Survivor Describes Tale Of Air Crash

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI)—"I don't know whether I got knocked out or not, but the plane was in flames. The first thing I knew there was a great deal of flames all around."
 Robert V. Kimball, 44, of Hanover, assistant dean at the business school at Dartmouth College, described Saturday the plane crash in which 32 persons died atop Moose Mountain. Kimball was one of 10 survivors.
 The plane, a Northeast Airlines twin engine prop-jet, had left Boston at 4:55 p.m. Friday and was due to land in Lebanon at 5:38 p.m.
 Shortly after radioing the Lebanon airport, the Fairchild-Hiller slammed into the top of the 2,740-foot mountain about seven miles from its destination at 6:08 p.m. The sun had just set and the weather was foggy.
Recover Bodies
 Rescue crews began bringing the bodies down by helicopter Saturday. They were hampered by rough, rocky terrain and snow flurries.
 A temporary morgue was set up at the New Hampshire Army National Guard Armory in Hanover.
 The 10 survivors had been sitting in the rear of the plane. They apparently were spared because the left wing struck a large tree and pulled away a portion of the rear end seconds before the plane struck a ledge and exploded in flames.
 Kimball, assistant dean of the Amos Tuck School at Dartmouth, said there was no warning of the crash.
 "I said, 'Oh God', when the plane hit," he recalled from his bed at Mary Hitchcock hospital.
One Thought
 "It was burning and I just had one thought—to get out of there—and I was very fortunate to do so."
 Dr. Richard L. Veech, 33, of Oxford, England, another survivor, was thrown from the wreckage and landed upside down in a tree, still strapped in his seat. He freed himself and joined the others.
 It was the fifth fatal crash in 14 years for the Boston-based airline.
 A Federal Aviation Agency official said Saturday the plane was on a normal approach and there was no indication of trouble.
 The normal approach over the mountain, part of the rugged White Mountain range, would be about 3,500 feet—some 760 feet above the peak, the spokesman said.
 Witnesses said the position of the wreckage indicated the plane would have cleared the peak if it had been about 100 feet higher.

South, North Vietnam Exchange Verbal Blast

By DANIEL SOUTHERLAND SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnam and North Vietnam Saturday voiced hardline positions on peace prospects. South Vietnamese prime Minister Tran Van Huong said Hanoi was being "nonsensical" and North Vietnam said it would never accept U.S. conditions for deescalation.
 "Our enemy, the Communists, talk about peace, but the peace they have in mind is one resulting in a takeover of South Vietnam by North Vietnam, and their conquest of Southeast Asia," Huong said in a speech welcoming Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand to Saigon.
 "This is the reason why they have made nonsensical, one-sided and even insulting proposals at the Paris conference, and at the same time increased their military and propaganda efforts to back up their demands."
 North Vietnam, speaking through the official newspaper Nhan Dan, accused the United States of waging a "war of destruction against North Vietnam" and said this was "an extremely serious crime." It demanded an unconditional bombing halt.
 "The U.S. must stop unconditionally that war of destruction," Nhan Dan said. "Our people firmly refute the U.S. demand for conditions for its deescalation."
 Huong, in his Saigon statement, stressed South Vietnamese efforts to bring the Communist to terms through military successes.
 "Our determination and clear-sightedness will foil all their attempts, and the bravery of our soldiers has blunted their attacks," Huong said. "Therefore sooner or later they will have to return to reason and talk more seriously."
 "In the light of this, may I say there are good prospects for peace."
 Nhan Dan accused President Johnson of "deceiving public opinion" when he said last Thursday there had been no basic change and no breakthrough in the Paris talks.
 "Johnson's statement on Oct. 24 did not meet the demand of the Vietnamese people and public opinion in the world and in the United States," Nhan Dan said. "Moreover, it was intended to deceive public opinion."

Author Says U.S. Was Without Nuclear Reply

NEW YORK (UPI)—For eight confused minutes following the shooting of John F. Kennedy, the United States was without the executive contact to order instant nuclear reply to an attacker, author Jim Bishop asserts in a book recreating the assassination day.
 "The bagman," who carried the small dial-locked suitcase containing electronic apparatus with which the President could order a retaliatory nuclear strike, was out of touch that length of time and was "lost" again several times later that day, according to Bishop.
Salient Details
 "The Day Kennedy was Shot" is scheduled for publication on the fifth anniversary of the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination. But salient details from it were published in a magazine last month and a condensation will appear in another this week.
 It takes the view that President Kennedy was dead at Dealy Plaza in Dallas from the time the bullet blew away part of his head and that Vice President Lyndon Johnson became President at that moment.
 However, Johnson, under the Constitution, was without the power of executive action until he took the official oath of office much later that day at the Dallas airport, Bishop says. And Johnson hadn't been told how to use the secrets of the bag.
 "The bagman's" job was "never to be more than a few seconds from the side of the President."
 Bishop recounts that during the fatal room hour a Secret Service agent, Lem Johns, had been dropped off at the plaza and the motorcade had left without him after the shooting. Johns hurried to Parkland Hospital and "now he was bumping into people in a long corridor, and one he bumped was Art Bales. 'Are you the bagman?' Johns said."
Ironic Fact
 "Bales said no, Gearhart was. Lem Johns found him and ordered him to hurry to the side of the vice president. It was ironic that, in the past eight minutes, no one knew where the bagman was or who he was, and the bagman didn't know where the President was or who he was. If there was a time when the United States could not retaliate instantaneously to a nuclear attack, these were the minutes."
 Bishop says a doctor drew a sheet over the body at 12:46 p.m. CST but "President Kennedy's death was a secret. It was known to a select few, such as agent Jerry Behn in the White House 1,500 miles away. It was not known to Lyndon Johnson, 35 feet away. A brace of doctors and a few nurses knew it. The Secret Service agents whispered the information to each other."

Fruit Cake Sale Starts Monday To Help Pampa Band

Proceeds Go To 'L.A. 68' Trip, Journey To California Gets Nearer

Pampa High Band and Concert Choir members, along with Band Boosters, will turn salesmen tomorrow as they launch a city-wide sale of Manor Texas Fruit Cakes, it was announced by Cletus Mitchell, Band Booster president.
 Proceeds from the sale will go toward the "L. A. '68" trip where the Band and Concert Choir will perform at half-time during the game between the Los Angeles Rams and Baltimore Colts on Dec. 15. The game is to be televised.
 "When any of these students or Band Booster members knock on your door," Mitchell said, "remember that they are bringing you a two-fold opportunity. First, you will be invited to enjoy a nationally famous fruit cake, usually available only by mail. Second, you will be sharing in a worthwhile activity of furthering the "L. A. '68" trip."
 All members of the Band, Choir and Band Booster Club will be canvassing Pampa during the fund raising campaign under the direction of committee chairman Newt Secrest. Anyone interested in purchasing fruit cake during the sale but who is not contacted by a student or club member may place his order by telephoning MO 4-4604 or MO 4-2227.
 The fruit cake does not contain citrus fruit or peel, and is one of the finest fruit cakes on the market, made from a special butter batter, white raisins, pineapple, cherries and Texas pecans. They come in two, three and five pound sizes.
 "Manor Texas Fruit Cakes are beautifully packaged," Secrest said. "This makes them ideal for gifts. Businessmen will find them especially appropriate for clients and employe giving. They are also excellent choices for..."

Space Rendezvous Highlights Mission

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Saturday sent up a 47-year-old cosmonaut, the oldest man ever in space, into an earth orbit that could be a prelude to an early manned flight around the moon. He rendezvoused with a twin but unmanned spaceship launched secretly Friday.
 Col. Georgy Beregovoi, a World War II air hero and veteran test pilot, was launched into space aboard Soyuz 3 at 11:34 a.m. (3:34 a.m. CST) in the Russian's first manned flight since April, 1967, when cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov was killed in the crash of the spaceship Soyuz 1.
 Powered by what Moscow television termed a "mighty booster," Beregovoi's Soyuz 3 went into a near-circular orbit between 127 and 139 miles high.
 Sometime during his first 88.6-minute circle of the globe, automatic instruments took the cosmonaut's spacecraft within 200 yards of a second ship, Soyuz 2, which had been launched without announcement the day before.
 Beregovoi, a much decorated veteran of 30 years of flying experience, then took over the controls, and manually piloted his ship even closer to the other spacecraft.
 However, the official Tass news agency, which disclosed the maneuver, did not indicate an actual linkup had been achieved on the first approach.
 It was assumed that at least one goal of the new Soviet manned flight was to achieve a linkup with Soyuz 2.
 The Soviets have twice automatically linked pairs of unmanned spaceships but they have never been able to duplicate the manned docking maneuvers carried out by American astronauts.
 Such techniques are considered essential in any program for moon and interplanetary flights, since they are a basic step in constructing an orbiting space platform where a moon-ship would be assembled and launched.
 In Jodrell Bank, England, British space expert Sir Bernard Lovell said the Russians probably would be able to circumnavigate the moon in a month if Soyuz 3 is successful. He said the latest Russian spacecraft is "probably identical" with the Zond 5 that made an unmanned flight around the moon.
Generally Discounted
 But speculation that Soyuz 3 itself would follow the trail blazed by Zond 5 around the moon and back to earth was generally discounted by Western space experts.
 The Russians have indicated they would follow their "traditional method" of sending dogs on such a perilous space flight before risking one of their cosmonauts. One of the few major criticisms in the Soviet press following the recent Apollo 7 flight was that the Americans were thinking of sending Apollo 8 on a manned circumlunar flight without prior unmanned test of the route.
 Tass said Soyuz 3 was transmitting television pictures to earth. It said Beregovoi reported shortly after 5 p.m. he "feels well" and was successfully carrying out his program of experiments and studies.
 As usual the Russians gave no indication what further program was in store for their latest manned flight. But it was thought possibly Soyuz 3 would be brought down in the Indian Ocean, where Zond 5 came down for the first water landing of a cosmonaut.

New Residents Have Till Friday To Cast Votes

County Clerk Charlie Thut has reminded new residents of Gray County that they must vote in his office by Friday if they wish to participate in the coming general election.
 Nov. 1 is also the last day for absentee voting and for voting by persons who qualified to vote in the presidential election only during the 15-day application period in September.
 Persons who have lived in Texas more than a year but who have moved from one county to another since May 5, may vote on all statewide offices, president and vice president and the 14 proposed constitutional amendments for the state, but they may not vote on local offices. In order to vote, they must be registered as voters for the 1968 voting year.
 Thut asked all persons intending to vote to bring their registration certificates with them. Affidavits of loss may be made if the certificate has been lost or misplaced, however.
 Persons who live in Pampa must have their registrations transferred to Gray County through the office of the county tax assessor-collector before they will be permitted to vote.
 The county clerk also reminded voters living in Pampa that they must have their registration transferred through the tax assessor-collector's office if they have moved from one voting precinct to another since registering. The final date for transfer is Thursday.
 Voters living outside of Pampa who have moved to a new precinct will also vote in the precinct of their present residence but they need not transfer their registration.
 A total of 425 absentee and presidential election ballots had been cast through Friday afternoon, according to deputy county clerk Mrs. Joyce Combs.
 The county clerk's office is on the second floor of the Gray County courthouse. The tax assessor-collector's office is on the first floor.

ARREST OFFICIAL

VIENNA, Austria (UPI)—Austrian authorities Saturday announced the arrest of a government official, Josef Adamek, on charges of spying for an unnamed eastern Communist power. Adamek, 42, had worked for the Austrian Federal Press Service for 20 years.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL
Executive Secretary ARC

Lefors Elementary School have completed their enrollment in Junior Red Cross. Mrs. Johnny Sybert, teacher sponsor for the elementary grades, brought in the money collected from the six grades. Total collections were $8.42 from the children.

Red Cross News will be ordered for each room which will leave $2.42 to be spent on supplies during the year. Thanks to each of you for your part in this important work. Most of the schools will have their enrollment the second week in November.

The Water Safety Instructors in Pampa and neighboring communities will meet at the Pampa Youth Center Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. Oct. 29 and 31 to take a review on their swimming and study and new textbook on Swimming and Water Safety. Mr. Marilyn Williams, who has been teaching a class in Water Safety Ins., will include the already authorized WSI with the group. All instructors in Water Safety must have this review before teaching next summer. Please wear or bring your suits to the Pampa Youth Center Oct. 29 to 31 for this important meeting.

Our thanks to George Smith for his continued support of the Red Cross Swim program. Smith has gone out of his way to be of help to our program and help us in many ways.

Two more of our young men who have come by the Red Cross office for their Red Cross shirts are Dale Mahlar and Morris Powell. The boys will wear their shirts the second week of Nov. when the Red Cross youth enrollment will be held in the school.

There will be a First Aid Ins. Course in Borger Fire Station with Bud Bradley, instructor trainer, on the National Staff, in charge of the class. The class will begin at 6:30 p.m. and last until 10 p.m.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wright Investors' Service cautions that "an upward drive to new highs by 1968 year end, indicated by the recent vigorous stock market advances, does not necessarily mean that the 1969 stock market will be continuingly vigorous." The firm believes that the present indications "lead to a shakeout by spring, as the realities of higher taxes, reduced disposable consumer income and shrinking corporate profits appear."

Stanley Heller & Co. anticipates a "sharp emotional buying surge" should serious moves develop toward a Vietnam settlement within the next few weeks. The "extreme overbought condition" which would result would pave the way, the firm feels, "for a November-December correction." It adds: "Whatever the outcome of the forthcoming election, the new administration will be faced with a formidable challenge to control the current inflationary spiral," and an end to the Vietnam conflict, will provide "the much needed economic flexibility" to ward off another attack on the dollar. W.E. Hutton & Co. is less optimistic about the deflationary effect of a Vietnam settlement. "It is important to remember that anything like this would be more important psychologically and politically, near term, than economically," the firm points out, adding that it "would take a long time to reduce Vietnam spending to any important degree."

Will Survive Woes Price Says Nation

STINNETT (Sp) — "It is almost a miscarriage of justice that the nation's television cameras and the massive press corps which covers the violence in the streets of America during these troubled times aren't in Stinnett today," Congressman Bob Price told his audience while speaking at the annual Plemons Masonic Lodge Patriotic Day program here Saturday.

"This is the true America. This is all that America stands for in action," he said.

"During these times when we hear so much about peace, beatniks and the hippie-yippie element of our society, patriotism is shoved aside and in the hurried way of life of our society we often push this part of our duty to the side.

"Freedom is a precious possession, one that needs cherishing and nurturing. One that must be protected, promulgated and defended," he said.

"It's tragic, the congressman said, that a minority that would flout the foundations upon which this country was conceived and would twist the great American freedoms to violate the right of others cause death and destruction which may never be measured, and receive the greatest notice and in some instances under false banners have these acts condoned by officialdom.

"This tragedy of today is even more grave when you consider the fact that once more American men are on the field of battle to defend our freedom. This country must return to the true concepts of patriotism, of patriotic duty. We must feel our responsibility to a free life and defend it on every front as diligently as those who wear the uniform of this country in Vietnam," Price said.

birthday and anniversaries." The sale will extend until Nov. 13 at which time the fruit cakes will be ordered for delivery between Nov. 20 and 27. Secret said there are some fruit cakes on hand for anyone who wants immediate delivery.

"The overall goal is to place at least one fruit cake in every home of Pampa so that we can say the community is on hundred percent behind the Band and Choir in helping them make the trip possible and putting them on a National television hookup," Secret stated.

"This program today is evidence that the country has survived many trials, many tests and many troubled times. It will survive the troubles which beset it today and it will reach even higher levels of greatness and strength," Price said. The Congressman participated in presenting a United States Flag to the Stinnett Schools. The flag was flown over the nation's capital earlier this fall.

Plane Accident Kills Two Men, Injures Another

Two Panhandle area businessmen, Lowry "Larry" M. McCathern, 54, Pampa, and David Kritser, 50, Amarillo, were killed and another Amarillo man injured in a plane crash Friday at Monahans Municipal Airport.

Roy G. Mason, 34, salesman for an Amarillo equipment company, was listed in good condition Saturday evening in Odessa Medical Center. He is being treated for back and internal injuries.

Mr. McCathern, president and general manager of McCathern Pipeline and Construction Company of Pampa, died in the Odessa hospital at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

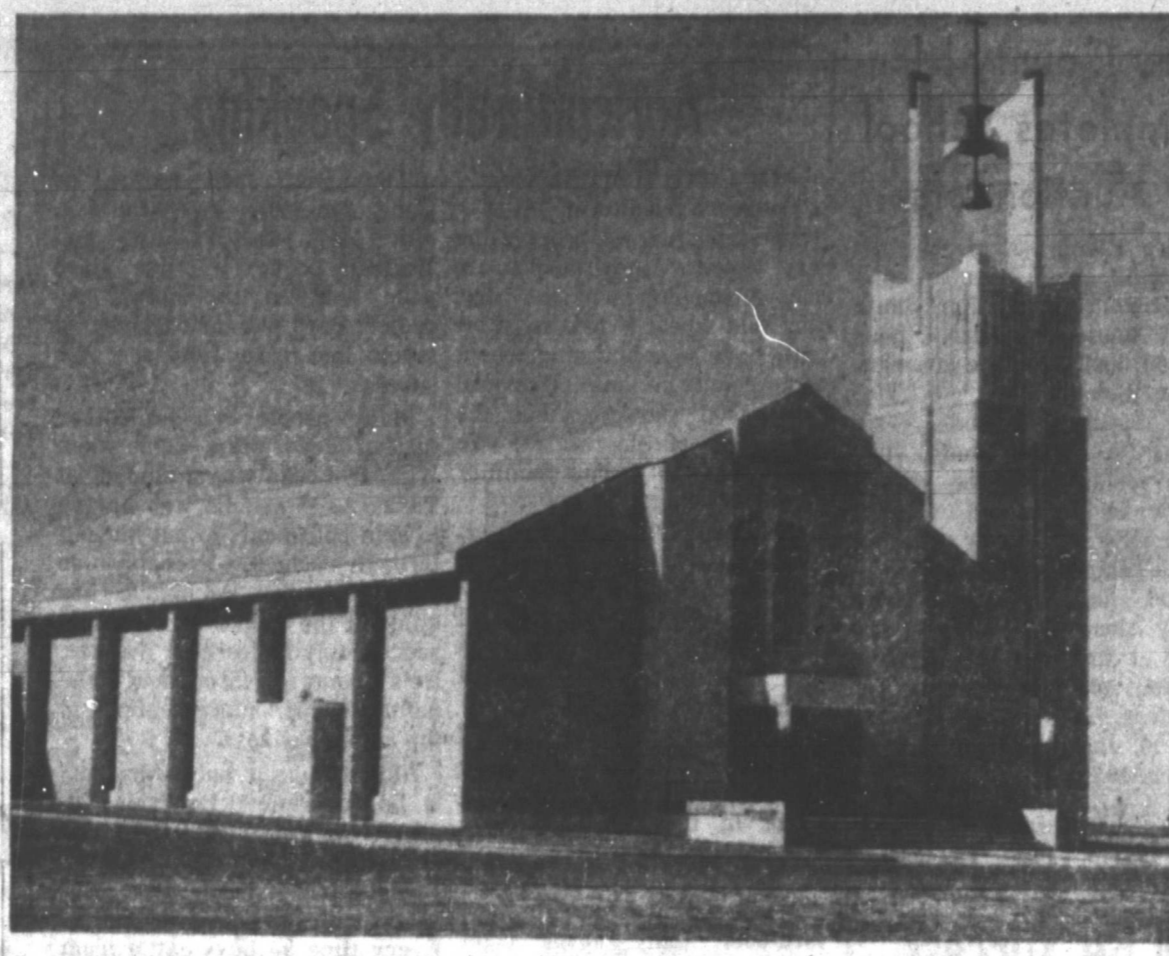

McCathern's company was laying a natural gas pipeline 17 miles west of Monahans. The men had flown in Kritser's plane to investigate the death of Ramon Estrada of Canadian, an employe of McCathern. Estrada was killed earlier Friday in pipeline accident near Monahans.

Kritser, president of West Texas Equipment Company, died at the scene of the crash. Funeral services for Mr. Kritser were held Saturday in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church with burial in Llano Cemetery directed by Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors.

Funeral services for Mr. McCathern will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in Harvester and Mary Ellen Church of Christ with Guy Caskey, minister, officiating. Burial will be in Buffalo Cemetery in Sweetwater, Okla., directed by Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors of Pampa.

Palbearers will be Gerald Sims, Roy D. Childress, Dan B. Flemming, Roy E. Stephenson, J. B. Maguire Jr., and Ed Lamereloux.

Mr. McCathern was born in Mayfield, Okla., March 2, 1914, and moved to the Texas Panhandle in 1947. He lived in Lefors about 10 years before moving to Pampa eight years ago. A resident of 330 Henry, he was a member of Pampa Masonic Lodge No. 966. Survivors are his wife, Lorene, DEDICATION — Formal dedication ceremonies will be held at 4:30 p.m. for St. Vincent de Paul church, 2300 Perryton Parkway.

Measles Clinic Set 1 To 5 Next Sunday

Next Sunday, Nov. 3, is the day set for dispensing the free measles vaccine which will be administered by members of the Pampa Medical Society.

The drive, similar to the one that eliminated polio here several years ago, will be conducted at Baker Elementary School and Pampa Junior School between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m. Parents of all children between the ages of 1 and 10 years are urged to take advantage of the clinic offer.

A survey made recently through cooperation of the school nurses indicated that only two-thirds of the children in Pampa had received the vaccine.

According to medical authority, measles is not just a harmless childhood disease. Almost 400 deaths from measles occur each year in the United States. One out of every six children who has measles suffers from some type of complication such as pneumonia, ear trouble, or encephalitis.

A registration form is being sent home by school-age children, and one appears on Page 7 of today's Pampa News to be used for pre-school children. All children must be accompanied by an adult and must bring the registration form which should be filled out completely.

The vaccine, supplied by the State Health Department, will be administered by competent medical personnel who are donating their services. Only one dose of the vaccine is necessary and should give lifetime immunity.

The measles vaccination drive is sponsored by the Pampa Medical Society. Dr. Edward S. Williams is chairman of the Committee which includes Dr. Raymond Laycock and Dr. R. M. Hampton.

Members of the High School Paramedical Club, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Lang and Mrs. Charles Ashby, have made dozens of posters which have been placed in public places in an effort to inform Pampa citizens of the opportunity for the free vaccine. They are working with the Pampa Medical Auxiliary and the school nurses to make the project a success.

Dr. Williams said parents from Lefors, White Deer and Skellytown are invited to bring their children to the clinic for the measles shots.

Hielscher Due As Speaker For C-C Banquet

Politics Hits Home Stretch This Week

Politics goes into the home stretch this week with only nine days remaining until the Nov. 5 general election, and local and district candidates are expected to vigorously exercise shoe leather, vocal cords and their hand-shaking as they seek to clear the last hurdle in their quests for public office.

The closest race appears to be for the post of Gray County attorney, where Republican nominee Ben Sturgeon and Democrat John Warner are expected to finish in an exciting down-the-wire race.

Incumbent Republican Price appears to have a solid lead over his Democratic opponent, Dick Brown of Hartley, for the post of 18th Congressional District Representative.

Locally, Joe K. Clarke of Lefors, the Democratic incumbent county commissioner of Pct. 1, is being challenged by Republican Buddy Cockrell; Democratic incumbent H. A. Doggett, constable of Pct. 2, is being opposed by Republican James Lewis; and Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford, the Democratic incumbent, is facing opposition from Republican Homer Gibson for the post of JP, Pct. 2, Place 1.

Unopposed district and local candidates are:

State Representative, 79th District — Malouf Abraham of Canadian, Republican, the incumbent.

District Attorney, 31st District — Guy Hardin of Shamrock, Democrat.

Gray County Sheriff — R. H. (Rufe) Jordan, Democrat, the incumbent.

Gray County Commissioner, Pct. 3 — James McCracken, Democrat, the incumbent.

Gray County Constable Pct. 1 — W. R. Combs of Lefors, Democrat, the incumbent.

Gray County Constable, Pct. 5 — J. D. Fish of McLean, Democrat, the incumbent.

Gray County Tax Assessor-Collector — Jack Back, Democrat, the incumbent.

STUDENT PROTEST — Leftwing students hurled stones at Japanese troops on parade Saturday and burned a rising sun flag.

election day is part of his swing through Texas. On the same day he will make appearances in Lubbock, Wichita Falls and Abilene.

On the following day he will visit Longview and Tyler in Texas and then go on to Memphis, Tenn.

Obituaries

Mr. Estrada died when a load of pipe being unloaded started rolling and he was crushed.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Estrada of Canadian, two brothers, Lee of Canadian and Frank of Oklahoma City, and three sisters, Modesta Estrada of the home, Frank Mendez of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Jose Guerra of Miami.

Rosary services will be held at 8 p.m. today in the Stickey Funeral Home and burial following the Monday funeral rites will be in the Canadian cemetery.

MRS. CARRIE McDONALD Mrs. Carrie McDonald, 93, of Gilmer, died Friday in Gilmer. Mrs. McDonald, the mother of Mrs. Carl Clement, of Pampa, had visited here frequently.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today in Church of Christ in Gilmer with burial in Rosewood Cemetery near Gilmer.

Mrs. McDonald is also survived by another daughter, Mrs. Gladys Fennell, Gilmer.

MRS. MARJERY McLEAN Funeral services are pending in Dallas for Mrs. Marjery McLean, 56, formerly of Miami, who died Saturday in Dallas.

Mrs. McLean, born May 22, 1912 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham, who operated a hotel in Miami for 30 years, was employed by H. L. Hunt Oil Co. at the time of her death.

She attended Miami public schools and graduated from there Sept. 27, 1931. She later married Milton McLean, who preceded her in death.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Marjanne Nix and two grandsons, Mike and Ricky Nix, all of Dallas; one sister, Mrs. Maxine Hall, Dallas, one brother Jack Graham, Pampa.

Burial will be in Dallas and O'Neal Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

JAMES D. CARR James D. Carr, 82, of Canadian, collapsed in a Pampa store Saturday and was dead on arrival at Worley Hospital at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

Survivors include three daughters Mrs. Joyce Miller of Odessa; Mrs. Evelyn Curnutt, Bay City and Mrs. Kathy Vavrecka, Sugarland.

Funeral services are pending with Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Home Directors.

Panhandle Water District News

By FELIX W. RYALS
Last week we covered a portion of the public hearing held in Hereford in October by the Interim Water Committee of the Texas Legislature. Those testifying at the hearing were trying to give the best answers possible to the eight questions raised by the Interim Water Committee in regard to importing water to West Texas. The answers given were not necessarily the ideas of the person giving the testimony, but the combined opinion of the people of an entire county. In our column this week we are reporting the feelings of the Castro County Water Association as read into the record of the hearing by Ray Joe Riley of Hart.

"Item No. 1 on the agenda reads as follows: 'In view of the development of the total water resources in Texas, is there a need for change in the present ground water law pertaining to private ownership or should there be statewide control of ground water resources?'"

Water Control
"At the outset, we point out that there are two distinct matters involved in the first item of the agenda relating to ground water. The first pertains to the private ownership of ground water, and raises the question whether there should be a change in the law concerning the private ownership of ground water. The second matter asks whether there should be increased control of ground water, such control to be exercised by the state. Perhaps we may imply from the question that there may be an alternative to increased control in the form of local rather than statewide organization, and we shall consider this matter also.

"We would bring to your attention the long history of private ownership of ground water supplies in the state. This history has evolved through many years of legal establishment through the state constitution, statutory law and court decisions.

Further, we would bring to your attention that land values have been and continue to be based on the ownership and the free and private use of ground water supplies. To remove or to reduce the unimpeded exercise of ground water pumpage for agricultural purposes, either through eliminating private ownership or increasing controls, not only would greatly hamper the production of agricultural goods but also would change the basis of market values customarily applied to agricultural lands.

It has long been recognized that the market value which applies to agricultural lands, at least in the High Plains of Texas, takes into consideration the private ownership of the lands.

In other words, irrigated land that is valued at $450 per acre includes a certain amount or quantity of ground water supplies which may freely be used on the surface, and any lessening of freedom in using this ground water could reduce the market value of these lands by as much as $200 per acre or more.

Finally, we would bring to your attention that the incentive possessed by our farmers toward agricultural production and the economic contribution they make to society are based on the private ownership of ground water supplies and freedom from any increase in control.

Areas of Conflict
"However, there may possibly be areas of conflict involved in the water importation program between the private ownership of ground water and the public ownership of surface water.

"We believe that the only area of possible conflict relates to the use of the ground water formation for the storage and distribution of imported water. We are aware of certain advantages which may be obtained in the program by injecting surface water into the underground water formation. At least two of these advantages are the reduction of water evaporation and the lessened disturbance of the land surface.

"Also, we are aware of the research which is underway to determine whether it is feasible to use the underground aquifer for these purposes.

"An examination of areas of conflict should involve the distinction between private and public use of the underground aquifer, and there should be a clear understanding as to the difference between the water itself and the underground aquifer, or formation which holds or is capable of holding water."

National Poll Shows Nixon Is Farmers' Choice

PHILADELPHIA (Spi) — Richard Nixon as of right now will easily win the farm vote, according to a current poll by Farm Journal, the nation's largest farm magazine.

The sample was selected by a computer from a list of over 5,000,000 farm owners and operators. When Farm Journal asked: "How would you vote if the election were today?" Nixon came out on top, getting 52 percent of the vote, with both Wallace and Humphrey trailing substantially.

The survey results, which appear in the November issue of Farm Journal, (out Oct. 12), show Nixon's greatest strength among the under 30 voters and those over 50.
Wallace's strength, greatest in the South, tailed off appreciably in other regions. The great majority of the farmers polled rated Johnson's performance as either fair or poor. Among this group, very few indicated they'd vote for Humphrey.

Gray County Man Completes School For Auctioneers

Henry Bland, 43, of Star Rt. 2, Pampa, has recently completed a course at the Fort Smith (Ark.) Auctioneers School, been licensed, and given the honorary title of "Colonel."

The course included six months of home study, two weeks residence at the school, and a short period of apprenticeship. He is now qualified to be a general auctioneer.

Bland has lived in Gray County since 1955 and is employed at Moody Farms. He and his wife, Addie Maye, have six daughters, Ethel, 22, Phyllis, 20, Judy, 18, Jackie, 16, Jo, 14, and Carolyn, 10.

Water, Inc. Plan Will Be Success, Official Claims

LAMESA, Tex. (UPI) — Water that propelled paddle wheel river boats, log barges and Huckleberry Finn will be providing life to South Plains croplands by 1965, according to a Water, Inc. executive.

Director Cliff Chamberlain said Wednesday that for a cost of $10 billion Mississippi River water can be delivered to South Plains farmers for about $25 an acre foot. He said that is considered high, "but not if you consider the alternative which is the death of our agricultural economy."

Chamberlain said that two Mississippi River Authority officials will tour the High Plains region in November to get a picture of its water needs. The visit has been arranged by Water, Inc., as part of "the big job of selling we have before us to convince everyone concerned that water importation to West Texas is a worthy cause."

Chamberlain said he is confident the Texas State Water Plan to be released after the first of the year will include West Texas this time. He said earlier studies by the Texas Water Development Board omitted the region in a chart change.

Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Skaggs and Retha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Jordan, both of Pampa.

Four Texas Counties Added to All-Risk Crop Insurance List

All-risk Federal Crop Insurance for grain sorghum will be available to farmers in four additional Texas counties for the 1968 crop year, Congressman Bob Price announced Saturday. Additional Federal Crop Insurance investment protection on grain sorghum in Hardey, Hutchinson, Ochiltree and Oldham Counties will raise to 44 the number of Texas counties where all-risk grain sorghum insurance is available.

Crop insurance on cotton is available in 55 counties and wheat protection in 28. There are 71 Texas counties where Federal Crop Insurance on one or more crops is obtainable, Price said.

Some $36.6 million in Texas crop production expenses was protected by Federal Crop Insurance in 1966. An estimated $2.2 million was paid to Texas farmers for some 9,000 losses during the 1967 crop year, the Panhandle Congressman added.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY
County Agricultural Agent
Wheat pasture is progressing very slowly. Many people are very disappointed in the slow start that wheat is making. Few cattle have been placed on wheat in the county in spite of several fairly good showers since the emergence of the wheat. We really need an Indian Summer to get the wheat going.

Feedlot Expansion
Recently we noted where the Randall County Feedlot is expanding to 60,000 head. This will make this feedlot the largest in the Panhandle. It's located southwest of Amarillo.

Without a doubt the Randall County Feedlot has had the biggest success story of any new feedlot in the Panhandle. We have heard of unbelievable low cost gain stories on this feedlot ever since they began to have "turn-outs" only about eight months ago. One close friend of mine got a gain cost of 17 cents per pound on steers that went in weighing 435 pounds and came out weighing 1,050. I know of another fellow that got a gain cost in the 16-cent bracket on light weight heifers at the Randall feedlot.

Management can be the deciding factor in the gain cost in any highly complex custom feeding operation today. When you can bring into management such names as Gene McCard, Tom Herrick, Jim Man, Bruce Lusk and Wallace Locke, you can place your bets on the nose. Any project they put their money or talent into is a sure shot for success.

Many people can remember just a few years ago when Wallace Locke was a student at Texas A&M and he was having to skin house cats to put himself through school. Probably no person in the Panhandle has climbed the ladder of economic success any faster than Wallace. He's known throughout the nation for his square dealings in the cattle business.

Although he is not aware this is being printed, I'm going to pass on to you what I think has been the key to his success. Wallace trades cattle year after year with the same people. Every time he buys cattle from a new person or sells cattle to them, the new client is so well impressed with Wallace's fairness they become a permanent customer.

Fact is, I'm told Wallace's motto is "Trade with a fellow so fairly that he will want to come back and trade with you again next year."

I interpret this as the golden rule and sincerely believe this will work as a businessman, a

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Richard Nixon wants to eliminate waste. Hubert Humphrey proposes to shift spending to a new Marshall Plan for the cities. George Wallace sounds something like he favors outright repeal of the federal government.

But if any one of three has managed to win election as president by next Jan. 20—and this year the "if" could be the key word there—he will get his new administration off to the most expensive start in history.

Blame it on Andrew Jackson, who on March 4, 1829, saw fit to take his inaugural oath on the east front steps of the Capitol Building. Most of his less hardy predecessors had picked warmer, more sheltered places like the House of Representatives chamber.

Jackson kept the whole thing simple, of course. But by the time Martin Van Buren came along as his successor in 1837, the taxpayers found themselves stuck with an $11 tab to erect the inaugural stand.

The precedent took hold, and currently under construction is the direct descendant of that modest first platform. It spreads all over Capitol Plaza, will seat 18,264 persons (including 100 in wheel chairs) and will cost, according to latest estimates, $324,439.

That is up from $210,000 just four years ago. The principal increases are blamed on inflation ($53,000); fancier, bigger, higher accommodations for the television cameras ($50,000); and contingencies, like snow removal ($7,000).

Inaugural weather is typically the worst and the luckiest people connected with the whole operation are those who watch it at home on color television. The worst sufferer, of course, is the president-elect, who must get up, smile, wave, and for a half hour or so hurl deathless prose into the wind, rain, sleet or whatever, usually with his hat off.

The record is clear that one president, at least, wasn't up to all the exposure. On March 4, 1841, William Henry Harrison stood out there in the cold rain, bareheaded, for two hours, delivering 8,578 well-chosen words, and came down with pneumonia from which he never recovered.

A month later, on April 6, John Tyler succeeded him, and the lesson wasn't lost on Tyler. He took his oath of office in Brown's Hotel, 6th Street and Pennsylvania Ave., where it was dry, warm, and refreshments were handy.

This was indeed the new Japan.

It scarcely could be compared to the federal agrarian state of a poor and isolated people under the Shogunate from whose rule it emerged exactly 100 years ago. Nor could it be compared to the Samurai who returned sovereignty to the Chrysanthemum Throne of the emperor and finally led it into a war that ended in total disaster in 1945.

It took most Western nations 300 years to achieve modernization. Premier Eisaku Sato remarked on the occasion of Japan's Oct. 23 centennial, but "Japan made it in 100 years." In those 100 years since Japan's emergence as a modern nation, it has become the third largest industrial nation in the world behind the United States and Russia.

And from a feudal society it has emerged into a modern one complete with the problems of 1968, including youthful demonstrators in revolt against established authority.

Tokyo newspapers estimated that on the eve of the anniversary, 800,000 students and leftwing labor unionists took part in demonstrations against the Sato government, against the war in Vietnam and U.S. administration in Okinawa and against the U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

At the core of the demonstrations were the Zengakuren, the radical student groups which were instrumental in preventing a visit to Japan by President Eisenhower in 1960.

The Japanese government supports U.S. action in Vietnam and has given every indication it will continue to base its defense policies on the security treaty which comes up for renewal in 1970.

But, according to longtime Western observers in Japan, it is neither the treaty nor the war in Vietnam that poses the greatest threat to good relations between the two nations.

Rather, as Japan's economic growth has leaped forward at a rate higher than 10 per cent per year, it is the growing competition for world markets and complaints each makes against the other's trade and economic policies.

County Attorney

DUTIES, QUALIFICATIONS LISTED FOR VITAL POST

John W. Warner, Democratic candidate for County Attorney, was interviewed recently about the duties and responsibilities of Gray County Attorney.

"The County Attorney is the prosecuting officer in the County Court and in the four Justices of the Peace courts on misdemeanor cases," Warner said. Warner has been a criminal defense attorney for more than six years and has presided over more than 300 contested misdemeanor trials during his five years as Pampa's Corporation Court Judge. He is an honor graduate of Texas A&M and a graduate of the University of Texas Law School. He is also a national award winning speaker having been named among the six top Jaycee speakers in the nation out of 300,000 U.S. Jaycees.

"I believe one of the most important duties of the County Attorney is his role as prosecutor in the Juvenile Court," Warner said. Warner has personally investigated the backgrounds and supervised the probation of more than 180 minors placed on probation in the Corporation Court. He originated Teen-Age Court in Pampa where teen-agers are required to appear with their parents when they are charged with traffic offenses. His unique idea of permitting teen-agers to write letters on their first traffic offense has been credited with a 22% reduction in the percentage of teen-agers involved in accidents since he took office.

Warner served as Jaycee chairman for the Career Clinic and the College Day Workshop held at Pampa High School this year and has been named as the 1969 chairman. He has taught high school Sunday School class for six years in the Methodist Church. He was an original incorporator of Pampa Youth Council, Inc. In 1966 the Pampa High School Key Club named him "Adult Leader of the Year."

"The County Attorney is an administrator," Warner pointed out. "He is in charge of making out the budget and passing on all expenditures made by his office. He also acts as legal advisor to the various branches of the County government." As Corporation Court Judge, Warner has been a department head for the City of Pampa for five years. He has consistently operated within his allowed budget. He has served as City Attorney for the City of White Deer for the past six years.

"I have always believed that a man must earn the right to seek public office, must earn his right to remain in public office and must earn the right to be promoted in public office," Warner said. "The voters will judge whether or not I have earned promotion. If I am elected, I will continue to work for the betterment of the people of this County just as I have tried to do in the past." Warner is the head of a district commissioner's staff of 13 volunteers working with the Santa Fe District of the Boy Scouts of America. He is the chairman of the Commission on Education, a member of the Official Board, the Executive Committee, the Long-Range Planning Committee and the choir of the First Methodist Church in Pampa. He is currently serving as Secretary for the Pampa Jaycees and is in his fifth year on the Board of Directors. He serves on the advisory board for Parents Without Partners and Pampa Youth Council, Inc. He has been a resident of Gray County for more than 30 years.

Address Changes Can Be Made At Local SS Office

Social security beneficiaries who need to report changes of address or other events that affect the payment of their monthly benefits may now do so through the social security office at Pampa, according to Howard L. Weatherly, officer-in-charge.

Weatherly said that up to now beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about the occurrence of these events on postcard forms when they one of six social security record centers throughout the nation. Beneficiaries received the postcard forms when they initially applied for monthly benefits.

Weatherly stated the change in reporting methods is designed to reduce time needed to change addresses and process other information having an affect on payment of monthly benefits. The change is prompted by increased capacity of social security district offices to transmit information over high speed communications circuits to record offices.

In addition to address changes, Weatherly said events that affect receipt of monthly social security checks include employment, marriage or remarriage in some instances, divorce, and death.

BIG FIGURES A big set of vital statistics appeared on New York's Wall Street Thursday for the fourth time this month. Lunch-hour crowds were greeted by the appearance of Carol James, a 5-foot-4, 115-pound former sales clerk from Marshfield, Mass., whose figure measures 40-22-35. She is the fourth entry to walk up the financial district after it all started last month with the stroll of Francine Gottfried, a Brooklyn computer operator who measures 43-25-37.

If Hurricane Beulah Wasn't Enough-Wow!

By KENNETH R. CLARK HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — Hurricane Beulah wasn't enough. Now the city of Harlingen has got to face World War II — right in its own backyard.

A year ago, the hurricane was a thing of dread and destruction, but Harlingenites this year are looking forward to the war. It's being fought against the Confederate Air Force, by the Confederate Air Force, and the "Colonels" who comprise the world-famed barn-storming organization Thursday were predicting a crowd of 25,000 for the Oct. 27 event.

The CAF, which boasts the largest "flying museum" of World War II aircraft in existence, will have its entire fighting fleet airborne Sunday in the first air show ever done over the group's new home in Harlingen. Col. Eddie May, who heads the CAF's "OSI" (Office of Southern Information; said the show will open at 1:30 p.m. with a "cast of hundreds," in a re-enactment of World War II — complete with sand-bag bombing, strafing runs, dogfights and an invasion by some 30 paratroopers.

The one aircraft that is bound to lose out in the competition is the Rebel's Japanese Zero. May said Araro Ohts, Japanese consul general in Houston, has indicated he will be among the spectators, but that even his presence will not be enough to keep the little fighter plane with the Rising Sun on its fuselage from being "shot down in flames."

The odds against the entry from Nippon would seem to guarantee its demise. May said Col. Jethro Culpeper, the mythical commander of the Rebel Air Force, will not attend the show.

Sugar Making Is Growing

By M. GENE MEARNS NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Sugar making has come a long way in Louisiana since Etienne De Bore was first able to crystallize cane juice into sugar grains at his New Orleans plantation 173 years ago.

Sugar cane had already been growing in Louisiana 44 years, imported from Santo Domingo, when De Bore struck white gold by coaxing sugar crystals from thick black molasses at a crude sugar mill he had built on a gamble.

De Bore sold his sugar crop for $12,000, a staggering fortune for those days; launching an industry that in 1967 produced $190 million for Louisiana on the retail sugar market. De Bore, whose plantation is now

Audubon Park in New Orleans, went on to a distinguished career and in 1803 became the city's first mayor.

This month, Louisiana's sugar mills began grinding a torrent of sugar cane which now grows in 19 southern parishes. The grinding, part of a complex and interesting annual production, continues until Christmas.

Only Louisiana and Florida produce sugar cane in the continental United States. Hawaii grows a great amount and several Western states produce sugar from beets.

According to the American Sugar Cane League, Inc., Louisiana produced 740,234 tons of raw sugar in 1967; Florida produced 717,272; the sugar beets states manufactured 2.7 million tons; while Hawaii produced 1.2 million tons.

In Louisiana, cane season begins with some 2,500 field hands and harvesters, many the French speaking descendants of slaves, who cut the crop after experts check it for its sucrose, or sugar content.

After a mechanical harvester clips the cane close to the earth and at the top where it sprouts, other workers set it afire, destroying unwanted growth from the main stalks.

Loaders follow and the cane moves aboard special tractor carts or in huge trucks to the 46 mills which employ some 5,000. At one time mules and narrow gauge railway trains did much of this hauling.

The cane is washed on its way to the huge grinding rollers that strip the juice from the stalks. In most mills there are several grinding steps, designed to get the last drop of juice from the cane.

The solid matter left after the juice has been squeezed out is called bagasse, and has been found valuable as a raw material for paper making, wallboard and even as fuel for the sugar boilers.

In a series of steps, impurities are withdrawn from the cane juice through evaporation and filtration.

Sugar crystals are first created at the mills when the cane juice, by now a heavy syrupy substance, is boiled at low temperature under partial vacuum, producing what refiners call "masecuite."

This "masecuite" is then placed in a centrifuge, which operates much like a washing machine spin dryer. When the centrifuge spins, the solid sugar crystals are further separated from liquid sugar substances.

These sugar crystals are known as raw sugar and are shipped to sugar refineries operating year-round where they are further purified into table-grade sugar.

After all commercially recoverable sugar is removed from the cane juice, what is left is a heavy, thick dark syrup called blackstrap molasses which is used for animal feed and production of alcohol, yeast, citric acid and vinegar.

Moon Appears Next Stop For Astronauts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Now aboard, he would have been lucky to survive the heat and pressures of Zond's re-entry into the atmosphere. U.S. intelligence believes Zond came down thousands of miles from the planned position after an extremely rough and prolonged descent.

So thanks to Apollo 7 and her crew we now know we can, if we want, send a manned spacecraft into orbit around the moon and back in December.

We also have more confidence than ever before in our ability to meet the Apollo program schedule of a manned lunar landing next year.

Change Predictions A few months ago most space experts here would have bet that the Russians would be the first to send men around the moon. This was so even though they believed that U.S. astronauts would be the first actually to step on to the lunar surface.

That was before the unmanned Soviet Zond 5 flight around the moon in September and the just-completed three-man U.S. flight in earth orbit of Apollo 7.

Now we know that the Zond 5 circumlunar flight was not the perfect performance the Russians said it was. If there had been a man aboard, he would have been lucky to survive the heat and pressures of Zond's re-entry into the atmosphere. U.S. intelligence believes Zond came down thousands of miles from the planned position after an extremely rough and prolonged descent.

So, as a result of Apollo 7's fine flight, the betting her now is that the United States will—if it wants to—beat Russia to a circumlunar flight as well as to a manned landing on the moon.

Whether Apollo 8 in December will be a flight in orbit around the moon, or a quick flyaround and back, or just another training exercise in earth orbit will not be decided until next month after the Apollo 7 return: all are in.

BERRY'S WORLD

"But, dad, I'm not dressing like a hippie—this is my SKATE KEY!"

Pest Computers To Get Worse

AUSTIN (UPI)—Since computers were invented, they have been a constant pest to mankind. But not anything like they are about to be.

The Texas Department of Public Safety announced today a sophisticated new device will soon be used for clocking speeds of motorists.

The instrument called "VASCAR" — visual average speed computer and recorder — calculates speeds of vehicles through a time-distance comparison.

As explained by a department official, the small device is activated by the patrolman, and first clocks the time it takes a vehicle to travel from one given point to another.

By flipping a second switch on the device, the patrolman measures the distance between the two points, and a computer "reads out" the average speed a vehicle was traveling between the points.

Advantage of the device over radar, the spokesman said, is that it can clock automobiles "in any direction" — including those approaching from the rear of a patrol car, approaching in an opposite traffic lane, or passing across the path of the patrol car.

The patrol car can travel at any speed while using the VASCAR device, the spokesman said.

Unbeaten Kansas Romps Over Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Quarterback Bobby Douglass threw two touchdown passes and cracked a Big Eight record Saturday while guiding unbeaten Kansas to a 46-25 win over Iowa State. Douglass also ran for a touchdown as No. 3 Kansas won its sixth game.

The Kansas quarterback completed 11 of 18 passes for 180 yards. His 18 passing attempts gave him a total of 95 straight, surpassing the previous Big Eight record of 89 set by Claude Arnold of Oklahoma in 1949-50.

Kansas rolled to a 36-point margin midway in the third period, but with the Jayhawk regulars on the bench Iowa State struck for three touchdowns.

Douglass and the other Kansas starters then returned to give the Jayhawks an insurance touchdown, marching 84 yards in eight plays to salt away the victory.

Kansas rolled up 483 yards in total offense, rushing for 303 and passing for 180. The Cyclones totaled 308 yards offensively, amassing 243 in the second half.

Halfback Donnie Shanklin scored two touchdowns for Kansas, one on a one-yard sweep and the second on a 34-yard pass from Douglass, and gained 47 yards rushing. John Riggins gained 82 yards and his brother, Junior Riggins, gained 79 to lead the Jayhawk running attack.

Iowa State quarterback John Warder ran for 42 yards and accounted for 138 yards passing, connecting on 11 of 27 throws. End Otto Stowe caught six of Warder's throws.

In the third quarter, Kansas scored twice in less than two minutes. The first touchdown came when linebacker Emery Hicks blocked a punt and John Zook chased it down and pounced on it in the Cyclone end zone. The play had started on Iowa State's 36. Two plays after the kickoff, halfback Dale Holt recovered a fumble on the Iowa State 29, and Douglass hit Shanklin for the touchdown on a third-down pass.

Score by Quarters table with columns for Kansas and Iowa State, and rows for each quarter and total score.

Passing Hixson Leads SMU By Raiders, 39-18

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Southern Methodist University's passing quarterback, Chuck Hixson, connected with 29 of 50 throws Saturday to lead his team to a 39-18 upset victory over Texas Tech in a Southwest Conference game.

The victory pushed the SMU Mustangs into the Southwest Conference lead with a 3-0 record, and dropped Texas Tech to a 2-1 conference mark. For the year SMU is now 5-1, and Tech stands 3-1-2.

Hixson directed the Mustangs from a 10-point first quarter deficit with a 22-point second period which included touchdown passes to ends Ken Fleming and Jerry Levias, two 53-yard field goals by Bicky Lesser and a safety when punter Kenny Vinyard was trapped in the Tech end zone after a fourth-down snap sailed over his head.

Baylor Stuns Texas Aggies, 10-9

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—Baylor University rode the strong arm of sophomore Steve Stuart and the running of Pinkie Palmer and Gene Rogers to a 10-9 upset victory over Texas A&M Saturday night, shattering the Aggies' hopes for a repeat Southwestern Conference championship.

The Bears' Russell Serafin halted a desperate last-minute A&M rally when he recovered a fumble at the Bear 16 after Aggie quarterback Edd Hargett had completed a pass to Barney Harris.

A&M missed its chance for a tie or victory earlier in the fourth period when the snap on a conversion try sailed over the head of kicker Charlie Riggs and was recovered by Baylor.

A&M took an early lead on goal by Riggs in the first quarter, but by the end of the period the visitors had fallen behind to stay.

After the Bears recovered a fumble at their own 45, Stuart tossed a 37-yard pass to Gary Alexander, then on the next play tossed 19-yards to his favorite receiver for the night, Mark Lewis, to send Baylor ahead 7-3 with 2:03 left in the first period.

The Bears boosted their margin in the third stanza on a 21-yard field goal by Cozby after Ed Marsh had picked off a Hargett pass and returned it to the Aggie 19.

Hargett rallied the Aggies in the fourth quarter, guiding them 61 yards in seven plays for a touchdown with 13:37 left in the game. The bad snap on the point try left the Aggies in a gambling situation the rest of the game.

Longhorns Tumble Rice, 38-14

HOUSTON (UPI)—Texas halfback Chris Gilbert Saturday night scored two touchdowns and gained 213 yards to set a Southwest Conference career rushing record and led the Longhorns to a 38-14 win over Rice.

Gilbert, with scoring runs of 3 and 2 yards and a host of long scampers, topped Jim Swink's record of 2,618 yards at Texas Christian in 1954-56. Gilbert finished the game with 2,728.

Other Texas scoring came on a 31-yard run with a blocked punt by linebacker Tom Campbell, one-yard plunges by fullback Steve Worster and halfback Bobby Callison, and a 25-yard field goal by Happy Feller, who also kicked five extra points.

Rice quarterback Robby Shelton's passing and tailback Tony Conley's running kept the Owls in the game for three quarters. Conley scored on a one yard run in the second period and Shelton ran in from four yards in the third. Jim Davis added both extra points.

Gilbert opened the second quarter with a 19-yard run and then raced six yards to go past Swink's record. The senior captain had runs of 45, 19, 32 and 20 in his 25 carries.

It was Gilbert's largest rushing total since gaining 245 yards against Baylor in 1966. It was the third time he gained more than 200 yards.

The Owls, now 0-4-1, tied the game in the second quarter on an 80-yard drive in 16 plays and Conley's score.

Gipson, Bell Help Houston Down Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Paul Gipson ran for two touchdowns and quarterback Ken Bailey accounted for two others Saturday as Houston overwhelmed Mississippi, 29-7.

Gipson ran 18 and 30 yards for touchdowns, while Bailey ran 3 yards for a score and passed 79 yards to sophomore end Elmo Wright for another.

Tailback Steve Hindman, the Southeastern Conference's top scorer capped the scoring drive by Ole Miss in hitting into the end zone from the two.

The Rebels lost sophomore whizz Larry Richardson with an undetermined back injury late in the first half and he did not get back onto the field. Substitute quarterback Don Farrer just couldn't move the Rebel offense, fumbling twice and having one of his pass attempts intercepted.

The powerful Cougar offense was held to less than its 40-plus average points per game, but Bailey baffled the Rebel defense all afternoon with his quarterback option and pitchouts to fullback Carlos Bell and Gipson.

Houston rolled to a record 29 first downs against the Ole Miss defense, picking up a total of 573 yards.

Field Goal In Fourth Beats TCU

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Kicking specialist Mark Lumpkin booted a 37-yard field goal with 5:27 remaining in the fourth quarter Saturday night to give Louisiana State a 10-7 victory over surprisingly tough Texas Christian.

LSU bottled up for most of the game by a hard fighting defense led by substitute linebackers Andy Durrett and David McDaniels, was finally able to jell its famous running game in the last period.

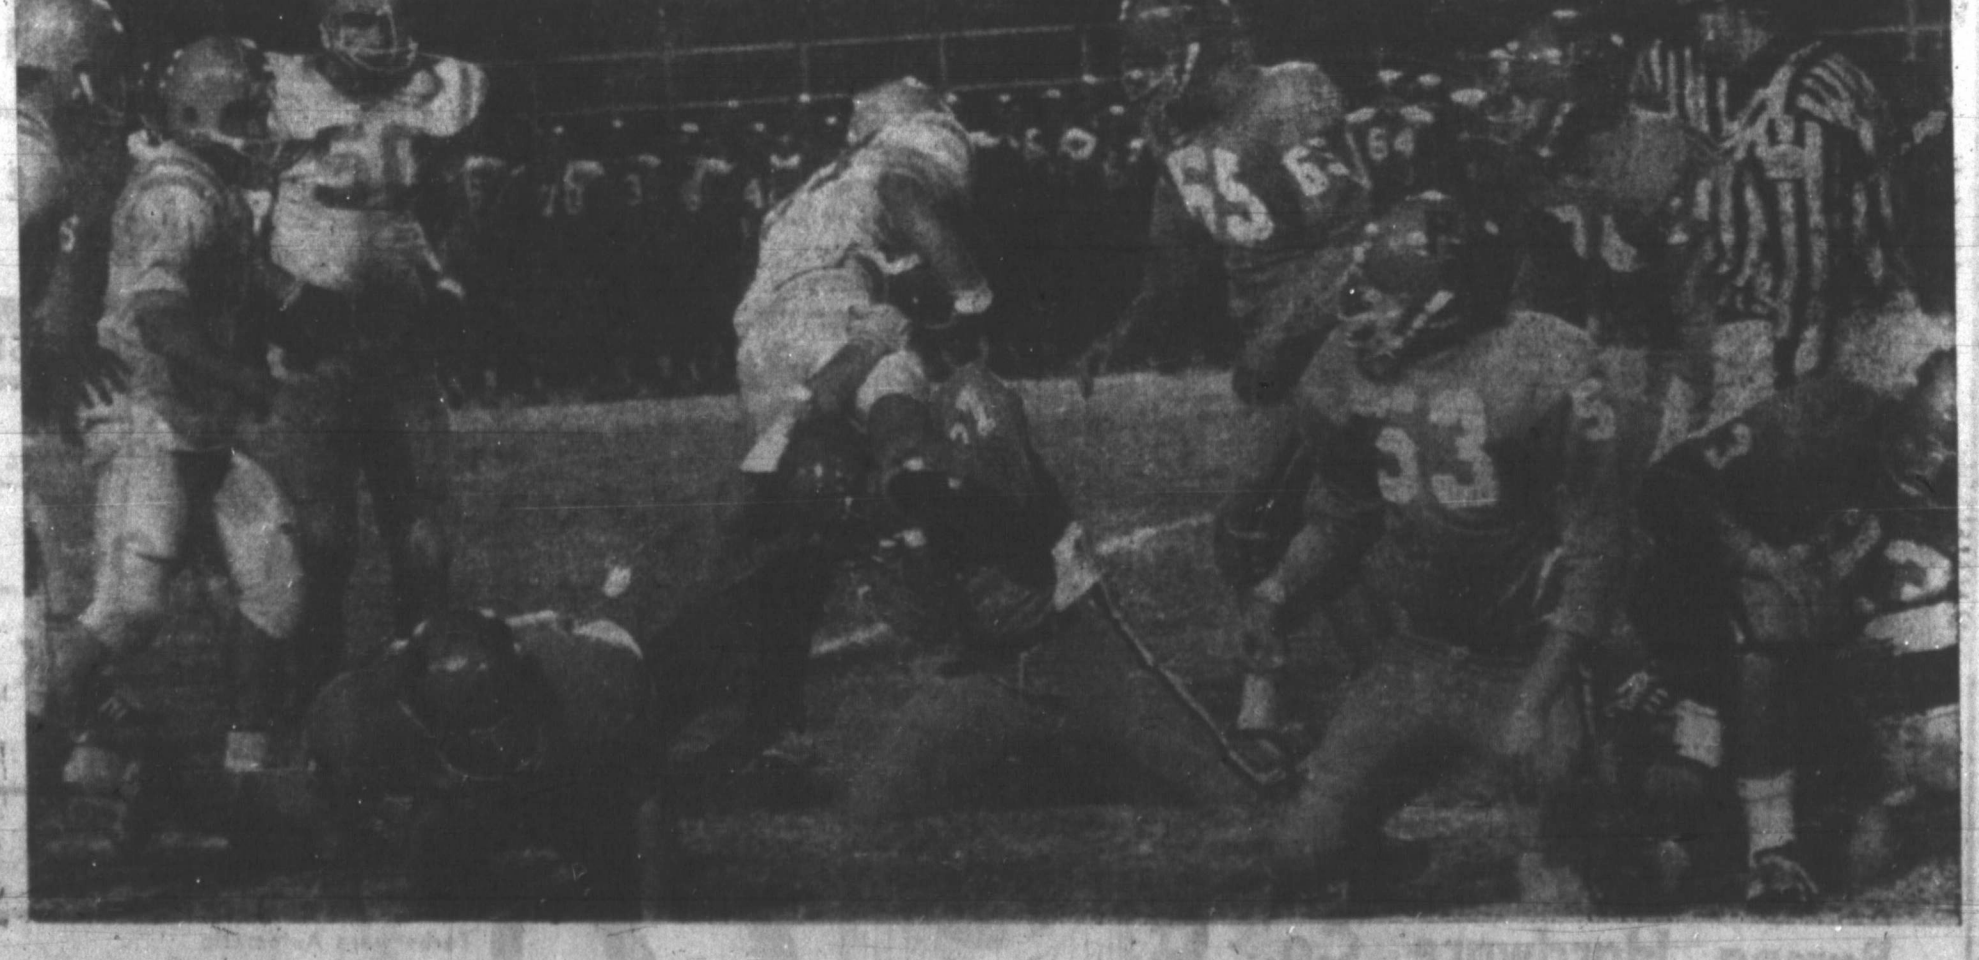

The game winning drive was adored by the running of split back Jim West who came through on two runs of 12 and 7 yards to give the Tigers key first downs.

Beavers Roll, 16-8

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI)—Bristling fullback Bill "earthquake" Enyart rolled over Washington State University Saturday to pace the Oregon State Beavers to a 16-8 Pacific Eight Conference football win.

Last Ditch Effort Saves Nebraska, 21-20

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI)—Reserve quarterback Ernie Siger pegged a fourth down five-yard touchdown pass with 57 seconds left to play Saturday and propelled the favored Nebraska Big Eight conference victory over Oklahoma State.

The upset-minded Oklahoma State Cowboys contained power-running Husker halfback Joe Orduña throughout the first half, but Orduña broke the Cowboys' hobbles in the second half for two touchdowns.

Oklahoma State's senior quarterback, Ronnie Johnson, passed 20 yards for one Cowboy touchdown, plunged one yard for another and passed for a two-point conversion. Senior fullback Jack Reynolds rambled over from the two for Oklahoma State's third touchdown.

Oklahoma State's Hermann Eben missed a 44-yard field goal attempt with only two seconds left in the game.

Johnson tossed a 68-yard pass to senior end Terry Brown on the third play from scrimmage in the second half for the game's ice-breaking touchdown. Bub Deeringwater's extra point attempt failed.

After an exchange of three punts, the Cowboys began their second scoring drive from their 20. Johnson carried it the last yard 13 plays later and passed to junior end Harris Penner for a two-point conversion giving OSU a 14-0 lead.

Orduña romped to his first touchdown for Nebraska from the one with 1:08 left in the third quarter. Sophomore kicker Paul Rogers made it 14-7.

Orduña scored again on an 8-yard run with slightly more than five minutes elapsed in the fourth quarter, and Rogers tied the score at 14-14.

The Cowboys, playing before a near capacity homecoming crowd, went ahead again with eight minutes left in the game as junior defense tackle John Ward fell on a Nebraska fumble deep on the Cornhusker 25 to set up Reynolds' two-yard touchdown run.

Oklahoma State had two chances for the extra point but both failed. The second chance came after an offside penalty was called against Nebraska.

Siger's fourth down pass to junior end Jim McFarland tied it 21-21 and Rogers won the game with his third extra point kick.

M-State Upsets Notre Dame, 21-17

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Sophomores Tommy Love and Bill Triplett fueled the scoring attack and a defense led by senior Al Brenner repelled one enemy drive after another Saturday in carrying Michigan State to a stunning, 21-17, upset of fifth-ranked Notre Dame.

The win continued a Spartan home field jinx over the fighting Irish that dates back to 1949. The teams tied, 10-10, two years ago in what some called the college battle of the century.

Love, a 195-pound tailback from Sylva, N.C., scored twice for Michigan State—an 11-yard scamper in the first period and a one-yard plunge in the final quarter.

Quarterback Triplett, starting only his second game because of an injury to regular Bill Feraco, scored the other Spartan touchdown on a two-yard caper in the second quarter.

But it was Brenner, a lanky Phi Beta Kappa whose hometown of Niles, Mich., is only a long forward pass from the Notre Dame campus at South Bend, Ind., who caught the fancy and admiration of the overflow crowd of 77,339 and a national television audience with his defensive heroics.

Brenner was given the burdensome task of covering All-America candidate Jim Seymour and he did it with a vengeance. The Michigan State defensive back, who doubles as an offensive end, thwarted a third period Notre Dame drive with an interception in his own end zone and prevented a late fourth quarter touchdown with a diving deflection of a pass intended for Seymour.

The Michigan State defensive line, anchored by middle guard Charlie Bailey and linebacker Rich Saul, also contributed heavily to the victory. It halted a second quarter Notre Dame drive at the one yard line and a last-ditch effort in the fourth period at the three.

Purdue Bounces Iowa

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—All-America Leroy Keyes shook off a knee injury long enough to score twice and set a career record Saturday as seventh-ranked Purdue smothered Iowa, 44-14 in a Big Ten football game.

The Boilermakers, piloted by reserve quarterback Don Kiepert, who took over for the injured Mike Phipps, ran roughshod over the Hawkeyes with a bruising ground attack that netted touchdowns in every period.

Purdue gained 483 yards rushing for a single game school record and Kiepert passed only three times all day as Purdue stuck to its rushing game to rack up an all-time conference record with 92 plays, eclipsing the previous record of 86 by Ohio State against Illinois 25 years ago.

Purdue defenders intercepted three passes by Larry Lawrence, converting two into touchdowns, and recovered two Lawrence fumbles, scoring on both of them.

Iowa, losing to Purdue for the eighth consecutive time, scored in the second period when Tim Sullivan took a 22-yard pass from Lawrence and again in the final two minutes of play when sub-quarterback Mike Cilek passed 42 yards to Kerry Reardon.

Utah State Tumbles Buffaloes

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Utah State University, sparked by the second-half quarterbacking of John Pappas, pulled away from a halftime tie Saturday to defeat West Texas State 20-10.

The Aggies managed to jump to a 10-0 lead early in the game without the services of Pappas but then saw the lead dwindle to nothing as the Buffaloes kicked a field goal and put across a touchdown before the half ended.

Pappas came in after the halftime break, passed for six first downs and guided the Aggies on a 34-yard fourth quarter drive that ended when he plunged into the end zone from 18 inches out.

The game was only 2:36 old when the Aggies got on the scoreboard with a touchdown set up by an opening kick fumble.

Jess Garcia recovered the fumble at the West Texas 24-yard line and the Aggies drove down to the goal line with Albie Taylor scoring from one yard out.

Garcia put the Aggies ahead 10-0 with a little more than five minutes left in the first quarter when he booted a 23-yard field goal.

Horns Humble Harvesters, 21-8

By IRON CROSS Sports Editor

Caprock, fumbles and penalties spoiled Pampa's homecoming and hopes of getting out of the District 3-4A north zone cellar Friday night.

The Harvesters lost the ball four times on fumbles, were slowed down by three others and amassed 50 yards in penalties to drop a 21-8 decision to the Longhorns.

The loss gives Pampa a 0-2 north zone mark and 1-6 season reading and Caprock went to 1-1 in zone play and 2-3 seasonwise.

In losing their sixth in a row before a capacity homecoming crowd Pampa did, however, show a better defense and did move the ball, when they could hang on to it, which wasn't often.

Caprock scored six plays after the opening kickoff, which was run back 37 yards to their own 42 by David Garrison, a thorn in Pampa's side all night.

They marched the 62 recklessly with quarterback Mike Scroggins throwing a couple of 15 yard passes before Garrison chugged the final 22 lengths for the score.

The kick try for the conversion was no good but the 'Horns held a 6-0 edge with 10:12 to go.

But then things started to get worse for Pampa.

The Harvesters fumbled and lost the ball the second time they handled it and Garrison recovered for the 'Horns.

But Caprock didn't keep it long, they fumbled four plays later and Hal Clabaugh pounced on it for Pampa.

The Harvesters couldn't move on their next series of downs and were forced to punt, but the 'Horns couldn't move either, and they had to kick.

But then the Harvesters showed their first signs of life, moving from their own eight yard line to Caprock's 48 where they fumbled again and Garrison recovered again.

The 'Horns moved to the Pampa 20 when the defense stiffened and took over the ball.

Caprock drove to the Pampa 24 in the second period but again the defense held and the Harvesters moved from their own 30 to Caprock's 33, where they lost the ball again.

This time Caprock took full advantage of the opportunity and went 62 yards in six plays with Scroggins tossing 48 yards to Garrison for the touchdown.

Nicky Culp took in the two-point conversion to make it 14-0 at halftime.

Gary Parrish came in to guide the Harvesters in the second half and took them 77 yards after the kickoff to score.

Parrish completed four of six passes in the drive and pitched the final seven yards to John Jenkins with 4:41 left in the period. Parrish ran over the conversion to cut caprock's lead to 14-4.

But Pampa's dreams of victory faded when they couldn't move the only other time they got the ball in the period.

The Longhorns were forced to punt in the final stanza and were glad they did.

The ball rolled dead at the Harvester 10 and two plays later Pampa was back at the one where they were forced to kick.

Rick Frya punted 35 yards to the 'Horn 38 and Garrison returned it to the Pampa 23.

Three plays later fullback John Logdon tore through for the final 11 yards and Ted Liles kicked the conversion. With 7:11 left it was 21-4.

Colorado Stops OU, 41-27

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado's standout quarterback Bob Anderson scored on three runs and fullback Tom Nigbur drove across from the one and three yard-lines Saturday to give the Buffaloes a 41-27 victory over Oklahoma.

The Colorado win, the Buffaloes' first homecoming victory since 1961, was nearly upset by attempt in the final quarter.

Anderson opened the scoring with a pair of touchdowns runs of seven and five yards less than a minute apart early in the second quarter. He followed with another five-yard scoring dash just before halftime.

Fullback Ward Walsh and Nigbur both crossed the goal line in the third period, both capping long sustained drives engineered by Anderson. Nigbur scored again from the three with 17 seconds to go.

The first Sooner score came about mid-third quarter when tailback Steve Owens pushed over from the one-half-yard line. Owens scored early in the last period from 11 yards out on a pitchout from Oklahoma's quarterback Bob Warmack, with 9:36 left in the game. Warmack hit wingback Eddie Hinton with a 20-yard toss for the Sooner's third score.

Halfback Bobby Thompson scampe redight yards across left end with about five minutes to play for Oklahoma's final TD.

Anderson's first touchdown was set up by an eight-play, 57-yard drive.

On the following kickoff Sooner Rick Baldrige fumbled at the eight yard line and Mike Bynum recovered from Colorado on the 11. After a six-yard punch by Steve Engel, Anderson made his second scoring dash around right end.

The set up for Anderson's third score came when Pat Murphy picked off a long Warmack toss and returned it 63 yards to the Oklahoma 30.

Three plays later Anderson scooted over to give Colorado a 20-0 half-time lead.

Georgia Tech Holds Tulane For 23-19 Win

ATLANTA (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Jack Williams, playing his first varsity game, drove Georgia Tech 78 yards in 66 seconds Saturday to lead the Yellow Jackets from behind to a 23-19 victory over the Tulane Green Wave.

Williams passed seven yards to fullback Kenny Bounds for the go-ahead touchdown with only 45 seconds left after what had appeared an almost certain homecoming defeat for Tech.

Tulane, a decided underdog, scored twice in less than a minute late in the final period to bring the Greenies from a 16-7 deficit to a 19-16 lead with only 1:59 remaining.

Then Williams, a 19-year-old from Decatur, Ga., who had been in two plays earlier and completed two passes, started the Yellow Jackets at their own 24 following a kickoff.

He hit receivers Joel Stevenson, John Sias and Kim Woodall on five consecutive passes to put the Yellow Jacket at the Tulane 10. A running play netted three and then Williams dropped back and hit Bounds in the left corner of the end zone for the go-ahead touchdown.

Johnny Duncan, who started the Tech scoring with a 21-yard field goal in the second quarter, tacked on his second conversion for the final 23-19 score.

Tulane scored first in the opening quarter on an 81-yard drive, covered mostly on the running of halfback Warren Bankston and capped by a one-yard sneak by quarterback Wayne Francigoues.

Michigan Slams Gophers, 33-20

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Slashing, dashing Ron Johnson, closing in on Tom Harmon's Michigan career rushing records scored two touchdowns and a diminitive quarterback Dennis Brown passed for two more Saturday as Michigan emerged as a Big Ten power with a 33-20 pasting of Minnesota.

The Gophers, unable to move the ball, turned over the ball seven times on fumbles and interceptions. The Wolverines, now 3-0 in conference play compared with Minnesota's 2-1, turned five of them into scores in the annual battle for the little brown jug.

Doug Roalstad fumbled a Michigan punt early in the first period and Brown hit sophomore flanker Paul Staroba with an eight-yard touchdown pass when the game was just 4:31 old.

Johnson, needing about 300 more yards in four more games to break Harmon's career total of 2,134, plunged over from the one yard line in the opening period to give Michigan a 12-0 lead. He repeated the feat 49 seconds into the second period when Michigan's Tom Curtis pilfered a Phil Hagen pass. The touchdown was a 4th down play, and Brown had kept the drive alive earlier on fourth and nine with a 12-yard pass to end Jim Mandich.

Michigan scored again the next time the Wolverines had the ball. Junior end Billy Harris made a spectacular, leaping catch on fourth down of a 23-yard Brown pass.

UCLA Downs Stanford, 20-17

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA substitute quarterback Jim Nader's 50-yard pass in the fourth period set up a game-winning touchdown by Greg Jones to carry the Bruins to a 20-17 Pacific Eight Conference football victory over Stanford Saturday.

Trailing 14-0 at halftime, UCLA scored three times in the second half to snap a three-game losing streak with the upset victory.

Until the Bruins caught fire in the second half, Stanford sophomore quarterback Jim Plunkett put the Indians in what appeared to be a commanding lead by running for one touchdown and passing for another as he put on a brilliant throwing exhibition.

But UCLA scored twice in the third period in a span of three minutes and then climaxed the uphill battle with the winning touchdown, which came with 3:45 left.

McLean Upsets Wheeler In District 2-A Battle

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Pampa News Staff Writer
WHEELER — McLean used an explosive offense, an aggressive defense, and Wheeler's bad fortune to roll by the Mustangs, 26-9, in a District 2-A clash here Friday night. Both teams now sport 5-2 season records, but the win indicates that McLean may be the most serious contender for the district crown against tough, state-ranked Class A power Clarendon are both 2-0 in district play.

spectacular 90-yard kickoff return by Thacker Haynes to take a 6-0 lead with only 14 seconds elapsed in the game. Wheeler came back on its first series of plays, driving 37 yards to McLean's 29 before the drive bogged on a pass interception. The relentless McLean offense then blitzed 69 yards in eight plays for its second touchdown, with quarterback Joel McCarty sparking the drive on a 17-yard pass to fullback Ernest Smith, a 15-yard keeper around end, and the final 11-yard dash to the goal line. S c a t b a c k Haynes contributed a 34-yard dash. McLean again failed to run the extra point conversion try and led 12-0 midway in the first period. Wheeler got its first big break of the ball game late in the first quarter when a high snap drifted over the head of Haynes as he attempted to punt, and Wheeler recovered the ball on McLean's 37 yard line. Wheeler's 190-pound senior fullback Donald Rives then put on a one-man show as he powered the Mustangs down to the 8-yard line. A five-yard penalty against McLean put the Mustangs on the 3-yard line, but with goal-to-go on the 1-yard line Rives fumbled and an alert McLean defender pounced on the ball. McLean then moved up to its own 43 behind the running of Haynes, Smith and McCarty, and a 17-yard pass from McCarty to end David Brown. A fumble and a recovery by Wheeler interrupted the drive, but it was resumed four plays later after David Brown recovered a Wheeler fumble. McLean then moved to Wheeler's 23-yard line behind the running of Smith, Haynes and McCarty, and a McCarty to David Brown pass play covered the final distance to give McLean an 18-0 edge. Resurgent Wheeler took the ensuing kickoff and staged a valiant race against time in an attempt to score before halftime, but the 68-yard drive fizzled on the 1-yard line as the clock ran out.

The Mustangs took the second half kickoff and marched 31 yards to the McLean 33 before their old nemesis—fumbles—again popped up. Two plays later, however, McLean fumbled and Wheeler's Roy Chick recovered—with the ball still on the 33. The Mustangs then churned to the 4-yard line behind the running of Rives and sophomore back Dave Britt, and Rives powered over for the lone Wheeler tally. Tommy Cole kicked the extra point. McLean went on the march again late in the third quarter, but the Mustangs stiffened, held and took over the ball on their own 21. Wheeler, beset with fumbles and penalties, could not move the ball and was forced to punt. McLean's Ernest Smith ran the punt back to the Wheeler 27, and it was all his show as he ran the ball down to the 9-yard line on four plays. McCarty then threw a short, 5-yard toss to end Mike Darsey down to the 4-yard line. Haynes drove to the one, and Smith powered over for the McCarty touchdown. McCarty then threw to end David Brown for the successful conversion to make the score 26-7. Wheeler drove 59 yards late in the final period, but the drive abruptly ended on the McLean 22 when McLean's Earnest Smith intercepted a pass near the goal line. The Mustangs got two more points shortly thereafter on a safety, but it was too little and too late.

DRIVE STALLED — Pampa had a drive stalled in the fourth quarter against Caprock Friday night when the ball (by No. 25, Scotty King's feet) slipped from the grasp of Gary Parrish. Hal Clabaugh (30) blocks into the line and King comes up to block not knowing the ball has been dropped.

Dennis Britten, Babcock Pace Tigers Past Helpless Texline in I-B Battle
TEXLINE — Dennis and Jimmy Britten and Denny Babcock sent Groom to its second straight victory and opening District 1-B win Friday night against helpless Texline. D. Britten scored four times. Babcock twice and J. Britten kicked five conversions for a 55-0 Groom decision. The victory gives Groom a tie with Booker for the District 1-B lead, both stand 1-0 and the Tigers are now 3-4 for the season. Groom jumped to a 35-0 first quarter lead and let the reserves take over in the second quarter. The first team played briefly in the third quarter.

Gruver Strikes Early, Hands Canadian 5th Straight Loss
CANADIAN — Stout Gruver handed Canadian its fifth straight loss and second consecutive District 1-A defeat Friday night. The Greyhounds struck early and held a 27-0 lead at halftime before going on to a 40-6 win that kept them tied with White Deer for the district lead. Both Gruver and the Bucks stand 3-0 in league play while Stratford is now 1-1, same as Sanford-Fritch, a 30-8 winner over Sunray. Canadian and Sunray are both now 0-2 in the league and Canadian is now 2-5 for the season. Larry Gumfory, Dean Bayless and Chuck Clawson shared scoring honors for Gruver, who scored at least once in every quarter. The lone Wildcat tally came in the fourth period when halfback Billy Lynch scampered 37 yards untouched.

FOURTH IN ROW

White Deer Nips Stratford 14-13

By HARLAN HYSMITH
Area Sports Correspondent
WHITE DEER — White Deer pushed across a fourth quarter touchdown and held off a late rally to edge Stratford in a District 1-A conference game here Friday night, 14-13. White Deer is now 2-0 in conference play and has extended its winning streak to four games. Stratford is now 1-1 in district play. The game hinted at a defensive battle early in the first quarter as both teams saw-sawed between the 30 yard markers. Late in the initial stanza, however, Stratford's Tim Tanner broke for 57 yards to the White Deer 23 yard line before being dragged down by tailback David Guinn of White Deer.

A stubborn White Deer defense refused to let Stratford move and took over the ball on downs, but Stratford fullback Joe Garner pounced on a White Deer fumble to give the Elks field position and set up the first Stratford touchdown. Ten plays later Stratford quarterback Jay Heil solved a fourth-and-2 situation on the 5 yard line by sending Tanner diving into the line and over for the score. White Deer blocked the extra point attempt, but Stratford held a 5-0 edge as the half ended. White Deer got on the scoreboard in the third quarter when they moved from their own 43 to paydirt. Bruce Locke and Lonnie Lane handled most of the running chores and quarterback Stan Bush capped the drive when he dashed from the 10 across the goal line. Rickey Hoskins kicked the extra point to give White Deer a 7-6 margin. Stratford retaliated early in the fourth quarter following a fumble recovery on their own 37 yard line. Tanner unreeled 61 yards on two plays to put the Elks on the White Deer 4 yard line. Halfback Gary McMillion fought to the 1-yard line, but a stiff White Deer defense held off three goal-crossing attempts until McMillion plunged over for the tally on a fourth down-and-out situation. James Young kicked the extra point to end Stratford's scoring for the night. White Deer took the ensuing kick-off and marched 90 yards to tie the score with tailback Lonnie Lane scampering the final 25 yards. Rickey Hoskins kicked the extra point to give White Deer the deciding edge.

Guthrie Handles Warriors, 54-16

GUTHRIE — Host Guthrie put on a staggering second half rally Friday night and handed Miami its sixth straight loss in eight-man football. The host team scored four times in the final two periods and downed the Warriors, 54-16 to drop them to 1-6 for the season. Guthrie jumped to an 8-0 first quarter lead and held a 15-0 margin before Charles Coffee galloped 40 yards for the first Warrior score just before halftime. Coffee ran in the two point conversion to cut the lead to 15-8. But Guthrie scored once more in the second period to lead, 22-8 at halftime. Coffee scored his 70th points of the season in the fourth quarter when he ran a kickoff back 70 yards. Lloyd South ran across the extra points. Miami coach Roger McFarren had praise for his two defensive tackles, Rex Holland, Stev Evans and center Jack Serman. Coffee has now scored nine touchdowns for the season and run four, two-point conversions. The Warriors play on the road again next week when they journey to Tyrone, Okla. Miami has eight games on the road and their remaining three games against Tyrone, Darrouzett and Morse are all on the road.

Underwood, Kiowas Clip Lefors, 21-8
LEFORS — Jay Underwood spoiled Lefors initial District 1-B opener Friday night by scoring all of Booker's touchdowns and bringing the Kiowas from behind in the final half. Lefors had taken a 8-7 halftime lead but Underwood tallied twice on four yard runs in the fourth period to hand the Pirates a 21-8 loss. The victory moved Booker into a tie with Groom, a 55-0 victor over Texline, for the District 1-B lead. Both are 1-0 while Lefors and Texline are 0-1 and Follett has yet to play a league game. The loss dropped Lefors season mark to 1-5 with the only victory coming over Erick, Okla. Booker scored first when Underwood went in from the one yard line early in the second quarter. Rusty Tregallas kicked the conversion for a 7-0 lead. But the Pirates came storming back and David White jumped in from the one to score. David Gilbreath then took in a pass

In this weekly column, Citizens Bank & Trust Co. will seek to provide answers to questions frequently asked of us about banking practices and bank services. If YOU have a question which has been puzzling you, write us a letter and we'll get the answer for you!

Q. As part of extra-credit work for my Economics class, I am writing a paper on money. Will you please give me the bank's definition of a "check" and also, a "checking account."

A. A Check is a written instruction to pay to the order of a particular person or organization a specified amount of the signer's money on deposit in that bank. A checking account is a formal arrangement between the bank and a customer. It provides for the bank to hold funds deposited by or in behalf of the customer. The customer may write checks for goods and services against the deposited funds. When properly presented for payment, such checks will be paid by the bank and charged against the customer's deposit account.

Rebekah and Odd Fellow Lodges to Host Top of Texas Area Convention

About 500 are expected to attend the one-day Top of Texas Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Rebekah Area meeting at Coronado Inn Nov. 2.

Past Grand Master Roy Kretzmeier and Past President Mrs. Ellen Kretzmeier, are co-chairmen for this third area meeting during the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly term of 1963-69. The first area meeting was held in Houston and the second in Dallas.

Guy H. McNeely, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas and Hazel Davis, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, will help initiate several candidates.

Lodges from Wichita Falls to El Paso will attend for initiation of candidates ready for all four degrees in the Odd Fellows and Rebekah Degree.

Pampa Odd Fellow Lodge No. 934 is state champion in degree work and will confer all four degrees, with direction by Vernon Hall, team captain. Shamrock Rebekah Lodge No. 386 will confer Rebekah Degrees.

The program starts with registration at 9 a.m. at 800 E. Foster for Odd Fellows and at the Coronado Inn for Rebekahs. McNeely will direct the conferring of Initiatory Degree, the other three degrees and the past grand and grand lodge degrees at Odd Fellow Hall, at 10 a.m.

In the Rebekahs' program at the Inn at 10 a.m., trophies will be presented to the Rebekah Lodge with the best funeral ceremony, and to individuals for best competitive charges in the nobel grand, vice grand, past nobel grand, chaplain charges, and the unwritten work.

The afternoon program includes the Rebekah candidates' initiation ceremony and the Rebekah Assembly degree in the Coronado Inn at 1:30 p.m.

During the banquet at 7 p.m. at the Coronado Inn for Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and guests, awards will be presented. Guy McNeely, grand master and Hazel Davis, president, will address the group.

The last program is a grand ball at 9 p.m. at Odd Fellow Hall, 800 E. Foster, for delegates to the area meeting.

The Pampa Rebekah Lodge, No. 355 organized in 1920, sponsors Pampa Theta Rho Club No. 18, sends contributions to World Eye Bank, helps with the Pampa Welfare Index, Senior Citizens, American Cancer Society, visits the local convalescent home, and provides food for needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and other times when a family has a special need.

Rebekah Degree ritual was written in 1851 by Schuyler Colfax who later became vice president of the United States. The first Rebekah Lodge in the world, organized in Iowa, was called Bloomfield Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier was Rebekah Assembly president in 1963-64 and is conductor of International Association of Rebekah Assemblies. Officers here are Mrs. Vernon Alexander, nobel grand; Mrs. Helen Rittenhouse, vice grand; Mrs. Walt Chitwood, secretary; Mrs. Dean Monday, financial secretary and Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier, treasurer for the lodge's 200 members.

Pampa Odd Fellow Lodge No. 934 started in 1914, with five charter members, two taking all four degrees. After meeting in several locations they bought a lot on west Brown, and moved a hall onto the lot. After the lodge hall burned, in 1943, the two lodges remodeled the building. Their mortgage burning ceremony was held Oct. 6.

Noted for its degree work, the Pampa IOOF has won five state champion trophies and is state champion in the first degree.

Roy Kretzmeier, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1959-60, is on the board of trustees this year. John Killiam is grand messenger of Sovereign Grand Lodge.

The name "Odd Fellowship" is known world-wide by the "three links" joined together and by its commands to "visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead, educate the orphan and protect the widow."

Thomas Wildey, father of American Odd Fellowship, was born in London Jan. 15, 1793. Five men met in the Seven Stars Tavern in Baltimore, Md., April 2, 1819, and again after the second meeting was held April 2, 1819, Washington Lodge No. 1 was instituted. Wildey was the lodge's first noble grand.

The Odd Fellows are the only fraternal organization that has been permitted to confer its highest decoration on the unknown soldier at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Washington D.C. It is the only fraternal organization whose presiding officer attended the coronation of, Elizabeth II, by invitation.

This organization has in 130 years, spent $421,048,735.06 for relief of distress and grown to more than 8,000,000 members.

As a world wide organization, it has a membership of 47,118 Odd Fellows; 324,695 Rebekahs; 76,923 Encampment members; 9,497 Ladies Encampment Auxiliary members; 14,951 Canton Patriarch Militant members; 15,355 Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant members; 7,309 Junior Odd Fellows members; and 14,640 Theta Rho Girls Club members.

Texas Odd Fellows have 293 Lodges with 17,181 members. Rebekahs have 328 Lodges with 29,045 members.

For the first time since 1908, rituals for both Subordinate and Rebekahs Lodges, are printed in Spanish and are available to any jurisdiction having Spanish speaking lodges. Nineteen jurisdictions have their own fraternal newspapers.

Judge Guy McNeely, grand master of IOOF, was Wichita County judge 11 years and served as assistant district attorney and assistant city attorney.

He joined Panhandle Lodge No. 341 in December, 1922, attended first grand lodge session in Wichita Falls in 1925 and is a member of all branches of the order. A Rebekah for several years, he served on the grand lodge board of trustees 15 years and was attorney and advisor 12 years.

In 1963, he was elected grand master and will serve until 1969 when the grand lodge meets in Houston.

Hazel Davis, Texas' Rebekah Assembly president, was initiated by Southside Rebekah Lodge No. 49 in Fort Worth in 1929. Nobel grand in her lodge drill team 29 years, she organized the Ladies Auxiliary, Mid-Fort Worth No. 25 and was their first president in 1945. In 1950 she received the highest Rebekah honor, Decoration of Chivalry, at the Grand Lodge session in Dallas.

Elected warden of Rebekah Assembly in 1966, vice president in 1967 and president this year, she will reach her 40th year as Rebekah in her president's year.

In 1966 she attended the Rebekah Lodge of Hawaii with the Texas and California Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. The Children's Home was established at Corsicana in 1885. The home consists of dormitories for girls and for boys, administrative offices, a nursery for pre-school age children, a dining hall, auditorium, gymnasium, swimming pool, playground equipment, located on 170 acres of land where the children work and play.

Each child attends Corsicana public schools. After graduation, he may remain in the home to attend Corsicana Junior College and may qualify for financial aid to assist them in completing college or technical training. More than 5300 children have lived in the homes.

The home is licensed to care for 65 children. Any child who does not have a home may be admitted by going through any Odd Fellow or Rebekah Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. George Ashby are now superintendent and matron.

The Home for the Aged was established in 1905 on a 100 acre tract within the city limits of the city of Ennis. It is a large main building, containing administrative offices, dining hall, kitchen, and private rooms for residents, and is joined by a covered walkway to their chapel.

More than 700 aged Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and widows of Odd Fellows have lived in the home.

Texas Odd Fellows and Rebekahs have invested more than $1,500,000 in the two homes. Mr. and Mrs. Cone Wade are superintendent and matron.

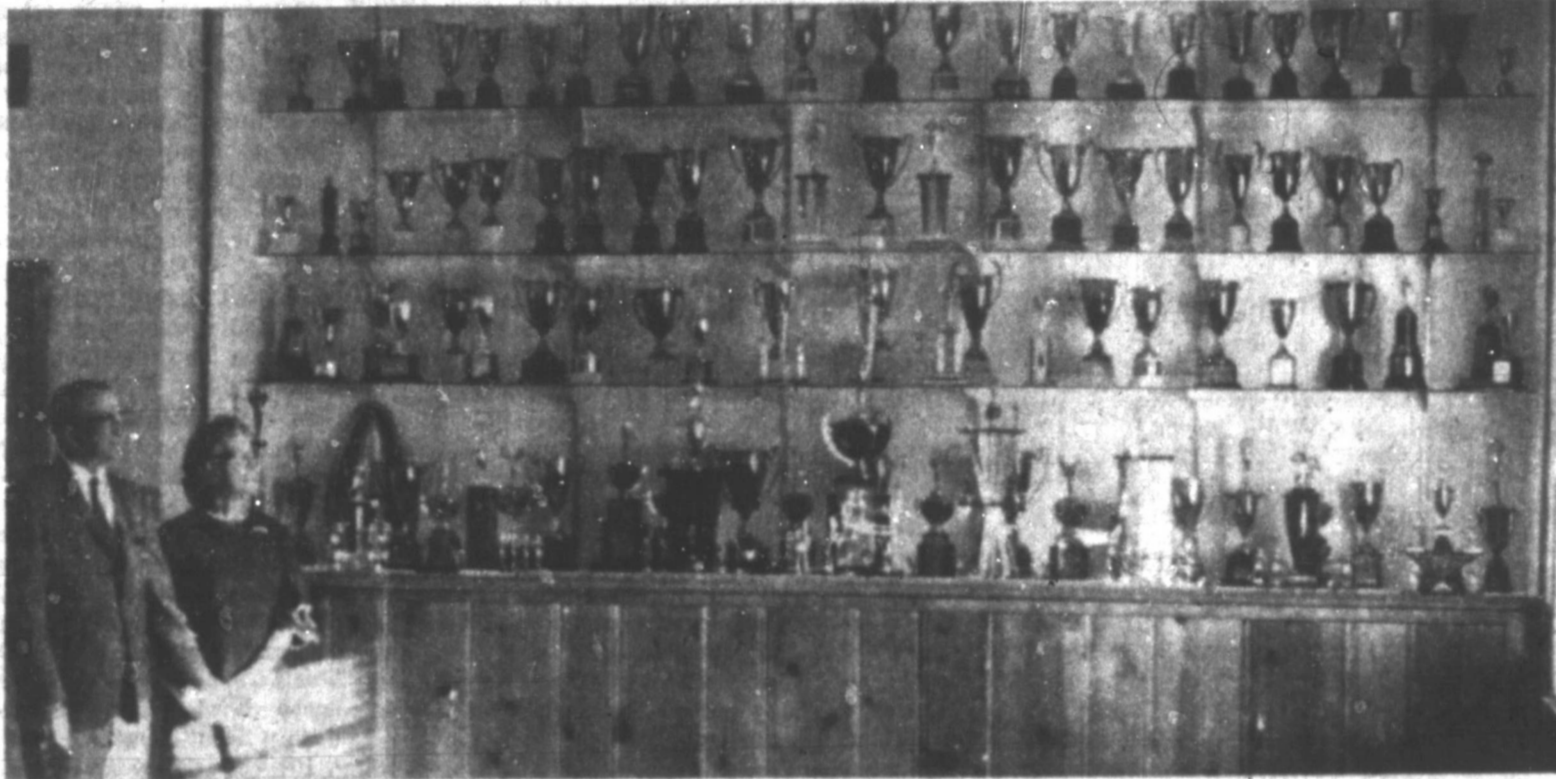

The Odd Fellow and Rebekahs of Texas, also own and operate a 36 bed modern nursing home at Ennis valued at $150,000.

Fraternal Groups to Meet in Pampa

I.O.O.F. has operated its Educational Foundation 41 years to provide a revolving student loan fund. Supported by donations to the trust fund, which has received $449,449.90, the foundation has helped 1,665 youths with loans totaling $1,138,635. Currently, $307,076 is outstanding on loans to 327 borrowers of which 265 are liquidating their accounts and 62 are still in school.

The IOOF and Rebekah World Eye Bank and Visual Research Foundation provided $65,000 to endow the chair at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The two groups also conduct an annual Youth Pilgrimage to the United Nations each summer for 16 and 17 year olds. Since the pilgrimage started in 1951, about 15,000 students have studied the U.N. In 1968, 23 buses with delegates from every state and Canada took the five-day U.N. trip.

Sponsors selected for the 29 Texas students included six Pampanos. Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Lizzie Johnson, Mrs. Harold Lawley, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kretzmeier. This year, 992 students participated in the pilgrimage.

Pampa Canton No. 43 was instituted Sept. 10, 1960, with 17 charter members. A branch of I.O.O.F., the order has 40 Texas cantons with 1,243 members.

Pampa officers are Ross Neugin, captain; Robert Hollis, lieutenant; James Reeves, ensign; J.W. Brumett, clerk, and Barney Brumett, accountant.

Pampa Encampment No. 57 was instituted Oct. 27, 1947, with 23 charter members. Texas has 70 encampments with 2,141 members. John Killian was a past grand patriarch of Texas in 1966. Officers are James Reeves, chief patriarch; John Killian, high priest; Ross Neugin, scribe; and Elmer Rupp, treasurer.

I.O.O.F. was the first fraternal organization to establish ladies auxiliaries and instituted Pampa's auxiliary Sept. 10, 1960 with 21 charter members. Texas has 39 auxiliaries with 1,176 members.

Pampa auxiliary has had two past department association presidents. Mrs. Ellen Kretzmeier in 1952-53 and Mrs. Eula Killian, in 1967. Pampa Auxiliary officers are Ola McAfee, president; Lillie Reeves, vice president; Eula Killian, secretary, and Lora Brumett, treasurer.

Pampa Theta Rho No. 18 was organized and chartered March 13, 1944. The club helps support the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Old Folks home at Ennis, and the Children's Home at Corsicana.

To teach unselfishness, morality, and patriotism; to encourage mental and physical development of character; to promote service to God and man, obedience to the law and protection of home and country are the seven objectives of Theta Rho Club, which is sponsored by Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355.

Heading the group are Miss Teresa Martin, president; Miss Denise Bennett, vice-president; Miss Debbie Bennett, secretary; Miss Kim Gilbert, treasurer.

Appointed officers are Miss Deborah Lawley, warden; Miss Paula Kretzmeier, conductor; Miss Linda Rogers, chaplain; Miss Darla Bennett, marshal; Miss Molly Jackson, left supporter to president; Miss Shari Lawley, right supporter to vice-president and past president.

Mrs. Harold Lawley is advisory officer and a member of the Rebekah Assembly youth committee. District No. 1. The youth service committee includes Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier, Mrs. Eunice Maddox and Mrs. Arville Hayes.

The first fraternal organization to build and maintain homes for the aged and indigent widows and orphans was the Odd Fellows. Forty-four jurisdictions own and operate homes for children and the aged. Total cost to operate these homes a year is $7,414,775.77. Present value of the homes is $28,671,989.48. Since the date of their opening, 53,360 persons have been admitted to the homes.

Violet Society Has Nominating Committee Report

Pampa African Violet Society met recently in Mrs. Norman Walberg's home, 621 E. Kingsmill recently as Mrs. Charles Gilson presided.

Mrs. V. N. Osborne reported on the nominating committee results with Mrs. Norman Walberg, president; Mrs. Dan Glaxner, vice president; Mrs. Holly Gray, secretary; Mrs. R.F. Dirksen, treasurer; Mrs. J.E. Carlson, parliamentarian, and Mrs. V.N. Osborne, reporter.

Members voted to place the African Violet magazine in Lovett Memorial Library in memory of the late Miss Mary McKamy.

The program "Charcoal the Invaluable" was presented by Mrs. Marion Roberts and "Growing Miniatures, Many Varieties" by Mrs. Charles Gilson.

House-warming gifts were presented to the hostess, Mrs. Walberg.

Refreshments were served to one guest, Mrs. W.F. Taylor, and members. Mmes. Lee Moore, J. E. Carlson, R. F. Dirksen, W. A. Greene Charles Gilson, Marion Roberts, V. N. Osborne, Harrison Dismukes, C.E. Boswell, Evan Jones and Holly Gray.

Hostesses Sponsor Wedding Shower

Nancy Hall, bride-elect of John Jay Isbell, was honored recently with a wedding shower at 820 N. Gray, home of Mrs. R. C. Collier.

The table was decorated with white linen cloth with a centerpiece of the bride's colors of white and pink.

Mrs. Sam Steadman assisted by Mrs. Bill Tucker, poured punch. The honoree was presented with a white carnation corsage trimmed in pink. Mrs. Y. E. Turnbo registered guests.

Hostesses for the 54 guests were Mmes. R.C. Collier, Nyle Franklin, Max Browning, Roy Laycock, Bill Tucker, Y.E. Turnbo, and Kit Autry.

Women Sponsor Pampa Shower For Mrs. Jones

Mrs. Glenda Jones, 1231 S. Farley, was honored recently with a pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. B. M. Weddle, 1225 Farley.

Hostesses were Mrs. Weddle, Miss Ann Chafin and Mrs. Ann Webb. The serving table was covered with white cloth with a centerpiece of blue flowers, and a white cake. Thirteen guests attended.

Miss Cindy Dykes Wins '68 Crown At Homecoming

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — In annual homecoming ceremonies here recently the 1968 football queen, Miss Cindy Dykes was crowned by her escort, Bruce Locke.

Other candidates for queen were: Gaye Allen and Cathy Jordan. Royal attendants included Lynda Stephenson, senior; Cindy Jordan, junior; Debbie Allen, sophomore; and Nina Wheetley, freshman. Ceremonies were performed before the audience for the White Deer Bucks and the Claude Mustangs football game.

Graham Addresses 20th Century Forum

Howard E. Graham, head of the Pampa High School history department, spoke to Twentieth Century Forum Study Club members recently on "Coronado's Expedition into Texas in 1540-1542."

Members met with Mrs. Holt Barber, 2310 Aspen, as Mrs. Frank Stofa, president, presided. Mrs. M. McDaniel introduced the speaker.

Graham told club members the purposes of Coronado's expedition were to extend Spain's claim to North America—to seek gold and to christianize the inhabitants.

"The expedition cost about $2 million in today's exchange, since Coronado and Mexico's Viceroy Mendoza had mortgaged almost everything they owned to make the expedition possible," he said.

"The army and the people who went on the expedition had the best equipment money could buy. Many cows and horses were taken on the trip, thus our first 'longhorns' and horses were brought to Texas," Graham said.

"During Coronado's wanderings he came into the present Panhandle, specifically Palo Duro and Tule Canyons. He headed north still seeking his 'Quivira,' and 'Cibola,' crossing and naming the Llano Estacado. It was here he saw the sea of grass and the 'hump back cow,' the buffalo," he said.

"It was from Coronado's diary that later explorers gained a knowledge of the geography and inhabitants of Texas. Coronado established the Spanish flag over a large area, which included the Texas Panhandle," Graham said.

Members attending were Mmes. Holt Barber, Hugh D. Barton, Michael Dunigan, H. Joe Franklin, Robert W. Harmon, J. R. Holloway, David E. Holt, Homer D. Johnson, M. McDaniel, Neil Quattlebaum, Frank Stofa, Robert W. Waddell, Roy Bourland, and Mrs. Arthur M. Teed.

Guests were Mmes. Jeff Bearden, Charles Cook, Delmar Watkins, William Cornman, Jim Hughes, J. M. Stallings, Alford Wandec, Chicago, Ill., E. B. Wilkinson, Charles Zlomke and William Charlton.

B&PW Club Honors Mrs. Sprinkle During Observance of National Week

Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club honored Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, district clerk, at its National Business Women's Week dinner meeting recently in the City Club Rooms. Mrs. H. E. Crocker spoke and gave the salute to the honoree.

Born and reared in Pampa, Mrs. Sprinkle has served as district clerk of 31st Judicial District 14 years. A Pampa

High School graduate, she has had business training in Pampa Modern School of Business and Fleming Business College of Amarillo.

Mrs. Sprinkle is a member of Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the County-District Clerks' Association of Texas. She is also a member of First Christian Church, where she serves on the membership committee and as president of the Business and Professional Women's Group of the church.

A member of Pampa B&PW Club 15 years, she has been recording secretary and chairman of several committees. She is representing the club on the Welfare Index Committee.

A resident of 510 N. Somerville, she is the mother of four children, two daughters and two sons.

AT AREA RANCH

Council Conducts Cadette Camporee

The first "Do-It-Yourself" three-day Cadette Camporee of the Quivira Girl Scout Council was held at the Seitz Ranch west of Miami recently with 66 campers and adults attending.

Mrs. J. E. Clark of Pampa and Mrs. Cecil Smyth of Miami directed the camporee.

Campers and adults learned how to camp as a troop and share skills with other troops. Each troop provided their own equipment, shelter, and food.

Mrs. W.F. Huff, Pampa, discussed history of the eastern Panhandle during a campfire program the first night.

State Rep. Malouf Abraham and Judge Ed. Haynes visited with campers and discussed local, state and national government.

Mrs. Dennis Stephenson, Amarillo, directed campfire songs one night, after Mrs. Thurman Boswell, Miami, gave a reading from Edgar Allan Poe's "The Tell-Tale Heart".

Troop I of Pampa concluded with a Scout's Own.

Rev. Thurman Boswell, Miami, conducted a Sunday morning church service.

Troops attending the Camporee were Troop I, Mrs. W. J. Felter, Pampa; Troop 7, Mrs. Glenn Sanders, Miami; Troop 22, Mrs. Carol Welch, Pampa; Troop 125, Mrs. Robert Karr, Pampa; and Troop 141, Mrs. D. B. McDaniel, Borger.

Other adults assisting with troops attending the camporee were Mmes. Melvin McCuiston, Charles Bailey, Winfred Bauer, National Business Women's Week is a special time to recognize the achievements and contributions of women in business and professional life of the country.

Others selected for special recognition this year were Mrs. M. E. Powers, as the club's "Business Woman of the Year," and Mrs. Inez Carter, pioneer ranch woman, as the Pampa B&PW Club mother.

In charge of the dinner were Mrs. G. E. Tinnin, Mrs. J. A. Knox and Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, and Mrs. H. F. McDonald Jr., chairman of National Business Women's Week, was mistress of ceremonies for the program.

Slides of her tour around the world were shown by Mrs. Ruth Sewell with commentary on the Holy Lands, Orient, and Middle Eastern countries.

About 400 members attended the dinner with special guests. Those from the Borger B&PW Club were Mrs. Audrey Fowler, Mrs. Grace Rem and Mrs. Velma Arendall. Pampa guests were Mrs. Belle Forsman, Mrs. Robert Coley, Mrs. Valerie Paronto, Miss Gayle McDonald and Miss Kita Paronto.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Al and I have been married for 16 years, if you can call this a marriage. Al says that marriage is a job, like any other job, and since everybody gets at least one day a week off from his job, a man should get a day off from his marriage, so Al works at our marriage 6 days a week, but he takes Sundays off.

He leaves the house late Saturday night, and I don't see him again until early Monday morning. He puts about 200 miles on his car and I don't have the slightest idea where he's been. This doesn't make much sense to me, but I can't talk him out of it. Is he crazy, or am I!

AL'S BETTY
DEAR BETTY: Marriage is a 7-day-a-week job, and there's no time off for good (or "bad") behavior. Al is far from "crazy." If he's able to sell this deal, but I'm not so sure about you, if you're buying.

DEAR ABBY: Because so many service men read your column, I hope you'll print this. We realize that most men in service don't have time to write letters, but if they are well, they can take 5 minutes to write two words, "I'M FINE" and then sign it.

My brother has been in Viet Nam for 5 months. Our whole family writes to him regularly, but he's written only three times. My poor mother refuses to leave the house until the mail comes, and I've seen her age 10 years in 5 months. The first we heard from him in 5 weeks was yesterday. He said he was fine. He could have said that 5 weeks ago!

DISGUSTED WITH BROTHER
DEAR DISGUSTED: A man who is in the service could conceivably have many legitimate reasons for not writing. He could be on the move and unable to write. Also, mail is not always delivered without a hitch from the war zone. Some can't write for security reasons. But how about children who are just away from home and don't write either? Sharper than a serpent's tooth.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter who is 16 says that when a girl brings her boyfriend in after a date, the parents should be in bed.

Brenda came home at 11:30 last night after a movie date and she found me in the kitchen baking cookies for a church bake sale which was to take place the next day. She looked at me like I had no business being there and shouted, "Mother, what are you doing up! Go to bed!" I would like your opinion as I was very hurt and upset over this.

HURT MOM
DEAR HURT: If your 16-year-old daughter can tell you where you should be—and get away with it—you have my sympathy. Children do not become disrespectful and insolent over night. It's not possible for me to accomplish in one letter what you apparently have failed to do in 16 years. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: So the "rich relatives" placed their name-address sticker over another signature and sent the Christmas card out again!

A card so beautiful as to merit double-duty deserves more. The folks who received the second-hand card should have covered the sticker with their own, and sent it back for triple-duty.

Demonstration Club Attends Meeting

Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club members met recently with Mrs. Ray Robertson, 424 Doyle as Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County Home Demonstration Agent, gave the program on "Fun with Fabric and Findings."

"Checks and plaids are good fabrics for Fall fashions," Miss Wainscott said. "Material is softer, so dresses fit closer than last season. Wool, cotton, linen, silk, and acetate are main materials. Materials should have names and instructions on how to care for them."

Mrs. N. B. Cude, president, reported on the trip to Amarillo for the Home Makers' meeting.

Members set Oct. 28 as the date for the Gray County council luncheon at the Agricultural Building east of Pampa.

Miss Wainscott will be hostess for the next meeting at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 1 at 803 N. Dwight.

Members attending the meeting at Mrs. Robertson's home were Mmes. Boyd Brown, W. G. Kinser, Emma Tinsley and N. B. Cude. Mrs. Blanche Kirksey and Miss Wainscott were guests.

La Cultura Club Members Hear Ben Sturgeon Speak

Ben Sturgeon, Republican candidate for Gray County attorney, spoke to La Cultura Club members recently at their meeting in Mrs. Scott Nisbet's home, 1815 Charles.

Those participating on the program were Mrs. Paul Hartin, president; club project report, and Mrs. Wayne Hampton, social chairman, who gave the menus and plans for the club's Christmas party Dec. 13.

Sturgeon presented copies of the ballot which will be used in the Nov. 5 elections and explained proper voting methods, and changes in the Gray County ballots.

He discussed Republican candidates for office in state and local positions and their qualifications. Stressing the importance of each vote, he related incidents of elections

Your Horoscope JEANE DIXON

FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 27, 1968
Your birthday today: The main problem now is how to achieve sufficient privacy, to work out what you have to do in the coming year. It is a time for independent action, but you are hindered by confusion from people in the way. Today's natives are inclined to be aggressive promoters.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): The temptation is to let the trends of recent weeks carry you to extremes. Turn this into an active day and use the many pleasant opportunities for self-expression.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Take life as it comes today; almost any course you care to follow can be enjoyable. Collaborate with your friends to make a festive evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Begin the day with confidence. Try getting acquainted with people who share your hobbies. Puzzle-solving and some serious study should find a place in your day's rounds.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You can have a grand time by manifesting your better nature; be sure to start at home with your own people. Recreation and sports can follow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The way to make the most of an agreeable Sunday is to put responsibilities completely out of your mind. Find people who share your views and compare notes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): There is definite emphasis on home and family affairs. A gathering of the clan brings renewed encouragement for the laggards. (Developments in the lives of your friends are very instructive.)

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): With just a little reserve, you can make an extra conquest this day. Go about matters in a leisurely fashion. Explore your community for visitors from far places. Enjoy the search for a pastime.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There is somebody within your reach who can open many doors and will enjoy doing so. If you go out early and stay on, you will meet unusual new people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Begin with what you consider your duties; and get finished. Then make a determined search for the pleasant diversions you've not had the chance to enjoy lately.

Sorority Alumnae Members Attend Pampa Luncheon

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club members attended a luncheon meeting recently at the Pampa Club honoring Mrs. D. F. Suddith, Lubbock, president of Nu South Alumnae Province. Her territory includes Texas, New Mexico and Mexico City. Mrs. Suddith discussed a workshop she had attended in Gatlinburg, Tenn., where Pi Beta Phi had its Settlement School, Arrowcraft Shop and craft Workshop. The University of Tennessee gives college credit for attending the school, shop and workshop.

Those attending the luncheon were Mmes. Sam Byron Hulsey, Don R. Lane, Homer D. Johnson, E. R. Sidwell, S.J. Meador Jr., and Hobart Fatheree, of Miami. Mrs. Meador, Pampa Alumnae Club president, announced three area girls have pledged Pi Beta Phi Sorority at Texas Tech. They are Mary Jane Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Rose; Ellen McDaniel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. McDaniel, and Ann Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Monroe.

OES Past Matrons Schedule Meeting

Order of Eastern Star Past Matrons Gavel Club met recently in the Southwestern Public Service Company Reddy Room for a monthly program. Mrs. Lyda Burba and Mrs. Johnny Price were hostesses for the covered dish supper.

Mrs. Rachel Jones was appointed to dispense milk during the school year for two children. Those attending were Mmes. Lyda Burba, Johnny Price, Emma Lee Gray, Lolete Byars, Blanche Morrison, Viola Pennington, Stella G. Wagner, Maude Voylers, Lorena Rallsback and Rosalie Wedge.

Mrs. Hazel Parker, Mrs. Stella Wagner and Mrs. Edna Davis will be hostesses for the next meeting Nov. 15 at the Reddy Room.

Sorority Representative To Initiate New Chapter

Mrs. Virginia Christensen, Scottsdale, Ariz., international representative for Phi Sigma Alpha, a cultural and social sorority, is in Pampa interviewing area women who have been invited to become members of the Greek letter sorority.

Mrs. Christensen will select prospective members, explain the sorority's programs and initiate the formation of the new chapter.

Phi Sigma Alpha, headquartered in Scottsdale, Ariz., is non-academic, non-political and has no religious affiliations or fund raising programs, Mrs. Christensen said.

"Membership is open to women over 35 who are intellectually curious, who like to think about and discuss things rather than talk about people. We feel that a woman over 35 needs to become reacquainted with herself — not as a mother, as a wife or a home-maker, but as an individual. Married or single, a woman needs mental stimulation to expand her horizons and to gain recognition as a person," added Mrs. Christensen.

Membership in Phi Sigma Alpha includes governor's wives, women listed in 'Who's Who's' housewives, business and professional women plus outstanding and distinguished honorary members, she said.

"Membership is transferable to any chapter in the world. Members may attend city assemblies in addition to state and area meetings. The official publication, 'The Courier' is edited by Margerie Scott in England. Each monthly issue contains chapter news, photographs submitted by members, fashion news and other items of interest to the chapter and individual members," she said.

The first year's program will be "Inventory of Personality" designed by Dr. William Parker, professor of psychology at Redlands University, Redlands, Calif., and author of several books. Programs change in topic each year.

Women interested in the sorority may contact Mrs. Christensen at MO 5-3333. Installation of new members is slated for 8 p.m. Oct. 31 at Mrs. Hugh Peoples' home here.

Mrs. Jean Couch is president of the 12 prospective members. Mrs. Christensen will select the first officers. After three months, members will select officers for a year's term.

Miss Velma Horton Repeats Vows With Floyd Steele Jr. in Pampa

Miss Velma Raye Horton exchanged wedding vows with Floyd E. Steele Jr. in a 7 p.m. marriage ceremony Oct. 11 at the home of bridegroom's parents, Rev. Bryce Hubbard officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Faye Taylor, 412 Pitts St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floye E. Steele Sr., 932 Fisher St.

BRIDE
Clarence Horton, bride's brother, escorted her to the altar. She was dressed in a white hand crocheted A-line dress with street-length hem and bateau neckline. Her accessories were white velvet.

A white satin crown with seed pearls was attached to a white net veil. Her bouquet was sweetheart roses, steffanotis and satin streamers.

ATTENDANTS
Bridesmaid, Miss Georgia Jenkins, wore a blue on blue brocade ensemble with white accessories and white car nations. Best man was Milton E. Brown. Candlelighter was Preston F. Steele the bridegroom's brother.

The bridegroom's mother wore an antique gold lace ensemble with gold accessories, antique mums and frosted gold corsage. The bride's mother was dressed in a gold wool dress with black patent accessories and a corsage similar to the one worn by Mrs. Steele Sr.

The living room mantel was decorated with Fall greenery and gold mums flanked by two seven-pronged candleabras with white tapered candles. Two hand-painted white satin kneeling pillows were placed for the minister's blessing.

RECEPTION
For the reception at the home the serving table was covered with a gold floor-length cloth overlaid with hand crocheted lace. Gold and bronze mums and daisies were used for the centerpiece in a crystal and silver pedestal base. Sterling and crystal were other table appointments.

Mrs. Charlie E. Pipes assisted at the punch service as the bridegroom's mother served cake. Mrs. Charles D. Dykes registered guests. Others assisting were Mrs. Bryce Hubbard and Miss Debra J. Pipes. For the honeymoon trip the bride wore a pink wool ensemble with white velvet accessories, and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live at 412 Pitts while the bride attends Pampa Senior High School. The bridegroom attended PHS and is employed in Pampa until he leaves for his Naval training at San Diego, Calif.

AT OCTOBER MEETING

Mrs. Victor Jamieson Sponsors Twentieth Century Club Study

Members of Twentieth Century Club met for their recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Victor Jamieson by picketing with hippie dressed fellow members, stressing resignation from the club and joining the SWINE movement - SWINE standing for Students Wildly Indignant about Nearly Everything - and advocating Peace, Pacification and Poverty. Mrs. William Easley presented the second half of a study entitled "Anarchy or Order", and used newspaper and magazine clippings organized in colleges to visualize topics involved, which included murder, drugs, strikes, mobs and their victims: civil discord, Black Power, and welfare. Mrs. Easley's talk, which asked, "In our 'Anything Goes' society, Where is it going?" provided members with criminal statistics. "Today crime pays 20 billion dollars, assured that the law will be easy on the offenders; - less than 21 per cent of reported crimes result in arrests and less than six per cent of those in conviction", she said. "In the past six years, crimes have increased 77 per cent. Murders are up 11 per cent over last year's 21 per cent and robberies 27 per cent over a 46 per cent increase in 1966. "Age levels of these criminals were from 14-29 years, and if this can be taken as a definite trend, by 1977 this age group will have increased by 110 per cent as opposed to other age groups' increase of 55 per cent. One of the most potent questions that this study projects is, 'Who will speak for the victims?'" "Much publicity and concern has been devoted to the Negro and the Civil Rights movement. The year 1967 has gone down in history as the worst year of racial strife in our history. "About 130 cities were involved in 164 outbreaks at a cost of $270 million. A definite contribution to this strife is the conditions in the Black Ghetto, Newark and Washington, D. C. being examples of the most decay, but at the present birth rate 23 other large cities will be listable, she said. "It was a grotesque memorial to Dr. Martin Luther King that 46 persons were killed, 2,500 injured, 21,000 arrested and 45 million dollars of insured losses were reported. "The welfare program for the United States has mushroomed. Nearly 10 billion a year will be needed this year for relief of the 3,500,000 people enrolled. As stupendous as this statistic is, President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders recommends six billion more be spent on jobs, eight billion on welfare, seven billion on housing, and five billion on education - a total of $26 billion a year over the $59 billion now allocated. "With the many conflicts affecting U.S. citizens emphasis has been exerted toward care of the chronic criminal - the drifter, drug addict, poverty victim, and in general, the misfit. The average citizen's rights - to walk in safety, and expect to be expended wisely, - have been ignored," she said. Mrs. Raymond Harrah reported as federation chairman 148 delegates attended the district meeting in Clarendon, and admonished members to beware of "Spectatoritis", urging them to be more active. Mrs. Steve Odum, public affairs chairman, reminded members of responsibilities in the Nov. 5 election. Members attending were Mmes. Charles Fagan, W. R. Campbell, D. E. McGahey, Raymond Harrah, Rex Rose, V. J. Jamieson Jack Foster, Lorene Locke, W. A. Skoog, Paul Harbaugh, Richard Stowers, Fred Neslage, W. G. Easley, and Steve Odum; and Miss Elsie Cunningham.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Throughout the nation high school seniors are beginning to give serious thought to college admissions. The decision on which college to attend can be most important to a student's success. Colleges have different personalities and requirements as do the various students.

How does one determine which college is best suited for him? First of all, there are many colleges which may be suitable for any one individual. It is not a good idea to settle on a single choice as the only college to attend. A student may prefer one college but he should broaden his choices with the understanding that a college cannot normally admit everyone who meets its basic requirements.

A student should first sit down with his parents and guidance counselor in order to list his qualifications, interests and needs. Consideration should be given to high school average, class placement, participation in extra curricular activities, number of course units, and the courses which have been taken. Colleges often consider such things as a constant improvement over the years as a positive factor even though a student's overall average may be somewhat low.

Next, the student should decide the type of college program he would like to pursue. Some students can be definite in choosing law, medicine or engineering while others may have to be more flexible and make a final decision later in their careers.

Further decisions are needed as to location, finances, size of school, cultural activities and academic atmosphere.

Once a student has clarified in his mind the kind of school which meets his interests and qualifications, he is in a position to survey the many available colleges. College catalogues, books on college profiles, and the guidance counselor are important resources. Many colleges send representatives to visit the various high schools in order to talk with prospective students.

When the field is narrowed down, it is helpful to visit several campuses or talk to someone who has attended the particular colleges. You might find someone who has attended the college on your high school staff or among your neighbors and friends.

It is important that a student make his own decision. Of course, he should be guided by parents and counselors. He must consider most carefully

Metanet Members Piece Star Quilt In All-Day Meeting

Metanet Quilting Club members met at Mrs. Charles Smiley's home, at the Phillips Camp in Bowers City recently for an all-day quilting session.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. J. C. Longan, members planned a bake sale for Nov. 27 at Gibson's Discount Center, and discussed a Christmas party.

Members worked on a pieced six-point star quilt lined with blue. Mrs. Joe Gallia won the door prize. Members receiving secret pal gifts were Mmes. J. C. Longan, Orval Johnson, George Hamlin and J. B. Jones.

Members present for the covered dish luncheon were Mmes. Johnson, Raymond Neff, Longan, Jones, Gallia, Hamlin, Forrest, Cloyd, and Smiley.

The next meeting will be an all-day quilting program at Mrs. Joe Gallia's home, 1020 S. Hobart, Nov. 6.

and seriously the opinion of his parents. They must also consider their child's desires and needs. Differences should be worked out. Compromise and understanding will solve most problems.

Twentieth Century Culture Group Hears 'Silver Dollar' Book Review

Mrs. Rufe Jordan reviewed the book, "Silver Dollar" for members of Twentieth Century Culture Club recently at the home of Mrs. G.L. Craddock, 2000 Williston, Mrs. Jack R. Hood assisted Mrs. Craddock.

Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, president, led the group in the club collect and presided during a business meeting. Reports were given by committee women, Mrs. J.L. Chase, Mrs. H.S. Sadler, and Mrs. Warren Hasse.

Mrs. Jordan told the story of the Haw Tabor family of Colorado. Haw Tabor's rise from an apprentice stonecutter to a homesteader in Kansas, to a millionaire in the silver mines of Colorado was portrayed by Mrs. Jordan.

"In less than a year after arriving in Colorado in April of 1859, Haw Tabor was a millionaire. Every move he made seemed to be the right one. He opened a general merchandise store which prospered. He invested in the railroads and all the claims to lands he staked, produced gold or silver. He became involved in civic affairs and very soon was elected county treasurer, later mayor, still later lieutenant-governor of Colorado," Mrs. Jordan said.

She related that his fortunes had come to him so suddenly that he was drunk with the power of it. He divorced his first wife to marry a much younger woman known as Baby Doe. For 10 years, the couple lived in luxury spending lavishly, going to Washington during a one month appointment of Haw Tabor as U.S. Senator, to be married in the presence of President Chester A. Arthur.

"Two daughters were born to this union, one of whom was named by William Jennings Bryan as Silver Dollar but since Haw Tabor liked the name Echo Honeymoon and Baby Doe liked the name Rosemary, the child was christened Rosemary Silver Dollar Echo Honeymoon Tabor. Her parents called her Silver."

of silver due to the government accepting the gold standard, Tabor's fortunes began to diminish. One by one they sold their fabulous possessions, including jewels, imported furnishings and their home to move to a small flat which rented for $30 a month; Haw Tabor didn't even know how he was going to pay the rent."

"Citizens of Denver became concerned over the family's plight and a gold millionaire offered him the job of postmaster, which post Haw Tabor kept less than year before he died. His wife, Baby Doe returned to a minor's cabin with her two daughters, near the old non-producing mine, hoping it would again produce but it never did. Baby Doe's daughters left her, one to live with relatives and the other, Silver Dollar, to Chicago.

"Silver turned to night life, to dope, to alcohol, and to prostitution. Silver's life ended in a tragic death and her body lay unclaimed for two days before her true identity was established," Mrs. Jordan said.

Wesleyan Guild Attends Program

Wesleyan Service Guild members attended a program recently in First Methodist Church parlor as Miss Ila Pool directed the study of "The Gospel of John."

During the program, incidents in the Gospel as related by John were given. Those participating in the program were Mrs. Walter Daugherty, testimony of John the Baptist; Mrs. John Rosenberg, marriage at Cana; Mrs. Frank Shotwell, interview of Samaritan woman; Mrs. Donald Nienstiel, healing of Gentile's son; Miss Alma Wilson feeding the 500; and Mrs. Lee Harrah, Jesus and Nicodemus.

Others attending were Mmes. Aubrey Jones, Sherman White, J.M. Turner, Diamia Wood, E.V. Boston, and Misses Alice Gordon, Inez Clubb, Lillian Mullinax and one visitor, Mrs. Hugh Blaylock.

Refreshments were served by Miss Clubb and Mrs. Turner. Members plan to meet at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4 in the Church parlor with Mrs. Vera Eubank as hostess.

Center Wrap-Up

George Smith, Director
Pampa Youth and Community Center

JUDO CLASS — Many people have taken advantage of the new judo class and are presently enrolled. If you are interested in this sport, you may still enroll by coming to any of the meetings. At this time you will receive full instructions about the class.

The judo class meets twice each week on Monday and Thursday nights. The meeting time has been changed from 7:30 to 7 p.m. and lasts until 8:30 p.m. All classes are conducted by Mr. Sam Moot and Paul, his son.

MEMBERSHIPS — The Center is a non-profit charitable organization built in 1961 by interested citizens of Pampa. The program is financially operated by donations from individual, organizations and companies and by the sell of memberships.

Memberships come in two packages. The first is the individual plan which is sold to persons 8 years of age or older including adults. This plan costs $8 per year or $5 for six months. The other plan is our membership for families. This plan includes all members of the immediate family and costs $20 per year or $12 for six months.

Either membership entitles you to use the full facilities of the Center. These include the gym, swimming pool, dressing rooms, recreation hall and the TV room. All games such as basketball, volleyball, table tennis, pool, shuffleboard, trampolining, wrestling, judo and tumbling are available. To purchase any of these membership plans you need only come by the Center, pay your dues and membership cards are issued. You get a full year or one-half years use of your membership.

TEEN DANCES — The teen dance program has really been growing this past month with crowds of 400 in attendance. We are looking for even bigger crowds now that the cooler weather is setting in. All teens are invited to these dances on an age group basis. If the Harvesters are playing out of town, all age groups including Jr. High, High School and College are invited. When the Harvesters are playing in town, only the high school and college age are invited. On special dances everyone is invited.

When the Harvesters are out of town the dances are from 8-11 p.m. and when playing in town from 9:30 to 11:30. Special dances may have special hours as announced. There will be a special Thanksgiving dance on Wednesday night, Nov. 27. We are presently in the process of trying to obtain the services of Johnny and Joe from Hollywood. They were regulars on the TV shows Shindig and Hullabaloo and have set attendance records in teen clubs and personal appearances all over the USA and Hawaii. Others contracted are Nov. 1, Tyme; Nov. 8 Mojos;

SWIMMING LESSONS — Enrollment for the remaining classes offered before Christmas is now going on. These classes meet for 2 1/2 weeks or 10 meeting dates from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. weekdays except Tuesday. Classes are conducted by our own Water Safety Ins., Jackie Marlar. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 to non-members.

WOMEN'S EXERCISE — The Center offers an exercise and swimming class just for women on Monday and Friday mornings. If you desire to exercise, you come at 9:30 a.m. and if to swim, at 10 a.m. You may participate in either or both of these particular classes.

All exercising is by recording instruction and the class is informal. During the swimming class you are free to use the steam cabinet if you desire. Participation is by membership only with memberships always available.

VILLEYBALL RESULTS — One change took place in the men's standings this week with First Baptist Church tripping previously undefeated Bell Pontiac 15-10 and 11-1. This tied both for first place. Other men's scores found Skelly Oilers over Skelly Production 15-6 and 16-14 while Furr's bumped the Jaycees 7-0 and 15-3.

Kin Notification of Death Follows Soldier's Guideline

When a soldier is killed, wounded or missing in action, the Army follows specific guidelines for notifying his next-of-kin — guidelines which are largely determined by the soldier himself, according to Sgt. George Cullins, U.S. Army recruiter in Pampa.

At the induction center, each man fills out a "Record of Emergency Data" form which lists his next-of-kin and other vital information. Although other records carry similar information, this small yellow card is the first one referred to in any emergency.

Sgt. Cullins says it is the responsibility of each soldier to keep the data current — to list any changes in his marital status, for example. But sometimes he forgets, and it is not until he is ready to be transferred that the card is updated. The form is always checked before a transfer, and special emphasis is placed on correct emergency data for overseas-bound soldiers.

Next-of-kin are classified as "primary" or "secondary." A married soldier's next-of-kin is his wife. For a single man, next-of-kin means his parents.

Any soldier, however, can request that certain relatives not be notified because of ill health or other sound reasons. In these cases, the soldier's wishes are given full consideration.

When a man is killed or missing in action, an Army officer or senior enlisted man personally notifies the primary next-of-kin.

Secondary next-of-kin are usually informed by telegram soon after the personal notification has been made.

In cases of wounded or injured personnel, notification is by telegram or letter, unless the soldier has specified that "no notification" be given.

The task of notification is not the end of the Army's involvement in each case. Usually within a day of notification, a Survivor Assistance Officer will contact the wife or parents of a serviceman.

He can assist and advise the next-of-kin on funeral arrangements, insurance processing, financial matters, entitlements and referral of legal problems. Survivor assistance is continued until all immediate personal and financial needs have been resolved.

Whether a soldier is serving at a post a few miles from home or in Vietnam, the same steps of notification and assistance are followed in every case.

And although the task is an unpleasant one for everyone involved, it is accomplished, as closely as possible, according to the soldier's own wishes, Sgt. Cullins stated.

Spotlighting Servicemen

2nd Lt. Jerry Jones
FT. BLISS, Tex.—Second Lt. Jerry G. Jones, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones, 412 Rider, recently completed the air defense artillery officer basic course at the Army Air Defense School here. He was among the top ten in his class.

During the nine-week course, he was trained in air defense artillery operations and tactics with a major portion of his studies devoted to the Nike-Hercules missile system.

The course was climaxed by a field exercise at McGregor Guided Missile Range, N. M., where the class fired two missiles.

Lt. Jones and his wife, Sherry, were home recently on a furlough from El Paso, where he is currently stationed.

He has passed his physical and will be going into the Air Force. He is expected to receive his orders in two weeks to report to Fort Walters at Mineral Wells for helicopter training.

Lt. Jones graduated from West Texas State University, where he received a B.B.A. degree in accounting, with minors in chemistry, math and military science.

He received his commission with military honors and was honored with the Daughters of American Revolution award for patriotism and military and academic achievement.

Lt. Jones and his wife also visited his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lockard and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Henderson, and his grandfather, V. L. Stout.

Ensign Bill Trospen
Ensign Bill Francis Trospen, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Trospen, Star Route, Higgins, has been home on a ten-day leave, following completion of officer candidate school at Newport, R. I.

He will report to the Naval Engineering School in San Diego, Calif. and then go to Subic Bay, Philippines Islands to board his ship the USS Oxford. The Oxford is engaged in operations off the coast of Vietnam. Ensign Trospen will board the Oxford in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Trospen attended their sons graduation at Newport and visited in New York City while there on the coast.

SAN DIEGO — Marine Private Randy H. Haralson, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Haralson of Pampa, and husband of the former Miss Sherrille Etling of Boise, Okla., was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

He will now undergo from two enemy boats and damage three with the aid of a Marine A4 Skyhawk jet.

As the two ships steamed away, a lookout aboard the Berkeley heard explosions and noted the Furse was under fire from enemy shore batteries. The order to take cover was given and the two ships ran a race with the enemy shells. The Furse took a direct hit near the stern and its decks were splattered with shrapnel from three near misses.

Attempts to spot the enemy guns were unsuccessful due to sun reflections on the water's surface and a heavy afternoon haze.

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

European Election Views

If one were to attach a phrase to the forthcoming election, it might well be "the Election of the Great Lack of Enthusiasm." Barring the activities of George Wallace's supporters, the advocates of both major candidates take an almost apologetic attitude toward their champions. "It's the best we have to offer," is the tenor of the comment. "Sorry."

Surprisingly, the foreign press, which does not always accurately portray the ebb and flow of opinion in the United States, comes to pretty much the same conclusion. Le Monde, a Paris publication generally thought of as temperate (for the French press), sees the election as a "crystallization of a kind of militant mediocrity." Which is a Gallic way of saying what we all have to believe: Not much, but all we have been offered.

The conservative publication The Economist of London sighs wearily: "It is easy to imagine an ideal President of the United States who could unite his country and lead the world. But so far he has not materialized this year. The Americans, and everyone else, must try to manage with the men they have."

The Warsaw weekly Polityka, which takes the Party line, of course, says Humphrey is a "professional politician (from whom) one can expect no miracles. Nixon is not soft. He is aggressive, and unyielding. His views do not age — he has none. He has made thousands of speeches but he has never said a thing. . . . The conservative London Sunday Telegraph carried this comment from its assistant editor:

"Nixon remains — as has always been — thoroughly second-rate, neither hateable nor lovable, neither very good nor very bad — a routine mediocrity with a higher than average knack for making political blunders, the latest of which may well be his sensationally uninspired choice of a running mate."

The London Times remarks that "a larger section of the American people than ever before will be dissatisfied by either man (Humphrey or Nixon) . . . They see the choice as being between basically similar men."

The Parisian L. Nouveau Journal says "Humphrey appears to be the worse suited to give positive answers" to the problems of the United States and L'Express says the Russians, "with their usual clumsiness" have helped Nixon by making it obvious they don't want to see him elected.

The summation of all these foreign sources is a comparison of two mediocrities, which is appreciably different from the domestic appraisal.

But it should be remembered that what appears to a European to be a liability in a U.S. President might, in fact, be an asset to the United States. The best President might, very possibly, do very few of the things which would please Europe most. An "activist in politics can often do more mischief than anything else.

Another Poverty View

The War on Poverty has been mistakenly viewed as a clash between demands by blacks for dollars and the refusal by whites to donate an unlimited supply of welfare dollars through government.

Not only is this unjust criticism of both races, but it misses the point that poverty — or any other problem — should not be solved by government.

A reader of the Daily News has brought to our attention a revealing letter in the September Reader's Digest Press Section, written not by a complaining white taxpayer, but by a 40-year-old Negro woman, Sadie (Mrs. Emory) Willis of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Although she is referring principally to Negroes, what she says applies to anyone on government dole. "What is wrong with you in Washington?" she demands. "You keep giving the poor more free handouts, when what they need is a job so they can learn to work and help themselves. Welfare alone has been their ruin. If you give a check or commodities, make them do something in return. If you give education or job training, make them earn it."

Mrs. Willis backs up her words with suggestions of work that always needs doing — road repair, tree trimming, sidewalk cleaning, painting buildings, hospital and nursing home assistance. She even suggests that women on relief might care for foster children.

Something-for-nothing programs, labeled "progressive," she claims, "are completing the destruction of the manhood of the Negro male." She and her husband, who are hard workers and taxpayers, resent those collecting welfare and driving around in big cars and wearing furs.

"If I cannot get what I want, I scrub floors, and have done so," writes Mrs. Willis. "My mother taught me nothing was beneath me if it was honest."

Perhaps home and family are not the evil influences some outspoken moderns would have us believe. Mrs. Willis learned well at her mother's knee. "And some time ago we commented on similar remarks by another fine American woman, Judge Juanita Kidd Stout, a Negro whose article 'Why Must the Taxpayer Subsidize Immorality?' also appeared in the Reader's Digest in 1965. She, too, deplored preference of relief checks over character. And she, too, learned from her mother, whose sound advice to her was, 'Juanita, make yourself useful.'"

Of Mrs. Willis with her obvious high principles, and we are sure Judge Stout should be included, correspondent Doman remarked, "As Mr. Shakespeare has said, 'Can you paint the lily or gild pure gold?'"

Encouraging—If True

After the assassination of the U.S. Ambassador to Guatemala and a number of attempts on the lives of other representatives of the government in foreign lands, it should not be difficult for the State Department to implement its announced goal of an 18 per cent reduction in overseas personnel.

In fact a few more years of the disrespectful treatment accorded Americans on official business in other lands, and the department may have difficulty finding career personnel willing to man its posts.

State says it is attempting to eliminate 10,000 jobs from its foreign payrolls in an effort to reduce overseas expenditures by $28 million to $32 million a year. That's good if true. We'll believe it when it happens — and if the people lopped off the payroll in one place are not added in another in typical bureaucratic fashion.

This is to be its contribution to the balance of payments difficulties it is claimed. This is a good opportunity to review the staffing of all overseas embassies and eliminate nonessential positions. One of the problems it seems, with official Americans abroad these days is that there are so many of them.

Perhaps if the "Ugly American" were slightly less evidence, particularly in the

Pull Up A Chair

By JOHN KEASLER

Slaves of the Machine Age

The machine take-over, in which all humans will be enslaved, continues despite repeated warnings in this column, warnings which have been ignored for the most part.

Only a few of us realize how close we are to this enslavement and fewer still are fighting back against the dread day when humans will be the lackeys; machines the masters, and people will be forced to stand around with notes pinned on them saying: "This human owes me 15 cents."

And, yet, in good conscience I must continue the fight. I was thinking about that just this morning while waiting for the manually operated back door on the bus to magically open. It didn't.

While riding the quarter-mile to the next stop, and walking back, I mulled over how this facet of machine culture — paralyzing the will — has spread like a subtle malignancy until most of America is standing around waiting for the elevator to stop at a certain floor, without pushing the button.

The fact is, and it is all part of a master plot, that machines not only are engaged in a conspiracy to unseat our reason actively — but, and far more dangerously, machines have made us so dependent we fail to exercise our will at crucial moments.

Do you think this is all an accident? Go, then, disbelieve, scoffer. . . go then to the soft drink or coffee machine nearest you. Watch the humans. Some, perhaps most, will follow the operational procedure — drop the coin, push the selector button, obtain the drink and leave.

But . . . wait. Before long, a human will come along whose will has already been snuffed by automation, electric eyes, modern "conveniences," computers and so on.

Some will merely stand in front of the machine and look at it blankly for a long time, without dropping the coin. They assume the machine knows what they want . . . it is part of machine brain-washing.

Others may drop the coin but stare either blankly or with irritation at the machine without actually pushing "Black Coffee" or whatever drink, probably with fluoride in it, being pushed by the conspiracy in that machine.

The effect is rather that of a stalled ox waiting for some all-powerful master to take care of all his needs. Take supermarket doors. They open by themselves.

It is but a step from accepting the fact that supermarket doors open by themselves to assuming that all doors open by themselves.

Do you see what all this is doing to the human mind? The average American spends 5.4 years learning not to try to push supermarket doors open as they snap open anyhow and scare you. He then spends the rest of his life waiting for ALL doors to open.

If we continue to ignore the warnings plain for all to see the human mind will be conquered within five years at the outside. Heed my warning: It can happen here! Every human being will be placed inside concentration camps with coin-operated turnstile exits and nobody will have any chance.

Did Russia Get F-111 Electronic Secrets?

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — One of the highly controversial Air Force F-111 fighter planes, loaded with sophisticated equipment, may have fallen into enemy hands after it crashed in Vietnam.

The point has been raised on at least two occasions by congressional military experts. Pentagon was still telling that they do not know what happened to two of the F-111s lost in the Vietnam fighting.

In all, eight of the new F-111s were sent to the U.S. base at Taikhi, Thailand, last spring for air strikes in Vietnam at night and in bad weather. Three were lost, on March 28, March 30, and April 28.

The two pilots of the second plane were recovered, and the Air Force thinks it has pinpointed the cause of that crash—a tube of sealant left in the plane at the factory. The tube of sealing compound had apparently worked its way into the plane's control mechanism and jammed it.

For the other two crashes, however, no cause has been ascertained. Late last month the Pentagon was still telling Congress that the wreckage of the planes has never been recovered.

A month after the last of the three crashes, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., engaged in a significant exchange with Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford. Ellender was following up on a series of questions about the F-111 and its performance.

Senator Ellender: "There is another point. As I understand, one or more of those planes may be in the hands of the enemy."

Secretary Clifford: "We don't know that."

Ellender then asked a question, based on the assumption that one of the planes did fall to the Communists. Clifford replied that, even on that basis, he would want to go ahead with the F-111 program.

PUEBLO SECRETS — Earlier, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Military Appropriations Subcommittee, had asked a similar question of Gen. John P. McConnell, the Air Force chief of staff.

"Do you have any information on these three that were lost? Do you know whether any of them fell into the hands of the North Vietnamese to be sent to Moscow along with all the secret equipment off the Pueblo?" the chairman asked.

ground radar as it returned to Thailand. In that instance, the general said, loss to enemy action was "unlikely."

"The third loss could possibly have been due to ground defense actions. However, there is no evidence to support it," Ruegg added.

Pentagon censors cleared all the closed-door exchanges on F-111 losses for publication last month, deleting a portion of McConnell's comments. No additional material was supplied, and committee sources say there has been no subsequent elaboration by the Defense Department.

"QUITE A FEW THINGS" — In his questioning of McConnell, Russell asked whether it would be a very serious matter if the Communists were to recover one of the F-111s in reasonably good shape.

"Yes," the general replied. "We have quite a few things in it that we would not want the enemy to get."

Russell suggested, and McConnell agreed, that the secrets were mainly with respect to the plane's electronic devices — the so-called "black boxes" which make it possible for the F-111 to find targets and strike them in all kinds of weather.

The F-111's sophisticated electronic devices include navigation equipment and detection devices to enable it to evade anti-aircraft missiles. It also has equipment for delivering a bomb payload which is said to be two or three times as effective as that of other modern fighter planes.

One of the most spectacular of the F-111's "black boxes" is a terrain-following radar which lets the plane fly very low in all weather, at supersonic speeds and avoid detection by enemy radar. The radar system adjusts the plane's altitude automatically, reaching ahead to compensate for hills and valleys in its flight path.

Despite all these capabilities of the F-111, Congress has killed the Navy version, by refusing to supply funds, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has said the same fate should be considered for the Air Force F-111. The Senate Investigations Subcommittee is scheduled to take another look at the program next year.

Congressional disenchantment with the F-111 was quite clear, however, when Russell reminded McConnell — with tongue in cheek — that Russia secured a B-29 bomber as a U.S. ally during World War II, and copied it extensively.

"I was hoping if they got a F-111 they would fabricate some of them as near ours as they could and see if they had as much trouble as we did. It could put their air force out of business," the chairman remarked.

In 1961, the first telegram was sent across the United States when California Chief Justice Stephen Field messaged President Lincoln in Washington.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT
Pre-school Halloweeners Need Adult Supervision

Halloween is for youngsters. Much has been done to make it safer and saner. The unbridled vandalism of the "good old days" has been replaced by a parade of trick-or-treaters in fancy costumes and for many teen-agers by well-organized parties sponsored by churches, schools or civic organizations. Welcome as these changes are, all the hazards have not yet been removed.

National Safety Council files contain records of dog bites, burns and other injuries incurred when young children are allowed to roam through strange neighborhoods without adequate supervision.

That makes Halloween a time when all motorists should take added precautions when driving in residential areas. Preschool children should be allowed out only if they remain part of a group of older children or if a parent follows at a discreet distance. The area canvassed should be limited to the child's block so that no streets need to be crossed.

Flimsy costumes that can easily catch fire should be replaced by costumes of flameproof material or rendered fireproof by soaking in a solution of seven ounces of borax and three ounces of powdered boric acid in three quarts of water. A few patches of reflective tape should be sewn on all costumes. Keep the hemlines up and dispense with baggy sleeves. Painting the face with grease is safer than wearing a mask that may slip and hamper vision or impede a child's breathing.

Provide your child with a flashlight and forbid the use of matches or candles. Finally, when the children come to your door give them small donations of jelly beans, cookies or apples and, even more important, tell them what fine costumes they have contrived and how well they have made themselves into witches, goblins, etc. They will love it.

Well, the labor leaders are in a real tizzy. Their "elect Humphrey" bingie is turning into a "stop Wallace" movement. The trouble now is that the third potty candidate is making inroads into the ranks and files. Millions of dollars and thousands of organizers have been mobilized to stop the Mobile Menace.

The committee on "Political Education" has mailed out 50 million leaflets saying "Nixon's not the one, Wallace is." Leaders are finding it's Boo on gettin new voters and they have added more than 1.7 million workers to the voting lists. The trouble is, most of them intend to vote for Wallace. The leaders are finding it's Boo if you don't and Boo Boo if you do.

So the union politicos began

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

If you call yourself a conservative in this turbulent decade of American history, you're in for a series of personal attacks from all sides.

For some years the pundits have been making snide remarks about well-heeled, "upper middle class" conservative Americans, who want to keep what they've got, who couldn't care less about the poor, either here or abroad, and who therefore object to tax giveaways. Thus, the Republican Party—considered "conservative"—has been pictured as the party of the well-to-do. The Democratic Party, on the other hand, has been painted as the party of the "uncommon man."

Unfortunately for those whose ponderous views on politics have been based on this rich vs poor theory, the candidacy of George Wallace has proved the theory false. Mr. Wallace can hardly be termed a "liberal;" indeed he is labeled by practically everybody as a "conservative." But his followers, at least those who are publicly admitting it, are not members of the wealthy elite, or even the upper middle class. Instead the bulk of them come from the working class.

Faced with the destruction of one theory about class and politics, the pundits simply invented another. The new line is as arbitrary as the old; the "lower classes" back Wallace; people of sophistication can't abide him.

Joseph Kraft, writing in a recent edition of the Newark,

N. J. Evening News, discusses his version of class and politics; The "highly-educated upper-income whites of this country," he writes, "understand that a far larger share of the total available resources has to be directed toward the black community. . . . They understand that taxes have to be adjusted regularly to keep the national economy steadily growing. They understand that the lid must be held on defense spending at a level which does not put the United States much above rough parity with the Soviet Union in the nuclear field."

"But these notions of restraint and balance," continues Mr. Kraft, "which are intrinsically hard to grasp, have not been fully absorbed by the low-income whites of this country, by Middle America. On the contrary, Middle America favors more traditional ideas about suppressing civil disturbances, holding taxes steady and winning wars."

Mr. Kraft deprecates these convictions of "Middle America," and suggests that a college education will convert the younger generation of poor whites. Send them off to the university, in other words, where they will be brainwashed clean of their reactionary ideas. Which is, of course, precisely what the campus revolutionaries have in mind.

But the new leftists of academia don't give a hoot about economic background. To them, all students are prospects for conversion. Let's hope this year's freshmen realize that.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

Campaigners Deserve Better

By PAUL HARVEY
Randy Agnew, a Seabee, is just home from Vietnam. I wonder what he was thinking the other night when he went to Towson State College in Baltimore to hear his father, Gov. Spiro Agnew, campaign.

In the audience of 4,000 were some 300 who came just to make trouble, just to heckle and abuse and shout down the speaker; Some of their signs spewed slogans which were blatantly obscene.

Gov. Agnew sought to silence them with reason, then with sarcasm, finally with remonstrance. He said, "How sad your conduct must make your parents."

But they kept it up and kept it up and kept it up. It was happening elsewhere to other campaigners at the same time. I mention Agnew only because his son, present on the platform, must have looked on in amazement and embarrassment and resentment.

If anybody is entitled to be resentful of our participation in a winless war, young Agnew and those he represents are.

And perhaps the presidential candidates, sidestepping the vital issue of Vietnam, invite a challenge. Perhaps because each to some degree, is going along with the "sustained-pressure" policy which is so abysmally unpopular that the President did not himself want to test it at the polls.

Perhaps the young folks with the most to lose are right in seeking to force candidates to offer some workable alternative, but this is not the way.

Granted, most of the demonstration leaders are "professional disruptors." I am aware that Marxist ideologists spawn and support most of these efforts to disrupt our proper political process. This is one of the ways a Marxist wages guerrilla war. But they enlist their vociferous followers from among young Americans who are rightly fed up with duplicity and hypocrisy.

Recently the government of Panama changed hands. President Arias, 12 days in, was suddenly out.

The military took over that government overnight and there was not a ripple of resistance from our State Department; no emergency mobilization of our military in the Canal Zone. Rightly we reasoned that Panama's politics were none of our business.

To our draft-age young it appears something more than incongruous that our government goes to such lengths in putting more emphasis on the Negro districts, only to run up against a black extremist bloc in the big cities pushing a "Boycott, baby boycott" drive to discourage Negroes from going to the polls at all.

And I thought Wallace was "right" — far right. Or am I wrong?

Southeast Asia to prevent the government of South Vietnam from changing hands while governments in Latin America change hands every few weeks.

So I do comprehend the impatience of our young folks and I do share their resentment. But by their own unreasonableness they are switching much sympathy from themselves to the candidates: to Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey and George Wallace and their running mates.

The indignities these men have been forced to endure, the kind of treatment to which they are subjected almost everywhere they speak, disgrace their detractors, demean our political system and profane the graves of all those Americans who have given their last full measure of devotion to guarantee freedom of speech, press and assembly to those who now so rudely abuse those freedoms.

Some signs were posted at each end of the "closed" block, saying that it was closed. Some people don't believe in signs and continued to use the street. The closing was to help a manufacturer, who was apparently in more difficulty than he could handle.

The City did open another street for the benefit of the ex-mayor. It is Ford Street. The City paid my friend Artie Afergut a thousand dollars to move salvage from the proposed street. Artie, who has a heart as big as a low sack promptly moved the salvage.

Now, you should drive down that street with still lots of traffic. That street really should be changed to Sidwell Boulevard, and while making some changes, why not change Ford St. to "Artie's Bypass."

The mere mention of the word "political" reminds one of a joke born of political races. What is the difference between a politician and a lady? If a politician says yes, he means maybe. If he says maybe, he means no. If he says no, he's no politician.

If a lady says no, she means maybe. If she says maybe, she means yes. If she says yes, she's no lady.

Editor: Would anyone remember Thut Street? It was the cause of quite a political hassle some time back. A city commission closed the street over the strong protest of an ex-Mayor. The mayor considered that the closing would affect business traffic, and let it be known that he would take the City up to the Temple of Justice, if it were closed.

Some signs were posted at each end of the "closed" block, saying that it was closed. Some people don't believe in signs and continued to use the street. The closing was to help a manufacturer, who was apparently in more difficulty than he could handle.

State Lawmakers to Get More Pay

AUSTIN (UPI)—State legislators will be permitted to raise their salaries to $8,400 a year if voters approve constitutional amendment No. 5 on the November ballot.

The constitution now sets legislators' pay at $4,800 a year. If the amendment passes, the legislature would be given discretion to fix its pay at any level up to $8,400.

The amendment also would increase expense allowances. Legislators now get $12 a day while the legislature is in session but they get no per diem allowance for the last 20 days of a 140-day regular session. The limit is a hangover from the days when regular sessions were limited to 120 days.

Greater Span
The amendment would permit lawmakers to draw $12 a day for up to 140 days in a regular session and for 30 days in a special session.

Travel allowances also would be increased. Legislators would be reimbursed at the rate of 10 cents a mile for one round trip a month between their homes and Austin while the legislature is in session. The present travel allowance provides for only one round trip each session.

Legislators tried to increase their expense allowances with a constitutional amendment in 1966, but voters turned it down. Legislators received no state salary until 1960, when the present $4,800 figure was voted. The legislature has been talking about raising the limit ever since, but this is the first time the question has been submitted to voters.

Another Job
Amendment No. 14 designed to clear up legal questions that might prevent a legislator from taking another elective office.

The Constitution contains a provision designed to keep legislators from creating an office or raising its salary, then resigning to take that office before the expiration of their legislative terms.

The problem is that there is an overlap of a few days between legislative terms, which end when the new legislature convenes the second week of January, and the terms of other state offices, which begin Jan. 1.

In a suit brought by Sen. Franklin Spears and Galloway Calhoun Jr. in 1966, the State Supreme Court said this slight overlap does not make a legislator ineligible.

Spears and Calhoun were permitted to run for attorney general, even though they had been members of a legislature that voted a pay raise for the attorney general.

Proposed amendment No. 14 would incorporate that decision into the Constitution, as suggested by Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert.

HOSPITALS AND YOU

By Wes Langham

The sole reason for hospitals, efficient professional treatment offered and still not recognized by the patient as such, if one fails to properly exhibit the first six qualities.

Complaints of treatment received frequently come from misunderstandings engendered by thoughtless personal actions rather than from actual treatment procedures.

By exercising these six qualities, the people who work with and around patients use compassion which is defined as "sympathetic consciousness of others' distress together with a desire to alleviate it."

To the patient, the employee or the volunteer is the hospital, and the hospital's reputation throughout the community is based on the total, accumulative contacts, and the good or bad influence that the staff member has had on the patient.

"Let us think of the qualities deemed most desirable in each person who represents the hospital to the public," Langham said.

"In taking the word PATIENT, P represents patience; A, adaptability; T, tact; I, initiative; E, energy; N, neatness; and T, treatment."

There can be no greater satisfaction to the dedicated hospital employee or volunteer than to see the compassion received in the same spirit as it is exhibited. Langham said, "Compassion is contagious, and we hope that an epidemic starts in all of our community hospitals."

"Start With an Empty Nest" — Jean Kinney; the book that asks the question "Can a high-powered Madison Avenue advertising woman find happiness as a bride after she becomes a grandmother?"

"Ophelia" — Florence Stevenson; Miss Margaret died leaving a priceless pewter to her cat Ophelia. Her lawyer kills the cat and steals the pewter. Ophelia turns into a lovely lady, joined by Miss Margaret's nephew, and tries to recover the pewter.

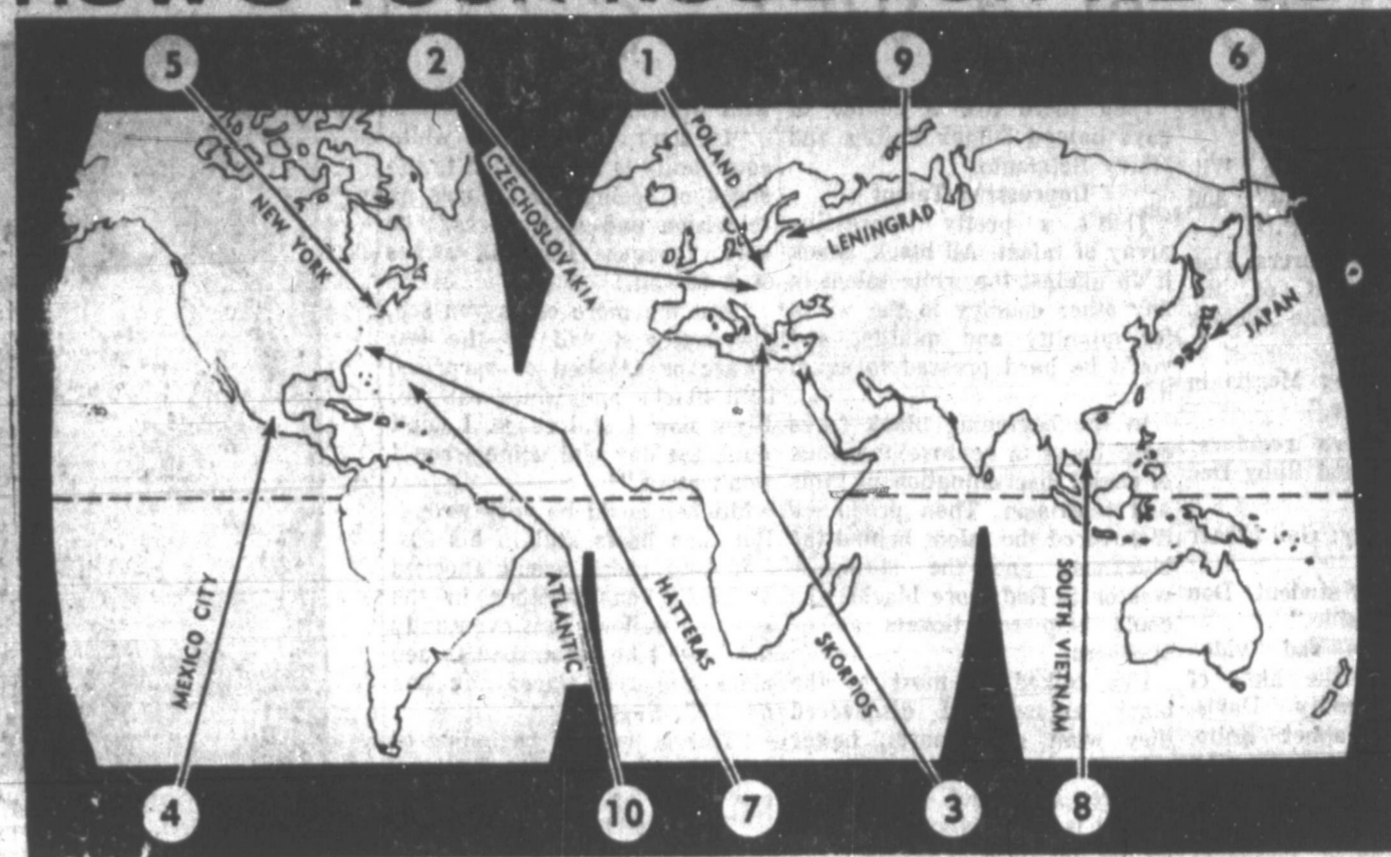

"The Girl in Cabin B54" — Lucille Fletcher; the girl in Cabin 54 reminds the ship doctor of another girl who had been his mistress and whose death he had accidentally caused. The doctor becomes obsessed with guilt.

The Prairie Wind

By CLEO TOM TERRY

SKELLYTOWN—A few nights ago several families were treated to a most unusual showing, down on the Duncan Ranch, Ruth Lin of Taiwan, the nationalist China Island, showed pictures of that lovely country, and the hospital where she works to the Leonard Johnsons, the Wood Hardcastles of Silverton, and to the Fred Weaters and Dr. F.B. Duncan families of Amarillo. Ruth, herself, is a most unusual person, having lived in Taiwan, which she says is mostly Tibetan. She is a medical missionary and lives and works in a leprosarium.

An interesting thing to us was that Mrs. Lin and many missionary doctors as well, think that the leprosy spoken of in the Old Testament is not leprosy as it is known today. They believe that the translators, not having a name for a highly contagious disease which was disfiguring, and realizing that the leprosy of Christ's time really was true leprosy, translated the disfiguring skin disease called "unclean" the same sort of leprosy Jesus cured!

They say that true leprosy almost always starts in childhood and disfigures in adulthood. That it has many forms including tubercular and malignant, that it is mostly a tropical disease but is found largely in Scandinavia, that it is only mildly infectious and with ordinary precautions cannot be considered dangerous to persons working with lepers. Because leprosy must be discovered by tests of lower layers of skin tissue, they conclude that the leprosy of the Old Testament must have been something like the present disease strabiosis, while the New Testament leprosy whom Christ healed were undoubtedly true lepers, having to hide their disfigurement from the public gaze.

Ruth Linn was living in Taiwan when it was over-run by Communists. They were to continue to run the hospital without restriction other than they could not go out into the country and treat lepers, for a period of three years. Since the lepers would come to them, and since leprosy is an out-patient disease except in the last stages, this did not greatly curtail their work. But at the end of three years they were forced to confine their work to the in-patients in the hospital itself, and so were unable to do much good for the people who could be cured and stop the spread of the disease.

Finally, the doctors and nurses were all captured, and carried away. One doctor was put to death and two kept for years and then released. Mrs. Lin and other women medical missionaries with her were under house arrest for two years—for caring for the sick and afflicted!

Doug and Lois Terry and infant son David were guests of the Foye and Cammie Terry families north of Skellytown over the last weekend. The Ernie Terry of White Deer also enjoyed a visit with them, though most of the time Ernie Bills was on top of the house painting the roof.

Chris Butler of Skellytown and Tam Terry of White Deer spent the week-end on the Terry ranch too, helping shape up one pasture and move dry cows away from the home pasture.

Robert and Bobby Hallowell, the Hay Hook boys, the Terrys, Ell Thompson of Skellytown, and Cammie and Cleo Tom Terry helped Leonard Johnson work what they call "the south pasture" and which is still to me, the old "east pasture" of the place where I was raised and which my Dad Ernie Jones of Pampa sold to the Duncans of Amarillo years ago!

The Hardcastles of Silverton, Jet and Wood, are spending a week with the Frank Duncans down at the Duncan Ranch, while Frank oversees the fall work with Leonard Johnson, who works for the ranch.

Understand that Buel Gray bought Rob Harlan's calves and was to accept delivery at his ranch north of Skellytown.

Bush Jordan of Pampa and his wife Donna Jo are highly elated over the showing their youngsters made at the Dallas State Fair—a Grand Champion of Breed after a first place in weight division for the daughter's Yorkshire boar; several other "places" with their swine and placing high with two calves including a second place in heavy-weight Hereford steers for son Randy. Since his sister's school work did not allow her to leave for the Fair, Bush and Randy cared for her stock in Dallas and Randy showed for her, which is permitted provided you've done all the work beforehand of feeding, grooming, exercising and training to show, yourself!

Apropos of 4H work, the 4H youngster from this community of years ago, who attended, as one of the Santa Fe leadership award winners, the National 4H Congress in Chicago, told us the management of the hotel where they stayed said that the hotel the week before, hosted a nationally known and respected fraternal group and that several thousands of dollars worth of damage was done. When the 4H group stayed at the same hotel there was not a dollar's worth of damage caused by these responsible young people!

Isn't local idiom strange. In Central Texas people speak of the "prairies," those little open areas in the midst of timber (or "stickles"). Up here we do not have such topography, so our large flat areas are plains. But our smaller flat pieces cropping out of hills and canyons, rather than woods are called "baldies." I remember so many times my mother would say, "Well, we are close to the breaks but we sure live up on the 'baldies!'"

By United Press International
Today is Sunday, Oct. 27, the 301st day of 1968 with 65 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Mercury.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:
In 1871, the political chief of New York's Tammany Hall, Boss Tweed, was arrested on charges of defrauding the city.

In 1904, the first practical subway began operating in New York City, from the Brooklyn Bridge to 148th street in Manhattan.

In 1917, concert violinist Jascha Heifetz made his debut in Carnegie Hall at the age of 16.

In 1961, the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted by an overwhelming vote a resolution against Russian explosion of a 50-megaton atomic bomb.

A thought for the day: President Franklin D. Roosevelt once said, "When you see a rattlesnake poised to strike, you do not wait until he has struck before you crush him."

FRENCH COMPETITION
PARIS (UPI)—Petrona, a French horse, will compete in the Washington, D.C. International at Laurel Park November 11.

Week In Review

By JIM C. BARDEN
United Press International
The moon that seemed 250 million miles away after the Apollo 1 disaster seemed back within 250,000 miles of earth this week after the flight of Apollo 7.

And that 250,000 miles was such a short distance when the Apollo's accomplishments were considered: An almost flawless flight of 11 days that covered 4.5 million miles and accomplished every mission—and then some—for which it was designed.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—An inspection team making a routine check for fire hazards in the U.S. Capitol discovered one in the House press gallery.

"That pile of junk will have to be removed," the inspectors said.

It turned out they were referring to the stuff on my desk.

I was pretty indignant about having my files condemned as a menace to public safety. But with all the talk about "law and order" these days, I felt constrained to comply. I'm glad that I did.

In going through the files, trying to decide what papers I could bear to part with, I happened to notice that I had reached a milestone of sorts.

If I manage to finish what I am writing without starting a conflagration, this will be my 2,002nd column. Which means I will have doubled the output of Scheherazade.

The yarn-spinner of the "Arabian Nights" told 1,001 tales in order to save her life. My own situation isn't quite that precarious, but survival is a struggle.

I frequently find myself buffeted between two conflicting viewpoints, one of which was expressed recently by my wife.

"Do you realize," she said, "that you have frittered away some of the best years of your life composing trivia? If you had devoted that much time and effort to something substantial you might have become another Walter Lippman. Why do you persist in producing journalistic balderdash?"

The only answer I could think of was the one that Jim Moran, the celebrated press agent, gave me when I asked him why he once sat on an ostrich egg until it hatched.

"Well, somebody's got to do it," I said.

The other viewpoint can best be illustrated by the comment of a bookmaker in Philadelphia. He sent word to me through a mutual friend that he thought I made more sense than any other columnist in Washington.

That sort of thing is terribly discouraging. I practically knock myself out concocting absurdities and then someone comes along and accuses me of making sense.

I'll admit that stray bits of wisdom may creep into my copy at times, but they are entirely inadvertent. I do my best to weed them out.

When I do blunder into sagacity, it seems to me that reader should be kind enough to overlook it. I'm having enough trouble with my wife.

The craft's space miles were four million more than the round trip to the moon.

The first manned test of the craft built to carry Americans to the moon was "101 per cent" successful, said George Low, head of development of the Apollo.

When the three Apollo astronauts splashed safely into the Atlantic some 1,100 miles east of Cape Kennedy, from which they blasted off Oct. 11, it became obvious the United States was in one of the monumental races of history—the race against Russia to the moon.

American space officials had thought this country out of contention just 21 months ago when the three astronauts who were to ride Apollo 1 died in a flash fire during a ground test of the capsule.

Since the disaster, thousands of engineers have worked day and night putting America's $2 billion moon program back on the path.

The Apollo 7 was "a magnificent flying machine," said Walter Shirra commander of the craft.

Shirra and his two crewmen, Walter Cunningham and Donn Eisele, came down with the first common cold in space but these did not prove to be a serious problem, as first feared.

The Apollo 8 manned flight is scheduled for December, and space agency officials were debating whether to send it in a flight around the moon, which could clear the way for a manned landing on the planet by Apollo 10 sometime next year.

Around The World:

Washington: President Johnson called a news conference to report that North Vietnamese officials had not replied to his latest proposal for a bombing halt of the North, which would hopefully bring a cease-fire in Vietnam.

Saigon: While rumors of cease-fire moves circulated various capitals of the world, American infantrymen battled North Vietnamese troops in the Demilitarized Zone between the two Vietnams and U.S. planes continued their around-the-clock strikes on North Vietnam.

Washington: President Johnson, signing the bill that restricts the interstate mail order sale of guns and ammunitions, blamed the "powerful gun lobby" for Congress' failure to pass the stricter curbs for which he asked.

Bethesda, Md.: Lynda Bird Robb, President and Mrs. Johnson's eldest daughter, gave birth to a 7-pound, 8-ounce girl at Bethesda Naval Hospital. Both were reported doing fine and the news was cabled to Lynda's husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, stationed at Da Nang, South Vietnam.
