Negro Students All Will Attend Integrated Classes

By WANDA HUFF
Pampa News Staff Writer

This year, for the first time, all Pampa Negro elementary school children will attend desegregated classrooms. To make the transition easier, a mobile, desegregation team has conducted a two-day workshop for Pampa teachers who will for the first or second time be teaching an ethnic group different from their own.

The three-man team conducted the workshop Monday and today in the Coronado Inn. Their project is part of the University of Texas Center for Desegregation Assistance to Texas Public Schools.

Team members who visited Pampa were Pete Williams, assistant director of the university desegregation center; Joe Heron, Amarillo, and Zeke Rodriguez, Houston.

"The only one in Texas, it is financed by funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, out of Title IV of the Civil Rights Act, passed in 1964," Williams said.

The Title IV program operates to assist Texas schools which have complied with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Title VI authorized total desegregation by discontinuance of one-race schools, he said.

The Title IV project started in July with team visits to the 20 regional educational centers in Texas. Pampa is in region 16, the Panhandle Educational Services Organization, headquartered in Amarillo. Workshops were set up in several Texas towns, including Pampa and Amarillo. Last week, Williams and his assistants worked with 600 teachers and this week will see 500 more in Midland, Wichita Falls, El Campo and Kilgore.

"Ultimately, the workshop team will have 12 members, three Anglos, three Negroes, and three Mexican-Americans as resource people. They will work under Dr. Edward Tapscott, director of the University of Texas Center for Desegregation. Williams, the assistant director, and possibly another assistant director not yet selected," Williams said.

"We don't intend to hire 10 people to tell you how to integrate, and we don't intend to operate with set speeches, brochures, and programs. Our goal is to be a mobile, on-the-spot assistance team to help ease the transition from segregated to integrated classrooms," Williams said.

The project has a $400,000 annual budget for Texas, and an "unlimited tag on kinds of services" (See NEGRO, Page 3)

If Proposed Plan Passes

City Budget To Increase Some

By LARRY HOLLIS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Pampa's proposed budget for the fiscal year 1968-69, beginning Oct. 1, totals $2,152,142, an increase of $122,924 over the estimated 1967-68 budget of $2,029,218.

The current property tax of $1.72 was recommended to remain the same under the proposed budget.

Total expenditures under the proposed budget would be $1,798,682, compared to $1,670,345 for 1967-68, an increase of $128,337.

Revenue for the coming fiscal year is expected to show a decrease of $18,706. Expected revenue for 1968-69 is $2,595,834, compared to the estimated revenue of $2,614,540 for 1967-68.

This decrease in revenue results from a decrease in revenue from water sales, the complete loss of parking meter fees and the decrease in sanitation charges.

According to City Manager Charles Hill, who presented the proposed budget to the city commission this morning, the budget for 1968-69 would actually be less than the 1967-68 budget when the debt requirements for the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority are subtracted. Such debts total $167,000 at least.

The two areas of the budget showing the greatest increase over 1967-68 is personal services and debt services.

Personal services, salaries, will total $1,106,292 in the proposed budget, compared to the estimated $1,030,945 of 1967-68. This results from an increase in salaries for city employees.

A new classification-compensation plan, providing long range personnel classification system and pay range plan for all positions in city government, was developed for the budget.

Twenty-four categories for city employees are proposed in the new budget, according to the type of work and the pay range.

"The classification-compensation plan emphasizes the establishment of pay rates for supervisors at a level which would command responsibility and would encourage lower classifications to work toward these positions," Hill stated in his budget message.

Pay increases for the above would total approximately $60,000. No new personnel have been added to the proposed budget. Five fewer employees are proposed.

Debt services, including the CRMWA requirement of $167,000, total $293,011, compared to the $141,186 for 1967-68. Other areas of the proposed budget total $203,573, contract (See BUDGET, Page 3)

'Bruised' Texans Are Hoping For A Visit By LBJ

By DAVID ANDERSON

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eased and bruised at the opening session of the Democratic convention, Texas delegates looked to a birthday visit by President Johnson tonight to help restore their pride.

Gov. John Connally's regular delegation was overwhelmingly defeated in an attempt to retain unit rule, and insurgent liberals came within 313 votes of taking almost half of the Texas strength away from the Connally regulars.

State party leaders Will D. Davis, Frank C. Erwin Jr., Robert S. Strauss and Tom Gordon were roundly booed when they tried to present the Texas case on unit rule and credentials.

"This is going to be the roughest convention we've seen in 20 years," Connally said after the convention voted 1,368 to 955 in support of the regular delegation.

Party Tonight
President Johnson celebrates his 50th birthday today and there were numerous reports circulating that he planned to visit the convention tonight. One Texas source said he'd wager "there'll be a birthday party here tonight."

After Monday night's battles, a visit from the Texan who occupies the White House would be a welcome respite.

A challenge delegation of 100 Texas liberals, mostly supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, touched off the convention's first big fight over seating. They asked that they be given 50 of the state's 104 votes.

Despite the liberals' defeat, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., called it a "moral victory" and said "I think the people out there put up a fantastic fight with four hours of notice."

During the debate, Yarborough was seated in the front row of the "honored guest" section at the back of the hall and leaned over the railing pleading with passing delegates to support the Texas insurgents.

"I want to be seated, I'm entitled to be seated," Yarborough told delegates he button-holed as they passed. "I'm the United States senator from Texas—the only Democratic senator from Texas—and they won't even let me on the floor."

added to the din. "We have all returned," declared Parliament President Josef Smrkowsky in a radio broadcast.

"I think we shall get out of it." His voice was choked with emotion.

Green Berets' Camp Attacked

By ALVIN B. WEBB Jr.

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese forces shelled the U.S. "Green Beret" camp at Duc-Lap five times today in a resurgence of attacks since its defenders broke a four-day siege Sunday.

U.S. military sources said Red mortarsmen hiding in the mountains around the battered base, fired 59 rounds into the camp, wounding 10 South Vietnamese soldiers.

American B52 bombers and 1,500 South Vietnamese reinforcements lifted the siege Sunday. The reinforcements fought their way inside and helped drive off the Communists in fighting that cost 58 men killed, including six American special forces troopers, and 107 wounded, 12 of them Americans.

At least 803 Communist bodies have been found around hilltop Duc Lap, 125 miles northeast of Saigon, bringing to about 7,500 the number of Reds killed in the past nine days, military sources said.

Allied losses for the same period were 650 killed and 2,200 wounded, with no breakdown available as to how many were Americans, the sources said. "We do not consider the figures incredible," one said.

The disclosures came as U.S. Marine spokesmen announced that guns in North Vietnam Monday fired 214 heavy shells onto U.S. outposts on South Vietnam's northern tier, killing five Marines and wounding 23.

In two hours beginning at dusk Monday, guns in North Vietnam sprayed 214 rounds across the border demilitarized zone into the south.

North Vietnamese soldiers followed with a ground attack followed with a ground attack on the "Rockpile" at U.S. artillery base where six American 175mm guns fire into north Vietnam.

Marines guarding the rocky hill that juts from the northern flatlands said 50 Communists attacked in two waves but were beaten off by U.S. warplanes and artillery. Six leathernecks died and 20 were wounded in the fight, the announcement said.

Bitterness 'Residue' Expected To Result

By RAYMOND LAHR

CHICAGO (UPI)—Angry Democrats fought through the early morning hours today over the seating of contested delegates to their national convention and headed for an even more bruising struggle tonight over the Vietnam plank of the party platform.

Gov. John Connally of Texas, a leader of the Southern faction in the battling, predicted if would be "the roughest convention we've seen in 20 years." And events were not long in proving him right.

The struggles seemed sure to leave a residue of bitterness between the battling party factions. But Vice President Humphrey still appeared to have a firm grip on the presidential nomination unless the effort to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy managed to catch fire.

The latest UPI tabulation of delegate votes committed, or leaning gave Humphrey 1,097 1/2, McCarthy 480 1/2 and McGovern 36, with 490 uncommitted and favorite sons and others accounting for 517 votes.

The anger that had been building up between backers of Humphrey and his chief rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, finally boiled over during a vote on whether to accept a compromise involving the Georgia delegation.

The convention rejected by a roll call vote of 1,413 to 1,041 1/2 an attempt by a self-styled loyalist group trying to oust the old guard entirely instead of letting them keep half the delegation's seats as provided by the compromise.

When the outcome was announced, turmoil broke out on the convention floor. Members of the big New York and California delegations, who had voted to support the challengers, leaped on their chairs, some waving their fists and giving the thumbs down gesture while chanting in unison the name of Julian Bond, Negro leader of the Georgia challengers.

A Negro delegate, identified by fellow Californians as Eddie Anderson of Los Angeles, burned his convention security pass. Unable to restore order, temporary Chairman Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii abruptly adjourned the raucous convention until 7 p.m., EDT tonight.

Czechs Greet Returned Leaders

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovaks, many weeping for joy, turned out on streets of Prague cleared at last of Soviet tanks today and cheered their leaders back from Moscow with an agreement for withdrawal of occupation forces.

The celebration was tempered by the realization that there would be a price to pay in personal freedoms and that withdrawal would be slow. As they have for the last eight days, Soviet-led forces still controlled the countryside and some would remain indefinitely.

Reform leaders returning from their talks in the Kremlin rode through Prague's Wenceslas Square today and thousands of people poured out to greet them. Church bells pealed, auto horns honked and air raid sirens and burglar alarms added to the din. "We have all returned," declared Parliament President Josef Smrkowsky in a radio broadcast.

"I think we shall get out of it." His voice was choked with emotion.

He rode with other officials through the square and it appeared that the hero of the hour, Communist Party Secretary Alexander Dubcek, was with him.

The crowd thought so and belled its greetings to Dubcek.

be gradual and Russians apparently would remain in the country near the West German border for a long, long, time.

Wenceslas Square was cleared of tanks and Russian troops abandoned government buildings seized in the occupation. The Soviet forces drew back into the suburbs.

Food supplies, slowed to a trickle in Prague, appeared again as if by magic.

Behind the bedlam of joy lay some worry. Informed sources said Dubcek and President Ludvik Svoboda agreed in Kremlin talks to pay a heavy political price to rid their former satellite of Soviet bloc occupation forces.

Premier Oldrich Cernik, still another of the leaders arrested and then taken to Moscow for the crisis talks, announced his government was functioning again. Dubcek, Svoboda, Srkovsky, Cernik and other leaders passed through the cheering crowds into a conference on how to go ahead.

Amid the cheering there was no word yet on what was agreed upon, given up or bargained away in the Kremlin talks. But hints came. One anti-Soviet clandestine radio said, "In these momentous days our nation has perhaps the biggest freedom of speech it has ever enjoyed . . . (but) the restoration of censorship, reports say, is likely to be one of the essential concessions made by us."

Informed sources said the Russians also got a promise the Czechoslovaks would abandon their new policy of allowing non-Communist political groups to exist.

Demos Schedule Political Rally Here Sept. 26th

Gray County Democrats have set Sept. 26 as the day they will stage a barbecue and rally to be held at the county recreation barn east of the city on US 60.

Featured speakers at the rally will be Democratic gubernatorial candidate Preston Smith, and Dick Brown of Hartley, candidate for representative from the 18th Congressional District.

The affair will be sponsored by the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee and the Gray County Democratic Club.

Admission prices will be $2.50 per person, which will include musical entertainment and a barbecue dinner catered by the Pampa Shrine Club.

Co-chairman for the rally are Wiley Reynolds, chairman of the Gray County Democratic Executive Committee, and L.R. McBride, president of the Gray County Democratic Club. Buster Carter will serve as finance chairman.

Tickets will go on sale later this week.

Highway Work For County Scheduled

The Texas Highway Commission has approved the expenditure of $256,000 for improvement of the highway system in Gray County during 1969.

District Engineer Charles W. Smith of Amarillo said that a total of 25.6 highway miles in Gray County will be involved in the annual program. This work will be under the supervision of T. R. Kelley, senior resident engineer at Pampa. The work is part of the Highway Commission's combined Farm to Market Road Improvement and State Highway Safety and Betterment for 1969.

The projects involved in this county are as follows:

On St. 70, in Pampa from U.S. 60 to south of FM 750, a distance of 0.6 miles, reconstruction of grading, structures and surfacing, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

On St. 152, from U. S. 60, east of Pampa to 1.0 miles east of Laketon, a distance of 12.9 miles, additional surfacing, at an estimated cost of $100,000.

On St. 152, from the Carson County Line to 0.4 miles west of the Pampa City Limits, a distance of 5.2 miles, additional surfacing, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

On FM 291, from St. 273 South a distance of 1.4 miles, additional surfacing and seal coat on shoulders, at an estimated cost of $8,000.

On FM 282, from St. 152 to Perry Lefors Air Field, a distance of 5.5 miles, additional surfacing and seal coat on shoulders, at an estimated cost of $36,000.

Pampa Youth Honored At Boys Ranch

Calvin West, a Pampa boy now making his home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, has been awarded the highest honor that a boy can receive at the Ranch.

Calvin, 16, has been named to the Boys Ranch Junior Staff, a small group of "Ranchers" who assist the adult staff and aid in many of the Ranch programs.

Calvin, who has lived at Boys Ranch for three years and is a junior in the Ranch's fully accredited, 12-grade school system, has been active in all areas of life at Boys Ranch. He has participated in varsity football, basketball, and track, as well as playing for his home in the Ranch's intramural athletics program. He has also been active in the non-sectarian chapel program, and has studied Food Service, one of the 16 vocations taught at Boys Ranch to supplement scholastic training.

"We are very proud of Calvin's accomplishment," stated Boys Ranch president, Virgil Patterson. "He received this honor on the basis of his citizenship, character, and demonstrated leadership ability."

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, located 36 miles northeast of Amarillo, was founded in 1939 by the late Cal Farley, and since that time, has helped over 2,000 needy and often delinquent boys grow up to become good citizens.

Fund-Raising Drive Set For Local Family

Friends of the Doyle Doggett family are sponsoring a fund-raising campaign for the family following a fire Sunday evening which completely destroyed the house in which they were living and all their possessions.

The house, located five miles east of Pampa, was owned by the Tarr estate and rented by the Doggett family. The house was insured but none of the Doggett family possessions in it was covered by insurance.

Donation containers have been placed in both banks here, and a fund-raising affair will be sponsored from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday in the livestock barn at Recreation Park. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Doggett is a Celanese employe and is in his mid-30s. He and his wife have three children—a boy and two girls, ranging in ages from 10 to 13.

Negro

(Continued From Page 1) vices" it can offer. The money is not parcelled out in specific areas, but will be used in districts which request help first, he said.

As introduction to their services, the team's workshop here Monday and today included two breakfasts, three conferences and two luncheons for teachers who will have integrated classes for the first or second time in September.

In the sessions, the 60 teachers attending saw films of simulated classroom experiences which could have happened in any American school with mixed races. After the films, the teachers reacted to the situation and commented if they agreed or disagreed with the solution.

To allow greater freedom of discussion, the teachers are asked not to transfer the filmed situation to their own schools but to consider only if the filmed personality was right or wrong. This takes discussion out of the realm of local personalities and allows the teachers to say what they really think, Williams said.

In general discussion after Monday's film, Negro teachers here commented that the Negro people "do not want to be called Negroes, or colored people, but prefer the use of their own name or when necessary, Negro."

"Our aim is to help the teachers, both Negro and white, get a feeling of comfort, of support from their fellow faculty members, the administration and their community."

"We are trying to bring people closer together to educate about human relations. In turn, we feel teachers will be able to teach better. The resource people we use are those who have taught in integrated classrooms and have a basis for their comments," Williams said.

Williams defined integration as "the moment when a person does not label another person as Negro, Anglo, or Mexican-American, but instead thinks of him as just another individual."

Metanet Club Has Officer Selection, Plans Anniversary

Metanet Quilting Club met recently in Mrs. J. B. Jones' home, 1018 S. Hobart, to elect officers for next year, and complete plans for a September breakfast.

New officers elected were Mrs. Earl L. O'Neal, president; Mrs. J. C. Longan, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Forrest B. Cloyd, reporter.

Plans were completed for a breakfast Sept. 7, marking the eighth anniversary of the Metanet Club's organization.

After the business meeting, members attended a social hour with Mrs. George Hamlin assisting Mrs. Jones.

Those attending were Meses. O. L. Johnson, George Hamlin, Wayne Neff, Forrest Cloyd, Charles Smiley, Raymond Neff, Earl O'Neal, and J. B. Jones. The first quilting of this year will be at the home of Mrs. J. B. Jones in September.

Pace, Roy Hodges, Mrs. Doc Haralson, Mrs. Cora Covey, Mrs. Homer Jamison, Mrs. Lydia Schilling, Mrs. Myra Dilley, Mrs. H. M. Petree, Mrs. Helen

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a beautiful wedding ceremony that was marred by a "practical joke" perpetrated on the bridegroom by a "close friend" of his. This idiot had painted "SAVE ME" on the shoes, so when the couple knelt for prayer, it could be seen by everyone.

I felt this was very poor taste, and would appreciate your comments.

M.D.
DEAR M.D.: I agree with you. And I'm printing your letter knowing full well that it may give some other "idiots" ideas, but hoping ALL bridegrooms will look at their soles for the work of heels.

DEAR ABBY: I'm nearly 15 and have a brother who is 16. This is my problem.

I have my own room with twin beds. My brother has his own room, too, but he has only a fan in his room and I have an air-conditioner in mine. With the warm weather here, my brother complains that the fan doesn't help much, so he wants to sleep in my room because of the air-conditioner.

I don't want him in with me because I think I'm too old to be sleeping with my older brother, and I want my privacy. My folks say I'm silly, and I should let him use the other twin bed. I would like your opinion.

BOILING
DEAR BOILING: It would help to know whether you are a girl, I don't blame you. If you have character.

Tepe, John Pundt, Eugene Watson and Adolph Bessantz.

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I was shocked and disgusted today when I took my 2 1/2-year-old daughter shopping with me. As we approached a certain toothpaste display she pointed to it and shouted, "Oh look, Mommy, SEX appeal!" I nearly fainted. This is just one example of how TV commercials influence young children. Another thing with regard to the boob tube:

What good does it do for parents to try to teach their children not to make personal, insulting remarks to people when they see it done day after day in television commercials?

I have a friend whose little 4-year-old boy tells people that they have "baaad breath, body odor and dandruff." Everyone laughs and thinks it's cute.

Well, I don't, so please print my letter with the following statement: I WILL NOT BUY products whose commercials offend me, and I hope other mothers who feel the same will follow suit.

BOBBY'S MOM

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents who go off on a vacation and leave their children with relatives, and they return on a later date than scheduled without notifying the babysitters?

TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF
DEAR TAKEN: Not much. And if you are ever again taken advantage of in this manner, remember, you asked for it.

County Employs Nurses' Director

CANADIAN (Spl)—Miss Mildred Wilkinson of Des Moines, N. Mexico, has been hired by Hephill County Memorial Hospital as Director of Nurses. Miss Wilkinson is a registered nurse.

Miss Mary Riley recently took over the duties of hospital administrator.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can really put that new plan into effect with much vitality and a dynamic quality that can give it potential success for a long while to come. You are also able to look at anything standing in the way of your progress and get rid of it with much less trouble than before this time. Show your character.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Talking over with experts the best way to get rid of your obligations is fine since you can then do so most efficiently. Get that wonderful prosperous feeling again. The romantic can be really charming tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You understand much better what others expect from you and you then work very efficiently and get the success you want. Don't mull over any bills you may have. Also make sure that you pay pressing bills.

GENI (May 21 to June 21) Try not to waste a single moment in doing those things for which you are especially suited, and which give you pleasure. Make time for some health improvement, also. Don't neglect yourself and do too much for others.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You need to get out of the doldrums very badly, so contact the right person and get going early. Doing some special favor for the one you love can break that wall now between you. Be happy again.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to make changes within the realm of your home, and this can lead to real success if you are positive. Buy those comforts that you need and perk up your living right now.

VIROO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Concentrate upon how to improve your lot in life, whether of a personal or business nature. One close to you who is very intelligent could give you wonderful advice you need right now. Be grateful.

LIBRAS (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) Do whatever pleases you the most where your assets are concerned. Tone up properly so that you are really proud of it. One in business gives expert advice that saves things for you considerably. Be sure of your purpose, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If there is something you want today, find the right ethical method of getting it. Make those decisions that are "carefully" so that the future will be happier for you. Take the right person into your confidence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Converse with blight and state what your finest ideas are, though he may at first not really approve, but will be convinced later. Gain support. Then into outside activity that benefits present position greatly. Assert yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Close ties can help you to expand in the right direction now if you confide in them, get their ideas, advice. Be more alert to the modern. You are apt to be so tied down to the set that you miss out while others are getting ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to get into vocation with a vim since you are never happier than when hard at work on some project or other. Dynamic persons with much experience give you important advice. Be more friendly than you have in the past. Enjoy it more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day to study whatever is scientific in it, nature or man, or give you an education in some subject in which you are tremendously interested. Contact one who has much knowledge in such subject. Learn the salient points first-hand.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, ... or she, will be one of those very intense young people who can get so engrossed in some subject that nothing else counts for the time being. Teach early to be ever alert to current conditions, anything of importance that is going on around him, or her, also.

Fragrant Bubbles Trend Increases in Bath Water

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI)—The statistics tell the story of a trend that's emerged in the United States only in the last five years.

It is the trend to the elegant bath. Not just to get clean, but to loll and relax in the luxury of fragrant waters. The evolution of bathing traces from knights of old in tubs awash with rose petals to Cleopatra dipping in milk instead of water, to the emergence today of the utilitarian bathroom where the children's toys, father's shaving gear, a hamper of laundry and a bag of hair curlers compete for space.

But this utilitarian concept is changing rapidly, report the people interested in sale of bath products. Industry sources say that last year alone, some $120 million was spent on fragrance products for bathing, an increase of $40 million over 1966.

American women spend 24 per cent of their total fragrance dollars on bath products, the most popular item being dusting powder, bath and body oils, foamy milk baths and fragrance soaps.

What has caused the sharp increase? Women finally have shaken off the Victorian mores about nudity, say the experts.

For them, the bathroom usually offers the sole sanctuary from the domestic routine and family intrusion. And one source says that "the person seeking to calm down or to forget anxieties or tensions is essentially seeking an escape. And the tub serves, like sleep, as the great escape."

Joy Leslie, a motivational research consultant for elegant perfumes, has amassed an amazing amount of material on the history of the bath, and has researched the effects of color in the company's line of bath products and their packaging.

Red, for instance, because it's "dynamic," has a symbolism of good health and magic healing. White was chosen for its symbolism of light, purity and association with richness, glory and splendor.

The idea of bathing is comparatively new to Americans, even though they long have preached the cleanliness is next to Godliness rule. But only a couple of centuries ago, it was considered scandalous to immerse the entire body in water. President John Quincy Adams had to sneak out of his mansion before dawn to dip in the Potomac.

THE MODIFIED BIKINI, summer's important swimshape, has gone feminine and flowery under the romantic influence of the season. A pretty preview of what to expect at the beach this summer is a brief two-piece suit of white pique covered with embroidered flowers (left). A smart example of the concealing two-piece is the tank top (right) of multicolor embroidery in a bold circle pattern over solid color shorts.

Television In Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor motioned to her lovely little daughter, Liza, and said:
"Look at her. It's like carrying around a photograph." We were chatting in a film studio in England and I could see what she meant. Liza is the image of her father, the late showman Mike Todd, whose death in a plane crash 10 years ago was the great tragedy of the star's life.
Miss Taylor loved Mike as she now loves Richard Burton. Against the exuberant presence of Burton and the poignant memory of Todd the other men in her life are shadows.
So when Mike Todd Jr., set about producing an ABC-TV special about his father he had no trouble at all persuading his former stepmother to tell the cameras for the first time the story of how the most famous beauty in the world became the wife of a high-stakes gambler nearly twice her age.
"I'm married to a girl who's a few years my junior," Mike once said. "As a matter of fact, she's a few years my junior's junior."
The special, "Around the World of Mike Todd," is scheduled for Sunday Sept. 8. Gypsy Rose Lee, Orson Welles, Ethel Merman and others link the newsreels, home movies and film footage that help piece together the life story of a fascinating personality.
Todd's courtship of Miss Taylor was typically unconventional. They had met at several Hollywood parties while he was producing "Around the World in Eighty Days."
Fun to be With
"It was fun being with him and I was attracted to him, but not overly," Miss Taylor recalled. "The day after my separation from Michael Wilding, Mike called me and said he had to see me right away. He just told me, I mean, that was all there was to it. He said I was to meet him at MGM at 2:30 and to meet him outside the administration building."
Mike was nearly an hour late and Miss Taylor, hardly knowing why she simply didn't just leave, was sipping a soft drink in one of the executive offices then:
"Living with Mike Todd was like living with a circus or a volcano. He never walked into a room. He erupted. He was a marvelous husband and a marvelous man."

Lobby For Masculine Mystique At Work?

By GAY PAULEY
 NEW YORK (UPI)—I suspect the men finally are striking back, once more asserting who's boss around the house. Two matters create this suspicion that a subtle, powerful lobby for the masculine mystique is at work.

The other day it was an article on codding the "frail" husband to lengthen his life. The article, appearing in the New York State Health Department's "Health News" told how to help him relax from the tensions of today's earning and living, how to rearrange his diet to get his waistline back to the day you married him.

That article mentioned in this column brought a 10-page handwritten reponse of total anger from a woman who shall remain anonymous; but she wondered just what right any man has to ask the soft touch.

Now, across the desk comes "A Married Woman's Guide to the Married Man", guaranteed to set that one woman correspondent and others who feel as she does off on a new wave of ire.

"Once papa was all," declares this humorous look at home life then and now. "Man ruled his household, there was no doubt about that, and father took his ease each evening in Morris chair or porch swing."

"It was a time when married woman respected married man for his knowledge and with grandiose expertise, he could lecture learnedly on the state of the world."

Then one fine day "someone, somewhere ate an artichoke and lived to tell about it. Civilization was on the march to a more gracious way of life. Because of it, the relationship between married man and married woman was changing. Married woman was becoming bolder; married man found some of his grand rights eroding and his status slipping. Out went his moose head and the great stuffed wall-eyed pike! Out went the picture of Uncle Eugene with the Second Pennsylvania Rifles at Shiloh!"

Finally says the publication, we've come to an "emancipated age, where everything is hip or mod or smashing and groovy, and everyone is young forever and informed up to and beyond their ears about everything."

"The doomsday cries of the newscasters ring out over the crackle and crunch at the breakfast table and everywhere there are devils and dire warnings. "Is it any wonder that married man sometimes marches off to his daily duties with trembling fingers and twitching eyes and a face the color of modeling clay?"

You might know who's compile a publication all out of the male. Why the Cigar Institute of America, of course, in defense of most of its customer. (Never mind that some women also like cigars).

Then the guide turns to the business of keeping the marriage happy by catering to "himself!" that noble soul who goes forth each cruel Monday morning, jaunty and fresh and crisp from shower and shave. Off to the bitter wars of business, to earn the keep for all in his castle. (Never mind, either, that there are some 29 million working women in the U.S.A.)

But again, papa should be all. "Sometimes, you must help your man put on his image the way you help a small lad button up his Doctor Dentons." It says, "It's as simple as that... what he seeks is your approval and admiration and the same respect his grandfather was accorded in his household when he ruled it with majesty."

Get rid of some of the feminine gimeracks around, for instance. "It can grind a man to a fine cutting edge to find his bed chamber is really a boudoir. It mocks his masculinity to tie his tie at a dressing table with a flouncy skirt."

Off The Top

By WES DUMONT
Pampa News Sports Editor

With the coming of the football season, many fans have written requesting information on the sport.

Here are a few letters selected at random from the many received:

Question: How many players on a football team?
Answer: As many players as the coach can get into the game without the referee noticing over eleven.

Question: What are the measurements on the cheerleader's skirts?
Answer: It varies. A lot depends on whether any female teacher has protested to her local teacher's organization if the skirt is too long.

Question: Who is the most important man on the field?
Answer: The referee.

Question: What makes one team win, the other lose?
Answer: The referee.

Question: Should a doctor be at each game?
Answer: Yes, in case the losing coach gets sick.

Question: Do you think a coach should ever make an opposing team look bad by running up a big score?
Answer: It depends on his material for next year.

Question: What makes a great college football team?
Answer: Money.

Question: Can a coach quarterback from the sidelines?
Answer: Yes, if he's deceptive enough.

Question: What makes an All-American football player?
Answer: A good sports writer who keeps tagging a player, "All American candidate, All-American possibility, All-American probability."

Question: When was the first forward pass thrown?
Answer: It was thrown simultaneously by a number of college teams on a given day.

Question: Why does the home team have such an advantage?
Answer: They don't have to fight traffic like the visitors on the long journey back home.

Tigers Snap Loss Streak

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

It's been a 500-season for Earl Wilson but the Detroit Tigers know that when a pitcher wins can be as important as how often he wins. Wilson, a 22-game winner last season when the Tigers tied for second place, squared his record at 11-11 Monday night when he beat the Chicago White Sox 3-0 and ended Detroit's four-game losing streak.

The victory restored the Tigers' American League lead to 5½ games as the Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with the Oakland Athletics.

Wilson luxuriated in the clubhouse following the victory by bathing his arm in ice as Sandy Koufax. He was only a .500 pitcher. But he knew he had stopped a potential Tiger skid and he could play the staff leader even though Denny McLain has won 25 games for them.

Koufax Did It
"Sure I bathe my arm in ice," he said, "Sandy Koufax did it and that's good enough reason isn't it?"

Wilson drove in the first Tiger run when he was hit with a pitched ball by Cisco Carlos in the second inning and drove in their second run with a single in the seventh.

The Orioles won the first game of their doubleheader 8-2 and then lost 2-0. The Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians 3-0. The California Angels won 10-2 after a 6-1 loss to the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators scored a 13-inning 1-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins after losing 4-2 in other American League games.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5, the San Francisco Giants downed the Chicago Cubs 1-0, the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Atlanta Braves 4-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 4-3.

McNally 5 RBI's
Dave McNally drove in five runs with the first grand slam homer of his career and a single and pitched a six-hitter for his ninth straight victory and 17th of the season as the Orioles won their opener 8-2. But the Orioles lost ground in the AL race when Jim Hunter and Diego Segui combined in a five-hitter to win the second game 2-0.

Jim Lonborg's three-hitter and Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double in the first inning carried the Red Sox to their victory over the Indians. It was the first complete game and fourth victory of the season for Lonborg, who won 22 games and was the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1967.

Jim McGlothlin pitched a four-hitter and Roger Repoz hit a two-run homer that capped a four-run fourth inning as the Angels bounced back to beat the Yankees after Fritz Peterson pitched a four-hitter and hit a two-run double in the first game.

Buffalo Coach May Regret Fining Players After Loss

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Coach Joe Collier may look back in anger over a move that jeopardized the Buffalo Bills' American Football League title chances.

Incensed over the club's "shoddy" play during Friday night's loss to Houston, Collier Monday fined every Buffalo player for their inept efforts. The men who paid the highest price were quarterback Jack Kemp and rookie halfback Gary McDermott.

The Bills responded with an extra surge of energy on each play during a closed scrimmage after Collier called in newsmen to disclose his new "get touch" policy.

Kemp became a victim of the hard charging forward wall during the scrimmage session. The ligaments in his right knee tore under the strain of a vicious tackle by 265 pound defensive end Ron McDole on a pass play. Kemp will be out for the season.

Freshman halfback Gary McDermott walked off the field with a dislocated right elbow, grief-stricken because the starting job he won from Keith Lincoln faded with the injury. He'll miss six weeks.

The Los Angeles Rams reported halfback Les Josephson will be sidelined for at least four weeks with a torn leg muscle and strong safety Chuck Lamson undergoes surgery Wednesday for removal of torn cartilage in his left knee.

St. Louis emerged from its Sunday victory over the New York Giants with defensive back Jerry Stovall a casualty. The club said Stovall received a severe contusion in the right thigh and internal bleeding when he was kicked during the game. He'll be out three to four weeks.

Atlanta reduced its squad to 49 men by placing five players on waivers, including tight end Duane Allen, a six-year NFL veteran claimed on waivers from Chicago three weeks ago. Minnesota sent pass catcher Bucky Pope back to Atlanta and nullified their deal with the Falcons. Pope has a pulled hamstring muscle.

The New York jets made their biggest roster slash when the AFL club dropped eight players Monday. Included was lineman Jim Harris, a three-year veteran from Utah State. Miami released kicking specialist Booth Lestieg.

Like Mantle, Detroit Star Has Long Medical History

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Poor Al Kaline.

Like he says, "I never get the little things. It's never anything minor with me."

He was out more than at month already this season with a broken arm and now he has come down with a pulled muscle in his thigh. Kaline injured the thigh running out a double in Sunday's opener between the Tigers and Yankees and aggravated the condition when he swung at a pitch in the nightcap.

The Detroit people estimate their 33-year-old outfielder - first baseman will be sidelined a least a few days.

But as injuries go, this one is nothing for Al Kaline. He and Mickey Mantle are thinking of opening up their own emergency clinic.

Back in 1959 Kaline suffered a fractured cheekbone. In 1962 he broke his collarbone saving a Detroit victory with a diving catch on the final play of the game. In 1965 he cracked his ribs and underwent an operation on his foot. Last year he was out with a broken finger and earlier this year Lew Krausse of Oakland hit him with a pitch and broke his arm.

Now this:
Before he hurt himself at Yankee Stadium Sunday, Al Kaline pulled a chair over to his locker, sat down on it and talked about how it feels to be with a ball club that has just clinched the pennant.

Never On Pennant Winner

He wasn't talking from personal experience because the Tigers are wobbling around a little and haven't clinched this one yet and Al Kaline never has been with a previous pennant winner in his life.

"I've seen it on television, though, and I could tell what a tremendous feeling it is," he said. "I'm talking about one of those pennant clinchers they celebrate in the clubhouse. I saw grown men so happy they cried."

The closest Al Kaline ever got to being any part of that, live, that is, and not on TV, was the final day of last season. The Tigers still had a chance for at least a pennant tie right up until the 27th putout of their second game of a doubleheader with the Angels. But they lost the game and the Red Sox, who were watching on TV in Boston, went ahead and had themselves a second celebration. They had their first one after beating the Twins.

Despite the fact the Tigers had a rough time here over the weekend and watched their lead whittled to five games, Kaline feels he is closer to his first world series right now than he was on the final day last year.

Texas Senior Decides He's Likely Winner

By JACK WILKINSON
UPI Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Rik Massengale, a big, good-looking Texan who won the western Amateur last week, scanned the demanding Scioto Country Club course Monday and decided he has a good chance of capturing the 68th U.S. Amateur golf championship.

But it took only a walking tour of Scioto to convince Rik that "There's not much room for error."

Massengale, whose older brother Don is a veteran member of the pro golf tour, was among the vanguard of young amateurs—and some not so young—who took advantage of uncommonly cool weather to shoot practice rounds over the tight 6,762 yard, par 35-70 Scioto course where the U.S. amateur begins Wednesday.

There's no defending champion since Bob Dickson, the 1967 winner, turned professional. But the field contains plenty of threats such as Vinnie Giles of Lynchburg, Va., who lost to Dickson by one stroke; three-time British amateur champion Mike Bonallack, who is seeking to equal Dickson's 1967 feat of winning the British and U.S. amateur titles in the same year; 1964 champion Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; 1966 winner Gary Cowan of Canada; and, of course, Rik Massengale.

"I haven't thought much about turning pro," the 21-year-old University of Texas senior said. "Right now I'm looking forward to my final year at Texas. We've got a good team there—we beat Houston three times last year."

"I feel I have some impetus going after winning the Western," he added. "I think I have a chance to win here. I'm playing well and putting well. I started to put a lot better last week. Before that I was having some trouble."

The Scioto course, where Jack Nicklaus learned much of his game, is still a member and maintains a large house just across the street, is one where according to Massengale, "you have to hit every club in your bag, and you've got to drive straight."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Pollsters Of 1948

For those who, through some inner compulsion, feel a need to mark an X or pull a lever come November and being unable to see any real difference in the various candidates, resolve to vote for the winner picked by the pollsters, a bit of historical review is in order.

Millions of Americans who may vote in the November presidential election are too young to remember the humiliation of the public opinion pollsters in 1948. And, since candidates this year are openly relying on the polls, we thought it might be a proper precaution to review what happened just 20 years ago this summer.

The story actually begins in 1946, when voters in an off-year congressional election turned out dozens of Democrat congressmen, giving the Republican Party control of Congress for the first time in 18 years.

The gloom of Democrat Party leaders was exemplified by Sen. J. William Fulbright, who seriously proposed that President Harry Truman resign from office, after nominating a Republican to succeed him.

"It will place the responsibility of running the government on one party, and prevent a stalemate," said Fulbright. Whereupon, President Truman called Fulbright "half-bright"—a label which has been widely (and erroneously) attributed to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy.

In any event, in that memorable 1948 campaign, there were four candidates contending for the presidency, Truman for the Democrats, Dewey for the Republicans, Henry A. Wallace for the Progressive Party, and then Democrat Sen. Strom Thurmond for the "Dixiecrats."

The major public opinion polls in 1948 were those conducted by Gallup, Roper and Crossley. And they were unanimous in predicting the election of Thomas E. Dewey.

Two months before election day, Mr. Roper wrote that "my whole inclination is to predict the election of Thomas E. Dewey by a heavy margin and devote my time and effort to other things."

The final Gallup poll, released shortly before election day, showed Dewey getting 49.5 per cent of the vote, and Truman 44.5 per cent. Newsweek polled 50 of the nation's leading political pundits who without exception, predicted that Dewey would be elected. Crossley flippanly dismissed a suggestion that the polls could be wrong.

So what happened? Truman won 49.3 per cent of the popular vote. Dewey picked up a mere 44.5 per cent—an almost precise reversal of the projections of the final Gallup poll.

The politicians and their hangers-on who appear to put such stock in what polls show, may not be able to remember 1948. But the voters will do well to remember.

The "public" opinion polls can be totally wrong in 1968 as they were in 1948.

Zip Schnipp

To zip or not to zip one mail seems to be increasingly the question; other than with news columnist Doctor George Boardman, that is, who, long ago, gave his opinion of the Post Office Department's "Zip Code" scheme in one word, "Idiotic."

But after long suffering, apparently, some business concerns are beginning to entertain justified doubts about the Zip thing; not only about the extra expense by having to zip their bulk mailings, but doubts, too, as to whether the zip, if not actually slowing down delivery, really speeds up mail movement to any appreciable extent.

The management of Editor and Publisher Magazine is a case in point. Stimulated by an ad released by the Advertising Council for use in the nation's media which lauded the POD's Zip, the Editor and Publisher people decided to subject the Council's claims to an acid test with a little experiment. The results of the tests were reported in an article written by Robert U. Brown published in the magazine's August 17 issue.

For the benefit to those who are now having doubts that the Zip is the greatest thing since invention of the left-handed monkey wrench, these details and results of the experiment as extracted from the Brown article will be instructive if not amusing:

"On Monday afternoon July

29 we mailed 36 letters from this office at 850 Third Avenue, N. Y. 10022. They were deposited in a mail chute on the eighth floor of our building and were picked up from the ground floor box by a postman at 5:01 p.m. "Twelve went to our office at 360 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60601; 12 went to 85 Post Street, San Francisco, California 94104; and 12 went to 1830 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, California 90057. The last two are addresses of our West Coast advertising representatives.

"Each office received eight letters with regular postage stamps as follows: One with a six-cent stamp without Zip Code; a six-cent stamp with Zip Code; two letters with 10-cent airmail stamps one with and one without Zip Code; a six-cent stamp plus a 30-cent special delivery without Zip Code and another one with Zip Code.

"In addition four letters were meter-stamped as follows: one with six-cents without Zip Code, another without Zip Code, a 10-cent airmail without Zip Code and another 10-cent airmail with Zip Code. "All three offices had been alerted to watch for arrival and each one (letter) was time stamped upon delivery. (continued below)

Results of the Test

"The fastest way to get a letter to Chicago from New York called for a 30-cent special delivery stamp.

"At 9:05 a. m. on the 30th, the next morning, three letters were delivered in Chicago; the two six-cent plus special delivery with and without Zip Code, and the 10-cent plus special delivery without Zip Code. The 10-cent plus special delivery with Zip Code didn't arrive until 10:37 a.m.

"Right behind at 11:45 a.m. came the stamped and metered six-cent letters without Zip Code plus one with Zip Code and six-cent stamp; also the metered 10-center without Zip Code.

"The other metered 10-center with Zip Code arrived at 1:53

p.m. but the two carrying 10-cent stamps with and without Zip Code arrived the following day, the 31st, at 9:15 a.m.

"The fastest delivery to San Francisco was without Zip Code and without airmail stamps. The letter carrying a six-cent without the code number was delivered the next day, the 30th at 11:45 a.m. The next two to arrive at 1:20 p.m. that day, carried the 10-cent stamps plus special delivery one with and one without Zip Code.

"The remaining nine letters were all delivered at 8:30 a.m. on the 31st.

"The track record in Los Angeles was a little better. Fifty percent of the letters arrived the day after posting in New York.

The Doctor Says

Treatment of Uveitis Must Be Started Early
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A mother writes that her son, 14, has uveitis in both eyes. He has had three hemorrhages in one eye in the last two months. The doctor froze the eye to stop the bleeding. This mother wants to know what caused this trouble, whether there is a cure for it and what the final outcome will be.

Uveitis is an inflammatory disease of the layer of blood vessels just under the white of the eyeball. It is always serious in that it often results in blindness. It may be caused by tuberculosis, rheumatic fever or diabetes. The treatment, which must be directed at the underlying cause, must be started early in the course of the disease if it is to be successful.

Q—Our daughter, 8, is blind in her left eye. This was probably caused by a birth injury. The eye doctor says that the retina is detached and that she has a posterior synchia. What does that mean? Can anything be done for this condition?

A—The iris of your daughter's eye is stuck to the lens. It is doubtful that anything can be done to restore the vision of her left eye because of the pronounced disuse.

Q—The pupils of my 3-year-old granddaughter's eyes are so large that her eyes look black. Her pediatrician has never said anything about this. Is there any need to worry?

A—If the child has had no severe injury to her head and if her vision is normal, there is no need to worry.

Q—My brother and his wife have three children, 7, 9, and 11. I am living with them and am very worried because the children are allowed to stay up till 10 on school nights and later on weekends. They get up every morning at 7. Will this hurt their health?

A—I assume that these children no longer take naps. Short naps are a good idea at any age. In general, a 7-year-old should get about 11½, a 9-year-old should about 10½ and an 11-year-old about 9½ hours sleep every night, some can get along on less, especially if their hours are regular, including weekends, and if they are not subjected to too much excitement just before retiring.

One way to tell whether a child is getting too little sleep is to note whether he is irritable or cranky in the early evening and appears to be tired at breakfast time. I'm afraid, however, there is not much you can do to regulate a household that is not your own.

Wit and Whimsy

Son—Daddy, why is a man only allowed to have one wife?

Father—Son, when you grow older you will understand that the law protects those who are unable to protect themselves.

with the 10-cent plus special delivery and Zip Code at 11:22 a.m. on the 30th. All the metered mail arrived at 2:10 p.m. that day as did the one with six-cent stamp plus Zip Code.

"All the others including three with special delivery stamps arrived the following day, the 31st, at 9:30 a. m.

"If anyone has followed this bit of scientific analysis thus far, make of it what you will.

"We ended up," the article concluded, "proving very little except that a Zip Code is not a guarantee of speedy delivery, a first class letter to the West Coast with six-cents postage will arrive just as soon as an airmail letter in most instances; a special delivery stamp (30 cents) means something in Chicago and San Francisco but nothing in Los Angeles."

We, tending to agree with Doctor Boardman, think the experiment proved something else. That postal patrons are being had.

Humphrey Aides, Confident Of His Nomination, Oppose Any Move to "Buy" Campaign Support of His Opponents.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN GOLDSMITH

Chicago: Some of Vice President Humphrey's key campaign aides, confident of victory here, are firmly opposing any convention move to "buy" the campaign support of Humphrey's top rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination.

These Humphrey lieutenants have been conspicuously conciliatory in the procedural preliminaries for the convening Democratic National Convention. They have gone out of their way to impress arriving delegates with Humphrey's strong desire for post-convention party unity.

They do not now believe, however, that Humphrey needs to make any personal concession to Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, Minn., or Senator George McGovern, S.D., after Humphrey wins the presidential nomination as they confidently expect him to do. Specially, they do not think Humphrey needs to tap McCarthy or McGovern as his running mate in a party-healing gesture.

That was the technique adopted in 1960 by the late John F. Kennedy when he named the then Senate Democratic Leader, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, as the Vice Presidential nominee, after Johnson had waged a corrosive campaign against him for the convention's top prize.

Humphrey aides think the 1960 selection of Johnson materially strengthened Kennedy, especially in Texas and the South, and contributed to Kennedy's very narrow election victory. They do not see that McCarthy or McGovern could make that kind of a contribution to a Democratic ticket this time.

Indeed, some Humphrey aides, after weeks of soft-peddling anti-McCarthy sentiments, are now questioning whether McCarthy's widely advertised charisma would really help a Humphrey candidacy. Some of them are inclined to feel that McCarthy's supporters are, for the most part, youthful opponents of the war in Vietnam who will end up on the sidelines in November.

One Humphrey adviser, discussing McCarthy and McGovern in terms of events after Chicago, told us contemptuously: "The time is coming, when they'll need us more than we will ever need them."

CAMPAIGN SUPPORT—That is, of course, a reminder that McCarthy and McGovern, who have spoken of withholding support from Humphrey, will be campaigning themselves soon, and looking for help.

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

At last it has come a graduate degree program in sex education. This is a study for the elementary school teachers and will begin in Sept. at New York university's school of education.

There will be 20 entries in the sex knowledge class for the first year, and they say it will lead to a degree. What kind of degree? Why, a Master of Arts, first year, and they say it will lead to a degree. What kind of degree? Why, a Master of Arts that's what.

I think the trouble is there are too many people running around loose who have got a pretty good sex education already—even teachers. Maybe they ain't got a degree in it, but they are masters just the same, I tell you.

On the other hand maybe we could all use a little knowledge in the matter of being able to tell one sex from the other. It can be done, but it ain't easy. Me and My Blouse & Skirt was settin in the car the other day when two figures went walking down the street. We didn't see them until they had passed by.

They both had on slacks and was wearin long bobbed hair and the B & S says, "Is the boy the one on the right?" And I says, "No. It must be Nellie cause Sam don't shake like that!"

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., was the first to award a degree to a dummy, a ventriloquist's dummy at any rate. The World Almanac says Dean Ralph Dennis of Northwestern's School of Speech conferred the degree of "Master of Innuendo and Snappy Comeback" on Charlie McCarthy during the Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy hour of Aug. 28, 1938.

Hubert Humphrey is a man of ideas, but also a man of action. He is close to the heart of the people of America. He knows its people, their strength and their failings, their hopes and aspirations. . . . Hubert Humphrey is a man who has demonstrated a clear understanding of our international problems, and of our responsibilities. He has insisted that our world leadership must be not only material and military, but also intellectual and spiritual.

Hubert Humphrey does not support or offer a watered-down bargain basement variety of democracy. His demand is for a measure of dedication, and inspired confidence that in a democratic system we can progressively achieve a more perfect society, based on justice and upon freedom." The speech was delivered by then Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1952 in nominating Humphrey as Minnesota's favorite son presidential candidate. Humphrey aides have no plans, for the present, to make any convention use of the document.

FEAR DESTROYS FREEDOM

"I fear you not, and so I'm FREE."
Some persons believe we must gain freedom before we can overcome fear. But it is the other way around. We must overcome fear before we gain freedom. This is especially important in rearing our children.

Fear is a crippling force. We should, therefore, spend ample time and thought helping our children to avoid it. Take, for instance, the dashing waves the driving rain, or thunder and lightning; children can be induced either to fear them or to enjoy them—safely, of course. The parents' own reactions to these events will play an important role in the child's attitude.

Folklore reflects how parents of various cultures attach great importance to overcoming fear. As an illustration, the child's story of Shingebiss, the happy little brown duck, comes to us from the Chippewa Indians. According to this story, the north wind was determined to destroy Shingebiss. He first tried freezing the lakes so that Shingebiss would have no food. But Shingebiss had no fear; he went elsewhere for food. No matter what the north wind tried, Shingebiss seemed to outwit him at every turn. North wind finally resolved to blow Shingebiss' home, put out his fire, and freeze him outright. As North Wind approached the area, he heard Shingebiss singing: "I fear you not, and so I'm FREE."

North Wind, North Wind, fierce of feature, You are still my fellow creature; Blow your worst, you can't freeze me; I fear you not, and so I'm FREE.

At this point, North Wind realized that the conquest was hopeless. It was evident that Shingebiss knew how you can be free only by first conquering fear. The Chippewa Indian, as reflected in this bit of folklore knew the importance of courage attained this way.

As another illustration, the Brahman Indians are reported to have an interesting custom for training their youth to become fearless. Each youth is sent alone into the jungle to sit for an extended time in meditation while the wild animals roam about. He is told that if he is unafraid he will not be harmed. One admires the courage of the parents—as well as of the youth.

Fear is a personal thing and each individual must overcome it by himself. To stand alone and overcome fear is necessary to acquiring freedom, not the other way around.

Those parents who want their children to understand and live by the principles of responsible freedom will start by courageously trained them to overcome fear.

Pull Up A Chair

Although Thomas Nast, the legendary political cartoonist, is credited with making the donkey and the elephant the symbols of the Democratic and Republican parties respectively there is evidence that these two animals were used for that purpose in earlier campaigns. Cartoons of the 1830s depicted President Andrew Jackson riding a "Jack (son) — ass. And an elephant at the Republican convention held at the famous Wigwam in Chicago in 1860. Historians generally agree that Nast popularized both symbols, but say his use of them derived from his close study of political cartoonists of an earlier day.

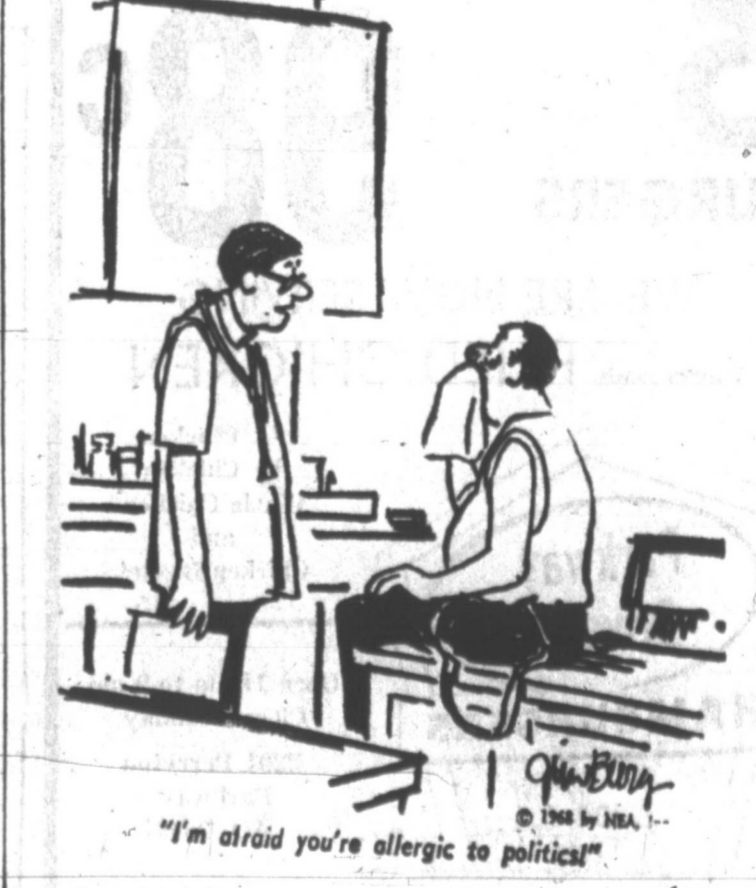

Today's smile: A medical student asked an elderly clerk in a public library: "Are you familiar with Gary's Anatomy?" The elderly library assistant replied "Young man, I want you to know that I'm not familiar with any man's anatomy."

The proper pronunciation of the fictional character "Tarzan" has been the object of speculation for many years. Some pronounced the name without accenting any syllables and others by accenting the first syllable. Well, the final authority should be the late Edgar Rice Burroughs, creator of the jungle dweller, and he pronounced it "TAR-zan," a c c e n t i n g first syllable. That mystery was cleared up recently when an old recording of Burroughs' voice was discovered among some forgotten files in the author's warehouse.

Logan Heads Fast-Growing State Political Movement

By DAVID ANDERSON
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Bard A. Logan, the biggest loser in modern Texas politics, is now the leader of the fastest-growing grassroots movement in the state.

Since 1954, Logan has run for public office five times as a candidate of the Constitution or Conservative party. In his best race, for the U. S. Senate in 1958, he got just under 4 per cent of the vote.

But he is now chairman of George Wallace's American Party of Texas, and for the first time in his life, he has the regular party politicians worried. Democrats and Republicans alike are impressed with — and fearful of — Wallace strength in Texas.

"When I first got in this thing," Logan said, "I told my wife I had a very odd feeling about it. I couldn't put my finger on it.

"Then after two or three weeks I realized what it was — this time I had a winner. It was something new to me, because I had been on the losing side so long."

The American party stunned everyone last spring by signing up 92,000 Wallace supporters. The party needed less than 16,000 to get the former Alabama governor's name on the ballot.

Major party politicians now concede Wallace up to 500,000 Texas votes and Logan thinks he will get at least 1 million.

"I predict we'll get 41-52 per cent," he said.

Logan, 56, is a soft-spoken man with distinguished-looking gray hair and heavy black eyebrows. He regards an interviewer with a slightly suspicious gaze.

He lived in San Antonio and makes his living publishing criss-cross street directions for Austin, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

He was a conservative Republican activist when he came to Texas from Indiana 28 years ago, but he quickly discovered that in Texas at that time, "The Republican party just barely kept itself alive on patronage purposes."

In 1950 Logan got involved in right-wing, third-party politics by co-founding the Constitution party.

He has been involved in that kind of politics ever since, and his pro-constitution conservative philosophy has taken him as far right as the John Birch Society.

"I've been a member of the Birch Society for five years and I'm proud of it," he said. "People who are opposed to the Birchers just don't know what it's about."

He is dedicated to the third-party approach.

"My idea is to use it as a balance of power," he said.

"Every time I ran for office I was well aware of my chances, but I was trying to prove that the third-party route is the route we have to go if we're going to get pro-constitution conservative type people in office."

The Wallace movement already has served this purpose, Logan said, because "We've altered the speeches of Richard Nixon; we've got him talking about law and order."

Although Logan was midwife at the birth of the American Party last year, two other men deserve more credit for its early successes.

Former State Sen. Weaver Moore was state chairman during the successful petition drive last spring. He resigned in April.

Hall Timanus, a Houston lawyer, was and still is the major Wallace contact in Texas.

But Logan was involved in the movement from the beginning and right now he is the man in charge. The major campaign decisions are made in Alabama, but Logan runs the party in Texas from a crowded, cluttered office in a sleek 11-story office building in Austin. Behind his desk hangs a larger-than-life portrait of George Wallace.

Logan arranged a meeting in Texas in September, 1967, with Bill Scherrer, a member of Wallace's staff. Many of those present were Logan's colleagues from the Constitution party.

They laid plans for a new party for Wallace, and formally organized it a month later in Dallas. Logan was elected vice chairman.

The new party profited greatly from the Constitution and conservative parties. Both of the old parties turned over their card files, and Logan estimated this gave the American party 35,000 names.

Logan said his personal contacts in the Constitution party were valuable.

"I got to know these men, where to find them, and what they would be thinking. You find out about people who are willing to stand on principle whether they win or not."

Apparently Logan also profited from his Birch Society contacts. Several of the American party's 31 executive committee members are Birchers, "but not a majority," Logan said.

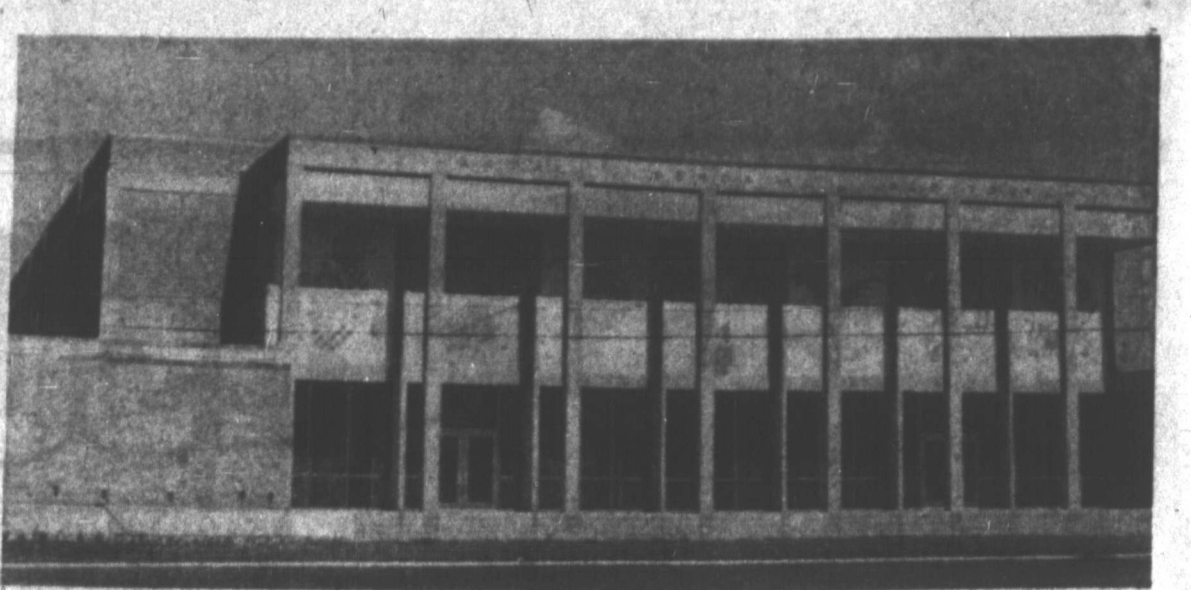

To Logan, the Wallace phenomenon is gratifying but not surprising.

"With all due respect to George Wallace, he is just the symbol, the symbol of the type of pro-constitution, conservative government that people have been waiting for for 30 years."

"Wallace is the man of the hour. He's a great guy, one of the finest persons I've ever met."

BONES, BOTTLES AND ROCKS are transformed into artistic creations by Juni Dunklin, The St. Petersburg, Fla., resident likes painting bleached animal bones because "the finished work is always different, since they're organic, and the paint sometimes sinks in; other times, it runs."

DEDICATION SET — The $500,000 Harrah Memorial Auditorium on the Wayland campus, Plainview, is to be dedicated in a series of four programs beginning with ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 8. A founders' day, institutional observance and entertainment for youth are set during the week.

There are other Birchers involved at lower levels—a fact that has caused at least two resignations by Wallace workers.

"Mostly these incidents involve overzealous Birchers putting Birch Society literature in Wallace headquarters," Logan said. "But it doesn't belong in Wallace headquarters."

He said the Birchers also are good financial contributors.

"By and large they're not wealthy people," he said, "but they're willing to lay down money."

To Logan, the Wallace phenomenon is gratifying but not surprising.

"With all due respect to George Wallace, he is just the symbol, the symbol of the type of pro-constitution, conservative government that people have been waiting for for 30 years."

"Wallace is the man of the hour. He's a great guy, one of the finest persons I've ever met."

This Parrot's Vocabulary Is As 'Blue' As His Feathers

LONDON (UPI)—A complaint against Charlie the parrot, who has a vocabulary as blue as his feathers, had been made to the Noise Abatement Society.

The protest was lodged by antique dealer Ronald Bowen, who walked past Charlie, chained to a railing outside his owners' house.

Bowen claimed the parrot said "89999".

"It was the foulest of language," Bowen said.

He lives only a cracker's throw from Charlie's owner, Miss Heather Standing, a writer.

"I was quite shocked by his knowledge of swear words," Bowen said.

Bowen said the Noise Abatement society promised to back him to the hilt if other people complain. "I know a least two complained," he declared.

"That parrot uses foul words in front of children playing. It should either be removed from the street or de-squaked," Miss Standing admitted people do complain about Charlie.

"But he doesn't use those sort of words."

There was no immediate comment from Charlie.

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 27, the 240th day of 1968 with 126 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning star is Saturn.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1859 the first oil well in the United States was drilled near Titusville, Pa.

In 1928 the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war was signed by 15 nations in Paris.

In 1939 Adolf Hitler served notice to England and France that Germany wanted Danzig and the Polish Corridor.

In 1963 miners David Flinn and Henry Throne were rescued after being trapped 14 days in a mine at Shepton, Pa.

A thought for the day: Davy Crockett said, "I leave this rule for others when I am dead. Be always sure you're right—and then go ahead."

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—President Juan Carlos Ongania of Argentina has passed the acid test for any man brought to power by a military coup.

He has retired, if not fired, the men who put him in power. So far, there have been no repercussions.

His order retiring the commanders in chief of the army, air force and navy effective Oct. 4 was convincing proof that Ongania is firmly in control of South America's second largest country after Brazil. But it again raises the question of where Argentina is heading, economically as well as politically.

of the 1st Army. He led his tanks to the Casa Rosada government house and personally told Illia to get out. Behind Alsogaray and his army stood the other two members of the junta, Brig. Gen. Adolfo Teodoro Alvarez, commander of the air force, and Adm. Benigno I. Varela, commander of the navy.

The three of them asked Ongania to head a new government. And Alsogaray's reward for leading the revolution was promotion to army commander in chief.

These are the three men Ongania retired last Saturday in a move officially explained as part of the normal rotation of commands.

enterprise at home, economic integration abroad and a return to the country's traditionally democratic government.

The other two retired commanders also were considered liberals, but to a lesser degree than Alsogaray. The three men Ongania named to replace them—Gen. Alejandro Lanusse of the army, Brig. Gen. Jorge Miguel Martinez Zuviria of the air force and Vice Adm. Pedro Gnavi of the navy—are considered nationalists.

Argentina's nationalists are outspokenly cool to regional or continental integration. And some favor drastic changes in governing institutions that their rivals claim amount to advocating a corporate state.

Military Coup
Ongania, 53, himself a former army commander in chief, came out of retirement to assume the presidency in June, 1966, after a lightning military coup toppled constitutionally elected President Arturo U. Illia.

The man who actually gave Illia the boot was Lt. Gen. Julio R. Alsogaray, then commander

It is, indeed, tradition here to change commands every two years. But Ongania's action at this particular time is bound to have political implications as well.

Considered Liberal
Alsogaray, 50, is influential in political circles as well as military circles and is considered a liberal in both. In Argentina, the liberals favor capitalistic free
