MONEY IS THE NAME OF THE GAME and these two lovelies are qualified to check out the procedures of the Pampa United Good Neighbor Campaign. Here are Shirley Sanders (left) and Mary Gofik, checking out the standings in the Fair Share Game. Mary is Miss Drive-in Teller of 1968 and has traveled extensively this year in that capacity. She is employed by Citizens Bank and Trust here and Shirley is a familiar face at the First National Bank. Right now the score board seems incidental but really it's the reason for the picture!

Fund Drive Nears Half Way Point

United Fund officials announced today that this year's United Good Neighbor Campaign is approximately 48 per cent complete after the tabulation of Thursday's check-in meetings held at the Coronado Inn. Thursday totals brought the entire amount collected and pledged so far to $39,054.

Jerry Sims, drive chairman, had hoped to be over 50 per cent by this time. However, he said that he felt good about this figure and indicated that cards already worked but not turned in at the formal check-ins could take the drive past the 50 per cent mark by this weekend.

The Advanced Gift Division, under the leadership of Floyd Watson, holds a slim lead right now in the race to the goal line. They have reached 50 per cent of their quota with a dollar total turned in of $15,843. They are being pushed, however, by the Commercial and Industrial Division, led by Clinton Evans, which totaled $14,866 after yesterday's check-in for approximately 45 per cent of their quota. DUTIES SPELLED OUT

City Administrative Changes Are Made

Several changes in administrative duties of City Hall department heads were announced today by City Manager Charles Hill.

Hill said the changes were made to coordinate activities of certain departments and "to spell out specific duties and activities of all department heads" included in the administrative reorganization.

The changes, which become effective today include the following:

1. City Engineer B. M. Wofford will be responsible for both the city's engineering and water and sewer department functions. He will assume the new title of director of public utilities. All operations in the engineering office, utility office and water and sewer operational activities will be under supervision of the utilities director.
2. City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden is now designated as director of finance. Accounting functions, purchasing and payroll activities will come under his jurisdiction.

3. The Director of Public Works, R.B. Cooke, will be responsible for streets, sanitation, parks and recreation; building inspection, including electrical and plumbing; health shops; house, buildings and grounds maintenance for City Hall and Library; and operational supervision for traffic control.

4. The director of public utilities and the director of public works will jointly administer traffic control responsibilities. All engineering and advisory work will be done by the City Engineer's office. The implementation of all traffic control devices will be under the supervision of the director of public works. Both the director of public works and director of public utilities will work with the city Traffic Commission. The director of public utilities will be, in his capacity of city engineer, the primary staff representative to the Traffic Commission.

5. The director of public ut-

'Double Life' In Mexico City

By TERRANCE MCGARRY
MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico City led a double life today. In Olympic Village world athletes prepared for peaceful competition. Across town, army troops and armored cars ruled nine blocks of apartment houses that became a battleground.

In the bronze-domed sports palace a Russian dribbled down the basketball court in front of 21,142 empty seats, sweating in hopes of defeating the favored U.S. team when the games open in eight days.

Fifteen miles away, in the nine blocks where battling Wednesday night for a time threatened cancellation of the Olympics, families carried armloads of clothes from bullet-holed apartment houses. They walked quickly, silently through the plaza where 27 persons were killed when machine-gunning troops broke up a rally of 10,000 antigovernment students.

Punctured water pipes spurled and dribbled on the 10 and 20 story apartment houses. Armored cars sat on squashed beds of flowers. Mexican authorities vowed no more trouble would endanger the games.

In Olympic Village, athletes went back into training after spending much of Thursday discussing worriedly whether the violence outside had spoiled the games. They got their good news later in the afternoon.

"None of the demonstrations or violence have at any time been directed against the Olympic Games... we have been assured (by the Mexican authorities) that nothing will interfere with the peaceful entrance of the Olympic flames into the stadium on Oct. 12 nor with the competitions that follow." The international Olympic Committee announced after hours of closed door meetings. In the apartment house complex, residents stepped carefully between glass blown from windows and debated what they had seen when the machine guns broke up the rally, and troops routed leftwing snipers from the buildings.

Since July 26, when anti-government students first went into the streets to demand the freeing of imprisoned Communists, 2,000 persons have been arrested.

Price Blasts 'Give-Away' To Oil Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Texas Republican charged Thursday the Johnson administration was preparing to hand a private company a $40 million a year economic advantage by allowing it to import oil from Libya to Machiasport, Me.

Rep. Robert Price of Pampa claimed that one of the prime movers in the project is Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., the Democratic candidate for vice president.

Proponents of the project say it will result in a 10 per cent reduction of fuel oil prices in the six New England states, where oil prices traditionally are among the highest in the nation.

Price charged the project was a "give-away." He said it would take the form of a special privilege to Occidental Petroleum Corp. to import 300,000 barrels a day of foreign oil into a so-called "foreign trade zone" at Machiasport.

He said Occidental, with the support of Muskie, "has the biggest guns in the Democratic party doing its handiwork for this economic-political windfall." "That is why I am willing to predict approval of this project," he said. "It is being masterminded by experts with an inside track in the administration."

He quoted at length from published reports in the Oil Daily, a national petroleum newspaper, to back up his charges.

Price claimed that Occidental will have the exclusive right to market 200,000 barrels daily of foreign oil while other U.S. refineries are allowed to import much less.

"This project would confer an economic advantage of at least $40 million a year upon one company," Price said.

Top News In Brief

ESSEN, Germany (UPI)—An explosion ripped a coal mine 2,400 feet below ground today, killing seven miners and injuring four others, the Ruhr Coal Mining Association said. Seven miners were reported missing.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The Roegelin Provision Co. of San Antonio has answered a strike by the National Brotherhood of Packinghouse and Dairy Workers union with a $1.2 million slander suit claiming the union made false statements against the firm.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate beating back all attempts to trim the largest appropriations bill in U.S. history, has voted to give the Pentagon $7.9 billion to run the Vietnam War and provide for the nation's defense over the coming year.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has backed off from its earlier tough stand against the busing or assignment of children to integrate schools.

Twice the House, on votes of 167 to 175 and 155 to 166, refused Thursday to reaffirm an earlier vote to bar withholding of federal aid funds as a government weapon to force integration of schools.

But the House accepted Senate language which reaffirmed a provision in the 1964 Civil Rights Act prohibiting use or withholding of federal funds "in order to overcome racial imbalance" where illegal discrimination or segregation is not involved.

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie "put it bluntly" to a largely draft-age college crowd of 5,000 Thursday—favoring a random, lottery draft system and non military alternatives for America's youth.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee told an outdoor audience at the University of Colorado in the foothills of the Rockies all 19-year-olds should be subject to a "fair and impartial random lottery system" under which men would be eligible for one year.

"To put it bluntly, the present (draft) system is unfair and unjust," Muskie said to student cheers.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—It was a tense moment.

Spiro T. Agnew stood at the lectern and watched as, for the first time in his campaign, a sizeable crowd of hecklers interrupted his speech.

"Stop the war, stop the war" chanted two dozen young demonstrators. Then, thrusting their index and middle fingers skyward in the "V" for victory sign, marched from the auditorium.

Agnew stared, then, after they had gone, he resumed:

"Now that the delegation from Hanoi has left... The 2,000 in the audience rose and applauded vigorously the Republican vice presidential nominee.

RUSK, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. Harold Eidinoff, 60, was declared sane Thursday and probably will be freed by a district judge after spending about seven years in Rusk State Hospital.

Eidinoff was committed in 1961 after he shot and killed prominent El Paso lawyer Ted Andress in 1950.

Military Coup Said Reason For Protest

By JULIAN ESCOVAR

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Army troops turned water cannons and tear gas today on gangs of youths who smashed shop windows and stoned government buildings to protest the military overthrow of President Fernando Belaunde Terry.

The skirmishes between youths, mostly university students, and soldiers first broke out in the Plaza de Armas in front of the plush Hotel Gran Bolivar Thursday. The violence lasted into today.

Troops manning a water cannon broke up repeated demonstrations of youths shouting "Traitors!" in the plaza. Other confrontations occurred along La Colmena, the fashionable shopping street where tourists buy such Peruvian souvenirs as llama rugs and silver candlesticks.

La Colmena, whose Spanish name "beehive" reflects the normal hum of activity on its sidewalks, was a litter of smashed glass. Most shops were shuttered.

Despite the disorders only one death was reported, a student shot when troops fired into the air to break up a demonstration.

A military junta sent soldiers to the presidential palace before dawn Thursday, seized Belaunde and put him on a special Peruvian Airlines flight to exile in Buenos Aires.

On arrival in the Argentine capital—Belaunde proclaimed himself still president of Peru and blamed "certain interests" seeking to block free elections in his country next year.

Both Argentina and Bolivia offered Belaunde political asylum.

The military had accused Belaunde's administration of selling Peru short in a deal with the International Oil Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and of delaying social and economic reforms.

Czech Reformers Get 'Spanking' By Soviets

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet leaders talked in the Kremlin with Czechoslovak Communist reformers and publicly spanked them in newspapers today.

Czechoslovak party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek came Thursday seeking an early end of the Soviet-bloc occupation of his nation.

"Politically this idea is called upon to try and support nationalist elements in countries that have embarked on the road of socialism and thereby undermine the unity of these countries, disorient the mass of the people and create a favorable situation for reaction which seeks to restore the bourgeois order," Red Star said.

Soviet, Polish, Hungarian, East German and Bulgarian forces invaded Czechoslovakia Aug. 21 to snuff out such Dubcek reforms as freedom of the press and allowing non-Communist bodies to re-enter politics. The Kremlin prefers its standard brand of communism.

Dubcek & Co. had come with some hope of success, according to party sources in Prague. They flew from home only after the 56 Communist parties in Budapest Monday to win approval of a world Red summit in November. The Soviets failed because many of their junior partners did not like what happened to Czechoslovakia.

But there was no sign today that what happened in Budapest was making this visit any easier for Dubcek.

Nixon, Hubert 'Get After' LeMay

By United Press International
Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's addition to the American Independent party ticket caught the major party presidential candidates in Wallace country, and they wasted no time taking up the challenge.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told a Pineville, W.Va., rally Thursday it would be "disastrous" if George Wallace became president with a man holding LeMay's views on nuclear weapons his vice president.

"I am shocked and deeply disturbed by Gen. LeMay's statement this morning," Humphrey said in reference to the retired Air Force officer's characterization of atomic weapons as "just another weapon in the arsenal."

The Democratic candidate said "Anyone who can speak so lightly about the use of nuclear weapons has no conception of the reality of their terror. It would be disastrous if anyone who spoke as Gen. LeMay did this morning should come into a position of high responsibility."

Richard M. Nixon, campaigning in Atlanta, said he had great respect for Wallace's running mate "as a general," but added "I think we must have civilian control over the military."

not always the right solutions to complex situations," Nixon said.

LeMay, 64, was architect of the Strategic Air Command and later Air Force chief of staff before retiring three years ago.

In unveiling his choice for a running mate in Pittsburgh, Wallace called LeMay "a man of peace who has dedicated his career to defending his nation and the Free World."

LeMay said that "if necessary, I would use anything we could dream up to end the war," but added: "I don't think it is necessary to use nuclear bombs in Vietnam. I don't want to explode one unless I have

House Investigators Say ...

21 Communists Were Active In Chicago

By GENE BERNHARDT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators now claim documented proof at least 21 Communists plotted demonstrations at the Democratic National Convention in August as part of a plan to overthrow the government.

Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., head of a special subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-

American Activities, made the claim as the panel went into its third and final day of hearings on the incidents at Chicago.

Ichord said earlier testimony "identified 21 Communists who participated in the Chicago riots." No names were given, and Ichord conceded to newsmen later that some of the identifications might have come up during a closed session of the panel Thursday, when a "secret investigator" was reported to have been questioned. During a public hearing later in the day, panel members tried without avail to elicit admissions of Communist party membership from witnesses representing groups that took part in the Chicago demonstrations.

Robert Greenblatt, coordinator for the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, walked from the hearing room in the middle of questioning.

The second so-called "hostile witness" called by the panel, Dr. Quentin Young, a practicing physician and a leader of the medical committee on human rights, said the question of whether he was a Communist was "irrelevant."

WANDA MAE HUFF, WOMEN'S NEWS EDITOR

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 70-years-old, in exceptionally good health and for six years have kept company with a lady now 65. We ride and dine together frequently and enjoy one another's company. It is unlikely that we will ever marry as we occupy homes owned and lived in by three generations of our families.

Some years ago I inherited a small winter home in Florida and I've invited my friend to drive down with me for the winter. She has always declined, but recently she said "Ask Abby, and if she thinks it's all right, perhaps I shall agree."

DEAR LONELY: You may tell her that Abby said that when a lady reaches the age of social security, she is "socially secure" . . . so to go ahead and have fun in the sun.

DEAR ABBY: I love Sheldon very much and want to marry him, but here's my problem. He has a very domineering mother. She divorced Sheldon's father when Sheldon was a baby and she never remarried. He was her only child. She raised him alone and now she acts like a martyr.

I am 25 and Sheldon is 30. He's handsome, gentle, and well educated—everything a woman would want in a husband, but "mama" has to know where he is every minute.

She has her own apartment (thank God) but she drains her son for every bit of attention she can get. (If she has a cold, it's "pneumonia." Indigestion is a "slight heart-attack.")

My friends say they wouldn't wish a mother-in-law like her on their worst enemy. I've seen very little of her, but Sheldon says she "likes" me.

How important is a man's mother? She is only 57, so I am an adult on "mama" being in the picture for a long time yet. SHELDON'S GIRL: DEAR GIRL: How "important" a man's mother is depends entirely on the man. How does Sheldon react to his mother's possessiveness? Don't listen to "friends." Get to know "mama" better and decide for yourself whether the cord is cut or not. Then act accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the fellow who finally told his wife that he never cared for raspberry pie after she'd been serving it to him for 28 years.

It sure took him a long time to get enough crust to raise a little hell. Why didn't he tell her the first time she served it to him that her dessert was a crummy failure?

Until recently I had the same problem. My wife served me chilled, canned applesauce when we were first married. I remarked that I didn't like cold applesauce, so from then on she would warm it up first.

Well, to get to the core of the problem, I didn't like warm applesauce either, so I can sure sympathize with the "guy" who got the raspberries for 28 years. APPLE JACK IN FLOURTOWN PA.

NTSU Sorority Selects Pampans As New Pledges

Three Pampa High School graduates have been pledged by Delta Gamma Sorority at North State University. They are Miss Jeanie Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bell, 2136 Beech Lane; Miss Marieke Laura Lang, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Lang, 1408 Hamilton; and Miss Susan Root, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Root, 1337 Charles.

Miss Bell's PHS honors included Class Secretary, Most Beautiful runner-up, student Council, Thespians, and Spanish Club.

Miss Lang was a member of the Pampa Harvester Band, and Truteen Service League Treasurer and Charter Member. At NTSU, she is in Young Republicans, and Student Association of Interior Design.

Miss Root's PHS activities included Thespians and Spanish Club.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Doing whatever will integrate you further into the good graces of higher-ups is fine today. Use more modern methods. Ideas. Rid yourself of whatever is antiquated, no longer of use to you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Start those new outlets today and let them fit hand-in-glove with present activities. Find the right "new philosophy" also to base your life upon in the future. Be much more successful and happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): A good day to analyze all of your obligations as well as make fine collections that are due important. Get along with others. A more romantic attitude is necessary if you are to be happy with mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Once you know what is really expected of you from others, you can start operating properly so that associates are pleased. Your health needs something up. Have a cooperative attitude toward those who oppose you and all is fine.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Find some way of doing what you can do more quickly and easily so that you can go on to something more profitable on the side. Find those contacts that please you so much you feel more like yourself. "Stay within your budget."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Put aside all those anxieties and make new and worthwhile contacts so that you rise becomes more interesting and pleasant. Let your get into that hobby that pleases you so much. Be sure not to incur some big and unnecessary expense.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Discuss with him what they wish you to do and then try to please them to the best of your ability. Although you may feel that others are forcing you into some plan you do not understand, this works out for the best. Be patient.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good day to see relatives and friends to clarify whatever subjects, etc. you do not properly comprehend. Plan some entirely new activity that can be very interesting & bring benefits to all concerned. Show ability.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A business expert shows you how to have greater abundance without the expense of a GREAT DEAL OF MONEY. Listen to the of your intuition, which is operating very accurately now. Follow business you get.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those clever young people who wants to discover into anything that is new and modern—even ultra-modern—but you just each your progeny early on to jump in to things that could be very dangerous. Give as fine an education as you can and then the chart becomes very successful. Princes are avoided.

To Prevent Double Chin, Whistle While You Work

DEAR POLLY: Johnette wrote that she is getting a double chin, so I suggest that she whistle while she works. My music teacher used to have one and she learned that, rather than buying chin straps, throat creams and massaging exercises, whistling will lighten the throat muscles. Start whistling every so often.—C.A.Q.

DEAR POLLY: For an approaching double chin, pull your neck up, stick your tongue out as far as possible and open your eyes wide a few times each night and morning. I sincerely hope this helps. Johnette BARBARA

DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Johnette that I have read of, tried and found the following exercise a great help with the double chin problem. Tilt your head as far back as possible and this will leave your jaws open. Close your mouth slowly 10 times. Repeat this every night before going to bed and you will notice a great improvement.—MARTHA

Knit Two for the Young Crowd

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Association

You may thank heaven for little girls, but even the slightest girl with a young eye for fashion can thank heaven for a mom who knits.

New hand-knit designs for future fashion-plates are youthful versions of grown-up styles, trimmed and tailored to active girls' tastes. Throughout the ages, children's clothes have closely followed adult fashion trends.

And today the dresses you knit for the girls in your life can have the luxury of rich, knit-in texture and of your own custom choice in colors. The two styles shown here are good examples.

The jumper dress has all-over Irish pattern that's even bigger and bolder on a wide front panel. The A-line shape means easy action for the little girl on the go, and it wears well with either a sweater or blouse in a contrasting shade. Choose an off-white yarn for the traditional Irish look, or knit the rich pattern in your youngster's favorite bright color.

The striped style has the easy T-shirt lines that young figures wear so well. It looks well belted or tied at the waist with a slender chain. For the stripes, red, white and a very deep brown are a good fall trio—but one of many happy combinations.

Both dresses mean good news for mom, since they can be knitted in a choice of Bernat acrylic or wool-nylon yarns, all of which can be machine washed and dried. Knitting instructions for the dress are available for girls' sizes 6 to 14.

For a leaflet of knitting instructions for the two young styles, send 50 cents to Stitch-in-Time, in care of Pampa Daily News, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York.

DEAR JUDY: My only regret after a successful diet is the fit of my clothes. How would you recommend that I alter my hand knits to suit the new me?

—Mrs. A. M. Elizabeth, N. J.
DEAR MRS. A. M.: I have both congratulations and good news for you. You will probably find that altering your handknit dresses is easier than dieting! Here's what to do: Fit the dress and mark its seams properly for alteration. Now, with the garment turned wrong side out, make two parallel rows of stitching, using a sewing machine set for an elongated stitch. Then, cut away the excess one stitch away from the outer seam. —JUDY

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Presidential Campaign 1968 is starting to roll full speed in Texas.

Democratic Hubert Humphrey's official state organization — a political patchwork of two committees representing varying factions — was formed just six weeks before the Nov. 5 election.

Former State Democratic Chairman Will Davis of Austin and Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth head Texas Democrats for Humphrey-Muskie. Cecil Burney of Corpus Christi is executive director and National Democratic Committee man Robert Strauss of Dallas is finance chairman.

At its initial meeting in Fort Worth, the group — made up predominantly of Gov. John Connally's friends — declared the election is yet to be won, and Humphrey has a chance of carrying the state.

U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, leader of Texas liberals, heads a separate Texas Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie, and has formed a 137-member executive committee which met here Monday. Yarborough will work with traditional Democrats, ethnic minorities, independents, Republicans and former supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Sen. George McGovern, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Republican candidate Richard Nixon and American Party candidate George Wallace have had the benefit of months of spade-work on behalf of their election efforts.

A recent Texas poll calculated Nixon and Humphrey are running close together (with about a third of the state's votes each) and Wallace is third with a fourth of the votes. Nixon was seen as having "the best potential for carrying the state." Most observers regarded that as an understatement as of now, although Humphrey's campaign could change the picture dramatically during the next five weeks.

Opinions vary widely as to Wallace's effect on the outcome of the hard fought state contest. Democrats claim presence of the former Alabama governor on the ballot is hurting Nixon most. Wallace campaign leaders say they are cutting more deeply into traditional Democratic votes that normally would go to Humphrey. Nixon's Texas campaign director, John Hurd of Laredo, sizes up the Wallace candidacy as having "equal impact" on Nixon and Humphrey.

Both the GOP and organized labor (backing Humphrey) are mounting special campaigns aimed at winning back from Wallace votes for Nixon and Humphrey. Success of these efforts might spell the difference on Nov. 5.

UNIVERSITY OF THE NORTH — Staff of the higher-education Coordinating Board has recommended "a multi-campus urban university" for the Dallas-Fort Worth-Denton area to include—at first — North Texas State University, Texas Woman's University and the University of Texas at Arlington.

These schools would be put under a new board of regents for the area and would be joined in a system later by other state-supported colleges and schools to form a university system designed specifically for the area. Board itself will hold a hearing on the proposal Oct. 11, along with UT's own plan for uniting some of its institutions in the area.

HOMESTEAD CHANGE — Constitutional Revision Commission has suggested tightening the homestead debt exemptions following a member's charge that the present basis state law provides a "haven for swindlers."

In its semi-final meeting, the panel agreed to a ceiling on a homestead exemption from foreclosure for debt should be limited to $25,000. Present constitution provides exemption for rural homesteads of up to 200 (of any value) on lots of up to $5,000 maximum valuation.

PARK BONDS SOLD — First $5.75 million of a $75 million parks improvement bond issue has been sold at favorable interest rate.

Lehman Brothers and Associates of New York headed an investment syndicate which submitted 3.5846 per cent net interest rate bid, lowest of 16, American National Bank of Austin was selected paying agent for the bonds.

Initial development are expected to be a 120-mile range of the state's 10 largest population centers. A $1 per car entrance fee at 30 existing parks and 50 cent per car charge at six others will pay off the bonds.

JUNIOR COLLEGE PLANS — Texas' 40 public junior colleges have been given a new and expanded role in the state's educational processes, and now they're going back to the state for help in paying for it.

Long-range master plan of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, says junior colleges should concentrate on (1) preparing some students for transfer to senior colleges and universities for their last two years, (2) setting up badly needed technical and vocational programs and (3) continuing education and cultural and public-service programs.

Now, junior colleges get state aid in two forms — a line-item appropriation for each school for direct academic instructional costs ($26,530,325 this year) plus another $6,476,000 distributed by the Texas Education Agency for technical vocational programs.

ANTI POLLUTION EXEMPTION — Campaign — Houston Rep. Rex Braun plans a one-man campaign against proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 6, to be voted on Nov. 5, to exempt from all property taxes pollution control equipment installed by industry.

Braun says the state shouldn't subsidize the pollution-law breakers and, besides, other states have found that the exemption only costs money and does not encourage the installation of anti-pollution equipment.

He estimates the amendment would cost Texas $500 million over a five-year period.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS — Legislature has no authority to restrict purchase of Department of Public Safety aircraft to rescue work only (and rule out their use for traffic law enforcement), Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held. At the same time, Martin indicated that Gov. Connally has no power to veto the restriction (as he did July 20). In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—Commissioners Court of Dallas County can repair, maintain and operate the courthouse either with its own employees or by contracting with an independent contractor.

—State Board of Dental Examiners employes may receive merit salary increases during the current fiscal year.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Former State Sen. Franklin S. Spears of San Antonio has been named judge of the 57th District Court of Bexar County to fill the vacancy created by resignation of Judge Solomon Casseb Jr. Spears is the unopposed Democratic nominee for the post. Connally selected Judge Peter M. Curry of the 166th district court in San Antonio to take over Casseb's extra duties as judge of the fourth administrative district.

On Oct. 1, Harley Pershing, Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter, took over new duties as research-information specialist at Texas Liquor Control Board.

Dallas Police Capt. Jack Revill was picked as chief of criminal law enforcement division at Department of Public Safety.

Larris County District Attorney Carol Vance is the new executive director of the Texas Law Enforcement Legislative Council, succeeding Lewis Berry of Austin.

SHORT SNORTS — Now available is a revised Spanish-language edition of the Texas Drivers Handbook — including a glossary for quick translation.

Water Quality Board has entered an agreement with the Trinity River Authority to help control pollution in the new Livingston reservoir.

A State Board of Insurance study shows that cars in Texas carrying the legal minimum limits of liability insurance has constantly increased, from 18.2

OF Advertising

Start with an Audit

Advertising is a serious investment... art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service.

No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership.

"Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so-called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

The Pampa Daily News is a completely Family Newspaper Delivered Daily... paid for and Welcomed!

BUYING ON THIS BASIS IS SOUND!

Careful studies made regularly by an independent organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—shows advertisers exactly what they get in circulation and readership for their advertising investment.

For most subscribers the PAMPA NEWS is the family shopping guide, for it carries the advertising of practically all progressive Pampa stores, markets and services.

It is the ABC's of advertising

The Audit Bureau of Circulation (ABC) is a cooperative, non-profit organization of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers for the verification of circulation of newspaper members in the United States and Canada.

MONUMENTAL MURAL dwarfs its creator, David Alfaro Siqueiros, standing below it at Cuernavaca, Mexico. The mural, titled "March of Humanity in Latin America," measures 72,000 square feet and will be installed atop a new hotel in Mexico City in October as one of the country's contributions to the cultural Olympics.

True Story Of Designer Probably More Interesting Than Fiction

By JOAN DEPPA
PARIS (UPI)—If Gabrielle "Coco" Chanel had been a fictional character, critics would have accused the author of exaggeration. She was too successful too early, too beautiful, too elegant, too witty, too loved and, finally, too enduring.

But when the curtain rises this fall on the Broadway musical version of her life, critics will have to concentrate instead on how well it represents this remarkable grand dame of high fashion.

At 85, Chanel herself is looking forward to the musical like a school-girl posing for her first portrait and laughing just as girlishly at any suggestions that she might be on the verge of retiring.

"Maybe" is as close an admission as she will give the fact that even Chanel cannot go on forever.

Still Busy
Cecil Beaton was designing the costumes for the show, not because Chanel herself couldn't, (but because she is still too busy dressing many of the world's best dressed women.

Her twice-yearly collections are not-to-be missed fashion events, even though she insists on covering knees when every-one else insists on revealing them.

This season she stopped hemlines at the top of the knee, but narrow, knee-covering pants underneath. It was a typically Chanel way to avoid losing the argument—the wearer could easily wear the suit without the pants and have what the legendary designer would call a "short" skirt.

"A meat display" is one of her favorite ways of describing the leggy look, particularly on older women.

Her use of colors and fabrics, particularly soft tweeds is still unequalled. So is the way she has developed over the past few seasons for cutting the suit closer and closer to the body without constructing it.

Glamorous Life
But the musical comedy

version of her life is almost bound to concentrate on the glamorous, amorous side of her past than on the loving care with which she cuts a seam or places a dart.

Chanel admits to having had five men in her life, but will name only one, the late Duke of Westminster.

Her successful debut in Haute Couture in 1914, when President Charles de Gaulle was still a struggling junior officer, introduced her to brilliant high society of such brilliant talents as Picasso and Diaghilev.

She never married and never seemed to regret it. Her staff in the golf black-trimmed beige salons in Rue Cambon are more devoted to her than most children would have been and the feeling is mutual.

GOODWILL TRIP
In Laurel, Miss., a group of white businessmen raised money to send Mrs. Eualie Boston, a 71-year-old Negro widow, to Mexico City so she can watch her son, Ralph, participate in the long-jump competition at the Olympic Games.

FALSE PRIDE
Twiggy, the British model whose figure measures 31-23-32, says there is hope for thin women. "I don't see anything sexy about see-through blouses," the 19-year-old model said in New York. "I think they're horrible."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some of the political experts are saying that the typical voter isn't very enthusiastic about any of the presidential candi-dates this year.
 This could mean that the typical voter isn't very enthusi-astic about any of the presiden-tial candidates this year.
 Or it could mean that the typical political expert isn't very enthusiastic about any of the presidential candidates this year.
 Typical political experts sometimes get the typical voter's feelings confused with their own (see Truman vs. Dewey, 1948).
 It does appear, however, that the protest vote will be larger than usual in November. And this creates an awkward situation that actually amounts to a negation of the democratic process.
No Protest Vote
 Vast numbers of voters will, in effect, be disenfranchised. For as things now stand, there is really no way to register a protest vote.
 Suppose, for example, you wanted to cast a protest vote against Humphrey or Nixon or Wallace. Your only option is to cast a vote for one of the other two candidates. This is totally unsatisfactory.
 Should Humphrey or Nixon or Wallace win because of protest votes against the other two candidates would he interpret his victory in that light? You bet your sweet appendix he wouldn't.

 He would interpret those protest votes against the other two candidates as being an endorsement of his own policies. Which you may not agree with either. Thus your vote is not counted in the manner that you intended.
 The only way to keep that from happening is not to vote at all. Either way, you are denied an opportunity of expressing your opinion at the polls.
New Method
 What I'm getting at here is that there should be a way to vote against one candidate without having to vote for another candidate.
 Beside each name on the ballot there should be two squares—one marked "for" and the other "against." The voter would then make an "X" in the square that represented his sentiment.
 Both "for" and "against" votes would be tabulated and the candidate with the most number of "for" votes would be the winner. This would provide a far more accurate picture of how he stood with the electorate than is now the case.
 Of course, there is always the possibility that all three candi-dates would wind up with a minus poll. In that event, the one with the least number of "against" votes would win.

Teachers Are To Attend Workshop

Twelve Pampa teachers will attend the area English work-shop at Palo Duro High School in Amarillo Saturday, sponsored by the Texas Joint English Com-mittee, District XVI.
 Dr. Pat Sullivan of West Texas State University is committee chairman. The three-hour meeting will feature Dr. Daniel N. Fader, assistant Pro-fessor of English at the Univer-sity of Michigan.
 Dr. Fader is an educator and author of "Hooked on Books," which stresses the English-in-every-classroom experiment. His talk is sponsored by Pan-handle Educational Services

Organization (PESO) and West Texas News Agency.

Pampans attending will be John English, Bill Haynes, Mrs. J. E. Tovie, Mrs. Q. C. Rogers and Miss Mary Dean Dozier, Pampa High School teachers; Mrs. Hazel Toole, Mrs. Mildred Sul-livan, Mrs. Lyndelle Hatcher, Mrs. Mary Helen Ellis, Miss Eva Hutton, Mrs. Rochele Wil-kins and Raymond Thornton, Lee Junior High School teachers.

TABERNACLE CHOIR TO BE SEEN ON TV

Mormons Holding World Conference

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—The 138th Semi-Annual Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be held today through Sunday on picturesque Temple Square.

President David O. McKay, 95, the oldest leader in the 138-year history of the Church, will preside.

The renowned Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir will be featured during several conference broadcasts. The choir will perform during the conference session slated to be broadcast from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Sunday over KFDA-TV, Channel 10, Amarillo station.

Representatives from all 462 stakes (dioceses) and 84 missions covering most of the free world will be in Salt Lake City for the series of seven meetings in the 101-year old Tabernacle.

All but one of the sessions will be open to the public. A telephone hookup will be used to broadcast the closed priesthood meeting Saturday night. Approximately 150,000 men and boys gathered in 500 locations in the United States and Canada will receive instructions from the general officers. A priesthood holders will gather in Amarillo.

Simultaneous translations into several languages will enable the conference audience to understand the addresses in spite of language difficulties.

Laymen to Launch National Bible Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—National Bible Week will be launched Oct. 18 at a luncheon at New York's Hotel Pierre honoring Wallace E. Johnson, national chairman of the observance and president of Holiday Inns of America, Inc.

The observance also officially opens the Bible Society's 40 day annual Worldwide Bible Reading program, which extends through Thanksgiving Day.

Both Bible Week and Worldwide Bible Reading are held each year to encourage daily Bible reading and emphasize the positive impact of the Scriptures on daily life.

Johnson, of Memphis, Tenn., is one of the nation's leading laymen. He is chairman of the executive committee of Religious Heritage of America and with his wife, Alma, has sponsored the construction of several Baptist churches, at home and abroad.

Reared in a modest home in Edinburg, Miss., Johnson is a self-made multimillionaire. In leading the National Bible Week observance, he said:

"Our founding and our success as a nation and a people go back to the greatest book in the world—the Bible. Our goal in 1968 is to persuade as many Americans as possible to become daily readers of the Bible."

"We need to keep this nation under God. We need to seek constantly the will and guidance of God. We Americans can solve the many complex problems which confront us if we will read the Bible daily and pray for spiritual guidance."

Johnson keeps a Bible on his desk and uses prayer in his business. He believes God should be a daily partner and prays for everything from God's help in changing a building foreman's attitude toward his men to a $5 million construction loan.

"I firmly believe if I left God out of my business it would begin to fall apart in a matter of months," Johnson said.

The Laymen's National Committee, a nonsectarian corporation supported by voluntary, tax-deductible contributions, won the George Washington Medal from the Freedoms Foundation "for outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

Birth Control Controversy May Aid Christian Unity Movements

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
When Pope Paul VI issued his encyclical on birth control last July, many people thought it would be a severe setback to the Christian unity movement.

They felt that the Pope had dashed ecumenical hopes by reiterating rather than modifying a Catholic teaching which is almost universally rejected by Protestants.

But that judgment is now up for reappraisal. Astute observers are beginning to think that the birth control controversy may be more of an asset than a liability to the cause of Christian reunion.

Their reasoning goes like this: The greatest obstacle to unity is Protestant fear of papal power.

Fear Arbitrary Rule
Despite the example of Pope John XXIII, and despite the pronouncements of the Vatican Council, most Protestants have remained dubious about the existence of real freedom of conscience in the Catholic Church.

In the words of Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Presbyterian observer at the Vatican Council, Protestants have "feared that if organic reunion with the Roman Catholic Church ever came to pass, we would be required to submit our individual judgments of conscience to the voice of authority emanating from Vatican City and subordinate our personal convictions to whatever was decisively spoken by that voice."

This Protestant view of the arbitrary force of papal authority is now undergoing a considerable modification, in light of the Catholic response to the Pope's birth control encyclical.

Some members of the Catholic hierarchy, such as Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., have taken the position that Protestants expected: Namely, the Pope has spoken so the discussion is over.

New Interpretation
But other cardinals and bishops in several Western European countries, and many leading Catholic theologians in the United States, have taken a different view of the encyclical. As papal teaching, they have said, it deserves respectful consideration from every Catholic. But it is not infallible, and a Catholic who disagrees with the Pope's conclusion, after sober and prayerful study, has the right and, indeed, the duty, to follow his own conscience.

"What more could a Protestant ask?" says Dr. Brown. "What Protestant could not fully subscribe to this way of making decisions?"

Writing in the Catholic magazine Commonweal, the Presbyterian theologian concludes that the birth control encyclical "is inadvertently the greatest gift to the ecumenical scene since the election of Pope John back in 1959."

"Its reception shows that the traditional views of papal authority simply cannot be taken seriously any more, and that Catholics feel no greater sense of being bound to unquestionable doctrine than do Protestants."

Zion Lutheran Sets Rally Day

Sunday will be observed as "Rally Day" at Zion Lutheran Church and Sunday School. This marks the beginning of the new Sunday School year at Zion Lutheran.

Promotions will be announced at a combined Sunday School and Bible Class opening worship. Attendance certificates and pins will be awarded.

A "Rally Day" worship service, with "I Am My Brother's Keeper" as topic, will be held at the regular 11 a.m. worship service. Sunday School and Bible Class teachers will be installed during this service.

A pot-luck dinner will be served at noon in the Parish Hall. Games will be provided for the Sunday School pupils, with ice cream served afterwards.

Religious Magazines Should Guide, Lead

By DAVID POLING
One does not have to travel far in the United States to feel the uneasiness, anger and tension welling up in our society. A political campaign churns some of this but other forces are at work besides the taunts and digs of men seeking office.

Much of this sour mood is caused simply by the collision of one group with another. Students versus administration. Black militants and white police. Antiwar and win-the-war. Then add the flammable concoction of scientific change, religious uncertainty and 200 million people wondering about taxes, lung cancer and Czechoslovakia. Dwell on this enough and a slight feeling of calamity follows the news.

With this in mind, Joe Arstein, senior vice president of "Esquire," traced the program of his magazine on its 35th anniversary.

"Our editors feel that there is only one important area of service now, and that is to do whatever is possible to hold our society together."

Editors are sensitive to the crosscurrents troubling the American community. Secular publications are staying close to the alarms of the hour. Said John Johnson, editor of "Ebony," to an audience in Chicago: "All signs tell us that we are entering a new mood phase which will shape and guide editorial direction. The confusing groping of the American people constitutes a rare opportunity for magazine editors. It's an opportunity for us to define, clarify and resolve."

We should hope that religious publications will assume a great deal of the burden that comes with interpreting the times and giving guidance and understanding to perplexed people.

Some of the most thoughtful articles I have read and some of the most accurate predictions of things to come are found in small monthly magazines. In the religious field, this means some with only 3,000 readers, no advertisements and no newsstand circulation. They are terribly independent, faithfully honest and generally short-winded. Religion can use all of these qualities and you should consider reading as many of these as possible.

On the Catholic side of things, "Jubilee" ($6 per year, 232 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y.) has sparkle and polish. Its

"Unreality" Topic Of Scientists
"Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon for the 11 a.m. service Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 901 N. Frost.

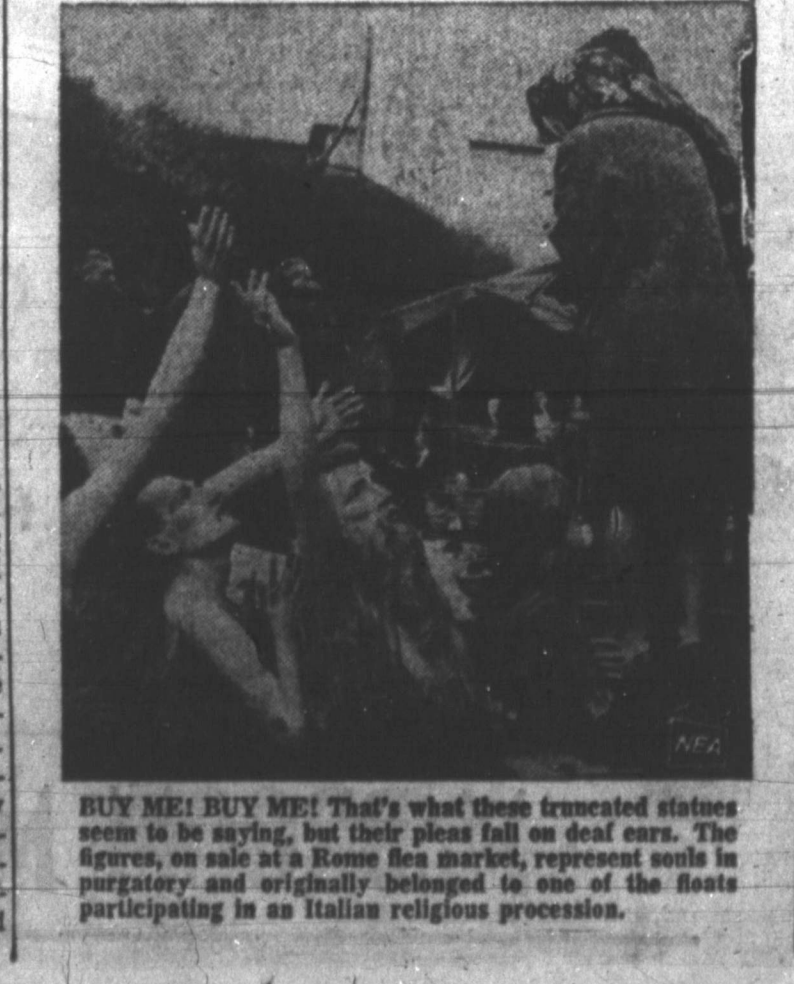

The Golden Text, from the Gospel of John, is "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment."

Among related passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is: "Human thoughts have their degrees of comparison. Some thoughts are better than others. A belief in Truth is better than belief in error, but no mortal testimony is founded on the divine Rock. Mortal testimony can be shaken. Until belief becomes faith, and faith becomes spiritual understanding, human thought has little relation to the actual or divine."

There will be a family night dinner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday for teachers recognition, followed by a congregational meeting for the election of new officers. Choir practice will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

"Founders Day" Set
WASHINGTON (UPI)—April 10 has been designated "Founders Day" by the Board of Trustees of the Catholic University of America. The date commemorates formal approval of the establishment of the University of the National University of the Catholic Church in the United States, on April 10, 1867.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
MORE INVOLVEMENT NEEDED

Isaiah 53:5

"But he was wounded for our transgression, he was bruised for iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him: and with his stripes we are healed."

We hear so much in these troubled times about getting involved or not getting involved. Clearly there is no greater example of involvement than the record of Christ's willing acceptance of the guilt problem of the world.

One writer has said that Jesus was not crucified in a Cathedral between two candles, but on a cross between two thieves, at a crossroad so cosmopolitan that his title was written in three languages. It was the kind of place where cynics talk smut, thieves curse, and soldiers gamble. That is why He died, and that is where churchmen should be working, and it is what their work should be about.

We who have accepted so freely for ourselves the healing and salvation purchased by Christ's sacrifice will never know the peace He promised until we get involved in pointing others to Christ. We shall never know the real blessings of God until we lose ourselves in involvement of Christ's work on this earth. As Jesus said "as the father hath sent me, So I send you."

Athletes Assured Olympic Games Will Be Held

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY—(UPI)—With official assurance that the 1968 Olympic Games will be held, the athletes in Olympic Village turned their attention to sports today and a multi-national practice track meet.

The village was in a state of violence, and the athletes hadn't even known about it until they awoke Thursday to learn that the International Olympic Committee was holding an extraordinary meeting to consider what action it should take—there were some demands that the Games be canceled.

The IOC Executive Committee ruled that it was obvious that the students were not rioting against the Olympics, that no athletes were endangered, and that the Games would go on since the Mexican Government had given assurance that the students were under control.

But this ruling was not made public until late in the day, and the athletes and leaders had little heart for training until the main question was settled.

The track meet today, which will continue through Saturday, will give most of the athletes a chance under good competitive conditions. It will be held at the University of Mexico practice track, not the main Olympic track, also at the university, and was expected to provide good results.

Today's track meet is on the new tartan track which could produce the volume of world records expected in the sprints and field events, even if the weather is inclement.

Bob Murphy Co-Leader Of Alcan

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI)—A shoulder separation sustained while playing football cost Bob Murphy a baseball career—which is how he came playing golf.

"What a lucky break—pardon the pun—that was." The 25-year old, 210-pound Irishman from Florida mused today as he began the third round of the $130,000 Alcan Golfer of the Year championship as joint leader.

Murphy was at 141 along with South African Bobby Cole. They were two shots ahead of New Zealand's Bob Charles and Englishman Peter Butler.

"I was on a baseball scholarship at Miami at the time, aiming for a career as a pitcher. Then the injury came and I had to give it up. I only took up golf as a recreation—and here we are," Murphy said.

"Here" includes a possible $55,000 first prize from the Alcan tournament to add to the near $100,000 he has picked up in his first pro year during which he won the Philadelphia Classic and the Thunderbird back to back.

Lee Trevino had rounds of two-under-par 72's for 144 to share fifth place with England's Peter Townsend.

Last year's Alcan winner, Gay Brewer, came back into contention with a solid 70 for 245 but the rest of the American contingent appeared out of it now.

A Dismal Decade For TCU May Be Ending

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

It has been a dismal decade for Texas Christian in its Southwest Conference rivalry with the Arkansas Razorbacks, but hopes appear brighter than ever that things may be different when the clubs meet Saturday night in the Southwest Conference football feature.

The TCU-Arkansas clash at Fort Worth, building toward a capacity 46,000 crowd in Amon Carter Stadium, stands out on a schedule packed with inter-sectional hopes of improving on the league's spotty 5-6-3 win-loss-tie record against outsiders to date.

Chiefs, Jets May Invest In Some Burglar Alarms

By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs and the New York Jets ought to invest in burglar alarms or additional body guards for their quarterbacks for use on the playing field Saturday night.

The two clubs might need all the help, mechanical or otherwise, they can get since they take on opponents with a past record of stealing the football.

The Chiefs, trying to catch the leaders in the Western Division, travel to upstate New York where they take on the Buffalo Bills—the same Bills who intercepted five Joe Namath passes last Sunday while upsetting the Jets 37-35. Three of the interceptions were returned for touchdowns—a league record.

Jets Tackle Chargers
The Jets, tied for the Eastern Division lead with Boston, open their home campaign at Shea Stadium against the unbeaten San Diego Chargers, who are also adept at intercepting enemy aerials. The Chargers have retrieved six passes from the opposition this season.

The two Saturday night games kick off a busy weekend for AFL teams with the remainder of the clubs swinging into action Sunday afternoon.

Defending champion Oakland, successful in three consecutive road games, makes its home field debut against the unpredictable Boston Patriots while the expansion Cincinnati Bengals bid for a second win over Denver this season in a game in the Mile High city. The remaining game sends Miami to Houston.

Kansas City (3-1) is a 17 point favorite over Buffalo while Oakland, shooting for its 14th straight league victory, is picked by 20 over Boston.

Oilers Favored
New York (2-1) is a 5½ point favorite over the Chargers while Denver is a one point choice over Cincinnati, Houston, even though quarterback Pete Beathard is ailing, is a 13 point favorite over Miami.

Kansas City, probably the best balanced team in the league, turned on the power last Sunday while crushing Miami 48-3. In that game Len Dawson broke out of his slump and hurled three touchdown passes, his first of the season.

Oakland won both meetings with Boston last year but the Patriots hold an 8-5 edge in the AFL, Boston running star Jim Nance still is jolted by an ankle injury incurred in the first game of the season.

Cincinnati beat Denver three weeks ago in the first game of the season but the Bengals can expect a tougher game this time around. Marlin Briscoe, first Negro to play the quarterback position in the AFL, may see a lot of action for the winless Broncos.

Arkansas Favored

Arkansas' 14th-ranked Hogs are a four-point favorite to continue their domination of the TCU series in which they have won nine in a row and blanked the Frogs five times and twice held TCU to field goals.

But, TCU showed signs last week in its 38-17 victory over Iowa that with Norm Bulaich, the league's top rusher, and Ross Montgomery mauling the line and with Ted Fay showing improvement at quarterback that the Frogs could develop into a real menace for anyone.

Fay had shown signs of his ability in TCU's opening 17-7 loss to Georgia Tech.

Arkansas, with 88 points in two games and the loop's only untarnished record, has been a great second half team in its 32-15 and 56-13 wins over Oklahoma State and Tulsa.

Sophomore quarterback Bill Montgomery has brought praise for his poise and wheelhouse David Dickey has taken on a new dimension as a halfback passing threat.

Interest will be about equally divided among the inter-sectional games, but for differing reasons.

Plainview and Pampa square off tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Harvester Stadium with the Bulldogs aiming for a 4-0 mark and the Harvesters hoping for their second victory in four outings.

Both teams have played only Class AAA teams so far this season and the game will be their debut in Class AAAA action.

While the Bulldogs were trouncing Tulsa, 48-7, Hereford, 28-0, and Vernon 35-6, the Harvesters won their first over Hereford, 12-6, lost to Dumas 29-7 and were pummeled 33-14 by powerful, number one ranked Class AAA power Perryton.

If comparative scores mean anything, the Harvesters are in for a tough time. That same Hereford team which Pampa edged 12-6, was whitewashed 28-0 by the Bulldogs.

Coach "Swede" Lee said the Bulldogs will probably be potent on offense and stingy on defense.

"They're a good team and they are well drilled. They lead the district in rushing, and they have given up only two touchdowns."

Lee said the Bulldogs are primarily a running team and form their offensive nucleus around the running of fullback David Wooley, 185, and speedster Larry Watson.

Watson, a 165-pounder, was described as a breakaway threat and Wooley was described as a "power runner with better than average speed."

PJH 8th Gridders Topple Shamrock

Pampa Junior High's Eighth Grade footballers romped over Shamrock Eighth Grade here yesterday, 22-0.

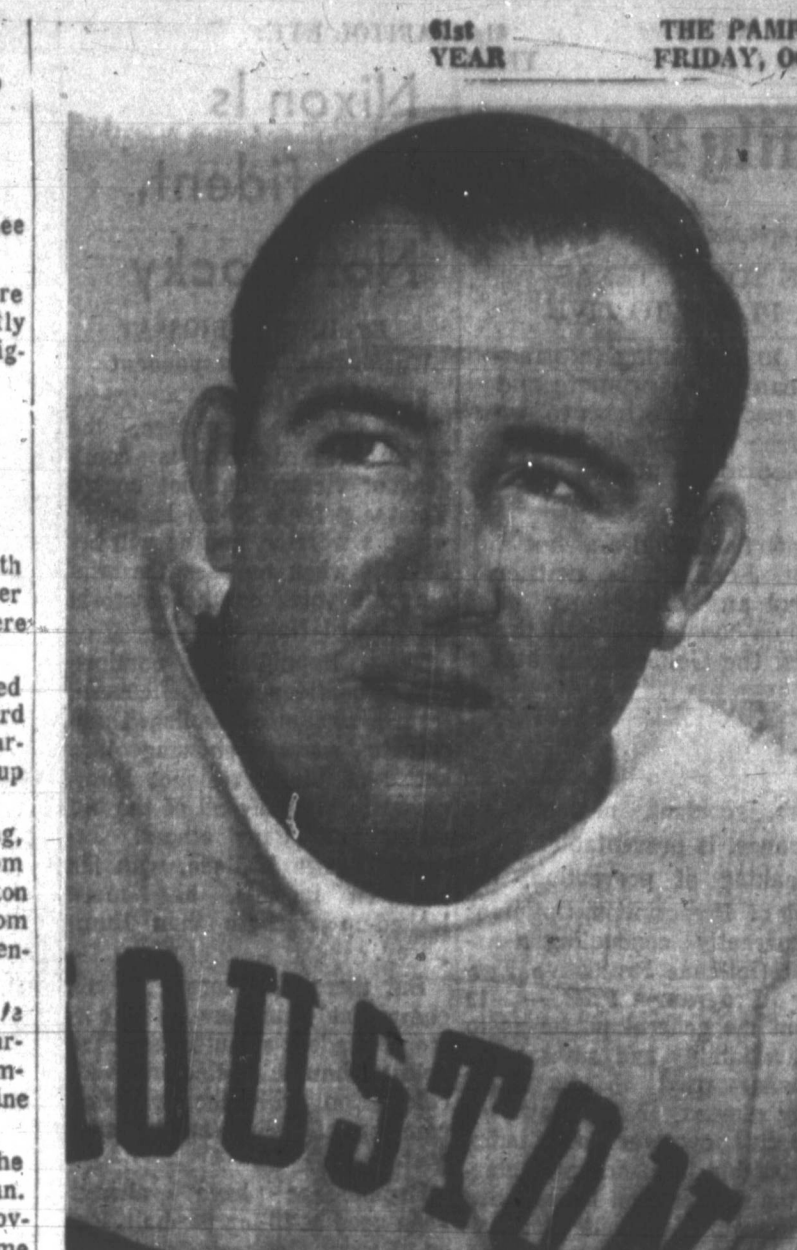

Richard McCampbell opened the scoring with a two-yard touchdown run in the first quarter after the score was set up by an Allan Keeton run.

In the second quarter, King, the quarterback, scored from seven yards out and Keeton added the two extra points from seven yards out following a penalty.

McCampbell was responsible for two points in the third quarter when he tackled a Shamrock runner behind the goal line for a safety.

McCampbell also tallied in the fourth quarter on a 92-yard run. Several PJH defenders recovered mumbles during the game to give the home team the ball and the momentum.

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Tom Bogs, Denmark, stopped Bernard Quellier, France (10) (light heavyweights).

HARVESTER AT HOUSTON—Jim Arthur, former Pampa Harvester footballer, is now a member of the University of Houston team, ranked 12th in the nation. Arthur is the alternate center at UH. He is a 5-11, 205 pound junior. The Cougars meet Cincinnati's Bearcats tonight in the Astrodome.

NFL In Year Of The Revolving Quarterbacks

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

The year of the revolving quarterback stretches for new heights this weekend when the National Football League backs the World Series for attention.

Injuries on the part of some quarterbacks, failures on the part of others, along with the natural desire of some coaches to experiment, have created a minor upheaval in the ranks of football's most glamorous position.

The biggest switch occurs when the Pittsburgh Steelers go to Cleveland for their annual Saturday night meeting with the Browns. The probable starting quarterbacks are Dick Shiner for Pittsburgh and Bill Nelsen for Cleveland.

Last year Shiner played for Cleveland and Nelsen for Pittsburgh. The two were traded in a pre-season deal and this is the first meeting of the two clubs since. Shiner, who missed most of the exhibition season because of a back injury, got into the Pittsburgh lineup last Sunday and completed seven of 19 passes for 121 yards in relief of Kent Nix.

The Browns, who show one victory for three starts, are favored by 11 points over the winless Steelers.

Morrill Steps In
Earl Morrill has been the biggest beneficiary of the uncertain quarterback situation. A 34-year-old veteran of 13 pro seasons, Morrill was expected to enjoy the luxury of the Baltimore bench, a vantage point from where he could appreciate fully the mastery of Johnny Unitas.

But a sore elbow sidelined Unitas for the first three weeks of the season and Morrill led the Colts to three victories. He is expected to be at the helm again this Sunday when Baltimore, a 12-point favorite, entertains the Chicago Bears.

The Bears also have an unusual quarterback situation as both first stringer Jack Concannon and second stringer Rudy Bukich were injured in last week's 27-17 victory over Minnesota. This leaves the job to third stringer Larry Rakestraw, who completed four of four passes for 44 yards against the Vikings.

The remainder of the schedule Sunday has Detroit at Minnesota, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Dallas at St. Louis, New Orleans at New York, Green Bay at Atlanta and Philadelphia at Washington.

The signal-calling position for Philadelphia also is uncertain. Regular Norm Snead has been out of action since Aug. 11 with a broken bone in his left leg, but he may be activated in time for the Redskins game. With King Hill and John Huarte filling in, the Eagles dropped their first three contests. Sonny Jurgensen, one of the NFL's premier passers, directs the Redskins attack and they are favored by 10 points.

Vikings Favored
Detroit and Minnesota, both 2-1, are battling for the Central Division lead and the Vikings are picked by 2½ points on their home field.

Tigers Prove That They Aren't Pussycats

By JOHN G. GRIFFIN
UPI Executive Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers proved they're no pussycats, and suddenly the 1968 World Series isn't as simple as Bob Gibson made it look.

When Bullet Bob was blowing down the Tigers with 17 strikeouts in the opening game of the Series, the Tigers were a jittery, fumbling bunch who didn't seem to belong in the same ballpark with the defending world champions.

But two guys—Mickey Lolich and Willie Horton—changed all that in a hurry Thursday as Detroit stomped the Cards, 8-1, and tied the series at one game each.

Now, as the series catches its breath for one day and then shifts to Tiger stadium in Detroit for the third, fourth, and fifth games Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, it's obvious the Cardinals have a couple of major problems in their fight to retain their world title.

Score Three Homers
For one thing, there's that Detroit power—which emerged from the Gibson-caused coma to account for three homers among 13 hits Thursday.

Back home in Tiger Stadium, where the left-center and right-center "power alleys" are shorter, the belling Bengals will be tougher to handle.

For another, the way the Tigers maulled 19-game winner Nelson Briles, and an assortment of successors who were a "relief" only to Detroit fans sick of Gibson, raises the question whether the Cards have any pitcher except Gibson who can do the job.

Lolich and Horton were the guys who turned things around. Mostly, of course, Lolich.

The Detroit southpaw came up with the greatest day of his career just when it seemed he was doomed to disappointment. On the eve of the game, he developed a groin infection that sapped his strength. Detroit Manager Mayo Smith decided to start him anyway, but was ready to relieve him after about five innings.

Not Too Tired
"The doctor told me I'd get very tired in the late innings," Lolich disclosed.

So "tired" was Lolich that he merely: 1. Pitched a six-hitter that could have been a shutout; 2. Slugged the very first home run of his major league career; 3. Also had a single; 4. Walked w/h the bases loaded to drive in another run.

"I'm so tired now, though," he said after the game, "that I could lie right down on the trainer's table and go right off to sleep."

Mickey's not sure exactly when he'll be ready to pitch again. Right now, the Tigers aren't counting on him until along about Monday when the fifth game comes up. In the meantime, plenty of rest is in order.

3,000 Greet Tigers Back In Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—If the Detroit Tigers survived their fans, they certainly should stand a fighting chance against the St. Louis Cardinals.

More than 3,000, chanting, sign-carrying fans milled around the Tigers' charter jet Thursday night when it arrived from St. Louis. The next three scheduled games of the World Series, tied at one game each, are to be played in Detroit.

When the jet taxied into its resting place, the fans, who had been held back by police and a six-foot fence, swarmed over and around the barriers and swarmed around the plane.

"We want Tiers! We want Tiger," they yelled, and when Willie Horton appeared a tremendous cheer arose.

Mickey Lolich, who evened the series at a game apiece and slugged his first professional home run, popped into view and the crowd went wild.

Horton, whose towering home run got the team off and winging to its 8-1 victory, said the team was "more relaxed now. We should be all right."

Curt Flood earned a reputation as baseball's best defensive center fielder by catching this kind of ball, but this one fanned and Dick McAuliffe hit a bouncing off his glove for a sinking line drive to center.

Sixth Inning Crucial
It was the sixth inning that did it in the Cardinals. Horton followed Cash by reaching first on an infield single that stirred a loud argument between umpire Stan Landes, first baseman Orlando Cepeda and catcher Tim McCarver.

Steve Carlton came on in relief of Briles and gave up a single to Bill Freehan and a walk to Don Wert to load the bases with one out. Lolich kind of ball, but this one fanned and Dick McAuliffe hit a sinking line drive to center.

GLOOM AND DOOM

Hoople Sees Sad Day Coming For Top California Elevens

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Upset Champion

Egad, friends, this Saturday may well go down in the annals of the 1968 season as "Upset Day!"

The Hoopie System sees no less than four upsets of colossal proportions in the offing—kumpli!

For the youthful Air Force eleven it will be two in a row as they trim the Stanford Indians, 31-28, on the latter's home grounds.

The underdog Syracuse club will prove themselves rude hosts prove themselves rude hosts as they eke out a 19-16 win over well-regarded UCLA.

Another big surprise in the East will find West Virginia's Mountaineers rising to new heights as they down powerful Penn State, 34-26!

And now, kiddies, hold on to your seats. The gloom and doom that will pervade California following the defeats of Stanford and UCLA will reach the saturation point as the Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes shock the Southern California Trojans under the lights in Los Angeles Coliseum. We predict Miami will prevail by a twopoint margin, 30-28—Har-rumph!

Other contests worthy of special mention pit TCU against Arkansas in a Southwest Conference headliner, and Mississippi and Alabama in a Southeastern classic.

I predict a victory for Texas as Christian, 24-22, and a return to the top rung for Old Miss as they repel Alabama, 27-19.

Purdue's Boiler-makers, who played the role of "spoiler-makers" to perfection as they stunned Notre Dame last Saturday, will continue their win-

Touchdown Bound

Leroy Keyes and his friends will stay in high gear as they roll over undermanned Northwestern by a 33-11 count.

That reminds me, dear readers, I must tell you about Clancy, the die-hard Irish supporter at the Owl's Club. Clancy lost a dinner-for-two wager on the N.D.-Purdue game Saturday afternoon, then he lost a luncheon-for-two bet on the TV replay Sunday afternoon—beeh-heh!

Now on with the forecast: U. Tex., El Paso 13, Arizona 11.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Holding Back the Dark

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the oldest voluntary national organization engaged in this field of health, is in its 50th year of service.

It was in 1908 that the society began its vision-saving history when it fought for legislation to require that prophylactic drops be put into the eyes of every newborn baby.

At the time, 25 per cent of all children in schools for the blind had been needlessly blinded at birth by an infectious disease called "babes sore eyes."

Today, the disease has been virtually eliminated. In the 1950s, the society participated in research to investigate an increasing incidence of a type of blindness called retrolental fibroplasia among children.

In the 1960s, because of the dramatic increase in the average life span, much of the society's work is in educating older citizens about what they can do to treat or prevent cataracts and glaucoma. The society emphasizes that fully half of all blindness, whether due to disease, accident, neglect or ignorance, is preventable.

Speaking of prevention, the Guild of Prescription Opticians is currently conducting a national Opticians Protective Eye-wear Program—PEP—to inform the general public as to the availability and advisability of what used to be called safety glasses. Now known as protective eyewear, and indistinguishable from ordinary glasses, the shatterproof lenses have now become available for everyone who wears glasses and for millions more who wear sunglasses.

Some 500,000 eye injuries are suffered each year by Americans, says the Guild, and more than 160,000 of these involve children. The opticians, of course, hope to sell glasses, but it is difficult to argue with their contention that this toll could be significantly reduced if people who wear glasses would wear protective glasses.

A recent survey revealed that Americans fear blindness more than any disease except cancer. Clearly, when it comes to preventive health, the eyes have of all blindness, whether due to

Who Pays Off?

Recently the wire services released a report on the activist "careers" of leaders prominent in disorders around the country. It revealed a great deal about them.

As Mayor Daley put it, "They are not strangers to the tactics of confrontation. . . The outline shows travel to Communist countries, draft evasion and disregard for orderly processes of dissent."

There was Rennie Davis, chief planner of Center for Radical Research, organizer of Resistance Inside the Army (RITA), promoter of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), and a visitor to North Vietnam last November at the invitation of the Hanoi government. Similar busy-ness attaches to others who are ever ready to start a group up in a childlike tantrum to demand what they want NOW, or keep on being yammering bad boys. Tom Hayden, termed the "Madist Messiah" from Michigan, brewed it up in New Jersey, Columbia U. and Chicago. Abbie Hoffman, an organizer of the Youth International Party (Yippies), set out to prove that "the streets belong to the people" in a New York

Baffle-Gab Exposure

For communication, thoughts are usually restricted to the medium of words. Anyone attempting to wade through the welter of printed words these days frequently finds they fall far short of idea communication. There are long words, colorful words, four-letter words, intellectual-sounding words, yet they seem to add up to billions of meaningless phrases.

Time magazine Sept. 13 took a bead on bureaucratism, which it terms "baffle-gab." More than that, it offered a mini-the-saurus of baffle-gab and revealed how it works.

A three-column list of 30 over-used, portentous words is set up on numbered lines. Then if anyone needs an opaque phrase

Ersatz Diet Gets Woolly

Add another prediction for the wonderful world of the future. We are still trying to face up to the prospect of having algae for breakfast and now some New Zealand scientists come along with a new suggestion for the menu a generation or so hence—wool.

Researchers down there say wool has more protein than any meat. What's more, they have been keeping laboratory animals alive, if not necessarily happy, on a gritty protein food concocted from fibers.

he needs only to think of a three-digit number, say 130 or 575, and running the finger down the "buzz words" in each of the three columns, he will come up with such phrases as "Total Reciprocal Options" or "Responsive Incremental Concept."

At Bismark, N. D., he told them, typically: "Everywhere we go the crowd is like this. You see its enthusiasms. You see its youth, and it's not just North Dakota. Across this nation something is happening. There is a great surge over the country. . ."

Often he recites the crowd estimates at his appearances in Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia and other places, and the figures have a tendency to grow in the retelling.

Nixon Is Confident, Not Cocky

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent

SEATTLE (NEA) — Three weeks into the campaign, the public Richard Nixon is confident of victory but not cocky. Yet the private Nixon is, as always, a worrier, and he will believe it when he sees the winning 270 votes on the electoral scoreboard Nov. 5.

The Republican nominee takes confidence, of course, from a stream of published and private surveys showing him ahead of Vice President Humphrey in virtually all of the big states and many others. Indeed, George Wallace, with his southern inroads, has more locked-up strength than Humphrey.

But there is more. Nixon's competent managers are extremely adept at buttressing the cold arithmetic of electoral vote calculation with the warming comforts of visible, audible support.

Republicans have always been good at filling the hall. Even Barry Goldwater's people managed it in 1964, though his motorcade routes were nearly bare of crowds.

The Nixon mastery of this operation is, however, unsurpassed. From the first cold, bleak nights in New Hampshire last February up to these early autumn days, the halls have been crammed to the doors and enlivened by thumping bands, gaily costumed Nixon girls and, above all, a bright forest of waving balloons.

Humphrey has not yet dis-smooth the balloon. But Nixon knows it for what it is — a symbol of soaring optimism. At a Sioux Falls airport rally, hundreds of them were pushed out of a truck door to drift skyward like cheerful victory signals.

Even things Nixon is doing to smooth his once-strained relations with the traveling press are a useful part of his own reassurance.

His own jet and the two jet press planes are marvels of creamy white spaciousness and ease. On the "Julie," the principal press plane, there is even a small electric piano to smooth out the relaxed piano-songfest he offered at Key Biscayne after his nomination in Miami Beach.

Like the balls along the way, the jet entourage has about it the smell and sound of success. It is as if the elusive aura of victory had been packaged and brought along for steady reassurance and enjoyment.

Outdoor arrangements are not so readily governed. Still, the Nixon people time and stage their open rallies in streets and squares and on capitol steps with exquisite care. They move the candidate through downtown areas at high noon when the citizens are out, and drum out thousands with blaring television, radio and sound truck invitations. David Merrick could not do it better on Broadway.

The managers know their man. Anyone who traveled with Nixon in his 1960 race against the late John F. Kennedy knows what real joy he finds in the full street and the noisy hall — and how he tries to translate his pleasure into language for his listeners that suggests a kind of climate of inevitability.

At Bismark, N. D., he told them, typically: "Everywhere we go the crowd is like this. You see its enthusiasms. You see its youth, and it's not just North Dakota. Across this nation something is happening. There is a great surge over the country. . ."

Often he recites the crowd estimates at his appearances in Chicago, San Francisco, Philadelphia and other places, and the figures have a tendency to grow in the retelling.

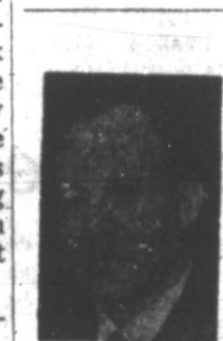

Yet beneath the traveling facade of relaxed confidence, Richard Nixon and his men also typically, still fret.

Editor: Because of a recent statement by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R. Michigan I am submitting this letter with a copy of a telegram, sent to Senator Griffin by a group of concerned Americans.

Senator Griffin revealed partly the harassment opponents of Abe Fortas' confirmation endure. He said he is "concerned by what he believes are indications that the White House indirectly and directly is trying to stir this (anti-semitism charge) up and make it a big issue, even though there is no basis for it."

Dear Senator: Much has been said about the civil rights stand of the nominee, Abe Fortas. However, we, even though of a minority group, are more concerned with the rights of the majority during the hour of trial of America for survival.

Abe Fortas' long-time support of far-left organizations stamps him as a far cry from another Jew, a good Constitutionalist, the late Benjamin Cardozo.

Accordingly, we absolutely oppose Fortas' nomination for Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court. (Signed) Jewish Citizens' Committee Opposing the Nomination of Abe-Fortas

Wit and Whimsy

Three beatniks (bless their little stinky selves!) were cruising at 90 miles per, when one noticed the door on his side was slightly open. He proceeded to slam it shut. The driver, turning toward back seat, said: "Go — Hey, man — like who got in?"

A police office in a small town recognized a citizen on the street at 4 a.m., and asked in a friendly way, "Officer Long — Where are you going at this hour?" Mr. Lee (as he headed for home) — "To a lecture, I'm afraid."

Subcommittee members asked whether a multi-million dollar radio-television campaign advertising big prizes to be awarded by an oil company is not, itself, a kind of pressure on that company's station operators to invest money in the company's newest marketing game.

Dingell says he does not really care whether Humble's final decision is for the Tiger or the Ad Manager. He suggests, however, that "Both of them look pretty silly wearing their gambler's eye-shades."

Up To Next President....

The next President can and will "do something about law enforcement." What he might do should be a sobering consideration for us all.

The next President almost certainly will select two and perhaps five new justices for the Supreme Court. The next President will perpetuate or re-designate the attorney general. Hopefully, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover will survive many more administrations, but it is always possible that his huge responsibility might have to be refilled.

If there were no other motivation for America's voters to vote next Election Day, this should be enough — that the next President will influence the interpretation and enforcement of our laws for generations to come!

May I clarify a relationship with which not all Americans are familiar. The FBI's voluminous files, in less responsible hands, could be used by politicians for intimidation, blackmail, blackmail — or destruction of political enemies.

Hoover has protected the sanctity of those archives even against his own superiors in the Department of Justice, even against attorney generals who might have misused them.

This man's unalterable integrity is so well known on the Hill that enough members of Congress have always mobilized in his defense against detractors, attackers or, in some instances even against the White House itself.

Even presently our nation's lawmen have the sustaining support of director Hoover despite the opposition of Attorney General Ramsey Clark. Crime is pyramiding. The attorney general is sworn to represent "the people of the United States." Yet he has continued to render law "judgments" which aid and comfort law breakers.

To a commission investigating street rioting, Clark stated: "Of all violence, police violence in excess of authority is the most dangerous. . ."

"Crowds of tens of thousands can be controlled without significant violence. . ."

"It is the duty of leadership and law enforcement to control violence, not cause it. . ."

Thus the attorney general reacted to Chicago's handling of that militant mob which sought to disrupt the Democratic convention — castigating police for overreacting — though not one shot was fired during that entire showdown.

On the other hand, FBI Director Hoover, addressing that same committee on that same day, dared to contradict his "boss."

Director Hoover praised Chicago police "for preventing the loss of any lives or the disruption of the convention against vicious attacking mobs."

It is under the ultralient likes of Ramsey Clark that lawlessness in our nation is increasing nine times faster than our population is increasing.

Under the past two Administrations crime has increased, arrests have declined. Crime increased in the United States 31 percent the first six months of this year!

You'd better get yourself to the polls this year before it's no longer safe to go!

The American Way

By D.R. SEGAL

Have you ever seen such a mess, really? I was discussing it with my roommate the other day and she said: "What did you expect of a bunch of nuts?" She is very basic in her political beliefs and doesn't hold with subtleties.

It does seem that the two contenders for the Presidency, and their sidekicks are contending for the title of All-American Goo-Off of 1968. Mr. Humphrey started the contest when the cracked about getting the troops out of Vietnam in a year or so; and Mr. Johnson promptly roasted him as being an ignoramus for saying we could pull out at any foreseeable date.

Next day the Vice President said well, he didn't mean it the way it sounded, sir, and let's pass on to the next subject.

Not to be outdone by the Democrats, Spiro Anagnostos said Hubert Humphrey was soft on Communism, and Republican Senate Leader Ev Dirksen and House Leader Gerald Ford said Spiro's views on the subject were Greek to them.

Meantime, back in the Democratic camp, one of the Johnson followers, a coming young fellow who is being primed for the governorship of Texas in a few years, Ben Barnes, refused to be the Humphrey campaign manager in Texas because he was too busy. You know-who was in on that decision. The governor of Texas, LBJ's crony, failed to show up when Humphrey came to campaign in Texas; and the governor of Louisiana was elsewhere when Hubert came to his state.

Did you ever hear such a sad story? George Wallace hasn't that sort of problem. Almost nobody in public office admits to knowing him and he doesn't expect to be met by governors, senators and mayors in his campaign. He just moves in, raises a little hell, makes a few inflammatory statements about running over the head of anybody who lies down in front of his car, and then moves on. The thing is, he is going to poll a very big vote. The betting here is he will pick up 60 percent of the popular vote in Oklahoma and his strength seems to be gaining throughout the South.

My roommate has some views on this, too. She is of the opinion that, viewed in their undies, they are all of a bundle big — promising fakery who haven't the candlepower or viscera to say, "Look, buddy, there is no government and no politician who can legislate prosperity, cure laziness, overcome mental retardation, make everybody rich and beautiful, and you might as well know it." She doesn't mess around.

With Some Reservation Injun Yawp

"Give a city employee a inch and he wants the whole blasted yardstick" is an old Injun saying that I just thought up myself.

I see where the Local 237, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which includes 53 hundred employees of the city housing authority, has announced demands of a guarantee of 5 bucks for each kid in the house.

This is 5 bucks a week for every livin, runnin buck the employees owns, regardless of sex, creed or color. I reckon their idea is that sex was designed to be a money-makin machine.

In New York, the city of sin, the more you prime the pump the more they grease your palm. It's true — see, the reason the union wants 5 bucks a buck is because the welfare people are makin at least that much for doin nothin. The welfare department in N.Y. pays over $62 a week for livin on the fire-escapes and spitting thru the railings.

I guess you can't blame the workers for wanting to live the life of the relievers who are pulling down anywhere from $5000 to $9,500 a year, depending on how many social workers are sent for who couldn't come.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure the question.)

QUESTION: Can a person believe in freedom and taxes? ANSWER: We do not see how the person who believes in taxes, which are based on threats of initiated force backed by a gun, can really believe in Freedom. Freedom and taxes are incompatible. If you believe in one, you cannot believe in the other without being inconsistent.

Freedom, as defined by Andrew J. Galambos, is that social condition where every individual is 100 per cent in control of his own property. Taxes are based on initiated force, or the threat of initiated force, to make a man pay for something he doesn't want to use. That's anything but freedom.

To the degree that a man is forced to pay for something he doesn't want, to that degree he loses control of his own property. As soon as a single person has less than 100 per cent control of his own property, he is not free.

As Herbert Spencer said, "No one can be perfectly free till all are free."

Most Bosses Reject 'Mod' Wear In Office

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—Do the bosses of America have the right to turn thumbs down and noses up when an office worker adopts mod clothing or grooming?

Increasingly that is the question as once-conservative male and female salaried workers seek to express individuality via tuned-in togs and hair styles.

The boss DOES have that right and is exercising it, if a recent survey by the Administrative Management Society means anything.

The survey of bosses, reports "Today's Secretary," found most bugged by the whole mod scene. That includes turtlenecks, micro-minis, beatnik mustaches and thigh-high boots for females.

Typical of their attitude was this comment from one management man:

"This is a business office, not a psychedelic refuge for barbarians."

Some highlights of the survey:

—Seventy-five per cent of the bosses mixed boots on women office workers.

—Seventy-seven per cent vetoed turtlenecks in place of shirt and tie for men.

—Minis (defined as two or three inches above knee) were okayed by 52 per cent of the management spokesmen.

—Micro-minis (two inches of thigh covered) were knocked by 100 per cent of those surveyed.

—Beards bugged 75 per cent of the bosses; sideburns, 54 per cent.

—Small neat mustaches were okayed by 73 per cent—provided they were worn by "mature men."

—Some tolerance of long hair and beards was found among bosses in the fields of electronics, science and education.

To enforce their fashion standards, most businessmen said they rely on subtle hints and social pressure.

Some remind workers inclined to fashion freak-outs that grooming is considered at salary review time. One company spokesman explained his firm's policy this way:

"When the situation arises we take some action that will either change the situation or change the people."

"In other words, if they refuse to conform to accepted standards, we fire 'em."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—E.F. Hutton & Co. says that while advances have outnumbered declines consistently in recent sessions, some change in the pattern is about due. The analyst maintains a "constructive market outlook" but says it would not be surprised if the market goes through another period of consolidation in the next few sessions.

Hayden Stone Inc. says it expects the Dow Jones industrial average to make a successful penetration of the 950 level, but is undecided on how far the rise will carry. Still, the analyst adds, in view of the market's momentum and the large amount of investment values available, the DJ average seems to be "in a good position" to test the 1,000-level either later this year or early next year.

'Being Poor' Was Advantage To The Fontana Sisters

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL
ROME (UPI)—Being born poor was the best thing that ever happened to fashion's Fontana sisters.

"We were born poor. That is why we made an effort to become successful. If we had not been poor, we might not have worked hard," Zoe Fontana, eldest of the three designing ladies, said.

Successful they are, in a manner that is showing the way to success for much of the rest of Italian fashion.

It was the Fontana sisters who were the only high fashion house in Rome to remain open during the grim days of World War II. Other houses closed, waiting for Paris to provide inspiration. The sister preferred to provide their own inspiration.

That inspiration succeeded after the lean war years in drawing such celebrities as Jacqueline Kennedy, Margaret Truman, Ingrid Bergman, Ava Gardner, Elizabeth Taylor and Audrey Hepburn. Miss Truman and Princess Maria Pia of Savoy bought their trousseaus at the Fontana salon.

Having showed the way for Italian fashion to strike out on its own, the Fontanas now have showed the way for the nation's high fashion industry to go where the money is.

Their mother began the House of Fontana as a modest dress-ready-wear factory in Italy owned directly by a high fashion home. They felt the time had come to cash in on the ready-to-wear market—already full of copies of their work.

The factory near Rome employs 300 persons and provides clothes for an international market. The Fontanas maintain a permanent high fashion showroom in New York.

A number of other Italian houses now are making plans to go directly into the manufacturing business.

It is the fact that they are a family that has always given the sisters such a boost in business.

Zoe, Micol and Giovanna Fontana were born in Parma in the years just before and during the first World War. Their father was a small contractor. Their mother began the House of Fontana as a modest dress-
