Jury Is Probing Chicago Events

CHICAGO (UPI)—Who was responsible for the violence during the Democratic National Convention—television? demonstrators? police? all of them? A federal grand jury has been ordered to make a sweeping study of the question and indict those it thinks responsible.

Chief Judge William J. Campbell of the U.S. District Court ordered the investigation Monday. He gave the order shortly after Mayor Richard J. Daley, appearing at his first news conference at which he answered questions about the violence, charged the news media with presenting a "distorted" picture of what happened.

"I am amazed at the distorted and twisted picture the news media gave," Daley said at the jam-packed news conference. "The American people were amazed. Their letters show it."

The mayor refused to elaborate on how the media allegedly distorted the news, referring questioners to the city report. He conceded there may have been instances of "over-reaction" by police, but said these now are under investigation by the police department and stoutly defended police action during the disorders in dealing with "terrorists."

Daley repeated statements contained in the report that policemen continually were subjected to obscene language about themselves and their families from hippies and antiwar protesters and had many things, including human excrement, thrown at them.

"What about human bites—biting policemen, taking flesh out of their legs?" he asked. "I think all you newsmen missed the point," he added. "There were no lives lost in Chicago during the convention. Six were killed in Miami in racial rioting during the Republican National Convention at Miami Beach."

(Daley's reference to "six" was an error. Three persons died in the Miami riots.)

Campbell told the September federal grand jury it should investigate all phases of the violence during the Aug. 26-29 Democratic convention for possible indictments against demonstrators, police and the radio and television media.

Campbell said the grounds for the investigation were based "purely on the information I have read in the press." He ordered the jury to investigate accusations of "conspiracy to unduly influence the convention by television," of "an interstate conspiracy to promote riot," and of violation of the civil rights of antiwar protesters by police "under the guise of law through excessive use of force and brutality."

Also to be investigated were possible violations of Federal Communications Act regulations "in regard to the broadcast of news events," and reported "violations of federal wire-tap statutes." The latter charge apparently referred to the National Broadcasting Company's admission that some of its personnel tapped a closed session of the Democratic Platform Committee.

Delay Due In Release Of Pueblo Crew

SEOUL (UPI)—The release of the 82 USS Pueblo crewmen from North Korea may be delayed due to disagreement over the wording of the proposed U.S. apology for the spy ship incident, a Seoul newspaper said today.

The independent Hankook Ilbo, one of South Korea's national papers, said in a front page story the United States had agreed in principle to admit the Pueblo's violation of North Korean waters and apologize for it.

Attributing the story to sources close to the United Nations Command, the paper said this agreement came at the 20th secret U.S.-North Korean talk at the truce village of Panmunjon on Aug. 29.

The sources expected the release of the Pueblo crew would be delayed as no conclusion had been reached on the wording and method of the proposed apology, the paper said.

As soon as the United States makes a decision on how to apologize, it would seek the 21st secret bilateral talk to discuss detailed procedures for the return of the Pueblo crew, the paper added.

Saboteurs Blow Up Five-Ton Vehicle In California Armory

Charges Filed In Aftermath Of Shooting Incident

Charges of assault with intent to murder were filed today against a 16-year-old youth in connection with the shooting Saturday night of Robia William Pettigrew, 15.

The youth was arraigned before Justice of the Peace E.L. Anderson where bond of $10,000 was set. He was later transferred to the county jail from the city jail in lieu of bond.

A hearing is slated later to determine if the youth will be handled as a juvenile or whether criminal proceedings will be initiated. That hearing will probably be held next week, officials said.

If the Juvenile Court rules that the youth is to be handled as a juvenile, the criminal charges will be dropped, according to officials. If not the case will go before a grand jury.

Pettigrew, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Pettigrew of 1101 E. Foster, was shot twice, in the upper part of his body and in an upper thigh. He was listed in fair condition today at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Police said the shooting occurred around 11:20 Saturday night at 434 Carr St. Pettigrew drove part of the way to Highland General Hospital following the shooting, but was driven the remainder of the way by several friends.

Interviewed by police in the emergency ward of the hospital, Pettigrew identified his assailant as the 16-year-old youth.

The alleged assailant was captured at the house at 434 Carr Sunday by police. Officers also found a 20-year-old Marine deserter, reported to be a witness to the shooting, hiding in the attic of the house.

The Marine deserter, Billy Wayne Morgan, told police in a signed statement yesterday that the shooting followed an argument and fight between Pettigrew and himself.

No charges have been filed against Morgan in connection with the shooting, but he was being held for the FBI on the charge of desertion. He was removed yesterday afternoon to the stockade at Amarillo Air Force Base. An information officer at the base said the man will be held at the stockade pending notification of his unit.

No Charges In 'Ramming' Case

A Pampa man refused to file charges yesterday against his wife for assault with a motor vehicle after she had allegedly rammed a vehicle early Sunday morning in which he and another woman were riding.

The incident occurred around 12:30 a.m. in the 400 block of S. Cuyler St.

Terror-Stricken Viet Students Watch Killing

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—Three young Viet Cong terrorists today burst into one of Saigon's largest schools and sprayed a hail of bullets into the faculty dining room, killing one teacher and wounding three others. They fled while terror-stricken students looked on.

The daring nighttime assault in Dan Trung High School in Saigon's Cholon district was the first major terrorist incident since last weekend when Viet Cong launched a wave of attacks that left 12 persons dead and another 80 injured in the capital.

Students who witnessed the attack told UPI that two of the youthful terrorists guarded a rear entrance while a third pumped Chinese K54 pistol bullets with icy calm into the teachers bent over their lunch-time bowls of rice.

In Da Nang, the U.S. 27th Marine Regiment loaded 104 of its 3,000 troopers aboard a plane to start the first U.S. unit withdrawal from Vietnam since large-scale fighting started in 1965.

The U.S. command announced, however, that no general reduction in troops levels would result from the move.

The South Vietnamese government released figures showing Viet Cong terrorists last week killed 121 civilians, wounded 265 and kidnaped three in raids throughout the country.

The figures showed 375 South Vietnamese troops were killed in action during the week, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing in action. They reported 1,644 Communists were killed and 109 (See KILLING, Page 3)

Tax Officials Watch Amarillo Resolution

City, county and school officials will be watching closely the ultimate decision on a resolution expected to be adopted today by the Amarillo City Commission.

The resolution, if passed, could have far-reaching statewide effects. It would authorize the Amarillo city attorney to file action in district court asking the court to determine whether the city tax assessor-collector of the city commission has final judgment in placing on, or removing, property from the tax rolls.

The question arose when the Amarillo city tax assessor placed the property of Khiva Temple Shrine of Amarillo on the tax roll for the first time since 1945.

The Shrine contends the city commission has the authority to overrule the tax collector and claims that should be done because of a state law that grants tax free status to fraternal organizations and claims to be a "purely public charity" as defined by the State Constitution.

Whether that is sufficient to qualify the organization as a "purely public charity" would not be determined by the declaratory judgment to be sought by the city. The judgment would only determine whether the tax-assessor or the City Commission has the final decision in determining what properties should be taxed.

The question has never arisen in Pampa, City Tax Collector Aubrey Jones and City Atty. Bob Gordon said today.

"I feel I am definitely subject to any rulings of the city commission or city manager," Jones said.

The City commission here has always taken the attitude to let the law prevail and has never interfered with the court interpretations," he added.

FBI, LA Police Are Called To Investigate

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI)—Saboteurs blew up a five-ton truck in the compound of a National Guard armory early today. Four other trucks parked nearby were damaged by the explosion and fire.

The remains of primer cord fuses and "explosives devices" were found in the motor pool lot where the blast occurred about 1:40 a.m. P.S.D.

The unguarded parking area was locked and fire authorities said the bombers evidently scaled the chain link fence topped with barbed wire which encircled the compound. There were about 20 trucks parked in the lot.

Fire officials said the Army truck was "blown as high as a kite" by the blast. Three units of city firemen controlled the flames which did not spread to any structures.

FBI agents and the bomb squad of the Los Angeles Police Department were called to the scene to investigate.

No injuries were reported. There were no persons at the armory at the time of the blast.

The armory is the location of the howitzer battery 1st Squadron, 18th Armored Cavalry. The unit has been in the center of a controversy over its readiness for duty in Vietnam. The 1,000-man squadron, headquartered in nearby Burbank, had been scheduled to depart for Southeast Asia Sept. 25.

Looting In Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Roaming gangs of teen-age Negroes broke car and store windows, set several fires and looted at least four stores late Monday night and early today on the south side of Syracuse.

Students Arrested

URBANA, Ill. (UPI)—Police early today arrested 258 students brought to the University of Illinois under a program to bring disadvantaged youths to school, after the youths vandalized three rooms in the Student Union. About 500 students, protesting being moved out of the new Illinois State residence halls because other students were returning for the fall semester, conducted a "camp-in" at the Student Union Monday night.

Additional Centers For Training Retarded Are Discussed Here

Plans to establish a second, and possibly a third, Satellite Day Care Center for children suspected of being retarded were discussed at Monday night's meeting of the Gray County Association for Retarded Children.

Bob Carmichael, chairman of the association's advisory committee, said Burtis Hollis, director of the Center for Human Development in Amarillo, had asked the Gray County unit to determine the community's need for additional centers that would extend the work now being done for pre-school age children.

just staying home." In a superficial survey conducted among the board members attending last night's meeting, it was determined there are at least 16 youths in the community eligible to attend the proposed Centers.

Mrs. Bill Roots, a speech and hearing therapist, was named instructor for the pre-school age Day Care Center now being held in the First Presbyterian Church. She replaces Mrs. Doris Friend, who has accepted a position in the Special Education Department of the Pampa Independent School District. Mrs. Root will be in Amarillo September 16-20 for In-Service Training at the Center for Human Development. Pre-school age children now attend classes from 8:30 to 11:30 each weekday morning.

N. Dudley Steele, newly-installed president of the GCARC announced the Top O' Texas Life Underwriters will host a picnic and tour of Palo Duro Canyon Saturday for special education children. The bus will leave from Coronado Center at 8 a.m. Saturday for an all-day outing at the canyon.

Business, Reds Are 'Stung' By Charles De Gaulle

By RICHARD HUGHES

PARIS (UPI)—A pair of strange bedfellows, the Soviet Union and the French capitalist employer, today felt the sting of the same message from President Charles de Gaulle—the day of old ideologies is over.

In one of his rare and sweeping news conferences Monday, DeGaulle deplored the Soviets for their "absurd and condemnable" occupation of liberal-lining Czechoslovakia. He also spelled out in more detail the three aspects of his notion of "participation" for the French working man in the financial and policy-making machinery of national industry.

"Participation," DeGaulle's comment on U.S. Vietnam policy and for the most stinging rebuke of the Soviet-led invasion yet uttered by a Western head of state.

"Czechoslovakia's national cohesion in the face of the occupant and its repugnance at accepting the return to enslavement, as well as the unanimous reprobation of all the people's of Western Europe afraid of a return to the Cold War, all proves in our eyes" that his own policy of national independence is proper, DeGaulle said.

Warning that force would no longer suffice to guarantee loyalty, he added for Soviet ears: "It is too late for foreign domination to obtain the adhesion of nations, even when they occupy their territory. As far as converting them, it is too late for an ideology, even Communism, to win over national sentiment."

It's Not Always Unchristian To Get Angry, If It's 'Righteous'

Religion in America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

By choosing your texts carefully, you can build quite a case against anger.

St. Paul listed anger as one of the "works of the flesh" which Christians should strive to overcome.

Pope Gregory the Great called it one of the "seven deadly sins."

The author of Ecclesiastes warned that "anger lodges in the bosom of fools."

And then there are the things Jesus said in the Sermon on the Mount about turning the other cheek, forgiving those who wrong you, loving your enemies.

Considering the weight of this testimony, it is small wonder many people have gained the impression that it's unchristian ever to get good and mad.

But that is a grievous oversimplification.

For the Bible also speaks in many places of "righteous anger."

Jesus Offers Example

Jesus offers a classic example of what righteous anger is like. The Gospels make clear that he often displayed blazing indignation at hypocrisy injustice and selfishness. The third chapter of Mark, for example, tells how nit-picking Pharisees complained once when Jesus had healed a sick man on the Sabbath day. Mark 3:5 says that Jesus "looked around at them with anger, grieved at their hardness of heart."

Indeed, the whole career of Jesus attests to his strong conviction that it is far worse to be apathetic about wrong inflicted on others than to be angry about it.

In the preceding sentence, the phrase "on others" should be underlined. It is the key to the distinction between sinful anger and righteous anger.

The first characteristic of righteous anger is that it is inspired and animated by unselfish considerations," says Dr. Norman V. Hope of Princeton Theological Seminary. "Far too often, our anger is rooted in selfishness, however we may try to hide this under noble motives."

But Dr. Hope points out in Christianity today that Jesus "never spoke one angry word when he was personally mistreated." He even spoke kindly of the men who nailed him to the cross. "His indignation was aroused only over wrong done to others, particularly the weak and helpless."

Avoid Vengeful Spirit

Even unselfish anger on behalf of others may be wrong if it is accompanied by a vengeful or vindictive spirit against individuals.

"Christian anger," said Dr. Hope, "is directed not against persons, wrong though they be, but against wrong deeds, things, institutions and situations. The commandment of Christ is clear and plain that we who call ourselves Christians should love all persons, even the most sinful and unlovely. What we have to be angry against is not the wrong-doer, but his wrong, not the sinner but his sin."

The ultimate hallmark of righteous anger is that it issues in positive and constructive action to relieve the injustice that stimulated the anger.

As a poet once put it:

"We do not see the vital point,
That 'tis the eighth most deadly sin
To wall, 'the world is out of joint,'
And not attempt to put it in."

Members authorized the transfer of $50,000 from the water and sewer funds to general funds; approved August salary changes, including the addition of 10 new employees; and approved monthly bills of $30,715-40. All the above ordinances will receive a second reading Sept. 24 at the next regular city commission meeting.

Red Cross Board Session Is Held This Morning

Questionnaire concerning problems pertinent to the Pampa Chapter, American Red Cross was distributed and answered during a meeting of the board of directors of the organization this morning in Coronado Inn. The questionnaire determined the availability of members of the board to work with the United Fund, their feelings concerning various Red Cross projects, and covered other miscellaneous matters.

A unanimous response on the questionnaire, a spokesman said, indicated the directors' feelings that more publicity would be beneficial to the chapter's efforts locally.

Reports from standing committees of the chapter were given by Ted Gikas, first aid; Mrs. R. O. Linville, nursing service; James McCarley, membership and finance; Mrs. Jack Foster, volunteer service; Mrs. Lee Harrah, hospital volunteers; Mrs. R. D. Wilson, service to military families; Dan Johnson, Red Cross Youth; and Mary McBride and Terry Newlin, High School Red Cross.

J. R. Hankins gave the treasurer's report and a report on the summer water safety program of the chapter was made by Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary.

Mrs. Shotwell also reported that the chapter had filled 150 "Ditty Bags" for distribution to servicemen in Vietnam and reported on plans for the Combine Service Territory meeting to be held in Dumas on Sept. 16, which she will attend.

Others present for this morning's meeting, the first following a "recess" of board meetings during the summer, included Mrs. A. D. Hills, secretary; John S. Skelly Jr., chapter chairman; D. V. Biggers, vice chairman; and directors Joe M. Daniel Jr., Bill Fraser, James Trusty, Quincy Rogers, Mrs. V. J. Drew and Mrs. Fred Thompson. Also, Mrs. Johnny Sybert, Lefors chairman.

Headquarters For Dick Brown Is Formally Opened

Dick Brown, candidate for U.S. Congress from the 18th Congressional District, cut a series of red, white and blue ribbons held by colorfully attired campaign workers, to officially open his headquarters at 801 Polk Street, Amarillo Monday night.

The Democratic candidate was accompanied by his family, wife, Phyllis, daughters Karen and Debbie, and son Kent; his District Coordinator, Frank M. Carter Jr., of Pampa, and his headquarters office co-ordinator, Mrs. Mary Jo Spradlin, Amarillo.

The headquarters, festooned with hundreds of red, white and blue balloons; billboard-size posters and pictures, styrofoam donkeys and "Uncle Sam" hats, was staffed by volunteers who dispensed coffee, punch, cookies and campaign literature to Brown campaigners from a 28 county area.

"We celebrate tonight the beginning of an end to a two-year political drought, an end to negative, tongue-in-check thinking; a beginning of a plan for positive action to put the Panhandle back in the picture," Brown said. "We will take this campaign into every county—talking to the people; counseling with the people and telling them our program to insure a positive voice for the Panhandle in Congress," he concluded.

Record Number Of Tourists Go Through Laredo

LAREDO (UPI) —An all-time record number of tourists passed through Laredo into Mexico during August, a spokesman for the American Automobile Association has reported.

The 41,046 tourists is a record for any port in any month, said Mrs. Blanca Chapa, assistant manager for the AAA. The eight-month total of 181,300 tourists entering Mexico made Mrs. Blanca more confident the figure would reach 250,000 by the end of the year, she said.

This would be a sharp increase over the previous record of 214,743 set in 1966. The prediction of a quarter of a million tourists for 1968 was made some time by Velia E. Uribe, border supervisor of the AAA.

The previous record for any one month was 38,174 recorded in July.

This time last year, 155,438 tourists had crossed the border at Laredo.

Tourist automobiles crossing into Mexico totaled 14,041 in August, an increase of 3,483 over the figure for the same month last year. The eight-month total for autos is 64,850 compared to 55,871 at the same time in 1967.

Daley Says Newsmen 'Distorted' Chicago Riots

By SHERRY CONOHAN
CHICAGO (UPI)—Mayor Richard J. Daley, facing one of the largest press conferences of his life, charged the news media Monday with distorting and twisting reports of the riots which tore downtown Chicago during the Democratic National Convention.

The mayor, focus point of controversy over tough tactics used against thousands of antiwar demonstrators, said one of the greatest difficulties encountered during the convention was failure of the news media to tell the full story of what happened.

"I am amazed at the distorted and twisted picture the news media gave," he said. "The American people were amazed. Their letters show it."

The mayor said his office had received 16,000 letters from around the country supporting the action of the police against the demonstrators a week and a half ago and only 4,000 criticizing them.

More than 100 reporters, photographers and cameramen crowded into Daley's city hall offices to hear him answer questions about a 16,000-word official report on the disorders issued last Friday. City Hall veterans said it was one of the largest news conferences there within memory.

Credentials of reporters not familiar to city hall aides were checked before Daley entered the room. The mayor answered questions for a half hour and then left abruptly.

Daley repeated an earlier concession that some policemen may have "over-reacted" when they waded into demonstrators attempting to march on the convention site Aug. 28.

But he said the police were goaded by obscene insults, obscene references to their families, and by "human excrement" which was thrown at them.

"I wouldn't take that from anyone," the mayor said. "... What about human bites biting policemen, taking flesh out of their legs?" the mayor asked. What would you do if someone was biting your leg? Say, "take another bite?"

Daley made reference to riots which broke out in Miami while the Republican convention was being held in Miami Beach and said: "I think all you newsmen missed the point. No one was killed (in Chicago). Six were killed in Miami."

Daley said the city gave the demonstrators ample opportunity to register their protest and was wise in refusing them permission to march on the amphitheatre.

Granting of march permits would have "aggravated rather than eliminated" the tension, he said. He repeated his charges that the demonstrators were led by a conspiracy of "terrorists" and said: "No one in our administration is for brutality. But we are ready at this time to meet the terrorists who are going all over the country creating disorders."

The mayor was asked about reporters who were injured by policemen, particularly when officers were clearing Lincoln Park of demonstrators the night before the convention began.

"The newsmen were in the park against the law," Daley said. "The newsmen should have left, they should have led the way. Yet they were in the middle of the crowd."

Of the refusal of television networks to grant him an hours' prime time to defend the city's record, Daley said, "the decision is regrettable."

Former Astronaut Is Now A College Prof

By KENNETH BOMAR
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—A former astronaut who quit because he was having trouble learning to fly jets feels the experience will help him in his regular job as professor at Florida State University.

"I don't know of anything specifically which can be put into use," said Dr. John Llewellyn, "but it did give me a greater perspective on science in general which will add to my ability as a teacher."

Llewellyn, a chemist who was picked in the first group of scientist-astronauts, said he dropped out of the program this summer because "I wasn't making as much progress as I had wanted to in the training."

Specifically, he felt that he had not been able to attain an adequate "degree of proficiency" in jet flight school at Lubbock, Tex.

The 36-year old Welsh-born professor was chosen along with 10 other nonpilots for the program last August.

He said he "enjoyed very much" the year he spent in training and hopes to return to the Space Center at Houston at a later date to continue work on some research he initiated there.

Llewellyn said recent cuts in federal appropriations for the space program caused widespread disappointment, but did not create any morale problems among the astronauts.

"It's no secret that we were disappointed when we found out the program would be cut back," he said, "but everyone seemed to be willing to accept it and just do the best they could with what money was available."

The professor said he thought it was unfortunate that the space program was caught in a "priority pinch" between domestic needs and the Vietnam War.

"The programs that have been delayed by the latest cut are the ones in which the public probably would have been able to see the most concrete direct results," he said.

The Apollo Applications Flight which was originally scheduled in 1969 but now has been pushed back to about 1971 should have many practical applications, Llewellyn said. That was the program in which he, as well as many of the other scientist-astronauts, was most interested.

Texas Riot Control Funds Are Insufficient To Meet Demand

By PHIL GARON
AUSTIN (UPI)—Requests from Texas cities for riot control funds already exceed the grant given to the state by the U.S. Justice Department recently, a spokesman for Gov. John Connally has reported.

"Terrell Blodgett, executive assistant to the governor, predicted "cutbacks will have to be made" when the state divides its $234,344 grant among about 10 cities.

The grant is Texas' share of $9.9 million which the federal government appropriated to help the states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico in prevention, detection and control of riots and other civil disorders.

The funds—specifically earmarked for riot control—were made to individual states which applied under the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Texas ranked fourth in the amount of funds received, topped only by California, New York, and Illinois. The awards were made on the basis of population. Some 75 per cent of the grant must be allocated to local government units under the provisions of the act.

Blodgett said the funds will be split four ways in Texas. "Probably the greatest amount will go for new communications equipment for our law enforcement agencies," he said.

"Larger amounts will be given over for training programs, police-community relations programs, and for equipment to be used for direct prevention and control of civil disorders."

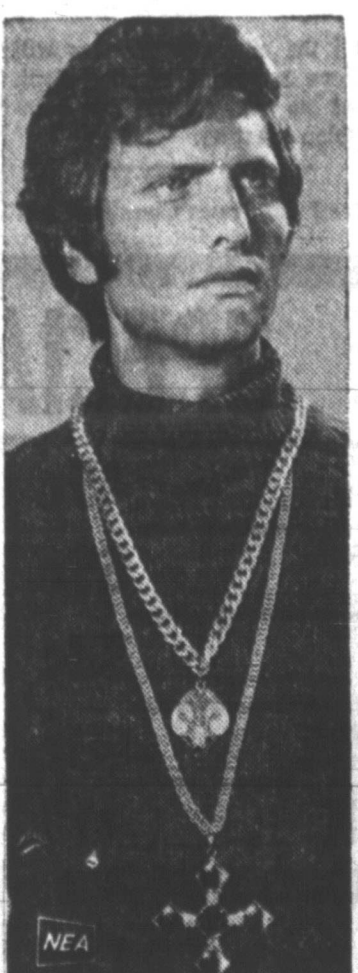

He said many of the cities have requested funds to purchase chemical agents for use in riot situations and "I anticipate funds will be approved for purchasing such agents." The greatest demand for the money came from the largest cities, Blodgett said, although several suburban cities requested funds.

"The smaller cities will probably not receive any of this riot control money," he said, "but will probably come in for a share of the funds for general law enforcement which the federal government will appropriate at a later time."

Daley Says Newsmen 'Distorted' Chicago Riots

By SHERRY CONOHAN
CHICAGO (UPI)—Mayor Richard J. Daley, facing one of the largest press conferences of his life, charged the news media Monday with distorting and twisting reports of the riots which tore downtown Chicago during the Democratic National Convention.

The mayor, focus point of controversy over tough tactics used against thousands of antiwar demonstrators, said one of the greatest difficulties encountered during the convention was failure of the news media to tell the full story of what happened.

"I am amazed at the distorted and twisted picture the news media gave," he said. "The American people were amazed. Their letters show it."

The mayor said his office had received 16,000 letters from around the country supporting the action of the police against the demonstrators a week and a half ago and only 4,000 criticizing them.

More than 100 reporters, photographers and cameramen crowded into Daley's city hall offices to hear him answer questions about a 16,000-word official report on the disorders issued last Friday. City Hall veterans said it was one of the largest news conferences there within memory.

Credentials of reporters not familiar to city hall aides were checked before Daley entered the room. The mayor answered questions for a half hour and then left abruptly.

Daley repeated an earlier concession that some policemen may have "over-reacted" when they waded into demonstrators attempting to march on the convention site Aug. 28.

But he said the police were goaded by obscene insults, obscene references to their families, and by "human excrement" which was thrown at them.

"I wouldn't take that from anyone," the mayor said. "... What about human bites—biting policemen, taking flesh out of their legs?" the mayor asked. What would you do if someone was biting your leg? Say, "take another bite?"

Daley made reference to riots which broke out in Miami while the Republican convention was being held in Miami Beach and said: "I think all you newsmen missed the point. No one was killed (in Chicago). Six were killed in Miami."

Daley said the city gave the demonstrators ample opportunity to register their protest and was wise in refusing them permission to march on the amphitheatre.

Granting of march permits would have "aggravated rather than eliminated" the tension, he said. He repeated his charges that the demonstrators were led by a conspiracy of "terrorists" and said:

"No one in our administration is for brutality. But we are ready at this time to meet the terrorists who are going all over the country creating disorders."

The mayor was asked about reporters who were injured by policemen, particularly when officers were clearing Lincoln Park of demonstrators the night before the convention began.

"The newsmen were in the park against the law," Daley said. "The newsmen should have left, they should have left the way. Yet they were in the middle of the crowd."

Of the refusal of television networks to grant him an hour's prime time to defend the city's record, Daley said, "the decision is regrettable."

Former Astronaut Is Now A College Prof

By KENNETH BOMAR
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—

A former astronaut who quit because he was having trouble learning to fly jets feels the experience will help him in his regular job as professor at Florida State University.

"I don't know of anything specifically which can be put into use," said Dr. John Llewellyn, "but it did give me the greater perspective on science in general which will add to my ability as a teacher."

Llewellyn, a chemist who was picked in the first group of scientist-astronauts, said he dropped out of the program this summer because "I wasn't making as much progress as I had wanted to in the training."

Specifically, he felt that he had not been able to attain an adequate "degree of proficiency" in jet flight school at Lubbock, Tex.

The 36-year old Welsh-born professor was chosen along with 10 other nonpilots for the program last August.

He said he "enjoyed very much" the year he spent in training and hopes to return to the Space Center at Houston at a later date to continue work on some research he initiated there.

Llewellyn said recent cuts in federal appropriations for the space program caused widespread disappointment, but did not create any morale problems among the astronauts.

"It's no secret that we were disappointed when we found out the program would be cut back," he said, "but everyone seemed to be willing to accept it and just do the best they could with what money was available."

The professor said he thought it was unfortunate that the space program was caught in a "priority pinch" between domestic needs and the Vietnam War.

"The programs that have been delayed by the latest cut are the ones in which the public probably would have been able to see the most concrete direct results," he said.

"The Apollo Applications Flight which was originally scheduled in 1969 but now has been pushed back to about 1971 should have many practical applications," Llewellyn said. That was the program in which he, as well as many of the other scientist-astronauts, was most interested.

Texas Riot Control Funds Are Insufficient To Meet Demand

By PHIL GARON
AUSTIN (UPI)—Requests from Texas cities for riot control funds already exceed the grant given to the state by the U.S. Justice Department recently, a spokesman for Gov. John Connally has reported.

"Terrell Blodgett, executive assistant to the governor, predicted 'cutbacks will have to be made' when the state divides its $234,344 grant among about 10 cities.

The grant is Texas' share of $3.9 million which the federal government appropriated to help the states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico in prevention, detection and control of riots and other civil disorders.

The funds—specifically earmarked for riot control—were made to individual states which applied under the Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Texas ranked fourth in the amount of funds received, topped only by California, New York, and Illinois. The awards were made on the basis of population. Some 75 per cent of the grant must be allocated to local government units under the provisions of the act.

Blodgett said the funds will be split four ways in Texas. "Probably the greatest amount will go for new communications equipment for our law enforcement agencies," he said.

"Larger amounts will be given over for training programs, police-community relations programs, and for equipment to be used for direct prevention and control of civil disorders."

He said many of the cities have requested funds to purchase chemical agents for use in riot situations and "I anticipate funds will be approved for purchasing such agents." The greatest demand for the money came from the largest cities, Blodgett said, although several suburban cities requested funds.

"The smaller cities will probably not receive any of this riot control money," he said, "but will probably come in for a share of the funds for general law enforcement which the federal government will appropriate at a later time."

BIAFRAN RELIEF
GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI)—The International Red Cross said today it flew 80 tons of food and medical supplies into Biafra Sunday, capping a series of 28 night flights begun last Tuesday. The flights since Tuesday ferried 218 tons of food and medicine, the Red Cross said.

DACHAU PROTEST
DACHAU, Germany (UPI)—Antiwar and socialist student group demonstrators Sunday disrupted the unveiling of a monument to persons killed at the Nazi Dachau prison camp. The protesters started a fight at the ceremony to protest ceremonial use of NATO military delegations.

MASCULINE LOOK, according to award-winning designers Edward Dunne and Calvin Townsend, is embodied in these two pendants. The ram's head (shorter chain) is of inlaid Swarovski jet and crystal on antiqued gunmetal. On a longer chain is a gold-colored Maltese Cross with a large simulated ruby in the center.

THE LIGHTER SIDE
The Point Of Wealth

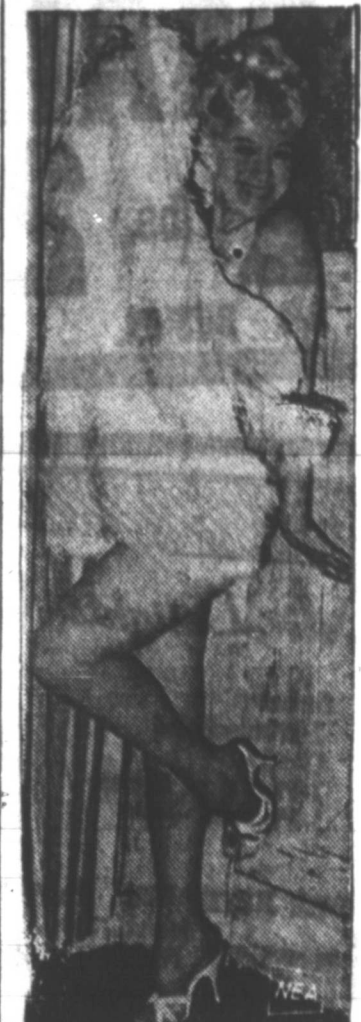

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — We shall take as our text for today a quotation attributed to a New York society matron in a magazine article I came across recently.
"Today," she said, "people who have money use it almost entirely for social power. Looking young and attractive is now practically the whole point of being rich."
The article went on to list some of the expensive cosmetic operations, equipment and drugs that have been developed to thwart the outward manifestations, or ravages, of age.
It said people who can afford these Ponce de Leonish marvels "can go on looking gorgeous, wearing mini-skirts and dancing the watusi until they topple into their graves."
Lozes Ambition
I don't know what appeal that might have for the populace at large, but it rather stifled my ambition to acquire great wealth.
In the upper economic stratum, apparently, all you have to look forward to in your old age is youth. That strikes me as a rather bleak future.
The thing I look forward to in my old age is senility.
I developed this outlook from observing one of my grandfathers. He died when I was a mere lad but I remember him well, mainly because he spent his old age abolishing fractions.

For instance, my grandfather customarily retired every evening at seven o'clock. Then one summer he suddenly started going to bed at one minute past six.
However, my grandfather resolutely denied that he had changed his bedtime. He explained that once the hour of six had passed, the time was no longer six o'clock; ergo, it must be seven o'clock.
Adds to Age
The same reasoning was applied to his age. The day after my grandfather celebrated his 80th birthday, he began giving his age as 81.
I was fascinated by the old man's logic and tried using it myself in school, but the teacher wouldn't let me get away with it.
"Your grandfather is senile," she said when I cited him as my authority for handing in an arithmetic paper on which I arbitrarily converted all of the fractions to whole numbers.
That was when I started looking forward to senility. If "senile power" enables a person to escape little nuisances, such as fractions, it obviously is more desirable than "social power."
And if being rich means dancing the watusi to your grave, count me out of the big money. I prefer to dodder.

2.6 Million Students Enter Texas Schools

By United Press International
An estimated 2.6 million Texas students begrudgingly put behind them the easy ways of summer to hearken to the school bell's toll last week.
But for many there were neither enough teachers nor classroom facilities.
The record number of students—some 50,000 more than last year's crop—should be one of the best educated, due to an influx of computers, circuit television and various audio-visual aids into the classroom.
But the schools faced a shortage of some 13,000 qualified teachers—many in critical fields and the Texas Education Agency planned to issue emergency teaching permits to help fill the vacancies.
In Dallas, damp and drizzly weather greeted an estimated 149,500 students in the first day of enrollment. Homer Fuller, Dallas schools' census coordinator, said he expects 160,048 by the end of the first six weeks and 170,000 by the end of the school year.
Austin schools welcomed 47,855 students—an increase of 2,628 more than the first day last year—and the micro-battle began over mini-skirts and maxi-hair.
Two boys were sent home from junior high schools with instructions to have their hair cut and a large number of girls were told their skirt-lengths were raising eyebrows.
The Houston schools opened with some 248,000 students expected—a figure which represents 10 per cent of the total enrollment in Texas.

Paul McAfee, director of public relations for Houston schools, said students were returning to schools they attended last year with minimal overcrowding, and no teacher shortages.

NOT BAD for 64. Sally Rand does an encore of the fan dance she made famous 35 years ago at the 1928 Chicago World's Fair. Miss Rand currently is starring in a Chicago revue highlighting the events of the 1933 Century of Progress exposition.

FOREIGN NEWS COMMENTARY
Red 'Unity' Meet

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI)—A major casualty of the Soviet-Czech crisis will be the much publicized and laboriously prepared November "unity" congress in Moscow of world Communist parties, according to diplomatic observers.

The Kremlin, beginning with former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's efforts in the early 1960, has made it a key project to gather the world parties to try to put the pieces of the international movement broken by the Red Chinese defection from the Moscow line.

"The day you call the congress, you will be digging your own grave," Peking warned. But the Russians under Khrushchev's successors persisted and finally got more than one half of the 90-odd parties to a meeting in Budapest last March who agreed to hold the congress this November.

Now, the further disarray in the movement caused by the military intervention in Czechoslovakia, will cause at least a postponement, if not cancellation of the congress, informed observers said.

Boycotted by China
The Budapest preparatory congress was boycotted by China, North Korea, North Vietnam and Japan and was attended only by a few Asian parties which are split into pro-Peking and pro-Moscow factions.

Yugoslavia and Cuba did not attend and Romania walked out when a Syrian Communist accused that country of being pro-Zionist, nationalistic and ungrateful to the Soviet Union.

A subsequent preparatory meeting was held in mid-summer.

The influential Italian and French parties, despite their reservations about a world congress, attended and with other European Communist parties agreed to attend the Moscow congress, reluctantly.

But those allies as well as the British and all other nonruling European Communists with the exception of those of Luxembourg, West Berlin, and the illegal West German party have been highly critical of Soviet policy in Czechoslovakia.

They became downright hostile when the Warsaw Pact force entered Czechoslovakia.

Regional Group
French and Italian Communist leaders, it has been reported, now are thinking in terms of organizing a regional union, independent of Moscow and Peking.

The Communist movement has suffered another severe jolt comparable to Khrushchev's debunking of Stalin, the Soviet-Chinese quarrel or the earlier in such circumstances, Soviet affairs experts here believe, it would be, at least foolhardy for the organizers of the Moscow November conference to insist its occurrence.

Selective Service Answers

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—How can I secure a copy of a man's Selective Service file?
A—If the man authorizes you, in writing, to have a copy of his file, you may secure one by arranging for its reproduction, at your expense, by an organization which does this kind of work. A Selective Service System representative will then take the file to the designated organization, remain with it until it is reproduced, and will then mail the copy to you. You can not get a copy of a man's file, neither can you see it, unless the man authorizes it.

Q—My company is sending me out of the country for a three-month period. Must I notify my local board?
A—You are required to keep your local board informed of your current mailing address. It is suggested that you see your local board and request it to issue a "Permit for Registrant to Depart From the United States (SSS Form 300)." It may or may not be issued, depending upon when you might be called-upon to discharge your obligations under the Military Selective Service Act of 1967. If you're free of obligation, it will be issued.

Q—I've just received my Selective Service questionnaire. I'm in doubt about completing an item. Is there someone who will advise me?
A—An advisor to registrants, who serves without compensation, or anyone at a local board will be glad to assist you.

HEADING HOME — Andy Fraser, 18, of North Wales, Great Britain, stopped in Pampa on his way to New York, where he will catch a plane for England. Fraser has been traveling in the United States and Canada since last March, and estimates he will have traveled 20,000 miles. Sitting on the motorcycle he purchased in Los Angeles, Fraser discusses his trip before taking to the road again.

Englishman Visits Pampa During Tour

By LARRY HOLLIS
News Staff Writer

Andy Fraser had several months free between "high school" graduation and the start of college. So, as many would sometimes like to do, he decided to spend the time traveling — about 20,000 miles.

Fraser, 18, hails from North Wales in Great Britain. He passed his college entrance examinations in December and will start at the University of Manchester, England, on Oct. 1, as a chemical engineering major.

After working for several months, he decided he would like to tour the United States and Canada. Thus in late March, he landed in New York to begin the tour that so far has taken him about 15,000 miles, with about 5,000 more to go.

Fraser is currently on his way back to New York, where he will depart for England Sept. 26 on a chartered plane provided for British students by the British University North America Club.

Though on the first part of his journey he traveled by bus and by hitchhiking, Fraser has been traveling on a motorcycle since he left Los Angeles about 10 days ago.

During the weekend, Fraser had stopped at Lake McClellan. He met the Ray Elmer family, 1834 N. Nelson, at the lake and spent Sunday night here in Pampa with them. He left yesterday shortly before noon.

After landing in New York, Fraser went to visit friends in Montreal for a week. Then he went to Toronto, where he stayed with a family under an international program for foreign students. While in Toronto, he worked for two weeks for a perfume and cosmetics distributor.

After Toronto, he headed for southern California, his destination. This part of the trip, with the various side trips, took five weeks. In many of the places he visited, he had the addresses of various persons to contact, which had been given him by friends or acquaintances he met on the trip.

"If I didn't have anyone to contact, I stayed at cheap hotels," Fraser said.

Passing through Chicago, Minneapolis and Rapid City, S.D., he reached Yellowstone National Park. Here he spent about a week with a group of students at a dormitory on the park grounds.

"It provided free accommodations, which was nice," he said. Then he traveled north through the Tetons and Glacier National Park into Calgary, Canada. He spent a week visiting with an Alpine climbing club, scaling mountains.

"Mountaineering is one of my main sports," Fraser explained, "so I really enjoyed my stay there. I like mountainous places best, anyway."

From Calgary, he went to Banff, then to Jasper, where he stayed in youth hostels, establishments set up for young people.

"They have hostels in a number of places," Fraser said. "They're mainly for young people traveling around. They provide cheap accommodations, cooking facilities, a place to sleep."

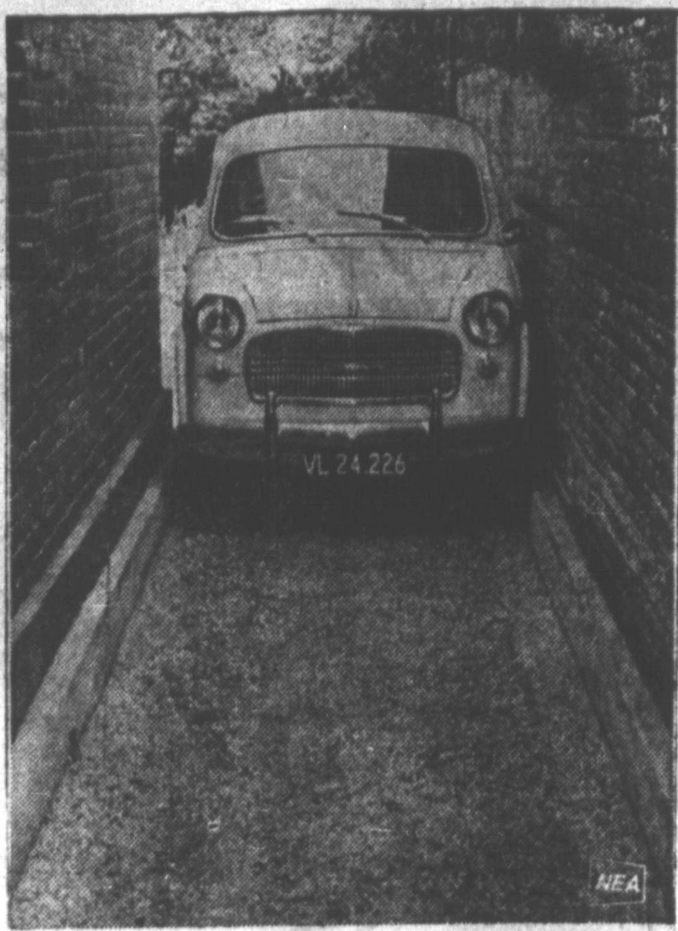

From Jasper, he went back to Banff, then to Vancouver, then to Victoria, then by bus through Seattle to San Francisco.

"I spent several days in Frisco," he said. "I went to the Haight-Asbury district but there were no hippies. They'd all left."

He then spent a week in Los Angeles before taking a 50-hour bus trip to Mexico City. He spent five days there, then took the bus back to Los Angeles.

While in Los Angeles, he lived with friends of his father. He worked for two months in a factory assembling water sprinklers. He had a visiting student's working visa, which had been arranged through the university.

During his stay in California, he visited the surrounding areas. He climbed Mount Whitney and several other mountains.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Mike Todd is dead 10 years, but the memory lingers on. The fabulous showman, who was killed in a plane crash and left Elizabeth Taylor a widow, was the subject of an hour documentary on ABC-TV Sunday night, and the star dust he spread worked its magic again.

The Sunday program, "Around the World of Mike Todd," was not the greatest documentary ever made. But it had the considerable presence of the subject himself, and even on film or tape—that was all that any Mike Todd production ever needed.

He left Los Angeles on Aug. 31 on a motorcycle he had purchased. Some of the upholstery had started to crack, so Fraser patched it with plastic decals of flowers and mottoes.

Since Los Angeles, he has been camping out. He has visited Las Vegas, Hoover Dam, Zion and Bryce National Parks in Utah, the Grand Canyon, Indian ruins in Arizona, the Petrified Forest, Carlsbad Caverns and Amarillo.

"I don't always travel by the most direct route," Fraser explained. "I often go out of my way if I think I'll find something interesting."

From Pampa, he planned a general route through St. Louis, Indianapolis, Washington, D. C. and New York.

"That's the general route," he explained. "I'll probably take off anywhere, not knowing what I'll see."

Furthermore, in an age when show business is increasingly run by committees—and mergers make more headlines than talent—any sign of individual, spectacular force seems welcome, and has impact. And so Sunday's hour had that joyous sort of feel.

Negative Aspects

It was not a truly well-rounded study of Todd, who was born Avrom Hirsch Goldbogen, the son of a parttime rabbi, and was brought up in Bloomington and Minneapolis, Minn., and in Chicago. It was more of a tribute, which was to be expected since the co-producer was his son, Mike Todd Jr.—and if there were any negative aspects to the father's flamboyance, they were hardly mentioned.

Furthermore, this fantastic promoter—described in the hour by restaurateur Toots Shor as "a typical, perfect American hustler"—is worth a well-rounded documentary study, particularly his earlier years. But this early period was brushed over lightly as the hour concentrated mainly on the making and promotion of his film, "Around the World in 80 Days"—and also on his marriage to Miss Taylor.

These segments were, of course, of interest. Miss Taylor's recollections were charming. And there were also reminiscences by Art Buchwald, Jack E. Leonard, Gypsy Rose Lee, Lowell Thomas, Ethel Merman and Orson Welles—who was the narrator and looked like a character out of "The Magnificent Ambersons."

Advertising is a serious investment... art, engraving, typography and copy are costly. All are planned carefully to attract readers who are prospects for the merchandise or service.

No business can afford to waste any part of this investment in any medium that cannot guarantee definite circulation and readership.

"Waste basket circulation" in post offices, and so called throw-aways that usually travel to the incinerator are of little or no value to the advertiser.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What can a man of 42 do to get a comment out of her husband? I've spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. I bought material to make myself a beautiful dress in his favorite color—blue. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought I liked. No comment. Everyone else tells me I am a fine-looking woman, but my husband never says a word. I know he loves me and our children, sometimes I think, "O, what heck!"

NO COMPLIMENTS DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, personally. By the way, when was the last time you complimented your husband?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been arguing for the past several years regarding the following: When we have company in the dinner, I always serve my guests first. My husband claims it is disrespectful to him, that should serve him first. If you give me your opinion I shall abide by same. Thank you.

DEAR G.S.: Tell your husband that it's customary (and proper) to serve one's guests first. And the host is served last.

DEAR ABBY: Last April I met Eric (not his real name) and it was love at first sight for both of us. We set our wedding date for September. Last week-end Eric's "best man," Bruce (also a fake name) came to town and I met him for the first time. Bruce had been Eric's roommate in college before he moved down here.

Abby, Bruce got me alone and he broke down and cried like a baby. He begged me not to marry Eric. He said they had been closer than brothers, that I hadn't known Eric long enough, and my love for him couldn't be as deep as HIS! I couldn't believe what I was hearing. After Bruce composed himself he asked me to forget everything he'd said, and to please not mention it to Eric. I am so shook and bewildered I don't know what to do. Should I tell Eric? Or should I start running in the opposite direction? I love this man.

SHOOK IN S.F. DEAR SHOOK: Tell Eric, and give him a chance to explain it. Your chances for a happy marriage are zero with a man who was "closer than brothers" with another man.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently a luncheon guest at the home of a friend. Not a real close friend, but a friend. When I got home I discovered that someone had been in my purse and taken my money. I know I had close to $50 in folding money when I arrived at that house because I had just cashed a check in anticipation of paying some bills on my way home.

There were about 16 ladies at this party and we all left our purses and our wraps in the bedroom. Should I tell the hostess about my loss?

VICTIM DEAR VICTIM: Yes, if this had happened in YOUR home, wouldn't you want to be told? CONFIDENTIAL TO "TO TELL OR NOT TO TELL?" For goodness sake, Tell. For long do you think you can keep something like that a secret?

Sorority Members Announce Theme For Fall Rush

"Adventures Anywhere" is the fall rush theme of Kappa Alpha Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha International as announced today by rush chairman Mrs. Joe D. Miller. Several activities have been planned to introduce prospective members to the educational, social and philanthropic aspects of the international women's service organization. "Rush events will include an informal salad supper, a model meeting presenting the ideals of E. S. A., a dance, with a tea and pledge ceremony to conclude the rush schedule," Mrs. Miller said.

Kappa Alpha chapter contributes annually to Pampa philanthropic drives and will conduct the Muscular Dystrophy campaign this year. Committee chairmen for rush events are Mrs. Charles Scott and Mrs. Ira Bewley. "E. S. A. International is a world-wide women's service organization," Mrs. Miller explained. "It's 40,000 members in 1,500 chapters give nearly $1 million annually to their own local philanthropies. Their purposes are self-improvement through educational programs, joy in service through philanthropic projects and new and wholesome associations through regularly scheduled social and business meetings," she added. Anyone interested in E. S. A. may contact Mrs. Joe Miller Mo 5-2153, Mrs. Charles Scott 4-4956, Mrs. Ira Bewley 4-4249 or Mrs. Irvin Hungerford 4-7565.

BABY CREAM RUBS IN
If you think it takes gobs of goo to treat your skin overnight, you couldn't be more wrong. Pure baby cream has all the softening powers without the disadvantages of some night creams. Baby cream is light and rubs in to become invisible and it doesn't stain your pillow case, either. When you wake up in the morning there is no cream residue on your face because it has been absorbed. Your face just looks young and fresh.

The Pampa Altrusa Club originated the Senior Citizens weekly party in 1954, two years after the Pampa women's club was organized. The Senior Citizens group started at the Nokomis Club for women only, and met in homes of Altrusans. The club started originally with about 15 women, and has grown to about 60 men and women. At the 14th anniversary party, this year 85 Senior Citizens attended.

The club started meeting in the Lovett Memorial Library in 1955, and invited men as members. In club meetings, members play card games, dominos, 42, and have two special parties, a Christmas Party and the anniversary celebration. Each month, Altrusans honor members who have birthdays in that month and present a gift to each honoree. Mrs. Emily Coston, an Altrusan, decorates the birthday cake each month. Mrs. Ann Kay, another Altrusan makes the floral centerpiece each month.

BATH RITUAL

The bath ritual is for everyone—and the budding young beauty is no exception. Discovering the niceties of the bath and the psychological as well as beauty benefits is, in fact, one of the nicest things about growing up. A bath can do much more than make you shiny clean. The warmth of the bath water and the rubbing of your skin relaxes your muscles, increases the circulation and gives you a feeling of well-being. To reap the most benefits from your bath, try to plan it so that it can be in a tranquil and relaxed atmosphere.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

(For Wednesday Sept. 24, 1958)
GENERAL TENDENCY: After a dreary or annoying early part of the day, you later find that all kinds of unexpected conditions can arise in the late afternoon and evening to bring you some new inspirations how to gain the practical outlets you want and to wind up matters from the past that have been pending for some time.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Handling personal affairs well in A. M. is imperative right now, but later you can have a most enjoyable social time. Your own ability can see you pulling yourself up by the bootstraps and getting rid of worry. Be calm and efficient.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Kin can be rather aggravating in A. M., but later all improves if you act most intelligently and wisely. But outside affairs ameliorated all so. Evening is best spent at home appearing irate members of the family.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec 21): Better to handle those personal matters today since the social could prove to be quite a dud. Disturbances may come up that should be taken in stride. By evening, however, all clears up and a delightful time can be had.
LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21): Persons are very much apt to criticize in A. M., but carry on valiantly just the same, and then you can accomplish much in the business world, take no unnecessary risks. Bigwigs can be quite impressed by you.
VIROO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Take the time to listen to new ideas in A. M., though you may have work to do that you have been procrastinating about. Don't permit those unusual persons to disturb you early. Show that you have gumption.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): You have to be very careful where monetary and property affairs are concerned that you take no unnecessary risks, but the personal later can be very pleasant for you. Stop procrastinating where paying debts is concerned also. Be prompt, be appreciated.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): If you have to argue with a partner let reason be your guide or there can be considerable trouble. Some situation you do not care for should be clarified some other time. Take it easy and be with friends tonight for fun.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec 21): Not a good day to discuss anything with fellow workers or higher-ups, so just get your work done and "turn off tonight" for the social amenities you like. Don't follow that hang-up of yours until p.m. Ruining your day could be very easy.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Get busy with your work without permitting people to take you out of operation, keep busy. Personal aims need more work on them before they can be put in operation, keep busy.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Getting busy at duties ahead of you is fine, so that you side-sleep in or hither-ups who are in a belligerent mood. One you love will be in a most charming mood tonight, so get your work done with vim and vigor. Be meticulous.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Others may not understand your plans and views now, but associates listen with interest. Get them on the road quickly. Top talking rhymes early, though, that could lead into real trouble—stay with the tried and proven.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: ... he or she will be one of those very determined young people who needs a certain amount of discipline early and esp. 8 1/2 lessons in good measure, or there can be trouble in this life later on. Otherwise this can be a most successful life owing to the perseverance in this nature and the very fine, alive mind. Law good here.

Tiant Joins No. 20 Club

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers moved a step closer to their first American League pennant in 23 years Monday night but it was Luis Tiant and his Cleveland Indian teammates who were quaffing the champagne.

Tiant, Cleveland's ace right-hander who's had the reputation for starting fast and then fading in the second half of the season, celebrated with champagne at the expense of pitching coach Jack Sanford after winning 20 games for the first time in his career.

Tiant accomplished the feat by pitching a five-hitter and striking out 16 to give the Indians a 6-1 triumph over Minnesota while boosting his mark to 20-9.

Meanwhile, the Tigers snapped a two-game losing streak by topping California, 6-0, behind Mickey Lolich's two-hitter to stretch their league lead to eight games again since Baltimore was beaten by the Washington Senators 6-2.

Collects on Promise
Pouring champagne for the team and the staff, Tiant beamed in the Indian clubhouse, "Sanford promised last month that if I won 20 games he would buy the champagne and I told him then I'd collect."

Tiant blanked the Twins after giving up a first inning homer to rookie Graig Nettles, who's slammed five homers in the last four games.

In the only other American League game, Boston edged Oakland, 6-4, in 10 innings.

In the National League, Los Angeles clobbered St. Louis, 10-1, Philadelphia outlasted Pittsburgh, 8-7, in 15 innings, Atlanta nipped San Francisco,

2-1, and the Houston-Cincinnati doubleheader was rained out.

Tiant, who joined Denny McLain of Detroit and Dave McNally of Baltimore as 20-game winners in the American League, scored the tie-breaking run in the fifth inning against loser Jim Merritt when he singled and Jose Cardenal tripled.

Lolich Adds Win
Lolich boosted his record to 14-9 with the two-hitter against the Angels. The Tigers wrapped up the game with three runs in the first inning off loser Dennis Bennett.

Frank Howard reached the 40-homer plateau for the first time in his major league career as Washington drubbed Baltimore. But the key blast of the game was Ken McMullen's 19th homer, a three-run shot in the first inning. Jim Hannan, 10-4, went the first five innings to get the victory.

Ken Harrelson and Reggie Smith hit solo homers in the 10th inning off reliever Diego Segul to pace Boston past Oakland. Harrelson's homer was his 34th of the season and gave the triumph to Lee Stange, 5-4.

Shocks Down Tulia, 48-6

The Pampa High School Shockers sophomore humbled the Tulia sophomores, 48-6, in the game preceding the varsity scrimmage Saturday night.

Scoring touchdowns for Pampa were wingback Monroe Woods, who scored three times including two on runs over 50 yards.

Tailback Ricky Harris who scored from the two yard line. Tackle Gattis who blocked two punts, one for a safety and the other in which defensive end Johnny Clark ran 20 yards for a touchdown.

It was the initial win for the Shockers.

Swede Lee, head football coach, will show the Pampa basketball game films with Tulia at the Harvester Club meeting at 7:30 at the High school cafeteria.

All members are urged to attend.

Chiefs Defeat Oilers On Thomas' Super Catch

HOUSTON (UPI) — Nobody ever referred to unassuming Emmitt Thomas as a super chief, but Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said the speedy cornerback made a "super catch" to save a 26-21 Kansas City triumph over the Houston Oilers Monday night.

Thomas, whose only claim to fame previously was being a cousin of Oiler split end Charlie Frazier, stepped in front of Frazier on the Chiefs' 10-yard line with 1:39 to go and intercepted a pass to end the threat of a game-winning TD for the Oilers.

Stram said the Chiefs had three key interceptions. "The first, by (Jim) Kearney, was the key to the first quarter," Stram said. "The second by (Ernie) Ladd was a fantastic play and Thomas made a super catch."

Kearney intercepted a pass on the Chief 4-yard line, holding the Oilers to a 7-3 lead in the first quarter.

Ladd intercepted a pass on the Oiler 33 in the second quarter to set up the Chiefs' first touchdown, a one-yard burst by Wendell Hayes which put the Chiefs ahead to stay 10-7.

But Thomas stopped the Oilers when they had the momentum to win. Quarterback Pete Beathard had thrown two touchdown passes to rookie flanker Mac Haik in the last six minutes to pull the Oilers from a 26-7 deficit to 26-21.

Jim Stenerud, a soccer-style kicker, shared honors with the pass interceptors. He kicked four field goals—from the 27, 33, 26 and 32-yard lines—and added two conversions for 14 of the Chiefs' points.

Matson Qualifies For Olympics

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—Tracy Smith's training program paid off better than Gerry Lindgren's and Billy Mills' and that is why today he has an Olympic berth and the other two don't.

Smith beat Lindgren and Mills, plus Van Nelson and Tom Laris in the 10,000 meter run at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials Monday with the best time ever recorded at altitude comparable to Echo Summit's 7,377 feet above sea level—a gaudy 30:04.4.

Van Nelson finished second and Laris third to also win Olympic berths while Mills, a Marine lieutenant who won the 10,000 at the Tokyo Olympics four years ago, was fourth and Lindgren the collegiate champion the past three years, was fifth.

Since only the first three finishers at the trials go on to the Olympics, Mills and Lindgren are on the outside looking in.

Lindgren Still Possibility
For Mills it is the end of the road. For Gerry, there is a bare chance he can still make it to Mexico City and the 1968 games.

GIANTS-JETS GAME
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—The New York Giants will play the New York Jets in an exhibition football game next Aug. 17 at Yale Bowl.

Arrangements to hold the game in New York this year fell through when officials of Shea Stadium, the home of the Jets, as well as baseball's New York Mets, refused to allow the field to be used for football before completion of the baseball season.

next month, but don't bet he will.

Lindgren has been suffering from an achilles tendon injury for more than a month. Last week, he appeared to be over it and ran some good practice races. That prompted the 5-6, 130-pound bundle of running dynamite to try for Olympic berths in both the 10,000 and Right now, his strategy not only has knocked him out of the 10,000 but may kyo him from the 5,000. The shorter race is on Wednesday's schedule but chances are Gerry will not be able to compete, unless, of course, he makes a miraculous recovery.

It was the only final on Monday's opening program, devoted in the main to trial heats in the 100 meters, 400-meter intermediate hurdles. The 800 meters and the shot put.

Greene, Hines Competing
Charlie Greene, Jim Hines and Ronnie Ray Smith all clocked 10 seconds flat to lead the way into today's semifinals. All 11 entries in the 100 advanced to the semis, which will be followed later today by the final.

Tom Wyatt and Geoff Vanderstock won heats in the 400 hurdles and Ray Arrington and Wade Bell took heats in the 800. The semifinals in both events also are on today's program, which will be featured by the final in the 100 and the final in the shot put.

Dave Maggard led shot put qualifiers Monday with a heave of 62 feet, 2 1/2 inches (18.95 meters).

World record holders Jim Ryan and Randy Matson of Pampa, were among those who qualified in the 800 and shot, respectively.

Ashe Beats Okker In U.S. Tennis

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Army Lieut. Arthur Ashe collected a $280 expense account for the 14 days it took him to win the $100,000 U.S. Open tennis championship against the greatest stars in the world today.

Tom Okker of the Netherlands won $14,000 for finishing second but Arthur isn't miffed.

"This title will be worth a lot more than $14,000 when the pros talk to me again," said the 25-year-old Negro who came out of Richmond, Va., to play at Forest Hills for the first time nine years ago and now has become the first in his race to win the men's singles crown in America's tennis capital.

Ashe boomed 25 service aces in a magnificent display of cannonading to down Okker

Monday, 14-12, 5-7, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, at the finish of a wild tournament in which 13 men pros and all four women under professional contract were beaten by amateurs in singles competition.

Part Time Amateur
Okker plays for prize money when he can but retains his amateur standing in certain other events as a "registered player" of Holland. Virginia Wade of England, who beat E. Billie Jean King of Berkeley, Calif., for the women's title, also has registered status.

Ashe still is in the race for a piece of the men's doubles title—but just barely. He and Spanish pro Andres Gimeno trailed Clark Graebner of New York and Chuck Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 12-12 when darkness stopped them Monday. They'll play off today with the winner to meet Californians Stan Smith and Bob Lutz in the final later in the day.

Ashe heads for more Davis Cup training for a few days at Las Vegas and then it's on to Los Angeles for the $30,000 Open starting Saturday. There's one more cup foe to face before the U.S. team heads for Australia, and the challenge round in December. That foe hasn't been determined. West German first must play the India-Japan winner.

Army Discharge Pending
Sometime after that and probably before his Army discharge in February, the 6-1 Ashe probably will talk pro but he'll also do some work with youngsters on behalf of the cannonading to down Okker

Urban League.
"Everyone is aware of the power moves in the world today—black power, white power, green power or whatever," said Ashe.

"I'm black, so I'm caught up in the black power movement. I'm not like Stokely (Carmichael) or Rap (Erown) but you can't knock them. They're on my side. You have to have three or four like them.

"But I feel we have to work through the social avenues that bring change like politics, business and education."

The Ashe-Okker match showed contrasting styles with Ashe, the slugger, hammering Okker's defenses until they cracked at key points along the way.

"I couldn't handle his serve," said Okker. "The balls kept going past me no matter what I tried."

Scribe Turns Slugger As Dodgers Win, 10-1

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Bill Sudakis, who knows a good sports story when he sees one, has something to write home about.

Sudakis, an infielder by trade and sports writer by avocation, received the headlines instead of the bylines Monday night when he clouted a grand slam home run in his seventh major league game to pace the Los Angeles Dodgers' 10-1 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Home for Sudakis is Joliet, Ill., where he is known not only for his athletic accomplishments but also for his stories in the Joliet Herald News. His newspaper career, however, appears in jeopardy now that he's made the major leagues at last.

"My life would never be complete if I didn't play in the major league," said Sudakis shortly after hitting the bases-loaded homer during an eight-run second-inning rally.

Second Homer
Sudakis, a 22-year-old infielder called up from Albuquerque on Sept. 3, has played as if he belonged ever since joining the Dodgers. The homer was his second in the majors and represented his ninth hit in 27 at bats, a .333 average.

The victory, achieved at the expense of Dodger nemesis Larry Jaster, lifted Los Angeles cellar into ninth place, one-half game ahead of the idle New York Mets. In other games, Atlanta held off San Francisco, 2-1, and Philadelphia outlasted Pittsburgh, 8-7, in 15 innings. A doubleheader between Cincinnati and Houston was postponed by rain.

In American League action, Detroit defeated California, 6-0, and widened its lead to eight games over Baltimore, a 6-2 victim of the Washington Senators. Boston beat Oakland, 10-1, in 10 innings, and Cleveland stopped Minnesota, 6-1.

Expensive Inning
Reliever Dick Hughes replaced Jaster with four runs in and two on and walked Willie Davis intentionally, loading the bases, before facing Sudakis. Jaster had yielded a two-run single to Paul Popovich and a two-run double to Wes Parker in the inning. The Dodgers' Don Sutton allowed six hits in coasting to his eighth victory against 14 losses.

George Stone, with ninth-inning relief help from his cousin, Cecil Uphaw, beat the Giants for his sixth victory despite Willie Mays' 583rd homer in the fourth inning.

Clay Dalrumple, batting .186, delivered a bases-loaded single in the 15th as the Phils edged the Pirates. Pittsburgh had scored four runs in the ninth on just one hit—Roberto Clemente's two-run single—to tie the score, 6-6. Chris Short, who pitched seven innings in relief, game ahead of the idle New York Mets.

Injured Driver Dies In Boating Mishap

DETROIT (UPI) — Warner Gardner, injured when his hydroplane crashed during the final heat of the Gold Cup race on the Detroit River Sunday, died Monday after undergoing surgery.

Gardner, who joined the thunder boat set when he was 46 was one of the best. He had turned his Miss Eagle-Electric into a winner where others had failed, because he had a heavy foot.

He hadn't slowed down when he attempted to take a turn in Sunday's race and Eagle flew

'Death Of The Dollar'

Events that burst into the news in February and early March of 1968 were as mysterious to most Americans as if they had occurred on the dark side of the moon. And so they remain—even though they forewarn a grave threat to the financial security of every American family.

The reference is to the gold panic which hit Europe (particularly England) earlier this year and, thus, we are introduced to a new book, "Death Of The Dollar—How The Money Managers Are Ravaging Your Dollar And What You Must Do To Protect Yourself In The Coming Collapse" (Arlington House, 189 pages, $4.95, available through your local bookstore) by William F. Rickenbacker.

Although we have not yet had time to read all of "Death Of The Dollar," a hasty skimming of its contents, which seems to lend weight to what The Pampa News and columnist, George Beardman and Rufus Porter have been saying for years—on the subjects of gold and silver in particular and money in general, was enough to convince us that it is a book which should be read by everyone interested in economic survival in the months ahead, thus well worth the price asked.

Consisting of chapters entitled, "The Great Gold Crisis," "Money Managers To The Rescue" (a satire), "The Failure Of The International Monetary Fund," "A Look At The Banking System," "Inflation Managers Or Money Managers," "The Only International Money," "A Portrait Of Gold As Metal," "Gold: Getting It And Spending It," "A Look At The Future," and "Investment Survival," Rickenbacker's book traces the sorry mess we find ourselves in back to its well-springs in the so-called "liberal" economies of illusion.

It is hoped that, while perusing "Death Of The Dollar," the reader will have cause to wonder how, in a nation which prides itself on its "educational

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Man Is Helpless Animal at Birth

Although a human baby is born after roughly nine months of gestation he is far behind the newborn colt that can stand and run within a few hours after birth. It is believed that a human baby is born in a relatively undeveloped state because its head is so large in proportion to the rest of the body and the skull must not exceed the size of the bony birth canal. It may be another eight months after birth before the baby can even crawl on his hands and knees.

The fact that the human infant is so helpless makes it necessary for his mother to give him loving care for many months after his birth. This furthers the emotional development of the child and creates a strong bond between the mother and child.

At birth the circumference of the head is as great as that of the chest. Its passage through the birth canal sometimes gives the head a lopsided appearance but this in no way harms the undeveloped brain. Because the bones of the skull have not yet fused they are able to assume their proper shape within a few days after birth, to the great relief of the anxious parents.

Before birth all the air spaces in the lungs are completely collapsed. The infant's first few breaths expand most of these tiny sacs but, contrary to popular opinion, it is three or four days before they are all completely expanded. It is for this reason that anything which tends to obstruct the expansion of the lungs in the first few hours of life can cause serious complications. Often immediately after birth a doctor will introduce a small catheter into the baby's windpipe and suck out the mucus that is causing gurgling breath sounds.

Brain damage will quickly result from a lack of oxygen. If a newborn has trouble breathing, the best way to protect his brain is to plunge him into a tub of ice water because chilling reduces the body's need for oxygen until normal breathing can be established. In another column I will discuss other features of the newborn.

Q—What is the normal amount of hemoglobin for a 5-year-old child and a 10-month-old baby?

A—At 10 months the normal hemoglobin level is about 12 and at 5 years it is about 13 or slightly less than the adult level.

I know you little fellers will be jumping for joy to learn that the "grantsmanship" boys have been given the glad-eye again. This time for a one and a half million gets grant to the community action agencies.

This goes to consulting firms to show the action centers how they could operate. I don't see what difference it makes how they operate — take my word for it, they'll never show a profit.

In the last fiscal year the con-sarn-sultants have received 95 million to suggest better procedures for the OEO and they ain't made any headway yet. Grants range in size from $20,000 to $60,000 in 30 cities.

The trouble is, the action agencies first have to give special orientation to the 'sultants' on how they operate. The 'sultants' provide staff members to work with the local CAA's to learn this.

After the members find out what they are supposed to do, they send out reports on what they think the CAA ought to do and send a zillion copies to the regional offices. This takes 3 months. Then the regional offices tell the OEO what they ought to do in order to get another grant.

I wish they'd let me tell them what to do. I'd tell them to send their grant boys out to find Rover on their own time. I'll bet in no time at all you little fellers would be back in the happy-cabbage.

Spread of Student 'Protests' Worries Government Despite Pentagon Disclaimers

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Government authorities are more concerned that they care to admit about the impact of student demonstrations and protests on defense research and other federal activities at universities and colleges across the nation.

The problem will be highlighted by a new wave of campus protests after the fall term begins this month. R.O.T.C. units are marked as priority targets by student militants, along with Pentagon-financed research and the recruiting activities of military agencies, the CIA and Defense Department contractors.

Recent demonstrations by young people at the Democratic National Convention were straws in the wind for university administrators. The Chicago events suggest that new student demonstrations will be widespread and that the new tactics of campus protest may be much more ugly than the student sit-ins of the past.

Ringleaders of the convention riots included student militants from across the nation. Of some 300 demonstrators arrested at the height of the violent convention disorders, nearly half were from outside the Chicago metropolitan area. They gave home addresses all over the United States.

The tactics of the young convention demonstrators—their ugly actions and their obscene epithets—were not shown to television audiences, perhaps for reasons of taste. Even if they did not always justify the violent response of Mayor Richard Daley's police, the tactics were older as to turn the stomachs of older observers.

Note: Some public school systems are also preparing for disruptive disorders in the school year which is just beginning. The concern of public school administrators is keyed mostly to a new militancy among teachers in pressing demands for better pay and a larger role in policy-making. However, there is some concern that activities of teachers may provoke a sympathetic militancy among students.

PENTAGON VIEWS—Campus demonstrations to date, aimed at frustrating recruiting drive or forcing abandonment of Defense Department research programs, have had some success on a few college campuses. Officially, the Pentagon is not worried so far.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson raised the question of disruptive campus protests in Senate hearings during last spring's widespread disorders. Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of Defense Department research and engineering, minimized their effect although he admitted he did not know much about the extent of the student protest.

"So far it has not had a major impact," said Foster, "but

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 10, the 254th day of 1968 with 112 days to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The evening star is Saturn and Venus.

Those born today are under the sign of Virgo. American author Carl Van Doren was born Sept. 10, 1885.

On this day in history:

In 1813, famed American Navy Capt. Oliver Perry defeated a British squadron in the battle of Lake Erie.

In 1846, Elias Howe received a patent for the sewing machine.

In 1898, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated by an anarchist.

In 1962, 44 persons died in the crash of an Air Force jet tanker near Mt. Spokane in Washington State.

A thought for the day—American novelist Thomas Wolfe once said: "Most of the time we think we're sick; it's all in the mind."

Wit and Whimsy

A dear old Methodist, obliged to remain in a certain town over Sunday, started out to attend service in one of the churches of his own faith; but losing his way, and seeing an open church door just across the street, he entered, not knowing to what creed the congregation held. As the service progressed, his religious emotions waxed warmer and warmer, until finally he gave vent to them by shouting out, "Praise God!" Immediately one of the ushers tapped him on the shoulder and said:

Mr. Blank (the usher)—You can't do that in this church, sir.

"2. The subject report puts me in mind of the review of D.H. Lawrence's Lady Chatterly's Lover which appeared in the November, 1959 issue of 'Field and Stream':

"This fictional account of the day by day life of an English gamekeeper is still of considerable interest to outdoor minded readers, as it contains many passages on pheasant raising, the apprehending of poachers, ways to control vermin, and other chores and duties of the professional gamekeeper. Unfortunately, one is obliged to wade through many pages of extraneous material in order to discover and savor these sidelights on the management of a Midlands shooting estate, and in this reviewer's opinion this book cannot take the place of J.R. Miller's Practical Gamekeeping."

"It is evident to me that the review lacked comprehension of the primary occupation of the gamekeeper as described in Lady Chatterly's Lover."

"3. A cursory review of the subject report leads me to conclude that its authors, likewise, lack comprehension in the manner of accomplishing Research and Development. Therefore, I believe no useful purpose would be served by detailed comments on my part."

The memorandum is signed, "H. G. Rickover."

CRIME AND POVERTY

One of the "articles of faith" which early socialists were invariably asked to accept related to the abolition of crime, if only a better distribution of goods and money could occur. I was reminded of this ancient and honorable superstition when I recently read in Barrow's that crime in the British Isles has not been eliminated. This, from the socialist view, is little less than incredible. But the learned opinion was handed down recently by a British judge addressing the American Bar Association in Philadelphia. Lord Justice John Passmore Widgery, of the Court of Appeals in England, admitted to having accepted the view that with a welfare state established, crime would taper off. Now he somewhat ruefully had to concede that even though the government had done so much to eliminate slums and to wipe out poverty, the evidence reveals that crime is increasing just about as fast in England as it is in this country.

Of course, Judge Widgery was kind enough not to mention that this nation has also moved a long way into state-welfareism. But when another speaker at the Bar Convention commented that we must rely on more public housing and more handouts to combat crime, the judge did comment: "Anyone here who believes that relief of poverty will bring a decrease in crime is in for some kind of disappointment."

When you get right down to it, the only thing that prevents a crime is precisely the reverse of what causes it. People commit crimes when they wish to do so and refrain from committing them when they do not wish to do so. Actually, the matter relates to motivation. The laws and the police and, for that matter, handouts calculated to relieve poverty, do not motivate to any depth. Certainly it is true that if a policeman is standing in front of a store that a criminal intends to rob, he will usually not commit that crime at that moment. He will wait until the policeman moves on. But it is certain that for that moment when the officer was standing in the way, some deterrent to a particular crime occurred.

Similarly, when a man on the relief rolls gets a check or a hand-out, at the moment he is collecting that loot he is certainly not engaged in any other crime. But once he has that money, he can pursue his basic motivation, whatever it may be. What motivates crime? And what is causing the increase in crime? It seems to me rather clear that the criminal takes what he knows is not his, because he believes, all factors considered, that he is more entitled to what he steals than the man he steals from. And the reason this type of procedure is on the increase relates to the fact that the socialists have sold the American public at large a "bill of goods." The public mind is now profoundly convinced that private property is wrong and that taking from another is not an evil. All that matters is, does he have it and can you get away with it. In this respect, anti-poverty remedies put out by the government are actually contributing factors to the increasing area of crime. And efforts to employ gun and club, in turn, become contributing factors leading in the same direction.

When a person is convinced that he has a "right" to another man's property, this conviction is augmented when the government intervenes in advance to take some of that property and give it to him. Since the government is engaged in robbing people on a gradual basis, robbing them all at once and in much larger doses cannot be wrong. So the criminal has few qualms when it comes to stealing whatever is portable. And when the government marshals police to prevent this type of action, the criminal, who may simply refer to himself as a poor man or a member of the unemployed, feels that the police are simply paid hirelings of those with property and should rightfully be sent packing.

The natural consequence of a welfare state is a police state. We have the one and are rapidly being converted to the other. This is the logical result of presuming that relieving poverty will cure crime and then discovering that anti-poverty programs increase crime.

Private enterprise is moving into the postal service to speed deliveries of mail. There's a firm in New York now that will pick up business mail at the post office and deliver it to a client, thus by-passing the usual delay in regular postal delivery. Business is so good the firm operates 80 trucks around Manhattan on a 24-hour basis. Similar firms are being organized in other cities. Mail service has become so slow in big cities it might be best if Uncle Sam turned the Post Office Department over to some private enterprise organization like the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. They'd operate it efficiently.

Today's smile: A fellow, who had just been told he won the Irish Sweepstakes, called his wife and said: "Darling, we're rich. Now go out and buy yourself some decent clothes." "Nothing doing," said his frau. "I've been wearing decent clothes all my life. Now I want to dress like other women."

You don't have to invent something big like the telephone, the automobile or the airplane to make a fortune. Inventors of small things have hit the jackpot, too. Back in 1914 Edward Hamlin Everett became a multi-millionaire by inventing the crimp in a bottle cap to keep it tightly sealed and easy to open. Since that time billions of such bottle caps has been used on soft drink and beer bottles. Everett got a royalty on every one.

Thoughts while shaving: While window shopping on New York's Madison Avenue, we saw a parking timer keyring. Simply set the gadget when you put a coin in a parking meter and a buzzer sounds when your hour is up. Sounds like a wonderful way to avoid those pesky parking tickets, which the cops like to hand out when you're a couple of minutes overdue. An M. D. told us recently that arthritis and rheumatism cause more suffering by more people for a longer time than any other group of diseases. He said they seldom kill, but often cripple. He added that of all the lingering illnesses which afflict man, rheumatic diseases rank first in personal, social and economic importance. . . . Some years ago we met Charles L. Swem whose sole claim to fame was the fact he could take 282 words a minute in shorthand with almost 100 per cent accuracy. Now we wonder if anyone ever beat his record? . . . An apiarist friend informs us that bees find their way back to their own hives by a sense of direction. He says that when it leaves the hive it circles around to determine the particular odor that identifies its own hive. Upon completing its mission it returns to the hive, guided by that odor. . . . Benjamin Franklin was right when he said: "Nothing is certain but death and taxes." . . . President Johnson has extended Secret Service protection to all of the Presidential candidates but prior to 1919 the only one given such treatment was the chief executive himself. At that time it was extended to the President's family. . . . We found this in the Provo (Utah) DAILY HERALD: "If a man has a recent faithful wife he has everything." You're not kidding.

Country Editor speaking: Remember the good old days when the U. S. warned another nation to return a captured plane or boat, or else? These days even pip squeak nations ask Uncle Sam: "What else?"
