Book of Life

When all has been said and tried about philosophies of life, how to be happy, or how to be a success, mankind unfulfilled elsewhere will still turn back to this book. Here indeed are the words of life. Here is a guide to your footsteps and a lamp for your path. No man needs to stumble through life as if blind; God has provided a light and it shines through this book. Go where the Book is treasured and understood, to the Church, and hear The Word for your life.

Is something wrong with your life — an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church should be in everyone!

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eight former moderators of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) have urged rejection of a sexuality committee's recommendation that the denomination abandon its stand against sex relations outside marriage.

The committee's views "are completely at variance with the biblical mandates and 2,000 years of Christian teaching and church practice," said the latest statement by two former moderators.

The Rev. Ben Lacy Rose of Richmond, Va., who held the top presiding post in 1971, and Jule C. Spach of Winston-Salem, N.C., moderator in 1976, urged the church's government assembly in June to reject the committee's report.

"If passed, it could be the most disruptive document in the history of the denomination," they said.

Four other former moderators previously had denounced the proposed report, which would allow ordination of active homosexuals, sanction same-sex unions, condone sex relations among youth and singles and repudiate traditional codes approving intercourse only in marriage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops says Pope John Paul II's new encyclical, "Centesimus Annus," puts church social teachings on a level with other doctrine.

Archbishop Daniel E. Pilarczyk of Cincinnati said the encyclical, issued May 2, is "a ringing reaffirmation of the social dimensions of our Catholic faith" and reinforces "the church's social doctrine as an integral part of its proclamation of the Gospel."

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 40 Roman Catholic, Protestant, ecumenical and other groups are sponsoring a cross-country 17-day "Caravan of Solidarity" to condemn effects of the Gulf War and raise funds to aid victims of it in Iraq.

The caravan started in San Francisco on April 30 and will stop in 15 cities where women will testify about the war's damaging effects, especially on women and children, sponsors said.

They said it also will gather signatures to a "statement of conscience" condemning the war to be delivered to President Bush in Washington May 15, before stops the next two days in Philadelphia and New York.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poles are more likely to have negative feelings toward Jews than Czechs, and Hungarians have the least such feelings, according to a new study sponsored by the American Jewish Committee.

The study, involving interviews with about 1,200 people in each country, found that 68 percent of Poles and 51 percent of Czechs felt Jews are attaining "too much" influence in society, or don't know, while 64 percent of Hungarians say Jews have "too little" or the "right amount" of influence.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Roman Catholic theologian says a "surprising degree of consensus has emerged" in dialogue among Roman Catholic, Lutheran and Episcopal church representatives.

The Rev. Thomas Rausch, dean of the theological faculty of Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles, told a nation workshop on Christian Unity that the accords point toward an evolving "common theology."

MUTARE, Zimbabwe (AP) — More than 3,000 people attended recent ground-breaking ceremonies in the highlands of eastern Zimbabwe for Africa's first United Methodist-related university.

It is scheduled to open in temporary accommodations in March 1992, but construction will not be completed until 1993 of the first three buildings of a larger campus complex.

The Rev. Doyle W. Ross has been named as the new pastor of Fellowship Baptist Church, at the corner of Francis and Warren.

Ross has led churches in Kansas and Oklahoma before being called to the Fellowship Baptist Church.

He and his wife, Nola, have two children — Jennifer Ross and Tonya Malott. Jennifer is a first-year student at Baptist Bible College in Springfield, Mo. She is majoring in youth ministries and will be home with her parents in Pampa for the summer. Tonya is a third-year student at Baptist Bible College in Springfield, Mo. She and her husband, Mark, plan to be missionaries in Argentina when they graduate.

"We're excited about being in Pampa," Ross said. "You have a wonderful town and friendly people."

The pastor and his wife extend an invitation to the public to visit the church.

The Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, bishop of the diocese of Northwest Texas, blesses the new courtyard at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church during a Wednesday ceremony.

St. Matthew's opens new courtyard

St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, 727 W. Browning, has added a courtyard for the use and enjoyment of the church, the day school and the community.

It will be used for outdoor services, weddings, receptions, coffee hours and youth meetings.

The Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, bishop of the diocese of Northwest Texas, celebrated the Holy Eucharist and blessed the courtyard on Wednesday.

The first recorded Episcopal service in Pampa was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.P. Buckler on April 24, 1925, (the present home of Ben and Marjorie Buckler Guill). The mission of St. Matthew's was organized on Sept. 21, 1928, St. Matthew's Day, with M.K. Brown appointed the first senior warden and C.P. Buckler as treasurer. The mission became a parish on March 15, 1955.

"Our church building was consecrated on Oct.

12, 1954, and the time had come for a facelift in the form of an 'old English courtyard,'" said April Hudson, chairwoman of the St. Francis' Guild. She and co-chairwoman Carolyn Stout met with the Rev. William K. Bailey, rector of St. Matthew's, and the vestry of St. Matthew's to start talking about the project. The vestry approved the plans.

The M.K. Brown Foundation board members, headed by Bill Waters, provided help. Parishioners also provided help in the former of time, donations, memorials, demolition and clean-up. The project was begun under the direction of Max King, junior warden, who was in charge of grounds and buildings. The two-year project was finished under the direction of Randy Holt, present junior warden.

The church hopes the courtyard offers enjoyment to others in the community, especially the day school and day care children and their families.

Kennedy clan rallies behind accused cousin

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - William Kennedy Smith, his famous family rallying to his defense, is preparing for his trip to Palm Beach, Fla., to be fingerprinted, photographed and booked on charges of rape and assault.

"I didn't commit an offense of any kind," insisted the 30-year-old nephew of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. Smith spoke briefly to reporters Thursday when he appeared at the offices of his lawyers shortly after Palm Beach police issued a warrant for his arrest.

Both Edward Kennedy and his son, Patrick, a Rhode Island state legislator, said they were confident Smith was innocent. The two Kennedys were at the family compound in Palm Beach on Easter weekend when the alleged assault occurred on the beach behind the house.

Smith, who is less than three weeks from completing his final year of medical school at Georgetown University, conceded that "I'm worried about my family and obviously my future."

Georgetown officials had no immediate comment on what impact the charges might have on Smith's status.

Palm Beach Police Chief Joseph Terlizze said Smith's attorneys "intend to surrender their client to the Palm Beach Police Department early next week."

At that time, Smith will be required to post $10,000 bond, the standard amount for an out-of-state resident charged with a second-degree felony.

In his brief statement, Smith portrayed himself as a doctor-in-training.

"I'm very tired because I've been in the hospital all night taking care of people who have real problems," he said. "So I've got some perspective, but obviously I'm very sad about the events today."

"I'm very confident that when this thing is resolved that I'll be able to stand by my original statement, which was that I didn't commit an offense of any kind," Smith said.

Edward Kennedy issued a two-sentence reaction through his press secretary, Paul Donovan.

"I have great affection and respect for Willie," Kennedy said. "I have every confidence that when all the facts are known about this case, Willie will be found innocent."

Patrick Kennedy, 23, a member of the Rhode Island House of Representatives, said "I guess I'm just hoping that all the truth comes out. I'm confident that my cousin William will be cleared of any wrongdoing."

In Palm Beach, police charged Smith with two counts: second-degree sexual battery, tantamount to a rape charge; and second-degree battery.

A 29-year-old woman told police she was raped by Smith at the Kennedy oceanfront compound after meeting him earlier in a bar and going with him to the estate.

Called Willie by family and friends, Smith is the son of the late Stephen Smith and Jean Kennedy Smith, a sister of Edward Kennedy, and the late President John F. Kennedy.

The elder Smith was a New York businessman who handled Kennedy family financial affairs. He also managed Edward Kennedy's unsuccessful 1980 bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

William Smith took a year off from undergraduate studies at Duke University to work on his uncle's bid to unseat Democratic President Jimmy Carter.

Pirates still scourge of seas, British seafarers say

LONDON (AP) - British seafarers say they want more protection against pirates who, armed with speedboats, guns and grappling hooks, have become especially active on Brazil's coast and the South China Sea.

The International Shipping Federation said Thursday that attacks on merchant ships by pirates and armed robbers are growing more frequent, more sophisticated and more violent.

The federation said the waters of the South China Sea and ports on the Brazilian coast are particularly notorious as "piracy black spots."

A spokesman for National Union of Marine, Aviation and Transport said the union recently visited the Brazilian Embassy in London to ask the ambassador to beef up security at Brazil's ports and seas.

The shipping federation called on the International Maritime Organization to introduce a more effective system for the reporting of attacks, and more effective policing of coastal waters.

A more beautiful America is goal of national organization

Stamford, CT—Founded in 1953, Keep America Beautiful, Inc. (KAB) is a national, nonprofit, public education organization that has grown from promoting litter prevention into a national grassroots network focused on the larger issue of solid waste disposal and recovery.

The organization educates the public on the alternatives for handling solid waste—source reduction, recycling, composting, waste-to-energy, and sanitary landfill.

KAB supplies, training, educational materials, and other support to the public and to its 460 state and community-based affiliates. These community programs conduct public forums and participate on government advisory committees, bring environmental education into neighborhoods and schools, and manage recycling, litter prevention and beautification programs.

Through this network of affiliates, Keep America Beautiful, Inc., seeks to influence more responsible attitudes and behavior toward the environment for more than 80 million Americans.

The KAB System is a proven, practical way to train communities to devise local solutions for local problems. Offered on a certified basis, KAB provides training to community leaders to properly define the problem through a litter/solid waste analysis, to develop benchmarks for determining future successes, and to set priorities or organizational development and community involvement.

KAB's local and national strength comes from public-private partnerships that are crucial to developing effective waste handling programs. The KAB System works by involving everyone—government and volunteers, businesses, and non-profit organizations.

On May 1, Pam Locke began as executive coordinator of Clean Pampa, Inc. Her multi-faceted job description includes coordination among committees in Clean Pampa, liaison between Clean Pampa and other agencies including the City of Pampa, and public education about litter control and recycling.

Locke is a nearly life long Pampian. She graduated from Pampa High School and attended Texas Tech University. She and her husband, Greg, have raised two sons here. Locke is involved with the children's ministry in her church, Briarwood Full Gospel. She was a Clean Pampa volunteer for two years before she applied for and won the position. In a recent interview, she said that she applied for the job because of a personal commitment to the growth and further beautification of the city. As executive coordinator of Clean Pampa, she believes she is in position to work toward those goals.

The main goal of Clean Pampa in 1991 is to move forward on plans for a recycling center. A second goal involves creating landscaped 'entrances' to the city which welcome visitors and citizens with beauty instead of litter.

Locke reiterated past activities of Clean Pampa. They include education programs for elementary students of Pampa Independent School District; litter control at Chautauqua; and beautification projects, such as Adopt-A-Park, and Adopt-A-Highway, in conjunction with Keep America Beautiful.

Advice may help mother get her loan back

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would have to write a letter like this, but I need someone to help me, and I thought of you.

One of my daughters and her husband borrowed $7,000 from me almost five years ago. They promised to pay me back within a year, but so far I haven't seen a dime of it.

This daughter and her husband both have good jobs and seem to have money for everything else. I am 77 years old, live in a senior citizens' apartment house and am doing without a lot of things I need.

I am sorry to say that I don't have any proof that I loaned them the money. I guess I should have asked them to sign a note for it, but I didn't think it was necessary.

Now what should I do?

TRUSTING MOTHER

DEAR TRUSTING: Without written evidence showing that your daughter and her husband borrowed $7,000, it will be very difficult to collect. You might try the following, suggested by a reader in an earlier column, as a solution to an identical problem:

An elderly couple had loaned their son $5,000. He promised to repay it in 90 days. They foolishly had nothing in writing. Four years passed, and not a cent did they receive, so his mother wrote him a letter asking if he could please make even a partial payment on the $7,500 he had borrowed.

Quick as a flash he wrote to say that he did not owe them $7,500 — it was only $5,000. Mission accomplished! They got it in writing.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You frequently remind your readers to make sure their children are "buckled up" in seat belts when they get into a car. But no one mentions the fact that pets can just as easily be thrown from a vehicle and injured.

It makes me sick to see a dog loose in the back of a pickup truck or hanging out of a car window. All it would take is one quick stop or a sharp curve to send that animal flying into the street.

My dog loves to go for rides with me. He sits in the passenger seat and I buckle the seat belt around him. For smaller pets, there are carriers one can attach to the seat to provide safety for one's pet. I hope you feel this is important enough to put in your column.

LIZ IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR LIZ: It is. So, dear readers, listen to Liz. And if you're lucky enough to own a pet who adores you, the next time that dog or cat follows closely on your heels when you head for the car, remember: Pets rely on their owners to protect them, so don't let yours down. Inquire at your local pet shop about car seats for pets.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in disgusted response to the letter signed "Dana From Colorado" about how humans could learn a lot from animals because they don't start forest fires, kill for money or take drugs. What idiocy! They don't build museums, preach sermons or work as Red Cross volunteers, either.

Animals do: fight (sometimes to the death) for territory, females and food; kill for sport; eat their young; mate unwilling females; kill the offspring of conquered males; banish their weak and old. They kill without any regard for the terror or pain of their victims, and may calmly start feeding while their dinner still struggles. Given the opportunity, they will indulge in alcohol and drugs to the point of death.

Respect animals, yes; worship them, no! They are not saints.

Now a question for those who believe animals are superior to humans: How many children do you have or plan to have? This planet has finite resources. Every human baby requires space, food and resources. Have you been willing to do something personally about human overpopulation in order to leave room for those "superior" animals? If not, shut up!

FELTON, CALIF.

Relief workers juggle several crises

By CECI CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — They expect the unexpected. Their normal routine is crisis. But many of the people who dedicate their lives to international relief work say they are overwhelmed by the number of major disasters they're now juggling.

"We are all working 18 hours a day. We've been working overtime, on weekends, we call each other at home," said Lisa Mullins, program officer for disaster assistance at InterAction, an umbrella group for 132 relief agencies.

Officials of the agencies say they are also hampered because the recession slowed contributions this year before the Persian Gulf War created hundreds of thousands of Kurdish refugees or a deadly cyclone slammed Bangladesh.

Officials of Oxfam America, an international relief agency based in Boston, had scaled back its budget for the year by $1 million because of a decrease in contributions.

"This year the only major disaster we saw and planned for was (starvation) in the Horn of Africa," said Joel Charny, Oxfam's overseas director. "We don't even have money for disaster assistance there." Charny said the dramatic photos of victims in Bangladesh and Iraq have helped raise awareness about the need to give money to various relief organizations.

But he said Oxfam is still having trouble making up for what started as a slow year for donations, although contributions have poured in at the rate of $100,000 a day over the past few weeks.

Meanwhile, Fauzia Ahmed, a Bangladeshi woman who coordinates the agency's south Asia efforts, said her agency is overwhelmed with needs.

"The problems every day seem to be greater and greater in magnitude," she said.

A few groups, such as AmeriCares and Operation USA, have been able to deliver large amounts of medical supplies in recent days, Mullins said.

On Wednesday, AmeriCares, based in New Canaan, Conn., airlifted 67,000 pounds of emergency supplies for victims of last week's cyclone in Bangladesh, where more than 125,000 people were killed and millions left homeless.

"But these agencies wouldn't be able to do what they do if it weren't for the money sent to local groups," she said.

Cash from the United States and

(AP Laserphoto)

The first American aid to reach the victims of last week's devastating cyclone arrive Friday in Dhaka, Bangladesh in a U.S. Army C-5 Galaxy plane from Oklahoma. Several tons of medicine and other relief supplies were unloaded for distribution to affected areas in Southern Bangladesh.

other wealthy nations also goes directly to community groups for projects like building schools, planting crops and buying medicine, officials said.

Charny said relief officials also are hampered by the fact it is impossible to guess how the public will respond to one disaster or another. He expected a stronger reaction from the American public to the Kurdish situation, for example.

"I misread the attitudes of the American people," he said. "They looked at those pictures and said they don't want to face it or they'll let the military handle it."
