PAMPA, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS, TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 12, 1936.

8 PAGES TODAY

(PRICE FIVE CENTS)

Plan now to attend the PANHANDLE CENTENNIAL celebration at Pampa, June 2, 3, 4, and 5, with which is combined a Pioneer's Roundup and Oil Men's Reunion. It is a GREATER celebration for the whole Panhandle.

Twinkles

Republican editors are sending us a lot of articles on what the country needs. We conclude that it needs just what both republicans and democrats have been promising throughout our lifetime. But delivering Utopia is another matter.

A skeleton of a 12-foot fish was found near Liberal, Kan. Doubtless one that got away from some of the ancestors of the Pampa anglers.

The four women who held complete suits in bridge must have felt like the small town women who believed the bigger city merchant who said he sold only exclusive items.

Add smiles: As downcast as a professor of domestic relations who learns that his wife has just taken a plane to Reno.

In the interest of better headlines and bigger appropriations for G-men, we in weak moments hope some new bands will spring up somewhere. Such moments are somewhat rare.

Musing of the moment: A convention isn't a meeting, but a mood, a manifestation, an obsession, a place for some folks to "blow off" and others to get bored. But many folks must enjoy them, for there is no end to the things.

Brevitorials

COORDINATION gets results. Pete Traxler is in jail. Coordination has been used since cave men quit hunting singly and merged efforts in the chase. It was the method in hunting coyotes and jackrabbits. It resulted in corralling of horse thieves. As long as county officers are confined within county borders, elusive criminals can laugh at pursuers. But the capture of Traxler was more than luck. The result would have been the same had he taken several other directions of flights. Officers of the Panhandle deserve praise for their work, and for demonstration that closer coordination is necessary in this day of fast travel.

The NEWS was glad to extend the facilities of its station, KPDN. The use of radio in guiding posses, however, is still in its infancy. Coded messages at frequent intervals could be used in connection with airplanes to provide an invaluable set-up. Science helps the criminal, but can also make his escape unlikely if adequately used.

GOING OVER the mail, we are interested in the news that Padre Island will be made into a state park. Look at a map of Texas and note the long, slender strip of land paralleling the coast. When improved and provided with a highway within a few hundred yards of the surf, this island should be a boon to tourists. The third largest cavern in the United States—near Marble Falls, Texas and called Longhorn cavern—has been turned into the world's underground theater and ball room. Most Texans have never seen it.

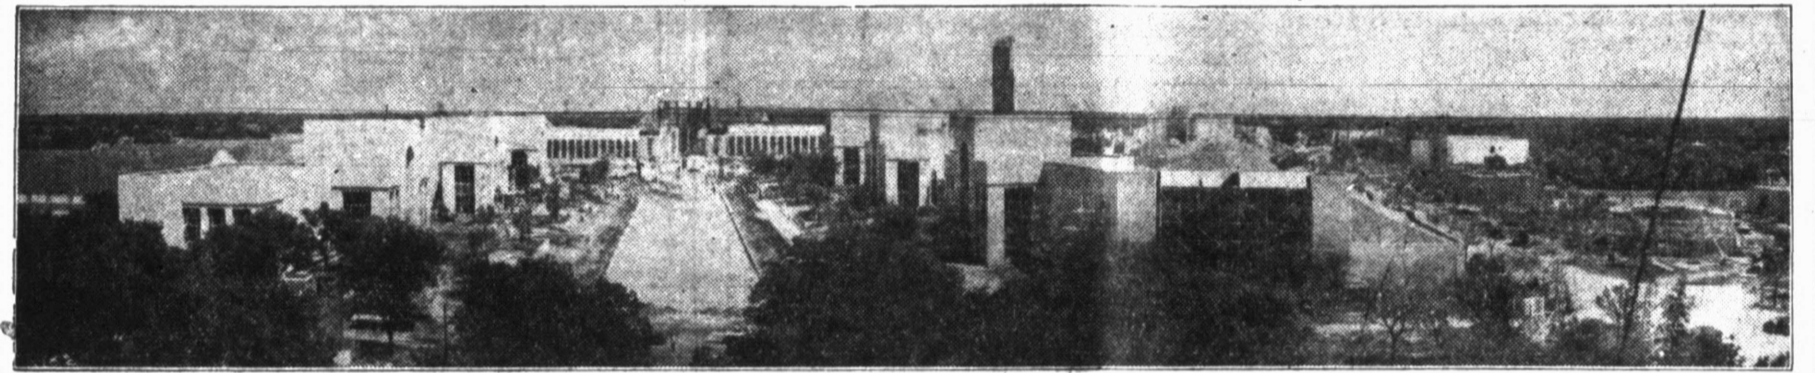

A more equitable distribution of relief funds according to the efforts made by states is being advocated in those states which are paying more than the average. Nebraska, for instance, has a $21,000,000 surplus while other states are struggling with deficits. But in Nebraska the federal government has supplied 76.8 per cent of relief funds distributed in recent years. Twelve states have received 90 per cent or more of relief funds distributed. In the future, states doubtless will be asked to assume a greater burden than they have in the past.

INTEREST IN THE U. S. Constitution continues despite the temporary lull in demands for amendments. The question will slumber until a new crisis, then discussion will be greater than ever before. The swing from liberty to despotism has many rebounds. Our forefathers fled from extremes in government and, in this free America, sought to set up the weakest form of government which would be adequate. The first attempt provided that feebleness in government is as useless as despotism is odious. In our Constitution, they sought a happy balance of granted and reserved powers. We, in a new day, must regard the Constitutional changes advocated in the light of history, as well as assumed necessity.

The photographer here has caught the newly completed view of what the visitors to the Texas Centennial exposition, opening June 6, in Dallas, will see when they come into the main gate. In the left center is the 700-foot reflecting basin, center of the Esplanade of State. To its left are the three entrances of the $400,000 Hall of Transportation. To its right the three entrances of the $400,000 Hall of Varied Industries. Behind the $1,200,000 Hall of State, last of the major buildings in the $25,000,000 world's fair construction program. In the background, as far as the camera eye can see, other construction is being rushed to completion.

PETE TRAXLER IS INDICTED AT CANADIAN

CHARGED IN HOLDUP OF FILLING STATION FEBRUARY 9

CANADIAN, May 12. (AP)—Pete Traxler, dangerously wounded Oklahoma badman, was under indictment here today charging robbery with firearms in connection with a filling station holdup Feb. 9. A Hemphill county grand jury indicted the desperado yesterday while officers guarded him in a Canadian hospital. Possemen shot Traxler when he attempted to run through a barricade on a bridge over the Canadian river Sunday.

No complaints will be filed immediately against Pete Traxler in Gray county hijacking cases, it was indicated here today. Traxler is an expensive prisoner in his present condition. Inasmuch as the more serious charges—murder—are against him in Oklahoma, he will probably be released to officers from the Sooner state. Texas officers wish to be assured, however, that the Oklahoma charges will "put Traxler away" for a long time.

Train Changes Speed up Air Mail Service

Air mail connections out of Pampa have been speeded through change of passenger service over the Santa Fe railroad, postal authorities announce. A schedule is being prepared by W. W. McDonald, superintendent of mails. It will be given to all merchants and copies will be available at the postoffice soon. Merchants are urged to mail early, especially in drop boxes. The boxes are cleared by 5 o'clock each evening. Mail will be collected in the office until 45 minutes before train time.

Schools Combat Scarlet Fever

To combat a threatened epidemic of scarlet fever among Pampa pupils, the school board yesterday afternoon employed two nurses, Misses Lois Barrett and Grace Hilliard, to assist Miss Llewellyn Shelby, school health director. They will spend the next few days in a special program. The aim is to keep pupils with any symptoms of scarlet fever at home, and to urge immunization where necessary. Several children in the city are ill with scarlet fever, some of them pupils from schools here.

I Heard...

That a man walked into Cecil Peddicord's service station yesterday and asked for Sam Hale. Said Cecil, "Are you a ball player?" The man answered, "yep," and to an inquiry if he had played much the fellow said he had pitched a little over the country. Then he introduced himself as Sam Gray. The former major league star had arrived to join the Road Runners.

DR. RUXTON IS HANGED; CROWD JEERS WOMAN

Campaigner Is Given Hostile Reception By English

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 12. (AP)—Dr. Buck Ruxton died on the gallows of the Strangways jail today for the "devil's beef" slayings of his wife and a nursemaid.

Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, militant campaigner against capital punishment, encountered a hostile reception from a large crowd outside the jail while the dark-skinned Parsee physician was hanged for England's most gruesome crime since the turn of the century.

Mrs. Van Der Elst, determined to protest against the execution, drove up to the jail in a limousine accompanied by two loud speaker vans. Police turned back the trucks, not permitting them to approach the jail.

The crowd pressed about the limousine, which drove within 70 yards of the main gates, shouting, jeering and hooting.

When the anti-hanging crusader departed, she was taken straight to a police court and charged with "behaving in a manner whereby a breach of the peace might have been occasioned," willfully obstructing traffic and dangerous driving. She was remanded for a week under $50 bond ($250 bail).

The 36-year old Dr. Ruxton was hanged shortly after 9:00 a. m. (2:00 a. m. C. S. T.). Promptly 15 minutes later a black flag was run up in the prison tower. In evidence that British justice had exacted its penalty for the murder of Mrs. Isabella Ruxton and the killing and dismemberment of her maid, Miss Jane Rogerson, sometime last September.

Actually, Dr. Ruxton, who deserted his Parsee wife in India in 1925 to come to England, was convicted and hanged only for the slaying of the woman he married while studying in Edinburgh.

The crown prosecution charged, however, that he also killed Miss Rogerson, slashed her to bits and cast both bodies in the "devil's beef tub" ravine near Moffat, on the Scottish border.

GAS STRIPPING HAS DECREASED FIFTY PER CENT

Only 8.4 Per Cent of Dry Gas Stripped To The Air

AUSTIN, May 12. (AP)—The engineering department of the Railroad commission reported today that the percentage of natural gas used in Texas for light and fuel purposes was decreasing.

This is in line with the purpose of the conservation law enacted by the last legislature after a long period during which billions of cubic feet of gas suitable for light and fuel were burned in carbon black plants or blown into the air after the gasoline content was removed.

The percentage of gas utilized for light and fuel purposes has risen steadily since the first of the year, the department reported. "In January, it was 44.3 per cent; in February, 62.6 per cent, and in March 66.9 per cent."

It said the explanation lay in the dwindling volumes handled by stripping plants. During January, 17.6 per cent of the total dry gas produced in the state was stripped to the air, in February 16.4 per cent, and in March 8.4 per cent.

March reports show that only 233,509,000 cubic feet were popped to the air daily by Panhandle gasoline plants, the lowest figure since the advent of stripping, the report continued.

And since approximately 60 per cent of the total gas blown to the air by gasoline plants was attributed to one plant operating under an injunction but now shut down, it is anticipated that the April report will show an additional reduction.

"At the present time, the volume of dry gas residue discharged to the air is substantially below the total casinghead intake."

During March, gasoline plants recovered an average of 1,477,594 gallons of gasoline daily from 1,908,442,000 cubic feet of gas, or 81 gallon per 1,000 cubic feet, compared with 72 in February and 64 in January. For the Panhandle the recovery factor was 50 in March, 48 in February and 47 in January.

AIR SHOW TO BE HELD HERE DURING JUNE

MANY PLANES DUE TO BE BROUGHT TO CENTENNIAL

The amazing program for the Panhandle Centennial celebration here June 2-5 continued to grow today, as reported to the Jaycees by the general committee.

Plans are taking form for an air show expected to bring many planes, racing and stunt pilots, and parachute jumpers. A long list of prizes will be announced soon by Bert Howell, local aviation enthusiast and chairman of the committee.

Rehearsal for the mammoth Centennial pageant will begin Friday evening in the high school gymnasium under the direction of Ben Gull. The script has been completed. The pageant will be based on the "sustained courage" of Panhandle pioneers.

Oil men's day, June 3, will include a free barbecue for those holding tickets to be distributed by oil field superintendents. The barbecue will be held at Road Runner park about 5 p. m. In the evening, a special stage show will be given at La Nora theater. Tickets will go on sale Friday. The show will be sent here by an Oklahoma City agency which specializes in such entertainment.

Safe Stolen on Sunday Recovered

Members of the local sheriff's department and police department, including Sheriff Earl Talley and Chief Art Hurst, went to Hutchinson county yesterday afternoon and returned with the safe stolen from the Post Office Bar last Sunday night.

The safe had been opened with hack-saws and was worthless. About $60 had been removed.

A person hunting small cottonwood trees had found the safe. The local officers had tried to spot the safe from an airplane but had failed. No arrests had been made.

Lower Rates For All Children At Pool Are Asked

Lumber Arrives For Building Seats At Park

Another opportunity for bidders to be heard will be given next Monday evening by the city commission with respect to operation of the municipal swimming pool.

Bids will be received up to 7:30 p. m. next Monday.

A delegation, including all scoutmasters of the city, Mrs. Raymond Harrah and Mrs. C. T. Hunka of the council of clubs, Ben Gull, director of the summer recreation program, the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, and County Attorney Sherman White, appeared at last night's meeting of the city commission, and asked that a rate of $2 for all children under 16 years of age be fixed as the price of a season ticket to the swimming pool this summer.

Mr. White represented the scoutmasters, and the others spoke for their respective groups. The council of clubs and the scoutmasters have been studying the swimming situation for some time. The commission was also asked to set aside one-half day each week for Scouts to practice life-saving and swimming tests. Mr. White in presenting the plea said that the low rates were asked for the purpose of encouraging swimming and life-saving, a major program of Scouting.

Mr. White, Mr. Gull and the other speakers also said they believed a low rate for children would help solve the summer recreation problem here and result in greater use of the pool. Belief that as many as 500 tickets could be sold to children was expressed by the delegation. In the event the low rate was adopted, Scouts would conduct a campaign among civic clubs, churches and others to raise money by buy season tickets for children who cannot afford to pay even $2.

The commission will consider this.

ALLRED URGES TRANSFER OF PARDON POWER

PAMPA BANDS PARADE AT CONVENTION IN AMARILLO

BY P. D. ALLRED. Associated Press Staff Writer. AMARILLO, May 12. (AP)—Efforts of the National Youth administration to provide higher education to the sons and daughters of families on relief were criticized as generally fruitless in a resolution submitted by educators to the West Texas chamber of commerce convention.

It was recommended that "all this educational efforts of the worthy youth be transferred to the control of high schools and colleges."

President Thomas H. Taylor of Howard Payne college, President Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological college, Dean J. Thomas Davis of John Tarleton Agricultural college, and President J. A. Hill of West Texas Teachers college drew up the resolution, which was approved by the convention work committee.

AMARILLO, May 12. (AP)—The 30-piece Texas Christian university band of Fort Worth was named the official West Texas Chamber of Commerce band, judges announced today following a parade of musical organizations. Don Gillis is director of the white-and-purple uniformed music makers.

"The federal government is spending much money in an effort to educate the youth who could not attend college without aid," they said. "One division appropriates 12 per cent of the college enrollment to the non-profit producing colleges of the nation, permitting an average per capita earning by labor of $15 per month out of the funds apportioned."

"The other division, known as the freshman college effort or small group effort, is limited to youth whose families are on relief and a much larger fund is being spent upon this effort."

"In general, this effort is fruitless, because in the first place, the youth of these families are lacking in ambition for an education and will not exert the effort necessary for a college education, and in the second place this expenditure places a premium upon being upon relief rolls and penalizes the ambitious youths who have fought with their parents to remain off relief rolls."

Removal of the absolute power of pardon from the hands of the governor was recommended by Governor James V. Allred in a speech before the West Texas chamber of commerce convention.

"It will take it out of politics, will remove the burden from the governor's shoulders and will be fairer to the convicts and society," Governor Allred said.

He urged West Texans to support an amendment to this effect to be voted on in November.

Allred explained that each governor has certain views relative to extending clemency. He said his views vary, with the result that there is no uniformity.

KARPIS GIVES TIP -- CLERKS SUPPLY CLUES

LAST MAJOR FUGITIVE TAKEN BACK TO KENTUCKY

WASHINGTON, May 12. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover said today that Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., arrested in Glendale, Calif., last night, has admitted kidnaping Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville, Ky., society leader.

The director of the federal bureau of investigation said Robinson told agents that his first plan was to kidnap C. C. Stoll, father-in-law of his victim. Finding that the elder Stoll was not at home, Hoover said his story continued, he went to the son's house, seeking a second possible male victim.

When he could not find the younger Stoll, Hoover said, Robinson quickly decided to abduct young Mrs. Stoll.

GLENDALE, Calif., May 11. (AP)—Neatly, with no show of resistance, Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., last of the government's major fugitives, was seized last night by federal agents and bundled off to Louisville, Ky., to answer for the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll.

In the brief span of two hours, the slender, effeminate-looking man who vanished so completely after the Stoll abduction in October, 1934, was seized, whisked aloft for Kentucky in a chartered airplane.

Although Robinson was believed to have operated alone, federal authorities here refused to confirm or deny today that they were seeking a woman, and possibly one or two men, who may have accompanied Robinson to California.

Tip From Karpis. The tip that led to Robinson's capture, a department of justice agent disclosed to an airport official, came from the man who recently preceded him as the government's public enemy No. 1—Alvin Karpis.

The government removed Karpis from a hide-out in the New Orleans last week. Department of justice agents in Los Angeles adhered to their traditional tight-lipped policy regarding the manner of Robinson's arrest, but J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation announced in Washington some of the details of their latest major move in rounding up "public enemies."

From store employees came fragmentary reports concerning Robinson's movements during his two-months' hiding in Glendale. Officials of Grand Central terminal, from which the chartered air liner (TWA) took off bearing the captive and his guards, told of seeing the slight, dark man, escorted into the ship by four federal agents.

He was dressed in a dark business suit, and was shackled with handcuffs and leg irons. The plane roared away at 9:30 p. m. (PST), about two hours after Robinson was caught in a Glendale hotel.

Wore Woman's Garb. Hoover said Robinson, although armed with a pistol, did not use it and admitted identity when confronted by the agents.

Robinson's visits to a Pasadena drug store were credited with furnishing official clues to the presence of the will-o-the-wisp fugitive.

About six weeks ago, a woman in the establishment reported to police a person dressed in feminine apparel made a purchase at the place—a person she thought

WHAT THE PENSION AMENDMENT PROVIDES

There are several misconceptions of the Texas pension amendment and of the law enacted under it. It may be worth while to take a studios look at the amendment.

The first point to keep in mind is that the amendment does not of itself provide for the payment of pensions.

The legislature shall have the power by general laws to provide under such limitations and restrictions as may be deemed by the legislature expedient, for old age assistance and for the payment of same not to exceed $15 per month to actual bona fide citizens who are over the age of 65 years.

"The legislature shall have the power." That doesn't say that the legislature must pass a pension law. It doesn't say that pensions shall be paid, without action by the legislature. It merely gives the legislature permission to pass such a law. The legislature has permission to do a number of things which it hasn't done. For example, the Constitution specifically authorizes it to levy income taxes, but it has never done so.

The second point is that the amendment clearly authorized the legislature to impose "limitations and restrictions" upon the pension payments. The amendment itself imposes certain limitations and restrictions as shall be shown presently; and it gives the legislature the power to impose others "as may be deemed . . . expedient."

Those who try to make it appear that it is unconstitutional for the legislature to impose any restrictions, or make any rules, as to the payments, are ignoring the plain language of the amendment. The legislature has very broad powers. It has the power, so far as that goes, to refuse to pass any restrictions that it sees fit. If the legislature passed a law to limit eligibility for pensions to one-legged men over the age of 90, it would be entirely within its constitutional rights.

The language of the amendment is so plain in this respect that it is difficult to see how it could be misunderstood.

There are some other points to be noted in the amendment. It provides certain restrictions of its own. Nobody shall receive over $15 monthly from the state. Habitual criminals, habitual drunkards, inmates of state supported institutions, are not eligible. No one is eligible who has not lived in Texas at least five years out of the nine years preceding his application. But the business of making other restrictions is left to the legislature's discretion.

Those who voted for the amendment in the belief that it provided for $15 monthly pensions to all 65-year olds; regardless of their earning power, regardless of their property ownership, regardless of the ability of relatives to provide for them—and regardless of the state's ability to raise the money—did not read their ballots when they voted.

The purpose of the state amendment and of the law passed in accordance with it, the purpose of the federal legislation on the same subject, is to provide old age assistance for those who really need it. It is not easy to draw the line, but the effort must be made to draw it as clearly and as straight as the amendment provides. And when the language of the constitution clashes with the ambitions of politicians, the latter must give way to the former.—Wichita Times.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—It seems that practically anything that happens in Washington is largely participated in by lawyers.

Please note that the principal characters in the following story are President Roosevelt, a lawyer; Secretary Ickes, a lawyer; Newton D. Baker, a lawyer; Dean Acheson, a lawyer; Jerome Frank, a lawyer; Louis Glavis, a lawyer; Senator Hugo Black, a lawyer; Silas Strawn, a lawyer; Jonett Shouse, a lawyer; Judge Alfred Wheat, a lawyer, and Henry Hunt, a lawyer.

In the background, available for chorus purposes, are Congress—about four-fifths of its members lawyers—and the U. S. Supreme Court, its nine justices, of course, all lawyers.

On Sept. 10, 1934, Roosevelt sent a memorandum to Ickes, dated from Hyde Park, signed "F. D. R.," concerning PWA loan-grants to municipalities for erection of public power plants.

The first the public heard of this memo was when, recently in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, Baker, secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, and Acheson, former undersecretary of the treasury under Roosevelt, both appearing for "power trust" groups in an effort to kill such projects, obtained a subpoena for a memorandum of that description along with many other papers in PWA files.

The inference was that the Roosevelt memo would tend to show an administration intent, in making such loan-grants, to drive down private power rates by providing competition from publicly owned plants.

Practically everybody in Washington, including those in PWA, once believed that was exactly what Roosevelt and Ickes had in mind. Henry Hunt, as PWA general counsel, made no particular effort to refute the idea when power companies first began to sue on the ground that the loan-grants were unconstitutional.

But the supreme court, as in the AAA case, began to indicate that motives were all-important and Frank, brought in as special counsel on the PWA cases, shifted the line of defense. In the Greenwood county case he put Ickes on the stand to repudiate the testimony of a PWA engineer and a PWA press release and to assert that the fundamental purpose of PWA was to increase employment and purchasing power through public works.

That strategy turned defeat into victory when the circuit court of appeals said it couldn't go behind the word of Ickes. Baker and Acheson, representing power companies in Oklahoma, Alabama, Texas, and Iowa, have tried ever since to nail down their contention that PWA sought to control rates.

Frank told Judge Wheat that the Roosevelt-to-Ickes memorandum was confidential and protested against being forced to produce it. Wheat upheld him.

Meanwhile, Ickes put PWA Chief Investigator Glavis on the job to find out who had tipped the power interests as to existence of the memorandum.

Ickes now has a very good idea who the culprit was. And no matter what the courts finally decide as to the Hyde Park memorandum, Roosevelt has no intention of allowing it to be produced in court.

Rudy Vallee says a man can't write good music on an empty stomach but, judging from recent songs, it doesn't seem to matter what condition the head is in.

Battling Harvesters Amaze Spectators By Holding Giants To 7 to 6 Score

GREAT STARS OF PAST HELD BY WEE BOYS

OUTWEIGHED FROM 20 TO 35 POUNDS PER MAN

The Little Harvester prospects of 1936 battled their way into the hearts of Pampa football fans when they held a team of giants to a 7 to 6 score in a full length game at Harvester field last night.

Outweighed all the way from 20 to 35 pounds to the man, the little prospects battled toe to toe with their huge opponents and many times outgassed them and outplayed them.

The exes scored when Buck Mundy, 200-pounder, broke off tackle behind a wave of interference and raced 36 yards for the counter. He plunged over for the end point. The Harvesters blocked a punt and Roy Lee Jones scooped it up and raced 40 yards for a touchdown. The try for tying point missed.

Fear was expressed that Woody Woodruff, Little Harvester quarterback, had received a fractured arm when he tackled Mundy as he reached the goal line on his touchdown jaunt. X-ray pictures taken last night showed only torn ligaments and bruises.

Harvester coaches expressed themselves as satisfied with their little prospects. They have light and fire and a willingness to play football. If the boys take care of themselves during the summer months they should be ready for the hard grind in the fall.

Little offense was possible in the battle last night. The Harvesters had been working less than two weeks on their new formations and did not have time to perfect them.

Then it was almost impossible to get an offense going against the giant line facing the little Harvesters.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejean started out with Roy Lee Jones, Maxey at end, Rice and Jones, tackles, Morgan and Mathews, guards, Noblitt, center, Woodruff, quarter, Enloe and Drake, halves, and Showers, full, Drake and Brooks were used in the backfield and McMahon, L. Wait, Nelson, and Smith substituted in the line.

The size of the exes was produced by Stephenson and Owens, ends; R. Green and Hartman, tackles; Nolan and Carl Smith, guards; Haner, center; Hamilton, quarter; Holsell and Drake, halves, and Mundy, full, Noblitt, Walstad, Stokes, Green, Elkins, Stevens, Brown, and a host of other former stars battered the little Harvesters but they failed to make them give up.

The spring training period is over. Fall practice will begin late in August with a camp, probably at Eagle Nest Lake in New Mexico.

BRIDGES AND BURNS AID IN TIGER VICTORY

Things are looking a bit brighter in the camp of the champion Detroit Tigers.

Harried by early season injuries and team reversals, the Tigers have had a tough time of it thus far but there is reason today for Mickey Cochrane to contemplate with a little more hope the grueling days of summer when, Mickey asserts, the team with class and endurance will step out in front.

Tommy Bridges and Irving Burns are the reasons for the new bit of optimism. Bridges, a makeshift pitcher, has pitched well since he was called up to the club, getting three defeats and only one victory to his credit until yesterday's game with the Cleveland Indians when he came into his own to pitch five-hit ball and win, 8 to 3.

Fire Ball of Negro Is Too Much for Local Nine

Power at the plate, speed on the bases, a bunch of fielders that made every hit ball look fairly easy, and a pitcher with speed to spare, proved too much for the Pampa Road Runners last night, when they fell before the Kansas City Monarchs, negro champions, 3 to 0 in the season's greatest ball game.

The grandstand was packed and fans stood during most of the game.

Big Gene Ledford pitched great ball for the Road Runners, allowing the sluggish negroes only eight hits, all well scattered excepting in the fifth inning. Brooks started on the mound for the Monarchs but was wild. He was replaced by Madison, a speed ball artist who throws a ball nearly as fast as Rogan, ace of the speed ball pitchers.

SECOND GAME TO BE PLAYED THURSDAY EVE

Pampa has seen two colorful baseball games here during the last week but the parade has not ended. On tomorrow and Thursday nights the famous Aztecas of Mexico City will be here for games with the Road Runners. Game time both nights will be 8:30 o'clock with admission 25 cents for women and 40 cents for men.

The Aztecas, champions of Mexico for several years, are making their first trip through the United States since 1933. The team is composed of many veterans and a few youngsters who, it is predicted, will make a name for themselves in organized ball.

Famous for their speed and uncanny eyesight, the Aztecas have an exceptionally strong defensive ball club. The infielders jump on hard hit balls like lightning and their throwing ability is uncanny. This year's team has more power at the plate than recent teams. The pitching staff is also superior.

Little Fails To Qualify For National Open Match

Other Big Names Go Down in New York

By The Associated Press

Lawson Little, the stocky shot-maker who was a double winner of both the British and American amateur golf championships, will be among the missing when the national open play begins in June.

The downfall of Little was the most astounding upset in the sectional qualifying rounds that took place in all parts of the country. Other players who have carved niches for themselves in the golfing world also went down, however. Leo Diegel, with 154, just missed at Newton Square, Pa., where Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist, gave up the ghost after posting an 81 for the first round.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRETZ

NEW YORK, May 12. (AP)—Mrs. Jimmy McLarnin has made up her mind and that means there'll be no return bout with Tony Canzoneri, or anyone else. . . Just as well, too. . . Jimmy is through—and everybody seems to know it except Jimmy. . . The best judge of baseball talent in the country is Branch Rickey of the Cardinals. . . and the best prospect to date is Joe McCarthy of the Yanks. . . Way back in March Joe said he'd show them a few things if Gehrig, Gomez, Chapman and Dickey had normal years. . . And is he?

Notre Dame has its Bill Shakespeare and Marquette its James Fenimore Cooper. . . You'll see a lot of James Fenimore at end next season. . . Oscar Eckhardt of the Dodgers says the greatest difference between the Pacific coast league and the National is the infield. . . A funny speech from the guy who led the coast loop in batting but can hit only a punny 190 for the Dodgers. . . Did Oscar omit the pitching comparison because he can't see the National league brand?

Raymond (Bear) Wolf falls for a pretty good football team at North Carolina this season. . . But if they keep that Graham plan on the books he'll need all the prayers in Texas and North Carolina next year, believe you us. . . Why is it the Yanks can bowl over the Indians, Red Sox and Tigers, but catch the very devil from the second division clubs? . . . Send your answers to Joe McCarthy, care Yankee stadium. . . If baseball fans knew the whole story of the Paul Deringer case they wouldn't be so quick to saddle all the blame on the pitcher.

While embers glowed the reconstruction started

Before the flames had reached the telephone switchboard in the little Arkansas town—before the swirling wall of smoke had driven operators from their posts—plans for rebuilding the fire-doomed office were under way.

While embers still glowed in the fire-twisted skeleton of the old office, the work of reconstruction was under way.

At a great warehouse in a distant city, men were loading a new switchboard, new telephone cable, new office equipment, into express cars. Nearer to the spot, cable splicers and workmen skilled in telephone construction were being taken from their jobs and rushed toward the office about to be destroyed by fire.

One advantage of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.

MISS LOUISE WALSTAD AND JESS PATTON ARE MARRIED

COUPLE TO BE AT HOME HERE AFTER A TRIP

SIMPLE WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED AT PANHANDLE

Miss Louise Walstad, daughter of Mrs. G. C. Walstad, and Jess Patton, son of Mrs. J. J. Patton, were married yesterday evening by the Christian minister at Panhandle, in his home. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, cousins of the bride, were the only witnesses to the simple ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton left this morning for Oklahoma City. They expect to return the last of this week and will be at home here.

The bride is a member of a prominent pioneer family of this section, whose residence in the Panhandle dates from the 1880's. She attended Pampa schools, graduating in 1933. Popular in high school activities, she was a member of the pep squad and of girls' athletic teams.

Her participation in school athletics and other activities continued while she attended Chilli-cothe, Mo. Business college. After completing her course there, she returned to Pampa and has been employed in the office of the Texas Railroad commission here.

Mr. Patton was outstanding on Harvester teams while he attended high school here. He was captain of the football team in 1933, and was a regular on the basketball team which won the district championship. He was graduated in 1934 and has been employed since with the B. & B. oil products company.

The Silver-tone colored singers will present a program of spirituals and gospel songs tomorrow evening at 8 at First Methodist church. Their program will replace the usual mid-week meeting.

Members and friends of the church are invited to be present for the program, which is to be given in the interest of the Colored Methodist church. No admission fee will be charged, but an offering will be taken. The singers, from Okmulgee, Okla., have been heard in several churches of the city recently.

BLACK-DRAUGHT RELIEF IS PROMPT AND REFRESHING

It's a good idea that so many people have to keep Black-Draught handy so they can take a dose for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

"I have used Black-Draught a long time, about as long as I can remember, and have a package on my shelf now," writes Mr. Sherman Shook of Evansville, Tenn. "I take Black-Draught for constipation, which causes headache, a bad, tired feeling and for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and sluggish feeling. Black-Draught, taken about twice a day, clears up this trouble and I get all right."

Black-Draught is made of medicinal herbs, dried and finely ground, but no other change in their natural condition. It is laxative that men and women like so well because of the refreshing relief it brings in constipation troubles. (Adv.)

The couple was chosen to reign over Memphis' colorful celebration that includes fireworks, a royal parade, an inaugural ball, a 100-mile auto "steepchase," a floral parade and ball, a track and field meet, boat regatta and the great climax, a grand carnival parade.

PRE-SCHOOL MOTHERS ASKED TO PROGRAMS ABOUT CHILD HEALTH

Mothers of children who will enroll in the first grade next fall are being invited to attend meetings in the ward school buildings Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher associations, these meetings will stress child health, and will introduce the annual summer health roundup for pre-school children.

Written invitations are being sent to mothers where records show definitely which school the children will attend next year, but all other mothers are urged to come to one of the meetings. If the mother is uncertain which school her child will attend, she is asked to come to the school of her choice, as the same information will be given at each place.

Mrs. H. E. Carlson, general chairman of the health roundup, says that her committee is eager for all mothers of pre-school children to be present, so they may understand fully the purpose of the program.

Conducted each spring, the health roundup aims to start children to school with the fewest possible remediable defects. Parents take their children to their own family physician and dentist, who make health examinations and indicate defects that need attention.

The roundup committee encourages correction of these defects and a second examination late in the summer, assuring the child the best possible start in his school career.

Blanks for the examinations will be distributed at the meetings Thursday, and will be mailed later to parents who cannot attend. These blanks will be filled by the physician who makes the examination, and are to be returned and placed with the child's school records.

ALL PARENTS AND TEACHERS AT WEBB JOIN ASSOCIATION

All patrons and teachers of Webb school were members this year of the Parent-Teachers association, which is closing a successful term.

Mrs. P. B. Kratzer has been president, and Mrs. Emmet Gatlin, vice-president.

They have served in those offices two terms, with Mrs. W. O. Day, secretary, and Mrs. Cort Myers, treasurer. The vice-president for next term will be Mrs. Steph, the secretary Mrs. John Cochran, and the treasurer Mrs. Bennie Edney.

A picnic for the pupils is this year's closing event for the association, in accordance with an annual custom.

Assistance to the school included purchase of rhythm band, equipment for a tennis court, and uniforms for some members of the school rhythm band. Entertainment for the school and community have been sponsored, as well as money-making projects such as picnics, carnivals, and plays. The association gave $25 to help build a church at Denworth.

Two meetings have been conducted each month with good attendance. Delegates have been sent to all county Parent-Teacher Council meetings this year and to district meetings. Webb association has entertained the county council twice in its history.

The group was organized in Nov. of 1932, with Mrs. Walter Williams as president, Mrs. Kratzer vice-president, Mrs. Gatlin secretary, Mrs. Day treasurer.

Over 100 books were placed in the school library that year. Under the same officers, the next year saw purchase of playground equipment and pictures and other additions to schoolrooms.

H. S. Glee Club Invited to Sing At Dallas Meet

A special invitation from Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education, has been received by the Girls Glee club of the high school here to sing in the state Centennial songfest at Dallas June 13.

"We need your organization," the letter to Supt. R. B. Fisher said, and he was asked to bring the entire chorus of 130 girls to Dallas for the singing in which 50,000 pupils of Texas schools are expected to join.

Dr. Woods heard the Pampa chorus when it appeared on program at a recent district songfest at Canyon.

Ward Pupils Praised

High praise for a chapel program presented at West Texas Teachers college last week by pupils of Sam Houston school here was expressed in a letter just received by Supt. R. B. Fisher from Mrs. Edna Graham, acting dean of women of the Canyon college.

Students at the college have come to look forward to the program which Pampa pupils present each year, she said, and this year's was the best of all. She complimented the melodious singing of the chorus, saying that "each number was a surprise and a delight."

Alice Smith Will Graduate in Art

Among those receiving diplomas on May 22 from the New York School of Fine and Applied Art (Parsons) is Miss Alice Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Smith of Fort Worth.

During her three years of study, three months of which were spent in the Paris ateliers of the school, Miss Smith has specialized in graphic advertising and illustration, and her work will be on display in the annual exhibition to be held in the school building, Broadway and 90th streets, from May 15 to 18.

SURGICAL TRIUMPH

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Little Julia Martin was pronounced cured today of burns which for three years closed her throat so tightly she had to be fed through a tube in her stomach.

When Julia was 18 months old, she swallowed a quantity of lye. Repeated operations were required to reopen her seared esophagus, but now she is entirely normal again, her physicians said.

SUMMER PLAY PROGRAM FOR CLUB PLANNED

P. B. B. Club to Take Part in Observing Centennial

A summer recreational program for P. B. B. club members was planned at a meeting Monday evening in the Vincent studio. Tennis, swimming, golf, and other sports will be included in the program.

Members also discussed their part in the Panhandle Centennial celebration next month. Plans were made for an unusual entertainment at the next meeting, May 25. All members are asked to call the president before that time.

Two new members, Misses Brydene Elkins and Hazel Goodman, were welcomed. Others present were Misses Jewel Binford, Natha Tinnin, Billie Noah, Reba Baird, Neoma Leslie, Clotilde McCallister, and Hildred Brake.

Volunteers Will Help Poppy Sale

Enrolment of volunteer workers for the American Legion Auxiliary's Poppy day program is going forward rapidly. Mrs. Blasingame, chairman of the Poppy day committee of the Pampa Auxiliary, announced today.

Practically the entire membership of the Pampa unit has volunteered for Poppy day work. Mrs. Blasingame said. Junior members as well as the adults will take part in the day's activities. In addition, many volunteers are coming from the girls' and young women's organizations of the city. Among the organizations aiding the Auxiliary in the Poppy program are the Camp Fire Girls.

All of the women, and girls who distribute poppies for the Auxiliary will serve without pay, Mrs. Blasingame emphasized, every penny of the money contributed by those taking flowers going into the welfare and rehabilitation funds of the American Legion and Auxiliary. The only persons receiving pay for their work in the Auxiliary's poppy program are the disabled veterans who make the poppies.

"The Auxiliary is very grateful to all those volunteering to help us in our poppy effort. We know that hard, unaccustomed work will be required of them. We hope that the public will recognize their unselfish service and when they appear on the streets on Poppy day, will respond to their appeal in the same spirit that their service is given."

Man Attempts To Quiet Dog And Is Killed

SAN ANTONIO, May 12 (AP)—An attempt to quiet a barking dog last night cost the life of Harry W. Tuttle, 40-year-old stock and bond investor.

He was shot in the forehead with a .45 caliber pistol in the rear of the apartment house where he lived. G. P. Tuttle, operator of the house, surrendered to deputy sheriffs.

Tuttle, in an oral statement, said that he heard a dog barking between the apartment building and the house in which he was sleeping. He said he looked out of the window and saw a man walking in the yard. Tuttle said that he halted the man twice and not receiving an answer, jumped out of a window with the pistol in his hand and fired one shot.

Mrs. Yaw, a bride of less than two months, heard the shot and rushed outside to find her husband dying on the ground. Her son, Robert, 14, also rushed outside.

Mrs. Yaw told officers that she, her husband and Robert retired at 10 p. m. and that the dog started barking a short time later and that her husband went into the yard to quiet it.

FLUNKING FEE

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Beginning next year, flunking in the University of Oklahoma will cost $3 an hour. The board of regents ruled that a student, on enrolling, must pay the fee for each hour of work he failed the previous semester.

Carlsbad Trip To Be Subject Of Meeting

All seniors and parents who expect to make the Carlsbad trip this week-end will meet in room 205 in the high school building Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced yesterday morning at a meeting of the senior class.

Parents who are not planning to make the trip are invited to be present at the meeting and to make suggestions.

The purpose of the meeting is to make final arrangements for the trip. Students who expect to make the trip by bus must report to Mrs. Frances Alexander by tomorrow, it was announced.

The Pampa caravan will leave here early Friday, go through the cavern Saturday, and return to Pampa Sunday. It was estimated yesterday that approximately 100 persons will make the trip.

CLASS PLAY IS SUCCESSFUL IN RAISING FUNDS

Junior Production Is Well-Received By Crowds

After presenting "The Campus Quarantine," a three-act comedy, to a full house Friday evening in the city auditorium, the junior class staged its annual play again Saturday night before a smaller audience.

Final check-up on receipts from the play had not yet been made early today. The proceeds of the production are to be used to help defray expenses of the annual junior-senior banquet to be staged this evening in the high school gymnasium.

Directed by E. N. Dennard, members of the cast gave uniformly good performances. Maxine Wheatley, playing opposite Jimmy Hamill, won considerable praise for her work.

Other members of the cast were Kathryn White, Colleen McMahon, Freda Bellows, Betty Rains, Rita Holmes, Carl Camp, Allan Wise, John Hutchinson, Robert Lee Banks, and Raymond Baxter.

Other students who helped stage the play were Jackie Bragg, prompter, and Lee Rose and Howard Snow, stage managers.

SPRING FEVER

'Twas the day before finals, and all through the school,
Not a student was playing or breaking a rule,
But heads were bent low over every text book,
(Even dumb students wore an intelligent look.)

Such cramming and jamming you never did see;
The teachers had doubted this ever could be.
Now don't think they'd study without a good reason,
(We suspect it has something to do with the season.)

They care not if teachers may label them "book"
They just hate to go to that darn summer school!

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

Dear Editor:

I am a handsome young man deeply in love with two girls. I have for many months been in love with the heroine of a certain horror play, and I thought I would never like anyone else. SENIORS WILL LEAVE FRIDAY FOR CARLSBAD CAVERN TRIP TO RETURN SUNDAY EVENING

Parents, Teachers To Accompany Group

The seniors will celebrate their annual sneak day again this year with the usual Carlsbad trip. The trip will begin Friday and end Sunday, so that the students will miss only one day of school.

A number of parents and faculty members will make the trip. In each car or bus there will be at least one teacher or parent of one of the students.

Parents, students, and teachers who expect to make the trip will attend a meeting Thursday evening in room 205 in the high school building. Parents of any seniors, whether or not they expect to make the trip, are invited to attend and to make suggestions. Final announcements and arrangements will be made at the meeting.

Parents who plan to make the trip and who want the advantage of the special rates given the school must make their arrangements and pay their fees through the same channels as the students. Students who have been unable to arrange payment of all their expenses now are being helped through the loan fund.

It was estimated yesterday that about 100 persons will make the trip. All details are being planned in advance. Every person will know before leaving Pampa with whom he will lodge.

The group will leave Pampa Friday morning at 6 o'clock. There will probably be one bus and about 12 cars.

All plans for the trip must be made by Wednesday, and no senior who has not made plans by that time can go on the trip. All money had to be paid today.

On Thursday morning B. G. Gordon will leave for Carlsbad in advance of the class in order to make all final arrangements for the students.

The group will arrive in Carlsbad early Friday evening and will go through the cavern Saturday. The class will return to Pampa Sunday, arriving in town early in the evening.

Lodging will be in tourist camps.

Call Is Issued for Students Who Will Help With Pageant

All students interested in taking part in the pageant directed by Ben Guill as a part of the Centennial celebration here have been asked to meet in the high school gymnasium Friday evening, May 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

Anyone wishing to participate may do so. It is being urged that others interested in working toward a successful celebration be at the meeting.

The pageant will represent various stages and events in Texas history.

Mr. Guill asked yesterday that any persons who have old furs that could be used for making coonskin caps get in touch with him.

TABLOID ISSUE OF PAPER WILL HONOR SENIORS

Graduation Week To Be Occasion for Edition

Work on a special commencement edition of the Little Harvester to be issued as a part of the Pampa Daily News Sunday, May 24, is now under way.

The commencement issue will be of tabloid size and will probably run 16 pages. In it will be contained pictures of all members of the senior class and photographs of various individuals and organizations. The commencement activities of the senior class will be stressed, and the major part of the remaining space will be devoted to reviews of the school year. Every attempt will be made to include only copy written by students.

Members of the journalism class started work yesterday in soliciting advertising for the special edition.

ARE AMERICANS SO BAD OFF?

In a time when many of us find material comforts few and when millions are barely successful—if that—in making a living, it may be cold comfort to point out that some peoples have similar hardships and in addition have been robbed of the priceless privilege of personal liberty. Yet, that is true in many nations, and their plight is such that we are given pause to question whether, after all, we are so bad off.

A prime example of the conditions that Americans should be thankful they do not labor under is to be found in an article in April's "Reader's Digest," in which Alice Robe tells why she left Italy after having spent 20 years there as a press bureau employee.

Why should Miss Robe decide to quit her job and return to a land with which she had had no contact for many years? Why should she want to leave the land with whose people she had shared joys and sorrows?

The answer, according to Miss Robe, is that Italy is no longer a land of bright, happy, singing people, but a land of hushed whispers where no one dares to speak his thoughts. Mussolini's awe-inspiring presence dominates the populace. He is making good the boast he made to Miss Robe 13 years ago when he told her that he intended to enforce discipline. None can deny that he is doing that—and doing it in ways which violate the most reasonable ideals of personal freedom.

On every corner a policeman stands to see that there is no loose talk—in fact, any talking at all is dangerous. Private meetings are banned. Such is the official attitude toward what may or may not be said that citizens often seem ridiculous to visitors because of their elaborate caution in speaking on harmless topics.

Miss Robe once went to a restaurant where she was to be met by a friend who was bringing a former government official as his guest. Her friend appeared without the guest and with the information that the man had been arrested on a charge of discussing politics when in reality, he was only talking on philosophy.

Another story related told of three young Black Shirts who appeared in a cafe one night and arrogantly took charge of a table which had been reserved. When the timid waiter informed them of the reservation, they merely glared at him in such a fashion that he hastily withdrew. When the six elderly persons who had reserved the table arrived, they were glad to take two less suitable tables when they saw who had usurped their place.

A young man who had trained hard and long through the sacrifices made by his parents won a coveted position as overseer of an estate. Soon he was a broken, disappointed man, having lost his place and been disgraced because through an error he had not voted for the Fascists—though he had intended to do so.

In New York, Miss Robe was unable to feel at home when she saw the liberty of speech and action permitted there. She could not help feeling alarmed for two men she heard making remarks violently opposed to the administration.

We may be suffering from many things in this country. Whether or not it is true, as some charge, that we have surrendered much of our freedom, we have not surrendered the right of freedom of speech and expression of opinion. So long as we retain that, alarm for the political future of this country is ill-founded.—F. M.

PHS Band Goes to C. of C. Convention

Members of the Pampa high school band went to Amarillo today to play at the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The band, along with other bands from over the Panhandle, marched from the Herring hotel to the Amarillo hotel and from there down Polk street.

A band will be selected by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to represent that organization at the Texas Centennial celebration at Dallas next month.

Six other bands from Pampa also made the trip to Amarillo. These were the ward school bands, the junior high school band, and the Pampa Centennial band.

RESTFUL DAYS ARE ENDED BY HOME NOTICES

Failing Seniors Given Stimulus to New Effort

Many high school seniors suffered acute attacks of "cold feet" last week when officials and teachers started notifying the parents of students who were in danger of failing to graduate.

At the same time talks given by teachers in their classrooms did nothing to relieve the anxiety of students who had rested when they should have been studying.

With worried looks, these students were soon carrying open books in their hands. Some of them were heard to wonder audibly why they did not study more the first semester and to conjecture as to whether it was now too late.

Principal L. L. Sone and the teachers have had many conferences during the past week with parents of the students in question.

Although parents had previously been given notice through the regular grade cards of the state of

COMMERCE CLUB MEETS

Members of the Commercial club held their regular meeting Friday afternoon, a round-table discussion being held. Each student asked at least one question concerning commercial work, the questions being answered by Miss Zenobia McFarlin, sponsor, or by other members of the group.

The students' work, the extra notices were sent out in the effort to enlist the further aid of the parents in securing the needed type of work from the students and to prevent any possible misunderstanding in regard to any student's status.

At the same time the effort has been made to stimulate students who were barely passing to do better and more complete work so that their records may reflect credit on their high school work.

Aggies Make Plans For Activity During Summer Vacation

Pampa agriculture students are now making plans for practice judging during the summer months. The probable line-up for the various judging teams has not yet been decided, according to J. L. Lester and A. E. Frazier, sponsors.

The local F. F. A. club will attempt to have regular meetings every two weeks during the summer period. The boys have on their summer calendar a trip to the Texas Centennial and a fishing trip in Central Texas, possibly on the Bosque river, near Waco.

Glee Club Stages Afternoon Concert

A musical program was presented by the high school glee club Sunday afternoon in the gymnasium.

The gymnasium was well filled with patrons of the school, many of whom had not previously heard the girls' musical organization sing.

Dressed in their gold satin blouses and green skirts, the girls sang exceptionally well. Three special numbers were included in the program, a quartet, a trio, and a sextet.

Ten songs were sung by the entire group.

SENIORS TO BE FETED TONIGHT IN GYMNASIUM

Hosts Will Act as Banquet

The junior-senior banquet will be held tonight in the high school gymnasium at 8:15 o'clock, with Elmer Watkins, president of the junior class, acting as toastmaster.

In addition to members of the two classes, junior and senior sponsors will be present. Sponsors for the seniors are Miss Zenobia McFarlin, Mrs. Hol Wagner, Mrs. Frances Alexander, Mrs. J. B. Massa, B. G. Gordon, and Harry Kelley. The junior sponsors are W. N. Anderson, Doyle F. Osborne, Mrs. E. L. Norman, and Misses Cox, Strnad, and Branom.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Sone, and all the other teachers will attend.

No announcement has been made as to the theme of the banquet or of the program.

Seniors Have Caps And Gowns Fitted

Seniors have been measured for their caps and gowns during the past week. Every senior who is a candidate for graduation has had a fitting. The caps and gowns are to be cleaned and pressed and will be ready for the vesper services May 24.

Miss McFarlin had charge of the fittings for the seniors.

Seniors will rent the caps and gowns for $1.25. This fee is smaller this year than it has ever been in the past. The garments must be returned immediately after graduation.

In The Library

Members of the Archaeology club should be especially interested to learn that there is now a new book dealing with their subject in the high school library.

The book, "Digging In The Southwest," by Ann Axtell Morris, is illustrated with 32 photographs and is both informational and interesting.

The author defines archaeology as "a rescue expedition sent into the far places of the earth to recover the scattered pages of man's autobiography. Buildings of carved stone, rudely dug caves, moulded bits of pottery, all have their tales to tell, when the scattered paragraphs are arranged in order."

Toward a Higher Standard

If there were only one student in high school merely trying to "get by," there would still be too many.

There are some students in all classes who seem to think that they are doing very well if they make 70. They are over-looking important facts when they fall into this attitude. For one thing, they are forgetting that the grade-point system is in effect. Under this system every senior must have an average of 75 in order to graduate, or else he must have earned additional points to make up for his low grades. After graduation, a person who has a poor record will continue to be handicapped, whether he attempts to enter college or seeks a job—or both.

Students who are content with poor records are not only bringing a scholastic handicap on themselves; they are also letting themselves down by being satisfied with "getting by." There is a certain satisfaction and security felt by the student who works hard which the one who works in hap-hazard fashion can never feel. The past of the consistent worker reflects credit on his probable future. He knows that he can accomplish things, for he has already accomplished them. He is stronger and more confident than he would be if he were handicapped by a poor record.

There is yet time for seniors and underclassmen alike to improve their records through diligent work. Rusted work cannot take the place of consistent effort through the semester, but it may help some. Constant effort through the next two weeks may help a student to avoid embarrassment later and at the same time give him a feeling of capability which will stimulate him to better work in the future.—A. M. T.

Former Legislator Speaks to Classes

Mr. Davis, who is 81 years old, lives at Sulphur Springs, Texas. He was active for some years in political affairs. He was accompanied here by his son.

A CITY

Numbers of looming skyscrapers, The roar of a traffic fleet, Hurrying, busy people— This is a city street.

But, when the rush is over And business begins to subside, Even the sun departs Like a passing-out of the tide.

A million lights you can see, Above a million stars, Some blinking, some are still— (Where are all the cars?)

Now the buildings are silent, Silhouetted against the sky— "What a perfect contrast!" I murmur with a sigh.

Chapter Three
DARK THOUGHTS

"Good night, Dirk, dear," said Elinor.

"You'll be nice to Isabel?" He smiled down at her. Need she be so urgent?

"It won't be hard," he answered. She was always mentioning Isabel, always seeming a little, anxious about her. Dirk had sometimes wondered why Isabel was so entirely impossible of looking out for herself. Tonight there dawned on him his own stupidity that the fact that Elinor, having relinquished the Joris name, would like to see her cousin take it on.

Driving alone through the rain Dirk dealt with the idea of Isabel a wife put in from him, put from him, indeed, the idea of marriage, of taking any woman into Lowrie Woods while his brother was there.

The thought, in the light of what Rupert would be like without Elinor, without the hope of Elinor, was impossible. Any wife of his—Dirk's—would have to live under the same roof with Rupert. Elinor must know this. What she did not know, perhaps, was what she had done to Rupert.

Dirk could not bear to think of the future for either Rupert or himself. They had never been close, had never been companions in any sense. Always there had been some separating barrier of temperament, greater than the ten years differences in their ages; but his life must go on in the shadow of Rupert's indefinably now.

A year ago last June, just home from college, he had promised his father that he would not leave Rupert or Lowrie Wood.

"Not until Rupert and Elinor are married. Any wife of mine ought not to be alone," his father said. And Dirk had promised.

So, close or not, they would stay together.

Had Rupert ever been close to any one, Dirk wondered, driving through the rain to their mother who had died when the elder boy was twelve? Perhaps.

Had he even been close to Elinor? Had not Elinor failed to warm herself fully at that dark fire, burning though it must have been for her alone? Elinor was afraid. She was afraid of that dark fire that was Rupert, that fire that had gone a little mad this last year.

Others were afraid of Rupert, too. Underlings in Manhattan where the Jorises had their offices, small politicians here in the village—men who owed their jobs to his influence, or whose secrets he knew.

At home the servants feared him. Even their father had seemed at times afraid of Rupert, of the things Rupert might do.

And he—Dirk—had he ever been close to any one? Now and then to his father who, in his way, was almost as inaccessible as Rupert. And perhaps (Dirk smiled) to Genevieve, his one-time nursery-governess, who was so patient and so pretty.

There, too, was his first teacher, with cheeks like red apples, and humorous wrinkles around her brown bright eyes. She always spelled his name with a "y"—Dirk.

And, of course, there had been pals at college, and girls. There had been, and still was, Isabel. That he had never said a word of love to Isabel didn't mean that they weren't close.

And yet—close. Certainly the word must imply more than he had ever been to any one. Perhaps he was like his father. Like Rupert.

Poor Rupert. Long engagements were the dickens.

Dirk rode through Yonkers into Manhattan, crossed the Hudson River by way of the George Washington bridge. He had promised Isabel and her guest, Natalie Page, to meet them at some foolish tending-show on the Jersey side.

Natalie was a bubbling person, just out of boarding-school, keen for adventure. She was leaving to-morrow, and tonight was her last chance to interview Madame Chowdhury, a Hindu prophetess traveling with the show.

Dirk felt out of the mood for Natalie and Madame Chowdhury. Freddy Nevin would be with the girls, he reflected. Why not miss the place? It would be easy enough with

Three Killed in Wisconsin Crash

NEW LISBON, Wis., May 12 (AP)—Three persons died in the crash of an airplane in a heavily wooded tract on the Martin Wood farm three miles from here late yesterday.

The dead: Herman Underdahl, about 42; North Andrews, Calif., the pilot; Carl Ristow, 29, New Lisbon farmer.

Caroline Ristow, 8, daughter of Carl.

Underdahl, a retired navy officer here for a visit with Wood, his cousin, had been taking relatives and neighboring farmers on sightseeing flights. According to the pleas of his daughter, Ristow went up to give her a ride.

Underdahl banked at an altitude of 500 feet and the plane went into a dive.

The pilot and Caroline were dead

Journey's End For Hindenburg On Atlantic Hop

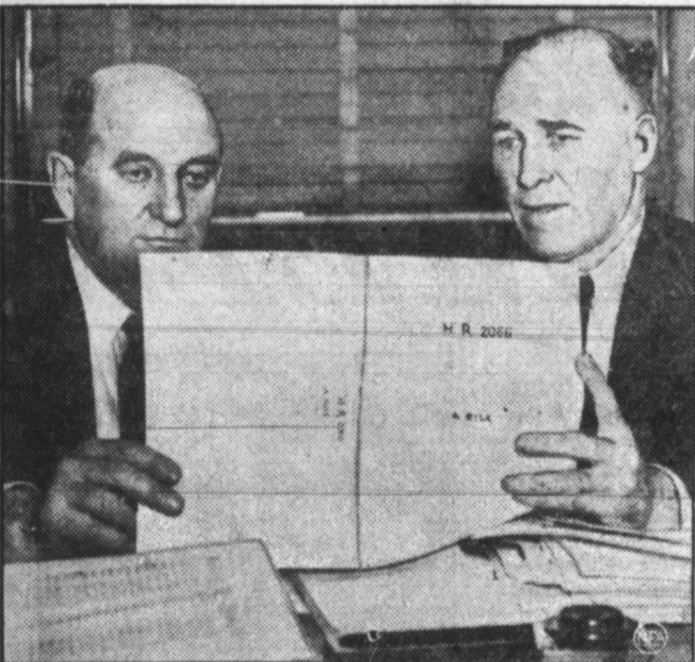

Dwarfing to pinpoint dots the members of the landing crew, the giant Hindenburg, trans-Atlantic airliner de luxe, is shown as she was made fast to the mooring mast at Lakehurst, N. J., having completed the 4,381-mile voyage from Friedrichshafen, Germany, at an average speed of more than 70 miles per hour. Beneath the name Hindenburg may be seen the control car. Two of the ship's four motor gondolas are seen protruding from the side, while between them and the control cabin may be seen the windows of the passenger quarters.

Struggling Over Rough Terrain Toward Addis Ababa

As Italian forces in Ethiopia celebrated capture of the capital city, this picture reached America, revealing how natural obstacles impeded their advance toward Addis Ababa. Loaded down with equipment and armed for the battle that failed to materialize because of collapse of the native government, a file of troops is shown picking its way laboriously across the rough, rocky terrain between Dessye and Addis Ababa.

Gird to Fight for Farm Debt Bill Visits Shirley

Successful at last in their long fight to obtain a vote on their farm debt bill, Senator Lynn Frazier (Rep., N. D.), left, and Representative William Lemke (Rep., N. D.) are shown here in conference in the Capitol in Washington. Great difficulty was encountered by the bill's sponsors in securing the necessary 218 names to their petition in the House and a long battle in committee preceded approval of the debt relief measure, held inflationary by its foes.

What! Another Shirley Temple? Ginette Marboeuf-Heyel, picked in Paris as the tiny film star's double. Ginette registers enjoyment (of that plate of ice cream she's holding) on her arrival at New York to visit Shirley. Compare her with the real Shirley, pictured below.

Pictorial Dining Room

This dining room, reminiscent of a day in June, with its gay mural wallpaper and quantities of flowers and plants, was redecorated under terms of the Modernization Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration. Woodwork was painted ivory and floors were refinished. The original green tile of the fireplace blends with the coloring of the paper and is accented by the owner's hobby—flowers and plants—which are kept in the room.

Garbo Drops Sphinx Role

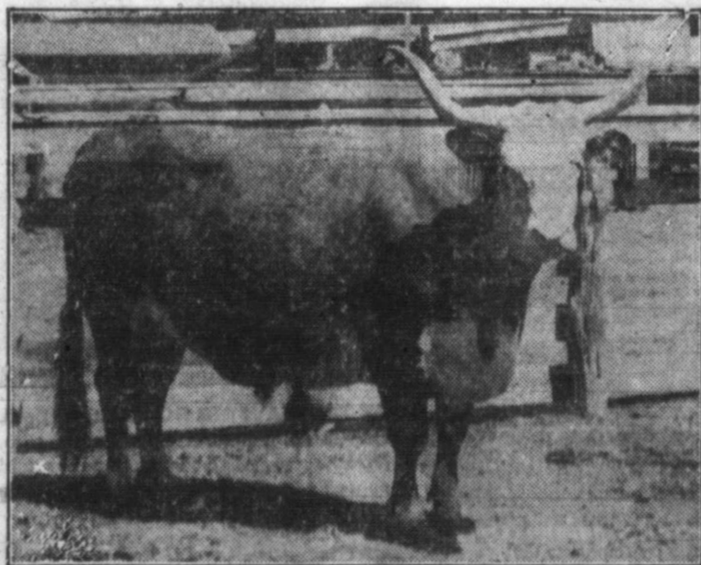

"I'm so terribly nervous," pleaded Greta Garbo, back from her native Sweden and ready to face Hollywood's cameras again. Her gaunt, wan appearance, she explained, was due to illness that spoiled her visit to her homeland. Pictured giving her first mass interview, she sits in the lounge of the S. S. Grip-holm at New York, chats with the reporter and wittingly poses for the newscamermen she has avoided so studiously for years.

At Tub Slayer's Arraignment

Biggest Steer—3,100 Pounds of Beef

"Big Jim," once owned by the late Will Rogers, is the biggest steer in the world, weighing 3,100 pounds. Rogers raised Jim from a calf, then sold him and gave the Salvation Army's Home for Boys and Girls at Lytton, Calif. His present owners will display him at the Texas Centennial Exposition, opening in Dallas June 6, and turn over the admission profits to the Salvation Army's Home for Boys and Girls at Lytton, Calif.

U. S. Army Still Has Some Rough Riders

The Rough Riders designation for cavalrymen has been relegated to history, but that present-day U. S. Army horsemen could hold their own with the best in Teddy Roosevelt's famous corps is suggested by this remarkable picture of rigorous riding. Charging down the steep slope are members of the army equestrian team in a practice ride at Fort Riley, Kans. They will compete in the Olympics games at Berlin this summer.

Honors Foe

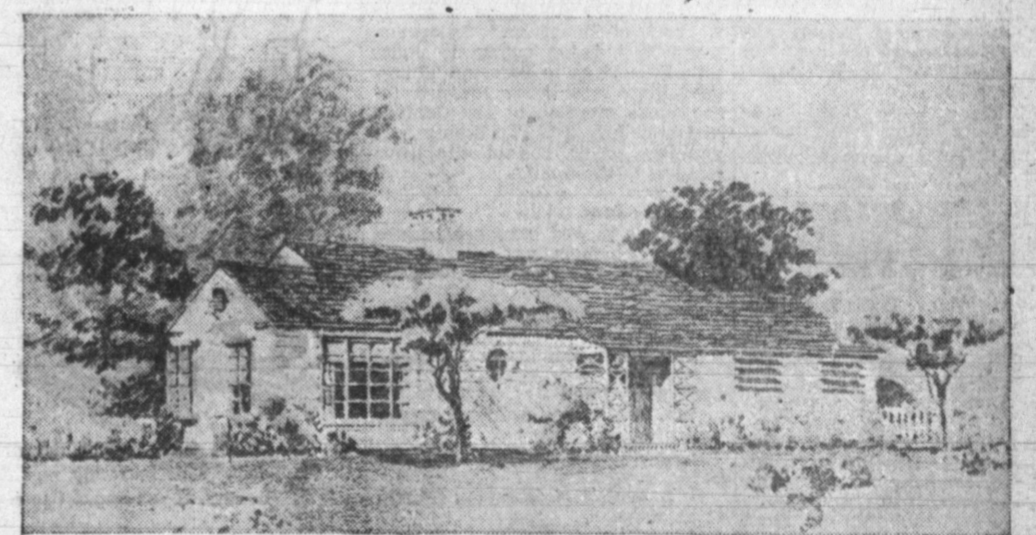

Though he smashed Hitler's 1923 Munich "Beer Hall Putsch," Maj.-Gen. Hans von Seeckt, a perfect example of the old-time German war lord, was honored on his 70th birthday by Der Fuehrer. Bemedalled, monocled, and straight as a ramrod, the old warrior, shown above on his anniversary, was made honorary commander of the 67th Infantry Regiment, named after him.

Navy Secretary's Feeling Better

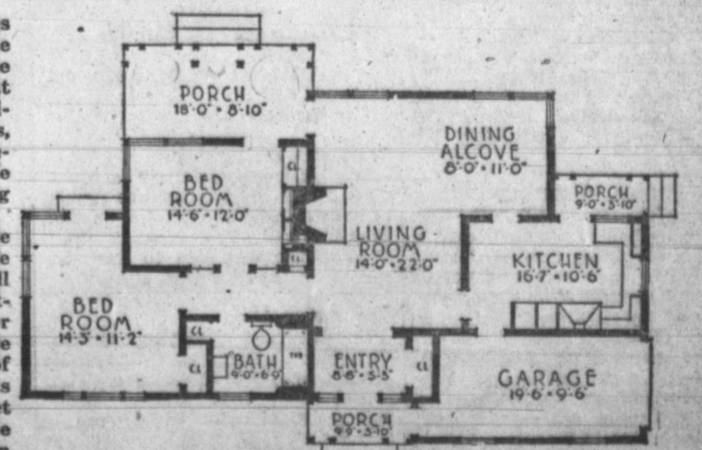

May days and sunshine are especially welcome to Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson, ill for more than two months, and at one time in critical condition. The cabinet officer is shown here in his wheel chair as he enjoyed the balmy breezes that swept across the lawn of the U. S. Naval hospital in Washington. His face shows the effects of his long siege. Swanson has been in the hospital since February, when he fell in his home and broke a rib, pleurisy following.

Model Home in Texas

This attractive home comprises the exhibit of the Southern Pine Association on the grounds of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. It was designed by Goodwin & Tatum, Dallas architects, with the idea that it could be reproduced almost anywhere in the United States at a cost ranging from $4,500 to $5,000. The over-all dimensions of the home are 37 by 59 feet. All the rooms are a good size for a small home and contain numerous built-in features and provisions for modern conveniences. There are ample closets with plenty of shelves, and the bedroom closets have shoe racks. There is a closet in the hall, a linen closet in the bathroom, and a coat closet in the entry. The numerous large windows and doors insure plenty of sunlight and excellent ventilation throughout the entire house. The garage built as a part of the home, is 9½ by 19½ feet. Louvered windows in the side form an agreeable break in the wall.

ROBINSON

resembled Robinson despite the manner of dress.

Then, about two weeks later, Lynn Allen, a soda fountain attendant in the place, told police a mysteriously-acting person entered the place. The person was in women's garb.

"I asked what she wanted," said Allen. "I thought it was unusual when the customer mumbled something I could not hear. Then she pointed to the menu instead of ordering. When I asked whether coffee was desired, she just said, 'Orange juice.'"

Lynn said the person spoke in a masculine voice and mumbled words.

"Then I noticed that her wrists were thick and her neck was manly, and I made up my mind the person was a man," Lynn added. "I told the Pasadena police about it and also gave them the number of a new sedan in which he drove off."

The police notified federal authorities, reporting Lynn had identified the customer as Robinson. The end of the Robinson trail came with surprising abruptness.

With customary secrecy, the department of justice agents acted. Local officials, if they knew of the capture plans, said nothing, and Hoover's announcement from Washington was the only official disclosure of the achievement.

Even after Robinson was roaring over the air lanes toward Louisville, there was conjecture concerning the actual disposition of the captive.

Hoover said he had been put aboard a plane immediately, but airport and air line officials said they knew nothing about it, and a heavy concentration of federal agents at their Los Angeles headquarters led to the belief Robinson was still held here.

Two hours after agents pounced upon their quarry in the Glendale hotel where he had been living as "John Simons," department of justice headquarters were carefully guarded, and no one was admitted to the place, not even into the ground floor lobby.

Robinson submitted meekly to capture with no attempt to fight or escape—in the manner of so many major fugitives the government has closed in on recently.

On his person, Hoover said, was $4,500, of which $4,200 was Stoll ransom money. Mrs. Stoll, society woman, was released after payment of $50,000.

Further when Commissioner Marvin Lewis returns from a trip to the East. Such a concession would affect the lease should the City not operate the pool.

Mayor W. A. Bratton stated that the city had been considering the recreation pool in connection with operation of the pool, and said he believed something could be worked out to improve the situation.

Three carloads of lumber have arrived for the grandstand at the new fairground park. Concrete footings for the stands will be completed today. Carpenters are busy at the site. Crowding pens for the rodeo have been purchased from Lon Blansett. The commission has promised that ample seating will be ready for the Centennial celebration June 2-5 and that the rodeo facilities will be completed by that time.

The annual audit of municipal government will be examined by the commission next week and studied before approval.
