Mayor Nation declared this week of Pampa's "Bundles for Babies" to help South Vietnamese orphans. Several groups of young adults and teenagers are sponsoring the project. (See story, page one.)

WIFE OF ADY'S WILLMOTH

CANADIAN (Sp) — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Willmoth, 67, of the Grey Community near Canadian, wife of the late Grover Willmoth, died in Shattuck hospital Monday.

She was born Feb. 24, 1899, in Ontario, Canada. She had lived on a General Land Office farm several years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Joseph's Hospital Church with Rev. Robert J. O'Connell, pastor officiating. Burial will be in the Prairie Dell Cemetery, directed by Suckley Funeral Home, Canadian.

Survivors are three sons, William Willmoth, Canadian; Herman Willmoth, Harrison; and Sylvester Reed, Cleburne; four daughters, Mrs. Ann Garrison, Houston; Mrs. Wilhelmine Powell, Kiefer, Colo.; Mrs. Pat Harlow, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Mrs. Julia Beckman, Durango, Okla.; three brothers, Ed, Harry, and Archie, Kansas; and Howard Harlow, Richmond, Va.

Circus In Pampa Today

Performances of the Carson and Sons combined Circus are scheduled for 7 and 8 p.m. today only on the rodeo grounds east of the city.

Titled as "America's Second Largest Circus," this 300-cent show will feature the star of the television series "Sky King" — Kirby Grant.

A circus spokesman said the circus is a "real old-fashioned traditional circus with four circuses under one big tent — including a big ring and a ring-side seat."

All seats are sold on a first-come, first-served basis, the spokesman said.

Other features of the show will be a traveling zoo and a variety of animals, including the "largest hippo in existence," rhinos, zebras, camels, bears, wild jungle cats, apes, monkeys, plus, of course, performing elephants.

Twenty-four acts are featured.

Work Started On Deer Creek Trail

Work was started this morning in Central park preparing for the trail for the Deer Creek Trail that will extend westward from the park beyond N. Nelson St.

City Manager Charles Hill said the engineering work and supervision is being done by the city for the trail walkway made possible through a $6,000 contribution from the Gray-Pampa Foundation.

Benches along the trail also will be contributed by the Foundation, Hill stated.

The Pampa Garden Club will be in charge of a beautification program in connection with the project. The more than a mile-and-a-quarter long trail will be paved with asphalt on its entire 6,300-foot length parallel to Red Deer Creek and from Central Park to west of N. Nelson.

Prowler Chased

A prowler in the 900 block of E. Sixth St. last night made a hasty departure after he was chased by a man and, later, a from Central Park to west of N. Nelson.

Putting-you-firsts:

(A quick tour of some of the thoughtful new features the 1969 Chevrolets offer that other cars in Chevrolet's field don't.)

Headlight washers
You push the windshield washer knob and hold it, and what happens? Your headlights come clean. Fluid is diverted to two jet nozzles at each light lens. (Outer lights only on duals.)
The spray is strong. It removes up to 1/8" of accumulated dirt.
The feature is standard on 1969 Corvettes.
It comes with the hidden headlights available on Camaro, Caprice, and Kingswood Estate Wagons.
It is available on all other models except Corvair.
Be the first on your block.

Heated glass
In a moment your rear window will melt frost.
Because we've built onto it a network of very ceramic strips capable of heating the entire surface.
Fog and frost disappear quickly and easily.
You just flick a switch.
The heated rear window is available on the 1969 Caprice Coupe and Impala Custom Coupe.

Pushbutton tire chains
This is ingenious, if we do say so ourselves.
You press a button on the instrument panel and the rear tires get a shot of liquid tire chain.
You spin your wheels once, wait a moment, and you're off—with traction you wouldn't believe possible on slick ice, or packed snow.

A pressurized container sits up under each rear wheelhousing, and holds about 15 applications.
Which could get you through several winters in some parts of the country. (Several weeks in others.)
Available on all 1969 big Chevrolets.

Steering wheel lock
When you own a car as desirable as the 1969 Chevrolet, you don't take chances. When you leave it, you lock it. Not just the doors.
You lock the ignition, steering wheel and transmission lever, too.
Our new lock on the steering column takes care of all that.
So even if somebody manages to break in and cross the wires, he'll have a hard time going anywhere.
Standard on all 1969 Chevrolets, Chevelles, Chevy Novas, Camaros and Corvettes.
Sorry, car thieves.

Power steering plus
The 1969 Caprice, Impala and Camaro are available with a new type of power steering.
Variable-ratio power steering.
What it does is give you faster steering with fewer turns of the wheel.
And with no increase in effort on your part.

(And without giving up that nice firm feel on straightaways.)
Variable-ratio power steering is particularly helpful in short, full turns.
And parking becomes unbelievably easy.
You'll see.

Walk-in wagons
The tailgate swings open like a door on most of our 1969 station wagons. Which in itself is no big deal. But wait, there's more.
We've built a concealed step into the rear bumper.
You simply step up, over, and in. (The way we build our wagons, you can do it without bumping your head, and without acrobatics.)
Walk into a wagon soon at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of myself I hardly know how to start this letter. I am 28 years old and have a good husband and three sweet children. We recently moved to a small town where my husband bought a business. For the first time since my marriage I found myself attracted to another man.

Last night I made an excuse to get out of the house to meet this man, and Abby, I made a terrible mistake with him. He is one of my husband's best customers. It wasn't worth it. I get sick to my stomach every time I think of what I did.

This man's wife has invited us over and my husband would like to socialize with them. What am I going to do? What excuse can I give? I don't care to see this man again.

My husband would die if he ever found out. I am (or was) a good Christian woman. Please help me.

is right. Your chances for learning to "love" a responsible man you "like" are far better than your chances for learning to like an irresponsible man you "love." (At 28 you're not ready for the rocking chair. There could be a "mincey" in your future—and Mo!)

DEAR ABBY: We recently bought a lovely home directly across the street from a mortuary. People attending funerals there park their cars in front of our house. If we happen to be outside doing yard work they give us dirty looks as though we had no right to be there. One lady saw me shaking a throw rug and said, "Don't you have any respect for the dead?" It's a busy funeral home, and there is always something going on there.

What are we supposed to do? Get all dressed up like we were going to a funeral just to pull weeds? Thank You.

SHAPELY WESKIT (left) by Dotti Originals has the look of luggage calfskin but the fabric is a textured Simplex jersey of nylon. It teams with gray jersey skirt with leather-look trim and a seer-sucker bodysuit of Dacron and cotton. Sweater shirt and gathered skirt (right) are knit separates.

DEAR SINNER: Be realistic. At the first opportunity, tell the man that you regret the "mistake" and that it must never happen again. What's done, cannot be undone. As a Christian, you know that Jesus forgave an adulteress. ("Go, and sin no more.") John 8:11.

DEAR ABBY: I like "A" but I don't love him. I love "B" but I don't like him. I am 28 years old and I'm not getting any younger. I can have either one of them. My mother says I'm better off marrying "A" because he's a solid citizen who will look after me, and in time I can learn to love him.

But how about my marrying "B"—the guy I love? He's kind of shifty and bends with the wind, but maybe in time I can learn to like him.

"EENY-MEENY"

DEAR "EENY": Your mother

DEAR ABBY: We recently bought a lovely home directly across the street from a mortuary. People attending funerals there park their cars in front of our house. If we happen to be outside doing yard work they give us dirty looks as though we had no right to be there. One lady saw me shaking a throw rug and said, "Don't you have any respect for the dead?" It's a busy funeral home, and there is always something going on there.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is a good time to accept an opportunity now present to get a good friend to go along with you to help you gain some wish that can be of great service to you but the P.M. is no good for forcing anything so take it easy and step back that confounding condition that can cause you much perplexity.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is the best time to get things done since later in the day blazes and the resentment at home could be very annoying. Be philosophical about delays. Plans that bit of ticklish work very carefully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Good day to garner the information you want and make preparations for the future that you have been procrastinating upon. An expert gives fine aid. One you respect comes to you with a problem. Help to assist intelligently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) During A.M. good friends give you the boost you need to get ahead and then you can go ahead great guns on your own PLAN TUESDAY affair early. It is best that you take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A higher-up may be rather demanding in A.M. but the rewards will be great, and you can then get credit much improved. Safeguard your good name. Do nothing on the spur of the moment that you will regret later.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) A valued partner gives fine ideas in A.M. but don't neglect to pay your bills later in the day. Your intuition is somewhat faulty later. Pay no attention to it or you could get in real trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) No better day than this to get your work done as you had planned for sometime, but don't tread on the toes of co-workers. Perk up that health of yours. Stop struggling through life — live valiantly.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Don't make this a disappointing day by being extravagant in one way or another, especially for pleasure. Take up some hobby that is worthwhile. Don't spend either time or money foolishly. Be active.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Make sure you carry through with wishes of associates and put aside any personal dislikes that stand in your way. Listen to what you are told. Go over reports, etc. carefully for possible errors. Don't take any chances that could be very costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stop wasting time and get at those monetary duties that await you. Listen to what a business expert has to suggest early. Then follow through on your own with alacrity and wisdom.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can gain that important aim early but later you will just jog along quietly with other interests and get good results, also. Don't give so much importance to the social affair in P.M. Take in your stride.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Details should be handled early. If you are to clear the decks for real action, so get busy on them. Being meticulous in all that you do can make the right impression on others. Be poised calm in doing your work.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he, or she will be one of those very dynamic and brilliant children who will require the finest of training since the memory here is phenomena and much can be learned that would be more difficult for others. Fine ability to cooperate here and the mind is ever concerned with the modern and up-to-date and coming. Train spiritually.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER

Mrs. Maggie Deal visited in Amarillo Tuesday with her sisters, Mrs. Floy Posey and Mrs. Francis Pollard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans returned last week from a two-week trip, visiting their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Oats in Dallas, grandson Earl Evans and family, Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Odis Evans, in Sentinel, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Conley, Enid, Okla., visited Wednesday with Mrs. Mollie Hethcock, a niece Mrs. Beulah McKegg Blackwell, Okla., and friend Joe Smith, Wichita, Kans., and a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beck, Follert, Roy Bell, Perryton, visited his aunt, Mrs. Hethcock Thursday.

Mrs. Elma Bailey returned recently after spending a week in Oklahoma City visiting in the home of her grandson, Lowell J. Bailey, and meeting her great-granddaughter, Lisa Jo Ann Eallery, for the first time. She also attended Oklahoma State Fair and the Ice Capades.

Mrs. Keith Ruddy has been dismissed from the Shattuck hospital following surgery.

STYLISH COMBO — A skirt and blouse look is achieved in this one-piece cotton school dress that combines a solid with a plaid. The wide black belt cinches the two-piece effect of the gold and white outfit.

Easy-Care Sportswear Separates Create Autumn's Individual Look

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The big take-over in fashion for fall is the return of the real sportswear separates, the non-matching separates that can be worn together to create an individual look.

With a wardrobe of separate skirts and pants, shirts and sweaters, jackets, jenkins or weskits a girl can play the switchery game to stretch a few pieces into a number of different costumes.

Separates come back into their own with the introduction of the body shirt and the dirndl skirt to wear with it. For fall a third piece sometimes completes the look. Often it will be leather or one of the leather-look fabrics, such as the embossed nylons resembling calf-skin or lizard. These fabrics are pliable, breathable, washable or easily dry-cleanable.

Knit separates are also part of the over-all picture with the fitted shirt often being a clingy skirt styled like a shirt, topping a novelty knit skirt.

The new separates way of dressing is a far cry from the old dyed-to-match co-ordinates we have had for a long time.

In fact, it's a way of dressing that has been absent for a whole generation.

With shirts and skirts, pants and weskits going double or triple duty in wear they should be as shape-retaining and easy to care for as possible. This is a time when fabrics containing nylon, Dacron or Orlon, with their wrinkle-resisting, care-free advantages really earn their way.

School Fashions For Little Girls Look Flattering

Little girls who want to dress like their big sisters will have a field day this fall.

Back-to-school fashions for the very young have been adapted from the best in junior and missy looks. The result is a fresh and sprightly collection of school-going cottons.

Silhouettes are simple and flattering on young and perky with dirndl and circle skirts.

The two-piece look is seen in dresses that combine cotton plaids or prints with solid color or contrasts. A shirt-and-skirt effect, for example, is achieved in a one-piece cotton dress with a black and gold plaid skirt topped by a solid colored gold bodice. A wide black belt cinches the separates look.

The Heidi influence crops up in dirndl-skirted dresses or peasant blouses with Tyrolean embroidery. Ruffles turn up on some of the prettiest styles of the season, outlining neck and sleeves or forming a deep flounce around the hemline.

Colors include the brighter autumn shades as well as black grounded cotton prints. Gray an important neutral in grown-up fashions, is softened with white accent touches for the young school girl.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Makeup specialist Perc Westmore will chalk up his 1,048th movie when he steps the greasepaint on the cast of "You Can't W.O.M 'E.M.A." at Warner Bros.

Mrs. Fred Hardage of Springdale, Ark., has been visiting here with her sisters, Mrs. L.S. Hardage and Mrs. R.B. Ranson, and other relatives in Canadian. The Mac Macias family visited relatives in Amarillo recently.

THIS SHOWS CURRENT BUSINESS COMPARED WITH THE SAME TIME FOR THE PREVIOUS THIRTEEN YEARS

How's Business?

Business Summary and Outlook

By THE BABSON STAFF
Business activity slipped a shade during the month of September. The Babson Composite Business Chart receded to a level of 154.6. This compared with 155.2 for August, but was still well above the year-ago rate. Over all, however, the economy continued to display amazing resilience, with most industrial lines clinging to lofty levels even though no real upward impetus could be detected.

The primary restraining influence was the absence of seasonal upward vigor in the steel industry. The inventory overhang has forced steel producers to curtail output; and while the bulk of production curbs were established in AUGUST, THERE WAS SOME ADDITIONAL TRIMMING IN September. The inventory problem also involved fabricated steel products lines, where stockpiles had been built up as a defense against a possible labor tie-up.

The important automobile industry provided a measure of buoyancy. The seasonal production upsurge was very much in evidence, as auto makers sought to provide dealers with a full complement of 1969 cars before the new-model fall sales push commences.

The consumer spending rise tapered off in September, although dollar volume of retail trade remained in a peak range. The background or consumer spending is still distinctly favorable, with employment and personal income at high rates.

The outlook favors continuation of high-level business for the months immediately ahead. The economy still enjoys a powerful momentum assisted by the lush cushion of unfilled orders plus strong demand from consumers. Moreover, the danger of a slash in government spending apparently has been obviated by developments in Europe. Nevertheless, the likelihood of an easing in business remains. It is important to note that order backlogs are shrinking and that inventory retrenchment, rather than accumulation, rules buying policy. Of 1969 autos has yet to prove Moreover consumer reception itself.

Car Dealers' Workshop Is Scheduled

Franchised new car dealers, bankers and finance company officials from the North plains area will meet Tuesday, Oct. 8, at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo, announced H. C. Pittman, executive vice president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

TADA is hosting the one-day workshop to brief auto dealers and finance members of the giant trade association on the latest developments affecting the motor vehicle buying public.

Pittman indicated the auto dealers would discuss proposed changes in the administration of new car warranties so that the new car buyer would receive better service. In addition to the warranty session, the dealers will be briefed on the wage and hour changes which go into effect soon. A discussion will also be held on Safety Standards with which Texas dealers comply, according to Pittman.

TADA officials who will attend include F. M. Culbertson, member of the TADA Insurance Committee.

Advance registration and interest are running at peak levels, said Pittman. TADA Area Directors who are expected to participate include Leo Kerns, Kerns Chevrolet, Booker, Bob Johnson, Bob Johnson Motor Co., Berger; J.E. Reid, Jr., Reid Chevrolet Co., Canadian, Gene Alderson, Alderson Chevrolet, Clarendon; Merlin Laubhan, Laubhan Motor Co., Follett, Ted Simmons, Ted Simmons Chevrolet, McLean; C.M. Evans, Tex Evans Buick Rambler, Pampa; Ralph Randel, Randel Motor Co., Panhandle, Ellis Kelly, Perryton Motor Co., E. W. Poole, E. W. Poole

BOATS SEIZED

EMURO, Japan (UPI)—A Soviet patrol boat opened fire on two Japanese fishing boats and later seized both near the Russian-held island of Etorofu in the Kurile Islands, a third Japanese boat skipper said today. The skipper said his vessel escaped.

This Brown Bottle Kills Roaches

You don't have to be good at arithmetic to understand the above formula. The manufacturers of Johnston's No-Roach package their laboratory tested product in a plain amber bottle and attach a free brush for safe, easy application. This combination will positively protect your home from all crawling insects.

No-Roach is an insecticide that is:

1. Safe and easy to use.
  2. No insecticide odor.
  3. No powder or dust or mess.
  4. Stays effective for months.
- No-Roach is effective against all crawling insects — Cockroaches, ants, spiders, and silverfish. One application stays effective for months. It's clean and easy to use. Harmless to pets. No need to move dishes or food when you use Johnston's No-Roach. Just brush the colorless, odorless coating where you want it. Dries quickly to form an invisible barrier that stays effective for months. Brush Johnston's No-Roach in cabinets, on baseboards, door sills, window sills, wherever you see roaches and ants. Use Johnston's No-Roach today. Forget about bugs tomorrow.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Incredible and senseless as it seems, fears are building that the Mideast may be on the verge of another violent explosion between Jews and Arabs.

It is both incredible and senseless since the Israelis long ago won their strategic goals and already hold more land and rebellious peoples than they comfortably can handle. And the Arabs, despite bellicose talk and promises of action to remove the tarnish of the six-day 1967 war, simply are not ready.

But, declared Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in London, "a new outbreak can be expected in the Middle East at any time."

And, headlined Cairo newspapers, "A flareup is expected any minute."

Little of this talk has come from Israel where Premier Levi Eshkol appears to have won at least temporarily a test of strength against the more hawkish members of his government who would toughen the line against the Arabs and simply annex all the conquered territories.

It freed Foreign Minister Abba Eban, classed as a dove, to pursue his search for a negotiated peace, leaving the future of certain of the occupied Arab lands negotiable.

The source of these fears, then, becomes obscure.

A part stems from the new hard-line stance of the Soviet Union as seen in Czechoslovakia, the lack of any real assessment of future Soviet intent and a lack of knowledge as to just who is pulling the strings in the Kremlin. Beneath the talk of renewed hostilities there also are vague suggestions that both President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan would like to come to terms with Israel.

Egypt's economy could not stand another war without massive Russian aid. The more time that passes without peace, the more shaky becomes Hussein's throne.

Denture Adhesive From Saliva?

PHOENIX, Ariz. — A new denture powder called Super-Dent converts mouth saliva into a super-holding denture adhesive. Although used like regular powders, when Super-Dent combines with mouth moisture it forms a new type adhesive. This adhesive literally defies gravity as it holds dentures in. Eating any food has almost no effect on its holding power, yet Super-Dent is safe and gentle to dentures and gums. Super-Dent powder is available at Gibson Stores.

Homer Garrison Austin Museum To Be Dedicated

WACO (Sp) — Law enforcement officials from throughout Texas, the nation, and at least one foreign country, are expected in Waco Oct. 25 for ceremonies dedicating Fort Fisher and the Homer Garrison, Jr. Memorial Museum.

Fort Fisher, an impressive memorial to the Texas Rangers and the frontier outpost of the Rangers, established in Waco in 1836 was planned by the Waco Chamber of Commerce and built by the City of Waco.

Chairman of the dedication is James R. LeBlond who also serves as chairman of a state-wide committee to honor Colonel Garrison.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. the dedication program will include comments by Waco's mayor, H. Malcolm Louden; Clifton W. Cassidy of Dallas, chairman of the Texas Department of Public Safety Commission; and Rex C. Cauble of Denton and C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder, representing the Committee to Honor Colonel Garrison.

Col. Pat Spear, present director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and members of the Department of Public Safety Commission, will be guests of honor.

In addition to local and state law enforcement officers, representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Treasury Department and the United States Marshall's Office are expected.

The east wing of the building will become the Homer Garrison, Jr. Memorial Museum, as a fitting tribute to Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr. who, for more than 30 years, served as Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and Chief of the Texas Rangers.

Fort Fisher has been constructed on the banks of the Brazos River at Interstate Highway 35, at a point very near the original site of the Texas Ranger outpost from which its name is taken.

In addition to the Homer Garrison, Jr. Memorial Museum, the Fort will house the Headquarters of Company F of the Texas Rangers, commanded by Ranger Captain Clint People; and a public Tourist Information Center.

PATIENT WEAKENS
SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — Nobuo Miyazaki, 18, Asia's only surviving heart transplant patient, lapsed into semi-consciousness today in his struggle with hepatitis.

Miyazaki showed an irregular heart beat, doctors said, and is suffering from a slight case of bronchitis.

The youth received the heart of a 21-year-old college student who drowned Aug. 8.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—ABC-TV, the smallest commercial television network, has the least to lose in the ratings battle—and has used this advantage in its new season series by being different.

It is true that being different in network television is hardly being radical, but it's something anyway. And the opportunity in new weekly series fell almost naturally to ABC-TV because the two larger networks, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, fighting for the top spot, have generally played it close to the vest rather than risk blowing the whole ball game.

Outside of NBC-TV's "Julia," which stars a Negro actress, Diahann Carroll, most of the new regular entries on the two biggest networks tend to be of the standard type.

Of ABC-TV's new series, then, here are some that created interest as a result of their premieres last week:

"The Outcasts." This is a good one-hour Western. The principal characters are a white ex-Virginia aristocrat (Don Murray) down on his luck, and a black former slave who has turned bounty hunter (Otis Young). They reluctantly team up, don't like each other but have a sort of mutual respect.

"That's Life." A one-hour book musical starring Robert Morse. This show concerns the romance, marriage and everyday life of a young couple in New York. There are top guest stars, old and new songs and gags galore. It seems a murderous chore to carry off weekly, but the debut was good.

"The Mod Squad." Technically a police show, this hour effort tries to place its emphasis elsewhere—on three troubled young persons who have joined the force as a unit that can go where regular officers find it hard to get in. The play between the generations is the basic point.

"The Ugliest Girl in Town." A wild half-hour comedy about an ingratiating young fellow (Peter Kastner) who follows his girl to London and, through an offbeat magazine photo layout, accidentally is mistaken for a top female model.

In addition, ABC-TV introduced a mystery anthology called "Journey to the Unknown," a Western adventure-comedy entitled "Here Come the Exiles" and a children's science-fiction outing, "Land of the Giants." And last Friday night, the network's final premiere arrived, a half-hour starring the noted insult comedian, Don Rickles.

Warsaw (UPI)—The new academic year opened today for Polish university students and they got a warning to refrain from troublemaking and "be armed against subversion and revisionism." The Socialist Youth Organizations ZMS and ZMW letter was an indication of concern over the disorders which broke out among students in several cities last March.

The chief means of freight transportation in the United States during 1967 was by truck.

Purdue Ranks No. One In Poll

By JOE CARNICELLI UPI Sports Writer NEW YORK (UPI)—It was like an old movie rerun for Purdue, with the same happy ending for the Boilermakers. Purdue was named the top college football team in the nation Monday by the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches after upsetting Notre Dame for the second straight year. It was the second consecutive year that the Boilermakers met Notre Dame as underdogs, toppled the Irish and dropped them out of the No. 1 ranking in the nation. Jack Mollenkopf's power-packed team received 34 first place votes and 349 points, only one less than perfect, in easily surging to the top ranking. The only other first place vote went to Southern California, the defending champion, which finished second with 301 points. Penn State, with 165 points, edged UCLA by two points to take third while Kansas (147) moved up to sixth. Nebraska received 133 points to advance from eighth last week to No. 6. Ohio State made its debut in the top 10, logging 95 points to nip Notre Dame, which plunged to eighth. Louisiana State remained ninth with 71 points while Florida moved into the top 10 with 63 points. All American Leroy Keyes and O.J. Simpson again sparked their teams to victory. Keyes, Purdue's "Mr. Everything," scored two touchdowns, passed for another and helped out on defense in Purdue's upset of Notre Dame. Simpson scored three touchdowns in Southern Cal's 24-7 triumph over Northwestern, giving him seven for the season. Penn State dumped Kansas State 25-9 and UCLA beat Washington State 31-21. Nebraska boosted its record to 3-0 by upsetting Minnesota 17-14 while Ohio State opened its season with an impressive 35-14 victory over Southern Methodist. Louisiana State whipped Rice 21-7 and Florida edged Florida State 9-3.

Harder Out As Reds' Manager

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Mel Harder is looking for a job today after the Cincinnati Reds' front office failed to renew his contract for the 1969 season as a pitching coach for the team. Harder was informed of his release Monday, the day after the Reds finished the season with a 3-0 win here over San Francisco. No official reason was given for the dismissal, but it was believed connected with the fact that the Reds' pitching was disappointing this season. Cincinnati pitchers compiled the highest earned run average in the National League and recorded the fewest complete games in the circuit.

Yankees Are Asking Waivers On Colavito

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees made good on a promise Monday when they asked waivers on Rocky Colavito to so that he can decide whether to retire or sign as a free agent with another team. The Yankees also purchased Jim Rooker, who led the International League with 206 strikeouts in 190 innings this year, from the Detroit Tigers. Colavito, 35, the 15th on the all-time home run list with 375, signed with the Yankees on July 15. He hit five homers, drove in 13 runs and batted .230 in 36 games in addition to making an emergency appearance as a relief pitcher in a two-inning stint.

Cardinals Favored As Series Opens Tomorrow

PE CLASS — The sports program at Pampa High School is not exclusively for the male gender. This group is Mrs. Lynn Wolfe's fifth period physical education class and, during the year, girls at the school will participate in archery, softball, tennis, golf, badminton and "musical calisthenics." The girls are representative of all those in the physical education program at the school.

Schoendienst To Let Brock Run In Series

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Red Schoendienst has a special piece of news. Special for the Detroit Tigers. Extra special for Bill Freehan, their catcher. "We're gonna let Lou Brock run the same way he did last year," says Schoendienst. "We're not changing anything. Why take away any of his aggressiveness? He'll be free, generally speaking, to run on his own. His legs are in good shape. All he has to do is get on." Lou Brock has been known to do that now and then. If the Tigers want any references, they can check the Red Sox. The Red Sox will tell them plenty. They'll tell them how Bob Gibson, Julian Javier, Roger Maris and Nellie Briles hurt them in the World Series a year ago but how Lou Brock killed them with his seven stolen bases, his .414 average and his mere presence on the field. Schoendienst isn't touching a thing. Brock led off for the St. Louis Cardinals against the Red Sox in the Series opener last year and he'll lead off for them against the Tigers in this year's

Gibson's Know-How Gives Favorites First-Game Edge

By ED SAINSBURY UPI Sports Writer ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Smart money rode with baseball "know-how" today in rating the St. Louis Cardinals an 8 to 5 choice not only for the World Series, but also for Wednesday's opening game matching Bob Gibson against Denny McLain. In making the odds, the speculators ignored McLain's 31-6 won-lost record in favor of the 1.12 earned run average posted for the season by Gibson, the big right-hander of the Cardinals who won 22 games and lost nine. The "know-how" has to ride with Gibson. He's been a steady star and only a year ago was rated the most valuable player in the World Series. When he won three games and ran his streak of complete game victories in the series to five, tying a record, Gibson is also the only man to win the seventh game of two different World Series. If he can beat McLain, he'll have the Cardinals off and winging toward a second consecutive world championship. If the Redbirds succeed, it would be the first time since John McGraw's Giants more than 40 years ago that any National League team has won back to back World Series. Speculators, though, might be ignoring McLain's mark at their own risk. The cocky McLain has been most potent on the road, losing only twice this season away from the small confines of Tiger Stadium, and the Cardinals' Busch Stadium may be just the answer for him to beat Gibson. The Tigers boast a far better slugging record than the Cardinals, 185 home runs to 73, but

Old Yankee Hero Billy Martin May Manage Minnesota Twins In '69

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Billy Martin, a hero of the old New York Yankees, was considered the top prospect today for getting the call to manage the Minnesota Twins next year. Twins owner Calvin Griffith, who fired Manager Cal Ermer Monday, said he wouldn't name a replacement until after the World Series. However, Martin, who finished his playing career with the Twins and stayed on as a coach, appeared all but certain to be tapped for the job. He has made no secret of his interest in managing the team and Griffith sent him to Denver at mid-season to get some managerial experience. Griffith who blasted Ermer's off-the-field handling of the players as well as his diamond strategy, praised Martin's work with the Denver farm club. However, Griffith said Martin was one of three men under consideration for the job. Griffith said the new manager will be named before the expansion draft Oct. 15.

Altitude May Affect Events In The 1968 Mexico City Olympics

ALAMOSA, Colo. (UPI)—When America's Olympic team members leave here to go "up" to Mexico City for the high altitude summer Olympics in history, they really will be going down in altitude. Alamosa, a tiny agricultural town in the middle of Colorado's mountain-rimmed San Luis Valley, which has played host to a good-sized contingent of Olympic hopefuls during the past few weeks, is 7,540 feet above sea level. Mexico City is only 7,440 feet high. The U.S. Olympic Committee chose Alamosa, a favorite training spot for long-distance flash Jim Ryun, as the training site for basketball, wrestling and marathon teams, in order to help the athletes get used to the thin air of Mexico City. But in many cases, it appears that altitude will have little or no effect on performance. Most agree that the altitude makes a difference mainly in the endurance sports, such as long-distance track and swimming, but that it will not affect the outcome of sports which require short bursts of speed or energy, the "sprint sports." A group of scientists in Washington recently confirmed this fact. Reporting to the Pan-American Health Organization, the scientists said individual efforts would be a strong factor in Mexico City next month, but there is only an outside chance of participants in endurance sports setting new records. The research team said athletes from sea level adjust to higher altitude in a short time, but they seldom can match their sea level outputs at higher elevations. Tom Hayden, coach of the long-distance events for the U.S. Olympic track and field team, agrees. He predicts that no records will be set in the long events, but several "quick" events will have new records following the Olympics. "In anything that takes over two minutes to complete," Hayden said, "altitude is a factor. And I'm not looking for any records in that type of event."

Altitude May Affect Events In The 1968 Mexico City Olympics

ALAMOSA, Colo. (UPI)—When America's Olympic team members leave here to go "up" to Mexico City for the high altitude summer Olympics in history, they really will be going down in altitude. Alamosa, a tiny agricultural town in the middle of Colorado's mountain-rimmed San Luis Valley, which has played host to a good-sized contingent of Olympic hopefuls during the past few weeks, is 7,540 feet above sea level. Mexico City is only 7,440 feet high. The U.S. Olympic Committee chose Alamosa, a favorite training spot for long-distance flash Jim Ryun, as the training site for basketball, wrestling and marathon teams, in order to help the athletes get used to the thin air of Mexico City. But in many cases, it appears that altitude will have little or no effect on performance. Most agree that the altitude makes a difference mainly in the endurance sports, such as long-distance track and swimming, but that it will not affect the outcome of sports which require short bursts of speed or energy, the "sprint sports." A group of scientists in Washington recently confirmed this fact. Reporting to the Pan-American Health Organization, the scientists said individual efforts would be a strong factor in Mexico City next month, but there is only an outside chance of participants in endurance sports setting new records. The research team said athletes from sea level adjust to higher altitude in a short time, but they seldom can match their sea level outputs at higher elevations. Tom Hayden, coach of the long-distance events for the U.S. Olympic track and field team, agrees. He predicts that no records will be set in the long events, but several "quick" events will have new records following the Olympics. "In anything that takes over two minutes to complete," Hayden said, "altitude is a factor. And I'm not looking for any records in that type of event."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Suppose Nobody Wins

It's possible — some even say probable — that when you cast your vote for President (or rather the electors of the man you prefer as President, to get technical) — you won't be. Won't be casting a vote for President, that is. Not this year, the way this theory goes.

On the other hand, it's possible that when you vote for congressman this year, you will, simultaneously, be casting a vote for the man who will be the next President.

If this sounds nutty, well, it is, but it's among the screwball things that are possible in this not — unprecedented-but-rare election year.

Let us try to unravel the mystery. But don't expect any nutshell explanations. We have not run across any.

But it goes like this: To begin with, everybody knows — we hope — that when you vote for President, you really don't. You vote for a group of electors — most of whom you never heard of — who, in turn, are pledged to cast their votes for your man, if he happens to win a majority of the popular vote in the state.

The President is not elected by popular vote, but generally it has turned out that way. Three times in our history, however, the man with the most popular votes didn't get the office, and it was all legal, but that's another story.

Okay, so it's electors from the 50 states who actually elect the President. These electors from the 50 states total 538, and they're parceled out on the basis of state population. It takes a majority — or 270 electoral votes — to elect a President.

In a "normal" election year, there's no doubt about one of two men — the Republican or the Democratic nominee — getting a majority of these electoral votes. But this isn't a "normal" year. George Wallace is running, and any survey we've seen shows that his strength is such that he may win enough electoral votes to block a majority (that's 270, we repeat) for either Richard Nixon or Hubert Humphrey.

If that should happen, the House of Representatives probably would choose the President from among the three highest vote-getters. In this case, Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace. The House, as provided by the Constitution, can elect any one of the three, regardless of the popular vote each received. But the vote in the House doesn't come close to following the one-man-one vote philosophy. Rather, it is one state — one vote. The Constitution says each of 50 states has one vote, regardless of population. California, the most populous state, would have no greater voice in electing the President than the two newest and among the least populous states, Hawaii and Alaska. The first candidate to get 26 votes in the House would be the winner.

Voting in the House has its complications, to be sure. The congressional delegation from each state must decide for whom to cast the state's lone vote. If a state delegation is evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans, this may prove to be impossible. The state's congressmen may end up in a tie they can't break. In this case, the state has no vote, because the state can vote only after a majority of its congressmen have decided for whom to vote. In case of a tie, there is no majority — and no vote.

At this point we may as well try to explain how a vote for congressman — this year — may be also a vote for President, in case that isn't already clear. There are a number of states in which Democrats and Republicans are almost evenly divided in their congressional delegations. In any case, if the presidential election goes to the House, the party with the most representation in the House from Texas will decide whether Texas' one vote goes for — Nixon, if the majority delegation is Republican, Humphrey, if it is Democratic, as it is presently. That is why we say that when you vote for congressman you also may be voting for President.

And by the way, in case anyone is wondering, it is the new Congress, not the present one, that would decide the presidential issue.

Now let us retrace our steps, to the electoral college — made up of those state electors who cast the state's electoral votes for President, depending on who gets the biggest popular vote in the state.

These electors are pledged to vote for Nixon, Humphrey or Wallace. But the complicating factor here is that they don't have to. The majority vote in Texas could go for Nixon, for instance, in which case the Nixon electors are pledged to vote for him. But, remember, they don't have to; not legally and there's no penalty provided if they don't. This may look like an oversight by the nation's founders, when they wrote the Constitution, but it wasn't. They deliberately wrote it that way, because they had reservations about the wisdom of leaving the choice of President up to the people. If the "common people" made a mistake, the electors, who are supposed to be wiser, could correct it. Therefore, electors are not constitutionally bound to vote for the man they're pledged to.

Here again, is where George Wallace comes in. Or, rather where he has hinted he expects to come in, in the first place. Wallace has hinted that if the November results show that nobody gets a majority of the electoral votes, he expects to do some horse trading among the electors rather than permit the election to be decided in the House. He could theoretically, at least, make a deal to throw the electoral votes he gets to either Humphrey or Nixon, giving one of them that majority figure of 270. This he would do in exchange for some promised concessions, which amount, in a nutshell, the return of some of the "states' rights" that have been taken over by the federal government in recent years.

If Wallace's plan should work in the electoral college, the issue would be settled a step short of throwing the election of the President into the House of Representatives.

But suppose the election does go to the House, and it cannot get a majority of its members — 26 — to vote for one man. Suppose this drags on and on, beyond the Jan. 20 date for the inauguration. Will we be without a president?

Not likely. Because, first of all, the vice-president is chosen. He is chosen in the Senate and with the Senate divided as it is presently along party lines, there is not much chance that the senators wouldn't be able to get a majority vote for vice-president, who would serve until the House finally elected a President.

That could be a long time. There's no limit on the number of ballots or the time the House has in electing the President.

Cannel At Bay

By Ward Cannel

Revolution Falls on Evil Days NEW YORK (NEA) — Well, of all things, there was Mark Rudd lining up along with the other kids to register for the fall semester at Columbia University.

Rudd, it may be recalled, was one of the student protesters that seized and disabled Columbia — just before term papers were due last spring.

Exactly what the protest was all about is still largely a mystery. But it took the city police to liberate the campus. And in the aftermath, President Grayson Kirk resigned and Rudd and his colleagues, vowing to continue the protest after the summer vacation, were suspended from the university.

And now, of all things to find him trying to register for classes — Well, honestly! Is that any way to run a revolution?

We may be somewhat naive about this sort of thing. But it has always been our belief that revolutionary leaders dealt almost exclusively in hideouts, disguises, midnight meetings in boiler rooms and raids at dawn.

If they appeared in public at all, it was only for sentencing or a hasty panel discussion with David Susskind and five Polish dentists.

But that does not seem to be the case any more. Nowadays, as far as we can see, there is practically no difference between revolution and business-as-usual.

In fact, there are moments when it appears that revolution is business as usual.

Just let some firebrand climb onto a table and shout: "Down with their thing!" and there are immediately lapel buttons and highball glasses available with the same legend and magazine reports, TV documentaries and adult education courses on the movement and its place in history.

From what we saw on the Columbia campus last spring and at Chicago during the convention, the people who make those "Yale" and "Harvard" pennants are missing a good thing? Why does he want it as "Students" and "Police" line for the fall season?

Hard as we find it to believe the embattled establishment also seems to have a piece of the revolution market.

Just let some firebrand shout: "Down with their thing!" and there is immediately an official fact-finding commission appointed to look into the causes of the rebellion, namely what thing. Why does he want it down? How did it get up in the first place? And would it possibly be better if it were lowered halfway?

If we understand it correctly the general theory on both sides seems to be that if there is a revolution it must mean something. And until somebody finds out what it means, the secretary of commerce will look after it.

It would not surprise us in the least to wake up tomorrow morning and find that a new federal agency had been established under the title of Department of Revolution. And submitted thereunder (as they say in Washington) a Commission of Adultery and Divorce, an office of Relevance, Dialogue and Confrontation and a Bureau of Charisma, Inarticulate Yearning and Visceral Response.

As we said, maybe we are very naive about this whole thing. But it seems to us that today's firebrands are giving revolution a bad name. And we were very happy to see on our TV set a young, bearded, bruised disturber of the peace just back from Chicago who complained: "We'll have to go underground. We'll have to shave, get haircuts, and wear business suits and clean shirts if we want to keep the rebellion alive."

If you have grown weary of TV commercials that tell you how to relieve a headache, acid indigestion, or any one of a dozen other maladies that are easily treated, we suggest you read "The Medicine Show," a paper published by the magazine "Consumer Reports."

It's a factual volume that puts a lie-detector to the drug industry. The book inspects labels and assures you that the best kind of aspirin to buy is the cheapest; confirms your suspicions about laxatives, youth creams and vitamin pills. It is the one publication we have seen that truly relieves your mind of the worries put there by flamboyant advertisers. Frequently, after watching an hour of TV and the interminable commercials we find ourselves wondering if we are suffering from "tired blood," or if we can make it to the 11 o'clock news without taking at least one of the products described. Then a few minutes with "The Medicine Show" reassures us that we'll live long enough to see the sunrise.

Rebels Are Chips Off Old Block

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent Work by a ministerial research student at the University of Chicago suggests that there may not be a Generation Gap after all.

The student activists he studied don't seem to be rebelling against their parents' views. They seem to be copying them. In Rev. Lamar Thomas' study in fact, they seem more closely and rigidly associated with their parents' views than do average nonactivist students.

A main factor contributing to student activism according to Thomas, is dedication by the student's parents to political causes — open or closed occupancy, civil rights, poverty.

The liberal students Thomas studied all turned out to have liberal parents. The conservatives all had conservative parents. He found no instance in his sample in which a student had changed from liberal to conservative or conservative to liberal.

Eighty per cent of the students said they preferred the same party as their parents. Nineteen per cent were independents. Only one had shifted to another political party.

Except for the activist students whose views were just about identical with those of their parents, the conservative students tended to be a little less conservative than their parents and the liberals a little less liberal than their fathers and mothers.

There seems, in this sampling, a greater tendency for children of liberal parents to become activists. This activism meets with approval from their parents. In fact, the liberal parents in general said they would like to see their youngsters even more active than they are, even if it took some time from study. Thomas said that previous studies had shown that most activist students came from

I saw a candidate the other day who was searching through his clothes for something and it cracked me up. There ain't nothin' funnier than watchin' a politician goin' thru his own pockets.

As it turned out, he was searchin' for his new Fair Campaign code of conduct book which has just been mailed out especially for the election campaigns. Now there is a whole new field for politicians. I don't know who thought up the idea, but they have got a chairman of the committee by the name of C. P. (constant pain) Taft, and he says they are co-operating with the American Arbitration Assn. to stamp out unfair campaigning.

Well, they've got their work cut out for them. Especially since they say that if a candidate supporters hear of tactics bordering on the unfair, they should ask the committee for advice.

If they have enough detailed information on the 'unfair tactic' they will put out a notice that the committee refuses it. Now all this makes about as much sense as the title of the book which is: "A Candidate's Manual — A Politician's Guide to the Manly Art of Self Defense."

I reckon the candidates who are runnin' for the House and the Senate figure that if they wave the 'Code Book' around they might get a good seat.

This reporter has no way of knowing whether the Thomas study is valid. It was based on a very limited sample. But it does raise some very interesting questions.

Are then the student riots, demonstrations and marches by and large backed by most of the parents of the rioters, demonstrators and marchers? Are students doing what most of their parents would like to do themselves? This is a sobering thought.

By PAUL HARVEY Missoula, Mont., was a garden spot when Angel and I honeymooned there. Astraddle a sparkling mountain stream, snuggled in a protected valley, with just enough culture imparted by the state university and anything you really needed for sale at Missoula Mercantile.

And, for a poor boy, there was the handsome Greenough mansion for inspiration.

Mr. Greenough, a hard-working, self-made, successful lumberman, built this handsome 22-room house with its six baths and marble fixtures and several fireplaces and crystal chandeliers as a monument to his success and as a reward for the family which had suffered with him through the long, lean years.

To me, in those very modest years of early marriage, the great Greenough mansion of tamarack wood with a ballroom on its third floor was tangible evidence that Horatio Alger lives on.

Another young man of Missoula, Art Mosby, shared my admiration of that house and was similarly inspired by it.

The Greenoughs eventually moved on to seek their fortune elsewhere. Art Mosby stayed and, motivated by that mansion, made his own fortune in Missoula.

I watched, fascinated from a distance as my long-ago friend worked for and then owned the radio station in Missoula, then other radio and TV stations, then real estate.

And eventually, perhaps inevitably, that mansion was his home.

When they announced the new highway was coming through that property, the city was stunned — Mr. Mosley was thunder-struck.

Rioters Subsidized By Taxpayers

(Wall Street Journal) Requests for $63.8 million dollars for new buildings at Illinois universities and junior colleges have been submitted to the state board of education. The largest request was 192.5 million dollars from the University of Illinois.

In addition to building funds the universities and colleges will ask the legislature for large appropriations for operating expenses. Altogether the requests for higher education will be nearly a billion dollars.

When the legislators review these requests, they will be told that the universities and colleges must provide more buildings and more staff for an increasing number of students. This will be the time to call for an accounting of how past appropriations have been spent. The legislators will wish to know whether the institutions are harboring students who are majoring in the art and science of rioting. Few Illinois taxpayers wish to contribute to the support of the students who smashed the lounges at the Illinois Union building in Urbana.

Most of the rioters were beneficiaries of a special program for disadvantaged students for which the university has received federal grants and donations from foundations. Some funds for the program were collected from teachers and students.

It's ironic that on the very day of the Urbana riot the state board of higher education approved a recommendation to the legislature for higher tuition at all four-year state colleges and universities. The board also recommended that more and larger scholarships be given to needy students.

"Illinois students shall not be denied attendance at public senior higher institutions because of financial barriers," said the resolution.

It may be doubted that the board of higher education wishes that tuition be raised for the purpose of financing rioters. If university administrators fail to control their institutions, the legislature should see to it that tax funds and tuition payments are all spent for the education of students who accept civilized standards of behavior.

Selective Service Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are questions being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—My draft board has mailed me a classification questionnaire. Because of circumstances beyond my control, I can't possibly return it in the 10 days allowed for completion and return. May I receive more time?

A—Yes, if the reason for delay is valid, the local board may grant additional time.

Q—I've had my induction postponed. Before I'm again ordered to report for induction, doesn't the local board have to issue a new order?

A—No. The postponement didn't cancel the original order; it merely rendered invalid the first reporting date.

Q—I want to enlist in the National Guard. I took the physical examination directed by the draft board and was found qualified for military service. Can the results of this examination be made available to the Guard, or must I take another examination?

A—A second examination probably will not be necessary. Write your board and request it to furnish the Guard copies of all reports and questionnaires needed for your enlistment. In many cases this eliminates the expense of a second examination.

Q—I'm in the army and have a total hearing loss in one ear and perfect hearing in the other. Does this qualify me for a medical discharge?

A—See a medical officer, who can evaluate your case under provisions of chapter 3, section V, paragraph 10 of Army Regulation 40-501.

discarded. Dr. Henry King said this decision was reached as "a genuine Southerner, one whose family goes back three hundred years into the history of the South."

"I pride myself on the nobler aspects of my Southern heritage—a dignity, a courtesy, a civility, a mannerly approach, all of which denote a respect for the individual," he explained in newspaper. "It is not honorable to force upon a minority group the symbols of the Confederacy which, rightly or wrongly, have become so distasteful to them." The president's decision comes in the middle of a push by Negro students at South Dade High School to change the school's nickname, "Rebels," and abandon the use of Confederate uniforms for the school band and the use of the Confederate flag as a school symbol.
