Receipts Of Post Office Here Higher

July Business Amounts To $3,402 Against $3,354 In June

Postal receipts continued in an upward trend through July, increasing the marked lead of 1933 over 1932, records released by the post office showed Thursday.

Receipts for July were $3,402.28 against $3,354.97 for June.

Building permits dropped off approximately $200 during July over June of this year, and in the first time this year fell below the $1,000 mark.

Permits totaled $972.50 as compared with $1,180 for June.

Recognition

The latest dope from sources with very much of an inside track in the Roosevelt administration has it that America is preparing to back into recognition of Soviet Russia.

Trade agreements will be the first step toward a final rejoining of the friendly hand. Those in the know say.

Of course when you sit down and draw up articles with anybody that operation constitutes recognition in almost all the leagues there are. The catch comes in at this juncture.

There won't be any exchange of ambassadors for some time.

Child

Instead the White House is considering the idea of sending a commission to Russia to look the whole situation over.

Fechner

President Roosevelt signed an executive order recently that didn't see the light of day. It's plenty important to what we highly call "us taxpayers."

In brief it gives Grand Marshal of the Forest Army Robert Fechner final and complete say about all expenditures for the Civilian Conservation Corps of $2,500 and more.

Heretofore, with the exception of those pesky toilet kits, the quartermaster general's office has done the shopping for C. C. C.

Decision to focus final authority for equipment purchases on Fechner came as a result of insistent rumblings just under the surface that Federal money was being wasted.

The National Whirligig learned and reported that nearly a quarter million canvas coats were bought at prices ranging from $3.10 to $3.25 whereas specifications for the regular army at that time placed the maximum allowable at $2.45.

One of the next innovations the New Deal plans to present in Washington is a federal salary adjuster.

The idea has been talked over at White House meetings of the Super-Advisory council and seems to have been clicked. Pirating of employees by various of the emergency organizations brought the matter up.

It seems that quite a lot of high-pressure gentlemen have come to town to shove temporarily at the government wheel. They've been used to efficiency in their own offices and expect it here. Consequently they shop around.

When a girl or man is found with particular recommendations she or he is sought over at a higher wage.

This is possible under existing conditions in the government establishment. Under the Economy Act and other previous laws Federal pay can't be increased during the depression period in the old departments. Also everybody working in them gets a 15 per cent sock in the nose.

Most of the emergency setups are free from those restrictions however. Thus it is easy for a man in NRA or the Tennessee Valley Authority, just to name two, to offer some crack stenographer or secretary or statistician now working in one of the regular departments.

25 Die Wednesday In Metropolitan Area; Relief In Sight

NEW YORK (AP)—More than a hundred persons have died in the eastern heat wave since last Saturday. Clouds and breezes promised relief Thursday. Heat killed 25 persons Wednesday in the metropolitan area of New York.

A New Jersey, bringing the death toll for the section to 36 in five days. Eight deaths in or near Philadelphia brought its total to 21.

Occasionally one may feel arrangements in the local community to carry out the president's wage-hiking and job-spreading appeal are progressing slowly. But, when you think of the almost unimaginable stupidity of the job of mobilizing every city, every town, every village with all their hundreds and hundreds of kinds of business establishments and service agencies you realize that, after all, almost miraculous progress is being made.

Big Spring has been fortunate in that her Chamber of Commerce manager, C. T. Watson, jumped right into the NRA job and quickly acquainted himself with the ins and outs of the blanket code and the proposed permanent code. Thus he has been able to aid those in all lines of business and in the service occupations coming under provisions of the blanket code.

In a few more days, after the post office here has received a new supply of NRA emblems, and all lines and groups have finished their plans for complying with the code, the Central Committee of the community, set up under rules prescribed by the Recovery Administration, will begin a canvass of the entire city to learn definitely whether all are complying with the blanket code.

It will not be long until newspapers throughout the country will be publishing lists of those who are entitled to display the NRA emblem. In the midst of preparations and adjustments necessary to get everything in line it has seemed that the process is very slow. In reality it has been pretty rapid.

This early in the game the public should take care not to be too quick on the trigger with criticism of those not yet displaying NRA signs. Scores of local business people have been unable to get them because the supply at the post office here has been exhausted since Saturday.

The proposal to issue twenty millions in state bonds to finance relief of the destitute is one upon which many citizens are finding it difficult to form their final decisions.

Not so long ago James E. Ferguson was strenuously opposing what he termed an attempt to mortgage the state to issue bonds for construction of highways. Now the shoe is on the other foot and many will vote against the proposed relief bond issue because they fear the real purpose of such an issue might be defeated when it came to spending the money and that twenty millions is an awful lot of money to have lying around so close at hand.

Injured Man May Be From Maryneal, Tex

W. E. Martin Says He Gave Name And Address To Hitchhiker

An unidentified man who was injured when he fell from the top of a moving freight train at Post Wednesday, was thought to be a resident of Maryneal, who early in the day rode to Sweetwater with W. E. Martin of Big Spring.

An envelope bearing Martin's name and Big Spring address, 409 East 4th street, found in the injured man's pocket, gave the clue. Martin, reached by telephone at McCaulley, Wednesday afternoon, told relatives here he gave his name and address to a man who rode with him Wednesday morning from near Winters to Sweetwater.

The man was interested in renting a farm, said Martin, who had been to the Winters area to look after farm property he owns there.

Martin is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Nelson Hutto of Abilene. Mrs. Martin, who was visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hardesty at McCaulley, was called by telephone from the Hutto home in Abilene when press dispatches were received that a man with Martin's name and address in his effects had been injured. Her husband had arrived at the Hardesty home.

The injured man, unconscious in a Post hospital, is about five feet, 10 inches tall, dark, has two moles on his face and a lower tooth missing. He was wearing a pair of overalls over dark trousers.

Martin said the man who rode with him fitted the description of the injured man. He was unable to recall the name, but said the man told him he lived at Maryneal.

Mass Meeting Monday Evening To Set Up Community Machinery

National Recovery Act Administrator Hugh Johnson has asked C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, to furnish him with a list of businesses putting men to work.

Plans were completed Thursday for a mass meeting of all business operators at Monday 8 p. m. in the municipal auditorium.

A general, fifteen majors, and twenty-four captains will be selected. The elected set-up will have charge of administration locally.

Probably key man of the organization will be the first colonel who will be in charge of a large per cent of propaganda, conduct a house-to-house canvass to discern who is cooperating, and to compile a classified list of unemployed labor.

Other colonels will have charge of outdoor advertising and speakers bureau, respectively.

Beauty parlor operators failed to reach any concerted agreement as a result of their code meeting, but four operators signed an agreement calling for a slight hike in prices and elimination of unfair competition.

They expressed the opinion that a marked rise in prices at this time would defeat the purpose of the president's plan.

Do you or do you not wish 5.2 per cent beer to be sold in Howard county?

You will get an opportunity to express your wish August 26 on this question.

Bona fide signatures of 332 qualified voters of Howard county have insured that people of this political subdivision will have a chance to vote wet or dry locally as well as state or nationally.

A local option petition submitted to the county commissioners court was checked Thursday morning and found to include enough names of qualified voters to call a local option election for August 26.

Of 436 names on the petition, 104 were weeded out as only well wishers, while 332 had poll tax receipts or exemption certificates to back up their signatures.

Judge H. R. Debenport announced that he and the commissioners would order the election to be held concurrently with national and state balloting on repeal and 3.2 beer legislation. The court will issue the order August 10, he said.

Latency surrounding the prohibition issue will probably disappear here in the next few days as both wets and dries tighten their lines for a last minute drive.

Here Are Answers To Many Questions About NRA Code

WASHINGTON (UP)—Here are answers to questions regarding specific problems raised by President Roosevelt's voluntary re-employment agreements, as compiled from official NRA sources:

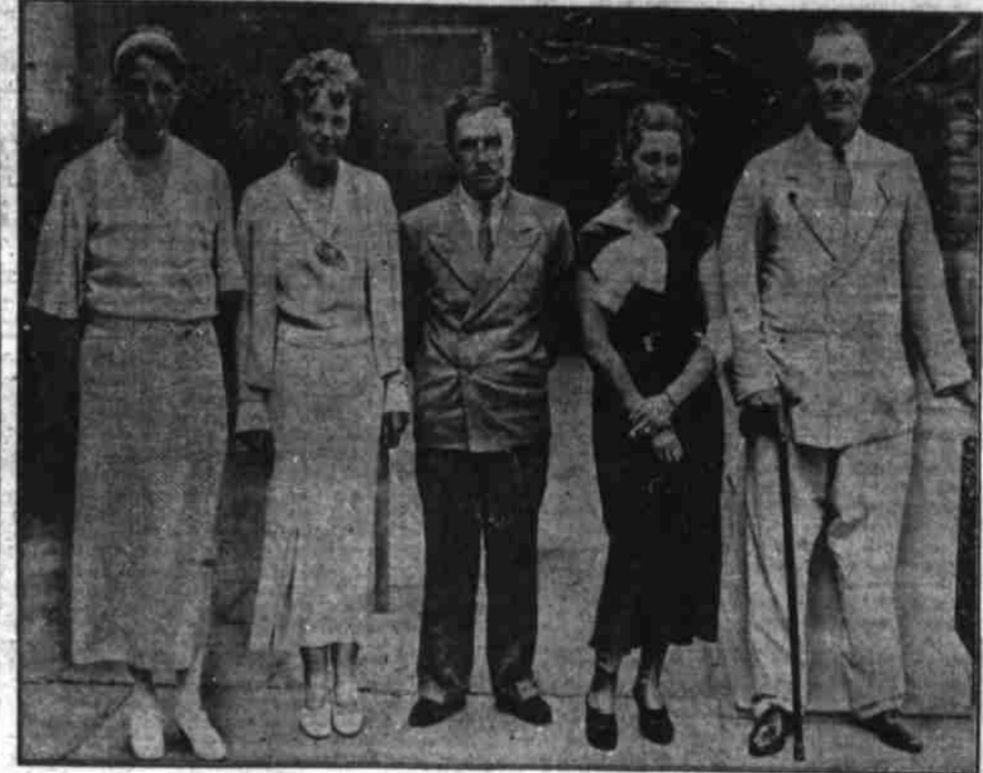

Q—Can an employer work an employee in a retail store during the rush period in the morning, and then release him until another busy period begins in the afternoon?

A—This would be interpreted as a violation of the spirit of agreement.

Q—Are luncheon and rest periods deductible from the number of hours worked to bring the total within the specified number?

A—Yes, within reason. Prolonged luncheon and rest periods would be regarded however, as opposed to the spirit of the agreement.

TES Company Complies With Blanket Code

Company Follows Plan While Permanent Agreement Discussed

Officials of the Texas Electric Service Company announce that they are in hearty accord with the President's recovery plans and that, pending final approval by the N.R.A. of the code for the electric light and power industry, that company is putting into effect the provisions for minimum wages and maximum hours of work of the N.R.A. blanket Code for all the company's accounting, clerical, office, inside salesmen and office building employees.

The code for the electric light and power industry has been submitted to the N.R.A. officials and just as soon as it is approved will be put into effect for all the company's employees.

Newspapers Await Johnson's Ruling

A committee representing the American Newspaper Publishers association has been authorized by Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator general, to say that no action is expected from newspapers until further notice is received.

The committee has been in contact with Administrator Johnson and has acquainted him with the practices and conditions obtaining in the newspaper business.

workers at lower pay, thus creating a new group of unemployed?

A—This would be regarded as a violation of the agreement to spread employment and increase wages. There is no provision in the blanket agreement for a report on personnel and wages added, but a questionnaire is to be distributed on this point and those who have made no real contribution to re-employment will be deprived of the blue eagle.

Q—How do the smaller employers receive the blank agreement forms?

A—If the forms are not received through the mail they may be obtained at the local postoffice.

Q—Do public utilities come under the recovery act so far as the blanket agreement and separate codes of fair competition are concerned?

Chieftians Seek Lower Rate Of Pay For Filling Station Men Than Provided In National Agreement

WASHINGTON (UP)—Lower rate of pay for employees in retail outlets of the petroleum industry than the leaders of the business had agreed to previously were recommended to the administration Thursday by oil chieftians.

They sought to bring thousands of workers in filling stations and other outlets under the "Blanket Code" instead of the labor section of the industry code being worked out between them and General Johnson.

WASHINGTON (UP)—An attempt of Hugh Johnson, recovery administrator, to settle the Pennsylvania coal strike, was postponed until late Thursday at request of coal operators after Johnson had called spokesmen of the conflicting interests and Governor Pinchot into conference before noon.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The recovery administration ruled Thursday it could not attempt to arbitrate contract existing as a result of collective bargaining between capital and labor.

Employers who find themselves unable to adjust such contracts will be permitted to display the Blue Eagle, if they conform as much as they otherwise can to the wage raising and employment increasing movement.

Landowner Would Build Race Track And Fair Buildings

Louis Sautter, owner of land three and one-half miles southwest of here, on Highway No. 9, Thursday placed copies of an agreement in several places in the business district as the first step in an effort he expects to make to obtain a federal public works loan for construction on his land of buildings and other improvements.

He would loan free for one week each year to Howard or adjoining counties for use in conducting a free fair.

Mr. Sautter said his offer, which he is making in return for signatures of citizens approving the proposed project, would include use of exhibition buildings, the race track, and all concessions.

The agreement may be signed at the State National bank, the Chamber of Commerce, or by seeing Mr. Sautter or Tom Ashley.

Public Works Activity To Begin In State Soon

DALLAS (UP)—Administration of the federal public works program, for which a fund of $3,500,000 has been set aside, will start soon in Texas.

Col. Ike Ashburn, Houston, announced in an address here that members of the state public works advisory board, appointed by the federal administrator, will meet in San Antonio Friday.

The first loans in Texas should be granted within two or three weeks, he indicated.

Other members of the advisory board are R. M. Kelly, Longview; John W. Sherry, Mission, and C. T. Goeth, San Antonio.

Thirty-Five Cents To General, 35 To School Fund Allowed

AUSTIN (AP)—The state tax rate for the current year has been fixed at 77 cents on the hundred dollar taxable value, the constitutional limit. The levy allotted thirty five cents to the general fund, thirty five cents to the school fund, seven cents to the Confederate pension fund.

The tax was fixed Thursday by the Automatic Tax Board comprising the governor, state treasurer and state comptroller.

Local Youth Home On Furlough From Federal C.C.C. Camp

Jack Dean, a member of the Citizens' Conservation Corps, returned Wednesday from his camp to visit relatives. Jack has been stationed at Camp Monica, 175 miles southwest of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Camp Monica is located in the mountains 11,000 feet high. "We can call it a Reformation Camp if they want to," Jack commented, "but we haven't been working in the forests. Our work has been in solid rock where we are trying to build a road around one of the mountains."

Jack is a lot huskier and stouter after his short time in the army. He has gained twenty-five pounds. Most of his work hasn't been on the roads, but as a assistant cook for the hungry workers in the kitchen there is one hand, each from the regular army and three assistants from the camp. As for food, the army boys have everything they could possibly wish for, even to all kinds of desserts. The biggest surprise the boys mentioned in the way of food, was the abundance of the traditional army beans. "We had them only four times in two months," Jack said.

The boys are allowed to leave camp Friday afternoon and are not required to report until Monday morning. They are allowed to box, play baseball, and take part in other forms of recreation.

The oldest man in the camp is sixty-three years old and is assigned as guard to prevent stealing. Anyone who can get a job is given an honorable discharge, but those who are unruly are given dishonorable discharges. Two Big Spring boys have been freed to leave for disobedience.

Jack said he slept under four heavy wool blankets and then needed more. Ice was on the camp last Sunday. The winter camp may be in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Jack is home on a furlough and hopes to go to school here the coming year.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Kidnaping, Racketeering and Bootlegging

Kidnaping, racketeering and bootlegging differ from ordinary crimes of passion and violence in that the criminals operate with the assistance of the public with the connivance of the authorities. They constitute, therefore, a fairly distinct category of crime, and a peculiarly dangerous one in that these crimes tend to be well organized, well financed and well protected. The ordinary criminal works with the knowledge that every man's hand is against him. The bootlegger, the racketeer and the kidnaping man, have allies among the innocent and respectable.

The attack upon these forms of crime is not, therefore, merely a matter of making detection more certain and the punishment more swift. Nor is it, in any short term view of the problem, a matter of dealing with the poisoned heredity, the early maladjustments and the corrupting environment by which criminal tendencies are fixed. These organized crimes are the products of a bad political and social organization and of bad public policy.

The most obvious example is, of course, bootlegging. Here is a vast industry, created by constitutional fiat, run by statutory outlaws and patronized by a very great part of respectable society. It is doubtful whether there has ever been in any modern civilized state such a vast alliance of the respectable and the lawbreaking as we have under the Eighteenth Amendment. For as that law has worked, most of us, including judges and policemen and preachers and professors and editors, old gentlemen, schoolboys, dowagers and young girls have been the customers and the patrons of Al Capone and Jack Diamond and their like. This has meant that the forces of opinion have been exerted to protect the Al Capone in their main business of lawbreaking.

The source of racketeering is less obvious to many persons but in the main it, too, is the product of a false conception of public policy. The chief organized racketeers derive either from cut-throat competition in organized little industries or from a lack of a strong organized system of collective bargaining for labor. The fetish of competition, and the laws against combination, have produced the racketeering trade association in which employers pay tribute to gangsters and get in return not only protection against the violence of the gangsters but against the competition of new employers in the same line of business. That is why it is so hard to persuade business men to testify against racketeers. In part they are terrified and in part they are loath to give up the advantage of combination.

The union side of racketeering is the product of the other hand of the long resistance by beighted employees to open, well organized, Mr. Harding's speeches were remarkable for their verbosity and obtuseness. Mr. Coolidge essayed to talk horse sense, but it was the thoroughbred, race-horse type, whereas the country needed draft-horse speeches. Mr. Hoover talked like a wound-up phonograph, without feeling or color. The present occupant of the White House, though a Harvard man and an aristocrat by birth, speaks a language that everybody understands—and does it with a warm, winning sympathy that gives his utterances peculiar potency.

truly representative collective bargaining. The resistance has been sufficient in many trades to drive out responsible labor officials and has cleared the way for the gangster labor leader.

Against the organized criminality which lives on bootlegging the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would do much. For when the production of liquor ceases to be a statutory crime, the public will cease to ally itself with the underworld in order to obtain liquor. Repeat that, not of course, solve the liquor problem. It will take more than repeal to do that. But it will solve the problem of crime as it arises from bootlegging. It will cut off the largest source of money which has ever gone to finance the underworld.

Against racketeering the policy embodied in the National Recovery Act is the most promising that has ever been proposed. That act, if it is as wisely administered as it is well conceived, can be used to reorganize the disorderly, diseased, over-competitive, irresponsible industries in which racketeering flourishes. It can organize them, standardize them and develop means of protection under the law, thus depriving the racketeer of that justification for his existence which today keeps him from being treated as a wholly predatory criminal.

In this category the most difficult crime to deal with is kidnaping, because the victim is so helpless. There can be little doubt that kidnaping would cease if the family and friends of the victim could be prevented from paying the ransom. But who has the heart to say that the Lindberghs should not have tried to ransom their baby or Mr. O'Connell his son? Who, if he were the victim, would be brave enough to say: "Do not ransom me!" What jury would convict a father for compounding a felony by ransoming his child?

Yet there is no doubt that the kidnapers flourish just because they know the families will pay and that the public authorities will stand aside and give them a good chance to escape with the ransom. That is what makes the problem so poignant. There is no difficulty in inflicting the death penalty on kidnapers. But first you have to catch the kidnaping, and how are you going to do that if the police have to stand aside while the family pays the ransom and meets the kidnaping's terms? The question is whether the American people are Spartan enough to enact and enforce laws which forbid private dealings with kidnapers, and therefore make kidnaping unprofitable. It seems like the right and the necessary thing to do, but it has the uncomfortable quality of being brave at some one else's expense.

Sub Fielder And Pitcher Win For Sens

Washington Gains Full Game As Yankees Lose To Athletics

WASHINGTON, (UP)—"Sheriff" Dave Harris, hard-slugging substitute outfielder, and Pitcher Alvin Crowder Wednesday put on an all-star act between them to help the Washington Senators to a 2 to 1 decision over the Boston Red Sox, stretching the Nationals' lead over the Yankees to two full games.

While Crowder was defying blistering sun to hold the up-and-coming Sox to four lone singles, Harris gave the Senators a chance to win by poling a home run into the left field stands to tie the score in the eighth. It was his third homer within two days.

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The Cleveland Indians pounded Wally Hebert hard to stage an 8-run rally in the ninth inning here Wednesday and defeated the St. Louis Browns 16 to 8, in a game delayed 53 minutes by rain.

Two home runs by Hale and one by Wes Ferrell featured the hard hitting contest.

The Cleveland victory came after two setbacks at the hands of the Browns.

NEW YORK—The Philadelphia Athletics, snapping their six-game losing streak with 19 hits behind the effective pitching of George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg Wednesday, defeated the New York Yankees, 16-3 in the first game of the series. The defeat shoved the Yankees two games back of the Senators, who defeated the Red Sox.

Cards Tromp Upon Pirates

Cubs Win, Dodgers And Braves, Phillies And Giants Split

PITTSBURGH—St. Louis trounced Pittsburgh, 4-3 Wednesday in a 13-inning melee marked by a fluster exchange between Bill Walker, Card pitcher, and Arky Vaughan, Bus shortstop, and disputes with the umpire.

The Cardinals evened the score in the seventh, registering two runs, and forged ahead in the ninth with another tally. The Pirates added one in their half of the ninth to knot the score.

The Pirates had the tying run on second with one out when Vaughan grounded to Crawford. Walker covered first and Vaughan crashed into him. Walker swung at the base runner and the shortstop retaliated. Meanwhile, Paul Waner raced home with the tying run. The contestants were ejected. Umpire Magerkurth allowed the run but reversed his decision after a storm of protest from the spectators. Waner finally went back to third and scored on Traynor's grounder which Durocher threw low to Crawford.

The Cards decided the battle in the 12th, Frisch getting to third when Crawford's grounded to Piet took a bad hop. He scored on Medwick's single.

CHICAGO—The Cubs chased their old nemesis, Red Lucas, from the mound in less than one inning Wednesday and went on to a 10-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Lucas pitched to six batters and was able to retire only one of them, four singles and a hit batsman leading to four runs before his successor, Ray Kolp, could retire the side.

Charley Root started for the Cubs but was replaced by Ray Henshaw.

H. L. Hoffman, Expert, former associate of C. F. Redlich, Minneapolis, Minn., will demonstrate without charge his "Perfect Retention Shields" in San Antonio, Roberts Hotel, Saturday, August 4, and in Sweetwater, Blue Bonnet Hotel, Monday, August 7.

From 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. Please come early. Any rupture allowed to protrude is dangerous, weakening the whole system. It often causes stomach trouble, gas and back-pains. My "Perfect Retention Shields" will hold rupture under any condition of work and contract the opening in a short time. Do not submit to avoidable operations and wear trusses that will enlarge the opening. Many satisfied clients in this community. No mail order.

—for always Luckies Please!

Really, how can so fine a cigarette cost so little?

Well, you folks have a lot to do with it. You, and the millions of people like you, who prefer Luckies, to whom Luckies are a personal thing. Your approval enables us to buy our fine tobaccos and produce our cigarettes in great volume. For instance, instead of buying from hand to mouth, we have a reserve of over $100,000,000 worth of the world's choicest tobaccos. Truly, we could not tell you how much Luckies would cost if only a few of them were sold. Frankly, it is your faithful and overwhelming patronage that enables us to offer you the quality of fine tobaccos and the purity of "Toasting"—at a very moderate price!

CHAPTER 22
"It is more than that, in this case. The fact is, through all the slumps of this past year in business, I don't think I could have got by without you. Conditions have been most depressing, at best, but you are an inspiration that is difficult to find, always."

"I appreciate your kindness in saying so," Mary thanked him quietly, thinking in spite of herself of the innumerable times he had hurt and angered her, when she had vainly ignored his manner until he was readjusted.

"I hope," he turned to look at her and drove more slowly, "that you are considering my proposition in all seriousness. Mary, the conviction grows upon me that we might both find a happy satisfaction such as people seldom know. We shall not confine all our time to New York and business, either. I have observed a pretty rigid discipline for myself, and it wouldn't hurt me to take a vacation often. You would like to travel?"

"Oh, yes, I do hope to travel a great deal—some day."

"You see," he triumphantly declared, "I can do it all so much together. It isn't as if I had done it all before. Oh! I've been about—but not like we might go about together."

"It sounds agreeable," she admitted, "but I fear that we could not build permanent happiness on that basis. You see, we do not love each other."

"I still believe that condition to be the least essential to happiness. And yet, why do you say that we do not love each other. Who knows? What is love, anyway? Is it not possible that we may respect each other in its most salient aspects? What is love—but respect, trust, admiration and pleasure in the other's company? We have these. What more can we ask?"

"Had Mary not known love, she might have been convinced with his argument. What more, she thought. Ah! more than pleasure in each other's company—rest and wild delight in the mere thought of the other. More than respect and trust—worship and blind faith that would ignore even reason; fierce loyalty that would challenge even truth. Compelling passion that defied cold logic. Love could be like that."

When they reached the house, Mary saw, with consternation, that Dick's car was parked in front. He and Bonnie either were sitting out there, or were in the house. She hoped that they were in the car, so that she would not have to encounter them.

In fact, she experienced a little satisfaction thinking that they would see her slight from Foster's handsome foreign-built car.

He very formally thanked her for the evening. "Please say we shall do this often," he begged. "I have been a great pleasure for me."

"How about you," she admitted. "Of course, we can have dinner together sometimes."

Mary opened the front door surreptitiously. The hall was dark and only one lamp was lighted in the living room. She heard low voices. Her heart skipped a beat, fluttered wildly and then thudded with slow, heavy throbs against her breast, echoing in her ears. She would slip upstairs without a word.

Bonnie's shrill voice called, "That you, Mary? What hours you do keep. Come in a minute and congratulate Dick. You haven't, you know."

Mary, breathed deeply—and charged. She might as well meet her Waterloo here and now. Fixing her features into a careless smile, she went in. Dick sat on the couch just where he had sat beside her, sometimes. It was all she could do to keep from crying out with the pain of seeing him. So dear he was! He might belong to Bonnie—but he would always be her's in memory.

"You see," he triumphantly declared, "I can do it all so much together. It isn't as if I had done it all before. Oh! I've been about—but not like we might go about together."

"It sounds agreeable," she admitted, "but I fear that we could not build permanent happiness on that basis. You see, we do not love each other."

Registration Of Oil-Gas Leases Required By Law

WASHINGTON—Federal trade commission officials said that while no official ruling had been handed down there was no doubt that oil and gas leases and royalties came under the securities act and must be registered.

Officials said where the transaction involved a transfer between two individuals and was not a public offering it did not come under the law, but when a public offering was made it must be registered the same as any other security.

"Oil royalties generally where they are part of a general scheme to deal in assignments of undivided interests come under the act just as any other security does," one official said.

He added there was "no basis" for the assertion by J. E. Simpson, president of the Mid-Continent Royalty Owners association that this interpretation would invalidate all existing lease and royalty contracts.

Any issue, this official said, which was put out prior to July 27, would not be included under the law, but any new offering must be registered.

WHIRLIGIG

WHIRLIGIG (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) month $200 to $500 a year extra to jump. This has been going on only in the $1,800 to $3,500 salary classes. But that's where the bulk of your taxes is spent so far as the payroll is concerned.

Jobless

After all these years of storm and strife Uncle Sam is about to get himself some accurate and comprehensive figures on unemployment.

They'll be ready in about a month. The Federal Emergency Relief Administration is preparing them under the guidance of Chief Statistician Cornington Gill. Such figures will be invaluable. The Labor and Commerce Departments

Professor Sprague's skilled hand in piloting our currency craft. New York leaders agree there is sound reason for temporarily abandoning our efforts to keep the dollar depressed. Letting the dollar slide during the London Conference served a useful purpose. It kept inflation psychology going and moved prices up. But in some respect it outwore its welcome. It stimulated speculation more than it did business. Also prices were leaving purchasing power too far behind. There are adequate reasons for a breathing spell.

Don't overlook government financing this month either. A strong dollar drive August will help to solve the Treasury's problems. And that's the second biggest chore the government faces for the near future.

The dollar will probably go some higher yet before we put the brakes on. Some Wall Streeters are talking about $45 to the pound. That's looking through a telescope but insiders would not be surprised if it reached $30 or even $400.

Financing The best local bet on the August 15th financing is a ten or fifteen year issue around three and a quarter per cent. Nearly five hundred million dollars is needed for refunding purposes and four or five hundred million more will probably be needed for public works and other odds and ends. The fourth Liberty four and a quarter will not be called for conversion but holders will probably be offered a chance to exchange them at their own option.

With the dollar buoyant and the stock market tamed New York authorities are confident that a billion dollar issue at three and a quarter per cent can be swallowed like so much cream. The Federal Reserve Banks are still ready to answer an SOS if needed—but they won't be needed.

About a month ago some of the New York banks tried to work the ancient shell game on William Woodin. They told him he would have to pay five and a quarter per cent for his August money. He didn't take them seriously.

Trying to raise the ante on the government is an old Wall Street pastime. The banks do love their income and they still haven't learned that there is no green in Washington's eye.

Britain Our willingness to let the dollar rise suits our British friends just fine. Apparently we are playing into their hands but really we're not. There will be plenty of chance to catch up on exports when our domestic situation is straightened out.

Informed New Yorkers say that Neville Chamberlain must have had his tongue in his cheek when he said the pound wasn't tied to any other currency. Coincidence does not explain its movement with the franc. The famous British stabilization fund is doing its stuff. This arrangement is rated as temporary by local observers. Keeping the franc and pound in line helps France stay on gold. If France goes off gold England doesn't collect her most recent French loan. Q.E.D. Once that loan is straightened out you will see the pound go places in a hurry.

Labor New York insiders say that Green, Richberg and other labor leaders are having a hard job keeping the radical element in line. Many members of the Federation want to use NIRA as a vehicle for their closed shop ambition. It will take snappy work to head off a la-

William Green's Federal unionism—whereby the employees of a given plant can get a charter direct from the Federation—represented an attempt at compromise. Green wants to keep the peace until unemployment is in full swing. So does General Johnson. NRA will have little patience with either industrial or labor elements which try to capitalize the situation for the benefit of open or closed shop policies. It is understood here that the White House itself is ready to swing a club if either side gets out of hand.

Protection Many business men are going to have fits when they find what Prof. Tagwell is working on. It is a plan to finance unemployment insurance out of corporate surpluses and will be introduced at the next Congress. He has New York help.

Cuba New York learns that the Cuban impasse is near solution. President Machado may withdraw nastily by taking a leave of absence. A new electoral law is expected to become effective in January 1934.

The best local opinion is that Cuba's urgent need to develop markets and possibly revise her external debt will give us a walkway in getting her to do what we want.

Sidelights Tammany boss Curry, Republican boss Koenig and Inspector Samuel Seabury's assistants all have offices in the same building...but they don't take tea together...When the Stock Exchange hours were shifted from twelve to three to eleven to two they said it was to give the brokers a chance to play golf...Actually it was to give the clerks a chance to get home before ten at night...Wall Street's strike is over...Most of the boys got bonuses...Attorney General Cummings should look into the bootleg gold market...It's a live one.

If the people could have more assurance that something of permanent value, as would have been the case with the proposed road bond issue would be built with the labor provided by the bond issue, and that all the money would not simply be spent to have weeds cut and raked or rocks piled up, the issue would receive a great many more votes.

After weighing all the phases of the proposition, however, we can not bring ourselves to vote against the proposed issue. The one great factor is that there are so many needy families in the state. It is the hope of every citizen that the program of the national administration will be far enough advanced by winter to absorb much of the present relief load, and thus prevent having to issue the full amount of $200,000,000 in bonds. We want to leave to the legislature the job of setting up proper statutes to control and prescribe the rules and procedure for distributing the money.

If there is anything in which politics has absolutely no place it is relief work. Too much politics has bubbled up in various parts of the state in connection with H. P. C. work already done. It is especially interesting that when the president named a regional director of Public Works, he named a man not connected with any state administration or political clique or machine in any of the three states in the region.

Yes, we're going to have to vote these bonds to add the state's share to the sum to be made available by the national government. But let us hope the legislature, in special session this fall, will act wisely in fixing the methods and placing the responsibility for expending the relief funds.

ANSWERS (Continued On Page 1) Q—Does the NRA affect workers on large estates, gardeners, chauffeurs, maids, etc.? A—No. Q—How will hotel employees be affected? A—They will be regarded as "service" employees with a maximum work week of 40 hours and graduated pay depending on the size of their city. Q—Will there be any objection to agreements for uniform opening and closing hours in stores of any given city? A—No, provided the stores do not reduce their hours below the 32 specified in paragraph 2 of the agreement. Q—A waitress is paid 80 cents a day and tips. Must the 80 cents be raised to the minimum wage of $14. A—The unofficial interpretation is that tips may be counted in computing the total weekly remuneration. Q—Can an employer force employees to take time off during the day to come within the hour limit on a seven-day schedule? A—An employer may not violate the spirit of the agreement by forcing employees to take unreasonable amounts of time off during the day. Section 3 of the agreement pledges the employer "not to use subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this agreement." Q—Is there any limitation on the maximum hours of operation of a store or service? A—No. Q—Is a barber included in the 48-hour limitation? A—Yes, the employments listed

Three Arrests Expected In Missouri On Charges Growing Out Of Bond Deal

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Arrest of three men in Missouri and their return here in connection with theft of a half million dollars worth of government bonds in New York is expected Thursday or Friday. Warrants for arrest of the three men have been telegraphed to St. Louis.

Customs Officers Fight Smugglers In El Paso

EL PASO (UP)—Two men were arrested and a large load of liquor was seized after two mounted customs officers battled eight Mexican smugglers and gunmen for more than three hours on the banks of the river east of El Paso. More than 150 shots were exchanged across the river between 2:35 a. m. and 5 a. m. The men arrested gave their names as Francisco Adams and Wenceslao Alarcon, both of Juarez.

The officers said they were patrolling the river when they saw eight smugglers cross with sacks of liquor and deposit them on the bank of the American side. When they called to the men to halt, six of them retreated to the Mexican side and opened fire with rifles and pistols.

Issuance Of 20 Millions In 10-Year Relief Bonds Will Be Necessary Says Ferguson As Election Draws Near

Provision In Resolution Submitting Issue To People Prohibits Taxing Of Real Property To Pay Off Interest And Principal

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, (UP) — A concerted drive to put over the constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to issue not more than $20,000,000 state bonds for relief work is being organized.

The limit on the bonds is $20,000,000. Prospects that only a part will be issued if authorized have vanished. Former Governor James E. Ferguson says it will take all of the twenty million and more to meet demands. He estimates that $2,000,000 a month will be required for another year.

The proposal requires the bonds to mature within ten years, to be sold for not less than par and to have an interest rate of not in excess of four and a half per cent. Payment of any commission for their sale is prohibited. There is also a provision that the bonds shall not become a charge or lien against property in the state, but that the legislature shall provide a fund for interest and redemption from some source other than a tax on real property.

Except for that limitation the legislature is left free to determine the method of raising for the bonds

The resolution submitting the matter to popular vote on Aug. 26 says the proceeds of the bonds shall be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardship resulting from unemployment. It says the funds are to be fairly distributed over the state upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by the legislature. Unless the legislature exercises the power to issue the bonds within two years, the power is ended.

Why a bond issue is needed with national and state recovery on the way is one of the questions frequently asked.

Former Governor Ferguson, who will campaign for the bonds, says there are more than 1,250,000 people now on relief rolls in Texas. Col. Lawrence Westbrook, director of the state rehabilitation and relief commission, says even with the restoration of such employment, the rolls of the needy will be numerous for a long time to come.

"In the stress of recent economic conditions, it has been largely a case of survival of the fittest in employment," he said. "Those least fitted for work and those incapa-

Dry Goods, Clothing And Variety Goods Dealers Sign Local Code

Meeting of Big Spring dry goods merchants held Tuesday evening at the Settles was presided over by Max B. Jacobs, chairman of the code committee. Other members of the committee are as follows: Albert M. Fisher, D. W. Webber, department stores; Osburn O'Rear, shoe stores; L. B. Dudley, variety stores; A. P. McDonald, men's wear; and Max Jacobs, ready-to-wear.

This committee worked diligently on the formation of the code under which dry goods stores locally are operating, and all of the merchants unanimously adopted each provision, after it was read and explained in detail by the chairman.

Following is the code in its entirety:

CODE OF ETHICS AND BUSINESS PRACTICES COVERING THE DRY GOODS MERCHANTS, ALL DEPARTMENT STORES, SPECIALTY STORES, EXCLUSIVE MEN'S FURNISHINGS, LADIES READY TO WEAR, HOSIERY AND VARIETY STORES.

Believing in the principle of relieving unemployment as advocated by President Roosevelt and wishing to cooperate in the administration of his blanket code hereby agreed and adopt a 40 hour working week and a minimum compensation of $14.00 per week for all full time employees.

The code is as follows:

Opening and Closing Hours

1. Opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 5:30 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday; opening at 9 a. m. and closing at 8 p. m. on Saturday.

Rules Governing Opening Hours

(a) No goods shall be sold before opening hour, however, this does not prevent the porter entering the store for cleaning up purposes.

(b) Clerks shall be permitted to finish with customers who have entered the store prior to 5:30 on week days and 8:00 p. m. on Saturdays, but doors are to be closed on specified closing hours.

(c) It is further provided that owners and managers of such business have the privilege and right to do clerical work and interior window trimming or have this work done provided it does not conflict with the forty (40) hour working limit for employees.

II. Fair Practices

(a) It is of tremendous importance that proper relations between competitors be maintained that fair practices and ethical principles of merchandising be both advocated and practiced.

(b) All advertising whether in newspapers, circulars, placards, price cards, or by first class mail should absolutely represent true conditions as to quality and price of merchandising.

(c) No reference is to be made to competitors store, his stock of goods, merchandising methods or prices.

(d) If merchandise of unusual value is advertised a definite statement should be made with reference to quantity offered.

(e) No store is permitted to use the word sale or to either directly or indirectly infer or imply that a sale is in progress only during the regular sale period of twice annually.

III. Fair Retail Prices

(a) It shall be considered unethical for any retail dry goods store to advertise or sell merchandise at a price less than a fair profit. If maximum working hours and minimum wage scale-- are to be observed a profit is necessary.

(b) It is agreed that no merchandise will be sold for less than 10% profit.

(c) For the purpose of clearing stock two clearance sales each year shall be held between the dates of January 1 and February 15, and July 1 and August 15, no sale to run during this time longer than two weeks.

(d) If at any time it is decided by the store managers that a certain type of merchandise is not moving at regular prices and because of changing styles and seasons he decides to re-mark merchandise he may reduce the price ciated physically have been thrown out of employment. As recovery comes, those most fitted are the ones who will get employment easily. There will still be left to be cared for in some way a great mass of persons unfit for profitable work."

Drought conditions in at least 17 counties of the state, which at times produce bountiful crops, accentuate the condition.

For the bonds, it is said that including the interest and retirement funds, they will not form a debt of more than $5 or $10 per Texan. Against it are being urged the danger of launching the state into a practice of financing its affairs by bonds—a practice that has been decisively rejected by two sessions of the state legislature when proposed as a road construction method. Some of the University of Texas regents are also warning there should be assurance that the University of Texas permanent funds are not invested in relief bonds.

In formal resolutions, the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission has declared ignorance of the "tragic distress" of thousands of families may defeat the bond proposal. Without the bonds, said the regent also, the commission says local funds will be entirely inadequate to prevent great suffering by hundreds of thousands of people.

One member of the state legislature put it more crudely. "We've got to fight them or feed them," he said.

Government Seed Loan Rule Rescinded

The government has rescinded its order asking over all seed loan cotton at nine and one-half cents a pound, and will leave it up to the borrower to order the cotton sold at his own time, according to information received from C. O. Moser, vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperative association.

In a telegram to the West Texas Cotton Growers' association, Mr. Moser said: "Ruling to pay nine and one-half cents for 1933 seed loan cotton rescinded. Borrowers have been given right to call their cotton when they wish to do so. If the cotton does not bring enough to completely pay off all unpaid balances, borrowers will owe balance, but if there is surplus, this will be credited. Borrowers must give written authority to association to sell, or if given by telegram, confirm with letter."

During Mr. Moser's recent speaking tour of West Texas, a great deal of inquiry was received on these points, and Mr. Moser answered in the light of the government's original decision; he said in his telegram that he was especially desirous, therefore, of getting the new facts before the growers, now that the decision has been changed.

Further information, or assistance in ordering cotton sold, collecting balances due, etc., may be had from Clyde Daniel, manager of the West Texas Cotton Growers' association, Abilene.

Wiley Post Uses Lubricants Made By Socony-Vacuum

DALLAS—When Wiley Post lands his world-girdling airplane, "Winnie Mae" at Oklahoma City Friday the famed round-the-world solo flyer, not only returns to his homeland, but to a city in the southwestern petroleum empire from whence came the fuel and lubricants that made possible his historic flight. E. P. Angus of Dallas, vice-president and sales manager of the Magnolia Petroleum company, said, Mr. Angus has extended hearty congratulations to Post on behalf of his company, southwestern unit of the Socony-Vacuum Corporation which was chosen by Post to supply fuel and lubricants on his flight.

"Oklahoma has a right to be proud of Wiley Post and his achievement," Mr. Angus said. "But we in Texas and other southwestern states also claim a share in his triumph for it was the excellence of petroleum products manufactured from southwestern oil that contributed in a large measure to the success of Post's heroic venture. The care with which Post prepared for his flight did much to assure its successful completion and naturally are listed in the fact that he chose Gargoyles Mobil Oil Aero "H" and Mobilgrease to lubricate the "Winnie Mae" and Mobilgas "Aviation" for fuel. These products manufactured in the southwest from southwestern petroleum in Magnolia refineries are distributed throughout the world by the Socony-Vacuum corporation of which Magnolia is a unit.

"Wiley Post has written a new and glowing chapter in aviation history and is deserving of the highest honors we can accord him," Mr. Angus said. Magnolia service men at 12,000 stations and dealers in the southwest join with me in extending our sincere congratulations to Wiley Post."

Man Who Knocked Hole In Wall Of Domicile Of Prosecutor Pays Fine

Hell, they say, hath no fury like a woman scorned, but even more superlative is the degree of persistence with which an offended prosecuting attorney can trail his men.

Sunday while County Attorney James Little and his family were enjoying an outing at the city park, his house was mistaken by a slightly inebriated party for one where "Susie" lived.

The maid insisted that "Susie" lived elsewhere. The gentleman knew better, and if the maid didn't mind and if she did mind, he was going to look around for her.

In alarm the timid maid warned him he was fondling fire. The owner of the house, she assured him, was a judge, attorney or something.

This both amused and vexed the anti-prohibitionist. To show his combined delight and contempt he tossed a chair through the kitchen wall.

The maid remembered the man's given name and that he rode in a yellow car. In reality he rode in a

Men Of Five Counties To Meet In Stanton To Discuss Destitution

C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, has been asked by W. Strauss, chairman of the statewide campaign for passage of a proposed issue of $20,000,000 in relief bonds, to address a drought relief meeting in Stanton Friday morning.

Representatives of Dawson, Howard, Martin, Midland and Glasscock counties are expected to attend the meeting. Arrangement to hold it were made after a delegation of citizens, including Sheriff Mirr Water, County Attorney W. Hamilton, Messrs. Hull, Clement and others, came here earlier in the week and conferred with Mr. Watson on ways and means of relieving a number of destitute farm families in Martin county.

Inasmuch as extreme need has been reported among farmers of each of the five counties named it was decided to ask County Judge Lamar of Martin county to call county and city officials of all five counties to confer.

The Martin county men said some special and immediate form of relief was necessary in their county. They told of farmers, including owners of their own home farms, who had sold all hogs, cows and chickens and were seeking to sell stock feed to buy food for their families.

At any rate the county attorney got his man Wednesday, and hailed him before County Judge H. R. Debenport Thursday morning.

In less gay spirits than last Sabbath afternoon, the young man pleaded guilty of being intoxicated and alliped soothing saline on a serious sore by making it clear he would repair the kitchen wall.

R. Pauline C. Brigham returned Monday night from a vacation in South Texas. She visited in Corpus Christi and other cities and also attended the short course at A.&M.

EIGHT HUNDRED OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE NOW

Each and every one of the eight hundred registered unemployed, as of August 31st, offers us an opportunity, by putting one to work at say $75.00 per month to increase our circulating medium just that much. Assuming that each $75.00 paid an employe underwrites ten profitable transactions during a thirty day period, it will have then financed a $750.00 round turn volume business, on which 40 per cent gross profit probably would have been realized, namely $300.00 gross community profit on an intelligently invested $75.00.

If we underwrite these eight hundred unemployed, furnishing them employment, they will in turn underwrite our future lasting prosperity.

We solicit your use of COSDEN GASOLINES because they are manufactured in Big Spring, are among the best balanced motor fuels offered the public, and in our judgment can do more for Big Spring people than any gasoline offered to our people—economically.
