Jury finds manslaughter verdict in shooting death

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

LIPSCOMB — A Lipscomb County jury, after 6 1/2 hours of deliberation, convicted a Mobeetie woman of involuntary manslaughter Friday evening in the shooting death of her husband.

Vickie McLaughlin Greenwood, 38, was indicted last year on a charge of first-degree murder for the June 4, 1990, killing of her husband, Keith Leon McLaughlin, 46, on their farm five miles northwest of Mobeetie. She has since remarried.

The sentencing phase of the trial is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday in 31st District Court with Judge Grainger McIlhenny presiding. A change of venue was granted earlier from Wheeler County.

She could be sentenced to a maximum 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Her attorneys, J. Kenny Norris of Perryton and David Holt of Pampa, said the jury will be asked to sentence their client to probation. Assistant District Attorney John Mann said in a Friday evening telephone interview that he will likely not make a recommendation on sentencing.

The state had asked the jury to convict Greenwood of murder. Involuntary manslaughter is a killing which results from someone, who acting in a reckless manner, causes the death of another.

Mann said the bullet that caused the death of Mr. McLaughlin also traveled through his wife, hospital-izing her for a time. Following her hospital stay, she was transferred to The Pavilion in Amarillo where she stayed for five weeks.

The victim died when the .38-caliber bullet hit and severed the femoral artery in his leg. The shooting apparently took place in the hallway area outside the master bedroom as the couple struggled for the gun. Both had blood alcohol levels of .14, Mann said.

The former Mrs. McLaughlin testified during the trial that she was a battered wife and she was tired of her husband's beatings so she decided she was going to scare him.

She said that prior to the shooting she and her husband had been riding horses and arguing. She said she went to the house and about two hours later he came in and got her down on the floor, started banging her head on the floor and spitting in her face. She said he bloodied her nose in the incident, which ended when a friend of hers came to visit.

She said that for about two hours, while her husband was in the bedroom, she and her friend sat around drinking beer. After her friend left, she decided she had had enough of the beatings and decided she was going to "scare" her husband.

Greenwood fired one round off into the floor outside the master bedroom, then opened the door and the couple got into a struggle over the gun, it went off and her husband was killed.

She testified that she never meant to kill her husband, she just wanted to scare him.

Greenwood's 14-year-old daughter testified that she was in the house at the time of the shooting and remembers her mother saying that she was going to scare McLaughlin.

However, Mann said that during grand jury testimony, the girl told the grand jury that her mother said, "I'm going to kill you, you S.O.B."

The ex-wife of McLaughlin, Neva Fowler of Borger, testified on behalf of the defense and said she, too, was battered by McLaughlin during their marriage.

Dr. R.D. Brittain, an Amarillo psychiatrist, testified that Greenwood had been seeing him since September 1987, mainly for major depression. He said that she complained about marital problems.

A Santa Fe psychologist, Susan Brayfield-Cove, said that Greenwood fit the bill for a battered wife and that it was her opinion that she did not intend to hurt her husband that night, she simply wanted to scare him.

Mann said the state contended the killing was murder because Greenwood had a period of two or three hours to cool down before she shot her husband. He said fact that she went and got the gun, coupled with the statement: "I'm going to kill you, you S.O.B.," showed an act that was clearly dangerous to human life and set into motion the act which claimed Mr. McLaughlin's life.

Decoration diligence

Earthquake rocks Tibet-India border

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A powerful earthquake centered in the Himalayan foothills rocked the Nepalese-Indian border area Sunday and shook this capital city 250 miles away. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The quake, measuring at least 6.1 on the Richter scale, was felt in New Delhi at 2:53 a.m., or 5:23 p.m. EDT Saturday.

The largest town near the quake's center was Almora, about 30 miles west of Nepal and 175 miles north of New Delhi in a rugged, mountainous region of scattered towns and villages.

The area was difficult to get to and communications are shaky, so reports on damage were not immediately available.

Associated Press reporter Earleen Fisher in New Delhi said she was awakened as the quake rattled the Indian capital.

"The bed just started moving across the floor. The ceiling lights were swinging like pendulums," she said. There were no immediate signs of damage in the capital.

The tremor knocked out electricity to at least one neighborhood in New Delhi, and servants in the upperclass area, many of whom sleep on cots in alleyways, leaped to their feet and began crying out to each other. Dogs barked and babies cried.

India's Seismology Department said the quake measured at 6.1 on the Richter scale, but the U.S. Geological Survey in Washington said its preliminary measurement put the quake at 7.1.

A reading of 6 constitutes a severe earthquake.

Reports say gunman saw film with massacre scene

By SUSAN HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Writer

KILLEEN (AP) — Hundreds gathered Saturday for the first funerals for victims of the nation's worst-ever shooting massacre, as published reports said gunman George Hennard was angered by the Clarence Thomas confirmation hearings and held a ticket for the movie "The Fisher King."

Killeen police, however, issued a statement saying they had no evidence that Hennard, 35, had seen the movie.

In a copyright story, The Dallas Morning News quoted unidentified police sources as saying that Hennard had a ticket to the movie when he drove his pickup truck into a Luby's Cafeteria then shot and killed 22 people before killing himself Wednesday.

A focal point of the movie is the methodical shotgun slaying of several people in a New York club by a disturbed man who then turns the gun on himself.

The dark comedy starring Robin Williams and Jeff Bridges was produced by TriStar Pictures Inc. A security guard who answered the telephone at the studio in Culver City, Calif., early Saturday said no one would be in the office until Monday.

Lt. Rick Morrarty issued a statement that said: "At this time nothing has led to any facts that the suspect has seen any movie depicting any events that are similar to what occurred in Killeen, Texas on October 16, 1991."

"The tragedy of Wednesday is very personal; it is unbelievable, it is inexplicable, it was unpredictable."

— Rev. Andy Davis
at funeral of victim Juanita Williams

Morrarty said a ticket stub in Spanish was found in Hennard's Belton house and in a shirt believed to belong to him.

Police Chief F.L. Giacomozzi refused to comment to reporters as he went to a memorial service for the victims at a downtown church.

Deputy Chief Sherman Griffin said it probably would be early next week before police reveal the items Hennard had with him when he died.

In another newspaper report, the manager of a convenience store and grill that Hennard frequented told the Temple Daily Telegram that Hennard became enraged Tuesday when he saw Oklahoma law professor Anita Hill on television during the Senate vote on Thomas' confirmation to the U.S. Supreme Court.

During lengthy televised hearings, Ms. Hill said Thomas spoke to her about sexual acts not related to business when he was her boss at a government agency.

"It was like (Hennard) was throwing a tantrum (Tuesday)," Bill Stringer, manager of The Nomad Turnabout outside Belton, told the Daily Telegram.

Stringer said Hennard jumped up from his seat and began screaming, "You dumb bitch! You bastards opened the doors for all the women!"

"He started walking around the store, hollering (obscenities), stuff you couldn't print," Stringer said. "I told him, 'Son, we don't tolerate that language in this store.'"

Hennard immediately apologized, sat back down and resumed watching the television, Stringer said.

In the seven months Hennard had come to the store, frequently eating a cheeseburger dinner, Stringer said that was the only time anyone in the store saw him react violently, although he complained often about the taxes he paid to the city of Belton.

Saturday afternoon, the Nomad Turnabout was locked and dark, with a handwritten sign on the door reading "Closed for now." A Belton police car was parked outside, and a lone woman sitting at one of the shop's few tables waved away those approaching.

Belton police Cpl. Glen Ivy refused to divulge any information about what the police were doing at the store.

Hennard had a history of drug use. The Coast Guard revoked his mariner's license in 1989 after he was found with marijuana aboard a cargo ship. In July of that year, he enrolled in a drug treatment program at St. Joseph's Hospital in Houston.

As investigators tried to piece together more information about Hennard, Killeen area residents, wearing small white ribbons in remembrance of the victims, began to start burying the dead.

Hundreds of people filed into the First Baptist Church of Killeen to mourn the death of Patricia Carney, 57, one of three administrators from the local school district who died in the massacre.

At a service in nearby Belton for 64-year-old Juanita Williams, the Rev. Andy Davis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, told about 350 mourners, "none of us will ever be the same" after the shooting.

Mrs. Williams, founder and chief executive of the Heart of Texas federal credit union, was described as being "lavish in the way she treated people."

"There are no easy, pat answers for what happened to this precious, precious lady ... a lady who would have reached out her arms to help even this perpetrator, if only he had asked," Davis said.

"The tragedy of Wednesday is very personal; it is unbelievable, it is inexplicable, it was unpredictable," he said.

Kitty Young, a friend of Mrs. Williams, said the area was still recovering from the deaths of 11 soldiers from Fort Hood during the Persian Gulf War. "It seems we just go from one catastrophe to another," she said.

City of Pampa remains ahead in sales tax rebates for 1991

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

The city of Pampa continues to remain slightly ahead of the game in sales tax rebates as compared to the same time last year.

This month, Pampa received a $111,672.45 check, which was .61 percent lower than last year's October check of $112,353.91. However, for the year to date, Pampa is 1.9 percent above last year's payments of $1,134,801.96, having received a total of $1,156,384.90 this year.

The city of Lefors recorded no payment this month, and is 2.83 percent ahead of last year's payments of $5,148.11, having received $5,293.90 so far this year.

The city of McLean received a $1,459.02 check this month, an 11.05 percent decrease from last October's check of $1,640.19. For the year to date, McLean is down 5.6 percent having received $15,950.25 in payments to date, compared to $16,895.84 last year at the same time.

This month's checks include taxes collected on August sales and reported in September by businesses filing monthly sales tax returns with the state. Businesses file either monthly, quarterly or annually depending on the amount of sales tax they collect.

Merchants collect the state's 6.25 percent sales tax and any local sales taxes levied in the area and send them to the Comptroller's Office with their tax returns. The state retains its shares and returns to cities, counties and other taxing entities their local portion of the sales tax.

Following is the breakdown of area counties sales tax checks received this month.

Carson County
The city of Groom received a $2,344.65 check this month, a decrease of 4.11 percent over last October's check. For the year to date, Groom is down 3.14 percent, having recorded $20,701.17 in payments to date.

The city of Panhandle is down 18.41 percent with this month's check of $3,794.65 and down 9.43 percent for the year to date, having received $45,225.87.

The city of Skellytown received a $743.46 check, a decrease of 40.21 percent over last October's check. For the year to date, Skellytown is down 26.06 percent, receiving $10,313.65 in payments to date.

The city of White Deer is down 18.11 percent with its $3,416.79 check this month. For the year to date, White Deer is down 19.82 percent, having received $27,134.49 in payments to date.

Hemphill County
The city of Canadian received a $10,963.34 check this month, a 1.43 percent decrease over last October's check. For the year to date, Canadian is up 16.56 percent, having recorded $131,332.87 in payments to date.

Roberts County
The city of Miami is up 31.18 percent with its check this month of $1,462.31. For the year to date, Miami is up 4.24 percent with its payments to date of $14,155.41.

Wheeler County

The city of Mobeetie recorded no payment this month, but for the year to date is 44.30 percent above last year's payments, having received $2,791.27 so far this year.

The city of Shamrock is down 10.28 percent with this month's check of $7,956.83. For the year to date, Shamrock is up 7.74 percent, having received $106,300.01 in payments to date.

The city of Wheeler is up 15 percent with its $3,671.11 payment this month and up 13.10 percent for the year to date, having received $43,112.46 so far this year.

Fire aftermath

The shell of a pickup truck surrounded by the rubble of a rural residence destroyed by fire stand as mute evidence of the conflagration earlier Saturday morning. A Gray County Sheriff's deputy reportedly saw the glow from the fire while on duty early Saturday and reported the fire to Pampa Fire Department. The residence, occupied by Noe Silva and located 1/2 mile east of Barnes Street on Texas 273 and then 1/2 mile south, was completely engulfed in flames by the time firefighters arrived at the scene. No one was in the house at the time of the blaze which is being investigated by the fire marshal's office.

County Commission to meet at 9 a.m. Monday

Gray County Commissioners Court has 14 items to consider during a regular meeting set to begin at 9 a.m. Monday.

The group will consider a request to assist with digging a landfill pit. The city of Pampa is scheduled to have representatives at the meeting to make the request.

An executive session to "discuss personnel matter" is listed on the agenda.

A resolution from State Sen. Ted Lyon regarding Proposition 4 on the Nov. 5 ballot and 25,000 new prison beds is scheduled to be considered as is an Oct. 1 letter from the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas.

Regular agenda items of paying salaries and bills, considering transfers and receiving the treasurer's report are also listed.

A report will be received from County Treasurer Scott Hahn regarding space for payroll deductions on county checks. Also on the agenda is consideration of the sale of delinquent tax property.

Other items on the agenda are:

- consider re-signing a minute order for a new bank account for the tax assessor/collector

- consider advertising for bids for a motor grader for Precinct 2
- consider transfer of hangar lease at Perry Lefors Field.

- consider letter from the attorney general's office concerning child support services.

The meeting will be in the second floor courtroom of the Gray County Courthouse.

Lefors ISD board calls meeting on consolidation

LEFORS - The Lefors school board has called a town meeting for 7 p.m. Monday at the school to discuss the issue of consolidation with the town, said Joe Roper, superintendent of Lefors Independent School District.

Roper said the discussion will center on the consolidation issue of Alanreed, Lefors and McLean, that will be on the Nov. 5 ballot for residents of those school districts to vote on.

"We will have the school board there," Roper said. "The board is just going to state their concerns and tell the people how they feel."

The meeting will be held in the high school auditorium and Roper said residents are encouraged to attend. He said there will be time for a question and answer session.

For the consolidation to take place, voters in all three school districts must approve the measure in the Nov. 5 election. If it passes, the school district will be called the North Fork Consolidated Independent School District.

A peek behind the scenes

Several phone calls this week complaining about coverage of last week's Lefors-McLean game by yours truly led me to believe a little peek behind the scenes is needed.

The day is Friday, Oct. 11, and two teams in the Pampa News reading area are facing each other. Liking the people in both towns, I volunteer to cover the action.

"This is probably going to be a blow-out," I'm warned. The person telling me this has nothing against Lefors or the kids on the Pirates team, but McLean is a powerhouse.

Arriving at the Lefors stadium I'm told by several people, "This shouldn't take too long to end." They are Lefors football fans who know how good McLean is.

They love the boys on the Lefors squad and mean them no harm, but one team is clearly better than the other.

It's sort of like saying the Dallas Morning News is a better paper than the National Inquirer. Facts is facts, even if inquiring minds do make the latter the most-read paper in the nation.

Back to the action, I talk to coaches from Lefors and McLean, buy a Coke and settle in at the press box. The casual banter reminds me why I like Lefors people so much. They are genuine and unpretentious. Surely people who live in the Panhandle are the finest on earth.

And that's coming from a big city boy with roots in the Metroplex.

The game goes pretty much as expected, except that McLean puts in their second string, causing the six-man game to last all four quarters. And Lefors has some dazzling performances that shake up even the mighty Tigers.

Make a note of those Lefors boys, I tell myself. They deserve as much credit as can be given in a 70-35 blow-out.

After the game, people comment that they knew it wouldn't be pretty and that McLean is a much better team. These are Lefors folks. They mean no harm, but facts is facts.

On Saturday I review my notes and begin writing the game story. "Remind the readers that Lefors is not poorly coached or incapable. Their team is just young and doesn't have the experience of the state-ranked Tigers," I say to myself. That should make them feel better about the final score. It didn't. Instead, it was taken as an insult.

After the story is filed, the guy in the sports slot writes the headline, "McLean Tigers maul Lefors Pirates." It's a play on words and, again, facts is facts.

Within two days several Lefors faithful are accusing me of hating their city, hating their kids, etc.

Actually, all I did was put into print what some of those same people had said out loud in public: "Lefors has a good bunch of boys, but McLean has the better team."

That doesn't mean I dislike Lefors or its people. But a newspaper man's job is to report the truth. How do you candy-coat a 35-point loss?

One of the facts of newspaper life is that people want the media to tell the truth so long as it doesn't portray them in a bad light.

One caller said I was calling the Lefors team a bunch of wimps.

"How?"
"You made fun of them because they don't have a blood rivalry with McLean."

"Sir, that was intended as a compliment. I wish all schools could have as wholesome a rivalry as Lefors and McLean. I pointed it out to serve as an example to other school districts."

"Oh."
If people want to be mad, let them. But, for the record, this columnist has nothing against Lefors. I like the town and enjoy it's people.

Whether or not I reported it, the final score was still 70-35. The truth is not an insult, it's the truth. No more or no less.

One caller suggested we should only cover good news. "If you cared a hoot about us, you'd be considerate enough to leave out the final score," he suggested. Did he think that would change a thing other than our reliability?

The same sky brings the sun and the rain. A newspaper's job is not to report good news or bad news. It is to report the facts as best they can be figured out.

Besides, as columnist Lewis Grizzard likes to say, "The Sunday paper only costs 75 cents. You want to get upset, get upset over something that is worth at least a dollar."

DPS offers Halloween safety tips

It's time once again for "Trick or treat." Halloween is fast approaching and hundreds of little children will be taking to neighborhoods in search of treats.

Major V. J. Cawthon, Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Region 5, said, "Many disasters can be prevented this Halloween if parents and motorists will use good judgment. Small children should be accompanied by older children or adults and trick or treating should be confined to those areas that the parents are familiar with."

Major Cawthon urged that parents dress their children in non-flammable costumes and the costume should be of light colors. He also stated that the mask should not prevent the child from being able to see. Parents should also keep their children away from jack-o-lanterns with candles.

Parents should also instruct their children in some traffic safety tips, insuring they look in all directions before crossing streets and to walk, not run. A flashlight carried by the child can serve as a warning to motorists, and children should be instructed to use sidewalks whenever possible.

Motorists should remember that children in play become excited and may forget safety rules. Remember to be extra careful in the residential areas and be on the lookout for kids darting into the streets. Drivers need to be extra alert to ensure that this is a happy Halloween for all trick or treaters.

Major Cawthon stated, "If parents and motorists join together and think 'safety first,' we can make this 1991 Halloween a safe and enjoyable evening for everyone."

EPA plans to move tainted soil to abandoned projects

DALLAS (AP) - Tons of hazardous, lead-contaminated soil will be dumped temporarily in a decrepit and abandoned section of the west Dallas projects, a move that has divided environmentalists and housing activists.

"We do not want any soil dumped anywhere near here," said Mattie Nash, a member of the Dallas Housing Authority board.

The Environmental Protection Agency said Friday it would begin excavating tainted soil at the Amelia Earhart Educational Center next weekend and move it to a paved parking lot at George Loving Place in the projects.

No one lives near the parking lot, however the projects are targeted for renovation and children play nearby.

The EPA has identified a dozen other places in Dallas, sites of former lead smelters or their dumping ground, where contaminated soil must be removed. Soil from those places may be stored at the projects for a month or more until a permanent hazardous waste dump is found, EPA spokesman Roger Meacham said.

"We will be taking a variety of safety precautions to make sure there is not accidental or inadvertent exposure to the people or the environment," Meacham told the Dallas Times Herald.

He noted that, though the soil has been targeted for action, the level of lead contamination is low, ranging from 500 parts per million to 1,470 parts per million. A level of 500 is considered dangerous, particularly for children.

The soil will be put on the parking lot instead of dirt so lead won't enter the ground. A tarp will cover the dirt and air and water runoff will be monitored, Meacham said.

John Fullinwider, a housing activist who fought to close the RSR Corp. lead smelter in west Dallas in the early 1980s, said the EPA should dump the dirt on the grounds of the former smelter.

"The old site is already a very contaminated site. If they're going to store it somewhere, why don't they put it there?" Fullinwider asked. "Why put it in a residential area, even if it is abandoned?"

Jim Scherbeck, of the environmental group Texans United, said he is glad the soil is being moved out of populated areas.

"Even if they can't find a landfill immediately for permanent disposal, at least they're getting it out of harm's way," Scherbeck said.

The Texas Water Commission has also identified places in Dallas, where lead has contaminated soil. But state officials have said they don't want to use any temporary storage facilities.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Opinion

Consider concept of educational choice

The valiant education reformer Polly Williams was featured speaker at the Reason Foundation's annual banquet in Los Angeles recently. If, at the end of her remarks, there was anybody in the audience who wasn't more sympathetic to the idea of educational choice, he must have been deaf.

A feisty state legislator from Milwaukee who happens to be black — and a Jesse Jackson supporter — Ms. Williams is the architect of a school-voucher program in that city's ghetto districts. The plan has allowed poorer parents to choose where their kids will attend school, instead of having the bureaucrats make the choice for them. They can even pick private schools, if they desire.

What drove Ms. Williams to this radical reform was simple exasperation. The public school that she and her constituents were forced to send their kids to were doing everything for their kids — busing them, desegregating them, integrating them — everything, she says, but educating them. "We were tired of them being used as guinea pigs, and wanted them to learn," said Ms. Williams.

The voucher plan applies the competitive ideal to the education arena. This is the ideal we're preaching to post-communist Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union: Let your economic institutions be market-driven, consumer-driven, rather than monopolistic and command-driven. Why should we perpetrate an old-style, anti-competitive Soviet model when it comes to our own education system?

The Milwaukee plan takes the money that comes to the city's schools from the state of Wisconsin and divides it among parents, allowing them to use it to send their kids to the school of their choice. The results so far suggest progress in combating high dropout and illiteracy rates that plagued the public schools.

Of course, the teacher union is fighting the plan in court. Union bigwigs say the public-school status quo has to be protected. As it happens, most teacher in the district don't apply that logic in their own lives. More than half of them with school-age children don't send their kids to Milwaukee's public schools.

If they can escape, why shouldn't the poor be allowed to follow?

Challenging the 'system'

Many Americans act like sheep, but how does Williams act? When using our charge cards, cashiers like to ask us to write down our address and phone number. I tell them my address and phone number are restricted information, and I will wait while they call my charge company to receive authorization. More often than not, they will just accept my signature.

I get many requests to do this or that. A new way to get out of an engagement that you are not all that enthusiastic about in the first place is to ask whether smoking is permitted on the premises. If the answer comes back no, my reply is "sorry." It's not being nasty. People have the right to ban smoking on their property, and I have the right to decide upon the conditions whereby I will enter their property.

By the way, another smoking policy of mine is not to use American carriers for international travel because they caved in and supported Congress' smoking ban so long as it was restricted to domestic travel. Some people might say, "Williams, you're a bad person for smoking." That might be right, but I support four American families plus my share of the missiles. That ought to count for something.

Advertisers like to inundate me with mail, much of which I consider a nuisance. Don't just toss the mail in the trash. I write the following: "Return to sender. This material gives rise to my prurient interest. Therefore, remove my name from your list." Since pornography is determined by the eyes of the beholder, postal regulations require that action be taken.

Somebody's always asking me for my Social Security number. My Social Security card reads: "For Social Security Purposes—Not For Identification." Depending on the circumstances, I ask people requesting the number whether they intend to make a contribution to my Social Security account. People always say no. Then I show them my Social Security card, with my thumb over the number, so that they may read the portion saying "not for identification."

How about those telephone receptionists who answer, "Hello, can you hold?" If I'm able to get the answer in before the click, I respond, "No, I can't, and I wish to speak to Mrs. So and So." Most of the time, you're curtly passed through to the person to whom you wish to speak. Another little telephone thing that's really bothersome is the person who says "o" when they mean "zero." Even telephone operators make this mistake, I guess because both are circular in appearance.

Then there are highway or bridge toll booths with a little sign, "Please, no pennies." If it is convenient for me to use a few pennies, I use them. A few tolltakers have challenged this practice whereupon they were told, "If I'm obliged to take Susan B. Anthony dollars as change, then you have to take my pennies. Moreover, pennies are U.S. currency and acceptable for payment of debt."

In 1991, the Bureau of Census sent me a long busybody questionnaire. What it got was the names and ages of persons residing at my residence. Constitutionally, the census is to be taken for the apportionment of Congress. The number of toilets in my house and my income have nothing to do with apportionment.

Some people might view these little challenges to the system outrageous, but they're mild compared to my younger years. In 1959, when I was drafted and sent down to Fort Stewart, Ga., with neither an orientation nor an appreciation for the Southern way of life, I organized black soldiers to go to the dance on the wrong night, unsuccessfully brought court-martial charges against officers and put the wrong race on military vital information forms.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1991. There are 72 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On Oct. 20, 1944, during World War II, Gen. Douglas MacArthur stepped ashore at Leyte in the Philippines, 2 1/2 years after he'd said, "I shall return." Said MacArthur: "I have returned."

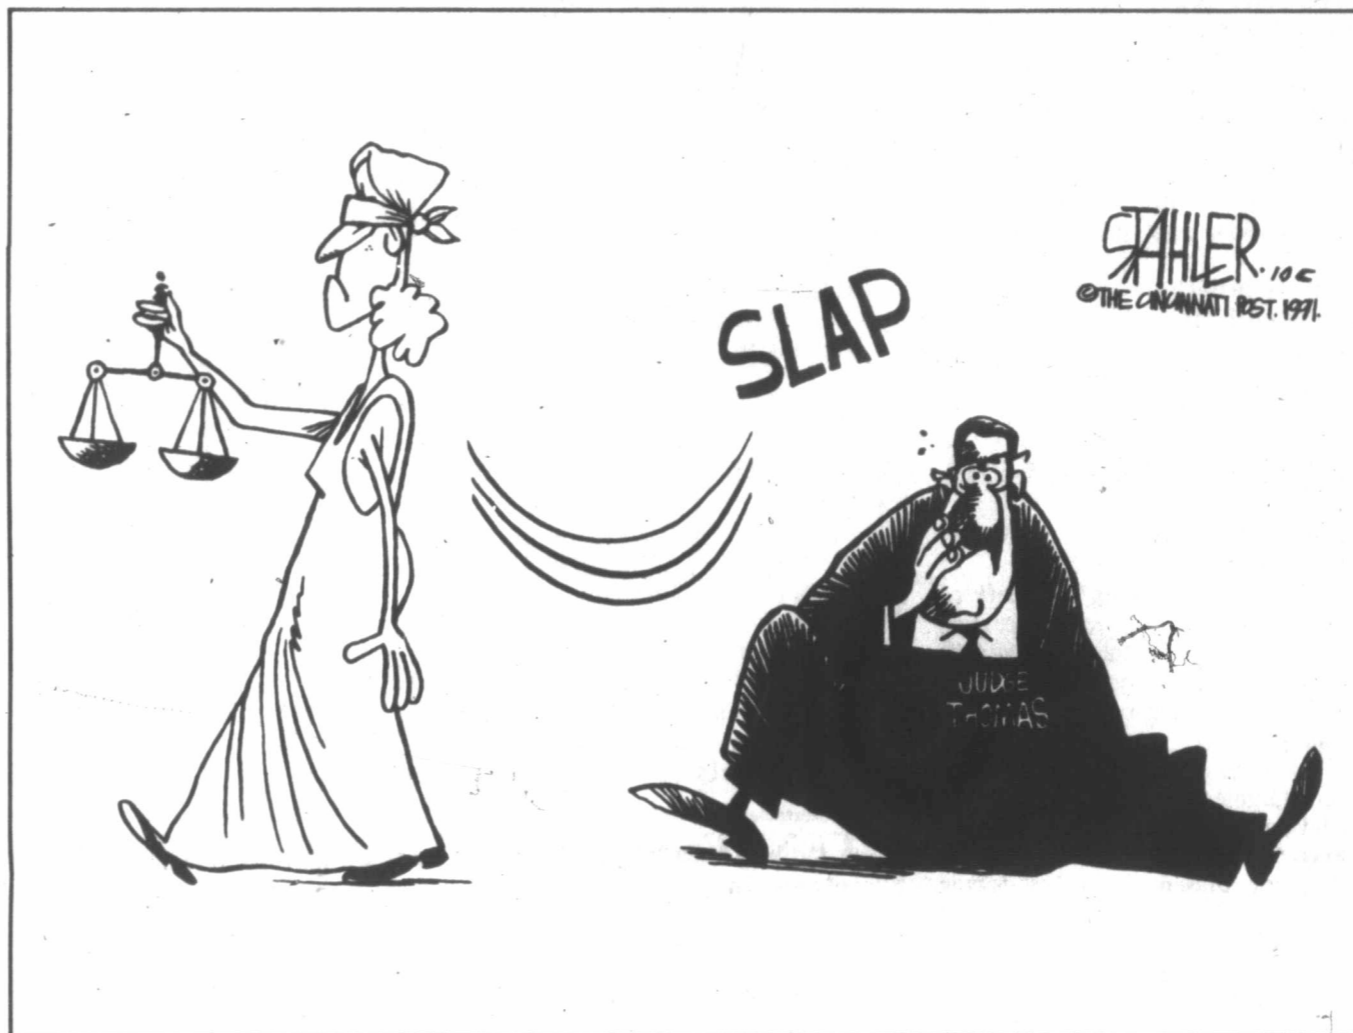

On this date:
In 1740, Maria Theresa became ruler of Austria, Hungary and Bohemia upon the death of her father, Holy Roman Emperor Charles VI.

In 1803, the U.S. Senate ratified the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1903, a joint commission ruled in favor of the United States in a dispute concerning the boundary between the District of Alaska and Canada.

In 1947, Hollywood came under scrutiny as the House Un-American Activities Committee opened hearings in Washington into alleged Communist influence and infiltration in the movie industry.

In 1964, the 31st president of the United States, Herbert Hoover, died in New York at the age of 90.

Worst deal I've ever made

My Dearest Marla:
It saddens me to write this letter. We've shared some interesting times together and in another time and place it might have worked.

But this is goodbye, Marla. It's over. Caput. Finis. Adios. Arrivederci, Roma (the one in Italy, not the one across the mountains from Dalton in Georgia).

Marla, you must understand that a man in my position (actually, I hold several positions, King of New York, Earl of the Atlantic City, Lord of the Rings, and I'll need the one I gave you back) needs a companion that is suited for his social standing.

I think the first time I knew it would soon be over for us was the night I introduced you to caviar (beluga, of course) and you asked the waiter for tartar sauce.

I could have looked past even that, Marla, but when I told you exactly what caviar is you spit it out and said, "I ain't about to eat this...." Well, Marla, you know what you said, and so did everyone else in the restaurant.

And then there was the time we were invited to Saratoga to the races. Did you have to scream, "Look at the sumbitch go!" during the feature race?

And Marla when the press asked you about our sex life, did you have to answer "Best I've ever had, if you don't count the county fair back home in '84."

And the way you dressed on occasion. Contrary to what you might think, a leather mini-dress and white cowgirl boots are not appropriate for an evening at the opera.

Lewis Grizzard

And when you were asked how much you enjoyed the performance, you should never have replied, "I'd have like it a lot more if I understood Spanish."

Marla, I tried. I tried to show you the finer things of life, but you never quite to the message. I could go on and on. You should never have argued with Governor Cuomo about New York City being the capital of his state. It is, in fact, Albany, Marla.

And do you have to snort so when you laugh? When I slipped and committed an indiscretion in front of our dinner guests that night did you have to giggle and snort and point at me and say to our guests, "Here that? My little Donnie stepped on a frog."

Marly, you've had a wild nostril hair coming out of your nose for weeks now. It's disgusting.

And I can't take it any more when you make motorboat sounds in your champagne, when you pop your chewing gum, and when I take you to the ballet and you wolf whistle at, well, certain anatomical features of the male performers; it's hard for me to show my face in this city.

Marla, you make Ellie Mae on the "Beverly Hillbillies" look like Princess Grace. I thought you were a Georgia peach, not a bowl of cold grits.

The White House is where the president lives, not Graceland.

And yes, Paul McCartney was once in a group. They were called the Beatles. And say "Sheeeyets," when you discuss the problems in the Gulf region, not what you called them in front of the Iraqi ambassador.

I just can't take it anymore, Marla. Ivana was right about you. You are an airhead.

Luciano Pavarotti is NOT a racecar driver.

The Phantom of the Opera is NOT a professional wrestler. "Les Miserables" is NOT a form of PMS.

Goodbye, Marla, forever. You've worn the writing off my last piece of plastic. You're the worst deal I ever made. And that's saying something.

Up to my ears in it,
His Donaldship

Can feds ignore the Constitution?

By EDWIN FEULNER

While democratic leaders in the Soviet Union are working to dismantle one police state, here in the United States federal regulators are hard at work building another.

This fall, Congress will consider legislation that would grant the Food and Drug Administration KGB-like police powers. Under the proposed new rules, for example, the FDA would acquire the power to conduct warrantless searches and electronic surveillance.

This means that FDA inspectors could, at any time, simply walk into a business and demand to inspect its records — even if there is no reason to suspect the company of any wrongdoing. Or it could "bug" business phone lines, or install hidden cameras — all without a search warrant of any sort.

The bill also would give the FDA sweeping new powers to ban products. Without giving a company the right of appeal or hearing, any FDA employee would have the ability to impose a 20-day embargo on products regulated by the FDA.

Worse, the rules would make the FDA prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner. After conducting its warrantless "fishing expeditions," the FDA could determine whether a crime had been committed, and then levy fines of up to $250,000 on individuals and $1 million on companies for each violation. Since there are few, if any, safeguards to prevent FDA abuse of power, a company could be hit with a $1 million penalty for each crate of orange juice that has the wrong zip code on the return address label.

Supporters of the legislation argue that the FDA — which regulates products that account for about 25 percent of the U.S. gross national product — needs these new powers to strengthen its ability to ensure safe foods and drugs. But the proposed new powers go far beyond mere enforcement of the law. They tears down important protections against government tyranny.

Indeed, they give the FDA virtually unlimited police powers. Before conducting searches or "bugging" a telephone line, law enforcement officials must get a court order. And under the Constitution, everyone has the right to a hearing, and to appeal government decisions.

The FDA, however, could simply ignore such basic American rights.

Little by little — and sometimes by great leaps and bounds — the government is gaining control of how you do business, where you spend your money, and how you live your life. In just the first four months of this year, the federal government issued more than 1,540 pages of regulations covering everything from video games to how close you can get to dolphins and seals. Under federal wetlands regulations, the government can even prevent you from planting a garden in your own back yard.

These regulations cost the economy at least $185 billion in 1990, according to one estimate. They also manage to kill a lot of valuable time: Americans spend more than 5.3 billion hours filling out government forms last year — enough to keep 2 million people doing nothing but filling out forms year-round.

And of course, someone has to see that all of these regulations are followed. In 1992, the federal government will employ more than 122,400 regulatory police and paper-pushers, and spend more than $13 billion enforcing thousands of federal regulations.

The proposed new rules are just one more step in the federal government's campaign to completely control the lives of the average American. If the FDA gets its way, how long will it be before other federal agencies ask for the power to ignore the Constitution?

Letters to the editor

Give Columbus a break

To the editor:

We see by the newspaper that several educational and other organizations are trying to make Christopher Columbus a non-person by saying he caused all the bad happenings of the last 499 years of American history, with no credit for the good things, if there were any.

Historians must agree that war was the way of life in the old world, and in the Americas, long before Chris ever sailed the ocean blue. The colonists did not invent wars of conquest. These wars existed in both worlds.

We know that history is but a tale written by the winners, so we suppose we could rewrite all of the American history books, and we could burn all the old books if it would help any. We just don't know what we could do about the books in the rest of the world. We would then be in the same fix that the USSR has been in for the last few decades. They rewrote the history of Russia and the USSR, but the world remembered, and there was nothing the Kremlin could do about it. Could our scholars do better?

And the world will still remember Columbus for discovering America.

Objects to coverage of Lefors-McLean football

To the editor:

I could not believe the opinionated mess Bear Mills wrote as coverage of the Lefors-McLean football game. I certainly feel it was a repercussion of my calling yours and Mrs. Fletcher's attention to the lack of coverage the Pirates have gotten in The Pampa News.

Fans and players alike came away from the game with a feeling of pride and accomplishment. To Mr. Mills, it may have been like "an inter-varsity drill," where one coach didn't "mercy kill," his opponents when there could have been, "an out-for-blood against your biggest rival" game. It was a breath of fresh air to see a well-coached, well-played contest we wish fans could see more often in six-man football. As the old saying goes, "It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." To my knowledge, every player on both squads saw valuable game time, there were no serious injuries, and no hard feelings as there have been in the past when these two teams met.

Quotes concerning Coach Jerry Miller's integrity never should have been a part of the story. He is a first class gentleman "who cares about all kids, not just his own." The biggest "help" he could ever have given the Pirates was in raising a son with great leadership ability who cares about his kids. He has made the Pirates a team and they've been looking in that area for years.

The Pirates were able to score several times against the Tiger man string. More than that, it was a team effort, not a one-man show. As Coach Ronny Miller has impressed on the Pirates, "there is no 'I' in the word 'team.'" You could have given a much more accurate account of the game if you had reprinted the stats from the Amarillo paper. They gave credit where credit was due.

Mr. Mills, our team may be a bunch of young, inexperienced names to you, but to those of us who know them, a group of fine young men who work hard from the onset of season knowing they'll face teams with twice their size, numbers and experience. They love the competition of the game and represent their school well. It's sad when their ability, good coaching and a positive game experience are ruined by an opinionated news writer. I won't ask the paper to print comment made by Lefors fans as you did in your account of the game. I'll suffice to say the comments I have heard are far from flattering.

More on Lefors-McLean

To the editor:

Mr. Mills' coverage of last week's Lefors-McLean football game was absolutely the last straw!

After several years of quietly asking for even the smallest amount of coverage and support for our Lefors Pirates teams, and receiving none, we finally get a bunch of garbage such as that Mr. Mills dished out in last Sunday's Pampa News.

If you check past issues of the News, you will find coverage of not only McLean games, but Groom, Canadian, Miami, and a host of other area towns, who, for the most part, have their own hometown newspapers, and whose newspapers are more than willing to cover their own hometown teams. We, being from Lefors, have no other source for our local news but the Pampa News, and yet you remain unwilling to support our teams or our town in any way.

Now, let's look at some facts:

1. Lefors has approximately 40 students total enrolled in Lefors High School - McLean has, I believe, 73 students enrolled in McLean High.

2. Lefors had 10 players suited up for Friday night's game, while McLean had at least twice that many.

3. Lefors has no seniors on its team whatsoever. The starting line-up for Lefors was one freshman, two sophomores, and three juniors, which should certainly account for the "youth and inexperience" Mr. Mills referred to. Could Pampa's junior varsity stay on the field with the Pampa Harvesters and not get blown away? I don't think so. McLean had four seniors on their starting team, with two juniors rounding out the starting line-up, and several more upper classmen ready to fill in when necessary.

4. McLean had enough players in reserve to field at least two more complete teams, thereby giving their starting team a chance to rest. Lefors could only substitute one or two players at a time. Some players stayed on the field the entire game. Could you play four quarters of uninterrupted football, Mr. Mills? I think not.

My point, Mr. Mills, is that had you looked at the facts surrounding the "mauling" of Lefors, you would have seen that maybe they didn't get "mauled" quite as badly as you thought.

For several years we have suffered through some rough times in not only football, but most other sports as well. We are fortunate enough this year to have found the leader our football team has been looking for.

In years past, the Lefors Pirates would have had a hard time staying on the field with McLean's "B" team, much less staying on the field for more than two quarters with their "A" team. Yes, McLean's Coach Miller did put his "B" team in, and yes, we did score off the "B" team, but you failed to mention that we were also able to score points off the "A" team. Please also note that while Coach Miller put his "B" team defense in the game against us, it took their "A" string offense to score the big points that McLean was looking for.

To your point that McLean's Coach Miller could have gone for the "mercy kill" at any time, maybe so, but what would that have accomplished? Coach Miller is losing four of his starting team members this year, and where will the experience his underclassmen will so desperately need next year come from? It will have to come from games such as the Lefors-McLean game, otherwise, you might be forced to write about McLean's "youth and inexperience" next year.

One more point I would like to make is that I am personally delighted to see the "blood rivalry" game you were looking so forward to did not materialize. Mr. Mills, Lefors-McLean games have had a past history of violence and unsportsmanlike conduct, and I for one don't like or appreciate it. Football is rough enough without adding in tempers and attitudes. That is the way young people get hurt. Both teams are to be commended on their sportsmanship, and you, Mr. Mills, should be admonished for even looking for such behavior. Maybe if you ever have a football-playing son, Mr. Mills, you will understand.

I am extremely proud of the progress our young football team has made this year. We have some truly talented young people who have been looking for someone to teach them to be winners. We are lucky enough to have found that person in Coach Ronnie Miller. In the short time he has been in Lefors, he has earned the greatest respect from both the players and the fans.

You were wrong, Mr. Mills. The score might have reflected a mark in the loss column for Lefors, but had you looked at the overall performance of both teams, you might have seen that Lefors came out big winners as far as progress made since last year.

Please, Mr. Mills, if you can't write something positive about our Lefors youth, please don't write anything at all.

Judy L. Williams
Lefors

P.S. - Mr. Mills, you might try finding something new to write about in your "Off Beat" column other than your daughter. Though I am sure she is very special to you, I am also sure she has done nothing that most other babies haven't already done. How about a new topic?

P.S.S. - Now, Mr. Mills, how does it feel to be told your child just doesn't quite measure up? Point taken?

Editor's Note - Mr. Mills asks that you read his "Off Beat" column on Page 3 today for a response to your letter.

Divide crafts fair weekends

To the editor:

I think it is sad that for the second year that I know of the Pampa Mall has had an arts and crafts fair on the same weekend as the Pampa Fine Arts Festival. The Pampa Fine Arts Association has had their festival on the second weekend in October for 25 years. I believe it is always posted on the Community Calendar and that should be their weekend.

Perhaps the Mall could choose another weekend and maybe some of the artists could exhibit both places? It would also give customers in town and out of town another weekend to patronize artists as well as local businesses.

Take complaints to those who are really responsible

To the editor:

We're all beginning to receive our tax statements for the year. Unfortunately, most folks in the Panhandle are feeling that government knife cutting a deeper hole into their pocket-books.

Tax time is never a pleasurable experience. Add this fact to the public's complete disgust with politicians in general and the result is firing blame at the most convenient or suspect individuals. However, the saying "don't shoot the messenger" really holds true.

Most increases in people's taxes are not directly imposed by the state, but rather these increases are due to certain mandates the state has placed upon public schools, cities and counties. Mandates or so-called improvements or corrections issued by the State Legislature are rarely funded by the state, and the local taxpayers end up carrying the burden. Even more frequently, these mandates are unnecessary and unwanted by the local people.

I would urge the Panhandle people to funnel their anger and frustration toward the appropriate officials. Don't blame the school board members or the city council members for raising taxes. The full blame lies with the Texas Legislature and Gov. Ann Richards. Holler and scream at those representatives and senators who voted for the $4 billion tax and fee bill. Write letters to those members who helped pass the public school finance bill. These are the elected officials we should protest, not our local elected officials who are forced to raise taxes just to run school buses.

If you are really upset with the 72nd Legislature, now is the time to voice your opinion while the issues are still fresh. It's time we held the tax-and-spend liberals accountable for their actions.

State Rep. David Swinford-R

PRPC plans public meeting on waste laws here Monday

Officials with the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission have scheduled a public meeting for 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 21, at the M.K. Brown Civic Center to discuss new federal waste-disposal regulations.

John Kiehl of the PRPC noted, "To a certain degree, the new Subtitle D regulations will inevitably affect every resident in the Texas Panhandle. The purpose of the public meeting will be not only to inform area residents of the issues at hand, but also to allow them to play a role in determining the future of solid waste management in the Panhandle for years to come."

Many small landfills in the Panhandle will be closing because of the cost of implementing the regulations, PRPC officials have predicted.

Those cities need to anticipate where they will take their solid waste and cities such as Pampa that have become regional collection sites need to adequately plan for larger loads, organizers of the meeting have said.

Kiehl said the PRPC wants public input on regional solid waste plans and their effect of residents of the region.

Conviction may cause loss of liquor licenses

NEW YORK (AP) - Five hotels owned by Leona and Harry Helmsley face losing their liquor licenses because of her conviction on federal tax evasion charges.

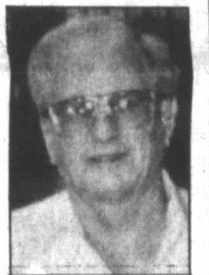

State law prohibits convicted felons from owning businesses that serve liquor.

Mrs. Helmsley, 71, was seeking a "certificate of relief," which would give the State Liquor Authority's commissioners discretion to decide on the liquor licenses.

State Supreme Court Justice Herbert Adlerberg ruled against Mrs. Helmsley on Friday, saying he had no jurisdiction in cases involving federal felons.

Owner appeals for return of statue head

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) - A sign written in red crayon attached to the body reads: "Reward for return of head. No questions asked."

Mimi Duncan is wearing black to mourn the theft of a head from "Spring," a 4-foot antique garden statue with an armload of flowers that has stood outside Mrs. Duncan's front door for 20 years.

"Spring," one of four mid-19th century Italian stone statues depicting the seasons, was decapitated late Monday or early Tuesday, police said.

The missing head is of a boy with "flowing locks, and a very sweet face with a turned up nose," Mrs. Duncan said Saturday.

"If somebody would turn up tomorrow with it, I'd be so happy," she said. She won't disclose the size of the reward. Neither she nor police had any leads, she said.

ASCE awards Barber life membership

American Society of Civil Engineers recently presented a life member diploma to Gene R. Barber, P.E., of Pampa for his service to the ASCE in the Texas Plains area.

Barber was a former state director for the ASCE and served as publisher of the organization's High Plains Branch Courier monthly newsletter for many years.

He is a 1951 graduate of Texas A&M with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering.

He is a registered Professional Engineer in the states of Texas and Oklahoma and is a registered professional land surveyor in the state of Texas.

The Texas Society of Professional Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Water Works Association and the Texas Surveyors Association are among the professional societies of which Barber is an active member.

From 1951 to 1957, Barber was employed as an engineer with Brown & Root Inc. of Houston. He was cost and office engineer for the construction of the original Celanese chemical plant at Pampa and also the 24-mile long Lake Ponchartrain Bridge, the world's longest bridge, located near New Orleans, La.

Merriman & Barber, Consulting Engineers, had its beginning in 1928 when the firm of H.N.

Roberts, Consulting Engineer, was established in Lubbock.

In 1947, H.N. Roberts and Wayland Merriman, as partners, organized the firm of Roberts and Merriman with offices at Pampa.

Roberts retired from full-time practice in 1954, but still acts as consultant to the present firm. At this time, the civil engineering division of H.N. Roberts and Associates was with Wayland Merriman, A.C. Bowden and R.M. Isbell as principals, under the name of Roberts, Merriman and Bowden. Offices were located at Lubbock and Pampa. Barber became an associate of the firm in 1957.

The partnership was dissolved in 1961 and the present corporation was formed under the name of Merriman & Barber, Consulting Engineers, Inc. with Wayland Merriman and Gene R. Barber as principal stock holders.

Barber became president of the corporation in 1980, a position he continues to hold.

Tax practitioner workshops available this fall

Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, is once again offering tax practitioner workshops across Texas this fall.

These workshops are led by CPAs and attorneys who are experienced in income tax reporting and planning. They provide valuable continuing education opportunities for tax professionals seeking CPE and MCLE credit.

This year, 26 general tax workshops, designed for practitioners who work mostly with individuals and small businesses, are offered in major Texas cities. The nearest one will be in Amarillo on Dec. 16, 17.

Fifteen advanced tax workshops are also offered. They are directed at the practitioner with substantial experience with individual returns, who does some business work, and feels the need to develop more skills in business work. One will be offered in Amarillo on Dec. 9, 10.

In addition to the general and advanced workshops, there will be four estate planning workshops, and three fiduciary income tax, corporation and basic partnership workshops.

An agricultural tax problems workshop, which was introduced in 1989, will be offered this year in two locations - Corpus Christi and Lubbock.

For a brochure with a complete listing of the 56 tax practitioner workshops offered in 1991, please contact County Extension Agent Joe VanZandt at 669-8033. Or contact the Tax Practitioner Workshop Office, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, 77843-2124, or call (409)845-5446.

4-H award jackets were presented to five senior 4-H'ers who had placed first in a district or state event for the first time. Receiving 4-H jackets were: Nathan Dawes, Grace Sutton, David Kludt, Erin McCracken, and Dennis Williams. State award patches for placing first in a state 4-H competition were presented to Kirk McDonald, Laura Williams, Grace Sutton, Holly Abbott, and Michel Reeves.

Junior and senior 4-H'ers earning patches or year bars for placing first or in the top four at district or state events included Jessica Fish, Jennifer Bliss, Lori Hefley, Moriah McCracken, Angie Davenport, Barry Brauchi, Brian Brauchi, Amanda Kludt, Bryan Bockmon, Matt Reeves, Shawn Dawes, Kim McDonald, Shelly Davenport, Kirk McDonald, Todd Black, Nathan Dawes, Lori Sutton, Erin McCracken, Laura Williams, Grace Sutton, Holly Abbott, Dennis Williams, David Kludt, and Michel Reeves.

Dennis Williams was awarded a watch from Game Conservation Intl. for being named bi-district shooting sports recordbook winner.

Other awards presented were: year pins, leader certificates, and junior and teen leader awards.

Providing special entertainment for the evening was the Pampa Show Choir. Laura Williams, District 4-H Council Vice-Chairman also presented a speech "Point of Light".

The E.T. 4-H Club hosted this year's banquet. Members of the Gray County 4-H Council and Adult Leader Council made awards presentations.

Phillips Petroleum working toward an 'Energy Excellence Award'

Panhandle Region of Phillips Petroleum Company is working with five public school districts to begin a yearly award for outstanding achievements in teaching science, math, or engineering disciplines.

The "Energy Excellence Award" will first be awarded in April, 1992, to a teacher selected by a committee of teachers and administrators from the Panhandle.

The award was initiated by

Phillips to help provide additional motivation for novel approaches to the teaching of science, math, and engineering. In recent years, studies have shown that student interest in these subjects has declined nationwide. These are the school subjects which are at the core of successful petroleum and petrochemical companies, which play a significant role in the Panhandle economy. Phillips believes it's in the best interest of the industry and the region to develop a partnership between business and schools to benefit these subjects.

Five school districts will participate in the Energy Excellence Award: Borger, Dumas, Pampa, Sanford-Fritch and PSP (Plemons-Stinnett-Phillips). These five districts are where Phillips has facilities or major employee populations. A committee of five people—one from each district—has set the guidelines for the award and will decide the final recipient of the award.

The selection committee is comprised of the following: Borger - Tibby Rogers, Borger Middle School; Dumas - Leslie Hutches, Dumas High School; Pampa - Pat Farmer, Pampa High School; Sanford-Fritch - Guy Nelson, Sanford-Fritch High School; PSP - Mike Horton, West Texas High School.

Entries for the award are due by March 11, 1992 from elementary, middle, and high school teachers in public school districts. Criteria for earning the award are being posted in each public school district.

The selection committee says its expectations are high for the entries. The best entries, says the committee, will show exceptional inventiveness, originality, insight, and dedication to teaching these subjects.

Entries must include unit plans and strategies, student projects, endorsements from school administrators, and an explanation of the teacher's philosophy about education.

The recipient of the award will receive continuing education assistance, a grant for school library and classroom materials, and the possibility of using his or her science, math or engineering discipline during an internship at a Phillips facility.

Chamber communique

Cheryl Pink, economic development specialist for Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo, will be the featured speaker at the Chamber membership luncheon set for 11:45 a.m. on Tuesday Oct. 22.

Pink's department responsibilities include industrial marketing and recruitment and community training and technical assistance for Texas, Eastern New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Pink will talk about her economic department and "high ground", an industrial promotional group with a membership of 22 cities.

Cabot Research and Development, David Kaul, manager are sponsors for the luncheon. Because all meals are catered, reservations are necessary for those who plan to eat lunch. Please call the Chamber office at 669-3241 on Monday.

The Chamber has a new video from the Texas Department of Corrections regarding the operation of a 1,000 bed unit. The ten minute tape is available for loan to civic groups interested in more information about the prison.

The tourism committee reports new highway signs on Interstate 40 at Adrian and Shamrock are now in place promoting Pampa. The signs read "Pampa - Your Passport to the Old West." Sponsoring the signs are Culbertson-Stowers Chevrolet and Robert Knowles Cadillac.

Future plans from the committee include putting up a billboard at the Pampa exit on I-40. There are also plans for a 4-color brochure about Pampa to be printed sometime next year. The committee meets Oct. 23.

It was reported at the recent board of director meeting the prison is now 15% completed with 90 to 100 workers on the job site. Completion is scheduled for Aug. '92.

The education committee, Ramona Hite, chairman, reports they are working on a promotional video for Pampa. Some funding for the project is already available and filming is scheduled for Spring, '92.

Gold Coats officially welcomed Subway Sandwiches and J.C.'s Family Restaurant last week as new Chamber members and new businesses in Pampa.

Next week's communique will detail Country Fair events and winners.

Wheeler remains unbeaten; Canadian blanks Clarendon

Wheeler 35, Claude 22
CLAUDE — Mack Marshall rushed for 112 yards on 23 carries and scored two touchdowns as Wheeler downed Claude, 35-22, in a District 1-1A contest Friday night.

Marshall scored on runs of 1 and 4 yards while Mark Marshall started the scoring by catching a 34-yard TD pass from Jason Beers in the first quarter. Beers also scored on a 12-yard run and teammate Jimmie Winter recovered a Claude fumble in the end zone.

Wheeler led 21-7 at the half and held off Claude the rest of the way.

Area football

"Claude has a good football team and we didn't play our best game," said Wheeler coach Ronnie Karcher. "Claude's offense gave us some different looks, but we needed a game like this that was a little closer." Claude bested Wheeler in total yardage, 313-277.

Lineman Chad Harris turned in an outstanding defensive performance for the Mustangs. Harris had one pass interception, knocked down several pass attempts and sacked the Claude quarterback a number of times.

Third-ranked Wheeler is 7-0 for the season and 2-0 in league action. Claude is 5-2 overall and 1-1 in district.

Canadian 40, Clarendon 0

CANADIAN — Steven Flowers and Chris Lee scored two touchdowns each as Canadian blanked Clarendon, 40-0, in a District 2-2A game Friday night.

Canadian lifted its district record to 2-0 while overall the Wildcats are 6-1.

Flowers scored on runs of 4 and 53 yards while Lee had 2 and 23-yard TD scampers.

Jody Stewart recovered a Clarendon fumble in the end zone for another score and Shad Jergenson threw a 20-yard TD to John Sam Krehbiel.

Canadian's defense, led by linebacker Jeremy Shaw, forced Clarendon into seven fumbles. The Wildcats recovered three of those fumbles.

Clarendon's record is 1-6 for the season and 0-2 in district.

District 1-1A six-man game.

Miami improved to 4-3 for the season and 2-0 in district play.

Neighbors, who completed 8 of 9 pass attempts, tossed three scoring aeriels to Aaron McReynolds covering 29, 35 and 60 yards. McReynolds' other TD passes went to Melvin Seymour for 70 yards and Jeremy Greenhouse for 8 yards.

McReynolds, who scored four times, led Miami's rushing attack with 241 yards. He had 141 yards in receptions. Seymour scored three TDs and had 252 total yards (146 rushing, 106 receiving).

Miami led at halftime, 30-18.

"All of our players did a good job. Anytime you win a district game, it's a big win," said Miami coach Terry Bean.

Defensively, Bean said cornerback Andrew Neighbors and middle linebacker Dayne Howard played an outstanding game.

"Neighbors had a 29-yard pass interception for a touchdown that really sparked our defense," Bean said. "This was the first time for Howard to start because of injury to another player (Greg Kauk) and he did a good job."

Miami takes on McLean next Friday night. Both teams are tied for the district lead at 2-0.

"It's going to be an exciting week for us, getting ready for McLean. It should be fun," Bean said.

McLean defense paves way to win

By BEAR MILLS
 Staff Writer

McLEAN — Two Tiger teams clawed at one another during Friday's McLean-Groom contest before the home team pulled away with a strong defensive effort to cap a 49-6 homecoming victory.

Daniel Harris headed the McLean victory parade with impressive efforts on both sides of the ball in front of 600 fans from the two schools.

He gained 147 yards on the ground and scored five touchdowns, the last coming on a defensive interception two minutes into the fourth quarter.

McLean quarterback Christian Looney also looked good, catching his own blocked PAT and running it in with 5:40 left in the game.

The extra point capped a two-play series that started with Looney returning a punt 20 yards to the Groom 20.

Tanner Hess then broke two tackles to push his way to the Groom 8. On second and goal he carried three Groom players into the end zone.

After the game, McLean coach Jerry Miller said the key to victory was shutting down Groom back Brian Baker.

The 150 pound senior workhorse for Groom was extremely effective in running up the middle on McLean in the first half.

However, Miller said, keying on him the last two quarters seemed to take the wind out of Groom's sail.

Baker scored the only Groom TD on a first and goal in the second quarter. But the PAT was blocked by McLean's Harris, who caught the ball in the air and ran it 75 yards for a point.

Four plays later Harris scored again, stiff-arming his way into the end zone from his own 31 and putting McLean up 17-6.

Groom QB Bruce Britton used his considerable passing skills to connect with Daryl Homer several times in trying to get his team back in the game.

However, the swarming McLean defense and three second-half interceptions were too much to overcome.

During Groom's first drive of the second half Christian Looney intercepted a Baker pass intended for Homer.

Seven plays later Looney tossed a two-yard looper to Tanner Hess in the end zone.

On Groom's next drive Looney intercepted again, broke four tackles and went 60 yards for the score. The score came with 3:10 to go in the third and put McLean up 29-6.

McLean moves to 6-1 on the season and 2-0 in district, while Groom settles at 5-2 and 1-1.

Lefors scored in the first quarter on a 55-yard run by Gary Wyatt, but the Pirated didn't score again until the final period. A 3-yard run by Andy Swires and an 8-yard run by Jeremy Helfer finished Lefors' scoring.

Gregory Frazier scored three touchdowns to pace Follett's offense.

Lefors falls to 3-4 overall and 0-2 in the league. Follett is 1-1 in district and 3-3 for the season.

Arkansas hangs on 14-13 win over Texas

By HARRY KING
 AP Sports Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jason Allen and Kerwin Price converted Texas mistakes into first-half touchdowns and Jason Post missed a fourth quarter field goal as Arkansas held on for a 14-13 victory over Texas Saturday in the final game of their heated Southwest Conference rivalry.

Allen's 30-yard touchdown pass to Ron Dickerson and Price's 18-yard run gave Arkansas a 14-0 lead. Texas kept the Razorbacks in a hole throughout the second half and had a chance to tie with 10:18 left, but Jason Ziegler was wide right on an extra point attempt following Phil

Brown's 55-yard touchdown run.

The Longhorns started with 6:55 left, and with the help of a personal foul, reached the Arkansas 27. Eventually, David McWilliams sent in Post to try a 39-yard field goal attempt with 3:45 left but he missed to the left.

Minutes after the game, many of the Arkansas players returned to the middle of the field and celebrated. Some had already doffed their shoulder pads. Arkansas (5-2) moved to 4-0 in the SWC. Next year, the Razorbacks will compete in the Southeastern Conference.

Texas (2-3) dropped to 1-1 in the league.

The Longhorns' only turnover of the first half occurred midway through the first quarter when Peter Gardere, back to pass, was hit by Ray Lee Johnson. Henry Ford fell on Gardere's fumble at the Texas 45 and the Longhorns were flagged an extra 15 yards for a personal foul.

On first down from the 30, Allen faked a quick pass to Tracy Caldwell and the Texas defenders bit. Allen then threw to a wide-open Dickerson who beat safety Willie Mack Garza to the end zone.

Forensic expert to examine remains of Gov. Huey Long's alleged assassin

By RON HARRIST
Associated Press Writer

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — If any secrets were buried with Dr. Carl Austin Weiss a half-century ago, a forensics sleuth hopes to find them starting Sunday morning when the man accused of gunning down Huey P. Long is exhumed.

Weiss is the 29-year-old physician history books identify as the assassin who killed Long on Sept. 8, 1935, as the "Kingfish" and his armed bodyguards strode down a corridor of the state Capitol.

Long, Louisiana's governor from 1928 to 1931, was killed at age 42 when he was U.S. senator. A rival of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he was beloved by many for his "share the wealth" philosophy of a guaranteed income for the poor and limited income for the rich.

James E. Starrs and a team with acumen and curiosity Sherlock Holmes might admire on Sunday will begin delicately scraping away 20 inches of earth covering Weiss' galvanized steel vault at Roselawn Cemetery.

"We will be looking for answers to many questions but one question stands out above the rest — why did this happen," said Starrs, a forensic scientist at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., and publisher of the Scientific Sleuthing Review.

"Dr. Weiss had a blossoming career, he was highly regarded in the community and he had 3-month-old son. He had everything to lose — nothing to gain," he said in a recent interview.

Once the wood coffin is unearthed, the investigation shifts to the Lafayette Parish Forensic Laboratory, where an autopsy and extensive testing will continue until Tuesday.

The findings will be presented next February in New Orleans at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Forensic Sciences.

"We will be looking for answers to many questions but one question stands out above the rest — why did this happen."

— James E. Starrs
Forensic expert

Starrs is an old hand at using new science to research crimes of the past.

In 1989 he led efforts to find and exhume the remains of five victims of "Colorado man-eater" Alfred G. Packer, who was convicted of murder in 1880. The team found the bones of slain gold prospectors and determined much of their flesh had been removed, most likely for cannibalism.

Starrs said seeking the truth in the Long assassination may be his most intriguing challenge.

Witness testimony after Long's death indicated Weiss fired only one or two shots before he was struck dead by bodyguards, who riddled his body with 61 bullets.

The coroner concluded both men died of gunshot wounds. Nothing was said about who shot whom. A persistent rumor has been that Long was killed by one of his bodyguards during the fatal encounter with Weiss.

Starrs and his team will first X-ray Weiss' remains. Then experts in anthropology, pathology, toxicology and firearms will go over Weiss' remains and, they hope, bullets expected to be found in the coffin.

The team also hopes to examine physical evidence from Long's killing believed held by individuals, courts and other agencies.

Starrs recently hunted down evidence missing from Louisiana State Police files, including Weiss' gun, bullets recovered from the bodies, investigative reports and photographs.

That evidence is currently the subject of a court custody fight.

Starrs is eager to examine it all.

Dr. Carl A. Weiss Jr. of Garden City, N.Y., authorized Starrs to exhume his father's remains in hopes of resolving time's accumulating mysteries.

Not everyone welcomes the investigation.

"Others may wish to investigate the matter further. I personally do not feel the need for additional inquiry," Russell B. Long, Huey Long's son and a former U.S. senator from Louisiana, said in a statement.

Long, who was 16 when his father was killed, came to his own conclusion.

"Based on my own interviews and research," Long said, "there is no doubt whatsoever in my mind that Dr. Carl Austin Weiss went to the Capitol with the intention of assassinating Huey Long and that he fired the shot that killed my father."

He said he had no comment on the exhumation of Weiss but with his brother and sister would oppose exhuming his father's remains.

Dr. Doug Cummins discusses Shakespeare with a group of Pampa High School students following a performance of his play "Shakespeare Lives" at the PHS auditorium last week. Cummins, an associate professor of communications and theatre at University of Texas-Pan American, wrote the play and has performed it for the past three years to approximately 12,000 students. He holds a master of fine arts degree from Texas Christian University and a Ph.D. in fine arts from Texas Tech University. His performance includes few props — a desk, chair, bench, various hats and an enormous volume of The Complete Works of Shakespeare. Dr. Cummins was brought to Pampa High School and Pampa Middle School through the courtesy of the Pampa Independent School District, Texas Commission on the Arts, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

All the energy, enthusiasm and youth in the world are wrapped up in seventeen young women who lead Pampa High School as cheerleaders for the 1991-1992 school year.

"Cheerleading" is perhaps a misleading word, because those who are "cheerleaders" have jobs far more complex than the name implies. One who is cheerleader is a combination sign maker, morale booster, gymnast, and all around friend to the student body. Cheerleading has become rather a sport in itself and quality of performance is prized more and more. According to sponsor Gari Lord, the complexity of modern cheers requires more of a cheerleader than superficial qualities, but demands that the individual be an athlete and a leader. "It's athletics to me," she said.

During the week of July 31 through Aug. 3, varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders were honored with the "Award of Excellence" during a week of NCA workshops on the campus of North Texas State University. This award qualified them to participate in the national competition. Senior Callie Babcock was named All-American during the week.

The PHS cheerleaders have a goal for this year. They want to "take by storm" the 1991 National Cheerleading Association competition scheduled for December 26-29, in Dallas. During the competition, PHS cheerleaders will be the only team from the Panhandle competing against cheerleaders from all over the nation in the small varsity squad division. Junior varsity cheerleaders will compete in the junior varsity division. They will be judged on cheerleading technique, unity, friendliness, cooperation, leadership and sportsmanship.

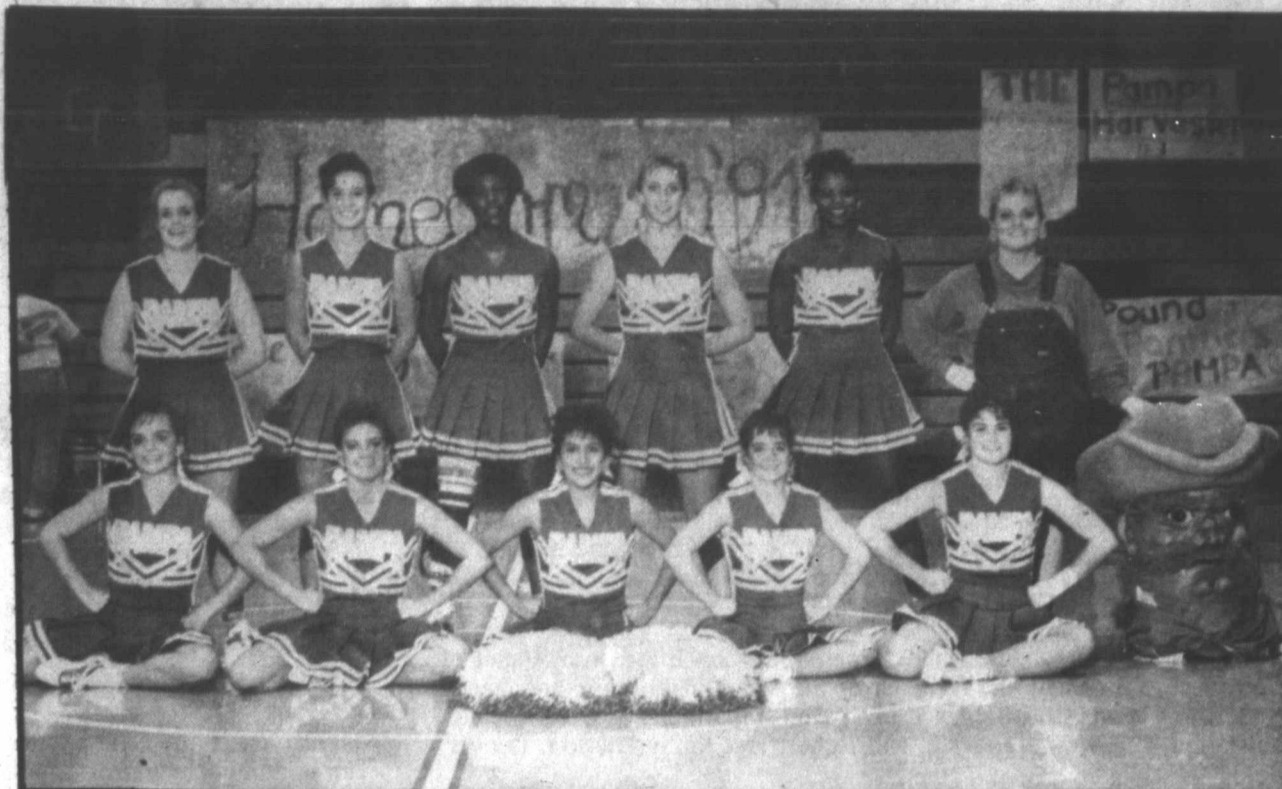

The squad members have ideas about the importance of their efforts. Head varsity cheerleader, Joy Cambern expressed it this way. "Our job is to reach out to kids and unite them and get them involved with other kids. We each support the other." Senior Leslie Forister said that she learned patience by her involvement with cheerleading because some individuals learn faster than others. Each squad member believed that she personally benefits by being a cheerleader. Members cited the increased ability to work together, support one another and have fun, too.

Lord said that dedication and hard work are required of each participant. Self-monitoring is a requirement for a successful squad, she said, and these young people are willing to discipline themselves.

Squad members are chosen by a combination of student body vote, NCA judges recommendations, and faculty recommendation. NCA judges rate those who try out for the squad on technique, jumps, tumbling, voice projection, enthusiasm, and over all effect. The "no pass, no play" rules are applied to cheerleading like other extracurricular school activities, according to Lord.

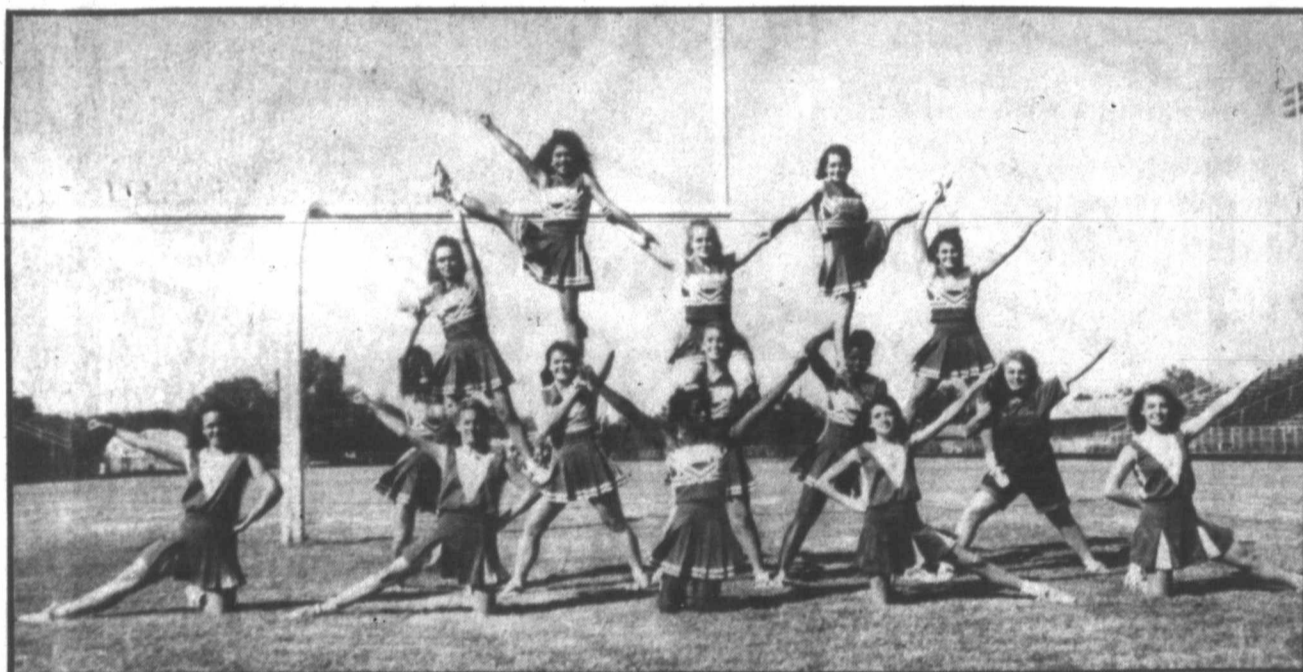

Future plans for the group include a mini-cheer camp in November to raise funds for the NCA competition. The squad will continue to support athletics at Pampa High throughout the year.

McLean native to be honored

McLean—Friends of Mary Hess Dwyer are hosting a retirement party in her honor, 2-4 p.m., Friday, Oct. 25, at the Bank of Commerce hospitality room, 201 N. Main, McLean.

For the past 15 years, Dwyer has been a family care supervisor for the program under the direction of the Department of Human Services. The program, initiated to hire in-home workers for the elderly and disabled, was designed to assist with personal care and household tasks, so that they might remain in their homes. In her capacity as supervisor, Dwyer, whose office is based in McLean, traveled in 26 counties in her district.

Dwyer was born in McLean, and graduated from high school there. She graduated from Stephens College, Columbus, Mo., and later attended Texas Tech, after her marriage to John Dwyer of McLean.

Mr. Dwyer served as a Gray County Commissioner for one month before his death. She served in his position for the remainder of the term before beginning employment in her present position.

Dwyer was active in the United Methodist Church of McLean for many years as choir member, teacher, pianist and church bus driver. She is active in United Methodist Women and served on the conference nominating committee representing the Pampa District. She is Christian personhood chairperson for the Pampa District and vice-president of United Methodist Women of McLean. Dwyer is active in all church visitation programs particularly with elderly and shut-ins.

She is the mother of Dr. Nelson Dwyer, Rusk; Ray Dwyer, rancher in Samnorwood; and Rose Helen Steele, physical education instructor for Pampa Independent School District. Dwyer lives in the family home in McLean, which was originally the home of her grandparents, George and Nannie Bean Sitter, later the childhood home of Mary and her parents, Jake and Bessie Sitter Hess.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Duane Franks
Elyce Michele Moroney

Moroney-Franks

Elyce Michele Moroney, Flower Mound, became the bride of Dennis Duane Franks, Plano, on Oct. 12, at St. Philip the Apostle Catholic Church, Lewisville. Rev. Larry Dennis and Rev. Jonathan Scallone officiated.

The bride is daughter of Thomas and Edith Moroney, Flower Mound. The groom is the son of Dennis W. and Sandra Franks, Plano, and grandson of J.D. and Grace Futch, Pampa.

Roxann Spradley served as honor attendant. Donna Bray, Jennifer Lord and Nancy Hermiston were bridesmaids. Lindsey Mise served as flower girl.

Brother of the groom, David Franks, stood as best man. Tom Moroney, Dack Franks and Chris Shay were groomsmen. Luke Jenson served as ring bearer. Roger Bray, Mark Jenkins and Geoff Gilmore were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Sheraton Hotel, Denton.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Lewisville High School. She has a bachelor's degree in journalism.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Plano High School and is attending DeVry Institute of Technology.

Following a wedding trip to New England and Canada, they are making their home in Flower Mound.

Tulia artist exhibits Oct. 25

Artist, sculptor and author Kenneth Wyatt will have a one day exhibit of his work at Citizen's Bank of Pampa, 1 a.m.-3 p.m., Friday, Oct. 25.

Wyatt is a western artist working in oil, watercolor, pencil, pastel, charcoal and sculpture, Wyatt produces his work for the public in original form, prints, note cars, limited edition sculpture and through his books as author and poet. His book exhibit will include The Apostles, his most recent publication.

Dr. Wyatt's watercolor and oil paintings are characterized by their fine attention to small details, feeling of intense emotions and depiction of realistic scenes from western life.

In recent years, the Tulia artist gained national recognition when he painted Offer Them Christ, commemorating 200 years of Methodism in the United States. Following this, Wyatt painted portraits of the 12 apostles, Paul and Jesus.

Heritage club plans Christmas Delights bazaar
The Heritage Woman's Club, a Canyon service organization, will be hosting its annual Christmas Delights Bazaar 9 a.m.- 5 p.m., on Nov. 23, at the Rex Reeves Elementary All-Purpose Room, 1005 21st St., Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mark Eubanks
Margaret Lois Andrews

Andrews-Eubanks

Margaret Lois Andrews, Lubbock became the bride of Douglas Mark Eubanks, also of Lubbock, on September 27, at St. John's United Methodist Church, of Lubbock, with Rev. Ted Dotts, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of William F. and Marjorie M. Comiskey, of Kansas City, Mo. The groom is the son of Reba and Robert Eubanks of Pampa.

Children of the bride, Sarah Andrews and Bobby Andrews, participated in the ceremony.

Grandmother of the groom, Lois Fagan Meador, provided piano music. Amos R. Meador was in attendance.

Following the ceremony, the Young Married's Class of the church hosted a reception.

The bride was employed by the City of Lubbock in the West Texas Library System - inner library loan department.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of Pampa High School. He is a 1982 graduate of West Texas State University, and a 1984 graduate of Texas Tech University, with a master's degree in public administration. He is employed as the recycling specialist for Sacramento County, California.

They are making their home in Sacramento, Calif.

Stewart-Davis

Gwen Stewart of McLean announces the engagement of her daughter, Judith Anne, to Robert F. Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis of Friona.

The couple will be wed Oct. 30, at the First Baptist Church of McLean. The bride-elect is a 1985 graduate of McLean High School and is attending Clarendon College, Clarendon. She is an emergency medical technician with McLean Ambulance Service.

The groom-to-be is a 1979 graduate of Friona High School. He is a paramedic, employed by American Medical Transport in Pampa.

The couple will make their home in Pampa.

Totty anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Totty are to be honored with a reception today, 2-4 p.m. in the V.F.W. #1657 hall. The reception will be hosted by their children and grandchildren.

Totty married Drucilla Upton on Oct. 17, 1941, in Lakeview. They have lived in Pampa for 43 years, where Totty worked for Cabot for 27 years. He retired in 1979.

They are members of the Moose Lodge, V.F.W., P.A.A.F.A. and past member of Knights of Pythias.

They are the parents of Barbara Franklin and Wesley (Jim) Totty, both of Houston. They are the grandparents of six.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

Woman who speaks out gets a mouthful in return

DEAR ABBY: We are a retired couple. During a recent heat wave, we mostly stayed in the house. My husband kept saying, "Do you hear a baby crying?" (Our neighbor across the street heard it, too.) I walked around our back yard, and a couple of houses down, I saw a baby sitting in a stroller, screaming! The sun was beating down on that poor little thing while the mother watered the yard. She never even looked at the baby.

I felt so sorry for that child, I walked over there and said, "Excuse me, but it's too hot for that baby to be out in this heat with no bonnet for 20 minutes."

She said, "B——, I work at a children's hospital and I know what I'm doing — besides, he's been out only five minutes!"

I said, "Don't call me a b——. He's been screaming for 20 minutes, and what you're doing is child abuse!" Then she called me a name you couldn't print, and aimed the water hose right at my face! As I walked away, she aimed the hose at my behind!

I am not a person who calls the police or children's services, but what should I have done? Covered my ears, eyes and mouth like those three monkeys?

UPSET IN OHIO

DEAR UPSET: Your neighbor has an ugly temper and a mouth to match.

You were right to speak up when you learned why the child was screaming. Although your neighbor's "abuse" was more due to ignorance than deliberate cruelty, the woman could certainly benefit from some instruction in parenting. Being an employee of a children's hospital doesn't automatically make one a good parent.

DEAR ABBY: Can retarded people get married? I always knew I was a slow learner because I was put in special classes for slow learners and have been labeled "slightly retarded."

I can drive a car and I own my own car. I have a job making deliveries for a liquor store. I am seeing a girl who was in my special class at school. She is also slightly retarded and she

LEADERSHIP RETREAT FOR JUNIOR MEMBERS

S.T.E.P. Up Thru 4-H (See The Endless Potential You Possess) is the theme for the upcoming leadership retreat for 4-Hers ages 11-13 at the Texas 4-H Center. The retreat is set for Nov. 15-17.

The workshop will focus on helping junior 4-H members learn and practice leadership skills through (1) interacting and relating to others, (2) learning and sharing, (3) communication techniques, (4) developing creativity skills, (5) understanding enthusiasm. In addition the workshop will help 4-Hers develop and utilize a positive attitude, learn creative and unique ways to teach leadership skills; and learn about 4-H opportunities.

The registration deadline is Nov. 7. Therefore, interested 4-Hers should contact the Extension Office no later than Nov. 4.

TRIBUTE TO YOUNG AMERICA AWARD

High school juniors are eligible to apply for scholarship awards to be provided by the Discover Card Inc., in cooperation with the American Association of School Administrators. More than 450 scholarships will be awarded.

Academic achievement is not the primary criterion for winning the scholarship award although at least a 2.75 cumulative GPA is required for students to submit a nomination. Entries are also judged on accomplishments in four of the five areas of leadership, special talents, community service, unique endeavors, and obstacles overcome.

Awards at both the state and national levels will be granted in three different categories and will assist students serious about continuing their education at vocational/technical schools, in arts and humanities studies, or in other studies.

Deadline for application is Jan. 5, 1992. For more information, call the Gray County Extension Office.

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

The Gray County Extension office has information on several international opportunities available.

Starting your business? Know your market

Corporate layoffs and the itch for independence are inspiring more people than ever to start small businesses. New incorporations are running about 55,000 a month. According to William Lawrence, director of Pace University's Small Business Development Center, in New York City, the hottest fields are business services (fax, equipment rental, to 4-H members and former 4-H members. These programs include the IFYE program for 4-H alumni ages 19-25. For details, contact the Extension office.

4-H ARCHERY

Archery is a new 4-H project getting started in our Pampa area. Youth of 4-H age, in the third grade or 9 years old through 18, are welcome to participate in this activity.

The project group meets every Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the Clyde Carruth Pavilion or "Bull Barn," located just north of the rodeo arena on the east side of Pampa.

Mr. Bill Forman is the main leader of this activity and other members of the Pampa Bowhunters Club will assist Bill in working with youth. Youth will learn safety practices along with basic archery marksmanship training. 4-H participants also will learn a working knowledge of archery tackle and maintenance of that tackle.

Youth and families interested in this project are invited to come out to the next meeting, Oct. 22 at 6:30 p.m. in the Bull Barn.

4-H SWINE

Youngsters with show pigs need to be alert to dry, dusty conditions in your pig pen or shed. The unusually dry conditions can create dust problems which can quickly turn to dust pneumonia in young pigs. If you have dusty conditions, wet your pen and shed down frequently enough to prevent dust from being a problem.

Many of our 4-H pig feeders are in the process of getting your pigs on feed. Be sure and provide them with fresh water and a high quality starter pig ration along with some bedding straw. If the bedding gets dusty, wet it down some. With the high afternoon temperatures we are experiencing, make sure your pigs have water in the afternoon.

If any of your need assistance with your swine projects, contact Joe VanZandt.

St. Vincent's School hosts Fall Festival on Oct. 26

On Saturday, Oct. 26, St. Vincent de Paul Elementary School will host its annual Fall Festival. A spaghetti supper will be served 5:30-8 p.m.

Bingo and activities in the gym kick-off at 6 p.m. and run until 10 p.m. The Knights of Columbus will be in charge of the charge of adult bingo. Other scheduled events include "kiddie bingo", train ride, sucker pull, cake walk, board games and craft booths.

Babysitting will be available for children ages 1-6.

St. Vincent's all-school chorus will be singing "A Touch of Disney" in the cafeteria 6:30-7 p.m.

Other food items, popcorn, soda, desserts and pizza slices, will be available.

Climaxing the evening's event will be a raffle drawing. First place winner will receive a $1000 gift certificate from Travel Express. The second place winner will receive a Game Boy from Wal-Mart; and the third place winner will receive a $50 gift certificate from J.C. Penny. Raffle tickets are available through the school office or from any St. Vincent's student.

Chairman for the event are Ginger McVay and Ann May. For further information, call the school office at 665-5665.

ACT I season opens with Wilder's 'Our Town'

Area Community Theatre, Inc. (ACT I) begins its eighth season with the production of "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder. This play, a Pulitzer Prize winner for Playwriting in 1938, has established itself as an American classic. By the spoken word alone, a cast of 40 creates a town, and a whole lifetime of emotional experience.

Production dates for "Our Town" are Nov. 8-9, and 15-16, with Bill Bailey, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church portraying the central character of the "stage manager". Steve Carlson and Marquette Wampler play George and Emily, with Terry Scoggin and Patti Lowrance as Mr. and Mrs. Webb, and Paul Carruth and Brenda Payne as Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs. Others featured in the unusually large cast are Jeff Hogan, Rick Welch, Randy Stephenson, Berinda Turcotte, Steve Carlson, Bob Bruce, Amber Crosswhite, Matthew Kirkpatrick, James Barker, Thann Scoggin, John McKee, Frank "Bud" Behannon, Doneta Welch, Dee Barker, Morrie Headley, Dave Bridges, Justin "Doc" Welch, Robbie Payne, Rex Payne, and Roberta Cavalli. The production is directed by Sandy Crosswhite, with technical assistance from Kayla Pursley, Darlene Hodges, Monty and Melinda Montgomery, Christy McCollum, Beth Cameron and Rick Crosswhite.

The annual membership drive for ACT I began with the sale of season tickets and patron memberships. For membership information call, Berinda Turcotte at 665-9369.

In addition to the fall production of "Our Town", ACT I will present this winter "A Night of Murder", (three one-act plays), directed by Kayla Pursley, and a spring production of "The Rainmaker", directed by Cindy Judson.

Grethel to design parade uniforms for Olympians

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Grethel will design parade uniforms for the 1992 U.S. Olympic Team. He will dress more than 1,100 athletes, coaches and officials, so will require a lot more finesse than finding a color and style flattering to a bevy of bridal attendants.

Anniversaries and special birthdays abound in Pampa

If you are ready for bits of info right for repeating, put down your leaf rake and rest a minute while we look around town.

Belated 50th wedding anniversary congratulations to Virginia and Howard Archer of Lefors. Their sons and families, Mickey and Sandra Archer of Sachse, and Dick and Christa of Borger, hosted a golden wedding reception last Saturday at the Lefors Civic Center, which was decorated with white bells, balloons and streamers with golden bows. One serving table held a double bell cake, similar to the wedding cake 50 years ago. Assisting with host and serving duties were their grandchildren Jennifer, Arian, Matthew, Luke and Cody Archer.

Virginia's niece Nancy Smith of Sacramento, Calif., made a gold and white memory book from special memories furnished by guests. Virginia had arranged two plaques, one depicting the first 25 years and the other the second 25 years of their marriage. Their sons and families presented them with an original watercolor painting. Howard and Virginia hosted a buffet for 45 family members following the reception. Virginia's sister and husband Cleta and Don Thomas of Auburn, Calif., came two weeks early to assist in the fun preparation. Other out of town guests, many of them family members, came from Denver, Arlington, Pampa, Spearman, Garland and Vernon. About 125 attended the reception.

As soon as Randy Hamby left Randy's Wednesday for home, employees pulled out butcher paper and black paint to paint a loooooong "Happy Birthday" sign for the front window of the store. Thursday Randy was 40, but according to his employees, who dressed in black and wore white ghostlike tags, was not over the hill. There was a birthday cake for customers. Nearby was a black wreath on an easel with some floppy, dead flowers. Randy seemed to like the idea of an all day birthday party. Congratulations on a milestone birthday, Randy! After all, life begins at 40!

Belated birthday wishes to Brenda Houser, assistant business manager of Coronado Hospital. The birthday cake said "Happy Birthday, Boss!" maybe a two-in-one cake for birthday and Bosses' Day a day or two later.

Other goodies were a bouquet of brightly colored balloons and a mop doll made by one of the office crew.

A warm Pampa "Welcome!!!" to Milton Cooke, owner and manager of the Subway Shop in Plaza 21. Milton, a May graduate of Texas Tech in restaurant and hotel management, chose Pampa over several possible locations. He and his 10 employees staged a pre-opening party last Thursday evening for all Plaza 21 neighbors, everyone who worked on or in the building, and a few more. In his spare time, Milton enjoys hunting and fishing. People who choose Pampa for a home always make fine Pampans.

The staff of Citizens Bank observed Sports Day last Friday by dressing the part. Duane Harp appeared in a football suit with a black eye. Rhonda Fletcher, as a fisherman, donned waders and a fishing hat. Larry Orman wore a jogging suit for great comfort. Cindy Ensey had the full regalia of a cowboy, including chaps, spurs, cowboy hat and boots. Kay Smith was a karate chopper. Donna Crawford and Jeri Mulkey came as baseball players. Bill Kindle, as a coach, and Pam Moorehead, a football player, won prizes of Texas scratch pads. A bank president in a jogging suit? Pretty cute!

Speaking of Citizens Bank...Belated congratulation to Rene and Lynn Marak on the birth of little Cailey Lynn, Rene's first born! Proud grandparents are Merdeith and Billy Cox.

Patsy Porter recently spent 12 days in Albany, New York, getting acquainted with her grandson Chad Austin Porter, son of DeAnna and Mark, and grandson, too, of Sylvia and Sam Porter, DeAnna's parents. When she left, Chad born Aug. 31, was a big boy at 4 lbs. and 2 oz., and best of all, was doing well. Belated congratulations to all!

Max and Vera Long, Odis and Larrine Qualls are four proud grandparents of Andrea Jane Qualls, daughter of Tammy and Steve of Austin. When Tammy returns to work as a speech therapist, Vera will spend November and Larrine December seeing that the little one is perfectly cared for and to interview any potential baby sitter. Can you top this for a baby sitter story?

Peeking at Pampa By Katie

Max and Beverly Robbins are enjoying the thrill of being first-time grandparents. Parents of the baby girl Kendel are Tina and Steve Moore of Boulder, Colo. Beverly has already met Kendel and Max has plans to do so. Max recently visited family in Canton, Okla., before meeting his baching days head on. Congratulations to all!

Ancel and Claudine Carlos, and Claudine's sister and husband, Irene and Leon Call of Mangum attended a reunion of Ancel's World War II buddies in Harriman, Tenn. At Rockwood there was a wreck that resulted in purchasing a new car on the spot. The good news was that no one was hurt.

Chuck and Lori Albus recently returned from a family visit in several parts of Texas: San Angelo, Trinity, Brenham, and Dallas with a trip to the Texas State Fair.

Don and Marilee Elledge spent a few days in Las Vegas.

Pauline and Marshall Gardner and Buddy and Betty Rowh of Fritch, took in all points of interest from here to Branson, Mo., as well as Springfield and Joplin, and a tour of Arkansas to see the beautiful foliage and with a stop at Eureka Springs.

Welby and Dorothy Pairish recently returned from a three-week stay in Cuchara, Colo.

See you next week, Katie.

Producers hope 'The Plague' puts Argentina on movie-making map

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — "The Official Story" won an Oscar in 1986, but "The Plague" may be the film that puts Argentina on the movie-making map.

Oscar winners, including William Hurt and Robert Duvall, are bringing Albert Camus' novel to the screen. Luis Puenzo, who directed "The Official Story," co-wrote the script and is behind the camera. Vangelis, who wrote the score for "Chariots of Fire," is composing the music.

"This is giving us the chance to prove we can do first-class films," co-producer Oscar Kramer said during a break in shooting at a plaza in the run-down Buenos Aires neighborhood of San Telmo.

"This movie for us could be the entrance to big cinema," he said.

"It's an enormous challenge." The comparison with "The Official Story" — which won the Academy Award for Best Foreign Film — is illuminating.

Puenzo spent the proceeds from years of directing TV commercials to tell a tale about the 1976-83 military regime's heart-rending effect on one family and the nation.

"(It) was shot at Puenzo's house with a few friends and cost about $400,000. When he ran out of money, he called me and a few more friends and we gave him some more," Kramer said. "That's the way Argentines used to make movies."

No longer. Even a cheap movie can cost $1 million, and it's almost impossible to get that back. Government subsidies have dried up, ticket prices top out at $5 in big cities, and more Argentines are choosing to pay half that to see a video at home.

Filmmakers in this nation that was dubbed "Hollywood South" in the 1950s tend to get foreign backing for co-productions or find another line of work. Only about 15 will be made this year.

Filming here by U.S. and European directors is not unheard of, just infrequent. Most come to take advantage of the spectacular scenery.

Iguazu waterfall on the Brazilian border was the backdrop for "The Mission" starring Robert De Niro; the lunar landscape of northwest Argentina for "Highlander 2" featuring Sean Connery and Christopher Lambert; desolate, windswept Patagonia for "Eversmile, N.J." with Daniel Day Lewis.

"The Plague" is different in that, aside from the stars, which include Raul Julia and French actors Jean-Marc Barr and Sandrine Bonnaire, most everyone else — the film crew, the rest of the cast, the costume and set designers, Puenzo, Kramer — is Argentine.

The $14 million budget makes it one of the most expensive movies ever filmed here. It is being shot in faded neighborhoods of cobblestone streets and drooping tenements in this once grand port city and national capital.

U.S. producer John Pepper said he chose Puenzo, who two years ago directed "Old Gringo" starring Gregory Peck and Jane Fonda, because "he is a visionary director who is capable of taking a regional theme and bringing out its universal significance."

The script generally follows Camus' 1947 novel about a plague that besets the town of Oran in North Africa.

Pepper persuaded the Nobel laureate's daughter to let him film the book by promising to be "irreverent — faithful to the novel but not yoked to it."

The movie is set in "some city in Latin America that could be any city in the world."

Hurt plays story narrator Dr. Bernard Rieux. Duvall is the handyman Joseph Grand, Julia the villain Cottard, and Ms. Bonnaire the reporter Martine Rambert, changed to a woman in Puenzo's script from the character Raymond Rambert in the novel.

The movie focuses, as does the novel, on how people react to crisis. In a timeless struggle of moral choices, ordinary people are moved to acts of heroism and wickedness.

"I never played anyone like Cottard," said Julia, who played Hurt's homosexual prison cellmate in "Kiss of the Spider Woman."

Danny Martinez

Two Houston comedians headline entertainment at Knight Lites Tuesday

Danny Martinez, Houston comic, will be headlining entertainment at Pampa's Knight Lites Tuesday, Oct. 22.

Opening for Martinez will be another Houston-based comedian, John Ryan. Performances begin at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Martinez began his career in show business in the summer of 1980 when he discovered stand-up comedy. He got his start at the Comix Annex in Houston where he was described as "one of the most promising new comics."

He's come a long way since the summer of '80, keeping the promise of being one of the brightest new comedians.

Martinez has entertained audiences in San Antonio, Dallas, Austin and Houston. He's served as master of ceremonies for Fiestas Patrias beauty pageant, the LULAC New Year's Eve Scholarship Dance, as well as performing at various clubs in the Houston area.

When in Houston, Martinez's a regular weekend performer at "A Good Humor Bar," the city's newest comedy club, which Martinez now claims as his home base.

When Martinez is not performing or writing material for his act, he continues his studies at the University of Houston where he's working toward a bachelor's degree in business.

During his off hours, Martinez enjoys running and competing in fun runs. He spends as much time as possible with his wife and children, who also serve as a source for his comedy material.

Martinez's love for making audiences laugh, his dedication to comedy and his talent for writing should carry him far in the field of comedy entertainment.

For reservations, call Knight Lites at 665-6482.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be an effective producer today, provided you don't take on too much, letting your assignments or tasks overlap. Do less, but do it well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are strong indications that someone you recently met could turn out to be a pretty good friend. However, in this early stage of the relationship, make it a policy not to loan nor borrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An important matter can be finalized today as you had anticipated, provided you do not deviate from your bottom-line objectives. If you make changes, things could get off track.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you find yourself with some time today, pick up the phone or the pen and get in touch with friends who would like to know what you're doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you handle matters properly at this time, you'll have good probabilities for adding to your resources, both materially and financially. Treat these areas with the respect they deserve.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You can afford to have several irons in the fire today, because your efficiency increases with your industriousness. You'll be happy and effective when busy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A friend might confide in you today, because you have proven you can be trusted. The information this individual may reveal could have far-reaching and constructive ramifications.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll function best today if you're able to associate with socially active friends. However, try to avoid participating in involvements that could put a strain on your purse.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The times and trends favor you today, so focus on endeavors of real consequence. Don't be dubious about your role or your goals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to expedite matters today, you might be tempted to use untested procedures. You're likely to do better with traditional methods than with innovative ones.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business situations can be worked out to your satisfaction today, provided you consider the other guy's needs as well as your own. One-sided negotiating could fall flat.

More couples opt for one child

EDITOR'S NOTE— Once upon a time, the birth of a first child was a brief stop on the road from newly married to a family of five plus a dog named Spot. Today, however, that firstborn child is frequently the last for frazzled parents short on time and money. This story, one in an occasional series on the changing family, examines some of the pros and cons of having, and being, an only child.

By LESLIE DREYFOUS
AP National Writer

Gail and John Duncan came to parenthood slowly, postponing the decision into their late 30s while building competitive careers and enjoying a lifestyle earned through hard work.

By the time they decided to have their first child, it was clear they would have no more. Their schedules were already so full, and money so tight. Both practically and emotionally, one was all they could afford.

"It's better to give one child the best than to give two children half as good," said Gail, 42, an advertising copy writer in New York. "One is affordable. One is manageable. One is a handful, as it is."

The Duncans have found happiness in an only daughter named Phoebe. Like a growing number of couples, they've decided that one child works for them where two could not.

"Instead of having an army of children, we have time to devote to one child," said John, 46, who runs his own interior design firm. "And she's learned to dovetail, to work together with us in our busy lives."

The baby-boom generation faces an economic and social equation vastly changed since their parents were starting out. Today's parents often spend more raising one child than their own parents spent on a brood a few decades back.

Millions of couples have adapted by scaling back the 1950s nuclear family ideal to suit contemporary realities such as the dual-career lifestyle and the high cost of child care, education or simply stocking the fridge.

"Middle-class parents want their children to have private schools, a car, a VCR and a college education," said Edward L. Kain, a

Southwestern University sociologist and author of "The Myth of Family Decline."

"But this generation is looking at downward mobility, and a great way of insuring against that is to have fewer children and put more resources into the ones you have."

Indeed, that's what many have done. The number of women 40-44 years with an only child more than doubled from 598,000 in 1978 to 1.2 million in 1988. And over the same decade, the number of women 30-34 who said they planned only one child surged from 1 million to 1.7 million.

"It's been a dramatic trend toward smaller families," said Martin O'Connell, a demographer at the Census Bureau. "It's much more common to be an only child today than it was a decade ago."

Whether by choice or financial necessity, it's also far more common for that child's mother to work outside the home. As a result, busy parents are often exhausted just imagining a larger family's exponential demands.

"Two children does not mean one more than one. Two children is like 600 children," said Wendy Reid Crisp, director of the National Association for Female Executives and the mother of an only son.

"According to the taboos, having three children you can barely afford is doing the right thing," Crisp said. "But I think the idea of having only one child because that's how many you can afford to provide well for is a very honorable idea."

For a growing number of women, it's also proved de facto reality. Couples increasingly have delayed childbirth well into their 30s while pursuing career and other commitments.

The parents of many only children found that, by the time they'd negotiated the right time to have a baby, the biological clock had ticked on until it was too late to bear a second child.

"Many women who started having children at 35 and up must go to great lengths to have a second child, but many do it anyway," said Susan Ginsberg, editor of Work & Family Life newsletter.

"Some feel the family isn't complete without two kids and others are driven by an inner need not to have an only child," Ginsberg said. "Many just don't want to put all their eggs in one basket."

Though a pragmatic and increasingly common option, many prospective parents still resist raising an only child because of firmly rooted stereotypes, however erroneous.

"I'm old enough to have been raised with all the stigmas and taboos," said Susan Newman, mother of an only son who was "supposed to be spoiled, demanding, selfish, unable to share, antisocial and therefore lonely."

But through her own experience and scores of interviews for her book, "Parenting an Only Child," Newman happily discovered otherwise.

"Only children are no different than other children," she said. "They are very successful, very well socially integrated and very happy."

In fact, far from feeling deprived, many siblingless adults say overall they're better off for it.

"It gave me the confidence to take leadership roles in student council, sports, drama, everything I do," said Meredith Varga, a freshman at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa. "It's something my parents instilled in me because I got all that attention."

Contrary to images of the only child as loner, Ms. Varga learned early on to be outgoing and personable. Without brothers and sisters, she had to make friends when school was out or the family was on vacation.

"There were times when I was a little lonely and felt deprived. And sometimes people said I was overprotected or my parents focused too much on me," Ms. Varga said. "But we share so much love. We're all we have."

John Armour is also particularly aware of his special strengths just now, as he too stretches his wings and starts his first year away at college.

"At the dinner table growing up, everything was adult talk and I think that made me more mature and articulate. My parents gave me a head start," he said from his dorm room in Rochester, N.Y.

"Only children get a lot of goodies they wouldn't have otherwise: camp, private schools, trips. From the time you enroll them in nursery school, you're forking out gobs of money," said Armour's mother, Nancy, who lives with her husband in suburban Dallas. "There aren't many people who can multiply all those goodies two or three times."

Students from Dickinson State University in North Dakota carefully excavate dinosaur bones this summer in a rugged area near the Montana-North Dakota border. The dig site contained two sets of bones from different dinosaurs.

North Dakota digs for dinosaurs — and for a place to put them in

By BOB MOEN
Associated Press Writer

BAKER, Mont. (AP) — With a careful stroke of his pick hammer, Larry League uncovers dinosaur bones and prehistoric fossils, secrets kept for millions of years. Now he's looking for a place to put them.

"It's like digging for gold once you get started on it," said Bill Kostelecky of Richardson, N.D., one of six college students who accompanied League on a recent fossil-hunting expedition. "You're the first person to touch these bones in 65 million years."

To at least four North Dakota communities, dinosaur bones could be gold of a different sort — a source of new money and jobs.

Bismarck, Dickinson, Marmarth and Bowman would like to have a museum to display the dinosaur bones and other fossils. A small portion of southwestern North Dakota is rich in such buried treasure, but the state has no museum to display it.

The state Geological Society believes the Heritage Center in Bismarck would be ideal because of its central location and technical expertise. League is from Dickinson State University, and Marmarth and Bowman are located in the area where the fossils are buried.

"As far as a full-scale museum, North Dakota has to be very selective when it puts that type of facility in," said John Hoganson, a paleontologist with the state Geological Survey.

The struggle goes beyond a display area. A dinosaur museum also is considered a cornerstone for economic development and grants for further excavation.

"These small towns, especially down in this corner of the state, there's just nothing here," said Larry Lecoe, Marmarth city commission president. "Anything that could be brought in would help."

League, 45, an associate professor of earth science, has excavated more than 7,000 bones and other specimens in a rugged area of southeast Montana, southwest North Dakota and northwest South Dakota. He wears a baseball cap imprinted with dinosaurs and exploding volcanoes, and the license plates on his four-wheel drive vehicle read "T Rex."

"This is our fifth season and we haven't been over the same ground twice," he said, taking time out from the dig while sitting at a table surrounded by bags of bones.

"We come back with stuff every day. We never come back empty-handed."

In the day of the dinosaur, the area was rich in vegetation supported by a subtropical climate. Rivers and streams emptied into an ocean that covered parts of North Dakota and the other Great Plains states. The Rocky Mountains were just forming.

Most of the dinosaur bones today are found in the prehistoric river and stream beds. One of League's recent digs turned up bones from two dinosaurs, a rare find.

His group also found a 3-inch section of a tooth from the feared meat-eating dinosaur, tyrannosaurus rex. Unwrapping it carefully, League revealed a pointed end with saw-like notches running down the edge.

League has a complete rhinoceros that dates back some 30 million years, bones from an extinct bison and other specimens ranging from turtles to plants.

He figures he's spent $27,000 of his own money to finance his expeditions. This summer, for the first time, Dickinson State is paying the $3,500 cost.

When he's not excavating a dinosaur site, League is raising money for a $6 million museum on the DSC campus. He believes it could house his collection and open up grant money for his expeditions. An attempt to get $2 million for it failed in the 1991 Legislature.

Merle Clark, a Marmarth rancher who calls himself an amateur paleontologist, said he would support a dinosaur museum anywhere in the state as long as taxpayer money isn't used for it.

And, he asks, "What's wrong with a small town?"

Marmarth, with 144 people, already has a building for the museum, Clark said. The building is in disrepair but it can be renovated for a fraction of the cost of a new building, he said.

"If we could get $50,000 ... we're going to be up and running in a matter of a couple of years," Clark added.

Bowman, about 30 miles down Highway 12 from Marmarth, also is working for a museum. But the two are not competing against one another; instead, they cooperate on research.

"We're using both museums as a means of economic development," said Dean Pearson, president of the Bowman Historical Society.

Some people consider League a private collector because he could take his artifacts with him should he move to another state, Clark said. "We don't allow anything for private collections," he added.

"We do have a resource right in our back yard, and we're looking to keep it."

TB outbreak at AIDS home shows importance of screenings

ATLANTA (AP) — Twelve residents at a San Francisco home for AIDS-infected people got tuberculosis over 15 weeks, showing how rapidly the lung disease can prey on weakened patients, federal health officials said.

The outbreak began Dec. 19 in one patient infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. While the lack of pre-outbreak TB tests makes conclusive proof impossible, "the ... clustering of these cases strongly suggests transmission of TB within the facility," the Centers for Disease Control concluded.

As is its custom, the CDC did not identify the home in its September report.

The outbreak "indicates the importance of TB screening for all persons who are HIV-infected or at high risk of HIV infection before they enter communal living facilities," the CDC said.

As many as 10 million Americans carry dormant infections from the TB germ, but most will never become ill. However, the disease can prey on the weakened immune systems of AIDS patients and people infected with the AIDS virus.

In agriculture

Joe VanZandt

It is amazing this fall that in one month's time we have gone from very wet conditions to very dry conditions. The higher than normal temperatures and some windy days have helped to deplete our soil moisture. We think and know that it is dry around here, yet when we start going north it gets a lot drier real quick. Gray County was about the northern boundary of the real good rains in early September. I hear that some parts of Kansas may be headed for possibly the driest year on record.

FROST AND PRUSSIC ACID POISONING

There may have been scattered light frost about two weeks ago, but it wasn't widespread. We know a killing freeze is just around the corner and a lot of sorghum is waiting for a freeze for harvest to begin.

Cattlemen that may be interested in grazing plants of the sorghum group (grain sorghum, sudan, hybrid sudan and Johnson grass) need to realize these plants have a potential for producing toxic levels of prussic acid (hydrocyanic) acid. Cyanide-producing compounds occurring in living plant cells are converted to prussic acid when cells are ruptured due to frost, mechanical damage, etc.

Prussic acid is one of the most potent toxins in nature. A ruminant consumes plant materials containing cyanide-producing compounds, prussic acid is liberated in the rumen, absorbed into the bloodstream and carried to body tissues where it interferes with oxygen utilization. If toxin is absorbed rapidly enough, the animal soon dies from respiratory paralysis. When lethal amounts are consumed, dead animals may be found without visible symptoms of poisoning. Symptoms from smaller amounts include labored breathing, irregular pulse, frothing at the mouth and staggering.

The risk from potentially dangerous forages may be reduced by following certain management practices in the fall:

1. Do not graze for two weeks after a non-killing frost.
2. Do not graze after a killing frost until plant material is dry (the toxin is usually dissipated within 48 hours).
3. Do not graze at night when frost is likely.

Animals affected by prussic acid can be treated with some degree of success if they are detected soon after poisoning. The dosage and method of administration are critical and best conducted by a veterinarian.

WINTERIZING YOUR HORSE

The temperature may still be in the 80s, but now is the time to start thinking about fall and winter management of your horse.

Management routines depend upon how much your horses will be ridden during the next three to four months, when you want it fit and ready in the spring, facilities and location.

Here are a few recommendations to incorporate into your management program:

Adjust your feeding program according to your horse's workload. For a 1,000 lb. horse, this may mean reducing his daily concentrate and hay intake from a summer ration of about 25 lbs. to 18 to 20 lbs., through the fall and winter months. Adult horses in winter can be fed an 8-10 percent crude protein ration (in the total diet), slightly less than during the riding season.

More hay offered in the winter helps prevent boredom in stalled horses. Additionally, increased hay consumption produces more heat, which helps warm the horse's body.

Maintain riding horses in winter at a condition score or degree of fatness of 5 or slightly above, which means enough fat cover so that the ribs can barely be felt. To check this degree of fatness, palpate or feel the ribs of your horses weekly and adjust energy intake accordingly. Don't be fooled by long hair, which can make a thin horse look fat.

Horses in winter may consume only half the water they drink in summer, but water consumption is still vitally important. Ice cold, partially frozen water may retard water intake, leading to digestive disorders such as impaction colic.

If you are not concerned with short haircoat, remove horses in late summer from artificial lighting regimes that inhibit hair growth. Healthy horses with long winter coats can withstand cold temperatures. Precipitation accompanied by freezing winds, however, can cause chilling and hypothermia. Prevent this situation by providing pastured horses a covered windbreak where they can retreat from the wet and wind.

If you want your horse to prematurely shed in the spring, place him under an artificial lighting regime for 60-75 days. If horses are kept stalled through the winter, under artificial lights, their hair coats will remain short. Short-haired horses should be covered with light sheets or medium to heavy blankets, and possibly hoods, if it's quite cold. Try to avoid horses sweating under heavy blankets during warm days.

If horses will not be ridden for a month or more, pull their shoes and trim their feet. This allows the horses' feet to expand and the nail holes to grow down and out.

Horses need some type of exercise program in winter to stay in good mental and physical condition. Turning horses in large paddocks or small pastures with run-in sheds is ideal. If horses are kept stalled, they need to get out for an hour or two five to six days per week.

A light forced exercise program through the fall and winter months, accompanied by free exercise, will maintain a moderate degree of physical conditioning in your horse. This moderate degree of fitness can shorten up the spring legging up and conditioning period by four to six weeks. Lastly, stay on your routine deworming and immunization schedule, as recommended by your veterinarian.

A horse with a fresh mind and a rested sound body should start the spring season with a competitive edge over those horses that are thin, extremely fat, or out of condition.

TWPA essay contest offers leadership development awards for wheat growers

Young Texas wheat farmers are eligible to enter an essay contest to compete for two leadership development awards of which 40 will be awarded nationally.

The program of the Texas Wheat Producers Association and National Association of Wheat Growers is sponsored by Monsanto Agricultural Products Company and the Production Credit Associations of Texas.

The awards are designed to acquaint young wheat farmers with the wheat association's organizational structure, leadership development, policy development, and the education aspects of attending wheat organizational meetings policy development, and the education aspects of attending wheat organizational meetings according to Cagle Kendrick, President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

The awards which total more than $1000 each are to defray the cost for the winners to participate in their choice of either the National Association of Wheat Growers 1992 Annual Convention, held January 29-February 1, 1992, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Any Texas wheat farmer between the age of 20 & 35 years, who has not previously participated in either of the NAWG meetings mentioned above is eligible to enter.

Winners are selected based upon completion of a short questionnaire relative to their perception of the current greatest needs of wheat farmers, how they are or would be utilizing their leadership abilities, along with a brief 50-word essay, explaining why they would like to receive the educational grant.

Entry forms may be obtained by either writing or calling Rodney Mosier of the Texas Wheat Producers Association office (803 Texas Commerce Bank Bldg., 2201 Civic Circle, Amarillo, 79109—Tele# 806/352-2282).

The deadline for entering the contest is Nov. 10.

Area farmers report good fall sorghum, corn harvests

Area corn and grain sorghum farmers are optimistic about this year's crops of corn and grain sorghum, as harvest of corn is almost complete and grain sorghum harvest is in full swing, reports the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service's (ASCS) County Executive Director Matt Street.

The moisture received in late spring and summer, as well as the warm fall weather, has helped to provide the promising harvest, Street said.

Steve Martin, who farms in the Laketon community, reports that most of the acres of grain sorghum, harvested thus far, has produced an average to an above average yield in this area.

Local ASCS records indicate that more than 39,000 acres of corn and grain sorghum were planted in Gray County in 1991.

FmHA reviewing portfolio of borrowers

TEMPLE — U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) continues to review its portfolio for possible graduation of borrowers to private credit as mandated by Congress, Neal Sox Johnson, FmHA State Director in Temple, said today.

The FmHA credit programs are administered in a manner that will assure that they do not supplant or compete with credit available to farmers, rural families and groups from other reliable credit sources.

The law requires that FmHA borrowers should graduate to other credit on reasonable rates and terms when they are able to do so, Johnson said.

FmHA, as the lending arm of the U.S. Government, has long been a source of credit for farmers, ranchers and rural home owners that were unable to obtain credit through commercial lenders such as banks, savings and loan, Production Credit Associations, and Federal Land Banks.

"We have attempted to aid those borrowers as a 'Lender of Last Resort,'" Johnson said.

Nationwide, and on an annual basis, FmHA reviews its loan portfolio to determine those borrowers who have progressed to the point that they no longer need government assistance to obtain credit.

This annual review is currently being conducted by the local Farmers Home Administration office, Johnson said.

FmHA borrowers in this area may be contacted to furnish information and contact area lenders to ascertain their ability to move their loan to those private lenders.

The mission of the FmHA lending program is that of "Temporary source of supervised credit in modest amounts" to those who are unable to obtain credit elsewhere.

USDA to make $1.6 billion in CRP payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cash payments of more than $1.6 billion will be made to about 345,000 producers participating in the Conservation Reserve Program, Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan said Thursday.

"The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will notify its county offices today to immediately issue annual CRP rental payments," Madigan said, calling the payments "essential to many producers now."

The annual rental payments are for contracts that producers signed to place cropland in the CRP in crop years 1986-91. Under the program, producers agree to retire from production for 10 to 15 years eligible cropland that's highly erodible or contributing to a serious water quality problem.

In return, USDA makes annual rental payments to the producers and shares with them the cost of establishing an approved vegetative cover.

To date, 35.6 million acres have been enrolled in the program.

Fat youth may lead to illness later

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even otherwise healthy young adults shouldn't count on being fat and getting away with it.

Experts say there's a good chance of sickness later unless they start working off the weight.

Obesity — having too great a percentage of your body as fat — can lead to heart disease, high blood pressure and diabetes, especially after people enter middle life.

"If a 20-year-old is 30 percent fat, that is a bit scary, because he could be 40 percent by the time he's 40," said Michael L. Pollock, director of the Center for Exercise Science at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

A healthy college-age man should be no more than 15 percent fat, and a college-age woman should be no more than 25 percent, Pollock said. Being 10 percent to 12 percent fat or more above those levels should be a red flag, he said.

"The health risk is really strong for those people," Pollock said. "He may not notice at 20, but in his 30s and 40s, it's going to catch up quick."

Nailing the risk of disease down to individual cases is not so easy, however.

"It depends on the level of overweight and a lot of other factors," said epidemiologist Steven N. Blair of the Institute for Aerobics Research in Dallas. Factors to watch for are the ones that indicate you've begun to get sick, such as elevated blood pressure.

Another factor is the location of your fat. Researchers have found that people who carry their weight on their bellies have a higher risk of heart disease than people who carry it around their hips.

Some people have inherited the tendency to be larger, but a genetic tendency toward obesity is not so bad by itself, Pollock said.

"Obesity is only one risk factor and, if that's the only one, you can do pretty well," he said.

Names in the News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Academy Award winner George Kennedy, who began his acting career as a toddler and matured into a tough guy with heart, got a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

Kennedy said it was a "wonderful, wonderful moment" when he received his star Thursday.

"Ever since I was a little boy my primary heroes were movie stars," he said. When Kennedy was 2, he joined a touring company production of "Bringing Up Father." Five years later, he was a disc jockey with a kids' radio show.

He went on to spend 16 years with the Army, serving during World War II and earning two Bronze stars.

Kennedy won his Oscar for best supporting actor for his role as a veteran chain gang inmate alongside Paul Newman in "Cool Hand Luke." His other films include "The Dirty Dozen," "Guns of the Magnificent Seven" and "The Naked Gun."

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — "Wheel of Fortune" letter-turner Vanna White says news coverage of Clarence Thomas' confirmation hearings was "blown way out of proportion."

The Senate confirmed Thomas to the U.S. Supreme Court on Tuesday, following lurid testimony about allegations of sexual harassment by former Thomas aide Anita Hill.

Testimony by Thomas, Hill and other witnesses was televised live over the weekend.

"It was blown way out of proportion," Miss White said Thursday at a shopping mall opening. "It should not have been shown on television. It should have been a private matter."

"People often say I am a sex symbol. And guys make passes at me and blow whistles at me," she said. "I just throw it off my back. I don't think anything of it. That's the way it is. If someone raped me, that's a different story."

SEATTLE (AP) — Singer John Mellencamp was hospitalized after he became dizzy while performing on radio during the last day of an exhausting 17-day promotional tour.

Mellencamp, 40, was resting comfortably in satisfactory condition at Swedish Hospital, Dr. John Olsen said Thursday. Olsen blamed the illness on exhaustion and poor eating habits.

Mellencamp's promotional tour included visits to 46 radio stations, said his representative David Lonca. "It's been pretty torrid, to say the least," he said.

Bids will be opened in the City Finance Conference Room, City Hall, Third Floor.

This project is being funded by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the City of Pampa. Information for Bidders, Proposal Forms, Plans and Specifications may be obtained from the office of the City Purchasing Agent, City Hall, Pampa, Texas, phone 806/669-5700, 200 W. Foster, Pampa, Texas 79065. Bidders shall submit their bids on the form attached to the Specifications and must submit (If Required) therewith a Cashier's or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bid Bond Payable without recourse to the order of the City of Pampa, in an amount not less than 5% of the bid submitted on the project as a guaranty that the Bidder will enter into a contract and execute bonds in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him.

The successful Bidder must furnish performance and payment bonds (If Required) on the forms attached to the Specifications in the amount of 100% of the total contract price from a Surety Company approved by the Owner holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety or other sureties acceptable to the Owner.

All lump sums and unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The Owner reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids submitted and to waive any informalities or technicalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the prices in the bids, the Owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. The contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions under which the work is to be done. The contractor shall comply with all State and Federal regulations regarding wages and conditions of employment, including, but not limited to, those rules and regulations set forth or referred to in the Specifications.

The City Commission will consider bids for award at their regular scheduled meeting, November 12, 1991. A plan deposit of $25.00 will be required for plans and specifications which will be refunded if returned in good conditions within 30 days.

City of Pampa, Texas, Owner
Phyllis Jeffers
City Secretary
C-75 October 13, 20, 1991

1 Card of Thanks
MARY W. DAY
She would not want the ones she loves
To Grieve for her today.
We must not say that she is dead,
For she is just away.
Away upon a journey
To a land that's bright and fair,
And though we all miss her here
We know she's happy there.
And memories of her will bring
New comfort every day.
For she is just away!

Thank you to everyone that helped us during our time of grief and sorrow over the loss of our Mother and Grandmother. To everyone who brought food, sent cards and flowers, said a prayer or a kind word during our time of sorrow, we say thank you.
Farrell A. Day

For the 'worried well,' once may be enough, therapist says

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — There's no couch in therapist Moshe Talmon's office. But don't worry about getting comfortable. If all goes well, Talmon expects to have you out of there in just one session.

It's an approach that differs sharply from the tradition of therapist and patient settling in for years of sifting through the sediment of childhood, but Talmon believes that for most people seeking therapy, once is probably enough.

"When you're stuck, you go to the therapist, you get unstuck, you move on for a while and when you're stuck again you can always come back," he says.

"It's not closing the door or saying you're cured forever. It's accepting the fact that life is one damn thing after another."

A psychologist who has practiced in Israel and the United States, Talmon admits single-session therapy "flies in the face of conventions, including those of my own." His one session last two hours, twice the normal.

But six years ago, he noticed that many of his patients at the Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Hayward didn't return for a second session.

A subsequent study of 58 patients found that 34 did not require more than one session. And follow-up calls showed that the single-session patients were as improved and satisfied as those who stayed for longer courses of treatment, Talmon reported in his book "Single-Session Therapy."

The idea of treating patients with just one session, which has been around for more than 20 years, is viewed skeptically by some therapists. But others say they have been moving toward shorter, albeit not single-session, therapy.

"We have gotten more sophisticated at knowing that some of our clients come to us and they want and will respond to one or two sessions focusing on a particular aspect in life," said Joseph Kobos, psychiatry professor and director of student counseling services at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio.

Psychologist R. Carl Mumpower III, of Asheville, N.C., author of "Interactive Therapy," said he agrees with the concept of short-term therapy but prefers to see sessions extended over about a half-dozen meetings.

"In a brief, intense period of time you can reach people in a powerful and significant way," he said.

But T. Biram Karasu, psychiatry professor at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York, said it takes a couple of sessions just to get to know the patient.

"Anybody who can do with one (session) of therapy most likely could do without," he said.

Talmon, who has started the Single Session Therapy Institute in Berkeley, holds that the traditional approach, long and expensive, has confined therapy to the elite.

"We are providing the longest form of therapy to the people who least need it. They're articulate, they're nice and it's a lot of fun to work with them," he said. "It's a very convenient marriage for both sides. It's actually a very lucrative profession."

But Karasu, while agreeing that there is an "elite aspect" to therapy, said that single-session therapy is "like saying food should be brought to the public but they cannot have more than one slice of bread a day."

Regardless of the debate, Talmon believes single-session therapy will continue.

"By plan or by default therapists have seen and will continue to see single-session clients. The difference that I'm trying to make is that those clients will not be disregarded as dropouts," he said.

Single-session therapy is not for everyone, Talmon cautioned. Patients who expect long-term therapy or are seeking "the meaning of life" would be unlikely candidates. Also inappropriate would be patients who are suicidal, psychotic or who require hospitalization, and patients suffering from conditions such as manic depression and schizophrenia.

But for the majority, including those looking to solve a specific problem, the "worried well" who want a mental checkup or people who want to rid themselves of an old conflict, one session can provide the tools necessary to start solving a problem, Talmon said.

For instance, a woman who feels trapped in an abusive relationship could get reinforcement to break the tie and some practical advice on how to get a restraining order against her partner.

Before the session, Talmon talks with the patient by phone to get details on the reason for seeking therapy. During the session, he might try to find out what has worked before, identify the patient's strengths and see what small step might be taken.

At the end of the session, Talmon advises patients they can make a second appointment or try to cope on their own for a while. He asks patients to call in one month; if they don't, he calls them.

"I do not say to a patient at the beginning of the session, 'I will fix you or I will cure you in one session,'" Talmon said. "All I am saying is, 'Let's see what we can do today to help you.'"
