Reds Attack Allied Bases

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—For the first time since President Johnson halted the bombardment of North Vietnam Nov. 1, Communist gunners have used positions in the border Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) to shell allied bases on South Vietnam's northern tier, military spokesmen said today.

The artillery, mortar and rocket barrages against one South Vietnamese and three U.S. Marine outposts Sunday killed four leathernecks and wounded 41.

Meanwhile, Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, deputy commander of U.S. Forces in Vietnam, said today recent allied victories "marked the end of any serious pretention" by the Communists to mount a new Vietnam offensive.

U.S. negotiators at Paris had demanded a withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from the six-mile-wide DMZ in exchange for the bombing halt. But it was never spelled out whether the Hanoi delegation had agreed to that condition.

Marine officials said spotter pilots and ground troops sighted Communist gun sites a half mile and a mile deep into the buffer zone and called in American warplanes to batter them.

Bomb Rocket Site
The divebomber pilots said they knocked out one rocket and 10 bunkers. Battlefield reports said the North Vietnamese used 75mm artillery and 122mm rockets against the Marine outpost at Con Thien and against two camps nearby. There were no damage or casualties at Con Thien, a well fortified base.

The two other positions, four miles southwest and about 10 miles east of Con Thien, absorbed all the casualties.

In addition, the guerrillas shelled a province capital 100 miles northeast of Saigon, killing a child and six civilians, and poured 100 mortar rounds into a Green Beret camp 45 miles southwest of the capital, wounding six Americans.

Last Thursday, Communist artillerymen firing from just below the DMZ shelled two other Marine camps—the first barrages against Leatherneck border posts since the bombing halt. Casualties in those rocket assaults were termed light.

Informed military sources at Marine headquarters in Da Nang told UPI correspondent Raymond Wilkinson the North Vietnamese had been using the bombing halt to move big guns south to the border in broad daylight.

Opponents of the bombing halt had argued this is exactly how the Communists would use

U.S. Trying to Get Saigon to the Table

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today poured fresh scorn on South Vietnam's boycott of expanded war talks. The United States planned logic and reason to get Saigon to the conference table.

The diplomatic action centered on Saigon's refusal to take part in Washington-Hanoi arranged talks involving the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front (NLF).

U.S. delegation sources said roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman planned to meet soon with Pham Dang Lam, the South Vietnamese envoy who returned Sunday from Saigon. Lam told newsmen he had no orders to join the expanded talks. The talks were to have opened 12 days ago but the Saigon boycott has blocked the start.

Hanoi radio sounded North Vietnam's latest blast against South Vietnam's conditions for ending the boycott. Saigon has said the Viet Cong must be only a part of the Hanoi delegation and that the United States should take a back seat and leave the main confrontation to North and South Vietnam.

"Ridiculous," said Hanoi radio. The North Vietnamese have insisted that their arrangement with the United States calls for all four parties to have equal status at the table. The South Vietnamese and the United States have insisted the arrangements do not give the Viet Cong equal status. Saigon was vowing to stay away until that was settled.

Johnson and Nixon Confer In Post-Election Meeting

Police Jail Suspects In Nixon Death Plot

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Arab immigrant from Yemen and his two shipping clerk sons who shared a shabby, three-room Brooklyn flat, were jailed today under $100,000 bond each, charged with plotting to kill President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Police and secret service agents were investigating the possibility of a link between the alleged plot against Nixon and the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, killed in Los Angeles in June. Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, a 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant, allegedly shot Kennedy because of the senator's pro-Israeli statements.

The three suspects, who worked as shipping clerks in a clothing factory, made several trips to Los Angeles, according to the New York Daily News, which said police were curious about how they could afford such trips on their modest salaries.

Nixon Informed
Aides of Nixon, due in New York today from Key Biscayne, Fla., said he knew of the plot before it was made public but had "no concern over it."

At the arraignment of the three Sunday in Brooklyn Criminal Court, a prosecutor hinted the plot could have been planned abroad, and apparently came about because of Nixon's campaign statement that Israel should have a "technological military margin" over Arab neighbors.

Standing silent listening to the proceedings intently at their arraignment, the father and his sons were charged with criminal conspiracy to commit murder, criminal solicitation and possession of dangerous weapons.

A legal aid society lawyer who appeared with them said they had money to hire their own attorney and would do so. They face another court hearing Tuesday and a Brooklyn grand jury will begin its probe of the case on the same day.

Father A Citizen
The three suspects are Ahmad Rageh Namer, 43, who came to this country 13 years ago and has become a naturalized U.S. citizen, and his sons Hussein, 20, who came to the country nine years ago, and Abdo Ahmad, 19, who left Yemen two years ago.

The charge of solicitation against the three reportedly stemmed from their efforts to enlist the aid of another man in the plot. The fourth man, whom police are holding in protective custody and whom they have declined to identify, informed police in an anonymous telephone call Friday night of the alleged plot, it was reported.

In the Namer apartment, police found an M1 rifle and an M1 carbine, 24 rounds of ammunition and two switchblade knives, as well as letters from relatives and from persons authorities described as "contacts" in Arab countries.

Soviets Launch Zond 6 Rocket Towards Moon

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported today the Russians launched an unmanned space craft, Zond 6, toward the moon from a parking orbit Sunday.

A recent moon probe, Zond 5, landed in the Indian Ocean after looping the moon and Western scientists speculated the Russians might be working on better recovery methods.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England, said the Russians also might hope for an unmanned investigation of the moon and if so "we may expect to see some control exercised in the lunar vicinity, such as going into orbit before returning to earth."

The launching of the unmanned station "in a direction toward the moon" was "in conformity with the space research program," Tass said.

Zond 6 was placed on the preset flight trajectory from an intermediate orbit of artificial TAPS SOUNDED today in honor of Armistice Day as the local Veterans of Foreign Wars held special ceremonies this morning at the Memory Gardens cemetery west of Pampa. Today, Nov. 11, is set aside to honor veterans and those who have died in the service of their country.

Armistice Day Still Wrings the Emotions

By GEORGE SIBERA
PARIS (UPI)—Five hours and 50 minutes before the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918—50 years ago today—Germany's Matthias Erzberger signed World War I's armistice on the undotted line. Then he wept.

Today the emotions wrought by World War I and II still raised passions across this battlefield continent. More than 8.5 million soldiers died in "the war to end all wars" and some 20 million more perished in its successor.

In Paris President Charles de Gaulle of France, twice wounded and a POW in World War I, put on his World War II general's uniform and organized the parades, pomp and circumstance at the Arch of Triumph, Notre Dame Cathedral and the Champs Elysee he so admires. He is 77.

But the high school radicals of France proclaimed this day a shame and called for a general classroom strike "to make Nov. 11 not a day of homage for an imperialist war but a homage to the memory of Gilles Tautin," Germans signed.

Schoolboy Tautin drowned in June during student-police clashes.

In Carcassonne, unknown hands smeared leftwing slogans on the graves of French soldiers who fell in both wars. One said: "They believed they died for nation. They died for the industrialists." Another: "1914-1918—deaths for nothing."

Not all passion was angry. In Poitiers, 1,000 French World War I veterans gathered for much wine drinking, the eating of the sardine sandwiches they ate in trenches and some songs and stories. In Warsaw, Rome, Brussels and other capitals old soldiers also met and old women cried.

The gardeners worked in the woods of Compiègne, 55 miles east of Paris, where the Germans signed the 1918 armistice they regarded as literal surrender. Marshall Ferdinand Foch, the Frenchman who served as allied commander, gave hard terms and, with the American's 45 divisions under Gen. John J. Pershing poised for a great offensive, the

Vietnam War, Peace Efforts Lead Topics

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
KEY BISCAVNE, Fla. (UPI)—The Vietnam war and the efforts to end it were almost certain to dominate talks today between President-elect Richard M. Nixon and the man he will succeed in the White House, President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The two men confer today in their first post-election face-to-face meeting from which may come a decision on Nixon's immediate role in the Paris negotiations prior to his inauguration next Jan. 20.

Nixon's position has been that he will make no move whatever concerning the peace talks unless Johnson so recommends. To those who urge him from time to time to inject himself into the peace negotiation, he has had a standard reply: "We can have only one president at a time."

The president-elect indicated his availability for a role in peace negotiations following church services Sunday at the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church.

Nixon told some of the spectators and newsmen he would be willing to do anything to help bring about successful peace negotiations. He mentioned being willing to go any place in the world to help peace between now and Jan. 20 if Johnson requested him to undertake such an assignment.

After his White House visit today, Nixon planned to continue on to New York where his staff headquarters at the Pierre Hotel will be the scene of intensive planning for the makeup of his new national administration.

The president-elect, his wife and their two daughters, plus staff and press party, planned to take off from Miami about 10 a.m. EST for Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington where they were expected to land at 12:30 p.m. The Nixons had a White House luncheon date with the president and his wife, Lady Bird, at 1:30 p.m.

After lunch the two men planned to talk business while the two ladies inspected the White House family quarters where the new president, his wife, Pat, and their daughters, Julie and Tricia, will be home after the inauguration.

Meets Administration Leaders
The president-elect planned to arrive in New York (Kennedy Airport) by 6 p.m. or shortly thereafter, the exact time depending on how long he spends with Johnson and expectedly, other current administration leaders, particularly Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Both Johnson and Nixon want both sides, enemies and allies in the Vietnam War to understand that the election results did nothing to change basic American policy on the Southeast Asian war; that in the interval from now until inauguration, there will no shift

Borger Couple Injured Sunday

A Borger man and his wife were injured slightly Sunday when the pickup they were riding in turned over.

According to investigating Highway Patrolmen, Ken Evans and Paul Geiser, James B. Julian was traveling west on highway 152 about five miles west of Pampa when a strong wind caused the pickup and a trailer camper being towed behind it, to whip.

The pickup overturned and Mrs. Julian was taken to North Plains Hospital in Borger. She was listed in good condition today. Julian suffered minor lacerations.

Foreman to Defend James Earl Ray

By H.D. QUIGG
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—It's Percy Foreman of Houston for the James Earl Ray defense.

The titanic trial lawyer moved into the defense picture Sunday for the jail-palld Ray who is scheduled to go to trial Tuesday charged with the April 4 assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Foreman will appear before Judge W. Preston Battle Tuesday morning, however, and ask for a continuance in the murder trial until after New Year's Day.

Foreman is noted for careful preparation of his cases and apparently he entered this one quite suddenly, perhaps at Ray's request or that of two of the defendant's younger brothers.

The defense got a stunning lift with the last minute injection of Foreman, the almost legendary Texas trial attorney who has lost only one murder defendant to the electric chair in hundreds of cases.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you have been reading about the "floor show" on Wall St. which has been attracting such large crowds, mostly men.

Abby, what on earth has happened to the great old fashioned virtue called "modesty"? If one of those big-bosomed exhibitionists were to be attacked by some sex-crazed man, who would bear the blame?

I am not writing this out of jealousy, because I happen to be — — —

DEAR "39": I, too, disapprove of such exhibitionism, but I would hope that under the circumstances, the milk of human kindness would prevail.

DEAR ABBY: I do a lot of entertaining in my home. I recently invited a very attractive couple over for dinner, and they became acquainted with another nice couple with whom my husband and I have been friendly for some years.

These two couples now go out together in the evenings, and my husband and I are not included. I understand that these two women have been meeting frequently for lunch, also.

Should I cool my relationship with these people? I don't feel nearly as warmly towards them now that I know they have been meeting behind my back.

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: If you assume a possessive attitude about your friends, you will find them "cooling" the relationship before you do. Face it, you brought two couples together who apparently have more in common with each other than with you.

DEAR ABBY: We have a daughter who is away at college. We send her an allowance to cover smaller items, but she sends us all her larger bills and her father pays them.

She is very prompt about sending us her bills. She puts them into an envelope and mails them without one personal word. It would mean so much if she would scribble "Love," and sign her name.

Our daughter was not reared in a home with cold, unfeeling parents. I suppose this seems like a little thing, but we are deeply hurt.

If we were to mention this to her, she would, I am sure, scribble a little "duty" note, but because it would have been suggested by us it would lose its meaning.

What do you suggest?

(Continued From Page 1) It argued it would result in higher American casualties. The shelling came one day after Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' U.S. command proclaimed the northern war zone quiet enough to move the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division south into the defense of Saigon. The 19,000-man division was to take up positions northwest of Saigon near Cambodia, where intelligence estimates have placed 30,000 Communists massed, possibly for an attack on Saigon. In ground fighting, allied infantrymen, helicopter gunners and warplanes killed 7 guerrillas near Saigon Sunday in four battles.

Firestone Store Is Burglarized Police Report

An estimated $5 in change was taken from the Firestone Store, 120 N. Gray, sometime over the weekend, according to a police report.

The burglary was discovered by Herman Nusz, manager of the store, who reported it to police shortly before 8 a.m. today. Investigating officer Lt. John Thomas said the $5 was taken from vending machines and appeared to be the work of juveniles.

In other police news yesterday: —A possible break-in was reported at Gibson's Discount Center, 2211 Perryton Pkwy. after a policeman on routine patrol discovered a door open early today, according to a police report. Nothing appeared to have taken, however, and police theorize the door may have been blown open by a gust of wind.

—Disturbances were reported yesterday at the Busy Bee Cafe, 851 S. Gray and at a private residence at 434 Elm St., but police said no injuries were reported and no charges were filed. They said the incidents apparently stemmed from domestic trouble.

—A plate glass window at the Navy Recruiting Office on Cuyler St. was broken out by a hurled beer bottle, according to a police report.

—Two persons, one on S. Finley and the other on Mary Ellen, reported their 32-gallon trash cans were stolen over the weekend.

Criminal Trial Is Heard Today In District Court

The criminal trial of Jim Lee Bradshaw, charged with a burglary here in September, 1967, got underway at 10 a.m. today in 31st Judicial District Court with the selection of a jury from 72 prospective jurors. Bradshaw and Homer E. Beard were indicted by a grand jury here last January for acting together in several burglaries during September here.

They were later granted separate trials and Beard was given a seven year term in the state penitentiary in April. Six civil cases originally on the docket have been settled out of court, according to Dist. Clerk Helen Sprinkle.

Ray

(Continued From Page 1) Melvin Lane Powers, on charges of murdering her husband, arrived here Sunday morning. According to an announcement made late Sunday night by Shelby County Sheriff William N. Morris Jr., a jail cell conference among the defendant, his brothers John and Jerry, and Foreman resulted in Ray's firing his trial counsel, Arthur J. Hanes and Hanes' son, Arthur Jr., in a letter.

The sheriff said the Ray letter told Hanes he intended to get "new counsel plus an unnamed Tennessee lawyer." There was little, if any, doubt here about who the new lawyer would be.

Ray has expressed disagreement with Hanes over various matters, including preparation of the defense, in recent weeks.

Refuses Comment

Foreman holed up in a downtown Memphis motel and gave orders that he would see nobody. About 10:30 p.m. Sunday, the Hanes father and son team appeared outside the Shelby County office building in which the sheriff had read his statement, and held an impromptu news conference with a drizzle of rain falling on their bared heads. Reporters who know the elder Hanes, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said he appeared shaken. But his voice was steady. He said he would not enter an objection to the new Ray move, nor fight it: "I don't want a reluctant client."

Shockers Host Dons In Finale

While Pampa and Lee Junior High teams have ended their football seasons the Pampa Shockers will do so Thursday when they host Palo Duro's Junior Varsity at 4 p.m. Friday.

The Shockers are 1-8 but have come on strong the last half of the season. Two weeks ago the Shockers downed Caprock, 73-6 and last week lost a 14-0 heartbreaker to Tascosa without the use of No. 1 quarterback Doug Thompson.

Lee seventh grade copped district honors for the city by downing Pampa seventh, 22-6, Thursday and winning the conference title.

Pampa Junior High teams finished with a combined worst record of 22-21-3.

Lee seventh had the best record at 6-2, then came Lee ninth and Pampa eighth at 5-3 each, Pampa seventh at 3-2-1, Lee eighth, 2-3 and Pampa ninth at 1-4-1.

Jr. High Standings (Final)

Table with columns: School, W, L, T, Pts., Opps. Rows include Lee 9th, Pampa 9th, Pampa 8th, Lee 8th, Lee 7th, Pampa 7th.

Power Leads Staffers With 16-4 Record

Correctly picking Penn St. over Miami (Fla.) and Arizona over Air Force, Pampa News Business Manager Bill Power won the Weekly Staff Selections with a 16-4 mark.

Power moved into third place for the season just two games behind leader Chico Ramirez, who, along with Ron Cross, Gary Myers and David Webster, finished at 14-6 for the week.

Cross and Myers picked the big upset of the day, Oklahoma University's stunning 27-23 upset of third-ranked Kansas.

Season Standings: Chico Ramirez, 58-17; David Webster, 59-18; Bill Power, 56-9; Gary Myers, 54-21; Jeff Holladay, 52-23; Jim Casey, 51-24; Ron Cross, 49-21; Bill Heckathorn, 50-25; Larry Hollis, 40-18; Consensus, 53-17.

TEXAS A&M FROSH WIN

LUBBOCK (UPI)—The Texas A&M Fish slipped by the Texas Tech Pleaders Thursday night 16-13 on a late-in-the-last-quarter touchdown by freshman Steve Burks. The Fish finished the season 4-0 while Tech was 1-3. The touchdown was set up by a Mike Fuller fumble recovery.

Charles--A Champ Who Was 'Too Nice'

NEW YORK (NEA)—Friends of Ezzard Charles seem to be coming out of the woodwork to attend a dinner in his honor at the Sherman House in Chicago on Nov. 13. This puts lumps on the cliché that a prize fight champion has more friends than Dale Carnegie so long as he is greasing their palms but when the green lubrication begins to dry pals evaporate.

Gruber, McLean District Titles Can Garner

District 1-A and 2-A football teams close out the season Friday, or at least most of them do.

The title door is still wide open in both conferences although McLean in 2-A and Gruber in 1-A will try to close both doors Friday night.

McLean (4-0 and 7-2) has the toughest row to hoe playing Clarendon on the Bronchos home field.

Clarendon is 3-1 in district play and 7-1 for the season and will try to rebound from a 15-7 upset at the hands of Wheeler, also 3-1, last week.

A Clarendon victory over McLean and a Wheeler win over winless Claude would make for a three-way first place tie and a coin flip.

The Tigers couldn't ask for a worse place to play the Bronchos who haven't lost a home game in their last 13 games and downed McLean last year on a field goal in the closing seconds.

Gruber leads 1-A with a 4-0 record and next comes White Deer and Stratford at 3-1.

The Greyhounds meet Stratford Friday night and a Stratford win plus a victory by White Deer over tough Sanford-Fritch at the Eagles home nest, would result in a three-way first place tie also and also would cause a coin flip to determine the district titlist.

Groom, one of the strongest Class B teams in the state tries to keep pace with Booker this week by hosting Follett and Booker plays winless Textline.

Groom and Booker are 2-0 in District 1-B and meet in two weeks.

Charles lost the heavyweight championship to Joe Walcott nine years since he retired from the ring for the second and final time. And his friends—some were boxing adversaries—are popping up all over, a show of appreciation for one of boxing's most gracious most skillful, must unappreciated champions.

Charles, now 47, has been under the weather of late, and days in his office at the Commission of Youth and Welfare in Chicago are shorter. He is an outpatient at the Illinois Rehabilitation Center and much of his ring earnings have been exhausted by his illness, lateral sclerosis. But Charles still gets to the YMCA, where he works with youngsters interested in boxing.

It's Just Not the Same for Purdue

NEW YORK (NEA)—The atmosphere around Lafayette, Ind., is quieter these days. Astute listeners have even reported the occasional low of a Purdue University cow and over at Ross-Ade Stadium people are silently waiting.

Defeat does that to a football team. It does it to a school.

Not so long ago, the Boiler-makers were blithely sailing along toward an unbeaten season and a showdown against Southern California in the Rose Bowl—where halfbacks Leroy Keyes and O. J. Simpson would grapple for the Heisman Trophy.

Weekdays before Saturday's game, the Purdue campus buzzed with activity. Men demanded tickets. Reporters wanted interviews. Keyes had to have his telephone taken out.

Now, after losing to Ohio State at Columbus, the Boiler-makers no longer are No. 1. Now the Boiler-makers must wait and hope someone else beats the Buckeyes. Now Leroy Keyes and O. J. Simpson are a world apart, or at least a game or two.

Keyes, for one, does not particularly care. "I wouldn't mind playing against O. J.," says Leroy, "but if I don't, well, that's life."

For weeks Keyes rarely had a moment to himself. Newsmen and fans followed him almost everywhere. Purdue publicity men, out of regard for the senior All-American allowed him to be interviewed only during the first three days of the week. Purdue President Frederick L. Hovde was easier to see.

Now, the demand for Keyes has diminished considerably. "After the Ohio State game, everybody started hanging around them," Leroy explained.

Still, Leroy Keyes is, as many claim, "out of this world." At the moment, however, he is not concerned with professional football.

"I'm a different type person," he says. "I believe in living day-to-day rather than planning two or three months ahead. I might not be around two or three months from now. If there is a tomorrow, I'll get around to it."

Fairly anonymous when he came to Purdue three years ago from an all-Negro high school in Newport News, Va., Keyes blossomed quickly last fall after rather unspectacular freshman and sophomore seasons.

"When I left for Purdue, I had no idea what it was all about," Keyes recalled. "I had seen some college ball on television, of course, but I didn't know anything about Big Ten football."

With two-time All-American honors now his except for the engraving Keyes appears to have taken the transition in his remarkable stride.

"I'm no big-head," he says. "I get along with everybody on campus. I'm well-liked, I guess you could say."

The next milestone in Keyes' career will come Nov. 23 when Purdue entertains Indiana, the team that beat the Boiler-makers last season to win its trip to the Rose Bowl.

Leroy's motive, however, is not revenge. "My mother's going to come up for that one," he said. "The only games she has seen me play since high school have been on television. She writes me a letter before every game... you know how mothers are. It helps a lot."

Keyes doesn't worry about Purdue. "We're a group of dedicated young men," he said. "I think we're going to go ahead and have a good season. We've got our momentum now. We know we have to win every game. I don't think there's anyone on the team who doesn't think we can take it all."

"The national champion last year (Southern Cal) was 9-1, too, remember."

market as he can starting out in the ring. Boxing is too hard."

Boxing was sometimes hard for Charles too not so much in the physical sense for he was endowed with a superior body—broad-shouldered narrow-waisted deep-chested and arms and legs that were lean but fast and powerful. And he had a heart. But fighting was difficult because at times his sensitivity and intelligence got in the way of his killer instinct.

Charles fought Rock Marciano twice in 1954, and failed both times to regain the title. Before the first fight a respected sports writer wrote: "Charles' weakness is that he has no natural ardor for fighting. In the case of a prize fighter there must be an inner force which has an affinity with the primeval."

Other than the Pampa-Lubbock game sites for the other playoff contests have not been released.

Pampa, who played on even terms with Coronado and Borger for a little more than two quarters, will have an even better chance to take Lubbock.

The teams are about as evenly matched as you could want.

Pampa finished 0-4 in the north zone and stands 1-8 for the season while Lubbock finished 0-4 in south zone competition and stands 1-8 for the season.

The south zone apparently fielded the strongest teams this season with all of them but Lubbock having won more than they lost.

Giants Gogolak Puts Toe Into Cowboys, Colts Win

Fran Tarkenton and Pete Gogolak made the Dallas Cowboys dizzy, and losers Sunday as the New York Giants shook off a three game losing streak to beat Dallas, 27-21, and moved to within a game of the Eastern Division lead.

The Giants jumped in front 7-0 after one period over Dallas and the two teams battled to a 14-14 halftime deadlock and traded 21-all after three periods.

But New York took advantage of a gusty gale in the fourth period and Tarkenton set up both Gogolak field goals with some fine passing.

Pittsburgh zoomed to a 21-0 halftime lead over the Cardinals but Jim Hart rallied St. Louis to a 28-21 lead in the fourth period.

The tie ended a four-game winning streak for the Cardinals.

Ell Nelsen passed for four touchdowns and Leroy Kelly scored three times, once on a 66-yard play as Cleveland sped past the Saints.

Nelsen threw touchdown passes of five and 68 yards to Kelly and added a 12-yarder to Paul Warfield and one for nine yards to Mil Morin to boost Cleveland to first place in the Century Division.

Preston Pearson returned a kickoff 102 yards sparked the Colts to victory.

Pearson took the ball two yards deep on the end zone and zig-zagged his way behind blockers for the first quarter score. It was the longest kickoff return in the NFL this season.

Tom Matte and Terry Cole each scored a touchdown and Lou Michaels booted two field goals to run the Colts' season record to 8-1 and remain tied with Los Angeles for first place in the Coastal Division.

Carl Eller blocked a field goal attempt and threw the block for the winning touchdown to help Minnesota to its victory over Green Bay.

Eller, who also crunched Bart Starr to the ground three times for losses, blocked Mike Mercer's 25-yard field goal attempt with 10:04 to play.

Eller's block moved back the Packer line in the second period for Bill Brown, who plunged two yards for his second touchdown of the game.

DONNA SUE BARKER ... to compete in World Deaf Games

Former Pampa Eyeing Olympics

By LETITIA RUTLEDGE A 15-year-old former Pampa girl may compete in the 1969 World Deaf games—similar to the Olympics—to be held next August in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

She is Miss Donna Sue Barker, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Allen Barker of 1105 Stanford, Lubbock.

Miss Barker was asked to join the U.S. team after winning first place in two events in the First National Games for the Deaf held last August in Berkeley, Calif.

She ran the 100 meter dash in 12.2 and the 200 meter event in 26.0, and earned an All-American rating.

She was informed of her selection to the Yugo '69 Squad by Art Kruger, chairman of the 1969 World Deaf Games. If she maintains the standards set by the World Games Committee, she will try for gold medals in the same two events she won in the Berkeley meet.

Miss Barker will report for an extensive training program this summer in Washington, D. C. after finishing her regular school term at the State School for the Deaf in Austin.

Deaf persons from more than 38 countries will compete for the 141 gold, silver and bronze medals in the August '69 games.

The Barkers lived here from 1958-1965. He was employed with Boswell Construction.

ARKANSAS FROSH LOSE

DENTON, Tex. (UPI)—David Kones ran for two touchdowns and passed for another Thursday night to bring the North Texas State freshmen from behind to beat the Arkansas Shoats 29-14. Arkansas led at one point by 14-7 but Jones cranked his legs and an arm to put the Eaglets in front to stay.

Jets Widen Lead In Eastern Division

The New York Jets showed that they really want an AFL title and that Houston isn't as good as a lot of people thought and San Diego and Oakland continued to breeze along the victory trail Sunday.

Joe Namath's passes mixed well with the rain and the Jets bounced the Oilers, 26-7, to virtually clinch the American Football League's Eastern Division title.

In other AFL games old pro George Blanda led the Oakland Raiders to a 43-7 whipping of Denver, San Diego bounced Boston, 27-17; Miami downed Buffalo, 21-17 and Kansas City clung to a one-game lead with a 16-9 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals.

Namath went through his sixth straight game without throwing a touchdown pass but his tosses set up the team's two touchdowns and two of Nat Turner's field goals.

Blanda, taking over for the hurt Daryle Lamonico, who didn't suit up, passed for four touchdowns and kicked two field goals to demolish the Broncos.

The Jets have now won four in a row and lead the Eastern Division by three and one-half games.

Lee Cops Hawaiian

HONOLULU — Lee (The Flea) Trevino, winning his first tournament since the National Open, birdied the 15th and 18th holes and won the top prize in the $125,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament Sunday by two strokes.

George Archer had trouble with the sand and finished second, two strokes behind Trevino, who won $25,000 for his stay on the island.

The happy Trevino, who gives lessons as he plays, rolled in a long birdie putt on the 18th, for a four-under par 68 in the final round.

The pudgy Texan took the lead on the 15th hole with a 35-foot birdie putt, which dropped about the time Archer bogeyed No. 17 from the sand trap.

The shot left Trevino, garbed in the black and red clothing he says he wears on pay day, needing only a par on No. 18 to win. He birdied it anyway.

Despite erratic shooting that took him more strange places than a National Geographic photographer, Archer was leader after three rounds.

Arnold Palmer, after three straight 71s, shot a final round 69 and tied for ninth at 282. Bill Casper, who needed to finish third or better here to break Jack Nicklaus' money-winning marks, skied to a 75 and a 267 total, way back in the small change department.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

A Thought For Veterans Day

Veterans Day 1968 is a time to pause and remember. It is set aside by Congress and proclaimed by the President as a day of homage and respect to men and women who have served our nation in time of peril.

This is the fiftieth year of a national observance in honor of veterans. On this special occasion it is fitting that each American reflects on the principles which 26 million living veterans and their departed comrades have defended — principles of freedom for all men and peace achieved with honor.

Vietnam and our observance here may have seemed far away but there was a message for them as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and their auxiliary gathered in Pampa today for their annual memorial service. By our presence we acknowledge their brave deeds. In this quiet way we honor them with heroes of past wars and we let them know we await that bright day when they will return.

Veterans Day 1968 is indeed a special time. Let us pause in silence to remember, to honor, to express deep gratitude to America's veterans and to her servicemen.

Practical Protection

Each report on crime released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation includes statistics showing an increase in the number of assaults on women.

These reports do not indicate what percentage of such assaults involve women who are driving alone at night, but the problem is one which troubles women drivers throughout the nation.

It is impractical for anyone to expect all women to refrain from any night driving unless accompanied by a companion, nor is there any insurance against breakdown on lightly travelled roads.

An automobile dealers association has taken cognizance of this problem and compiled a list of protective measures which can be followed to reduce the danger.

The first consideration should be the vehicle. Keep it in the best possible mechanical condition and be sure the gas tank is full. Make sure all doors lock properly.

Avoid bad neighborhoods and travel on well-lighted streets where possible, even if it means extra driving time. Keep doors locked and windows closed. Do not leave enticing valuables in plain sight on the seat.

Inform someone of your route, destination and expected time of arrival. If the car stalls and won't start, stay put. You will be safer in a locked car until trustworthy help arrives.

If you have a flat tire, drive slowly to a safe place. In an emergency, you can drive on a flat for as many as 15 miles, if you keep slow speed.

If someone unknown to you stops, tell them through closed windows that you'll wait for other help. If a car blocks your path, lean on the horn.

If followed, drive to the nearest gas station. Do not go directly home, even if home is close by.

If all else fails and you find yourself in trouble don't panic. Just scream your head off. Make it really loud.

Finally, carry a flashlight, so that you can signal passing cars. Light, properly used, is a great protector.

Polls With A Difference

Opinion samplers, as they wade through the vote fallout to try to find out what went right and what went wrong with their predictions, might cast a glance at the techniques pioneered by students at the Stanford Graduate School of Business during the presidential campaign.

These range from counting bumper stickers and letters to the editor to planting "lost letters" on the ground near mailboxes, addressed to either "Nixon for President Committee" or "Humphrey for President Committee." The volume of return for each candidate supposedly gave a feeling of his popular support.

What's There To Fear?

Public opinion polls are often discounted as inaccurate and denounced as rigged but nevertheless people continue to read them, quote them and base predictions on the results of them.

Our propensities are somewhat the same but we go a step farther: We also publish them.

So let us get down to business and publish some figures. A recent Gallup Poll set out to determine which major group or organization in the Republic caused people the greatest anxiety in their view of the future.

Did people fear "big business" was likely to do us in? A total of 12 per cent said techniques was to measure water pressure in several communities to detect any mass abandonment of television sets during political broadcasts.

The goal of these and other so-called "unobtrusive" methods was to measure voter sentiment without encountering the role playing and biasing that occurs in interviews.

Generally, the unorthodox approach compared well with the findings of the traditional pollsters, which is good news for a public that has been cross-sectioned, interviewed and analyzed to death. There were pitfalls, however.

One early bumper-sticker poll found Stoopoy leading both Humphrey and Nixon by 2 to 1.

How about "big labor?" At 26 percent it scored more than twice as high as "big business." But still this accounted for only 38 per cent out of a possible 100.

Scoring the highest at 46 per cent was "big government."

It's not only big, it's getting bigger—more restrictive; more and more limiting the individual's freedom of choice and opportunity.

FDR saw what was lacking when he said all we "had to fear was fear itself" and immediately set out to provide a remedy. He gave us "big government."

And every administration since has made it bigger.

Silver Lode Revisited

There's still gold in them thar hills even if prospectors have long since abandoned them.

Geologists of the U.S. Geological Survey have taken a new look at Nevada's historic Comstock Lode district, whose now inactive mines produced a total of 400 million worth of silver and gold during a period of 80 years, beginning in 1859.

Using modern geophysical and geochemical methods, the scientists were able to trace the Comstock Fault, along which the early prospectors found the bonanza ore bodies, past the point where it disappears beneath the surface a few miles north of Virginia City. They report at least two locations where concealed deposits may

GLOBAL VIEW:

Ho's Aim: Win War At Paris

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (NEA)—The foreign news analyst, like the historian of current affairs, faces the difficult problem of telling his story before knowing how it will end. The Vietnamese drama now entering a new phase is a case in point.

The diplomatic negotiations in Paris will be long and arduous. The Communists, as usual, will seek to gain at the conference table the victory that eluded them on the battlefields.

Nevertheless, despite the loud propaganda of Ho Chi Minh's partisans in the United States and elsewhere in the West, it is already clear that North Vietnamese and their Viet allies are negotiating from weakness and not from strength.

Not only North Vietnam but the entire international Communist movement is significantly weaker in 1968 than it was in 1965 when President Johnson decided to escalate the war.

The political convulsions in Red China, Mao Tse-tung's growing conflict with the "revisionists" in Moscow and the Kremlin's escalating troubles in Russia and East Europe were undoubtedly decisive factors in Hanoi's new policy.

Future objective historians may well agree that America's enormous sacrifices were not in vain and that it was President Johnson's commitment in Vietnam that saved Southeast Asia from Communist domination and the world from a nuclear war.

They will surely deal more kindly with the President than today's paceniks with a penchant for wishful thinking in a world of hard and often brutal facts.

And in 1965 the facts in Southeast Asia were brutal, indeed. The Red world was not as split as it is today. The Asian nations, which had only recently liberated themselves from colonialism, were weak and most of them small. Even the most populous ones like India, Indonesia and Pakistan were hardly the repository of power.

There was a power vacuum in Southeast Asia which the Communists, backed by Russia and Red China, attempted to fill. Without the protective shield provided by the United States there would be today few, if any, free nations in Asia.

American aid also provided the South Vietnamese with the first stable government in their history. President Thieu's government, fragile though it may still be, is more firmly in the saddle than many critics of Saigon expected.

A stable government and some ability to provide their own security are the strongest cards the South Vietnamese now have in their dealings with North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

None of this means that a peace settlement is near. After Czechoslovakia, there is no room for optimism.

As Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned: The threat to Southeast Asia—or Europe and the Middle East—is not mitigated by the fact that the Red world is no longer monolithic or that Hanoi is at odds with Peking.

Mao Tse-tung, Ho Chi Minh and the rulers of Russia continue to preach the same doctrine of militant communism and promote the same techniques of expansion through so-called wars of national liberation.

WASHINGTON — Senator Eugene McCarthy is extending his anti-establishment crusading to his church.

The Minnesota "pacenik," born a Roman Catholic, educated in parochial schools, including college, and a practicing member of his faith, was "actively participating" in a November 10 outdoor rally organized by the 54 dissenting ("freedom of conscience") priests of the Washington diocese.

That is the description of McCarthy's role by the Rev. John Corrigan, leader of the '54' who are challenging Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle's demand for complete obedience to Pope Paul's recent encyclical condemning birth control.

"Senator McCarthy has expressed sympathy with us," said Father Corrigan, "and we are deeply grateful to him. His support and encouragement are a great comfort and inspiration to us."

Listed as speakers at the rally were McCarthy, Father Corrigan, and Mrs. Philip Hart, wife of Michigan's Democratic senator, a fervent McCarthy supporter for the Democratic presidential nomination, and chairman of the Center for Christian Renewal that is vigorously backing the dissenting priests.

McCarthy's public participation in the opposition to Cardinal O'Boyle breaks new ground for him.

While highly vocal on the Vietnam war and other foreign and domestic issues, he carefully avoided involvement in the torrid birth and population control controversy. Repeated efforts by newsmen to get a statement from him on this question in general and the Papal encyclical in particular were unavailing. He dodged all inquiries.

McCarthy's announced appearance and talk at the rally of the dissenting priests is therefore being closely watched by politicians — especially in the light of his declaration that he will not again seek office as a Democrat.

UNITY DAY — The priests' afternoon rally took place the day before the convening in the capital of the semi-annual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

The gathering, designated Unity Day by its sponsors, will be held either at the Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument grounds or at Lafayette Square, directly opposite the White House.

"The rally will be a dignified but intense paralytic service," said Father Corrigan. "Placards, signs and other such paraphernalia will not be permitted. Fifty-four priests in the archdiocese of Washington, in their continuing liturgy of conscience, are doing something valuable for the church in the United States and in the world."

Strenuous efforts are being made to have priests from the 28 Roman Catholic archdioceses and 122 dioceses attend both the open-air rally and an "important clergy meeting" the next afternoon and evening. Representatives of priests' councils in the diocese are urging priests in all parts of the country to come to Washington to take part in these gatherings.

While the rally is open to all creeds, the clerical sessions will be restricted to priests for the purpose of discussing the Washington dissenters' turbulent clash with Cardinal O'Boyle, which resulted in his disciplining 39 of them in varying degrees.

PAR-FLUNG PLEA — Sponsors of the Unity Day rally are the Committee for Freedom of the Church, the Washington Lay Association and the Center for Christian Renewal. Listed as "supporting organizations" are the National Association of Laymen and the National Liturgical Conference.

Primary purpose of both the rally and the clerical sessions is to prevail on the National Conference of Catholic Bishops to mediate the clash between Cardinal O'Boyle and the 54 dissenting priests who signed the "Statement of Conscience."

So far, no U.S. bishop has expressed support for the dissenters.

The only prelate who has taken a public stand, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, heartily approved Cardinal O'Boyle's stern crack-down on the dissenters.

Father Corrigan is hopeful the Bishops Conference will intervene.

"I can't believe that they will ignore this grievous situation and do nothing," he declared. "If they don't act the '54' will then appeal to the Vatican."

The five Catholic organizations supporting the dissenting priests have issued a joint plea for "witness" and contributions. The four-page appeal has gone to 40,000 of the 60,000 U.S. priests and to some 90,000 Catholic laymen throughout the country.

Senator McCarthy is also writing a book — about the U.S. political system and his recent campaign experiences. Friends say he got a $25,000 advance from the publisher. Also that the book is to be used by McCarthy's New Left backers to further their aim of launching a new party, as the standard-bearer of which, presumably, he will make another try for the White House in 1972. They are planning to run him for re-election to the Senate in 1970 under the aegis of this new party.

In 1967 the U.S. Office of Education reported the Russians were ahead of the United States in technical and scientific teachings.

With Some Reservation by Jim Woody

Well, today is another Veteran's Day. It is the day the president gets up and says, "We must honor our dead for fighting the political wars."

I would like to see a president get up and say, "There are no more veterans of the wars, because there have been no wars. We have all grown up. We have at last learned the stupidity of killing each other. We have come out of the animal kingdom and finally acquired enough brains to stop fighting."

The president should not give a proclamation to "the dead." He should give a proclamation to the effect, "We refuse to fight wars again unless we are attacked on our own lands."

Then, we, and the whole world would benefit. This nutty business of running here and there and everywhere to meddle in other peoples business has got to stop. We are the ones who start the wars—that is, the big ones.

If we could only teach the politicians that we should tend to our own knittin and forget about commitments to other countries, we could end wars. But that would take some thought—and who in the political system knows how to think anymore

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Is voting a right or a privilege?

ANSWER: Voting is certainly a privilege. When a group of people join together to protect themselves against losing their lives and their property, if they are wise, they will not permit people to be part of the organization who do not believe in respecting private property and who do not have character and responsibility. Thus it is a privilege to be permitted to join such a group and have the privilege of voting to protect your life and property and those in the group.

When once you have been admitted into the group with the understanding that you have an equal authority to vote with others, then it becomes a right. Otherwise it is a privilege.

Pull Us Back Together!

Mr. President-elect, you were elected by the American people. It was not the people of some other nation or of all other nations who elected you; you were elected by "us" — spelled U.S.

Mr. Nixon, your oath of office binds you to preserve, protect and defend "us" against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

You sought and got our votes to govern us. Your first obligation is to us.

Since the dawn of the so-called Nuclear Age, some American Presidents have allowed themselves to become preoccupied with what our enemies might do or what our allies might think.

We must assume that those previous administrators were scared. Thus they signed promissory notes binding us to 42 other nations.

Indeed, your predecessor, President Johnson, once said, "Ten hours of the day out of 14 I spend on the world — Latin-American, European — problems. Vietnam, relations with the Soviet Union..."

This preoccupation with other nations and their problems has left our own neglected home front a chaotic shambles; we are now in worse trouble than are many of them.

Mr. President, come home. Our American dollar, once a bulwark for all the world's currencies, is eroding so fast and supported by so little gold that last year some foreign countries were refusing to cash dollars for American tourists!

Winless wars, waged in defense of unworthy governments with less than our best weapons for a lesser objective than victory — such wars are unworthy of our sons and our enlightened sons know it!

Big Government, buying votes with promises of "something for nothing" and "social equality" and "guaranteed security" — promises which no government can keep — fostered inevitable disillusionment and ultimate rioting.

There is but one way, Mr. President, that you can pull us back together: make our Americanism worthy of respect. Ultimately, if you do that, you will also rein the admiration of the world. But put "us" first.

During your campaign, you promised "to return our nation to its rightful position of leadership..." I'm not sure what you meant by that.

The best city administrators are those who don't want to be governor. The most effective governor is the one who is not out running for President.

Right now we need a President of the United States who will give the United States his full time!

We were leaders of this world for most of a hundred years before we annointed ourselves its policemen. We "led" by being such a shining example that others were inspired to imitate us.

Then somehow we stopped leading and started meddling. The father who is first and foremost good to his own family is inevitably a good neighbor.

He does not spoil them with unearned ease nor disillusion them with unkept promises nor sentence them to undeserved punishment.

Disengage us, Mr. President, from this suffocating spiderweb of international involvements.

You were not elected President of the world; you were elected President of the United States.

Pull Up A Chair

Three-Year-Old
Being three years old is probably the most trying age there is. Nobody makes any sense.

This of course applies to any age but I suspect when you are three the handicap is more immediate. I own, to a nebulous extent, a three-year-old boy and he has it rough every minute of every hour.

"DON'T DO THAT!" I was scolding at him, for the 30 thousandth time, as if I were some type of eccentric. Strangely, I got a bit of his pitch. The current sin he was committing was watering a hibiscus blossom in the middle of the living room rug. He had brought the hose in to do a good job.

He had seen us watering the hedges.

Logic falters.

"Boffee," stated Joseph, wall-to-wall mess. "Pitty Watstoo."

One does what? Three year olds think you are crazy. Also, they are entirely illiterate. And their frame of references is not ours. Take garbage.

Joe sees his big brother take out the garbage. This — one assumes — motivates him to take everything out. Mommy's bra, daddy's last five-spot, the car key, the kitty cats, the only clean shirt, the scissors, lunch money change and the stuffed olives.

"Stookla mince," he states, placing the top back on the garbage can, and awaiting plaudits. "Wamsia?"

"Daddy spank!" one asserts. A three-year-old smiles broadly; nods knowingly; Butts you painfully in the strategic. Wants to play. I suppose one has to do something if everyone is one. Three-year-olds come the closest to having the whey hampered out of them than any other age group member. One of them can drive you crazy.

"O.K.," I said with the calm and icy objectivity which marks my every child-rearing schedule the last time he kicked the screen out of the front porch. "I told you I would spank you if you touched that screen again. Now I am going to spank you!"

I turned him over my knee and swatted him and he said, "Heavy color horsey. Mommy, onna boaf."

My wife, ever helpful, said, "That's his dream."

"His what?"

"His dream. He told me about it. He dreamed about a heavy red horse on a boat. You know what? He doesn't even know what a dream is. Can you remember that far back, when you didn't know what a dream was?"

This is no way to administer corporal punishment. I decided to reason with him, and pointed out that front porch screening does not grow on trees.

"Wootstee," he agreed. Being three years old does one thing. It gets you out of trouble almost as fast as it gets you in. I certainly do wish I could remember how that worked.
