

The Pampa News

25¢

APRIL 1, 1992

WEDNESDAY

(Staff photo by J. Alan Brzya)

Drug-sniffing dogs and their handlers pose for a group picture Tuesday. They are, from left, Buck Williams and Banjo, Bryan Hedrick and Shadow, Paul Sublett and Czar, and Curtis Dalton and Blue.

Dogs to sniff out crime

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

Four narcotics-sniffing dogs and their handlers plan to take a bite out of crime in Gray County. The four dogs and their respective handlers: Banjo and Buck Williams with the Texas Department of Wildlife; Shadow and Bryan Hedrick with Pampa Police Department; Czar and Paul Sublett with the Gray County Sheriff's Office; and Blue and Curtis Dalton of Pampa last week successfully completed a three-day United States Police Canine Association (U.S.P.C.A.) school.

All four teams certified on Level 1 testing (soft drugs), which includes marijuana. Three teams - Williams, Hedrick and Sublett - certified on Level 2 testing (hard drugs), including cocaine, crack and various chemicals.

Teams, in the certification process, had to search vehicles and rooms and make a certain number of narcotics "finds." Of the possible 200 points on each level, a team had to score 70 percent to be certified.

Sublett, who was instrumental in getting to Pampa the U.S.P.C.A. school and trainer Leroy Azlin of Shreveport, La., said, "It is a real accomplishment to make Level 1."

Shadow, one of two Pampa Police Department narcotics dogs, achieved Level 1 last year under a different handler, but did not reach Level 2 certification, according to Pampa Police Chief Jim Laramore.

Laramore said Pampa Police Department, in cooperation with other dog handlers in the county, stepped up training in December.

Sublett said handlers and dogs in the county have been working three days a week for several hours each day.

"Training has to be constant exposure," he said. "We video it and go back and watch and learn a lot from that."

Hedrick said that of six area dogs and handlers attending a U.S.P.C.A. school and certification in Amarillo last year, none reached Level 2 certification.

The police department's other dog, Houdini, and its handler Ricky Hall, did not certify on either level, Laramore said. He said it was his understanding that failing to pass the certification was no reflection on the handler.

The four who passed certification said Houdini has a "behavioral disorder."

Laramore said a report on the dog will be sent to the police department by the U.S.P.C.A. judges and the city will evaluate, at that time, whether to return the dog to Kansas. One other dog, Roscoe, was returned by the Pampa Police Department after it failed to meet expectations.

All four handlers said the U.S.P.C.A. school gave them many ideas and a lot of training. Each of the four have been working with their respective dogs for less than a year.

After the three-day school given by Azlin, the U.S.P.C.A. brought in two judges, who joined Azlin Saturday to judge the certification. Two of the judges are classed with international instructors, Sublett said.

Azlin pointed out in an earlier interview with The Pampa News that both dog and handler had to perform to predetermined standards in order to be certified. The U.S.P.C.A. certification is prestigious, Azlin said.

"Certification (through U.S.P.C.A.) will give them a tremendous amount of credibility," Azlin said.

"I don't know of any other organization that will send an expert to testify on behalf of those certified."

Laramore, concerning the team effort shown by those in Gray County in training and working the dogs, said, "I'm very proud of the cooperation and the attitudes of the departments."

He also said Jackie Sublett (wife of Paul Sublett) has been instrumental in the training sessions.

Richards names Mann new district attorney

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

Former Assistant District Attorney John Mann was named by Gov. Ann Richards today as district attorney for the 31st and 223rd judicial districts until the November general election.

The vacancy was created when Harold L. Comer resigned amid an investigation by the Attorney General's Office. On Feb. 27, Comer pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor count of official misconduct relating to the misuse of $10,000 in seized drug funds.

Mann has chosen Pampa attorney Tracey Warner as assistant district attorney.

Mann, 44, served as assistant district attorney for the 31st and 223rd judicial districts since January 1989. Prior to that, he was in private practice. He has continued a part-time private practice in conjunction with the assistant district attorney's position.

"(Gray County Attorney Bob) McPherson and the other county attorneys have held things together admirably. I think we can pick up and go to moving the cases and the other stuff will fall in line. I'm ready for it, I'm ready to go to work," Mann said today.

Mann admits he is a bit apprehensive about the appointment from the administration standpoint. "For 19 years all I've done is try lawsuits in the courtroom. But I bet I can pick up on running the office," he said.

To a limited extent, Mann said he will still be involved in civil cases. "I have some civil cases of such magnitude that I don't feel I can wash my hands of the clients or the cases."

However, Mann said this district attorney's position deserves a full-time prosecutor.

"I've got to wind it (civil practice) down. But if I am nominated, and if elected (in November), I'm looking at being a full-time prosecutor."

Pampa attorney Kenneth Fields, the other top contender for the district attorney's position said, "Mr. Mann was well-positioned by virtue of his prior service as assistant district attorney to move into the top spot. I wish him well. I'm extremely grateful for the kind expressions of support from so many people on my behalf."

Margaret Justus, assistant press secretary for the governor's office said, "It was a difficult decision for the governor. The idea situation would have been to let the people decide. Unfortunately, though the election wasn't until November."

"Mr. Mann has proven himself through his current assistant district attorney's position in surrounding counties. His record is outstanding. We looked at Mr. Fields, as well. It was a tough decision for the governor, but it had to come down to just one."

Mann said, in the near future, he will likely be working out of "briefcases."

"I have not given a lot of thought to what the physical layout is going to be. It was up in the air. In the immediate future the district attorney's staff is going to be forced to work out of the space, that has been used, in the Hughes Building (a small office off Comer's offices)."

"The main thing is to get in the courtroom and get these cases moving. As time permits we'll worry about where to relocate. I have hopes we can locate in the Gray County Courthouse when the new jail is open."

John Mann

Mann said he will have offices in Wheeler and Pampa as district attorney.

"I think the people are going to see a whole lot more cases tried to jury verdicts," Mann said.

Mann has been a trial law practitioner for 19 years. He received a bachelor's degree from West Texas State University in 1969 and received his doctor of jurisprudence from Texas Tech University School of Law in Lubbock in 1972.

Mann, of Route 1, Shamrock, is married to Doris and he has two children, Jennifer, 17, and Jamille, 14.

District Judge Grainger McIlhenny will administer the oath of office to Mann at 9:30 a.m. in the district courtroom in Pampa.

Violent crime rises in city

By BEAR MILLS
Staff Writer

Pampa's violent crime rate jumped 43 percent in 1991 while the overall crime rate increased by 17 percent, according to a police department annual report released this week.

Police Chief Jim Laramore said a partial explanation for the increase in violent crime is the stress people feel during a recession.

"Our aggravated assaults also went up by 10 percent because of the domestic violence," Laramore said.

Aggravated assaults include those in which a weapon of some sort was used.

Rapes, robberies, and assaults accounted for the 43 percent increase in violent crimes since there were no murders in 1991. Meanwhile, property crimes decreased by 5 percent.

In a breakdown of specific types of crimes, the study shows forcible rapes went up 28 percent, robberies increased by 12 percent and arsons doubled, from two cases in 1990 to four in 1991.

The number of vehicle thefts increased by 22 percent.

Crimes that decreased included larceny theft (down six percent), and burglaries (down five percent).

Arrests of adults in Pampa went down by 8 percent, police said, mainly due to a significant drop in driving while intoxicated arrests.

Juvenile arrests went up six percent.

"Peer pressure plays a role in the number of juvenile offenses," Laramore said. "The economy is also some of that because there are not as many jobs for kids."

"But there is less fear of action by the courts in kids today. When they are brought in they show no fear of anyone or anything. I think it gets back to parenting and the kids getting to stay out all hours. Parents still need to be responsible for their kids, but a lot of them don't want to accept that responsibility," he said.

Police Department records show a violent crime happens an average of once a day in Pampa. Forcible rape occurs once every 27 days, while robberies happen once every 23 days.

A crime of some sort happens in Pampa once every five hours, the study shows. A vehicle is stolen in Pampa once every nine days.

"In my opinion, we have no more or less overall crimes than other communities our size," Laramore said in summarizing the report.

However, he noted a six percent increase in the level of drug activity in Pampa from 1990 to 1991.

"You can attribute a great deal of that, and other crimes as well, to the economy," Laramore said. "When the economy is down, crime goes up."

The study shows police were called to the city's southeast side 62 percent more often than any other part of town during 1991, with most calls involving reported family violence.

Chief Laramore said records show officers were sent to the section of Pampa bounded on the west by South Somerville and north by Tyng 2,935 times, compared to 1,725 calls in the central section of the city, 1,024 in the northwest and 329 calls to the northeast side of Pampa.

"We attribute the high number of calls on the south side to the number of domestic violence calls where we were contacted to intervene," Laramore said.

Lefors board changes tune

Music program to remain

By BETH MILLER
Staff Writer

LEFORS - Lefors school board voted Tuesday night to bring back the music, rescinding a March decision to delete the music program next school year.

Superintendent Joe Roper said the board met in executive session for two hours Tuesday before deciding to make cuts in other areas and maintain the music program.

"They decided that in order to have a well-rounded curriculum we needed to maintain the department as it is. They felt like the people in the community wanted to keep the music department," Roper said.

At two previous meetings since the board voted to cut music, parents and students have attended and spoken against the board's decision, urging the board to reconsider.

Instead of cutting the music program and 24-year instructor Lela Harris, the board voted unanimously Tuesday night to reduce the work force by cutting two auxiliary personnel positions from full days to half days and not renew the last elementary teacher's contract who was hired.

The board also decided make cuts in supplies and equipment throughout the school district.

Roper said the school district will lose another $70,000 next school year to County Education District 14 and that cuts were necessary to keep the doors open to the school.

CEOs were created under the school finance law which was declared unconstitutional Jan. 30 by the Texas Supreme Court. However, the court deferred the effect of its ruling to allow collection of property taxes by the 188 CEOs for 1991 and 1992. The justices gave lawmakers until June 1, 1993, to write a new law.

The school finance law, dubbed the "Robin Hood" plan, takes money from property wealthy school districts, such as Lefors ISD, and distributes the money to less wealthy districts within the CED.

Previous cuts, which will remain in effect at Lefors ISD, include cutting the kindergarten program from a full day to a half day and reducing two maintenance personnel positions from full to half days.

"This is very unfortunate that this has to happen to a budget balanced school. It's a difficult time here at Lefors ISD to have to reduce in force the teachers. I hope the Legislature this summer makes some adjustment that will be beneficial to us, although there's not any of us looking for that."

Roper said Lefors ISD is not the only school system caught in a financial crunch.

"I think this is affecting every small school in the area and all over the state," he said.

The superintendent, speaking of the cuts, said, "We hope this won't disrupt our curriculum or disrupt any of our other people as far as working conditions here. We felt like we could do this without disrupting anything at the school. As always, we'll have to have someone take up the slack and there will be other duties."

Fritch trio faces forgery charges

Three Fritch residents were arrested Saturday in that city following an investigation by Pampa police indicating the trio allegedly forged checks around the Panhandle to secure thousands of dollars in merchandise from retail stores.

Fritch Chief of Police Jim Ferguson said it is believed the two men and a woman were trading the merchandise for drugs. A small amount of heroin was found in their possession at the time of arrest, he said.

Twenty-eight-year-old David Viner, 38-year-old Sammy King and 35-year-old Brenda Moore, all of Fritch, were booked into Fritch jail. Moore is charged with felony forgery and Viner and King are charged with conspiracy to commit forgery.

Det. Katie Gerhardt and Lt. Allen Smith of the Pampa Police Department said the suspects allegedly forged enough checks Saturday in Pampa to secure over $2,000 worth of merchandise, predominantly from two stores.

"Suspect and vehicle descriptions were received by this department and broadcast to other law enforcement entities," noted a Pampa press release. "The vehicle was spotted in Fritch and the suspects were located and identified by Fritch police."

"In Hutchinson County they are being charged with possession of a controlled substance - heroin - and in Gray County they are charged with forgery and conspiracy," Ferguson said.

Police said a search of the vehicle turned up an undisclosed quantity of "black tar heroin."

King and Moore remained in custody in Hutchinson County at press time today, while Viner had been transferred to the Pampa city holding facility.

Ferguson said he has information indicating the trio are also suspects in thefts by forgery in Potter and Randall counties.

"The investigation is continuing and cases will be presented to the appropriate prosecutors," the Pampa press release said. - Bear Mills

Bush plans aid for former Soviet republics

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush today outlined a multibillion-dollar aid program to help democracy take root in Russia and the other former Soviet republics. He said the "stakes are as high as any we have faced in this century."

Bush made the announcement at the White House after weeks of criticism that he was moving too slowly to assist the emerging democratic economies of the ex-Soviet republics.

The president said the United States would contribute to a $24 billion package of aid being offered by the major Western nations. The total amount of new U.S. assistance being sought by Bush in today's package is a little more than $2 billion.

German Chancellor Helmut Kohl said today in Bonn that the Western industrialized nations known as the Group of Seven would provide $18 billion in loans and other assistance through the International Monetary Fund and an additional $6 billion to help stabilize the ruble.

"Together we won the Cold War and today we must win the peace," Bush said. He said the price of the package was "nothing like the price we would pay if democracy and reform failed."

Bush urged Congress to approve a long-stalled $12 billion contribution to replenish loan funds for the IMF. The administration believes some of the IMF money would go to the currency stabilization fund as well as for loans for the former Soviet republics.

INSIDE TODAY

Classified10-11		VOL. 84,
Comics8		NO. 306,
Daily Record2		12 PAGES
Editorial4		A FREEDOM
Lifestyles7		NEWSPAPER
Obituaries2
Sports9-10

A
P
R

0
1

9
2

Daily Record

Services tomorrow

BARRON, Mildred Sheppard - 10 a.m., First Baptist Church, Lamesa.
CLARKE, Joe K. Jr. - 2 p.m., graveside, Memorial Heights Cemetery, Lefors.

Obituaries

MILDRED SHEPPARD BARRON
LAMESA - Mildred Sheppard Barron, 92, mother of a Pampa woman, died Tuesday, March 31, 1992. Services are set for 10 a.m. Thursday at First Baptist Church of Lamesa by Branon Funeral Home. Grave-side services are set for 3 p.m. Friday at Meridian Cemetery in Meridian.

Mrs. Barron was born on Jan. 19, 1900, in Blooming Grove. Her family moved to Meridian in 1905. She attended school at Meridian and at Mary Hardin Baylor College at Belton. She was a member of First Baptist Church at Meridian where she was church pianist for several years. In 1921, she moved to Dawson County to teach school and has resided in Lamesa since that time. She worked as a bookkeeper for Henningsen Inc., Lamesa Printing and Forrest Lumber Co. She was a member of First Baptist Church of Lamesa since 1923, where she taught beginners Sunday school class for many years. She also played the piano at the Spanish Mission. She was an active member of the Naomi Sunday school class and the OASIS group at First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Jan Elston of Pampa and Sue Kerley of Odessa; a sister, Audie Horton of Odessa; and two grandchildren, Tom Kerley of College Station and Lucinda Kerley of Denton.

PEARL BRICKEY
PAMPA - Pearl Brickey, 89, died Monday, March 30, 1992. Services are set for 2 p.m. Friday at West Side Church of Christ with Billy Jones, minister, officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery by Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Brickey was born on March 19, 1903, in Carthage, Mo. She had lived in Pampa since 1942. She was preceded in death by her husband Charles Herman Brickey in July 1969. She was a homemaker and a member of West Side Church of Christ.

Survivors include a daughter, Mary Vivian Stone of Borger; a granddaughter, Mary Jo Fleetwood of Skellytown; four great-grandchildren; seven great-great-grandchildren; one niece and two nephews.

DR. JOE K. CLARKE JR.
AURORA, Colo. - Dr. Joe K. Clarke Jr., 47, son of a Lefors, Texas, man, died Sunday, March 29, 1992. Graveside services are set for 2 p.m. Thursday in Memorial Heights Cemetery in Lefors, Texas, with the Rev. Lewis Ellis, pastor of First Baptist Church of Lefors, officiating. Arrangements are by Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors of Pampa, Texas.

Mr. Clarke was born on Aug. 23, 1944 in Pampa. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Texas and his master's and doctorate from the University of North Texas. He had been an English instructor at the University of North Texas, the University of Texas at Arlington and the University of New Orleans before joining McDonnell Douglas as a courseware developer.

Survivors include his companion, Clarice Hren; his father, Joe K. Clarke of Lefors; a sister, Frances Buff of Grand Prairie; and one niece, Catherine Buff of Grand Prairie.

The body will not be available for viewing. The family requests memorials be made to a favorite charity.

JOYCE MARY McCAUSLAND
AUSTIN - Joyce Mary McCausland, 57, died Thursday, March 26, 1992. Cremation was at Hyltin Manor. Memorial services are pending in Pampa.

Mrs. McCausland was born May 23, 1934 in London, England. She immigrated to Pampa in April 1957. While in Pampa, she was active in Junior Service League, Pampa Little Theater and the Catholic Church Youth Group. After leaving Pampa, she attended West Texas State University. She lived in Austin the past three years.

She is survived by three daughters, Jayne Stroud of Pampa, Joanne Weaver of Austin and Jennifer Scheu of Plano; one son, John McCausland Jr. of Austin; two sisters, Carole Ownsby of Rawlins, Wyo., and Doreen Cockran of London, England; two brothers, Ted Brooks and Alan Brooks, both of London, England; five grandchildren; and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brooks of London, England.

The family requests memorials be made to the We Care Program, Sisters of Charity, Seton Hospital, 1201 W. 38th, Austin, 78705.

PAUL L. WIMBERLY
TULIA - Paul L. Wimberly, 81, brother of a Wheeler woman, died Monday, March 30, 1992. Services are set for 2 p.m. today at Wallace Funeral Chapel with Harold Kennamer, minister of Central Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Wimberly was born in Hale County. He married Hazel Walker on Aug. 30, 1942, in Tulia. He was a Baptist. He was retired from the farm machinery business after 27 years, including a stint as the Oliver and Massey Ferguson dealer. He came to Swisher County in 1939 and moved to Tulia in 1952. He attended Wayland College for two years and was a member of the Swisher County Senior Citizens.

Survivors include his wife, Hazel Wimberly; a daughter, Paula Dean Dobbs of Spring; two sisters, Lena Herring of Tulia and Laura Guthrie of Wheeler; and two grandchildren.

Hospital

CORONADO HOSPITAL Pampa
Admissions
 David Donald Barton, Pampa
 James Bryant, Pampa
 Dena Kaye Cozart, Pampa
 Kimberly Sue Wilson, Pampa
 Estelle Britnell (extended care), Pampa
 Esma McGrew (extended care), Pampa
Dismissals
 Amy Avendanio, Pampa
 Estelle Britnell, Pampa
 Ola Pearl Burney, Pampa
 Dena Kaye Cozart, Pampa

Police report

Pampa Police Department reported the following incidents during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

TUESDAY, March 31
 Dr. Ann Harrel, 100 W. 30th #101, reported a theft of services at the office.
 Albertson's, Coronado Center, reported a theft at the business.

Arrests
TUESDAY, March 31
 David Wayne Viner, 28, Fritch, was transferred to Pampa from Fritch on a felony warrant for conspiracy to commit theft. (See related story)
 James Glenn Hooker, 21, Rt. 1 Box 852, was arrested at 1233 N. Hobart on a charge of theft $20-$200.

Accidents

Pampa Police Department reported the following accidents during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

TUESDAY, March 31
 9:08 p.m. - A hit-and-run vehicle struck a legally parked 1986 Oldsmobile owned by Martha Montoya, 1221 E. Francis, at 1 Medical Plaza. Citations are pending.

Fires

Pampa Fire Department reported the following calls during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

TUESDAY, March 31
 1:35 p.m. - Medical assist at 1224 N. Hobart. Two units and four firefighters responded.

Calendar of events

PAMPA BRIDGE CLUB
 Pampa Bridge Club meets at 10 a.m. Thursday in Room 11 at Clarendon College, Pampa Center. To arrange for a partner, call Marguerite Ward at 669-7543.

LAS PAMPAS GARDEN CLUB
 Las Pampas Garden Club plans a work day at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, at Lovett Library. New members are welcome.

IMMUNIZATION CLINIC
 The Texas Dept. of Health Immunization Clinic will be offering vaccines that give protection against polio, diphtheria, tetanus (lock jaw), pertussis (whooping cough), measles, rubella and mumps. The clinic is located in the Hughes Bldg., 408 W. Kingsmill, Suite 100, and will be open 9 - 11:30 a.m. and 1 - 4 p.m. April 8. The fee is based on family income, size and ability to pay.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR
 Top O' Texas chapter 1064 Order of the Eastern Star plans election of officers and regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Stocks

The following grain quotations are provided by Wheeler-Evans of Pampa
Wheat.....	3.65
Milo.....	4.41
Com.....	4.70
The following show the prices for which these securities could have traded at the time of compilation:
Ky. Cent. Life.....	8 3/8	NC
Serico.....	2 5/8	NC
Occidental.....	18 5/8	dn 5/8
The following show the prices for which these mutual funds were bid at the time of compilation:
Magellan.....	68.13
Puntan.....	14.39
The following 9:30 a.m. N.Y. Stock Market quotations are furnished by Edward D. Jones & Co. of Pampa
Amoco.....	42 5/8	dn 1/4
Arco.....	98 7/8	up 1/4
Cabot.....	41 1/4	up 3/8
Cabot O&G.....	11 3/4	NC
Chevron.....	63 7/8	dn 1/8
Coca-Cola.....	81 1/8	dn 5/8
Enron.....	35 5/8	dn 1/2
Halliburton.....	22 5/8	dn 3/8
HealthTrust Inc.....	18 3/8	dn 3/8
Ingersoll Rand.....	61 3/8	dn 7/8
KNE.....	24 1/8	up 1/8
Kerr-McGee.....	37 1/2	NC
Laminated.....	27 7/8	dn 1/4
Mapco.....	58 1/4	dn 1/4
Mexco.....	6 3/4	NC
McDonald's.....	39 3/4	dn 1/8
Mobil.....	59 1/4	dn 1/4
New Atmos.....	20	NC
Parke & Parley.....	12 5/8	dn 1/4
Pennley's.....	65 1/4	up 1
Phillips.....	23	dn 1/4
SLB.....	55 1/2	dn 3/8
SPS.....	30 3/4	dn 1/4
Tenneco.....	38 3/4	dn 1/8
Texaco.....	57 3/8	dn 1/8
Wal-Mart.....	52 7/8	dn 3/8
New York Gold.....	943.80
Silver.....	4.13
West Texas Crude.....	N/A

Emergency numbers

Ambulance.....	911
Crime Stoppers.....	669-2222
Energas.....	665-5777
Fire.....	911
Police (emergency).....	911
Police (non-emergency).....	669-5700
SPS.....	669-7432
Water.....	669-5830

Taped beating defense accidentally opens subject of racism

SIMI VALLEY, Calif. (AP) - A prosecutor pounced on a defense error to raise the issue of racism in the Rodney King trial, accusing a white policeman of referring to blacks as "gorillas" shortly before King's videotaped beating.

Under questioning Tuesday, Officer Lawrence Powell denied there were any racial overtones in a patrol-car computer message in which he said a dispute involving a black family was "right out of 'Gorillas in the Mist.'"

It was the first time race became an issue in the trial, which began Feb. 4.

King is black; the four officers charged with brutality in his beating are white.

Powell had spent most of the day explaining that the beating was justified under Los Angeles Police Department rules. Then his lawyer,

Michael Stone, mentioned patrol-car computer messages - something lawyers on both sides had agreed not to bring up.

White moved to introduce the "Gorillas in the Mist" message. "Gorillas in the Mist" is a movie about a researcher working with gorillas in Africa.

"Sounds almost exciting as our last call. It was right out of 'Gorillas in the Mist,'" Powell wrote.

Longtime Pampa dentist dies

Lifelong Pampian and prominent local dentist, Dr. Harbord L. Cox, died Tuesday, March 31, 1992 at the age of 61.

Funeral services for Dr. Cox are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Friday at Mary Ellen & Harvester Church of Christ where he and his wife Dolores are longtime members. Dean Whaley, minister, and Glen Walton, retired Church of Christ minister, will officiate. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors.

Harbord L. Cox was born Oct. 14, 1930 in Pampa. He was a 1949 graduate from Pampa High School. He attended Amarillo College, Louisiana Tech University at Ruston, La., and University of Texas at Austin before completing his bachelor of science degree at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Dr. Cox earned a doctorate of dental science degree from the University of Missouri College of Dentistry in Kansas City in 1958. He opened his dentistry practice in Pampa that same year and has served the Pampa community as a dentist since that time.

Harbord L. Cox

He and Dolores Lee were married on September 30, 1972 in El Paso. The couple raised three daughters and a son here. They later became grandparents to three grandchildren - Sara Maria, Caley Anne and Tyler

Curtis Rougeux, all of Keller.

An active member of the community, Dr. Cox was a former member and past president of the Pampa Noon Lions Club and a current member of the White Deer Lions Club. He also was a current member of the Pampa Masonic Lodge #966 AF&AM.

He played an active role in the dentistry profession as well, serving as a member of the International College of Craniomandibular Orthopedics, American Dental Association, Texas Dental Association and Panhandle District Dental Society.

Dr. Cox served in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean Conflict.

He is survived by his wife Dolores of the home; three daughters, Brenda Rougeux of Keller, Jena Cox of Dallas, and Julie Cox of Oklahoma City; one son, Bradley Eugene Cox of Belton; one sister, Jeanne Gilmore of Pampa; and three grandchildren.

The family requests memorials be to the High Plains Children's Home of Amarillo or to a favorite charity.

DiCosimo Festival begins Thursday

Eighteen area bands are scheduled to perform in the Fifth Annual Joe DiCosimo Festival Thursday and Friday at the M.K. Brown Auditorium here.

The festival honors Joe DiCosimo, who served as a band director in the Pampa Independent School District for 31 years.

A graduate of Western New Mexico University, DiCosimo holds a bachelor degree in music education. He taught elementary and high school band in El Paso for four years before coming to Pampa in 1955. He retired from teaching in 1986, but continues to teach private lessons at Pampa High School and Middle School. He also serves as a judge and clinician and teaches at band camps.

The 18 bands are to perform their U.I.L. contest programs for three clinician-adjudicators - Cheryl Floyd, Paul Lindley and Charles Nail. The Joe DiCosimo Festival is open to the public.

Following is a schedule of how the bands will appear:

THURSDAY, April 2
 3:30 p.m. - Pampa Middle School (2nd)
 3:45 p.m. - Pampa Middle School (1st)
 4 p.m. - Hereford Middle School
 4:20 p.m. - Boy's Ranch High School
 4:40 p.m. - Borger Middle School (II)
 5 p.m. - Claude High School
 5:20 p.m. - Borger Middle School (I)
 5:40 p.m. - River Road High School

6 p.m. - BREAK
 6:30 p.m. - Dumas Middle School
 7 p.m. - Randall High School (2nd)
 7:30 p.m. - Randall High School (1st)
 8 p.m. - Hereford High School (2nd) NV
 8:30 p.m. - Hereford High School (1st) NV
 9 p.m. - Dumas High School
 9:30 p.m. - Borger High School
FRIDAY, April 3
 5 p.m. - Pampa High School (2nd)
 5:30 p.m. - Borger High School (2nd)
 6 p.m. - BREAK
 6:30 p.m. - Shamrock High School
 7 p.m. - Hereford High School (1st)

Western powers fail to win broad support for sanctions

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The United States, Britain and France, mainstays of the successful anti-Iraq coalition, barely succeeded in imposing U.N. sanctions on Libya over the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103.

The sanctions resolution squeaked by in the Security Council with just one vote more than required. It won little support from Third World members.

The narrow margin of support was a disappointment for the U.S., British and French sponsors who lobbied vigorously for more affirmative votes to enhance the sanctions' moral weight. The vote was 10-0, with five abstentions.

The sanctions ban weapons sales to Libya and impose a ban on international air links. They also call for U.N. member states to significantly reduce the number of Libyan diplomats in their countries.

The sanctions go into effect on April 15 unless Libya turns over two nationals indicted by the United States and Britain in the 1988 Pan Am bombing and four accused by France in the 1989 bombing over Niger of a French airliner.

City briefs

BRICK REPAIR: Harley Knutson 665-4237. Adv.

TAX RETURNS - Competitive Rates. M. David Webster, 109 W. Kingsmill, 669-2233. Adv.

TAX SERVICE, Ruby Pruet, 2301 Christine, 665-0654 or 665-2636. Adv.

PERSONAL TOUCH April Fool Sale 25-50% Off. All week. Come in and fool around. Adv.

J. McBRIDE Plumbing, Appliance installation. 24 hour service. Call about our prices. 665-1633, 669-2724 Pampa and surrounding area. Adv.

LAWN MOWER, CHAINSAW Repair - All makes. Pickup, delivery. Radcliff Lawnmower Chainsaw Sales & Service, 519 S. Cuyler, 669-3395. Adv.

'PRAIRIE SONS' will be at the Pampa Moose Lodge Dance Saturday Night - April 4, 1992. All members and Guests invited. Adv.

C&W CONTRACTORS. Remodeling, New Construction. 665-4772, 669-2016. Adv.

FREE DELIVERY from 4 p.m. - 7:30 p.m. Monday thru Friday. $5 minimum. The Hamburger Station. Adv.

JO AND Helen will have their jewelry at Song's Beauty Salon all day Thursday, with lots of new things! 1415 N. Banks. Adv.

TAX SERVICE & Bookkeeping, Glenda Brownlee, 825 Dwight, 665-0310 or 274-2142. Adv.

22,500 BTU refrigerated air conditioner, window unit. 665-4833. Adv.

ALL YOU Can Eat Peel N Eat Shrimp, Wednesday night 5 p.m. - close. $10 per person. Easy's, 2841 Perryton Parkway. Adv.

STRAIT SHOOTER will be at City Limits, April 3, 4. Adv.

MEALS ON WHEELS 669-1007, P.O. Box 939. Adv.

ST. VINCENT'S Annual Spring Fling, Saturday April 4. Spaghetti Supper 5:30-8 p.m. Bingo 7 p.m.-11 p.m. Train ride, kiddie grab bags, babysitting, videos. Adv.

BROGAN'S BOOZEY 1001 E. Frederic, 665-1208. Pampa's newest liquor store! Come in and let us serve you! Adv.

PANSIES 3 pack for $.79, Petunias 4 pack for $.99. Limited Supply. Petes Garden Center, 516 S. Russell. Adv.

Weather focus

LOCAL FORECAST

Tonight, partly cloudy with a low in the upper 20s and southerly winds 5-10 mph. Thursday, partly cloudy with a slight chance of showers, a high in the 60s and southerly winds 10-15 mph. Tuesday's high was 57 degrees; the overnight low was 32 degrees.

REGIONAL FORECAST

West Texas - Partly cloudy Panhandle through Thursday, otherwise cloudy remainder of West Texas through Thursday. Periods of light rain or drizzle southern Panhandle southward through Permian Basin and Concho Valley through Thursday. Scattered to widely scattered showers and a few thunderstorms from lower Pecos valley westward through the Big Bend into far west through Thursday. Colder most sections tonight. Lows tonight upper 20s Panhandle to mid 40s Big Bend. Highs Thursday mostly in the 50s except lower 60s far west and upper 60s Big Bend.

North Texas - Mostly cloudy and turning colder tonight. A chance of rain and a few thunderstorms, mainly south and west sections. Cloudy southwest half of area Thursday with a good chance of light rain. Partly cloudy northeast half. Continued unseasonably cool entire area Thursday. Lows tonight 33 to 40. Highs Thursday 50 to 59.

South Texas - Cloudy with occasional rain tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the 30s Hill Country, 40s north and 50s south.

Highs Thursday in the 40s and 50s north, in the 50s to near 60 south.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Friday through Sunday

West Texas - Texas Panhandle, dry and warmer through the period. Highs in the 60s Friday and Saturday and the 70s Sunday. Lows in the 30s Friday then 40s Saturday and Sunday Permian Basin, Concho Valley, Edwards Plateau dry and warmer through the period. Highs in the 60s Friday and the 70s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 30s Friday and the 40s Saturday and Sunday. Far west Texas, dry and warmer through the period. Highs in the 60s Friday and the 70s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 40s. Big Bend area, dry and warmer through the period. Mountains, highs in the 50s Friday and the 60s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 30s. Lowlands, highs in the 70s Friday and the 80s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 40s.

South Texas - Hill Country and South Central Texas, cloudy with rain ending Friday. Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the 40s. Highs Friday in the 50s to near 60. Highs Saturday in the 60s. Highs Sunday near 70. Texas Coastal Bend, cloudy with a chance of showers Friday. Cloudy Saturday with rain ending. Decreasing clouds Sunday. Lows in the 40s to near 50. Highs Friday in the 50s to near 60. Highs Saturday and Sunday in the 60s to near 70. Lower Texas Rio Grande Valley and plains, cloudy with a chance of showers Friday and Saturday. Mostly cloudy Sunday. Lows in the 40s to near 50. Highs Friday and Saturday in the 50s to near 60. Highs Sunday in the 60s to near 70. Southeast Texas and the upper Texas coast, cloudy with a chance of showers Friday. Mostly cloudy Saturday. Partly cloudy Sunday. Lows in the 40s to near 50. Highs Friday in the 50s. Highs Saturday in the 60s. Highs Sunday in the 60s to near 70.

North Texas - Partly cloudy and cool Friday. Fair to partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday with a warming trend. West, lows in the mid to upper 30s Friday, 40s Saturday and Sunday. Highs in the 60s Friday and Saturday and 70s Sunday. Central and Sunday, lows in the upper 30s Friday and in the 40s Saturday and Sunday. High in the 60s Friday and Saturday and in the 70s Sunday.

BORDER STATES

Oklahoma - Freeze warning tonight. Fair and cold tonight with freezing temperatures most sections. Mostly sunny and warmer Thursday. Lows tonight 22 to 32. Highs Thursday 55 to 62.

New Mexico - Tonight considerable cloudiness with a continued chance of showers and mountain snows, mainly west and south. A few evening thunderstorms southwest. Lows teens to mid 30s mountains and north to the 30s and low 40s southwest. Thursday variable cloudiness with a chance of showers and mountain snows, mainly in the south. Highs in the 30s and 40s mountains to mostly the 40s and 50s at the lower elevations.

JFK doctor ends 29-year silence

DALLAS (AP) — A member of the Parkland Memorial Hospital trauma team on the days when President Kennedy and Lee Harvey Oswald were killed says the president's fatal head wound "had to have come from the front."

The Dallas Morning News reported today that Dr. Charles Crenshaw, now a prominent Fort Worth physician, will break a 29-year silence in interviews scheduled on two nationally televised news programs.

Dr. Crenshaw, director and chairman of the surgery department of John Peter Smith Hospital, will appear on the syndicated program "Now It Can Be Told" Thursday and on ABC's 20/20 program on Friday night.

Dr. Crenshaw did not immediately return a telephone call to The Associated Press.

The physician, who was a third-year resident at the hospital in November 1963, has written a book, JFK: Conspiracy of Silence, that is to be published next week.

Dr. Crenshaw told 20/20 that he looked at President Kennedy's wounds before "we placed him in the coffin" on Nov. 22, 1963.

"I wanted to know and remember this for the rest of my life," he said. "And the rest of my life I will always know that he was shot from the front."

The Warren Commission, which never called Dr. Crenshaw to testify, concluded that Oswald was the lone assassin and fired from behind the presidential motorcade.

Dr. Crenshaw said he was "really afraid" to speak out against the Warren Commission findings.

"If I had gone against all the other people and created this bomb, I'd have been a pariah of our medical community," he said. "I could have lost my job."

Two days later, after Oswald was rushed to the hospital after he was shot and mortally wounded by nightclub owner Jack Ruby, Dr. Crenshaw said he received a telephone call from President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"All of a sudden this voice like God comes across. 'This is Lyndon Johnson.' And he said 'How is the accused assassin doing?' I said, Well, he's holding his own. He's critical. He's lost a great amount of blood. We hope we can save him," Dr. Crenshaw said.

"He said, 'Would you take a message to the operating surgeon?' I said, 'Sure.' He said, 'I want a deathbed statement from the assassin.' And all of a sudden the line was broken," Dr. Crenshaw said.

Jeff Erdel, a spokesman for the syndicated program, said the interview was originally scheduled to be aired on Monday, but it was moved up after officials learned that they would be second in line behind the ABC program.

A spokeswoman for the book's publisher, Penguin USA of New York, said other television programs have agreed to embargo the interviews with Crenshaw until Monday.

"We told everybody that 20/20 has first shot, and you are all to follow," said the Penguin spokeswoman, who asked not to be named.

(AP Laserphoto)

Members of the news media work in front of the Leavenworth, Kan., house where a 4-year-old boy's body was found encased in concrete Monday.

Child's body found sealed in concrete

By MARGARET TRAUB
Associated Press Writer

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The body of an abused, retarded 4-year-old was found sealed in concrete in a box at his home, authorities said. An investigator said the boy's mother was suspected in the death.

Alice Brown, 28, apparently told relatives she killed her son, Steven, who had Down syndrome, said the investigator, who demanded anonymity.

Police said Tuesday they were unable to confirm the statements because Mrs. Brown has been in a mental hospital since an apparent drug overdose on Sunday. Detectives hoped to interview her today.

An autopsy showed that the boy had been dead about a month, but the cause of death was not immediately known, said Dr. William Eckert, Sedgwick County deputy coroner.

"It is a neglect case," he said. "There were new and old injuries," including bruises and broken ribs.

The body, covered with human feces, was wrapped in a plastic bag inside a cardboard box that was sealed with concrete, Eckert said. The box was found on the porch. There were traces of carpet deodorizer in the bag, Eckert said.

The boy lived most of his life in a 4-by-6-foot closet, law enforcement sources said.

"I have never seen him and we've lived here almost 16 months," said

Mary Roland, a neighbor. "As far as I know, no one on this block knew he was around."

The boy's father, 37-year-old William Brown, reported him missing Monday, police said. Police went to the house and got a search warrant after seeing blood on the walls. X-rays of the box on the porch revealed a rib cage.

The Browns were apparently separated, said Leavenworth County Attorney Frank E. Kohl. Brown was staying with relatives, Dyson said. Six other children, ages 1 to 10, were placed in state custody, he said.

Police had been called to the home many times before, Dyson said. But he said he did not know the nature of the calls.

State to respond to Tilton's missed records deadline

DALLAS (AP) — Another deadline has come and gone for televangelist Robert Tilton to hand over financial records to state investigators.

Gray McBride, a spokesman for the Texas Attorney General's office, said the embattled minister would be contacted today about his tardy documents.

The attorney general needs the records — which include tax forms and ledgers — to continue investigating the Farmers Branch-based ministry, McBride said. Tilton was to have turned in the records Tuesday.

McBride said Tilton's ministry said it would not respond to the records request, and asked that the request be withdrawn.

Tilton's attorney, J.C. Joyce of Tulsa, Okla., said the ministry would not provide the documents because Tilton already has opened records to federal investigators.

Tilton has been under legal scrutiny since ABC-TV's PrimeTime Live broadcast a profile of his ministry in November. According to the broadcast, Tilton kept financial donations sent with "prayer requests," but the requests didn't reach the minister.

The ministry has denied the allegation.

At dispute now is whether the ministry is outside the state's jurisdiction.

During a televised Sunday service, Tilton announced his Word of Faith World Outreach Center Church Inc. had dissolved its non-profit corporate status to become a full-fledged church.

But McBride said a change in the ministry's corporation status did not derail the state's investigation.

"An alteration in the corporate structure of an organization on one day does not provide blanket protection for accountability for any actions taken the previous day," McBride said.

Homecoming

(Staff photo by L.D. Strate)

Pampa native Marvin Elam hits infield grounders prior to the Harvesters' baseball game against River Road Tuesday afternoon at Harvester Field. Elam, River Road's head baseball coach, played both baseball and football for the Harvesters and coached in the Optimist program for several years. Elam was a member of the Pampa's 1971 district championship football team. It was Pampa's first district football title in 21 years.

Survivors of bus tragedy die in accident

MISSION (AP) — Two survivors of a 1989 school bus crash that left 21 students dead have been killed in a single-car accident, authorities say.

Efrain Cruz, 17, and Joe Vargas, 19, were killed Monday when a car driven by Vargas went off the road, police said. Another passenger, Lee Roy Delgado, 16, was also killed.

There were no signs of skid marks or erratic driving, indicating the driver had probably fallen asleep while the car moved at high speeds, said police Chief Pat Dalager.

Gray County Appraisal Board to meet Thursday

Gray County Appraisal District Board of Directors is scheduled to consider accounts to be added to the listing of "doubtful accounts" during a regular meeting set for 5 p.m. Thursday.

Consideration will be taken for listing doubtful accounts for Pampa Independent School District, city of Pampa, city of Lefors and County Education District 14.

Other items on the agenda include consider possible renovations and remodeling due to Americans With Disabilities Act, consider reimbursement of unexpended portions of 1991 budget and consider a change in the Appraisal Review Board appointment process.

Routine items of consideration of minutes and expenditures, public comments — and the chief appraiser's report are also listed on the agenda.

The meeting is open to the public and is held at the Appraisal District offices, 815 N. Sumner.

Shop Pampa

Crimestoppers

On October 6, 1987 at approximately 2:16 p.m. a structure fire occurred at 605 E. Gordon. This fire was set by unknown person or persons. As a result of this fire an eight-month-old child lost his life due to heat and smoke.

Due to anonymous tips received through Crime Stoppers, the Pampa Police Department has been able to clear a significant number of offenses and recover an appreciable amount of stolen property and illicit drugs.

Citizens may witness all or part of a crime without being aware of what they have seen. Consequently, they may unknowingly possess key information that could aid the Police in solving the crime. In some instances, citizens do not contact police with information out of fear of retaliation by the criminal if their identity were revealed. In most instances these citizens will not come forward with information unless they can be assured that they will be provided complete anonymity by the Police. Also, citizens who do wish to help may not be sure who to contact or what procedure to follow to give information of this nature.

Cash rewards of up to $1,000 are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of persons committing crimes in Pampa. The Board of Directors of Crime Stoppers urges citizen involvement in reporting crimes in our community. Crime Stoppers does not want a name all we want is information; it's strictly confidential, and one does not have to appear in Court.

Insured Certificates of Deposit

6 month	4.40%	$10,000 minimum deposit
1 year	4.60%	$5,000 minimum deposit
2 years	5.70%	$5,000 minimum deposit
3 years	6.25%	$5,000 minimum deposit
5 years	6.80%	$5,000 minimum deposit

Stop in or call today for all the details.

Roger David
Investment Representative
222 N. Cuyler
665-7137
Pampa, Tx. 79065
1-800-658-2667

Issuer's name available on request.
Federally insured to $100,000.
May be subject to interest penalty for early withdrawal.
Effective 4/8/92. Subject to availability.

Edward D. Jones & Co.
Member New York Stock Exchange, Inc. and Securities Investor Protection Corporation

CINEMA 4
665-7141

- White Men Can't Jump (R)
- Hand That Rocks The Cradle (R)
- Stop! Or My Mom Will Shoot (PG)
- Waynes World (PG)

Open 7 Nights A Week
Sunday Matinee 2 p.m.

Congratulations

Jeanine Adkins
Bride Elect Of Greg Malone
Selections Now On Display

DUNLAPS
Coronado Center

TO ALL THE PEOPLE WHO HELPED US REBUILD THE SIRLOIN STOCKADE

Thanks to our General Manager, KEVIN PORTER, his wife BRENDA, and our co-workers who stuck by us during our down time.

Thanks to MALCOLM HINKLE and company for expediting the shipment and installation of all our new equipment.

Thanks to LARRY BECK and his crew for their help on the electrical rewiring and installation of our signs, lamps and fans.

A SPECIAL THANKS to KEN DAVIS SR. of Ganell Industires, Inc. our General Contractor, and his son, CASEY, without whose help we could never have opened as quickly as we did. Our restaurant is a reflection of his professionalism and the pride he takes in his work.

And thanks to the PEOPLE of PAMPA who gave us a record day on our grand opening. May you always feel at home in our dining room.

Sincerely yours,

Charles R. Jansen

Charles R. Jansen, President
Sirloin Stockade of Pampa, Texas

Viewpoints

The Pampa News

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Louise Fletcher
Publisher

J. Alan Brzys
Managing Editor

Opinion

Clunker bounty leaves questions

The Bush administration last week floated an idea that might have caused some Americans to look at the driveway and see cash rather than metal and glass.

The administration's proposal is to allow state governments and private industries to purchase old autos - clunkers - to get them off the road. The incentive would be that purchasers could trade the clunkers for credits which could be applied toward efforts to meet Clean Air Act requirements.

The idea has certain merits. Complying with clean air emissions-reduction requirements will prove extremely costly and purchasing credits buys industry time to meet the new standards. In addition, presumably the nation's highways would be rid of a high percentage of the old, smoke-belching monsters manufactured a decade or more ago. It's estimated that nearly 40 percent of the vehicles on the road fit in that category and eliminating them would help clean the air.

However, the proposal prompts many questions. What, for example, is your Old Smoky worth? Initial reports on the program are inchoate. A figure widely used put the value of Old Smoky at $700. Is that figure applicable to all sections of the nation? News stories didn't specify, except to say the figure was derived from an experiment in California. Presumably the prices would be based on local used-car prices, but how is that determined and is there allowance for condition? Would all vehicles fetch the same price?

It's also true that Old Smoky is the only car some Americans can afford. Even with a $700 bounty for Old Smoky, many couldn't afford a newer, less polluting vehicle. You can't buy much of an automobile for $700. In many cases one Old Smoky might simply be replaced with a newer version. That would result in little gain in the battle to clean up the nation's air. (How long might it be before surrendering Old Smoky became a mandate, not an option?)

Most perplexing is the question of disposal. What becomes of thousands of clunkers? Would a new governmental department be created to appraise, buy, store and dispose of the vehicles? Even if the service is contracted to a private concern (which it should be), the enterprise would prove costly. Who pays the expenses created by a comprehensive reporting system that would be necessary?

The car-scraping proposal isn't necessarily frivolous. The Clean Air Act provides for the trading of credits as industries begin emission-reduction activities. Adding clunkers to the formula gives industry another tool to use in meeting requirements. But safeguards must be established ensuring a voluntary program to protect those who need Old Smoky but cannot afford to trade up.

And of course the purchase, storage and disposal issues require careful consideration.

The Pampa News

(USPS 781-540)

Serving the Top 'O Texas 83 Years
Pampa, Texas 79065
403 W. Aitchison
PO Box 2198

Circulation Certified by ABC Audit

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Subscription rates in Pampa by carrier and motor route are $6.00 per month, $18.00 per three months, $36.00 per six months and $72.00 per year. THE PAMPA NEWS is not responsible for advance payment of two or more months made to the carrier. Please pay directly to the News Office any payment that exceeds the current collection period.

Subscription rates by mail are: $22.50 per three months, $45.00 per six months and $90.00 per year. No mail subscriptions are available within the city limits of Pampa. Military and students by mail $6.66 per month. Mail subscriptions must be paid 3 months in advance.

Single copies are 25 cents daily and 75 cents Sunday.
The Pampa News is published daily except Sundays and holidays by the Pampa News, 403 W. Aitchison Street, Pampa, Texas 79065. Second-class postage paid at Pampa, Texas. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to the Pampa News, P.O. Drawer 2198, Pampa, Texas 79066-2198.

Missing Your Daily News?
Dial 669-2525 Before 7 p.m. Weekdays,
Before 10 a.m. Sundays

Berry's World

© 1992 by NEA, Inc. 3D

'Why can't Pat be you-oo?'

Pat Buchanan sent me a letter the other day. Nothing personal. It was a form letter, seeking funds to continue his campaign to get George Bush back on track. I looked at the letter for a while, and sighed, and thought of Patsy Cline. Patsy was one of the all-time great country singers. She often sang a ballad, "Why Can't He Be You?" She might have been singing to George about Pat. To paraphrase the song, Pat promises to take conservatives where they used to go. Pat gives them love "I never get from you." Pat's love is true. Aw, George, why can't Pat be you-oo?

The thing is that over on the right side of the political spectrum, Pat Buchanan makes many hearts go pitty-pat. If only he were not quite so truculent! If only he had some of Bush's encompassing experience! Buchanan goes too far, but clearly he heads in the right direction.

The Buchanan letter dwells upon 10 points that most Americans support. This is Buchanan's Point No. 1: "Phase out foreign aid. Americans will always be first at the scene to help the victims of natural disaster, from Kurdistan to Peru. But the steady siphoning of $300 million in foreign aid - every single week - from a depleted U.S. Treasury, by Third World and socialist regimes, must end. Charity begins at home." What's so terribly wrong with that?

Point No. 2 deals with trade: "We will demand reciprocity. Nations that adopt a closed-door policy to America's exports should not expect an open-door policy to America's markets."

"Defend American first," says Pat Buchanan. "It is time that rich and prosperous allies, like Germany and Japan, start paying bills for their own defense." I say hooray for Point No. 3.

James J. Kilpatrick

Point 4 deals with the kind of tax cuts that will spur investment and create jobs. Point 5 is a promise to veto tax increases if Congress approves them. Point 6 pinches a painful nerve: "Freeze federal spending. Under George Bush, social spending has soared faster than at any time in 60 years, and America has run the largest deficits in her history."

Buchanan's Point 7 goes to the need to keep America strong, not only in national defense but also in industry, manufacturing and standard of living.

Point 8 should be quoted in full: "Equal justice for all. If discrimination is wrong when practiced against black men and women, it is wrong when practiced against any man or woman. All quotas in federal agencies and programs will be abolished - and the ideas of excellence and merit will be restored."

In Point 9, Buchanan comes out for limiting the terms of members of Congress. His final point deals with the pollution of our culture by the sex and violence that permeates our movies, television programs and magazines. His platform hits a lick in favor of a constitutional amendment "to restore voluntary prayer in the public schools." Pat will lead a fight against abortion.

I have problems with some of this. Buchanan is right-to-life; I am pro-choice. He wants a constitutional amendment on school prayer; I won't tinker with the Constitution. He is upset about cultural pollution; so am I, but I would be awfully careful about infringing upon freedom of expression.

On matters of foreign aid and trade policy, Buchanan is quite sound. Though much foreign aid comes back in purchases of arms and agricultural commodities, much of it is no more than a costly habit. I don't read Buchanan's Point No. 2 as all-out protectionism; any such trade policy would be indescribably stupid. But Buchanan is plainly right in insisting that our principal trading partners abide by the fair-play rule of quid pro quo.

Freeze federal spending? Not all federal programs, certainly, could be frozen, but hundreds of outlays, large and small, could be kept at current levels. Buchanan is not asking any more of Congress than millions of American families ask of themselves. Hold the line! Learn to say no! The bloated budget for agriculture surely could be kept in line. Space exploration can wait. Increases for energy, environment and research do not have to be granted.

George Bush can't be made over into a friendlier Pat Buchanan. The president is no slugger, nor was meant to be, but his re-election hinges upon convincing disillusioned conservatives and independents that he loves us too. Bill Clinton is waiting upon the doorstep, and he has flowers in his arms.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 1, the 92nd day of 1992. There are 274 days left in the year. This is April Fool's Day.

Today's Highlight in History:
On April 1, 1789, the U.S. House of Representatives held its first full meeting, in New York City. Frederick Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania was elected the first House Speaker.

On this date:
In 1853, Cincinnati became the nation's first city to pay its firefighters a salary.

In 1933, Nazi Germany began its persecution of Jews with a boycott of Jewish-owned businesses.

In 1945, American forces launched the invasion of Okinawa during World War II.

In 1960, the first weather satellite, TIROS-1, was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

In 1977, the U.S. Senate followed the example of the House by adopting a stringent code of ethics requiring full financial disclosure and limits on outside income.

The dental office of tomorrow

For generations Americans for cosmetic reasons have capped aging or stained teeth at some discomfort and considerable expense.

For many or most, it may now be possible to whiten teeth for a considerable length of time with a do-it-yourself nightly application of a bleaching agent. There are at least three good ones.

Your dentist makes a quick-and-easy silicon impression of your teeth, then converts this mold to a think plastic "tray."

Into this you squirt a bit of clear bleaching gel at bedtime and wear the comfortable tooth cover overnight.

A few nights and "presto!" your teeth are shades whiter.

This next is partly personal but pertinent. I can close my eyes and visualize the dentist's office of tomorrow.

No more cramped waiting room with a Naugahyde couch and months-old magazines.

No more tiny white-walled cubicle of ominous-appearing, evil-sounding machines and grim-faced practitioners.

Paul Harvey

No more austere atmosphere implying a Pavlovian prelude to inevitable pain.

I can close my eyes and enter a reception room upholstered and papered in cheerful patterns and tranquil colors.

There is subtly therapeutic music coming from nowhere.

A separate waiting room for youngsters is equipped with a play table and toys, and a VCR with an assortment of Disney tapes.

The areas where the dentists and technicians work are more open than otherwise: partitions are mostly imaginary.

More like an elegant beauty parlor than a clinic. And everybody knows your name, your FIRST name.

In this sprightly informal atmosphere of artful distraction you almost forget what you came for. And minutes later you leave, with whatever repairs, replacements or renovation, feeling more refreshed than depleted.

I can visualize the dental office of tomorrow because I was there already.

Dr. Fred Lau of Phoenix is this year's president of the Arizona Dental Society.

His is a general practice with emphasis on cosmetic dentistry and reconstruction.

His sunny offices are further brightened by pictures of his family and tranquil seascapes painted by his artist mother. I have experienced his artful dentistry.

The dentist's office of yesterday was a barbershop of crude tools and brute strength and where, despite a sort of white lightning, you endured inevitable agony.

Some of today's dentistry will seem that primitive tomorrow.

I have sampled tomorrow.

Victorious party will be hard to dislodge

It looks like a race between George Bush and Bill Clinton. It is a very important election: The winning party may stay in the White House for a long time.

Some observations:
The good news for Democrats is quite good. The two top vote-getters in the primaries - Clinton and Paul Tsongas - each challenged parts of Democratic Party liberalism, and they were able to win just about all of the primaries as they did it. The bad news for Democrats is that they haven't gone far enough, yet.

It is Bill Clinton's tough job to bring Democrats the rest of the way. If he can do it, he has a chance to win.

Clinton has been compared recently to the late Vice President Hubert Humphrey. It seems valid - upside and downside.

Humphrey was a political virtuoso. He lit up a room. He was indefatigable, fun and visionary. He was knowledgeable - he knew all sides of all issues. Campaigning with Humphrey in Minnesota for the Senate in 1970, I'd go out with him on the hustings, my mind souring on liberalism. Returning later, I'd think, well, maybe with the right man, liberalism still makes sense.

But Humphrey had a political flaw. Shortly after I came to Minnesota, I visited with some neighbors, with my young daughter. I told our neighbors I was working with Humphrey. A vigorous conversation ensued. Later, as we left, my daughter turned to me and said, "Dad, when we meet Mr. Humphrey, will we see him talk out of both sides of his mouth?"

Ben Wattenberg

That harsh image flowed from his virtuosity. He was so knowledgeable that he could spread his wings wider than the electorate could accept. In his ultimate campaign, for the presidency against Richard Nixon in 1968, opinion polls showed voters believing Humphrey was "wishy-washy."

Now, Bill Clinton is seen that way: a dazzling virtuoso on too many sides of too many issues. Clinton can't win unless he bites the rest of the bullet that he and Tsongas began chewing on. He must be seen as pulling his party back to its senses. And he has to be credible while doing it. Or lose. I hope he succeeds, but it won't be easy. The liberal interest groups want him to run their way.

In any event, it is uphill for Clinton. It is not likely that the president will be "Goofy George" forever. The economy is coming back. And Bush has the presidential pulpit, from which to lob anti-pork-barrel messages at Congress, or, for that matter, to bomb Iraq. Despite the bashing he has taken, Bush still occupies the power position in modern American politics, which is "moderate conservative."

Bush also has a quiver full of social issues, those famous never-disappearing "wedges" of yesteryear. For one example: The Bush White House can, at its pleasure, revisit the Civil Rights Act of 1991, either by issuing guidelines or interpretations, thereby opening up the debate about "quotas" vs. "merit." That argument is a big Democratic loser unless Clinton can break with the civil rights lobby. In a non-wishy-washy way. Which would be very difficult.

Clinton has tried to have the race issue both ways. He says, correctly, that America's big problem is racial division. He courageously calls for "personal responsibility," which is an internal way out of the welfare trap. But he plays the external blame-game when he indicates that Bush and Reagan are causes of racial division. (In fact, the personal responsibility approach comes straight from the conservative playbook.)

Thus, Clinton feeds an American obsession, "The Victim Dilemma," which goes like this: "Every Problem Can Be Assigned To a Hostile Outside Agent."

It is likely going to be an important election. America is passing through a nervous economic restructuring. The world is moving over a bumpy road toward markets and liberty. But the mid-1990s and beyond should be prosperous. Whichever party wins in 1992 will be hard to dislodge.

Henderson High School student Steve Nigri, left, and Stacy Boyd, a Majority to Minority transfer student, field questions about the Supreme Court's Tuesday decision affecting their schools. Nigri said "Parents want to blame the school system, but it's the parents who decided DeKalb County was going to be split" racially.

Court ends fed supervision of DeKalb school enrollment

CHAMBLEE, Ga. (AP) — Stacy Boyd, the first black student body president of what used to be a mostly white high school, believes integration can work without government intervention.

"I had to get voted in by everybody and I think that says a lot," he said. "The next step would be the bus, and if you start busing people, there's going to be rebellion."

Boyd was among the black students at Henderson High School in DeKalb County who agreed with a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Tuesday ending federal court supervision over enrollment in DeKalb County's schools.

Partly because the county's schools in suburban Atlanta are still not fully integrated, the decision was condemned by lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union, which represented black parents who sued decades ago to desegregate DeKalb County's schools.

The ruling makes it easier for school districts to shed court supervision. It is expected to affect hundreds of school districts nationwide, many of which still engage in widespread busing for racial balance as part of their court-supervised desegregation efforts.

But some said the decision would have only a limited effect on desegregation programs in their districts.

"I don't see anything in this opinion to suggest that the school board can be relieved of its obligation without a hearing," said Dennis Parker, who helped sue Muscogee County with the Columbus, Ga., chapter of the NAACP.

In Dayton, Ohio, schools Superintendent James Williams said he wants greater supervision of the district's desegregation plans, though he also wants to end court-ordered busing.

"I know from experience if they're not monitoring school districts, we will have a tendency to slip back to the 1960s and '50s," Williams said.

Since 1968, the Supreme Court has told federal judges in desegregation cases to look for racial equality in six categories: student assignment, faculty, staff, transportation, extracurricular activities and facilities.

In the DeKalb County case, the high court agreed with U.S. District Judge William O'Kelley that the courts should no longer be responsible for enrollment. In 1989, O'Kelley blamed racial imbalance in the district on "white flight" — not school board policies.

Schools in DeKalb County, a middle-class suburban area east of Atlanta, are not fully integrated.

When black parents sued in 1968, blacks were just 6 percent of the county's student population. Over the next decade, thousands of black families moved into southern DeKalb County and thousands of white families moved out.

Today, about 60 percent of the county's 77,000 public school students are black. More than half of them attend schools 90 percent or more black.

Henderson High School, in the northern part of the county, is somewhat unusual. Situated in an upper-middle class, largely white neighborhood, it was virtually all white a decade ago but is now 46 percent black.

The racial mix was achieved as the white population grew older and black students took advantage of a program that let them transfer to better schools.

Fetal tissue transplants: Senate debates ethics, scientific promise

By RICHARD L. VERNACI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is debating science and morality as it tries to decide whether to lift a 4-year moratorium on fetal tissue transplants.

For some the question is entwined in the issue of abortion; for others, it is a debate over saving lives, sometimes the lives of people they know.

"Fetal tissue transplant research should not be lumped together with abortion," said Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

Fetal tissue transplantation is believed to hold promise for victims of Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, spinal cord injury and diabetes. The Senate is considering a bill that would lift a federal moratorium on using tissue from aborted fetuses for human transplant research.

Thurmond said he supported the bill, in part because his daughter, Julie, is diabetic.

"We cannot afford to lose this opportunity to find a cure," Thurmond said as the Senate took up the bill Tuesday.

Across the aisle, Sen. Paul Wellstone, D-Minn., told the Senate of the plight of his parents, both of whom had Parkinson's disease.

"I can't think of a more important one than this," Wellstone said.

Throughout the chamber, there was mention of former Rep. Morris

Udall, D-Ariz., who resigned his House seat because of Parkinson's disease.

"Many of my colleagues are wrestling with this issue," said Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., the manager of the bill on the Senate floor. "They want very much to move this vital research forward, but they share the concern of the administration that the research may increase the incidence of abortion."

Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan cited that concern in 1989 when he decided to continue the moratorium.

Kennedy said there has not been evidence to back that up.

But Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, argued that fetal tissue transplantation was still unproven and that other areas of research also showed promise.

"We simply do not have evidence that it has promise or disappointment for those many Americans afflicted with conditions that have eluded treatment so far," Hatch said.

President Bush will veto the bill, Hatch said.

The bill contained restrictions on the use of fetal tissue that are supposed to separate the research from a woman's decision to have an abortion and cut off trade in fetal tissue by prohibiting its sale or purchase.

The government ban on fetal tissue research does not apply to fetuses from spontaneous abortions or ectopic pregnancies. But research organizations say that does not supply an adequate supply and that the tissue from such circumstances often is unusable.

The Senate overwhelmingly defeated an amendment by Hatch that would have allowed only tissue from miscarriages or ectopic pregnancies to be used in human transplant research. The amendment, which also provided for a registry and tissue bank, was defeated 77-23.

In fetal tissue transplants, fetal cells are placed in a recipient's body to help a disabled organ begin functioning normally. Scientists have turned to fetal tissue for the transplants because cells from adults often are rejected by the recipient's body.

Aide says rising productivity key to U.S. economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's chief economic adviser says the United States is in danger of losing its status as the world's leading economy unless U.S. productivity rises.

But Michael Boskin, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, rejected a proposal put forward by 100 top economists that the federal government boost spending to states and cities by $50 billion annually to increase productive investment.

Boskin, while agreeing that increasing productivity is crucial, said the answer did not lie in inflating already-record budget deficits.

"We are not going to remain the world's leading economy unless we get our growth rate up for productivity," Boskin said in a speech Tuesday to the National Economists Club of Washington.

"That is the greatest single economic challenge," he said. "It will determine the standard of living for our children and America's leadership role in the world."

The growth in productivity, defined as output per hour of work, has been lackluster for more than two decades. Annual productivity gains averaged 2.4 percent in the 1960s, but dropped to 1.3 percent in the 1970s and fell further to 0.8 percent in the 1980s.

Because productivity is crucial to boosting living standards, economists have been searching for answers on how to reverse that trend.

Just this week, a group of prominent economists, including six Nobel prize winners, released an open letter to the administration, Congress and the Federal Reserve in which they called for a $50 billion increase in aid to state and local governments.

They argued that while the increase would boost the deficit in the short-term, it would be healthy for the economy by putting resources where they are needed most to improve America's education system and its crumbling infrastructure such as highways and airports.

"Everyone agrees that the remedy for the long-run problem is more investment in people, in infrastructure, in technology and in machinery," the economists said in their letter.

The spending makes more sense than tax cuts being proposed by the administration or Congress, the economists said. Once the economy is growing more strongly, tax increases, not tax cuts, will be needed, the group said.

The administration is projecting that this year's deficit will hit a record $400 billion.

Boskin said that, given the imbalance, the traditional pump-priming approaches to ending a recession by boosting government spending weren't available.

Boskin also said, "It would be naive to think that one could draw on a blackboard a $50 billion program and have Congress spend it well."

He also took issue with a claim by the economists that the increased borrowing would have only a minimal impact on interest rates.

He said that long-term interest rates have already risen by almost one-half percentage point this year and blamed much of the increase on uncertainty in financial markets over where the federal deficit is headed.

Instead of more government spending, Boskin said the administration was recommending reforms in the education system and the legal system that would not entail big amounts of money.

WILLIAM L. ARTHUR
Income Tax & Business Services
*Licensed *Experienced *Dependable
113 S. Ballard P.O. Box 1284 Pampa 669-2607

NO FOOLIN'
Just a great buy on these TERRY WRAPS!
In Men's or Ladies' Style Repeat of a Sell Out!

100% Cotton Terry Great For The Grad!

9.99
DUNLAPS
Open Mon.-Sat. 10-6
Coronado Center

Heard-Jones HEALTH MART
114 N. Cuyler - Open 8:00-6:00 - 669-7478

DON'T MISS OUR EASTER SALE
Insert In Today's Edition Of The Pampa News Sale Starts Thurs. April 2 At 8 a.m. Tabloid Prices Good 10 Days

These Prices Good THURS.-FRI.-SAT.

CLASSIC COKE - 7-UP or DR. PEPPER
$3.39
12/12 Oz. Cans

BOUNTY PAPER TOWELS
Jumbo Roll 69¢
Limit 3 Rolls

CHARMIN BATH TISSUE
4 Roll Pkg. 79¢
Limit 3 Pkgs.

ALL NAME BRAND CIGARETTES ALL SIZES
$16.99
Carton

Deliberations begin in Gotti trial

NEW YORK (AP) — The judge at John Gotti's trial gave the jurors a four-hour explanation of their task today — deciding whether Gotti climbed to the top of the Gambino crime family by way of murder and other crimes.

Deliberations in the racketeering case were to begin today.

Gotti, 51, and Frank "Frankie Locs" Locascio, 59, are accused in Brooklyn federal court of murders, loansharking, gambling, tax fraud and other crimes. If convicted of the most serious charges, they would face life in prison.

On Tuesday, U.S. District Judge I. Leo Glasser stepped down from the bench and stood at a podium to explain the law to the jury. Seated behind him, Gotti appeared bored but smiled occasionally and spoke quietly with his lawyers.

Gotti has been tried and acquitted on various charges three times since 1986.

But this time, the government had Salvatore "Sammy Bull" Gravano, Gotti's alleged underboss, as its star witness. And it also had FBI tapes of conversations at Gotti's hangouts.

The centerpiece of the government's case was the 1985 assassination of "Big Paul" Castellano and his lieutenant, Thomas Bilotti, outside a steakhouse. Prosecutors allege Gotti arranged the murder to seize control of the Gambino family, the nation's most powerful crime organization.

Gravano, the highest-ranking Mafia member ever to testify against Gotti, told the jury that Gotti arranged the slayings, waited across the street during the hit, and drove past the bodies to make sure the job got done right.

Earlier Tuesday, Glasser dismissed a juror without explanation — the third juror to be replaced during the 10-week trial. The judge did not explain his decision but said there had been no improprieties by prosecutors or defense.

The jury was sequestered during the trial, and its members' identities were kept secret to guard against any Mafia intimidation.

Seven members of Asian gang convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the street gang Born to Kill and six members were convicted on federal racketeering charges including murder, extortion, robbery and a plot to blow up a restaurant.

"With this verdict, we believe we have taken out the heart of perhaps the most violent gang in New York City, the Born to Kill," said U.S. Attorney Andrew Maloney after Monday's convictions.

Food

King crab saute makes elegant meal

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Dining at home — for that special evening for two — takes on true elegance with a king crab and mushroom saute.

The king crab lives up to its name since it is one of the largest members of the crab family. Although some grow to a length of 6 feet, measured from leg to leg (claw to claw), fishermen in Alaska, the sole producer of king crab in the United States, select prime male crabs that weigh an average of 10 pounds and measure 3 to 4 feet from tip to tip. Others caught in large traps that lie on the ocean floor are returned to the sea.

The crabs are taken live to a nearby processor where they are immediately cleaned, cooked and frozen. Since they are frozen, king crab is available in supermarkets or fish markets year-round, as whole or split legs and claws. The white meat has a sweet flavor and tender texture and is perfect for hors d'oeuvres, as well as main dishes.

KING CRAB AND MUSHROOM SAUTE

3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice

King Crab and mushroom saute makes a special dinner for two.

10-12 ounces Alaska king crab split legs, thawed if necessary
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 tablespoons green onion, chopped
1-2 tablespoons dry sherry or dry vermouth (optional)
Melt butter in large skillet; add lemon juice. Saute crab legs, meat side down, for 5 minutes; turn and push to sides of skillet.

Saute mushrooms and onion for 15 minutes; splash sherry over all ingredients. Serve immediately.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 servings.

Waffle recipe slashes fat, sodium to a minimum

By NANCY BYAL, Food Editor
Better Homes and Gardens Magazine

We didn't waffle around with the fat in these breakfast favorites. For this cornmeal-oat bran version, egg whites are used in place of whole eggs, skim milk instead of whole milk, and oil is kept at a minimum. The amount of sodium in the recipe is also reduced by leavening with yeast instead of sodium-laden baking powder. With the yeast, you can stir up the batter the night before and let it rise overnight in the refrigerator. The next morning, just pour the batter into your waffle iron and cook.

Corn-Oat Waffles

1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1/2 cup oat bran

3 tablespoons sugar
1 package active dry yeast
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups skim milk
4 egg whites
1/4 cup cooking oil
Non-stick spray coating
1 recipe Strawberry-Apricot Sauce (recipe below)

In a large mixing bowl stir together flour, cornmeal, oat bran, sugar, yeast and salt. Stir in milk, egg whites and cooking oil. Beat with a rotary beater or an electric mixer on medium speed about 1 minute or until combined. Cover the bowl loosely. Chill for 2 to 24 hours. Or, let stand at room temperature about 1 hour or until the mixture is bubbly and slightly thickened.

To cook, stir the batter. Spray a cold waffle iron with non-stick coating. Heat the waffle iron; add batter. (Check the manufacturer's directions for amount of batter to use.) Close the lid quickly; do not open during baking.

Bake waffles according to the manufacturer's directions. Use a fork to remove the baked waffle from the waffle iron. Keep warm. Repeat with remaining batter. Serve with Strawberry-Apricot Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Strawberry-Apricot Sauce: Drain one 16-ounce can unpeeled apricot halves, reserving syrup. Cut apricot halves in half; set aside. In a medium saucepan stir together 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Stir in 1 cup apricot nectar. Cook and stir over medium heat until the mixture is thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir for 2 minutes more. Gently stir in 1 cup sliced strawberries and the cut-up apricots. Heat through. Serve warm over waffles.

Expand grain horizon for more fiber and complex carbohydrates

By NANCY BYAL
Food Editor
Better Homes and Gardens Magazine

You've probably already baked with whole-wheat flour and cooked oats, but when was the last time you used millet or buckwheat? Or how about the first time you leaped beyond wheat flour to cracked wheat, wheat bran or wheat berries?

Expanding your whole grain horizon makes good sense. You'll be adding taste and variety to your meals while at the same time increasing your intake of complex carbohydrates and fiber — two nutrients that we need more of, according to nutritionists.

A word to the wise before you stock up: Buy whole grains in small quantities. Because they contain the oil-rich germ, whole grains turn rancid faster. It's best to store them tightly covered, in a cool, dry place for no longer than five months. For longer storage, refrigerate or freeze grains, tightly covered, in moisture- and vapor-proof containers. Just be sure to warm chilled whole grain flour to room temperature before adding to yeast bread recipes.

Barley: The polished kernels or seeds of the barley plant. Available in regular (pearl) and quick-cooking form, barley is most often used in soups and casseroles.

Bran: The fiber-rich outer covering of any grain kernel, such as oat, corn, rice or wheat (which is also known as miller's bran.) Substitute a spoonful or two for flour in baking.

Buckwheat Groats: Whole, unpolished buckwheat kernels, roasted or unroasted, often ground into buckwheat flour. Roasted kernels, called kasha, may be cooked and served as a breakfast cereal or a side dish. Buckwheat flour makes especially good pancakes.

Bulgur Wheat: Wheat kernels that have been cracked and pre-cooked to cut cooking time. You can use bulgur for casseroles, cereals and salads, such as tabbouleh, a favorite in the Middle East.

Cornmeal: Ground and dried yellow, white or even blue corn kernels commonly used in American Indian, Mexican and colonial American cooking. Use cornmeal in traditional corn bread, tamales or mush (also known as hasty pudding in colonial days), or add it to yeast breads, waffles, muffins, dumplings or pasta dough.

Cracked Rye: Coarsely ground unpolished rye kernels. Cracked rye adds great texture to yeast breads.

Cracked Wheat: Coarsely ground unpolished wheat kernels that have not been pre-cooked. Cracked wheat is interchangeable with bulgur, only it takes a little longer to cook.

Hominy: Yellow or white corn kernels that have been hulled, soaked and dried. Add hominy to salads and soups. Coarsely ground hominy is called hominy grits, which is cooked into the Southern breakfast favorite of the same name.

Millet: Unpolished whole yellow kernels that resemble tiny beads. Serve millet as you would small pastas such as couscous, or acini di pepe, only cook it about three times as long.

Oats: Regular rolled oats are unpolished oat kernels that have been steamed and flattened. Quick-cooking rolled oats are cut before steaming and flattening. Both forms may be used for cereal, cookies and breads, or can be ground into oat flour. Steel-cut oats are whole oat kernels that have been cut into lengthwise pieces; they may be used for hot cereal.

To toast rolled oats for extra flavor, place 1/2 cup quick-cooking or regular rolled oats in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree F oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until the oats are light brown.

Rice: Brown rice is a whole grain, yet its white counterpart is not. White rice has no endosperm. Brown rice is the unpolished whole rice kernel that still has its endosperm. You can substitute brown rice for white rice, but you'll need to double the cooking time. Quick-cooking brown rice and brown rice flour are also available.

Rye Berries: Whole rye kernels that may be ground into rye flour. The berries work well in casseroles or hot cereals. Rye flour is used in pumpernickel and other yeast breads.

Triticale Berries: Whole unpolished kernels that are a cross between wheat and rye. The berries may be used in hot cereals or ground into triticale flour for baking.

Wheat Berries: Unpolished whole-wheat kernels. They make a hearty cereal and add texture to breads, soups and pilafs. Wheat berries can also be ground into whole-wheat flour.

Wheat Germ: The soft, oily portion of the wheat kernel. Add a spoonful or two to baked goods or granola.

Wild Rice: Unpolished, dark brown, whole kernels from a marsh grass. Although wild rice is a grain, it is not a true member of the rice family.

Chefs share culinary skills in the fight against hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning March 29 an continuing through April 5, some of the nation's finest restaurants are fighting hunger by donating their best ingredients.

Chefs from restaurants in 100 cities across the United States will donate their time and talents to raise money for hunger relief when American Express presents Share Our Strength's

"Taste of the Nation." Participating restaurants, hotels, wineries, food suppliers and dozens of local donors contribute food, supplies and services.

Creamy Vegetables Italiano is no-fuss creation

By The Associated Press

Creamy Vegetables Italiano is a no-fuss topper for baked potatoes that can be prepared in a conventional or microwave oven. All you need is a can of soup, some frozen vegetables and Parmesan cheese.

Creamy Vegetables Italiano
4 medium baking potatoes
One 10 3/4-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup

2 cups Italian-style frozen vegetable combination
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Dash pepper
Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Bake potatoes about 1 hour or until tender. Split potatoes open.

For conventional cooking: In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan, combine soup, vegetables, cheese and pepper. Over medium heat, simmer 5 minutes or until vegetables are done, stirring occasionally. Spoon over potatoes. Serve with additional cheese, if desired.

Makes 2 cups or 4 servings.
For the microwave oven: In a 1 1/2-quart, microwave-safe casserole, combine soup, vegetables, cheese and pepper. Cover with lid. Cook on high (100 percent power) for 6 minutes, or until vegetables are done, stirring twice during heating.

SPECIAL!

BRAUM'S
Biscuit With Sausage Gravy

89¢

DELICIOUS COUNTRY STYLE GRAVY WITH TASTY BITS OF BRAUM'S SAUSAGE...LADLED OVER A GOLDEN BRAUM'S BISCUIT.

Double-Order
(2-Biscuits) $1.59

B BRAUM'S
ICE CREAM AND DAIRY STORES
901 N. Hobart St.

BREAKFAST SERVED MON. - SAT. 6 A.M.-10:30 A.M. & SUN. 7 A.M.-11 A.M.

S & F BEVERAGE OF TEXAS INC.

SUPER SAVINGS

ITEMS NOT AVAILABLE IN ALL HOMELAND STORES

PRICES EFFECTIVE WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, THRU TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1992.
Sales in Retail Consumer Quantities Only.

MILLER BEER

High Life, Genuine Draft, Genuine Draft Lite or Life

$2.99
6-Pack 12-oz. Cans

SEAGRAM'S WINE COOLERS

Save On All Available Varieties

$2.99
4-Pack 12-oz. Bottles

SUTTER HOME WINE

White Zinfandel

$7
2 750-ml. Bottles

MARCUS JAMES WINES

White Zinfandel, Cabernet Sauvignon or Chardonnay

$3.99
1.5-Liter Bottle

RIUNITE WINES

Peach, Apple, Raspberry, Lambrusco, Rosato, Bianco or D'Oro

$7
2 750-ml. Bottles

HOMELAND

Lifestyles

Nurse Smithers marries Dr. Brunow

Lemuel Ganell Smithers was married to Dr. Vittorio E. von Brunow on March 22, 1920. Born November 6, 1893, she was the daughter of Lemuel N. and Laura Bell (Sowell) Smithers. She was their youngest child and their only daughter. Her older brothers were Claude and Roy. She was so small that she was always called by her nicknames, "Lemmie" or "Biddie."

Lemmie's father, in 1881, went to the Spur ranch in Dickens County and worked there for sixteen years. Then he bought 2,600 acres and operated his own ranch in that part of Texas.

Lemmie's mother, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa J.L. Sowell, was a direct descendant of Andrew J. Sowell, Texas historian and revolutionary hero.

Lemmie attended Simmons University and later received her nurse's training at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. She graduated with the highest honors in her class and then was sent to Camp Travis near Austin as a Red Cross nurse at the time Spanish influenza was rampant.

She was sent to New York and was scheduled to go overseas when World War I ended on November 11, 1918. In New York she caught a cold which developed into pneumonia. This contributed to her bad health in later years.

Lemmie came back to Amarillo and was a nurse at St. Anthony's Hospital where she met Dr. Brunow. She came to Pampa to live with him in the white frame house at 101 South Cuyler.

This was a time when doctors made house calls, even in the country, and Lemmie went to assist Dr. Brunow on his calls. One of his calls was to the home of Guy and Maude Andis about twenty miles south of Pampa on SH 70. Bob Andis was born there in 1922.

In 1924, Mrs. Lemuel G. von Brunow was elected commander of Kerley-Crossman Post 334, American Legion. She was the first and only woman to be elected

Museum Mementos

Eloise Lane
White Deer Land Museum

Lemuel Ganell von Brunow

(Photo courtesy Mrs. A.H. Brown)

to this position (at that time).

Lemmie's niece, Mrs. A.G. Brown of Hereford, lived with the Brunows and went to Pampa High School at the time the red brick Brunow Building was being constructed in 1926. Mrs. Brown's father was a law enforcement officer at Borger in 1926-27 and did not want his daughter attending school there. Mrs. Brown lived in the white frame house after it was moved to 825 West Kingsmill and also in the new Brunow Building.

Every day during construction, Lemmie went to watch the men at work on the new building to be sure that everything was the way she and Dr. Brunow wanted. The Brunows had a large apartment in the building and a beautiful roof top garden on top of the building. They took their two white dogs for walks on the roof top.

Health may hang in balance for scales - resistant

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the woman signed "I'm Just Right in Sacramento," who decided not to be weighed in her physician's office because she cannot maintain the unrealistic weight demanded of her.

As a registered nurse, I feel compelled to tell this woman that she needs to rethink her decision. She should not be subjected to a lecture on weight control each time she is weighed and is not the ideal weight.

However, in some cases, the dosages of prescribed medication are based on the patient's weight; therefore, an "educated guess" may not be adequate.

CONCERNED R.N.
IN MODESTO, CALIF.

DEAR CONCERNED: Many readers identified with "I'm Just Right." Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for "I'm Just Right in Sacramento." I, too, have sworn off scales. I was either on a diet, or failing, and the number on the bathroom scale in the morning would determine whether I liked myself that day.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

Finally, I began to realize that it wasn't hunger, my body size, or some defect in me that triggered my over-eating. It was the constant dieting and worrying about my weight that made me focus on food.

I haven't been on a scale for five years, and I'm probably a few pounds heavier than I used to be, but I'm many pounds lighter than I was after my last diet failed.

Now, I eat whatever I want, and I don't spend every waking moment thinking about food and diets.

FREE FROM FOOD FRIGHT
IN MAINE

DEAR ABBY: In response to "I'm Just Right in Sacramento," who refused to be weighed in the doctor's office:

She should be informed that sometimes it's necessary for the doctor to know a patient's weight. It could be important when prescribing medication in which the dosage varies according to the patient's weight.

Also, it is the physician's responsibility to make sure the patient realizes the dangers of being overweight with conditions such as high blood pressure and diabetes.

Perhaps doctors should consider allowing the patients to weigh themselves rather than being weighed by some skinny little nurse who looks like she runs 10 miles every morning before daybreak.

M.L.S.
IN ORANGEVALE, CALIF.

This one's for everybody, from teens to seniors! To purchase Abby's new booklet, "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

(Staff photo by Bonner Green)
Getting ready for the Saturday Spring Fling and spaghetti supper at St. Vincent's School are left, Jeannette Silva holding Brenna Albracht, Clay Banner, Kim Banner, Nathan Banner, Jana Albracht, Toby Meeks and Derek Allison. In front is Sara Albracht.

Spring Fling at St. Vincent's set for Saturday

St. Vincent's is planning its annual Spring Fling on Saturday.

Items on the agenda include adult Bingo, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, a spaghetti dinner, a train ride on the CABOT train for children, a cake walk, grab bags, baseball card booths, popcorn, soft drinks, and pizza.

A raffle drawing will be held at the close of the evening. The winner will receive his/her choice of 1/2 beef or $500 in groceries. Raffle tickets can be purchased from any student or faculty member of St. Vincent's.

For further information contact the school office at 665-5665.

Middle school students advance in competition

For the second year the seventh and eighth grade students at Pampa Middle School have advanced to round two in Academic Enterprises computer competition.

Team members were chosen from those enrolled in the Pampa

Enrichment Program at the school.

Seventh graders on the team include Ann Carmichael, Shawn Caskey, Heather Fernuik, Kathryn Killebrew, Brock Lowrance, Robert Rasmussen, Darby Schale, Jonathan

Smith and Bobby Venal.

Eighth graders are Justin Allison, Andrew Berzanskis, Katie McKandles, Debra Smith, Ross Watkins and Jason Weatherbee.

In previous competition these students have won computer software for the campus.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

U.S. BANKRUPTCY COURTS HAVE ORDERED RX-PLUS/REVCO TO LIQUIDATE THEIR ENTIRE INVENTORY IMMEDIATELY

NOW SAVE 50-70% OFF! ORIGINAL PRICES

TIME IS RUNNING OUT!

TAKE 50% OFF THE LOWEST TICKETED PRICE AT THE REGISTER. 50% OFF SELECTED, PREVIOUSLY REDUCED ITEMS WILL EQUATE TO THE MAXIMUM DISCOUNT!

DESPERATELY FIGHTING TIME! EVERYTHING MUST GO!

SAVE STOREWIDE ON ITEMS YOU USE EVERY DAY!

- COSMETICS • FRAGRANCES • DEODORANTS
- SKIN CARE • VITAMINS • ASPIRINS • HEALTH-AIDS
- DIET-AIDS • TOOTH PASTE • SEASONAL GOODS
- HOUSEHOLD • GIFTS & MORE!

(formerly REVCO)

REVCO RXPLUS

RDS inc. VISA • MASTERCARD SORRY, NO CHECKS

34th & BELL • 3300 I-40 E. • 3407 S. GEORGIA & 405 WESTERN ST. IN AMARILLO
2545 PERRYTON PARKWAY IN PAMPA • 204 BORGER SHOPPING PLAZA IN BORGER
3433 OLTON WAY IN PLAINVIEW

MON. - SAT. 9-7
SUN. 1-5

ALL SALES FINAL • SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE • NO ADJUSTMENT ON PRIOR PURCHASES • DISCOUNTS MAY VARY BY DEPARTMENT • SELECTION MAY VARY BY STORE • INTERIM MARKDOWN MAY HAVE BEEN TAKEN • QUANTITIES LIMITED TO STOCK ON HAND

REWARD

UNSOLD SCHOOL ORDERS NECCHI SEW-N-SERGE SEWING MACHINES

NECCHI'S Education Department placed orders in anticipation of previous years sales. Due to budget cuts, these sales are UNSOLD. These NECCHI Sew 'N Serge Sewing Machines must be sold! All sewing machines offered are new and top of the NECCHI line. These NECCHI Sew 'N Serge Sewing Machines sew on all fabrics: Levis, canvas, upholstery, nylon, stretch vinyl, silk. These NECCHI Sew 'N Serge Sewing Machines are made special to sew in seams, overlock the edge, and cut the excess fabric. Even sews on leather! These NECCHI Sew 'N Serge Sewing Machines are new with a 25-Year Warranty. With the 1992 NECCHI Sew 'N Serge Machine, you just set the dial and see magic happen - straight sewing, zig zag, button holes (any size), invisible blind hem, monogram, satin stitch, embroidery, sew on buttons and snaps. YOUR PRICE WITH THIS AD $199.00, WITHOUT THIS AD $529.00. These are some of the finest sewing machines on the market. Trades accepted. These machines come cabinet ready.

★ FREE 25 YEAR SCHOOL WARRANTY ★

TWO MACHINES IN ONE	NATIONWIDE SERVICE	NECCHI APPROVED DEALER
---------------------	--------------------	------------------------

TRADES ACCEPTED LAYAWAYS WELCOME
MANUFACTURER'S PRICE $529.00

SPECIAL PRICE $199.00

YOUR CHECKS ARE WELCOME, VISA, MASTERCARD ACCEPTED
11 A.M. - 6 P.M. 11 A.M. - 6 P.M.
Below Location Only!

ONE DAY ONLY!
FRIDAY APRIL 3RD, 1992
PAMPA COMMUNITY BUILDING
200 N. BALLARD, PAMPA, TX.
Factory Demonstrators On Duty

The Pampa News

Comic Page

The World Almanac® Crossword Puzzle

- ACROSS
- 1 Oak nuts
 - 7 Sour
 - 13 Northern
 - 14 City in Washington
 - 15 Nova Scotia
 - 16 Frightened
 - 17 Hindu cymbals
 - 18 Communicator's "A"
 - 20 Printer's measures
 - 21 Adore
 - 24 Welshman, e.g.
 - 27 Insane
 - 31 Thailand's neighbor
 - 32 Trim branches of
 - 33 Actor Ed
 - 35 A — Grows in Brooklyn
 - 36 Woman's dressing gown

- DOWN
- 1 Blind as
 - 2 Actress Imogene
 - 3 By mouth
 - 4 Scarlet
 - 5 Fountain nymph
 - 6 Ski race

Answer to Previous Puzzle

EMU	IXIA	ICES
ERS	RILL	IOWA
REE	KILO	LITER
ODETS	YEA	IRA
IOC	SOIL
OARS	MAN	SELVA
UMU	EKES	RIOT
RODE	ETAL	OTO
SKIRT	STEINEM
MEAT	EVA
EME	UAW	EMILY
LENG	THIER	LAI
ASTO	ONCE	LIP
LAST	EYOT	STE

- 7 Reach
- 8 Sedan, e.g.
- 9 Chill
- 10 Type of varnish
- 11 — the Mood for Love
- 12 Ungentlemanly men
- 19 South of Ga.
- 21 Neuter pronoun
- 22 — code
- 23 Natural and simple
- 24 Clique
- 25 Facilitate
- 26 Protracted
- 28 Make well
- 29 Again
- 30 Residue
- 34 Small inlet
- 37 Shows dismay
- 38 Organ for hearing
- 39 Football coach
- 42 Easy —
- 43 Food (sl.)
- 44 Musical instrument
- 45 This way
- 47 Electrical unit
- 48 Capital of Norway
- 49 Gas for signs
- 51 — or coffee
- 52 That girl
- 54 Pod vegetable

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13							14
15							16
17							18
19							20
21							22
23							24
25							26
27							28
29							30
31							32
33							34
35							36
37							38
39							40
41							42
43							44
45							46
47							48
49							50
51							52
53							54
55							56
57							58

WALNUT COVE

By Mark Cullum

ARLO & JANIS

By Jimmy Johnson

EEK & MEEK

By Howie Schneider

B.C.

By Johnny Hart

MARVIN

By Tom Armstrong

MARMADUKE

By Brad Anderson

KIT N' CARLYLE

By Larry Wright

ALLEY OOP

By Dave Graue

SNAFU

By Bruce Beattie

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

By Bil Keane

WINTHROP

By Dick Cavalli

CALVIN AND HOBBS

By Bill Watterson

THE BORN LOSER

By Art and Chip Sansom

FRANK AND ERNEST

By Bob Thaves

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

THE BORN LOSER

By Art and Chip Sansom

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

PEANUTS

By Charles M. Schulz

GARFIELD

By Jim Davis

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you exercise more initiative without alienating those you're presently involved with, you're likely to fare better at this time. Don't be afraid to assume additional responsibilities. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A very important matter you're presently involved in is proceeding more smoothly than outward signals may indicate. You may begin to realize this today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Personal relationships will take on greater significance in this cycle. Several individuals you have strong bonds with will play helpful roles in your affairs — through choice, not chance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're now in a cycle where you should have rather impressive opportunities to enhance your status, popularity and material well-being. Be on the alert today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A venture you're contemplating will have good chances for success, provided those you establish an alliance with can make a positive contribution.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Through either direct or indirect means, you might be presented with some profitable information today. If your source is dependable, investigate it further.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If your life has been a bit out of balance lately, don't be dismayed. Positive, stabilizing influences are about to become more active in your charts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is the time to elevate your sights and aim for loftier objectives. Ambitious goals have an excellent chance of being fulfilled in the coming weeks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Follow your inclination to reorganize both your social and material affairs along more productive lines. Impressive results are possible once you put your house in order.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Over the coming weeks, it looks like you will be able to finalize several matters that have been causing you considerable frustration. The end is in sight, so be hopeful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) By nature, you are a rather inventive and resourceful individual and, in this time frame, you could come up with some ingenious ideas. Treat them with the seriousness they deserve.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your long-range financial projections look encouraging at this time. Give top priority to situations that could increase your earnings and holdings.

Sports

Pampa avenges earlier setback to River Road

Pampa avenged an earlier loss with a balanced hitting attack, defeating River Road, 12-5, Tuesday at Harvester Field.

The Harvesters, who closed out the non-district season with a 10-5 record, had lost a 6-5 squeaker to River Road back in February.

"Ten different players had hits for us. It was a good team effort," said Pampa head coach Rod Porter.

Pampa was leading 4-3 after two innings when Donnie Medley highlighted a six-run outburst in the third inning with a two-run homer for the Harvesters.

After a shaky start in which he gave up three runs in the first inning, Brandon Walden settled down to pick up his third mound win without a loss. Walden struck out two and walked one before being relieved by Chris Poole in the fourth inning. Poole struck out three and walked two, giving way to Greg Moore who pitched the seventh inning. Moore struck out one.

Kurt West and Brad Smillie led Pampa's hitting attack with two hits each. Tony Cavalier, Walden, Zach Thomas, Medley, Poole, Kyle Parnell, Greg Moore and Matt Finney had one hit each.

River Road had eight hits. "We hit the ball well," Porter said. "We made a couple of errors, but I was proud of the way the kids played."

River Road, coached by former Pampa Marvyn Elam, has a 6-5 record.

Pampa opens defense of its District 1-4A title against Amarillo Caprock at 1 p.m. Saturday at Harvester Field.

"There's really no clear favorite in the district race. Randall, Caprock and Berger are going to be tough and Hereford is going to be improved," said Porter. "We're going to have to be mentally prepared, but I feel like the kids can get it done."

Pampa's Brad Smillie connects for a base hit against River Road Tuesday afternoon. (Staff photo by L.D. Strate)

Michigan's 'Fab Five' intent on bringing home championship ring

By ALAN L. ADLER
Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - The question is inevitable, if unfair. How long will Michigan's "Fab Five" stay together before one or more decides to go professional?

"That's a question that's up in the air," said Juwan Howard, the first of the five freshmen to sign with Michigan a year ago. "I don't know what's going to happen down the road. But not one of us is leaving until we get a national championship ring. I'll tell you that for sure."

A win over Cincinnati on Saturday and one more Monday night could settle that issue quickly.

"I'm sure none of us is going to go anywhere next year, but starting next year the question is going to be asked of a lot of players," said Ray Jackson, whose nine regular season starts were the fewest among the freshmen.

"I think a lot of us would hate to see this end so soon. I think we want to stay together and make history."

Still, the rumors already have begun. Coach Steve Fisher said someone gave him a newspaper clipping that had Chris Webber, perhaps the best of the "Fab Five," transferring next season.

"That's ridiculous," Fisher said. "He's not going anywhere."

Jalen Rose, Webber's best friend on and off the court, was offended the subject even came up.

"The question will be asked throughout our careers, and you've got to answer it the best you can," he said. "It's too soon for those kinds of things to be said. It just seems that no matter how good the situation, somebody is always trying to find something bad to put into it."

Jimmy King, too, chafed at the question.

"We're five freshmen, we're five times one unit. But you know, we're individuals. If anyone has decided to leave, we would wish them the best of luck."

First-year assistant coach Perry Watson, who coached Rose at Detroit Southwestern last year and has been a mentor to Webber for six years, doesn't see any defections in the near future because he doesn't see any selfishness.

"They're special kids in a lot of ways, not just with their basketball ability," Watson said. "They care about each other. Being 18 years of age, they're out here getting all the minutes. But you put a microphone in their face and they're talking about how the veterans are helping them and improving them."

Watson said he thinks his close relationship with Rose and Webber might provide some extra incentive for Jackson, Howard and King.

"I think they're also special in the fact that they're not coming in with their hands out, looking for the minute I can leave. I think maybe Jalen and Chris sets that tone because our relationship goes back so far."

Said Howard: "If a guy wants to go, I'm going to try my best to make him stay, but if he doesn't listen to me, then, 'Hey, I love you. I'm always going to be there for you. Do what's best for you.' That's how I feel."

Fisher brushed off the question, until he thought longer about it.

"Believe me, I'm not going to worry about that," he said, pausing. "Until it comes up. Then I'll worry about it."

He thought again about Webber, who started in 27 regular season games this season and has enhanced his best-in-the-nation schoolboy reputation.

"Maybe Webber won't stay. If he's that good, maybe we'll tell him to go," Fisher said, pausing again. "Naw. I'll probably be begging him to stay."

Bjorn wins comeback opener at River Oaks

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Bjorn Borg has an answer for those who say he can't become the No. 1 tennis player in the world again.

"They're right, I couldn't be No. 1 again," Borg said. "I'm just trying to play at the best level that I can play. I have no goals. I just want to have some fun and in six months we'll see."

Borg, resuming a comeback he started a year ago, had fun on Tuesday, although he had to battle before beating fellow Swede Peter Svensson 6-2, 6-7, 6-3 in the first round of the River Oaks International tennis tournament.

The trademark blond mane remained bound in a headband but the dominating play that Borg displayed in his prime has disappeared. Still Borg asks only for time and more matches.

"Who knows, I might play unbelievable tennis or I may not, I don't know yet," Borg said. "All I know is I'm looking forward to the next match."

The 35-year-old Borg dominated the first set, fell behind 1-4 in the second and then battled back to serve twice for the match. He was broken on both serves and had to win in the third set.

"I need to come to that point where I have more confidence in what I should be doing in those situations," Borg said. "That was just an example of a lack of match play."

Borg was pushed to the limit by his 17-year-old opponent.

Borg broke Svensson's serve in the fifth and seventh game of the first set but he fell behind 1-4 in the second set and eventually lost a tie-breaker 7-3.

Leading 5-4 in the second set, Borg was broken in the 10th game on Svensson's forehand winner. Borg broke Svensson in the 11th game and again served for the match but Svensson came back in the 12th game to force the tie-breaker.

"That's the attitude I try to have, never give up," Borg said. "Actually, he missed some easy points in the second set but I also came back and played well."

"I was satisfied with the match. Every point and every match I play in a tournament is good for me. I just need to get out there and hit that tennis ball."

Svensson said he was awestruck against his childhood idol.

"He is the reason that I started playing tennis," Svensson said. "It was very difficult to play him. He's been my idol always growing up."

Borg won 11 Grand Slam events, including five consecutive Wimbledon titles, before retiring from the game in 1981.

Bjorn Borg follows through on a backhand shot against Peter Svenssen Tuesday. (AP Laserphoto)

Jury unable to reach a verdict in Switzer trial

AUSTIN (AP) - Jurors on Tuesday deliberated for a second day without reaching a verdict in the $30 million lawsuit by reporter Jack Taylor Jr. against former Oklahoma football coach Barry Switzer.

The 13-member panel was scheduled to resume deliberations Wednesday.

Taylor has sued Switzer for libel, slander and invasion of privacy. He alleges that Switzer, in the former coach's autobiography "Bootlegger's Boy," linked him to an alleged conspiracy to plant drugs on an Oklahoma football player around the time of the 1988 Orange Bowl.

Taylor, formerly with the Dallas Times Herald, denies he was involved in any such scheme.

Co-defendants in the case are Switzer's brother, Don Switzer; Austin writer Edwin Allen "Bud" Shrage Jr.; book publisher William Morrow and Co. Inc.; and Switzer's entertainment company, Prime Time Inc.

In a $6 million countersuit, Switzer alleges Taylor illegally obtained his income tax records. Taylor says he received them from an anonymous source.

Jury deliberations started Monday afternoon after the six-week trial.

Taylor, an award-winning journalist, is now a reporter with the Los Angeles Daily News.

Lockhart files suit against Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) - New England Patriots linebacker Eugene Lockhart has filed a lawsuit against his former club, the Dallas Cowboys, alleging that they still owe him more than $5,000.

The suit alleges that the Dallas Cowboys Football Club Inc. and team owner Jerry Jones promised money to Lockhart in September 1990 but have failed to pay.

Lockhart's attorney, Frank Shor, said his client was paid only a portion of the money he was promised.

"A check was written to Eugene," Shor told The Dallas Morning News. "The other side is going to claim that was for marketing appearances, but we have never done any marketing."

A spokesman for the club and Jones said Tuesday that they had not yet been served with copies of the suit, which was filed in state district court late Monday.

The suit seeks unspecified damages, as well as attorneys' fees and court costs. It also asks the club and Jones to produce within 50 days the names of the people they paid for marketing appearances between 1988 and 1991.

Baseball millionaires double the number

By RONALD BLUM
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The number of baseball players making at least $3 million on opening day doubled this year from 32 to 68, including 22 who will be at or above the previously unbreached level of $4 million.

A total of 269 players will make at least $1 million this season, up from 223 on opening day last year and 153 in 1990. Assuming that approximately 50 players will open the season on disabled lists, about 38 percent of major league players will earn $1 million or more.

The total of $2 million players rose to 176 this season from 123 last year and 27 in 1990. Robin Yount of Milwaukee, who became the first player with a $3 million salary in 1990 when he was at $3.2 million, is still at $3.2 million but is only tied for 57th.

The totals are based on an examination of all major league contracts by The Associated Press. The listed totals include 1992 salaries and prorated shares of signing bonuses and other guaranteed money.

All major league contracts became guaranteed Tuesday, the deadline to place players on waivers without having to pay their full salaries. The millionaires total dropped by one when the Chicago Cubs cut Les Lancaster, the fourth million-dollar player let go during spring training.

The average major league salary, expected to be between $1.1 million and $1.2 million, will be computed next week when opening day rosters are set.

New York Mets outfielder Bobby Bonilla, who signed a $29 million, five-year contract as a free agent, tops the salary list at $6.1 million. New York Yankees outfielder Danny Tartabull, who signed a $25.5 million, five-year deal, is second at $5.3 million. Texas Rangers outfielder Ruben Sierra, eligible for free agency after this season, is third at $5 million after winning in arbitration.

New York Mets right-hander Dwight Gooden, coming back from rotator cuff surgery, is fourth at $4,916,667, and Boston Red Sox left-hander Frank Viola is fifth at $4,733,333.

Barry Bonds of the Pittsburgh Pirates, also eligible for free agency next fall, is sixth at $4.7 million and Roger Clemens, Boston's three-time Cy Young Award winner, is seventh at $4,555,250.

NBA lets Jordan off the hook

NEW YORK (AP) - Michael Jordan says he's learned his lesson.

The Chicago Bulls star was relieved Tuesday after learning that the NBA had decided not to punish him for running up large gambling debts playing golf and cards.

"I'm the biggest sucker around when it comes to golf," Jordan said before Tuesday night's game against the New York Knicks. "It wasn't hard to find someone to get a game with. My handicap is going up from here on in."

"I'm glad to put this behind me. I hope I've learned my lesson."

NBA commissioner David Stern said the league found no cause for disciplinary action against Jordan, who reportedly gambled with a convicted cocaine dealer and another North Carolina man who later was killed in an unrelated robbery.

The NBA concluded its probe with an interview of Jordan in New York. The five-time scoring champion was questioned by NBA deputy commissioner Russ Granik, league security director Horace Balmer and Frederick Lacey, a former federal judge and U.S. attorney who helped the NBA conduct the investigation.

"This situation has been investigated with complete cooperation from Michael and his attorneys, and Judge Lacey has assured us that there appears to be no reason for the NBA to take action against Michael," Stern said.

"We've also been advised that Michael is not the subject of investigation by any law enforcement agency. However, in light of the fact that there is an ongoing investigation regarding other individuals, it would be inappropriate to comment further except to say that there is no evidence that Michael has ever gambled on NBA games."

Stern said Jordan "has advised us that he understands the gravity of the situation."

White Deer's Thomas on starting team at Texas Tech

Bart Thomas of White Deer was the first-team strong safety in Texas Tech's annual Red-Black game last weekend in Lubbock.

Thomas, who quarterbacked White Deer to the 1988 Class 1A football title, is classified as a red-shirt freshman for the Red Raiders.

Among the 4,500 fans watching the game at Jones Stadium where Bart's brother, Zach Thomas, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Thomas.

The game ended spring training for the Red Raiders.

Zach Thomas, who was District 1-4A's player of the year for Pampa last season, earlier signed a letter of intent to attend Texas Tech. Thomas, a 225-pound middle linebacker, reports for two-a-day workouts in August.

Both of the Thomas brothers earned all-state honors in high school.

Texas Tech opens the 1992 season against Oklahoma University the first week in September. The game will be televised on ESPN.

Amarillo High slips by Pampa in girls' soccer

AMARILLO - Amarillo High slipped by Pampa, 1-0, in a high school girls' soccer match Tuesday.

"The girls played their hearts out," said Pampa coach Mike Jones. "It was a great team effort. I was real proud of them."

Girls softball meeting scheduled

A meeting for girls in the 7th through 12th grades who are interested in participating in the Lady Harvesters softball program this year will be held Thursday.

The meeting, which starts at 6:30 p.m., will be held in the Pampa High School athletic building.

Players and parents are encouraged to attend this meeting to discuss the upcoming season and schedule of games.

Amarillo High slips by Pampa in girls' soccer

Jones cited center-halfback Misty Scribner and goalie Mary Chance for their outstanding play.

"The girls are getting better with every practice. They're playing with a lot of confidence," Jones said.

The Lady Harvesters host Amarillo Caprock at 6 p.m. Friday and Palo Duro at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Both matches will be played at the Pampa High School field.

DeBerg rejoins Buccaneers after four years as Chiefs' quarterback

Tampa Bay coach Sam Wyche and newly-signed quarterback Steve DeBerg (right) pose with DeBerg's new jersey.

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Steve DeBerg says he knows only one way to approach his role as an aging backup quarterback with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"I'll get in the best shape I can, then let things fall where they may," the 38-year-old Plan B free agent said Tuesday after signing a two-year contract to work with and behind Vinny Testaverde, the Bucs' underachieving starter.

"I'm going to prepare myself to start, prepare myself to play. Vinny is going to do the same," DeBerg said. "To be honest, he has a lot more talent than I do, but there are some things I think I can do to help him get better."

DeBerg returns to the Bucs four years after leaving the team because he wasn't ready to accept a backup role to Testaverde, the first pick in the 1987 draft.

Tampa Bay dealt him to Kansas City for safety Mark Robinson and a fourth-round draft pick, then watched DeBerg go on to enjoy his best NFL season in 1990.

The Chiefs made the playoffs twice in his four years in Kansas City, but at least three things made him expendable — age, losing his starting job to Mark Vlasic late last season, and this winter's Plan B acquisition of Dave Krieg.

DeBerg talked with several teams interested in signing him, including the Phoenix Cardinals, but Tampa Bay was his preferred destination because he enjoyed living in the area and liked the prospect of being reunited with coach Sam Wyche.

Wyche, preparing for his first season with the Bucs, was an assistant in San Francisco when DeBerg played for the 49ers in 1979.

"I didn't come here for the money. I had other offers for more," said DeBerg, who reportedly would have made $1.8 million if he had returned to Kansas City and made the Chiefs' roster this summer.

"I came here, No. 1, because I have great respect for Sam Wyche and think he's going to do a great job," said DeBerg, who reportedly had been seeking about $1.2 million, plus incentives, from the Bucs.

"No. 2, I came because I love Tampa Bay. This is where I want to live when I'm finished playing."

Wyche said Testaverde, whose five years in the NFL have been marked by inconsistency, will go to training camp as the starter and be given every opportunity to succeed.

"Vinny's not going to feel pressure from me or Steve that if he doesn't complete this pass or make this touchdown that he's coming out. He's not on a short leash," the coach said.

"There won't be a problem between Vinny and me," DeBerg promised. "I had a good relationship with him before. I've always had good relationships with the teams I've played on."

DeBerg started 34 games for the Bucs from 1984 to 1987. His best pro season was two years ago when he threw for 3,444 yards and 23 touchdowns with just four interceptions while leading Kansas City to an 11-5 record.

Last season, his performance (2,965 yards, 17 touchdowns, 14 interceptions) slipped after he missed nearly a month of training camp in a contract dispute.

Lakers spoil Olajuwon's return to Rockets' lineup; Bulls win again

By The Associated Press

Hakeem Olajuwon was back and it didn't matter. Michael Jordan was worn out and it didn't matter.

The Houston Rockets lost again and the Chicago Bulls won again. The Rockets, 0-5 while Olajuwon was injured, suspended and then reinstated, tried to get back into the Western Conference playoff race Tuesday night. But the All-Star center's return didn't help as they lost 107-101 at home to the Los Angeles Lakers.

The victory moved the Lakers — winners of five straight — three games ahead of Houston in the race for the conference's final playoff berth.

"This was a swing game," Lakers coach Mike Dunleavy said. "It was the most important game of the season for us. It puts them four games behind in the loss column."

"I prepared myself mentally today that I was going to play," Olajuwon said. "All this stuff didn't bother me as much as people think. Our team hasn't gone the way we planned."

Meanwhile, Jordan was feeling rundown at New York. But he scored 16 of his 36 points in the final period, leading the Bulls to a 96-90 victory over the Knicks that snapped New York's seven-game winning streak.

Jordan, who spent the afternoon in the NBA offices before being cleared of wrongdoing in a gambling investigation, told coach Phil Jackson that he needed a break in the third quarter. After a six-minute rest, Jordan came back strong for the fourth period.

"It was a long day for me because I didn't have the normal game-day routine," Jordan said. "The win was a good end to a long day."

In other NBA games, it was Cleveland 123, Miami 114; the Los Angeles Clippers 97, Detroit 81; Minnesota 121, Denver 114 in overtime; Phoenix 128, Portland 111; Seattle 122, Utah 103; and Golden State 148, Sacramento 136 in double overtime.

Olajuwon was suspended by the team on March 23 after he sat out two straight games for what he said was a hamstring injury. He missed three more games since the suspension, which ended when the NBA Board of Governors voted earlier in the day to waive a rule requiring a player to miss at least five games once he is placed on the suspended list.

After the Rockets cut Los Angeles' lead to 103-101, A.C. Green tipped in a missed shot with five seconds to go and Terry Teague added two free throws with one second remaining. Green finished with 22 points and 16 rebounds.

Bulls 96, Knicks 90

John Starks scored 28 points with eight 3-point goals, breaking New York's record of six held by Trent Tucker and Gerald Wilkins, but it wasn't enough as Jordan and Scottie Pippen scored seven points each during a decisive 14-4 run.

NBA roundup

"I felt really good, I rested all day and I had my legs," Starks said. "You have to have good legs. My stroke was there and it all combined for a good night. But it's very frustrating to lose like this."

Starks lifted New York from a 59-49 deficit into a 78-78 tie with six 3-pointers in a span of 10 minutes. Then Chicago put together the 14-4 run — which included a stretch of five scoreless minutes by the Knicks — and the Bulls lead 92-82 with 1:29 left.

Pippen finished with 27 points and a career-high 18 rebounds for the Bulls, who have beaten the Knicks 11 consecutive regular-season games. Ewing had 31 points and 18 rebounds, but scored only four points in the second half.

Timberwolves 121, Nuggets 114, OT

Minnesota snapped a 16-game losing streak as Sam Mitchell's 3-pointer in the first minute of overtime at Denver put the Timberwolves ahead for good.

The Nuggets, playing without rookie center Dikembe Mutombo because of a thumb injury, lost their fifth consecutive game.

The Timberwolves, who won for the fifth time in 36 road games, rallied from a 92-77 deficit with 11:20 left in regulation.

Reggie Williams led Denver with 23 points and Greg Anderson grabbed 20 rebounds.

Warriors 148, Kings 136, 2OT

Golden State outscored Sacramento 17-5 in the second overtime and pulled within 1 1/2 games of Portland for the Western Conference lead.

Chris Mullin scored 34 points, Sarunas Marciulionis had 12 of his 33 after regulation and Tim Hardaway finished with 28 points for the Warriors, who opened the second overtime with a 17-2 spurt to secure their fifth straight victory and third consecutive road triumph.

The outcome spoiled the visit of the Kings' pending new owners.

Members of Maguire Thomas Partners, the group that expects to receive NBA approval Friday to buy controlling interest of the team, attended the game after spending the day discussing the ownership transfer.

Mitch Richmond scored 33 points, Lionel Simmons 20 and Wayman Tisdale 19 for the Kings.

Suns 128, Trail Blazers 111

At Phoenix, the Suns won their fifth straight game and took the season series 3-2 against Portland for the second straight year.

Jeff Hornacek scored 17 points and Kevin Johnson 10 during a 44-point third quarter that lifted Phoenix from a 56-50 halftime lead to a 100-82 advantage.

Hornacek finished with 34 points, while Johnson had 27 points and a season-high 20 assists. Terry Porter scored 20 points for the Trail Blazers.

Sonics 122, Jazz 103

At Seattle, Gary Payton had 15 points, 13 assists and 10 rebounds and Dana Barros came off the bench for four 3-pointers and 18 points, leading the SuperSonics over Utah.

Barros hit consecutive 3-pointers when the SuperSonics broke the game open with a 13-4 run in the fourth quarter. Seattle led 92-82 before taking a 19-point lead with 6:25 left.

Karl Malone scored 24 points and Jeff Malone 21 for the Jazz, who lost the season series with Seattle 3-1.

Clippers 97, Pistons 81

Los Angeles won for the first time in four games at the Palace at Auburn Hills as Charles Smith scored 19 points and Danny Manning 18 against Detroit.

The Clippers swept the two-game season series from Detroit for the first time since 1979-80. They also won their 14th road game of the season, tying the franchise record set when the team played in San Diego in 1980-81.

Detroit, which scored just 38 points in the second half, was led by Orlando Woolridge with 16 points. Guards Joe Dumars and Isiah Thomas, the Pistons' leading scorers this season — totaled just 15 points on combined 5-for-21 shooting from the field.

Cavaliers 123, Heat 114

Cleveland defeated Miami as Brad Daugherty scored 23 points on 9-for-11 shooting and grabbed 14 rebounds.

Mark Price had 21 points — including four 3-pointers — and 12 assists for the Cavaliers.

M.G. Flyers gymnasts are (l-r) Jennifer Brewer, Angie Edmondson, Brooke Petty and Mandy Tyrrell.

M.G. Flyers team competes at Arlington gymnastics meet

M.G. Flyers Gymnastics Team of Pampa traveled to Arlington recently to participate in a meet with 220 other gymnasts.

Brooke Petty and Mandy Tyrrell competed in their first Level Six meet. Brooke placed third on floor with an 8.05 and 10th in all-around. Mandy placed third on beam, fifth on floor and ninth in all-around.

New Flyers team

Stanford, Virginia reverse roles in Women's Final Four

By WENDY E. LANE
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - When Stanford and Virginia met in the 1990 Final Four semifinals, it was a deep and experienced Cardinal squad meeting an untested Cavalier team.

Stanford came out the winner 75-66 and went on to the NCAA title game. This year, a Virginia team with five seniors takes on a Stanford team whose only senior isn't even a starter.

"It seems almost a flip-flop after the situation two years ago," Cavaliers coach Debbie Ryan said.

Virginia (32-1) and Stanford meet again in the semifinals Saturday, with Western Kentucky (26-7) playing Southwest Missouri State (31-2) for the other spot in Sunday's championship game.

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year for Stanford, but coach Tara VanDerveer's team has gone an unexpected 28-3 and reached the Final Four for the third consecutive year.

The Cardinal is "an upstart team that no one gave a lot of credit to," Ryan said. "I'm very impressed with the Stanford team. They've done some things that just amaze me for a young team."

Early victories over Georgia and Tennessee, which defeated Stanford last year in the semifinals, gave the Cardinal some confidence and surprised VanDerveer.

"After the first day of practice we were wondering if we would be .500," she recalled. "It was a real serious consideration. We had lost a lot to graduation and some people not being able to return because of injuries. A lot of the credit goes to (point guard) Molly Goodenbour and Val Whiting for really stepping up."

Whiting, a junior center, leads the Cardinal, averaging more than 18.3 points and almost nine rebounds a game. Sophomore guard Christy Hedgpeth has excelled at her position, contributing more than 13 points a game.

Even though they're on opposite coasts, Virginia and Stanford go after a lot of the same recruits. VanDerveer said at least five of her current players, including Whiting and Goodenbour, made visits to the Charlottesville campus before committing to Stanford.

And VanDerveer is well acquainted with Virginia's star, point guard Dawn Staley, whom she coached the past two summers on select teams.

"I'm her biggest West Coast fan," VanDerveer said. "I love to watch her play. I'll try not to cheer for her when she's doing the things she does best against us."

Staley, Virginia's all-time leading scorer, averages 6.2 assists, and although she's not scoring as much (14.2 points per game), her game is more complete this season, VanDerveer said. But with the Cavaliers, there's more to worry about than Staley's play-making abilities.

"It's not a one-person team, although Dawn's a great player," VanDerveer said. "Tammi Reiss is a good player, Dena Evans can hurt you, they can bring in people off the bench. The twins (6-foot-5 Heather and Heidi Burge), with their size, present problems because you can't take the same shots against them that you can take against other people."

Cruising into their third straight Final Four after a 39-point rout of George Washington, a 20-point win over West Virginia and a 70-58 victory over Vanderbilt, the Cavaliers are favored to do what they couldn't do last year — win the national championship.

Last season's 70-67 overtime loss to Tennessee in the championship game makes this the last chance for Virginia's five seniors to take home the trophy and Coach Ryan's last shot at using Staley's talents.

Those factors are no reason to be uptight, Ryan said. Quite the opposite.

"I would say I'm more relaxed this year, primarily because the players are so relaxed," she said. "I'm very keyed in to how they are."

Oregon names new age coach

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) - A coach with roots in the Carolinas and a history of success at Kansas has been hired to rebuild the Oregon basketball program.

And he knows it won't be easy at a school that hasn't been to the NCAA tournament in 31 years.

"It's a challenge," Jerry Green said at a news conference Tuesday. "If there wasn't a problem here, I wouldn't be here." Green, the No. 1 assistant to Roy Williams at Kansas for the past four years, promises to bring the Jayhawks' high-scoring style to Eugene.

"We would like to average 100 points a game," he said. "Roy Williams has taught me the fact that a basketball game is an entertainment business. We want to entertain."

Tom Watson, winner at New Orleans in 1980 and 1981, breaks a string of 21 consecutive tournament appearances in the Crescent City.

USF&G withdrew last year as sponsor for New Orleans' stop on the tour, and Freeport McMoran, a minerals management company with worldwide holdings, picked up.

The tournament is played on the 7,106-yard, Jack Nicklaus-designed course at English Turn Golf and Country Club, a 3-year-old golf and real estate development raised from a marsh across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

Nicklaus is also declining the chance to test his own course in favor of prepping for the Masters.

Aside from Woosnam, the European flavor to the field will come from Nick Faldo and Steven Richardson of Great Britain, Steve Ballesteros and

CLASSIFIED INDEX

THE PAMPA NEWS

403 W. Atchison 669-2525

1 Card of Thanks	14d Carpentry	14r Plowing, Yard Work	30 Sewing Machines	69 Miscellaneous	97 Furnished Houses	113 To Be Moved
2 Museums	14e Carpet Service	14s Plumbing and Heating	35 Vacuum Cleaners	69a Garage Sales	98 Unfurnished Houses	114 Recreational Vehicles
3 Personal	14f Decorators - Interior	14t Radio and Television	48 Trees, Shrubbery, Plants	70 Musical Instruments	99 Storage Buildings	115 Trailer Parks
4 Not Responsible	14g Electric Contracting	14u Roofing	49 Pools and Hot Tubs	71 Movies	100 Rent, Sale, Trade	116 Mobile Homes
5 Special Notices	14h General Services	14v Sewing	50 Building Supplies	75 Feeds and Seeds	101 Real Estate Wanted	117 Grasslands
7 Auctioneer	14i General Repair	14w Spraying	53 Machinery and Tools	76 Farm Animals	102 Business Rental Property	118 Trailers
10 Lost and Found	14j Gun Smithing	14x Tax Service	54 Farm Machinery	77 Livestock	103 Homes For Sale	120 Autos For Sale
11 Financial	14k Hauling - Moving	14y Upholstery	55 Landscaping	80 Pets and Supplies	104 Lots	121 Trucks For Sale
12 Loans	14l Insulation	15 Instruction	57 Good Things To Eat	84 Office Store Equipment	105 Acreage	122 Motorcycles
13 Business Opportunities	14m Lawnmower Service	16 Cosmetics	58 Sporting Goods	89 Wanted To Buy	106 Commercial Property	124 Tires and Accessories
14 Business Services	14n Painting	17 Coins	59 Guns	90 wanted to Rent	110 Out of Town Rentals	126 Boats and Accessories
14a Air Conditioning	14o Paperhanging	18 Beauty Shops	60 Household Goods	94 Will Share	111 Out of Town Rentals	127 Scrap Metal
14b Appliance Repair	14p Pest Control	19 Situations	68 Bicycles	95 Furnished Apartments	112 Farms and Ranches	128 Aircraft
14c Auto-Body Repair	14q Ditching	21 Help Wanted	68 Antiques	96 Unfurnished Apartments

1c Memorials

GOOD Samaritan Christian Services, 309 N. Ward, Pampa, TX. 79065.

GRAY County Retarded Citizens Assn., P.O. Box 885, Pampa, TX. 79066-0885.

HIGH Plains Epilepsy Assn., 806 S. Brian, Room 213, Amarillo, TX 79106.

HOSPICE of Pampa, P.O. Box 2782, Pampa.

MARCH of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, 2316 Lakeview Dr., Amarillo, TX 79109.

MEALS on Wheels, P.O. Box 939, Pampa, TX 79066-0939.

MUSCULAR Dystrophy Assn., 3505 Olsen, Suite 203, Amarillo, TX 79109.

PAMPA Area Foundation for Outdoor Art, P.O. Box 6, Pampa, TX 79066.

PAMPA Fine Arts Assn. P.O. Box 818, Pampa, TX. 79066.

PAMPA Sheltered Workshop, P.O. Box 2806, Pampa.

QUIVIRA Girl Scout Council, 836 W. Foster, Pampa, TX 79065.

RONALD McDonald House, 1501 Sreit, Amarillo, TX 79106.

SALVATION Army, 701 S. Cuyler St., Pampa, TX 79065.

SHEPARD'S Helping Hands, 422 Florida, Pampa, TX. 79065.

ST. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Attn: Memorial/Honor Program FH, One St. Jude Place Bldg., P.O. Box 1000 Dept. 300, Memphis, Tenn. 38148-0552.

THE Don & Sybil Harrington Cancer Center, 1500 Wallace Blvd., Amarillo, TX 79106.

THE Opportunity Plan Inc., Box 1035, Canyon, TX. 79015-1035.

TRALEE Crisis Center For Women Inc., P.O. Box 2880, Pampa.

WHITE Deer Land Museum in Pampa, P.O. Box 1556, Pampa, TX. 79066.

WHITE Deer Land Museum: Pampa, Tuesday thru Sunday 1:30-4 p.m. Special tours by appointment.

ALANREED-McLean Area Historical Museum: McLean. Regular museum hours 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Closed Sunday.

DEVIL'S Rope Museum, McLean, Tuesday thru Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday 1 p.m.-4 p.m. Open Monday by appointment only.

HUTCHINSON County Museum: Borger. Regular hours 11 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. weekdays except Tuesday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

LAKE Meredith Aquarium and Wildlife Museum: Fritch, hours Tuesday and Sunday 2-5 p.m., 10 a.m. Wednesday thru Saturday, closed Monday.

MUSEUM OF THE Plains: Perryton, Monday thru Friday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Weekends during Summer months, 1:30 p.m.-5 p.m.

OLD Mobeetie Jail Museum, Monday-Saturday 10-5. Sunday 1-5. Closed Wednesday.

PANHANDLE Plains Historical Museum: Canyon. Regular museum hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, weekends 2 p.m.-6 p.m.

PIONEER West Museum: Shamrock. Regular museum hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, Saturday and Sunday.

RIVER Valley Pioneer Museum at Canadian, TX. Tuesday-Friday 10 a.m. Sunday 2-4 p.m. Closed Saturday and Monday.

ROBERTS County Museum: Miami. Regular hours, Tuesday-Friday 10-5 p.m. Sunday 2-5 p.m. Closed Saturday and Monday. Closed Holidays.

SQUARE House Museum Panhandle. Regular museum hours 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 1-5:30 p.m. Sundays.

3 Personal

MARY Kay Cosmetics, free facials. Supplies and deliveries. Call Dorothy Vaughn 665-5117.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS 1425 Alcock, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday 8 p.m.-Monday thru Saturday 12 noon. 665-9702.

MARY Kay Cosmetics and Skin-care. Facials, supplies, call Theda Wallin 665-8336.

BEAUTICONTROL Cosmetics and skin-care. Offering free complete color analysis, makeover, deliveries and image updates. Call your local consultant, Lynn Allison 669-3848, 1304 Christine.

SHAKLEE. Vitamins, diet, skin-care, household, job opportunity. Donna Turner, 665-6065.

IF someone's drinking is causing you problems, try Al-Anon. 669-3564, 665-7871.

5 Special Notices

ADVERTISING Material to be placed in the Pampa News, MUST be placed through the Pampa News Office Only.

PAMPA Lodge #966, Thursday, April 2, 7:30 p.m. E.A. Exam, F.C. Degree. Refreshments.

10 Lost and Found

LOST: Large, Adult male Collie. Sable and white, Easley animal tag, named Charlie. 665-2925, 665-6344.

13 Bus. Opportunities

LANCER Club Bar for sale or lease. Call 806-669-3940.

14b Appliance Repair

Williams Appliance Service Call 665-8854

RENT TO RENT RENT TO OWN

We have Rental Furniture and Appliances to suit your needs. Call for estimate. Johnson Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis

14d Carpentry

Ralph Baxter Contractor & Builder Custom Homes or Remodeling 665-8248

ADDITIONS, remodeling, roofing, cabinets, painting, all types repairs. No job too small. Mike Albus, 665-4774.

REMODELING, additions, insurance repair. 20 years experience. Ray Deaver, 665-0447.

RON'S Construction. Carpentry, concrete, drywall, fencing, masonry and roofing. 669-3172.

OVERHEAD Door Repair. Kidwell Construction. 669-6347.

Panhandle House Leveling Floors Sagging walls Cracking, Door Dragging, Foundation and Concrete work, all home repair inside and out 669-0958.

ADDITIONS, remodeling, new cabinets, ceramic tile, acoustical ceilings, paneling, patios. 18 years local experience. Jerry Reagan 669-1408, Karl Parks 669-2648.

14e Carpet Service

NU-WAY Cleaning service, carpets, upholstery, walls, ceilings. Quality doesn't cost. It pays! No steam used. Bob Marx owner-operator. 665-3541. Free estimates.

RAINBOW International Carpet Dyeing and Cleaning Co. Free estimates. Call 665-1431.

14h General Services

COX Fence Company. Repair old fence or build new. Free estimate. 669-7769.

Laramore Master Locksmith Call me out to let you in 665-Keys

Snow Removal Chuck Morgan 665-7007

CONCRETE work, all types, driveways, sidewalks, patio, etc. Small jobs a specialty. Ron's Construction, 669-3172.

FENCING. New construction and repair. Ron's Construction, 669-3172.

INSTALL steel siding, storm windows, doors. Free estimates. Reid Construction Co. 1-800-765-7071.

MASONRY, all types brick, block, stone. New construction and repair. Ron's Construction, 669-3172.

BATHTUB and sink refinishing. Repairing porcelain, fiberglass. Cedric Crier 1-800-743-7451.

IF it's broken, leaking or won't turn off, call The Fix It Shop, 669-3434. Lamps repaired.

LET me do your home repairs. Howard Swinney. 665-7841.

14i Insulation

BLOW in attic insulation and save $$$ all year! Free estimates. Reid Construction Co. 1-800-765-7071.

14m Lawnmower Service

PAMPA Lawnmower Repair. Pick up and delivery service available. 501 S. Cuyler, 665-8843.

14n Painting

CALDER Painting, interior, exterior, mud tape, blow acoustic, wall texture. 665-4840, 669-2215.

INTERIOR-Exterior, bed and tape, brick work and repair. Bolin 665-2254.

PAINTING and sheetrock finishing. 35 years. David and Joe, 665-2903, 669-7885.

PAINTING Done Reasonable. Interior, exterior. Free estimates. Bob Gorson, 665-0033.

14r Plowing, Yard Work

LAWN care. Scalping. Dethatching. Edging. Fertilizing. Fence repair. Call Ron 665-8976.

LAWN mowing, rototilling, light hauling, trash clean up. Pampa, White Deer, Skellytown area. 848-2222.

LAWN work, rototilling, tree trimming, hauling, carpentry, general handyman. M&M's M-Provements, 665-8320.

TREE trim, yard clean up. Lawn aeration, dethatching, fertilizing. Kenneth Banks. 665-3580.

GRIZZWELLS® by Bill Schorr

I WISH MY HUSBAND DID WATCH FOOTBALL...

14r Plowing, Yard Work

YOUR Lawn & Garden. Mow, rototill, plow, tree trimming, hauling. Call 665-9609.

HANDY-Man: Mowing, rototilling, plowing, clean up, etc. Call for estimates. 665-1651.

14s Plumbing & Heating

Builders Plumbing Supply 535 S. Cuyler 665-3711

BULLARD SERVICE CO. Plumbing Maintenance and Repair Specialist Free estimates, 665-8603

LARRY BAKER PLUMBING Heating Air Conditioning Borger Highway 665-4392

SEWER AND SINKLINE Cleaning, 665-4307. 335.

JACK'S Plumbing Co. New construction, repair, remodeling, sewer and drain cleaning. Septic systems installed. 665-7115.

14t Radio and Television

CURTIS MATHES We will now do service work on most Major Brands of TV's and VCR's. 2211 Perryton Pkwy. 665-0504.

14u Roofing

COMPOSITION roofing, competitive rates. 20 years experience. 665-6298.

19 Situations

CERTIFIED Nurse Aid with private duty experience. 669-3555.

21 Help Wanted

ADMINISTRATOR position open at North Plains Care Center, Borger. Must be licensed for long term care unit. Competitive salary, excellent benefits. Send resume to North Plains Care Center, 200 Tyler, Borger, TX. 79007.

FULL Charge Bookkeeper and Office Manager. Must be familiar with computers. Hospitalization and other benefits. Send resume to Box 20, 96 Pampa News, P.O. Drawer 2198, Pampa, TX. 79066.

IMMEDIATE Opening for Supervisor for adolescent home in Pampa, Texas. Must be able to live in home five days per week. Homemaker skills desirable. Supervisory experience not necessary, will train. Good salary, vacation and sick leave, hospitalization and life insurance coverage. Excellent opportunity for responsible person. Call 806-665-7123 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days. 806-665-7849 after 5 p.m. and on weekends. EOE.

MAKE approximately $200/day. Need churches, schools, athletic group, club/civic group or person 21 or older, to operate a family fireworks center, June 24-July 4. Call 1-800-442-7711.

NEEDED, local financial institution looking for customer service rep. Excellent benefits with opportunity for advancement. Must be willing to work flexible hours and Saturdays. Please apply 300 W. Foster, Pampa, TX.

Now accepting applications at Kentucky Fried Chicken. Apply in person thru Friday.

PART time delivery drivers, must be 18 years old, have own insurance. Pizza rit Delivery.

30 Sewing Machines

WE service all makes and models of sewing machines and vacuum cleaners. Sanders Sewing Center. 214 N. Cuyler, 665-2383.

50 Building Supplies

HOUSTON LUMBER CO. 420 W. Foster 669-6881

White House Lumber Co. 101 S. Ballard 669-3291

60 Household Goods

USED appliances and furniture, some like new. Antiques, beauty supplies, beauty salon and restaurant. Abby's Country Store, 201 N. Cuyler.

Grooming and Boarding Jo Ann's Pet Salon 1033 Terry Rd., 669-1410

GROOMING, exotic birds, pets, full line pet supplies. Iams and Science Diet dog and cat food. Pets Union, 910 W. Kentucky, 665-5102.

SUZIE'S K-9 World, formerly K-9 Acres Boarding and Grooming. We now offer outside runs. Large/small dogs welcome. Still offering grooming/AKC puppies. Suzi Reed, 665-4184.

89 Wanted To Buy

OLD baseball bats, gloves, balls, old toys, pocket knives, miscellaneous items. 669-2605.

60 Household Goods

JOHNSON HOME FURNISHINGS Pampa's standard of excellence. In Home Furnishings 801 W. Francis 665-3361

DINING Table, 6 chairs, Mediterranean style, excellent condition. 669-3189 after 5 p.m.

62 Medical Equipment

HEALTHSTAR Medical, Oxygen, Beds, Wheelchairs, rental and Sales. Medicare provider 24 hour service. Free delivery. 1541 N. Hobart, 669-0000.

69 Antiques

DUNCAN Phytte mahogany table and 4 fiddle back chairs. Mahogany pie safe. White Deer, 883-2500 or 669-5107.

69 Miscellaneous

RENT IT When you have tried everywhere and can't find it, come see me, I probably got it! H. C. Eubanks Tool Rental, 1320 S. Barnes, phone 665-3213.

CHIMNEY Fire can be prevented. Queen Sweep Chimney Cleaning. 665-4686 or 665-5364.

ADVERTISING Material to be placed in the Pampa News MUST be placed through the Pampa News Office Only.

RAILROAD Ties, 8 foot, 9 foot, switch ties 10-17 foot for sale. 665-0321.

69a Garage Sales

ELSIE'S Flea Market Sale. Hanging lamps, dresser with mirror, ironing board, ceramic Easter Baskets, nice crocheted pieces, hand embroidered tea towels, scarves, pillow cases. Small dolls, shoes, jeans, paper backs 10 for 1.00. 10:00 AM Wednesday through Sunday, 1246 Barnes.

J&J Flea Market, 409 W. Brown 665-5721. Sale. Close out on all Fuller brush 25%. Open 9-5 Wednesday-Sunday. Watkins proceeds.

70 Musical Instruments

PIANOS FOR RENT New and used pianos. Starting at $40 per month. Up to 6 months of rent will apply to purchase. It's all right here in Pampa at Tarpley Music 665-1251.

75 Feeds and Seeds

Wheeler Evans Feed Full line of Acc feeds We appreciate your business Hwy.60 Kingsmill 665-5881

77 Livestock

BEEF Machine Bulls for sale or lease. Conley's composite genetics provides built-in hybrid vigor and carcass superiority. WW Spar bluestem grass seed for sale. Joe VanZandt 665-6236, Curt Duncan 845-2104.

ROCKING Chair Saddle Shop, 115 S. Cuyler. Now supplying animal health care products. See us for all your needs.

80 Pets And Supplies

3 FREE PUPPIES 665-4824

AKC Registered Rottweiler, female 15 months old. Ready for breeding. Reduced, $250. 669-7120.

CANINE and Feline grooming. Also, boarding and Science diets. Royle Animal Hospital, 665-2223.

GOLDEN Wheat Grooming and Boarding. Free dip with grooming. 669-6357 Monday

99 Storage Buildings

CHUCK'S SELF STORAGE 24 hour access. Security lights. 665-1150 or 669-7705.

First Landmark Realty 665-0717 1600 N. Hobart

FORMER CPA OFFICE Convenient to downtown. Approximately 1,800 square feet of space. Large corner lot with paved parking. Call Wanda. MLS 2224C.

Norma Ward REALTY 1012 N. Hobart 669-3346

Mike Ward 669-6413 Pam Deeds 669-3346 Judy Taylor 665-5977 Jim Ward 665-1593 Norma Ward, GRI, Broker

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

Mary Etsa Smith 669-3623 J.J. Roach 669-1723 Rue Park GRI 665-5919 Exie Vantine Bkr 669-7870 Becky Baten 669-2214 Debbie Middleton 665-2247 Beula Cox Bkr 665-3667 Dirk Ammerman 669-7371 Susan Ratzliff 665-3585 Bobbie Sue Stephens 669-7790 Lois Strate Bkr 665-7650 Darrell Schomster 669-6284 Bill Cox Bkr 665-3667 Bill Stephens 669-7790 Katie Sharp 665-8752 Roberta Babb 665-6158 Ed Copeland 665-2552 Shelli Tarpley 665-9531 MARYLYN KEAGY GRI, CRS JUDI EDWARDS GRI, CRS BROKER-OWNER 665-1449

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

669-2522 2208 Coffee Perryton Parkway

103 Homes For Sale

NICE 2 bedroom brick, double garage, fireplace, stove, refrigerator, central heat, air. Close in on Duncan. $25,000. 669-7665 or 669-7663 after 6.

The HMS Antelope explodes in San Carlos Bay off East Falkland in May 1982 during the Falklands conflict. April 2 marks the 10th anniversary of the invasion of the Falkland Islands by Argentina. Former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher sent in a naval task force to a 74-day war which eventually brought down Argentina's military junta.

In retrospect: The war that should never have been

By ED McCULLOUGH
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — It was the war at the bottom of the world.

The Falklands War, to Britain, Argentines call it the War of the Malvinas — their name for the desolate, windswept archipelago above Antarctica.

Ten years later, it seems like the war that should never have been.

British journalists Max Hastings and Simon Jenkins open their 1983 book, "The Battle for the Falklands," with the observation:

"This is the story of a freak of history, almost certainly the last colonial war that Britain will ever fight. So extraordinary an event was it that, even after men began to die, many of those taking part felt as if they had been swept away into fantasy."

Britain never figured Argentina would invade the islands both nations had claimed for 149 years. There are no known natural resources, except fish.

The numerous islands cover 4,700 square miles, about half the land area of New Hampshire.

Probably not one Argentine in 10,000 had ever set foot there.

The unthinkable happened on April 2, 1982. An Argentine flotilla routed the small local garrison as quickly as British warships had ousted an Argentine base in 1833.

And that was that, thought Argentina's ruling generals, who never imagined Britain would fight for the "kelpers," as the islands' British-descended shepherders and fishermen call themselves.

"It was simply impossible to convince the junta that Great Britain was going to fight," recalled former Secretary of State Alexander Haig in an interview published last week by the news magazine Noticias.

Haig tried and failed to mediate the dispute.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher sent a task force including an aircraft carrier, a nuclear submarine and troops 8,000 miles to the South Atlantic. Disaster loomed.

Until it was too late, each country hoped the other would pull back and negotiate a settlement. Argentines were stunned when the Belgrano cruiser was sunk, claiming some 250 lives. Some survivors of the sunk British destroyer Sheffield said they couldn't believe the Argentines actually fired on them.

Nearly 1,000 men — equivalent to about one-half the islands' entire population — died on both sides. In a sense, for very little.

After 74 days, Argentina surrendered. The islands today remain a British dependency. Argentines still yearn for their return. The kelpers shun everything Argentine; very few Argentines say they would go there to live.

The 1983-89 government of President Raul Alfonsin refused to formally declare an end to the hostilities, linking that with new talks on sovereignty. Britain refused.

In February 1990, President Carlos Menem finally broke the stalemate and renewed diplomatic ties with the Thatcher government.

Next year, he is scheduled to visit Britain and be welcomed by the former enemy. The islands' sovereignty almost certainly won't be discussed.

The victory boosted Mrs. Thatcher to a resounding win in subsequent elections, and the Conservatives to another decade in power.

The defeat sealed the demise of Argentina's dictators. The junta led by Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri stepped down days after the surrender. A caretaker general was named president to arrange elections.

Alfonsin took office Dec. 10, 1983.

The Galtieri junta was tried and convicted for mishandling the war. Members of all three juntas during the 1976-83 regime were tried and convicted of human rights abuses — including kidnapping, torture and murder — during the "dirty war" against leftist terrorism.

Today in Buenos Aires, there are few traces of the conflict beyond memory. One is the monument to the fallen, whose names are inscribed in marble.

Ironically, the memorial looks across a busy street at the Plaza Britannia, whose central feature is a clock tower modeled on Big Ben — a 1910 gift from one friendly government to another.

Court of Appeals rejects Mike Tyson's plea for bail

By DOUG RICHARDSON
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mike Tyson's actions during his first few days in jail show that he shouldn't be released on bail, Jeffrey Modisett says.

Modisett, the Marion County prosecutor, said Tyson's refusal to eat and abide by rules in prison prove he might not obey any conditions that could have been attached to a court order allowing him to post bond.

Attorneys for the former heavyweight champion plan to ask the Indiana Supreme Court to review lower court decisions requiring Tyson to remain in prison while he appeals his convictions for rape and criminal deviate conduct.

A three-member state Court of Appeals panel on Tuesday rejected Tyson's plea to be freed on bail pending his appeal. That decision upheld an earlier order by Marion Superior Court Judge Patricia Gifford, who sent Tyson to prison last week to begin serving a six-year term.

Tyson, 25, was found guilty of assaulting Desiree Washington, a Miss Black America beauty pageant contestant, in his Indianapolis hotel room last July.

Tyson's attorney, Alan M. Dershowitz, said, "We're going to pursue it with the Supreme Court as soon as possible. We're in the extremely unfair position of having bail denied without any explanation, without any grounds."

Dershowitz said he was surprised the appellate court decision came without comment.

"I suspect the appellate court would have a very hard time coming up with opinions that are plausible," he said. "I think they couldn't articulate a ground for denial. It's not clear the Indiana Supreme Court will find that acceptable."

Court of Appeals Judge V. Sue Shields, who signed Tuesday's order, declined to disclose the judges' reasons for denying the request after conferring for about three hours since hearing oral arguments last Friday.

"We just considered all the arguments that were presented ... and did our own review and consultation, and based on that, the determination was made," Shields told The Associated Press. "I'm not going to discuss the specifics of the decision today."

Modisett declined to call the ruling a victory for his office, but said "the winner is justice. ... The benefit we want to see it that it does tell rape victims to come forth."

Modisett said Tyson would likely now serve between six months to a year before a decision is made on his appeal. Shields predicted her court could finish work on the appeal in six months.

The prosecutor said he didn't consider the appellate court's ruling an indication the state will win on appeal.

"The court in deciding a motion like this considers many issues. They consider the risk of the person committing the same offense, they consider the risk of flight. These are very important issues in addition to the likelihood of a reversal of conviction," Modisett said. "How the Court of Appeals weighs these factors is certainly not for me to decide."

Modisett said Tyson was informed in prison of the denial.

Department of Correction officials on Tuesday said Tyson still was refusing to eat solid food. He violated a prison rule by giving his autograph to other inmates and he has declined to take part in an education assessment, officials said.

Shields said the appellate court wasn't aware of the prison reports when it made its decision.

Dershowitz told the appeals panel during oral arguments last week and in papers filed Monday that Tyson would be willing to comply with court-established conditions in return for his release from prison. Dershowitz pointed out that Tyson had cooperated fully with terms of bail that allowed him to remain free from his initial court appearance last September until his sentencing hearing last week.

"The appeals court has done nothing to give him a sense that he's being treated fairly," Dershowitz said. "He's being given special injustice."

Meanwhile, Tyson met with a prison screening officer who issued a written and verbal reprimand for refusing an order, correction spokesman Kevin Moore said. Tyson gave autographs to fellow inmates in violation of a prison rule barring exchange of valuable items among prisoners, Moore said.

"He was very cooperative," Moore said. "He understands the rule and he indicated there wouldn't be a problem in the future."

The spokesman said Tyson continues to decline solid food but he does take fluids. The boxer says he wants to lose weight.

"He's being monitored by the medical staff," said Moore. "At this point, there's no reason to be alarmed by his refusal to eat."

Rowdy kids on buses better smile — they may be on camera

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Smile if you're acting up on the school bus — you may be on camera.

The Orange County district has installed black boxes in 14 of its 833 buses. A sign next to each box warns students they may be videotaped at any time.

Only two boxes actually contain cameras — but the students won't know which ones.

Joseph Wise, transportation director for the 54,000-student district, said the goal is to cut down on last year's 9,600 complaints by bus drivers about rowdy kids.

"It stinks," said Jim Conway, a 14-year-old who rode the first test bus Monday. "We can't get away with anything. We can't eat, we can't talk to people when we come to a stoplight."

"I think it's great," said Michelle Gorczyk, 14. "The bus driver can see what's going on. Sometimes, they don't catch the person at all."

Illinois joins ranks of states cutting back welfare benefits

By F.N. D'ALESSIO
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Dwayne Snyder, who lives in a plywood hut by the railroad tracks, is going to have to make it without welfare for the next three months.

He's one of 51,000 single, able-bodied people in Illinois who are losing their benefits beginning today because of budget cuts.

"I just received my last check, and they told me I wouldn't be eligible anymore because I was employable," said Snyder, who had received aid for about 10 months. "I can read above the sixth-grade level, and that makes me employable under their rules."

In addition to cutting off the benefits for three months, the state will make them available for only six months in the next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

In so doing, Illinois joins five states — Michigan, Ohio, Massachusetts, Maryland and Maine — that cut their general assistance programs last year. Michigan eliminated its program for about 83,000 able-bodied adults amid angry demonstrations led by homeless activists.

And some 40 states cut or froze Aid for Families with Dependent Children benefits in 1991. Under a New Jersey law awaiting federal approval, a mother would get no increase in benefits for children born after she goes on welfare.

The Center for Budget and Policy Priorities in Washington estimates that nearly 500,000 people — about a third of all general assistance recipients nationwide — will be affected by the cuts.

AFDC, a state-federal program, provides aid for food, clothing and shelter for families being denied financial help from one parent. Most recipients are women.

Illinois' cutbacks prompted religious leaders to hold a daylong fast and prayer protest Tuesday in the rotunda of the state Capitol.

Gov. James Edgar, who signed the bill authorizing the cuts, felt the move was the most humane option, preserving money for families and women with children, said spokesman Mike Lawrence. It is expected to save $15 million.

Recipients who are elderly, illiterate or have certain physical or mental problems are exempt, as are those who need to care for a sick person at home. The cuts also won't affect eligibility for food stamps.

"We have limited resources," Lawrence said. "The governor believes that general assistance was never intended to become a permanent sort of assistance. For some people it has."

Advocates for the homeless did not buy the governor's argument.

"It's an experiment in social policy that has absolutely no basis in fact," said Doug Dobmeyer, executive director of the Public Welfare Coalition. "They're just shooting in the dark on this."

Richard Roberts, executive director of the Chicago Christian Industrial League, which runs the state's largest homeless shelter, said he feared his organization would be overwhelmed by the newly homeless.

"Our emergency services are already stretched to the maximum," he said. "We are preparing for a siege. God help us. ... Riots in our soup kitchen are not beyond the scope of possibility should we run out of food and-or shelter space."

Alonzo McNeil, a 44-year-old college graduate who has lived in Chicago shelters since he lost his job as a janitor in 1989, also is worried about an influx of the newly homeless.

"It's a desperate situation, and it ain't got as desperate as it's going to get," he said. "It's going to get ugly."

AIDS activists decry treatment of molestation suspect

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — AIDS activists are criticizing the treatment of a businessman suspected of molesting hundreds of boys and young men, accusing the district attorney of pressing for high bail because the man has AIDS.

The man, Edward I. Savitz, a 50-year-old actuary known on the streets as Uncle Ed, was jailed over the weekend on $20 million bail. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for today.

About a dozen members of AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power demonstrated outside District Attorney Lynne Abraham's office Tuesday. When she came out to speak to them, they shouted her down and pelted her with packaged condoms.

After retreating inside, Abraham denied Savitz's bail had anything to do with his having AIDS. She said said his bail was high because he might be suicidal, to protect him from "a very angry populace" and because he might flee.

Police said Savitz may have paid hundreds of youths for sex, underwear, photographs and feces over the past decade. So far, authorities have seized 312 bags containing soiled undergarments at storage facilities Savitz rented.

IRA'S

ARE STILL IN VOGUE

Saving For Your Retirement Never Goes Out Of Fashion

Stop In And Talk With Joveta Young

Dr. N.G. Kadingo
Podiatrist
(Foot Specialist)
819 W. Francis 665-5682

Royse Animal Hospital
Science & Prescription Diets
1939 N. Hobart
665-2223

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST COMPANY
300 W. Kingsmill 806-665-2341

Member FDIC