Diplomats Expect To Evacuate Soon

NANKING—(AP)—Two Nationalist Army groups were reported today desperately trying to establish a new defense line to save this jittery capital from advancing Chinese Communists.

Diplomats expect to hear from the government—perhaps within 24 hours—that Nanking is no longer safe for them. These developments came as the government abruptly cut its air link with isolated Suchow some 200 miles northeast of Nanking and deployed its forces for a battle to save the nation's capital city.

A new defense line was reported under construction on the southern bank of the Hual River, athwart the approaches to the lower Yangtze Valley and 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

The line is anchored to Pengpu, on the rail line midway between Nanking and Suchow, and is being manned by the bulk of some 85,000 troops in the Sixth and Eighth Army Groups.

Those groups are the last major Nationalist force standing between Communist armies and Nanking.

The government's 12th Army Group, of some 140,000 troops, was reported still tightly encircled by seven Red columns about 50 miles south of Suchow, in the Suhsien sector.

Three other Red columns were reported massed about 25 miles south of Suchow to block the southward movement of the Suchow garrison, the garrison of some 220,000, was reported abandoning Suchow in an attempt to rescue the trapped 12th Army Group.

With the Nationalist Armies thus separated in three pockets and threatened with destruction by numerically superior Red forces, Nanking circles found little comfort in the preparations being undertaken along the Yangtze River itself.

Gen. Tan Gen-po has set up a Nanking-Shanghai defense area (See DIPLOMATS, Page 10).

Mme. Chiang Reaches U.S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek, first lady of China, arrived today to seek new American backing for China's hard-pressed Nationalist government.

The Chinese first lady was met at the airport by Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the secretary of state.

Ambassador Wellington Koo and other embassy officials also greeted her.

Madame Chiang arrived at 10 a. m. (EST) from San Francisco aboard President Truman's former personal plane, the Sacred Cow.

Top American administration officials were missing. The State Department sent Walter Butterfield, chief of its Office of Far Eastern Affairs.

Madame Chiang left immediately with Mrs. Marshall for the Marshall home at nearby Leesburg, Va., without a word to reporters on her unofficial mission or any other subject.

She will be Mrs. Marshall's guest there for the time being. There was no immediate announcement of her plans.

As she stepped from the plane, Madame Chiang was greeted first by Ambassador Koo and by Dr. H. H. Kung, former Chinese prime minister who is her brother-in-law.

It Won't Be Easy for the Reds To Change Oriental Brooklyn

EDITOR'S NOTE: James D. White, Associated Press foreign news analyst, is back at his old stamping grounds—China. He went from San Francisco to Shanghai by plane last week to begin an on-the-spot assessment of what is happening in that troubled area, a country he knows well from his service as an AP correspondent there. Here's his first report.

By JAMES D. WHITE SHANGHAI—(AP)—They worry here about whether and when the Communists will take Shanghai. And if that happens, what then? If the Communists know Shanghai, they are worrying too.

This is a city of five million very rugged individualists who are about as inclined to communism as the New York Stock Exchange. Businessmen never here for impoverished young men of five or six years, when they enter commerce with a tray of peanut brittle, mille cakes or a dozen units of face blackening goo which American merchants never got around to using in the war against Japan.

To whom they sell this stuff is a mystery, but it's for sale all over town. These commercial carriers continue through various markets black and otherwise to the grave.

Trading, and profit making, is life itself to these people. The Communists may think they can regiment them. If so it will be the first time in history.

If the Reds get Shanghai they'll get a huge, Oriental Brooklyn operating like a sprawling fair in a country courtyard.

To one who last saw Shanghai hushed and sullen under Japanese occupation, the change in the city is astounding. Shanghai now is entirely Chinese, with all foreign restraints thrown away.

The police tolerantly watch traffic so crowded and so undisciplined that those who don't jaywalk risk injury by simply obeying signals. There's another difference—traffic now moves to the right.

But the change which is taking place here is only a tendency; so no real harm is done in China. (See IT WON'T, Page 10)

Drive Over Midway Mark

The Salvation Army's local fund was bolstered by $359.50 in yesterday's drive. This brings the total raised to $2,215.00.

The road to the goal of $6,800, it was reported.

Capt. G. H. Lambrecht, in charge of the local campaign, said a large number of workers have not reported their collections, but that they are working well.

He said yesterday the drive could be pushed to a finish this week, if the workers would solicit their cards and make prompt reports on results.

Socialite Finds Ring In Champagne Cooler

NEW YORK—(AP)—The $20,000 diamond ring which socially prominent Mrs. Estelle Auguste lost at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera has been found in a champagne cooler, she said today.

Mrs. Auguste said she was informed of the find by August Weishrod, manager of Sherry's bar at the opera house. The ring was found when coolers were being cleaned following Monday night's opening, she said.

Government 'GET TOUGH' POLICY IS AHEAD FOR JUVENILES

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government staked more chips on continued prosperity today, asking farmers to produce extra poultry, milk, vegetables, sheep and lambs next year.

Anticipating "continued high consumer demands," the Agriculture Department announced these 1949 goals:

Poultry—35,100,000 turkeys and 700 million young chickens—a 10 percent increase. It suggested, however, that this year's estimated total of 428 million laying hens be cut by 30 million. That would give each person an average of 370 eggs—instead of 380—during the year, and about four pounds of turkey and 23.5 pounds of chicken.

Milk—a three percent boost to 120 billion pounds. Vegetables—with acreage increased to 717,800, the department suggested five percent more lima beans, sweet corn and cucumbers; 7 percent more snap beans; 12 percent more sweet potatoes; 40 percent more beets and watermelons and two percent more tomatoes. Goals for peas, peppers, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower and spinach will be the same as this year's, but a cut was advised on lettuce, celery, cantaloupes, honey-dews and onions.

The mayor of Berlin is Mrs. Louise Schroeder, 61. She has been handicapped by illness. Friedensburg has served for her.

Ottomar Geschke, a leader of the Communist-dominated S E D Party, sent letters to the military governors of the four occupying powers last night asking for recognition of the new regime.

The Communists refused to take part in city elections scheduled Sunday in the three Western sectors and voting was barred in the Soviet sector.

Col. Frank Howley, military commander in the U. S. sector, said "the citizens of Berlin may be assured that free, democratic elections will be permitted in the three Western sectors next Sunday and that democratic rights and liberty will be safeguarded."

The door when he sought to enter office.

Police in the Russian sector are headed by Moscow-trained Gen. Markgraf, who has refused to accept his dismissal ordered by the anti-Communist government.

Friedensburg and a few other elected officials had retained offices in the City Hall after riotous Communist demonstrations had driven the anti-Communist City Assembly and most other officials to Western Berlin, which is occupied by the United States, Britain and France.

Friedensburg's aim was to maintain at least the symbol of a central administration for this divided city as long as possible.

Now the Communists apparently are putting a halt even to that fiction and taking over in force.

Production Costs Up

HOUSTON—(AP)—Oilmen were told here yesterday that oil imports are increasing at the expense of U. S. production.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said that's the biggest problem facing independent producers.

Other problems, he said, include price controls, increased taxation, and steel distribution. He told a district meeting of the association that there always is a threat of federal control.

"All phases of proposed federal control of the industry are based on the 'dwindling supply' of oil," he said.

"The industry has demonstrated its ability to produce adequate oil and facts will be presented at future hearings to show the industry can meet all demands for the next five years."

Brown said the IPAA was founded in 1929 to fight for a limitation on oil imports and "it looks like the same situation is with us today."

The oil industry will receive about 1,500,000 tons of steel this year but will need more if its drilling program is increased next year, he said.

First steps in a new "get tough" policy on juvenile law enforcement were taken yesterday afternoon at a joint meeting of city, county, and school officials.

The meeting was called after a continuous stream of complaints about juvenile vandalism and thefts came pouring into the city manager's office.

"The city cannot do the whole job of enforcement," Mayor C. A. Huff said, in opening the joint meeting.

"The city is being censured for not doing what is its property by law doing," the mayor continued, "and that is: get tough."

The city has been plagued in recent months with a wave of petty crimes and misdemeanors ranging from malicious destruction of public and private property to theft of automobiles. The city manager and city commissioners are under fire from irate citizens, who, apparently unfamiliar with state laws governing juveniles, daily demand that the City Police "do something."

Although the meeting was originally intended to discuss vandalism and petty thefts, it angled also into the traffic problems confronted by the city. City Manager Steve Matthews and Chief of Police Louis Allen said traffic at present is the worst problem the city has to face and is made worse by reckless and speed-thirsty drivers, many of whom are unlicensed.

The meeting drew out one important fact: Police authority goes only as far as apprehending the law violator, but the police do not try him. That is up to the courts.

In a case of a juvenile violator, Judge Sherman White declared, the juvenile officer brings him before the court (county and juvenile court being one and the same) for reprimand and punishment.

The judge and Corporation Court Judge Clifford Braly added that the city court has no more authority over juvenile cases than it has over felony cases. Juveniles can be handled only by the county and district courts, even though the offense may be running a red light or hitting 50 miles per hour down the main street.

As the first step taken, the parents of first and second offenders will be brought into juvenile court to hear for themselves the evidence presented.

The parents themselves, Judge Sherman White said, form a court of evidence, record, and judgment, and it is on this "court" that the juvenile authorities depend for their most effective enforcement. It is common knowledge, the judge said, that laws are only as good as the courts that enforce them. Therefore, the "parental court" must also cooperate with the established authorities to help rid Pampa of juvenile crime.

Destruction of public property is not something that "just doesn't mean anything," Matthews said. Each time a street sign is bent out of shape, each time a sign post is uprooted, it costs money to the parents of those who are under fire from irate citizens, who, apparently unfamiliar with state laws governing juveniles, daily demand that the City Police "do something."

Two Injured, Horse Killed In Accident

A Wheeler County farmer and a Wheeler Catholic priest were in Wheeler County this morning, the farmer critically injured, as result of a car-wagon crash early last night on U. S. Highway 88, two miles north of Wheeler.

They are: Everett J. Richardson, 46, of near Wheeler and Fr. Rupert Shindler, 57, of Childress.

The crash occurred when Richardson, driving a two-horse wagon loaded with hay, was traveling north up a slight grade when a 1941 Buick driven by the Rev. Charles A. Knapp, Wellington, crashed into the rear of the wagon.

Rev. Knapp was approaching the wagon when he met another car traveling south. The priest told patrolmen he was unable to see the wagon until he was almost on top of it. The wagon had no lights or reflectors, patrolmen added.

One of the two horses was killed and the other seriously injured. When Richardson was found by passing motorists, the injured horse was lying on top of the wagon. Richardson and Fr. Shindler were taken to Wheeler Hospital where physicians learned the farmer was suffering from a fractured skull, three fractured ribs and other injuries.

The priest was "bruised up" but was reported recovering this morning. Richardson's condition was described as "critical."

Damage to the Buick was estimated at $900 and the wagon a total loss.

No charges were filed against Rev. Knapp, patrolmen said.

110 Killed In Hunting Accidents

CHICAGO—(AP)—At least 110 persons in 21 states have been killed so far this season by gunfire while hunting deer.

Other fatalities in connection with the deer hunting trips—drownings, auto accidents and heart ailments—boosted the death toll to more than 200.

The gunfire toll probably will surpass last year's when 141 hunters were fatally killed. In some states this year's hunting season has not ended or has not begun.

A survey by the Associated Press showed Maine leading the list of reported gunfire casualties with 17.

New York counted 16, Colorado 11, Michigan 10, Wisconsin 10, Idaho 9 and Oregon 7. The New York, Colorado and Idaho totals are record highs.

In Texas, where an average of 28 deer hunters are killed each year, only three have been fatally shot this season. But the season began only last Friday and doesn't end until Dec. 31.

The Texas toll in the past has been among the highest. In Pennsylvania, where the number of licensed hunters fell from 800,000 last year to 800,000 this year, the worst year was in 1931, when 72 game hunters died. The (See ACCIDENT, Page 10)

Driver Loses 200 Tires Along Road

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Truck driver Joe Starr wondered why other motorists tagged along behind him as he drove from Kansas City to Warrensburg, Mo.

Now he knows. Starr left Kansas City Monday with a truckload of 630 new passenger tires, valued at $18 to $14 each. When he stopped for coffee at Warrensburg, 30 miles away, the truck's rear doors were open. Approximately 200 tires had bounced out along the way.

Patrol cars searched the highway yesterday and found a few tires. A couple of honest motorists also turned some in. But 200 still were missing last night.

Show That Friend You're Grateful; Place His Name Up for Christmas Club

Have you cast your ballot for members of the Goodfellow Club? If not, you will soon, and the winners will be announced within a few days.

A number of citizens in and around Pampa have been given the approval of their friends and neighbors for a place on the honor roll.

As a part of the "Flight of Santa Claus" program, a committee has devised this means of according recognition to those people who have in some way helped other people. Some of those selected have helped more than others, but all of them to be chosen have proved there is truth in the adage that "human nature is naturally good."

Who are some of those named thus far in the balloting? By the things they do for other people, they have become well known.

There's Aaron Meek, principal of one of the city's four ward schools. He has been mentioned a number of times. Bunny Shultz, popular for his social activities, including barbershoping, is mentioned. Others are J. C. Daniels, Miss Lois Barrett, M. K. Brown, Hecelyn Laycock, Frank Stallings, Mrs. Ruby Capps, the Rev. Douglas Carver, Mrs. M. F. A football banquet honoring the 1948 Harvesters football team will be held January 6, it was decided at a Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee meeting this morning.

Tickets for the banquet will go on sale shortly after Christmas.

Trial of DWI Case Postponed

The non-jury trial of George T. Morehead, Amarillo, charged by Highway Patrolmen at McLean with driving while intoxicated, was postponed this morning.

Morehead was picked up Friday night on Highway 273, about six miles north of McLean.

He was placed under $500 bond by County Judge Sherman White when he entered a plea of not guilty and the trial date set for today.

In the meantime, County Attorney E. J. Parker said, Morehead employed counsel and demanded a jury trial.

The case was set for next week's session of County Jury Court.

Frank B. Noyes, Pioneer AP Journalist, Succumbs

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Frank B. Noyes, 85, one of America's pioneer newspaper leaders, died today.

Noyes, who helped organize the Present Associated Press and served 38 years as its first president, had been in failing health for some time. But until last winter he had taken an active hand in the management of the Washington Evening Star, as its president and chairman of the board of directors.

A practicing journalist for more than 60 years, Noyes actually began his newspaper career at the age of six—selling extras upon President Grant's first inauguration.

The years that followed saw him rise to the top in the Washington and Chicago newspaper fields, with national prominence resulting from his contributions to the Associated Press.

When Noyes retired as AP president in 1928, he was reelected by acclamation to the board of directors, on which he continued active service until April 21, 1947.

Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, who succeeded Noyes as AP president, said his manifold services to the organization "will remain as an individual to newspapers."

Noyes died at his residence here at 140 A. M. (EST). Funeral services have not been announced.

His wife, the former Janet Thurston Newbold, died in 1942, and their three children, Newbold Noyes, Mrs. Edward H. Hart and Mrs. Ethel Noyes Lewis, also are dead. The following grandchildren survive: Newbold Noyes, Jr., Noyes, Thomas E. Noyes, Janet Hart Golden, Ann Hart and Willmot Lewis, Jr.

Throughout his journalistic career Noyes stressed above all that individual to newspapers.

Noyes must tell the news impartially. He was a leader in the departure from the personal bias which characterized the news which characterized the (See FRANK, Page 10)

Watches Are Given Blind Residents

Braille watches that indicate the time by raised numerals were presented yesterday afternoon to C. C. Veach and Tommy L. Hammond, both blind men, by representative of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The watches, donated by Zale's Jewelry, were given on behalf of the Jaycees by Parks Brumley, Abe Dushan, and Don Foster.

Veach operates the candy stand in the lobby of the Postoffice, and Hammond formerly owned the candy and popcorn stand next to the Rex Theater, 318 W. Foster.

After the Jaycee luncheon meeting yesterday noon in the Palm Room of the City Hall, an engraved, gold mounted gavel in commemoration of his last year's work as president of the club was presented to Jack L. Nimmo.

Twelve vacancies on the club's Board of Directors were filled by ballot yesterday, but the results will not be announced until next week's meeting.

The top five men will fill two-year posts; the next two will serve for one year to fill staggered vacancies caused by resignations or transfers; the last five will serve as alternates.

An election board of Floyd Watson, Frank Pala, and Lee Cramer will have the results tabulated and certified in time for announcement next week.

Breakfast will be served in the Palm Room at 7:30 a. m. Sunday for those men who will erect

Medina County Bats, Drafted for War, Cheated of Service by the Atom Bomb

HONDO, Tex. —(P)— Listen to the strange story of Medina County bats, how they were conscripted for a secret role in World War II, only to be cheated out of service by the atom bomb.

For a long time the secret was kept as dark as the Frio and Ney Caves near here, where the bats lived in peace until the war came.

Of course they were signed up in the Air Corps, no less.

Hondo learned of the bats when F. Alton Everest of the Moody Bible Institute came here to look over the two caves as a possible scene for a religious movie.

He's interested in bats. He's studied them. That's how he happened to learn of the part South Texas bats were designed to play in winning the war.

The other, he said, made elaborate plans to use them as flying wings for powerful incendiary bombs to destroy the Japanese war industries.

Military strategists were ready to strap the bombs on the bats and send them overseas. Then came the A-bomb. The bat bomb went out.

The Army, after attaching the bombs to the bats, planned to freeze them, ship them by air to the Japanese islands and drop them out over major targets.

As the bats came nearer the warmer air close to the ground, they would begin to thaw and fly around until a time fuse ran out, exploding the bomb and scattering fire in all directions. It was suicide for the bats.

Experiments were carried out at the Air Force base here. Most of the bats, ready to give their lives to their country, came from the Frio and Ney Caves. The experiments proved successful.

An unused airbase in New Mexico was used as an experimental target.

The "batting" average was high. The place was left in charred ruins.

Dogs Legally Partake Of Many Human Rights

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK —(P)— There are those who say dogs came to their present position in society through hand-licking and flattery.

This is a wicked lie. The literature of dogs is loaded with actions of courage and loyalty, and history proves them closer to man than any other animal.

Dogs give him companionship and devotion. They wear their hearts in their eyes. They accept constant neglect without recrimination.

I wish I could explain how dogs got that way.

Once I knew a red terrier who followed his master into suicide. He jumped off a building. There was a setter whose heart broke, and he died, when the man who owned him never came home from a duck hunt. Ever hear of a cow grieving to death?

Five years ago in Sicily a dog named Chips, a mongrel in the Army's K-9 Corps, won a silver star by capturing an enemy machinegun nest. He leaped for the gunner's throat, and the gunner, suddenly very white, threw down his gun and surrendered. Three others threw up their hands.

general recommended Chips for the distinguished service cross.

After that, the War Department said medals couldn't be given to dogs. But Chips got his. They riveted it to his collar.

Later, when eight other K-9s were killed in the Southwest Pacific, the Army posthumously awarded them certificates "for outstanding performance of duty."

Having risen from the status of a beast of the field, without any rights, dogs now legally partake of many of the rights of humans.

They can be brought into some courts and tried as criminals, as in the recent case of a dog named "Scout," who was tried, convicted and executed for biting people.

There are no federal laws affecting dogs in the United States, but most states have passed specific laws for their protection. Mistreatment of dogs everywhere is punishable by imprisonment and fines. Only recently a man in New York was sent to jail for 180 days for torturing a dog.

Twenty-two large U. S. cities now have television stations.

Scientists Ask if New Weapons Should Be Made

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —(P)— Scientists are arguing among themselves about making deadly weapons of war. Should they or shouldn't they make them?

Some of the argument has appeared from time to time in the past year in a monthly magazine called the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

Scientists who helped make the atomic bomb have been among the leaders trying to make the government and the people realize its full terror.

They have urged international control over the bomb and an end to war.

But what should a scientist do about working on a new deadly weapon for his country?

That's where the argument begins and some of it, in rough form, is given in what follows:

A scientist's job is to do the best work he can as a scientist. Having done that, he turns over the fruit of his work to society—it might be a new superbomb—and lets society decide what to do with it.

Suppose his handwork is able to wipe out half of mankind. It's still the responsibility of society to decide whether to use it or destroy it. It's not his responsibility to decide how it's used. But he does have some responsibility, because he is a member of that society.

Responsibility for a deadly weapon should begin with a scientist himself. He's shirking it by leaving the final decision to society.

Therefore, he should refuse to take part in making deadly weapons.

But is this really right? Can a man who makes a knife be considered responsible if someone else

Another Standby Vanished From Hollywood Scene

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD —(P)— Another landmark has vanished from the Hollywood scene. Groucho Marx's painted mustache.

The famed swath of grease has disappeared from Groucho's pan. In its place is a home grown Anthony Eden-like brush with which the comic appears quite happy.

"It might open new possibilities for me," he commented. "Who knows, next season I might play Othello."

The old grease mustache helped to bring him to fame, but it became a monster to Groucho's ambitions to play fairly legitimate roles, he said.

"I couldn't play with real actors when I had it on," he complained. It gave an unreal quality to any scene I would be in.

Groucho's enthusiasm for the new brush stems from the fact that he doesn't like making Marx Brothers pictures. Ask him how he feels about them and you get a reaction that makes you believe he was properly tagged through a lot of strenuous physical labor and spend all your time worrying about new routines and writing half the dialogue.

Then ask him about his pictures alone, such as his current "It's Only Money."

"It's burglary. I almost feel ashamed to take the money. You're handed a script and all you have to do is read the lines."

New Groundwork Is Laid In Italy by Communists

By JOHN FISHER

Keep an eye on Italy as a new field for Russian-instigated pressure against American efforts to bolster Europe.

Italian Communists in France have been successful in disrupting the nation's economy through the coal strike and thereby undoing some of the helpful effects of E.R.P. Now the trouble-making Kremlin is nudging Palmiro Togliatti to sabotage Italian recovery. Acting on orders from the Moscow masters, the Central Committee of the Italian Communist Party has just announced a winter campaign of agitation against several features of the Marshall Plan.

American funds are used to increase production of goods for export so that eventually Italy may become economically independent. The Reds demand that this money be diverted to direct welfare relief. They also advocate no dismissals in industry, continued rent control, increased pensions, unemployment doles and other issues aimed at popular support.

POLITICAL STRIKES — American observers from Rome report that Togliatti's gang threatens that in the event Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi rejects its ultimatum, it will renew the political strikes which actively injured agriculture and industry last summer, disturbances similar to those by which the Communists now are trying to ruin France.

Italian editors already fear that the de Gasperi cabinet will spread to Italy. One of Rome's largest papers says: "Sparks from fires on a neighbor's land blow onto another's property according to the wishes of the Russian fire-breather. de Gasperi is said to have been in consultation with Jules Moch, iron-fisted French minister of the interior, who stamped out mob violence that was approaching civil war."

Many Americans from the distance assume that the sweeping victory of the Christian Democrats and their allies in the April national elections has crushed the Reds. The blow did rock the Communist Party on its heels. The Moscow crowd has made no progress in city and town elections since.

But the de Gasperi cabinet has been so slow in finding economic outlets that it has given Red opportunists plenty of issues with which to stir up discontent. Promised agrarian reforms have not been carried out. Workers are not satisfied with the Saragat Socialist plan for the government. The rich seem to be growing richer and the poor, poorer. More than two million are jobless.

MOORE UNEMPLOYMENT — Marshall Plan economists threaten to increase the number of unemployed by dismissing 200,000 persons from Italy's overstaffed factories to enable industry to cut costs and turn out goods at prices low enough to interest exporters.

But the jobs are being cut little by little. The Marshall Plan's first effect is to cut workers from a pay roll. Naturally the Reds will approve by denouncing the Marshall Plan.

Even before this, Togliatti had started a long road to public favor. Immediately after his defeat in the spring elections he commenced an overhauling of party machinery.

His first steps were the training of party cadres and the raising of their ideological level. A loosely organized training system with three-month courses had been initiated at the close of the war. But graduates did not have a clear grasp of Marxist-Leninist theory. In general, minor leaders were against capitalists but were inclined to follow traditional socialism and did not believe that the "class struggle" should be violent form.

Since the April election training schools have been keyed to turn out fanatical Communists whose first allegiance is to Moscow and who are not squeamish about sabotaging property and spilling blood. These firebrands measure up to the enormous responsibilities that have fallen upon them. He has a change now to use all group prejudice or group selfishness.

American Democracy Versus French Democracy

In the last issue I quoted from Edna Lonigan's article, "Democracy and the Republic" in the November issue of Plain Talk. This article attempts to show the difference between the two meanings of democracy. I want to quote further from this splendid article.

In the last issue the author told how the people came to America to get rid of tyrannical and controlling government. I quote "The philosophy invented by the growing classes to help them in their struggle was the philosophy of individualism. When Jefferson said that all men were created equal, he did not mean that they were of the same height, or had the same abilities. He meant that they ought to start equal without any hereditary privileges or disabilities, special advantages or favored rank and division of labor. They were neither lords nor serfs, but persons. Burns put it: 'The rank is but the guinea's stamp. A man's a man for all that.'"

"American democracy has then a very real meaning. It meant and still means the absence of privilege, especially privilege for the few, obtained through law or government. Success was based on the ability or effort to good under our democracy, but any step by which individual advantages are converted into hereditary privileges or legal rights for a few of the favored class is a step toward the loss of our democratic faith."

"The founders knew that attempts would be made again and again to set up new privileged classes. They refused to create a nobility or a large army, or even a special organization of officers, like the Revolutionary Army, like the Cincinnati, because they were mortally afraid of the rise of privileged groups."

"A detailed White House study of the returns convinces several Truman aides that their boss is doing a good job. On whether the expected support of the agricultural population.

Labor worked hard and did a good job of getting out the urban vote for the President, but he had that block of ballots in his pocket, anyway because of his veto of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Even with the majorities which the unions rolled up for him in the cities, Mr. Truman would have lost if Governor Dewey had polled even a decent vote in the normally rural, Republican areas.

INTERESTS — Factory and farm interests will collide in the next Congress on many issues. Although the C. I. O.'s economic program calls for a high income for the producers of food, labor spokesmen favor the more flexible measure providing for lower parity prices after 1949.

Almost every House member friendly to labor voted for repeal of federal taxes on oleomargarine at the last session. And most re-elected M. C.'s from agrarian areas clamor for retention of the Taft-Hartley Act.

There never has been and there is not now, a community of political and economic interest between labor and agriculture on Capitol Hill. When they vote alike, as they did on behalf of President Truman, it is for entirely different reasons.

RACE — Labor's anti-agricultural race for President Truman's ear and favor explains the peculiar behavior of William Green and Philip Murray since November 2. These don't want the man in the White House to get any false notions that he owes his triumph to any element except the unions. They suspect that he regrets his first, rash utterance of thankfulness to the man in the White House.

In their private talks with CIO President Murray and with John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, Mr. Green's A. F. of L. emissaries have emphasized the argument that, if they want to capitalize to the full on November 2, they must unite their now squabbling organizations.

To put it bluntly, they want to mobilize their combined 15,000,000 membership, counting independent unions, so that they can "gang up" against the White House and Congress.

REUNION — Labor claims to have defeated 88 men who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, but there are still enough Republicans and conservative Democrats to override a bill for outright repeal of the law.

Only by presenting a united "labor front," Mr. Green maintains, can enough members be frightened so stiff that they will vote for scrapping the measure.

These bread-and-butter considerations seem to provide practical reasons for a consolidation of the three separate units. There was never greater need or a better

PENTAGON GOVERNMENT

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

Armed Forces Talks, a periodical pamphlet which issues ideas to soldiers as the quartermaster issues overcoats, discusses the problem of bringing stability to western Europe in a recent issue. It tells how Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands have formed a defensive alliance against Russia and says this alliance is a "contingent" American aid in the form of military equipment.

In other words, the army wants a revived lend-lease on top of the Marshall plan gifts to western Europe power on top of the 15 billion dollar defense budget fixed by President Truman for the coming year. The theory is that European conscripts, armed with American weapons, would hold off the Russian hordes until our conscripts could be rushed into the breach.

Whether it would work out that way is highly debatable. It is even more doubtful that this country could stand the economic strain of a revived lend-lease. In any event, the problem is one to be decided by congress, not by the army.

By transmitting one-sided arguments on foreign policy to its troops or the public, the army is going far beyond its proper function. Its business is to take orders from the civil government, not to be part of the government.

Under the New Deal, this basic American principle has gone by the boards.

The inconsistency of army propaganda is equally striking. For while the army prays for the troops that Russia is a peace-loving democracy. Now the doctrine is that Russia is a police state. Formerly the army taught that the united Nations is a peace-making organization. Armed Forces Talks now finds that the U. N. is ineffective, and therefore we must abandon our historic policy of avoiding military alliances with European powers.

A year ago we were told that if economic assistance were given Europe under the Marshall plan, military aid would be unnecessary. Now the army prays for the troops that we must equip the soldiers of western Europe and be ready to rush to their aid. Step by step, Americans are taught that everything must be subordinated to military necessity, and that economic aid is defined by the administration and its military advisers.

The drift has gone a long way and will not be stopped until congress reverts to its policy maker of our government. The armed forces must be put out of the propaganda business. The Capitol, and not the Pentagon building, is still the seat of authority in this country.

Success Secrets

By HENRY WHEELER

One of the biggest mistakes that a lot of us make it to take for granted that our own success in life must be wrested from someone else. We somehow feel that for us to "get what's coming to us" some one else must get less. But that old idea is being proved false and a lot of wide-awake business-people are waking up to the fact.

Competition is the very heart of our free enterprise system. But that does not mean that competition should be a cut-throat affair. We should compete to build a better product—to render a better service, but not with the idea of taking anything away from somebody else. True competition is motivated by the desire to GIVE MORE.

Garfield Weston, Chairman of the Weston's Limited, Toronto, Canada, is head of one of the largest banking groups in the world. When he began to export biscuits to England and acquired plants there, old established firms complained to him:

"Your low prices are putting us out of business. We can't compete with you without losing money."

Did Weston rub his hands gleefully at the prospect of putting his competitors out of business? No. Instead he told his competitors: "I have no desire to put you out of business. I want to help you. And if I were you, here is what I would do." He went on to tell them about his modern machinery and modern methods that would enable them to operate more efficiently.

Weston believes with the late Wendell Willkie that "acquiring wealth is a multiplying—not a dividing process."

A prosperous business depends upon a prosperous community—a prosperous nation. If you were rich and everyone else were poor you wouldn't be rich long. For your riches would cost you no good if no one else had money.

There's Way to Show Gratitude

Pampans should be grateful, indeed, for all the work being expended to make this a "warm Christmas" in our community. But like other good stories about great events, the truth can't be told because there are so many people working at all the little jobs that have to be done.

However, it is not too difficult for all of us to prove we appreciate what is being done and will be done.

In the spirit of Christmas joy and through the season. The big parade, with all its attendant activities, will be held on Nov. 8—that's just one week from now. When that is done, the Christmas season truly will have passed.

Let's all join in making this the biggest Christmas ever.

Who Elected Harry Truman

Ever since the election, some of the more prominent labor leaders have been claiming that the unions elected Mr. Truman. According to them, the biggest single issue was the Taft-Hartley Act.

They will take a good deal of proving to anyone who has made even a cursory examination of the final returns. Governor Dewey ran strongly in the industrial states, where the labor vote is proportionately largest and carried most of them. The President, on the other hand, did extremely well in the agricultural regions where organized labor amounts to a small minority of the population.

Arizona provides the most interesting example. Mr. Truman carried it easily. Yet, at the same time, the voters approved a measure outlawing the closed shop, that certainly looks as if the people want labor to hold the whip hand over the government of the people.

Mr. Truman does not owe his remarkable success to any group or any class. He was elected by labor or capital or agriculture or any other segment of the nation. He was elected by the American people, and he is the President of all the people. He doesn't even owe allegiance to the Democratic leaders—most of them deserted him when they thought his cause was lost, and he won in spite of these defections.

Harry E. Truman has a chance to go down in history as one of the great Presidents as a man who, when the world was torn between slavery and freedom, stood staunchly for the liberties of mankind, and was too big to admit allegiance to special interests of any kind. The whole civilized world hopes that he may

BUDGET BULGE BATTLE

by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) Something different in General Staff planning concepts is being considered for the new, unified National Defense establishment. It has grown out of the current Pentagon battle of the bulge—the budget bulge.

President Truman has set a $15,000,000,000 top on what the three armed services and the stockpiling program can spend next year. A three-man General Staff committee—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney for the Air Force, Gen. George J. Richards for the Army, and Vice Adm. R. B. Carney for the Navy—has just reconciled differences between the three services so that "they can all live within this budget and remain reasonably happy."

General McNarney has admitted that his experience on his committee has taught him an awful lot about the Navy he never knew before. Coming from an Air Force general who was deputy chief of staff to General Marshall during the war, this is quite a confession. It suggests that much of the sniping which the three services have been aiming at each other has been based on lack of information. It indicates that real unification of the armed services will make more headway when the boys get to know each other's problems better.

In the past, almost the only concern of the General Staff was strategic planning and training. It didn't bother much about having a strong civilian economy behind the military to support it in peace as well as in war. The idea dominant in the military mind was that the job of the civilian economy was to give the military everything it needed, in a hurry, and never mind the expense.

That attitude led to some pretty nasty battles in Washington during the last war. It kept War Production Board scrapping the military services and it kept the Truman War Investigating Committee and the Senate criticizing them both.

It is now beginning to be realized that this was bad. As a result, General Staff planning is now being directed along four main lines, instead of just one. The four are: 1. Strategic planning and operations of military forces. 2. International politics—meaning a better understanding and a better carrying out of U. S. foreign policy objectives. 3. Fiscal policy—meaning an ability to operate the military establishment within a budget that the country can maintain without hardship. 4. Domestic economy—meaning operation within the limits of civilian production capacity to support both the military and the home front.

If this four-way approach to military planning is carried to its logical conclusion, it could mean that the General Staff of the future must have at top levels not only professional soldiers and sailors, but also diplomats and economists who are just as expert in their fields as the fighting fellows are in theirs.

In the past it has been assumed that this civilian leaning was furnished by the secretaries of Defense, Air, Army and Navy. It is now recognized that there are not enough of these cabinet and sub-cabinet officers to exercise the necessary restraints on the military minds.

TRIMMED — This specific problem which McNarney-Richards-Gen. Edson Staff sub-committee has had to wrestle with has been the paring down and division of estimated defense needs from an original $30,000,000,000 to the President's $15,000,000,000 limit.

This latter figure does not include estimates for helping arm Western European nations with more military aid to China. The $15,000,000,000 figure was apparently obtained by subtracting an estimated total of 29,000,000,000 for all non-military government expenditures from the estimated $44,000,000,000 government receipts for next year, under existing tax laws. To have gone over the $15,000,000,000 figure would throw the government in the red.

When Secretary Forrestal was in Europe recently, he discussed the possibility of deficit financing with military leaders there. Gen. Walter B. Smith, ambassador to Moscow, was of the opinion that deficit financing should make no difference—that whatever had to be spent for adequate defense had to be spent.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor in Berlin, who has serious economic and political problems of his own in running the German economy, took the other view. Clay's position was that it would be bad for the country as a whole if the budget area was unbalanced and the country resorted to deficit financing.

This difference in approach to this year's military budget question illustrates the change that must come over General Staff thinking. The "shoot the works and never mind the cost" attitude of the war, in which most of today's General Staff officers were trained, has to be replaced by consideration for economic facts of life.

I want to express my wholehearted thanks and appreciation for the consideration and fairness shown by your staff in your paper during the recent United States Senatorial campaign.

It is only through such papers as The Pampa News, staffed by men of your caliber, that the citizens of Texas are properly informed as to the news of their state and nation.

In retrospect, one of the most pleasant phases of the entire campaign will be my recollection of "Spencer" contributions to your paper during the campaign.

Well, I now believe that the presidency of the United States is the most powerful office in the world. I see while Mr. Truman is living in Blair House, a special traffic light flashes red in all directions at once to stop traffic while he is crossing the street between his residence and his office. This is undoubtedly the first time in history that a pedestrian has been given a fighting chance for his life.

I've been thinking seriously of installing a private traffic-light system in our house to regulate the bathroom traffic in the morning. And a special red light that flashed "Stop" when George was sneezing around the icebox or getting ready to drop cigar ashes on the rug also might come in handy.

Dear me, I wish we could teach Russia something about traffic lights, too. The United States keeps trying to set up "Stop" signals to give the smaller nations a chance to get out of the traffic jam, but the Red keep acting as though "Red" means "Go" all the time.

In Hollywood

By ESKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — All the major studios are piling up backlog of Technicolor films with all-star casts. Color and name stars, the movie barons have decided, are Hollywood's answer to the competition of television.

McGraw-Hill has many color films as black and white for the first time in its history.

Janis Paige is feuding with her agent. Janis says she is not only getting nowhere, she's happening too fast.

By the way of squelching rumors that he's broke, George Raft just bought the Desert Retreat, one of the better hotels in Palm Springs.

Recovery note: UB has signed five new faces and one new body. The latter belongs to Pat Hall, the model I helped crown as the girl with "the world's most beautiful legs."

WHY DUCHESS? — A certain English duchess, who went absolutely berserk about a Hollywood star, has raised London's royal eyebrows to a new high. She's making plans to come to California to be near him and, as of now, tremendous pressure is being exerted to keep the lady home in jolly old England for the sake of sweet propriety.

Opera star Rita Stevens has given up the ghost so far as a Hollywood career is concerned. She sold her home to Lex Barker and is returning to East to live.

TuneSmiths Lester Lee and Allen Roberts have signed a deal with MGM to star in a picture called Lauren Bacall Rhumba. "Honest."

Dick Haymes keeps telling his manager, Bill Burton, that he'd like to do a Dick Powell and Kirby, who co-stars with Sonja Heine in "The Countess of Monte Cristo," is due for a big Hollywood build-up when she completes her skating tour with Sonja. He's giving up the skates for grass paint.

FIXED GAME — Jimmy Stewart was at the plate rehearsing a scene for "The Stratton Story." Four times the pitcher, a well-known big league player, heaved the ball and four times Jimmy smacked it into the outfield. "Not bad," I said.

Replied Jimmy: "The pitcher was told to place the ball over a certain spot on the plate and if I hadn't hit them he would have been fired."

Promised and hoped for: Eve Arden warbling a cowboy ditty while Diana Lynn tickles the keys in "Bitter Victory." It's the first time Eve has had a chance to sing since she starred on Broadway in the Ziegfeld Follies.

Gene Kelly is becoming the disc jockey's darling as a result of his new record album, "Song and Dance Man." "Yeh, it was released to tie up with 'The Three Musketeers'."

Censor trouble on the set of "Neptune's Daughter." The bathing suits on the chorus cuties (and the swimsuits on the set) department for strategic stitching.

Note on fame: The entire third grade of the Gartfield school in Maywood, Ill., wrote to Roy Rogers asking for his photograph. When he obliged, the teacher wrote a note of thanks and added: "Your picture is now hanging on the wall in the spot usually occupied by Longfellow or Shakespeare."

ages of the recent conflict and to move forward to higher levels of civilized existence.

—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Never again. Never, never again.

—Kathleen Winsor, when asked if she is writing another "Forever Amber."

Air Force's Newest "Flying Boxcar" Carries Payload in Attack

In its first public demonstration and test flight at Mercer Airport, Trenton, N. J., the U. S. A. F.'s new YC-122, better known as the "Flying Boxcar," gave spectators a thrill as it went through its paces. Shown in inset, above, the huge cargo plane has a gross weight of about 30,000 pounds, is 53 feet, 4 inches long, and has an 86-foot, 3-inch wingspan. Its two 1350-h.p. engines give it a top speed of 250 miles per hour, with a ceiling of 25,000 feet. The YC-122 can carry 30 fully-equipped soldiers, as at left, or five tons of materiel. At right, a weapons carrier is backed into the plane's yawning cargo hatch.

'DOIN' OKAY, AIN'T WE, DOC?'—Recuperating in Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago, from an operation to correct a "blue baby" condition, two-year-old Margaret DaBore, of Danville, Ill., registers skepticism at Nurse Betsy Huseboe's attempt to feed a cloth carrot to a Bugs Bunny doll.

ON TRIAL — Elsworth "Sonny" Wisecarver, 19, faces grim realities behind bars in the Los Angeles County Jail, where he gave himself up to clear his estranged wife, the former Betty Zoe Reber, said she would come back to him if he would "make something of himself." Wisecarver, booked as an escapee, fled from the California Youth Authority Camp in 1946.

'NO PLACE LIKE CAT HOLLOW, KY. — "Grandma" Sprouse, 77, of Cat Hollow, Ky., believes that her home town is the "only civilized place left in the world." Mrs. Sprouse put Cat Hollow on the map in 1946 when she married Delbert Sprouse, 18. Since then she's visited several large Eastern cities, including New York, where a trip to Coney Island confirmed her belief that the end of the world is not only coming, but "we're into it a right smart piece." The happy Sprouses are pictured on a visit to Columbia, Ohio.

SOME JUICER! — If you plan to give "something for the house" at Christmas, how about this "fruit juicer?" It will have to be a big-house, though, because the "juicer" is really a 60-ton "masdie valve" built by Westinghouse to help the Friant Dam control the flow of millions of gallons of water to irrigate orchards and vineyards near Fresno, Calif.

HERE'S 'ROCKET-EYE VIEW' OF U. S., FROM MEXICO TO WYOMING—These two photographs show what is believed to be the largest section of the earth to be photographed within a short time. Under direction of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance, they were taken by automatic sequence cameras installed in rockets launched within 76 minutes of each other at the White Sands Proving Grounds, Las Cruces, N. M. Despite the rockets' speed of about 2,700 miles an hour and their altitude, up to 70 miles, the pictures are clear. Easily identifiable landmarks are indicated in type on the photos. The upper photo is a mosaic picture of pictures taken from a V-2 rocket, over 60 miles high. The distance along the horizon has been calculated at about 2,700. From camera to the horizon is about 700 miles. The total land area visible is approximately 800,000 square miles. The lower mosaic, taken from a Navy Aerobee rocket, was shot from about 70 miles up. It shows a strip of some 1,400 miles of terrain, stretching from upper Wyoming to deep in Mexico, taking in about 300,000 square miles. Each camera took more than 200 "snaps" at one and a half second intervals. Pieced together, these give the "rockets-eye" views.

BGK Plans Sale For Benefit of Boys' Ranch

Saturday, Dec. 4, is the date the BGK Club has set for the rummage sale it is conducting in an effort to provide a more cheery Christmas for one or more of the youngsters at Boys' Ranch.

Officials of the ranch have announced the size of the contribution one may give that will outfit one of the boys in what he wants and needs most. Since the suits the boys received last year are still good, this year's gift to each boy will include various other articles of clothing such as blue jeans, woolen shirts, socks and shoes.

Mrs. Bob Duket, chairman of the committee, said the sale will be held from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the old Borden's Ice Cream building. Members of the club will be on hand to assist customers.

Besides a large assortment of articles ranging from household goods to articles of clothing in the rummage sale, a White Elephant sale will also be held. It will include vases and various other bric-a-brac.

EDITOR'S NOTE:
 All society stories, including calendar items, must be in the hands of the editor by 4 p. m. on the day preceding publication. Stories for Sunday are acceptable any time during the week, Friday noon being the deadline for the larger news stories and 4 p. m. the deadline for routine Sunday stories.

Calendar items should be turned in a week or more in advance if possible. All stories, except those waiting for pictures, over one week old, will not be accepted for publication. (They should be turned in the day of the meeting or the next day.)
 When listing the names of married women, use the husband's name, not her first name. Always indicate whether it is Miss or Mrs. and always turn in the complete name, NOT just Mrs. Jones. Such names cannot be printed.

Your automatic washer uses up from 20 to 30 gals. of hot water while you are washing for a half hour to an hour. Because of its "quick recovery" an automatic gas water heater keeps well ahead of such increased hot water demands in the home.

Leftover sandwiches can be well wrapped in wax paper and damp towel and put in the refrigerator. Next day take them out, spread with melted butter or margarine and toast under the broiler flame.

Corduroy play clothes and towels need not be ironed when dried in an automatic gas dryer. Just take them out when faintly damp, and smooth with the hands.

Predecessors of modern British restaurants were coffee houses and taverns, which had a daily "ordinary"—a dinner or supper served at a common table and generally for a fixed price.

KITCHEN MEMO

Hot weather is no time to fuss about meals. Introduce cool King Neptune salad with a hot soup, supplement salad and soup with nourishing wheat toast wafers, add iced tea and ice cream and you have a simple evening supper. For the salad, combine one 12-oz. can flaked tuna fish (1 1/2 cups), 1/4 cup diced celery, 1 cup diced cucumber and 1 1/2 tsp. grated onion. Mix 1 tbsp. lemon juice, 1/2 tsp. catsup, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, add to tuna fish mixture, season with salt and pepper, toss lightly, chill. Wash 6 tomatoes, remove stem, chill. Cut tomatoes into fourths, petal fashion, only about two-thirds, enough to spread petals. Stuff with fish mixture. Serve on crisp salad greens. Serves 4.

Irish lullaby by Morton Downey. West opened with the jack of hearts, and when East played the king, South won the trick with the ace.

South now decided to try to set up the fourth spade in dummy for the ninth trick. He played the ace and king of spades and led a small spade. East won this with the nine-spot, cashed the queen of spades, and led a small heart. Now South could not make his contract.

He would have had an extra chance to make it if he had guessed the right play, which was to set up the fourth club in dummy. If either opponent held the blank queen or jack of clubs, or the queen and one club, or jack and one club, then the nine of clubs in dummy would have been promoted into the extra trick needed to make the contract.

* WE, THE WOMEN

BY
 MILLETT
 NEA Staff Writer

At last a woman has reached the United States Senate under her own steam and everybody seems completely surprised. A few years from now such a triumph for a woman may not be surprising at all. For Margaret Chase Smith has marked the trail.

Never again should it be quite so hard for a woman to battle her way alone to the Senate.

There are plenty of intelligent, hard-working, keen-minded women in the country who can ask themselves: "What has Margaret Chase Smith got that I haven't got?" and get a reassuring reply. WHAT'S SHE GOT?

Mrs. Smith hasn't youth. She's a silver-haired 50.
 Mrs. Smith doesn't have a string of college degrees. She started to work as soon as she finished high school.

Mrs. Smith hasn't a husband. Like so many of the country's middle-aged women she is a widow.

Mrs. Smith hasn't an impressive family background. Her father was a barber and she early started earning her own money.

What Mrs. Smith has, apparently, besides a good mind and a keen interest in politics, is a combination of qualities many women possess. She has a pleasing personality. She likes meeting people and turning acquaintances into friends. And she isn't afraid of hard work.

And now that those qualities have taken one woman to the Senate, there's no reason why they can't take more women there.

The location of the nesting grounds of the whooping crane, North America's rarest and tallest bird, is still a mystery despite intensive search by prominent biologists.

Boyle Elects To Pass Up Christmas

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—An open letter to Santa Claus: "What do I want for Christmas? Nothing at all this year, Nick. Yep, that's the whole list—Nothing. Nothing at all. Don't even bother to slam on your brakes when the reindeer nosh by my chimney. Because I ain't even going to bother to hang up my stockings. I know this will come as a slight shock to you. It did to me, too. Usually my Christmas list—whether you can fill it or not—is longer than a horse player's face at twilight. But this year it's another story. It isn't that I have any complaint on the service you've given in the past. And I haven't lost faith in you, Santa, old pal. Me and little Virginia—we'll always believe in you. "So this year when my Ozark neighbor said, 'Write Santa Claus what you want,' I suddenly found myself stumped. For the life of me I couldn't think of anything I wanted. I told her so. "Why that's impossible," she said. "Everybody wants something for Christmas. "How about a half dozen nice white shirts?" "It was three years ago I wanted white shirts," I reminded her. "Now I don't like white shirts." "How about a new suit?" "The only suit I want is one with a double breasted coat, vest and two pairs of pants. But they don't make any like that anymore. So I don't want a suit for Christmas." "Neckties? Books? Nope. I haven't worn out the books or read all the neckties I got last year. A new car? Nope, again. It's easier to raise a kid in New York than it is to keep an automobile clean and happy. "I got most of the gadgets essential to civilized life—a ballpoint fountain pen that won't write, a cigaret lighter that won't light, an unbreakable wrist watch that's being repaired. "What else is there? Don't want a new silk robe or a fancy electric razor. Still have the old red wool robe and the cheap black plastic razor the Army gave me five years ago. Still like 'em, too. Still like my old Army shoes, for that matter. Guess, if there's another war, I'll get another pair free. "Nope, Santa, there's no use in me trying any more. I can't think to save me, of a single thing I want for Christmas."

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Madame Chiang Kai-shek's unofficial mission to the United States—presumably to make an urgent plea for further American aid to her hard-hit country—has evoked little enthusiasm in Washington. The brilliant first lady of China naturally is being received with every courtesy due her high position. Moreover, she is to be the house guest of Secretary of State and Mrs. Marshall. However, Madame Chiang's sensational trip strikes American diplomatic circles as savoring a bit too much of high-pressure tactics, especially since it follows so closely on the Generalissimo's direct appeal to President Truman for more help—and quick. The whole problem is, of course, a matter of earnest discussion between Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall. It would have been more discreet if Nanking had held its hand until the President and the secretary of state had a chance to thresh the matter out. Still, I think that in fairness we must recognize Madame Chiang's trip is impelled by a situation which is so chaotic that China's very life must seem to its harassed government to be at stake. The Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek is in danger of going down for the third time. Things look grim for the Nationalists in the great battle with the Chinese Communists in the Suchow sector, which is the gateway to the national capital of Nanking—the gateway to all Central China, for that matter. If we find Generalissimo Chiang an obstinate and persistent fellow, I think we must remember that those are the very qualities which have enabled him to wage war for seventeen long years, first against the Japanese and then against the Chinese Communists. As for Madame Chiang, she has the reputation of being a genius at driving a bargain.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—Vic Marzillo is a little guy with a big peevish. He also has a heavy-weight named Mello Bettina and a beautiful flow of what passes for the English language. The combination is terrific. It seems you cornered Vic, it seems you cornered Mello, it seems you cornered Bettina. Jersey Joe Walcott out of retirement but couldn't actually manage Joe because he also was a promoter. In the course of events he found he no longer had anything to do with Walcott. "I took him when he actually had cardboard in his windows," Marzillo protests. "What hurts was that he never put in a word for me. When I had Jersey Joe I turned down Bettina because I didn't think Walcott could lick him. Now I know he can't and I want to be a stumbling block for Walcott."

"Mello is 32," Marzillo mused, "but he's no older than the other guy fighting now. The fight writers look at me kinda funny when I talk about him, but they also looked at me funny when I brought the other guy up from Camden."

DON'T STOP YET
Marzillo also is a leader of the anti-television group in the boxing managers' guild. "You here's how he sees it: 'You have a guy fighting at the Park Arena and he gets maybe a hunter from the television. It's a cold, snowy night so nobody goes to see the fight. They go over to the tavern and watch it on television. The next day they meet you on the street and say: 'I seen your boy last night. Vic, and he didn't look very good.'"

LAST WORD
Bill Veck, Cleveland Indians prexy, was asked if he ever had thought of buying back round Pat Seery from the White Sox. "No," Bill replied emphatically. "Sure Pat can hit for distance, but how long is a guy supposed to wait between swats?"

Doak Walker Leads Backs

By TED SMITH
AP General Sports Editor
NEW YORK—(AP)—Despite college football's continued trend in 1948 towards subordinating the individual to the team, heroic performers stood out across the land to constitute The Associated Press All-American.

But unlike All-Americans of recent years, no college in 1948 contributes more than one man to the first eleven, not even those great power teams, Michigan and Notre Dame.

Three 1947 first team men are back—Bill Fischer of Notre Dame at tackle; Chuck Bednarik of Pennsylvania at center; and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in the backfield.

Geographically the All-American reflects the Middle West's domination of the sport. Four from the first team come from that area, two from the East, two from the south, two from the South Coast, and one from the Pacific Coast.

TWO PLATOON SYSTEM
Sharp argument this year over besting All-American honors centered on the merit of recognizing men who played only offense or defense under the spreading "two platoon" system.

Separate defensive and offensive All-American first teams were proposed. Should the present cleavage widen this could become a possibility. For the present, however, to deny acclaim to men such as Justice, Rifenburg and Stuart merely because they were used primarily on offense seems unfair.

All are great enough athletes to play defense if needed.

Leading the first team backfield are probably the only genuine, dyed-in-the-wool triple-threat all-around performers left in this day of specialists. Charlie Justice of North Carolina, a 165-pounder, is a substitute, and Doak Walker of SMU, three pounds heavier. Both run, pass, and punt—and block and tackle as well, when necessary.

Justice, a 24-year-old Junior, who was in the Navy during the war and is married and the father of a young son, is modest off field, but a terror on it.

Art Murakowski, on the other hand, gains ground through terrific speed and strength. This 185-pound powerhouse of Northwestern's backfield splits opposing lines wide open, and once in the clear he cannot be hauled down. He plays both offense and defense.

Dancing of Texas is Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, a 21-year-old Junior. "He is one of the greatest players of all time in the Southwest, matches smartness and courage against power," says his coach, Matly Bell.

Fourth member of the first team backfield is a solid, hard-running successor to Glenn Davis at West Point—Bobby Stuart, five feet, eleven inches and 175 pounds. He has to his distinction one of the longest of all touch-down runs—103 yards—an important factor in his team's 26-0 defeat of Pennsylvania.

At the end is the star of one of the nation's great teams—Dick Rifenburg of Michigan. He is a six foot, three inch, 197-pound Senior, the standout on a squad where the level was so high that individual merit often was lost.

In Big Nine conference play, the toughest there is, he gained more than 300 yards on passes, scoring four touchdowns, and made 72 yards in ten end-around rushes.

SEVENTH YEAR FOR POOLE
At the other end is George Barney Poole, the same height as Rifenburg, but weighing 220 pounds. This is his seventh and last year of college football. He played one year as a Marine V-12 trainee at North Carolina, three at West Point with the great teams of 1944-46, and three at Mississippi.

At first team tackles are two giants. Leo Nomellini is six feet-two, 24 years old, 250 pounds. He served 18 months in the South Pacific in the Marines, and is a Junior at Minnesota. The heaviest lineman on the squad, he is great at recovering fumbles.

The other tackle is Bill Fischer, captain of the mighty Notre Dame team. He is 21 years old, six feet, two inches, and weighs 235 pounds. Fischer was too young for war service. He is playing his last year for the Irish.

At guard is the standout of Oklahoma's excellent team, Buddy Burris, 25, five feet, eleven inches, 210 pounds, a school business Senior. He served 36 months with the Army Engineers, and is tops as a blocker and on defense. He has not been hurt all season, bearing out Coach Bud Wilkinson's contention that a hustling player seldom is injured.

Opposite Burris on the All-American is Rod Franz, a Junior on California's undefeated team. He is 23 years old, six feet, one inch, 208 pounds, and hits so hard his shoulders are continuously bruised. Franz served in the Army Air Forces, wears contact lenses.

Charles (Chuck) Bednarik, Pennsylvania Senior and 1947 first team center, is back at his old position. He is 23 years old, six feet, one inch, 208 pounds, and hits so hard his shoulders are continuously bruised. Franz served in the Army Air Forces, wears contact lenses.

Attention Rule Makers
DETROIT—(AP)—Clarence (Biggie) Munn, Michigan State College football coach, has a new suggestion for the rule makers. Munn would have officials point out the offender on every infraction of the rules they detect on the field.

"If the rules called for officials to point out each offender there would be a lot less guessing out there on the field," he said last night.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What team did the U.S. Olympic basketball team defeat in the finals at London last August?

ABOUT DISTRICT 1-AA FOOTBALL: Coach Nooncaster came up with what Warmup figures is an excellent idea relative to next season's football. As most of you know the districts have been reamuffled and our district is composed of only four teams, Amarillo, Borger, Pampa and Plainview.

As Coach Nooncaster said, this means there will only be three conference games played by each team, and the loss of one game will practically knock a team out of contention for the championship.

To overcome this, he made this suggestion. Why not play a double round robin? That way each team would get a home and home game, and it would help fill up a 10 game schedule. That system is now employed in basketball and baseball, so why not in football? There is also more enthusiasm shown for conference games than for exhibition games, and this method would keep up the interest, not only from a spectator standpoint, but from the players as well.

When the boys know the game has a bearing on the title he will play much more determined ball.

There is Coach Nooncaster's idea for increasing football interest under the new district setup. Now it is up to the district officials to do something about it.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: To Jess Willard, who is 65 today, Marty Marion, who is 31 and to Cookie Lavagetto, who will have 34 candles on his cake.

DOTS AND DASHES: Lee May and John Hutchens were a help to their bowling team the other night. They managed to drag down 28 splits between them. Roy Parker says the only reason he didn't get caught in the baseball draft is because he was over at the telegraph office teaming up every telegram that came in drafting him—Coach Nooncaster offered to show Warmup the football movies from this season.

COOPER BOXES AT AMARILLO ON DEC. 17
The intercity boxing matches between an Amarillo team and the Cameron Aggies has been postponed until December 17, it was announced yesterday. The postponement was made necessary as the Oklahoma school will not return from Thanksgiving vacations for two more days. The bouts were originally scheduled for tonight.

Fighting with the Amarillo team will be welterweight Gene Cooper of Pampa, state amateur champion at that weight. His likely opponent will be Coy Holly, who is a former champion at that weight. He is a former champion at that weight. He is a former champion at that weight.

Southern Calif. Hoping for Upset Win Over Notre Dame

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Southern California's Trojans went about their football drills today, fully aware that mighty Notre Dame is headed this way and is heavily favored to take them apart here Saturday in the finale of the season for both elevens.

It will be the 20th meeting between the two in a series that began in the years of the late, great friendly rivals, Knute Rockne and Howard Jones, back in 1928.

Notre Dame is pointed for its 22nd consecutive victory, its 28th game without a loss—a victory string interrupted by that famous scoreless tie with Army in 1946. The tremendous part of the thing is that the game is a sell-out. More than 100,000 people will cram into Memorial Coliseum to see another great Irish eleven take on a Trojan team that has far more spirit than talent, an outfit that has been beaten by Ohio State, Oregon and California.

Last year it was recorded that the Trojans awaited the Irish much like condemned men awaiting the executioner. The observation drew caustic replies from Trojan rooters. One even wired that USC would upset the South Bend team.

Well, the execution took place, on schedule—38-7.

NFL and AAC Bidding High
NEW YORK—(AP)—A new dollar war is shaping up between the National Football League and the rival All America Conference in their bid for the cream of the 1948 college crop.

Spirited bidding is reported already under way on such stars as Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, Stan Heath of Nevada, Johnny Rauch of Georgia and Chuck Bednarik of Pennsylvania.

Both circuits, seeking to get the jump on the other, have held very hush-hush draft meetings. It has been learned reliably.

The All America player selection ceremony was staged in the middle of the summer and word of it was carefully guarded. The National held a secret session in Pittsburgh Nov. 15.

The Milwaukee Journal said yesterday the New York Yankees had offered Heath, Nevada's brilliant passer, $40,000 for two seasons.

Players reported drafted by the AAC include: Baltimore Colts—Dick Harris, Texas center.

San Francisco 49ers—Jim Winkler, Texas A & M tackle.

Los Angeles Dons—Jack Price, Baylor fullback.

In the National League, the Boston Yanks are said to have first shot at Doak Walker of Southern Methodist.

Public Links Golf
LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The dates of July 9-16 have been set for the 1948 National Public Links Golf Championship at Los Angeles' new Municipal Rancho Course.

Other men on the card will be Willie Hawkins, Alex Perez and Sam Hawkins.

(Continued from Page 1) The Christmas street decorations. Their wives are also invited. President Jim Arndt urged all Jaycees to report to the Palm Room as early as possible so that the work details can be arranged. More than 2,750 feet of light cord, containing 552 lights, will have to be put up, not counting the many thousands of feet of greenery and other decorations that have to be fastened to the light poles in the downtown area. Arndt also announced that the four highway signs, sponsored by the Jaycees to advertise Pampa to travelers, have been erected on the Clearfork, Wheeler, Borger, and Amarillo highways. Each sign, 34 by 12 feet, carries the slogan of Pampa and is lighted at night by reflections from passing headlights.

IT WON'T

(Continued from Page 1) these eyes. (Oriental traffic formerly moved on the left side of a street.) Besides the clogged stream of traffic, old women sell shoestrings and long underwear and plastic combs on the steps of skyscraper banks. Considering the hard times of the civil war, there are curiously few beggars about. Everybody acts as though he is working at some job, no matter how small. More often than not, the individual is his own boss, with a small stock of merchandise, frequently surplus goods which he sells in the atmosphere of a pitchman and hawk.

The city is, rindown, but thoroughly Chinese and it looks more crowded and busier than ever. Business may be highly inflated, but it is everywhere. The on-time Paris of the Orient may become a second Moscow, but the Communists can be sure of one thing it won't be easy.

The U. S. Hockey League is playing its fourth season this campaign.

Committee to Pick Officers

The Nominating Committee of the Pampa Girl Scout Association will meet at the City Hall at 4 p. m. today to decide the slate for the 1949 officers. Mrs. K. E. Thornton, executive of the association, said this morning.

ACCIDENT

(Continued from Page 1) season opened Monday. It will close Dec. 11. Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon and Wisconsin have reported record high totals of from 10 to 21 hunter deaths in recent years. The death toll is more than doubled by causes incident to hunting.

DIPLOMAT

(Continued from Page 1) command headquarters at Wulhik, midway between the two cities. He has a total combat force of about 40,000 troops. The airlift to Suichow was stopped by the garrison troops tardily heeded orders to hurry south to relieve the trapped forces.

Nanking urgently ordered the abandonment of Suichow five days ago. Because the order was not obeyed promptly, suspension of the airlift was regarded as a move to force the ground troops to get out and fight. And it means that no additional supplies will fall in to Communist hands if the Reds march into Suichow.

Nationalist warplanes were reported to have abandoned Suichow's dusty airfield. Capture of the field appeared imminent. Disorder bordering on panic at the airfield was reported by American pilots who tried unsuccessfully to land early today with the last load of supplies. They Group is trapped south of Suichow, 45 miles from Suichow. The big question now is whether the Suichow troops can reach these encircled forces by Gen. Huang Wei. It seemed certain the Reds would do everything they could to block the all-important movement. They have a relatively clear road to Nanking beyond the Suichow sector.

'GET TOUGH'

(Continued from Page 1) youngsters who do such things. They are taxpayers, in addition to being parents, and it is their tax money that is used to replace the equipment that their children tear up, he said.

Close records will be kept on all such young law violators and decidedly stricter methods will be used in dealing with habitual offenders.

"Juveniles," Judge White said, "who habitually violate the law can be declared 'delinquent' after a petition has been filed against them in juvenile court. They can be sent to the state reformatory."

This never happens, he added, to the first offender unless the offense is one that would involve a jail sentence if it were committed by an adult, such as an armed robbery, negligent homicide, murder, burglary or other felony.

Mayor Huff asked the judge if it was possible to lift the driver's license of an habitual juvenile traffic violator. To this the judge answered bluntly: "Not by me."

He explained that he as county judge had no authority to suspend or revoke any juvenile's license and that only the parents or the Department of Public Safety in Austin had that authority. In the case of the latter, the department would have to appoint a magistrate to hear the charges against the constantly violating driver and then had only the power to recommend lifting the license for no more than one year.

From yesterday on, it was agreed, all traffic violations will be taken directly to the County Court through Juvenile Officer H. A. Doggett, instead of first being taken to the city court and then having to be transferred.

Mayor Huff offered the suggestion that each of the officials present at yesterday's meeting convene again in three months to study what effects the new plan has had. Should it fail, stronger and more far-reaching measures will be taken by the body-measures that will eventually find their way into the Texas Legislature, it was intimated.

Those who attended the meeting were: Allen, J. O. Dumas, county clerk; Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan; Doggett, newly appointed juvenile officer; Judge Braly; Judge White; Ray Wilson, George Scott, and Raymond Thompson, members of the school board; Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools; Roy McMillen, school business manager; and members of the City Commission.

GOVERNMENT

(Continued from Page 1) ducts tends to rise and fall with business and employment conditions, the call for increases was taken as a favorable straw in the economic wind.

This year's record farm production, the department said, Americans have had 14 percent more to eat than in pre-war years, while breaking all marks in the amount of food sent overseas.

During the crop year ended last July 1, this country exported 19,347,000 long tons of food, mostly grain, topping the previous year's record by 187,000 tons.

But because of the huge wheat and potato production, the department has asked farmers to prevent market-glutting surpluses.

Have a 1st mortgage vendor lien note with deed of trust on a 4000.00 house--this note now paid down to 1080.00--its payable 35c. monthly plus 7% interest--take 1000 cash for the note--and guarantee it.

Large 8 room modern duplex--5 rooms and 3 room on each side--located on the pavement close in--OPA rent is 95.00 per month, and they pay the bills--we tried to sell it for 9500 and couldn't--take 7000, and it has a loan on it of 4300.00--you can assume the loan and pay us 2700 for our equity, or we will take 1500 down and carry a second loan.

One of the best Cafes in Gray County--counter and 9 stools--show case--cash register--5 leatherette booths--back bar--pic cases--Electric pop box--2 Frigidaires--large range--2 steam tables--dishes and cooking equipment--now doing a business of around 90.00 per day--the rent is 30.00 per month with 3 room modern living quarters--take 2000.00 for this up and going business, or would consider small house or auto on trade--this is a buy.

640 acres of well improved land, and its good--I have just come from there and its better than I thought--over 300 acres of this land is in good wheat that would go to the buyer--and they're already grazing it--it has a good 2 bedroom modern house--butane gas--REAL line--barn--chicken houses--windmill--good fences--school bus runs by the front door to Canadian--reserve 1/2 the mineral and take 50.00 per acre--what a buy for someone who wants a good farm.

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY
When Miss Place, New Orleans, Louisiana, 37, a well-to-do business woman, was corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom she had never seen, she had proposed marriage and who had accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell was dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Russell was contacted with her and she was married. Certain things were known, during their first days together. Among them in the fact Julia had never opened her trunk. When a letter arrived from her sister, she wrote to her with a letter asking her to open her trunk. When she received the letter, she wrote to her with a letter asking her to open her trunk. When she received the letter, she wrote to her with a letter asking her to open her trunk.

XIII
How long he sat and stared at the letter he did not know. Time lost its meaning. Reading over and over the same words. "The handwriting of an unknown person. Of an unknown person. An unknown person."

Then suddenly hypnosis ended, panic began. He flung himself out of his swivel-backed chair, so that it fell over behind him with a loud clatter. He crushed the letter into his pocket, in such stabbing haste as if it were living fire and burned his fingers at touch.

He ran for the door, forgetting his hat. Then ran back for it, then ran for the door a second time.

He ran to the street he frantically hailed a coach.

"St. Louis Street, and quickly! I must get there without delay!"

When the careening vehicle finally came to a stop in front of his house, he jumped out, slipped coins into the driver's palm, ran for his own door as if he meant to crash it down.

Aunt Sarah opened it with surprising immediacy.

"Is she in?" he blurted into her face. "Is she here in the house?"

"Who?" She drew back, frightened by the violence of the question. But then answered it for it could refer to only one person.

"Miss Julia? She been gone all afternoon. She told me she was going to the bank. She said she'd be back by 1 o'clock. I reckon she ain't come back since."

He ran up the stairs full tilt.

HE stood there in their bedroom, breathing hard from the violence of his ascent but otherwise immobile for a moment, looking about in mute helplessness. His eye fell on the trunk. The trunk had never been opened.

Draped deceptively, but he knew it was there, since that Sunday for what it was. He wrenched off the slip cover and the trunk came to view again. "J. R.," in paint like blood.

He turned, bolted out again, ran down the stairs once more. Only part of the way this time, stopping halfway to the bottom.

"Run and fetch me a locksmith!" he cried to Aunt Sarah. Then he changed his mind. "No, wait! That would take too long. Bring me a hammer and a chisel. Have we those?"

"I reckon so." She scurried for the back.

When she'd handed them to him he sped up the stairs and again he dropped to the trunk with vicious energy, his mouth a white scar. He inserted the chisel in the crevice at it mercilessly. In a moment or two the lock had sprung.

He plucked down the side-leather pieces, unbuttoned the ancient leather strap that had bound it about the middle, rose and heaved as he rose and the double dam-lid came up and swung rearward with a shudder.

There was an exhalation of mothballs as if an active breath had blown in his face.

It was the trunk of a nest, fastidious, a prissy person. Symmetrical stacks of belongings each one not so much as a hairbreadth out of line.

The top tray held only intimate undergarments, of both day and night-wear; all of them utilitarian rather than beautiful.

In a moment his hands had flung it beyond recognition.

He shifted the upper section aside, and found neatly spread layers of dresses beneath that. Of a more sober nature than any she had bought since coming here; browns and grays, with trim little rounded white collars, black alpaca, an occasional staid plaid of dark blue or green.

He picked the topmost one out as he raked, then added a second one.

He stood there, full length like that, between them, helplessly holding one up in each hand, looking from one to the other.

Suddenly his gaze caught his own reflection in the full-length mirrored panel facing her wardrobe and the mirage came to view again. "J. R.," in paint like blood.

He turned, bolted out again, ran down the stairs once more. Only part of the way this time, stopping halfway to the bottom.

"Run and fetch me a locksmith!" he cried to Aunt Sarah. Then he changed his mind. "No, wait! That would take too long. Bring me a hammer and a chisel. Have we those?"

Watch Camera

Note the "wristwatch" worn by this young lady. It's not a watch but the world's smallest camera, recently perfected by Dr. Rudolf Steineck, at Tutzing, Germany. With shutter fixed at 1/250th of a second, the camera takes eight negatives on 3 x 4 mm. orbicular film, which can be enlarged to 2 1/2 x 3 1/4 inches, as seen above. Photo by Gerhard P. ## Aged Patients Shiver as Fire Destroys Home

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Eighteen elderly and infirm patients were forced to shiver in sub-freezing temperatures here early yesterday when fire gutted the second floor of a convalescent home. The majority, clad in night clothing, were carried and led to safety.

All escaped injury except Mrs. R. J. Schilling, 78, who suffered a broken leg, and Mrs. I. Goodman, 75, who sustained minor burns.

Two bed-ridden patients on the first floor were carried to safety by Detective A. C. Sandoval. Ten ambulances answered the alarm, and removed several of the patients to hospitals for temporary shelter while others were taken care of at the home of neighbors.

The fire was first discovered by a nurse. Her screams attracted the attention of Jack C. Lambert, 58, blind occupant of the home who was preparing to go to work at the lighthouse, a workshop for the blind. He turned in the alarm.

to the wall, and he leaped from the saddle over the wall and onto the street. He thrust his fingers into the animal's eyes, hung around its neck and brought it to its knees.

"Then I crashed it into the fence a couple of times to stun it," Jenkins said, "and guided it through a nearby gate into the show ring."

Asked if he was frightened, Jenkins said: "I've been around cattle and horses all my life. I knew I had to do something or be a heel all among the huge crowd because I've been in a lot tougher spots—down under a Brahma bull, for instance, with nowhere to roll. But any real cowboy would have done the same."

The steer shied, ran for the fence and cleared it at a bound, into the space between the wall and the stands where spectators crowded to watch the exhibition.

Jenkins sized up the situation immediately. He raced his horse

72-Year-Old Cobbler, Born In Russia, Lives in Texas

ABLENE—Pete Benbenek is proof of the adage about never being too old to learn.

The 72-year-old cobbler who works at a shoe repair shop just off the campus of Hardin-Simmons is the university's "senior" student. He's finding time at last for violin lessons he has been trying to take all the way from Russia to Texas, and is enrolled in the School of Music for special work under Prof. Herbert M. Preston.

The cheerful cobbler-musician has had a colorful life which has included service in the Russo-Japanese War. Since youth, music—choral and violin—has been his major pastime. Most of his lessons have been self-taught, but he is well versed in violin literature and a connoisseur of fine playing. His understanding of the technique is far advanced for one who has had little formal training.

Benbenek was born in Aron, Poland, in 1876. His family later lived in Austria-Hungary for seven years, then migrated to Russia. He was studying mechanical engineering at the University of Petrograd when his education was interrupted by forced entry into the Russian Army.

"The Russia we know today is not like that I knew when I was in the Czar's army," he says. "The people had more freedom then. The Czar had things pretty much as he wanted them, but it still was not communistic."

After his discharge from the army at the close of the war with the Japanese, Benbenek went to Germany for a short stay before coming to this country in 1907. He and his wife moved to Kansas City, Kansas, and he settled down to woodwork and cobbling.

A few years later he moved to Oklahoma City where he was a shoe repairman until coming to Texas. In Oklahoma he resumed the violin study he had started in Russia.

The journey from Russia to Texas, long in years and miles, was made in search of a way of life which cannot be found in Eastern Europe, the older says. He has found it, he believes.

His only son went into Air Force service for his father's adopted country during the war and was killed in a P-51 in action over Germany.

In addition to playing the violin, Benbenek has put his woodworking skill to work and made several of the instruments.

Court Order Bans Suicide Attempt

CHICAGO—(AP)—A circuit court order bans Frank Lewandowski, 36, from attempting suicide.

The injunction was issued after his estranged wife, Adeleine, 36, said Lewandowski has tried to kill himself 30 times since they were married nine years ago.

Mrs. Lewandowski, mother of three minor children, testified her husband, a soldier, attempted to hang himself three times; stabbed himself six times; turned on the gas six times, and drank poison 15 times.

Fire Breaks Out in Children's Home

YONKERS, N.Y.—(AP)—Two hundred children were driven out into rain in their nightclothes at 12:30 a. m. Monday by fire of undetermined origin in the attic of the south wing of the Leak and Watts Children's Home.

The world's first cog railway, begun in 1880, still operates to the 6,288-foot summit of Mt. Washington in New Hampshire.

Those Who Write for Publication Know the 'Harumph' Gents Well

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK—(AP)—If you ever have done even a little writing for publication you've met the gents. Quite a few of them, too.

"Harumph, Harumph," they harumph with an expression of proper disdain. Never read the papers. Don't care what they write about me. Don't care, I tell you!

And having shown their indifference, with gestures, they sneak off to the corner news stand, furtively buy every late paper in sight, stuff them under their coats and stalk for their lodgings, there to while away the hours with accusers and paste-pot filling scrapbooks already bulging like a sack of oats.

They never read a thing written about them but if you happen to write something, even mildly critical the next time you meet them you will notice a heavy frown.

If it is a complimentary article they hide behind that screen of "never read the papers." They conveniently ignore it, never mention it.

It's really a pleasure to run across sports figures who show an appreciation of favorable comment. Fellows such as Lou Little, and Hank Gowdy, and Frank Crosetti, and Eddie Stanky, and Robby Doerr, and Ted Williams, and Frank Stranahan.

Many others, of course, but whose names come to mind quickly.

We've always figured that these gents who really don't read, or don't care, what is written about them either can't read or have reached that inflated ego where they think they are independent of the rest of the world.

They are going against the laws of human nature, as every normal person is interested in what others think of him, and there is a certain fascination in seeing your own name in print. It might be Brown or Jones or Smith, or Schuss, or Gosenbeck or Applejack. If it is your own, that's all that's necessary.

Daring Texan Saves Lives By Heroism

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ten thousand persons stood and cheered a 45-year-old Texas stockman Monday for his heroic role in an unscheduled event at the horse show at the International Livestock Exposition.

A few minutes before the crowd gave an ovation to Lloyd Jenkins of Fort Worth, Tex., an 800-pound steer leaped a 5-foot fence into the massed spectators at the show.

There were screams of terror from among the crowd.

Jenkins, cattle breeder and quarter horse exhibitor, spurred his horse to the fence, cleared it with a leap from the saddle, bulldogged the animal and led it back into the arena.

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said Jenkins' action was the most heroic he ever had seen. He said that the steer running amuck among the huge crowd might have trampled many.

Jenkins was aboard his horse awaiting his turn for an exhibition of how a cowboy and a quarter horse "cuts out" a steer, when Jack Hart of Marshall, Tex., made a pass at the steer.

The steer shied, ran for the fence and cleared it at a bound, into the space between the wall and the stands where spectators crowded to watch the exhibition.

Jenkins sized up the situation immediately. He raced his horse
