

Bank bailout
Another thrift bites
the fiscal dust,
Page 3

The Pampa News

1991 Legislature
State lawmakers face old and new problems,
Page 3

25¢

VOL. 83, NO. 235, 10 PAGES

JANUARY 7, 1991

MONDAY

Sheriff's officers investigate report of child pornography

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

Gray County Sheriff's Office is continuing an investigation into child pornography that was reported on Saturday, said Chief Deputy Terry L. Cox.

The investigation, thus far, has uncovered that the alleged pornography and instances of indecency with children have been going on for at least 1 1/2 years at a residence in the southeastern part of Pampa, outside the city limits, Cox said today.

It is unknown how many Pampa children have been the victims, but there are at least seven known at this time, Cox said, with the ages so far ranging from 11 to 15.

Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace Bob Muns issued three warrants this weekend against a male suspect in the case. The warrants are for indecency with a child, a second-degree felony; possession of child pornography, a third-degree felony; and a weapons charge, a third-degree felony.

"We're still working on the case," Cox said.

The alleged activity was discovered when one of the boys apparently told his father about an incident and the father made a report about 6:35 p.m. Saturday to the sheriff's office.

The suspect gave a consent to search his residence, Cox said, and sheriff's deputies recovered more than 100 adult pornographic books and magazines and more than 80 adult pornographic movies. There were also pornographic Polaroid pictures of children, believed to be from Pampa, recovered. A video cassette recorder, items of clothing and other sexual-oriented items were also recovered.

"There is no telling how many kids it's going to involve. It's hard to believe this is happening in Pampa."

— Sheriff Free

Cox said some of the children no longer live in Pampa and there may be others that the sheriff's office is not aware of at this time. Cox asked that if any children have ever talked to the parents about this type of activity that they call the sheriff's office at 669-8022.

Sheriff Jim Free said, "There is no telling how many kids it's going to involve. It's hard to believe this is happening in Pampa."

Free said his office worked on the case until 4:30 a.m. Sunday and then again from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday evening. Deputy Terry White, Sgt. James Walker, Cox and Free have been working on the case.

"This is the first case we've had on child pornography since I've been in office," the sheriff said.

The suspect was apparently luring the children to his residence by offering them soft drinks or alcohol and then getting them to watch pornographic video tapes with him, the sheriff said. Then he would ask the children to pose for him and engage in other acts and he would take pictures. He allegedly was paying the children a small amount of money, as well, Free said.

The sheriff said the investigation is continuing and an arrest is expected this week.

In an unrelated incident, the Gray County Sheriff's Office on Saturday recovered a vehicle reported stolen in Pampa.

Tom Williams, 1822 N. Russell, reported a 1982 Datsun pickup stolen from the residence. The vehicle, owned by Robert Mack, Route 1, Pampa, was discovered Saturday at Overton Lake in the northeast part of Pampa.

Deputy Paul Sublett discovered the vehicle, which was partially submerged in the water about 12:30 p.m. Saturday, as he was on patrol. He said that by the time Bob Douthit's wrecker service got to the scene the pickup had sunk about three-fourths of the way.

Someone used an object to press the gas pedal, put the vehicle in gear and then let it travel off a bluff and down to the pond, which was frozen. Sublett said the vehicle had been "banged" up before it was put in the water.

A diver with a wet suit went under the water and put a cable on the vehicle, which was then pulled out by the wrecker.

Sublett said it took about four hours to remove the vehicle from the pond.

Brrrrr-ometer

(Staff photos by Jean Streetman-Ward)

Frost on the trees, frost on the streets — every where Pampans looked recently they saw reminders that it is winter in the Panhandle. Above, ice coats a tree branch creating a delicate artistic statement. Even Frost Street, in the photo at right, lived up to its name this past week. The area can expect a respite from the iciness with a slight warming trend and more welcoming weather for the next few days.

Army stops coup attempt in Haiti; militants surrender

By MICHAEL NORTON
Associated Press Writer

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Soldiers loyal to a former top aide to ousted dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier surrendered today several hours after trying to overthrow the Haitian government, Radio Metropole said.

Roger Lafontant — who had seized the National Palace, declared himself Haiti's new leader and apparently taken President Ertha Pascal-Trouillot hostage early today — was led away in handcuffs.

Afterward, Mrs. Pascal-Trouillot appeared on a balcony of the palace and waved to the cheering crowds below.

The reported capture of Lafontant came shortly after the nation's military had said it would move to end the attempted coup by the reputed head of the dreaded Tonton Macoute militia that had enforced the Duvalier regime.

It was not known whether there was any bloodshed during Lafontant's move against the government, or the military's reported arrest of him.

Lafontant, backed by an undetermined number of soldiers, had declared he was the new president after a burst of heavy gunfire at the palace early today.

The whereabouts of President-elect Jean-Bertrand Aristide during all the turmoil were not known, but he was reported safe. Aristide, a leftist Roman Catholic priest elected by a landslide last month in the country's first free nationwide vote, is scheduled to take office Feb. 7, the fifth anniversary of Duvalier's fall in a popular uprising.

Haitians enraged by the threat to what was to have been their country's first peaceful transition to democracy had taken to the streets in protest.

Reports that Mrs. Pascal-Trouillot had been held hostage by Lafontant came from the army and the U.S. State Department.

Mrs. Pascal-Trouillot went on the radio at 12:40 a.m. EST today and announced her resignation as caretaker president on the radio. A moment later, Lafontant went on the air and declared himself provisional president.

Before last month's election, Lafontant had vowed "to do everything" short of violence to prevent Aristide from assuming the presidency.

In Washington, State Department spokesman David Denny said: "We emphatically condemn this assault on President Trouillot and this attempt to overthrow the constitutional government of Haiti. We will provide no support to nor conduct normal relations with any government of Haiti that comes to power by unconstitutional means."

Lafontant appeared on state-run television shortly after the radio announcement and said he had acted "in association with the armed forces."

But the Army High Command denounced the takeover and said it was taking steps to restore the caretaker civilian government.

City Commission to meet Tuesday

Pampa City Commission will consider the awarding of several bids and appointments and reappointments to the Lovett Memorial Library Advisory Board during a regular meeting set to begin at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

The Commission, which meets on the third floor of City Hall, will consider awarding bids to purchase a laser printer and to purchase trees for Hidden Hills Golf Course.

The group is also scheduled to go into an executive session to discuss pending litigation — the lawsuit filed by former City Manager Jack Chaney against the city.

Approval of the November list of disbursements and consideration of approving previous minutes is also on the agenda.

Mayor Richard Peet is also scheduled to present certificates of appreciation to the Downtown Kiwanis Club and Sam Haynes of the Golf Advisory Board. Clean Pampa Inc. is scheduled to present a deed to the city for beautification of an entrance to the city limits.

Prior to the regular meeting, the City Commission will meet in a work session beginning at 4 p.m. in the Conference Room on the third floor of City Hall.

Items to be discussed include the ambulance agreement with Rural-Metro/AMT, utilities to the new prison, the use of the hotel/motel tax and other miscellaneous information.

U.S., Britain reject any change in Jan. 15 deadline for Iraq

By BRIAN MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

The United States and Britain today rejected any move to lift the Jan. 15 deadline for Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait. Saddam Hussein again told the Iraqi people to prepare for war.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III, after a meeting with British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd, said if Iraq did not withdraw by the deadline set by the U.N. Security Council, "they will be, in all probability, forced out."

Hurd, who met reporters with Baker in London, said Saddam must realize that "one nation state does not trample and wipe out another nation state."

Baker ruled out any extension of the Jan. 15 deadline for Iraq to end its occupation of Kuwait.

"We are not interested in that, frankly," Baker said.

Responding to reports Saddam might be willing to negotiate if the deadline is pushed back, Baker said: "We should not talk about postponing deadlines. This deadline is real. The only real chance for peace is if Saddam Hussein begins to understand this."

An Arab diplomat in Baghdad said today Saddam and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat have asked French lawmaker Michel Vauzelle to seek a U.N. Security Council meeting to reconsider the resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

The diplomat, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Vauzelle met with Saddam in the Iraqi capital on Saturday and saw Arafat in Tunisia on Sunday. Arafat flew to Baghdad today, Palestine Liberation Organization officials said.

Vauzelle, president of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the National Assembly in France, met with President Francois Mitterrand before leaving home on a Persian Gulf peace mission that he describes as a private initiative.

Mitterrand already has suggested the Security Council meet again before the multinational force arrayed against Iraq commits itself to armed conflict. Germany and Italy have shown support for his diplomatic initiative.

Baker said today that Iraq has had ample time to respond to the U.N. resolution, which was approved in late November.

"We should not talk about postponing deadlines. This deadline is real. The only real chance for peace is if Saddam Hussein begins to understand this," Baker said.

On Sunday, Baker rejected a French proposal to link a pullout from Kuwait, which Iraq seized Aug. 2, to an eventual Middle East peace conference. The Bush administration repeatedly has opposed linking the occupation of Kuwait to the Palestinian question.

Baker also said he would not go to Baghdad for talks with Saddam after his meeting Wednesday in Geneva with Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz. Baker is carrying a letter from President Bush for Saddam that is reported to include a warning of devastation if Iraq does not heed the U.N. order to quit Kuwait by Jan. 15.

Saddam told senior aides today that if fighting breaks out between Iraq and the U.S.-led multinational force, the war could extend to all Arab countries and beyond.

"The aggressors plan to make Iraq as the operation theater, but when the battle is launched Iraq will not be the only theater," Saddam said in an address broadcast on official Baghdad radio.

Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf accompanies Saudi Arabian King Fahd as he reviews U.S. troops at an air base in eastern Saudi Arabia Sunday. This marked the first visit of the king to troops in the field since the invasion.

(AP Laserphoto)

Daily Record

Services tomorrow

No services for tomorrow were reported to The Pampa News by press time this morning.

Obituaries

E.M. (PEDRO) STAFFORD

E.M. (Pedro) Stafford, 91, died today, Jan. 7, 1991. Services are pending with Carmichael-Whately Funeral Directors.

Mr. Stafford was born Sept. 22, 1899, in Gaddo Gap, Ark. He was a resident of Pampa for 54 years before moving to White Deer in 1979. He married Lillie Smith on May 27, 1923, in Mount Ida, Ark.; she preceded him in death in 1984. He married Hildred Edwards on Feb. 13, 1985, in Hereford. He worked for Stanolind Oil & Gas for more than 20 years and later became an independent cable tool driller and operator. He owned and operated the Plainsman Motel from 1972 to 1979.

Survivors include his wife, Hildred, of the home; three sons, Glen Stafford of Amarillo, Arley Stafford of Odessa and Ronald Stafford of Wylie; three stepdaughters, Linda Newman and Sharon Ramirez, both of Pampa, and Stella Spalding of Portsmouth, Va.; two stepsons, Jerry Newman of Pampa and Larry Edwards of Amarillo; three brothers, Clyde Stafford of Benton, Ark., Doyle Stafford of Biggs, Calif., and Aldridge Stafford of Lapine, Ore.; two sisters, Iris Stevens of Dallas and Cleo Long of Las Vegas, Nev.; four grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

VIOLA MARONEY

WELLINGTON — Viola Maroney, 80, sister of a Groom resident, died Thursday, Jan. 3, 1991. Memorial services were Saturday in the First Baptist Chapel with the Rev. Johnny Tims, pastor, officiating. Private burial was Friday in Fairview Cemetery by Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Maroney was born in Dryden, Okla., and was a longtime area resident. She was a member of First Baptist Church. She was a former Collingsworth County treasurer and bookkeeper for several Wellington businesses. She was preceded in death by her husband, Dewey Maroney, in 1971.

Survivors include a brother, Leldon Hudson of Groom; and a sister, Helen Dever of San Angelo.

ALVA CLINTON TWOMBLY

BOISE CITY, Okla. — Alva Clinton Twombly, 47, brother of a Pampa, Texas, woman, died Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1991. Services will be at 2 p.m. today in Plainview School at Plainview, Okla., with Lloyd Maddox and Art Twombly officiating. Burial will be in Marela Cemetery by Cimarron Mortuary.

Mr. Twombly was born in Guymon and had been a farmer and rancher in the Cimarron County area. He was preceded in death by two brothers.

Survivors include two sons, Clinton Alva Twombly of Saudi Arabia and Tate Nelson Twombly of Fort Lupton, Colo.; his parents, George and Swany Twombly of Texhoma, Okla.; two brothers, Leo G. Twombly of Texhoma, Okla., and Lon A. Twombly of Joshua, Texas; and two sisters, Esther Marie Curant of Hutchinson, Kan., and Nell Beth Phetteplace of Pampa, Texas.

VERNON TAYLOR BROYLES

FOLLETT — Vernon Taylor Broyles, 86, father of a Shamrock woman, died Friday, Jan. 4, 1991. Services were at 10:30 a.m. today at St. John's Congregational Church in Follett with the Rev. Floyd Thiessen officiating. Burial was at Fairmont Cemetery in Follett by Mason Funeral Home of Shattuck, Okla.

Mr. Broyles was born in Beaver County, Okla. He married Lidia Shatto in 1929 in Milan, Mo. He was a farmer, a well worker and a heavy equipment operator. He was preceded in death by his parents and two sisters, LaVelda and Eleanora Haines.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, J.D. Broyles of Shattuck, Okla., Vernon Broyles of Mesquite and Gene Broyles of Amarillo; four daughters, Judy Travis of Shattuck, Okla., Kathy Jones and Veda Kraft, both of Gage, Okla., and Velda Royal of Shamrock; a brother, Clinton Dale of Follett; two sisters, Faye Allen of Follett and Beulah Miller of Amarillo; 15 grandchildren; and 16 great-grandchildren.

Calendar of events

SINGLES ORGANIZATION

Pampa Singles Club will meet for snacks and games on Tuesday, Jan. 8 at 7 p.m. at 2145 Aspen. For more information, call 669-6138.

Correction

In an article on Page 11 of the Sunday edition the date of an art show for Coronado Nursing Center residents was incorrectly reported. The art show will take place on Saturday, Jan. 12, and Sunday, Jan. 13 at the Lovett Library auditorium. Blanche Jenkins and Betty Pennell, whose work will be featured in the show will be present to greet visitors. The Pampa News regrets any inconvenience this error may have caused.

Emergency numbers

Ambulance.....911
 Crime Stoppers.....669-2222
 Energas.....665-5777
 Fire.....911
 Police (emergency).....911

Hospital

CORONADO HOSPITAL Admissions
 Olen Glen Anderson, Pampa
 Dolores Bryan Pampa
 Bowen, Pampa
 Harrell Dorsey Jordan, Pampa
 Lloyd A. McGill, Pampa
 Dianna Sue Short, Pampa
 Margie Sinyard, Groom
 Frank Milton Totty, Pampa
 Lon Trask, Pampa
 Robert Tyre, Pampa
 Michael Alan Taylor, Lefors

Mariah L. Osburn, Pampa
 Sandra P. Perdue, Pampa
 Gladys M. Riley, Pampa
 Carla Jo Woodington, Spearman

SHAMROCK HOSPITAL Admissions
 Boyd Hiltbrunner, Shamrock
 Rose Hefley, Shamrock
 Monna Boast (observation), Marion, Ohio
 Pat Bradley, Shamrock

Berry Powers, Shamrock
 Andrew Simcak, Shamrock
 Cora Gibbons (observation), Shamrock

Dismissals
 Enna Walker, Shamrock
 Robert Venal, Pampa
 Eunice Bohot (extended care), Pampa Mariana H. Felix, Pampa

Police report

The Pampa Police Department reported the following incidents during the 40-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

SATURDAY, Jan. 5

Mike Nelson, 1148 Varnon Drive, reported an aggravated assault at the Lancer Club.

Donald David Tomaszewska, 1019 Ripley, reported an aggravated assault at 434 Crest Ave. Disorderly conduct was reported at the Cinema 4 in Coronado Center.

Tom Williams, 1822 N. Russell, reported theft of a motor vehicle from the residence. The vehicle is owned by Robert Mack of Route 1, Pampa. (See related story).

SUNDAY, Jan. 6

Renea Armstrong, 804 Locust, reported an aggravated assault at the Tea Room, 533 W. Brown.

Enoch Allyn Phetteplace, Route 2, Pampa, reported an assault in the 1000 block of East Browning.

Marty Garner, 711 Gray #C, reported an assault at 1901 Hamilton.

Troy Allan Moore, Route 1, Pampa, reported an assault at 1901 Hamilton.

A domestic dispute was reported in the 900 block of South Hobart.

Miranda Hulsey, 516 N. Christy, reported a simple assault at the residence.

A domestic dispute was reported in the 800 block of East Craven.

Arrests

SATURDAY, Jan. 5
 Schanda G. Tate, 19, 109 N. Wynn, was arrested in the 500 block of West Brown on two capias pro fines. She was released upon payment of the fines.

SUNDAY, Jan. 6
 Marty Garner, 29, 711 Gray #C, was arrested at 19th and Hamilton and charged with assault. He was released on bond.

GRAY COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

SATURDAY, Jan. 5
 Indecency with a child/child pornography was reported to the sheriff's office. (See related story).

A stolen vehicle was recovered in Overton Lake. (See related story).

Arrest

SATURDAY, Jan. 5
 Yougendar Kathuria, 48, California, was arrested on a warrant for violation of a court order (interference with child custody). He was released on bond.

Fires

The Pampa Fire Department reported no calls during the 40-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

Stocks

The following grain quotations are provided by Wheeler-Evans of Pampa:

Pampa	2.30
Milo	3.77
Corn	3.97

The following show the prices for which these securities could have traded at the time of completion:

Ky. Cent. Life	7 5/8	dn 1/8
Serfco	4	NC
Occidental	18 5/8	NC

The following show the prices for which these mutual funds were bid at the time of completion:

Magellan	52.58
Puritan	11.96

The following 9:30 a.m. N.Y. Stock Market quotations are furnished by Edward D. Jones & Co. of Pampa:

Amoco	49 3/4	dn 1/4
Arco	121 3/4	up 3/4
Cabot	29	up 1/4

Cabot O&G	15 3/4	NC
Chevron	71	NC
Coca-Cola	45	dn 1/8
Enron	50 3/4	dn 1/4
Halliburton	44 1/4	up 1/8
Ingersoll Rand	37	dn 5/8
KNE	22 3/4	dn 1/8
Kerr McGee	43 7/8	dn 3/8
Limited	18 3/4	dn 1/8
Masco	40 3/8	dn 5/8
Maxus	8 1/4	NC
McDonald's	27 7/8	dn 3/8
Mesa Ltd.	2 5/8	dn 1/8
Mobil	56 7/8	NC
New Amoco	16 3/4	up 1/2
Pennsylvania	43 3/4	up 1/8
Phillips	24 7/8	NC
SLB	54 3/8	up 3/4
SFS	28 1/4	dn 3/8
Tenneco	42 5/8	dn 3/8
Texaco	58	dn 1/4
Wal-Mart	29 1/4	dn 3/8
New York Gold	391.00
Silver	4.18
West Texas Crude	25.58

Two PHS students make All-State Band

ODESSA — Two Pampa High School students reached All-State Band status Saturday during try-outs here.

Anthony Gilreath, a senior, was named first chair for the clarinet, while Bryan Stephenson, a sophomore, was named eighth chair in the B-flat clarinet.

Two other PHS band students, Damian Hill on the oboe and Micah Brooks on the tuba, were named first alternates for the band, whose members are selected from among the best high school musicians in the state.

Pampa band director Charles Johnson said 13 PHS students traveled to the competition and that each placed well.

"We can be very proud of all of them because they represented Pampa very well," Johnson said. "All the kids placed high."

Approximately 250 high school students from around the state participated in the competition.

FEC plans presidential fund awareness campaign

By JOHN KING
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ask a taxpayer why he doesn't earmark $1 of his taxes to the presidential election fund and the answer may be:

a) "I'm not aware of any specific abuses, but it wouldn't surprise me to learn there were some. In fact, I figured there were some."

b) "Candidates still get bought, so it's not working too well."

c) "What fund?"

d) "That money is going to conventions? Well, I don't want any money going to a drunken brawl, a week-long party."

e) All of the above.

The correct answer, according to a study commissioned by the people who administer the fund, the Federal Election Commission, is all of the above.

The $25,000 study was commissioned to help the FEC devise a public awareness campaign to increase support for the fund, which has pumped nearly $500 million into the last four presidential elections but may face a deficit in 1992. The FEC has budgeted

$92,000 for the awareness effort and is seeking proposals from marketing and public relations firms.

The study results indicate the FEC faces a tough challenge overcoming voter skepticism about politicians and campaign finance. The findings also are discouraging to advocates of public financing for congressional elections.

The presidential fund gets its money from the $1 checkoff on every federal income tax return; couples filing jointly may specify $2. Earmarking the money doesn't affect one's overall tax bill, yet just 20% of taxpayers check the box.

The FEC hopes its awareness campaign will convince more taxpayers to earmark money for the fund. In the study report, Market Decisions Corp. said such a campaign was a good idea because of widespread ignorance about the fund and how it works.

But the report also said that rising public distrust of politicians means it's unlikely the FEC could win many converts, even among people who support the concept of public financing.

"The position of nearly all non-contributors appears to be immovable," Market Decisions said in a report to the FEC based on discussions with "focus groups" of voters in Oregon, New Jersey and Tennessee.

"It was often difficult to keep the group focused on the subject at hand because of their anger at politicians and a perception of wasteful spending by government," the report continued. "The anger associated with those concerns contaminated their consideration of presidential campaign funding and features associated with the program."

The study found that none of the focus group participants could spell out clearly how the FEC allocates the presidential fund. The money is used to provide matching funds to eligible candidates in presidential primaries, to help finance nominating conventions and to pay for the general election campaigns.

Last month, the FEC said that if donations continue at current levels and expenses increase as anticipated, the fund could face a $6 million deficit by the end of 1992 and perhaps even be without money early in the year to provide the matching funds to primary candidates.

Minor accidents

The Pampa Police Department reported the following accidents during the 40-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

FRIDAY, Jan. 4

12:10 p.m. — A 1986 Pontiac driven by Erma Guerra Cardenas, 39, 1313 Mary Ellen, and a 1986 Cadillac, driven by Jewell Dean Powell, 64, 1129 Terry Road, collided in the 1400 block of North Hobart. Cardenas was cited for failure to control speed. No injuries were reported.

12:52 p.m. — A 1981 Ford driven by Dale Lee Stover, 16, White Deer, and a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Van Warren Freeman, 66, 1013 Neel Road, collided at 900 S. Huff Road and 600 W. Wilks. A stop sign, owned by the city of Pampa, received an estimated $150 in damage. Stover was cited for disregarding a stop sign and no driver's license on person. No injuries were reported.

2:20 p.m. — A 1978 Ford, driven by Thomas Joe Brewer II, 20, 965 Terry Road, and a 1990 Jeep, driven by Erick Russ Alexander, 33, 1130 Sirroco, collided at 2500 N. Crest and 900 W. Crane. Brewer was cited for failure to control speed and Alexander was cited for no proof of liability insurance. No injuries were reported.

2:35 p.m. — A 1986 Lincoln, driven by Betty McGrew Fletcher, 61, 1727 Evergreen, and a 1983 Toyota, driven by Phillip Dean Larue, 17, 1001 E. Darby, collided at 2000 N. Coffee and 600 W. 21st. Fletcher was cited for failure to yield right of way at an open intersection. No injuries were reported.

5:15 p.m. — A 1984 Pontiac, driven by Bryan K. Fisher, 18, Route 1, Pampa, and a 1969 GMC, driven by William Lee Mace, 26, 430 1/2 Crest, collided at 300 E. Sunset and 400 N. Hill. Fisher was cited for failure to yield right of way to a through street. No injuries were reported.

6 p.m. — A 1979 legally parked vehicle, owned by Charles Love, was hit by a hit-and-run vehicle in the 600 block of North Somerville. Citations are pending.

10 p.m. — A 1986 Ford, driven by Christopher Alan Smith, 21, 2224 Dogwood, collided with a 1984 AMC, legally parked, and owned by Joe Kitchens, 529 N. Somerville, in the 600 block of North Somerville. No citations were issued and no injuries were reported.

SATURDAY, Jan. 5

9:45 a.m. — A 1962 Ford, driven by Zella Ross Tice, 58, Pampa, collided with a 1989 Dodge, driven by Monty Sha Roberts, 28, Pampa at 1100 N. Sumner and 1100 W. Somerville. Tice was cited for failure to yield right of way at a stop sign. No injuries were reported.

Accident-DPS

SATURDAY, Jan. 5

9:30 p.m. — A 1989 Oldsmobile, driven by Diana Espinosa, 19, Sioux City, Iowa, ran off the road, into a bar ditch and rolled 3 1/2 times on Texas 70, 18.7 miles north of Pampa. Citations were issued. Espinosa and three passengers in the vehicle were transported to Coronado Hospital by private vehicle.

Bone marrow transplant recipient leaves hospital

HOUSTON — Jennifer Malone, daughter of Valerie Malone of Pampa, was dismissed from M.D. Anderson Hospital following a bone marrow transplant to treat leukemia, according to family friends.

Ms. Malone will be staying with her mother at an apartment near the hospital.

The family hopes to be able to return to Pampa by the end of January or the first of February.

Ms. Malone can be reached by calling (713) 664-3682 or by writing her at 7510 Dromton Rd., Bldg. 5, Apt. 602, Houston, 77025.

City briefs

BRICK REPAIR: Harley Knutson 665-4237. Adv.

GIP GIBSON now at the Hulsey Barber Shop, 319 W. Kingsmill, phone 669-1902. Adv.

FOR SALE couch, recliner, rocker, matching coffee and end table. After 5, 665-6825. Adv.

GOLDEN AGERS Luncheon Tuesday 8th, 12 noon, Salvation Army 701 S. Cuyler. Everyone 55 or older, or handicapped welcome. No children.

WHEN YOUR Pampa News Carrier collects, does the carrier have their cards? If Not, Don't Pay! Thanks, Circulation Dept.

SHOP SANDS Fabrics, Stock Liquidation Sale. New things added. 669-7909. Adv.

PAMPA BOOK Club meeting, Wednesday 9th, 9:30 a.m. Lovett Library.

TELEPHONE PIONEERS Dinner, noon, Tuesday, January 8th, Telco Lounge.

Weather focus

LOCAL FORECAST

Tonight, partly cloudy with a low near 29 degrees and southwesterly winds 10-15 mph. Tuesday, mostly sunny and warmer with a high in the upper 40s. Sunday's high was 26 degrees; the overnight low was 18 degrees.

REGIONAL FORECAST

West Texas — Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Mountains westward partly cloudy through Tuesday. Warmer across the area Tuesday. Lows tonight lower 20s Panhandle to mid 40s Big Bend. Highs Tuesday upper 40s Panhandle to lower 60s far west and lower 70s Big Bend.

North Texas — Partly cloudy west and central tonight and Tuesday, mostly cloudy east. A little warmer Tuesday. Lows tonight 25 northwest to 36 southeast. Highs Tuesday 45 northwest to 49 southeast.

South Texas — Tonight and Tuesday cloudy with a chance of rain coastal sections and southeast mainly tonight. Lows tonight from the 30s north to the 40s south with 20s in the Hill Country. Highs Tuesday 50s north to the 60s south.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Wednesday through Friday
West Texas — Panhandle, mostly fair. Highs in the mid to upper 40s. Lows in the lower 20s. South Plains, mostly fair. Highs in the lower to mid 50s. Lows in the mid 20s. Permian Basin, chance of showers Wednesday, mostly fair beginning Thursday. Highs mid 50s to near 60. Lows in the lower 30s. Concho Valley/Pecos Valley, chance of showers, turning partly cloudy Thursday. Highs in the mid 50s to around 60. Lows in the mid 30s. Far West Texas, partly cloudy with highs around 60 to the lower 60s. Lows in the mid to upper 30s. Big Bend, partly cloudy with highs in the 50s mountains to the 60s along the Rio Grande. Lows in the 20s mountains. With upper 30s along the river.

North Texas — West, cloudy with rain and a few thunderstorms likely Wednesday. Partly cloudy with a slight chance of rain Thursday. Partly cloudy and colder Friday. Highs in the 40s Wednesday and the 50s Thursday, cooling back into the 40s to upper 30s Friday. Lows in the 30s Wednesday and Thursday cooling into the 20s Friday. Central and East, cloudy with rain and a few thunderstorms likely Wednesday. Mostly cloudy with chance of rain Thursday. Partly cloudy and turning colder Friday. Highs in the 40s Wednesday, the 50s Thursday cooling back into the 40s Friday. Lows in the 30s to near 40 Wednesday and Thursday cooling into the 20s to near 30 Friday.

South Texas — Hill Country/South Central Texas, chance of showers Wednesday and Thursday, cooler on Friday. Lows Wednesday and Thursday in the upper 30s to near 40. Highs near 60. Lows Friday in the 30s. Highs in the 60s. Coastal Bend, a slow warming trend with chance of rain. Lows Wednesday in the 40s. Highs in the 60s. Lows Thursday near 50. Highs near 70. Lows Friday in the 50s. Highs in the 70s. Lower Rio Grande Valley and Plains, chance of rain Thursday and Friday. Otherwise a slow warming trend. Lows Wednesday in the 40s. Highs in the 60s. Lows Thursday in the 50s. Highs near 70. Lows Saturday in the 50s. Highs in the 70s. Southeast Texas, Upper Texas Coast, a little warmer with a chance of showers Wednesday and Thursday. Cooler with chance of rain Friday. Lows Wednesday near 40. Highs near 60. Lows Thursday in the 40s. Highs in the 60s. Lows Friday near 40. Highs near 60.

BORDER STATES

Oklahoma — Mostly cloudy and continued cold tonight. Decreasing cloudiness and not as cold Tuesday. Lows tonight upper teens northwest to 20s elsewhere. Highs Tuesday near 50 Panhandle to upper 30s east.

New Mexico — Tonight and Tuesday morning fog then a chance of light rain by afternoon with light snow highest elevations of the north and west. Highs Tuesday 35-45 mountains, 45-60 lower elevations. Lows tonight teens mountains, mostly 20s elsewhere.

Nearly 40,000 Texas military personnel readied for Gulf

HOUSTON (AP) — Few other states have rivaled Texas' contribution to Operation Desert Shield, with nearly 40,000 Texas-based military personnel in Saudi Arabia or awaiting deployment.

Military officers say 32,400 troops, mostly tank forces from Fort Hood and Fort Bliss, already have taken up positions in Saudi Arabia.

An estimated 325,000 American troops are stationed in Saudi Arabia. Military officials plan a total U.S. troop strength of 430,000.

Fort Hood's First Cavalry Division, augmented by a brigade of the 2nd Armored Division, was the most heavily armed ground combat unit to arrive in Saudi Arabia in September.

Along with Corps Support Command units, which provide logistical and maintenance support for the combat forces, Fort Hood dispatched nearly 20,000 troops from the Central Texas base.

Even before the arrival of Fort Hood soldiers, about 12,000 troops from Fort Bliss near El Paso had been sent to Saudi Arabia. The 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment and the 11th Air Defense Artillery Brigade assumed positions close to Saudi Arabia's border with Kuwait.

To date, only 400 active-duty Air Force personnel from Texas have been sent to Saudi Arabia. They are from a combat reconnaissance squadron at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin.

In addition, 6,925 Texas-based reserve and National Guard personnel have been activated for Operation Desert Shield. These personnel bring the total of Texas-based military personnel involved in the operation to 39,325.

Old business, new business await Texas legislators

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators convene Tuesday for their 1991 regular session facing a lengthy list of problems, old and new.

Among the familiar: a budget deficit, proposals to create a lottery, a shortfall in welfare spending, troubles with insurance regulation and a court-rejected school finance system.

New on the agenda: redistricting and ethics reform.

Compounding all that, House Speaker Gib Lewis seeks an unprecedented fifth term despite facing a two-count indictment by the Travis County grand jury for alleged ethics law violations.

Lewis says he's innocent and calls the charges a crude political bid to oust him from the third most-powerful post in state government.

Heading the list of legislative troubles is money. After dealing with repeated budget shortfalls since the oil price collapse of 1985-86, legislators face another one this year.

Comptroller John Sharp released his revenue projection last week, saying the state could have $4.2 billion less than it needs to meet its obligations through fiscal year 1993.

That's despite a $5.7 billion total increase in tax collections and other revenues, such as interest investment income and interest, from the current two-year budget period.

"It's a good news, bad news scenario," Sharp said. "The good news is the revenues are up. The bad news is they're not up enough."

His revenue estimate falls short of funding even the "doomsday" budget examined by legislative budget writers.

Under that $52.4 billion proposal, new prisons couldn't open, public schools wouldn't get money promised under a reform law and an estimated half a million needy Texans would be denied health and social services.

The money woes have convinced some lawmakers that this is the time to create a state lottery. More than 30 states now raise money through such games.

Texas traditionally has rejected it, but Gov.-elect Ann Richards favors a lottery and lawmakers say there are no other taxes to raise.

"The political tide has turned as far as this issue is concerned," said Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, sponsor of past lottery bills. He said projections indicate Texas could net $750 million a year once a full-blown lottery is running.

One of the most pressing problems facing lawmakers is a rerun of the school finance debate.

A unanimous Texas Supreme Court in 1989 struck down the state's $14 billion system of funding public schools, saying poor districts were denied equal access to funds. It took state leaders four special sessions in 1990 to write a new plan.

But District Judge Scott McCown of Austin ruled that one unconstitutional, too, and the Texas Supreme Court is expected to make a final ruling soon.

"I think it's the worst of all times to have to deal with that (school finance)," said retiring Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby.

Kirby is worried that lawmakers would devise a cheaper plan than Senate Bill 1, which promised $4 billion in new education money over the next four years.

The welfare problems facing the Legislature are a carryover, too.

The Texas Department of Human Services needs an immediate $380 million boost, officials said, or face elimination of such services as health care for children and pregnant women. That's after a $100 million emergency appropriation last year.

DHS also says it needs a $2 billion funding increase in 1992-93 just to maintain current service levels, obey new federal laws and handle a growing caseload.

Again this year, insurance regulation is under attack. Richards and others have called for more reforms.

In 1989, the Legislature passed sweeping insurance reforms to clean up a battered State Board of Insurance and overhauled the workers' compensation insurance system.

But since then, a special Travis County grand jury and the state auditor's office have found that major problems continue in the insurance board's oversight of the nearly $30 billion per year industry.

The grand jury warned that a "savings-and-loan type disaster" in insurance could be around the corner.

And the future of the new workers' compensation law remains in doubt after the Texas AFL-CIO went to court to have it overturned.

Lewis' indictment has drawn more attention to what already had been a key campaign issue for Richards and Lt. Gov.-elect Bob Bullock.

"My general thinking is that the No. 1 thing I want to do is get ethics legislation out of this session, and I want to get it out very early," Richards said.

Finally, there's redistricting.

That once-every-10-years process will draw new lines for the 150 House, 31 Senate and 30 congressional districts, along with the 15 State Board of Education districts.

Based on information from the 1990 census, the idea is to make certain that the same number of voters live in each district. Lawmakers also have other goals: protect their own seats and those of their friends.

"It's life and death on political careers," Lewis said.

Doing his part

Syed Bukhari, a Pakistani who spent 13 years in Saudi Arabia before moving to Texas, prepares to lower the price of gasoline at his store in Dickinson to 99 cents Saturday. Bukhari has lowered his price to one cent above wholesale to send a message that he is not taking advantage of the Mid-East conflict to raise his prices. The wait for gas has been about 45 minutes since the price reduction.

Former thrift owner Dixon suffers heart attack in jail

DALLAS (AP) — Doctors will determine today whether former thrift owner Don R. Dixon, convicted last month of bank fraud, suffered a heart attack in jail Sunday.

Dixon, 52, was listed in stable condition early today at Mansfield Hospital.

Dixon's attorney, Deborah Goodall, said Dixon previously had suffered two heart attacks, the most recent one 12 years ago.

The former owner of Vernon Savings Association of Dallas, Dixon had been held in the Mansfield Law Enforcement Center since Dec. 21, when he was convicted on 23 counts of illegally misusing Vernon funds.

Vernon Savings failed in 1987, and its bailout is expected to cost taxpayers more than $1.2 billion.

Dixon was being kept under guard today in the hospital's intensive care unit while doctors monitored his condition.

Ms. Goodall said Dixon was rushed to the hospital about 6 a.m. Sunday after complaining of chest pains and a tingling in his right arm.

Doctors were able to stabilize his extremely rapid heartbeat, she said.

"He obviously suffered something distressing," U.S. Marshal Charles Kupferer said.

Dixon is scheduled to be sentenced Feb. 19. A federal magistrate earlier denied bond, ruling there was a risk Dixon might leave the country if released. Federal prosecutors contend that Dixon has millions of dollars stashed overseas.

Kupferer said Dixon probably will remain in Mansfield Hospital until he recovers and then will be transferred back to jail pending sentencing.

Dixon faces a maximum prison sentence of 115 years and a $5.75 million fine.

Ms. Goodall said Dixon's health problems may have been caused by the stress of his not being allowed free on bond.

"I think (the denial of bond) has contributed to it, because he is an extremely family-oriented man; and his inability to get out and care for his family and get them prepared for what he may be facing is incredibly stressful," she said.

Ms. Goodall said she has filed court papers asking U.S. District Judge A. Joe Fish to reconsider the magistrate's decision.

Dixon's health problems will be a factor in her request, she said.

"(Dixon) would not permit me to make it an argument, that his history of heart disease was a reason why he shouldn't be incarcerated," she said. "I will make it now."

Ms. Goodall said she will present new evidence to prove that Dixon is not a flight risk and does not have hidden assets. She said she expected to present the new evidence to Fish today or Tuesday.

Dixon owned Vernon from 1981 to 1986. It grew tenfold under his leadership with brokered deposits and speculative real estate deals and made a $50 million profit one year. When Dixon sold Vernon in 1986, more than 90 percent of its loans were not being repaid.

Vernon's net worth had sunk to a negative $716.86 million when regulators took it over the next year.

Seizure of Bank of New England to end in $2.3 billion bailout

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal regulators ended Bank of New England's year-long struggle to survive the region's real estate slump and began what ultimately will become a $2.3 billion government bailout.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. on Sunday night took over the holding company's three banks in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Maine. It transferred their assets and deposits into newly created government-owned institutions known as "bridge banks."

Regulators pumped $750 million from the insurance fund into the banks and were negotiating to sell them soon with additional government assistance, said FDIC Chairman L. William Seidman.

"We have two active bidders and other qualified bidders might apply," he told reporters, declining to elaborate.

Seidman estimated the final cost of the bailout at $2.3 billion. He said it was unclear whether the cost ultimately would be greater than the most expensive so far, the 1988 rescue of First RepublicBank Corp. in Dallas. That has been estimated at $2.9 billion, but Seidman said it could be less pending a final

Costliest bank rescues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a list of the five costliest commercial bank rescues to date by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

1. First RepublicBank Corp., Dallas. July 29, 1988. $2.9 billion.
2. MCorp, Dallas. March 29, 1989. $2.7 billion.
3. Bank of New England, Boston. Jan. 6, 1991. $2.3 billion.
4. Continental Illinois, Chicago. May 17, 1984. $1 billion.
5. First City Bancorporation, Houston. April, 20, 1988. $979 million.

The cost estimates were the latest available from FDIC documents and are subject to change depending on the ultimate recovery realized by selling the failed banks delinquent loans and repossessed real estate.

accounting.

All of the offices of Bank of New England's three subsidiary banks — Bank of New England, Boston; Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., Hartford; and Maine National Bank, Portland — were opening today.

"As far as customers and depositors are concerned, it's business as usual," Seidman said.

Even customers with deposits greater than the $100,000 insurance limit will have full access to their accounts. That step was taken to protect the shellshocked New England financial system and with an eye toward maintaining stability in neighboring Rhode Island, where a private insurance system covering 45 banks and credit unions collapsed last week, Seidman said.

"Any abrupt action at this time in this area was judged by the (FDIC) board to be unwise," he said, adding that the government bailout should help the region recover from its slump.

Like the Texas banks before it, Bank of New England Corp. suffered from huge loan losses as commercial real estate values in its region plummeted. More than a third of its $6.3 billion in real estate loans were in default.

"We did the best we could... but in the end our progress was simply overtaken by the economy and the New England real estate market,"

Lawrence Fish, chairman of the holding company, said in Boston. "While this is a sad day for this institution, it is also a new beginning."

As late as Sunday afternoon, bank management talked with bond holders about a plan to raise funds to keep the holding company going. By then, however, regulators had decided to intervene.

Bank of New England, which had lost $1.4 billion during the 12 months ended Sept. 30, announced Friday it expected a loss of $450 million in the final three months of 1990; enough to topple it into insolvency.

The announcement triggered the final crisis, a flurry of withdrawals by customers that drained about $1 billion from the banks, Seidman said.

Fish had visited regulators in Washington on Thursday to inform them of the unexpectedly large fourth-quarter loss.

"Based on that, he did not think the institutions could continue in their present form. ... In other words, they were tossing in the towel," Seidman said.

The loss pushed the Massachusetts subsidiary bank into insolvency and the other two fell because of financial guarantees they had made to the lead bank.

Bank of New England Trust Co. of West Palm Beach, Fla., was unaffected by Sunday's transaction.

The government asked Fish and the holding company's other managers to stay on. They took over the institution a year ago, after the previous management was forced to resign, and have been trying to keep Bank of New England afloat by selling off its assets.

The three subsidiary banks had combined assets of $23 billion on Dec. 31, down from $32 billion on Sept. 30, 1989, just before the company's troubles became public.

The FDIC's decision to protect all deposits, including an estimated $2 billion in excess of the insurance limit, comes as the Bush administration is at work on proposals to change the government's informal too-big-to-fail policy of protecting all deposits in large banks.

Financial institutions analyst Bert Ely of Alexandria, Va., said the seizure should have come sooner. "If they had haircutted (forced losses on) larger depositors, it would have created nervousness literally worldwide about a lot of American banks," he said.

CINEMA 4
665-7141

- Sibling Rivalry (PG)
- Home Alone (PG)
- Almost An Angel (PG)

Open 7 Nights A Week
Sunday Matinee 2 p.m.

Two men arrested in stabbing death of sheriff

CARRIZO SPRINGS (AP) — Two men have been arrested on charges of capital murder in the slaying of Dimmit County Sheriff Ben Murray, authorities said today.

The body of the 62-year-old South Texas lawman was found early Sunday with a butcher knife in it.

Dispatcher Corina Munoz said a 37-year-old man and a 24-year-old man, both from Carrizo Springs, were arrested late Sunday.

One of the men was arrested in Carrizo Springs and the other was arrested in Crystal City, she said.

Further details were not immediately available.

Capt. Jack Dean of the Texas Rangers in San Antonio said some type of butcher knife was found stuck in Murray's body. There also was evidence that shots had been fired in the house, Dean said.

Two Texas Rangers who were sent to investigate told Dean there had been a struggle in the house. Dean said no motive had been established for the slaying.

"Apparently there was lots of blood and some holes knocked in the walls," Dean said. "They said there was a pretty good struggle."

Dean said the body was being taken to San Antonio for an autopsy.

Dimmit County Chief Deputy

Raul Medina was not accepting calls to his office.

Murray had been sheriff in Dimmit County for 14 years.

Carrizo Springs is about 100 miles southwest of San Antonio.

Amarillo Suicide Hotline
1-800-692-4039

FRANKS FOODS
500 E. Brown

WE ACCEPT FOOD STAMPS...
WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO LIMIT
PRICES EFFECTIVE
THRU JAN. 12, 1991

Look
For Our Circular In Today's Edition
1-7-91
Of The Pampa News
Cokes Or Dr. Pepper
6 Pk. 12 Oz. Cans
$1.69

Viewpoints

The Pampa News

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Louise Fletcher
Publisher

Larry D. Hollis
Managing Editor

Opinion

Big Brother wants strong-arm equality

Score another one for Big Brother. Government busybodies in San Francisco have finally succeeded in strong-arming the Olympic Club, an elite, 130-year-old men's club, into admitting women. Club members battled for their right to be left alone for years, but they were finally forced to give way to a city lawsuit.

San Francisco officials are crowing about a victory over "discrimination," but the only real casualty is the basic liberty of free people to choose with whom they'll associate in harmless social pursuits.

Hateful discrimination is repugnant, no question. But what is hateful about men — or women — seeking opportunities for social or recreational activity exclusively with members of their own sex?

Indeed, fanatical opposition to clubs with special membership rules takes aim at plenty of worthwhile groups, not just sports. Not only does it indict all-female organizations as well as all-male groups; it even lays a guilt trip on something like Sons of Italy lodge or a Hungarian-heritage league. Why shouldn't people be allowed to choose their social circles without advice, or strong-arming, from government?

The idea that the Olympic Club's defeat is a triumph for equality is absurd. The club will remain a haven for the wealthy, the powerful and the well-connected; the only difference is that wealthy, powerful, well-connected women will now be included. Folks of either sex who lack the necessary money and contacts can still forget about applying.

So the club still "discriminates" — as should be its right. The city of San Francisco has intruded against merely one form of discrimination — on behalf of some wealthy women who, when they become members, will gladly help perpetuate the club's discrimination against average Janes and Joes.

So what, exactly, has been gained? Nothing, other than another mile or two of government encroachment onto terrain that ought to be the preserve of free individuals and exempt from the strutting of bureaucratic bullies.

THE PAMPA NEWS

(USPS 781-540)

Serving the Top 'O Texas 77 Year
Pampa, Texas 79065
403 W. Atchison
PO Box 2198

Circulation Certified by ABC Audit

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Subscription rates in Pampa by carrier and motor route are $5.00 per month, $15.00 per three months, $30.00 per six months and $60.00 per year. THE PAMPA NEWS is not responsible for advance payment of two or more months made to the carrier. Please pay directly to the News Office any payment that exceeds the current collection period.

Subscription rates by mail are: $19.50 per three months, $39.50 per six months and $78.50 per year. No mail subscriptions are available within the city limits of Pampa. Military and students by mail $5.72 per month. Mail subscriptions must be paid 3 months in advance. Single copies are 25 cents daily and 75 cents Sunday.

The Pampa News is published daily except Saturdays and holidays by the Pampa News, 403 Atchison Street, Pampa, Texas 79065. Second-class postage paid at Pampa, Texas. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to the Pampa News, P.O. Drawer 2198, Pampa, Texas 79066-2198.

Missing Your Daily News?
Dial 669-2525 Before 7 p.m.
Weekdays, 10 a.m. Sundays

Berry's World

Jim Berry
© 1990 by NEA, Inc. 12-B

LINE DRAWN IN THE SAND

Why not a B.P.A. in football?

WASHINGTON.— Everyone knows the scenario: A teenager, usually black, shows great talent in sports. He comes from a low social and economic level; he makes barely passing grades in high school.

Given an athletic scholarship, he goes on to college. There his skills are exploited. He rarely earns a bachelor's degree. When his years of eligibility expire, the college dumps him onto Skid Row. The dumb jock is lucky if he can read the ads for help wanted.

This is the conventional wisdom. Is it valid? The answer is yes and no, but mostly no. In a publication just released by the Department of Education, Clifford Adelman takes a critical look at college athletes and finds them not so abused at all.

Adelman is a senior associate in the department's Office of Research. In this paper he works from voluminous data on 8,100 students in the high school class of 1972. About a thousand of them participated in some form of college athletics or performing arts.

Some aspects of the popular image are quite true. Relatively few varsity athletes come from high-income white families. White youths tend to go out for intramural tennis, golf and track. Varsity athletes have the lowest academic records in high school; because of poor preparation they make significantly lower scores on standard aptitude tests; roughly a third of them must take remedial math and English in college.

The scenario loses validity on the matter of graduation. Varsity athletes, as a group, complete their bachelor's degree requirements "at only a slightly lower rate than anyone else." Blacks who make a university's football or basketball team win degrees at double the rate for black non-athletes.

James J. Kilpatrick

Adelman adds a footnote: Varsity players may complete their degrees at a respectable rate, "but it takes them longer to do so than other groups, their grades are lower, and their curricula are, to put it mildly, less demanding along the way."

What happens to those who win their college letters on the gridiron or the basketball court?

The Skid Row scenario is not the norm: "At least in the first decade of their work lives, ex-varsity football and basketball players do very well economically." They experience less unemployment than their peers, and their average annual earnings "were comfortably above the mean for students who attended four-year colleges."

The release of Adelman's study coincides with an article in The Wall Street Journal by William F. Shughart, a professor of economics at the University of Mississippi. He makes the point that colleges treat athletes in one way and other "performing artists" in another.

For example, a music major gets academic credit for the hours spent in practice. The same thing is true of drama majors. Shughart asks a reasonable question: "Why should academic credit be given for practicing the violin, but not for practicing a three-point shot?"

To get around this situation, he recommends that colleges and universities create four-year programs leading to baccalaureate degrees in football and basketball. I would ask, Why not? Matching a degree as bachelor of fine arts would be a degree as a bachelor of physical arts. If a college is to function as a vocational school for actors, why not for tight ends?

Shughart has other sensible ideas. He would extend athletic scholarships from four years to six years, in order to make up for the lectures and exams that lettermen miss because of team training.

He would let a competitive marketplace determine the compensation paid to college athletes. He would get away from "the illusion of amateurism" that now hovers weakly over the campus.

The present system of compensating athletes, Shughart contends, benefits coaches, athletic departments and college administrators at the expense of the players. Shifting to realistic pay scales "would transfer some of the wealth created by big-time college athletic programs to the individuals whose talents are key ingredients in the success of those programs."

My own idea would be to go a bit further. Let us treat college teams as semi-professional farm clubs for the major football, basketball and baseball leagues. This isn't exactly the function of a university, but it would have the virtue of eliminating the academic hypocrisy that now prevails.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Jan. 7, the seventh day of 1991. There are 358 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Jan. 7, 1789, the first U.S. presidential election was held. Americans voted for electors who, a month later, chose George Washington to be the nation's first president.

On this date:

In 1536, Catherine of Aragon, the first wife of England's King Henry VIII, died.

In 1610, the astronomer Galileo sighted four of Jupiter's moons.

In 1782, the first commercial bank in the United States, the Bank of North America, opened in Philadelphia.

In 1800, the 13th president of the United States, Millard Fillmore, was born in Summerhill, N.Y.

In 1927, commercial transatlantic telephone service was inaugurated between New York and London.

In 1942, the World War II siege of Bataan started.

In 1953, President Truman announced in his State of the Union address that the United States had developed a hydrogen bomb.

The 'nuggy' baby blanket tale

Hackley Park is downtown in Muskegon, Mich. It's there that Vicki Bromley took her children to see the nativity display.

For her youngest daughter, Amber, age 2 1/2, this was the first year that she was aware of what Christmas was all about.

The morning after the visit the Bromleys awakened to discover an overnight snowstorm had draped the trees with a crystal negligee and carpeted the yard knee-deep in white.

The radio announced that area schools were closed for the day.

Repeatedly, as the morning wore on and the snowfall continued, little Amber was expressing concern about how cold the Baby Jesus must be.

Despite her mother's assurances, Amber stood by the window watching the snow pile deeper and deeper outside. Finally, at nighttime, little Amber came into the kitchen with her favorite "nuggy" blanket.

Amber had been brought home from the hospital in that blanket and they had been inseparable ever since.

But today Amber was anxious, explaining that nuggy keeps her safe and warm and she knew it would do the same for Baby Jesus. The wide blue eyes were pleading.

Paul Harvey

No way mother could say no.

So Mrs. Bromley bundled her youngsters into the car for what was now a tedious 45-minute drive from their home on Sixth Street to the downtown park.

Once there, they had to wade through snow that was drifted waist high in places. And when they reached the manger, the Baby Jesus was nowhere in sight.

Amber cried out in alarm.

"Jesus is just under the snow," mother reassured.

And together they began lifting and brushing the snow away to reveal the figure of the Christ Child. Amber carefully tucked her favorite blanket around the baby — and left it there.

And never again was little Amber to cry for her favorite comforter; it was now and henceforth serving a higher purpose.

The snowy-day pilgrimage to Muskegon's Hackley Park which I have described took place four years ago.

Baby Amber is a grown-up first grader now.

Recent years, traveling or otherwise preoccupied, the Bromleys have not revisited the creche in Hackley Park.

And when young Amber expressed an interest in returning this season her mother was prepared with an explanation that the Baby Jesus had probably taken her long-ago nuggy blanket to heaven ...

But the explanation was not necessary.

Oh, it's the same blanket all right. A mite more faded, but mother's long-ago fingernail polish stain is where it always was.

And if Santa has elves in the Parks Department in Muskegon, Mich., one of them each year — for four years — has been thoughtful enough to return that little blanket to the manger to perpetuate a little girl's wide-eyed wonder over the miracle of Christmas and to keep the Baby Jesus snug and warm.

Is it worth 10,000 American lives?

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER

It seems highly likely that, sometime early this year, President Bush will order our forces in the Middle East to go on the offensive against the troops of Saddam Hussein in Kuwait. The ensuing war will probably not be long as wars go, and with luck American casualties will not be high.

But there never has been, and never will be, a war that doesn't result in at least some casualties, and this one will be no exception.

The Pentagon is well aware of this, and some eagle-eyed journalist discovered and reported, not long ago, that arrangements have already been made to ship many thousands of coffins to Saudi Arabia.

There is no way, however, to make such a perfectly sensible and necessary step sound anything but macabre when it appears in the pages of our daily newspapers along with the sports scores, movie reviews and similar trivia.

Worse yet, though — because it is deliberately calculated to entrap and embarrass — is the question that reporters have already put to President Bush, and will put to him repeatedly if war does in fact break out: "Is Kuwait worth the lives of 10,000 (or however many) American boys?"

There can be, as the questioner well knows, no really satisfactory answer to such a question. In an ideal world, no human being ought to have the right to order a single one of his fellow men, let alone 10,000, to lay down their lives for a cause, no matter how noble, chosen by the one making the request. If we must die for a cause, let it be one we have chosen ourselves.

And yet, as any thoughtful person is well aware, the world simply isn't organized that way. Every major effort is collective, and could not be otherwise. Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., always the realist, put it bluntly:

"Every society rests on the death of men."

Fortunately, most people realize this, and resign themselves to the cruel possibility that they, or someone they love, may indeed have to die in a struggle for goals defined by others.

But this quiet acceptance, never easy, is infinitely harder to achieve today, when our society is deeply divided over fundamentals, and when the media conceive it their duty to report in detail every private tragedy, every ghastly blunder, that occurs in war and that their cameras can record.

What on earth can Mr. Bush, or any president, say in response to the question, "Is Kuwait worth the lives of 10,000 American boys?" If he answers "Yes," he appears to be diminishing the value of those lives. If he says "No," he undermines the very cause for which the sacrifice is required.

In individual cases, a more than ordinarily eloquent president may be able to rise to the occasion. That was the achievement of Abraham Lincoln in his famous letter to Mrs. Bixby, who he understood had lost all five of her sons on the field of battle:

"I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

But 359,528 Union soldiers died in that war, and I am sure Lincoln would be glad that he too died before anyone could ask him if the outcome was "worth" their lives.

© 1990 NEA

Lifestyles

Parents battle over son's conflicting commitments

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I cannot seem to agree on something. Please offer your opinion—although I'm not sure it will change my mind, or my husband's.

Our 8-year-old son is scheduled to be the ring bearer in my brother's wedding. My husband is the coach of our son's soccer team, and it turns out that the championship playoff game is the same day and time as the wedding.

I say my husband can miss the wedding to coach the team, but our son absolutely must be the ring bearer in the wedding. My husband says, "No, our son's commitment is to his team in the championship game." Neither one of us will budge from our position. Please help!

STUCK IN IRVINE, CALIF.

DEAR STUCK: I think your son should fulfill his commitment to be the ring bearer at your brother's wedding. There will be other soccer games, but your brother (let's hope) will have only one formal church wedding. Since your husband is the coach of the soccer team, I can understand why he places so much importance on the game, but I think he, too, should attend your brother's wedding, which will be remembered long after the soccer game has been forgotten.

I'm betting that all my male readers will say I'm wrong, and the women will say I'm right. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who thinks that as long as he gives you his paycheck, he is being the perfect husband? We've been married for 14 years, and he has never once put his arms around me unless I ask him to.

When I ask him if he loves me, he says, "I married you, didn't I?" Maybe I shouldn't complain, because he's decent, hard-working, faithful and active in our church. But how can I get him to be more loving?

NEEDS AFFECTION

DEAR NEEDS: You say he's active in your church? Wonderful—most churches have a Marriage Encounter group, which has worked wonders to revive marriages like yours. If your church doesn't have one, initiate such a group. There are Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and non-religious Marriage Encounter groups.

Legal tender without legal tenderness doesn't make much of a marriage. Get going, and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I just learned that the son of some good friends of ours committed suicide. They live in a distant city, but we have had a long-time close friendship.

We want to write them a letter of condolence, but are not sure whether we should mention the cause of their son's death or not. Please advise us.

LONGTIME FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: To quote from my booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions": "It isn't necessary to mention the cause of death. Many people ignore a death by suicide because they don't know what to say. Express your sorrow just as if the person had died of natural causes."

To get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Homemakers' News

Donna Brauchi

Does a second job pay?

Making ends meet is getting harder, it seems. That's why so many families depend on income from a second or even third job.

Taking another job to make ends meet is a realistic solution for many people. But it is also important to recognize that every job has a "cost of earning" factor - what it actually costs the worker to earn a living. A close look at employment-related income and expenses can give a realistic view of what to expect.

On the income side, consider how many hours and days a week you will work and what your total income will be. Compare your present expenses for fringe benefits such as insurance and pension plans and how much is being contributed toward Social Security. What will be the costs and advantage of these benefits with the new job? Some people, particularly those who have not had any health insurance coverage, find a second job that offers insurance benefits worthwhile even if the wages are relatively low. That's because the cost of health care would be even greater.

Work-related expenses to consider include special work clothes or uniforms that must be purchased; dues, fees, and licenses; job-related publications; business meetings and conferences; and tools, equipment and supplies.

If an additional vehicle must be purchased to get work, figure in the extra costs of transportation (work-related share of vehicle purchase cost, car loan, licenses, taxes, fees, insurance, gas, oil, and maintenance).

If a family member who has stayed a home returns to the job environment, there may be extra family expenses that are incurred that will reduce the amount of total family income available. Child care, changes in help, additional laundry/dry cleaning, more family meals out, changes in home food preparation, and household repair/maintenance needs may all contribute to increased family expenses.

Child care is a major expense for families needing such care. The average weekly child care cost for families paying for such services was $49 in 1987 (latest data). When total income is less than $1250 per month, families spend almost 21 percent on child care services.

The worker may also encounter added expenses for personal care, clothing, and work place related situations such as coffee breaks, gifts and parties.

Another cost of employment relates to the tax angle. Additional earnings can raise the tax bill because more income may push the earners into a different tax bracket. Some work-related expenses may be deductible as itemized expenses, but with a larger adjusted gross income, they may not qualify for deduction within those limits.

Clearly, having a job may have more than just economic meaning for the worker and for the family. New jobs always hold special personal meaning. Several non-economic issues. Should also be discussed with other household members, such as sharing of the household workload, child care responsibilities, sharing of farm production activities for farm families, seasonal variation in workloads, and time commitments for a volunteer religion-related, school activities, and/or social organizations.

For more information on searching for and managing a job as well as coping with unemployment, contact your Gray County Extension Office.

A dog's life

(Staff photo by Jean Streetman-Ward)

Not even a dog should be forced out in the cold winter weather of the past week, but this dog - wearing its own natural fur coat - was wandering the icy streets in downtown Pampa despite the chilly winds. Perhaps he was looking for his owner who left the comfort of a warm house to go out into the cold.

Reduced contents, but price stays the same

By DAVID E. KALISH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reduced Contents! Same Price!

Chances are pretty good you won't find that phrase pitching your favorite supermarket brand.

Yet in the past year, the makers of StarKist tuna fish, Knorr soup, Brim coffee and other familiar brands have quietly reduced their product's weight or volume — without changing the container's size or price to reflect the reduction.

A number of government and consumer groups charge that the unadvertised moves, while apparently not illegal, are deceiving shoppers into essentially paying more without knowing it. The marketing strategy, they add, comes during an economic period when consumers can least afford it and have the greatest need to shop around for the best price.

"It's a surreptitious way of raising price without having to actually have to put a new price tag on the product. I regard it as a sneaky and misleading," said Mark Green, commissioner of New York City's Consumer Affairs Department.

Brand manufacturers defend their moves, generally saying that surveyed consumers requested the shrunken contents or that technological innovations enable the same number of servings despite weight reductions.

The new contents-reduced products include:

- Knorr leek soup and recipe mix. The old, smaller box held enough dry soup mix to make four 8-ounce servings, but the new, bigger box contains enough to make only three 8-ounce servings.

- StarKist reduced its 6 1/2-ounce can of tuna fish to 6 1/8 ounces this summer, but shortened the height of the can by only one-sixteenth of an inch and kept the price the same.

- General Foods puffed up its Brim coffee beans so that 11 1/2 ounces now fill the can that used to hold 12 ounces.

- Lipton instant lemon-flavored tea was lightened from 4 ounces to 3.7 ounces without changing the container's size.

Manufacturers generally refused to discuss prices of their brands. But a spokeswoman at Shaw's Supermarkets Inc., a 70-store New England chain based in East Bridgewater, Mass., said that "in all these instances prices stayed the same even though the net weight of the product was decreased."

There are variations on the theme. The new box of Kellogg NutriGrain wheat cereal trumpets the product's "New Larger Size." But while the box's volume has grown nearly 15 percent, the amount of cereal in the box increased by less than 2 percent.

The moves are not considered illegal because in all these new products the volume and weight are listed, as required by law.

Tim Knowlton, a spokesman at Kellogg Co., based in Battle Creek, Mich., termed the changes in boxes of NutriGrain wheat "a quality issue" intended to give the flakes more room to prevent them from cracking.

CPC International Inc. said it increased the depth of its Knorr leek soup by 1/2 inch last March because it switched to producing its soups domestically and the new machine's capability was different.

The decrease in weight was a response to "a lot of complaints from American consumers that we were giving them too much in the box," said Nina Henderson, president of CPC Specialty Products Inc., the Englewood Cliffs, N.J. division that manages the Knorr product.

StarKist Seafood Co. of Long Beach, Calif. uses a similar argument, saying a reduction in water accounted for two-thirds of the weight reduction and that surveyed consumers said they preferred less water in their tuna fish.

However, marketing experts say that if the manufacturers were so intent on responding to consumers' needs, they would have advertised the weight reductions on the product package.

"These sound to me like a strained explanation," said Stephen Greyser, a marketing professor at Harvard Business School. "I would characterize it as a way to increase margins at the expense of the consumer."

For their parts, General Foods Corp. and Thomas J. Lipton Inc. each say that reformulations in their Brim coffee and Lipton instant lemon-flavored tea allow the number of servings per package to remain the same despite reductions in weight.

The weight-reduction strategy, experts add, typically surfaces during hard economic times as a way for companies to bolster profits without increasing prices.

For StarKist, which says it sells 518.4 million cans of tuna fish a year, an eighth of an ounce tuna-fish reduction adds up to a savings of 4 million pounds of tuna a year.

Seamstress gives new life to old lace

By LISA WREN
Fort Worth Star Telegram

FORT WORTH (AP) — If ever there was a dress that has stood the test of time, it is this one.

Hand-sewn in 1905, it has been worn by five nervous brides, survived a major fire and endured many feeble restorations.

But when bride-to-be Mary-Mikel Barcus first saw the 85-year-old wedding gown originally sewn for her fiancé's grandmother, she wasn't sure it could take another walk down the aisle or survive another twirl on the dance floor.

Its fragile lace, imported from Belgium in 1904, was falling apart, time had turned small tears into large rips and the original hand-beading had all but evaporated. Ms. Barcus was afraid the dress might disintegrate at the altar.

Putting fear aside, she carefully eased the dress on and a strange thing happened. As if something came to life within the dress, Ms. Barcus immediately felt an eerie yet strong connection with it and knew beyond a shadow of a doubt that this was the dress she'd wear — even if it was in shreds. The dress even fit her perfectly, leaving some to wonder if it hadn't been made for her.

Five brides in her fiancé's family, the Klinefelters, had walked the aisle in this gown. Though Ms. Barcus was thrilled with the idea of being the sixth, major restorations were needed and hope soon began to vanish when several tailors refused to work on it.

Enter Judy Shannon. "I didn't think there would be a problem with restoring it, but nobody would touch it," Ms. Barcus says. "I was ready to iron facing onto it so it wouldn't fall apart, when a customer in the store (where Ms. Barcus works) knew about Judy. She immediately took to it. It was like she'd know the dress before."

Ms. Shannon, 48, is not a professional seamstress, nor is she a bridal consultant. She is a former dental hygienist, mother and resident of west Fort Worth who just happens to work wonders with a needle and thread. And demand for her talent is growing so strongly, she is considering turning her hobby into a full-time business.

"Several years ago, I took in a TCU girl to live with me. When she got married, she took her dress to a seamstress who got in over her head; she couldn't finish it in time. So I helped out by doing the hand-beading," Ms. Shannon says.

"It took hours and hours of hand-beading. Well, she told everyone that I had made the gown, and suddenly, four of her friends were calling me to make them gowns."

While most of her clients are from Dallas, word is getting around about Ms. Shannon and her meticulous hand-beading, her magical ability to copy wedding gowns (often more beautiful than the designer version) and restoration of older gowns.

Ms. Shannon says people come to her because she places the beading artistically rather than in rows, as is done by machine. People do not come to her to save money.

"Many times people bring in a picture of a dress they like, and we'll copy it," Ms. Shannon says. "Often it's not an exact copy. Maybe there's more beading, less beading, different sleeves or no train."

Ms. Shannon learned to sew in the ninth grade because she absolutely loved clothes, she says. If practice makes perfect, she is about as fastidious a seamstress as there is. That can mean very long days and late nights; she often spends upwards of 90 hours hand-sewing the beads onto fabric.

Prices for custom-made and renovated gowns vary widely depending on the fabric, lace and beading used.

"If it's $1,200 in the store, it will be at least $1,200 with me. We can copy any dress, but for beading I charge by the hour, and that's what's expensive," Ms. Shannon says.

"What she's done, it's a labor of love more than anything," Ms. Barcus says. "One of the bridesmaids gowns (also made in the early 1900s) needed more width, so she sewed rows of lace together to provide more width. I would have just sewn in some cotton fabric."

In addition to bridal gowns, Ms. Shannon often is asked to design and make bridesmaids gowns, as well as coordinate them with the bridal gown and decor of the church.

"To each one of these girls, it's like Cinderella and the godmother," Ms. Shannon says. "I get so wrapped up in them. It's the first thing I've done where I've felt this way. I'm the one person in the wedding doing the one thing the bride really wants."

These days much of Ms. Shannon's time is spent making new gowns, but she is also known for resuscitating mothers' and grandmothers' bridal gowns, as well as transforming debutante gowns into bridal dresses.

"I like to stay with new dresses, but there's not anyone who restores gowns, and I like this," she says, admiring the ruching on Ms. Barcus' gown that took many painstaking hours to repair.

"Either I'm going to have to go into this full time, or I'm going to have to get a real job," she says. "I've got to hire people to help, though. I've got more than I can handle, yet I want to keep creative control."

Whether Ms. Shannon decides to march down the aisle of entrepreneurs or opts to take up another line of business, it's been more than just nips and tucks for the brides who've worked with her.

"She goes beyond a seamstress," Ms. Barcus says. "She's really an artist whose medium is a needle and thread."

Keep foliage plants clean; prepare for spring garden

Foliage plants used for indoor landscaping are difficult to keep clean and attractive. Dust from the air collects on the leaf surface making the plants appear drab and uninteresting. It also reduces the amount of light available to the plant for the production of food through the process of photosynthesis.

The leaves may be kept clean by using a soft camel hair brush or damp sponge about once a month to remove the dirt. Care must be exercised when cleaning as bruising the leaf surface will cause discoloration and blemishes. This may be avoided by placing one hand on the underside of the leaf as you wipe the surface with the sponge.

A high gloss can be obtained on some plant foliage by gently brushing the surface with soft cheesecloth or a soft brush. The natural oils and waxes on the leaf surface will usually produce a high gloss. If the leaves are extremely soiled, they may be washed with a mild soap and warm water solution before polishing.

Several commercial leaf polishes are available. If such materials are used, it is advisable to water the plants several hours prior to treating, as the dry plants tend to absorb the material rather rapidly, often resulting in foliage burn. Avoid the use of oil of any kind.

Plants with pubescent or hairy leaves are more difficult to clean. Occasional syringing of such plants with clean, warm water is very beneficial. Avoid the use of water that is colder than the air temperature of the room in which the plants are kept. Cold water can cause leaf spotting in certain plants. The occasional syringing will also aid in keeping the plants free of red spider mites and mealy bugs.

ARMCHAIR GARDENING

Plan your spring and summer flower garden from the comfort of your favorite armchair. Rely on the garden catalogs as references. Most reputable seed companies provide accurate information in their catalogs. They want to keep you as a satisfied customer year after year. These catalogs provide a wealth of details about flower varieties—giving such information as color, heights, planting tips, and season of bloom. Armed with this information it is easy to plan a well-arranged, attractive garden.

For Horticulture

Joe Van Zandt

At times, be adventuresome and select one or two of the new or different varieties to include in your garden as a conversation piece. Another variation that often proves interesting is to plan an all-white or all-pink flower bed or attempt to select only flowers with fragrance for your garden.

Whether you start your annuals from seed or whether you purchase started plants, a well-organized planting plan is helpful. It will enable you to make your purchases early and obtain quality plants rather than have to take what is left at the end of the season.

Price should not be a major factor when purchasing seeds or started plants. Quality plants, while slightly more expensive initially, will usually provide much more beauty and satisfaction in the long run.

CC-PC sign-up for semester

Registration for the Spring semester at Clarendon College - Pampa Center will be held Jan. 8 and 9 from 8:30 - 5:00 p.m. Evening registration will begin on Jan. 10. Day and evening classes will begin on Jan. 10.

Someone to Stand By You.

The problem NAIL FUNGUS The solution FUNGI-NAIL®

Try this safe, simple, effective remedy for the pain and embarrassment of nail fungus. Fights thick, split, discolored nails. Two powerful anti-fungal agents fight infection on toenails and fingernails. Provides relief from the pain and eliminates the fungus. Easy to apply as nail polish. No prescription needed.

Do you use Artificial Nails? Then you should use Fungi-Nail to prevent the nail fungus associated with artificial nails.

Available at your pharmacy or have them contact Kramer Laboratories, 8778 S.W. 8 St., Miami, FL 33174

Today's Crossword Puzzle

The World Almanac Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

- Wipe out (sl.)
- Cry of pain
- Arizona city
- Anger
- Former student
- Once — a time
- Sesame plant
- Revolution
- Rested
- Sign at sell-out (abbr.)
- Compass pt.
- Crow's call
- Sharp bark
- Aged
- Distinctive mark
- Author — Levin
- Between maxi and mini
- Small ox
- Tie the —
- Grate
- Period

DOWN

- Type of pasta
- Desertlike
- Senator Claborn —
- End of ship's
- Loom bar
- Fabric measure
- Barrier
- Thou
- Slate-cutting tool
- Actor O'Brien
- German submarine
- Incomparable
- Wintry glaze
- Tide type
- Over the —
- Except that
- New Zealand parrot
- spar
- de France
- Grinding stone
- Actor Brynner —
- arms
- Satellite
- Acress Baxter
- Superman's girl
- French coin
- Fish-catching fence
- School org.
- Wallace
- Wild buffalo
- New Mexico art colony
- 1944 invasion date
- Time — half
- Music-synthesizer pioneer
- Bald head
- Do as —
- Edward's nickname
- Arrogantly
- Intent
- Give name to Ultra-masculine
- Pueblo Indian
- Dill seed
- Dec. holiday
- Narrow
- Pippen sound
- Yearn
- Layer of tissue
- Timber tree
- Building wing

Answer to Previous Puzzle

S	U	I	T	S	U	P	S	A	D	A
S	A	R	I	T	R	A	P	S	E	C
T	W	E	N	T	I	E	T	H	A	N
S	I	R	S	E	E	P	E	D
T	I	T	E	R	T	Y	R	O
E	M	U	L	O	U	S	E	A	T	I
A	B	B	S	P	E	D	N	U	D	E
S	U	E	Y	S	T	A	G	B	O	W
E	E	R	I	E	S	P	I	R	A	L
S	E	V	E	R	E	A	E	S
A	D	O	T	H	O	U	S	A	N	D
S	E	W	H	A	U	L	R	E	A	R
E	N	S	A	R	I	D	Y	O	G	A

GEECH

By Jerry Bittle

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You sometimes surprise associates with your determination and tenacity, but, if you meet with resistance today, you could start to slack off instead of asserting yourself more vigorously. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It could prove wise today to leave well enough alone. If critical situations are running smoothly, don't institute change merely for change's sake.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Evaluate your finances realistically and spend accordingly today. Don't be extravagant and, above all, don't borrow to gratify current whims.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be extra mindful of your behavior when in the public eye today. If you make a bad impression, an adversary might distort what you do even more unfavorably.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Fixity of purpose and determination are two of your greatest assets today, but you might not use them to your advantage. You may lock in on a bad idea which you'll be reluctant to discard.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are negotiating a matter of importance today, it is best not to take things at face value. What looks promising on the surface could merely be a thin veneer.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to keep your priorities in order today. It's not important how fast you get things done; what really counts is how well they're accomplished.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Having lots of good ideas is commendable, provided you act upon them in constructive ways. Make mind and muscles move for a unified purpose today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You must guard against your own extravagance today, as well as that of a friend who could involve you in something costly. In either instance, both could be "budget benders."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your performance will improve today if you do only one thing; but, do it properly rather than attempt several things to which you cannot give adequate time and attention.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you may have justification, it is best not to let an old grudge influence your thinking today. You will benefit the most from forgiveness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) On occasion, you are sometimes a tad impractical where your financial affairs are concerned. This could be one of those days, so keep a tight grip on your wallet.

THE WIZARD OF ID

By Brant Parker and Johnny Hart

ECK & MEEK

By Howie Schneider

B.C.

By Johnny Hart

(c) 1991 by NEA, Inc.

MARVIN

By Tom Armstrong

MARMADUKE

By Brad Anderson

KIT N' CARLYLE

By Larry Wright

ALLEY OOP

By Dave Graue

SNAFU

By Bruce Beattie

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

By Bil Keane

WINTHROP

By Dick Cavalli

CALVIN AND HOBBS

By Bill Watterson

THE BORN LOSER

By Art Sansom

FRANK AND ERNEST

By Bob Thaves

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

Sports

Bengals end Oilers' playoff hopes with 41-14 victory

(AP Laserphoto)

Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Boomer Esiason heads for the goal line on a 10-yard touchdown run during the NFL playoff game Sunday with the Houston Oilers.

By JOE KAY
AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cody Carlson followed his dream game with a playoff nightmare.

One week after his brilliant performance in the climate-controlled Astrodome, the Houston Oilers backup quarterback was as dismal as the weather Sunday at Riverfront Stadium. The Cincinnati Bengals rolled to a 41-14 victory by taking advantage of Carlson's blunders in cold, rainy weather.

He had footballs slip out of his hand. He missed receivers by 10 yards. He threw directly to a defensive back. He fumbled a snap near his goal line.

In short, he wasn't Warren Moon. "We didn't pull together," Carlson said. "I didn't rise to the occasion out there. No one stepped forward. The feeling before the game was fine. When the game started, we just played lousy."

Their offense played worse than it had all season, leaving Boomer Esiason too many chances. Esiason threw for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead the Bengals to their most lopsided playoff victory and a second-round playoff game next weekend against the Raiders in Los Angeles.

Esiason completed 14 of 20 passes for a modest 150 yards, but that was enough because of the Oilers' misfiring offense. Carlson threw an interception that set up a short touchdown drive, and fumbled a snap from center at the Houston 10-yard line to set up another easy score.

"It was only 150 yards, but it was 150 yards that really counted," Esiason said of his passing total. "They came at the right time."

It was a bad time for Carlson.

The fourth-year quarterback had to take over when Moon dislocated his right thumb in the closing minutes of the Bengals' 40-20 victory over Houston two weeks ago at Riverfront Stadium.

Carlson then put the Bengals and the Oilers in the playoffs with a career-best game last Sunday, completing 22 of 29 for 247 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-14 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Bengals celebrated an AFC Central Division title courtesy of Carlson. They also built the foundation for their playoff rout as they watched him operate the run-and-shoot.

Moon's strong arm lets him throw deep a lot. Carlson chose short passes against Pittsburgh's soft zone defense, and the Bengals resolved to make things tougher for him.

They put four cornerbacks on the line of scrimmage to bump and shadow the Oilers' magnificent wideouts, taking away the short pass. Safeties David Fulcher and Barney Bussey moved around a lot to further confuse him.

It worked. "We watched them last Sunday when they played Pittsburgh," Fulcher said. "Pittsburgh laid off of them and we challenged them. We put all of our cornerbacks right in front of the receivers' faces. Everywhere the receivers went, the cornerbacks were right there."

"We put a little heat on (Carlson) at the line with the pass rush and he couldn't get the ball into the receivers' hands."

An understatement.

The Oilers didn't get a first down until the last minute of the first half, when the Bengals already led 20-0. He completed just 2 of his first 7 passes for 10 yards. The Oilers managed just 36 total yards in the half — and 30 came on the final play. Houston had the ball for less than five minutes in the half.

It was by far the worst performance for the Oilers, who had the NFL's top passing game and rolled up 400 yards in half of their games. They ended with season lows in first downs (13), total net yards (226) and net yards passing (159).

"There's no more fun in the world than playing a playoff game when you're playing well," Houston coach Jack Pardee said. "We didn't have anything today. They had all the fun."

"It was apparent early that they were going to have all the fun. It didn't come down to one play — it came down to the whole game."

Esiason was among those having the most fun.

He kept the Bengals' first scoring drive alive by running two yards on fourth-and-one at midfield, then threw 46 yards to Rodney Holman to set up Tickey Woods' 1-yard touchdown run.

Jim Breech kicked a pair of field goals, and Esiason tossed a 2-yard touchdown pass to Harold Green that was set up by Fulcher's 43-yard interception return.

It was 20-0 and the Oilers still hadn't crossed midfield.

Esiason scrambled 27 yards to set up Eric Ball's 3-yard touchdown run in the third quarter. On the first play after Carlson fumbled away a snap at the Houston 10, Esiason evaded the rush and ran in for a 34-0 lead that clinched it.

Esiason threw the ball into the second deck when he reached the end zone to celebrate.

"He was making things happen," offensive tackle Anthony Munoz said. "His confidence level was so high. When there was a little pressure, he seemed to be able to escape and make big plays."

There were none of those by Carlson, who completed passes against a softened defensive secondary the rest of the way to end up 16 of 33 for 165 yards with the one interception.

"We were flat from the beginning to the end," Oilers receiver Ernest Givins said. "When you start off slow in a big game, it's kind of hard to pick yourself up later on. That's what we did — we started slow, and it was hard to catch up. It was 1-2-3 punt, 1-2-3 punt."

The Bengals' only problems were with injuries. Running back James Brooks left the game with a dislocated left thumb in the first quarter and needed an operation to put it back in place. Offensive guard Bruce Reimers severely sprained his ankle. Both players are questionable for the Raiders' game.

At this point, the injuries are the only things bothering the Bengals.

"If we get back some guys that are hurt, we can be a force," Esiason said.

Bears take Saints 16-6 to join playoff winners

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Now the big boys join the party.

The NFL playoffs began this weekend with one upset, Washington over Philadelphia, the only victory by a road team. The other winners were Chicago, Miami and Cincinnati.

That sets up matchups between the Redskins and 49ers at San Francisco and the Dolphins and Bills at Buffalo on Saturday. On Sunday, the Bears visit the New York Giants and the Bengals are at the Los Angeles Raiders.

The Redskins began the weekend by shutting down Randall Cunningham, getting some help from instant replay and avenging a bitter loss two months ago with a 20-6 victory at Philadelphia.

Then the Dolphins edged the Kansas City Chiefs 17-16 at Miami in the most exciting game of the opening round — and possibly of the year. Dan Marino brought Miami back from a 9-point hole with a pair of fourth-quarter touchdown passes.

On Sunday, the Bengals put the clamps on the Houston Oilers' run-and-shoot in a 41-14 wipeout, and the Bears used a fortuitous offside penalty against New Orleans, plus the versatility of Neal Anderson for a 16-6 decision.

The 49ers, Giants, Bills and Raiders — all division winners with the best records — were idle. Bears 16, Saints 6

Anderson had 103 yards rushing, passed for 22 yards and caught four passes for 42, while Kevin Butler kicked three field goals to send the Bears on.

"It's the playoffs, you lay it all

(AP Laserphoto)

Chicago Bears' Trace Armstrong, left, comes in from behind to sack New Orleans Saints' quarterback John Fournette for a 10-yard loss in Sunday's NFC wild-card game.

on the line," Anderson said. "I love it when I know the ball is coming to me to make things happen."

He even likes it when he is called on to throw, although his option pass to Ron Morris was one of the ugliest in memory.

"It was a lame duck and Morris made a great catch," Anderson said after he was hit by Rickey Jackson and the pass wobbled to Morris at the Saints' 8. "It was a serious duck. It looked so sick most people would have shot it."

The Saints appeared to have tied it 10-10 in the third period when Butler's field goal attempt was blocked by Renaldo Turnbull and returned 61 yards by Vince Buck for a touchdown. But Robert Massey had lined up offside, nullifying the play, and Butler went on to kick a 22-yarder for a 13-3 lead.

Bengals 41, Oilers 14
At Cincinnati, Cody Carlson couldn't make up for the absence of Warren Moon a second time and the Oilers couldn't stop the Bengals, who bolted to a 20-0 halftime lead and were ahead 34-0 at one point.

"We didn't pull together," Carlson said after he was 16-for-33 for 165 yards. "I didn't rise to the occasion out there. No one stepped forward. The feeling before the game was fine. When the game started, we just played lousy."

"Houston's a dome team," Bengals cornerback Eric Thomas said. "It's tough for them to go outside and play when it's slippery and wet and grimy."

Boomer Esiason threw for two touchdowns and ran for another as Cincinnati controlled the ball in its most lopsided playoff victory. Redskins 20, Eagles 6

Mark Rypien threw for two touchdowns, Earnest Byner ran for 49 yards and had seven receptions for 77 yards and the Washington defense befuddled the Eagles. The Redskins had five sacks and shut out Philadelphia in the second half.

"If we don't turn the ball over, teams have trouble scoring on us," said coach Joe Gibbs. "Our defense just doesn't let people go a long way to get scores."

The game turned late in the first half when the replay official determined Byner did not fumble at the Eagles' 6. The call nullified Ben Smith's 89-yard TD runback after picking up the loose ball. Instead, the Redskins got a 20-yard field goal by Chip Lohmiller and a 10-6 lead.

Dolphins 17, Chiefs 16
Dan Marino was 8-for-8 in the final quarter, including short touchdown passes to Tony Paige and Mark Clayton. In the 85-yard drive for the winning touchdown, the Dolphins also converted three third-down plays.

"It was either get it done or go home," said Paige. "It says a lot about the character of our ballclub that we hung in there and got the job done."

All-Pro Nick Lowery missed a 52-yard field goal with 49 seconds left after a holding penalty had pushed the Chiefs back from more certain field goal range.

Christa West sets school assist record for season

One school record was broken and another one almost was in the Pampa Lady Harvesters' 70-52 win over Amarillo Caprock last Saturday.

Guard Christa West (5-6 senior) broke her own assist record for a season with 95. She needed only one assist against Caprock to tie her own record of 92 set last season. She finished the night with four, setting the new record with nine regular-season games remaining. Last season, West collected her 92nd assist in the final game.

Amber Seaton, Pampa's 6-1 junior post player, almost joined West in the record books.

Seaton finished the night with 21 rebounds, only three shy of Yolanda Brown's school record in a single game.

"That's a bunch of rebounds," Nichols said. "She was really on fire against Caprock."

Seaton also finished the night with 18 points, leading a fourth-quarter blitz with 13 points when Caprock had pulled within four after being down, by 11 after three quarters.

Pampa junior Nikki Ryan led all scorers with 23 points.

The win over Caprock was the District 1-4A opener for the Lady Harvesters.

"That was a good way to get started. It's always nice to win that first one," Nichols said.

The Lady Harvesters boosted their overall record to 11-8.

Pampa takes on Dumas in district action at 8 p.m. Tuesday in McNeely Fieldhouse. The junior varsity game will be played at 6:30 p.m.

Dumas has a record of 5-11 in pre-district games.

"Dumas isn't very big inside, but they've got some guards who like to shoot from outside. They've got a little guard (JaKalya) Janow who scored 21 points against our junior varsity earlier in the season," Nichols said. "Dumas has always seemed to be a guard-oriented club. They like to put it up from outside."

Pampa split district games against Dumas last season.

"School is in now and I'd like to see a good crowd out for our first district home game," Nichols said.

Randall defeated Berger, 61-39, in another District 1-4A opener last week.

Sexton takes second place in Liberal wrestling tourney

Pampa High School junior Phillip Sexton took second place in the heavyweight division in the Liberal, Kan., wrestling tournament over the weekend.

Also gaining ranking in the tournament, held Friday and Saturday, were freshman Chris Fox, who took fourth place in the 171 pound class, and senior Chris Archibald, who gained fifth place in the 189 pound class.

Tying for seventh place in their classes were John Pacheco, Frank Jara, Andy Cavalier and Tom Thompson.

"I was really pleased with everyone's performance," said wrestling coach Steve Kuhn. "They did a super job."

Kuhn said he was especially pleased with Sexton's performance. "Phillip wrestled a super tournament, the best he's ever done," he said. "He did an excellent job."

Sexton was seeded sixth going into the tournament. His opponent was ranked number one in the heavyweight class in Kansas, but Sexton nearly took him in the final match, at one point having him on his back.

Sexton lost the match in overtime, 8-5, with the regulation time ending at 5-5.

Kuhn said he also was impressed with freshman Fox's performance, noting that he was not even seeded for the tournament. "It was quite an accomplishment" for Fox to end up fourth, Kuhn said.

Fox made it to the semi-final round, losing to the No. 1 seeded opponent who went on to take first in the 171 pound class.

Patriots pick MacPherson

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Dick MacPherson, the coach at Syracuse the past 10 seasons and a former NFL assistant, was named today as coach of the New England Patriots, the league's worst team.

He succeeds Rod Rust, who was fired last Friday after the team went 1-15 in its only season under him.

MacPherson, the Patriots third head coach in three years, brings one thing to the team that the last two coaches lacked — a demonstrative personality.

He was hired to restore something else to the franchise — a winning record.

The announcement of MacPherson's hiring came at a morning news conference after reports circulated Sunday that it was imminent.

Rust had a low-key manner and a low-achieving club. He had succeeded the similarly reserved Raymond Berry, who was fired after a 5-11 record in 1989.

MacPherson is 60, just two years younger than Rust and three years older than Berry. But he is much quicker with the quip and livelier on the sidelines.

In 17 seasons as a college head coach, seven at Massachusetts and 10 at Syracuse, his record is 111-73-5. The Orangemen were 7-4-2 this season and won the Aloha Bowl.

L.A. Lakers rout Golden State Warriors

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers had plenty of magic left, even without Magic Johnson.

James Worthy scored 29 points and Larry Drew had a season-high 14 assists while starting in place of the injured Johnson Sunday night as the Lakers routed the Golden State Warriors 135-108.

Johnson missed the game after jamming the middle finger on his right hand during Friday night's 115-99 loss to the Warriors in Oakland.

"After the way they beat us the other night, we wanted to come out and play a good game," said Drew, who took only three shots and scored two points. "We didn't have (Johnson), so everybody had to pull together and come out with a 'W' no matter how we got it."

Sam Perkins scored 22 points, Vlade Divac 20 and Byron Scott 18 on 7-for-8 shooting for the Lakers, who outrebounded the Warriors 59-33.

"It makes it a little bit easier when you're playing with guys like Byron and James," Drew said. "All you have to do is get the ball to those guys, and that's pretty much what I was doing."

Golden State, which got 26 points each from Tim Hardaway and Mitch Richmond and 25 from Chris Mullin, lost reserve guard Sarunas Marciulionis at the end of the first half with a sprained medial collateral ligament in his left knee.

In the only other NBA games Sunday night, it was Boston 127, Dallas 110; New York 99, the Los Angeles Clippers 90; and Portland 114, Seattle 111.

Drew recorded seven first-quarter assists as the Lakers raced to a 33-23 lead. Divac had nine points and six rebounds in the period.

The Lakers, who never trailed, used a 30-12 rebounding edge, 13 points by Worthy and 11 assists by Drew to build a 66-57 halftime lead.

Worthy fueled a 12-4 run with three layups as the Lakers extended their lead to 95-75 with 3:41 left in the third quarter.

Trail Blazers 114, SuperSonics 111
Portland continued to struggle without injured forward Jerome Kersey, but hung on to beat Seattle behind Danny Ainge's 20 points, including two 3-pointers in the final 2:41.

Shawn Kemp, who led the SuperSonics with 25 points, scored 17 in the second half as they rallied from a 13-point halftime deficit to lead 99-95 with 7:19 left. Dale Ellis scored 10 of his 22 points for Seattle in the fourth quarter.

A pair of free throws by Derrick McKey and a layup by Kemp tied it 111-111 with 31 seconds remaining.

Then Terry Porter scored off a pass from Clyde Drexler, putting Portland in front for good. Knicks 99, Clippers 90

New York shot 35 percent from the field in the first quarter and trailed 33-28 with 9:30 left in the first half before outscoring the Clippers 25-8 in the rest of the second period for a 53-41 halftime lead.

Patrick Ewing had 23 points for the Knicks.

The Clippers got 19 points from Danny Manning. Benoit Benjamin had 16 points, 18 rebounds and seven blocked shots for Los Angeles. Celtics 127, Mavericks 110

Larry Bird and Kevin McHale keyed a 42-point second quarter as Boston rallied from a 16-point deficit.

Dallas charged to a 35-22 first-quarter lead and widened the advantage to 38-22 on Rolando Blackman's 3-point basket. The Celtics then went on a 38-11 run to go from 16 points down to 11 points ahead.

Kevin Gamble finished with 23 points, McHale 21 and Reggie Lewis 20 for the Celtics. Blackman led the Mavericks with 27.

The return of Brian Shaw from Italy and the arrival of No. 1 draft pick Dee Brown are credited with the resurgence of the Boston Celtics.

Shaw and Brown add speed, quickness and offense in the backcourt that has helped the Celtics to a 26-5 record, their best since a similar start in the 1984-85 season.

However, veteran Gamble, who spent much of last season on the bench, is playing a major role along with Bird, McHale, Robert Parish and Lewis.

With their 16th consecutive home victory, the Celtics extended their unbeaten home record against Dallas to 11-0. They also registered their 400th home victory since Bird joined the team and became a rookie sensation in 1979.

After Dallas took a 38-22 lead on Rolando Blackman's 3-point basket at the start of the second period, the Celtics got their wakeup call.

They went from 16 points down to 11 points up with a 38-11 run that virtually assured them of their 11th victory in the last 12 starts.

"You have to work with your emotion and this team thrives on playing with emotion," Boston coach Chris Ford said.

(AP Laserphoto)

Golfer Tom Kite of Austin receives a hug from his wife Christy after winning the Tournament of Champions Sunday at Carlsbad, Calif.

Kite takes one-stroke victory in Tournament of Champions

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Tom Kite won't say golf's "M" word. "It's a great start," Kite said after his one-stroke victory in the kickoff event on the PGA Tour, the Tournament of Champions.

"But that's all it is: a start. If '91 is to be as good as I think it can be, I have to keep pushing," the 41-year-old veteran said Sunday. "I'm determined to make this the best year I've ever had."

That's obviously a rather lofty goal for a man who has won a Player of the Year award, a couple of Vardon Trophies, a pair of money-winning crowns and ranks as the game's all-time money-winning leader.

So what, he was asked, would that "best year I've ever had" entail?

"If I can continue to play golf with the patience and control I had this week, that'd do it," Kite said.

"I could have lost this tournament when Lanny (Wadkins) got ahead. But patience won it for me. I'm just going to try my damndest to be able to miss a putt and go on to the next shot, the next hole, with confidence that I can do what I need to do."

"I have a lot of things I want to do. I want to win a lot of golf tournaments, as many as I can."

"Obviously," he said, "if you could pick your spots, you'd start at the top and work down from there." And that, obviously, was a reference to golf's majors, the "M" word he won't say.

Kite has yet to win one of the game's Big Four — the Masters, U.S. and British Opens and the PGA. It's the only blank spot on an otherwise remarkable career.

"I think it all depends on how bad you want it," Kite, 41, said. "If I stay healthy, there's really no reason I can't perform as well as I ever have."

His performance left little to be desired in the season-opening event, a tournament that brings together only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the previous year.

Kite scored his second Tournament of Champions victory with a closing 69 — his fourth consecutive round in the 60's — and a 16-under-par 272 total, one ahead of Wadkins.

Wadkins, who had a last-round 68, took the lead with a birdie-birdie-birdie burst beginning on the 12th hole and Kite's bogey on the 14th. But Kite rebounded quickly, dropping a 20-foot birdie putt on the 16th and then moving in front to stay when the aggressive Wadkins three-putted from 18 feet.

"I tried to put the pressure on him. Instead, I took the pressure off him," said Wadkins, who finished at 273.

It was another three strokes back to Chip Beck, Wayne Levi and Fred Couples, who tied for third at 276.

Levi, a four-time winner last season, closed up with a last-round 66. Beck shot 69 and Couples birdied the last hole for 71.

In a separate but simultaneous competition for 1990 winners from the seniors tour, Bruce Crampton got up and down from five bunkers, shot 71 and won by four strokes with a 279 total.

Frank Beard, who once closed to a stroke of the lead, lost his momentum with a three-putt bogey on the 10th, shot 71 and was second at 283.

The tournament was sponsored by Infiniti.

Harvesters ranked No. 10

LUBBOCK (AP) — Here is the first weekly high school basketball poll compiled by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC) in cooperation with The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

BOYS

- CLASS 5A
 1. Sugar Land Willowridge 22-1
 2. Fort Worth Dunbar 21-2
 3. Dallas Kimball 22-1
 4. Austin LBJ 19-1
 5. Galena Park North Shore 20-2
 6. San Antonio Jay 21-1
 7. Duncanville 19-2
 8. Bryan 19-2
 9. Houston Milby 16-3
 10. Houston Washington 20-5
- CLASS 4A
 1. Port Arthur Lincoln 17-3
 2. Lancaster 19-0
 3. Burkburnett 16-3
 4. Channelview 18-3
 5. Katy Taylor 17-3
 6. Lamesa 17-3
 7. Cedar Hill 17-2
 8. Mesquite Potect 17-1
 9. Boerne 19-2
 10. Pampa 17-3
- CLASS 3A
 1. Hardin-Jefferson 20-1
 2. Clarksville 17-1
 3. Gonzales 15-2
 4. Canyon 16-3
 5. Denver City 16-2
 6. Brookshire Royal 15-1
 7. Brownsboro 15-2
 8. Dimmitt 17-5
 9. Bandera 17-0
 10. Alvarado 16-1
- CLASS 2A
 1. Krum 17-1
 2. Abernathy 19-1
 3. Troup 14-2
 4. Liberty Hill 14-3
 5. Tidehaven 10-2
 6. Ingram Tom Moore 15-4
 7. Karnes City 17-0
 8. Edgewood 14-4
 9. Farmersville 15-1
 10. Honey Grove 17-3
- CLASS 1A
 1. Moulton 19-1
 2. Brookeland 19-1
 3. Chillicothe 19-0
 4. Fannindel 15-1
 5. Avinger 18-1
 6. Holland 17-0
 7. Dime Box 15-2

- 8. Graford 16-2
- 9. North Hopkins 19-1
- 10. Lorenzo 16-3
- GIRLS
- CLASS 5A
 1. Duncanville 22-0
 2. Longview 24-0
 3. Langham Creek 21-1
 4. Seguin 19-1
 5. Corpus Christi Carroll 20-1
 6. Jersey Village 20-2
 7. Port Arthur Jefferson 20-3
 8. Killeen 17-3
 9. Irving 18-3
 10. Converse Judson 18-4
- CLASS 4A
 1. Calallen 24-0
 2. Levelland 19-2
 3. Georgetown 20-2
 4. Austin Westlake 19-2
 5. Houston King 19-3
 6. Lockhart 20-2
 7. Canyon Randall 16-4
 8. Wilmer-Hutchins 13-5
 9. Brenham 19-1
 10. Waco Midway 18-3
- CLASS 3A
 1. Canyon 17-2
 2. Tulia 15-2
 3. Willsboro 21-0
 4. Hardin-Jefferson 16-0
 5. Pollok Central 19-1
 6. Dimmitt 16-5
 7. Dripping Springs 17-5
 8. McGregor 17-1
 9. Alvarado 15-2
 10. Abilene Wylie 18-3
- CLASS 2A
 1. Honey Grove 19-0
 2. Abernathy 17-4
 3. Bloomington 17-6
 4. Marion 16-5
 5. Seymour 18-4
 6. Crosbyton 16-2
 7. Rogers 16-6
 8. Schulenburg 17-4
 9. Amarillo Highland Park 15-1
 10. Leonard 14-3
- CLASS 1A
 1. Nazareth 9-8
 2. Avinger 18-1
 3. Moulton 16-5
 4. Evadale 19-2
 5. Sudan 16-4
 6. Channing 14-3
 7. Happy 13-7
 8. Slidell 15-3
 9. McMullen County 16-0
 10. La Poynor 19-3

Raiders open SWC basketball season at 2-0

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech may own a share of the lead in the Southwest Conference basketball race, but coach Gerald Myers is making no early reservations for the Final Four.

Texas Tech's 77-72 victory over Texas A&M in College Station on Saturday, combined with its 56-54 victory Wednesday over Southern Methodist, vaulted the Red Raiders to 2-0 in league play and a share of the SWC lead.

"It feels good to get off to a good start, but we know it's a long road and we have to be ready every night," Myers said. "We will celebrate this one and then start thinking about Baylor next Tuesday night."

In other games Saturday, Texas raised its conference record to 2-0 with a 94-77 victory over Baylor, Rice defeated Northwestern Louisiana, 64-56, and Texas Christian beat Southern Methodist, 63-59.

On Sunday, second-ranked Arkansas disposed of Houston 95-79 to grab a share of the conference lead.

Ron Huery scored a season-high 22 points in Arkansas' victory.

Houston's last lead was 6-4, but the Cougars stayed within striking distance until the Razorbacks' spurt. When it was over, Arkansas led 77-61 with 7:18 remaining. Houston never got closer than 13 the rest of the way.

Arkansas raised its record to 13-1, while Houston fell to 9-3 and 1-1.

Texas Tech's 2-0 SWC mark is quite an achievement for a team that lost all 16 conference games last season. The Red Raiders are 5-9 overall.

"For this team, two wins in a row feels real good," said guard Bryant Moore. "We just want to continue it."

Moore and fellow junior college transfer guard Lamont Dale were the key performers for

(AP Laserphoto)

University of Arkansas' Ron Huery, right, drives past University of Houston's Tyrone Evans in Sunday's game.

Tech on defense in the pivotal second half against the Aggies. The Red Raiders used 8-3 and 9-4 scoring spurts to help take control.

Dale limited hot-shooting A&M guard Lynn Suber, who had 17 points at intermission, compared with only 6 points in the final 20 minutes.

"At halftime we just talked about the fact that Suber had 17 points," Myers said. "He's a great player and when he gets hot he's awful hard to stop."

Suber was six of seven with five 3-pointers in the first half. But Dale helped limit him to two of six shooting and no 3-pointers in the second half.

"I think the difference in the game was Lamont Dale's defensive job on Suber in the second half and Bryant Moore coming in, making a couple of key steals and setting us down a little bit," Myers said.

Reserve forward Locksley Collie scored a career-high 27 points and grabbed 8 rebounds in the Longhorns' 94-77 victory over Baylor.

The 6-foot-7 Collie, an off-and-on starter in his two years at Texas (7-4), worked inside for most of his points and collected 22 of his 27 points in the second half when the Longhorns began to pull away.

Joey Wright and Teyon McCoy added 20 points each for Texas. Wright also had 5 steals, and McCoy had 6 assists and 3 three-pointers.

Alex Holcombe and Dennis Lindsey scored 13 apiece to lead the Bears (7-4, 0-2).

Texas Christian hit 10 of 12 free throws in the final 2:08, including four straight by Kelvin Crawford, in the Horned Frogs' victory over Southern Methodist.

The Frogs (9-2, 1-0) got into foul trouble late in the second half and top scorers Reggie Smith and Michael Strickland fouled out.

Smith, who averaged 21 points and 10 rebounds per game, had only 13 points and 4 rebounds when he departed with more than four minutes to play.

Jody Bentley tied the game at 53 with a 3-pointer before the Frogs began their free throw marksmanship.

The Mustangs (3-8, 0-2) were led by Ty Mason, who scored 18 points.

Dana Hardy scored 8 of his team-high 22 points in the final eight minutes to lead the Rice Owls over Northwestern Louisiana.

Chase Maag and Kenneth Rourke added 15 and 14 points respectively for the Owls (5-6).

Dexter Grimley led Northwestern Louisiana with 13 points, followed by Jay Scherer with 12 points and Jethro Owens with 10 points and 9 rebounds.

The Demons (2-8) compete in the Southland Conference.

Bruins, Buccaneers and Nebraska off to good starts

By The Associated Press

It's been a long time since UCLA has gotten out of the blocks so fast. And longer still for East Tennessee State and Nebraska.

But all three are racing their motors this season.

With Saturday's 88-81 victory over Louisville, 10th-ranked UCLA improved its record to 12-1 — its best start in eight years.

"Pauley Pavilion is not an easy place to play," said Louisville coach Denny Crum, who played for UCLA in the 1950s. "They're tough to beat at home ... They're tough to beat anywhere. They have a lot of talent, are well-coached, they play hard and they're not an old team. They're going to get a whole lot better."

Apparently, so will East Tennessee State and Nebraska.

With an 89-70 win over Appalachian State, No. 17 East Tennessee State improved to 10-1 — the best start in the Buccaneers' history dating back to the 1918-19 season. No. 19 Nebraska, 14-1 after a 74-69 win at Kansas State, is off to its best start in 78 years.

In Saturday's other games, it was Villanova 76, No. 3 Syracuse 66; No. 4 Arizona 84, Washington State 69; No. 5 Indiana 99, Northwestern 58; No. 6 Ohio State 67, Michigan 57; No. 7 North Carolina 82, Notre Dame 47; No. 18 Virginia 81, No. 8 Duke 64; No. 9 St. John's 75, Boston College 68; No. 12 Connecticut 81, No. 11 Pittsburgh 76; No. 13 Oklahoma 64, James Madison 61; No. 15 Georgetown 73, Seton Hall 65; No. 16 Kentucky 93, No. 14 Louisiana State 80; No. 21 Southern Mississippi 84, Florida State 72; and No. 22 Iowa 79, No. 25 Michigan State 66.

On Sunday, No. 2 Arkansas beat Houston 95-79 and No. 24 Georgia Tech stopped Wake Forest 101-91.

In beating Louisville, UCLA overcame one of the best defensive teams in the country.

"It was good for our team to face someone who plays pressure defense," said UCLA coach Jim Harrick.

The Bruins pulled away with Don MacLean's 26 points and an 11-0 second half run fueled by Darick Martin's five points. The victory gave the Bruins their best start since the 1982-83 team went 13-1.

Everick Sullivan scored 27 points as Louisville (5-4) dropped its third straight.

Nebraska managed to overcome a 48-39 deficit in rebounding to win at Kansas State.

"A five-point win in Manhattan to open up the Big Eight season is a big, big win," Nebraska coach

Danny Nee said. "If you don't shoot the ball well and get outrebounded and still win on the road, that's a big victory."

Their 12th straight victory put the Huskers at 14-1 for the first time since 1912-13.

Nebraska overcame a 37-30 halftime deficit as Jose Ramos hit three free throws in the final 12 seconds.

Meanwhile, East Tennessee State coach Alan LeForce was happy with his team's defensive game.

"If we're the 17th-ranked team, we've got to play that way," LeForce said.

Keith Jennings scored 22 points and had 12 assists to lead the Buccaneers, who regained the lead five minutes into the first half and held it the rest of the game.

Saturday

Villanova 76, No. 3 Syracuse 66
Lance Miller scored 22 points for the Wildcats, who have beaten the Orangemen three straight times at Syracuse, including 93-74 last year.
No. 4 Arizona 84, Washington St. 69

Brian Williams scored 11 of his 18 points in the second half as Arizona rallied from a 39-38 halftime deficit.

No. 5 Indiana 99, Northwestern 58
Damon Bailey scored 17 points as the Hoosiers won their 22nd straight over Northwestern at home.
No. 6 Ohio St. 67, Michigan 57

Jim Jackson, who took just four shots in the first half, scored 10 of his 16 points down the stretch for the Buckeyes.

No. 7 North Carolina 82, Notre Dame 47

Hubert Davis made three of four 3-pointers during a 17-5 surge to start the second half and North Carolina won its ninth straight.

No. 18 Virginia 81, No. 8 Duke 64
Virginia took control with an 11-0 run for a 15-4 lead as Duke turned the ball over 14 times and shot 27 percent in the first half.

No. 9 St. John's 75, Boston College 68

Malik Sealy scored 15 of his 19 points in the second half for St. John's.

No. 12 Connecticut 81, No. 11 Pittsburgh 76

Scott Burrell scored 16 points and made a go-ahead 3-pointer with 58 seconds left as Connecticut won its seventh straight and 21st in a row at home.

No. 13 Oklahoma 64, James Madison 61

Jeff Webster scored 22 of his 24 points in the second half, including a key tip-in with 11 seconds left, as Oklahoma survived a cold-shooting first half.

(AP Laserphoto)

Loyola Marymount players Richard Petruska, left, and Christian Scott, right, double up for a rebound against U.S. International player Isaac Brown (4) in the first half Saturday in Los Angeles. Loyola set an NCAA team scoring record in defeating the Gulls, 186-140.

No. 15 Georgetown 73, Seton Hall 65

Dikembe Mutombo scored 16 points and teamed with Joey Brown on an 18-0 run in the second half for Georgetown.

No. 16 Kentucky 93, No. 14 LSU 80

Two 3-pointers by Richie Farmer began a streak of five in the closing minutes as the Wildcats overcame 28 points and 17 rebounds by Shaquille O'Neal.

No. 21 S. Mississippi 84, Florida St. 72

Darrin Chancellor and Daron Jenkins scored 20 points each as Southern Mississippi made 34 of 45 free throws.

No. 22 Iowa 79, No. 25 Michigan St. 66

James Moses scored 19 points and Val Barnes added 17 to lead the Hawkeyes, who made 16 of 22 foul shots down the stretch.

Sunday

No. 2 Arkansas 95, Houston 79

Lee Mayberry, who scored 27 points, started a late 9-point run with a dunk off an alley-oop pass, and Ron Huery scored a season-high 22 points to lead Arkansas.

No. 24 Georgia Tech 101, Wake Forest 91

Kenny Anderson scored 32 points, including 10 in 43 seconds midway through the second half, as Georgia Tech won its sixth straight.

In other college action, Kevin Bradshaw of U.S. International scored 72 points Saturday night against Loyola Marymount to break Pete Maravich's scoring record against a NCAA Division I opponent, but Loyola set an NCAA scoring record in a 186-140 victory.

Bradshaw broke Maravich's record of 69 points against Alabama on Feb. 7, 1970. Loyola Marymount broke its own single-game record set Jan. 31, 1989, in a 181-150 victory against U.S. International.

With 1:27 left to play, Bradshaw made two free throws to tie and then break Maravich's record. He played all 40 minutes, making 23 of 59 shots from the field, including 7 of 22 from 3-point range and 19 of 23 free throws.

Bradshaw's previous career high was 54 on Dec. 7, 1989, in a 152-137 loss to Loyola.

Pete Rose opens new life by helping teach gym classes

By JOE McDONALD
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose starts out on the road to a new life today, returning to his hometown to help teach gym classes in elementary schools following his prison term for income-tax cheating.

The former Cincinnati Reds manager and baseball's all-time hits leader was to be released from a federal prison camp in Marion, Ill., where he served five months.

U.S. District Judge S. Arthur Spiegel ordered Rose to spend three months in a halfway house after leaving prison. He said Rose would "return to his roots" by spending 1,000 hours working with inner-city children.

After Rose finishes his three months in the halfway house, he will be on probation for nine months.

Rose has sold his houses in Cincinnati. He told a television station in December that he wants to make a new start in Florida, possibly in the restaurant business or in broadcasting.

Once Rose fulfills his obligation for community service in Cincinnati, the court could consider allowing him to move to Florida to complete probation, according to John Cole, Rose's probation officer.

The teaching assignment is the second part of a sentence that Spiegel imposed in July after Rose pleaded guilty to two counts of failing to report income. He acknowledged hiding $354,968, saying he had been afflicted with a compulsive gambling disorder.

Educators say they look forward to putting Rose's experience to work. Cecil Good, assistant superintendent of the Cincinnati public school system, said that Rose will help gym teachers starting Jan. 14.

Good said he talked with Rose and his probation officer late last month.

"I think he'll do very well," Good said. "He's very open. He's quite articulate. And he's got a Hall of Fame-type background, and I think that will contribute quite a lot."

The district expects Rose to work for seven hours per day, five days per week for the rest of the school year. After the school year ends, Rose is supposed to work in a low-income neighborhood at the LeBlond community center.

"Generally, what happens is the person finds it becomes a very rewarding experience, and it not only helps the community but it helps the client as well," Cole said.

Cole said Rose has been assigned to live in the private Talbert House. Rose's chief accuser, bodybuilder Paul G. Janszen, served 4 1/2 months there in 1989 for hiding income from the sale of steroids.

The 45 residents of the house's program for male federal convicts live two or three to a room, said Tom Berghausen, the house's associate executive director. They include drug offenders and white-collar criminals.

CLASSIFIED INDEX

THE PAMPA NEWS

403 W. Atchison 669-2525

1 Card of Thanks	14d Carpentry	14r Plowing, Yard Work	30 Sewing Machines	69 Miscellaneous	97 Furnished Houses
2 Museums	14e Carpet Service	14s Plumbing and Heating	35 Vacuum Cleaners	69a Garage Sales	98 Unfurnished Houses
3 Personal	14f Decorators - Interior	14t Radio and Television	48 Trees, Shrubbery, Plants	70 Musical Instruments	99 Storage Buildings
4 Not Responsible	14g Electric Contracting	14u Roofing	49 Pools and Hot Tubs	71 Movies	100 Rent, Sale, Trade
5 Special Notices	14h General Services	14v Sewing	50 Building Supplies	75 Feeds and Seeds	101 Real Estate Wanted
7 Auctioneer	14i General Repair	14w Spraying	53 Machinery and Tools	76 Farm Animals	102 Business Rental Property
10 Lost and Found	14j Gun Smithing	14x Tax Service	54 Farm Machinery	77 Livestock	103 Homes For Sale
11 Financial	14k Hauling - Moving	14y Upholstery	55 Landscaping	80 Pets and Supplies	104 Lots
12 Loans	14l Insulation	15 Instruction	57 Good Things To Eat	84 Office Store Equipment	105 Acreage
13 Business Opportunities	14m Lawnmower Service	16 Cosmetics	58 Sporting Goods	89 Wanted To Buy	106 Commercial Property
14 Business Services	14n Painting	17 Coins	59 Guns	90 wanted to Rent	110 Out Of Town Property
14a Air Conditioning	14o Paperhanging	18 Beauty Shops	60 Household Goods	94 Will Share	111 Out Of Town Rentals
14b Appliance Repair	14p Pest Control	19 Situations	67 Bicycles	95 Furnished Apartments	112 Farms and Ranches
14c Auto-Body Repair	14q Ditching	21 Help Wanted	68 Antiques	96 Unfurnished Apartments

Environmentalists oppose developing campground area

HUNTSVILLE (AP) - Advocates for four rare woodpeckers are preparing to battle the federal government over development plans for a campground in the woodpeckers' home.

Sierra Club members contend that further development of the Cagle Campground area as a year-round recreational spot - with paved roads, sewer lines, waste dump stations, electrical hookups and other conveniences - will obliterate the rare red-cockaded woodpecker colony.

The recreational area is a 190-acre tract along the eastern shore of Lake Conroe in the Sam Houston National Forest, where 75 unimproved campsites already exist.

Forest Service environmental studies of Cagle Campground indicate only four of the woodpeckers are in the colony, but those four already have forced the federal agency to scale down its proposal and limit further development to two of the three camping sections.

One camping area is being closed on the recommendation of biologists from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department, because that's where at least one woodpecker has nested, Ranger Tim Bigler said.

But limiting camp development to the areas just outside the camping loop that have trees in which the woodpeckers have drilled holes doesn't satisfy the environmentalists.

Even the small number of birds that might be directly affected is too great a risk, said George Russell, chairman of the Sierra Club's forestry practices committee.

"We cannot afford to lose any in a species as endangered as the red-cockaded woodpecker," he said. Russell contends that biologists have warned that the presence of large numbers of people will endanger the woodpeckers' ability to forage, requiring them to fly longer distances to find food for their young.

The cumulative effect of Forest Service practices in other areas of the forest's Raven District - which lies in Walker, Montgomery and San Jacinto counties - has destroyed an undetermined number of the birds, Russell said.

If the red-cockaded woodpecker is to increase, he said, many more undisturbed acres for foraging must be provided.

Forest Service officials contend they can develop at least part of the area without harming the bird.

"The idea is to construct the campground and monitor the situation," said Duane Strook, a landscape architect with the agency.

2 Museums

WHITE Deer Land Museum: Pampa, Tuesday thru Sunday 1:30-4 p.m. Special tours by appointment.

ALANREED-McLean Area Historical Museum: McLean. Regular museum hours 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Closed Sunday.

HUTCHINSON County Museum: Borger. Regular hours 11 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. weekdays except Tuesday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

LAKE Meredith Aquarium and Wildlife Museum: Fritch, hours Tuesday and Sunday 2-5 p.m., 10 a.m. Wednesday thru Saturday, closed Monday.

MUSEUM Of The Plains-Parryton. Monday thru Friday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Weekends during Summer months, 1:30 p.m.-5 p.m.

OLD Mobeetie Jail Museum. Monday - Saturday 10-5. Sunday 1-5. Closed Wednesday.

PANHANDLE Plains Historical Museum: Canyon. Regular museum hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, weekends 2 p.m.-6 p.m.

PIONEER West Museum: Shamrock. Regular museum hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, Saturday and Sunday.

RIVER Valley Pioneer Museum at Canadian, Tx. Monday thru Thursday, 8-4 p.m. Friday, 8-5 p.m. Saturday, Sunday 1-5 p.m.

ROBERTS County Museum: Miami. Summer Hours - Tuesday thru Friday, 10:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Sunday 2 p.m.-5 p.m. Closed on Monday and Saturday.

SQUARE House Museum Panhandle. Regular Museum hours 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 1-5:30 p.m. Sundays.

3 Personal

MARY Kay Cosmetics, free facials. Supplies and deliveries. Call Dorothy Vaughn 665-5117.

BEAUTICONTROL Cosmetics and Skincare. Free color analysis, makeover and deliveries. Director Lynn Allison. 669-3848, 1304 Christine.

AL ANON

669-3564, 665-7871

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS 1425 Alcock, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 8 p.m.-Tuesday, Thursday 5 p.m. Monday thru Saturday 12 noon, Sunday 11 a.m. Call 669-0504.

HOSPITALIZATION, Medicare Supplement, Non-Medical Life through age 80. Gene Lewis, 669-1221.

NYLYNN Cosmetics by Jo Puckett. Free makeover, deliveries. 665-6668.

TURNING Point, Al-Anon Group meets Tuesday, Saturday 8 p.m. 1600 W. McCulloch, 669-6544.

ADOPTION. Very loving couple wishes to adopt healthy newborn to love and nurture in a secure home. Caucasian preferred. Medical/legal expenses paid. Confidential. Call Karen and Stuart, collect 718-229-4726.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS The City of Pampa, Texas will receive sealed bids for the following until 3:00 p.m., January 15, 1991, at which time they will be opened and read publicly in the City Finance Conference Room, 3rd Floor, City Hall, Pampa, Texas.

SPRINKLER REPAIR PARTS Proposals and specifications may be obtained from the Office of the City Purchasing Agent, City Hall, Pampa, Texas, Phone 806-665-8481. Sales Tax Exemption Certificates shall be furnished upon request.

Bids may be delivered to the City Secretary's Office, City Hall, Pampa, Texas or mailed to P.O. Box 2499, Pampa, Texas 79066-2499. Sealed envelope should be plainly marked "SPRINKLER REPAIR PARTS BID ENCLOSED, BID NO. 90.09" and show date and time of bid opening. The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids submitted and to waive any informalities or technicalities.

The City Commission will consider bids for award at their regular scheduled meeting.

Phyllis Jeffers City Secretary Dec. 31, 1990 Jan. 7, 1991

D-47

GRIZZWELLS® by Bill Schorr

14d Carpentry

Ralph Basier Contractor & Builder Custom Homes or Remodeling 665-8248

ADDITIONS, remodeling, new cabinets. Ceramic tile, acoustical ceilings, paneling, painting, wallpaper, patios. 17 years local experience. Jerry Reagan 669-9747, Karl Parks 669-2648.

ADDITIONS, remodeling, roofing, cabinets, painting, all types repairs. No job too small. Mike Albus, 665-4774, 665-1150.

CHILDERS BROTHERS complete floor leveling, deal with a professional the first time. Free estimates. 1-800-299-9563.

LAND Construction. Cabinets, bookcases, paneling, painting. Call Sandy Land, 665-6968.

REMODELING, additions, insurance repair. 19 years experience. Ray Deaver 665-0447.

OVERHEAD Door Repair. Kidwell Construction. 669-6347.

C & W Contractors. Home 669-2016. Office 665-4772. Renovation, decks, roofing, cement work, new construction of all kinds.

EARN money reading books! $30,000 year potential. Hiring. 805-687-6000 extension 9737.

HOME typists, PC users needed. $35,000 potential 1-805-687-6000 extension B9737.

HOSPITAL Jobs! To $26,500/hour! Nurses, technicians, Medics. Housekeeping, all skills. 1-805-687-6000 extension O-9737.

NOW taking applications for assistant manager. 1 year experience required. College preferred but not necessary. Apply in person. Dyer's Barbeque.

PART time work, full time pay. Contact Jennie at 665-5723 extension 21.

SECRETARY receptionist needed for immediate opening. Good typing skills a must. Chance for advancement with a growing company. Contact the Texas Employment Commission.

SIVALL'S Inc. now hiring a experienced welder/fabricator. Drug test required! Only experienced should apply! 2 3/4 miles West on Hwy 60, Pampa Tx.

YOUNG man with pipe wrench to go under house. 835-2763.

70 Musical Instruments BUY, sell and trade guitars, amps, PA's, band instruments, pianos at Tarpley Music 665-1251.

UPRIGHT PIANO $250 665-5187, 354-8447

75 Feeds and Seeds WHEELER EVANS FEED Bulk oats $8. per 100. Horse and mule $10.60. Hen scratch $9.50. Sugar Pig $15.50. Rabbit pellets $12.60. 665-5881, 669-2107.

HAYGRAZER and peanut hay, square bales. 806-447-5108.

RED top cane, small square bales, $3.25 in barn, real nice, but limited. Spearman, 1-800- Easy Hay.

77 Livestock CUSTOM made saddles. Good used saddles. Tack and accessories. Rooking Chair Saddle Shop, 115 S. Cuyler 665-0346.

80 Pets And Supplies 6 week old Dalmation. 669-2648.

AFTER Christmas Special, AKC Pomeranians, 2 male, 2 female. $200 each. 669-6357.

AKC toy Dachshund for sale, 7 weeks old. 868-4511 after 5 p.m.

AKC toy Poodle puppies for sale. Alvadee, 665-1250.

STOP UP? Drains cleaned. Plumbing repairs. CROSS PLUMBING 665-0547.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis 665-3361

SEWER AND SINKLINE Cleaning. 665-4307.

First Landmark Realty 665-0717 1600 N. Hobart

COMANCHE Lovely 3 bedroom brick, 1 3/4 baths, corner woodburning fireplace, lovely carpet throughout. New wallpaper in master bath and entry. Price is right and loan is assumable. Approximately 16 years left on loan. Small equity. MLS.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis

14t Radio and Television

GURTIUS MATHES TV's, VCR's, Camcorders, Stereos, Movies and Nintendo's. Rent to own. 2216 Perryton Pkwy, 665-0504.

14u Roofing Milton David Roofing Contractor 669-2669

19 Situations WILL care for elderly in their home. 669-6017.

21 Help Wanted BE ON T.V. many needed for commercials. Now hiring all ages. For casting information call (615)797-1111 extension T-142.

CERTIFIED nurse aide position open, special shifts, premium pay, complete benefits. Apply in person at Pampa Nursing Center or call 669-2551 ask for Cheryl or Melba.

DIETARY positions open, will train for cook or cooks helper. Apply in person Pampa Nursing Center, or call 669-2551 ask for Linda or Melba.

62 Medical Equipment HEALTHSTAR Medical, Oxygen, Beds, Wheelchairs, rental and Sales. Medicare provider 24 hour service. Free delivery. 1541 N. Hobart, 669-0000.

69 Miscellaneous THE SUNSHINE FACTORY Tandy Leather Dealer Complete selection on leather-craft, craft supplies. 1313 Alcock, 669-6682.

RENT IT When you have tried every where and can't find it, come see me, I probably got it! H. C. Eubanks Tool Rental, 1320 S. Barnes, phone 665-3213.

CHIMNEY Fire can be prevented. Queen sweep Chimney Cleaning. 665-4686 or 665-5364.

ADVERTISING Material to be placed in the Pampa News MUST be placed through the Pampa News Office Only.

BIRD dog kennels, 2 pens 6 foot high. 665-7603.

HAROLD'S Firewood, quality seasoned stacked and delivered. $100 cord, $50 rick. 669-6804.

MESQUITE Firewood, $140 per cord, delivered. $100 picked up. McLean, Tx. 779-3172.

SHEEP Manure. Call 665-6030 after 6:00 p.m. Free delivery.

69a Garage Sales J & J Flea Market Sale, 123 N. Ward, 665-3375, open Saturday 9-5, Sunday 10-5. Watkins and Fuller Brush products.

70 Musical Instruments BUY, sell and trade guitars, amps, PA's, band instruments, pianos at Tarpley Music 665-1251.

UPRIGHT PIANO $250 665-5187, 354-8447

75 Feeds and Seeds WHEELER EVANS FEED Bulk oats $8. per 100. Horse and mule $10.60. Hen scratch $9.50. Sugar Pig $15.50. Rabbit pellets $12.60. 665-5881, 669-2107.

HAYGRAZER and peanut hay, square bales. 806-447-5108.

RED top cane, small square bales, $3.25 in barn, real nice, but limited. Spearman, 1-800- Easy Hay.

77 Livestock CUSTOM made saddles. Good used saddles. Tack and accessories. Rooking Chair Saddle Shop, 115 S. Cuyler 665-0346.

80 Pets And Supplies 6 week old Dalmation. 669-2648.

AFTER Christmas Special, AKC Pomeranians, 2 male, 2 female. $200 each. 669-6357.

AKC toy Dachshund for sale, 7 weeks old. 868-4511 after 5 p.m.

AKC toy Poodle puppies for sale. Alvadee, 665-1250.

STOP UP? Drains cleaned. Plumbing repairs. CROSS PLUMBING 665-0547.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis 665-3361

SEWER AND SINKLINE Cleaning. 665-4307.

First Landmark Realty 665-0717 1600 N. Hobart

COMANCHE Lovely 3 bedroom brick, 1 3/4 baths, corner woodburning fireplace, lovely carpet throughout. New wallpaper in master bath and entry. Price is right and loan is assumable. Approximately 16 years left on loan. Small equity. MLS.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis

60 Household Goods

SHOWCASE RENTALS Rent to own furnishings for your home. Rent by phone. 1700 N. Hobart 669-1234 No Credit Check. No deposit. Free delivery.

JOHNSON HOME FURNISHINGS Pampa's standard of excellence In Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis 665-3361

KING size waterbed, 6 drawers under, attached night stands, new heater. 665-7603.

62 Medical Equipment HEALTHSTAR Medical, Oxygen, Beds, Wheelchairs, rental and Sales. Medicare provider 24 hour service. Free delivery. 1541 N. Hobart, 669-0000.

69 Miscellaneous THE SUNSHINE FACTORY Tandy Leather Dealer Complete selection on leather-craft, craft supplies. 1313 Alcock, 669-6682.

RENT IT When you have tried every where and can't find it, come see me, I probably got it! H. C. Eubanks Tool Rental, 1320 S. Barnes, phone 665-3213.

CHIMNEY Fire can be prevented. Queen sweep Chimney Cleaning. 665-4686 or 665-5364.

ADVERTISING Material to be placed in the Pampa News MUST be placed through the Pampa News Office Only.

BIRD dog kennels, 2 pens 6 foot high. 665-7603.

HAROLD'S Firewood, quality seasoned stacked and delivered. $100 cord, $50 rick. 669-6804.

MESQUITE Firewood, $140 per cord, delivered. $100 picked up. McLean, Tx. 779-3172.

SHEEP Manure. Call 665-6030 after 6:00 p.m. Free delivery.

69a Garage Sales J & J Flea Market Sale, 123 N. Ward, 665-3375, open Saturday 9-5, Sunday 10-5. Watkins and Fuller Brush products.

70 Musical Instruments BUY, sell and trade guitars, amps, PA's, band instruments, pianos at Tarpley Music 665-1251.

UPRIGHT PIANO $250 665-5187, 354-8447

75 Feeds and Seeds WHEELER EVANS FEED Bulk oats $8. per 100. Horse and mule $10.60. Hen scratch $9.50. Sugar Pig $15.50. Rabbit pellets $12.60. 665-5881, 669-2107.

HAYGRAZER and peanut hay, square bales. 806-447-5108.

RED top cane, small square bales, $3.25 in barn, real nice, but limited. Spearman, 1-800- Easy Hay.

77 Livestock CUSTOM made saddles. Good used saddles. Tack and accessories. Rooking Chair Saddle Shop, 115 S. Cuyler 665-0346.

80 Pets And Supplies 6 week old Dalmation. 669-2648.

AFTER Christmas Special, AKC Pomeranians, 2 male, 2 female. $200 each. 669-6357.

AKC toy Dachshund for sale, 7 weeks old. 868-4511 after 5 p.m.

AKC toy Poodle puppies for sale. Alvadee, 665-1250.

STOP UP? Drains cleaned. Plumbing repairs. CROSS PLUMBING 665-0547.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis 665-3361

SEWER AND SINKLINE Cleaning. 665-4307.

First Landmark Realty 665-0717 1600 N. Hobart

COMANCHE Lovely 3 bedroom brick, 1 3/4 baths, corner woodburning fireplace, lovely carpet throughout. New wallpaper in master bath and entry. Price is right and loan is assumable. Approximately 16 years left on loan. Small equity. MLS.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis

SEWER AND SINKLINE Cleaning. 665-4307.

First Landmark Realty 665-0717 1600 N. Hobart

COMANCHE Lovely 3 bedroom brick, 1 3/4 baths, corner woodburning fireplace, lovely carpet throughout. New wallpaper in master bath and entry. Price is right and loan is assumable. Approximately 16 years left on loan. Small equity. MLS.

RENT TO RENT We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis

80 Pets and Supplies

CANINE and feline clipping and grooming, also boarding. Roysie Animal Hospital, 665-3626.

GOLDEN Wheat Grooming Service Cockers, Schnauzers specialty. Mona, 669-6357.

PETS Uniqe 910 W. Kentucky. Exotic birds, fish, pets, grooming, supplies. Iams and Science Diet dog and cat food. 665-5102.

SUZIE'S K-9 World, formerly K-9 Acres Boarding and Grooming. We now offer outside runs. Large/small dogs welcome. Still offering grooming/AKC puppies. Suzi Reed, 665-4184.

89 Wanted To Buy I BUY ALL GOATS 665-9131

HERITAGE APARTMENTS Furnished Office 669-6854 665-2903 669-7835

ROOMS for gentlemen. Showers, clean, quiet. $35 a week. Davis Hotel, 1161/2 W. Foster. 669-9115, or 669-9137.

1 bedroom bills paid, including cable T.V. $55 a week. 669-3743.

DOGWOOD Apartments, 1 bedroom furnished apartment. References, deposit required. 669-9817, 669-9952.

EFFICIENCY $175 month, bills paid. No deposit first month. 665-4233 after 5.

96 Unfurnished Apts. 1 bedroom, gas and water paid. Good location, 417 E. 17th. 669-7318.

STAY warm in Pampa's cleanest apartments, Gwendolyn Plaza. FREE GAS HEAT. Large and small 2 bedrooms available, washer, dryer hookups in selected units. No pets. 800 N. Neilson. 665-1875.

97 Furnished Houses CLEAN 1 and Aid reaches Soviet Union despite donor uncertainty

By MATTI HUUHTANEN
Associated Press Writer

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Large amounts of food and other Western aid are reaching the Soviet Union, although some donors say they are still unsure of what and how much is needed.

A few emergency campaigns intended to avert hunger during the harsh Soviet winter have slowed. Other donors are making longer-range plans, including shipments for the next six months.

Some donor groups are using their own personnel in the Soviet Union to monitor aid distribution. They say they are largely satisfied that aid packages are reaching the genuinely needy, despite reports of inefficiency and corruption in Soviet distribution systems.

In Paris, Jacques Lebas, director of the French relief agency Medecins du Monde, has denounced massive food aid shipments to the Soviets.

"There are real famines taking place in Sudan, in Ethiopia. There is no famine in the Soviet Union," he said.

In Geneva, Secretary-General Paer Stenbaeck of the League of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies told reporters, "There are needs in the Soviet Union but no traces of famine."

He said Africa, where 20 million people could face starvation, should have priority.

Scandinavian Red Cross officials are sending fact-finding delegations to the Soviet Union.

"Many want to wait and see what happens. They are unsure of the situation," said Sven-Goran Henriksen of the Swedish aid agency SIDA.

In Moscow, KGB Chairman Vladimir Kryuchkov says more than 99 percent of the aid is reaching those who need it most. He has told reporters minor cases of theft have been discovered by the KGB, assigned to oversee aid distribution.

The German Red Cross, which has provided $13 million in aid, said the Soviet Red Cross is investigating alleged mismanagement of goods.

"I cannot guarantee that absolutely nothing has gone astray," said General-Secretary Johann Wilhelm Roemer of the German agency.

Roemer said there may be some petty thefts, such as a Soviet Red Cross worker who might keep a food package for his family.

"I will not excuse that but it's understandable," he said.

German Foreign Ministry spokesman Hanns Schumacher said donors control who receives aid, under terms negotiated between Germany and the Soviet Union.

"Private organizations that deliver aid to the Soviet Union are allowed to maintain direct contact with defined recipients ... and they are entitled to accompany their deliveries and supervise the distribution to the individual recipients," Schumacher said.

Dutch aid collectors say their own representatives have monitored plane loads of medicines arriving in Moscow. Organizer Gerrit Braks said most supplies bought through a $12 million telethon will be sent in March and April, when it's anticipated that the Soviets' problems will be worst.

In Oslo, Foreign Ministry spokesman Bjoern Blokhuis said Norwegian donors will oversee the distribution of $1.6 million in aid in the northwestern Soviet Kola Peninsula.

The European Community plans to send by mid-January 250 tons of medical supplies and 549 tons of food — enough to feed 110,000 people for three months. Two airplanes and 52 trucks will take material to Moscow, Leningrad, Armenia, Azerbaijan and the Chernobyl area.

In Rome, Francesco Carloni of Caritas said the Roman Catholic charity plans aid through June. He said an association of Catholic groups in Moscow managed distribution of a December shipment.

View from higher ground

(AP Laserphoto)

Annette and William Walker of Vincennes stand on the levee along the Wabash River overlooking a city park and the flooded meeting house of the Vincennes Boat Club Sunday afternoon. Many sightseers climbed the concrete re-enforced earthen levee to get a look at the swollen Wabash River that was expected to crest at Vincennes Sunday at approximately 12 feet above flood stage.

Texans mark 90th anniversary of gusher that started it all

By RICHARD STEWART
Houston Chronicle

BEAUMONT (AP) — Alice Slauson, 96, remembers it as if it were yesterday.

First came a "boom," louder than the loudest thunder. Then, a roaring geyser of black oil erupted from the ground and blasted through the crown of the wooden derrick.

Grown men, some of them millionaires in expensive suits, danced in the mud and shouted with joy as the deluge soaked everything around.

Another gusher had come in at Spindletop — a word that in Texas is synonymous with oil boom.

Mrs. Slauson witnessed all but the very earliest of the hundreds of gushers that roared in at the field near Beaumont during its 1901-1903 heyday.

Thursday will mark the 90th anniversary of the first Spindletop gusher. And famed oil well firefighter Red Adair will be the featured speaker at a commemorative Drillers' Lunch at the Beaumont Hilton.

Mrs. Slauson was just a girl when she danced in the rain of oil along with old-time drillers and promoters.

"Momma would tan my back-sides when I came home covered with oil," she said recently, remembering the excitement of long ago.

Her father was Jack Shockley.

Everybody, including his eight children, called him "Captain Jack," but Mrs. Slauson has no idea how he got the title. He ran a saloon in Houston when word came that oil was spewing out of the ground near Beaumont.

There had been earlier oil booms at places like Corsicana, but America had never seen anything like what happened on a low, salt dome near Beaumont on the morning of Jan. 10, 1901.

A well drilled by Austrian-born mining engineer Anthony Lucas first erupted with water and mud, then belched gas and blew heavy drill pipe through the top of the derrick.

Then came a geyser of oil twice as tall as the derrick that spewed 100,000 barrels of oil a day — almost 50 gallons every second — for nine days before the drilling crew could control the flow.

By that night, special trains were on their way from Houston, Dallas and New Orleans as people rushed to Beaumont to get in on the boom. Shockley was one of them.

Soon he came back to Houston and told his wife: "Polly Ann, get the kids ready. We're going to where the oil is."

"We thought we were going to just scoop up the oil in buckets," said Mrs. Slauson, who had just turned six when the boom started.

A few people became millionaires at Spindletop. More went away destitute. Most, like Shockley and his family, worked hard to make a living.

There were two or three wooden derricks at Spindletop when Mrs. Slauson arrived: Her father bought an old two-story house on the hill. The second floor was one big room and the Shockleys filled it with cots and opened a boarding house for the boomers.

Beaumont had been a prosperous lumber, port, railroad and agricultural town of 10,000 before the boom. Overnight the population more than doubled. Men took turns sleeping on billiard tables and the town's water supply became so taxed that doctors advised people to drink whiskey rather than polluted water.

Temperance advocates countered with clean, boiled water at a dime a glass.

Word of Mrs. Shockley's fried chicken and pies spread, and Mrs. Slauson remembers people waiting to eat in shifts at the boarding house.

"In good weather we would put tables out on the back porch," Mrs. Slauson remembers.

Her father opened a stable and operated a jitney service to the field. And he founded a saloon.

Soon the land around the boarding house was crowded with derricks so close together that Mrs. Slauson and the other children could walk from rig floor to rig floor without having to get in the mud.

The old house never was painted because, Mrs. Slauson said, "There was too much oil on it."

By 1902 there were 285 active wells in the field with more being drilled. More than 600 oil companies had been chartered. Most of the companies quickly fell into obscurity.

Others prospered. The Texas Co., now known as Texaco and Star Enterprises; Gulf Oil Co., now part of Chevron USA; Magnolia Oil and Refining Co., evolved now into Mobil Oil; and, Humble Oil, today's Exxon, all can be traced to Spindletop.

"People didn't come from just Texas," Mrs. Slauson remembers. "They came from all over the world. Some real big-shot millionaires would come and if there was something going on at their wells and they didn't want to leave to go to town they would stay at our house."

Company presidents and rough-necks often slept side by side, hanging suits or oily work clothes on pegs on the wall.

"We kids would go through their pockets when they were gone," Mrs. Slauson said. "We'd take their change. We left the folding money alone, we were afraid of the big money."

If the workers ever found out about the children's petty thefts, they never made a fuss.

Mrs. Slauson remembers that the tough, hard-working oil field hands always were gentle with the children.

"We could go wherever we wanted to," she said. "Nobody ever bothered us."

Although her mother tried to keep the children away from the rigs and oil tanks, they often played around them, climbing derricks in a forest that had no trees.

"I've been in the top of many a derrick," she said. "They had a place up there where they put the sucker rods and we'd go up there and sit."

Boomers were gamblers by nature and if there was a lull around a rig there would often be a poker game.

The gamblers would often send young Alice to her father's saloon to fetch a bucket of cool beer. It was the only time that Captain Jack allowed the children near the saloon.

By the time she was 14, Mrs. Slauson was joining the games. "I won a lot of their money, too," she said with a laugh.

Mrs. Slauson and other children who lived at the field had to walk several miles to schools in the South Park area of Beaumont. "I can't wear the horses out taking kids back and forth to school," her father said.

Some of the South Park kids looked down on the Spindletop children, but Mrs. Slauson said she soon taught them to have respect for her.

"I bloodied many a nose of a South Park kid who called me a Spindletop rat," she said.

Mrs. Slauson's mother died when she was 14.

Her older sisters ran the boarding house for a few years, then her father moved his family into Beaumont.

By then the boom was long over. The field would bloom again in the 1920s — this time with steel derricks — when deeper pools of oil were found. Now the derricks are gone, but oil is still coming out of the ground at Spindletop.

After graduating from South Park High School, Mrs. Slauson held a variety of jobs.

She traveled all over the country with a couple who had a souvenir photo stand on the circus and rodeo circuit. Another time she went from town to town in Florida renting halls and theaters to show silent movies.

During World War I, she lived in Washington, D.C., and was briefly married to a soldier named Carl Burr.

She later returned to Beaumont and worked as a clerk in several department stores.

In 1957, she married Hershel Slauson, who became a Jefferson County constable. He died in 1975. They never had any children, but Mrs. Slauson helped rear several of her nieces and nephews.

Failing eyesight caused her to move to a Beaumont nursing home about a year ago. She sometimes has a hard time remembering where she put her glasses, but memories of the gushers at Spindletop are as vivid as ever.

Mean streets: A walking tour of murderous New York

By VERENA DOBNIK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Kindly look to your left, folks, and you'll see where mobster Albert Anastasia, gunned down in a barber chair, met his maker with a fresh shave and haircut. And over there is where Legs Diamond ran a deadly speakeasy.

Step lively, folks, for the next stop on the murder tour of New York.

Death is nothing special in a city where homicides topped 2,200 last year. But tour guide Sam Stafford includes only those sites with a certain cachet: the Dakota apartment building in front of which John Lennon was gunned down; the opera house where a violinist met her end, and the building where the real woman portrayed in the movie

"Looking for Mr. Goodbar" was fatally stabbed.

"Some people really like the tours, others are kind of shocked because we talk about murder, crime, sex, drugs and the Mafia," Stafford said.

A remembrance of deadly things past began Sunday at the corner of West 56th Street and Seventh Avenue.

There, Anastasia, boss of a hit team known as Murder Inc., was rubbed out in 1957 in a hotel barber's chair at what is today the Omni Park Hotel.

The hotel was also the site of the 1928 death of gambler Arnold Rothstein, who helped fix the 1919 World Series. He left a trail of blood leading to the room where he was shot for not paying a $300,000 debt after a 48-hour poker game.

About a block over, on West 55th Street and Broadway, Diamond ran a speakeasy in the 1920s where he often ordered the orchestra to play louder to cover the sound of gunfire that snuffed out about 50 rivals in a back room. Stafford told the handful of people who turned out for the tour despite a cold rain.

At Columbus Circle, Stafford pointed to the spot where reputed mobster Joe Colombo was gunned down during an Italian-American unity rally in 1971. Colombo lingered for seven years in a semicomatose.

Also on the tour is the Metropolitan Opera at Lincoln Center, where in 1980 the body of a musician was found. She was murdered during the intermission of a ballet by a stagehand who attacked her with a hammer in an elevator, forced her to the roof, tied her up, undressed her and kicked her down a shaft.

From there, the tour continued to 253 W. 72nd St., where the teacher portrayed in "Looking for Mr. Goodbar" was stabbed 14 times in 1971 by the last of a legion of men she had picked up at bars.

The $10 tour ended at 1 W. 72nd St., where Lennon was killed in 1980 by a deranged fan after coming home from a recording session.

The 50 tours Stafford's company, Sidewalks of New York, offered to about 36,000 walkers last year include a trek through Jacqueline Onassis' New York; the haunted houses of Greenwich Village, and a tour of Little Italy called "All in the Family."

Stafford moved to New York about three years ago from Dallas, where he led tours of the Kennedy assassination site.

Traffic mishap triggers hazardous chemical spill

MOUNT ENTERPRISE (AP) — Officials set up barricades and warned nearby residents after a damaged tanker truck began leaking a dangerous chemical following a traffic accident.

Rusk County officials said Sunday they warned residents living within half of a mile around the accident scene at the intersection of Texas 315 and Farm Road 95 about four miles northeast of Mount Enterprise in southeast Rusk County.

Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Jim Reese identified the leaking chemical as isoyanate, which he said was a petroleum product used as a type of paint thinner. He said breathing the substance for even a brief time can cause permanent brain damage.

Use Our Convenient Drive-Up Window
~ Keyes Pharmacy ~
Drive up for your prescriptions - or for all items in our store to do fast, convenient shopping. Or phone for your prescriptions 669-1202 or in an emergency 669-3559.
Free City-Wide Delivery

Enjoy Our Other Special Services:

- Competitive Prices
- Complete Prescription Service
- PCS, PAID, Medicaid Prescriptions
- Convenient Drive-Up Window
- Friendly, Courteous Service
- FREE City-Wide Delivery

Keyes Pharmacy
Hours: Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
Saturday 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.
928 N. Hobart 669-1202

Merlin Rose
Pharmacist-Owner

Family Prescription Records Kept by Computer

- Instant Access
- Tax Reports

Put your back pain behind you.

Suffering with a sore back is no way to face the day. Not only does it slow you down, it can affect your mood, your health, your relationships, even your ability to work.

Back pain is your body's warning of strain or injury to the spine. A chiropractic examination will identify the source of trouble, and in many cases, through chiropractic treatment, unnecessary pain — even surgery — can be avoided.

Our patient list includes many people with pain like yours — people who have found relief through the natural, chiropractic approach to health care. Give us a call, and we'll make an appointment for your initial exam. And put your back pain behind you.

HAYDON CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC
DR. LOUIS HAYDON DR. MARK FORD
665-7261
28th Street at Perryton Parkway, Pampa, Texas