Battle Renewed For Green Beret Camp

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—Communist forces today reopened the battle for the Thuong Duc Green Beret camp, attacking an outpost before dawn. Earlier, U.S. Marine artillery nearby accidentally killed 10 South Vietnamese.

Communist forces today first shelled the Thuong Duc area. The watchdog base protecting the allied bastion of Da Nang. Then Red troops smashed over the barbed wire defenses of a South Vietnamese outpost.

The South Vietnamese killed at least 12 of the attackers and drove off the rest. Military spokesmen Tuesday had said an 8,000 man North Vietnamese force, which suffered about 500 men killed, had fallen back after vainly besieging the camp for 15 days.

U.S. Marines, whose forces broke the siege last week, today said eight of their 155mm artillery rounds fell short Tuesday while giving Thuong Duc protective fire. The shells crashed into a nearby village.

More action erupted near Saigon, 330 miles below Thuong Duc. Allied forces smashed at the Viet Cong in its jungle home south of the capital, seizing and blowing up a main camp, capturing a ring of Red leaders and dropping a million pounds of bombs on fleeing guerrillas.

Showers Visit Area; Rainfall Amount Varies

A cool front moved through the Panhandle region late yesterday, touching off thunderstorms, hail and tornado funnels. Rainfall in the Pampa vicinity varied from half an inch to 1.20 inches.

Pampa recorded .90 inch moisture from a storm that started about 11 p.m. last night and continued through the early morning hours. Skies remained cloudy before noon today.

Girls To Sell Bangles For TB Group

In support of vital health programs directed against tuberculosis and other respiratory disease, a group of Pampa girls, the Pampa High School Para-Med Club girls, will wage battle Saturday under the slogan, "It's A Matter of Life and Death!"

The group will conduct a "Bangle Sale" throughout Pampa for the purpose of supporting anti-tuberculosis and anti-emphysema programs of the Top of Texas Tuberculosis Association, headed in Pampa by Vice-President Bert Nuckols.

The bangles are small replicas of the TB Association's symbol, the double-barred cross. The symbol is also known as the Cross of Lorraine, and has been symbolic of hope for a better world since Joan of Arc wore it emblazoned on her armor as she led her troops against the invading English in the 15th century.

"With 3,209 new cases of active tuberculosis reported in Texas last year, and over 1,000 deaths from emphysema, these girls are modern Joan of Arcs, fighting a very real battle against death," said bangle sale chairman, Mrs. Finis Jordan.

A bangle will be given to each person contributing to the cause, to be pinned to the donor's sleeve. Mrs. Jordan said, "to be worn proudly as evidence of the donor's participation in a vital humanitarian endeavor."

Mrs. Jordan added that more and more youngsters are picking up the cigarette habit, and the association will soon launch a massive education campaign throughout the Panhandle "to stop them before they start."

Absentee Voting Begins Today

Absentee balloting opened today and will run through Nov. 1.

County Clerk Charlie Thut reminded all persons who intend to vote absentee that they must do so in person at the county clerk's office on the second floor of the Gray County courthouse. The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Thut also asked persons intending to vote absentee to bring their registration certificates with them.

The county clerk also reminded citizens that Oct. 31 is the deadline for filing transfer of registration from one voting precinct to another. Persons who fail to register the change will not be eligible to vote in the Nov. 5 general election, Thut said.

White House Denies Change In Policy On Bombing N. Vietnam

Amarillo, district committeewoman; Ben Barnes, candidate for lieutenant governor; Tim Duke, speaking; Wiley Reynolds, chairman of the Gray County Democratic executive committee; and gubernatorial candidate Preston Smith. In the lefthand bottom corner is Mrs. Jack Back, wife of County tax assessor-collector Jack Back, who was sitting with her husband and other local Democratic officials near the head table.

Halt In Attacks Is Rumored In Saigon

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today "there has been no basic change in the situation" with regard to the possibility of a complete halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Amid reports from Saigon and elsewhere that a bombing halt might be imminent, White House Press Secretary George Christian issued the following statement to reporters at 10 a.m. EDT:

"The position of the United States with respect to Vietnam remains as set forth by the President and the secretary of state.

"There has been no basic change in the situation. No breakthrough.

"As you have always been advised, when there is anything to report, you will, of course, be informed promptly."

The typewritten statement was distributed in the White House press room by secretaries and Christian himself was not immediately available for questioning.

New hopes for a breakthrough in the Paris talks have been stirred in recent days as a result of a steady reduction of Communist military activity and hints of a possible diplomatic reappraisal by Hanoi.

The latest Paris session broke up today, however, with no immediate sign of progress.

The big questions are: Does the lull in Communist aggression provide President Johnson with sufficient evidence that it is a sincere effort to match the limitation on the bombing of North Vietnam he ordered March 31?

—Did the return from Paris to Hanoi of Le Duc Tho, special adviser to the North Vietnamese negotiators, signal some behind-the-scenes move which might help get diplomatic talks off dead center?

The vital military element is whether the President believes he can safely end all bombing of the North without increasing the peril of American combat forces, particularly near the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Possible Honolulu Meeting
He can decide on this only after taking into account the latest assessment of his top field commanders. Some officials believe, therefore, that there may be a Honolulu meeting soon between the President and his military commanders in Vietnam.

The White House said Tuesday. "Contrary to reports, (See POLICY, page 3)

School Board To Hear Report On Future Plans

Superintendent Dr. James F. Malone's report to the school board at 9:30 a.m. Thursday will describe his suggested changes for the Pampa Independent School District for the next three years and his views on changing the schools' organizational plan for instruction.

"This could be the most important planning meeting we will have this year," Dr. Malone said today. "In the next three years, I believe, we should emphasize special education, vocational-industrial education and develop an educational pattern and philosophy for this particular district."

Dr. Malone will explain the immediate goals needed to be met this year, which include "innovations on each campus as desirable, emphasis on special education and health services, further equip Carver Center with educational Media for teaching, organize the minimum day in-service training and process Title XIV application."

He also plans to present his long-range plans, which could possibly take 10 years or more to complete.

"I believe a school district should be operated with long-range goals in mind that are not dependent upon the tenure of any one board member or superintendent," he said.

The board's agenda also includes approval of bills, consideration of current death, resignation, reassignment and employment of personnel, applications for foundation funds, and a letter from the Texas Education Agency regarding medical consultant for the district.

Top Of State Ballot On Hand

Democrats 'Sock It To' GOP In Big Rally Here

By JEFF HOLLADAY
Pampa News Staff Writer
An estimated 500 Democrats in a festive and partisan mood filled the playing court of the Pampa Youth and Community Center last night to give state and local candidates a rousing rally.

Gubernatorial candidate Preston Smith, his running mate Ben Barnes, Attorney General Crawford Martin, and Dick Brown, candidate for representative from the 18th Congressional District, headlined the event.

Democrats from Gray and a number of surrounding counties did their part with standing ovations and hooping and hollering.

But the Republican baiting was mostly confined to local and state politics and only an occasional passing allusion was made to national politics. The name of Humphrey or his running mate was never mentioned.

The gymnasium where the event was staged was lined with huge posters, hung with red, white and blue bunting and festooned with balloons to add to the colorful atmosphere.

The event started with a barbecue dinner and went through a prayer, the national anthem and introduction of the state and local candidates before the partisan fireworks began.

Congressional candidate Dick Brown set the mood of the rally when he drew cheers for his remark:

"I think it would be a good idea if we sent a telegram to certain people telling them the Democrats are still very much alive in Texas."

He drew further cheers when he lashed out at his congressional opponent, incumbent Bob Price, and called his representation "do-nothing and negative."

Attorney General Crawford Martin, a candidate for re-election, kept the mood alive as he reminisced about the come-from-behind victory of Harry Truman and then drewled in his best fighting form:

"Anybody thinks they got the Democrats buried have got another think coming!"

Earnes, the candidate for lieutenant governor, was the most eloquent of the speakers and "socked it to" the Republicans, much to the delight of his audience:

"Republicans have to attack Democratic personalities and criticize the Democratic Party because they have never made one single contribution to the state of Texas," Barnes declared.

He concluded his speech with these remarks and received one of the night's strongest ovations:

"Our state is going to continue to make growth and progress. Your children and mine are going to have better lives because of what Texas Democrats have done and are doing."

Smith, the gubernatorial standard-bearer for the state Democratic Party, was the last to speak and concluded his address about 8:45 p.m. to end the rally.

Speaking in sonorous cadences, the long-time legislator and government official reviewed the progress made in the state (See DEMOCRATS, Page 3)

'Fraud' And Break-In Are Reported

Fraud, an apparent fight, a car break-in, and a lost child were among incidents reported to Pampa police yesterday afternoon and today.

Two young boys, one 12 and the other 9, were taken in tow by a Pampa police officer after they were caught fraudulently soliciting funds for the Red Cross. The youngsters were hauled before their mother and then forced to return the money to the people they had solicited.

A 16-year-old high school student was treated for bruises and cuts at Highland General Hospital last night after he had apparently been beaten. No details of the incident were available.

A break-in of a panel truck containing poison spray was reported yesterday afternoon by a Pampa landscaper, but nothing was reported missing. The truck was parked in the 500 block of S. Somerville.

A young three-year-old child was found in the street at the intersection of Foster and Cuyler yesterday afternoon, but his mother was reunited with the child a short time later.

December Moon Orbit Anticipated

Apollo 7 Half-Way Home

By AL ROSSITER Jr.
UPI Space Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The Apollo 7 moonship sped toward the halfway point in its 11-day space journey today as hopes grew that it will lead directly to a December orbiting of the moon.

"If all continues to go as well as it has to date," one official said, "it is almost a foregone conclusion that Apollo 8 can go to the moon."

Apollo 7 astronauts Walter Schirra, 35, Donn Eisele, 36, and Walter Cunningham, 36, were performing their mission "extremely well" despite the colds that plagued them and the normal strains of prolonged spaceflight that made tempers a little wispish.

Even their colds were reported improved Tuesday night and they were called "a real swinging team."

As flight director Eugene Kranz of the space center put it, Apollo 7 was "moving into the endurance part of the mission."

Space Telescast
Today's schedule included a third live telecast from outer space at 9:09 a.m. CDT.

Officials were keeping an eye on tropical storm Gladys near Florida, but said they did not expect it to interfere with next Tuesday's planned splashdown in the Atlantic.

Results of the 163-orbit four-million-mile shakedown cruise will determine whether the Apollo craft is ready for moon voyages. If Apollo 7 is an unqualified success, Apollo 8 will go for a flight around the moon.

Apollo 8 would blast away from Cape Kennedy between

Dec. 20 and Dec. 27, probably Dec. 21, and carry astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anderson on a seven-day voyage. They would orbit the moon 10 times Christmas Eve but would not attempt a moon landing.

The spaceship, hurtling at 17,500 miles per hour, will reach this trip's halfway point at 8:06 p.m. CDT, 130 hours and five minutes into the mission.

Hold Off Decisions
Space officials were not going out on a limb about the flight yet and will not until this one is over. Two factors give them a conservative outlook. First, there are seven studies pending on re-entry of the space capsule in the earth's atmosphere and much of the data transmitted back already must be analyzed before deciding on the moon shot.

Canadian Sets Foliage Tour

CANADIAN — The annual Hemphill County foliage tour has been tentatively scheduled for Oct. 26-27, with a special marked route between Canadian and Lake Marvin.

John Wilkinson, manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said the Chamber will operate a special booth at the intersection of U.S. 60 and U.S. 83, to provide road maps and brochures of the area.

Sumac, chinaberries and ivy in the area have already begun to turn red. The peak of the foliage colors should occur during the weekend of the tour, Wilkinson said.

The Hemphill County Pioneer Museum in Canadian will serve as headquarters for the program.

Knight Rank Conferred On Amarillo Man

Pampa Lodge No. 480, Knights of Pythias, met last night and conferred the Rank of Knight on Troy Moore of Amarillo Lodge No. 479. Also attending from Amarillo were Jake Milburn, C.C., A. L. Anderson and W. E. Moore. Robert Elliott, chancellor commander, presided at the meeting. A. L. Weathered, Grand Chancellor of Texas Knights of Pythias Lodges, visited Abilene Lodge last night and will visit members of Austin Lodge tonight. He will then visit Rockwell Lodge, Tyler Lodge, and attend a Grand Council meeting at Weatherford on Sunday and Monday. Mrs. Weathered is accompanying the Grand Chancellor on this trip.

Judith Raskin To Sing In Concert Here Tomorrow

The curtains will part at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Pampa Junior High School auditorium for the first of the Pampa Community Concert Association's fall and winter concerts. Judith Raskin, lovely star of the Metropolitan Opera, will be the first presentation of the concert association. Miss Raskin is a soprano for whom the critics delve deep into the thesauri for appreciative adjectives. She is an artist who is entirely American-trained. Contrary to the conclusion of many, she has proved that a singer does not have to "make it in Europe first." Admission to tomorrow night's concert will be by membership card only. There will be no box office ticket sale.

Credit Group To Install Officers

The Pampa Credit Executives will install new officers and directors at a noon luncheon Oct. 21 at Furr's Cafeteria. Arthel Gibson will serve as installing officer. New officers are Edna Day, president; Dennie Hunt, first vice president; Mildred Merrill, second vice president; Ken Peoples, secretary-treasurer. New directors are Mary Lou Williams, Dot Allen, Lewis Hackley and Charles Webster. Three members attended a district credit conference Oct. 12-13 in Wichita Falls. They were Edna Day, Mildred Merrill and Laverne Bayless.

Luke C. McClelland says: I agree with Paul Eggers' belief that the one party system buries criticism; it promotes secrecy and conceals the workings of government from the eyes of the people. A strong two party system in Texas would open up hidden practices and assure a choice between issues instead of tired personalities.

Sears Officials Visiting McLean, Pampa Factories

Nearly a score of officials and buyers from Sears-Roebuck Co. in Chicago, Los Angeles and Dallas began a three-day business and tour session today with top executives of the Form-O-Uth Co., operators of the Marie Foundation plants in Pampa and McLean. Marie Foundations manufactures the entire output of lingerie and women's foundation garments for distribution nationwide in Sears stores. The Sears group is making the visit to Pampa to inspect the factory, meet the workers, discuss budget matters and work on plans for 1969, according to Cal Fraser of Gardena, Calif., president of the Form-O-Uth Co. After an early breakfast today the visiting group boarded a bus for a day-long tour of Pampa and McLean and interesting spots in Gray County. Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Jim O'Connor accompanied Sears and local plant officials as tour guides representing the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. A dinner for the visitors is scheduled at the Pampa Country Club tonight with Chamber of Commerce and city officials. A highlight will be a fashion show to model Marie Foundation products. A meeting is scheduled for Thursday forenoon at the local plant to discuss the budget and plans for the future. A dinner meeting is scheduled for Thursday night at the Pampa Club. Friday morning there will be a tour of the Pampa Marie Foundations plant where the visiting Sears officials will observe the more than 550 employees at work. Departure for their home bases is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Work Progresses On '68 Paving Program

More than 90 per cent of Pampa's 1968 paving of approximately 75 residential streets has been completed to the stage of having curb and gutters installed and the base stabilized for topping. City Manager Charles Hill reported today. Hill stated 98 per cent of all the blocks have been curbed and guttered and more than 50 per cent of all streets in the program have been completed. The city manager, in his monthly report to the mayor and city commissioners, also stated there has been a 50 per cent increase in daily parking tickets since the Corporation Court implemented the issuance of warrants for delinquent violators. There has been a ten per cent increase in payment of backlog delinquent tickets as well, the city manager reported. Safety programs are being carried out by the police department in elementary schools in an effort to cut down the possibility of school-age children's deaths and injuries. The programs include the showing of a bicycle safety film and talks by police officers on pedestrian safety. Hill also reported that Pampans used in excess of five million gallons more water from Jan. 1 through Sept. 30 this year than in the same period of 1967. Water pumping during that time measured 898,932 gallons, an increase of 5.8 per cent. September alone showed an increase of 7 million gallons over September of 1967.

Meantime, diplomatic observers were watching closely for any significance that might be attached to Le Duc Tho's Hanoi trip. But Hanoi still insisted no substantive talks could be held until the bombing of the North was halted.

Coin Club Sets Thursday Meet

The Top O' Texas Coin Club will hold its regular meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Citizen's Bank Hospitality Room. The program for the meeting will cover the last in a series depicting "Types of U.S. Coins." The colored slide program will cover "Types of U.S. Silver Coins, Quarters to Silver Dollars" with commentary. All members were asked to bring a bid board consisting of no more than ten coins for a special auction to be held during the evening (foreign, U.S. or tokens).

Democrats

(Continued From Page 1) since he became Lt. Gov. in 1962 and implied that he would carry forward the programs of the Connally administration. He spoke of progress made in industry and education and spoke of the need for law enforcement and pollution controls. "People want responsible government and that's why the Democrats will be returned to office in November," Smith said. "The Republicans are an unknown factor and we must face the fact that all of our progress has come with the Democratic Party." The crowd gave Smith a standing ovation at the conclusion of his address. John Warner served as emcee before Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview took over the chors.

Price Speaks At Carson County Dinner For GOP

Congressman Bob Price used the issues surrounding the Vietnam war, water and crime as the foundation for his first major address of the current political campaign. Price, speaking Tuesday night, to a Carson County Republican fund-raising dinner audience in Panhandle, said, "I know you have heard this from me before." "But since I first began to talk of this, the enemy has cut its turn-around time for ships in the Port of Haiphong in half," Price said. The Congressman, advocated the closing of the North Vietnamese port and the lifting of restrictions against "clearly defined" military bombing targets. "When a small country the size of Missouri can stalemate the world's greatest and most powerful nation in an undeclared war, the situation should certainly be dealt with in military rather than political terms. "Your views expressed to me have emphasized the fact that the Vietnam war is of prime concern to all Americans. We must act to remove the frustrations of military commanders in the field who have voiced to me their disdain at allowing the enemy sanctuary to stockpile the arms and materials of war." Price said. Price has taken to the campaign trail only this week, following the late adjournment of Congress. He is scheduled to visit Booker, Follett and Darrouzett Friday and will be in the South Plains Saturday and Sunday.

$1,000 Bond Set

Bond was set at $1,000 today by Justice of the Peace E. L. Anderson for Leo Medley, 33, of Star Route 2, Pampa, who was charged with driving while intoxicated by Pampa police last night. He was released on bond early today.

DISCHARGED

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Petrus Smith left Groote Schuur Hospital Tuesday, 28 days after doctors gave him the heart of an African woman in a transplant operation. He said he felt "100 per cent better."

MRS. NERINE BOAZ

MCLAN—Graveside services for Mrs. Nerine Smith Boaz, 50, of Denver, Colo., who died Saturday in American Medical Research Center in Denver, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Hillcrest Cemetery. Burial will be directed by Lamb Funeral Home of McLean. A native of Prague, Okla., Mrs. Boaz graduated from McLean High School and was a member of McLean Presbyterian Church. She moved to Denver from Los Angeles, Cal. Survivors are her husband, Dick of Denver; a son, James Sperber, Rocky Ford, Colo.; her mother, Mrs. Walter Nichols, Delta, Colo.; a brother, Vester Smith, Higgins, and three grandchildren.

WALTER TOWE

Funeral services for Walter Towe, 84, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in Carmichael-Whately Colonial Chapel with Rev. Earl Maddux, pastor of Fellowship Baptist Church, and Rev. D.D. Creecy, pastor of First Methodist Church, Miami, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery beside the grave of his wife, Alice Towe, who died in June, 1958. Masonic graveside services will be conducted by Masonic Lodge 1966. Masons are to meet at the Lodge Hall at 1 p.m. Thursday. Mr. Towe died Tuesday in Highland General Hospital. Paulbears will be Leland Finney, Blake Laramore, Rufe Jordan Bill Henderson Joe C. Mill and Ronnie Rice.

United Fund Drive Is Still Short Of '68 Goal

The United Good Neighbor Campaign fell short of its anticipated goal after Tuesday afternoon's check-in. The total collected and turned in through four o'clock amounted to $66,098.84, still over $18,000 short of the total goal of $84,200 set for this year's campaign. The campaign is due to finish up tomorrow, but there are still nearly 200 cards and prospects that either have not been contacted or whose cards have not been turned back in. United Fund leaders said that if these cards were worked, they feel confident that the goal would be reached. Return on the United Fund cards already worked has been good, and there is no reason to believe that there would be any change if only the remaining cards are worked. Jerry Sims, 1968 Drive Chairman, said. He pleaded with workers to make those calls and pick up the pledges and donations that remain. He also repeated his earlier request that those contacted check their card for "Fair Share" giving and that this is a "people for people" campaign. Final Check-ins are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow, and chairman Sims asked that anyone who does not have the time or cannot work the cards he has, should turn them in to his captain or major or to Sims himself, in order that someone might work them.

Warner Gives Panhandle Talk

"You, Your Boy and Scouting" was the topic of a speech made by John W. Warner yesterday to the Panhandle Lions Club at their regular weekly meeting. "I would rather spend a little time now working with my son trying to help develop his character and personality rather than spend a lot of time later on trying to reform him," Warner said. He pointed out that J. Edgar Hoover has said 40 per cent of our youth will face courts other than traffic courts before reaching 21 while less than one boy in a hundred has faced such courts in this area who have had extensive scout training. Warner, the District Commissioner for the Santa Fe District of the Boy Scouts, delivered the charter for Troop I in Panhandle to the Lions Club. The Club has sponsored the troop for more than 25 years. The troop is presently in need of a scoutmaster. "Without adult leadership, Scouting is dead," Warner said. "We must invest the time to insure that our kids are given the proper training necessary for good citizenship." Last week Warner presided at a meeting to reorganize Pack I, the Cub Scout unit in Panhandle. The meeting for the boys and their parents was set for Oct. 29.

Court Hears Tom Vessels Case Today

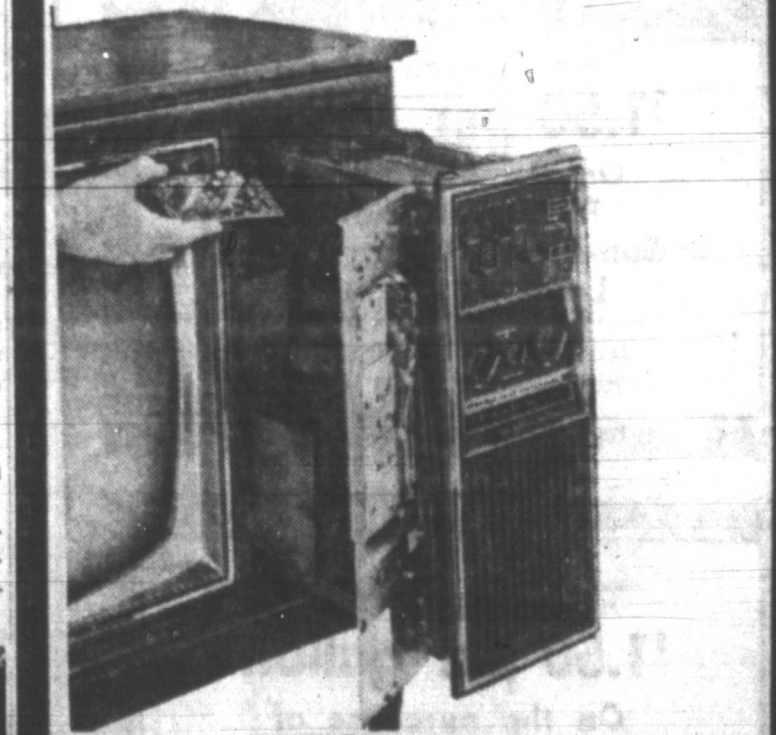

The Tom R. Vessels rape case was slated to be heard today by the state's highest criminal appellate court—the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin. Vessels was convicted here in 1966 for the rape of a Pampa housewife and given a death sentence. The sentence has been affirmed previously by the court, but it reversed the decision in a July 24 ruling and remanded the case. Dist. Attorney Bill Waters announced a month after the court's reversal that a rehearing had been granted. He said yesterday that the case will be reheard on the basis of written appeal only, as contrasted to the July 24 hearing when each side was given 45 minutes for oral argument. Vessels, 32, is currently serving a three-year term in the state penitentiary for the attempted rape of a Randall County woman.

Rattlesnake Is Killed In Residential Area

K. S. "Tommy" Lee, 512 Red Deer, has reported finding a rattlesnake in a residential area yesterday. Lee ran over the snake, about three and a half feet long, and then applied the "coup de grace" with a hammer. The snake had five rattlers, Lee reported.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year-old son has just told us that he must quickly marry the little girl with whom he has gone steady since high school. She is 19. They are both in college and hope to graduate. Of course our hearts are broken, but what can we do?

Abby, the girl is really a sweet child, and she has adored our son for years. Our boy has never been in any kind of trouble, and we have always been so proud of him.

Since this has come up so suddenly, everyone suspects it is a "have to" wedding, so I am not going to deny it and look foolish 7 months from now.

What do I say when people "congratulate" me, and kiddingly call me "Grandma?" Some have even tried to "comfort" me with the stories of how they've had "have to" marriages in their families and things have worked out well. I am terribly hurt and don't know how I should act. Can you help me?

"GRANDMA" (SOON)
DEAR GRANDMA: To all congratulations, say "Thank you." There is no such thing as a "have to" marriage. Every day pregnant girls are being deserted by bums who refuse to accept the responsibilities of marriage and a baby. No law in the land can "force" a man to marry a girl. If he marries her, it's because he wants to, not because he has to, so hold your head up, Grandma.

DEAR ABBY: I am 32, happily married to a wonderful man, and have three beautiful, healthy children. So what is my problem? My figure! I look good in my clothes, but without clothes I look like a tribeswoman of 70—thanks to having nursed three babies and the natural sagging that comes with added years. Hasn't plastic surgery come up with anything new in breast surgery?

I asked my gynecologist about those silicone shots, and he said it was dangerous and against the law in this country, and if I even considered such a thing, he would refuse me as a patient.

Abby, isn't there any hope for those of us who feel repulsive compared to those gorgeous, full-bosomed girls we see in the ads?

FLAT IN ATLANTA

DEAR FLAT: You're 32, happily married to a wonderful man, and have three beautiful, healthy children, so count your blessings, and subtract two. I agree with your gynecologist.

DEAR ABBY: I want to say something to that 14-year-old girl who "hated" her mother because she always nagged at her about her hair, her make-up, and her friends.

Well, I am a 15-year-old girl who had the opposite problem. My mother never cared what I did or where I went. At 7 years old I was out roaming the streets at midnight, and when I came home, nobody even asked me where I had been. I stole things out of stores, I lied, and did a lot of things I'm now ashamed of. I was never corrected or spanked or even bawled out.

My mother finally had a nervous breakdown, and I was sent from one foster home to another. I wasn't used to being corrected, so I'd keep running away. I'm writing from a foster home now. It took awhile for me to realize that my foster mother corrects me and punishes me when I do wrong because she loves me and wants to teach me right from wrong. I would rather live here than with my real parents, but I still love them.

There's nothing more appetizing than a colorful dip with lots of crackers and vegetable dunks. Hot Shrimp Dip, created in the test kitchens, is just such a dip. It's made with creamy cottage cheese and flavored with shrimp, mushrooms and garlic.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

Thursday, OCTOBER 17

Your birthday today: Productivity is promised for the coming year. Already established trends become stronger. Prominence for its own sake should be avoided. Today's natives are wary, watchful people.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): — Your discretion is on trial today! Emotional expressions may be misinterpreted. Your enthusiasm attracts some plain and fancy schemes, which lack reality. Sleep on them; if they are real, they'll still be there tomorrow.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Pleasures provide an earnest attraction. The path which wanders but never exceeds reason proves fruitful. Romantic excitement later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): There is a great deal, good and bad, which does not meet the eye today. Select your associates carefully. Anything you do about romance is apt to become tomorrow's community news.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Everybody lets secrets slip today; nearly all of them are out of context, so you can't be sure of the full story. Keep your own counsel; you will understand more later.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): —

You do not call someone's bluff for fear of appearing ridiculous. Find some other way. Do something nice for your loved ones this evening. Put some time on creative ventures.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Verify the serious matters which come to your attention. Further investigation is essential, before making a judgment. Friends may put together a pleasant joke; just don't get flustered and spoil it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — Your natural magnetism attracts a wide range of people and experiences. But, glamour can lead you into unwise spending. Prudence is in order now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Men have the advantage today (since women are susceptible to stronger emotional stirrings) and material affairs for both do not thrive as well as aesthetic objectives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — Rumors are a dime a dozen today. It's not your nature to be interested in gossip, but you may now be the one who is discussed. Set a good example.

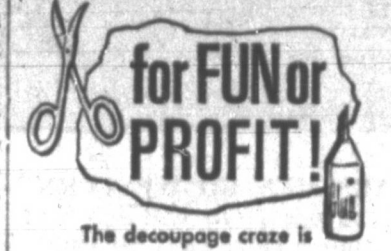

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Your friends may lead you astray. Discretion in your choice of people and activities becomes most important, day and night. Let your organizational skills set a tight schedule for protection.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — Your impatience triggers today's trend. Any plan should be carefully thought out before you make or accept a promise. In any case, the matter is apt to be short-term.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): People around you are absent-minded — to the point of distraction. Take advantage of the confusion only enough for your fair share. Overdoing anything exacts heavy consequences.

Home Improvement Racket Gets Look

DALLAS (UPI)— Accusing fingers were pointed toward the home improvement racket, fraudulent business - trade schools and the Texas Penal Code by witnesses before a House Interim Study Committee on Crime Control.

State Rep. Zan Holmes of Dallas told the committee, "The home-improvement racket is one of the most vicious in existence today, preying upon the poor and uneducated."

Holmes said the racket costs Texas home owners $15 to $30 million each year. He said one of the attractions which the home improvement racket holds for the shady operator, is that the average transaction is complex, involving contracts, deeds of trust, lien statements, completion certificates, all of which confuse even the most sophisticated homeowner.

State Rep. James A. Clark Jr. recommended stronger powers for the Consumer Credit Commissioner, giving him the authority to subpoena and levy costs of his investigation against anyone found guilty of breaking the Consumer Credit Code. Clark called for legislation to permit group action against unscrupulous contractors.

Mrs. Juanita Craft, of Dallas, attacked bogus business-trade schools, saying many of the girls attending the schools come from other states, run out of money and some go into prostitution because of a lack of supervision offered by the schools.

She said there were six such schools in Dallas. She said in the past year 686 students have attended the schools and none have graduated. Mrs. Craft told the committee of broken promises of dormitories and basketball teams.

Rep. Joe Shannon of Fort Worth, a committee member, told of a brochure sent out by a school there, in which the dormitory turned out to be the Tarrant County jail.

Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade Monday called for a stiff penalty and said stiffer penalties should be provided in Texas for crimes of murder without malice and assault with intent to rape.

Wade recommended a penalty of two to 25 years for murder without malice other than the present penalty of two to five years.

Five years seems to me to be a mighty cheap penalty for taking another man's life, even if it was in the heat of anger and not premeditated," Wade said.

ASK EXTRADITION

PARIS (UPI)—France has asked West Germany to extradite former Nazi SS Gen. Heinz B. Lammerding to face charges of hanging French hostages June 9, 1944. Deputy Foreign Minister Jean de Lippowski said Friday Lammerding is now living in Dusseldorf.

A thought for the day: German writer Thomas Kempis, said: "Be not angry that you cannot make others as you wish them to be, since you cannot make yourself as you wish."

Many Die

If the figures can be accepted, it means that for each month the Nigerian civil war is prolonged more than a quarter million people will die as a side effect of a conflict now in its 18th month.

It lends tragic emphasis to a declaration made by Biafra's Chief Justice Sir Louis Mbanefo when he walked out of first round peace talks last May 31: "We are totally committed. If extermination is the price we have to pay, then we cannot escape it."

It is the commitment of some eight million Ibo tribesmen who once formed the backbone of Nigeria's civil service and controlled most of its black-owned business but who now are convinced there is neither opportunity nor place for them in federal Nigeria.

It is a commitment born of three hideous waves of killing in 1966 and a terror-stricken population which has yet to see concrete evidence of government promises of "love and freely accorded opportunities" in a reunited Nigeria.

Perhaps the Ibos brought it on themselves through arrogance based on superior industry and education given to them by Christian missionaries.

Death Commonplace

Perhaps Westerners view mass starvation through different eyes than do Africans to whom death is commonplace and, in times of disaster, lumber children among its earliest victims.

Biafran leader Lt. Col. Ojukwu has rejected a land route for relief supplies through federal-controlled territory on grounds the food might be poisoned enroute or that it might open the way to surprise federal attack.

Federal Escapees Still Loose

SHEPHERD, Tex. (UPI)— Two federal prisoners, who claimed they would not be captured alive, were still loose Monday after escaping Saturday en route to Houston.

The escapees were identified as Franklin Homan and William Jackson Atkins, both 24 and former Houston residents.

They overpowered two marshals Saturday about 30 miles north of Houston and fled in the officers' automobile before abandoning it near Shepherd.

Police officers said the men were serving 15-year terms for bank burglary. They were en route from a Marion, Ill., federal penitentiary to Houston, where they were scheduled to testify in a trial.

Authorities said the prisoners escaped with the marshals' weapons after handcuffing one guard to a tree.

POPE UPSET

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI is disturbed by challenges to his authority and intends to make a public declaration soon to stress his leadership in the Roman Catholic Church, a high Vatican source said.

SALAZAR IMPROVES

LISBON (UPI)—Doctors said former Premier Antonio Salazar showed continued slight improvement Friday from the effects of a stroke Sept. 16. A medical bulletin said the prognosis was "reserved."

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—With a little more taste, Monday night's one-hour Mitzel Gaynor variety special on NBC-TV might have been a knockout. She is a versatile and talented lady.

Above all, she is one of that fast-vanishing show business breed—a genuine trouper. In Las Vegas, her act never fails to score tremendously with audiences. She sings and dances well, has away with a comedy line and gives 100 per cent.

Monday night she revealed her abilities when the writing and direction showcased her properly. However, there were just enough instances of questionable guidance to take the final shine off the hour.

Above all, she was ill-served by weak, gimmicky and corny lines she was compelled to use for her opening and closing, and the transitions between her numbers. Her tendency to be somewhat over cute did not help these remarks either. Nor was it particularly tasteful to go from a production number into a gas company commercial.

And, as a final drawback, the occasionally excessive laughter and applause sounded unnatural and offensive.

So much for most of the main complaints. For when the material and direction were good, she was very good, and that's as much as you can ask of an entertainer.

For example, there was a sequence of takeoffs on late night television movies, complete with Phil Harris as a used car salesman whose commercials included this lure: "For you Sunday shoppers, a chapel of your choice."

As for the movie takeoffs, Miss Gaynor teamed charmingly with George Hamilton—you remember George Hamilton—in spoofs of Rosalind Russell and Doris Day films. As a Russell-type efficient businesswoman, Miss Gaynor got excellent support from Hamilton's outstanding Cary Grant impersonation.

Miss Gaynor should have another special. She can carry it. Besides, all the guys I know think she's sexy. I guess maybe she is. But if you want to see sex appeal, catch Barbara Streisand in "Funny Girl." Talent can make you believe anything.

Mrs. Kennedy Resting
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, expecting her 11th child late next month, is back home after an overnight stay at Georgetown Hospital for observation.

The widow of the slain New York senator was taken to the hospital Saturday after experiencing labor pains. She was released Sunday morning. A spokesman, Richard Drayne, said she was admitted as a precautionary measure "because doctors were concerned about her and felt it was wise that she go."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—McDonnell & Co. says the expected correction in the market rise may take the form of "easy unsettlement and gradually lower prices or it may quicken into sharper but less durable attrition." The company says the form "does not really matter" since "we are confident that it will be... only a correction—not a reversal of either short or long term trends."

Oppenheimer, Newborg & Neu says the stock market seems to have entered a consolidation. It makes the observation that demand in recent weeks has been most noticeable for shares of well-established firms which have been neglected for a long time, and voices the opinion these issues should continue to outperform the market over the next few months.

Reynolds & Co. says the market now "is worried" because of fears business is too good and money will become tight again, adding that "economically, we seem to be in a can't-win situation." The analyst says it believes in "the simple approach that good business is good for the stock market."

Ike Wants Republican Win For 78th Birthday Present

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, celebrating his 78th birthday, said Monday the best present he could receive would be "a sweeping Republican victory on Nov. 5."

Eisenhower made the statement while observing his birthday at Walter Reed Medical Center where he was reported recuperating satisfactorily from a series of heart attacks this summer.

Thanking former officials of his administration for sending him a happy birthday telegram Sunday, Eisenhower said in a statement made public by an aide:

"I should particularly like the 200 former associates in government that signed the telegram to know that I agree that the best present I could receive would be a sweeping Republican victory on Nov. 5."

At mid-morning Walter Reed issued a medical bulletin on the general's condition saying Eisenhower "has progressively regained strength" since his seventh heart attack on Aug. 16 and that "he is currently walking a few steps in his room and sits up in a chair for several hours daily."

But the statement said "he has been continued on medication to suppress irregular beating of the heart." Asked if this meant that Eisenhower was still experiencing heart irregularity, a Walter Reed spokesman said, "Yes, but it is considered minor compared to what it was before."

The Army Band planned to serenade Eisenhower outside the window of his fourth-floor VIP suite in Ward 8 this afternoon, with the former President watching and listening from his window.

A private family-only birthday party was arranged with his wife Mamie, son John, John's wife Barbara and two young grand-children expected.

Students Striking At NY University

NEW YORK (UPI)—A student strike got under way at New York University Monday when 200 students, many carrying signs, marched around the Washington Square campus.

There were no disorders and students desiring to attend classes were permitted to pass through the picket line.

The strike was called by militant student groups to protest the dismissal of John F. Hatchett as director of the 42,000-student university's Martin Luther King Jr. Afro-American Student Center. The rebels also are demanding the controversial educator's reinstatement.

Many of the marching students kept up a constant din by beating on tin cans, pie plates and garbage can covers.

At the university's uptown campus in the Bronx, picketing by a few students lasted only about 20 minutes and then the pickets disappeared.

NYU President James M. Hester had warned that interference with students wishing to attend classes would not be tolerated.

Hatchett was fired from his job Thursday, two days after telling a university group Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey "have something in common: they are racist bastards."

Supreme Court Decides On Cases to Be Judged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court has disposed of a string of appeals requests, then began hearing arguments on an eavesdropping case which the government says is vital to national security and protection of innocent third parties.

In accepting or rejecting requests for hearings, the court started setting its legal course for the new term which opened a week ago.

Without comment, the court took these actions on appeals: Agreed to examine a lower court ruling holding unconstitutional a Texas disturbing-the-peace law that was used against a group of antiwar demonstrators. The statute was employed to arrest demonstrators when President Johnson visited Killeen, Tex., last Dec. 12.

Tower Warns Against Vote For Wallace

AUSTIN (UPI)—If the South votes for George Wallace, it will be passing up "an opportunity for real national influence" in the next administration, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said Monday.

"George Wallace is the worst enemy the South has," Tower said in a news conference at the capitol.

"The South has been offered an opportunity to have a real voice in national affairs. Nixon has campaigned extensively in the South and has offered the South a friendly hand.

"George Wallace is trying to lure the South away, to isolate us, just at the time when we have an opportunity for national influence.

"If Wallace carries the deep South, it will minimize the influence of the South in the (Nixon) administration," Tower warned.

Tower predicted Wallace would win a few southern states and run second in others, but not Texas. "Every indication is that he will run third in Texas," Tower said.

He said he believes Nixon will win Texas "virtually by a landslide" barring any dramatic developments.

Tower said "I think I can say with a reasonable degree of certainty that Nixon will be back in Texas, and I think San Antonio is the probable place for him to go." He said no date for the visit has been set.

Sandies Own 4-Game Streak Over Harvesters

Nolan Welborn
By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

There were a lot of empty chairs at the Harvester Club meeting Tuesday night. But there were a lot more full ones than empty and the boosters of athletics in Pampa High School heard a moving talk by Rev. Dan Cameron and then heard football coach Swede Lee "tell it like it is."

Cameron pointed out that inspiration plays a big part, not only in winning athletic contests but winning at home.

He said that inspiration should start at home and that parents should instill not only inspiration but desire in their youngsters to win.

"An old coach of mine said one time that winning isn't everything—it's the only thing," Cameron said.

"I'm a bad loser. I don't like to lose and I hope our boys don't either," the Baptist minister said.

Lee told the group that the Harvesters must give 100 per cent on every play, something they are not doing.

"We might give 100 per cent on one play and not do it again until six or seven plays later," the coach said.

"One of our main problems is our boys go into a game with the attitude, we are going to TRY to win," Lee said.

"That's the wrong attitude. We should be saying we are GOING to win."

Linebacker Nolan Welborn again came in for praise by Lee.

"Welborn is only 5-7 and weighs about 140 pounds and had very little playing time. But he gave 100 per cent effort every time," Lee stated.

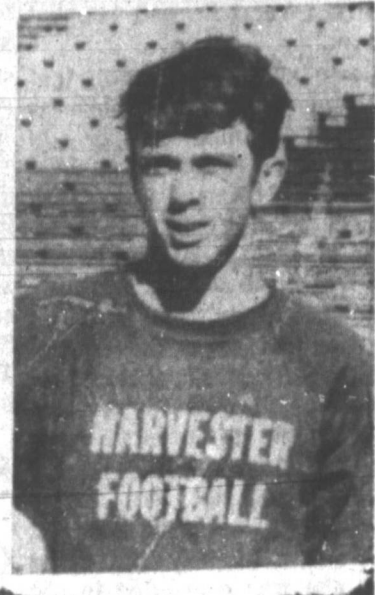

Welborn made nine tackles and assisted on 11 others. He also caused Monterey to fumble once and recovered another. End Dan Carlton moved into third place among Harvesters total offense leaders.

Carlton has caught nine passes for 227 yards to lead Pampa receivers thus far.

Rick Holman is the total offense leader with 438 yards. He has carried the ball 42 times for a minus three yards.

The Harvesters meet Amarillo Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Dick Bivins Stadium.

Pampa will be trying to break a four game losing streak against the Sandies, whom they haven't beaten since 1963.

Dan Carlton

Injury-wise Pampa has stayed pretty stable this week, they will still have five regulars missing for the Sandie tilt, but no one has been injured this week.

In other games Friday Monterey plays Lubbock High, Plainview hosts Tascosa in a south zone game and Saturday Caprock hosts Borger in a North zone tilt and Palo Duro and Coronado play a south zone game at Lubbock.

Oerter To Try Again

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—As long as ancient yachting Al Oerter and swift Wyomia Tyus are competing, the United States will have a big share of Olympic glory—but today the Yanks must split even that share with two speedy sons of the British Commonwealth.

Oerter, who is giving Father Time as big a pain in the neck as he had had in his back for a long time, became the first athlete in Olympic history to win the gold medal in his event four straight times when he took the discus throw Tuesday with an Olympic record heav-

212 feet, 6½ inches. Now 32-year-old Oerter of West Islip, N.Y., thinks he just may go for a fantastic fifth straight gold medal at Munich in 1972—when he'll be 36.

"I'll keep throwing for at least another year," said Oerter. "Munich is a big question mark now. I'll have to think about it." Oerter said if he had lost, he would have tried to make the 1972 Olympic team in yachting. But now he's the champ again.

Plans to Retire

Miss Tyus, 23, won't be around for another Olympics in '72, since she plans to retire from track after these games. But the Griffin, Ga., star already has become one of the unique "repeat" winners in Olympic history—becoming the first sprinter to capture the women's 100-meter dash for the second straight time and this time in the world record time of 11 seconds.

Wyomia's triumph was merely one performance on one of the most brilliant track days in Olympic history—certainly the most brilliant day the British Commonwealth has enjoyed in a long, long time.

For one thing, there was Dave Hemery of Britain, a 24-year-old Boston University student, running a truly amazing race to win the 400-meter men's hurdles in 48.1 seconds—not only 7 under the pending world record of America's Geoff Vanderstock, but a stunning full second under the listed world and Olympic record of 49.1 set by America's Rex Cawley in 1964. Hemery came zooming into the stretch eight meters ahead and, although he said, "I was so tired I didn't think I could make it to the finish line first," he made it with plenty to spare over West Germany's Gerhard Hennige.

Australian Winner

For the other, there was Australian Ralph Doubell beating a man whom many had thought unbeatable, Kenya's Wilson Kiprugust, in the final of the men's 800 meters in a world record of 1:44.3.

The United States had a hero in this race today, even though he didn't win—slender, blond Tommy Farrell of Forest Hills, N.Y. A lot of track people think little Tommy hasn't got the talent of a world class runner—but nobody ever had denied his supply of running courage. For the second straight Olympics, Farrell has been the only Yank to get as far as the finals of the 800. In 1964 he finished fifth.

This time he was 40 yards from the finish line shoulder-to-shoulder with East Germany's Dieter Fromm in a battle for the bronze medal. Farrell loses few bouts of nerve and he won this one to give the U.S. a surprise third place.

But there was no denying that the United States will be lucky to match the 12 gold medals in men's track it won in the 1964 Olympics. So far the Yanks have only three in men's track. On Tuesday, the Yanks were shut out completely in the 400-meter hurdles, which the U.S. had won six straight times.

Wheeler Tests Silvertown In League Tilt

This will be the week that counts for most area football teams since most of them begin district play Friday night.

Take District 2-A for example where McLean and Wheeler stretch their muscles in league action and in District 1-A where White Deer, not only begins conference wars but tries to reach the 500 plateau for the first time this season.

Teams in District 1-B wait a week before entering district play, but with the exception of Lefors, still try to improve their overall records, which are bad to say the least.

District 2-A appears the strongest in the area with only McLean a two-time loser. Clarendon is unbeaten and Wheeler, Silvertown and Happy have been beaten only once, although the Cowboys have a tie on their record also.

The Mustangs (4-1) will put its offensive duo of halfback Donald Rives and fullback Davie Britt against Silvertown's (4-1) ever improving defense, at Silvertown.

Rives and Britt are in the top five scorers in the area and have amassed nearly a mile of yardage between them.

Wheeler has been no slouch on defense either. The Mustangs have given up just 19 points but some folks consider this a lot when they consider Clarendon has been touched for only a single marker.

McLean (3-2) will find the going roughest when the Tigers tackle Happy (3-1) in McLean. The Cowboys have been stingy themselves about giving up points, ranking second to Clarendon in this respect. The Happy defense has yielded only 12 points in five games.

White Deer, who hasn't been a loser in five years, shoots for the 500 mark Friday, but will have to travel all the way to Sunray to do it.

The Bucks (2-3) open conference action against Sunray (2-2-1) and should be 1-0 in league play by late Friday night.

Sunray is slipping and the Bucks have improved with two straight victories, giving up just one touchdown in their last two outings.

Canadian (2-3) will attempt to shake off a two-game losing streak at Stratford and will enter the league wars next week.

Groom (1-4) tunes up for next week's league opener by playing host to Turkey while Lefors (1-4) and a 1-B member also takes a rest Friday night.

Miami (1-4) plays an 8-man encounter in Roaring Springs. The Warriors are in a three-game losing slump.

Sports Parade

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The race isn't always to the swift. Occasionally it goes to the shrewdest.

A number of years ago the field came up frozen for an NFL title game. In it, the New York Giants beat the Chicago Bears, not necessarily because they were better but because one of their coaches hopped a cab to a nearby college and brought back two dozen pair of sneakers.

That was a pretty clever move. Al Kaline pulled another one when it rained during the World Series and he kept the hitting surface of his bat dry between his knees while in the on deck circle.

Then, there's Al Oerter, the discus thrower. He's a real shrewdie, too, and maybe that's the reason he now ranks as the only man in history ever to win four gold medals in a row.

It rained at the Olympics Tuesday when the 32-year-old New Yorker won his fourth gold medal and naturally, Oerter had no special dispensation from the weather. Meaning he got wet.

He didn't merely stand there and do nothing about it, though. He adjusted. All the good ones do.

What Oerter did was change his style. He went back to an old fashioned one, a technique that was 10 years old. Maybe it did make him look like "a plowboy," as some of the discus throwing purists insist. So what? He finished first, didn't he? That's what the Olympics are all about.

Changed Style

"I switched my technique three different times," Oerter explained when it was all over. "I used one technique before the rain started, another one when it did, and a third one after it stopped. Actually it was what you'd call shifting in balance. When it came time to throw, instead of starting off facing the back, I faced sideways. It helped me adapt better with the slippery circles and the wind conditions."

Oerter did so well that he got off the best throw of his life, 212 feet, 6½ inches, and wound up beating a man he wasn't sure he could, teammate Jay Silvester.

When Oerter first came here 10 days ago, he wasn't overly confident.

He knew Silvester had thrown the discus almost 20 feet farther than anyone else in the world this year and that fact stayed in his mind.

"It'll take a lot to beat him and I'm not at all sure I can," said the articulate, 220-pound computer analyst from West Islip, N.Y.

The thing that did it for Oerter was that he was able to adjust better to the wet underfooting than Silvester. He insisted later he was "no mudder" but the simple fact is that Silvester's best toss was 10 feet shy of his. This in spite of the fact, Silvester holds the pending world record of 224 feet, 5 inches.

Lee Ninth Hosts Dumas

Five Pampa football teams will kickoff grid action for the city's schools Thursday with Pampa's Shockers trying to break a five-game losing streak.

The Shockers host Plainview's Junior Varsity in a 4 p.m. game on Harvester Field.

Lee ninth (3-1) plays host to Dumas while the Lee eighth grade (0-3) shoots for the win column in Dumas.

Pampa ninth (1-3) hosts Borger Houston while the eighth grade (2-1) journeys to Borger for a game with Houston.

Seventh grade teams from both schools play Friday with Pampa seventh (2-0-1) playing Houston at Borger and Lee Seventh (2-2) shoots for its third straight win by playing host to Dumas seventh.

Fishin' Roundup

By MELVIN CLARK

Last Friday and Saturday Jess Edney, 724 Malone, caught 23 channel cat averaging two pounds each. He caught these at Lake 40 in Oklahoma using blood bait.

At Unson Lake, south of Wheeler you can fish for $1.00 per person per day. Last week Juanita Robinson, 906 Elm, was fishing at this lake and caught a four pound bass using a live frog for bait.

At a farm pond near Pampa Jim Bossay caught seven bass in 32 minutes. They weighed from 2 1/4 to 5 1/4 pounds each. Jim was using a black Jitterbug and a black Tiny Torpedo.

Herberg White, 2237 N. Christy, and John Davis were fishing at Robin Mink Club Lake, eight miles east of Wheeler. Herbert caught a seven pound channel cat, measuring 24 inches long. He was using small brim for bait on drop hooks. They also caught 10 crappie and several small bass.

Dee Coe, 1110 S. Faulkner, caught a five pound channel cat at a lake north east of Wheeler. It was caught on a trot line using perch for bait.

The Canadian Breeze bait and tackle shop at Fritch sends a good report from Lake Meredith. Fishing is picking up at Lake Meredith as the water has begun to cool. The Sportsman's One Stop, at Sanford reports that Earl Anderson of Borger caught 14 crappie. D. W. Cromwell, Borger, and Nagy, Amarillo, caught 25 crappie at the Marina, on Oct. 9 th. Walt Delemeter, Borger, 16 crappie and Dewey Bond and Bud Fencher, Borger, 16 crappie.

Speagle, Burke and chief Groves caught 6 walleye and 1 channel cat with a total weight of 22 1/2 pounds using shad for bait. Hutto from Borger took two channel cat and one blue cat weighing 8 1/2 lbs. J. C. Sheppard and Gary Sims, Sanford, caught 14 large crappie, Oct. 9th on minnows in Bugbee Canyon.

Clarendon Puts Unbeaten Mark Against Claude

Coachoma, ranked eighth in Class A, opens District 5 play Friday against Lubbock Cooper and this first district game may well decide who will advance into bi-district action.

Both teams have 4-1 records and Coachoma moved into the top 10 for the first time this year by beating Rotan 38-0 last week. Cooper's only loss was by one point to Frenship and beat Wilson 33-0 last week.

Both teams have powerful offenses, but Cooper seems to have a better defense, having given up only 13 points in five games.

The only other team in the district with a chance of unseating Coachoma or Cooper is probably Seagraves which edged Tahoka last week 12-6.

Poth vs. Falls City

Top ranked Poth, a 49-0 victor over San Antonio Edison "B" last week, also opens district play against a tough opponent. The Pirates take on Falls City (4-1), which has won three in a row and beat Runge 12-8 last week.

Broyles Looks For Arkansas Win

Arkansas Razorback coach Frank Broyles said today it takes a lot of pride and a winning attitude to be a champion. He added that his Hogs have just those qualities.

"This is an unusual type of team," Broyles said of his Razorbacks. "They have spirit and togetherness. The big reason for our success is that the team has a lot of pride and a winning attitude."

Broyles said he didn't expect his team to be 4-0 at this point in the season. "I thought that was maybe asking a little too much."

He said, however, that he's looking forward to a 5-0 record after he meets the University of Texas Saturday.

"It's the kind of game every football player looks forward to playing," Broyles said. "There is a great deal of pride at stake."

The coach said the fact that Arkansas is ranked the underdog in the contest doesn't make much difference to him.

"I don't pay much attention to that," Broyles said, adding that the Hogs respect Texas very much.

"The winner of this game is always in the thick of the race at the end of the season and sometimes the loser is," he said.

Broyles said he has some surprises in store for the Steers.

"We will add some variations to our plays because Texas has a different offense and defense. It's different from anything we have faced this year."

Broyles said the race for the SWC still is far from over.

"As someone said, the winner will be the one who can stay the healthiest in November."

And if there is one thing Arkansas can boast, it's health.

"We will be in pretty good shape for the game. David Dickey is not quite full speed but by Saturday he'll be ready to go," Broyles said.

Although it's hardly November just yet, the Steers have had one of their long horns broken.

Coach Darrell Royal said Tuesday he had moved offensive tackle Leo Brooks to defense in order to fill a hole in the defensive line.

The hole he was referring to was the one left by Scott Palmer who injured a knee against Oklahoma last weekend.

Royal said Palmer would be out for at least three weeks, and according to the Gregorian calendar, the crucial month of November will be a week old before Palmer returns.

In other Saturday games Rice will meet Southern Methodist in Dallas in its Southwest Conference opener. The game will see SMU favored to win its second conference game.

TCU hopes to jump back into the race with a win over Texas A&M at College Station but will find the going tough in a toss-up.

Baylor is idle on the field, but will be healing and practicing its defense this week.

Levias is Still Best Catcher

Southern Methodist's Jerry Levias and Mike Richardson are waging a little side war of their own while teaming with soph quarterback Chuck Hixson to propel SMU to Southwest Conference statistical peaks.

Hixson has better than a 2-to-1 edge over closest rival Bill Montgomery of Arkansas in passing and nearly as wide an edge over the same man in total offense while guiding SMU to a league-leading 444-yard total offense and 338-yard passing offense averages.

Levias and Richardson are his chief helpers.

Top Catcher

Levias has snagged 38 passes for 568 yards and four touchdowns, by far the best in the conference, while Richardson leads the circuit in rushing with 372 yards and is tied with another Mustang, Ken Fleming, for second place behind Levias in receiving with 22 catches each.

The conference office started a new department this week—tandem offense, which totals a player's gains by rushing and receiving—and it is here that Levias and Richardson are battling for the top spot.

Has High Total

Richardson has 372 yards rushing and 288 passing for 660 yards while Levias has 23 rushing and 568 passing for 591.

Norm Bulaich of TCU, who is second to Richardson in rushing with 362 yards, also has 62 yards on passes for third place at 424 yards.

Levias Versatile

But, Levias is a bit more versatile. He also has returned 12 punts for 157 yards and 7 kickoffs for 156 yards and tried four unsuccessful passes. That all adds up to 904 yards while handling the ball 66 times—an average of 13.7 yards per handle.

Hixson has hit 108 of 196 passes for 1,332 yards and nine touchdowns while Arkansas' Montgomery has hit 51 of 92 for 608 yards and two TDs. Joe Matulich of Tech (42-77-485-5) is third, Ted Fay of TCU (39-82-541-1) is fourth and Edd Hargett of Texas A&M (35-85-548-3) is fifth.

In total offense, Hixson has 1,323 yards to 697 for Montgomery, 567 for Matulich, 566 for Hargett and 544 for Fay.

Rushing Race Open

The rushing race is wide open with Pinkie Palmer of Baylor third at 311 yards, 51 yards behind Bulaich; Chris Gilbert and Steve Worster of Texas fourth and fifth with 309 and 300 yards.

Other individual leaders included Gordon Utgard of Baylor with 246 yards in kickoff returns, Larry Alford of Texas Tech with 274 yards in punt returns, Jimmy Livingston of SMU in interceptions with five and Steve O'Neal of A&M and Mike Hall of TCU with identical 42.6-yard punting averages.

The Texas Longhorns, second to SMU in total offense with a 358.3-yard average, leads in rushing with 253 yards per game to 180.3 for Tech, and Baylor is runnerup in passing with a 187-yard average.

Royals Go For Youth In Draft

BOSTON (UPI)—They paid their money, $5.25 million apiece, and they took their choice. Neither the Kansas City Royals nor the Seattle Pilots expect to become the butt of Met-type jokes.

The two brand new American League franchises were stocked with rosters of 30 players each Tuesday. They paid the existing clubs $175,000 for each selection in a day-long expansion draft.

And both managements came away poorer but insisted they had gotten what they wanted.

Kansas City went solidly for youth, some tried, most not. Seattle went more for "name" players and, as a result, acquired a much older collection of veterans.

The Royals were admittedly looking ahead to "1970, 1971 and 1972" according to General Manager Cedric Tallis. They figure that pitchers Roger Nelson, 24, Steve Jones, 27, J. Warden, 22, Dave Morehead, 25, Wally Bunker, 23, Jim Rooker, 26, and Bill Butler, 21, have "growth potential."

But just in case their "kiddie corps" is too young, the Royals installed Hoyt Wilhelm, 45, and Moe Drabowsky, 33, in their bullpen.

Seattle went for the veterans or what Tallis called players with "dwindling potential."

Pilot General Manager Marvin Milkes didn't agree. "We wanted established players and we got them. We got power and speed. We expect to trade for more pitching strength. We have players of value and people on the other clubs already want to talk to us. Our store is always open," Milkes added.

He displayed a chart listing selections by position that showed an infield of Don Mincher, 30, Ray O'ler, 30, Rich Rollins, 30, and Jack Hernandez, 28; an outfield of Tom Harper, 28, Tommy Davis, 29, and Chico Salmon, 27; Jerry McNertney, 32, as the catcher and pitchers Buzz Stephen, 24, Diego Segui, 30, Marty Pattin, 25, Gary Bell, 31, Gerald Schoen, 21, Jack Aker, 28, and Steve Barber, 20.

Bulls Continue Win Streak With Victory

Dick Motta, a successful college coach who gave up a secure job in his home state to enter the unpredictable ranks of professional basketball, has no regrets thus far and he probably won't as long as his Chicago Bulls continue winning.

The Bulls gave rookie coach Motta a big sendoff Tuesday night in opening their 1968-69 National Basketball Association campaign by upsetting the New York Knickerbockers 100-96.

Motta, who coached at little Weber State at Ogden, Utah, before taking the post with the Bulls, was the happiest man on the court at spacious Madison Square Garden following the surprise triumph.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Lesser Of Two Evils Trap

Why has the United States moved progressively deeper into socialism despite the fact that most people, when asked, will stoutly claim that they are opposed to socialism in principle?

There are two basic answers to the question. Both are amazingly simple.

The first—the "I am opposed to socialism, but" syndrome—is probably by far the most influential. People who fall into this category are attempting to fool themselves. For the plain truth is that they are not opposed to socialism, in principle, at all but only to SOME socialistic programs. And, in order to get the socialistic measures passed which they deem good and beneficial, they go to the polls and vote for candidates who advocate, not only those programs, but the programs which they object to as well. This is how politicians, playing for the mass vote and offering something for everyone, put together winning tickets. The one who offers the greatest variety of tax paid goodies wins.

But these are not the people we are concerned with today. They, begging for it in their greed, deserve the socialism they get; unfortunately, the innocent are punished along with the guilty.

The second cause for our plunge into socialism and the slave state may be aptly called the "lesser of two evils" trap into which people who are honestly opposed to socialism in all of its various forms unwittingly fall. These good people clearly see that all socialism is morally wrong. But, switching from a moral, principled stand, they go over to the pragmatic and attempt to use the political system and the ballot, both of which are socialistic in their very essence, in an effort to reduce socialism. They fall victim to political jujitsu. And socialism, virtually unopposed, marches on.

This is how the victims reason and this is how the trap works:

Presented at the polls with two candidates, one of whom advocates 40 per cent socialism, let us say, and the other 60 per cent, the victims, struggling to reduce socialism decide to vote for "the lesser of two evils" and support the 40 per cent candidate. . . who, usually, promptly loses.

But, in addition to the victims losing in the political contest, note what has actually happened. The victims have voted for socialism.

But the matter does not stop there.

All this has not gone unobserved by the losing candidate. And, next time around, instead of being a 40 per cent socialism candidate, lo and behold, he now stands squarely on a 70 per cent plank. From that point on, the process repeats itself again and again.

If one is looking for a specific example it is not necessary to look further than the case of Hubert Humphrey. As one of the original founders of the Fabian ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) and as "liberal" as they come, Hubert's name was once mud in the Democratic, "conservative" south. But this year, being considered by some as somewhat less "liberal" than McCarthy, Humphrey was welcomed with open arms by the same "conservatives" who, previously, had damned him unmercifully.

The name of the pragmatic game of politics is to win and to go on the winning side. If one is going to make a moral, principled stand, if the plunge into socialism is to be reversed, one will have to look elsewhere. Figs do not from thistles grow.

Democracy vs. Republic

This country was never intended to be a Democracy ruled by the collective will of a voting mob. The word 'Democracy' does not appear even once in either the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution of the United States. This country was intended as a Representative Republic.

Sound familiar? It should for the statement, or variations of it, is used over and over by those who would attribute the present chaotic condition of this country to our departure from the "principles" of a representative republic substituting, instead, "democratic mobocracy."

Is the statement true? Aside from the ominous capitalization and personalization of the phrases "Democracy" and "Representative Republic," connoting the idea of an animate governmental entity, over and above the fallible individual human being occupying its seats of power, with the capacity to think and act on its own, yes, the statement is true. . . as far as it goes.

It is quite true and a matter of written record which can be easily verified that the United States was intended by the founding fathers to be a representative republic rather than a democracy and, of course, the word "Democracy" does not appear, even once, in either of the mentioned documents.

And with respect to the remaining denial, it is just as true that the intention of the founding fathers was not that the country be ruled by the collective will of a voting mob. Obviously, since the abstraction "collective will" is incapable of ruling anything, that would be impossible.

The News has long maintained that neither Democracy which signifies expression of all conflicting wills at the same time (mobocracy), nor Democracy which signifies some kind of governmental sanction of the majority, is just or even effective. Dr. George Crane defined Democracy as "simply a form of government based on the right law that might makes right." Minorities and weaker groups are then at the mercy of

Taxpayer's Torment

It's torment for a taxpayer to read the newspaper these days if he turns beyond the editorial page and the sports section. The financial news is nothing short of painful. Metropolitan papers of September 24 carried three news stories, none prominently, which can only have induced the jitters for readers who read the papers closely enough to absorb their impact.

The first, out of New York reported that a business loans for one week in mid-September went up to $492 million at the big banks in New York and Chicago. That was a towering increase above the $317 million for the same week last year. What accounted for the big surge in borrowing? Corporate tax payments were due, and business was borrowing to meet the tax burden imposed by Washington.

But, the bankers said, it wasn't really more of an increase than they had expected, considering the 10 percent surcharge imposed by Washington. Perhaps the bankers and Washington taxpayers who are retired, by age or physical necessity, and who live on investments, will have cause for real jitters. Those loans, and the interest, will eat a big chunk of income for such helpless taxpayers.

Then there was a story out of Los Angeles. The Finance Minister of South Africa was there to make a speech. He was stating the case for a higher price for gold. He pointed out that South Africa accounts for

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Would a newspaper be a real watchful, friendly newspaper if it were convinced that tax-supported schools and colleges are harmful instead of beneficial and still said nothing in its editorial columns about the degrading results?

ANSWER: If it failed to speak out about what it believed to be harmful, it certainly would be a cowardly newspaper, interested only in power and dollars rather than in being beneficial to its readers.

It's hard to conceive how a newspaper that believes in a free market and free enterprise and a non-hampered exchange of goods and services throughout the world could keep still and not do its duty and communicate its ideas to its readers. It should also, of course, throw its columns open to others.

The publisher of a newspaper could not have much self-respect if he kept still on things that he thought were harmful. As Herbert Spencer said, "It's for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true and add his units of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."

That's what a good, watchful, friendly newspaper tries to do.

I have been watching Americans for a long time and I have got to admit we're a crazy bunch.

You take the feller who goes down to the friendly tap on Sat. nite to quaff the old and rare — why, all the neighbors says he's crazy.

Then there's the feller who pits his unfathomed skill against the giddyap gees or goes to the dogs with the cats — everybody knows he's crazy.

Of course, them fellers who paint pictures or write poetry, not necessarily on walls — why, they're all crazy.

Then there's the professors who can't remember where they left their hats, and the students who want to run the schools, and the beats and the hippies and yuppies — crazier than 1st cousin offspring.

If some guy passes you on the highway doing 80 m.p.h. he's crazy. And if some little old lady driving along at 35 m.p.h. fences you in then she's crazy.

Now wouldn't you think with all these people, and a lot more all besides, being crazy, that the politicians would be crazy too? They spend and give away three times as much as they rake in, then go back the next year and propose to spend three times as much again.

But does anybody call them crazy? Well, no, they don't — that is, nobody but me. That's how I got to be a regular American. It's because I call the politicians crazy that everybody decided that I was crazy.

So we're all just one big happy crazy bunch.

A business man refusing to spend money on good advertising is like a farmer refusing to spend his money for good seed.

about 75 percent of the gold produced in the non-Communist world. The guy who produces 75 percent of anything has a better than even chance of setting the price on what he is marketing. An increase in the price of gold would almost certainly mean a devaluation of the dollar.

Finally, there was a story out of Washington reporting that the Administration was seeking some legislation which would nullify the Senate's requirement of last June that Government expenditures be cut $6 billion below the budget estimates. A Democratic Senator introduced a bill to exempt certain Federal expenditures from that $6 billion cut requirement. Senator John J. Williams, of Delaware, who has been a faithful watchdog of the federal spending, told the Senate that "this amendment completely nullifies any idea of control over spending."

The amendment failed, but spokesmen for Administration said they'd try to attach it to another bill.

It was enough to make a taxpayer wish he didn't have to wait until November 5 to vote.

Droughts, Floods, Cultural Revolution Cause Large New Grain Shortage in Red China

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Red China is headed for another sizable grain shortage.

The total crop will be at least 10 million tons less than last year.

That's the estimate of U. S. agricultural experts. They attribute this serious decline in basic food production to a combination of drought, floods and the wide-spread chaos of Mao Tse-tung's maniacal cultural revolution.

Rice output is projected at around 75 million tons — as compared to 86.4 million tons last year.

Wheat is put at somewhat less than the 20 million tons in 1967.

The overall sharp decline in grain will cause hardship, but not famine. In some areas, particularly industrial centers, there will undoubtedly be food rationing and belt tightening.

Also, the Peking rulers will again be compelled to buy free-world grain.

Already this year China has imported 3.7 million tons of wheat from Canada and Australia. She is expected to purchase several or more million tons by the end of the year.

Last year Communist China imported 4.3 million tons of wheat. In the past five years these purchases have averaged 5 to 6 millions tons annually.

This wheat is used chiefly to feed the soaring urban population. No authoritative figures are available on China's total population. It's generally estimated at around 750 million, and increasing at the rate of 15 million annually.

China's arable land is considerably less than that of the U. S., with about one-third the population.

ONE GOOD EFFECT— Surprisingly, Mao Tse-tung's berserk cultural revolution has resulted in increasing some food commodities — notably fruit, poultry, eggs and pork.

This is due to the slackening of local Communist controls and the peasants' taking advantage of that to grow more food for themselves — and private sale. Another gain has been improvement in the Chinese diet, with more proteins being available.

How long this condition will be allowed to continue is conjecturing. Peking already is nuturing direly about it.

A serious problem hampering the Reds is lack of foreign currency to buy grain.

How much this will effect more grain imports this year remains to be seen.

RED PROPAGANDA STUNT— Captured U. S. pilots released by North Vietnam are pre-selected for that express purpose.

Their liberation is part of a carefully planned propaganda maneuver.

That's the conclusion reached by intelligence authorities after thorough study of what they have learned from the six pilots so freed this year— three in February; three in August.

Intelligence experts are convinced that the Communists, in preparation for staging a grand-stand propaganda play, designate a pilot for a distinct type of treatment from the moment he is captured, in anticipation of eventually liberating him.

That is, a pilot is specially handled for propaganda release. There is no indication of any particular method in the selection of these pilots. Of the six freed, five were Air Force and one Navy, with ranks from lieutenant (j.g.) to lieutenant colonel.

Deemed significantly indicative of the earmarking of certain pilots for propaganda release are the following similarities in the treatment of the two groups of liberated pilots:

All six were kept in isolation throughout their incarceration, in prison camps near Hanoi. They were not allowed to see or talk to other PW. They were aware other captives were present, but had no opportunity to meet them.

All were exhaustively interrogated. From the very start they were constantly told they were "war criminals" and would be treated that way.

An obvious effort was made to undermine their spirit and morale. They were repeatedly urged and pressured to make statements and sign various papers.

They were fed a subsistence diet consisting chiefly of rice with an occasional vegetable and small amount of fish. They got no meat or dairy products of any kind. Usually, they got two meals a day.

There was little medical care, and no evidence of a hospital or clinic.

The prisoners were allowed to send a few letters, on forms specified by the Geneva conventions. These permit the writer to say little more than that he is alive and to send greetings.

Before being released, the pilots were harshly warned that if they criticized their treatment, others would not be freed. The Communists made no bones of their intent to silence the pilots.

From other sources intelligence has ascertained that North Vietnam maintains separate prison camps for officers and enlisted men. The former are in heavily guarded installations around Hanoi; the

Mouth Cancer And Smoking

There seems to be a feeling among cigarette smokers that switching to cigars or pipes will somehow save them from becoming a cancer statistic. But while the switch may give them some statistical advantage, heavy smokers still play the game of "Russian roulette" with only slightly less danger.

Aside from the lungs, the critical areas affected by tobacco smoke condensate, heat of combustion, and actual contact of tobacco on mucous membrane, extend from the lips to the pharynx. Cigars and pipes seem to be more harmful in these areas than are cigarettes.

Take the case of Aaron K. His chief complaint was pain in upper right side of face.

Examination: — Complete oral exam was made, chief complaint being examined last. This is routinely done so as not to miss or overlook other, often more important, problems in the mouth.

As for the chief complaint, it was quickly observed that the cause was a large decayed area in one of the molars.

Of more importance was finding a lesion in left corner of his mouth. This was flat fan-shaped lesion, with grayish white streaks which extended onto the mucous membrane of the mouth. It was about the size of a dime.

Corner of mouth had two lateral crevices about 2mm in depth, the hills of which were grayish white, the valleys red and sore looking.

History: — Patient revealed that he was a heavy cigarette smoker but gave it up about two years ago after reading an article linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer. He then began smoking cigars and pipes.

When pipes became too much of a nuisance to fill and keep lighted, he concentrated on cigars, about 10 to 12 a day.

Favorite spot for cigars was left corner of mouth. He noticed the sore spot there but it didn't hurt. Sometimes he put vasoline on it but it would never heal.

Temporary diagnosis: — Leukoplakia.

Treatment: — The affected area was "stripped," that is, the entire lesion was surgically removed and sent to the laboratory for microscopic examination. This is called "excisional biopsy."

Final diagnosis: — Leukoplakia. This lesion possesses malignant potential and its complete removal is treatment of choice.

A thought for the day: British poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge said: "To have lived in vain must be a painful thought to any man, and especially to him who has made literature his profession."

later in secure areas north of the demilitarized zone.

Significantly, despite the rigorous treatment they are subjected to, not a single U. S. prisoner — officer or enlisted man — has defected to the Reds.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

U.S. Election Could Be Under Hanoi Influence

Never in my recollection has any American election been subject to so much potential manipulation by an outsider. A pipsqueak Communist President of one-half of a sixth-rate nation could influence, conceivably could determine, our next President.

Sept. 30, Vice President Humphrey "spoke out" on Vietnam. Morning editions, Oct. 1, headlined "Humphrey Breaks With L.B.J." and "Humphrey Says Stop Bombing."

Humphrey did neither. His stop-the-bombing suggestion was as qualified as Mr. Johnson's has been: "The enemy must give some indication of co-operation."

Richard Nixon, describing Humphrey's predicament, also described his own: "If Humphrey breaks with Johnson policy on Vietnam, he may sabotage the Paris talks. If he does not break with Johnson policy, he has nothing to offer the voters."

So now these candidates, thus intimidated, apparently expect you to go to the polls and "gamble" on what the war policy of each will be.

The fact is, of course, that the Paris peace talks are fraudulent and not worth "protecting."

The talks in Paris were calculated by the enemy to reduce our bombing and by Washington to take the heat off during an election year.

Almost every American mother finds some solace in these "negotiations," however deadlocked they remain. Any candidate who would reject them as worthless or cause them to "break off" could reap disastrous political consequences.

That's what Mr. Nixon meant when he said, in effect, that Humphrey is "burned if he does and durned if he doesn't."

Also, if Hanoi's Reds should consider Humphrey more dovish than Nixon, they might reduce hostilities in Vietnam — however temporarily — in order to improve Humphrey's position at the polls.

It would be very difficult for a hawkish candidate to get elected if the shooting is reduced and the November headlines are shouting peace slogans.

Indeed, Nguyen Gia Hien, the president of the senate of South Vietnam, expects that North Vietnam will co-operate — so that there can be a bombing halt—before our Election Day.

And now the military-political consideration has a third dimension.

With Curtis LeMay as running mate for George Wallace, one party's war posture is definite. THESE TWO AGREE THAT WARS ARE TO BE WON!

Indeed, if Wallace should appear to be closing in on the White House, Hanoi might try to sidetrack these "Hawks" by backing off, perhaps even stopping the shooting, however temporarily.

Thus, as never before, this election time the American electorate must be alert to the possibility of manipulation by outsiders.

Wit and Whimsy

A little boy and his mother were walking down a street in a small Texas town when the boy spotted a cowboy and said,

Little Billy — Look, Mom, there's a bowlegged cowboy.

Mrs. Blank (the ambitious mother). — Now son, try to improve your speech. Think of what Shakespeare would have said.

The little boy stood and thought for a minute and then said:

Little Billy — Look ho, there stands a man with parentheses for legs.

Whooping Cranes Return to Refuge

AUSTWELL, Tex. (UPI) — The world's meager flock of whooping cranes began to return to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge for the winter. Wildlife experts reported Monday that they have seen three of the rare birds. One adult crane was sighted Sunday and two more adults were sighted Monday. The Sunday sighting was at the refuge and the Monday sighting was on Matagorda Island.

The earliest arrival of the huge birds was Oct. 4, 1949. The latest first arrival was Nov. 11, 1946. Ray Erickson, assistant director of the Patuxent (Md.) Wildlife Research Center, said he expects 41 adults to arrive in the Aransas refuge, two more than last year. He said two of eight young cranes were believed to have been lost in the Canadian wilds late in the summer. Nineteen of the birds are in captivity. The whooping cranes nest every summer around Great Slave Lake in Canada.

90th Congress Was 'Second Greatest in History'

By ANN WOOD
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democratic leader Carl Albert called it the second greatest Congress in history. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said it wasn't great if it certainly was good. Even Republicans conceded it could have been worse.

Less partisan observers said that good or bad, the 90th Congress in its two years accomplished a lot more than anybody thought at the start. The end came at 2:17 p.m. EDT Monday when the Senate followed the House into sine die adjournment.

In addition to a civil rights and open housing bill, the Congress surprised observers by enacting controls on the sales of guns; raising taxes in an election year; launching a massive new housing program, and carrying on most of the health, education, social welfare and antipoverty programs laid down under the banners of the New Frontier and the Great Society.

Institute Consumer Protection
 It passed a series of consumer health and protection bills ranging from truth-in-lending to clean meat and poultry.

Its actions in the field of conservation, including creation of a Redwoods National Park, prompted Speaker John W. McCormack to term it "the most historic" Congress so far as conservation was concerned. In the end, it had one of its worst squabbles over when and how to adjourn. It was settled soon after noon Monday. There was a good deal of the 90th Congress failed to do. And it frequently got bogged down by politics and its own internal problems, including repeated defections from the ranks of the Democratic majority.

In a crowning defeat for President Johnson, Senate Republicans and Southern Democrats blocked action on the nomination of his old friend, Abe Fortas, to be chief justice. A similar grouping in the House cut off funding for his pet highway beautification program. Signaling somewhat of an isolationist turn in foreign affairs, Congress cut Johnson's $2.9 billion foreign aid request nearly in half, an alltime low; ignored his proposal for expanded trade with Communist countries, and left to the Senate of the next Congress a decision on ratifying a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Possible Late Session
 But Johnson left open the possibility he might call the 90th Senate back into session after the elections to resume work on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty to which he attaches high priority.

On the other side, it gave solid backing to the Vietnam War despite some verbal protests, extended the draft, approved a consular treaty with the Soviet Union, and abandoned a series of protectionist bills which the administration opposed.

The 90th, with its enlarged GOP minority, got off to something of an agonizing start when the House spent two months kicking out Rep. Adam Clayton Powell on charges of abusing his committee chairmanship, and the Senate spent three more months censuring Sen. Thomas J. Dodd on charges of mishandling campaign contributions.

Despite a lot of talk about improving Congress' image and performance, the net result was creation of a House Ethics Committee (the Senate already had one) that did hardly anything, and approval of House and Senate codes of ethics that simply required members to list their financial resources in sealed envelopes to be opened in case they ever were investigated.

Delay Modernization
 Over GOP protests that continued right up to the end, House Democratic leaders kept locked up in the Rules Committee a Senate-passed bill to modernize congressional procedures.

The 90th did raise federal pay, increase social security benefits, hike to 6 cents the cost of mailing a letter, and institute a 10 per cent income tax surcharge due to lapse next June.

For law and order, it provided new aid to improve local police forces, okayed court-approved wiretapping in criminal investigations, made it a federal crime to burn the flag or to travel around inciting riots, forbade college loans to students who riot on campus, and established federal penalties for the first March on Washington was loudly criticized, Congress kept the war on poverty running, barred discriminatory selection of federal juries.

STUDENT DEMONSTRATIONS in Mexico City have been increasing in fervor in recent months until they now threaten the Olympic games scheduled to begin Oct. 12. Mexican police and soldiers have used bayonets, machine guns and armored vehicles to put down the demonstrators who demand repeal of Mexico's antisubversive laws and freedom for "political prisoners."

Warden Okays Guards' Actions

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, ARK. (UPI)—Supt. Victor C. Urban defended today the guards who fired birdshot into a crowd of inmates at Cummins prison farm when they rebelled against picking cucumbers. Two prisoners were injured and another was possibly blinded.

"It was a proper way to act," Urban said in defense of the guards who fired two shotgun blasts at the group of about 100 prisoners Monday. "If we had a closed prison with walls, there would have been no hesitation to shoot into the group for this kind of act," the superintendent said.

His 16,000-acre prison farm, where hundreds of prisoners work in the fields, has only a few fences around the main buildings.

Monday's shooting incident propelled the state prison system, rocked by scandal in the past, into Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's reelection campaign. His opponent, Democrat Marion H. Crank, said the shooting was an example that the administration's talk of prison reform "is a phrase instead of a reality."

Three skeletons were found in unmarked graves at Cummins last January. Pathologist reports were inconclusive, but then Supt. Thomas O. Murton said he believed the bones were those of murdered men. Murton later was fired by Rockefeller's prison board, some thought for his views on the skeletons, and replaced by Urban.

Earthquake Hits Australia Again

PERTH, Australia (UPI)—A fresh earthquake struck this city of 100,000 Tuesday, sending thousands of residents fleeing into the streets.

Tuesday's tremor caused no reported injury but spread some panic across the western Australian sections hit by Monday's far stronger earthquake.

In the wheat belt town of Merckering, 86 miles to the east, the shock sent workmen and residents scrambling from the rubble that was all that remained of 75 per cent of the town after Monday's 20 seconds of terror.

In Northam, 60 miles east of here, some of the 800 children being evacuated from a school during the tremor became hysterical.

About 30 persons suffered injuries ranging from broken limbs to concussions in Monday's quake, which registered 6 on the Richter scale, the strongest since an April, 1941 tremor measured 6.75.

The tremor hit as Perth state Premier David Brand flew from this city, whose tall buildings shook Monday, to Merckering.

V.M. Edwards, Merckering's butcher, said he was knocked to the ground Monday.

COMRADES-IN-ARMS
 WARSAW (UPI)—Soviet Defense Minister Andrei Grechko told celebrants of the 25th birthday of the Polish Army Friday that Poland's participation in the invasion of Czechoslovakia demonstrated its friendship with the Soviet Union.
