old friends at the Center, and how much they appreciated the Red Cross Volunteers for providing transportation to the Center programs.

Altrusans originated the Senior Center, but are assisted with refreshments and transportation by other Pampa Women's organizations.

Altrusans serve the first meeting each month and present a gift to all those having birthdays during the month. Mrs. Martha Kennedy is Altrusa chairman this quarter and will serve three months.

Was good to see Mrs. Lida Ramsey out this week. It was announced C. L. Adams has been released from the hospital, but was not yet able to attend the Center program.

Mrs. Joe Shelton visited her mother, Mrs. Ruby Stovall recently.

Negro General Spends Sundays Visiting Hospitals

SAIGON (UPI)—The third Negro ever to reach the rank of general in the U.S. armed forces usually spends Sundays visiting field hospitals and the rest of the week in the field with his troops.

"That's where the action is," says U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Frederick Ellis Davison, 51-year-old commander of the 190th Light Infantry Brigade. Davison got his stars Sunday from Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, in a ceremony at the brigade's base camp three miles southwest of Saigon.

"I can think of no man who was worked harder or who deserved a promotion to general more than General Davison," Abrams told Davison's men. They honored him with an 11-gun salute from 105mm howitzers guarding the camp from Communist attack. Davison has been in Vietnam nearly two years.

Only two other Negroes have worn general's stars for the United States—Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis of the Air Force, currently in the Philippines, and his father, who is retired from the Army.

Davison began his military career on March 3, 1941, the same year he married the former Jean Brown, who lives in Washington, D.C., with their four children. Davison served in Italy during World War II.

Teen Suicide Rate Called 'Appalling'

DENVER (UPI)—Dr. Roy W. Menninger, president of the Menninger Foundation of Topeka, Kan., has described the rate of suicides among the nation's youth as appalling.

"Suicide is the fourth most common cause of death of those people under 18," Dr. Menninger said. "We help our adolescents on the shelf for years and years," he said. "We tell them to sit down, shut up and wait for adulthood. They can't be a part of what the rest of us are doing. It's no wonder they feel shoved aside."

Menninger, 41, described sui-

HOUSTON (UPI) — The world's first heart-lung transplant recipient, a two-month-old girl, was in "encouraging" condition today.

Debra Lynn Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lee of Huffsmith, Tex., received both the heart and the lungs of a one-day-old baby girl born with a fatal brain defect. The organs were transplanted in a one and a half hour operation Sunday.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Aminomoral train slammed into the tail of one of its mates Sunday at HemisFair '68, killing a 65-year-old Missouri woman and injuring 48 persons. Fourteen persons remained hospitalized overnight.

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The ruling Social Democratic Party, in power for more than 36 years, won its greatest victory since the war in Sunday's elections in which the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia dealt a possibly fatal blow to the small Communist Party.

HIGH, WISPY BANGS
The effect of a long nose can be minimized by selecting a hair style that sweeps up or back. Avoid middle parts and keep bangs wispy and high on the forehead.

SCREWWORM EPIDEMIC CONTINUES

Screwworm cases in Texas for 1968 stood at 2,197 on Tuesday. Large case buildups are continuing in the Trans-Pecos, Big Bend and upper Edwards Plateau areas. Stockmen should postpone animal surgery until cold weather arrives, check all stock regularly and treat all wounds.

icide as "an expression of hopelessness and helplessness."

"It may very well be a factor in riots," he added. "Violence gets one out of the box he feels he is in."

"Suicide isn't just 'give-up-itis.' It's not a matter of simply quitting. That's apathy. Suicide results from a feeling of desperation and hopelessness."

Menninger said it was false that increased pressures were the reasons for the high rate of juvenile suicide.

"I'd like to shoot down this idea of too much pressure," he said. "It's a naive fantasy to talk of that. We all have increased pressures in our modern society."

"What the young need are meaningful ties to other people. Suicides are never very involved in anything concerned with living."

"Parents used to provide meaningful ties. Churches used to provide this need, but the churches are 50 years out of date. The young aren't pressured, but the old support systems are fading away."

"Society is rather schizophrenic in its attitudes. We say we don't like what youth does, but we don't teach the young anything different. We do endless numbers of self-defeating things," he said.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If you were doing a television documentary about cars, would you let an automobile company produce it?
 If you were doing a documentary about doctors, would you let a medical association produce it?
 In short, would you be satisfied with inevitable press agency when you also have the option of a no-conflict news approach that tells the truth in full, and without adornment?
 All right, let's get specific. This past Sunday night, CBS-TV presented a one-hour broadcast about professional football's most successful coach, Vince Lombardi, now general manager of the Green Bay Packers.
 To put on this program, CBS-TV pre-empted the Ed Sullivan Show, which has a key time slot. The promotion for the documentary was considerable. And if viewers knew that it actually was geared to help kick off CBS-TV's coverage of the National Football League season—well, that was justifiable, too.
 I confess I really looked forward to the hour because Lombardi is a fascinating man, and he has helped make pro football the fantastically successful television attraction it is.
 Well, it was a mildly interesting hour. But it should have been terrific. And the reason it failed to deliver big was simply astounding:
 The broadcast—a one-dimensional tribute rather than a genuine study of a rare man—was produced by the National Football League. And it was straight-out press agency for a man who doesn't need it.
 We know, of course, that CBS-TV's association with the league was certainly the prime factor in this hour. But surely somebody along the way must have known that the producing credits at the end of the broadcast were going to cause a lot of raised eyebrows.
 It was no surprise, of course, that the hour was going to help the league and the sport. And that's okay. But the impact would have been much more genuine—and the program more substantial—if the study of Mr. Lombardi had been done by a different production organization. Journalism and hero-worship don't mix.

Big Game In Southwest

It's Longhorns Vs. Houston Saturday

By United Press International
 The big game in the Southwest Conference football lineup this weekend matches the University of Texas at Austin against Independent University of Houston.

Coach Darrell Royal ended heavy contact work for his team Friday and Monday studied Cougar plays. Films of Friday's scrimmage were also reviewed. Royal had praise for tackle Leo Brooks, center Forrest Wiegand, guard Ken Gidney, and Deryl Comer, fullback Steve Worster and defensive tackle Floyd Wainscott and Bill Stessis.

"We are still very much impressed with the lack of injuries this fall," a spokesman said.

Parkers Have Task
 Problems were more immediate for at least one other conference team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles said his team's efforts during practice were "just a complete mental lapse of everything."

Classes at the Arkansas school began Monday.

Broyles said the Razorbacks would concentrate on running plays designed for Oklahoma State for the rest of the week.

TCU coach Fred Taylor said he had not yet decided which of his three quarterback prospects—Dan Carter, Ted Fay or Busty Underwood—would start against Georgia Tech in Atlanta Saturday. All three worked with the first unit Monday.

Three in Doubt
 Three players at SMU were scheduled to undergo medical tests today to see if they would be able to play in Saturday's opener against Auburn. They were offensive backs Mike Richardson and Pinky Clements and defensive end Tommy Fraser.

At Rice, two defensive ends—both from the same side of the line—missed practice. But both were expected to be ready for the Owls' opener Saturday.

Matson Not Called For Another Physical, Draft Board Here Says
 Mrs. Kathryn Zmotony, district Selective Service Director, said today that reports aired over an Amarillo TV station last night that Randy Matson had been called for another physical examination "were false as far as we know." Mrs. Zmotony said, "We have no information on this and we're still his draft board."

Harvester Boosters To Meet Tonight
 The Harvester Booster Club will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

Speaker will be Harold "Andy" Anderson, an area football and basketball official, who will explain the new football officiating rules.

A film of the game between Pampa and Hereford, which Pampa won 12-6, will be shown, with comments by head coach and athletic director "Swede" Lee.

Umpires Cry 'Foul' Over AL Ejection
 BOSTON (UPI) — Baseball umpires traditionally have the last word and the two umpires released by American League President Joe Cronin had the rostrum all to themselves as they cried foul over their sudden ejection from the league.

The pair, Al Salerno of Utica, N.Y., and Bill Valentine, of Little Rock, Ark., got their walking papers Monday from Cronin, effective immediately.

League officials offered little explanation for Cronin's action.

At a news conference in Cleveland, Salerno and Valentine, accompanied by their lawyers, said "everyone in the league" knew they were attempting to merge the American League umpires with the National League Umpires Association.

"I think we're being maliciously accused as he had no just reason to fire us," said the 35-year-old Valentine, a six-year veteran in the league.

An attorney said Salerno recently proposed that AL umpires merge with the National League Umpires Association at a recent Chicago meeting. He said the NL umpires voted 20-0 in favor.

Both dismissed umpires said they feel someone within the league told someone in authority what had happened. They said that AL top salaries are just over $17,000, compared with the top of $24,750 in the National League.

But a league spokesman denied the firings were prompted by the umpires' alleged organizational activities.

Harvesters Lose Quarterback

Parrish Out For Season

By JOEL COMBS
 Senior quarterback Gary Parrish, starting field general for the Pampa Harvester football team, is out for the season.

Coach "Swede" Lee announced this morning that a hair-line fracture of a vertebra, discovered on close examination in Amarillo yesterday, has sidelined the first-line quarterback for the remainder of the football season.

Parrish, injured since before the season began, had been "checked" several times before but the fracture was not found until yesterday. Gary had to leave last Friday night's game in Hereford a couple of times when the back was giving him trouble.

The loss of Parrish throws the weight of field generalship on junior Ross Holman, who threw a touchdown pass in last week's season opener to end Jay Johnson to get the Harvesters on the scoreboard in the third quarter. The TD knotted the score at 6-6.

Holman, a 137-pounder, will be backed up by Dan Craig, a 155-pound senior letterman, who has been playing defensive halfback.

Coach Lee said yesterday's workout was the best of the year for the defensive unit but the offense worked out as "a little slower." The coaches were working with the offensive unit, giving some hints as to how to run against Dumas. Overall, Lee said, the workout was a good one.

Lee also announced that grading on the game film had been completed and several Harvesters drew relatively high scores.

Offensively, end Jay Johnson graded highest with an 86 and center Moss Hampton, a 158 pound junior was the next highest lineman with a score of 79. A score of 65 is considered a "passing" grade. Halfback Scotty King, who scored the winning touchdown last Friday, was the highest grading back with an 81.

Defensively, halfback Dan Carlton and linebacker Ray Tindall graded highest. Both picked off interceptions and Tindall recovered a fumble for the defensive unit.

District 4-AAAA teams won six of ten games played against non-conference foes last Friday and Saturday nights as the football season got underway throughout the district.

Motorcycle Race Viewed By Pampans
 Several hundred spectators attended the first motorcycle race sponsored by the Pampa Boat and Ski Club Sunday afternoon and watched 50 racers compete.

Winners were named in three classes, according to the size of the engine. All winners are from Pampa, unless indicated otherwise.

Winners in the 100cc class were Wayne Caswell, on a Suzuki, first; David Enlow, Bultaco, second; and Chick Curen of Borger, a Hodaka, third.

Johnny Downes placed first in the 175cc class on a Bultaco. Other winners were Jimmy Sharp, Honda, second, and Junior Caswell, Bultaco, third.

In the 250cc class, Alvin Sharp gained first place on a Montesa. Boe Pierce of Amarillo placed second on a CZ, and Reese Field, third, on a Bultaco.

Several minor accidents occurred during the events, but none of the riders were injured seriously.

The Pampa Boat and Ski Club is currently making plans to sponsor other motorcycle races. Dates for the events have not been scheduled yet, however.

 SANTA LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—"It has to be one of the finest times ever taken to an Olympics," said Payton Jordan today in describing the record-setting crew of track and field stars he saw in action at the U.S. trials.

"I think the boys adjusted well to the altitude, once they got it out of their minds, and started to concentrate on the events themselves," continued the head coach of the U.S. men's Olympic team. "Some very fine athletes didn't make it but I think the very best ones did."

The eight day competition world up Monday on a sunny and bright afternoon with Jim Ryun, the world record holder, winning the 1,500 meter run in 3:49.0, well off his 3:33.1 record and Ed Caruthers of Santa Ana, Calif., shading high schooler Reynaldo Brown in the high jump.

World Records
 The two events proved anticlimactic after Geoff Vanderstock, Bob Seagren, John Carlos and Lee Evans had set world records. Vanderstock took the 400 intermediate hurdles record down to 48.8 seconds. Seagren, vaulted 17.9, Carlos ran the 200 meter dash in 19.7 and Evans the 400 meter run in 44 seconds flat.

"It wouldn't surprise me if we ran 1-2 or 1-2-3 in those events," said Jordan, a man not taken to exaggeration, "we also could do very well in the high jump, the shot put and, of course, the relays races."

Dick Fosbury also jumped 7-3 to join Caruthers and Brown, a 17-year-old high school student from Compton, Calif., in the

OLYMPIC PREPARATION

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The first half of West Germany's Olympic team—150 athletes—left Sunday for Flagstaff, Arizona to undergo final training for the Mexico games.

Among the first contingent was Liesel Westermann, 23, who holds the world's record in the women's discus throw of 62.54 meters, which she set earlier this season.

If Was A Tough Night For Cardinal Quarterback Jim Hart, Beaten 24-13

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Quarterback Jim Hart of the St. Louis Cardinals must have felt Monday night like General Custer at Little Big Horn.

Everywhere he looked there were the enemy—big, brawny Los Angeles Rams defenses. The charged into the Cardinal backfield bowling over Hart time after time and batting down his passes.

Although it was not a massacre, the final score, 24-13 in favor of Los Angeles, did not reflect the frustration of Hart trying to get his team off on the right foot in its opening game.

Hart completed only one five-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad in the first period while the Rams knocked down nine attempts.

The beleaguered quarterback came to life in the fourth quarter, making two rapid-fire passes for a touchdown. He completed a 13-yard pass to Conrad, and then the second pass went to Roy Shivers for a 17-yard score.

Hart completed just 17 of 40 passes, with Ram defenders picking off three errant tosses.

While Hart was having his troubles, Ram Quarterback Roman Gabriel had a slightly easier time.

He put the Rams in front on a

 The long wait may end tonight for the Detroit Tigers. With their magic number for clinching the American League pennant reduced to "one," the Tigers will face the New York Yankees while the soon-to-be-vaporized Baltimore Orioles play the Boston Red Sox.

Either a Tiger victory or an Oriole loss will clinch Detroit's first pennant since 1945. The 23 years are the longest any AL city has waited for a pennant since 1930.

The Tigers, who clinched a tie for the flag by routing the Yankees, 9-1, Monday night, will send Earl Wilson (13-12) against Stan Bahnsen (16-10) while the champagne bottles wait in the clubhouse. The Orioles have scheduled 20-game winner Dave McNally to pitch against Ray Culp (13-5) at Boston where they scored an 8-1 victory Monday night.

Twins Top Angels
 The Minnesota Twins edged the California Angels, 4-3, in Monday's only other American League tilt while the San Francisco Giants downed the Cincinnati Reds, 8-4, the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1, and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Atlanta Braves, 6-0, in National League games.

Norm Cash drove in five runs with a single and a three-run homer as the Tigers scored four runs in the first inning and five in the second to end the Yankees' 10-game winning streak—longest in the majors this season.

John Hiller was tagged for eight hits but walked only one batter and struck out seven in raising his record to 9-5 and stretching the Tigers' winning streak to seven games.

Score On Homers
 Don Buford's grand slam homer and solo homers by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell powered the Orioles to their victory over the Red Sox. Tom Phoebus, aided by Eddie Watt's ninth-inning relief, raised his record to 15-14 as he allowed eight hits and four walks over eight innings.

Rookie Rick Renick led off the ninth inning with his third homer of the season giving the Twins' Jim Merritt his 11th victory and tagging the Angels' Sammy Ellis with his 10th defeat. Cesar Tovar's double and Rod Carew's triple had helped the Twins score three runs and tie the game in the eighth inning.

Giant Willie McCovey Tired Of Finishing 2nd

By United Press International
 Willie McCovey is one Giant who is tired of finishing second. While the San Francisco club moves closer and closer to its fourth consecutive second-place finish in the National League standings, McCovey is doing something about improving his leadership image.

McCovey, who never has won a run batted in title even among the Giants despite a fearsome reputation as a slugger, pulled abreast of Chicago's Billy Williams for the NL lead Monday by driving in four runs in an 8-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Those four RBIs gave the towering first baseman a total of 97 for the season, his largest total in five years. He drove in 102 in 1963. McCovey already holds the NL lead in home runs with 34.

The victory gave the Giants a two-game edge over the Reds in the race for runnerup honors behind the St. Louis Cardinals, who were idle. The Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Atlanta Braves 6-0 and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1, in other NL games.

The Detroit Tigers clinched a tie for the American League flag by blasting New York, 9-1, while the Baltimore Orioles survived elimination by battering Boston, 8-1. Minnesota beat California, 4-3, in the only other AL game.

Commentary on Constitution Week

As usual, the local Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is calling attention to Constitution Week which opened Sunday.

They are among the few women and men in the United States who still take the time each year to ask Americans to give a thought to the Constitution and its meaning.

Today, Sept. 17, marks the 181st anniversary of the adoption of the historic document. The local D.A.R. held its annual observance at a regular meeting several days ago in advance of Constitution Week.

It is good to learn, although no special programs or observances of Constitution Week have been planned in our schools, the Constitution is being displayed in all Pampa elementary classrooms.

At Woodrow Wilson school, where Bob Parks is the principal, a Special bulletin board on "Patriotism" has been put up to emphasize the week.

In junior high schools here, eighth graders study the Constitution for about six weeks and it is then discussed by pupils and teachers in history classes during constitution week. Periodically during the school year, the Constitution and Declaration of Independence are used in bulletin board displays to discuss their importance.

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts were observing the day. No special observance of Constitution Week is planned at Pampa High School. There it was left up to the individual teachers.

It seems to have reached the stage today where most people in the nation consider Sept. 17 just another day, millions upon millions of people have never even read the Constitution.

Why is there a widespread lack of interest in the anniversary of the document which is supposed to be, as Gladstone put it, "the most remarkable work in modern times to have been produced by the human intellect."?

One reason advanced for the

Strikes By Teacher Unions

Instead of returning to classrooms, theoretically to learn something about the 3 Rs, a great many young people have been watching their teachers walking the picket lines in front of their schools.

The wire services report threats of strikes by members of both the American Federation of Teachers, once the more militant collection of school people, and the various state affiliates the National Education Association.

Threats are heard from New York, from Michigan, from Ohio, from Pennsylvania, from Illinois and sundry other locations.

As United Press International put it: "Tax-supported school teachers are learning to use the tactics of labor unions and student protesters to get what they want."

We haven't heard of any similar strikes among teachers in voluntary non-tax-supported schools. Probably this is because teachers in voluntary schools are more dedicated to teaching and less interested in militantly demanding more and more dollars and privileges for less and less pupil benefit. Probably some of it is that these teachers know how difficult it is for parents to provide non-coercive schools for their youngsters while being compelled to pay by taxes for the government

Art Moger, the TV wit and author, has penned another best seller entitled: "Void Where Prohibited." You guessed it—it's all about those gasoline sweepstakes contests and lotteries. It seems like yesterday (it was actually in 1938) that the late Fred Allen (he always used lower case in typing) introduced Moger to a nationwide audience on his radio program: "Town Hall, Tonight!" At that time he said Moger was "the youngest contest editor in the world." Chances are that Allen was right because if Moger was not the youngest he was certainly the first to diversify the contest racket. He thought up more of them than any other individual. There's hardly any kind of contest in vogue today that is not a variation or direct steal on some gimmick Moger invented 30 years ago.

Today's smile: A fellow was taking an oral examination and the examiner asked: "Who was your mother before she was married?" The fellow looked at him and replied, "I didn't have a mother before she was married."

We've been carrying two wallets for years. Not because we need two to tote our walking around money, but simply for convenience and to give us a slimmer figure. Our hip pocket bill-fold contains our driver's license, car registration, insurance identification and a few other odds and ends. A secretarial-type wallet is in our inside jacket pocket containing a few credit cards, note pad, and a few dollars in small bills. We thought we were unique in that respect until we started checking with a few friends. Now we believe many men do the same thing.

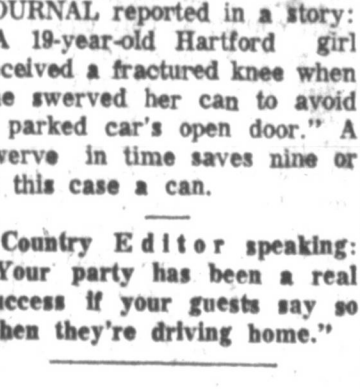

Thoughts while shaving: Rodgers and Hammerstein said: "there's nothing like a dame," but they didn't have in mind Corrine Dame of Belmont, Massachusetts. This housewife is the only female promoter in the country who has sponsored a Women's Golf Tourney. Now she's promoting ceramic shows and her first venture in Boston includes more than 2000 exhibits of clay, china glass and pottery. . . . Despite the fact that this summer's adherents to sport shirts seemed to outnumber those wearing neckties the fact remains that the American male still prefers the cravat.

The Men's Tie Foundation, which is up on such matters, says 285 million neckties will be sold in this country this year. They will cost about $500 million, which averages out to just about $2 per tie. . . . We think one of the best public relations stunts this year was convincing the U. S. Postoffice Dept. to issue a commemorative Daniel Boone 6 cents stamp. It will be put out for sale on September 28th at Frankfort, Kentucky, just in case any stamp collectors are interested. It also precedes by a single day the televising of the Daniel Boone Show and we're just skeptical enough to believe it was a publicity promotion, planned that way. . . .

The Buddeford-Saco (Maine) JOURNAL reported in a story: "A 19-year-old Hartford girl received a fractured knee when she swerved her car to avoid a parked car's open door." A swerve in time saves nine or in this case a can.

President Still Only Bar to Selling Phantom Jets to Israel

WASHINGTON — One man alone — President Lyndon B. Johnson — is blocking the sale of 50 A-4 Phantom fighter-bombers to Israel.

Vice President Humphrey and former Vice President Nixon have publicly strongly advocated making these supersonic planes available to Israel. In July, both branches of Congress overwhelmingly approved a resolution urging this. The Republican and Democratic platforms favor it. And top Pentagon and CIA authorities have recommended it.

But the President has adamantly turned a deaf ear. He did it again early this week in an unannounced meeting with two top Israel officials—both war heroes: former General Wigal Alon, now deputy prime minister, and Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin, chief of staff during the meteoric six-day war in 1967.

To their request for a conference with the President they were told he would see them, but it would have to be strictly secret. They entered and left the White House by a side entrance. Present at this carefully unpublicized meeting were Walt Rostow, special foreign affairs adviser to the President, and Lucius Battle, assistant secretary of state for the Near East.

In renewing Israel's long standing request to buy 50 A-4s, Alon and Rabin stressed the following: Egypt and Syria, as a result of massive rearming by Russia, now have a 6 to 1 superiority to Israel in supersonic war planes. Also, there are an estimated 2,000 Soviet pilots and crewmen training the Arabs and operating the jets. All TU-16 medium jet bombers in Egypt are manned by Russians, although bearing Egyptian markings.

Since the six-day conflict in the spring of 1967, Israel has not received a single supersonic plane from any source. DeGaulle has refused to turn over 50 Mirage IVs, bought and paid for, and the White House, despite widespread bipartisan support for the sale of A-4s; has been similarly unyielding. The only planes Israel has been able to purchase are 50 F-4 subsonic fighters.

In the day-long artillery fighting that raged recently along the Suez Canal, Russian officers commanded Egyptian batteries. They used highly sophisticated electrical and radar sighting and aiming equipment, and the firing was the most accurate ever received from the Egyptian side.

MORE STALLING—Generals Alon and Rabin left the White House as they came—with empty hands. The only word they got from the President was the "matter is still under study." That's what he has been saying to all inquirers and pleaders for more than a year. Always it's the same stall, and always the meaning is the same—nothing doing.

Administration insiders credit the President's obduracy to three reasons: His burning desire to reach some kind of a detente with the Kremlin rulers before leaving office; an equally deep-rooted desire to maintain a position of being able to exert pressure on Israel; and the potent influence of Secretary Rusk, who not only fully concurs with these views but feels the U.S. should seek to moderate Arab hostility toward this country.

The long-time head of the State Department is the only top administration official to hold this stand. It is an open secret that the President's stubborn refusal to yield on the A-4 issue is proving increasingly embarrassing to Vice President Humphrey and his campaign managers. While they fervently assure all a sundry of wholehearted support for sale of the supersonic fighter-bombers, the Republicans are derisively demanding why they aren't matching their words with deeds.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

No More

When hired hands cost more, the farmer must mechanize to survive. If it's a crop which cannot be picked by mechanical hands, he must plow it under and plant something else.

Either way, the farm worker is out of work. It has happened to raspberries. Thousands of acres are being plowed under. As a food you can buy in the store, these dainty, delicious little berries soon will be no more.

Extension threatens plums and asparagus, though a new mechanical harvester may rescue asparagus.

It could happen to table grapes. A farm labor organizer named Cesar Chavez is determined to unionize California's grape harvesters. Unable to interest these free-wheeling migrant workers in paying union dues, he redirected his campaign at the growers themselves.

Pleading the plight of the "poor worker," Chavez got Vice President Hubert Humphrey and the National Council of Churches and the AFL-CIO behind a nationwide boycott of all California grapes — unless or until the growers would agree to his demand for a closed shop — thus to force the grape workers into a union whether they like it or not.

The National Labor Relations Board decreed the secondary boycott illegal and ordered it ended. Grape growers got a reprieve. But this does not resolve the inevitable phase out of farm laborers.

Here is the problem: you can train anybody in two hours to cut branches of table grapes with hand shears. You can pay him $2.50 and $3 an hour, plus California's fringe benefits, including workmen's compensation, unemployment compensation and health insurance.

But you cannot afford to pay

WASHINGTON:

U.S. Must Not Delude Self On Viet Foe's True Aims

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Many of us one time or another like to fool ourselves with words. It's often a face-saving device which helps us give up or give in when we know we shouldn't.

Strangely enough, we sometimes attempt to fool ourselves even when an enemy is being bluntly straight-forward about his aims.

We see this tendency today in the talk about the fighting "hull" in Vietnam. We saw it in World War II.

Hitler made no bones about his objectives. He outlined them in detail in "Mein Kampf"; he amplified them in his speeches. We have forgotten it now, but there were many Americans who could not, at the time, bring themselves to believe what he said about his movement.

In Asia in World War II, Mao Tse-tung made no secret of his Communism and his totalitarian objectives.

Yet high-placed American officials insisted that the men in Yenan were agrarian reformers. Read the now-published State Department documents of that day and you will note with astonishment the emotional vigor with which some Department men insisted that this communism was merely a front behind which some very democratic people were hiding.

It is understood that Khrushchev's men used to joke among themselves about this American characteristic. They would compete among themselves to see who could think up the best label for whatever the Kremlin wanted to accomplish.

The best label, of course, was the one which would be most acceptable to people in the United States and in countries allied with us.

Ho Chi Minh learned this tactic early in his career. Around the end of World War II, when Nationalist groups wouldn't ally themselves with his Communists (because he and his men had betrayed many of them to the French for execution), Ho set up a front which was the thinnest of covers for his Communists. Everyone knew at that time what Ho's front was, but they nevertheless accepted it in their councils. Ho's front then took over by assassination and boring from within.

In the past few weeks some Americans have insisted Ho has de-escalated the war. Ho's attacks have, on occasion, been less intense than during that man the $4 to $5 an hour which a cement truck driver gets in Detroit. Grapes won't sell at $5 a fistful.

Historically, our farmers have employed many men not otherwise employable. When they leave the farm and go to the city they go on welfare.

So lawmakers and unionists intent on driving farm wages higher, either by organizing the workers or by increasing the federal minimum wage, are penalizing the worker, the grower, the consumer and the taxpayer.

All farming will eventually mechanize. Leave this evolution to American ingenuity and it will take place gradually, painlessly.

But if crops must immediately and forthwith be harvested mechanically or plowed under, we will throw an additional army of willing workers out of work, and nobody benefits.

Already we have idled thousands of former tomato pickers. Switching from hand picking to mechanical harvesting of tomatoes, we're getting 18 tons an acre where we formerly got 30 tons — but the grower can afford that loss better than he can afford the higher labor costs.

Handling potatoes is so expensive that we are now marketing more than half of that crop in some processed form other than fresh. Like raspberries, fresh, field-grown potatoes may soon be a food of the past.

As consumers, we can learn to do without fresh potatoes and plums and raspberries. But if we arbitrarily increase the wages of farmhands, it will cost them jobs, growers income and taxpayers a further increased welfare burden.

That, for a nation already neck-deep in red ink, could be suffocating.

Tet and in the May offensive. These Americans have argued that if President Johnson didn't immediately take advantage of these "hulls" to cancel all bombing in the north, the Communists would despair and attack.

Now, strangely enough, Hanoi never did say that it was responding to Johnson's limitation on northern bombing with a de-escalation of its own. Read carefully the reports that claim Hanoi hinted at reciprocity. You will find it a strain on your credibility to find a sign of any Hanoi claim that they were cutting back. On the contrary, Hanoi regularly has stated a U.S. bombing halt should be unilateral, with nothing given in return.

Certainly, some Hanoi men said Ho's military actions were politically significant. All Hanoi's moves — military and otherwise — are directed at political aims.

Certainly, on occasion, Hanoi has made no comments in response to questions on the meaning of the "hull." As one of Ho's former strategists has told this reporter: "If the Americans want to fool themselves, that's their problem."

Wit and Whimsy

Things could be worse. Suppose your errors were counted and published every day like those of a baseball player?

Mr. Cross (the boss) — So you think you should have a raise? I suppose you often have thought what you would do if you had my income, haven't you?

Mr. Case (the faithful clerk smiling) — No, sir, but I've often wondered what you would do if you had mine!

He got the raise.

Mr. Smith (the political exhorter in Kentucky) — Can't the Democrats in this town get together?

Zeke (the man with court-plaster on his ear) — Get together! why, it takes eleven deputy sheriffs to keep 'em apart!

Age is that terrible feeling that comes over you when you say to a kid: "What do you mean, 'What's a running board?'"

Hal — I want to do something big and something clean.
Cal — Then wash an elephant.
Drive safely and avoid the mourning after.

Woman Wins Trip To Coast

Mrs. Juanita Barber, 1526 N. Sumner, recently earned an all-expenses paid trip to Corpus Christi by fulfilling a sales quota.

Mrs. Barber, a sales representative and area manager for Field Enterprises Educational Corp., publishers of "World Book" and "Child Craft," was among several in the state who earned the trip by their sales activities.

Those who went to Corpus Christi participated in deep-sea fishing, swimming in the ocean, an early breakfast cookout at Padre Island, dinners and banquets.

Mrs. Vina Huffman, district sales manager, Berger, said, "We are very proud to have Juanita on our selling force. She is a very fine person and represents our company in management in a commendable way."

Mrs. Barber left Sept. 1 and returned Sept. 6.

Boy Scouts Will Take Part In Citizenship Day

Members of the Boy Scouts of America in this area will take part in the observance of Citizenship Day Tuesday, according to Steve Odom, Scout Executive of the Adobe Walls Council. All Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers have been urged to wear their Scout uniforms to school tomorrow as an indication of their participation in the observance.

Through Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout Troops, and Explorer Posts, the Scouts will remind people to fly the U. S. flag as a symbol to inspire citizens to serve their country and to support and defend the Constitution, Odom said.

Citizenship Day commemorates the signing of the Constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, and recognizes all citizens who have come of age and become new voters and all those who have been naturalized as new citizens during the year.

Citizenship Day has been designated by Presidential proclamation since 1952 when a joint resolution of Congress re-

WASHINGTON — Charles P. Taft, chairman of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, commenting on campaign "code words" with racial implications:

"(George) Wallace certainly is not alone among the candidates for president, for seats in the Congress and for major state offices in the use of racial euphemisms in campaign oratory and literature."

INDIAN GIVER

CUDDINGTON, England (UPI)—Simon Sinclair couldn't forget the girl he left behind 18 months ago when he moved to Cuddington. He kept her in mind by writing poetry to her.

Now, with an offer to get his verse published, he's in a fix—he has to get the poems back.

"I hope she'll understand," said 17-year-old Simon Sunday. "The poems were, well, rather personal."

Nation's Debt Figure Has Crossed The Trillion Mark

By THE BARSON STAFF
A recent government estimate indicated that aggregate private and public debt at the end of 1967 had reached the astronomical figure of about $1.4 trillion. Every sector of our economy is now more deeply in debt than ever before.

Private debt alone, at the end of 1967, rose to a level just over the $1 trillion mark. Aggregate debts of the federal government, states and municipalities rose to the $410 billion level.

It is hard to envision figures in the billions of dollars range. But with the federal government's annual budget, and with figures such as gross national product, personal income, and retail trade having run in the billions in recent years, the public has become somewhat accustomed to figures ranging in the billions. Now the trillion dollar level is introduced, which is even less comprehensible. Thus, it might be more realistic to express the total debt figure on a per capita basis. At the close of 1967, the total debt burden per person was more than $7,000.

In the past decade, total public and private debt nearly doubled. Over this span, total private debt accounted for the largest margin of increment, rising 215 per cent. Public debt, on the other hand, rose only 52 per cent. Of the dollar volume of debt increment in the past ten years, corporate borrowing and mortgage loans accounted for the largest portion.

The steady expansion of debt reflected the high level of business capital investments in plant and equipment, rising standards of living for the nation's populace and the increasing role of state and local governments in meeting the needs of modern society. At the same time, however, it was this steady creation of debt which stimulated demand in the nation's money markets, thus forcing up interest rates.

Debt creation is beneficial, to the extent that it facilitates the growth of our economy. But the rate of debt accumulation of the past two decades cannot be sustained without dislocations, including inflation. Moreover, the debt burden can be very onerous during recessions.

DISEASE SPREADS

TOKYO (UPI)—Health officials Monday said Tokyo was infested with encephalitis, the so-called sleeping sickness. They made the announcement after 61.5 per cent of the hogs in suburban slaughterhouses were found infected with the disease. The health ministry said 156 persons have died of the disease this year in Tokyo.
