Fortas Test Set Tomorrow In Senate; Defeat Is Seen

Estes Asks Sentence Commutation By US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department indicated today it may be some time before a decision is made on a two-month-old petition by former Texas fertilizer king Billy Sol Estes that his 15-year sentence for fraud be commuted.

A spokesman said Estes filed the petition, which can only be acted upon by the President, last July 29th.

The spokesman said the department sent out requests for recommendation to "various people involved in the case" and some of them have come back. But the spokesman would not say whether they were favorable or unfavorable.

After all the recommendations are in the matter goes before Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who will prepare a general recommendation and give it to the President.

"Only the President can commute the sentence," the spokesman said. "This procedure takes varying lengths of time, but right now we have a heavy backlog of such requests."

Fifteen-year Term
Estes is currently serving a 15-year sentence for mail fraud and conspiracy at a Sandstone-Minn., federal prison.

Estes will be eligible for parole through normal channels on Jan. 17, 1970, when he will have completed a third of the sentence imposed for fraud and conspiracy in a huge West Texas phantom fertilizer tank racket.

Estes is serving a concurrent three-year state term for swindling along with his federal fraud and conspiracy sentence. All other state charges against Estes have been dropped.

Greece Regime Sees 'Mandate' In Sunday Vote

By JOHN RIGOS

ATHENS (UPI) — Premier George Papadopoulos hinted today his Greek military regime interprets Sunday's overwhelming voter approval of a new constitution as a mandate to stay in power indefinitely without elections.

Papadopoulos told a nationwide radio audience the 17-month-old military government would maintain power until "a total, complete productive functioning of all institutions" was completed.

"The meaning and the mandate of the vote is for the government to complete the task of the revolution," he said. "Now begins the second phase of the revolution. It is more important and should be without distractions."

The new constitution reduces King Constantine to a figurehead.

With returns from 7,264 of the nation's 8,108 polling places counted, figures showed 93.9 per cent of Greeks who voted endorsed the new constitution.

Latest figures showed 23.2 per cent of the more than 5.5 million eligible voters abstained despite government warnings they face a year in prison. One man who tried campaigning against the proposed constitution was sentenced to two years in prison last week.

LBJ Withdrawal Of Nomination Rumored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate settled into the final hours of a preliminary filibuster today before its first showdown vote Tuesday on the nomination of Associate Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice.

The first test of Senate sentiment on Fortas was seen as almost certain to go against him. Fortas' opponents claimed enough support to block any attempt to put the nomination formally before the Senate. Needing 34 votes to succeed, they claimed a minimum of 36 if all 100 senators are present for the historic tally at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Some of Fortas' fiercest opponents have yet to be heard from. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., failed to speak during three days of the filibuster last week.

Thurmond was a leader in opposition to Fortas during 12 weeks of Judiciary Committee consideration of the nomination. He centered his opposition on Fortas' opinions in criminal defendant and obscenity cases.

Another vocal critic, Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., also was prepared to deliver a major address against the nominee.

The Republicans are aligned with Southern conservatives Democrats against Fortas and against a move by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield to bring the nomination before the Senate.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, once a Fortas backer, will be of no help in the anti-filibuster vote. He announced last week that he will not vote to break off debate.

Speculation continued on Capitol Hill over the weekend that President Johnson might withdraw the nomination. The reasoning went that he would rather do that than face a humiliating rejection of his choice for chief justice.

Only once before has the Senate turned down a presidential nomination for chief justice—John Rutledge in 1795, appointed by George Washington. Never before has the Senate filibustered against such an appointment.

PERCY AT HEMISFAIR
SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—HemisFair had a big day Sunday logging both its six millionth visitor and a distinguished United States senator from Illinois as the internationally known attraction began the final week of its six month run.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., called the fair "one of the few happy things that has happened this year."

Israeli Offer Is Cited In Jerusalem

By United Press International

Jordanian troops attacked Israeli forces today with rockets and mortars near two villages, an Israeli spokesman said. Political sources in Jerusalem said Israel will offer to give up the vast Arab territories seized in the 1967 Middle East war as a peace proposal.

But an Arab guerrilla organization urged a "holy war to liberate all of Palestine."

Israeli military officials said Jordanian forces shelled the outskirts of Beith-Yosef with mortars and used rockets against Israeli forces at Kfar-Ruppin a short time later. The announcement said there were apparently no casualties.

In Jerusalem informed sources said Israel will go to the (See ISRAELI, Page 3)

On Unfair Campaign Practices

Angry Demos Want Hearing On Charge

By United Press International

Democrats angered today by GOP charges that Hubert Humphrey's campaign chairman violated the fair campaign practices code by referring to Richard Nixon as "tricky Dick" and "evasive Dick," say they want full-scale open hearings held on the matter.

Richard G. Kleindienst, general counsel for the GOP National Committee, said Sunday his party regarded the references by Lawrence F. O'Brien as an attempt to "vilify and defame" Nixon's character.

Kleindienst filed a formal GOP complaint with the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, a nonprofit, nonpartisan body organized to publicize what it considers unfair political tactics. Although the committee has no enforcement powers, the Republicans asked the group to demand that O'Brien retract his statement.

Reacting today to the GOP move, Alvin Spivak, public affairs director for the Democratic National Committee and a Humphrey aide, accused the Republicans of registering "spurious complaints" with the committee in an attempt to use it "as a sounding board."

Spivak said Democratic attorneys would insist that the committee "hold full-scale open hearings so that the public can have a full airing of the question of whether Mr. Nixon is indeed tricky or evasive this year."

Circus Sets One-Day Pampa Appearance

Spokesmen for the big tented Carson - Barnes Combined Circus today officially announced that their famed 4 ring tented circus billed as "America's 2nd largest Circus" will exhibit in Pampa for one day only Tuesday at the Rodeo Grounds for performances at 4 and 8 p.m.

The big show is presenting as its featured star, the celebrated TV hero and star of his own long-time television series on CBS - TV network "Sky King," otherwise known as Kirby Grant. The popular Sky King will appear at all performances of the circus.

The Carson - Barnes Circus, now in its 68th annual nationwide tour of the U. S. and Canada, is considered the 2nd largest of the traveling tented circuses and carries the largest menagerie in America today. The circus spokesman emphasized that it is "A real old traditional - type of 4 ring circus under a real big tent and is the first American Circus to present its performance in 4 rings, making every seat a ring side seat, European style." A special note of interest to circus goers, is that all seats are on a first-come, first-served basis. Early comers will have ringside seats at no additional charge.

The circus advertises the only traveling zoo and menagerie on tour anywhere in America or Canada today with any circus which includes scores of rare wild animals including the largest hippo in captivity, rhinos, zebras, camels, bears, wild jungle cats, apes, monkeys, etc., plus the gigantic herd of performing elephants starring "Joske," the largest elephant on the North American continent.

There will be 24 top circus acts and features in the 1968 all new production which includes Newman's Hollywood Palace Bears, Alfredo Borzelo performing lions, The Plunkett Troupe, Miss Joan Jennier, Sensational Trapeze Ring, formerly featured on Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey, Grubb educated liberty horses and ponies, the Riding Lepensky Troupe along with a full lineup of high wire thrillers, dazzling aerialists. (See CIRCUS, Page 3)

As these events were taking place, Humphrey conferred in Seattle with top level advisers on the problems of Vietnam and opposition from antiwar demonstrators while Nixon, in Miami, made a statement on crime.

Humphrey and his aides devoted much of their time to drafting a "major" foreign policy address for broadcast tonight on national television and radio. The vice president's campaign headquarters in Washington, meanwhile, issued a statement on poverty that said Humphrey pledged himself to "serious and early consideration" of some kind of guaranteed minimum income.

Nixon, ending a restful weekend, in Miami, pledged to establish a cabinet-level crime council and a national police academy to reduce the crime

Green Beret Camp Under Siege

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese soldiers today tightened their siege on the U.S. Green Beret camp at Thuong Duc, battered a relief column trying to break through and hoisted their flag over one of five captured villages nearby.

But the star-shaped camp's 25 U.S. Special Forces defenders and their 300 Vietnamese irregular helpers held out against the 700 Reds despite dwindling supplies and three days without sleep.

Three human wave assaults during the weekend carried the North Vietnamese into the five villages and to within a stone's throw of the Special Forces camp. But with dive bombers and Allied artillery helping, the defenders kept them out of the camp.

Communist artillerymen in the captured villages around Thuong Duc and "Charlie Ridge" overlooking the Green Beret outpost shelled the camp unceasingly. UPI correspondent Raymond Wilkinson reported.

The constant barrages and streams of Communist machine gunfire closed off all air approaches to the camp. Antiaircraft fire downed a helicopter there Sunday and forced reinforcements to march in from a safe chopper landing zone miles away.

Allied commanders dispatched the reinforcements Sunday and the guerrillas were waiting. Before the relief column had gone 1,000 yards through the jungle toward the camp, the Reds opened up. Fire on reinforcements An officer in the relief column said the Communists "would let us pass and then pop up behind us from spider holes and one-man bunkers. Then we began to get fire from the sides." At last report, the reinforcements had not reached the camp.

North Vietnamese soldiers attacked Thuong Duc Saturday, seizing the five villages around the camp 300 miles north of Saigon. They raised their blue and red flag over one village.

U.S. spokesmen said 70 Communists died in the village fighting and another 39 in holding back the relief column. Allied losses, although termed light, were not reported.

"We could throw rocks from our camp and hit the North Vietnamese—they were that close," said an officer from Thuong Duc.

USS New Jersey Blasts Reds First Day On Job

By JACK WALSH

ABOARD USS NEW JERSEY

(UPI)—The battleship USS New Jersey joined the war against North Vietnam today and sent salvo after salvo from her 16-inch guns crashing into Communist target areas with thunderous explosions of orange flame and smoke.

The great battleship, which had lain in mothballs since the Korean War, fired 2,700-pound projectiles into Communist artillery sites, bunkers and antiaircraft batteries a mile above the Demilitarized Zone. In 3 1/2 minutes the New Jersey can equal the destruction of 60 bombing planes.

Fifteen years and 66 days after she fired her last shots of the Korean War, the New Jersey steamed slowly within range of North Vietnamese batteries a mile above the DMZ. At 7:30 a.m. (7:32 p.m.

Sunday EDT) The starboard rifle on the No. 2 turret fired the first shell.

Artillery Sites
Within 90 minutes the New Jersey battered two Communist artillery sites and a third complex of defense positions nine miles inland and seven miles northwest of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

The Navy said the battleship, only one on active service in the world, would use her maximum range of 23 miles later in the day to hit targets farther inland.

The initial target was a North Vietnamese storage area. After the first shot, the battleship's commanding officer, Capt. J. Edward Snyder of Fairfax, Va., waited anxiously by his radio in the fire control shack for a report from a Marine pilot flying above the target.

The first projectile was 300 yards off center, came the report. Three more times the New Jersey fired and the Marine pilot radioed back the supply area was destroyed.

Base Destroyed
He directed the fire against an antiaircraft base which had fired on his plane and within minutes this base was destroyed. Four antiaircraft weapons were blown skyhigh and a string of bunkers was destroyed.

In jubilation the spotter plane streaked within 100 yards of the New Jersey's starboard bow and radioed: "Welcome to the war."

The plane then dipped its wings in salute.

The Marine Corps Skyhawk jet which spotted the first blasts from the New Jersey was piloted by Maj. John Lewis Clark, Jr., 31, of Glendale, Calif. His spotter was Marine Lt. Patrick J. Morocco, 33, of Youngstown, Pa.

The two fliers were brought out by helicopter to the New Jersey shortly after the first mission was completed.

Later in the day, when returning to home base from the battleship, their helicopter was hit by gunfire near Da Nang, but there were no injuries.

Morocco said the first strike by the New Jersey "came in real tight."

And when the battleship fired on the antiaircraft sites "the rounds impacted and we just didn't get any more flak."

Storage Complex
Clark said after the New Jersey's first two rounds bracketed the storage complex the third "came in right on the money," destroying an area 100 yards square.

"I told the controller to scratch it off the target list," he said. "It is not there any more."

Rear Adm. Sam H. Moore, commander of the offshore bombardment task group, said the New Jersey's presence in Vietnam will help save the lives of pilots bombing the North.

"We can hit these targets without the vulnerability of sending in aircraft under unfavorable conditions," he said.

The New Jersey received a report she was being tracked by Communist radar, but there was no fire from batteries on the North Vietnamese coast. A few miles north the U.S. guided missile destroyer Waddell fired two rounds on artillery positions on Tiger Island. Snyder said the escort ship was "laying down suppressive cover—it keeps them too he never realized before that I was cross-eyed, and he did not answer me right away because he didn't know I was talking to him!

I said to him, "Young man, I am not only cross-eyed, I am extremely sensitive about it, but most people spare me embarrassment by not mentioning it, having learned from their mothers when very young that such remarks are rude and unkind."

"Do you think I was justified in answering him that way? Or should I apologize to him just to please my daughter?"

WONDERING: You owe the boorish fellow no apology. He should have thanked you for the lesson.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who's been seeing a very eligible man for nearly two years. I know he thinks a lot of me because I am the only woman he goes with.

During our more intimate moments I have told him I "loved" him, but he has never said "I love you" to me. He has said, "I adore you..." I think the world of you... you are the greatest," but he has yet to say, "I love you." Abby, these are the words a woman wants to hear.

We're not kids. I am 46 and he is 51. I've quit saying, "I love you" to him because I feel foolish when he does not reciprocate. (He says, "actions speak louder than words.")

I'd like to marry this man, Abby. What's wrong with him, and what do you advise me to do?

LOVES HIM
DEAR LOVES: Actions do speak louder than words. And your friend acts like a man who does not want to get involved. The words, "I love you" are a commitment, usually followed by, "will you marry me?" He is shrewdly avoiding a more permanent relationship with you. Lose him, Lady. He will "adore" you for as long as you let him, but I doubt if he's marriage material.

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating this boy for quite a while. I enjoy being with him a lot, but he just doesn't know how to kiss a girl.

It's hard to explain what he does, but after kissing him a few times, my lips are all bruised. Maybe it's because he plays the trumpet. Anyway, I have tried awfully hard to show him how to kiss, but he doesn't catch on.

I'd gladly skip the kissing and just sit around and "cuddle" with him when our friends are making out, but I'm afraid I'll hurt his feelings. What to do?

SORE LIPS
DEAR SORE LIPS: It's either his feelings or your lips. If something must be sore—let it be his feelings.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARY R. IN HERMANN, MO: If your fiancé is serious about wanting to buy you a $7,500 diamond for your navel, tell him I think that's a lot of dough to go into the hole for.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Astrological Forecast
By CARROLL RIGHTER

(FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 1)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: One of those rare days when most everything should sail along like a breeze for there is a benign feeling in the air and most everyone not only wants to get things done but in such a fashion that others are pleased. Be truly cooperative. Therefore, and show you are the one who does value any and all of your allies.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Show associates that you really admire them instead of envying so much. A good day to come to a better understanding with others by removing tensions. Do not forget taxi service when you are in a hurry. Save on gas.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — Get busy with mop and pail and get your home in a most ideal condition. If you communicate more with fellow workers, you will find that you soon are top banana. Stop having such a recalcitrant attitude. CEMENT (May 21 to June 21) — Have peace is a state of mind, so drive straight for it. A big inspiration is your own. Show those who give you a real lift in fundamental affairs that you are grateful. Get rid of that selfish trait you have.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Do not try to go it alone where some big project is concerned but go through with that plan you have made with associates. Keep appointments on time with those who can help you to climb the ladder of success.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — You can quickly gain the favor of those persons who know what you should do to make a bigger success of life. Do so. Show you have good horse sense. Make a big success of your immediate future. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — If you use practical methods you can easily get some aims you have in mind, provided they are of a practical and ethical nature. Out to the social tonight with champagne. Have a whale of a time, but don't retire too late in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) — Anything of a personal nature has a good chance of succeeding for you now. Make your arrangements early for appointment. Showing others that you can lend a helping hand where it is most needed is good, also.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23) — Your finest expression can come through the social today and tonight, so plan early for such. Be with interesting persons only, some very special with you have can be realized quite easily now. Be diplomatic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20) — Take your rightful and active place in the busy, learning world of activity. Stop being so timid. Enhance your reputation through taking part in some big and important venture. Show wisdom, vision.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Ideal day to get ahead in some interest that requires a new attitude or approach, so be active and alert to such. Then be out with new acquaintances who can add much to your present knowledge, culture. Let your motions be free.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Be charming with persons who have done you favors, are indebted, so they are even more amenable later on. It behooves you to spend more time with your male, also. Showing affection and devotion is imperative.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be one of those young people who can charm almost anyone by the sweet and thoughtful ways in this nature, and it behooves you to plant your nursery education along lines that require diplomacy and cooperation with others for greatest success.

One lesson that become obvious during the Paris fall fashion collections was: the lower the neckline, the less likely the model was wearing a bra. Many necklines plunged to the navel or at least to the waist with no support for the bosom other than that provided by nature. The most popular neckline for the newly revived little black dress was a long-slit from a high jewel collar to a tiny belted waist.

Rose Gets NL Bat Title

By AL DALY
UPI Sports Writer
Pete Rose, in a race right down to the wire, won the National League batting title on the final day of the season Sunday, but he had help—a friend in the bleachers with a hot line to Chicago, and some emphatic advice from his roommate Tommy Helms. Rose, who wound up with a .335 mark to .332 for Pittsburgh's Matty Alou, had a double in three trips as the Reds beat San Francisco, 3-0. The hustling second baseman had a buddy stationed in the bleachers getting reports via transistor radio on what Alou was doing in the Pirates game against the Cubs. The reports were encouraging, as Alou was hitless in four at bats and Rose didn't have to press.

'Yaz' Takes It In AL

By GEORGE BUCKLEY
UPI Sports Writer
Carl Yastrzemski removed Elmer Flick's name from the record books Sunday as he won the American League batting title with the lowest winning average in major league history. Yastrzemski finished the season with a .301 average and was the American League's only .300 hitter. Flick had previously held the record as he won the American League title with a .306 average in 1955. Yastrzemski, who won last year's batting title with a .326 average, was batting .303 going into Sunday's season-closing game against the New York Yankees, but his 0 for 5 performance dropped him two points. His closest rival for batting honors was Danny Cater of Oakland, who finished at .290. The Red Sox lost to the Yankees 4-3 as Bill Robinson doubled in the eighth inning, scoring Andy Kosco from second. Rookie Stan Bahnsen picked up the win, giving him a 17-12 record. In other AL action, Washington nipped Detroit, 3-2, Chicago trimmed California, 7-6, and Minnesota shaded Oakland, 4-3. In the National League, Philadelphia trounced New York, 10-3, Cincinnati blanked San Francisco, 3-0, Atlanta edged Los Angeles, 2-1, Chicago trimmed Pittsburgh, 5-4, and St. Louis pounded Houston, 11-1. A ninth inning error by Detroit's Dick McAuliffe allowed pinch-hitter Gary Holman to score from second as the Senators' Barry Moore picked up his fourth win against six losses. Rookie Bill Melton drove in four runs and powered the White Sox past the Angels as Wilbur Wood picked up his 13th win against 12 losses. Rich Rollins' pinch bunt single with the bases loaded gave Minnesota its winning run as starter Jim Merritt earned his 12th victory in 28 decisions.

Kennedy Is Fired By Oakland A's

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Even when you manage a winner for owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics, you'll be fired. Bob Kennedy, the quiet man who piloted the A's to the club's first winning season since 1962, was out of a job today after the unpredictable club owner swung the axe Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum. Hank Bauer, who fell by the wayside as Finley's manager after two ninth place finishes in 1961 and 1962, received a two year contract to pilot the club again and was slated to name his coaching staff today. Bauer was let out as manager of the Baltimore Orioles last July 11 and replaced by Coach Earl Weaver. Kennedy has a two year pact with Oakland and was offered another spot in the organization. The manager met briefly with Finley after Sunday's 4-3 loss to Minnesota and left the park before the owner announced the firing and hiring in a printed statement handed out to the press. Thus, the World War II combat pilot was dropped although the Athletics posted their best record since 1952 when they won 79 and lost 75 for Jimmie Dykes at Philadelphia. The team never finished at the .500 mark again until this year when it ended the campaign at 82-80. Finley now has sacked eight managers in his eight years of owning the A's.

Betsy Rawls In 1st Win Since '65

FALLBROOK, Calif. (UPI)—Betsy Rawls had her first victory since 1965 today—a come-from-behind win in the Mickey Wright Invitational. "I was beginning to wonder if I'd ever win another tournament," the 40-year-old gold professional from S.C., sighed after shooting a four-under-par 68 Sunday for a 54-hole total of 208. Miss Rawls' eight-under-par total was worth top prize money of $2,025 and allowed her to finish four shots ahead of Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Haynie.

TCU And Arkansas To Collide Saturday

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer
It has been 10 years since Texas Christian has managed to beat the Arkansas Razorbacks, but if they can shatter that deathlock Saturday night, the hard-running Frogs will climb alongside surprising Texas Tech at the top of the Southwest Conference. The Frogs appear to have one of the best chances in several seasons to turn the trick in the wake of the grinding 28-17 victory over Iowa last week, but Arkansas was also very impressive with a 56-13 rout of Tulsa. The TCU-Arkansas clash at Fort Worth marks the second straight week that a lone league game has highlighted an otherwise all-intersectional schedule. Texas Tech, which stunned Texas 31-22 in last week's title opener, hosts Colorado State, humbled Texas hosts Oklahoma State.

Vince Lombardi, Were Have You Gone? Asks GB

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
"Vince Lombardi, where have you gone?" "Green Bay turns its lonely eyes to you." Those aren't exactly the Simon and Gartner lyrics but it has to be the refrain of the moment in Green Bay where Lombardi's National Football League dynasty seems to be in the danger of crumbling. Lombardi kicked himself upstairs at the end of last season with the cry, "the history of the Green Bay Packers is in the future." But right now it seems to be in the past. The Packers lost their second straight game and slipped to third place in the Central Division with a 1-3 record Sunday when they were beaten by the Detroit Lions, 23-17.

Munson Sparks Lions
The brilliant passing of Bill Munson, the running of Mel Farr and three interceptions by Lem Barney paced the Lions to their upset victory. Munson completed 15 of 22 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns. Both passes went to flanker Billy Campbell, including one with less than two minutes left in the game that snapped a 17-17 tie. While the Packers were losing their second game, the Los Angeles Rams, Baltimore Colts and Dallas Cowboys—all eager to dethrone the Packers—boosted their records to 3-0. One surprising team, the New York Giants, did the same. Baltimore drubbed Pittsburgh, 41-7, and Los Angeles topped Cleveland, 24-6, as the Colts and Rams remained tied for first in the Coastal Division. Dallas whipped Philadelphia, 45-13, and New York routed Washington, 48-21, as those clubs remained tied for first in the Capitol Division. In the other three games, Chicago stunned Minnesota, 27-17, St. Louis nipped New Orleans, 21-20, and San Francisco turned back Atlanta, 28-13. Baltimore ran back three interceptions for touchdowns and Earl Morrall threw for one TD and set up three others as the Colts manhandled Pittsburgh, 41-7. Bob Boyd, Charlie Stukes and Roy Hilton ran back the interceptions. Tom Mack's pass interception and Diron Talbert's fumble recovery set up 10 points in the first period and the Rams then coasted past Cleveland. Dick Bass gained 134 yards in 23 carries and Tom Mason scored two TDs for the Rams. Meredith Scores Five Don Meredith tossed five touchdown passes for the third time in his career as the Cowboys whipped the Eagles.

Rodriguez Wins Le Mans Race

LE MANS, France (UPI)—Mexican Pedro Rodriguez, a last-minute substitution for Jackie Ickx, teamed with Lucien Bianchi of Belgium Sunday to win the 24-hour Le Mans sports car race. Rodriguez and Bianchi drove their Ford GT at an average speed of 115.2 miles per hour as they covered 2,766.85 miles. Dieter Spoerri of Switzerland and Rico Steimanns of Germany were second and the German duo of Rols Stommelen and Jochem Neerpasch was third. Both teams drove Porches.

CAREER RUSHING MARK—West Texas State's Eugene "Mercury" Morris threatens to post a Buffalo career rushing mark that may withstand decades of assault. Morris romped for 181 yards in the Buff 23-7 win over University of Pacific Saturday night to boost his career mark to 2,534 yards with the season still young. He bested the old school mark of 2,474 yards set by Bill Cross of Canadian in 1947-50.

Al Kaline Will Start In Right Field For Tigers In World Series Opener

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Manager Mayo Smith has made official what could turn out to be one of the most controversial moves ever made in a world series. Smith Sunday named Mickey Stanley, his regular center fielder for most of the season, as his starting shortstop in baseball's classic showdown against the St. Louis Cardinals starting Wednesday. "If I didn't feel he could do the job, I sure as hell wouldn't have made this decision," said Smith, who season-long has avoided controversy while piloting the Tigers to their first American League title since 1945. The move has to be the most shocking player switch ever to be made in the World Series—even if it doesn't last beyond the first game, Oct. 2—and leaves Smith wide open for target practice by baseball fans and sportswriters if the daring gamble to squeeze an extra bat into the Detroit lineup backfires. Stanley's major league experience at shortstop is limited to eight games, including the last six after the Tigers clinched the pennant. He has turned two double plays and made two errors. Smith's bold move enables him to insert Al Kaline, who had been riding the bench lately after going 15 seasons without playing on a flag winner, in right field and shift Jim Northrup to center. "This is not a sentimental gesture to get Kaline in the lineup," said Smith, who also said Stanley would be back in center next year. "We're out to win this thing and by putting an extra bat in the lineup we think we can do it."

DAVIS PREPARATION

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Complete Disarmament

In the first few days after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia the chief lament in Washington seemed to be that the Washington-Moscow "disarmament talks" had been put in jeopardy. Perhaps it is timely to inspect that prospect.

In September, 1961, the State Department issued a document entitled Publication 7177, "Freedom From War. The United States Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World." President Kennedy presented the program to the United Nations General Assembly. Since the spring of 1962 an 18-nation committee has been meeting in Geneva for the purpose of implementing the plan.

The third and final stage of the program provides: "States would retain only those forces, non-nuclear armaments, and establishments required for the purpose of maintaining internal order; they would also support and provide agreed man power for a U.N. Peace Force." It will be remembered that such a force operated in the Congo. After four bloody years it withdrew, leaving chaos behind. And thereupon, U Thant reported that the U.N. had learned there, "that the Congolese, in education, training and experience, and even in their understanding of the

Freedom and Prosperity

Surely, it is argued by the political reactionaries, the government, with its power to tax and compel people to conform, can operate more efficiently than the voluntary market place where, on really large projects, the individual consent of literally thousands or even millions of people would have to be obtained before the project could even get off the ground.

The primary objection to the proposal, of course, must be on moral grounds. It is a sanction of theft, albeit camouflaged under the cloak of legality, and a blatant rejection of the concept of human freedom itself. Once accepted, there is no logical stopping place short of total regimentation under a master-slave regime.

But, aside from all moral objections and considering the material economic implications of the proposal alone, is there any truth at all in the claim? Yes, in all candor, one must admit that there is. Without doubt the government, by the use of fast tax confiscations and massive use of coercion and force, can do something quicker than the voluntary way can accomplish them; as a matter of fact, the government, via the use of such devices, can and does do things which free men, acting in voluntary cooperation and with their own funds, would never attempt. The building of pyramids and the manufacture of nuclear bombs, for example, come immediately to mind.

But who, one must also ask, wants a private pyramid in his own backyard? And who, in a free world in which posturing, preening, threatening political establishments had been abandoned, would need or want a nuclear bomb? But the matter goes even deeper. Before anything, large or small, is ever accomplished there must first come the idea. And it is precisely here, if for no other reason, that the free and concept of nationhood, were unprepared to assume the responsibilities of independence.

The first stage of the disarmament program provided for the reduction of delivery vehicles for nuclear weapons. In October, 1962, our planes established that the Soviet Union was installing nuclear weapons in Cuba. Regarding the famous negotiations which followed, the September, 1968, Reader's Digest quotes Khrushchev as saying: "I regard with respect and trust the statement you make... that there would be no attack, no invasion of Cuba. Thus was nullified the Monroe Doctrine which had denied European nations a foothold in the Western Hemisphere for 139 years.

More recently, when the U.N. Security Council tried to condemn the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, the Soviet Union cast its 16th veto. Those who set great store by the disarmament talks would do well to read again Woodrow Wilson's prophetic exhortation to the League of Nations: "A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it, or observe its covenants."

voluntary way, the market place way, leaves the political, the coercive, the regimented way at the starting gate. Why? The answer is amazingly simple.

In a free society, there are as many possible sources of creative, innovative, productive ideas as there are people. In a totally free world these sources and wellsprings of prosperity would number at present, some three billion. And the competitive process, were it permitted to function without let or hindrance, would insure that the best of these ideas, as decided by the consuming public at large, would succeed.

Whereas, on the other hand, in a regimented society where what is to be attempted and what is to be permitted to succeed is decided and ruled upon by the political establishment, these sources of ideas are restricted to the minds of a relatively few bureaucrats in authoritative positions who, to say the most for them, are not noted for their creativity.

Proof? The world abounds with it. Look around you. Make use of your mind. Examine the various areas of the globe and note that, where the greatest degree of individual freedom prevails there, too, invariably the greatest degree of prosperity will be found.

In point of fact, when the government taxes the people and resorts to other uses of force, it is not pretty positive proof of fear in the minds of the bureaucrats that the people, if left free to choose, would not support the project for which the stolen tax funds are used? Every tax dollar spent by the government for any purpose is a dollar less left in the hands of those who earned it to spend as they would wish.

The coercive "solution," claiming falsely to be carrying out "thou wilt of thuh peepul," indicts itself.

A thought for the day-- American playwright Louis Kaufman Anspacher, once said: "Marriage is that relation between man and woman in which the independence is equal, the dependence mutual, and the obligation reciprocal."

TAXPAYER SHOULD BAN PUBLIC EMPLOYE UNIONS (Southern States Bulletin)

One thing this country doesn't need is more problems. Among those now threatening its stability is the alarming growth of unionism in the ranks of public employes.

It won't do any good to brand critics of this trend as being conservatives, reactionaries or obstructionists. For once, there is going to be a common cause among a lot of people. Liberal and conservative, black and white — and the only thing they may have in common is resentment over soaring taxes. Regardless of the amount paid by each, that amount is going to grow even faster. Let's take a look at just a few recent events.

At this moment, school teachers are on strike in New York. Sanitation workers have been hitting the bricks in Atlanta. Memphis continues to have trouble with its refuse collectors. In another Southern city we read that "Striking teachers today voted to accept the county court's tax increase proposal." The teachers originally had demanded a $1 property tax increase. From this same community comes word that "Unions supporting the city policemen and street workers are planning another labor sympathy march on the downtown business district." "An organized labor spokesman explained the purpose of the union boycott of local merchants with the words, "...they would be the most effective people to call upon the mayor and city council..." They would, we assume, be expected to urge capitulation to whatever outlandish demands might be made by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

How about our federal employes? Here's another shocker. The press informs us that "The militant unionism embraced by state and city employees across the country is spreading to thousands of federal workers, bringing with it the danger of wildcat postal strikes." How's that again? Didn't Congress restore the Post Office budget cut to a healthy size to keep the boys happy? (Forget about the promised federal economic program in exchange for passage of the surtax.)

From another source we learn that one Mr. Sam Zagoria, a member of the National Labor Relations Board, said (and probably with great delight) that public employes unions are growing at the rate of 1,000 members every working day. To further goad the nerves of the non-public service, taxpayer wage earner, the "no strike" policy clauses have been voted for elimination from the constitutions of the International Association of Fire Fighters, the United Federation of Postal Clerks and the National Postal Union.

When public employes strike, they don't strike against a conventional employer, nor do they strike against the mayor, the governor, nor the President. They strike against the welfare of every citizen in the community, the state and the nation. We — you and I — are the employer of these people. The usual factors in collective bargaining are not present when public servants strike, or threaten to strike. The increased costs can't, like those of a manufactured product or non-governmental service — be passed on to the consumer who buys or uses the product or service. The costs of government at any level can be met only by taxes imposed upon the citizenry.

Such wage demands aren't based upon any economic rationalization. A blustering labor leader tells the community what it must pay to get the garbage picked up, the schools open, or the fire and police departments back on the job. Public service should be a privilege, not a vested right. Unions don't belong on public payrolls.

Thoughts while shaving: This year's Presidential campaign will cost close to a billion dollars by the time the votes are counted in November. And that shows you how we've progressed in spending money on elections since the good old days. Back in 1920 — before radio and TV became a factor in campaigning — the Democrats charged that $5 million had been spent to elect Warren G. Harding to the Presidency. Today that would be considered peanuts. And speaking of things political reminds us that the greatest benefactor of both parties was that unsung genius, with plenty of imagination who invented the $100-a-plate dinner. He was the best friend of all political fund raisers who followed. An impartial study by the Stanford University Research Institute of the riots in Detroit, and Newark, New Jersey, last year showed very little use of firearms in either place. Only seven of the 1500 arrested in Newark and 26 of the 7000 arrested in Detroit were suspected of sniping. Here's a geographical puzzle: Rose Hill, a small town in Virginia, is so situated that it is nearer the capitals of eight other states than it is to Richmond, the capital of its own state. Look at your map and see for yourself. The U.S. Army, that once prided itself on the thousands of horsemen who made up the dashing cavalry now owns only 22 horses. One spends its life munching

Here's the reason champagne is used to launch a ship in ancient times it was believed that human blood splashed on a ship before she entered the water would prevent human blood from ever being shed on the ship. Later that sacrificial custom was modified and red wine was used instead. In the last 100 years the launching of a ship was regarded more in the light of a celebration and champagne was substituted for the red wine. Besides, the bubbly stuff is always served at christenings.

Today's smile: A gent was in court to answer charges of slugging his wife and the judge asked: "Please tell the court what passed between you and your wife before you struck her." The husband said: "A flat iron, a rolling pin, three cups and saucers, five plates and a teakettle."

President Johnson recently signed into law a bill that permits the reproduction of U.S. postage stamps. Soon afterward some housewives and manufacturers thought it would be a good idea to market some nifty designs in wallpaper and fabrics with a postage stamp motif. Uncle Sam's Treasury Department said nothing doing. The new law confines reproduction for use only for educational, historical, newsworthy or philatelic purposes only. So your wife's idea of covering the walls and your easy chair with postage stamps just won't happen.

Given land, human energy, tools, and the maximum freedom, we'd certainly have almost continuous growth.

On this day in history: In 1846, Dr. William Morton, a dentist in Charleston, Mass., extracted a tooth for the first time with the help of an anesthetic, ether.

In 1938, Germany, France, Britain and Italy met in Munich for a conference which British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, said promised "peace in our time." The "peace" lasted exactly 337 days.

In 1953, President Eisenhower appointed California Gov. Earl Warren Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. In 1962, two persons were killed during riots marking the integration of the University of Mississippi.

It's Up To You

Hanoi's Trickery

Hanoi demands not only the cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam, but the withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam. At the same time she refuses to reciprocate by stopping or even slowing the movement of men and supplies from the North to the South.

For our country to stop the bombing, not to mention the withdrawal of troops, would be equivalent to defeat. If we allow the Communists to move more men and more goods into South Vietnam, we are making our position untenable. The fact is that the war has not been won up to this date because this constant movement of men and goods southward through the neutral territory of Laos and Cambodia has made it impossible for us to destroy the enemy. Sanctuary along a 600-mile border with Cambodia, Laos and the Line of Demarcation, from which the enemy could operate with immunity, has made it possible for him to survive. He can strike at South Vietnam, inflict terrible punishment and then retreat to sanctuary just a few miles distant.

In like manner, during the negotiations with the North Vietnamese in Laos in 1961-62, we agreed and carried out, our promise to evacuate troops from that country. The North Vietnamese, on the other hand, sent out merely a small portion of their army as a token, and the others remained in Laos. At the same time, they denied that Vietnamese soldiers remained in Laos, just as they now deny that North Vietnamese soldiers are in South Vietnam.

Even though an agreement were made to evacuate South Vietnam by the American forces and the North Vietnamese forces, we may be sure that the Communists would not keep their agreement, even though our forces were withdrawn. Trickery and deception are accepted tools which the Communists use in all their negotiations with foreign powers. Our country has had enough experience with the Communists to know they cannot be trusted. Surely we will not again lower our guard and give them a fatal advantage over us.

How can a withdrawal of North Vietnamese divisions, in return for withdrawal of American divisions, be carried out when Hanoi will not even admit having any divisions in the South? If I refuse to win the war in South Vietnam, as we appear to be doing, there is no prospect but defeat. To be sure our defeat might be concealed in some sort of face-saving arrangement, but it would amount to no more than a temporary postponement of the Communist takeover of that country.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON

Where There's No Will... Obviously planned in meticulous detail far ahead. Why don't we have a congressional investigation to determine whether our government led to us in saying that we did not know the invasion was imminent? Was it a failure of our "Intelligence" or a failure of our integrity? Whose side are our leaders on?

The invaders have received no punishment — haven't even been barred from the Olympic games. But our friend South Africa was barred from the Olympics, even after she agreed to integrate her team. Again the super crime today is not murder but racism. Murder by the millions is even acceptable (Russia and China) if done without regard to race, color or religion.

Unless there is a complete shake-up in our leadership, top to bottom we will continue "bridges of friendship" to Russia, and our boycott of Rhodesia. Russia has conquered and holds a subject over not only Czechoslovakia but Rumania, Bulgaria, Poland, E. Germany, Hungary, Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania — with our blessings, assent and assistance.

The Czechs bitterly resent the Russians, but not without grim humor, like this graffiti, reportedly seen in one of Prague's main squares, scribbled in a psychedelic heart; "Ivan, go home — Natasha has a sex problem."

Russia has relentlessly bled us, as our "ally" during World War II and as our demonstrable enemy ever since. Russia caused "Korea," "Cuba" and "Vietnam." Russia has caused us to deploy hundreds of thousands of men and billions of dollars in expenditures across the globe. Meantime, the Soviet Union has never openly engaged in a single war. More than any other one thing — including race — Russia is the reason for our coming Civil War II now getting under way. And the Soviet Union couldn't possibly have done it without the help of our "liberals."

The occupation of Czechoslovakia is probably permanent, and we will do nothing about it, since our "foreign policy" is predicated on a two-tower (Russia and America) sharing of the world, with each doing as it sees fit in its own sphere. And then, someday, when the "bridges of friendship" have been completed and the Russians have fully "mellowed," our leaders plan a comfortable merger in a one world, classless society, with Russia. No more wars! And no more freedom. Of course, that will come only after our own Civil War, so don't register your guns, folks. You'll need them.

Our "Pueblo" strategy is the same as our Korean, Cuban, East German, Chinese and Czechoslovakian — to compromise and surrender. The strategy is, to lose. We have never won any war against any Communist nation.

Why is it that the only wars we have ever failed to win have been wars against Communist opponents? We failed to win in Korea for the same reason we're failing to win in Vietnam: We lack the will to defeat the Communists. Why? Because some of our top government people, Big Businessmen, unionists, educators and communicators are actually pro-Communist.
