Presidential candidates Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon neared the end of a hectic campaign week, even on blunders today, one for each camp.
Nixon's running mate, Spiro T. Agnew, apologized Thursday for language describing Humphrey as "soft on communism" and said he would have "turned five somersaults" to avoid saying it had he known its effect.

Humphrey had to take back some of his own words earlier in the week. He mistakenly hailed the return of a Marine unit from Vietnam as proof of his prediction a phase-down in U.S. troops there might come later this year. It turned out the Marines were being replaced by an Army unit.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has passed and sent to the White House a bill setting up a conference in 1971 on the problems of the aged.

The measure, approved Thursday, authorizes $1.9 million to cover costs of the meeting.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Thursday approved and sent to the Senate a $72.2 billion defense appropriation—$5 billion less than the administration asked but still the biggest money bill in history. The House vote was 334 to 7.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Members of the radical Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) clashed with Columbia University campus police Thursday when the dissident students tried to force their way into a hall where faculty members were meeting.

SEA GIRT, N.J. (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey is in better physical shape than either Lyndon B. Johnson or John F. Kennedy were for the grueling presidential campaign or the harsh demands of the White House, according to his personal physician.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Police Thursday seized two truck loads of marijuana valued at over $300,000 and uncovered a garden plot with 5,000 stalks of marijuana growing in it. The house nearby had a floor covered 18 inches deep with the greenish-gray stalks. Police said the raid climaxed a six-week investigation.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas today "respectfully declined" to appear again before a Senate committee considering his nomination as chief justice.

Foodway To Do

Business In Old Safeway Building

An assumed name certificate was filed in the Gray County clerk's office Wednesday.
According to the certificate, Buddies Super Markets, Inc., of Fort Worth, will conduct business at 900 N. Duncan under the name of Foodway. The document was signed by Cecil Kerney, senior vice president and assistant secretary of Buddies.
County Clerk Charlie Thut said today the certificate was received by mail. He added that no deed on sale of the property had yet been filed in the Clerk's office.
The building at 900 N. Duncan formerly was owned and operated as a supermarket by Safeway Stores.

Frightening Case

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A man gave a $10 bill Thursday to a restaurant cashier, asking for change for cigarettes. She opened the cash register drawer. He pulled a gun. She fainted. He fled, leaving behind his money.

UNLUCKY DAY — Unsure of her luck on this Friday 13th, Sondra McNaughton, 1305 Terrace, pauses beneath a ladder and wonders whether or not to pursue her journey further. The pretty 17-year-old senior at Pampa High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McNaughton. (See story, page 3).

Shouting Match In Senate Over Chicago

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The business at hand was a gun control bill, but the Senate session turned into a shouting match about what happened at the Democratic National Convention.

After the exchange Thursday between Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Stephen Young, D-Ohio, the Senate put off until today debate on a measure to ban mail order sales of rifles and shotguns and forbid counter sales to children, criminals and others considered unfit to possess them.

The Thursday outburst came after Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., made his opening statement as floor manager of the gun bill and had gone into conference with Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., concerning amendments to the measure.

Young, given permission to speak in the interim, began denouncing Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago police for "brutal handling" of demonstrators during the presidential nominating session.

Long arrived, and demanded that Young yield the floor for

13 Indicted In Church Bond Case

DALLAS (UPI)—Federal officials said warrants probably would be issued today for 13 persons indicted Thursday in Abilene, Tex., for involvement in a $5-million church bond fraud.

The 13 included two prominent Texas clergymen, a former Texas securities commissioner and a Tennessee judge.

Assistant U. S. Atty. Robert Travis of Fort Worth said Thursday the warrants would be issued for the defendants as soon as the indictment arrived at the U.S. clerk's office in Dallas. The indictment was mailed Thursday.

A total of 22 churches in Texas, Louisiana, Maine, Georgia, Arkansas, Florida and Oklahoma were involved.

Travis said the only church named specifically was the Mid City Baptist Church of New Orleans.

Twin Brothers
He said that church was cited because the Revs. Homer and Omer Ritchie, pastor and copastor of Fort Worth's First Baptist Church, were accused of getting Mid City Baptist to turn building bonds over to them. The Ritchies are twins.

Also indicted were: John B. Walling and Lylal W. McKnight of Fort Worth; Glenn V. Paden Sr. of Cleburne; Dwight Parks of Waco; Thomas

The November general election was having its effect on Texans.

American Independent Party officials in Dallas said Thursday their candidate, former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, would be keynote speaker at the convention Tuesday morning.

State Party Chairman Bard Logan of San Antonio, said he did not know if Wallace would announce his running mate at the convention, but he hoped he

Outnumbered Troops Drive Off Commies

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. infantrymen outnumbered 2 to 1 drove off an attack force of 800 Communists near Tay Ninh today without suffering a single fatality. It was one of a series of battles along the Cambodian border invasion route to Saigon that killed 241 Viet Cong.

U.S. Marines in two days of fighting in the An Hoa Valley 20 miles south of Da Nang killed another 110 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and possibly averted a major assault on the coastal city of Ho An, five miles further south, U.S. Marine spokesmen reported.

U.S. and South Vietnamese troops suffered comparatively few casualties in heavy fighting around Tay Ninh, 50 miles northwest of Saigon, and at Loc Ninh, 10 miles further north.

Two things to do

"The only two things we have to do is reconfirm electors and certify the names of the presidential and vice presidential candidates," he said.

GOP vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew will be the main speaker at the Republican state convention when it kicks off Tuesday in Fort Worth.

Various committee hearings, receptions and workshops will begin Saturday and last through Monday. Agnew was scheduled to arrive Monday night. Another major speaker will be Eggers.

State Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, was appointed chairman of a Democratic platform subcommittee to meet

US Is Still Ahead In Sub-Based Weapons

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has doubled its arsenal of intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs) in a single year, virtually wiping out America's long-standing lead in long range rockets. But the United States still leads overwhelmingly in submarine-launched Polaris-type missiles.

These were the latest findings of the Institution for Strategic Studies, released today in its authoritative survey of the world military balance.

The survey said while Russia is pushing determinedly for nuclear arms parity with the United States, Communist China's nuclear weapons progress has been retarded by the internal upheavals of Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution. The development of Peking's ICBM, in particular, appears to have suffered delays.

The Strategic Institute was founded in 1958 as an international center for research of defense and security problems. It has an international council drawn from 15 countries.

The study was completed before Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia. But the institute's directors said they do not consider the Soviet move to have altered, on present indications, the power balance with the West. Russian troops in Europe have been "redeployed," and have moved closer into Central Europe, but they have not been augmented so far.

On the other hand Russia is increasingly gearing her forces for conventional as well as nuclear conflict, and for both offensive and defensive chemical warfare, the survey said.

The institute's findings included: —In Europe, Soviet strategy has adopted a policy of "flexible response" along NATO lines. The Warsaw Pact defense alignment and NATO have parity in men.

In Vietnam Russia has some 1,000 instructors, while Peking has some 40,000 so-called "engineer troops" to help with road building and anti-aircraft defenses. Hanoi has 6,000 anti-aircraft guns and 50 surface-to-air Soviet-made SAM-2 guideline missiles with 4-6 launchers to each site.

—In the Middle East, Russia has nearly replaced all of the arms lost by the Arabs in the six-day war against Israel last summer. There are some 3,000 Russian "advisers" in Egypt and Syria on virtually all levels, including staff operations.

—The American action was two miles north of Tay Ninh. Shortly afterwards South Vietnamese ran into a fight two miles southwest of Tay Ninh and reported killing 45 Communists while losing 3 dead and 10 wounded.

The Communists lost 113 dead in fighting near Loc Ninh in a series of battles that began when North Vietnamese hiding in rubber tree groves ambushed U.S. infantrymen in an armored convoy. This touched off a daylong series of clashes in which the Americans lost 14 killed and 60 wounded.

Wallace, Getting His First Real Heckling, Didn't Appear To Mind

By RANDOLPH PENDLETON
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—George Wallace seemed not to mind the hecklers.

Each time the boos of demonstrators drowned out his speech Thursday night before more than 6,000 persons in a nearly packed Milwaukee Auditorium, he stopped and smiled confidently, while his supporters shouted down the protesters.

After some 10 minutes, the Rev. James Groppi, adviser to the militant Milwaukee NAACP Youth Council and organizer of

Pueblo Was Spying On Soviet Shipping

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has disclosed that the primary mission of the USS Pueblo was to spy on Soviet naval activity from a distance of at least 13 miles from the Soviet and North Korean coasts.

Details of the heretofore secret mission of the American intelligence ship were contained in secret sailing orders made public by the Defense Department Thursday night.

The Johnson administration took the unusual step of making public the ship's sailing orders in an effort to refute a North Korean radio broadcast which claimed the ship had instructions to sail to within three miles off the North Korean coast—well within the 12-mile limit which North Korea claims as territorial waters.

The State Department acknowledged that the North Korean radio had accurately quoted one small section from a set of very general intelligence instructions to the Pueblo dating back to Feb. 28, 1966, or nearly two years before the mission which ended with its seizure by North Korea last Jan. 23.

surance experts. He said Greer been paid for and were legitimate.

"If that is not the case, and I buy the bond, someone else is at fault," Walling said. "By not taking aggressive action against the churches, I find myself in trouble."

Walling said the construction company had built more than 1,200 churches in the United States and had contracts to build 75 churches when he purchased the bonds.

"My lawyer informs me that I am not involved in any direct dealings with the churches and that I am one party removed from any fraud," he said.

territorial waters when it was captured.

At the same time, the North Koreans presented the Pueblo's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, and 20 of his men at a news conference and said the United States must apologize for "criminal acts of intrusion and sabotage."

In the secret orders, issued Jan. 5, 1968, the Pueblo was told that "CPA (closest point of approach) to Communist Korea, the Soviet land mass, and offshore islands will be 13 nautical miles."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday that officials had "no reason to believe" that the vessel was within North Korean

Importance Of Communication Felt By Those Who Can't Speak

By KENNETH R. CLARK
 McALLEN, Tex. (UPI)—Highly flying oratory at a political convention, or small talk at a cocktail party—it's all communication, the average human gives little thought to it.
 But for the man whose ability to communicate has broken down, the hunger just to speak, hear, and comprehend can become a painful thing.
 That's where Ron Baker, of the Easter seal treatment center for crippled children and adults in McAllen comes in.
 The 28-year-old Baker, who joined the treatment center staff this week, is a speech pathologist, and the physical aspect of human communication is his specialty.
 It's a specialty few understand.

"Whenever I say I'm a speech pathologist," he said, "invariably somebody says, 'It could use some help.' What he's thinking is diction, grammar, and syntax. The only time I become a grammar coach is if it's part of the process of teaching someone who can't speak at all, or who is severely crippled or retarded in that area."
 There apparently is a sizeable crowd of people so afflicted in Hidalgo County.
 Baker, who said he expected to get this practice underway sometime this week, said a case load of 125 patients already has been handed to him, and that more are expected.
 He said the majority of his patients probably will be "aplasia" victims—those who have suffered brain-damaging strokes

Kellys Planning Big Bash In England Saturday

By DONAL O'HIGGINS
 CASTLEBAR, Ireland (UPI)—So Kelly says to his missus, he says, let's have a party and invite all the Kellys in the world!
 Sure enough, they did!
 And they are having it, a three-day all-Kelly bash that begins Saturday in Castlebar and will roister out in banquets, receptions and what-have-you until there isn't a sober head the far side of the pale.
 Being as there are so many Kellys in this world it will be the greatest tribal gathering Ireland has ever seen. The organizers figure at least 1,000 Kellys will be there.
 Invitation cards to the Kelly festival have spun around the world, bearing the imposing Kelly coat of arms, for the past few months.
 There is some chance even a royal Kelly may attend, an invitation having been sent to Princess Grace of Monaco.

"She hasn't said no and to us that means yes," said an organizer, a chap called Kelly.
 Following registration Saturday at a Castlebar facility, the Kellys will be regaled with Kelly tours, Kelly nights, Kelly dances, Kelly banquets and Kelly songfests.
 An offshoot of the affair will be the establishment of a Kelly trust from which money will be available to help needy Kellys the world over—if, as the Kellys here say, anyone can find them.

THE LIGHTER SIDE Demo Convention

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The greatest mistake that anyone in Washington can make these days is to let it be known that he did not attend the Democratic National Convention.
 The town is fairly teeming with survivors of that engagement and all of them are burning to tell someone of their experiences.
 Perfect strangers will stop you on the street and say, "Weren't you in Chicago?" If you are foolish as to answer "no," they will pin you to the wall and unload a few horror stories.
 I must say, however, that there are certain compensations available to those of us who are taking the brunt of the post-convention instant replays.
 Since the word got around that I was a non-participant, my social life has escalated tremendously. I find myself in constant demand as a guest at dinner parties and other affairs where the talk runs to politics.
 It is a feather in the cap of any hostess to be able to land at least one guest who missed the convention.
 She can then sidle up to the other guests and whisper, "See that harassed-looking little man over there in the corner? He wasn't in Chicago."
 I immediately become the center of attention as the other guests draw me aside to describe what happened to them. It's the closest I've ever come to being a celebrity.

 Quite often, two or three guests who are unable to get my attention during the party will ask if they can come around and see me later.
 My appointment book is full for the next two weeks and there is a sizeable waiting list. I'm thinking now of setting up some sort of free system, the amount depending on the novelty of the experience that is recounted.
 The charges probably will range as follows:
 —Ran into tear gas barrage while trying to return to hotel. $1.00.
 —Accidentally struck by flying "We love Mayor Daley" poster. $2.00.
 —Accidentally struck by falling "We love Mayor Daley" billboard. $4.00.
 —Hustled out of convention hall by security guards after being mistaken for a Wisconsin delegate. $3.00.
 —Accidentally stabbed with a McCarthy button. $1.50.
 —Tripped over a hippie. $0.75.
 MONTREAL — Charles Laverne Beasley, pointing a gun at an Air Canada stewardess before demanding that he be taken to Cuba or given asylum in Canada:
 "Take me to your pilot."

Wichita Falls Attorney Supports Wallace In Address To 80 Here

Dustin Fillmore, a Wichita Falls attorney, addressed some 80 persons Friday night at the Pampa Jr. High School Auditorium. The "highlight" of his address in promotion of George Wallace for President, was that this "God-given Country has no choice—so why take a chance—a change is necessary."

"Various interpretations of laws," said Fillmore, "offer no excuse for the responsibilities shouldered by our executives and officials: innumerable things done in the name of unity (and he expounded upon a few of them), denote contempt to our society. Some are even camouflaged by quotes of the Bible.

"At New Orleans—July 18, Mr. Humphrey stated: 'That if he lived in a slum, he might lead a mighty good revolt, himself. This, in contrast to a statement made by Mr. Lincoln, March 21, 1864: 'Property is the product of labor; is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich, shows that others may become rich.

Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another; but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.' Who is being deceived?

"We, as a group of America's people, know the results of the Korean War, and know that victory was unattainable. With an undeclared victory, there was merely a pause between wars, Korean and North Vietnam. And now, of course, the call is: Go there, young man, long enough to fight, maybe long enough to die, but not long enough, young man, to win.

A mother of one of the crewmen aboard the Pueblo stated: It is war enough for a son to go to war with his country backing him, much less, when you know that the country is not behind him.

"Can our America long endure such a predicament? Victory and defeat are incompatible; so, again I ask, who is being deceived?"

"The question arises, but has America gone too far? Can she ever be retrieved? As long as

Bob Price Visits In Pampa Briefly

Congressman Bob Price returned today from Washington and stopped off briefly in Pampa. Price discussed informally several subjects including politics and Southeast Asia.

Asked about the Vietnam war, Price said congressmen are given very little information on what the situation actually is there.

"The people back home know just about as much on that subject as congressmen do," he said.

The congressman left Pampa about 11 a.m. for a luncheon speech in Amarillo.

"I told, every cop I met, 'Thank you, sir, for fighting these no-count traitors—this human trash!'"

Long challenged Young to "defend these Communists," but the Ohioan remained seated. Long then adjourned the session.

Reporter Defies Superstitions And Ends Up In Make-Believe Hospital

By LARRY HOLLIS News Staff Writer (See picture, page one)

Today is, as most probably realize, Friday the 13th. According to an ages-long belief, which some people still accept, such a day provides a tendency for bad luck and ill omens.

This belief derives from the crucifixion of Christ on Friday. Since then, Fridays have been considered

EVEN OUTERWEAR is taking on the sweater look—fashionable jackets are being styled with knitted collars and cuffs.

Masculine Styles Revert to Knits

The man without a wardrobe of sweaters this fall is a man who's not with it. Whether on the campus or putting in the back yard, the sweater is the great leveler.

Even outerwear is beginning to look a lot like woollies, as the British call sweaters, since fashionable jackets are being styled with knitted collars and cuffs.

The most popular version is undoubtedly the turtleneck, although vees and crews still hold their own in the neck battle. Watch for more fisherman's knits, those traditional Irish items which are perfect for snappy fall days.

For the layered look, lightweight wool turtlenecks under bulky, ribbed vee-necks make smart combinations.

And this season the discerning shopper will be able to find sweaters in a huge variety of colors, from brilliant pinks to vicious stripes. Speaking of stripes, the biggest news is the competition stripe with which motor-sports fans have long been familiar. It's the perfect dash of color to add interest and character to the sweater—and the wearer.

BULKY, RIBBED TURTLENECK is big, also traditional Irish fisherman's knits—great for snappy fall days.

SPEAKING OF STRIPES, the competition stripe familiar to motorsports is now big sweater news—a perfect dash of color.

LIGHTWEIGHT turtleneck under a shirt, or a bulky vee-neck, yields the layered look.

ABWA Members Review Pampa Hospital Report

American Business Women's Association members here were introduced to planned new improvements and additions to Highland General Hospital in their regular monthly meeting recently in Furr's Cafeteria.

Wes Langham, administrator of the hospital, told the group the $1,700,000 contract should be let and work scheduled to begin by January, 1969. The entire hospital building is to be remodeled to meet present standard requirements as well as the new addition, he said.

Langham explained among many improvements and additions, "some of greatest importance will be a physical therapy room, a full time pathologist, enlarged emergency facilities, a coffee lounge for the fathers in waiting," an intensive care ward equipped with the most modern facilities, an extended care ward for medicare patients and a new and enlarged parking area for visitors.

He stated also it is possible that by 1970 patients may be paying as much as $50 per day for a hospital room.

Mrs. C. P. Redd gave the vocational talk. She has been bookkeeper for a Pampa parts and supply store since January.

In the business meeting members planned the Fall Tea to be held Sunday afternoon, in Citizen's Bank Hospitality Room.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so burned up right now I could be treated for 3d degree burns. Last week, seven girls and I were to be in a big church wedding which never took place. All of us girls had paid for our own gowns, shoes to match, head pieces, and accessories, which came to a nice sum. Four days before the wedding the bride changed her mind and called the wedding off!

I think it's the bride's duty to pay us girls back for the money we forked out. Only two of the other girls agree with me. What do you think?

BURNED
DEAR BURNED: I think it would be lovely if all the brides who "changed their minds" were able to reimburse the girls for the money they "forked out." Unfortunately, few are. I'm afraid you are out of luck and out of pocket. I don't blame you for being "burned up," but try to cool off before you make an ash of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, having raised a fine family. They're all over 21 now. Their father has been gone since they were mere babies. I had no financial help, so it has been a struggle.

My husband died in a sanitarium from a form of insanity as a result of a social disease. (I told everyone he had a "stroke" and it affected his brain.) My children have never questioned their father's illness or death. I always built him up as a fine man. He was, in a way, but he paid with his life for his indiscretions.

How much should I tell my children? Part of it? Or all of it?

FEELING GUILTY
DEAR FEELING: None of it. I can't think of one good reason for you to now destroy the fine image your children have of their father. In this case your silence is more golden than "guilt."

DEAR ABBY: Aunt Lucy was widowed, and being up in

The Seitz families met in Pampa recently for their 46th consecutive annual reunion. The families met about 1907 for their first reunion, but did not establish the annual reunion until 1923.

Seventy Seitz relatives and friends attended the reunion this year.

There were nine older Seitz brothers and sisters, who are all deceased, but all families except one, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Meter, were represented by descendants, some from California, Wyoming, Arizona, Oklahoma and Texas.

Those from Pampa attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Lester Reynolds and Yvonne, W. B. Burgess, J. B. Jones, and Willie Johnson, and Mmes. Eva Richardson, Earle Wright, Rosie Neil Cox, Johnny Newman and children, Betty Scott and children, Palestine Drum, Mattie Scott, Miss Edna Daughtee, Mr. Roland Dauer and Jay and Tony Isbell.

Twelve attended from other states. Those from the Panhandle area were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hodges, Arthur Seitz, Mrs. Alice Hardin, Mrs. Alma Seitz, Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gripp, Panhandle; Roy Seitz, Messrs. and Mmes. Willie Seitz, and Dave Hand Jr., Spearman; Loy Seitz, and children, Glen Hodges and daughters, Bob Galmor, Monroe Seitz, and granddaughter, Mobeette; Joe Morris and daughters, and Bert Smith, Lefors; Mr. Robert Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Webb and Mrs. Lucy Radney, Amarillo.

I told Aunt Lucy not to send them $2,000 which she could ill afford, but she did anyway. A few months later, she was delivered 50 copies of her "book," which she was asked to distribute to book stores, newspapers, etc. The public libraries wouldn't touch them, and the ones in the local book stores failed to sell and were given back to her.

Finally her publishers told her they couldn't promote a book that didn't even sell in her home town, and they offered to SELL her (at half price!) all those they had on hand. (This, after she'd paid $2,000!) They said she could either try to sell them herself, or give them to friends as gifts.

Needless to say, Aunt Lucy is heart-broken. I don't know how these "publishers" can get away with this sort of thing, but apparently it's all legal. Perhaps if you print this letter it may save others from being hurt.

DEAR CONCERNED: May I add another helpful note: People who enter into "business deals" should first consult a competent lawyer before signing anything. And would-be-authors would do well to work through professional literary agents.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST
By CARROLL RIGHTER

For Saturday, Sept. 14, 1963
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to make sure you do not let any emotional lizzy get you down for most of the day. Be on the alert for some romantic outlet and yet with a critical awareness of what they do not like instead of points of "contracts" that are satisfactory. Live this Sunday in accord with accepted general standards of consideration.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) A good day to give most of your attention to home and family. See that all is apace and span and that you are in a happy frame of mind. Fix that room of yours the way you like it best and feel more comfortable.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you haven't attended services lately, do so today and get yourself in tune with the future. Then get in touch with that good friend you have neglected for some time. Get your ideas coordinated.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into the realm of greater abundance, both spiritually and actually today. Be with affluent persons and learn how they became so successful. Just set good ideas get now and you can easily climb out of that hole you find yourself in.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan just what you want to accomplish in the days ahead and make your intentions on paper so that you won't forget highlights and details. Then off to the social. Be with fascinating people.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22) Concentrate on the right philosophy for living for the future that makes you more happy and successful. You have to be astute in handling others behind-the-scenes. Then you get the right results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have fine ideas but need to get in touch with experts in such fields and gain their knowledge. Forget the past and pioneer in the new and profitable. Be sure you get in touch with outowners, too, who know their oats.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have intuition that should be heeded if you want to get the right answer to problematical equations. Listen to what mate has to suggest, also to listen carefully. Then all works like magic for you.

Churches Need to Consider Action on Mankind's Issues

By DAVID POLING
Last winter the Wall Street Journal published an article by Malcolm Boyd. The piece, "A Plea to Laymen to Join Christianity," brought stacks of mail as readers expressed their feelings on the church, Malcolm Boyd, and the role of the laity. It was a nice, hot controversial discussion that editors dream about but seldom expect.

One of Boyd's comments ought to be read again:
"It can be argued that a great deal ought not to be expected of the church. It is certainly theologically correct to acknowledge that, institutionally, it is ridden with the same moral ambiguities as General Motors, SN-CC, the State Department, the Teamsters' Union, the University of Michigan, the AMA, or the U. S. Marines. Yet granting this, one must still expect more of the church precisely because of its own claims that more should be expected."

On the questions of war and peace, poverty and dissent, the Christian community should be on the front page of forceful statements and actions. For 2,000 years it has proclaimed the Biblical truths that constantly harp on these themes. It should be expected to churchmen that they will validate the claims of the Old and New Testament with vigorous application to the present scene.

Pope Paul's steady criticism of the war in Vietnam is a good example of moral leadership. He has never let up on this and has properly ignored the "feelings" of one nation or the other. End the war is the only position he can or should take.

On the other hand, the Vatican statement on birth control and the prohibitive use of contraceptives has made it necessary for countless families to turn to Protestant leaders for guidance and support. The coming election is another example of how the church divides over moral pronouncements—and the dilemmas it creates for thoughtful people.

For instance, the Southern Baptist Convention has just announced the results of a survey of some 500 Baptist ministers in Louisiana and Florida. On presidential preference, nearly 36 per cent said they would vote for Gov. George Wallace. Richard Nixon gained 44 per cent support.

What is painful of the Christian community—and has historically been the unsolved problem—is the regional aspect of morality. Ministers in New York think that Rocky is just great and pastors in California think that Reagan should have had the nomination. When a personality is given a high "morality" rating, other candidates are considered the enemy and where does this leave his supporters who also consider themselves good church members?

The only way out of the spiritual endorsement business is for the church, through its ministers and spokesmen, to stay with issues that reflect the vital concerns of the people of God. So back to Boyd's question: What do we expect of the church?

The church ought to have a good memory, especially when political parties get sloppy about their own performance. It ought to keep the record straight and read some of the old platitudes to each party and see how they have measured up. What has been promised and what has been delivered?

The religious community should attack the self-righteousness of the political parties. America will probably endure no matter who is elected, so let's not have the oratory that says our crowd is all clean and the other party a bunch of perverts and fools. Every candidate around has reason to be ashamed of many of the practices and attitudes of his supporters. Self-righteousness is out.

The Christian church should be a sharp, searing critic of both parties when they make immodest claims for America—at the expense of the rest of the world. True Christians simply cannot be locked in to the narrow patriotic adventures of any one country. In its finest hour, the United States does not have to put down other countries to exalt its own greatness.

We should expect the church, in a fiery election year, to press for restraint, humility and self-control. Those ground rules, come to think of it, will be needed after the election as well.

Cameron Slates Continuance Of Darkness Series

Rev. Dan B. Cameron, pastor, will preach at both services or worship Sunday at First Baptist Church. He will continue his "After Dark" series at the 11 a.m. morning worship with a sermon on "After Dark a Dream Is Born," with text from Genesis 15:5-6.

Randall Purvis, minister of music, will direct the Chancel Choir in singing the anthem, "Jesus, Name of Wonderful Love," by Titcomb. He will sing a tenor solo, Miss Eloise Lane, organist, has chosen "Jesus, Thou Joy of Loving Hearts" by Baker for the offertory number. "Growing Pains" is the subject the pastor has chosen for his Sunday evening 7 p.m. sermon, with text from Acts 6:1-6. "No One Understands Like Jesus" by Peterson is the selection Miss Lane will play for the organ offertory. The Youth Choir will present special music under the direction of Purvis.

The new Training Union study groups will begin at 6 p.m. this Sunday and will continue for one quarter, according to Roy Kornegay, minister of education. There is still room in some of the classes to enroll. Kornegay said. He urges the adult church members to avail themselves of this opportunity.

The study of First Corinthians will be continued at the 6:15 p.m. Wednesday prayer meeting, under the direction of Rev. Cameron. The fellowship supper precedes the service from 5:30 to 6:15 p.m.

Hager's Topic To Be Charity

"The Meaning of Charity" will be the sermon topic for Rev. Martin Hager, First Presbyterian Church pastor, at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services Sunday.

The Old Testament reading will be taken from Isaiah 55, and the New Testament reading will be taken from I John 2.

"O Lord of Hosts" by Careless-Schreiner will be presented by Mrs. Fidelia Yoder, church organist, as the offertory.

A dance sponsored by the Senior High Fellowship will be held Saturday night at the Gunny Shack at 8:30 p.m. Youth in other churches are invited to attend.

Junior High Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in Fellowship Hall. Senior High Fellowship will meet at 5:30 p.m. in the Youth Lounge of the church.

Choir members are urged to enroll in the new choir program by calling the church office. The Adult Choir is in need of soprano members.

The new Adult Elective Series will start at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Youth Lounge. Rev. Hager will teach the series entitled "The Meaning of Charity."

Americans Beginning To Change Seasons

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
The late John F. Kennedy, who had a keen sense of the historical moment, liked to quote the following passage from the Old Testament book of Ecclesiastes:
"For everything there is a season . . .
"A time to kill, and a time to heal;
"A time to break down, and a time to build up;
"A time to rend, and a time to sew . . ."

If JFK were alive today, he could find many areas of contemporary life to which these words might be applied.

One is U.S. foreign policy. With the exception of a small number of absolute pacifists, Americans accept the necessity of war as a last resort defense against aggression.

Three times in the past 27 years—in World War II, in Korea, and in Vietnam—the nation has faced what its leaders and most of its people regarded as "a time to kill."

Time to Heal
Now, however, there is a great war-weariness in the land. It is reflected not only in boisterous peace demonstrations by alienated youths, but also in the quiet conversations of ordinary folk. If politicians really listen to the voice of the people in this election year, they will hear a great many of them saying:
"The time to kill is past. It is time to heal."

Race relations is another area of American life to which the ancient Hebrew preacher's words may be applied with striking relevance.

For Negroes, the period since 1954 has been a long-overdue "time to break down."

First came the slow (and still incomplete) breakdown of legally enforced segregation in schools and public facilities. Then, the more difficult task of breaking down social and economic barriers and which deny black men access to jobs and housing.

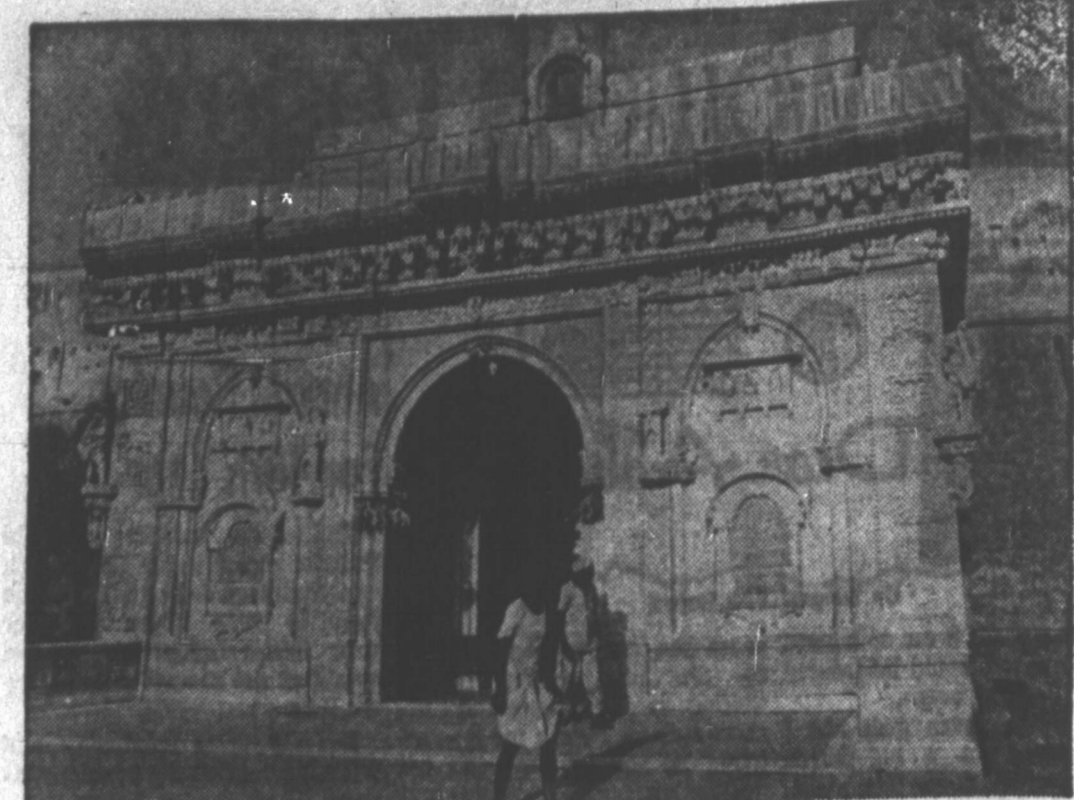

Marked by Violence
Unhappily, the movement toward equal opportunity has been accompanied in recent years by rioting, looting, burning and other violent acts which threaten to break down the fabric of orderly society in big cities.

Perhaps violence was unavoidable to bring the issue to a head, to convince white men of the black man's rage and frustration. Many Negroes and some whites take this view.

But except in the most extreme group of black separatists, the Negro community now seems to be swinging around to the conviction that it is "a time to build up."

The live issues today are how to build up the economic and political power of Negroes, by fostering black-owned business enterprises and by participating in election processes from the precinct level up.

What remains to be seen is how the majority of whites will respond to this opportunity to

Institute Program Religious Reform

By NOEL GROVE
CHICAGO (N E A) — They serve as an instruct in the Ecumenical Institute here, the institute's "spirit movement," aimed at giving new meaning and purpose to established concepts of church and religion. To do this, the institute periodically conducts weekend courses in their theology in 65 cities in the United States and several foreign countries.

Established in 1967 as a research group in theological reform, the Ecumenical Institute first received financial aid from the Chicago Federation of Churches and other religious sources, but is now financially dependent upon contributions of its followers.

Staff includes about 100 full-time workers in the Chicago headquarters, plus cadres or chapters of followers around the United States and beyond.

The headquarters are located on the campus of a former church seminary in the middle of the West Side Negro ghetto. In addition to the theological reform, the institute is involved in an experimental program in ghetto rehabilitation.

The tenets of the institute's theology are enough to shake most fundamentalists to the hem of their choir robes. EI does not hold with an after-life. And the virgin birth it explains as "a gimmick of the time of the Caesars, a Good Housekeeping seal of approval on the conception of anyone important."

The lesson which EI hopes to inject into its weekend students is acceptance—of death, but especially of life. The word that the church has to say about life they say, is that all life is good. And that all associated with it is good because that is a part of life. Therefore hurricanes are good; riots are good; cancer, warts, worn washrags and gnats are good.

Not enjoyable, and avoidable if possible, but good, just as the smell of sweat is not fun but part of participation in sports.

But if life is good, EI adds, living isn't easy. Living is toll and fear, frustration and annoyance. Recognition of this and acceptance of all, therefore become prime virtues.

Once unencumbered by false illusions of what he is and what life is, EI feels, modern man is free to live a life of commitment, to live intentionally, helping to shape and lead history in the way that best benefits mankind.

"History," said one EI staff member, "is like a bunch of kids playing crack the whip. We want the church and the individuals in it at the front of the line giving the direction, instead of being flipped around at the rear."

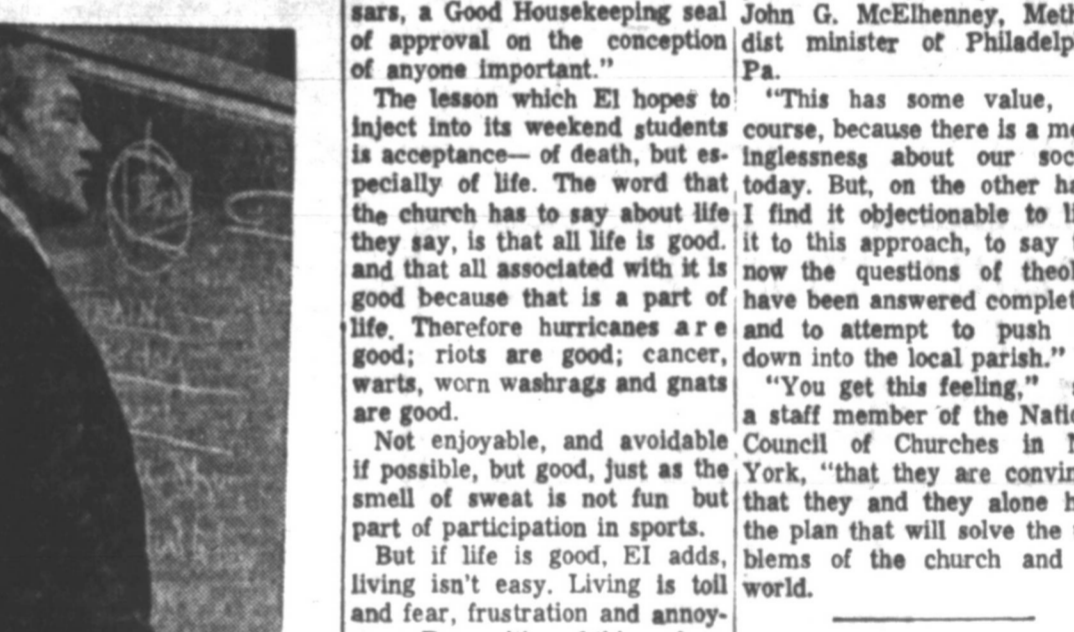

A sort of spiritual fatalism emerges, a dedication to an ethical living of the moment, without promises of reward. The theology of Ecumenical Institute would have modern man setting sail over the sewers of life aboard a raft of integrity.

Curiously, the main objection many churchmen have to the institute's teaching concerns not the message but the method.

The beginning course in EI theology offered on weekends is a masterpiece of timing and presentation, right down to voice inflection and repetition of key words and phrases (you're going to die, going to die, going to die).

Those who come to one of the institute's centers of the course stay on the premises. It's no Sunday School picnic. It's a boot camp of the mind.

A battery of instructors traded off with one skillful, practiced presentation after another. Quickie lectures on the modern,

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Investors' Service expects "somewhat lower stock market prices by November," but maintains that the only important question for investors today is whether or not the market will get lower before it goes higher.

A year from now, today's blue chip level prices "will look like a fisherman's view of the big ones that got away," the firm says.

Winslow, Cohe & Stetson deprecates reliance on the popular stock averages and "the fact that this anachronistic nomenclature has a vast public following to a degree where it demands analysis if not respect."

The firm also believes that "the tide of speculation is rising" and artificial restraints like the Wednesday paperwork holidays are only effective when prices are falling.

Smith, Barney & Co. advises pension funds to "take another look at bond investments and the way of glamor stocks at high multiples."

Some funds may have overreacted from the conservation of the past in going so heavily into common stocks, the firm Quickie lectures on the modern,

Gidden to Speak To Witnesses

Gary Gidden, an associate minister of the Borger congregation, will speak on "A Son Loyal to God — And Those Who Rebelled" at the 10 a.m. service Sunday at the Jehovah's Witnesses congregation at 17th and Coffee Sts.

Gidden will note throughout his talk that the entire Bible focuses attention on Jesus and his part in God's purpose.

He will also emphasize the seriousness of taking right courses so as not to be numbered among those who rebel against God, according to Charles Regal, presiding minister.

This is the third in a series of nine talks to be given at the Kingdom Hall.

The Bible lecture will be followed by the weekly Watchtower Bible study at 11 a.m.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

CHARLES M. SPICER
Pastor — Church of the Nazarene
HOW DO YOU MAKE THE CHOICE?

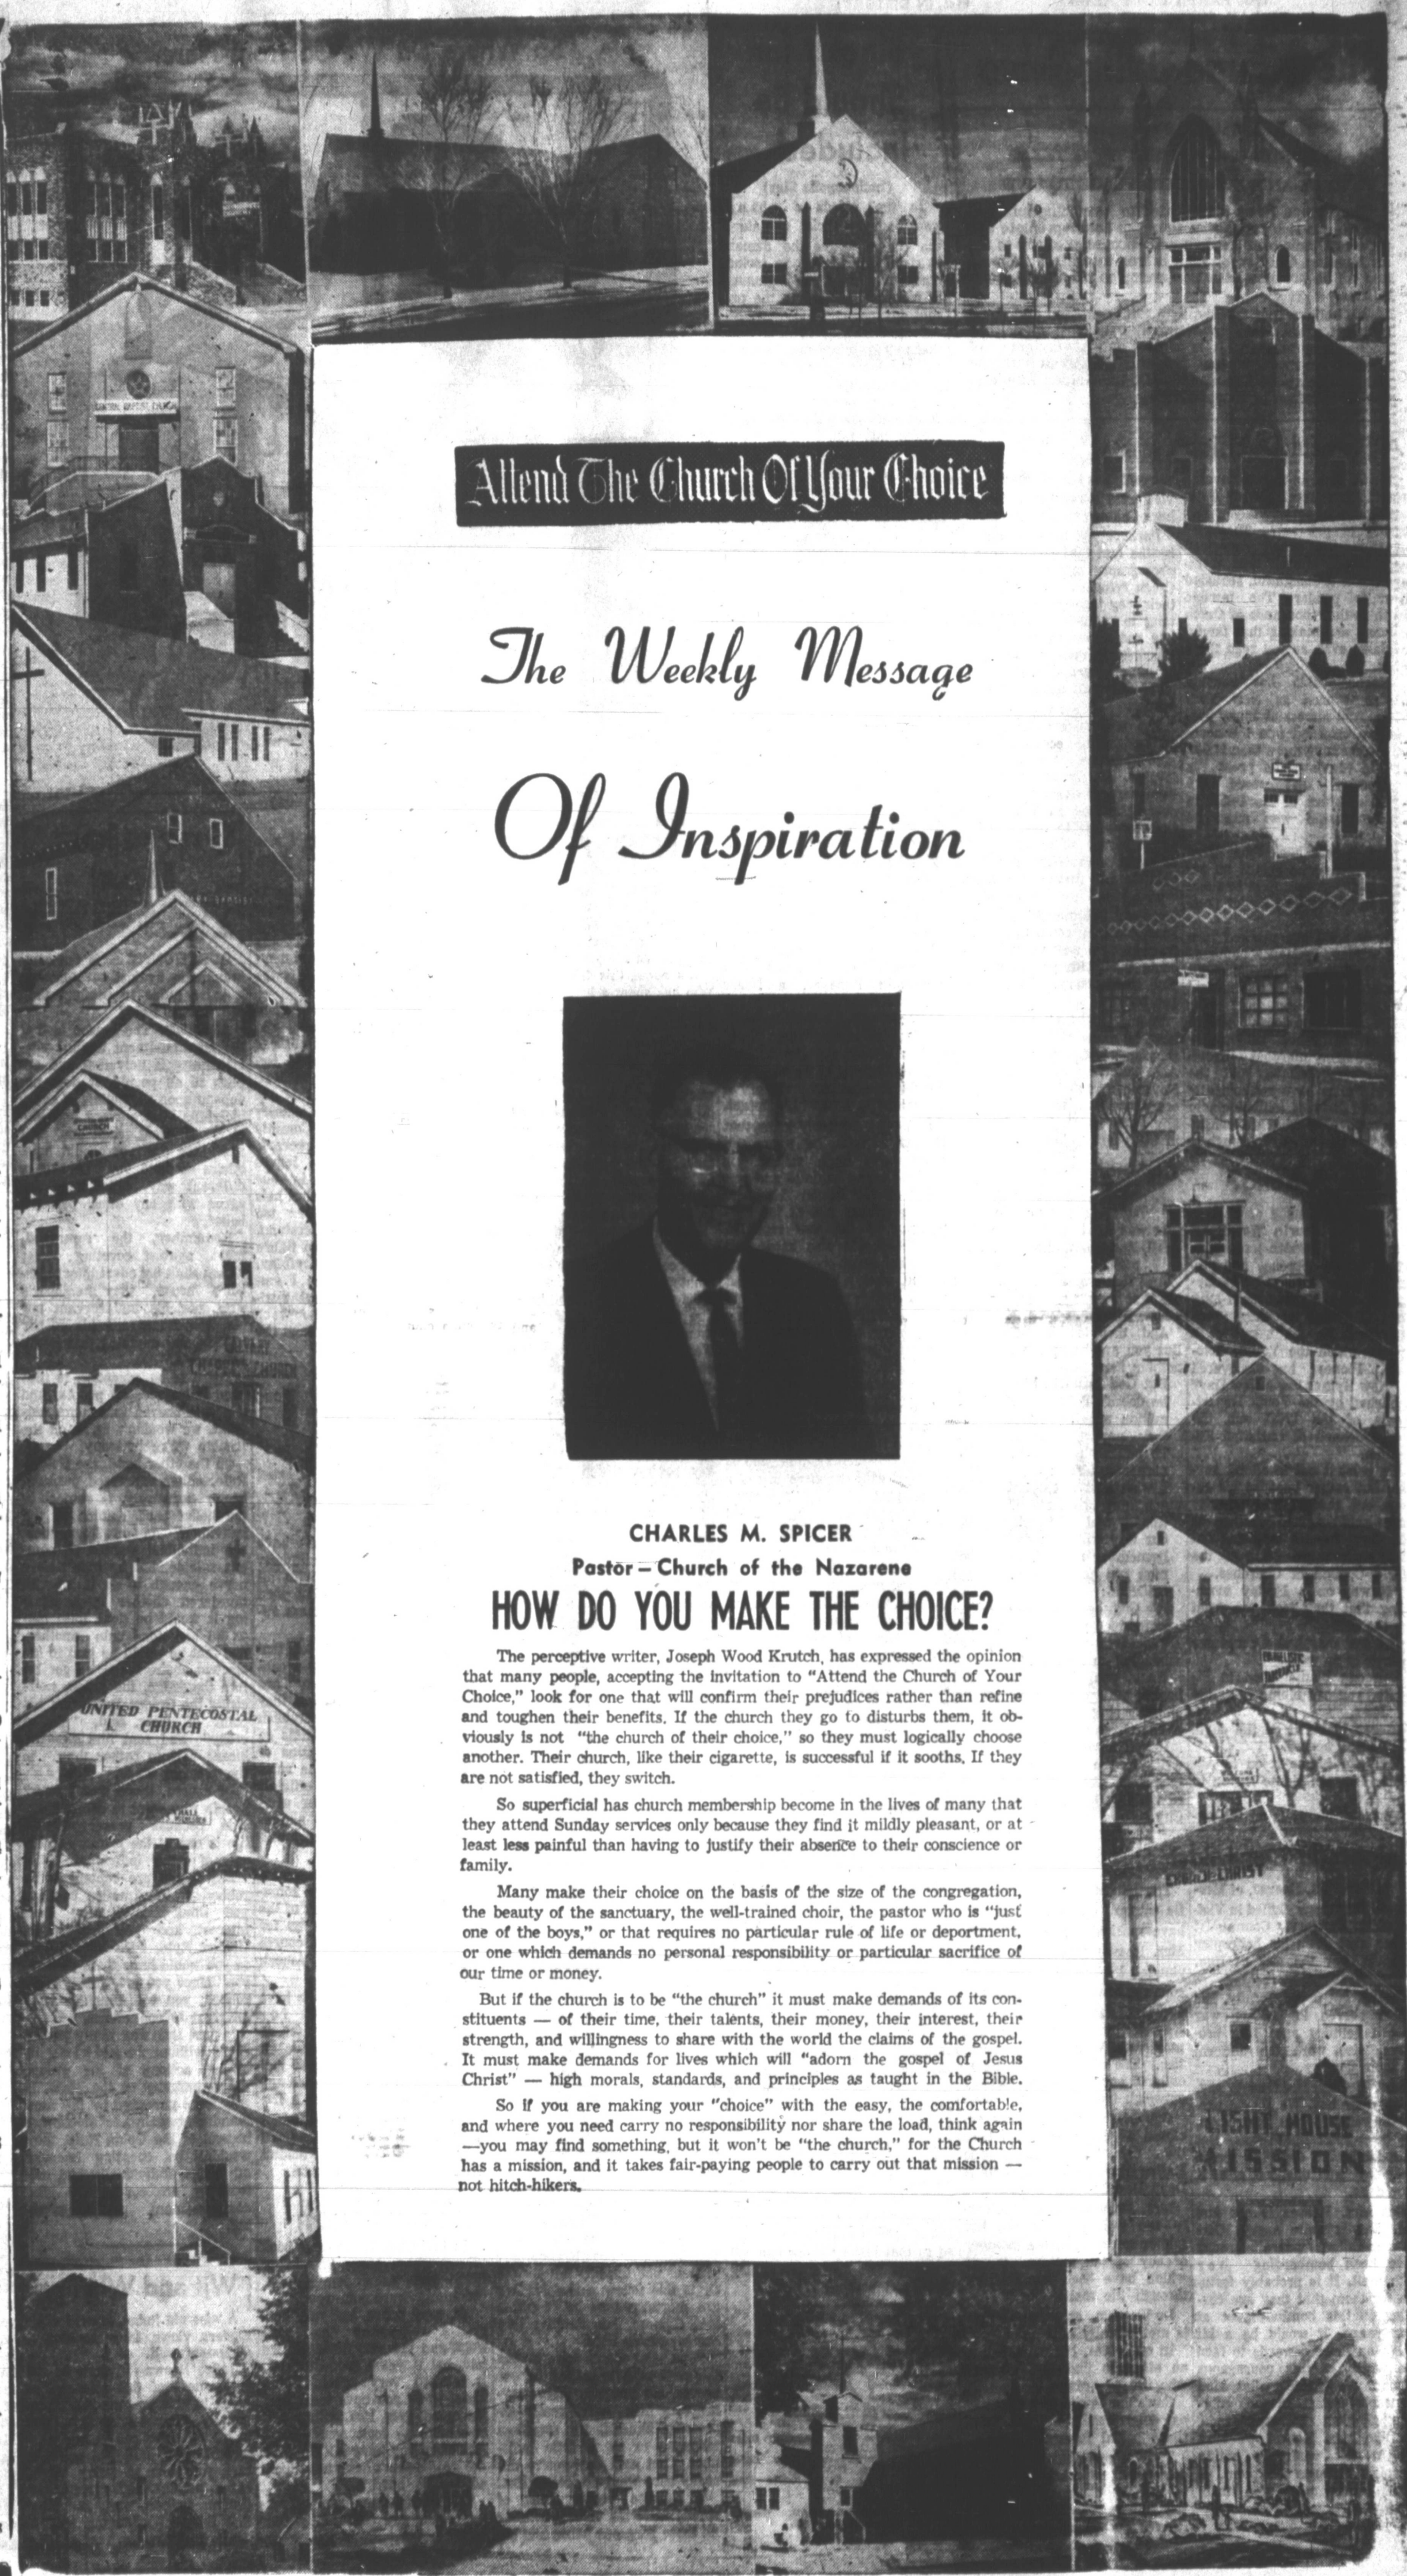

The perceptive writer, Joseph Wood Krutch, has expressed the opinion that many people, accepting the invitation to "Attend the Church of Your Choice," look for one that will confirm their prejudices rather than refine and toughen their benefits. If the church they go to disturbs them, it obviously is not "the church of their choice," so they must logically choose another. Their church, like their cigarette, is successful if it soothes. If they are not satisfied, they switch.

So superficial has church membership become in the lives of many that they attend Sunday services only because they find it mildly pleasant, or at least less painful than having to justify their absence to their conscience or family.

Many make their choice on the basis of the size of the congregation, the beauty of the sanctuary, the well-trained choir, the pastor who is "just one of the boys," or that requires no particular rule of life or deportment, or one which demands no personal responsibility or particular sacrifice of our time or money.

But if the church is to be "the church" it must make demands of its constituents — of their time, their talents, their money, their interest, their strength, and willingness to share with the world the claims of the gospel. It must make demands for lives which will "adorn the gospel of Jesus Christ" — high morals, standards, and principles as taught in the Bible.

So if you are making your "choice" with the easy, the comfortable, and where you need carry no responsibility nor share the load, think again — you may find something, but it won't be "the church," for the Church has a mission, and it takes fair-paying people to carry out that mission — not hitch-hikers.

A Fateful Decision

If you lived in Czechoslovakia would you risk staying in the country, or would you risk trying to get out? That's a question that each American should ask himself and thereupon take a thoughtful, secluded hour to ponder. The terrible truth is that thousands of Czech citizens are making that fateful decision even as you read these lines.

warrant arrest and that the Soviet press is reflecting the number of names on the list. Perhaps you have been struck by the fact that you've seen no photographs of the hundreds of Czech refugees who have made their way through the Iron Curtain, to refugee camps in Austria and elsewhere. Know why? Because the refugees are afraid to be photographed. Each has loved ones still inside the Czech border.

This Is A Song?

The World Council of Churches held its Fourth World Assembly in Sweden recently. Some of the speeches and proposals made there will be echoing around the world for a long time. Shocking as they were none matches the words of a "song" which the Yuma, Colorado, Pioneer has discovered in "New Hymns For a New Day" published by the Youth Department of the WCC and the World Council of Christian Education.

Snipers In Our Midst

Sgt. Harold S. Reeves, of Mercedes, Texas, was killed in Vietnam in January. Communist forces shot down his helicopter gunship over the city of Hue.

The letters from these domestic snipers, unsigned of course, have sparked a reaction from Mrs. Reeves that has been applauded by people all over the country; some letters of encouragement have arrived at the Reeves' household from other mothers of Vietnam war casualties. The letters and phone calls of encouragement already outweigh the hate mail.

Black Man Should Be Included

(Indianapolis Star) In the winds of change sweeping the social climate of the United States the demand is rising for history to include black man from the beginnings of recorded history to the present day.

We feel that there is a real need that "black history" be taught, not as a separate "new" history but included as a factual chronology of what actually occurred and the black man's role. It would be easy to select from history the black heroes and cast them in some superman mold but this would defeat the purpose of truth. If history is to speak at all then it must speak accurately.

QUESTION: Why is the commandment against covetousness a safer guide to conduct than the Golden Rule? ANSWER: The reason is that the commandment against covetousness is universal and applies to all people. It does not depend upon the beliefs of every individual. Doctor Pushes Immunization Against Polio

EDINEBURG, Tex. (UPI)—

In the age of the Salk vaccine, no one should have to worry because of a sugar cube about polio.

Yet, Dr. John R. Copenhaver, director of the Cameron and Hidalgo County departments of health, spends much of his time doing just that. He worries because, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, too many parents are on the wrong side of the sugar cube, and they don't seem to be worrying at all.

A recent survey in Hidalgo County, he said, recently indicated only 50 to 60 per cent of preschool children were satisfactorily immunized against the usually crippling and frequently fatal disease.

Near the end of August—calling the situation "unfortunate and unnecessary"—he called for another anti-polio drive to distribute the vaccine-impregnated sugar cubes among preschool children of the area.

Monday, he said another survey now is underway to determine if anything was accomplished.

Copenhaver said results of the latest count, being taken in Santa Rosa, west of Harlingen, would not be available until the end of the week, but he was pessimistic about the outcome.

"This situation is peculiar to South Texas," he said. "We feel it's primarily because of the large congregation of people in the medium-low income bracket. They seem to be more careless about maintaining family immunizations, and if the survey underway indicates the vaccine program still hasn't taken with them, we're just going to have to do something else. We'll go from door to door if necessary."

There have been 17 confirmed cases of polio this year in Texas. Six of those cases have occurred in Hidalgo County, where one child has died and five have what Copenhaver called "residual paralysis."

Brain Transplants Discounted By Famed Doctor

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Of the human organs only the brain is not transplantable and even if it should become technically possible, it is an "undesirable operation," Sir Peter Medawar, Nobel Prize winner for discoveries now basic in both transplantation and cancer research, says.

The famed English immunologist presided over a symposium on "Current Horizons in Transplantation" that closed the second International Congress of the Transplantation Society of which he is one of the founders.

He considered the brain the seat of the individual personality.

"The world will never be ready for a brain transplant," he said at a press conference preceding the symposium. "It would be a ludicrous procedure. If scientific advances should some day make it possible it would be the transplantation of a body to an organ rather than of an organ to a body."

Otherwise he saw no technical nor moral limitation on the

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The irony of Wednesday night's CBS-TV drama, "From Chekhov, with Love"—about the Russian writer—is that television has virtually destroyed the audience for such a play.

The 90-minute British production was symbolic of almost everything that commercial television is not. "From Chekhov, with Love" was literary and cerebral. Commercial television entertainment is by and large visual and banal. The play was quiet and civilized. Commercial video is, for the most part, noisy and uncouth. "From Chekhov, with Love" stressed intellect and verbal beauty—qualities that do not lend themselves to selling deodorants.

Long, Static Production
So much for the irony, then, and the fact that the play will probably get one of the lowest ratings of the season because the television audience hasn't been much prepared for such items. What we must also admit, alas, is that the production was just far too long, static and eventually tiresome. Television is, after all, a pictorial medium—and while one needn't succumb to it entirely, it is wise to have actors do more than just sit around and talk pretty.

It would have been a brilliant radio show. But I'm afraid that even on educational television the static would be noticed. I mean, you want to give a show like this a terrific writeup, and I'm sure some people will, but exchange of organs and other tissues among people.

"In two years time heart transplantations will no longer be news," he said. "That's the best measure of the assimilation of new methods into general medical practice. Kidney transplants are no longer news now but hundreds and hundreds of persons are alive who would have been dead."

To be sure, technical problems remain to be solved but he saw them as well on the way to solution. Foremost is the one of reliably and lastingly overcoming the body's chemical defenses against "foreign" tissues.

too long is too long, and paralysis is paralysis. Curiously, the paralysis of certain elements of society was a major Chekhov theme, and quite possibly this was a subtle touch on the part of Wednesday's production—but it lacked the master touch in effectiveness.

Acting Admirable
The acting and writing, however, were of rare standards for television. Jonathan Miller adapted and staged the play, which was created with the help of Chekhov's letters and notebooks, and traced his personal and professional life. However, the style of the performances—more in the form of costumed reading and reminiscences by the principal characters—made for a chilly format although obviously intended to be intimate.

Sir John Gielgud, as Chekhov, led an extraordinary cast that included Dame Peggy Ashcroft, Wendy Hiller, Dorothy Tutin, Nigel Davenport (as Maxim Gorki) and Maurice Denham. For the writing, and for the incomparable phrasing of these artists, it was worth sticking out the 90 minutes.

The broadcast delved into Chekhov's literary career, his illness, the women in his life, his family and his travels. It did so on a high plane, dealing with certain matters—such as the frustrations of being a writer—that harder commercial heads would have studiously avoided. For this reason, too, Mr. Miller deserves praise. One only wishes that the structure had allowed the characters to come more fully to life in terms of drama.

'Smoking Machine' Proves Point To Texas Children

By ROLAND LINDSEY
AUSTIN (UPI)—Sam is about the size of any 12-year-old. He has short black hair, a rigid posture, and he smokes a lot. Sam doesn't smoke because he likes it—he does it so other kids can watch the tar and nicotine building up in his lungs. "Smokin Sam" is a manikin belonging to the cancer and heart division of the Texas State Department of Health. He's been a busy young man since the health department acquired him in May to demonstrate to school children and adults how smoking leaves tar and nicotine in the lungs. Miss Evelyn Stanciliff, a health education consultant with the State Health Department, says Smokin Sam is one of the best investments made by the division, which is headed by Dr. Willia. S. Brumage.

Sam's "lungs" are two fruit jars filled with spun glass, connected to his mouth with plastic tubing. The health consultants put a cigarette in Sam's mouth, light it, pump a bulb in the tubing and the manikin draws the smoke into his lungs, then exhales it out his nose.

Wyoming Coach Returns Thirty Lettermen

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Wyoming Coach Lloyd Eaton has termed 1968 as a "rebuilding year" but no one will be too surprised if his Cowboys are still playing football on New Year's Day.

Wyoming, which meets Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, has graduated the entire backfield from the 1967 squad which finished as one of the nation's top 10 teams and played LSU in the Sugar Bowl.

However, the Cowboys, members of the Western Athletic Conference, are returning 30 lettermen, including record-breaking end Gene Huey, and winning has become a habit at the Laramie school which boasts a 20-2 mark over the past two seasons.

The Cornhuskers, under Coach Bob Devaney, will be trying to recapture their winning ways after a mediocre 6-4 season. Nebraska had won four straight Big Eight titles before losing to Oklahoma last season but the Cornhuskers are expected to be back in the thick of the race this time around. They are a one touchdown favorite over Wyoming.

In other games Saturday, Tennessee is a one touchdown favorite over Southeastern Conference rival, Georgia. North Carolina State is a one point pick over Wake Forest, and Houston is rated three touchdowns better than Tulane.

Small college champion San Diego State opens against Texas-Arlington, Buffalo is at Iowa State, Kent State goes to Dayton, Texas-El Paso hosts Santa Barbara, Colorado State is at New Mexico and Parsons is at East Carolina.

Harvesters Open Season At Hereford

Pampa Harvester football team, guided by a new head coach and a "new look" on the gridiron, will open a brand-new season tonight at Hereford, taking on the Whitefaces in a contest to get started at 8 p.m.

Coach "Swede" Lee's charges took the measure of Tulsa's Hornets in a pre-season scrimmage last Saturday night and, encouraged by that taste of victory, are eagerly anticipating tonight's contest.

Hereford is rated third in District I-AAA, behind Perryton and Dumas. The Whitefaces return 14 lettermen and four regulars after posting a 6-4 record last season.

Posting the biggest threats will be tackle Tony Garman, center Jim Loerwald and tailback Elgin Williams.

"Hereford has a big, strong line," Lee said. "They are better than average on offense and they have a good defense."

Probable starters for the Green and Gold will probably be: offense, Phil Long, split end; Jay Johnson, tight end; Johnny Stokes and Chuck Lanehart, tackles; Freddie Balay and Eddy Hopkins, guards; Moss Hampton, center; John Jenkins and Scotty King, halfbacks; Hal Clabaugh, fullback; and Gary Parrish, quarterback.

Defense starters are expected to include Randy Cantrell, monster man; Mike Albus, strong end; Larry Kotara and Mark Watkins, tackles; Marc Ginn and Ray Tindall, guards; Mike Heikel, linebacker; Mike Stephens, weak end; Dan Carlton and Dan Craig, halfbacks and Denny Johnson, safety.

Howard, the massive slugger of the Washington Senators, personally shot down the Orioles with a pair of mighty homers Thursday night, and, in the process, may have delivered the telling blow to Baltimore's fading American League pennant hopes.

Howard's 41st and 42nd homers, which accounted for the first three Washington runs, downed the Orioles 4-1 in the only major league game played. It dropped Baltimore 8½ games behind Detroit and reduced the Tigers' magic number for clinching the pennant to seven.

Dave McNally's 12 game winning streak came to an abrupt end when Howard hit a 465-foot homer in the fourth inning to tie the score 1-1 and repeated in the seventh after Tim Cullen was hit by a pitch.

Howard, enjoying the finest season of his career, all but clinched the AL home run championship. His three runs batted in raised his total to 102, two shy of the 104 compiled by Ken Harellson of the Boston Red Sox.

The 6-foot-7 slugger already has tied the club record of 42 homers established by Roy Sievers in 1957 and equalled by Harmon Killebrew in 1959. Both those records were set with the old Senators, now the Minnesota Twins.

Frank Bertina yielded 12 hits in 7-13 innings but staggered to his sixth victory in 19 decisions with spotless relief help from Dennis Higgins.

Denny McLain is expected to provide the big story this weekend when he tries for consecutive National League victories and-or San Francisco losses to clinch their second crown, may break out the champagne this weekend. The Cards play a three-game series against the last-place Houston Astros while the Giants entertain the third-place Cincinnati Reds.

Cowboys Open Season Sunday

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Will 1968 finally be the year of the Cowboys in the National Football League?

While the answer won't be known for some time, Sunday's opening game between defending Eastern Conference champion Dallas and the Detroit Lions should help indicate whether the Cowboys have recovered from their last minute losses to Green Bay in the 1966 and '67 NFL title games.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose team compiled a 3-3 pre-season mark, expects to have his squad at full strength for the Cotton Bowl meeting with the improved Lions of the Western Conference's Central Division.

That means quarterback Don Meredith, flanker Bob Hayes and the "doomsday defense" are ready to begin the march toward another showdown battle with the favored Packers in the West. Dallas is favored by nine over the Lions.

In other NFL action, Minnesota is a 13½ point favorite over Atlanta in a Saturday night game, while on Sunday, New York is a four point pick over Pittsburgh, Green Bay 17 over Philadelphia, Chicago eight over Washington, Baltimore a question mark 12 over San Francisco and Cleveland 5½ over New Orleans. Los Angeles is four over the Cardinals in a nationally televised game in St. Louis Monday night.

Despite leading Dallas to two "almost" titles, Meredith is often the target of abuse from Cowboy fans. However, the injury prone veteran, who completed 50.2 per-cent of his passes last season for 16 touchdowns, usually turns the jeers to cheers when he connects with Lance Rentzel and Bob Hayes, two of the league's most explosive pass catchers.

Coach Joe Schmidt of Detroit is banking on an improved offense to help out his much abused defensive unit.

JIM BEAM BOURBON—MAKING NEWS SINCE 1795

CLERMONT, KY.—173 years ago Jacob Beam started making Beam Bourbon here in Kentucky. It is still being made here today. And still by the Beams.

Along with inspired skills, the making of a Bourbon like Beam requires an unusual combination of land, climate and natural materials. And it's all here, in north central Kentucky.

There's the ancient, underlying limestone springs that supply sweet, clear water—a vital ingredient in the making of fine Bourbon.

The rich, fertile, surrounding valleys and plains provide the needed corn, rye and barley.

And then there's the grain forests of Kentucky. It's in these woods, from the all-important place, that the Beam family has distilled and bottled for over 173 years, it's the Beams who make Jim Beam. Every glass of today's Beam Bourbon is the best from nature and made here today. It's the same as that was made here today. To David to T. J. Baker and Booker 173 years.

A HELPING HAND

Paul "Daffy" Dean, brother of Dizzy Dean and also a former major league pitcher, is celebrating an anniversary—34 years since he pitched two wins for the St. Louis Cardinals over the Detroit Tigers in the 1934 world series.

These same two clubs will—without the slightest doubt play in the 1968 world series.

Paul is now the athletic director of the University of Plano in Plano, Texas, fifteen miles north of Dallas.

Paul plans to set up a Paul Dean scholarship fund for young athletes—his goal is to start with 50 boys who can develop into fine athletes but have academic problems.

Paul says he has two problems.

1. Reaching potential athletes.
2. Raising the $2,000 a year cost per boy for a years education for room and board.

These young athletes, according to an article in Coronet magazine, may have college ability to learn but are "word blind," difficultly with reading incurred before or during birth.

None of the proposed students are "retarded" in the usual sense and they have excelled in school subjects which required little reading.

At Plano, there are nine professors with doctor's degrees, seven with masters and three with bachelors called a very "good ratio for a small university."

The Coronet article concludes that the small university that now stands on the plains of Texas may well become the world center of a revolution in higher education.

Thousands—millions, perhaps of young people who once had no hope for a college degree can now look forward to one with confidence and courage.

In time, every university will have to have a College of Developmental Education and, for the future, at least, the faculties will come from among the pioneers at Plano.

DIZZY DEAN

This column has never seen Dizzy Dean pitch. Like Satchel Paige, the stories about Paul Dean's brother are legendary.

However, Dizzy Dean is one of the most entertaining men in baseball. He can play the banjo with the best and is one of the wittiest ball players ever to come from the South.

We remember watching Dizzy perform at a baseball game and his audience was "completely stunned by his emcee ability and musical talents."

Everyone knows about Dizzy's ability to "misuse the King's English over the radio and television and he has been criticized for this.

However, don't kid yourself about Dizzy and Paul. There's brains behind "Them thar words."

Coaches Selected To Speak At Clinic

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas High School Coaches' Association today announced the names of four college football coaches who will lead clinics at the 1969 coaching school in Dallas.

Instructors will be John Pont of Indiana University, Lloyd Easton of the University of Wyoming, Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma University and Bobby Dobbs of the University of Texas at El Paso.

Dates for the coaching school are Aug. 3-7, 1969.

News from Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—James Moran, who hatched an ostrich 20 years ago, has come to raid Los Angeles of its greatest art treasure and place it atop a New York skyscraper.
 This is the same lout who sold an ice box to an Eskimo, found a needle in a haystack, painted a cow purple, led a bull into a china shop and attempted to fly midgets on kits as an advertising scheme—and sat on the aforementioned ostrich egg.

His Background
 One must know Moran's background before dealing with him.
 Wearing a scraggly beard and long hair, Moran appeared for all the world like a riverboat gambler with a marked deck.
 He could have sold Willie Sutton the Brooklyn Bridge and thrown in the Lincoln Tunnel for laughs. Moran would rather hoodwink a backward 5-year-old pygmy than make a million dollars.

 That's why his current trip to Hollywood is suspect.
 Moran's idea of Los Angeles' greatest art work is an abominable 18-foot plastic female in a striped bathing suit who once adorned the Sunset Strip, twirling in circles in front of a landmark hotel.
 "That statue advertised the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas," said Moran, sadness clutching his voice. "After 10 years they took her down and threw her in a junk heap.

Salvages Girl
 "But I salvaged the girl, (for $1,500) had her repainted and offer her to the city of Los Angeles as an art exhibit for the courthouse or some similarly appropriate place.
 "She is an important and indigenous art work of southern California—symbolic of Hollywood itself. Yes, she represents Hollywood at its best."

Moran appeared to wipe a tear from his watery blue eyes.
 "Now I plan to take her to New York on a float, pulled by a truck, and put her atop the 110-story World Trade Center which will be the newest and highest building in the world," he said emotionally.
 But so far he hasn't received permission to put the statue anywhere.

OVEREXTENDED
RENO, Nev. (UPI)—John Little's attempt to hit high C on a trumpet ended on a heck of a note.
 He reached for the note during a band concert, blew two cartilage discs out of place in his neck, and finished up in traction at a hospital.
LOSERS CONTEST
LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Granada television said Wednesday

it was holding a contest to find the worst singer in Britain and "anybody who shows a hint of being able to carry a tune will be shown the door."
 The contest trophy is a "golden frog."
