Republicans Accuse HHH of Confusion

By United Press International
Hubert H. Humphrey, hinting anew that as president he would order an early reduction of American forces in Vietnam, today faced Republican charges of "shooting from the lip" and confusing voters about his position on the war issue.

The Democratic presidential candidate said Sunday he would favor a gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops "sometime in the near future" as long as American and allied fighting men were not placed in jeopardy. Humphrey said that, if elected, he would speak with South Vietnamese officials about a cutback that might begin in early 1969.

Appearing on television panel shows in Cleveland and Columbus, the vice president said he did not think his remarks put him at odds with President Johnson on the war. But, he added, "If we are, so be it. I have to make statements for myself."

Humphrey opened his campaign two weeks ago with a similar forecast only to hear President Johnson say immediately that "no man can predict when the day will come" that U.S. troops are returned home from Vietnam.

Humphrey agreed Sunday that no one could safely say when the war would end, but he said: "My view, speaking for myself, is that... we ought to be able sometime in the near future to systematically reduce American combat forces in South Vietnam."

While GOP president candidate Richard M. Nixon rested at his New York City apartment, John M. Mitchell, national campaign director for the Republican ticket, accused Humphrey of "shooting from the lip" by suggesting that U.S. troops might be withdrawn soon from Vietnam.

"Every time Mr. Humphrey talks on Vietnam, he only adds to the public confusion," said Mitchell. "Mr. Humphrey is shooting from the lip again."

Mitchell's statement on Humphrey's remarks paralleled announcement of a newly organized GOP "truth squad," to be headed by Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois. Republican party officials said the team would follow Humphrey on the campaign trail to rebut his arguments.

Nixon aides said there were no plans at present to take the same steps with third party candidate George Wallace, who claimed Sunday that federal guidelines had nearly destroyed the public school system in

Teachers Denied Compromise Plan

NEW YORK (UPI)—A compromise plan for ending the city's teacher strike was rejected by the chairman of a disident neighborhood school board, sending the walkout into its third week today.

The plan, which included the reinstatement of all dismissed teachers, was rejected Sunday by the Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, chairman of Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville decentralized school district. The firing of 10 teachers in the district last spring triggered the walkout.

Oliver called the compromise plan "unacceptable to the community."

He said that another feature of the compromise, the stationing of Board of Education observers in the district to insure that the teachers were not harassed, was "nonsense, sheer nonsense."

"We don't need observers in the schools. They're running beautifully," Oliver said.

The teachers union had demanded the observers.

Another move to end the walkout which has affected 1.12 million children in the city's 900 public schools was stymied (See TEACHERS, Page 3)

Congress Facing Problem Leading To Adjournment

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress faces up this week to the annual snag that holds up adjournment, this time the nomination of Abe Fortas as U.S. Chief Justice.

Election-minded lawmakers, especially in the House, are looking to the start of the Senate's Fortas debate—probably Wednesday—for fresh clues on how much longer it may take to wind up the 90th Congress.

The most optimistic forecast was three weeks.

Senate leaders said they would let debate on the Fortas nomination run until perhaps the last part of next week before seeking a vote to cut off further talk.

Nobody thinks they will get it. How close they come will determine whether they try again later, after more talk, or send word to President Johnson that Fortas, now an associate justice of the Supreme Court, can't be elevated to the post of chief justice.

First the Senate was considering today and Tuesday a $71.9 billion defense appropriation bill that in other times might have generated the session-end controversy that inevitably is generated by something.

This time, the way appeared greased for Senate passage of the big money measure, and for quick agreement with the House on differences between it and a $72.2 billion version previously approved by the House.

House members meantime will be wrangling their way through a miscellany of issues from more parking space in the District of Columbia to more food stamps for the hungry in cities all over the country.

Advocates of a bill to open the way for televised debates among the major presidential candidates will try again to free it from a political and polemical tangle in the House Commerce Committee. Part of the problem is what to do about third-party candidate George Wallace.

Fund Breakfast Set Tomorrow

A breakfast at 7 a.m. tomorrow in the Coronado Inn Starlight Room will kick off Pampa's 1963 solicitation for the United Fund's 12 participating agencies.

Jerry Sims, general drive chairman, today urged all divisional chairmen, team leaders and team members to be on hand promptly at 7 a.m.

The meeting will be concluded no later than 8 o'clock.

October 18 has been set as the deadline for reaching this year's goal of $84,200.

UMUAHIA, Biafra (UPI)—Biafran commanders said today their troops had broken the Nigerian encirclement of Umuahia and were driving toward Aba, the federal-held former secessionist capital.

The field commanders said the surprise rebel counterattack had taken the federal troops by surprise. Umuahia was the last Biafran stronghold in the 15-month civil war.

VC Gunners Down Six

Helicopter Loss Climbs

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners shot down six U.S. helicopters, two of them supporting U.S. Marines in and near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), military spokesmen said today. The losses raised the U.S. helicopter battle toll to 869.

The spokesmen said six crewmen were listed as missing from a twin-rotor CH46 Marine helicopter downed in the southern portion of the buffer zone Saturday while re-supplying a 2,000-man Marine sweep there. They said the craft plunged into Red-held territory.

A second helicopter was cut down Friday while supplying troops operating just below the demilitarized strip between the two Vietnams, where U.S. and government forces have mounted a drive to scatter Communist troop concentrations and smash supply depots.

Spokesmen today reported that U.S. Marines captured a North Vietnamese base camp with 300 foxholes and 1,200 mortar rounds in an unopposed seizure near where the second chopper crashed. Not far away, government troops killed 98 Red troops with "light" losses.

Two other helicopters were shot down near Pleiku in the Central Highlands, one was downed Sunday on the northern coast and the sixth went down Sunday 18 miles south of Saigon.

Ten Americans Wounded

A total of 10 GIs were wounded in the crashes and eight others rescued unharmed, the spokesmen said.

Apart from the DMZ action by Marines and government troops, ground action was light Sunday and today. South Vietnamese regional forces reported killing nine members of the Viet Cong platoon four miles outside Saigon, without suffering a loss.

Spokesmen said poor weather held U.S. fighter-bombers to 76 missions over North Vietnam Sunday where they reported destroying or damaging 30 supply boats.

The Marine unit probing country just six miles south of the DMZ described the base camp as a heavily fortified honeycomb of trenches that housed a troop graveyard as well as the weapons cache. It was the second base camp found in the area in two days.

U.S. spokesmen in Saigon said four U.S. helicopters were shot down by Communist ground fire in weekend action, raising the total of helicopters downed in action to 867.

Thirteen crewmen were rescued, nine of them injured, and six were unaccounted for in the helicopter losses, the spokesmen said.

Reds Storm Camp

A Communist force stormed a prisoner of war camp Saturday near Quang Ngai City, 320 miles northeast of Saigon, and executed 20 Red POWs who refused liberation.

Spokesmen said the Communists first mortared the camp and a nearby town, wounding 70 civilians and killing one South Vietnamese camp defender.

The Communists wounded 44 other prisoners with volleys of rifle fire after giving the inmates a choice of escaping or remaining behind.

Czechoslovakia to put down Dubcek's "experiment in democracy."

"I believe that so far as the merits of... this (Dubcek) policy have not yet been demonstrated and understood, they should be propagated" to the Communist neighbors, said the front-page editorial by chief editor Jiri Sekera.

The tone of the editorial added to a feeling of optimism created by a defiant speech Saturday by Premier Oldrich Cernik. He said Dubcek's liberal reforms will continue and "we shall not punish anyone in this country for political views."

The editorial appeared two days before the scheduled visit to Moscow by Prague's leadership, including Dubcek and Cernik. The Soviets are reportedly waiting with a purge "blacklist" of names, Dubcek's included, of liberal reformers they want ousted.

Recovery Is Reported In Ocean Splashdown

By DUSKO DODDER

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today hailed the safe return of Zond-5 from around the moon as the dress rehearsal of an identical manned space flight that would put Russia far ahead in the race to put a man on the moon.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Zond-5 splashed into the Indian Ocean between Africa and Australia Saturday and Soviet warships recovered it Sunday. It was the first spacecraft returned safely from a trip around the moon.

"The moon is closer to earth now. More precisely, it is closer to Soviet scientists," said Soviet scientist S. Yesenov on television. "It is difficult to overestimate this new achievement of the Soviet science and technology."

Plan Manned Flight

Western scientists predicted the Soviets would try sending a man around the moon and back later this year. The United States has scheduled for late December the Apollo 8 flight to carry three men on a lunar orbit and return to earth.

"Through this spectacular success, the Soviet Union will become the first country to land a manned spacecraft on the moon," said Heinz Kaminsky, head of the Bochum Satellite and Space Research Center in Germany.

Zond 5 was launched on its journey last Sunday from a "piggyback" earth satellite. It carried out a complex change in course Tuesday, orbited the moon Wednesday and sped back toward earth at 25,000 miles an hour. Its closest pass to the moon was 1,200 miles.

Surviving the intense heat from air friction while reentering the atmosphere was its toughest test. Soviet scientists said they slowed it down to a "second cosmic speed" for passage through a six-mile-wide "window in space" required for landing accurately.

Soviet announcements hinted a ship just like Zond 5 might carry the first cosmonaut in the attempt to orbit the moon and return.

Large Satellite Used

Western scientists said Zond 5 was big enough to carry a man. Tass hinted it carried the artificial helium mixture Soviet cosmonauts would probably use on future space trips.

Most important, Zond 5 transmitted back to earth a voice recording by telephone meaning a man aboard would have been able to have a direct conversation with earth from (See SOVIET, Page 3)

ATLANTA (UPI)—George Wallace says that one of his first acts as president would be to give the schools back to the people.

Wallace charged Sunday that federal desegregation guidelines are destroying the nation's public school systems.

ATHENS (UPI)—The Greek military regime today freed two former prime ministers from house arrest and released from custody four members of the civilian government it overthrew 17 months ago.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Medal of Honor was awarded posthumously today to Marine Lance Cpl. Roy M. Wheat, 20, of Moselle, Miss., who was killed in Vietnam when he threw himself on a land mine to save his companions.

It was the 51st time the nation's highest military honor was bestowed for heroism in Vietnam. Twenty-six of the 51 winners died in action.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon has shown a new technique in handling dissidents in his rally audiences.

At a shopping center rally in King of Prussia, Pa., Nixon spotted a sign in the audience which read, "Stop talking law and order and start talking peace." Simultaneously, a group of anti-war demonstrators began chanting "We want peace."

Calling attention to the sign, the Republican presidential candidate said coolly, "Unless you have law and order you won't have peace." The sign disappeared and the demonstrators became silent.

The lyrics are mildly profane, even on Sunday. The crowds are getting larger and noisier. And so, for that matter, is the platform image of the Democratic presidential nominee.

If three campaign stops in Ohio during the weekend provided a laboratory test, Humphrey has decided that former President Harry S. Truman was right—"give 'em hell."

This, in any case, was the cry the vice president heard repeatedly Sunday in Cleveland and Sunday night in Toledo where he was greeted by perhaps the largest night crowd to welcome him in any campaign city thus far.

Colombian Airlines 'Skyjacked' To Cuba

BOGOTA (UPI)—Colombia government officials today identified as well-known Communist guerrillas the men who hijacked two Colombian airliners on domestic flights Sunday and forced them to fly to Cuba.

Within two hours, they said, Ramon Garcia and Carlos Londono seized two Avianca Airlines planes with a total of 137 persons aboard after takeoff from Barranquilla and took them to separate airfields in Cuba. Neither landed in Havana.

"These acts of violence may be part of a plan directed from Havana," said Gen. Gerardo Ayerbe-Chaux, the minister of defense. He added they could hardly be considered "the result of a mere coincidence."

One of the airliners, a Boeing 727 jet with 71 passengers and a crew of six, landed at Camaguey in central Cuba. It was quickly released and returned to Barranquilla without Garcia. Government officials kept the passengers and crew sequestered from newsmen on their return.

The second plane, a propeller-driven DC4 with 56 passengers and a crew of four, went to Santiago de Cuba. It was kept there. Swiss diplomats in Havana indicated it would be returned today. There was no word on Londono.

The 727 was en route from Barranquilla to Cartagena while the DC4 was flying to Santa Maria when the hijackers took over. The hijackings brought to five the number of Colombia airliners diverted to Cuba in the last 12 months.

On Friday an Eastern Airlines plane flying from San Juan to Miami was hijacked with 45 persons aboard and flown to Cuba. The hijacker got off and the plane flew on to Miami Saturday.

Ayerbe-Chaux called a meeting of the military commanders of Colombia and their intelligence chiefs to adopt strict security measures to prevent further hijackings of domestic Colombia flights.

Two Dead In Knife Fight

GRANDFIELD, Okla. (UPI)—A knife fight Sunday left two men dead and another wounded in a Grandfield tavern following an argument over a woman.

The wounded man, arrested Sunday at his home in Wichita Falls, Tex., was to face extradition today on charges of murder.

The victims were identified as Herman Harris, 51, of Wichita Falls, and a Grandfield man, identified only as "Red." Investigating officers said the 62-year-old Red apparently wounded Frank Louis Smiley, 58.

Witnesses told police Harris and Red got into an argument and Harris was stabbed to death. Smiley then entered the fight, and Red was shot to death with a .25 caliber pistol Smiley had carried in his pocket, witnesses said.

Smiley, wounded by Red's knife, fled to his home in Wichita Falls, where he was arrested Sunday night on a warrant filed by Tillman County sheriff Tom Boyd of Frederick, Okla.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last month my husband was arrested and fined for drunken driving. (His first offense.) He had been drinking and he was driving, so technically he was guilty, although the write-up in the newspaper made it sound much worse than it really was.

We were so ashamed and embarrassed when it appeared in print.

Well, worse yet, the following week-end we drove to our former home town, which is 300 miles from here, to visit friends. When we got there, we learned that a "friend" who lives in the city where we presently live had mailed copies of that write-up to practically everybody we knew in our old home town. She excused it by attaching a note saying she knew they would want to know so they could pray for us.

What is your opinion of this deal?

HEARTSICK
DEAR HEARTSICK: It smells of mischief. Your holier-than-thou friend is, in my opinion, far more in need of prayers than you.

DEAR ABBY: The other morning while taking the groceries out of the car, I noticed several loose beads on the front seat.

Naturally I became upset because they were not my beads and no one besides my husband and I ever drive our car. When I showed the beads to my husband and asked him how they got there, he said he didn't know.

Since I am the only woman who has ridden in that car other than his mother, I can't help but wonder.

I told my husband that since he didn't know how they got there, he should try to find out in order to ease my mind.

He said, "Look, kid, I am not on trial, and I am not going to bother."

I love him and I want to believe him, but the doubts are still there. What would you do in this situation?

SICK AT HEART
DEAR SICK: I'd make a mental list of all the ways those beads could have gotten into the car. (1) Someone could have thrown them through an open window. (2) A parking attendant could have invited his girl friend to go for a spin around the block, or to sit with him while they listened to your radio and wore down your battery. But whatever you do, don't mention this to your husband again.

DEAR ABBY: This probably sounds dumb, but it bothers me. When you go to a movie with a guy and a love scene comes on the screen, what should you do? I mean, I hate to just sit there and act bored. Sometimes, though, the guy I'm with figures we're supposed to follow suit, and a lot of times I don't want to kiss him. I loathe the method of pretending to "drop" something — it's so childish, but what are you supposed to do?

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Kissing is (or should be) a spontaneous expression of honest affection. Let your own emotional barometer dictate your behavior. If you don't want to kiss your date, don't "drop" anything, except the unquestionable impression that you don't want to be kissed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOLLY: No, it is not "childish" to seek advice. It is more childish to remain ignorant and pretend you know all the answers. (No body does.)

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for yourself, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Sunday, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers (UFT), walked out of a meeting with a special subcommittee of the city Board of Education.

Shanker charged that the subcommittee could not assure him that an agreement which ended the strike for two days during its first week was still in effect.

The board later gave Shanker such an assurance and the UFT president predicted talks might resume Tuesday.

But the union leader said the schools could not possibly open before Thursday, if then, because that was the earliest his union could vote on the compromise.

Schools are normally closed today and Tuesday for Jewish holidays. Wednesday was the target date for reopening under the aborted compromise plan.

The agreement which the board said was still in effect involved promises of job security for teachers under a plan to decentralize the nation's largest school system and binding arbitration in all future teacher transfer.

'Ancient Mariner' Sailboat Found Deserted in Atlantic

MOSCOW (UPI)—The 11-foot sailboat in which "Ancient Mariner", William Willis was trying to sail across the Atlantic was reported found during the weekend, dismantled, deserted and sinking.

The Soviet news agency Tass said a Latvian fishing boat found the battered sailboat "Little One" Friday, 400 miles west of Ireland. Tass said Willis' passport and diary were found on board but there was no trace of the 75-year-old seafarer.

The last entry in the diary was dated July 18, Tass said. The boat had not been sighted since May 1, when the German-born New Yorker set sail from Montauk Point at Long Island's eastern tip on his third attempt to sail solo across the Atlantic.

Willis had successfully crossed the Pacific on a balsam raft in 1954 and 1964, reaching Australia on the second voyage.

Both of his previous attempts to cross that Atlantic, however ended in failure. Before setting out on his second voyage in the summer of 1967, Willis said he planned to pass the time on the long sail by doing "certain yoga exercises which will keep me young for another 25 years."

The sea had an irresistible fascination for Willis, who was born in 1893 in the German seaport city of Hamburg. As a boy, he hung around the waterfront as much as he could.

When he was 15, he shipped out in a four-masted bark bound for South America. He sailed the seas for 12 years before jumping ship in Galveston, Tex., and setting out to discover America.

He traveled around the country for nearly 20 years, working as a wrestler, an acrobat, a waiter or a construction man as the occasion arose.

In 1937, he renewed his seaman's papers and returned to the sea. A year later, he met and married Tess Phillips, a New Yorker, and from then on New York was his home port.

In 1954, he set out on the course of the "Kon Tiki" voyagers, and succeeded in sailing from Peru to Samoa on a primitive log raft. Ten years later he made his raft voyage to Australia.

Man Stabbed During Rally for Humphrey

CLEVELAND (UPI)—William McWilliam, 41, a Federal Aviation Agency attorney, was reported in serious condition today with a stab wound received during a melee at a political rally for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Police said McWilliam was stabbed in the back with a butcher knife wielded by a 14-year-old boy when McWilliam went to the aid of a policeman attacked by a gang of youths.

The stabbing occurred minutes before Humphrey began a speech to 8,000 persons gathered at Euclid Beach.

McWilliam was reported in serious condition at Euclid General Hospital. The boy who allegedly stabbed him was in police custody. The butcher knife, with a six-inch curved blade, was confiscated.

Five other persons, including two policemen, were injured in the disorder. Police arrested five persons. Police said the disorder did not appear to have any connection with Humphrey's appearance.

Bob Hope To Enter Race For President

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope says he will join the presidential race by announcing his candidacy on a nationwide telecast next Wednesday.

Hope said he will declare under the name of Gaylord Goodfellow, a bachelor surrounded by six beautiful girls. "You have your politics; I'll have mine," the veteran comic quipped. He was in town for a Shrine ceremonial session during the weekend.

Asked to assess the presidential race, Hope said, "well, everybody's running except the fugitive, the Muskie is a lesser-known Spiro Agnew."

He referred to the Democratic vice presidential candidate, Edmund Muskie. Agnew is the GOP vice presidential hopeful.

In response to a question whether he were a two-party man, Hope said: "It depends on whose there."

"Actually there are a lot of interesting people running for president. In fact I was at Chicago entertaining the troops at the Democratic National Convention.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A touch of sanity and dignity was brought to television's premiere season Sunday night when CBS presented an hour concert by the great pianist Vladimir Horowitz.

As an alternative to the current outpouring of situation comedies and melodramas, the Carnegie Hall concert by the master was soothing and most welcome. And CBS is to be congratulated for putting it on at a key prime time hour—in the slot normally reserved for the Smothers Brothers Show.

The concert was taped last February before an invited audience. And there is little anyone can add at this point about the continuing impact that Horowitz has on those privileged to watch him. His control, power, vitality and good humor were on display for all to see Sunday night. It was hard to believe he is 64.

One might have wished to see some more imaginative camera work on the broadcast, but this is a small point.

Earlier Sunday night, ABC-TV introduced another new one-hour confection by that Barnum of television fantasy, Irwin Allen. This one is called "Land of the Giants," and kids are sure to love this series about a group of earthlings whose spacecraft is drawn to a planet where everybody and everything are monstrously huge—and they are tiny.

There are effective visual tricks by the score, to emphasize the horrors of enormous insects, dogs, cats, human beings and plants. And there is plenty of violence, and of course every single bit of it is justified. And if grownup viewers can't expect the series to delve into the philosophy of the under-side of life, as, say, in "Archie and Mehitabel," well, at least Kurt Kasnar is in the cast, and that's something.

On Saturday night, meanwhile, NBC-TV introduced a half-hour comedy series based on, and bearing the title of, that charming old movie, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," which originally starred Rex Harrison and Gene Tierney. The television version offers Hope Lange and Edward Mulhare, and the tale concerns a young widow and her two children who move into an old England house still inhabited by the ghost of its former owner, a handsome 19th century sea captain.

There is real chemistry between Miss Lange and Mulhare, who are a highly attractive couple. And it would be nice to think that the series will emphasize the humorous, adult romance between them. But there are also the children and a cute dog—save us from another one—and assorted situation comedy types. And so you wonder. Romance doesn't sell in video series. Kids, dogs and dumb characters do. But one can hope. Just put the camera on Miss Lange and Mulhare, and they can carry it off. They're that good together.

Also on Saturday night, NBC-TV presented a new half-hour police melodrama, "Adam-12," which might be subtitled "Son of 'Dragnet.'" It is produced by the "Dragnet" people, looks like "Dragnet," sounds like "Dragnet"—and also features two officers, except these two drive a cruiser car instead of working in plain clothes. But "Dragnet" is pretty good, you know. And executive producer Jack Webb knows his job.

Friday night, the Susan Saint James show, also starring Tony Franciosa, Robert Stack and Gene Barry, bowed in on NBC-TV with the title "The Name of the Game," and deals with the stories covered by a publishing empire. Franciosa, Stack and Barry alternate in the 90-minute shows, and Miss Saint James is a Girl Friday of infinite charm and rare comedy talent.

AUSTIN, Tex.—A new Texas land war is raging. Land developers and Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler are in disagreement over the recently-revived $400 million state Veterans Land Program.

Mindful of the VLP scandals of the mid '50's, Sadler is adopting cautious, conservative policies to guide future state policies. Program permits qualified veterans to buy land on the low interest, long-term pay plan.

Developers claim Sadler is tight-fisted and is jeopardizing the program by low-calling land value appraisals and limiting sales to 10 per cent of large subdivisions.

Under Sadler's limits, developers with tracts of 1,000 acres can still only 100 acres through the state bond-financed program. The Commissioner argues that the state should not spend all its constitutionally-authorized bond funds in a few areas.

Central Texas developers counter that land values already are soaring and that veterans held out of the market now eventually will pay higher rates.

Sadler says land already is selling at prices beyond reason in Travis, Kerr, Bastrop and Hidalgo Counties. Realtors say Sadler's 25 appraisers are putting price tags on property $40 to $100 an acre too low right now. They claim qualified veterans are lining up to buy land at prevailing prices and the program is a "flop."

"Trying to make a fast buck at state expense," reprimands Sadler, who staunchly maintains he is having none of that kind of business.

WATER PLAN—Texas' monumental water program — to move surplus water from the Mississippi River and Northeast Texas to the drier areas of South and West Texas — is not to be released until late October or early November.

But the Texas Water Development Board, which is working up the plan, let some details slip out when its budget request was submitted to the Legislature for the two-year period beginning September, 1969.

Board's budget requests a more than 50 per cent increase in appropriations for the agency so it can get the plan into operation before Texas faces economic disaster from a lack of water.

A time schedule for the project — estimated to cost around $10 billion — will be presented to the Legislature, outlining what needs to be done in the next six years.

First step is gathering the surplus Northeast Texas water for the Tans-Texas Canal which will move water west to supply Dallas — Fort Worth, then on through the concrete-lined canal to the South Plains and other areas of West Texas and the Trans-Pecos, all the way to El Paso.

Then by the end of 1971, negotiations must be completed to bring surplus water from the lower Mississippi, below New Orleans, across Southern Louisiana, then into either the Sabine River or up the Red River to the Sulphur and Cypress Rivers.

By the middle of 1974, federal, state and private sources need to agree on the construction of nuclear-energy power-generating plants to produce the electricity necessary to run the hundreds of pumps which will actually move the water.

South Texas will be served by a South Texas Canal, which will run from the lower Sabine River near Orange down the coast to the Lower Rio Grande Valley. This project will need to be approved by Congress by mid-1972.

State will probably have to pay 25-30 per cent of the cost of the project. This means that the $400 million borrowing power the board now has will have to be expanded to at least $2.5 billion. Legislature would have to approve this in January, with the people voting on it in 1970.

NEW LIQUOR PROBE — A House committee probing influence of vending machine operators on tavern keepers will hold hearings in Austin, Fort Worth, Houston and probably two smaller cities.

Dallas Attorney David Witts was named chief counsel and investigator of the committee by the five-member panel headed by Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, in conference with Texas Liquor Control Board Acting Administrator O. N. Humphreys Jr.

Panel, armed with sworn statements from tavern operators, will look into rumors of Mafia and crime syndicate activity. Only witness heard to date said he knew of no such outside influences in his area. But he testified vending machine operators should be prohibited from lending money to taverns and drinking clubs.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Donald R. Fishel is new chief of Texas Liquor Control Board enforcement division. Sherman McBeath of Wichita Falls will replace Fishel as assistant enforcement chief, and Leonard J. Lozano of Poteet will be LCB supervisor of investigations.

Gov. John Connally named Bryan Beck Jr. of Beaumont and H. J. (Bubba) Shands Jr. of Lufkin to Lamar State College of Technology board of regents. He re-appointed Pat Peryton Jr. and Otho Plummer of Beaumont to new terms on same board.

William A. Wroe, Austin banker, has been appointed treasurer of the Republican Party of Texas.

Dr. Richard Tozer of Dallas is executive director of the Texas Nixon for President finance committee.

LOUDER SENATE — News-men and spectators in the Texas Senate have been complaining for years that they can't hear what the Senators are saying to each other on the floor, making it rather difficult to follow debate.

A San Antonio firm is solving that problem, at the request of a special Senate committee created by the June special session.

Company plans to install a powerful amplifier and 55 speakers around the chamber — specially attuned so that deep-throated Senators and high pitched ones, too, will be heard by all in the chamber.

Each senator will have an individual desk microphone, and a central panel at the president's desk will allow the Senators to be turned off and on by the Senate secretary.

Cost of the system will be from $20,000 to $25,000.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SPEAKS — A write-in vote for President and Vice President is valid and must be counted, regardless of whether the political party of the candidates "written in" has qualified to have names printed on the ballot, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held. Martin said if the Secretary of State has not been notified as to identify of the write-in candidates, income may be made by him as to the electors name.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

A county judge performing duties of county school superintendent (where office of superintendent is abolished) is not entitled to office and travel pay or salary of an assistant in addition to his $2,650 annual compensation for extra duty.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park revenues collected since last November 28 must be deposited in state parks fund with state treasurer.

Texas State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers can pay temporary employee to help handle its examination papers.

JUVENILE DELIQUENCY — Rep. Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls, chairman of the House Committee on Juvenile Crime, offers a new approach to juvenile — crime problems.

Stewart wants to pay Texas' 254 counties to "keep their young people out of trouble." This would involve a state program of paying the counties $2,000 a year for each juvenile they keep out of the state reformatories.

Proposal is based on the fact that not only is the state planning to spend $10 million in the next three or four years on building new Texas Youth Council facilities, but will also spend $2,000 per year per "student" to keep them in the "schools."

Stewart said his plan "would save the state taxpayers the cost of the buildings to house them and the county taxpayers the cost of the losses they create by delinquency."

MILK FREIGHT RATES — For the first time, Texas Railroad Commission has established rates, rules and regulations on the shipping of milk in relatively small quantities from dairy farms to milk processors.

Previously, rates were simply agreed on by the dairyman and the transporter.

New rates will be based on a mileage scale from 10 to 200 miles and are different for Grade A and ungraded milk and according to the size of the shipments, in four brackets from fewer than 5,000 pounds up to 10,000 pounds and more.

Rate charts — Motor Freight Commodity Tariff No. 30 — are available free from the Railroad Commission, Transportation Rate Section, Austin.

Attorney general said his office has obtained an injunction against Chapman Oil Company of Fort Worth for distributing barrels of fake Chevron Oil.

Water Development Board will lend $2 million maximum to the San Jacinto River Authority for Conroe Dam and Reservoir.

State general fund surplus at start of new fiscal year was $32.9 million says State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

A $100,500 federal grant has been approved for Marina Bay Park recreation facilities at Wichita Falls.

Of the 60 Texas school districts that the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare said last March were not meeting federal desegregation standards, 47 now are clear, 10 are still up for HEW hearings, two are awaiting federal rulings and one (Carthage) has had its federal funds cut off.

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—At least 29 persons were injured Saturday, one critically, when 35 vehicles crashed in a fiery chain reaction collision covering more than a mile of the fog-shrouded New Jersey Turnpike.

Foreign News Commentary

Against a background of war weariness among the people of both the United States and South Vietnam and the total lack of progress in the Paris talks, an interesting new line of speculation has opened up in Saigon.

It was triggered by President Nguyen Van Thieu's surprise announcement that he would ask Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh to act as a presidential adviser when he returns from exile in Bangkok in November.

The announcement was the more surprising since Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky had banned Minh from the 1967 presidential elections, presumably on the grounds that he remained a suspected neutralist who favored negotiations with the Communists.

Thieu said in his announcement that he wished to further "a policy of national unity and reconciliation."

Minh, known as "Big Minh" for the fact that he is nearly six feet tall, led the revolt which toppled the Ngo Dinh Diem regime in Nov. 1, 1963.

Through 1964, a turbulent period which saw a dozen government coups, attempted coups and government shakeups, he served in various posts, including those of premier and chief of state.

In 1965, he finally lost the power struggle and wound up in exile in Thailand. He remained, however, one of the most popular figures in South Vietnam, enjoying special support among the Buddhists. The Buddhists frequently criticized U.S. policy and accused the United States of being interested only in the elimination of Communists and not in the welfare of South Vietnam.

Thus Minh's return could mean much or little. The North Vietnamese have refrained from criticizing him and he has a brother reportedly high in Viet Cong ranks.

A new device is said to be the first designed to be permanently attached to the steering column of a car and make it virtually immovable. The idea is to prevent theft of the vehicle. The device is installed on the shaft column of the steering wheel, opposite the gear selector, on any automatic transmission car, locking it in "park" position. The unit has been designed so that the radio, heater, air conditioner and lights can be operated while the gear selector is locked in "park." With the lock on, thieves cannot start the motor by jumping the ignition.

In 1943, the United States, Britain, Russia and China established the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration to help war-liberated areas of the world.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Simpson Leads Trojans Over Minnesota 11

By STEVE SMILANICH
UPI Sports Writer

O. J. Simpson, the king of last year's college football heroes, is showing no signs of abdicating his title.

Simpson, out to gain the only major award which eluded him last year, the Heisman Trophy, got a running start toward that goal Saturday when the powerful University of Southern California halfback led the defending national champion Trojans to a 29-20 conquest of Minnesota.

Purdue's Leroy Keyes, Simpson's chief challenger for the Heisman Trophy, also had an outstanding day in leading the Boilermakers to a 44-6 route of Virginia.

But Keyes' effort couldn't match that of Simpson, whose clutch running against the Golden Gophers was reminiscent of last year when he pulled the Trojans to victory over UCLA and Indiana with swift surges to the goal. The USC speedster tallied four touchdowns in the season-opening win over Minnesota.

Close Contest

Simpson broke through for two quick touchdowns in the final quarter—the last with a minute and a half to go—to give the Trojans the hard-earned win.

Notre Dame's Terry Hanratty, also a Heisman hopeful, passed for a pair of touchdowns as the Irish turned on the power in the second half to crush Oklahoma, 45-21.

Keyes and Hanratty engage in a personal duel as Purdue and Notre Dame tangle in the biggest game of the early season next Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

USC will continue to campaign in the Midwest with the Trojans favored to down Northwestern, a 28-7 loser to

St. Louis Cardinals' Pitching Staff Falters

By GEORGE BUCKLEY
UPI Sports Writer

The oddsmakers had better take a closer look at the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards, so far an 8-5 favorite to take the World Series, have been looking like anything but the 1968 world champions.

The Redbirds have now lost 12 of their last 17 games as their pitching staff has fallen apart. Their five starters have taken the decision in all but one of those 12 losses.

Even the ace of the staff, Bob Gibson, has faltered with a 2-3 mark for the month of September and has lost three of his last four decisions, including a 3-2 loss to Los Angeles Sunday.

Beyond Gibson pitching the first game of the series, Cardinal starters are in doubt. And even Gibson can't be any more than an even choice over the Tigers' 31-game winner Denny McLain.

Gibson, in taking his ninth loss of the season against 21 wins, went the route as the Dodgers scored the winning run on an error, sweeping the three-game series.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh beat Chicago, 5-1, New York topped Philadelphia, 5-2, Houston knocked off Cincinnati, 6-1 and San Francisco bombed Atlanta, 10-2.

In the American League, Washington blanked Detroit, 6-0, Boston beat New York, 5-1, Cleveland nipped California, 2-1, Minnesota trimmed Oakland, 2-1, and Baltimore whitewashed Chicago, 3-0.

Gene Alley drove in two runs with a homer and a single for the Pirates as Bob Moose picked up his eighth victory in 18 decisions.

Ron Swoboda's two-run single and a squeeze bunt by Bud Harrelson sparked a three-run rally as Jim McAndrew gained his fourth win in 11 decisions for the Mets.

Jim Wynn's two home runs and Denis Menke's two-run double gave the Astros' Mike Cuellar his seventh victory against 10 losses.

Willie McCovey drove in four runs and Willie Mays scored three times as the Giants' Bob Bolin went the route picking up his 10th victory against five losses.

Tovar Plays All Nine Positions In Twins Victory

By STEVE SCHWARTZ
UPI Sports Writer

Cesar Tovar has done William R. Walsh and Bert Campaneris one better.

Walsh was the first major leaguer to play all nine positions in a full season, Campaneris was the first to do it in a single game and Tovar is the only player to do it in a winning game.

The slick-fielding Venezuelan started Sunday's 2-1 Minnesota victory over Oakland on the pitcher's mound. He struck out Reggie Jackson, walked Danny Cater and balled when he took a boulder stretch to hold Cater on first as he didn't allow a ball out of the infield.

Tovar then switched to the catcher's position and moved his way around the infield on an inning-by-inning basis.

All-Around Skill

He pulled off a fielding gem in the third at first base, throwing out Jackson from his knees and made a perfect throw from center in the eight to stop Campaneris from taking third on a sacrifice. He made a total of six put outs and one assist.

Walsh had played all nine positions over a 154-game schedule for the 1911 Philadelphia Athletics. Campaneris turned the trick for Kansas City in a 1965 contest with California which the A's dropped in 13 innings.

In other American League games, Washington blanked Detroit, 6-0, Boston downed New York, 5-1, Cleveland edged California, 2-1, and Baltimore shut out Chicago, 3-0.

In that National League, Houston whipped Cincinnati, 6-1, New York topped Philadelphia, 5-2, Pittsburgh beat Chicago, 5-1, San Francisco walloped Atlanta, 10-2 and Los Angeles nipped St. Louis, 3-2.

Tovar, voted by his teammates the Twins' most valuable player last year, also started Minnesota's scoring in the third when he singled, stole second and scored on Bob Allison's triple. Rookie Tom Hall, 2-1, got the win with relief help from Al Worthington.

Miami (Fla.) last Friday night.

The biggest surprises during the first big weekend of the new season took place at Los Angeles and at Iowa City, Iowa. UCLA, starting a new campaign without departed Gary Beban, trounced Pittsburgh, 63-7. The Uclans were favored but the margin of victory came as a surprise and so did the performances of new quarterbacks Bill Bolden and Jim Nader.

Hawkeyes upset Beavers

Coach Ray Nagel's University of Iowa team played an alert and aggressive game against Oregon State and the Hawkeyes upset the Beavers, 21-20.

In other big games last Saturday, Wyoming evened its record at 1-1 by walloping Utah State, 48-3, Indiana squeaked by Baylor, 40-38, Alabama edged Virginia Tech, 14-7, Penn State downed Navy, 31-6, Army stopped Citadel, 34-14, Houston and Texas battled to a thrilling 20-20 tie, Florida nipped Air Force, 23-20, Georgia Tech beat Texas Christian, 17-7, North Carolina State trounced North Carolina, 38-6, LSU edged Texas A. and M., 13-12, California stopped Michigan, 21-7, Nebraska shut out Utah, 31-0, and Arizona State crushed Wisconsin, 55-7.

This Saturday sends Wyoming against Air Force, Alabama at Southern Mississippi, Florida at Florida State, Georgia Tech at Miami of Florida, Maryland at Syracuse, Memphis State at Tennessee, Nebraska at Minnesota, Southern Methodist at Ohio State, Texas Tech at Texas and Connecticut at Yale.

Nichols, Archer Win PGA Team Championship

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—"Stick a fork in me, I'm done," said big Bobby Nichols, as he and sidekick George Archer prepared to split their $40,000 first place money from the PGA team championship.

"This is a good way to close out the year, isn't it?" Nichols asked.

Archer and Nichols shot a sizzling 7-under-par 65 Sunday to break out of a "three-way tie for fifth place and outpace Rives McBee and Monty Kaser by two strokes in the $200,000 tournament.

The 6-foot-6 Archer and 6-foot-2 Nichols replaced Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus in the team throne room with a 22-under-par 265, but the new champions gave part of the credit for their victory to Palmer and Nicklaus, their foursome mates in the first round.

"I enjoyed playing with them," Nichols said, "I think it got us off to a good start.

"A big crowd around the green knocks the wind down," making it easier to control the ball, Nichols added. "A lot of people don't realize that."

Nichols and Archer fired three straight birdies to start their final round. The blitz propelled them into a one-stroke lead, which they increased in a rush to the clubhouse.

The McBee-Kaser duo, which was tied for first with Dale Douglass and Hale Irwin at 17-under—after the third round, could not keep pace with Archer-Nichols and finished at 267, good enough for $12,000 apiece. Douglass and Irwin carded a par 72 Sunday and dropped to sixth place.

Tom Wiskopf and R.H. Sikes were three under par Sunday to claim third place and $7,500 each with a team total of 19-under-par 268.

Palmer and Nicklaus won $1,600 apiece by tying for 15th place with a 14-under-par 273.

Vikings Upset Champs Green Bay Just Another Team?

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Which way will the Green Bay Packers bounce?

That's the question raised in the National Football League today after the Minnesota Vikings' upset 26-13 victory over the world champions Sunday. Did that triumph demonstrate that the Packers have become just another football team? Or does it merely mean that the Packers are starting slowly this season as they did in 1967 and still retain the championship touch?

One fact is clear—the Vikings beat the Packers at their own game, retaining tight ball control, intercepting two passes and making the clutch first-down plays.

Joe Kapp guided the Viking victory with his short pinpoint passes—and twice sent Bill Brown over the goal line on short runs as Minnesota built a 16-0 halftime lead. Bart Starr scored on a 10-yard rollout climaxed a 66-yard drive early in the third period but the Vikings struck right back with an 83-yard march to take a 23-6 lead that clinched the contest.

Vikings Leading Division

The victory was the Vikings' second straight and gave them sole possession of first place in the Central Division of the NFL. The Packers are tied at 1-1 with the Detroit Lions, whom they play next week. The Lions routed the Chicago Bears, 42-0, Sunday.

The Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts remained unbeaten and tied for first place in the Coastal Division, the Rams by routing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 45-10, and the Colts by beating the Atlanta Falcons, 28-20.

Roman Gabriel threw touchdown passes of five and 55 yards to Bernie Casey and 28 and one yard to Dick Bass in a game that was close until the middle of the second period. Then the Rams broke loose to take a 31-10 halftime lead and rested Gabriel and their defensive front four for most of the second half.

Morrall Scores Three

Earl Morrall, filling in for injured Johnny Unitas for the second straight game, threw three touchdown passes in the first half and set up a fourth touchdown in the final period.

Dallas Defense 'Not Yet Great'

DALLAS (UPI)—Tom Landry has a stock reply when questioned about his Dallas Cowboy defense. Never varied, it goes:

"We have a good defense, but not a great one."

Landry was given a chance to change his script Sunday when his defensive crew held the potent Cleveland Browns ground attack to a paltry 87 yards, sending the Cowboys to a 28-7 win.

Does the Dallas head coach think the defense is ready for movement up his personal adjective ladder? Apparently not.

"I was pleased with our defense in stopping their running game," Landry said, "but on the touchdown pass to (Paul) Warfield we went to sleep."

Landry is a tough man to please. That was the only touchdown Cleveland got.

It came on a 55-yard toss from quarterback Frank Ryan to Warfield in the second quarter, and it was about the only pleasant moment Cleveland had.

It was the second win in two outings for the Cowboys and put them, along with the undefeated New York Giants, atop the National Football League's Capitol Division, Cleveland is 1-1.

Since Cleveland did not seem to be using its running game to good advantage Sunday, the Cowboys decided to borrow it.

Dallas picked up 203 yards on the ground, most of it coming on carries by Don Perkins and Dan Reeves through giant holes provided by a Dallas offensive line that has improved with every game until it now rates as one of the best in the league.

Reeves scored twice on carries of four and one yards.

Those two scores came in the second half after Dallas had picked up first half points on a 2-yard run by Craig Baynham and a 20-yard fumble recovery jaunt by huge Willie Townes. It was the big defensive end's first score as a professional.

The Cowboys used a mixture of running and passing in building up its 14-7 halftime lead, but during the second half they implemented classic ball-control drives designed not only to run down the clock but to run down the Browns defense on a muggy, strength-sapping day.

The strategy appeared to pay off, although the Browns denied the weather slowed them down during the final 30 minutes.

"The team ran down toward the end, but I don't think the weather was a factor," said Ryan. "I don't know what happened."

Ryan, finding his running lanes blocked at every turn, tried to get things going in the second half by the air route.

He was able to move his club into Dallas territory only once in the second half, however, and that drive came to grief when Dallas threw Cleveland right back into its own end of the field. Ryan still completed 10 of 17 passes for 194 yards.

His counterpart, Dandy Don Meredith, also completed 10 of 17 for 156 yards.

Dallas dominated every phase of the game, and Cleveland coach Blanton Collier was the first to admit it.

"They are a better ball club," he said. "They have been together a long time.

The Dallas defense has been together a few years, but at least according to its coach, it is still short of greatness."

Namath Shares Headlines With Alabama's Crane

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Joe Namath doesn't mind sharing the headlines with Paul Crane so long as it's kept in the family.

Both are products from the University of Alabama and they returned to Birmingham Sunday for their first regular season game as pros.

Namath is an established man with a golden arm worth millions to the New York Jets. Crane, Namath's teammate on Crimson Tide squads in 1963-64 and an All-America center in 1965, has languished among the second-string defensive backs since turning pro.

Crane staged the key defensive move of the game and knocked the Boston Patriots out of the unbeaten list when he blocked a Bob Scarpitto punt in the third period with the Jets' leading by a slim 20-17 score. The Jets capitalized on the break and went on to defeat the Pats, 47-31, for the undisputed lead in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

Cincinnati and Kansas City each won their second games of the season as the Bengals defeated Buffalo, 34-23, and the Chiefs routed Denver, 34-2.

Turner Set Record

Namath threw touchdown passes of 39 yards to Don Maynard and 31 to Pete Lammons and Jim Turner kicked a club record four goals for the game's opening score.

Taliaferro clicked on a 70-yard pass to Amos Marsh in retaliation and Mel Witt intercepted a Namath pass four yards away from the Jets' goal line and ran it over.

Paul Brown's surprising Cincinnati Bengals spoiled the debut of Buffalo Coach Harvey Johnson as they produced a defense to match a rushing game highlighted by Warren McVea's 80-yard touchdown gallop from scrimmage in the first quarter. On defense, Charlie Kner ran back a Dan Darragh pass 32 yards and Al Beauchamp duplicated the feat for a 17-yard touchdown.

Kickoff Run

Max Anderson was the bulk of the Buffalo offense as he ran back a kickoff 100 yards for a sweep.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.
We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

U.S. Or U.N. Foreign Policy?

Charles E. Thompson of McAllen, Tex., has sent Freedom Newspapers a copy of an executive order issued by President Johnson on imposing additional trade restrictions on Southern Rhodesia.
The order supplements previous restrictions announced in January of 1967 and was issued by the President "by virtue of authority invested in me by the Constitution... of the United States, and including section 5 of the United Nations Participation Act of 1945."
Note that the President acted not only on authority by additional power invested in him by the U.N., U.S. foreign policy has, for the most part, been determined by the UN since its organization in 1945 and there's nothing new in the action. We just mentioned it to remind you of the heavy hand the UN has in U.S. affairs. Things are not like they used to be, unfortunately.
When Rhodesia refused to establish a one-man-one vote democracy, the United Nations rose fearlessly to the challenge and imposed economic sanctions against that prosperous and orderly if not altogether representative African republic.
Ah, would that the UN were always so courageous. For example:
In 1953, when tanks were used to stamp out the rioting in East Germany to protest the oppressive Red government, the UN somehow failed to find the courage to act as it did later in the case of Rhodesia.
In 1956, Russian tanks moved into Budapest to crush the Hungarian Freedom Fighters and to kidnap and later execute the Hungarian chiefs - of state. But, again, the UN did not impose economic sanctions against Russia.
When India annexed by force of arms the Portuguese colony of Goa - a Portuguese possession for centuries - the UN did not suggest sanctions against India.
Now it is tiny Czechoslovakia that's trying to re-establish some of the basic freedoms the UN professes to defend - that finds itself the victim of tyranny. But the tyrant is the USSR, moving in with its war machine to give the world a flashback display of 19th century imperialism.

What will the UN do? You can be sure there will be no economic sanctions against Russia. It is too big, too powerful, too warlike and too barbaric for the UN to suggest anything like economic sanctions.
The UN is a bully and a hypocrite. It exerts force only against the small and weak. It finds convenient ways of ignoring - beyond incipient protests, which soon are forgotten - the injustices of the powerful.
The Chicago Tribune had this to say on the matter:
"In Czechoslovakia we have a clear and flagrant violation of Russia and its more closely tethered allies of the UN Charter, under which no member may use or threaten force against the territory or political independence of another. If the UN could be indignant over the alleged sins of Rhodesia, it should be a hundred times more indignant now."
"But knowing the UN, we cannot expect the courage necessary to challenge Russia. Knowing Russia we can expect it to veto any such suggestion that might reach the vetoing stage, and to repeat its charge that the liberals of Czechoslovakia were to blame. And knowing our own record at the UN, we wouldn't be surprised to find the United States backing economic sanctions against Czechoslovakia on the ground that it had invited the aggression of its neighbors. This is the way things get distorted when viewed through the curious looking glasses at the UN."
Clearly, if the United States believes in self-determination of peoples, it should get out of the UN at once and should quit trying to build bridges to a nation that has demonstrated it is opposed to any self-determination by any people anywhere.

Richard Nixon is out to win the hearts and minds and votes of the "forgotten Americans," the great middle class. Hubert Humphrey is aiming at the same group, though he calls them by a different name - the "silent" or "moderate majority." And George Wallace is certainly not pitching his appeal to any racial or economic minorities.
Just who is this forgotten, silent, moderate, much-courted American?
Basically, he is a man who has never had things so good for him as he has had things so bad. This man is staunchly in favor of law and order in the cities and the use of stern measures against rioters. The union he belongs to continues to keep out Negroes who are trying to learn the skills that will give them decent wages and living conditions.
Or he is a businessman who grew up in poverty during the Depression. Thanks to a loan that got him started, he now runs his own prosperous plant, supplying parts to a larger company with a lucrative defense contract.
This man is sick and tired of high taxes and bureaucratic interference in free enterprise. He may also be a man who fought for his country in World War II. In reward for his services, the government paid for his college education entirely. A GI loan enabled him to buy his first house with no down payment and low interest.
He eventually traded this home up for a bigger one in a better suburb. He is not against equality, but he is getting fed up with the demands of some people. He feels that if they want the good things in life, they should earn them, just as he did.

These particular "forgotten Americans," who constitute a significant if unknown portion of the electorate, might perhaps more accurately be called the "forgotten Americans."
There are millions of others, however, who have not forgotten the benefits they have received or gained for themselves through the American system, who realize that the same benefits must be accorded to all citizens who have generally approved of or at least understood the vast social changes that have taken place in the past decade, who know that there are no simple, "right" answers to the complex problems that face a great and varied nation.
Yet, they, too, are possessed by the disturbing feeling that the country is off the track, that somehow things are coming apart at the seams.
They see the new generation, which has been given more opportunities and more education than any previous generation, apparently rejecting the very society that gave it these things and either "dropping out" or slashing away at the philosophical and moral and political underpinnings of the nation itself. After all these years, they are now being told that everything they have believed is false, everything they have valued is a sham, that the Republic is an outmoded fraud and that it and they are sick.
These concerned, confused Americans don't know what the solution is, but most disturbing of all, many are far from sure that any of the presidential candidates knows either.
The nation desperately needs a savior. Is one in sight?

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government, which will not insure answers.)

QUESTION: Why do so many adults believe they can get something for nothing?

ANSWER: That's a difficult question to answer because every person is different, so there would be different reasons for each person.
Probably a main reason is that politicians - local, state, and national - are making the public believe that government can give them something without taking it from somebody else. And even when the public realizes that the government can give them something without taking it from somebody else, the politicians have made them believe that this will not harm anybody.
But it does, in fact, hurt everybody. When the government takes property from a person, his ability to accumulate tools is reduced, and when there are less tools, there are fewer jobs and higher prices since tools enable men to produce more, which lowers the prices, and when prices go down, people can afford to buy more of various kinds of goods and services, and this creates more jobs. When there are fewer jobs and higher prices, the people who are hurt the most are the poor, the very young, the aged, and those who are handicapped in any way. They can't get work and the prices of things they need are so high they can buy only bare necessities.
Another main reason, of course, is that people are taught, as children, in most cases, that they are entitled to "free" government schooling. And the schools indoctrinate them to believe that the school is free and they have the right to the schooling without paying for it. Schools are not free by any means. The amount of taxes required to maintain the schools and the cost to all people in higher prices, as a result, is so hidden and tangled up that people have no way of knowing what they are really paying for schools.
But whatever the schools cost, and however it is paid, this is not as harmful as what is taught there. The government controlled schools have to teach that people get their rights from the State rather than from God or nature. In other words, since the schools themselves are based on a double standard of right, in order to justify themselves and preserve themselves, they have to teach their pupils to believe in a double standard of right - that is, that the State has a right to do a thing no individual has a moral right to do. If the schools taught that the State cannot do what an individual cannot morally do, people would soon see that the schools are immoral, and they would disband them.
No individual would contend that he had a right to force another man to pay for something the man didn't want to use. Yet that same individual turns right around and contends that if the majority, or the agents of the majority, declare he must pay, he must pay. And the majority can back it with a gun, and the man is helpless.
The belief by adults that they can get something for nothing has led to the destruction and decay of civilization all through history. The United States is entirely different now, as far as beliefs are concerned, from what it was at the time the Declaration of Independence was written. During the present century we've been continually declining in moral standards. And when morals go to pieces, economics and everything suffer.

Republican Committee Charge Perkins is Falling To Probe Anti Poverty Scandals, Vow Clean - Up in '68

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON - The administration controlled House Education and Labor Committee is continuing to flatly refuse to investigate the scandal riddled anti-poverty program on which more than $6 billion has been spent since it was launched in 1964.
Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman, has brusquely rejected demands that two new outrages be probed - as he has unyieldingly balked at acting on numerous other similar requests.
The latest proposals were made by Representatives John Erlenborn, R-Ill., and William Steiger, R-Wis. Erlenborn urged that the committee look into a recent outbreak of violence at the University of Illinois in which several hundred students financed by anti-poverty funds took part and were arrested. Steiger asked the same be done regarding disclosures that some $300,000 in neighborhood Youth Corps funds in New York City "had been stolen in wide-scale and systematic pilfering."
Perkins' reaction to these latest anti-poverty scandals has been to ignore them, as he has many others before them. The veteran Kentucky legislator has unwaveringly followed White House policy in vigorously resisting all efforts to investigate in this election year the constant barrage of complaints, grievances and outrages about various aspects of the huge and furiously controversial anti-poverty program.
Steiger caustically assailed this administration - imposed black-out. He termed it a deliberate suppression of information involving widespread corruption, waste, bungling and fumbling.
"One has only to pick up the daily newspaper," he said, and read with monotonous regularity details of scandals involving fictitious checks, payroll padding, embezzlement and other outrages in this program. In recent months the most prominent of these scandals have been the shocking disclosures regarding the Blackstone Rangers in Chicago, Pride, Inc., in Washington, D.C., and the shortage of hundreds of thousands of dollars in Haryou - Act program in New York.
"It is extremely regrettable that while these situations are permitted to occur, Congress must ascertain the details from newspapers and other media. During the past year, Republican members of the House Education and Labor Committee have repeatedly requested, urged and suggested investigations of these sensational disclosures. In every instance they have been met with unyielding denials and rebuffs.
"The time is long overdue for constructive measures being taken to ascertain the causes and reasons for this persistent and nationwide dissipation and squandering of anti-poverty funds. We have been put on notice time after time that these sordid and costly frauds and scandals will continue until and unless responsible leadership and the necessary oversight is provided for this multi-billion dollar program."

As in the past this exhortation drew no reply from committee chairman Perkins, the White House or any other administration spokesman, Steiger's blistering blast was greeted with stony silence.
Republican control of the House in the new Congress, that convenes early in January, will mean a quick and drastic change in this policy of suppression.
A sweeping investigation of all aspects of the anti-poverty program vigorously pressed. There will be no punch pulling or soft-pedaling.
That is the flat pledge of Rep. William Ayres, Ohio, senior Republican member of the Education and Labor Committee who will replace Perkins as chairman. Ayres has been in the forefront of the long fight for probes. In the past year he has sent Perkins numerous formal demands for them - all to no avail.
Several months ago, in a public attack, Ayres charged that the committee "under administration instructions was sweeping under the rug the many inadequacies and maladministration of the anti-poverty program."
Only the Administration's fear of shocking and embarrassing revelations could be the reason for the failure to use the powers of the "oversight functions" of the committee, Ayres contended. "Never before have I served under a chairman, Republican or Democrat," said Ayres, "who refused to permit his committee to perform its functions."
"But things will be very different when the Republicans take over."
"One of the first things we will do," declared Ayres, "will be to dig into this malodorous anti-poverty mess. There is a huge accumulation of scandals and infamies of every kind, and we will drag them out into the open fully and clearly and without fear or favor. We are going to get to the bottom of all of these outrages, who is responsible for them and why, and let the chips fall where they may. There will be a thorough house cleaning that has long been urgently needed."
As proof, Ayres cited the many requests and demands for investigation adamantly ignored by Perkins, at White House behest. Following are some outstanding instances:
July 26, 1968 - Disclosure by Cleveland, O., newspapers that militant Negro Nationalist leaders active in the violence and riots in that city had received some $50,000 in anti-poverty grants.

May 10, 1968 - Evidence that the "Philadelphia Community Action Agency has been used as a political instrument by the mayor and top city officials."
May 15, 1968 - Reports of payroll padding and diversion of Neighborhood Youth Corps funds "that run into the millions." "You will recall," Ayres wrote Perkins, "the scandals in the Boston Neighborhood Youth Corps, where techniques similar to those reported in the New York program occurred. You are also well aware that I have never been satisfied with the loose administration of the anti-poverty funds and the almost complete lack of final accountability and regular and effective audits."
April 4, 1968 - Disclosure by Des Moines, Iowa, Newspaper that thousands of dollars of training funds "were funneled into the Iowa Department of Public Safety for an on-the-job training program that existed only on paper."
February 28, 1968 - A report from Rep. Robert Blaimo, D-Conn., charging that the "poor of the New Haven area are not benefiting substantially from anti-poverty funds. On the contrary, it appears that much of the money is consumed before it reaches the program level."
January 30, 1968 - Authoritative information that "There has been extensive shifting around of anti-poverty funds to accommodate the President's concentrated employment program. This is having a profound effect on other programs approved by Congress. These are matters of urgent national interest affecting millions of Americans and every section of urgent national interest affecting millions of Americans and every section of the nation. I strongly urge that public hearings be held at an early date."
As in the case of all other such requests, Perkins turned a deaf ear. He filed them and ignored them.

WASHINGTON: The Lessons of Korea Are Being Applied to Vietnam

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) - In part, President Johnson hasn't stopped bombing North Vietnam because his Secretary of State Dean Rusk remembers Korea and Pannunjom all too well.
At the time of Korea, Rusk was assistant secretary of state for the Far East. He did much of the behind-the-scenes masterminding for the Pannunjom talks.
Rusk and his aides have thought a great deal about those frustrating days. The lessons of Korea are today being applied to Vietnam.
As State Department men who were in on Korea see it now, the greatest mistake the United States made at Pannunjom was to make good will concessions to get the talks going.
The old-timers believe these concessions caused the war to last a year longer and thus led to the unnecessary loss of many American and Allied lives.
These diplomats also believe, in hindsight, the one-sided concessions resulted in an armistice agreement far less favorable than we could otherwise have achieved.
As men who were in on these negotiations analyze it, if West-ern negotiators agreed to a North Korean proposal without insisting on an equal concession, the North Koreans immediately concluded that our position was deteriorating. They became more aggressive and even less conciliatory. They immediately came up with further demands that we must meet before the discussions could move ahead.
At Pannunjom, for example, the North Koreans insisted the first order of business must be to fix the armistice line. Otherwise the talks could not proceed. Washington became impatient with the delays and agreed. Once the line was agreed to, the military pressure was off the North Koreans. There was no inducement for them to agree to anything. They could, in safety, bring in troops, rebuild their airfields and strengthen their positions so firmly that if the talks broke down it would be too expensive for the United States to resume the advance.

Had the United States stood firm on insisting that the truce line would be the line of contact at the time the armistice was signed, the United Nations forces could have kept up the pressure. Every day of delay would have cost the North Koreans and their Communist Chinese allies. The experts think this would have shortened the talks by 12 months.
By contrast, U.S. negotiators learned that when they dug in and were as hard-nosed as the North Koreans, they got results. They achieved even greater results when the United Nations made the North Koreans pay a price for delays.
Hanoi today insists it won't talk until the United States stops the northern bombing "unconditionally."
An "unconditional" bombing halt would take the military pressure off the North Vietnamese homeland, but not off the South Vietnamese cities and villages or off the U.S. or South Vietnamese or Allied troops. It would signal to Hanoi that the U.S. position was weak. It would convince Ho Chi Minh that if he stalls longer he will get more; it would cause Ho's men to raise their ante.
That is, if the Korean example is valid and if President Johnson holds the bombing, this U.S. concession would lead to further demands before talks could successfully proceed.
This Ho strategy has already been signaled, as noted in a recent newspaper headline which said, "Bomb Halt Alone Won't End Stalemate, Hanoi Indicates."

Wheat Experts In Jeopardy
(Chicago Tribune)
The Senate last June ratified the international grains arrangement, a treaty which included a wheat trade convention that was publicized as a boon to wheat growers everywhere. The pact sets minimum and maximum prices for wheat in the world market and allocates markets among major exporters on the basis of historical shares. No sooner had the Senate acted than the Johnson administration proclaimed the pact would improve world wheat prices, raise American farm income, and ease our balance-of-payments problems.
Unfortunately, things haven't worked out that way. As critics of the pact predicted, American wheat exports have dropped sharply, reflecting resistance among foreign buyers to higher minimum prices under the pact. Domestic wheat prices are at a 26-year low, with little prospect of any substantial rise because of a record crop and a further buildup of surpluses.
Moreover while the United States has been holding the line on prices under the pact, France has been undercutting us with subsidized wheat exports which threaten to steal some of our traditional markets, particularly in the Far East.

This state of affairs is of particular interest to Midwest farmers, inasmuch as French wheat competes with soft wheat produced in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Ohio, as well as in the Pacific northwest. It is also of major significance to the whole American farm economy, which depends on exports to take at least half the annual wheat crop.
Currently, minimum prices for soft wheat under the treaty are about 40 cents a bushel higher at gulf ports than the market price to farmers. This means that American wheat growers are in an excellent position to compete for foreign markets. The French action demonstrates that the administration's efforts to fix prices and allocate supplies in world markets are no more successful than they are in the domestic farm economy.
When a merchant finds himself overstocked with overpriced merchandise, he holds a sale to clear his shelves. It's time the administration took the lead off American farmers and let them compete for markets, instead of waiting for a "by your leave" from other nations.

Wanted: A Savior For The Nation

Richard Nixon is out to win the hearts and minds and votes of the "forgotten Americans," the great middle class. Hubert Humphrey is aiming at the same group, though he calls them by a different name - the "silent" or "moderate majority." And George Wallace is certainly not pitching his appeal to any racial or economic minorities.
Just who is this forgotten, silent, moderate, much-courted American?
Basically, he is a man who has never had things so good for him as he has had things so bad. This man is staunchly in favor of law and order in the cities and the use of stern measures against rioters. The union he belongs to continues to keep out Negroes who are trying to learn the skills that will give them decent wages and living conditions.
Or he is a businessman who grew up in poverty during the Depression. Thanks to a loan that got him started, he now runs his own prosperous plant, supplying parts to a larger company with a lucrative defense contract.
This man is sick and tired of high taxes and bureaucratic interference in free enterprise. He may also be a man who fought for his country in World War II. In reward for his services, the government paid for his college education entirely. A GI loan enabled him to buy his first house with no down payment and low interest.
He eventually traded this home up for a bigger one in a better suburb. He is not against equality, but he is getting fed up with the demands of some people. He feels that if they want the good things in life, they should earn them, just

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Because it is only 1/3 as salty as the neighboring North Sea, the Baltic Sea freezes more solidly and has 90 per cent fewer species of marine life. The World Almanac says. More than 250 North European rivers and the drainage of land area over four times greater than the Baltic pour fresh water into the sea.
