Bush sends warning to Iraq amidst predictions of peace

By RITA BEAMISH Associated Press Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - President Bush today held out hope for "a new era of peace and prosperity" after warning Saddam Hussein that he could again face U.S. warplanes if he impedes United Nations inspections of his nuclear facili-

"We have an unprecedented opportunity to build a new era of peace and prosperity here and abroad, to build a new world order where the rule of law prevails over the use of force," Bush said.

His comments came a day after he disclosed a plan to protect U.N. inspection helicopters in Iraq with U.S. military aircraft if Saddam continues to restrict the inspectors.

The U.N. team is trying to inspect Iraq's nuclear, chemical and biological weapons capability, which is to be destroyed under U.N. ceasefire resolutions that ended the war.

"He knows better than to take on the United States of America," the president said.

The president also has agreed to Saudi Arabia's request for Patriot anti-missile missiles to be placed as a defense against possible Iraqi aggression, the White House said.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the United States believes Iraq still has "several hundred Scud missiles" like those used against Saudi Arabia and Israel during the Gulf War.

Bush said he was "plenty fed up" with Saddam's evasion of inspections of his nuclear facilities that are required by the U.N. cease-fire resolutions. Those resolutions also provide for said "there won't need to be an execute order" if inspection and destruction of ballistic missiles Saddam stops hindering the inspection teams. along with chemical and biological weapons facilities.

Meanwhile, Iraq accused the United States today of using the issue to justify renewed military attacks."This controversy is a fabrication because Iraq had previously accepted the use by the U.N. inspection team of helicopters, if this did not threaten Iraq's and the team's security," In remarks prepared for a political breakfast the government-run Al-Jumhouriya newspaper

Bush has spoken to other members of the U.N. Security Council about ways to insure the inspections go forward, and military planners have "examined options," including using helicopters and other support to protect the inspections, Fitzwater said.

Pentagon sources said an air wing at Shaw Wednesday during a stop at the Grand Canyon in Air Force Base, S.C., had been put on alert to fly to the region.

A senior Pentagon officer, demanding anonymity, said the plan for the aircraft would be to form an "air cap" to pin down any Iraqi planes that might threaten the U.N. inspectors' helicopters.

Iraq's ambassador to the United Nations, Abdul Amir al-Anbari, dismissed the situation as 'a tempest in a teacup.'

Iraq is trying to make arrangements so the U.N. inspectors can operate without violating Iraq's national sovereignty, he said.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said Wednesday he saw no sign the Iraqis

Firefighters practice new rescue technique

By BEAR MILLS Staff Writer

Pampa firefighters practiced a new rescue drill technique Wednesday afternoon at a residence where three years ago two people lost their lives in an early morning blaze.

The house at 1200 Charles, which remains vacant and gutted, was the practice site for firefighters working on a positive pressure ventilation exercise.

Training Officer Paul Jenkins said the process involves clearing smoke and heat out of a fire scene to make rescues and extinguishing the flames possible much quicker.

He explained that firefighters open a ventilation source such as a window and then turn large fans into an opening such as a doorway.

As seen during Wednesday's exercise, virtually all of the smoke in a home leaves within a minute or two, meaning firefighters have a clear area to rescue victims and bat-

"If you have a fire in your house, we want to find the room the fire is in, make an exhaust opening in that room and make an entrance opening," Jenkins explained. "We set these high velocity fans at the entrance and it blows all the heat and smoke out of the house.'

The fire scene immediately becomes "cooler and safer for any victim and the firefighters," Jenkins explained. He said within the last five years fire departments around the nation have begun exercising the positive pressure ventilation process. "We have had the fans for a year and we have used hem on Fire Chief Claudie Phillips said even though it seems to go against laws of nature to force air into the area of a fire as a means of controlling it, positive pressure ventilation

"blows the fire, the smoke and the heat outside the house."

"Used to, you'd go into (a structure that's on fire) and crawl around and fumble and knock furniture over and spray water where you didn't need water," Phillips said. "This way, you can see to go straight to the fire or to the rescue, if necessary.'

He noted, "If we control this and use it the way it should be, even if this fans the fire, you are pushing it away from the rest of the house.'

Firefighters used a special machine to fill the house with smoke, saying it was safer than oldfashioned smoke bombs, which have been known to start fires when

Volunteers save mums threatened by early frost

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) - A frosty fate threatened 15,000 chrysanthemum plants owned by a greenhouse, until a cadre of volunteers showed up to move them out of harm's way.

The temperature fell to 36 degrees in Topeka at 4:14 a.m. today, breaking the record low of 38 degrees for the date set in 1938.

Forecasters had predicted just such a thing Wednesday.

David Geniuk, part owner of the greenhouse, said the mums were sitting in pots in the middle of an open field with no shelter. Near-freezing temperatures, especially if combined with a wind, can destroy unprotected blooms.

Fiers: No reason to doubt Gates on North-Iran-Contra question

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - A former CIA officer today described a world of deception and intrigue at the spy agency in the time of Iran-Contra, but said he had no reason to challenge Robert Gates' statement that he didn't know about a secret plan to arm the Nicaraguan rebels.

Alan Fiers, testifying at Gates confirmation hearing to become CIA director, said he gave Gates a hint in 1986 - but no specific information – that North was deeply involved in a secret Contra resupply

"I have no reason to take issue with" Gates' statements that he didn't know North was running a secret Contra resupply network, Alan Fiers told the Senate Intelligence Committee.

Fiers told his story as the panel released sworn statements from another former CIA official that conflict with Gates' testimony about the extent of his knowledge in 1986 of the Iran-Contra arms-for-hostages

Fiers, a former agency official who has pleaded guilty to Iran-Contra misdemeanors, described in dramatic detail deciding not to carry out a task at North's request, and then being summoned to a meeting in Casey's office.

Fiers said Casey asked North in front of the group whether he was operating in Central America. 'Ollie looked at the director and said no," Fiers recalled. "Casey said, 'Good, I want you to understand you're not to operate there."

As he left Casey's office, Fiers said, another person who had been Fiers described a conversation with Gates in mid-1986 when a CIA officer, Vince Cannistraro, was being assigned to deal with the Contras. Cannistraro "cannot have the

"I think Bob Gates understood the framework" in which North was operating, said Fiers, the chief of the CIA's Central American Task Force.

But "I never talked to" Gates "in any specific detail about what Oliver North was doing." Gates has said most of what he knew about North's activities in 1985 and 1986 came from reading the newspapers.

Casey did not mention the existence of the document - called a presidential finding - in his congressional testimony - and the affair burst into public view four days later.

According to the documents, Doherty told the Senate on Aug. 5 this year that "I handed a copy to Bob Gates with the comment that we had just found this draft. I don't know what Bob Gates did with this draft."

Victims' families forge a bond from tragedy

By DEBORAH BAKER Associated Press Writer

SANTA FE (AP) - A small group of spectators at the Gregg Francis Braun sentencing trial have a single, tragic link: They believe their loved ones lost their lives at Braun's hands.

The family members of the New Mexico woman Braun has admitted killing and others in whose deaths he is accused are a tight-knit group.

They have comforted one another, kept one another informed and shared long hours of waiting in courthouse corridors.

They have stayed in touch during the months-long lapses between legal proceedings in the case.

"We have sort of a hotline, from one to another," said Dolores Spurrier of Pampa, Texas, widow of one of Braun's alleged victims.

"There's a lot of ways that you form bonds with people," she said. "I think tragedy makes bonds tighter."

Mrs. Spurrier arrived here Wednesday in time to see the selection of the jury that will decide whether Braun will face death or life in prison.

She said she wasn't really sure why she had made the trip.

"I just had to come," she said. "I'm doing it more for myself than for anyone else.'

Braun, 30, of Garden City, Kan., has pleaded guilty but mentally ill to the July 23, 1989, shooting death of Geraldine Valdez of Springer.

Like Braun's other alleged victims, Mrs. Valdez was a store clerk. Her husband, a correctional officer at the New Mexico Boys

School, and her daughter are attending the sentencing trial. So is Ruth Hessman, a Kansas wheat farmer whose daughter, Mary Rains, was abducted from a Garden City convenience store and found shot to death. "That's why I came," said Mrs. Hessman, pulling out her wallet to

Braun also is charged with the murder of a second store clerk in Garden City and a woman in an Ardmore, Okla., flower shop.

Mrs. Spurrier's husband, E.P. Spurrier - "Pete" for short - operated a photo processing shop in Pampa with his wife.

He was shot and killed during a robbery July 20, 1989, minutes after Mrs. Spurrier left the store on an errand. She went to buy flowers for a flower box he had made the previous evening at their home, she recalled.

Mrs. Spurrier said she ran the store alone for about a year before deciding "I couldn't handle it any more."

She now works as a secretary for a title company.

Call-In Orders Welcome

Braun's lawyer to call clergy as witness

By DEBORAH BAKER Associated Press Writer

SANTA FE (AP) - The lawyer for a Kansas man who killed a New Mexico woman says he will try to summon a rabbi, a priest and a minister to the witness stand to bolster his argument against executing the mentally ill.

Defense attorney Gary Mitchell of Ruidoso said the clergy members are on his list of proposed witnesses for the sentencing trial of Gregg Francis Braun.

Braun pleaded guilty but mentally ill in the 1989 slaying of Geraldine Valdez of Springer during a robbery at the convenience store where she worked.

The 30-year-old Garden City man also is charged with four murders in Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma in issue. the week preceding the Valdez slaying.

The sentencing jury has two choices: impose the death penalty or sentence Braun to life in prison, which by law is a guaranteed 30-year stay. Opening statements and testimony from the first of

Convicted Auschwitz guard apparent suicide

BOCHUM, Germany (AP) - A former Nazi SS concentration camp guard who was serving a life prison term for torturing gypsies to death at Auschwitz has been found dead, hanging from an electrical cable in his prison cell, authorities say.

Ernst-August Koenig, 72, found Wednesday, apparently hanged himself, said a spokesman for the North Rhine-Westphalia state Justice Ministry.

Koenig was convicted in January of killing three inmates in the gypsy section of the Auschwitz camp in 1943.

A law enacted in anticipation of the election on a proposition is valid if, by its terms, it is enacted subject to approval of the related proposition. State debt that is created following voter approval of a proposition and that is approved by the Attorney General is incontestable for any

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the voters of this state to consider state debt questions in the form of ballot propositions that must clearly describe the amounts, purposes, and sources of payment of the debt only after approval of the propositions by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 11 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land for which there is not a valid transfer of title from either the State or the Republic of Texas to a private party. A patent is a document of title issued by the state. On application to the School Land Board, a person is entitled to receive a patent if: (1) the land is surveyed public free school fund land. (2) the land was not patentable under the law before the adoption of this proposed amendment, (3) the person acquired the land without knowledge of the title defect out of the State of Texas or the Republic of Texas and held the land under color of title, the chain of which dates from at least January 1, 1941, (4) the person has a recorded deed on file in the county courthouse and, in conjunction with his predecessor in interest, has claimed the land for at least fifty years as of January 1, 1991. and (5) the person, in conjunction with his predecessor in interest, for at least 50 years has paid taxes on the land together with all interest and penalties associated with any delinquency. If the applicant is denied a patent, the applicant may file suit against the School Land Board in a district court in the county where the land is located within 60 days from the date of denial. The proposed amendment does not apply to beach land, submerged land. or islands, and may not be used to resolve a boundary dispute. The proposed amendment also does not apply to land found by a court to be stateowned or to land on which the state has given a mineral lease that is in effect when a patent is sought. A patent under this proposed amendment for land within five miles of mineral production shall reserve minerals to the state in the manner provided by law for reservations of minerals in sales to claimants of unsurveyed school land within five miles of production. An application for a patent under this proposed amendment must be filed with the School Land Board before January 1, 1993.

This proposed constitutional amendment is similar to the version of article VII. section 4A, that was effect between 1981 and 1990. The main difference is that under the earlier version the applicant for a patent to land had to have a chain of title that dated back to at least as early as January 1, 1932.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 15 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws to exempt property owned by a nonprofit corporation organized to supply water or provide wastewater service from ad valorem taxation. A nonprofit corporation would be eligible for the exemption if its bylaws provide that on dissolution, the assets remaining after the discharge of the corporation's indebtedness will be transferred to an entity providing water supply or wastewater service, or both, which is exempt from ad valorem taxation. The transferred assets must be property that is reasonably necessary for and used for water supply and wastewater services.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from ad valorem taxes certain property of a nonprofit corporation that supplies water or provides wastewater service."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 8 proposes constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass laws to authorize the State of Texas to operate lotteries and to enter into a contract with one or more legal entities that will operate lotteries on behalf of the State of Texas.

authorizing a state lottery."

Senate Joint Resolution 34 proposes a constitutional amendment that would increase the total amount of bonds that may be issued by the Texas Water Development Board to provide wholesale and retail water and wastewater facilities to economically distressed areas of the state. The proposed amendment increases the maximum principal amount of the bonds from 20 percent to 50 percent of the $500 million amount authorized by article IH, section 49-d-7, of the Texas Constitution. The proposed amendment would increase the maximum aggregate dollar amount of bonds that the Texas Water Development Board could issue from $100 million to $250 million.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to increase from 20 percent to 50 percent the percentage of Texas water development bonds previously authorized by Texas voters that may be issued for economically distressed areas."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 2 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to pass general laws authorizing Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successor to issue and sell up to $300 million of general obligation bonds to finance education loans to students. The maximum net effective interest rate to be borne by the bonds would be set by law. The amendment would also authorize the legislature to provide for the investment of bond proceeds and to establish an interest and sinking fund to pay the bonds and provide for the investment of such fund. Bonds authorized under this amendment would be paid from the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in an interest and sinking fund established at the end of the preceding year that is pledged to the payment of the bonds

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the issuance of general obligation bonds not to exceed $300,000,000 to continue existing programs to provide educational loans to students, with repayments of student loans applied toward retirement of the bonds."

ON THE BALLOT Senate Joint Resolution 26 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to invest, as authorized by law, moneys of the Veterans' Land Fund which are not immediately committed to the payment of principal and interest on bonds issued by the Veterans' Land Board, the purchase of lands, or the payment of expenses. Investment of such moneys would no longer be restricted to investments in bonds or obligations of the United States. The proposed amendment would also authorize the Veterans' Land Board to invest, as authorized by law, moneys of the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund which are not immediately committed to the payment of principal and interest on general obligation bonds issued by the Veterans' Land Board for the benefit of the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund, the making of home mortgage loans, or the payment of expenses. Investment of such moneys would no longer be restricted to investments in bonds or obligations of the United States. The proposed amendment gives the legislature power to implement the amendment and to delegate such duties and authority to the Veterans' Land Board as it deems necessary. The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to further implement and enhance the administration of the veterans' housing assistance and land programs and to expand the investment authority of the Veterans' Land Board."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize the issuance of a maximum of $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds. The proceeds of the bonds are to be used to acquire, construct, or equip new prisons and substance abuse felony punishment facilities, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, to repair and renovate existing facilities of those institutions and to acquire, repair, or renovate other facilities for use as state prisons or substance abuse felony punishment facilities. The $1.1 billion is in addition to the $900 million currently authorized by the constitution to be expended on bond issues for facilities of correctional and mental health and mental retardation institutions. The bonds would constitute a general obligation of the state. The bonds and interest on the bonds would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury that is not otherwise appropriated by the constitution, less any amount in a sinking fund at the end of the preceding fiscal year that is pledged to payment of the bonds

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new prisons or other punishment facilities to confine criminals, mental health and mental retardation institutions, and youth corrections institutions, for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those institutions, and for the acquisition of, major repair to, or renovation of other facilities for use as state prisons or other punishment fa-

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 39 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow a county, junior college district, or municipality to exempt tangible personal property from ad valorem taxation if: (1) the property is acquired or brought into the state in an enterprise zone to be forwarded outside the state, (2) the property is assembled, stored, repaired, maintained, manufactured, processed, or fabricated in the enterprise zone, (3) the property is transported outside the state not later than 175 days after being acquired or brought into an enterprize zone, and (4) the person who acquired or brought the property into an enterprise zone is a qualified business. A county, junior college district, or municipality may exempt such property by entering into a written agreement with a qualified business that states the duration of the exemption and the terms on which the exemption is granted. Any action to exempt property must be taken before April 1 of the first year in which the property would otherwise be taxed. The term "enterprize zone" means an area that (1) has been designated as such by a state agency responsible for economic development, and (2) has pervasive poverty, unemployment, and economic distress. The term "qualified business" means a business that meets the qualification established by general law. and requires that the qualified business is actively engaged in a new business in the enterprize zone or is expanding a business that is already active in the enterprise zone. An enterprise zone is created to foster economic development in an area of pervasive poverty and unemployment. The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the exemption for ad valorem taxes of certain property in an enterprise zone."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would establish a Texas Ethics Commission with the powers and duties provided by law. The commission would consist of eight appointed members selected as follows: two members of different political parties appointed by the governor from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the house of representatives from each major political party; two the house of representatives from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the house from each major political party; and two members of different political parties appointed by the lieutenant governor from a list of at least ten names submitted by the members of the senate from each major political party. A major political party is a political party required by law to hold a primary. With the exception of the initial appointees, commission members would serve for four-year terms. A member who has served for one term and any part of a second term would not be eligible for reappointment. The commission would be authorized to recommend the salary of the members of the legislature and may recommend that the salary of the speaker of the house of representatives and the lieutenant governor be set at an amount higher than that of other members. If the commission recommends a change in salary, the voters would be authorized to accept or reject the salary change at the next general election for state and county officers. If the voters approve the recommended salary, that salary would take effect January 1 of the next odd-numbered year; if the voters reject the recommended salary, no change in salary would occur. The commission would set the per diem of the members of the legislature and of the lieutenant governor. The per diem could be raised or lowered biennially as necessary to pay members' costs, but could not exceed the amount allowed as of January 1 that year as a federal income tax deduction for living expenses incurred in a legislative day in connection with a member's business as a legislator, disregarding any federal income tax exception for legislators residing near the Capitol. The commission would have other powers and duties provided by the commission's enabling act (Senate Bill 1, 72nd Legislature, Regular Session). The amendment would also provide that an increase in the emoluments of the office of Lieutenant Governor would not make a legislator ineligible to serve in the office of Lieutenant Governor. The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment creating the Texas Ethics Commission and authorizing the commission to recommend the salary for members of the legislature and the lieutenant governor, subject to voter approval, and to set the per diem for those officials, subject to a limit."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the board of trustees of each statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in such manner as the board considers prudent. The board would no longer be limited to investing the funds of the system in securities.

The proposed amendment will be described on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the board of trustees of a statewide public retirement system to invest the funds of the system in a manner that the board considers prudent."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to create debt by or on behalf of the state if the legislature submitted the debt question to the voters of the state in the form of a proposition and a majority of those voting approved the proposition. The legis lature may call the election, by joint resolution approved by at least twothirds of the members of each house, during any regular session or during any special session if the subject of the proposition is included in the Governor's proclamation for that special session. A proposition must clearly describe the amount and purpose for which debt is to be created and must describe the source of payment for the debt. The amount of debt stated in the proposition may

Officials think goodies count

Late in August, the state of Texas sued the United States of America and demanded the feds fork over $1 billion.

The rest of the nation has heard for years how everything in Texas is big. Now Texas officials are saying the Census Bureau didn't tell the truth about how big Texas really is. Down in Austin, that sort of insult is considered to be worth Texas is seeking the money because state officials figure that is how much the state will miss out on over the next decade in its share of goodies dished out from Washington, based on the census count.

State officials say census workers missed 600,000 people who live in the state and, in a separate lawsuit, are demanding that number of people be added to the official count. No one will ever know if Texans or New Yorkers or Ohioans were missed during the enumeration, or how many. But simply adding some arbitrary number to the official count doesn't seem to be what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they said a census would be held every 10 years.

What is clear is that the framers of our Constitution, that great document which is being remembered during the current Constitution Week, intended that the census numbers be used to fairly apportion the members of the U.S. House of Representatives. Dividing up the spoils of an ever-growing pot of money taken involuntarily from taxpayers wasn't on their minds – no matter what Texas says.

"This is not Washington's money or Secretary Mosbacher's money that will be withheld from Texas. This is our money," said Texas Attorney General Dan Morales.

That's where state officials are clearly wrong. The money doesn't belong to Congress or to the state of Texas – nor to the counties and cities and school districts. State officials are trying to make a bigger claim on money that should rightfully stay in the pockets of the people who earned it, whether they work in Texas or any other state.

Thought for Today

"The Founding Fathers thought that liberty was more important than fairness, so they adopted the First Amendment." Tom Tauke

Time to lay the burden down

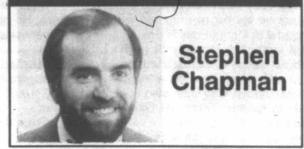

The end of the Cold War and the collapse of Soviet communism have changed just about everything in world affairs. Europe has ended its 40-year division into hostile armed camps. The Warsaw Pact is finished, and NATO looks obsolete. The imperialistic totalitarians who ruled the Soviet Union are being replaced by peace-loving democrats wearing Adam Smith neckties.

The Middle East is no longer a site for superpower competition and possibly World War III. Central America's political future now gets about as much attention in Washington as Burkina Faso's. Not since before the First World War has the United States been so secure, with no enemies capable of causing it serious annoyance, much less harming its security.

And American foreign policy ... hasn't changed at all. We were the self-appointed savior of the world then, and we are still - ready to bear any burden, pay any price for the good of humanity.

Over the past 40 years, the United States has maintained a worldwide network of alliances and obligations largely for one urgent purpose: combatting aggressive expansion by the one nation on earth capable of destroying us. Now that the threat is gone, you would think we would be happy to go back to tending our own affairs, content in the knowledge that there is no country on the horizon with the ominous power the Soviet Union once had.

But our determination to police the planet remains. The Cold War may be over, but the people demobilized. They must invent new reasons for us to overextend ourselves internationally.

high priority. Indonesia, Iran, El Salvador, Mozambique, Ethiopia - any number of countries that couldn't have possibly interested us on their own merits suddenly became arenas for superpower competition. In this supposed death struggle, no place was too remote or trivial to deserve attention.

Apparently that is still true. The United States went to war in Panama less than two years ago, simply because the Bush administration didn't feel like putting up with Manuel Noriega, who could no more have endangered American security than a Kuwait was to risk creating another Hitler, to the turtle could tap-dance.

It suddenly decided that Kuwait was a critical American interest - which it never was during the Cold War - and one worthy of the biggest American military undertaking since the Vietnam War. A few weeks ago, George Bush put Cyprus - yes, Cyprus - high on the U.S. agenda.

The defense budget, true, has dropped and is supposed to keep dropping. But that is partly who run our foreign policy aren't eager to be because Bush finagled other countries to pay most of the expenses from the war with Iraq, something he may not be able to do the next time. If the The U.S.-Soviet standoff had the effect of ele- choice comes to paying the cost of future wars ourvating any disturbance anywhere to the status of selves or not fighting them in the first place, the time to lay that burden down.

inclination of the foreign policy establishment will be to spill the blood and bill the taxpayers. What is saving money compared to saving the world?

Even if we can persuade our allies to absorb the cost of our adventures abroad, the cost of defense will far exceed what it would be under a more sensible foreign policy. Americans have for decades accepted the duty of shielding Western Europe, Korea, Japan and innumerable outposts from the Soviet threat, less out of altruism than to protect our own ultimate safety in the world. To construct Bush's New World Order, by contrast, we will make great sacrifices in lives and property even though our own security, ultimate or immediate, is

It was possible at one time to argue that ignoring Soviet expansion anywhere would repeat the mistake Britain made at Munich: appeasing an aggressor whom you are better off confronting sooner than later. It is ludicrous to insist, as Bush did, that to tolerate Saddam Hussein's conquest of grave peril of us and everyone else.

The lesson we should heed today is not World War II but World War I, when countries found themselves dragged unexpectedly into catastrophe by foreign commitments they could sensibly have avoided. In coming years, we are bound to witness plenty of wars, revolutions and other upheavals probably more than during the Cold War. But few will be large enough, disruptive enough or close enough to warrant American intervention.

For 40 years, Americans accepted the burden on a broad international role in order to head off a grave menace. With the menace now a memory, it's

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 1991. There are 103 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Sept. 19, 1796, President Washington's farewell address was published. In it, the first chief executive of the United States advised, 'Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all."

On this date:

In 1777, American soldiers in the Revolutionary War won the first Battle of Saratoga over the British.

In 1783, Jacques Etienne Montgolfier launched a duck, a sheep and a rooster aboard a hot-air balloon at Versailles, France. In 1881, the 20th president of the United States, James A. Garfield, died of wounds inflicted by an assassin 11 weeks earlier. In 1955, President Juan Peron of Argentina was ousted after a revolt by the army and the navy. In 1957, the United States conducted its first underground nuclear test, in the Nevada desert. In 1985, the Mexico City area was struck by an earthquake measuring 8.1 on the Richter scale.

Drive on the wild side, Hosea

Is Hosea Williams really as bad a driver as the press has made him out to be?

The Civil Rights leader and politician thinks it's all a racist plot by the media that he's had more scraps with the traffic cops than Mike (Stop Me Before I Fondle Again) Tyson has lawsuits by beauty queens.

Hosea's most recent problems have brought him a hit-and-run felony indictment involving he and his Hoseamobile, the dreaded blue El Dorado Eat-My-Dust Cadillac convertible.

it's all a plot by the media, the police, the National Guard, the Boy Scouts and the Jehovah's Witnesses and whomever else it is Hosea can think of to blame for his driving problems.

Caring not for my personal safety and believing firmly in giving a guy a break, I climbed into the seat next to Hosea in the Blue Streak and asked him to take me on a ride.

I did take some precautions, however. I wore a crash helmet, an asbestos suit and re-thought my

"Don't be nervous," Hosea said as he turned on the ignition. "I can do this in my sleep."

Hosea hit the gas, pulled out into the street and

But I wanted to give Hosea a chance to prove did a U-turn. There was a bumping sound from beneath the car. What was that?" Hosea asked.

I looked behind us.

You ran over a convenience store," I told him. "Bean dip and Fritos are everywhere."

We came to a red light. Hosea stopped the car. A sign said, "No turn on red." Hosea turned right.

"That's a violation," I said to him. "The sign said, 'No turn on red.'

"Is that what it said?" Hosea asked again. "I thought it said, 'Step on it hard."

We turned onto the interstate directly past parked his car. On a fire hydrant.

"I know," I said "I read about it in the racist another sign that said, clearly, "Wrong Way."

"Hosea!" I screamed. "We're going the wrong way on the interstate."

"I always do this," he said. "You make better time. You never get behind anybody.

Sensing I was nervous because of several nearcollisions with semis, other cars and a cement truck, Hosea swerved across the median and Uturned it back with the traffic.

"Another violation," I said. "You can't cross the median on an interstate highway."

Hosea was too busy sideswiping and then passing a Roto-Rooter van to comment. We exited the interstate. Hosea ignored a Yield sign and turned into traffic. Several motorists blew their horns. Hosea ignored them and floored it through a four-way stop, throwing his hands in the air, saying,

I'm on the Great Scream Machine and Mr. Magoo is driving.

"Wheeeee!"

We finally made it back to where I had climbed into Hosea's car. On the way, however, we ran a red light, drove on the sidewalk for a time. "Less traffic over here," Hosea explained, and drove through a car wash at 55.

"See, not a scratch on you," Hosea said as he

It's not a racist plot Hosea needs to worry about, I came away from the experience thinking. It's one at the cemetery.

I noticed this while teaching journalism at the University of Delaware. Seven years ago, my classes were 50 percent male. In the last couple of years, the demographics had shifted to 67 percent female. The shift was also noted by two journalism professors, Maurine H. Beasley and Kathryn T. Theus, in their book about women in journalism education, The New Majority.

Consonant with these changing demographics, the American Newspaper Publishers Association earlier this year elected Cathleen Black, publisher of USA Today, as its president. Although at present women comprise only 32 percent of news staffs, more and more women are moving into high-level editorial and executive positions on major newspapers.

As the female presence in journalism increases, have you noticed any change in the high quality of your newspaper? I doubt it. Professionally, it goes about its job as diligently as ever. It informs, educates and entertains. It exposes charlatans regardless of race, creed or gender. It enables you to stay on top of the world's sometimes kaleidoscopic changes.

This is not to imply that the millenium in journalism is at hand. But women journalists are increasingly making their impact felt.

Yeltsin still ill, skips scheduled speech at legislature

MOSCOW (AP) - Described as celed public appearances for a second day, skipping a speech to his legislature and a meeting with a U.S. Cabinet member.

Yeltsin, the 60-year-old populist who led resistance to last month's botched hard-line coup, was not seriously ill and still planned to go to Azerbaijan this weekend, said Ruslan Khasbulatov, acting chairman of the Russian legislature.

Khasbulatov gave no further details about the nature of Yeltsin's illness beyond saying doctors ordered him to stay in bed for one day.

Kids' backyard toy causes insurance to jump sky-high

We have just met with our insurance agent who has advised us that we need an additional policy.

We recently purchased a trampoline for our children, which we are now told is a huge liability to us. It stands about 3 1/2 feet off the ground, so it is not likely that a small child could get on without assistance.

What infuriates me is that the children who could get on are old enough to know they would be trespassing. Should a child hurt him or herself while using it without supervision, we would be responsible.

Why couldn't we sue the parents for not watching their children or teaching them to respect other people's property? Our system has made it a liability to drive the Boy Scouts to the zoo, or have play equipment in our own back yard. Granted, laws are made for the protection of others - but what about my rights? I could lose my home, my car and all of my savings because the newspaper boy decided to jump on our trampoline while delivering

We, the public, have made it so easy to sue. Who cares? The insurance company has plenty of money. Wrong! You and I pay for it through higher premiums. It is time the lawyers, judges and jurors stood up and shouted, "Enough! Quit wasting my time and the taxpayers' money!' For crying out loud, America, use

DEAR ABBY: Like "Had It in Hawaii," I also had a neighbor who borrowed eggs, butter, peanut butter, mayonnaise, shampoo, etc. and never paid anything back.

Once during a Minnesota blizzard when no one could get to a grocery store, she sent one of her kids over to borrow some coffee. I phoned her up and offered to sell her a three-pound can. She said she didn't want "that much," so I filled a onecup measuring cup with coffee and sent it to her.

Although Dodge City, Kansas is off to a 2-0 beginning, head coach Dick Masters has a bad feeling about playing the Pampa Harvesters, also 2-0 this young football season.

"We scouted them against Amarillo High and they've got a very potent team," Masters said. "We're not only going to have to play our best, but we're going to have to be awfully lucky to beat Pampa."

Masters may have good reason to be worried.

The Harvesters pulled off a big coup last Friday night, whipping Class 5A Amarillo High, 23-21, for the first time since 1975. Needless to say, the victory caused celebrations to break out all over Harvester Stadium. Pampa ended a 13-game losing streak against the Sandies. That happy feeling has continued among the Harvester players and coaching staff this week, but head coach Dennis Cavalier is hoping the big win doesn't create a letdown. "Everybody is going around with a big smile on their face and who can blame them? I've got a big smile also," Cavalier said. "We want to look forward and not back and it's going to be a big challenge to control our emotions. Fourth quarter mistakes thwarted Sandie comeback attempts to preserve Pampa's two-point win. It's the first time since 1980 that the Harvesters have won their first two

Probation imposed on Vols

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The NCAA hammer fell softly on Tennessee. The NCAA said Wednesday that it accepted the self-imposed penalties Tennessee announced in August, and placed the Volunteer football program on probation for two years.

The Vols thus avoided harsher punishment, such as a ban on television or bowl appearances. A bowl ban would have made the No. 6 Volunteers ineligible to defend the Southeastern Conference title they've won or shared the

"All of us at the university certainly regret those things occurred that ledto the NCAA investigation. But we are satisfied with the conclusions of the infractions committee and do not plan any sort of appeal," university president Joe Johnson said.

Public Notice

On June 28, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) to add a new optional service offering for business Private Branch Exchange (PBX) Trunk customers called Digital Loop Service. The application has been assigned Docket Digital Loop Service provides digital transmission of circuit switched voice and data communications between the customer's premises and the central office. This service allows the customer to use a 1.544 Mbps facility capable of delivering up to 24 line terminations. Southwestern Bell will provide Digital Loop Service within the customer's serving central office where facilities are available.

If approved by the Commission, the rates for the Digital Loop Service facilities will be $445 per month for each digital transmission loop arrangement which provides a capacity of up to 24 line terminations, plus $3 per month for each line termination and $9 per month for each channel termination. The proposed rate for the unlimited use of the central office varies from $12.25 up to $18.90 per month for each line termination depending on the rate group classification, determined by the customer's location. Southwestern Bell estimates revenue of $2.1 million from this offering during the first year.

As proposed by Southwestern Bell, customers who currently receive digital loop compatibility through facilities installed under a special construction agreement will have the option to receive their current digital loop arrangements pursuant to the Digital Loop Service Tariff or continue to pay their current charges until they make a change of location or account. Any increase in the number of line terminations to a customer's current digital transmission loop arrangement will be provided pursuant to the proposed Digital Loop Service Tariff; however, the customer will continue to have the option of paying current charges for the existing digital transmission loop capacity. Southwestern Bell's proposal to "grandfather" existing digital loop facility arrangements is subject to review and approval by the Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but not later than October 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.
