The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When the Soviet Union launches a spacecraft, U.S. scientists monitor its signals to see what the Russians are up to.

By the same token we may assume that the Soviets are keeping close tabs on the Apollo 7 flight.

Having never been inside a Soviet monitoring station, I cannot say what one looks like. But in mind's eye I see a huge electronic console with numerous dials and buttons, and little blips of light chasing each other across a glass screen.

Seated at the control panel and wearing a pair of earphones is Lt. Igor Coricidinski. He is auditing the signal, which makes a steady "beep-beep" sound except when the Apollo starts a tracking maneuver.

Then the screen skips a blip and the signal goes "beep-beep-queep."

New Signal
 Suddenly Coricidinski leans forward and cocks his head to one side. After listening intently for a moment, he calls to Col. Vladimir Distanovitch, the station commander.

Comrade Colonel! Would you step over here, please I have just picked up a strange signal from the Apollo."

Dristanovitch hurries to the console and says "Did it go 'beep-bee-QUEEP' AGAIN?"

"No, it went ... wait! I just heard it again. See if you can pick it up on the Gimbel-Macy LSD-21 alternate monitor."

The colonel quickly dons a pair of earphones.

"I heard it, too," he says. "The signal was a distinct beep-beep-queep' agains."

"What do you make of it, sir."

"It sounded like ... well, it sounded like a sneeze."

Approximate Measure
 "That also was my impression, Comrade Colonel. What should be do?"

"I suppose we should say 'Gesundheit?'"

"But what does it mean, sir? Why would the Americans be sneezing in space?"

"For propaganda purposes, most likely. This gives the Americans another 'space first'—the first space cold."

"Are you sure it isn't some kind of germ warfare experiment? Maybe they are spreading cold germs in space in hopes that our cosmonauts will develop the sniffles."

"Have no fear of that, lieutenant. Our cosmonauts are protected against cold germs on every mission."

"A secret vaccine developed by Soviet scientists?"

"No. They take along a jar of homemade chicken soup."

SEXTUPLET CRITICAL
 BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—Lynne Thorns, first born of Britain's first sextuplets remained in critical condition today, three days after a second operation to remove an intestinal obstruction. The three other surviving Thorns sextuplets were progressing satisfactorily, a doctors report said.

SALAZAR IMPROVES
 LISBON (UPI)—Former Premier Antonio Salazar showed "better response to sensorial stimulation" Monday, his doctors said. But they said they were "reserved" on whether Salazar, 79, would recover from a stroke suffered almost a month ago.

ABORTIONS HIGH
 PRAGUE (UPI)—For every 100 births in Czechoslovakia in the first six months of 1968, there were 35.4 abortions, the news agency CTK reported Monday. Abortion is legal in Czechoslovakia.

BUS CRASHES
 SRINAGAR, Kashmir (UPI)—a bus careened off a northern Kashmir road Monday and plunged 1,000 feet into a ravine, killing 21 persons aboard. Police said 20 passengers survived.

Schools Still Closed In Eastern Part of US

By United Press International

Schools were closed in New York and Philadelphia today and Chicago officials kept a close watch at a West Side high school where fires and fights broke out.

In New York, the Board of Education avoided a third teachers' strike by closing Junior High School 271 in the Ocean-Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn. The enrollment is mostly Negro and Puerto Rican.

The action followed a day of trouble Wednesday in which police used nightsticks when 200 angry residents tried to push by barricades. At least three persons were clubbed down and seven persons were arrested.

The continuing dispute centers about the refusal of school district's local governing board to reinstate 83 white teachers. The union, The United Federation of Teachers, has charged "harassment" of teachers by neighborhood residents.

The Philadelphia School Board ordered Bok Technical High School and the nearby South Philadelphia High School closed for the remainder of the week following fights between Negro pupils, white residents and police.

The closings came after 700 white residents jammed the auditorium of the 1,076-pupil Bok School Wednesday night and chanted, "close down the school or we'll burn it down." The trouble began last Thursday with the stabbing of a white youth.

In earlier fights, 18 youths were arrested and five injured as police sought to keep gangs

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have shared an apartment with another girl for almost a year, and our lease is nearly up. My problem is that I don't want to live with this girl any longer. She's a good kid, but she needs a babysitter. She is 20 years old, and she's afraid to say alone for one night. I went home for a weekend, and when I returned she said she was so "afraid" to be alone she slept with the lights on.

One day I failed to tell her I was going to do some errands after work, so when I got home (about 2 hours later) she was practically in hysterics. She was so "worried" about me, she was ready to call the police!

My mother agrees that I'd be better off living alone even if I couldn't afford such an expensive apartment. But how can I tell this girl.

UP A CREEK

DEAR UP: Tell her in plain English that you have decided to live alone. And don't start making up excuses or you will have a debate on your hands.

DEAR ABBY: I used to suspect that you made up some of those crazy letters I read in your column. But now I'm sure you don't, because not even you, Dear Abby, could spin a yarn as wild as what is actually taking place right under my nose. A retired old maid school teacher lives next door to me. She's always been friendly and above reproach.

Recently I noticed two very nice looking young men "visiting" her. It soon became apparent that they were living there. Next I noticed a lot of middle-age women coming and going. I inquired and was told the young men were teaching French and Spanish. Now I hear this old maid is running some sort of "brothel for women!"

I understand the authorities were notified but said they could do nothing as she is neither breaking the law nor disturbing the peace. How about this!

woman's character, and no nice lady would care to be called a "brood."

My husband says that the term is more descriptive of a woman's figure (like a "broad expanse") and has nothing whatsoever to do with her character. Yet he admits that he would never use it around church people.

Where did this word come from in connection with ladies?

MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: Beats me. But if one of my readers out there clues me in, I'll let you know.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AC-CUSE:" Yes, it is possible for two blue-eyed parents to produce a brown-eyed child. Consult a book on heredity and the Mendelian Law. And tell your sister-in-law about another law. The law of common decency with which she should become more familiar.

The Women's Page Civic Culture Club Has Report On Increasing Traffic Deaths

WANDA MAE HUFF, WOMEN'S NEWS EDITOR

The Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. H. W. Waters. The meeting, with Mrs. A. B. Cross presiding, was opened by giving pledges to the U.S. and Texas flags. Reports were given on the club's rummage sale and items collected for "Bundles for Babies" in South Vietnam.

Mrs. Cross introduced the program on Public Affairs with Mrs. Frank Grantham presenting a talk on "Pathway to Traffic Safety". She began by saying: "In just one 12-month period (1966), more than 52,000 people died as a result of motor vehicle accidents. That within itself is a disturbing fact, but equally disturbing is the fact that the general public doesn't seem to be concerned about it. We read about highway safety, safer cars, and driver education, but in spite of the best efforts of intelligent people and engineers all over the nation to do something about the climbing traffic toll we have not yet reversed the death and accident trend."

Continuing, she said, "Perhaps the time has come to turn the spotlight not on the cars nor the highways but to concentrate on that other contributor to accidents, the driver himself. The safest car on the road is almost any car in the hands of an excellent driver; but the safest car the manufacturers can dream up is still a lethal weapon in the hands of a bad driver."

"Driver's education has been a great asset but surveys tell us that, for lack of facilities and funds only about half the eligible high school students in the U.S. today are able to take driver's training. In quite a few states driver's retraining is required for consistent traffic violators. Some states are beginning to make driver education a requisite for a driver's license."

"Almost every community is full of people who drive every day of their lives, but never really drive well. May we suggest to our school that driver's education be offered in the adult night school; To our highway patrol that defensive courses be given and also driver retraining; All for the sake of safer, better drivers on our streets and highways", concluded the speaker.

Those attending were Mmes. John McKnerney, A. B. Cross, Frank Grantham, A. D. Hills, George Neef, Chester Williams, H. W. Waters and Floyd Pennington.

'CYCLONE IN CALICO'

20th Century Culture Club Hears Biographical Review

Mrs. V.L. Hobbs hosted Twentieth Century Culture Club in her home recently with refreshments provided by Mrs. Weldon Carter.

Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, president, conducted the business meeting in which members discussed the October Senior Citizens meeting. Mrs. Warren Hasse, chairman of the project, was assisted by members in providing refreshments and serving the group.

Mrs. E.W. Hogan was welcomed as a new member by Mrs. Shelhamer. Mrs. L.J. Zachry, vice-president, gave an introduction to the year's course of study for the club, "Women Are Here to Stay".

Mrs. Mitchell reviewed the book, "Cyclone in Calico" by Nina Brown, about the life of Mother Bickerdyke, a nurse during the Civil War. Mrs. Mitchell described Mother Bickerdyke, as one without authority from anyone except the Lord God Almighty, who nursed the wounded and ill soldiers, treating them with her botanic medicine, and making sure everything was done right.

"Mother Bickerdyke's church selected her to go to the aid of ill soldiers who were dying from civilian ailments. She went but was a blessing to the patients and a nuisance to the surgeons in charge," Mrs. Mitchell said.

"Following the wounded during the four years of the Civil War, Mother Bickerdyke stayed on for two more years until the last Illinois soldier had received his discharge and was sent home," Mrs. Mitchell related.

"Among her friends were Generals Grant, Sherman and Logan, whose admiration she gained through her persistent efforts to improve the hospitals, make the life of the wounded and sick more bearable and see to it that supplies donated by civilians were properly used," Mrs. Mitchell said.

"During a victory celebration Altrusans attending were Jay Flanagan, Louise Sewell, Lillian Snow and Marie Fitzgerald. Red Cross Volunteers providing transportation were Mmes. A. D. Hills and Lella Clifford.

parade, her returning veterans provided her with a side saddle for her horse, 'Old Whitey'. Women had provided new clothes for her to wear in place of her old calico dress. "But, in her excitement over the saddle, she forgot to change her clothes and rode 'Old Whitey' before President Andrew Johnson, generals and other dignitaries in her calico dress with her sunbonnet slung around her neck.

"Instead of joining them on the platform, she hastened back to two tents she had set up, one containing lemonade and saline for blistered feet and the other containing a privy for soldiers.

"After the war Mother Bickerdyke continued to aid veterans, helping them to settle land in Kansas, and persuading General Sherman to give them wagons and teams no longer needed for war. When the grasshopper plague hit Kansas she made 10 trips to Chicago once securing five train car loads of food and supplies for the veterans. The governor of Kansas honored her in a state-wide celebration," Mrs. Mitchell said.

"For a time, Mother Bickerdyke was in California where she helped organize the Women's Relief Corp and was instrumental in getting pensions for disabled veterans. A monument is erected in her honor in Galesburg, Ill., where she lived for several years.

"She lived to be 84 years of age. On her 80th birthday when veterans came to Bunker Hill for a celebration in her honor, 80 of them pulled her in a buggy. She stayed up until three o'clock in the morning, enjoying the festivities," Mrs. Mitchell concluded.

Pampa's Cornodo Inn has just been named winner of the 1968 "Golden Cup" Award from nationally-known Coffee Brewing Center, New York City.

When Panamanian National Guardsmen sent President Arnaldo Arias fleeing to U.S. protection in the Canal Zone after only 11 days in office, Panama joined the growing list of Latin American nations under military or semimilitary rule.

The Panama coup came only nine days after the overthrow of another freely elected government, that of President Fernando Belaunde Terry of Peru.

Peru and Panama thus joined Argentina as outright military dictatorships without pretense of democracy, and others which maintain the trappings of democracy but are the results of military take over, such as Brazil, Bolivia and Paraguay.

Each represents a defeat for American policy and for the ideals of the Alliance for Progress as it was set up by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Private Investment

The alliance was to promote development through evolution rather than revolution and over a period of 10 years was to aid freely elected governments of developing countries with $10 billion to be advanced by the United States and an equal sum to come from private investment.

Actual practice fell far short of the ideal and the Lyndon B. Johnson administration came to the reluctant conclusion there must be exceptions.

The outstanding example was Brazil where, despite massive U.S. aid a freely elected government rapidly was drifting toward a Communist takeover, bankruptcy and chaos.

U.S. Aid

A military regime which since has restored the outward form of democracy, put the breaks on inflation, restored order and reopened the way to private investment. The country continues to receive large amounts of U.S. aid.

Similar progress has been made in Argentina which practically is under the one-man rule of Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania.

Ongania's is a father-type dictatorship which has gained has gained wide support among Argentines disillusioned by a series of attempts to re-establish, civilian rule after the fall of the Juan D. Peron dictatorship in 1955.

In Bolivia it was the chaos created by Communist-led tin miners that finally led to the military to take over.

In Peru it was discontent with the bickering between an obstructionist congress and Belaunde that led nationalist-minded officers to take over. The trigger was a compromise settlement of an old oil dispute with a Standard Oil company subsidiary which the officers charged sold out national interests.

Long-Hair Boys Lose Court Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court refused Monday to examine the complaint of three young men barred from a Dallas high school in 1966 because of their "Beatle" haircuts, which they said they needed for their musical combo.

The court acted in a brief order, with no opinion.

The mother of one boy, Stephen Webb, then 18, said his hair was "over his ears, but one can see the lobe of his ear. It is not over his collar but is over his forehead and down to his eyebrows."

Young Webb and the other two — Phillip Ferrell and Paul Jarvis — were members of a combo called Sounds Unlimited. They insisted their hair styles were necessary to this occupation and said hair style is a form of expression, akin to thought and speech, which is constitutionally protected from infringement by the state.

W. S. Lanham, principal of the W. W. Samuel High School, saw things differently. The boys did not go to their homerooms on opening day, but with two parents and a booking agent, Kent Alexander, confronted Lanham in his office. Lanham la-

Eggers Knocks Education Ills

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — GOP nominee for governor Paul Eggers hammered at education inadequacy in Texas Monday in a speech to the Students' Forum Council of the University of Texas at Arlington.

In remarks prepared for delivery at 3 p.m., Eggers told the forum that Texas has the highest illiteracy rate in the nation.

"Texas also ranks 42nd in preventing high school dropouts and is 31st in educational attainment," he said. "In order to change this course of events in our educational attainments we need a change in government in Austin," he said.

Eggers said he opposed any tuition increases and "because our culture is mixed, I favor courses in our primary schools designed to develop understanding and good will among our various ethnic groups," he said.

The candidate for governor said, if elected, he would make appointments "to our various agencies and boards of those whom I consider political hangers-on. Unfortunately, this procedure has been part of the one-party system which has too long dominated our state," he Walter Britten of Bryan is auctioneer.

RELIGIOUS BARRIER

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Doormen at a Sikh temple refused entry Sunday to two ambulance attendants on an emergency mission because they would not honor a religious law that they remove their shoes first. Pampa's Superman Wins Gold

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—America's track and field stars were counting today on gaining two more Olympic gold medals—but right now they know they're in the toughest scrap they've had in modern times.

Jimmy Hines, the explosive sprinter who plans on turning professional football player "in just about two weeks," gave the United States the men's 100-meter gold medal Monday a few minutes after huge Randy Matson, who also may become a football pro, had captured the men's shot put for the first U.S. gold medal of these games.

And both did it in style—Hines with a world record 9.9-second clocking that survived confusion about whether he'd had a tailwind helping him, and Matson with a 67 feet, 4 1/4 inch toss that was better than the old Olympic record.

What's more, the Yanks will be sorely disappointed today if one of three U.S. girls, probably Wyoming Tyus of Griffin, Ga., doesn't win the women's 100-meter dash, and Jay Silvester of Smithfield, Utah, doesn't win the discus throw.

Forest Hills, N.Y., is the lone Yank survivor, or in a lightweight weightlifting, the other finals on the Tuesday program.

But Hines had to come up with the second 9.9 performance of his career to nip Lennox Miller of Jamaica in the 100 meters for the title of "world's fastest human."

There's anything that can compare with winning a gold medal in the Olympics.

Southern Cal. Takes Over As Nation's No.1 Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—The revolving door that calls itself No. 1 has swung to the West.

Southern California, the defending national champion, today became the third team in four weeks to hold the No. 1 ranking when the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches named John McKay's Trojans the top team in college football.

Ohio State, which topped Purdue from the top spot, moved into second.

Rams, Colts Figure To Stay Unbeaten

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts are strong favorites to remain unbeaten and tied for first place in the Coastal Division of the National Football League Sunday but the Dallas Cowboys are only seventh choice over the Minnesota Vikings.

Francisco Forty-Niners, the New Orleans Saints two over the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Chicago Bears are rated even with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Fry Says His Mustangs May Rank Among Top 10

Southern Methodist University coach Hayden Fry says he's a bit hesitant about ranking his Mustangs among the top 10 teams in the nation.

CHICAGO (UPI)—It was in 1962 that a Democratic governor of Illinois, ruminated in Springfield, "I'm too old to cry and it hurts too much to laugh."

He was Adlai E. Stevenson and he had just lost the presidency to a Dwight D. Eisenhower landslide that carried Illinois along with it.

Stevenson had a way with words and his rueful farewell to his presidential hopes that year has been remembered as a model of how to lose with class.

This year, all indications are that the Illinois Democratic powers who followed Stevenson may do well to learn some lessons from the old, departed master of graceful defeat.

Sweep Midwest

Illinois is where, Richard M. Nixon has figured, a 5 per cent edge in the balloting on his behalf Nov. 5 will mean a sweep of the Midwest over Hubert H. Humphrey. There are few signs to indicate, at this point, that Nixon will not get his 5 per cent.

At the very least, that would mean 26 electoral votes for the man who may have lost the White House in the Illinois voting eight years ago. Illinois Democrats would be lucky if their troubles stopped there.

Instead, they are struggling with a nightmare. No authoritative statewide polls have yet been published on how the vote is going in Illinois. But random samplings have been taken and, to Democratic eyes, they are appalling.

Downstate farmers polled have put Nixon first, Humphrey third, and George Wallace in between. At steel mill gates in Chicago, Humphrey slipped in first, but only because Negro millhands came down solidly for the Democrats. A plurality of white steel workers checked preferred Wallace.

The fear abides among Democratic precinct captains in Chicago that many more white unionists—the men who usually make Mayor Richard J. Daley and the city's Democratic machine purr—feel the same way.

Enright, a union painter who lives in Daley's neighborhood near the stockyards. He has made two decisions: To vote for Wallace next month and then emigrate to Australia.

"Two years ago I would have whipped one of my kids if they had said 'nigger,'" Enright says. "Now I'm saying it myself. It's the law and order thing that gets me—to have laws they don't have to obey and we do."

Many miles downstate, deep in that part of Illinois known as "Egypt," Valgene Gould says much the same thing. Gould, a contractor, used to be a '90 to 95 per cent Democrat. "Now he has opened a Wallace headquarters in his home town of Energy because he feels 'the federal government is taking the country over.'"

The few polls presently available in Illinois reflect the same kind of talk.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—NBC-TV's Huntley-Brinkley news report will be extended from five to six days a week starting in January.

The half-hour evening report, built around newsmen Chet Huntley and David Brinkley, currently is seen Monday through Friday.

On Jan. 4, it will add a Saturday broadcast. And from then on, the program will be seen Monday through Saturday on a regular basis.

Network television already has its weekend counterparts of the daily evening news shows. But the regular weekday anchor men such as Huntley, Brinkley, Walter Cronkite and Frank Reynolds have, until now, been pretty well confined to the Monday-through-Friday schedule.

In announcing the upcoming expansion of the Huntley-Brinkley report, Rubeen Frank, president of NBC News, said: "The additional night of programming will allow us to cover the myriad developments and far-reaching ramifications of important news stories to a larger extent and with greater continuity than now."

"It will permit us to examine areas we have not fully explored and will give us more flexibility in scheduling multi-part studies of topics deserving fairly lengthy treatment."

The NBC-TV statement added: "David Brinkley will divide his time between New York and Washington, joining Chet Huntley frequently in NBC's New York studios. The program will continue to originate in the two cities."

The Huntley-Brinkley report now is in its 13th season. It began in 1956 as a 15-minute program. In 1963 it went to half an hour. And in 1965 it started broadcasting in color.

A press release from "My Three Sons" indicates that the Saturday night series may be planning to go on forever, if not longer.

The release notes that on the Nov. 9 episode, the wife of the eldest of the three rapidly-growing sons of series star Fred MacMurray will give birth to triplets.

The triplets, as fate and the producers would have it, are all boys. Which means that one of the original three sons will have three sons of his own. Which means that if the original trio of MacMurray's boys can carry on for a while longer, another generation would be ready to take over—without even necessitating a title change.

I can't guarantee any of this, excellent chance of running from here to eternity, and might as well make plans.

Highway Patrol Investigates 12 Rural Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 12 accidents on rural highways in Gray County during the month of September, according to Sergeant J. L. Dalrymple, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $6,105.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first nine months of 1968 shows a total of 153 accidents resulting in three persons killed, 78 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $223,067.

Patrol officers said, "Accidents Go Up When the Sun Goes Down," is a slogan so true. Darkness hides danger, giving the driver a false sense of security. That is the reason traffic accidents increase during October's shorter days and longer nights. Statistics prove that traffic deaths will increase over 40 per cent during this period of shorter days and longer nights.

At sundown, long shadows and fading light make it increasingly difficult for drivers to spot traffic hazards and stop in time. The veteran patrol supervisor said, "Make it a habit to turn on your driving lights at the first sign of fading light and falling shadows."

"So much for so little"

An important announcement from the Committee to Save the Enco Tiger:

He won!

The Tiger stays. Thanks to the millions of motorists who voted for the candidate with the no-nonsense platform: cleaner engines, extra power at the Sign of "Happy Motoring!"

And the Ad Manager? He stays, too. Just in case somebody wants to hear the technical side. You know, all the facts about Enco gasolines. Like the fact that Enco Extra was the first gasoline with a super-detergent that cleans vital engine parts and keeps the PCV valve clean.

So thanks again for your loyal support. Now let's put the Tiger back where he belongs.
