PAMPA SECTION REJOICES OVER RAIN

Twinkles Three things we often need and seldom have within reach: A common pin, a ruler, an eraser.

Things always around: Enough copy to fill up two papers, magazines scanned but not read, invitations to this and that.

There are G-men, S-men, and then a species of student rather conspicuous at this time of year because of belonging to the F-division.

Observation: When people become congested to the extent of 400 or more per square mile, they decide that the days of colonization are not over.

Some wives pray alimony in our new day, and the continue, we suppose, to "pay, and pay, and pay," whatever that means.

Musing of the moment: The perfect face has not been found, say the beauty experts. How little they know about it. Any new parents will cite you perfection.

The teachers will soon be leaving for a long vacation. Could you afford to take one as long?

TALENT IS an uncertain, unpredictable thing. Consider a student body the size of that of Pampa high school. Who is smart enough to measure it, talent, its future?

Life is a rocky journey. Many who are clownish and of low scholastic standing may hit home runs in life. It is unwise to judge a student by his current output of thought, although the direction in which he is going must be reckoned.

THIS DOES NOT mean that WORDS does not admire the A-student. It does not indicate any criticism of scholarship and scholarship societies. A higher percentage of poor students fall than of good students, because the good student has learned to concentrate, to think to know the value of work.

LIFE IS NARROW. If you can operate a machine better than most other engineers, if you can play the piano superlatively, if you can judge men and things better than your rivals, you are considered a success despite your lack of interest in what, in life, was reported by the curriculum in school.

Not infrequently it is success mingled with a pleasurable activity in no way related to one's vocation. Sometimes a civic club sharpens the intellect and mellows the mind. Often membership in a choral club, an orchestra, or a book club affords the contacts and friendship upon which progress rests.

TALENT ABOUNDS. It needs developers. The high school glee club is an example. This group was the pep squad. Cheering is necessary, loyal, and of some general value. Wisely, those in charge broadened these activities. Voices which some folks said were being "trained" in cheering now know the niceties of pitch and timing.

The talent is in very group. To develop it is to increase the pleasure, often future happiness, and not infrequently the success of the individuals. Any group, any town can achieve greatness by developing latent talent.

I Heard...

That Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ruddy, former Pampans who are now residing in Canada, spent last Sunday in Callander, Ontario, where they saw the Dionne quintuplets. They write that the children are more beautiful than the pictures show them.

Chris Bagnell, just out of the hospital where he spent the last two months with a broken leg, remarking that he must have a couple of spark plugs missing, as he rested on the postoffice steps this morning. Chris is hobbling around on crutches and mighty glad to be out.

MAIL FRAUDS IS NEW PENSION PROBE CHARGE

TOWNSEND DENIES HE KNEW ANYTHING ABOUT IT

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP)—An assertion, immediately denied, that the Townsend old age pension organization used the mails to defraud was made today before a house investigating committee.

James R. Sullivan, committee counsel, declared that $11,400 was raised for a "congressional fund" by an appeal to Townsend clubs sent through the mails in the form of "Townsendgrams."

Dr. F. E. Townsend, founder of the movement who was on the stand for the third day, denied knowledge of the appeal "until after it was out." He added he did not believe the mails "were used to defraud."

Sullivan said that period to the "Townsendgram" appeal, the organization raised $23,490 to defray expenses of seven men brought to Washington in January, 1935, to draft the McGroarty bill, embodying a form of the Townsend plan, and work for its passage.

Townsend disclaimed knowledge of Sullivan's assertion that only $1,804 of the $23,490 was used before the "Townsendgram" appeal was made for additional funds.

The witness explained he had little or nothing to do with the raising of money and his province was the "philosophical and economic" aspect of the movement.

He said Robert E. Clements, former national secretary and co-founder and others in the business office handled the financial end of the program.

The "Townsendgram" appeal for funds carried the name of Clements and Charles H. Randall of Los Angeles, chairman of the Townsend National Strategy committee.

Sullivan introduced testimony taken by a sub-committee in California, in which Randall said he signed the original appeal for the "congressional fund" but denied he signed the "Townsendgram."

Randall, Sullivan said, testified he had "nothing whatsoever to do with the sending of the 'Townsendgrams'."

Cast and Pants Wanted by Guill For El Dorado

Today Ben Guill felt like saying to about 250 adult males in Pampa, "Don't forget that we'll rehearse that Centennial pageant tomorrow night and you be sure and come!"

He simply must have a full cast tomorrow night or else—well, he just won't, and it'll be too bad if he doesn't. The director of the Centennial pageant El Dorado which will be produced on a lavish, colorful scale Thursday and Friday nights June 4 and 5, said, "Sometimes cash could be used to get old school room rules, appeal to the honor and then to their pride, and if that don't work, peel the hide!"

The rehearsal will be held at the high school gym beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

QUINTUPLETS GET READY FOR THEIR SECOND BIRTHDAY

Very much in the swim these days, with their second birthday only week distant, the Dionne quintuplets here give you their version of the nursery rhyme, "Rub-a-dub-dub! Five quins in a tub!" They are splashing through one of their two daily baths in high glee. That's Emilie at left, overshadowed by Cecile, who suggests some delicate water-sprinkle rising from some deep pool. Annette and Marie watch with amusement as Yvonne raises her left out of the tub, shrieking in merriment at the photographer.

HORSES, HORSES, HORSES, WANTED FOR CENTENNIAL

Hundreds Needed For Parades, Pageants

All persons who expect to ride horses in the Centennial parade here June 2, 3, 4, and 5, should immediately notify the chamber of commerce, telephone 384, it was announced today.

The Centennial committees invite and urge owners of horses to ride them in the parades, or if that is not possible, see to it that someone else rides them. Horses are still as scarce here as they were last year and the year before, and the committees will need every horse in the country to make a good showing in the parades and pageants.

Citizens are invited to ride their horses in the parades, but they are asked to register at the chamber of commerce by telephoning 384 as a prerequisite for doing so. As in the past, riders should don rainwear appropriate to the theme of the celebration.

The first parade will be held on the afternoon of June 2 when the Boy Scouts of Adobe Walls council will march behind Governor James V. Allred and Ranger Captain J. W. McCormick. Many of the Scouts will wear costumes advertising their Cavalcade of Scouting which will be presented that evening. The Hoover troop will be mounted and numerous other Scouts will ride in the parade.

The need for horses in the Centennial parade El Dorado, and the Cavalcade of Scouting is great and persons who will lend horses for use in these two events are requested to notify the chamber of commerce. Directors of the two shows are appealing to horse owners to show their civic patriotism by offering to lend their horses to the committees for use in the pageants which will be held at night.

Senators Agree On New Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP)—Whipping all but one member in line, the senate finance committee today reached agreement on a compromise plan for increasing corporation taxes but settling a proposal, at the loss of considerable revenue, for boosting the normal income tax rate.

Moving along swiftly after days of delay, the committee thus reached accord on the vital part of the revenue bill.

The compromise would call for a flat 18 percent tax on corporation income, a flat 7 percent on income withheld from distribution, exemption of $1,000 income from the 7 percent tax for corporations making more than $20,000 a year, and retention of the present capital stock and excess profits taxes.

Smiling broadly, Harrison said the committee had made "very good progress" and he expected it to be able to report out a bill early next week.

So greatly at odds was the committee during today's session that some members at one time threatened to leave the committee chamber.

FRANCE AND WORLD STILL LOVE 'LINDY'

YOUNG FLIER FORCED FRANCE TO CHANGE FEELING OF U. S.

PARIS, May 21. (AP)—Nine years ago today, France experienced a complete change in her feeling for the United States.

The change was caused by one man, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. He reached here May 21, 1927, after the first solo flight across the Atlantic. But there were no official celebrations of the feat today.

Back of the story of Lindbergh's triumphant reception, back of the most delicious night Paris has known since the armistice, lies one of the most romantic, if little known, stories of Franco-American relations.

In April, 1927, France was in the midst of one of her periodic anti-American waves. The pride of her people had been hurt by the debt settlement which had been swallowed with difficulty.

The franc had gone to smash and had been rescued by Poincare's stern and often harsh measures. French aviation records had dropped, one after another, into American hands. To cap all, Nungesser and Gull had been lost in a hazardous flight to America.

So bitter were some people that in the streets of Paris there even was talk that Nungesser and Gull had been killed in America to hide their exploit.

The week before Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic, an American flag displayed on the building of the newspaper Matin had been hauled down to avoid friction with the crowds gathered in the street.

Then, somehow, as Lindbergh, oblivious of the terrific thunder of acclaim that was to greet him, steadily approached Paris, there came a change in popular feeling.

Crowds began gathering in the twilight. The Bourget, buzzing with speculation on the character of this unknown American who suddenly had caught the world's imagination.

Jury At Haskell Gives Man Death

Convicted of Beating Aged Spinster To Death

HASKELL, May 21. (AP)—The first death sentence in the history of Haskell county was imposed today on Clarence Abston by the jury which convicted him of murder in connection with the beating to death of Mrs. Rebecca Coursey, 78-year-old O'Brien spinster.

The verdict for the Abston case came in as C. Matura, accused of murder for the aged woman's death the night of May 6, went to trial.

Abston was brought into the courtroom under guard and sat beside his wife, who held a baby in her lap, as the verdict was read. The defendant maintained his composure but his wife became hysterical, sobbing violently and crying:

"Before God, I know he is not guilty."

As Abston was led back to his jail cell, Mrs. Abston clasped the child tight in her arms and stumbled from the courtroom, assisted by an officer. She was still screaming her belief that her husband was innocent as she went through the door.

Relatives and friends took her in charge.

It was Matura, the state's principal witness, who testified he beat Mrs. Coursey at Abston's behest after they had gone to her home together.

REP. ZIONCHECK IS MOVED OUT OF APARTMENT

Owner Complains of Destruction in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 21. (AP)—Rep. Zioncheck and his bride must go apartment-hunting when they return from their Virgin Islands honeymoon trip.

Developments today indicated the young automobilist from Washington state will get no references from Mrs. Benjamin J. Young, his former landlady, when he begins to answer classified ads.

For yesterday Mrs. Young wept as she looked over the apartment she leased to Zioncheck last Christmas eve. (That was just a week before he took over an apartment house switchboard, rang all the bells, and was arrested.)

HEREFORD HAS 5-INCH FALL ON WEDNESDAY

NEARLY AN INCH IS WELCOMED IN THIS COMMUNITY

AMARILLO, May 21. (AP)—Twice this week the plains country in this area has felt the lash of torrential rains and strong winds.

Last night precipitation of near-cloudburst proportions fell at Hereford, 50 miles southwest of here. Five inches of rain fell in an hour, and Black, in the same territory, received a similar deluge.

A small twister struck here during the disturbance, injuring Mrs. Lily Snyder, 51, of Enid, Okla., when a tourist camp cabin overturned in the wind.

Dalhart reported half an inch of rain south toward Hartley. A hard rain fell at Plainview.

An "old-fashioned" rain fell last night in the Pampa area, and over the territory generally, accompanied by crashing thunder and jagged lightning. Gusty winds preceded and accompanied the rain.

Moisture totaled three-quarters of an inch here.

LeFors reported rain from about 8 p. m. to 11 p. m., estimated at an inch. Roads and streets in this territory were slippery this morning but were drying rapidly under a warm sun. The day was clear but light clouds developed at mid-morning to put a haze in the sky.

Pampa was in darkness a few minutes last night when lightning cracked a high-line insulator near White Deer. The leak was sufficient to kick out the master switch at Amarillo. The line was deadened from White Deer to Pampa and the local reserve plant was put in motion while the repairs were made.

The moisture was especially welcomed by those working on the fair-ground park, rack track, and roadways. Because of the grading and filling, dust has been raised by every breeze at the park.

More moisture will be of benefit to some wheat fields which have stood the drought better than others. Some fields believed beyond hope may, if the rains continue, produce enough wheat for re-seeding. Isolated fields which have had showers when needed will make yields far above the average for the year.

Farmers arriving here this morning said the rain was about half an inch over the area, but a bit lighter north of the city.

Pampan Attends Credit Meeting

Better business than has been enjoyed "for years" was reported at Fort Worth this week by secretaries attending the convention of Texas Retail Credit Bureaus Inc., it was stated today by W. J. Daugherty, manager of the Pampa Credit association.

The state organization is a part of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, which also includes organization of retail merchants and of associated credit men. Mr. Daugherty returned today.

The Pampa association will hold its first annual banquet Monday evening, May 25, in the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock. Reservations are being made daily for the event, expected to be attended by 150 persons. Tickets are 75 cents.

Travis Lively, president of the association, will preside. W. H. Patrick, Clarendon banker, will be the main speaker.

City Directory Will Be Out on About August 1

Work on another Pampa city directory will begin Saturday, it is announced by Lambert Smith, representative of the Hudspeth Directory Company of El Paso, the publishers.

Mr. Smith is here for the third time. The canvassers will be here Saturday to begin the intensive work needed to obtain correct data. It will be the 8th volume for Pampa published by this company.

The new books will be out August 1.

Mr. Smith said the public's usual cooperation would be appreciated.

People You Know

(BY A. F.)

Although you are bound to be happy that it rained you'd feel much different if you were a farmer.

Even if the wheat is nearly gone you'd go out in the field and peer sharply.

"Perhaps," you'd say, more hopefully than confidentially, but so glad it rained!

To the Baers, Thomases, Browns, Turcotts, Louises, the Skibinskis, Urbanczyks, of White Deer, rain is still the most beautiful fluid in the world, surpassing even oil. City people who chaff when no rain falls, complain about dust, and the garden and the thirsty yard that need rain, have never known the huge happiness that rain brings.

To know, let their own lives and the lives of their loved ones be dependent solely on rain falling on plants—as the lives of so many people here and on farms nearby it not!

YOUTH POINTS A WAY

Pointing out that drivers from 18 to 24 years of age are involved in more than one-fifth of all motor vehicle accidents and more than one-quarter of all fatal accidents, the National Student Federation of America has called upon the college youth of America to accept its share of the responsibility for the traffic accident situation.

"This problem needs to be tackled by youth," says a Federation bulletin going to 1,700 presidents of student councils and editors of student newspapers. "So long as the evil which annually takes 36,000 lives continues uncontrolled, youth is faced with a menace to its security and welfare and an affront to its intelligence."

The Federation presents in its bulletin a series of suggestions for a campus traffic control program. Warning against the futility of an abortive, short-sighted campaign, the Federation emphasizes that a Spring program ought to be undertaken with the expressed purpose of laying the ground-work for a long-term program next fall. The proposals are aimed at two specific phases of the problem as it especially affects colleges. They are, (1) influencing on and away from the campus, (2) establishing rules to govern undergraduate use of the college and the community, not only locally, but in the community-at-large.

That youth should recognize and act upon its responsibility in one of the nation's gravest social problems, is itself a heartening indication of a new thoughtful spirit. There is extraordinary good sense in the recognition that establishing traffic control is a long-term proposition—an important fact which older persons have sometimes failed to grasp. The Federation is to be commended, too, for acknowledging that traffic safety is not something they know all about. They have secured the advice and cooperation of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, one of the outstanding national organizations working for improved traffic control.

Youth can, and it is hoped that it will, do much to eradicate the evil which is "a menace to its security and welfare and an affront to its intelligence."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Congressmen who have been getting cross-eyed from keeping one eye on Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice and the other eye on the Townsendites, got some comfort, but not much, from the Ohio primaries.

They got more from the defeat of the Frazier-Lemke bill, which had Coughlin's unstinted backing. One of the arguments used as a good reason for defeating the bill was to cite Coughlin's advocacy and his dictatorial attitude.

When Coughlin got into a verbal row recently with Chairman John O'Connor of the rules committee over the bill, many congressmen saw that O'Connor was fighting their battle, and sympathized with him rather than with Coughlin.

But in the Ohio primaries he provided a beautiful object lesson. Ohio was watched as a practical test of both the NUSJ and the Townsend groups at the polls. Both together would average about as strong in the state as anywhere in the country.

The political priest had chosen that citadel of his organization to make a personal appeal. At a Cleveland mass meeting just before the primary, he addressed 25,000 listeners, and broadcast a state-wide appeal for all his candidates by name.

The results almost justified the boast of Coughlin's Ohio manager, Sylvester McMahon, that half the candidates backed by the NUSJ would come through. But Ohio observers report many factors entering locally into the district contests that destroy the purity of the test.

For instance, the spearhead of Coughlin's attack in Cleveland was aimed at Chester Bolton, G. O. P. congressman representing the "silk-stocking" 22d district. But Bolton gave the Coughlin hopeful a sound beating.

Congressman Martin Sweeney, Democratic incumbent, got the benediction of both Coughlin and Townsend, and sailed through triumphant. But he was greatly aided by voter disgust with the local Cleveland Democratic organization, which had the poor judgment to pit against Sweeney a particularly obnoxious stuffed shirt with one foot already in his political grave.

Congressman Robert Crosser, who had NUSJ, but not Townsend, backing, came through easily, but Crosser again is a special case, with an intensely loyal personal following.

While he favors many NUSJ ideas, Crosser resolutely refused to sign the pledge to vote as Father Coughlin directs, which is usually required in exchange for NUSJ support.

Very quietly, one of the thorns in the flesh of the Roosevelt administration is being withdrawn. The threat of Huey Long to alienate a great part of the traditionally Democratic south, was a very real one. His death partly checked that.

But the new governor, Richard W. Leche, just inaugurated, has given every indication that he wants no feuds with Washington. Pledged to carry on Huey's work in Louisiana, he has nevertheless given every indication that he is more than willing that the Creole state re-enter the Roosevelt fold.

All of which is good for a sigh of relief from Jim Farley, for less spade work he has to do in states normally Democratic, the more licks he can get in on those which are admittedly doubtful.

Dry leader says that now the drinking daughter, not the wandering boy, turns mother's hair gray. We thought the daughter was responsible for Ma's henna.

"When Il Duce asked his people for a pledge to defend their new empire, a great 'Si' went up." Still that might have been a typographical error.

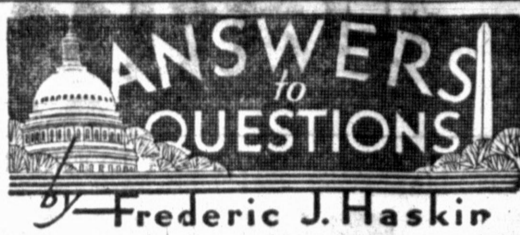

In view of the vigilance of G-men, criminals who plan to seek ransom had better prepare to run some.

Michigan motorists are warned to leave accident victims at the scene until police arrive. Until then, though, it would be considerate to visit them daily.

NEW MARXIST PARTY MAY BE FORMED SOON

SOCIALIST CONFERENCE WILL BE CALLED TOMORROW

BY R. H. HIPPEL HEUSER, Associated Press Staff Writer.
CLEVELAND, May 21 (AP)—A group of rightwing "old guard" leaders in the socialist party laid the groundwork today for what may become a new American Marxist party.

Supported principally by rightwing factions in Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut, a call was issued for an "interest state socialist conference" tomorrow, on the eve of the party's national convention.

Three principal issues to be discussed at the conference are:
1. The dispute between the "old guard" and the left coalition, led by Norman Thomas, in New York state; and the strategy to be followed in the efforts to seat the "old guard" delegation from New York, in place of the leftist delegates.
2. The so-called "revolutionary declaration of principles" adopted at Detroit in 1934, which the rightwingers claim is communist in scope.
3. The question of a "united front" with communists in local instances, such as day demonstrations or antifascist campaigns.

All three issues are closely linked in the general dispute between the rightists and the leftists—with the latter in the dominating position because of their control of the national executive committee.

In New York, the rightwing "old guard" forces, led by Louis Waldman, prominent trade union attorney, were defeated in the April primary and lost control of the state and city organizations. The national committee recognized the victorious leftwing organizations—but the "old guard" has refused to do so.

If the delegates of the Waldman faction are not seated in the convention, they are prepared to leave Cleveland and organize a new Marxist party at a convention, probably late in June, at some place in New York.

Badoglio Will Lead Procession Thru Rome Arch

ASMARA, Eritrea, May 21 (AP)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, leaving his responsibilities as viceroy of Ethiopia in the hands of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, was on his way home today on a conquering hero's return to Italy.

General Graziani, commander of the southern campaign, arrived in Addis Ababa yesterday and assumed the power of government in the name of King Emperor Victor Emmanuel just before Marshal Badoglio took his leave of the former Ethiopian capital.

The commander-in-chief was expected to arrive by military plane later today at Genoa, about an hour's drive from Asmara, and proceed to Massawa, where he probably will sail Monday aboard the hospital ship Arborio for Italy.

There, he is expected to lead a triumphal procession through Rome's ancient Arch of Constantine June 7 when Italy will celebrate simultaneously its "Constitution day" and its conquest and annexation of Ethiopia.

Life-Termer Is Captured After Escape From Pen

HOUSTON, May 21 (AP)—Frank Kucera, life-termer, was captured today a few hours after he and M. L. Cavendish escaped from the Hartman state prison farm No. 2 in a car stolen from the assistant farm manager.

Cavendish got away in the stolen car when an officer cornered Kucera near Hallettsville. The life-termer carried spang from the car and City Marshal Floyd Simmons the three shots in an effort to halt the fleeing fugitives. Simmons ran Kucera down while Cavendish sped away.

The officer was unaware of the identity of the pair until he had captured Kucera. He encountered them as he went out on the highway to stop two men who had fled from a filling station in a nearby town without paying for gasoline.

FRENCH REFUSE TO WITHDRAW AFRICAN ARMY

Also Decline to Ship Provisions to Italians

PARIS, May 21 (AP)—France refused today to withdraw her sturdy colonial troops from Diredawa, key point on the Italian-occupied Franco-Ethiopian railroad.

Official sources said the 150 colonial troops would continue to guard the Diredawa shops on the French-owned railroad, despite a request from Italy that they withdraw.

Such a withdrawal, these sources believed, would be tantamount to recognition of the Italian regime in Ethiopia.

In asking that the troops be moved, Italy insisted her army of occupation was capable of maintaining order throughout the conquered land.

Railroad officials also declined an Italian request that they permit the shipment of 840 tons of provisions from Djibouti, French Somaliland, to the fascist troops in Addis Ababa.

The request was turned down on the ground that the road's wartime neutrality still is in force.

Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour conferred today with Charles Roux, French ambassador to the Vatican, concerning an alleged Italian order expelling Magr. Jerosseau, French apostolic vicar at Harar, from Ethiopia.

The 64-year-old churchman was reported to have been accused by the Italians of spreading "anti-Italian propaganda."

A zone was created at Djibouti over which foreign planes were forbidden to fly, because of new coastal defense works.

Leg. Bum, who probably will be France's premier within a fortnight, seized an early opportunity to move for final settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, as it involves Europe.

Informed sources said the socialist leader, at a conference with chiefs of the present coalition government, declared the leftist bloc which comes to power June 1 desires a definite agreement with Britain and Italy on the persisting sanctions problem.

France will ask Britain to "make up its mind" in the Italo-Ethiopian situation, these sources said, to prevent further postponement of a decision by the League of Nations council when the Geneva executive body meets June 16 in a special session.

Couzens Given Endorsement of Democratic Body

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 21 (AP)—United States Senator James Couzens, a republican who faces vigorous opposition for renomination within his own party, had an invitation today to enter the democratic primary next September.

In Washington, Senator Couzens received without comment the news that the state democratic primary convention had endorsed him, along with five democrats, for the senatorial nomination. He has made no announcement of his plans.

The implied invitation to the senator was contained in a blanket endorsement of all who have been mentioned as possible candidates. The democrats named are Rep. Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.), former Governor William A. Comstock, Frank A. Picard, who was defeated by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R.) in 1934; Ray D. Schneider, Wayne county auditor, and John H. Muyskens, a University of Michigan instructor.

The democrats, who will hold their formal state convention today to elect eight delegates at large, each with half a vote, to the national convention, heard Postmaster General James A. Farley predict in an address last night that "the governor of a typical prairie state" would be the republican presidential nominee.

URBAN POLISH
TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP)—Several students, preparing for graduation from Tahlequah high school, came from the hills where there are no telephones and never had occasion to use one. To remove that deficiency, the science and industrial arts class of the high school is installing a laboratory telephone system.

DEEP DRILLING MADE POSSIBLE BY RARE MUD

Demonstration Given At Petroleum Exposition

TULSA, Okla., May 21 (AP)—Rare kinds of mud which enable engineers to drill two miles deep for oil were demonstrated here today at the International Petroleum Exposition.

The muds are used in drilling virtually all wells of great depth. They contain colloidal substances which may represent some of the transition states between mud and rock, and which nature uses for cementing in her mountain building.

In rotary drilling mud is pumped down the well inside the drill pipe to pick up the cuttings of rock from the bit and carry them up to the mouth of the well. Natural muds of the neighborhood are used.

The rare muds are added to produce something which cleans the well bottom better than water and coats its sides with a skin which is nearly impervious. They are heavy enough to carry to the top chunks of stone sometimes weighing a pound.

In motion these muds are heavy liquids. When motion ceases they turn into jelly, so that rocks they may be carrying are held fast. When the pumps start in motion again the jelly turns back into a liquid.

This type of mud seals off much of the casing of wells due to water getting into the formation.

A Los Angeles sales company (Baroid) makes this mud out of a natural clay. Clay also is the base of a second rare mud used to counteract electrical effects encountered in salt water, gypsum and other substances found in oil wells.

Ordinary muds flocculate, or form small lumps in the presence of the electrolytes. The special clay stops this lumping.

In some oil areas the drills penetrate gas pockets which would blow all the mud out of the well. To stop this there is a third rare mud heavier than stone. It is made by grinding a heavy mineral, barytes, into a fine dust, and mixing it with the other muds until a cubic foot weighs sometimes 145 pounds.

Lewis Supports New Guffey Act

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—John L. Lewis, mine union leader, swung behind the proposed new Guffey coal control act today in an effort to have Congress pass it immediately instead of waiting until next session.

The act concentrates on price-fixing and omits the labor provisions which were outlawed by the Supreme Court. Despite the absence of labor clauses, however, Lewis declared that his United Mine Workers would "join in requesting Congress to enact the bill at once" as the best step to take in the circumstances.

He said it would "operate to maintain the equilibrium of the coal industry pending further study of stabilization of the industry."

PRISON BREAK LEADER TAKEN IN MOUNTAINS

BLOOD HOUND LEADS POSSE TO HIDING PLACE

McALESTER, Okla., May 21 (AP)—Claude Beavers was brought back today to the state penitentiary where he engineered a savage-like break in which a foreman was killed and a guard wounded.

The convict leader, who boasted he never would be taken alive, surrendered without a show of resistance early today in the Jack Fork mountains, 35 miles southeast of here.

"Here I am," he shouted as "Old Boston," the prison's famed blood-hound led five man-hunters to his refuge in the brush.

"I give up," he shouted.

"I've thrown away my guns," he added, stepping into the open.

The capture of Beavers left only two of the eight original fugitives at large. Warden Roy W. Kenny called in all possemen, saying he was convinced the other two convicts, Julius Bohannon and A. G. McArthur, were not in this section.

The tip that led to Beavers' capture came from an old Indian. "Old Boston" was put on the trail. He sniffed along for 12 miles before reaching the convict's hiding place.

Warden Kenny said the ring-leader would be placed in solitary confinement along with the five other recaptured convicts.

Lindbergh Flew Atlantic Nine Years Ago Today

SEVEN OAKS, Kent, Eng., May 21. (AP)—On the ninth anniversary of his "lone eagle" flight across the Atlantic, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh ran out of gas today.

When his automobile motor "conked," however, the only resort was to walk to the nearest gas station.

The colonel was driving his small American car on a morning spin through the countryside. He returned to his residence, Long Barn, to spend the rest of the day with Mrs. Lindbergh and their son, Jon.

Gypsy Weather

By MARGARET BELL HOUSTON

"I watched for you at breakfast," he said, "But you had gone out."

"To church," she said.

"So Mary told me. I had been out to look for you. I thought you had run away."

"Where would I run?"

"To the circus, I suppose. The circus is gone. Did you know?"

"Yes. They are traveling South. I could have gone with them, of course. . . . Your brother does he want to see me?"

Dirk wondered if she had overheard their conversation. He glanced toward the door between the two rooms, a door that had been put in during his grandfather's final illness. It was of thinner material structure than the other doors in the house. It was closed, he noticed, and the bolt had been drawn.

"As a matter of fact, he does," Dirk said. "I hope you won't mind going to him. He's not very well. She came over to him."

"What's he going to do?"

"I don't know. He's talking of annulment. In that case, you have your rights."

"Rights?"

"You could make it difficult for him, if you wanted to. Publicity, and that sort of thing."

She said in a low voice, "I wouldn't do that."

"No, but he doesn't know you wouldn't. You have your rights, your monetary rights. He must pay for his prank."

A light came into her eyes making them bright and eager. Her eyelids narrowed slightly. Dirk said at once,

"Don't make settlement difficult. Publicity is your weapon and you can't afford to use it. If you make things too hard he may try to find something in your motives, in your life. It wouldn't be hard for him to find the circus."

She admitted this.

"At the same time, I want you to have justice. You married him in good faith, and he has no right to throw you out next morning. I'll be in the room while he talks to you; he'll keep me there as a witness. I'll stand where he can't see me, and if you can manage to look at me each time before you answer him, I'll try to convey to you—must manage that all the proposals come from him. You are merely to accept or refuse. Understand?"

Her eyes searched his. "You are siding against your brother," she said.

"This is not a battle," Dirk informed her. "You came here to get a lawyer. You still need one. Do you understand my instructions?"

"Yes, she understood. She would try to follow them."

"All right, then. Ready?"

Rupert glanced at the girl as she entered. The hand holding his cigarette was unsteady. Dirk was closing the door, and Rupert said to him,

"Leave us alone, please."

Dirk, surprised, stood long enough to catch the girl's eye. He went then, leaving with her a reassuring smile. Her eyes continued to rest on the door when he had closed it. Rupert's voice called her back.

"Won't you sit down?"

She took a chair close to the door. Again he glanced at her, surprising revulsion in her eyes. He was conscious for a moment of his uncombed, unshaven state, aware too that he could not have looked much better last night. Why, then, had she married him? Or was the revolted look mere acting? . . . She was a brown, small pixie of a girl, a type he did not care for.

"You realize," he said, "that I was not sane last night?"

Rupert surprisingly she answered,

"Yes, I realize."

"Then you realize, too," he added, "that it won't hold. What are your terms for getting out quietly?"

She was silent.

"You need money," he explained. "How much do you want?"

She answered,

"I need money, yes. And I think you should pay for. . . . your prank. But I don't want to get out. . . . quietly, or any other way. I want to stay here."

"It's out of the question," said Rupert. "I'm talking about annulment."

"I understand. You can have it annulled if you want to. It wasn't my idea to marry you, but I did it in good faith. And I went in and got my trunk. I'm all unpacked, and it will be hard to move right away."

"You were rather sudden about getting your trunk, weren't you?"

MORE ON GALLEY 2

"Who had told her to do that?"

"I think not. I had no idea that you intended to put me out. I suppose you don't know what it feels like not to have a home, and then suddenly to find one."

"I suppose not," agreed Rupert, "but I believe you have a home. . . . elsewhere."

"I had a home," she corrected. "I cut all ties when I came to New York. My father is a clergyman. . . . as I told you last night. . . . one of the old-fashioned sort. He wanted me to stay at home, and I wanted to go. I was here teaching music."

"I see. My brother has looked into your story. I have no reason to question anything you say, even your statement that our so-called marriage was not your idea. But it's out of the question for you to stay here, pending the annulment, or after it. If I give you money you can find a home. Suppose I pay you five thousand dollars."

She looked at him, silent, gone rather pale. Apparently the sun spilled wealth to her. Rupert, who had been ready to bid for his freedom on an ascending scale, realized that he might have it even more cheaply.

"You agree," he said, "to leave

DRAFT-LEHMAN MOVEMENT IS IN EVIDENCE

DEMOS HOPE GOVERNOR MAY CHANGE HIS MIND

BY LEONARD B. SHUBERT, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Sharp political interest attached today to efforts of democrats, led by President Roosevelt, to persuade Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York to run for re-election.

The sudden announcement from the Empire state's chief executive that he would not seek a third term, brought immediate expressions of hope that he would change his mind. Signs of a "draft Lehman" movement were in evidence.

Democratic leaders lauded his regard in office and bore in mind the phenomenal vote-getting powers he displayed in the 1934 election. He carried New York state by more than 800,000 votes, a record plurality.

New dealers were loath to lose the strength they expected Lehman to lend to his party's ticket next fall.

The governor made his brief announcement at Albany yesterday, saying "I feel the time has come when I may ask release from the cares and responsibilities of the governorship."

It was recalled that when Lehman entered politics in 1928 under the wing of Mr. Roosevelt, then governor of New York, he severed all connections with his vast business enterprises. He had been a textile manufacturer, banker, and director of a dozen corporations. There was speculation that the recent death of his brother, Arthur, member of the banking firm of Lehman brothers, may have prompted his return to private activities.

President Roosevelt yesterday expressed a hope that Lehman would see his way clear to run again. He

Fraternity Will Aid Poet's Widow

HEAFFORD JUNCTION, Wis., May 21 (AP)—A speedy reply to an appeal for financial aid today assured the widow of Eugene Field, the poet, that the picturesque resort estate would not be lost through a mortgage foreclosure.

Her son, Eugene Field II, said he believed his mother would accept the "splendid offer" of the New York alumni chapter of Phi Delta Theta to advance $3,000 needed to satisfy a judgment against the 155-acre estate.

Hearing on confirmation of the foreclosure sale was scheduled for Saturday. The fraternity's offer came a few hours before Jesse P. Henry, chairman of a civic committee restoring Fields' boyhood home in St. Louis, notified the 80-year-old widow, ill with heart disease, that he had appealed to President Roosevelt for aid in her behalf.

Assistance from the St. Louis group also was promised, the poet's son said.

Texas Legends and Folklore

Olive M. Johnson, Director of Speech Arts North Texas State Teachers College

Many stories in Texas history have grown up around Enchanted Rock in Llano county. This is a mound of solid granite covering 640 acres. At night, spirit fires dance on the summit; by day, millions of lightning stars gleam in the sunlight. The Indians held this rock sacred and went there to worship. Many a beleaguered Ranger or settler escaped from the Indians by climbing the rock, for no Comanche would follow or even shoot an arrow toward a white man seeking protection of the Spirit of the Rock.

Texas also has legends of flowers, names, and streams. When the first Spanish priests came to Texas, they brought seeds of a blue flower that grow on the hillside near Jactus. They planted the seeds in the mission gardens. The flowers thrived and spread, so that now all the hills of the Southwest are covered with bluebonnets. And so Texas has in this beautiful alien her state flower.

The most famous geographical legend is that of the naming of the Brazos river. The full name of the stream is Los Brazos de Dios, the Arms of God. Every Texan knows of the sudden and devastating "red rises" of the Brazos, when a wall of water, often many feet high, sweeps unexpectedly down its bare stony bed. Some Franciscan friars, having prayed and fought their way

HUMBLE TO TAKE MORE OF LEASES TO AID PRORATION

The Humble Oil & Refining company, pipeline division, will take over connections to leases having a total daily allowable of 780 barrels, it was learned today, in an effort to bring about a more equitable taking in the Panhandle field.

These connections will be operated at full proration allowable. They are now connected with the Phillips Petroleum company, which is buying less than the allowable and desires to be relieved of the connections. Phillips served notice several weeks ago that only 16,500 barrels daily would be purchased. Phillips, connected allowable was more than this total, hence less than allowables were purchased.

Under the new arrangement, Humble Pipeline will lay lines and take over certain leases, estimated to relieve Phillips of the excess oil not desired. As a result, Phillips is expected to take the full allowable of remaining connections.

Humble Pipeline, however, is not soliciting leases. The new connections are being made only to bring proration back to the former, more equitable basis in the field.

Golf Tourney To Continue Sunday

Second round of play in the city golf tournament and first round of play in consolation must be completed by noon Sunday so that the tournament can be continued on Sunday afternoon, the committee in charge has ruled.

Many games are being played this week and other entrants plan to play on Sunday morning. Any contestant not knowing who his next opponent will be can find out by calling the clubhouse at the Country club, phone 1393.

Sixty-three players started the tournament last Sunday. Some of them have already dropped from the list in consolation play. Prizes will be given the winner and runner-up and the winner of consolation play in each flight at the close of the tournament, May 31.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 21 (AP)—Chief Miers, assistant state crime Bureau superintendent, recommended to Governor E. W. Marland today that a $250 state reward for the capture of Pete Traxler, Oklahoma desperado, be paid to two Canadian, Tex., officers.

Miers recommended the payments be made to Walter Jones, sheriff at Canadian, and Harry Rathjen, deputy sheriff. Miers said Rathjen was the officer who actually shot down Traxler.

Cooke Nominated RE Administrator

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Morris L. Cooke of Pennsylvania was nominated today for a new 10-year term as rural electrification administrator almost immediately after President Roosevelt signed a $410,000,000 farm power authorization for the same number of years.

Cooke will administer the extensive program provided in the new law of which Senator Norris (R., Neb.) was author. His nomination must be confirmed by the Senate.

Reconstruction Finance corporation would be authorized to make loans to REA up to $50,000,000 the first year of the program.

tourists can read a commemorative plaque, brought new thousands to the field, eager to catch a glimpse of him.

By 10 o'clock at night every inch of space was filled and many thousands crowded so closely, as they could the six-foot iron fence around the airport.

Just after 10 p. m. came the drone of a motor. Searchlights picked up the plane, bathed it with silver light, and followed it to the ground. It was Lindbergh.

The crowd surged forward, swept down the fence, and poured across the field. Even before it had seen him, Paris forgot its anti-American feeling, and took Lindbergh to its heart. The rest followed like a fairy-tale. Lindbergh's modesty completed the picture. From that day to this, France never has wavered in its love for the young American.
