Food Stamp Program Scheduled Here

Program Will Be In Effect Last Of Year

A Food Stamp Program will replace the Commodity Food Program in Muleshoe, possibly by the end of the year.

All of the counties in Texas will eventually be placed on this program, on a graduated basis.

At the present time, Commodity services are provided three different ways to the people. First, the county can bear all of the expense; second, the county can share the expense with the state; and third, the state bears the total expense of the program.

Bailey County falls under the third category as the state bears all the expense for the commodity office in Muleshoe. Bailey County is not involved in the administration of the commodity office here.

The new food stamp program will be administered by the State of Texas.

The amount of food stamps issued to families in this county will be determined by the number in the family and the family's salary.

The food stamps can be spent at local grocery stores for domestically produced groceries. This means that the stamps will not buy any imported products, with the exception of coffee, tea and bananas, which cannot be produced in this country.

The stamps also cannot be used for purchasing tobacco, liquor and cosmetics.

Many people believe that the food stamp program will be much more beneficial to all the people than the commodities.

The food stamps will allow a family to buy milk, fresh meat and fresh fruit and vegetables to provide for a more balanced diet.

The commodity program issues about 20 different food items, mostly all canned.

The guidelines for the food stamps program will be controlled by the federal government.

ment, but the state will administer the program. Target date for Muleshoe to receive the stamps is the latter part of December this year.

Joins Other Libraries In Protest...

Local Library To 'Dim' Lights May 8

On Tuesday, May 8, at noon, the Muleshoe Area Public Library will dim its lights joining libraries across the country in dramatizing the effects of drastically reduced federal support for libraries.

The Muleshoe Library is participating in a nationwide program whose purpose is to increase the public's awareness of libraries and their services. "Dimming the Lights on the Public's Right to Know" is the theme for the special campaign, sponsored by the American Library Association. The campaign is designed to acquaint users with the possibility of cuts in service and in some areas, in closing of libraries.

Librarians feel that the elimination of funds in the President's proposed 1974 federal budget will severely hamper the library's ability to provide needed information and services.

Local and state governments must replace these funds with General Revenue Sharing allocations or monies from some other source if libraries are to meet the growing informational, educational and recreational needs of the public.

Mrs. Bernis Camp notes that programs affecting several groups of users in this community, instituted through grants of federal funds, will have to be greatly curtailed if cuts are not restored or other funding sources found. Children's summer reading material, books and material for kindergarten, books and material for the hospital and Nursing Home residents and programs carried on locally will be affected and a higher level of participation in the Texas Library Network.

Even libraries which have received no direct federal grants have benefited from federal funding through the interlibrary loan program with Lubbock and the Texas State Library Communications Network.

The trends toward self-determination and self help place a greater reliance upon the library as the only independent information agency at a time when support for this institution is being seriously threatened.

You may ask, "What can we do as individuals, or civic organizations." Write to legislators asking them to consider seriously before they cut or eliminate this important item from the 1973 budget.

U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) quarantines for psoroptic cattle scabies have been removed from five Texas panhandle counties, USDA was announced.

Quarantines were lifted on Friday, April 27th from Bailey, Gray, Hale, Lamb and Swisher counties by USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS). None of these counties have had a scabies outbreak in more than six months and the last inspection of all cattle in the counties revealed no signs of scabies infection. The counties were quarantined in December, 1971.

There are 23 counties in the Texas panhandle and eastern New Mexico still under USDA quarantines for cattle scabies, said APHIS veterinarians. Since October 1971, when the current series of scabies outbreaks started, there have been 144 outbreaks involving more than 745,000 cattle. Most of these have been in quarantine counties, but isolated infections have also been found in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Idaho. Most of these outbreaks were traced to sources of infection in quarantined counties, according to the APHIS veterinarians.

Scabies is caused by tiny parasitic mites that feed on the skin of infected cattle. Cattle with scabies lick, rub and scratch to relieve intense itching caused by the mites. Although scabies does not affect the animal's meat, the skin irritation can cause loss of weight and decreased feed efficiency in infected animals and thus

Farwell Vows Unite Couple

Miss Camille Hobbs and Greg R. Carey were united in marriage in vows read by the groom's father on April 21 at 5 p.m. in the Farwell Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Beulah K. Hobbs of Farwell and J.R. Hobbs of Lubbock. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Lula Kistler of Muleshoe. Carey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Carey of Roswell.

For the double-ring ceremony, the couple stood before an altar setting of emerald green and white. The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a multi-colored bow. Flanking the archway were graduated sets of 12 branch candleabra set with tall yellow tapers.

Music for the occasion was provided by a chorus made up of friends from Texas Tech and Lubbock Christian College. Prior to the procession, James Hobbs and Sharon Carey, brother and sister of the bridal couple, sang a duet entitled "Let It Be Me". Mark Davies and Dottie Beasley, soloists, sang "Wedding Song" and "The Twelfth of Never". Miss Andrea Denton sang "Whither Thou Goest". As the couple finished their vows and turned to light the unity candle, soloist Ben King sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Vicki Lynn Hobbs attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sharon Carey, sister of the groom, Jan Levy, Kerri Thomas and Stephanie Arwine, cousins of the bride, and Patty McCoy. The attendants were attired in sheer, printed floral dotted swiss dresses with a whisper of mint, yellow or apricot under each semi-full long skirt. They each carried a long-stemmed yellow rose.

Suzi Levy of Midland, cousin of the bride, and Mark Carey of Roswell, brother of the groom, were candlelighters.

Jennifer and Paul Fogerson of Farwell were flower girl and ring bearer. Miss Fogerson wore a long dress of printed dotted swiss lined in yellow. She carried a white basket of rose petals. The ring bearer was dressed in white and gold and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Ken Johnson of Clovis served as best man. Groomsmen were Roger Carey, James Hobbs, Bob Rene and Ken Barnett. Ushers were Bryan Bigger and Ben Simms.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Walt Moeller, of Laguna Beach, Calif., wore a formal gown of white organza, featuring Venise floral lace trim on the high neckline and molded bodice. Long, lantern sleeves ended in lace-edged flounces. The full skirt with a deep, ruffled flounce edged in lace, descended into a chapel train. The triple-tiered veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of white floral lace. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored feathered carnations and white daisies. Something new was her gown; something old and borrowed was a copper penny; and something blue was the traditional blue garter, made by a friend, Mrs. Justine Monroe.

The bride's mother wore a soft lime green polyester crepe dress with white accessories. Mrs. Carey was attired in a mint green double knit dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of white orchids.

Mrs. Kistler wore a two-piece ensemble of pale blue with muted blue and gold plaid, white accessories, and a white feathered carnation corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Guests were registered by Mrs. Robert Curtis of Amarillo.

The bride's table was laid with a gold lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with white sugar bells and yellow icing roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bridal party bouquets were used as floral accents for the table decor. Cake, lime sherbet punch, mints and nuts were served from crystal and silver appointments. German chocolate cake and coffee were served at the groom's table which was covered with a white linen cloth. Presiding at the serving tables were Mrs. Martha Peoples, Sherri Roberts of Lockney and Linda Robinson of Lubbock.

Members of the houseparty included Mrs. Dewey Fogerson, Mrs. Floyd Embry, Mrs. Claud Coffer, Mrs. O.C. Harriman, Mrs. Bill Smith, Estelle Embry, Carolyn Meeks, Paula Martin and Jol Meeks.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, so, the bride chose a three-piece pantsuit of red and pink double knit with a white blazer, complemented by white accessories and a carnation corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Both the bride and the groom were former students of Lubbock Christian College. Mrs. Carey attended Abilene Christian College for three years and is currently employed as a teller at the American State Bank in Lubbock. Carey is a student agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company in Lubbock and will continue his studies this summer as a senior at Texas Tech University majoring in finance. The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner on the evening before the wedding. A luncheon for the bridal party, guests and relatives was hosted the day of the wedding by Mrs. J.A. Arwine of Floydada, aunt of the bride, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Keith Levy of Midland and Mrs. Wartick Thomas of Amarillo.

Band Holds Spring Concert

The Mighty "M" Band held its annual Spring Concert on Tuesday night at the High School Auditorium. Under the direction of Mr. Jim Harvey the band played a well-balanced program including three numbers that were played in the U.L.L. Concert competition that gave them the Sweepstakes award for the fourth straight year. The appreciative audience gave the band a standing ovation at the conclusion of the concert.

A reception was held in the cafeteria afterwards honoring the Senior members of the band. The Senior colors of shades of purple were used on the beautiful serving tables.

Mr. Harvey also announced during the concert the special band awards for the year. Best Marcher was Vance Tucker; Best Musician was Stephanie Bryant; and Outstanding Bandman went to Cassie Precure.

Announced as officers for the 1973-74 year were: Tim Jinks, President; Carl Newell, Vice-president; Denette Mann, Secretary; Kim Cowan, Reporter; Marilyn Black, Historian; Danna Throckmorton, and Kim Milner, Librarians; and Maribeth Dillman, Band Representative.

The band presented Mr. Harvey and Mr. Don Pierce, assistant band director, small gifts as tokens of their appreciation.

Price Control? "How much are potatoes worth now?"

"No more than they were, lady, but they're costing about six times as much."

An investment in Your Future ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

WORSHIP BEGINS IN THE HOME

Our home is more than just a pretty structure. of course it does provide comfort, but beyond that, it is a place where joy abounds... it is a place where love is abundant, it is a place of cooperation, and it is a place where the Lord is worshiped. From the home, our relationship with God is carried over into the church. It is there that my family is able to share worshiping the Lord with others. Ours would not be a full life, if we did not participate in worship at home and church. Attend church this week and join us in worshiping the Lord.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

School Board Reviews New Athletic Budget

A special meeting of the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees was held Monday night, April 30.

The board reviewed, studied and discussed tentative budget estimates for the 1973-74 school year and reviewed in detail all of the sources of income and each expenditure category.

Some bills that are in the hopper in the State Legislature and how they could possibly effect the financing of schools were discussed.

They also discussed how all supplies, materials, services and salaries are increasing in cost.

No action was taken on the budget. The budget estimates will be reviewed again in the May and June Board meetings and adjustments will be made when more definite information is received.

The present valuations on school buildings for insurance purposes were discussed. Premium rates have doubled and building costs have skyrocketed. Replacement values of buildings had to be raised.

The board studied, discussed and approved the Athletic Budget for 1973-74. This budget includes all athletics, Boys and Girls, from seventh grade through the twelfth grade. It also includes game contracts where one half the gate receipts are paid to visiting schools in football.

The following is a summary of the Athletic Budget:

FOOTBALL - Varsity and "B" Football, $10,506.30. Ninth Grade Football, $819.40; and Seventh and Eighth Grade Football, $759.10, for a total of $12,084.80.

BASKETBALL - Varsity and "B" Team Basketball (Boys), $3,053.75. Ninth Grade Boys, $383.30, and Seventh and Eighth Grade Boys, $251.05 for a total of $3,686.10.

GIRLS ATHLETICS - High School Girls, $1,384.20, and Junior High Girls, $519.85, for a total of $1,904.05.

TRACK - Varsity Track, $1,185.40, Ninth Grade Track, $30, and Junior High Track, $30.00 for a total of $1,245.40. GOLF - $200, and TENNIS - $175.

The total estimated budget is $19,245.35. This budget is $175.35 more than last year. It is estimated that approximately $13,000 of this budget will come from revenue gate receipts.

V-E Day

As time races along, V-E Day falls further and further into history's background and to those who remember it emotionally, it's surprising to realize most Americans today have no memory of that memorable Tuesday in May—the 8th, in 1945, when the Second World War ended for most of the world.

There is impressive new evidence that many of today's younger generation now want to learn more about that war, its causes, its settlements—to understand today's world and its problems. For World War II, in many ways, made the world we live in today. That explains the rash of new books and magazines, and growing interest in history's greatest conflict.

For Americans, May 8th, 1945, came after a hard winter, like a new lease on life, and the new growth and warmth of springtime almost seemed to visually express the great relief and new hope to servicemen in Europe. The hope was the world could avoid another war of such magnitude. So far the world has managed that, but the United States, among the winners, has suffered two costly, long wars in Asia. (France and Britain, also winners in 1945, have experienced lesser struggles away from home.)

The hope of 1973, looking back, must be that the United States will avoid wars in the future, big and small. But it would be unrealistic to carry that policy and hope to the point of allowing the nation's defenses to grow weak. There have always been hungry nations ready to conquer the rich and weak, and as the world's population problem worsens in future years there is no assurance this situation will change. The lesson of World War II is that we must remain strong—to prevent war and preserve cherished American freedoms.

PROGRAM FOR ELDERLY

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Watergate-Haldeman and Ehrlichman-Zeigler-Political Consequences

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Now that former Attorney General John Mitchell has been implicated in the Watergate bugging coverup, the issue is sure to be a live one in 1974 and 1976.

The suspicion of many is that if Mitchell was in on the bugging, others in high position knew about it also. Reports now link Bob Haldeman and John Ehrlichman to inside information about the fiasco, reports likely to be proven or disproven in court. That is certainly reaching into the highest White House circles.

Assuming that the President wasn't informed, reporters generally accept press secretary Ron Zeigler's explanation he knew nothing about what was going on. But the latest revelations, climaxed by Mitchell's admissions and by stories describing treatment meted out to Mrs. Mitchell, certainly leave the whole White House inner circle shaken.

The irony of the whole affair is that the actual bugging of Democratic headquarters pails in significance when compared to the elaborate coverup attempted by top officials—fearing full disclosure and the political as well as personal consequences—is unquestionably a black eye for the Nixon Administration.

Political espionage was not new in 1972. Both parties have tried to plant informed in the other's camp in former years and have attempted various other means of espionage. The bugging operation of the Republicans last year, however, went too far and worse, did so with official connivance in high circles.

No doubt Republicans will pay for this folly in coming elections and it certainly is a blow to the hopes of Vice President Spiro Agnew, as far as his nomination chances in 1976 are concerned.

Being or having been a part of the Nixon Administration may not help the G.O.P. candidate in 1976; Democrats are already taking heart from the continuing coverup disclosures—now something like a television series with no end in sight.

The Economic Situation

The American economy has continued to grow at a substantial pace during the wage-price control era which we entered on August 15, 1971. Real incomes (after inflation) were growing during the period, and cost-push inflation was being brought under control. For a relatively short period, controls can be used as an effective deterrent against cost-push inflation, and the President was correct, in my opinion, in imposing them in 1971. However, if controls are left on for too long a period, they will so distort fundamental market conditions in the economy that we would lose production, employment, and income, and would eventually become economically stagnant. This is why I have advocated, and the President has acted, to bring about gradual decontrol of the economy.

Americans are concerned, however, about the problem of rising food prices and rising prices in other commodities, such as lumber and oil. These increases are, indeed, a matter of great concern to myself and to the President, and steps are being taken to deal with them. Yet it is important for the American people to distinguish between these types of commodity shortages and the cost-push inflation which we were attacking with wage-price controls. Food, lumber, oil, non-ferrous metals, and to a certain extent, rental housing units, have become in relatively short supply over the past year or more, largely due to the great increase in demand that has exceeded the projections which producers had made earlier.

The only real cure for this type of price increase, which is a demand-pull increase, is the production of more of the goods in demand. This will bring down the price and yet satisfy consumer demand. Placing mandatory price controls on such commodities really only serves to keep prices artificially low, and will not serve to bring out the additional supplies needed to satisfy consumer demand. Consequently, rationing is required, and/or black markets ultimately set in wherever controls are left on commodity shortage situations for any length of time.

The President is taking every step within governmental power to get additional supplies of food, oil, lumber, housing, and non-ferrous metals onto the market, to bring these prices down. At the same time, however, commodities tend to have a long lead time between production plans and the actual arrival of the goods on the market-place. Hence, the President has seen fit to impose special price controls on meat and oil at this time, due to the large increases in prices which have occurred in these two sectors and the time periods which will be required to get further supplies onto the market. I cannot support such controls as anything more than a stop-gap measure; lengthy controls on these commodities will only serve to cause even greater shortages in the future.

Turning to the other major economic development of recent months, the devaluation of the dollar, I have been deeply involved in this policy question as Banking Minority Member of the Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, which has jurisdiction over both wage-price controls and devaluation. The need for devaluation has been brought about by the outdated trade and monetary policies of other major industrial nations, policies which were set in the aftermath of World War II when the United States was the only major country with its capital structure intact. This relationship between our economy and those of other nations is no longer the case, and changes in trade and monetary policies must occur if chronic payments surpluses and deficits are to be levelled out. Because other countries have used trade barriers to U.S. products and have maintained artificially low currency values, they have effectively prevented the U.S. from earning adequate foreign exchange to pay for its imports and its unilateral transfers for military and related purposes. This condition can only occur for so long, and the accumulation of dollar balances abroad being used to buy stronger currencies eventually requires an alteration in the fixed exchange rates—i.e., a dollar devaluation.

Presently, however, we are achieving progress on both the monetary front (i.e., making other currencies reflect the true productive potential of their economies) and on the trade front (i.e., negotiating reductions in and removals of unjustified foreign barriers to U.S. products), which will ultimately bring stability to the international monetary system and to the dollar. There is no economic need for any further dollar devaluation, but we will want to be careful to try to keep potentially nervous dollar-holders abroad from needlessly "dumping" dollars on the market on the basis of misinformation about future monetary developments. Ultimately, international agreements will be worked out to provide a better means of drying up excessive currency supplies of any country and of preventing speculatively-caused devaluations in the future.

ON OIL IMPORTS

President Nixon has erased all oil import restrictions and has proposed other drastic steps to increase supplies. One result may be higher prices at the gas pump.

ON DEFENSE STOCKPILES

President Nixon has proposed a plan to sell about $6.7 billion of the nation's strategic stockpile. If Congress approves, the remaining stockpile is considered ample.

Moscow believed stalling at troop-cut talks.

Castor Bean Producers Needed

By Wendell Holloman
Plainview Daily Herald Farm Editor

A Plainview agricultural industry lies near death today—an untimely death being brought about by inattention and indifference.

It is a unique industry, in fact, the only remaining in the United States and one that is needed.

The industry includes the $2.1 million Plains Co-op Oil Mill castor processing plant in north-west Plainview and thousands of acres of castor which have been produced in West Texas.

Area interest in castors was popular several years ago when grain sorghum, cotton and soybeans prices were sagging. Today with the prices of these crops higher, interest in castor production is almost non-existent, according to Dr. D. L. VanHorn and Delbert Langford, castor industry representatives, McNair Seed Co.

MARKET PRICE
"Farmers have been so busy watching market prices on soybean, cotton and grain sorghum that they are forgetting about castors. And the market for castors has gone out of this world," Dr. Van Horn noted. He said that at the present time, castors were in short supply and it was projected that castors would be worth $10 per hundred pounds this fall.

"Still farmers are planning to plant more grain sorghum, soybeans and cotton, even though they've been told that the farm program is being designed to cause enough production of these crops to lower prices," Dr. VanHorn said.

SHORTAGE NOTED
The high price for castors is due to a shortage of castor oil from Brazil, the normal source. He said that the United States used 140-150 million pounds of castor oil annually. Presently, we are told there is less than 17 million pounds of castor oil in this country, Dr. VanHorn noted.

For farmers interested in castor production, Dr. VanHorn noted that a contract for a guaranteed minimum of $6 per cwt. is available through the Plains Co-op Oil Mill. The contract also has an escalator clause giving the farmer an extra 1/8 cent for beans for each one cent increase in oil price above the 18 cents per pound, Dr. VanHorn said.

Answering questions about castor production, Dr. VanHorn said castors can be planted on any land other than the required set-aside with no penalty. On the mandatory 10 per cent required by plan A, castors can be grown retaining 70 per cent of the set-aside payment.

VOLUNTEER CONTROL
The volunteer problem of castors can be controlled with chemicals, he noted. In the past, volunteer castors were a problem but they are no longer.

We can maintain a healthy local industry with castor production from 30,000 acres, this year," Dr. VanHorn stated. "And as farm subsidies decline, castor could become even more important in our area," he said.

High castor yields of 2,500 to 3,000 pounds per acre have proven that castors can and have been produced in this area since 1955, Dr. VanHorn noted.

"For new and old growers, alike, there is technical assistance, both from our firm and Plains Co-op Oil Mill, available to help plan a castor program this year. It's not too late.

"We are genuinely interested in talking to farmers about castor production," Dr. VanHorn stated.

New Environmental Education Features Outdoor Classrooms

If you see students planting trees on a school campus or catching frogs from a miniature pond, don't panic.

They are probably studying nature in an outdoor classroom—a new concept in environmental education.

"At last count, we had helped plan and install some 343 outdoor learning areas in Texas," said Edward E. Thomas of Temple, state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. "And the number grows every week, especially in the larger cities."

Thomas said SCS assistance includes soil and plant adaptation guidelines, planning erosion control measures, laying out nature trails, identifying plants, designing small water holding areas for aquatic help-

A recent survey revealed that nearly 900 individual schools plus 48 school districts are using the 343 outdoor classrooms. Some 1,700 other groups form Boy Scouts to adult organizations to convalescent hospital patients—also use the areas. Learning features used in outdoor classrooms include soil and water conservation exam- ples, plant and animal identification, historical studies, and aquatic life. Some areas also double as outdoor laboratories.

A total of 728 groups and organizations are helping schools install and maintain learning areas in Texas. These range from the American As-

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reports on some odds and ends this week.

Dear editor:
Notes from a spring house-cleaning of my desk:

I'll never understand politicians. Here some of them are trying to get a law passed giving reporters the right to refuse to tell what they know, whereas in some cases they'd be a lot better off with a law keeping reporters from telling what they know.

Despite the fact the economy is booming, there are six major railroads now bankrupt. Such a statistic is bad for national morale. Why doesn't Washington get the six to merge and then we could claim we have only one bankrupt railroad?

A new word has come out of Washington that I'm in favor of. On finding what he'd been saying for weeks was wrong, a press secretary explained to reporters that from now on all those other statements are "inoperative". I hope you will do everything you can to spread the use of this word. I'd like to be able to get by with telling my banker that my promise to pay that note six months later is now inoperative.

Some cities, trying to whip traffic congestion, are considering passing a law making it illegal for a computer to come into the city in a car by himself. He's got to have three or four passengers with him or he won't be allowed in. This might reduce the number of cars, but not the number of people. What a choice: having to decide whether you want to be swamped by cars or people.

You can't get ahead of scientists. They've announced they're going to attempt to predict earthquakes, but I notice they've picked a spot where earthquakes have occurred periodically for years. If weather forecasters were as smart they'd stick to predicting weather in the Sahara desert.

This doesn't quite clean off my desk, there're still some more things stacked on it, but I've learned, even if the Water-gate people haven't, it doesn't pay to dig too deep, yours faithfully,

Thomas said SCS first became involved in outdoor learning areas by helping schools cure campus erosion problems. Then someone suggested that letting students help install some of the conservation measures would be an excellent learning experience. From that came the idea that trees, grass, and shrubbery could be added to beautify the conservation measures or to attract wildlife. Eventually, the idea of installing complete outdoor environmental learning areas evolved.

Students enjoy planning and installing the classrooms themselves over a period of months or years, Thomas said. This also enhances the learning experience, helping students gain a deep appreciation of the inter-relationship between man, plants, soil, water, animals, and sunshine.

Uses of outdoor classrooms varies, depending upon the ingenuity of the teacher. Some biology classes study microscopic growth in tiny ponds built on the school campus; chemistry classes conduct soil and water related experiments; math classes compute slope and elevation or estimate tree heights; and language art classes write articles or poems based on outdoor sounds or observations.

For help in getting started on an outdoor learning area, SCS has a new publication entitled "Outdoor Classrooms on School Sites." To get a free copy, call the Soil Conservation Service in Muleshoe at 272-3193, or write Soil Conservation Service, P.O. Box 648, Temple, Texas 76501.
