TOM BLANTON ISSUES DARE TO OPPOSE

ABILENE CANDIDATE HOLDS ATTENTION IN TEXAS

DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—Frank S. Morris was credited with 153,057 votes in the latest Texas election bureau tabulation today and was virtually assured of being in the race for railroad commissioner. Thompson, with 407,952, lacked a majority vote.

The election bureau, with 951,747 votes accounted for in 250 counties of the state, including 163 complete, tabulations, with Ernest O. Thompson, manager of the bureau, said it probably would issue one more count before ceasing operations.

Gov. James V. Allred, safely on his way to re-election, received 493,531 votes in the election, according to the bureau. Running second to him, but not close enough to cause a run-off, was Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls with 219,057.

Other gubernatorial contenders were F. W. Fischer, 133,049; Roy Sanderford, 75,888; and Pierce Brooks, 30,222.

Allred had 35,315 more votes than the half needed for a majority. In the race for railroad commissioner Morris had built up a substantial margin over Carl C. Hardin, who had been neck and neck with him in the counting yesterday. Latest figures gave Hardin 146,245; H. O. Johnson 103,927, and G. Riegler 30,955.

Asked if he would enter the run-off against Thompson, Morris emphatically announced that he would give Thompson a much stronger fight than he had in the first primary.

Before the deciding election Aug. 22 he said he intended to canvass every county in the state. He said he had been unable to appear in more than one third of them before Saturday's balloting and felt that if he stumped all of them he would defeat Thompson.

Only scattered blocs of votes remained out today and the election bureau, tabulating these scattered returns, indicated that he would not exceed 980,000 ballots. As had been expected this was below the million-odd cast in the 1934 primary when election issues were of such a nature as to arouse much more public interest.

Four congressional races were forced into run-offs, including that of the veteran West Texas, Thomas Blanton of Abilene, who was lagging behind an opponent for the first time in his 20-year Washington career.

ABILENE, July 28 (AP)—Thos. L. Blanton, 17th district congressman, today launched his runoff campaign with a challenge for a joint debate mailed to Clyde L. Garrett, Eastland, who led him in Saturday's Democratic primary by 475 votes.

Blanton's letter of challenge, released to the press today, proposed that the two leading candidates meet in each of the 12 county seats of the district, opening at Abilene next Monday night and then in Anson, Jones county, August 15.

The Abilene Reporter-News could not immediately reach Garrett for a statement on the challenge, his office reporting he was in conference with voters.

Blanton charged his failure to lead in the primary to "a slush fund sent into my district by the Washington tax-dodgers and utility interests trying to defeat me because I voted for the death sentence clause in the holding company bill," and to "deliberate misrepresentations of my

English Again Win Davis Cup

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 28 (AP)—England won the Davis Cup, prized trophy of the tennis world, for the fourth straight time today as Fred Perry vanquished the veteran all with a 6-1, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3 for the third and deciding victory over Australia. The final score of the five-match series was England 3; Australia 2.

Perry's triumph came after Adrian Quist squared the count at two-all with a 6-1, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3 win over England's dapper and usually machine-like H. W. (Bunny) Austin.

England pulled away to a flying start in the series, winning both singles matches Saturday as Austin topped Crawford and Perry conquered Quist. The Australians broke into the scoring column yesterday when Quist and Crawford beat Charles Tuckey and Pat Hughes in the doubles.

In this race, tightest ever recorded in the county, Charles Buss and Henry Shoffitt finished first with 198 votes each. The unusual fact about the three-cornered fight for votes was that the third man in the contest had only one vote less than his two high opponents. E. O. Stewart polled 197 votes.

Siler Faulkner, Democratic county executive chairman, stated today that the law clearly defined that the runoff candidates are Buss and Shoffitt.

I Saw . . . Popular and likeable Coach Bob Clark of Wheeler here Saturday and announced that he would be at the local swimming pool this afternoon at 5 o'clock to talk to all boys and girls, men and women, both juniors and seniors, who want to take a course in life saving. Mr. Clark, well-known in Pampa, has an up-to-date Red Cross examiner's certificate and is qualified to give examinations. He will likely appoint Mage Keyser and Betty Blythe to give instructions in life-saving and he will give final tests.

TROOP 80 WINS FIRST AGAIN IN SCOUTS' COURT

Group of Boys Go Up For Advancement, Merit Badges

Boy Scout Troop 80 which meets regularly every Thursday night at the First Methodist church, carried off first honors for the sixth time this year at the regular court of honor held last night in the county courthouse. Seven courts of honor have been held.

This first place in troop ranking is based upon attendance of Scouts and visitors at courts of honor, and advancement of Scouts. Troop 80 had 12 Scouts present last night and five visitors, including four fathers and mothers of Scouts.

Members of the court of honor were Chairman L. L. McCollum, John W. Crot, A. C. Green and C. A. Clark, executive.

Duane Turcotte of Troop 22, Hoover, was advanced to life rank, and was awarded merit badges in athletics and public health. Harry McMahan of Troop 80 should have been advanced to first class rank but a mistake was made, and a second class card instead of a first class card was filled out.

Jack Crot of Troop 80 was advanced to the first class rank and was awarded merit badges in bird study, personal health, wood work, Bernard Austin of Troop 14 was advanced to first class rank, also Phillip Kennedy of Troop 19, LeFors, who was given merit badges in bookbinding, first aid, painting and personal health. On the advice of Mr. Clark, the court refused to give a merit badge in automobile.

Turning the court into a board of inquiry for the time being, Mr. Clark questioned the boy lengthily on the subject. An approved counselor had signed the card.

Doyle Auld, patrol leader of Troop 80 was awarded merit badges in civics, gardening, physical development, public health and safety.

James Archer of Troop 80 qualified for merit badges in bird study, pioneering, physical development, public health.

Herbert Maynard of Troop 14 qualified for merit badges in bird study, handicraft and reptile study. Jack Smith of Troop 80 was given a merit badge in handicraft.

Aubrey Green of Troop 80 qualified for merit badges in bird study, civics, farm home, pioneering, public health.

Jamboree handkerchiefs were awarded to Smith, Wyo, Otto Rice, Grover Foster and Jim Brown.

Visitors and parents were present as follows: Troop 80, five; Troop 19, one; Troop 14, two.

Woodrow Wilson Band Director Is Named

Three more teachers were added to the 1936 faculty of Pampa schools when the board of trustees met last evening.

Eugene L. Sestrand of Stratton, Colo., was elected as band director for Woodrow Wilson school. He is a graduate of the Colorado Educational college at Greeley, and has four years' teaching experience.

Miss Arlene Patterson of Perryton, graduate of Texas State College for women at Denton, will succeed Miss Angela Strnad in the home economics department of high school. Miss Strnad has been made head of the department after the resignation of Mrs. J. B. Massa.

Miss Lois Evelyn Amlin is to be in charge of physical education for girls in junior high school. Her home is at Denton, and she is also a graduate of Texas State College for Women.

ARCHITECT TO DRAW UP PARK BUILDING PLANS

Buster Kaufman Is Hired to Finish Job

Plans are being drawn in the city engineer's office today for completion of work on the secretary's office, grandstand and display buildings at the New Pampa fairgrounds plant.

City Manager C. L. Stine announced that Buster Kaufman, architect, had been employed to complete the plans for the fairgrounds plant.

Earth work on the park dam is about one-third complete, the city manager stated. Workmen were busy today staking out the balance of the dam and the stables.

Officials said work will be pushed as soon as the WPA money is assured to make purchases of material needed to complete the fairground project.

Snow Fight at Fete Scheduled

DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—New Yorkers, Coloradans, children, musicians and snowblasts draw the Texas Centennial spotlight this week.

From Colorado's Rocky mountains a refrigerated carload of snow will come to the exposition along with a trainload of citizens if plans work out and if an August Texas sun doesn't get in its work too quickly.

There will be a snowball fight between girls representing Texas and Colorado Saturday.

New Yorkers will have their day Wednesday.

The big show was turned over to the youngsters—at a nickel a head today. The one thousandth child through the turnstiles was destined to be king or queen for a day.

The musicians, mostly amateur, were also given a chance to be heard. A concert was listed for the 85-piece Fort Stockton high school band.

DRILLING PERMITS GRANTED

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—The Railroad Commission today granted applications for exceptions under its general spacing rule which would permit the drilling of 71 oil wells. It denied applications for 37. Six were granted on re-hearings.

RESORT HOTEL

Chapter I
Ann Hamilton held herself erect as she walked down the avenue. There was new life in the air, reflected in the quickened step and eager eye of every passerby. The boys and girls, strolling during their lunch hour, were well-dressed and confident. The summer heat had not yet begun. Under the cloudless blue overhead the colors were gay. Life was gay.

"Spring on Silk Stocking Avenue in any city in the world!" Ann thought, with a sensation of joy. She felt like singing this refrain. The words had a lilt to them.

She stopped before a shop window to admire some brown suits and yellow sweaters. "For travel," a card said. There was a profusion of travel advertisements and booklets in the display. Vacation in the Adirondacks. Dude ranch days. The Minnesota lakes. The Catskills. Les Cotes D'Azur.

Ann looked at the attractive posters and sighed. Each year in July she looked at travel advertisements and sighed.

LOYALISTS ARE OVERCOME BY REBEL FORCES

BOMBING FLEETS ARE MASSED TO WIPE OUT ARMIES

WITH GEN. EMILIO MOLAS' REBEL ARMY AT DOBRE GORDO, July 27. (By courier to Hendaye, France)—Fascist forces won a bloody victory over loyal defenders to capture this mountain village today.

Fighting began at dawn when heavy government artillery began a terrific bombardment of 16,000 Fascist troops. The barrage continued for two hours when the leftist infantry and rebel militia moved across a rock-strewn field to close-quarter fighting outside the village.

Officers estimated more than 100 were killed on both sides with 300 or 400 additional wounded.

About noon, two government planes from Madrid—both painted a flaming red—swooped down to machine gun the rebel columns which Gen. Emilio Mola, northern rebel commander, described as approximately 50 miles from Madrid.

The general said he expected to march on the capital at the end of the week.

The Liberal pilots tossed hand grenades from their ships but bad marksmanship limited the casualties for the most part to artillery horses which were almost completely destroyed.

Capture of Dobre Gordo brought the Fascist column about six miles further south from its initial position atop the Guadarrama mountain peak won by hard fighting Saturday and Sunday.

Although previous advances indicated the evacuation of foreigners from the capital had started, the Washington state department received word the Madrid embassy planned to send approximately 750 American refugees out of Thursday morning, presumably by train.

Columns of troops, anarchists, and laborers, supported by new bombing planes, converging on the rebel stronghold of Zaragoza in the north, other aerial fleets struck at remaining insurgent garrisons elsewhere, and loyal raiders blasted enemy ammunition dumps in the mountains north of Madrid.

At Bordeaux, France, authorities detained four British airmen pending investigation of a report they were bound for Spanish Morocco to ferry rebel reinforcements across the Straits to Spain.

Aboard the "floating American embassy," the cutter Cayuga, United States Ambassador Clude G. Bowers directed efforts to rescue American nationals on the bay of Biscay and elsewhere in Spain.

Artillery, too, was wheeled again into action to crush Fascist garrisons particularly in the north.

One report said rebel holdouts in the Loola barracks, near San Sebastian, had surrendered unconditionally following a long siege. Fascist insurgents at Oviedo apparently still were hanging onto their garrison but the government prepared a new bombardment.

With new and intensive aerial warfare ordered against outlying rebel garrisons in several provinces, new outbursts of civil war rocked the mountain barriers to Madrid itself.

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Reports to the State Department indicated today that Americans who have been sheltered from Spain's civil strife in the embassy at Madrid still face the ordeal of flight to the sea.

High Candidates In LeFors Race To Enter Run-Off

Election officials today had decided that the two candidates tied for first place in the race for constable in LeFors Precinct No. 1 Saturday, will contest for the post in the runoff primary Aug. 22.

TEX'S TOPICS

A news item informs that cash from milk brought dairy farmers $683,000,000 for the first six months of 1936, which should clinch a long-time domestic controversy at our house that it would be nice, as well as profitable, to have a cow or two around the place.

Some people like dogs, other prefer a cat or a canary or a couple of love-birds. One man, possibly, would have a penchant for draping a snake over the living-room fireplace. People go in for a variety of household pets.

There is the woman with the pet chimpanzee, another with a white rat, a third with a bantam rooster, still another with a fluffy poodle, and so on down the line. This variety in household pets is almost endless, so to speak.

But, is there one of them that brings in any appreciable income? There you are, stuck with the question—and here we are, back to the cow.

There are figures which cannot be disputed to show that of all the pets in the world there is none so profitable, none so self-supporting as Bossy, be she Jersey or Holstein.

In addition to the milk she gives and the occasional blessed event of a cue, little calf—there are many arguments in favor of the cow. She has, for one thing, a pleasant disposition and a personality that is hard to beat.

A cow will not bark and snap at your pants leg. She will not swing incessantly in her cage, all the while chirping until it's about to drive you a bit off balance.

Likewise, a cow will not crow in your ear, or dash to the front door and scare the liver out of the ladies who are just calling for an afternoon of tea, or bridge, or something.

A cow is polite. We've never seen a cow with a scowl on her face, never seen one with ruffled fur on her back, never seen one coiled to strike at you, never seen one ready to peck your eye out at the drop of the hat.

Bossy always is contented, if nothing else. You can toss her a bunch of hay, a bucket of water, and a dash of oats now and then and she's perfectly willing to go about her business of adding to your income and the peace of the community.

We feel that the much-maligned cow has been deserving of these few words of praise in the public prints, and wish to remind you that when you go to pick out your 1937 model pet, give Bossy a break and remember that she's been doing mighty well this year, bringing in the best return last month for any of the months in the last five years.

Not all persons, however, have lost sight of this fact. Right here in Texas, for example, there's a fellow by the name of Ben Clayton who has a model dairy farm where he operates under the assumption that Bossy is queen of the barnyard.

Everything is provided for net convenience. None of Ben's cows is permitted to eat ordinary grass. Their pasture was especially planted to produce fine clover and other delicious bovine pieces de resistance.

Strolling in fringed lush pasture, Madame Bossy goes immediately to her private room unattended. There she spends two hours in peace and rest. Not a buzzing fly disturbs her.

Each private room is equipped with a drinking fountain from which bubbles cool, fresh water. The cow operates her own fountain by merely pressing her muzzle gently down to make the water spurt upward. It takes only two days to teach her how to operate the doo-dad.

Refreshed, the queen moves along a concrete sidewalk to the bathroom where she is carefully bathed and brushed.

Before she proceeds to the milking room she is disinfected. She walks into the milking room where the mechanical milker is attached. The milk flows into a glass container on a scale dial which measures the quantity.

From the container the milk goes through sterilized pipes to a cooler where it is chilled and bottled. No human hands touch it. Twice daily—between 1:30 and 4:30 o'clock morning and afternoon—the queen is milked.

So you see, Bossy has not lived in vain. Someone has seen her possibilities. There may be some who would not wish to have a cow lottering in the back yard, but

CLUB WILL GO TO COLORADO ON WEDNESDAY

WILLINGHAM KNOCKS 3 HOME RUNS OFF WINKLER

The mighty Eason Oilers of Enid, Okla., with Hugh Willingham playing the role of hero, defeated the Pampa-Dancer Road Runners 9 to 6 here last night. Willingham hit three home runs, one inside the park. Gordon Nell, former Road Runner first baseman, got a home run, double and single.

Although the night was a bad one for the win column, the Road Runners got some satisfaction in blasting big Gene Ledford, from team mate, from the mound in the sixth inning. King relieved the pitcher but threw only three balls before giving way to Perry.

With pitchers at a premium, the Road Runners went down to Phillips of LeFors and borrowed Roy Winkler for the game. The little left-hander, who has been giving Panhandle teams a lot of misery this season, had trouble finding the plate and when he did it was too bad. Winkler tossed three of the four home run balls. He also walked four. Stewart finished the game being nicked for two runs and seven hits.

Snappy double plays, four of them, saved the Road Runner pitchers from annihilation. The Al-Summers-Johnny Lisle combination looked great although the new shortstop made two miscues. Besides playing snappy ball in the field, Lisle collected a double and single and Summers gathered a pair of singles. Floyd Lisle continued his great work with a single and double. Hale hit for the same bases. McNabb and Cox each hit doubles and Winkler singled for the other Road Runner hit.

Willingham was the big noise for Enid with three home runs and a single. Dallas Patton, former Road Runner, also had a big night with four singles. Nell hedged himself to a homer, double and single.

Sensational plays put the large crowd on its feet in nearly every inning. McNabb started the parade of great plays in the second stanza when he went close to the foul line to snare Bates' powerful drive. A great double play, Hale to Summers to Cox, pulled the Birds out of a hole in the third. Gilchrist came up with a paid of great saves on hot grounders and in the ninth robbed Summers with a running one-handed stab.

Nick Urban also pulled a theft when he took McNabb's lifer. Summers got over with Gilchrist when he took his line drive over second. Setz came up with a couple against the fence that looked like base hits. Tonight the Road Runners will be in Amarillo for a game with the Phillips 66 Parrots of that city. From there they will go to Denver. Team officials have yet to name their new players. It was learned last night, however, that Bailey and Poindexter would not make the trip. They do not work

OUSTED SWIMMER GETS THRILL OUT OF MEETING

BY LOUIS F. LOCHNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff. BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—Eleanor Holm Jarrett got a thrill she described as "bigger than that of winning the Olympic gold medal" when she met former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm and was shown by him all over Netherlands palace.

"Gee, I can forget I was put off the Olympic team," she exclaimed enthusiastically. "This is my first contact with royalty. I never dreamed anybody of such high station could act so natural."

Mrs. Jarrett was taking a stroll with an American acquaintance, headed for the former imperial palace, now a public museum. She was about to pass Netherlands palace, where the Hohenzollern administration is housed and where each of the former royal prince has a suite.

Just then the crown prince's car drove up with the one-time heir to the throne dressed in grey shorts and a white blouse, at the wheel. Recognizing an American friend, he stopped to say hello. Introducing Mrs. Jarrett was a matter of course.

"What?" Frederick William exclaimed. "Is that the famous swimmer? Has she two minutes' time?" "I'd like to chat with you. I have heard so much about you."

As Mrs. Jarrett and her escort were ushered into the reception room, she whispered: "Gosh, my heart is all fluttered. What shall I call him? Is it enough to say 'your highness'?"

Before she had time to collect her thoughts she found herself seated beside the prince. "Gee," she exclaimed, "I just can't grasp that I'm in a palace talking to royalty. Why, Prince, you're so human—just like other folks. I never thought you looked so young or could act so natural. I came into this room trembling all over. You made me feel at home immediately."

"Won't I high that those Olympic girls I'll tell you just do on and do your swimming. You can win the gold medals—I'm meanwhile being received by royalty."

The crown prince, highly amused, held his sides laughing. "You certainly know how to take life from the bright side," he said. "I think you would feel very badly not to be on the team."

Mrs. Jarrett replied: "Well, there's no denying I am sorry I can't bring home that Olympic medal. But now I'm here, seeing all these nice paintings of your father and your mother and your ancestors, I quite forget all about the Olympics."

The prince asked her to describe her training methods, her style of swimming and the facilities aboard the Manhattan for keeping fit. Eleanor was going strong on a visit to the men she suddenly interrupted herself.

"Why, your royal highness," she exclaimed as the sun happened to fall on his face, "you ought to go into the movies. You have an ideal face for pictures."

"I don't see Hollywood some time," the prince laughed, "but as for acting myself, that isn't my line. It just isn't done by our family. We even turned down the suggestion I should play the part of my ancestor, Frederick the Great, in an historical production."

Braddock Will Fight Schmeling In September

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The war seems to be over for Mike Jacobs and his Madison Square Garden rivals are concerned, and he'll be forth it promises to be a matter of speed rather than stamina when they compete over promoting a heavyweight boxing show.

After two months of holding onto contracts—the one Mike has with Schmeling and the one the Garden has with Jimmy Braddock—they agreed yesterday to get together on a Schmeling-Braddock heavyweight title fight.

The bout will be held in the Garden's Long Island bowl between September 24 and 30. The Garden will take care of the promotional tasks, with Jacobs serving in an advisory capacity, but they will share the profits on a 50-50 basis.

The Garden had faced a time limit expiring tomorrow, as it had agreed to name a suitable opponent for Braddock by July 29, but had threatened legal action if Jacobs tried to sign up the champion independently even after that date.

SORENESS IN LEGS BOTHERS FAMOUS MILER

GLENN CUNNINGHAM IS ON SICK LIST AT BERLIN

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer. BERLIN, July 28 (AP)—For the first time since the American Olympic team sailed nearly two weeks ago, the coaches had some serious worries today other than those connected with the celebrated "Jarrett case."

Glenn Cunningham, the favorite to carry the American standard in the classic 1,500 meter race, was suffering from a soreness in his legs. Above all the Americans want to win the "metric mile."

Cunningham and the coaches are worried about his legs. They can't decide whether more running or less is the proper prescription to get them into condition for the trials a week from Wednesday.

The Kansas flier said the soreness was caused by working out too energetically on the soft Olympic village track soon after his arrival in the eighth.

"That might have been all right," he added, "but since it started raining the track is hard as pavement. That fixed me up right."

The open and vigorous discussions of the impending 1,500 meter struggle, sharing interest among the inhabitants of the American quarter with the whispering about the election Wednesday of two American members to the international Olympic committee.

The prospect of a race with the American, Cunningham, Archie San Romani and Gene Venzke—New Zealand's famed Jack Lovelock, Luigi Beccali of Italy, the 1932 winner, and the Australian "dark horse," Gerald Backhouse, leaves plenty of room for arguments.

A terrific slugfest by the Athletics and Brooklyn's third straight victory over the Pirates completed the national program. Rain and threatening weather wiped out the Cubs-Phillies and Reds-Giants game, while the Cardinals and Bees had an open date.

The Mackmen opened fire on Vernon Kennedy, who had won nine straight games for the White Sox, and smashed out 25 hits for a 15-8 victory.

Brooklyn beat the Pirates 6-3. Paul May quit Game for Year.

Paul May Quit Game for Year

BOSTON, July 28 (AP)—Baseball's famous "Me and Paul" pitching combination—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean and Paul (Daffy) Dean—may be broken up for the rest of the National league season.

Paul threatened to quit the game next year after making a dismal showing in an exhibition game at nearby Randolph park last night against a semi-pro nine.

In his first start since July 4 when the Cincinnati Reds blasted him from the mound, Dean was hammered for six hits and four runs in the first four innings.

"I'm no good around here," he said dejectedly. "I've tried my best but there's something wrong with my shoulder."

"I believe I may give up the game for a while, go home and forget it, and I think maybe the arm will get all right during the winter."

Dean said he noticed the pain in his right shoulder shortly after the season opened. Manager Frank Frisch said Paul will leave for St. Louis today to have the shoulder examined by Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club surgeon.

Tigers Wallop Yankees 9 To 1 As Schoolboy Stars

League Leaders Are Limited to Five Hits

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sport Writer. Whether Manager Mickey Cochran's dire warnings to the Tiger veterans to show more pep or else—had anything to do with it, the Bengals seem to be on the prowl again.

In a last ditch fight to remain in the race after they had absorbed three straight drubbings from the Red Sox, the world champions belted over the league leading Yankees 9 to 1 yesterday.

Schoolboy Rowe was the main factor in the Tiger triumph. He limited the league leaders to five hits and had a shutout in hand until Frank Crosetti belted a homer in the eighth.

Rowe virtually won his own game in the third when he drove one of Lefty Gomez' pitches out of the park with Ray Hayworth on base to start a three-run rally. He singled home two more tallies in the seventh.

The Indians' game with Washington was rained out, while the Browns led by Jim Bottomley, knocked off the third-place Red Sox, 7 to 5. Bottomley poked out two doubles and a single to lead the attack.

Helen Wills to Design Fashions

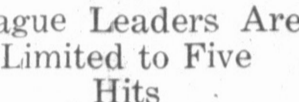

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28 (AP)—Helen Wills Moody, considered the greatest woman tennis player, stepped today from the international spotlight she held for a decade and turned her full attention to a career as a fashion designer.

The San Francisco matron, now 31, said she definitely had given up plans to play in the national championships in New York next month and indicated she was through with major competition.

Wills, who has won 12 tournaments which fit in with my work as a designer," she said. "I find it impossible to do designing and tennis, and justice to both."

CITY GOLF TOURNAMENT FOR WOMEN TO BE AUGUST 10-14

Sports Roundup

Play in the women's city golf championship tournament for this year will be from August 10 to 14, it was announced today, with the first matches on the morning of the 10th. All Pampa women are eligible to enter and compete for the trophy now held by Mrs. Arthur Swanson.

Qualifying rounds will start Aug. 10 and end the evening of Aug. 11. The entry fee of one dollar will permit a qualifying round and all match play. Fees will be used to purchase prizes for all flights.

The championship prize is the Pama-Jarrett hospital trophy, which becomes the permanent property of the woman winning it two successive years. Mrs. Swanson will defend the trophy.

All matches except the final will be played in the mornings. Championship flight matches and qualifying rounds for the medalist prize will be played over 18 holes, and other flights over nine holes of the Country club course.

Women wishing to enter the tournament are asked to give their names to members of the tournament committee, Mrs. Swanson, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, and Mrs. Mark Heath, or to Mrs. Del Love at the Country club house.

Braddock Will Fight Schmeling In September

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The war seems to be over for Mike Jacobs and his Madison Square Garden rivals are concerned, and he'll be forth it promises to be a matter of speed rather than stamina when they compete over promoting a heavyweight boxing show.

After two months of holding onto contracts—the one Mike has with Schmeling and the one the Garden has with Jimmy Braddock—they agreed yesterday to get together on a Schmeling-Braddock heavyweight title fight.

The bout will be held in the Garden's Long Island bowl between September 24 and 30. The Garden will take care of the promotional tasks, with Jacobs serving in an advisory capacity, but they will share the profits on a 50-50 basis.

The Garden had faced a time limit expiring tomorrow, as it had agreed to name a suitable opponent for Braddock by July 29, but had threatened legal action if Jacobs tried to sign up the champion independently even after that date.

COOP TRADING IN WAUKEGAN SHOWS GAINS

WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 28. (AP)—While President Roosevelt's special commission to study cooperatives surveyed Danish agricultural societies today, the Cooperative Trading company of Waukegan issued a statement for the first half of 1936 showing sales volumes and membership gains.

Owned and controlled by 2,250 consumers and some 60 producers, the 25-year old Waukegan organization—one of the oldest of its kind in the nation—claimed an increase in sales of $24,244 to $328,945 and in membership of 188 to the 2,250 for the first six months of this year as compared with the same 1935 period.

"And with such a good start, we should have one of our best years in net profits," said Jacob Luukku, general manager. In 1935 the net profit was $19,345. Total sales were $631,408.

The society, operated on Rochdale cooperative principles, was founded by Finns in 1911 after dealers in this city had raised the price of milk from six to eight cents a quart, and protests were of no avail.

They formed a small buying club to purchase the fluid direct from farmers, and sold it for six cents with a small profit to themselves. The business expanded, a store was built and in 1916, when grocery and meat departments were added to meet membership demands, the name was changed to that used at present.

W. D. FLETCHER DIES WICHITA FALLS, Texas, July 28 (AP)—W. D. Fletcher, 52, official of the water department, of Abilene, died in a Wichita Falls hospital Tuesday morning. He was the father of Mrs. Harry H. Hayes of this city. He had been in ill health for about one year.

GRAIN ELEVATOR BURNS LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 28 (AP)—Fire destroyed the grain elevator of the Farmers National Grain Corporation here today, burned or damaged in excess of 400,000 bushels of wheat and threatened all of north Leavenworth.

According to figures of the Committee on the Cost of Medical Care, people in the United States spend $15,000,000 a year on fraudulent cures.

CANDIDATES IN OKLAHOMA SEEK TOWNSEND VOTE

Oklahomans to Vote Wednesday on Lee And Marland

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28.—Effect of the Townsend vote on the hotly contested race between Governor E. W. Marland and Rep. Josh Lee for the Democratic senatorial nomination was an important factor today as Oklahomans cast their votes in the run-off primary election.

Both Marland and Lee are strong supporters of the new deal.

Oklahoma Townsend leaders have endorsed Marland and Gomer Smith, national vice president of the old age pension organization, added his support Sunday.

Townsend club members meeting at Tulsa and Muskogee refused to follow.

Smith finished third in the first primary three weeks ago, yielding second place to Marland by less than 2,000 votes. The incumbent, Thomas B. Gore, was fourth.

A feature of the short campaign was an investigation of charges from both Lee and Marland Camps that WPA employees were active politically.

Lee supporters charged the Marland group used a "political machine" created among state employees.

Folls in the cities will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. and in rural districts from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. (CST).

Forest Flames Fatal to Three

HAVRE, Mont., July 28 (AP)—Hundreds of men spread over a 25-mile front battling raging forest fire today which claimed the lives of three members of a United States Geological Survey party in the Little Rockies, mountain range southwest of here, last night.

One other member of the party was reported missing somewhere in the fire area which has burned to a depth of a mile and a half.

The dead were Cameron Baker, Havre, Mont., a member of the faculty at Northwestern university; John Rowles, Landusky, Mont., and S. R. Brockunor, Lowell, Mass., a Yale university graduate.

It was believed Baker and Rowles perished in the flames which trapped the party as it worked. Brockunor died last night at the Fort Belknap Indian agency hospital.

Dr. Knechtel (first name and initials unknown) of Washington, D. C., head of the party of five men, was found late last night in the fire area and rushed to a hospital at Malta, Mont. He was suffering from burns and exhaustion.

Liner Nabs Whale, Keeps It Secret

SEATTLE, July 28 (AP)—The coastwise liner H. P. Alexander caught a whale in the Pacific ocean and brought it 150 miles to Seattle yet no one aboard knew about it until the steamer docked.

The whale was wedged across the ship's bow, just below the water line.

"I couldn't figure out what was the matter with the ship coming down Puget Sound," said Captain Charles G. Hensen. "She wasn't performing right and there didn't seem to be anything particularly wrong."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer
Some of my best culinary discoveries have come from both men and women selling vegetables at the stalls in market houses, for they are familiar with the preparation of foods that often are strange to me.

Americans seldom use leeks and sweet fennel, for instance; yet both are prized by foreign cooks.

Leeks belong to the onion family but are very delicately flavored. They are splendid for seasoning soups and salads, and the lower white part can be trimmed and boiled and served with butter or white sauce.

Florence Fennel of Finocchio is used extensively by Italian cooks as a salad, but is especially palatable when served boiled with a cream sauce. If you don't know it, try it with a fish menu. It's flavor is somewhat like celery, but it has a sweet taste and delicate odor.

Tompepo Is Newcomer
The tompepo is a new vegetable rapidly gaining popularity. Its rise hasn't equaled broccoli because it's a more difficult vegetable to grow and isn't as plentiful. Tompepos are a waxy yellow color and resemble tomatoes in shape and sweet peppers in texture and flavor. The flesh is thicker than that of the pepper but has the same crisp firmness. It is used raw in salads or stuffed and baked, just as its ancestors are used.

Kohl-rabi is a turnip-rooted member of the cabbage tribe. It is more delicately flavored than turnips and is of finer grain and smoother texture. The thick outer covering is removed before cooking. Serve as you would turnips in a cream sauce with grated cheese or parboiled and cut in slices about 1-4 inch thick and saute in butter with a sprinkling of sugar.

ROAD RACING LESS DANGEROUS

About a generation ago, automobile road races were held periodically in many parts of the country, and were one of the most popular and thrilling of the hazardous sports.

The races were customarily held over public highways between important communities, and ranged in length from 100 to 500 miles. On race day, no other traffic was permitted to use the roads. Every precaution was taken to keep the right of way clear for the daredevils who were competing.

Today our highways are thronged with cars which travel at speeds much greater than those attained in the old road races. Many of these cars are in bad mechanical condition, with faulty brakes, jittery steering, glaring or weak lights, worn-out tires.

Until America moves aggressively against incompetent, reckless and speed-mad drivers, and out-of-repair cars, our grisly accident record will continue to get worse, not better.

"WHOLESALE CHANGE"

Attorney General Homer Cummings is highly optimistic about the future of criminal law administration in the United States. Already he notes that the attitude of the American people toward crime has undergone a "wholesale change."

Of course, Mr. Cummings takes pride in the accomplishments of the G-men. He is glad that they have been able to "deal with the criminal operations of individuals and gangs whose activities had made American justice a subject of wonder to the rest of the world."

The "wholesale change" in the public's attitude certainly can be attributed largely to this new achievement in law enforcement that the G-men have brought us.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—Both the American Federation of Labor executive council and the Committee for Industrial Organization are convinced now that the split in the labor movement will be complete.

Leaders of the craft unions can hardly afford to back down from their demand that the C. I. O. dissolve. To do so would be to admit defeat and acknowledge supremacy of John L. Lewis in the labor movement.

The C. I. O., meanwhile, has become convinced that there will be no compromise. It expects the council to act to suspend its members and is reconciled to that, although perhaps not eager.

It will undertake to put all the onus for breaking the organized labor movement wide open upon the craft union chiefs dominating the council. Its own leaders are confident that new independent national labor organization will soon dominate the field and that the old A. F. of L. will disintegrate.

No early overt moves by the Lewis group are to be expected, however, aside from its organization of campaigns in mass production industries. If the council says its 12 unions are suspended, the C. I. O. is expected to insist that they are not suspended, but still member unions in good standing.

This phase of the struggle is likely to go into the courts. But in any event it seems certain there will be constant warfare from now on.

Latest development is refusal of the C. I. O. group to appear before the council Aug. 3 to stand trial for "insurance." This action was taken, its leaders say, after the council had failed to make any offer of compromise, although various unsatisfactory suggestions were made by individuals who had no mandate from the council.

Each side has miscalculated on at least one important point since the council first ordered the C. I. O. to disband last January.

The C. I. O., for its part, didn't believe the council would start suspension proceedings prior to the federation's annual convention next January. It believed and still insists that the A. F. of L. constitution provides for suspension or expulsion only by two-thirds vote of the convention.

Since the industrial unionists controlled slightly more than 35 per cent of the vote at the last convention, they felt such punitive action would be impossible.

If "suspension" comes now, the craft union heads undoubtedly will try to follow up by barring the delegates of the 12 unions through convention machinery which they will control.

A two-third convention vote of expulsion would then be easy to get. All of which indicates the probable breakup of labor into two separate movements.

The council, on the other hand, seems to have figured that it could scare most of the eight original member unions out of the C. I. O. and then deal harshly with Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the two ringleaders.

But the eight stood firm and lately have been joined by the potentially powerful steel, automobile, and rubber unions, as well as the flat glass workers.

A woman was branded with the letters, "C. L." Our first thought, that an irate husband, who just saw a bill, was registering his protest at the cost of living, was wrong.

Lindbergh is about to exhibit his "glass heart" in Copenhagen; thus far, however, no arrangements have been made to exhibit Jou Louls' silica chin.

Q. How is chamois skin prepared? M. D.

A. It was prepared originally from the skin of the chamois, a small goat-like antelope of the Alpine region of Europe, but now is made also from the skin of the sheep, goat, calf, and other animals. THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

CINDERELLA'S "GLASS" SLIPPERS MAY HAVE BEEN THE RESULT OF AN ERROR IN TRANSLATION! IT IS BELIEVED, BY SOME, THAT THE SLIPPERS WERE OF VAIRE (ERMINE), NOT VERRE (GLASS), IN THE ORIGINAL STORY.

"DARK" AFRICA HAS GIVEN THE WORLD $5,000,000,000 WORTH OF GOLD, AND MORE THAN $1,000,000,000 IN DIAMONDS. A BEE SELDOM MIXES ITS FLOWERS! IT PASSES FROM ONE PLANT TO ANOTHER, BUT USUALLY DOES NOT CHANGE TO ANOTHER KIND UNTIL IT HAS RETURNED TO THE HIVE WITH NECTAR FROM THE FIRST.

ERMINE, which is the fur of the weasel, taken when in the white winter stage, was very popular with ancient royalty for making various articles of wearing apparel. Whether or not the word "vair" was changed to "verre," as some modern translators believe, there is no denying the fact that ermine slippers would have been a great deal more comfortable on Cinderella's feet.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Something of the restlessness that make New York a tireless whirlwind is reflected in the changing status of its avenues. Seldom do they retain their Social Register standing very long.

West 72nd street was another highway which once attracted the socially fastidious. Today it is just another nice place to live. Even Park avenue, ritziest of thoroughfares, and Fifth avenue, the street of mansions, have relinquished a part of their exclusiveness.

The lords of business and commercial houses are responsible, in part, for the destruction of these barriers.

At the moment the toniest of the smart neighborhoods seems to be Sutton Place, on East river. A notable example is Riverside drive, with its mansions and cliffs and well-groomed miles of river frontage.

West Riverside drive has lost caste since the war. Its fabulous apartments are now available at something less than platinum prices.

RESORT HOTEL Deck Morgan

When she glanced into the show window mirrors, conscious of her dark good looks and trim figure, she saw a young man looking at the travel folders, almost over her shoulder.

She noticed that he wore soft, expensive wooleens and carried a downy polo coat over his arm. His collar was snug and high. The very crush in his hat was redolent of good taste and luxury.

When he moved away from the window, swinging along gracefully, Ann started after him with faint recognition; she had seen his likeness somewhere—perhaps in a rotogravure section.

Ann didn't quite realize what she was doing, but she found herself following the course the young man took. He never seemed to recall her name, but he talked in a pleasant way when he figured out the details of her summer trip.

Ann didn't remember his name though it was neatly inscribed on a little bronze plaque. She eyed it closely now while she waited, and then glanced at the plain dark suit and white shirt he wore.

The young man's name was William Ware. Just plain Bill Ware, she mused. Like thousands of other counter men in a city, always ready to serve one but preserving an anonymous role.

But suddenly a face appeared behind that anonymity of man-behind-the-counter. It was a surprisingly attractive face, with clean-cut features. She thought he must be about 27 or 28. His blue eyes had tiny wrinkled crow's-feet under them. He never seemed to recall her name, but he talked in a pleasant way when he figured out the details of her summer trip.

easy camaraderie of games pre- vailed—swimming, tennis and boating. The amiable hostess at the little hotels always introduced her to other vacationers.

The girls in the office thought it difficult to meet the right men in the city. Young men who had to stay on their toes all day long to keep their jobs didn't have the time or energy to make satisfactory suitors. On vacations they seemed more susceptible, so Ann and her friends thought.

Actually Ann had frequented resort hotels long enough to sense the frequent dangers in vacation romances. But she liked to entertain the ideal of romance in the more glamorous spots endowed by nature. It made her day-dreams more real and eased the tedium of unvarying months in a business office.

Bill Ware's voice fairly glowed with enthusiasm. "Why, I should think Lake Racine would be the very place! Swimming, boating, climbing. The Adirondacks are always cool a minute ago. And he's been everywhere."

"But I have spent one vacation at Lake Racine," Ann said pertly. "I think I'll go to the seashore."

The young clerk took this rebuff calmly, and went on planning a trip to Lake Racine for her. He painted a word picture of the cool mountain lake, his voice mounting to a crescendo until it seemed that he was rhapsodizing the resort.

"Why, I just sold Lake Racine to Jaime Laird, the young sportsman whose pictures you see in the magazines. Not a minute ago. And he's been everywhere."

Bill Ware became so engrossed in talking about the charms of Lake Racine that he took up most of Ann's luncheon hour. When she mentioned the seashore he seemed almost to hate the idea of waves rolling in on a lonely shore. Sands were always lonely, he thought. For the first time in Bill Ware's business career he talked a resort down, thereby perpetrating a breach of ethics. The manager would have said that something was wrong with Bill. Perhaps he needed a vacation himself.

"Why, nobody is going to the seashore this summer," he went on. "They have fog on every coast. It's been raining since the first of June. It's a plea for the mountain resort because almost impassioned; he ran a hand nervously through his hair. "You shouldn't think of going anywhere but to Lake Racine. Why, this year I can go to any resort in America, with all my expenses paid, and what do you think I've picked—Lake Racine!"

He added, not quite realizing his naivete, "You see, the first two weeks in August, didn't you? That's the best time at Lake Racine. That's when I am going to be there."

When he realized that he had betrayed his real interest in persuading her to choose Lake Racine, he blushed. Ann was smiling and she thought his quick blush made him more attractive.

She glanced at her wrist-watch, and turned to go. "I have to run to work," she said.

He said, "Oh!" and followed her toward the door. He was dreadfully afraid she should lose her. "I could come to your address tonight, and plan your vacation trip!" he said, his eyes beaming. "I'll bring my satchel along with all the details. About the hotels—the works."

He looked genuinely disturbed that Ann couldn't refuse. She handed him her card and hurried on, thinking, "What a strange young man—to come to life after all these years. Why, he seemed almost human! But I hope he won't try seamanship. No, I have a mind of my own. I'm going to the seashore."

The Nails Like the hair, the nails of the human extremities are specialized structures of the skin.

Histologists (experts in tissue-structure) tell us that the nail grows upward—not outward. The nail is attached to the underlying tissue, called the nail bed. But the nail does not grow upward from its bed; rather it grows from the root located behind the "crescent moon." Here the nail cells multiply and slowly undergo a series of changes, ultimately forming the horny structure of the visible nail. As the cells of the nail root continue to multiply the previously formed cells are pushed forward.

The growth of the nail averages about one thirty-second of an inch a week, and the life cycle of its cells is between 120 to 160 days long.

Nails reflect nutritional disturbances, and frequently reveal conditions of illness.

Because of their exposed position the nails are subject to numerous injuries and diseases. Infections around the root of the nails are common, presumably because the skin in their area is deficient in self-disinfection.

A blow on the nail may cause bleeding in the nail bed. This is painful, and relief may be gained by drilling a small hole through the nail, over the hemorrhage, to allow the blood to escape. This can be conveniently done by using the point of a pocket knife blade, or a drill.

Nails are subject to a variety of malformations and disease. Careless manicuring is responsible for many of these. Ringworm, and other types of fungus parasites frequently attack the nails and produce discoloration, thickening or pitting.

The treatment of nail diseases is an involved specialty, calling for much special knowledge, great resourcefulness, and, on the part of the patient, meticulous care and a power of endurance.

for the noon-hour and eat with his family. But there are thousands of children for whom these arrangements are out of the question. Many of them are in danger of under-nourishment as a result of neglect in preparing the food which they carry.

Mothers will put time and thought into planning sandwiches for afternoon bridge or the meeting of the Ladies' Aid, because their honor as a housekeeper is at stake. Better neglect these women, who probably would fit by a little starvation, and put more time and thought on making interesting and tempting lunch-boxes.

Talks to parents

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Often it is not the big trials of life which prove most wearing, but the little ones. Ask a group of women who do all their own work what particular part of it they most object to and an amazingly large proportion will reply—"lunch-boxes." A week's washing looms smaller on the horizon of chores than the daily petty annoyance of planning and preparing the school lunch.

In many families the children put up their own lunches. But, if well-balanced, the mother must oversee the job. One's taste for food is not really alive in the early morning, and the child's imagination is not fit to cope with the problem of noon-hour at break-fast-time.

In many homes no real thought is given to the important noon-day meal, and lunches are scraped together from leftovers. If the child is to do good work and keep in first class condition, such haphazard catering is not adequate. He must have a nourishing and rounded meal in the middle of the day.

MARY ASTOR'S DIARY QUOTED BY EX-SPOUSE

PHYSICIAN SEEKS TO PROVE 'IMMORAL CONDUCT'

LOS ANGELES, July 28. (AP)—Mary Astor's alleged diary was quoted today by her divorced husband to show the screen beauty admitted "her gross immoral conduct" for the future information of their 4-year-old daughter.

Following efforts of the actress to force his admission that their marriage was illegal, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, Hollywood physician, filed a sensational answer to her petition to regain custody of little Marilyn Thorpe.

The guardianship question is set for hearing in superior court tonight (7 p. m. P. S. T.).

Miss Astor "is an unfit and improper person to have the custody and care" of their daughter, charged Dr. Thorpe in his answer. Excerpts from intimate diary entries, assertedly made by the film player on Feb. 6, 1935, were given.

"Why I keep writing things down in this book I don't know," the diary was quoted. "It seems to help me for some reason. I am such a muddle-headed person that I love to tear myself down—my thoughts down—so they won't go skidding off in all directions.

"Then, too, maybe, Marilyn some day would like to know what sort of a person her mother was, and maybe she will be consoled when she makes mistakes and gets into jams to know that her mother was a champion at making mistakes. I blush a little (very little) at the idea of her reading some of the stuff in this book. I have been and am such a fool."

At the time Miss Astor moved from the family home, preceding their divorce last year, the physician alleged she left a note saying: "Marilyn, never admit anything to anybody. Honesty is not the best policy."

Commander of Queen Mary to Refuse Pennant

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Great Britain's S. S. Queen Mary docked today after making the fastest crossing in gever recorded for a steamer between Europe and New York—but her commander did not claim the blue pennant of Atlantic supremacy.

"We very well do not deserve it," said Sir Edward Britten, skipper of the liner.

So the blue ribbon, emblem of Atlantic speed, remains with France's Normandie, which in June, 1935, averaged 29.64 knots for the crossing as compared with the Queen Mary's 29:51 knots.

The reason is that the Normandie started her best run from Southampton and traveled 3,192 nautical miles. The Queen Mary was blocked from Cherbourg, 3,098 nautical miles away.

The English ship made the crossing in four days, eight hours, 37 minutes; the French ship covered the longer route in four days, 11 hours, 42 minutes.

Aboard the Queen Mary were 1,795 passengers. Many of them witnessed the crash of a seaplane, killing one man, off Nantucket Lightship yesterday.

SOLACE IN WEED.
PATERSON, N. J., July 28 (AP)—Charles (Mickey) Norman, 3rd, ushered in his fifth birthday today with a man-sized puff of cigar smoke. It didn't look as if there would be much of a party, but Mickey didn't care. He took solace in the weed.

A trip to a movie had been half-promised as a birthday treat, and Mickey was hoping he could sit upstairs where smoking is allowed. He has smoked since he was 14 months old.

Crowd Watching Monarch Misses Tense Struggle

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD—Gary Cooper said the other day that his idea of a good time would be to see all of the old films over again.

He wanted to see Nita Naldi and Thomas Meighan and Theodore Roberts. It occurred to this writer that viewing "Intolerance" would be a pleasant way to spend an afternoon. Or to see again that fantastic piece of so many years ago, "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari."

"Coop" remembered "Variety" and Schoedsack's "Grass," and called the latter the best travel film ever made. Someone elected von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives" as worthwhile on any revival program. We went an and on until we named about every important picture made up to eight years ago.

Letting the Dead Sleep

We concluded that our liking for them is based on sentiment, and that we would look at them with the pathos of distance, our respect would be increased for the directors of the decade beginning after the war. In that day the directors' merits were their own while their faults were the faults of the times.

And then, after we had talked over the comparative merits of films then and now, we decided we didn't want them unreel after all. Gary admitted he had some illusions about silent pictures and silent day stars. We knew we would find fault with the lighting, the photography, the pallid makeup, the inexpensive scenery, the stilted acting, the puerile stories. Undoubtedly, we would want our money back.

Hollywood has a vague idea that a tremendous lot of progress has been made in the last 15 years. It has only to look at a half dozen of the classics of the Elizabethan Age of the movies to be sure of it.

Down 8 Times And Out

In "Come and Get It," there is a cafe fight in which Frances Farmer participates. She, as Lotta, had to bounce a bottle of champagne on some offender's head.

Charles Cichl, an extra, volunteered to be the offender. The bottles were made of wax and filled with water. He was sure no harm could come to him.

Eight times Miss Farmer laid a bottle on the Cichl dome. Seven times Cichl arose. The eighth sock was too much. He went down and stayed down, momentarily unconscious.

The lady was so alarmed that she broke down and cried.

Cichl got a double salary check that day.

Body Is Exhumed; Nephew Charged

LINDEN, July 28 (AP)—W. L. Eatman, 26, faced a charge of murder today after the exhumed body of his aunt showed she died of poisoning about a month ago.

Cass county officers and District Attorney Elmer Lincoln of Texarkana drew from Eatman only a calm, flat denial of guilt in the death of 65-year-old Miss Mary Howell.

Eatman was arrested yesterday. Dr. O. R. Taylor and Dr. C. E.

Davis of Linden said they had determined Miss Howell died of poisoning.

The woman's death drew official attention when neighbors reported she died in great pain and that her body was drawn and disfigured. The body was exhumed nine days ago and the doctors' report was made yesterday.

Officers quoted neighbors as saying Miss Howell was known to have considerable money in several banks and carried a large life insurance policy.

CONGRESSIONAL RACES HOLDING STATE INTEREST

Five Incumbents Are Forced Into Run-offs

DALLAS, July 28.—The vote counting in Texas' Democratic primary tapered to a trickle today.

Politicians and political observers shifted their interest from the gubernatorial race to congressional contests, five of which seemed certain to result in run-offs August 22.

Interest shifted because Gov. James V. Allred had 34,332 votes more than his four opponents combined, making a run-off unnecessary; and because Tom Blanton, veteran Abilene congressman, was trailing an opponent for the first time in his 20-year Washington career.

Four other congressional races were forced into run-offs.

Texas Election Bureau, Inc., returns from 250 out of 254 counties, pictured the congressional contests as follows:

Blanton was trailing Judge Clyde Garrett of Eastland county for the district 17 seat, 18,196 votes to 22,613. Garrett was 301 votes short of a majority.

At San Antonio Maury Maverick, almost certainly faced a run-off with Lamar Seeligson for the District 20 honors. Maverick, militant young Democrat just finishing his first time in the house, was ahead with 18,969 votes against Seeligson's 12,773.

The bureau's figures placed young Ed Gossett of Vernon in the run-off with Rep. W. D. McFarlane.

In Houston's district 8 the run-off was a neck-and-neck affair between Mayor Oscar Holcombe, with 21,224 votes, and Albert Thomas with 20,844.

Fritz Lanham of Port Worth and Julian Hyer were apparently the run-off candidates in District 12.

Ernest Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, seemed destined to face Frank Morris in the second primary.

David Lamson on His Honeymoon

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., July 26 (AP)—David Lamson, tried four times for wife-murder, honeymooned today with the former Ruth Rankin, film magazine writer, in northern California.

They were married in the Hollywood-Reverly Christian church last night by the Rev. Cleveland Kleihaus. Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Littlefield of the film colony attended them and a reception was held afterward at the Littlefield home.

A score of motion picture people, including Bette Davis, Glenda Farrell and Dorothy Davenport Reid, witnessed the double ring ceremony.

LOYAL PLANES WRECK REBEL BULLET DUMPS

BOTH ARMIES CLAIMING VICTORIES IN CIVIL FIGHTING

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

MADRID, July 28.—Leftist Spain struck at a stubborn, 11-day rebellion with a new tactic today, sending new fleets of bombing planes to blast out insurgent garrisons and exploding rebel ammunition dumps in the Guadarrama mountains which guard this beleaguered capital.

Intensified, terrible punishment both men and women, even in a new attempt to sound the knell of Fascist revolt in outlying cities.

In the Guadarrama, however, claims of successes contrasted with rebel announcements of the capture of a defended village and the prediction of the insurgent general, Emilio Mola, that his men would reach Madrid within three days.

A leftist committee in Madrid was named to take over "necessary" industry and the government continued widespread enlistment of both men and women, even in the killing several score of bullfighters.

Sharp fighting was reported in the north, both in the vicinity of San Loyal besiegers took positions overlooking the city and prepared for a new bombardment.

Reports from across the French border said rebel barracks at Loyola, near San Sebastian, had surrendered unconditionally. New cannon fire was heard at Hendaye, France, during the morning.

Rebels at Toledo were reported to have marched out of the famous Alcazar to surrender after government troops had made plans to mine the structure. But advances through non-official channels from Malaga said loyalists were retreating after taking heavy losses in yesterday's battle at Estepona.

Loyal guards, in a series of raids on Guadarrama mountain passes, were represented as having blasted insurgent ammunition dumps out of existence.

Government sources, which described the raids as an "important military action," said ten guards were killed and 11 wounded in explosions which echoed through the mountainous region.

Team to Battle Detroit Lions Sept. 1 Chosen

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—America's football fans—3,419,164 of them—have decided that eight midwesterners and one each from the south, southwest and Pacific coast, have earned the first crack at Detroit's professional champion Lions in the third annual all-star gridiron classic at Soldier Field the night of September 1.

Their choice for a backfield, expressed in the poll conducted by the Chicago Tribune with the cooperation of 182 other newspapers, has all-America Riley Smith of Alabama, at quarterback; Jay Berwanger, Chicago's famous all-America star, and Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame at halfbacks, with Sheldon Beise of Minnesota at fullback.

To operate in front of the four great backs, a line consisting of Wayne Miller of Notre Dame, and Keith Topping of Stanford, ends; Dick Smith, all-America from Minnesota, and Truman Spain, of Southern Methodist, tackles; still another all-America star, Paul Torgora of Northwestern, and Vernon Cech of Minnesota, guards, and Gomer Jones of Ohio State at center, has been "elected" for duty at the kickoff.

The first eleven named in the poll will start against the pro champions, unless physical disability makes necessary a revision. In the first two games of the all-star series, the coaching staff was permitted to select its starting lineup from the whole squad. This year they must give the fans' choices first call.

sensing the dangers, warned the world also of war's unrevealed terrors when he told German Nazi aviators in Berlin Thursday that aerial warfare has "stripped the armor from every nation in war."

Mussolini and Stalin, chiefs of Fascist and Communist states, are only two of many statesmen who talk war. In every country, leaders and their peoples say they "don't want war" but the great majority see it coming.

Clashes over territory furnish reasons enough to them for their fears but daily there grows continuously the age-old clash between the "right" and the "left."

Fascism is the nucleus of the "right," in Spain, Fascism there groups monarchists, advocates of a strong church and groups of property owners, economic descendants of the feudal lords.

The liberals are the "left." They include Communists, Socialists, Freethinkers opposed to church power and the "humanitarian" groups that called for rule by the people, and comfort and security for them.

These lines, every day more sharply drawn between Fascists and liberals, whatever labels they bear, increase the tension of a world in turmoil.

Statesmen's warnings and international conferences point out dangers that may lead to war in Germany's demand for "expansion."

Italy's effort to revive the old Roman empire.

Japan's spread into China and Mongolia.

France's belief that Germany intends a war of conquest.

Austria's belief that Hitler seeks control of southwestern Europe.

HOOVER NAMES PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1--HANLEY

BLONDIE DENNING IS ALSO RANKED AT TOP

By WILLIAM H. PINKERTON, Associated Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—Federal agents quietly pursued two top-flight "public enemies" today as they received the congratulations of associates on the guilty plea of Alvin Karpis, last of the "big money" kidnapers.

The two-candidate for the role abandoned by Karpis when he was sentenced yesterday to life in prison for the abduction of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer—are described by J. Edgar Hoover as a "notorious bank robber" and a new, kind of kidnaper.

Kidnaping for profit—the Karpis kind—is on the decline, according to Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. All the "big money" kidnapers have been arrested or killed. But federal agents are concentrating now on another type of kidnaper, who seizes officers or spectators as a shield for his flight.

after committing some other crime. They say Joseph Hanley is such a man. He has twice been accused of taking hostages to cover his flight from crime scenes. Beside two kidnaping indictments, Hanley faces charges of violating the national motor vehicle theft act and the federal escape act.

The 32-year old Sioux City, Ia., fugitive started his crime career at "a very early age," according to Hoover, and has served terms in Iowa and Minnesota prisons for robbery and larceny.

Arthur Gooch, hanged for the kidnaping and threatened assault of two Texas peace officers, challenged the power of the government under the Lindbergh law in such cases, but the Supreme Court upheld the government's interpretation.

Like Hanley, Maurice (Blondie) Denning is alleged to have played the kidnap game in his robberies. Denning, who ranks with Hanley as the "wanted" list, is under indictment for five national bank robberies in the Midwest.

Nancy Jo Landon Will Celebrate 4th Birthday

BY RUTH COWAN, Associated Press Staff Writer. ESTES PARK, Colo., July 28 (AP)—Nancy Jo Landon will celebrate her fourth birthday with two parties tomorrow.

One of the parties will be held on the canyon ranch near here where the little girl is vacationing with her mother, Mrs. Alfred M. Landon, wife of the Republican presidential nominee, and the other will be back home at Topeka, Kas.

While in Topeka last week, Mrs. Landon made arrangements for an ice cream and cake party to be given in Nancy Jo's name at the Topeka Provident association's day nursery where mothers who are working may leave their children.

It will be the third such party, and Mrs. Landon explained that one object of it is to train her curly-haired little daughter to remember others who may be as fortunate as herself.

During the last week a stack of various sized packages have accumulated in an upstairs clothes closet at the ranch, and Mrs. Landon, who is knowingly confident today that one of them contains her fondest desire—an electric stove.
