33 OTHER STATES ON BOND PLAN

Facts About Their Experiences Given

Most every Texan will at this particular time, be interested in the facts given below, as reproduced in 'The Texas Weekly', from the Dallas News.

They deal with the experiences of the 33 other states that have voted highway and bridge bonds, similar to the plan being urged in the current race for governor by Ross S. Sterling of Houston.

Inasmuch as the question of State highway bonds has become the outstanding one in current political discussion in Texas, some of the Texas newspapers have been gathering information with respect to the other States in issuing bonds for highways. The Dallas News has had its Washington correspondent to obtain from the United States Bureau of Public Roads such figures as are on record in that office on outstanding bonds of this kind. Without using cumbersome quotation marks, we give part of the dispatch to the News here.

Thirty-three States have issued highway and bridge bonds to the amount of $1,629,072,500 and at the close of 1929 there was outstanding a total of $1,008,856,150, less sinking funds amounting to $93,938,498. Other than the instances given, and possibly conditions not known here, the issues are presumed to be exclusively for highway purposes as applied to the State and not counties.

No State, it is understood, devotes the entire proceeds of gas tax for bond purposes. However, South Dakota, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Louisiana and New Hampshire made all payments for State bonds from gas tax. It might be pointed out, however, that in all cases the credit of the State is pledged and State taxes may be levied if necessary.

It is usually the case that the State laws provide that interest and retirement of the State bonds shall come from the same source, that is, State taxes, highway funds, fees or gas tax, or any two or more of these sources. The net bond outstanding including refunding bonds (stated in round numbers) and the method of payments for the thirty-three States follow:

- Alabama $43,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Arkansas $54,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
- California $62,950,000, State revenues, general taxes, etc.
- Colorado $7,500,000, State taxes and vehicle fees.
- Connecticut $2,732,000, State revenues (sinking fund absorbs all this amount) and gas tax.
- Delaware $10,000,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Idaho $2,800,000, State tax (one bond issue by vehicle).
- Illinois $139,000,000, vehicle fees, tax levy if required.
- Louisiana $17,500,000, vehicle fees from six parishes affected by special highway and gas tax.
- Maine $17,300,000, gas tax.
- Maryland $19,800,000, State taxes.
- Massachusetts $3,000,000, State revenues and vehicle fees.
- Michigan $50,000,000, State tax and vehicle fees.
- Missouri $55,500,000, vehicle fees, tax levy if required.
- Nevada $400,000, vehicle fees.
- New Hampshire $1,600,000, State revenues, including extra cent gas tax.
- New Jersey $78,000,000, State tax.
- New Mexico $3,280,000, State tax and gas tax.
- New York $108,400,000, State revenues.
- North Carolina $109,400,000, State highway fund, including vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Oregon $31,700,000, State highway fund, including vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Pennsylvania $92,000,000, State revenue and vehicle fees.
- Rhode Island $6,500,000, State revenues and gas tax.
- South Dakota $4,000,000, State tax levy and gas tax.
- Tennessee $11,500,000, tolls from bridges (this State also is said to have done something about county bonds).
- Utah $7,250,000, State revenues, vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Virginia $7,500,000, vehicle fees and gas tax.
- Washington, no outstanding bond issue, but payments have been made from highway funds.
- West Virginia $29,800,000, State

Treaty Awaits Signatures Of Japan, Britain

Member of Senate Leave for Short Rests

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—President Hoover today signed the London naval treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The London Naval treaty today bore approval of the senate and awaited ratification by Great Britain before becoming effective.

Meanwhile, the members of the senate, free after 19 months of almost continuous session, journeyed to their homes to seek rest and relaxation and prepare for the coming campaigns.

The treaty was ratified 58 to 9 late yesterday and adjournment sine die followed almost at once. The senate will reconvene in December for the regular "short session" ending March 5, 1931.

Before approving the treaty the legislators adopted the Norris reservation, setting forth the understanding of the senate that the pact is not modified in any way by secret documents or agreements extraneous to itself.

This reservation was introduced after President Hoover had withheld from the senate certain papers having to do with the negotiation of the fact.

Ratification was determinedly opposed by a small group of senators under the leadership of Johnson of California, Moses of New Hampshire and Hale of Maine, all Republicans.

They disputed the claim of the administration that the pact provides for Anglo-American parity and will be the means of a saving to American taxpayers.

In particular, they objected to the cruiser clauses, asserting these involved a departure from the accepted policies of American naval construction.

They argued the pact placed an undesirable restriction on eight-inch gun cruisers and authorized the construction of a large fleet of six-inch gun vessels, a type of war craft which they said was not suited to the naval needs of the country.

On the question of the comparative merits of the six and eight-inch gun cruisers the ranking officers of the navy were in disagreement. They expressed differing points of view in hearing before the foreign relations and naval committees.

ACTION SOON

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—The House of Commons will proceed immediately with further consideration of the bill for giving effect to the London Naval Treaty, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald informed the house this afternoon.

CANDIDATES BEGIN INJECTING PERSONALITIES INTO CAMPAIGN

By The Associated Press

Seeking to reach as many voters as possible in the three remaining days before the first Democratic primary election Saturday, candidates for the party's gubernatorial nomination today continued with increased activities their campaigns.

While speeches of the candidates adhered closely to the general outlines advanced in past weeks, there was noticeable an increased resort to personalities as charges and claims and denials were broadcast.

Speaking at Cleburne yesterday, Earle B. Mayfield attacked Ross Sterling for the latter's assertions that Mr. Mayfield would be controlled by special interests if elected governor. He declared he never had been controlled by any man or group of men, and never would be.

Big Spring's Original Big Spring Starts Flowing After 10 Years

Forty years or more ago Indians, buffaloes, travelers knew of one spot in Howard County where water could be obtained. It was the "big spring," about one mile southwest of the city which now bears its name. Today the spring, after being dormant for 10 years, is again flowing. It will be cleaned out, according to Fox Stripling, owner of the land.

The discovery of the spring was made this week. Cows, being pastured in the cedar mountains adjacent to the city, failed to return to the usual watering place.

They were followed and were found to be watering at the spring. The new flow is approximately one mile north of the original spring.

OKLA. UNDER-SHERIFF, MARSHAL ARE BILLED

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22 (AP)—M. Y. Baker, under sheriff of Beckham county, and C. T. Calvert, city marshal of Erick, were among 23 Erick citizens against whom federal charges have been filed in connection with recent race disturbances in the county. It was revealed today when Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney, made public the names.

George F. Long, deputy United States marshal, went to Beckham county yesterday to arrest the men charged with violating the constitutional rights of negro citizens of Erick, who were driven from their homes following a fatal attack at Shamrock, Texas, by a negro on Mrs. Henry Vaughan, former resident of Erick.

In addition to Bakera and Calvert, those named were John Hahn, Robert Morgan, R. D. Sinclair, A. Daniels, Vergil Hill, Harvey Smith, Otis Sawyer, Eugene Eases, Henry Hester, Robert Blainett, Roy Hefflin, Dewey Miller, Jess Berry, Geo. Cornelison, R. W. Jones, R. J. McClellan, Jack Mudd, Albert Yearly, Jeff Davis, Alva Hester and a man named Long.

Deputy Marshal Long expected to bring the defendants to Oklahoma City for arraignment.

Eight negroes who claimed they had been driven from their homes in disturbances connected with Lewis here today. They unfolded tales of "abject poverty and gross mistreatment," Lewis said. The evicted negroes are scattered in dozens of towns over the state, the prosecutor said, and all are "peniless and in dire need of aid."

Lewis said in every instance the negroes had been forced to abandon crops and live stock and chickens.

Federal action was taken after a delegation of Erick citizens had called on Lewis, charging laxity on the part of local officials.

M. L. Inman, acting sheriff since the slaying last month of Sheriff C. H. Phillips, said members of his staff accompanied night riders merely to see that no violence was done to negroes.

Mrs. Stripling to return from Dallas tonight, after attending the funeral of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Connor. Mrs. Connor was buried Monday.

Brooks Speaks To Rotarians

Declaring "a good citizen is a good Rotarian and a good Rotarian is a good citizen," Judge James T. Brooks, speaking before the Rotary Club today, urged the members to vote Saturday in the July primary.

"There is one sure way of showing your citizenship, and that is to use your vote. Use it Saturday," he declared.

Judge Brooks urged the Rotarians to "play aside selfishness and do things that will help your fellow men."

The program for the day was in charge of Elmo Wasson. Readings by little Miss K. Daniel Howard, and musical numbers by the Jackson Sisters and Mary Wade, featured the entertainment.

F. W. Crow, Dallas, formerly of Baker Hotels, was a guest of the club and extended words of greeting.

The value of the student loan fund was discussed by Dr. W. E. Ryan of Midland.

Guests of the club, besides those appearing on the program, were Ed Cole, Midland and J. W. McCleary, Lubbock.

Visiting Rotarians present were Dr. Ryan, Taylor Long, Midland, and Ward Merrick, Ardmore.

CROMWELL 'STANDING BY' FOR DECISION AS TO AIR MAIL

SAN ANGELO, July 22.—D. D. Myers, traffic manager of the Cromwell Air Lines, Inc., issued a statement Tuesday for Carl Cromwell in order, he said, to correct an impression which he feels the public might have concerning the discontinuance of service on the Cromwell Air Lines.

"In suspending our service," he said, "we do not intend to abandon the line, but have merely stopped operations pending action of the Postoffice Department in awarding the mail contracts."

"The cost of operation under the present business conditions, which is partly due to the fact that many commercial travelers are taking their vacations during the summer season, was more than Mr. Cromwell felt he could stand. We are qualified under the law to bid on

STATEMENT ISSUED BY R. STERLING

HARLINGEN, Texas, July 22 (AP)—R. S. Sterling, of Houston, gubernatorial candidate, said in a statement today there was "absolutely no ground for the contention that the public schools would lose one penny through the issuance of road bonds paid out of the gasoline tax."

The statement:

"Under the constitution one-fourth of the gasoline tax is, as collected, automatically placed to the credit of the public school fund of Texas. No legislature, no governor and no one else can change that. The proposal to issue bonds payable out of the gasoline tax can not affect the one-fourth school tax. I have always explained that the bonds will be paid out of three-fourths of the tax. The constitution would not permit otherwise. I advocated the increase of the two cent tax to the present rate.

"There is absolutely no ground for the contention that the public schools would lose one penny through the issuance of road bonds paid out of the gasoline tax. The fact that the gasoline tax has been increased for road building is responsible for the substantial increase in the per capita for the school children of this state."

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—

Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller came to Granbury this afternoon to further his candidacy for governor.

"The strongest platform that any candidate for office can offer is a good record," Miller said. "I respectfully submit to the people of Texas my record of sixteen years' service—as a member of the state senate, as a member of the house of representatives, and as lieutenant governor for three successive terms. On the record I have made in these positions, I ask for promotion to the high office of governor."

Miller gave a short history of his life in Dallas county since 1882 and explained the planks of his platform concerning taxation, labor, education, law enforcement, highways and prisons.

General Heat Wave Made His Stand Today in the Parboiled East

His doom before nightfall seemed imminent, for the weather man finally inserted a "positively" in front of his prediction of cooling showers, and skies were overcast in the regions where heat and humidity persisted.

The same story came to the Associated Press from New York, from Richmond, Va., Baltimore, Philadelphia and New Haven, Conn., the remaining sufferers from a blast of heat which has been focussing itself in a steadily narrowing circle on the east for the last four days.

"Thunder showers this afternoon and tonight; cooler tonight and tomorrow."

Rain already had tempered the heat in and around Pittsburgh, Albany, Cleveland, Buffalo, Boston, Newark and Nashville, Kentucky, and the south in general had more moderate weather, but some communities in that section still looked in vain for rain.

Under the clouds the temperature had waned to 79 in New York at 10 a. m. (EST) but it was 94 in Baltimore, 87 in Philadelphia and 80 in Newark at midnoon.

Loss of life attributable to the heat continued to mount. Virginia reported two deaths and five prostrations during the hot spell, Baltimore marked up two more fatalities, Albany had one prostration, New Jersey counted fourteen dead and more than 40 prostrated by the heat in 24 hours, and Ohio counted eleven deaths from heat yesterday.

Philadelphia feared a water famine unless rain came.

In Washington it was 95 this morning, but showers were on the way.

New York had one death due to heat today. Its parks were open all night to outdoor sleepers, and a thousand persons slept in Battery Park and hundreds at other parks and beaches. Among the city's heat victims were eighteen draft horses. Seventeen were prostrated and one died in yesterday's heat, the society for prevention of cruelty to animals reported.

C. Lamar following. Old fiddlers will furnish entertaining for awhile, this to be followed by a song service led by W. R. Purser.

The election of officers will be held at 4 o'clock, following short talks by the veteran Howard county residents.

ALEXANDER OFFER

GALESBURG, Ill., July 22 (AP)—Grewer Cleveland Alexander, released by Dallas of the Texas League, was given a telegraphic invitation today to return to the scene of his first triumph in organized baseball and finish the season with the Galesburg team. He was asked to name his own terms.

Twenty years ago Alexander at the age of 22 signed a contract at $100 a month to pitch for Galesburg in the now defunct Illinois and Missouri League. His success was immediate and sensational. Big league scouts came to see him perform, but shortly before they arrived he was hit on the head with a ball and laid up in a hospital with his eyes badly crossed. Indianapolis signed the young pitcher when he recovered.

The Galesburg independents, a leading semi-pro team of Central Illinois, now seek the veteran's services.

VERDILL COWAN

What fine news this is for those mothers who are worrying over the ill health of a beloved son or daughter. Read what Konjola did for Verdill Cowan, 7, of 614 West Second street, Fort Worth, Texas. His mother, Mrs. B. M. Cowan, says:

Konjola restored my health, and now I want to tell what this splendid medicine did for my son. He was always tired and under weight. His appetite was so poor that sometimes he went all day with no nourishment other than a glass of milk. I was greatly worried over his condition. But Konjola proved to be the very medicine and tonic he needed. In three weeks a remarkable change came over him. He is not tired; eats three meals a day and is gaining in weight and strength. He looks better than he ever did. I surely recommend Konjola to every mother who has an ailing child.

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such ingredients its seeming wonder to perform.

Konjola is sold in Big Spring, Texas, at Collins Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—adv.

Where Did They Originate?

Where does the modern woman of today get the time that she spends with her family, her friends or in cultivating the finer side of life? Her mother, tied down by household duties, never had even a small part of the freedom that her modern daughter enjoys every day throughout the year.

Of the many things that have contributed to this modern freedom from household duties, the greatest is electric appliances. At every turn in the modern home are electric appliances which save time—precious minutes, which, rolled together make house saved from drudgery to be used for the more pleasant things of life.

From the living room to the kitchen, electricity has changed arduous tasks to simple duties. It has eliminated most of the muscular effort from cleaning and has simplified many other household tasks. Above all, the electric range has given the modern woman many new hours of freedom from work in the kitchen.

It's the very simplicity of the electric range, the uniform results which are possible when cooking by electricity and the small amount of attention necessary to prepare foods electrically are a few reasons why the electric range is considered the most valuable time saver in the home.

Disappearance of Python Is Probed

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Disappearance of the 20 foot, 200 pound Indian python from a cage at Sea Breeze park last Thursday was under investigation today by city and county authorities.

Widespread terror among cottagers and visitors to the Lake Ontario resort has prevailed since rumors that the reptile had been seen in outlying parks and suburbs. Court action to determine whether the python actually escaped, was stolen or hidden with a view toward publicity, so far has failed to reveal anything except that the snake was gone.

Since Thursday a large force of armed men have been searching the woods and brush in the vicinity day and night. The reptile exhibit at the park has been closed.

Austin Poor Farm Inmate Kills Pal

AUSTIN, July 22 (AP)—Two aged men, inmates of the county poor farm, who enforced companionship had been a long series of quarrels, had their last fight today.

J. M. McKem, 76, was killed by a blow from a cane. The other fled to woods nearby, where he was sought by the sheriff this afternoon. The men were disputing over ownership of the cane and the younger man—60 years old—gained possession, striking McKem over the head. He fell, mortally injured. Charges probably will be filed when the fugitive is found.

Sid Millspaugh In Town From Angelo

Sid Millspaugh of San Angelo was in town a while Tuesday. Old-timers will remember him.

It was Sid who sold a section of land south of here for $1,500 to pay for a real wedding trip. That section a few years ago became the scene of the discovery of the Clay oil pool.

"But I made a good deal," Millspaugh declared. "The wife I married to take on that trip was worth a lot more than the oil would have been."

Mr. Millspaugh is a nephew of R. C. Sanderson of Big Spring. He came to Howard county about 32 years ago and was the first man to go into the sheep business hereabouts on a large scale. He leased Mr. Sanderson's ranch and operated it until about 15 years ago. He had bought the section of land and sold it when he married. Back in the old days he was the champion steer roping of these parts.

Plane Throws Pilot, Descends Uninjured

SAN ANTONIO, July 22 (AP)—Hurled unexpectedly into space when the safety belt on his trim pursuit ship broke as he flew 14 miles from the city today, Lieut. Frederic H. Smith, Jr., student officer of Kelly Field, quickly resorted to his parachute and descended to the ground uninjured.

The altitude from which Smith was literally dumped into space was not known shortly after the accident. The officer was said to have escaped injury, but that the ship was completely demolished.

With his successful descent, Lieut. Smith automatically became a member of the rare mythical organization known as the "Tumble Bug Club." The organization is different and more exclusive than the "Caterpillar Club" in that the pilot must be thrown from his ship in some manner.

Lieut. Smith is 22 years old and his home is in Washington, D. C.

The committee gave a vote of confidence to S. M. McLaren, in charge of the special audit under supervision of Moore Lynn, state auditor.

COLONEL GILFEATHER Trade Mark Registration Applied by Dick Dorgan For U. S. Patent Office

Guiding Our Children

CHILDREN were told to honor their fathers and mothers back in the days of Abraham and Isaac. Honor somehow became synonymous for obey, and a child who didn't follow the parental injunction was accused of wrongdoing.

But case after case has appeared in recent years in which parents took advantage of that misinterpretation of the word "honor" to use their children as tools, and another instance has just come to light.

In Chicago the other day a man killed his wife while she was sunbathing on the telephone. Later his small daughter admitted that he had forced her to say that her mother had a paramour with her at the time. The father wanted to use the story that he had been defending his wife from the man.

The little girl didn't want to tell that lie. But the man who asked her to do so was her father, and he had taught her that children must do as their parents tell them.

The country witnessed a tragedy not long ago when a child's witness sent two men to prison as kidnappers of another child. He, too, it appeared, had been primed. His father told him what to say, and he did as he was told. This situation became so hopelessly involved with the passage of time that it has never been solved.

When a child will lie because he thinks it is wiser to disobey a parent than to tamper with truth, it is time for fathers and mothers to realize just how important they are as factors in the character formation of their children. All children are alike in the fealty they give their parents. Parents rule their world.

Of course it is a pretty safe bet that four plays an active part in the stories of those who lie because they are told to do so. But at the same time, the child thinks that the parent has a right to inflict that punishment just because he is a parent.

Life is pretty hard on children sometimes. It would be well if fathers and mothers occasionally would decide to honor their children, small sons and daughters.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

PHYSICAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL

The world of late, to use the common vernacular, has gone "psychologic."

As if to amend for the centuries of neglect and ignorance, psychologic ideas have caught the fancy of the man in the street and terms of the specialty have been incorporated in his every-day speech.

In the long run this popular concern with psychology is bound to prove helpful. A certain amount of caution, at this time, however, would tend to minimize the hazard involved in the too-ready acceptance of exaggerated ideas.

Even as formerly major emphasis was placed upon the physical condition and little thought given to the psychologic, so today there is a tendency for excessive emphasis upon the psychologic, with little or no thought to the physical. This is particularly true of child health.

It was not so long ago that the intelligence quotient of the child was considered a fixed, qualitative index to the child's intelligence.

Nowadays, however, we have witnessed how the intelligence quotient of a child may be raised through improved nutrition, the correction of physical defects, and the improvements of health habits.

In many a problem-child, so-called, the source of the difficulty lies in defective vision or impaired hearing, or in the irritability that so often goes with malnutrition.

Achievement in school work, it has been demonstrated not only upon inherent intelligence but upon the physical condition of the child—upon the tonus and the size of the adrenals, for instance.

In a recent study on the effects of the removal of tonsils and adenoids in children suffering from these and kindred conditions, it was found that even in those normally below normal, intelligence improved as physical handicaps were removed.

"A healthy mind in a healthy body" is an old and hackneyed expression, but despite its bromidic character it still is as valid today as it was when first coined. The physical and the psychologic are physical and the two are closely interdependent.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—A role that is meant to the aspiring actress often is just hash, and not much of that, to a star.

That is why Evelyn Knapp, a young actress who has appeared in only one picture will have the feminine name lead in "The River's End," new taut version of the James Oliver Curwood novel and silent film.

The feminine name lead as it happens, is not much of a role as the picture is almost wholly a "man's story."

Derby Mackall, originally signed for the part to be co-featured in the billing with Charles Bickford, frankly resented it and consequently was relieved.

To have gone through with it would have been a decided comedown for Derby who left First National as a star—and especially so since she is now free-lancing.

But for the little known Evelyn Knapp, the role is a good break one that should pave the way for better things, just as the unappreciated feminine lead in "Hell's Angels," likewise not much of a part, was a godsend to that other unknown, Jean Harlow.

SCENARIO GHOST-WRITING

Mention of Curwood recalls another story. "The Man from Hell's River" which some years ago reached the screen under his name although the late novelist had nothing to do with it besides giving his consent.

Irving Cummings, now an ace director, made the picture, and the other day told the story.

Cummings used to be a popular leading man in silent pictures, about ten years ago. When the collar-and tie type of lead came in, he took warning and decided to become a director before it was too late. His studio wouldn't rear of it, so Cummings nailed scenes and set out independently.

STARRING IT ALL

His wife pawned her jewelry, they mortgaged their home, and with the proceeds the two launched on a series of two-reelers, Cummings acting and directing, his wife assisting in various ways. They clicked.

For his first feature picture Cummings wanted a Curwood story, but could not afford to pay for screen rights to a novel.

He wrote the novel about it, and Curwood agreed to the use of his name for $4,000. So the story "by James Oliver Curwood" became a movie.

All Curwood did was to approve the scenario. Cummings wrote it.

WEDDING, TONY!

Tony thought for a moment. "I'll tell you what, Mary Lou. I won't attend, but I'll fly down in Gay Girl. What time is the ceremony?"

"Two."

"Well, on your way to the church look up into the sky. I'll write a message of good luck—just for you, Mary Lou. When you see Gay Girl, wave. Please wave, Mary Lou—"

It suddenly seemed desperately important she should wave to him tomorrow.

"All right," she promised. "I'll do it. But I must be getting back to town, Tony. Jay and I simply must catch the four o'clock train."

"Oh, damn the train," said Tony with vehemence. "I've a little gift for you, Mary Lou. May I give it to you now?"

He took from his pocket a small red velvet box and pushed it awkwardly into her hands. Mary Lou stood in the sunlight and opened it—a miniature of Gay Girl set in diamonds, on a long thin platinum brooch.

Tears stung her eyes and her hand shook as she held it.

"It's lovely, Tony."

"Wanted you to have something to remind you of the flight," he mumbled.

Something to remind her of the flight...

The ride back to town was miserable. The silence bristled with things they wanted to say, but couldn't say. And everything they could say seemed utterly futile and useless.

At last, back in front of Jay's shop, Mary Lou stood by the curb and prayed for some miracle to prolong the moment, Tony fidgeted with the steering wheel, then put the car into gear.

"Well, cheerio, Mary Lou. Don't forget to watch for Gay Girl tomorrow—"

(Copyright, 1930, Maymie Greig)

In tomorrow's chapter Tony makes a desperate effort to draw his regrets.

By George H. Dern

WHEN WE are sick and a skillful physician cures us for a consideration we appreciate his service and honor his profession, as we ought to do.

But the public health physician who keeps us from getting sick and thereby saves us from doctor bills and from the loss of wages during sickness, is often overlooked, and goes his humble way unrecognized and unappreciated.

He is nevertheless, among the worthiest of public benefactors. He saves countless lives and thereby averts sorrow and broken hearts and homes. He saves expense and loss of earnings and thereby helps reduce poverty and want.

I make no invidious comparisons and do not minimize the value of the practitioner who is called in to heal the sick. Whether done for pay or not, surely no man can do a greater service to another than to restore him to health.

It is sometimes puzzling that States or cities should be so reluctant to give adequate financial support to their public health departments. Surely no public expenditure

COSDEN DEFEATS BANKERS DESPITE RALLY

POOL TURNS TRIPLE PLAY

And this afternoon, just as the cool of the day will be sweeping in to the portals of the sunken garden, Richardson Refinery and the Barbers will meet and fight it out.

The Barbers, at the present quotation, are leading the league, while Cosden is pressing them with much gusto et cetera. Richardson galloped in a southern direction with the first ball panned and is content to await serenely the outcome of the second. The Barbers, composed of spike drivers, razor-wielders, supply men and ambitious school boys, are strong; there is no denying it. A great mass should see the fray this afternoon.

Our scout, who so graciously absorbed various portions of the Cosden-Bankers fray in our stead, reports that Taylor fumbled a ball and got credit for an assist. We have no doubt but what Taylor was seriously afflicted with a bad case of the fumbles. The scout relates that Taylor fumbled the ball, gave it a boost in the general direction of Kendrick and short and that had tossed the runner out at the initial. Quite unique. Quite.

Schwartzbach, which, we are sure is the wrong way to spell it, but a person having a name as long as that doesn't deserve to have it spelled correctly. Schwartzbach, usual yesterday. Schwartzbach—when I twisted last year for the Shamrock Drug outfit and was considered the better of the best. He has been scurrying around in the outfield most of the year, got his release from the Barbers, and moved his bed and board over to the confines of the Bankers' encampment. It is doubtful if the outfield will be favored with his presence any more. J. E. Payne, the dipper of the dime changers, probably will add his name to the list of those who have been.

We would rather the various managers of the various clubs wouldn't use up all their pitchers this week. It is well to bear in mind the Abilene All-Stars, representing, as it were, the chief gathering place of dear old Taylor County, will invade the city Sunday afternoon for a gentle rapping. With everything normal and plenty of ice water the Big Spring contingent should be inhaling sweet breeze when the battle is over. Of course there is a possibility that the Abilene aggression will take the Big Spring crew for a gentle whamming. But it is very remote. Vague. And other adverbs.

Billy Gibson, a fight promoter of the days gone by, has a tough row ahead of him. The manager of Gene Tunney and Benny Leonard is slipping mentally. During his life he has made fortune as a fight manager. At 64 years of age he stands—adjudged mentally incompetent by a New York jury. His huge great fortune has dwindled gradually until it is slightly over $24,000. There is lots of money in the fight racket. But who gets it? Tex Rickard probably made more out of it than any man, but he died with slightly more than nothing for his family. Some bank it and keep it; others think it like the one horse shay, goes on forever. Tunney got out of the ring with a nice surplus. Dempsey purchased California real estate, but even at that his fortune has gone down the scale. The easy made money is something out of the ordinary routine to the ordinary fighter, who is just a ham-and-egger gone up. He takes it and spends it, and when he stops all he has left to show for his ring career is a couple of cauliflower ears, a cavity where teeth once reposed, and probably a triple jointed beaver.

The difference between Dempsey and Tunney is in their viewpoints. Dempsey preferred the howl of the mob. Tunney listened to the gentle aria of dollars dropping upon dollars. Dempsey wanted the crowd with him. Tunney didn't especially care. Dempsey was a boy brought out of the mines and basked in the glory of worship. Tunney's ring career was strictly business and when that business was completed he was through. Tunney will go down in ring history as one of the strangest figures ever to step on the thin canvas.

Vick, the silent umpire of the City League, confided in us Sunday that maybe he had better quit. Declared some of the boys were howling. We told him we couldn't see how that could be, inasmuch as they had never howled at any of the other arbiters. Not that Mr. Vick winds the howling. He gets three

Treasury Outwits Oilers, Swartz Hurls

Featuring one of baseball's rarest, a triple play, the Cosden Oilers turned back the lowly Bankers in spite of a seventh inning rally that put the tying runs on base, by a 9 to 7 margin.

The Bankers outhit the Cosden aggregation fifteen to eleven, but four of the hits slammed out by Spike Henninger's band of redcaps were doubles and Ed Sain took charging honors with a pair of triples. Schwarzenbach had a great day on the mound and at bat, relieving Gannaway in the third inning and holding the Oilers to one run the rest of the game, and adding ineffectual injury by pounding out three safeties, one a double to right. Potter whiffed ten men, but hard hitting coupled with erratic fielding in the eventful seventh almost caused a voyage to the showers for the handsome southpaw.

The Cosden aggregation started off like most clubs do against the Bankers, with a barrage of hits. Martin was safe on Kendrick's error, Sain hit his first triple of the game, Harris singled, Morton forced Harris, West and Baker singled, and Pool doubled to send five runs across the plate. The Bankers came back and scored when Taylor's double against the left field wall brought J. C. Moore, Ribco manager temporarily with the Bankers, home.

Cosden continued in the second. Singles by Adams and Harris, a walk given to Sain, and a double by Morton brought a trio of redcaps across the plate. Five singles netted the Bankers only a pair of runs in their half.

From then until the seventh it was Schwarzenbach versus Potter, and luck was with them both. Taylor barely tipped a high bounding grounder in the sixth and Kendrick shot over from his short position to scoop it up and retire the runner at first.

In the fifth it happened Kendrick and Taylor singled to put a man on first and second with none out. J. Payne slammed a liner at Pool, Cosden third baseman. A second liner the Cosden man was trotting nonchalantly into the dugout. Pool tagged Kendrick coming from second and then threw Taylor out before he could get back to the initial sack.

In the seventh the splendid support Potter had been given almost crumbled as the Bankers made a game attempt to tie the score. Payne laid one down and was safe when the Pool of triple play fame threw wild to first. Swartz helped his own cause by slamming a double to right that brought Payne home. Moore singled, was joined on the paths by Taylor when Martin and Potter got into an argument over who should field a slow fly grounder between pitcher and first base. Pool gallantly gave back the unnecessary two outs he had caused in the fifth inning by muffing J. Payne's roller. Madison brought a pair home with a Texas League to left that evaded Adams' clutching talons, and with the tying runs on base Potter struck out Barry and forced Hurt to ground out. Pool to Martin.

Lloyd Nordstrom, a rank outsider from Davenport, Iowa, led the field with the 72 as the second half of the 36 holed rive opened today. One shot behind him were Cyril Tolley of Great Britain, one of the titanic threats, Johnny Lehman of Chicago and Don Armstrong of Aurora, Illinois.

ARMY UNIFORM AWAITS RETURN OF CARNERA TO HOMETOWN

OMAHA, Neb., July 22 (AP)—An Italian army uniform and oblivion—that is the future for Primo Carnera, giant Venetian heavyweight, according to Frank Passacassi, business manager of the Carnera troupe.

Passacassi gave expression to his views last night after reading a telegram from Byron H. Uhl, assistant commissioner of immigration, stating that an extension of the stay in the United States had been denied the big boy and Leon See, his French manager.

"Primo has a year of service in Italy," Passacassi related. "That will spell finish to his career. When he leaves the army he won't be worth a darn."

Passacassi disclosed that Carnera's managers had obtained from Premier Mussolini himself an extension by which the time for Primo's induction into the Duke's forces was advanced six months. That extension is now near expiration and the day on which the gladiator must turn from pugilistic to military science is fast approaching.

"And," lamented Passacassi, "we were going to get him matched with Jack Dempsey and Young Stribling."

Passacassi received word yesterday that Carnera and See must vacate America. It was in a telegram addressed to me, and informed him that the state department had refused extension of stay to him and his charge and that they must prepare to leave the country. Passacassi said that he had communicated the orders to See at Steubenville, Ohio, where Carnera appeared on an exhibition last night.

CHICAGO, July 22 (AP)—Nisevier took five and two were even. Rann, Swedish heavyweight, will encounter an aggressive boxer who flailed him at every coming to the United States, when he meets Willis Hoffman of Grand Rapids, Mich., in a 10-rounder at the Congress Arcade arena tonight hereafter.

SOUTHERN TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Catherine Wolfe, of Indianapolis, won the Southern women's tennis singles championship at Memphis, Tenn. Bryan Grant, of Atlanta (inset) won the men's southern title for the fourth consecutive year.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, rugged New Yorker, finds Benny Bass as easy to conquer as a junior lightweight as he did as a featherweight.

Three years ago Canzoneri won the featherweight crown from Bass and last night he gave the Philadelphia, who is recognized in many states as junior lightweight champion, one of the worst beatings of his career in a 10-round bout at the Philadelphia park. Although the match had been arranged as a non-title bout, it was reported that Canzoneri would claim the championship. When they weighed in at 125 1/2 lbs., yesterday Bass weighed 125 1/4, while Canzoneri sealed only 123 3/4, a quarter of a pound below the junior lightweight limit.

Due to the wording of the contract, which stipulated that the New Yorker must weigh more than 130, Frank Wiener, chairman of the state athletic commission, ordered Canzoneri to go out and eat. When he returned he weighed 131 3/4. Reports said that Canzoneri would claim the title because he was under the junior lightweight limit at the official weighing time.

Bass won only three rounds, and these by narrow margins. Canzoneri took five and two were even. Rann, Swedish heavyweight, will encounter an aggressive boxer who flailed him at every coming to the United States, when he meets Willis Hoffman of Grand Rapids, Mich., in a 10-rounder at the Congress Arcade arena tonight hereafter.

BUFFS BOW TO WACO CUBS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Apparently sensing a golden opportunity to overhaul the Spudders and capture the second half flag as a result of his team's phenomenal success under the flood lights, "Papa" Del Pratt has come out of his semi-retirement and lent his big bat to the Waco Cubs' assault on opposing moundmen.

For two straight days the veteran second baseman, who has been trying to give Waco a pennant for six seasons, has delivered at the crucial moment to defeat the Houston Buffs. Last night's 8 to 7 triumph, coming with the Spudders idle, showed the Cubs within a game and a half of the leaders and left them in undisputed possession of second place.

More than 5,000 fans, the largest crowd ever to see a game at Katy Park, rent the night air last evening as Pratt, inserting himself as a pinch hitter in the ninth, pounded one over the wall with a run-a-head of him into the score at 7-4 and paved the way for a Waco victory. On the previous day he had defeated the Bisons with a perfectly executed squeeze play in the eighth.

George Biehoff, veteran backstop, shared honors with his pilot last night. Coming up in the fifth with the bases loaded and the visitors leading 4 to 1, he put one of Lefty Reinhardt's offerings overboard to send the Cubs into the lead.

The Fort Worth Gate dropped back when Shreveport stopped them in their final 5 to 3. Underhill and Moulton limited the Felices to six hits, while Hen Hardaway, who went the route for the Panthers, gave up eight and lacked control. As in practically every game played at Shreveport under the stars so far, errors were frequent, the Sports making four bottles and the Cats a pair.

All of the northern clubs were deep in southern territory today on their final invasion of the year. The Dallas Steers were to help the Houston Buffs dedicate their new lighting system tonight. Shreveport was at Waco, Fort Worth at Beaumont and Wichita Falls at San Antonio.

Expect Tilden To Be Set For Fight

ATLANTA, Ga., July 22 (AP)—Night baseball had been inaugurated into the Southern Association today.

Under the lights at Kevanagh field, Little Rock, Ark., last night the Travelers engaged the Birmingham Barons in one of the only two games in the league yesterday.

The Travelers delighted a home-town throng by defeating the Barons 9 to 8 in ten innings.

The status was pocketed and even ten trees surrounding the park glowed with shining faces of members of the kno-hok brigade.

The Barons put 11 hits and erred twice, the Travelers 15 hits and one error.

In the other game of the day, New Orleans on their home lot defeated Nashville 4 to 2. Sanders, Vol hurler, allowed only five hits and Barnhart yielded but six.

The Vols' pitcher erred twice but knocked out five New Orleans batters. Sanders gave up eight bases on balls while his opponent pitched only four and the Vols' fourable play about excitement to the fans.

PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDY OF BOBBY

ATLANTA, July 22 (AP)—A photographic study of the golfing wizardry of Bobby Jones which one golf expert described as the "greatest forward step in golf teaching" ever made has been completed here with a super-speed camera taking 3,000 pictures a second.

Details of the study, made for the Professional Golfers Association of America at the East Lake Country club, Bobby's home course yesterday, was revealed today.

C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, inventor of television and broadcasting of motion pictures, George Sargent, former president of the P. G. A. and John W. Ogle, a cameraman, were in charge of the work.

The world's greatest golfer executed his strokes in actual shots while the camera, one of four of its kind in the world, roared wildly as its high speed mechanism recorded the strokes for posterity.

After the tests Jones demonstrated a few practice strokes on the fairway and ended the afternoon by dropping one 180-yard iron shot into the hole.

Sargent said there has been "too much guesswork and tradition in the teaching of golf" and that the machine "is only showing what actually takes place in a golfing stroke, in every detail. It is the purpose of the P. G. A. to make a complete set of shots by Bobby Jones, the greatest of the modern golfers, and of Harry Vardon, greatest of the old masters of golf, and of Miss Joyce Wethered, greatest of women players," he said.

Sargent and Ogle will sail August 5 for England to make pictures of Miss Wethered and Vardon.

The super-speed camera is operated by an automobile starter, with two batteries attached, giving it eight horsepower. O. B. Keeler, golf writer for the Atlanta Journal, describing the tests, said "The 200 feet of film shoot through it in one second with a noise like the ripping up of 40,000 linen sheets. I told Bobby he never need do any flinching because of gallery noises, any noise. He didn't seem to mind the flash racket at all."

CUBS GRAPE NATIONAL LEAD

Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Joe McCarthy, the minor leaguer who made good in the "big time" without previous major league experience, today had the Chicago Cubs again out in front, setting the pace in the hectic National League pennant scramble.

The Cubs moved into the ruling seat yesterday by blanking the Giants 6 to 0 while the Robins were breaking even with the St. Louis Cardinals, Brooklyn taking the first encounter 9 to 8 and the Cards the closing contest 17 to 10. The Cubs' victory and the Robins' even break sent the champions to the front by one-half game. Here is how the standings look today: Chicago won 52, lost 37 for .584, Brooklyn won 50, lost 36 for .581.

Each Wilson, the National League home run king, played an important role in the Cubs' victory. He pounded out his twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth homers, which, coupled with Eddie Farrell's hit of the same nature accounted for five runs. The other was a gift from Roy Parmelee, who relieved Tiny Chapin in the seventh.

The other was a gift from Roy Parmelee, who relieved Tiny Chapin in the seventh.

Harve sent the ball sailing over the fence, three runs crossed the plate and the game was over. The second contest was all Cardinals, however, as they pounded old Adolphe Laque from the mound and then fell on Elliott, Dooly and Clark just as frantically. French connected with his second home run of the day and Lee hit one for Brooklyn as a pinch hitter in the first inning.

Lester Sweetland had one of his best days as the Phillies trimmed the Pirates 7 to 2. Home runs by Southern and Whitney featured the attack that centered in the first and fifth rounds.

The leaders in the American League found the going tough, the Athletics losing to the Tigers 1 to 0, the Senators dropping their second successive game to the Browns 6 to 4.

George Ertzbach was the victim of the Tigers' eleven hit attack which included seven extra base hits. The champions managed to stay in the running until the ninth, when Charlie Gehringer, who had tripled and stole home in the fifth, led off a rally with a double.

Although held to five hits by Inouye, Brown and Laska, the Browns took advantage of nine errors on bats to defeat the Senators. Stewart, who went the route for the winners, scattered Washington ten hits.

Earl Ruth, pined out his thirty-fifth home run and Lou Gehrig his twenty-eighth as Ed Witt won his seventh game when the Yankees defeated the Indians 7 to 2. Harry Frazar also hit the ball over the fence for the Yankees.

Frazier broke up the White Sox tie-game winning a week by taking the final of the year 5 to 1 before the House of Duesenberg. The Sox total run numbers, including what was made by Frazier, topped the game as the Yankees being played in the hour 2, 3, 4.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

NEWS BRIEFS

THE Associated Press

BRIEFPORT, Conn.—Boris Serebrensky, aviator, knows how to get a plane flying, he taxied his amphibian plane on the water and then took to the air and shivered. "It was so cold up there," he said, "that I froze on my windshield."

NEW YORK—The weather has solved a problem at the Central Park zoo. For ten days a Malay Tiger refused to eat. Then it became so warm that she evidently thought she was in her native jungle. On the hottest day for years she kicked her fast with raw meat.

INSTANBUL—Twenty-one American students have swum the Hellespont like Byron. As a reward they have sprigs of laurel from the garden of Mrs. Henry Bacon, widow of an American architect.

MILFORD, Conn.—Robert G. Haskell, a Bridgeport truckman, will see shellfish. He ate 124 Little Neck clams in 20 minutes, asked for more, then went home and had a lobster for desert.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Allentown, Pa.

Can we ever exclude private judgment in religious thinking? I have wondered what will become of religious progress if we do.

Protestantism emphasizes the freedom of private judgment and the New Testament. Cardinal lies upon its products for many a man. In his essay on this question, its finest interpretations of the spirit of the Catholic Church, pointing to the pronouncement of the Council of Trent, proceeded at the demand of life. It has grown a branch of the tree of logic and of the spirit of the Church of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

debated to the free and unfettered thinking of elect men!

The great doctrines which consciously formulate Biblical teaching have been reproduced by such men. The development of those doctrines is evident in the books of the Old Testament and the New Testament. Cardinal lies upon its products for many a man. In his essay on this question, its finest interpretations of the spirit of the Catholic Church, pointing to the pronouncement of the Council of Trent, proceeded at the demand of life. It has grown a branch of the tree of logic and of the spirit of the Church of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Who can fully estimate the service rendered by individuals to the common faith? Reflect on the visioned beliefs of St. Paul, St. Augustine, St. Anselm, St. Thomas, John Bradwardine, John Calvin and John Wesley. These beliefs have literally recreated civilizations. Once the ideals generated in the mind of a solitary Christian thinker dominated by the Holy Spirit command themselves to Christian experience they become universal. Therein lies the vindication you suggest and it is complete and overwhelming.

Do you think that the present decided swing toward greater freedom of action is a permanent one, or will the pendulum swing back after an interval?

That larger personal freedom is the modern quest, few will deny. But the quest pursues variety and these determine its quality and success. Unfortunately, some of these courses monopolize, and give it an emphasis which good life resents. Experiments in this direction are made by those who advocate the abandonment of religious and social laws governing sex relations.

Yet who knows how the experiments will work? Experience warns us that not a few now publicly discussed have a bad history. Observation admonishes us that their results are at best dubious and at worst fatal to human peace and welfare. Consider, for example, companionate marriage, which is respectable when compared with some radical proposals of this order. Yet it lacks the essentials for permanent good in the matrimonial contract.

The physiological plea set up for child marriage in India. I do not believe any sociologist of recognized standing regards such marriages as desirable. Nevertheless, they are seriously advised by those who demand "greater freedom of action."

All freedom is regulated by certain conditions which, if obeyed, prevent freedom. Perfect obedience to a perfect law would make man as free as the stars in their mighty motions. Since such perfection is unattainable by him, he must obey the law he knows or suffer the consequences of useless rebellion.

More, the increasing complexity of life indicates the further restriction of the individual. People living in huge centers cannot act with the liberty of pioneers on the frontier. At present the chief search for more liberty is contained in the organized effort to get rid of war. If the world were delivered from its foul tyranny, the real values of life would have a fresh lining.

Do you still assert as you have done, that "liberty is an essential part of the good of everything"? If so, what about the liberty infringed upon by the Eighteenth Amendment?

Liberty is what I have claimed it to be and experience warrants the claim. But there are other qualities of life which appear to be neglected by many who clamor for their personal freedom. What about duty, service, sacrifice, responsibility and unselfish devotion to the public welfare?

Have these no place in a citizen's program? I venture to think they have a very large one, and that lasting freedom depends upon their faithful observance. You cannot have liberty without self-regulation and regard for social benefit. What ever contribute to that benefit becomes your imperative obligation. The Eighteenth Amendment is both sustained and assailed. The question is whether social control of an acknowledged evil is justly provided for by that amendment.

For such sports as motorcycling, was out of place and not to be encouraged. Miss Morris appeared in court in a blue lounge suit with gray necktie and pearl pin. The woman's Sport Federation was represented by women lawyers.

LIQUOR TRIAL LEAVES JAIL UNGUARDED

SAN RAFAEL, Cal. (INS)—The whole Marin county sheriff's force was subpoenaed to appear as witnesses in a federal court liquor trial in San Francisco recently. And immediately the question arose—whom's going to take care of the county jail?

Mrs. Ellen Keating, woman sheriff, admitted she did not know. Besides Mrs. Keating the others subpoenaed were her son, Under-sheriff Richard Keating and Deputy Sheriff Leslie Tracy and Alex S. McCurdy.

They are wanted as prosecution witnesses in the trial of Clinton Mason, Marin county millionaire, and others accused of manufacturing liquor.

FRENCH WOMEN LOSE ZEST FOR AVIATION

PARIS (INS)—French women apparently took a greater interest in air flying during the pioneer period before the Great War than they do today. Of the 18 French women who have qualified for the pilot's license, 12 of them passed their examinations between 1908 and 1914. One of them is now lecturing in the interest of aviation and several others have abandoned flying for marriage. Two other women fliers are soon expected to qualify for pilot's licenses.

On the other hand, French girls and women, who for years practically took no interest in sports, are now playing football, hockey, basket ball and running cross-country races in increasing numbers. Perhaps they play shorter periods of football than the men and their cross-country races are seldom more than two miles, but they show no lack of vim and energy in everything they are doing. Tennis and swimming, riding and motorcycling claim as many devotees as among the men.

One of the most strenuous French sportswomen, Violette Morris, recently created quite a little stir in Paris by insisting upon wearing trousers wherever she went. The court dismissed her suit for four thousand dollars damages, and ruled that the wearing of trousers by a woman, even though she be a fervent sportive, and even

Business Lull Stirs Building Needs

CHICAGO (INS)—A reservoir of new building projects is being created through the slack construction this year and when a revival occurs, it probably will exceed normal building conditions, according to reports from 70 branch sales offices to the heating research bureau of the C. A. Dunham Company. "The history of the industry," the research experts state, "is that swings in both directions are too severe. Controlled stability of business, the chief aim, may finally be achieved by proper guidance of the building industry."

When labor is plentiful and materials cheap relatively few concerns push their plans and make large savings, the company officials claim.

RAINS ENDANGER TOBACCO CROP

WINDSOR, Conn. (INS)—Woes of the tobacco grower, are being brought to light by the state agricultural experiment station's workers in a sub-station maintained in the heart of the Connecticut valley tobacco regions here where trained men check up on all sorts of conditions and rush out bulletins to aid the men who raise acres of tobacco. A late bulletin told the farmers their tobacco crops are in danger of undernourishment because heavy spring rains had washed away more than half the nitrogen that had been applied to the soil to give a quick healthy growth to seedling plants. "Top-dress your fields quickly," the growers were told.

ORIGIN OF TEXAS DUCK LEG' CATTLE MYSTERY

By FRANK I. WELLES (Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Texas "duck-legged" cattle still are baffling to geneticists after 50 years of breeding.

The Journal of Heredity has found three conflicting accounts of the first appearance of these cattle, which are normal in every respect except that their legs are four to six inches shorter than the average.

One version is that the line developed from two black, white-spotted heifers brought by Col. J. H. Parramore from Tuckapaw parish in Louisiana to Runnels county, Texas, in 1879, or a few years later.

Another is that it sprang from cattle on the Keady ranch in Willey county where a few short-legged Dexter-Kerry cattle had been imported direct from Ireland in the early seventies.

A less specific account is that they were brought from France by early settlers along the coast country of Texas south and east of Gonzales.

Quoting Jay L. Lush of the Texas agricultural experiment station, the Journal says it is probable that the Texas duck-legs all trace back to a single origin or importation of trait which possibly may be identical with the short-leggedness of the black Dexter-Kerry cattle of Ireland.

Since there is no record of the duck-legs being mated with the Irish cattle, there is a question whether the short-leggedness is genetically identical.

Physical examination points to an under-functioning of the pituitary body as the immediate cause of hereditary short-leggedness, but the fact that duck-legs always have been crossed with normal cattle may have removed accompanying factors which cause dwarfism in the Dexter-Kerry.

It is significant that the cross-

ANOTHER FAMOUS 14 POINTS

... DEVELOPED FROM MORE THAN 10 THOUSAND OBSERVATIONS DURING THE PIKE'S PEAK TEST, NOW BECOME YOUR GUIDE WHEN BUYING MOTOR OIL

Between September 6 and October 5, 1929, three popular nationally known brands of motor oil were tested side by side with CONOCO Germ-Processed oil on Pike's Peak under the supervision of the American Automobile Association Contest Board.

The Board's findings have been expressed briefly in the "fourteen points" below.

- 1 That the test procedure was followed accurately and that no deviation therefrom occurred which might seriously affect the soundness of any conclusions based upon the data;
- 2 That a reduction in the rate of wear occurring during the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil over that occurring with the other oils used to the extent of 76.4 per cent was shown during these tests;
- 3 That greater stability of the subject oil during these tests was shown by records of examination of drained oils being nearer the viscosity of the original or fresh oil and by chemical tests of drained oils with the fresh oils;
- 4 That frictional temperatures occurring during the use of the subject oil were lower than temperatures occurring during the use of the comparables;
- 5 That higher compression pressures were obtained with the use of the subject oil during these tests than with the use of other oils. It would be directly inferred that this was caused by better ring seal;
- 6 That using the subject oil and during each test, greater gasoline mileage for economy was obtained than during the use of the comparables;
- 7 That less oil consumption as shown by the records of these tests occurred with the use of the subject oil;
- 8 That carbon deposits collected from the combustion chambers and cylinder heads and weighed by the official chemist were shown by the records of the test to be less after the use of the subject oil than after the use of the comparables;
- 9 That the subject oil showed a reduction in the case of crank-case dilution during these tests;
- 10 That during these tests the subject oil showed improved compression pressure, decreased rate of crank-case dilution and decreased gasoline consumption, indicating an improved ring seal;
- 11 That a reduction in the operating fuel and oil cost occurring during these tests with the use of the subject oil is substantiated by the records;
- 12 That with the use of the subject oil there occurred less deviation from cycle to cycle in compression pressure at starting speeds (as shown by the records) would indicate that improved compression at higher speeds might have occurred during these tests;
- 13 That the reduction in the rate of wear occurring during these tests with the use of the subject oil as shown by the records would indicate a longer motor life;
- 14 That while there is no reason to suppose that results similar to those of this test would not show under other conditions, it is important that reference to these findings be accompanied by the statement that, in so far as the report is concerned, they cannot, as conclusions, be extended generally. However, the inference that they might be so is reasonable and rational, although not conclusive.

paper support of the state had been given to Sterling and that newspapers always followed corporation interests. He charged that Clint Small was the candidate of special interests and always had voted with the special interests "against the people."

Speaking later at Stephenville, Mr. Young said all three members of the highway commission were now in politics and would be the "sickest bunch in Texas" when the votes were counted next Saturday.

Presenting himself at Dallas as a conservative, Mr. Small urged the necessity of a conservative administration at Austin and a new political deal there, denying at the same time that he was a sectional candidate. He urged industrialization of the state as a means of curing many of its ills and asserted that a conservative governor "alive to the economic needs of the hour" was needed.

Prohibition

In speeches at Clarksville and Paris, Thomas B. Love discussed his prohibition record, declaring that he had fought for prohibition in the days of the legalized liquor traffic and done all he could "to strengthen its enforcement and prevent its nullification or repeal." Insisting that he would lead in four-fifths of the counties in Saturday's primary and would be overwhelmingly elected in the runoff, Mr. Love said the "Anti-Tammany forces are united, and the Tammany votes are split in 10 other

Citing taxes in "poorer" counties as high as $1.50 on the $100 for road bonds as against 20 cents and 22 cents in Houston and Dallas for bonds on the same road, despite the fact, he said, that this road is worth twenty times as much to Dallas and Houston. Most of his opponents, he said, were trying to climb on the band wagon of refunding county road bond indebtedness to the counties.

The Houston Post-Dispatch also has been printing expressions from highway officials of other states on this subject. Some of these are also given herewith.

From Justin Matthews, member of the Arkansas highway commission, comes this information upon our neighbor state's experience with state highway bonds:

"Has old four issues of state highway bonds at slightly above par. Average interest rate 4 1/2 per cent. Gasoline tax is 5 cents per gallon, used for road maintenance and bond retirement; also for refund to counties. The highway bond program has entirely relieved all other taxes for highway purposes, relieving the lands of Arkansas annually of a tax of $6,500,000. The counties collect a 3-mill road tax for local county roads and the state refunds to the counties $1,800,000 annually of the gas tax distributed between counties on a population basis to be also used for local county roads."

"First Wyoming highway bond issue in 1919, of $2,800,000 sold at par, interest of 5 per cent. All retired July 1. Second issue in 1921 of $1,800,000, sold at par, interest 5 per cent, due 1931 to 1941. Principal of all issues paid from motor vehicle license fees and interest from state general fund. Issue of $2,800,000 will be voted on at November election. Plan has been highly satisfactory in expediting state highway program and meeting federal aid."

It will be noticed that the Wyoming scheme differs from the others in not involving gasoline taxation, but is like them in providing for state bonds refundable from proceeds of a form of taxation of road use instead of property taxation.

A noteworthy feature of every state's experience with state highway bonds is the relatively low rate of interest paid and the good sale price, par or better in most instances. Local bonds, such as we now have, must pay substantially higher rates of interest than state bonds and nearly always sell at sharp discounts. They offer greater profits to dealers in bonds and are more costly to the people. And their whole cost is paid by property owners, whereas the state bond plan provides for roads paid for by road users.

These extracts from the Dallas News and the Houston Post-Dispatch contain information which is uncolored by political bias of any kind, and they are given here without comment, further than to say that they show that highway bonds are being issued in other states, that they are being taken care of in most states by gasoline taxes, that they bear a lower rate of interest than county and district bonds, and that they sell at more advantageous terms than county and district bonds.

The question of whether Texas shall finance its state highway construction program by means of bonds based on gasoline taxes will not be decided in the present gubernatorial race, no matter who is elected governor. It will rest with the legislature to decide whether to submit the proposal to the people, and then it will rest with the people to decide whether to adopt it or not. The people can decide such a question wisely only if they are put in possession of the facts, without political or doctrinaire bias. Among the important facts they will have to weigh will be the experience of other states, and the facts with respect to this should be given full weight.

However, it is well to remember also that the Texas highway problem is unique. The project of providing Texas with a connected system of hard-surface highways has been called "the biggest highway job in history" and it is all of that. It should be considered in the light of this circumstance. Its far-reaching social and economic benefits should be considered as well as its cost.

All of this involves the deliberate weighing of carefully attested facts and the wisdom of the decision, when it is finally made, will depend upon the extent to which such facts have been obtained and considered.
