Statute Put On Books Over FDR's Veto

Govt. Agencies Not Prepared To Take Up Enforcement
WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Congressional enactment of the war labor disputes bill over President Roosevelt's veto brought bitter words from labor spokesmen today—but also a renewal of the "no strike" pledge by heads of the AFL and CIO.

It brought some confusion, too, to the affected government agencies which were not ready, pending further study of the measure, to say what steps they would have to take in shaping their organizations to administer it.

The threat of an immediate crisis for the War Labor Board through resignation of its labor members vanished. While their possibility had been suggested, prior to enactment of the bill, the labor members said individually today that they intended to stock by the board.

Is County 'Quitting' On Bonds?

At a time when the young men of the nation are poised for a bloody onslaught against Hitler's European fortress—an onslaught that inevitably will take an appalling toll in lives—Howard county is on the verge of making its most miserable showing in two years in War Bond investments.

With only three days to go in June, about one-half the allotment was still to be accounted for. The quota for the month is $155,870. Sales through Saturday totaled $78,428, leaving $77,442 "to go."

County Board Chairman Ira Thurman pointed out that the quota is not excessive, being fixed on the basis of bank deposits, money in circulation, etc. "There is no question that we have the money," he said.

Solons Kick Over Traces On Subsidy

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The senate joined the house today in repudiating OPA's food subsidy rollback, and voted besides to transfer future subsidy operations from the Office of Price Administration to the war food administrator, Chester C. Davis.

Thus the administration suffered its second major setback in two days, the anti-subsidy action following congress' overriding of President Roosevelt's veto of the anti-strike bill.

In no mood for extended debate, the senate voted 46 to 29 to kill the rollback, which Price Administrator Wendell Brown has said is essential to hold the line against inflation.

Normal Work Is Hoped For This Week

Many Still Out, However, Some Of Them On 'Vacation'
PITTSBURGH, June 26 (AP)—Mounting signs came from the Appalachian coal fields tonight that nearly normal production might be resumed next week although the situation in Pennsylvania remained uncertain after a day which saw the closing of more mines, even though anti-strike legislation has become law.

Foremost in the back-to-work movement were reports that more thousands of miners returned to their jobs in West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia.

Coupled with this development were the almost general predictions by United Mine Worker (UMW) district leaders that most of the men would be back in the mines Monday, even in Pennsylvania.

As against this, a large proportion of the men continued to remain away from work today in large producing states like Pennsylvania, Alabama and Ohio.

Although absenteeism at many mines prevented an accurate estimate of how many men were back on the job, information from union and operator sources indicated that a larger number worked today than yesterday, despite the additional walkouts in Pennsylvania.

Gasoline Check In East Texas Is Called Off After One Day

LONGVIEW, June 26 (AP)—Bob Bryant, in charge of 24 Offices of Price Administration investigators questioning motorists on two main highways in this area today concerning use of gasoline rationing coupons, said late this afternoon that the drive planned for two days, would be called off tonight.

Bryant told Louis Hart, Longview newspaperman, that more than 200,000 coupon-miles of gasoline ration coupons had been confiscated during the investigation begun this morning.

This was less than half the total OPA officials said were confiscated in a two-day investigation in the Paris area last week-end.

Bryant told Hart that the Longview investigation was terminated because most of the traffic was what he called local people.

"We found we were stopping many of them three and four times," he said.

State highway police and sheriff's officers were unable to appear as aides to the OPA investigation, Hart said, leaving four state liquor control agents and seven Harmon hospital military police to assist the OPA representatives' questioning.

Col. G. V. Emerson, commanding officer at the hospital, withdrew the military police shortly after noon.

He said the withdrawal was made when he found there were no other uniformed officers engaged in the enterprise.

Investigators and their assistants were stationed on U. S. highway 80 on each side of Longview and a mile out of town on the Kilgore highway, state 26.

Bryant told Hart that his OPA representatives stopped no cars. That liquor board men stopped the cars and the OPA investigators performed their interviews.

"We found no liquor," he said.

At Dallas district OPA enforcement Officer W. A. Griffin, Jr., said that OPA representatives in the Longview area were "simply questioning motorists who are driving cars stopped by state and local officials for the purpose of enforcing state and local laws."

Earlier I. N. Saye, Longview attorney, disclosed he had telegraphed the eighth service command headquarters in Dallas, asking by what authority military police engaged in the questioning.

Triple Threat—Three two-engine bombers pull huge cargo and troop-carrying gliders on a formation flight above West Texas clouds in a scene similar to what may greet occupants of enemy territory when the U. S. hurts its aerial might into an all-out scale against the Axis. The planes are part of the fleet at the South Plains Army Air Field at Lubbock.

Red Bombers Stay Active

LONDON, Sunday, June 27 (AP)—Russian bombers pounded rear German airfields and rail installations at Bryansk Friday night, and other Red army fliers dealt new blows to the enemy's sea and air units yesterday, but the Soviet midnight communique reported little ground activity along the sprawling Russian front.

A Moscow broadcast, recorded early today by the Soviet monitor in advance of the midnight communique, said Russian bombers started large fires at the station and rail junction of Bryansk, behind the Orei front.

Several German planes were destroyed in the attacks on enemy airfields, the announcement said, and the Russians lost two planes. The midnight war bulletin said Soviet airmen sank an enemy patrol ship and damaged a minesweeper in attacks yesterday in the Gulf of Finland.

Aerial combats developed in the Belgorod area, the communique said. In these, five German planes were said to have been downed without the loss of a single Russian craft.

The principal ground activity was on a sector of the central front west of Moscow where Russian scouts were said to have broken through barbed wire defenses into German trenches, killing a number of the enemy and taking some prisoners.

In a resolution adopted at the close of its quarterly session, the commission called attention to the fact "that the nation is faced with an impending shortage of oil, and the petroleum conservation program is in serious jeopardy through lack of incentive for wildcat drilling."

DETROIT RIOTS BIG BLOW TO WAR EFFORT
WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—A War Production Board official declared today that two days of "senseless rioting" in Detroit's racial upheaval cost the nation a worse setback in war production than was suffered "from all labor disputes in the entire nation in the first two months of this year."

Joseph D. Keenan, WPB vice chairman for labor production, said 1,000,000 man hours of work were lost during the rioting and that was "only a small part of the total cost to war production."

Fight Looms On NYA Fund

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The senate cleared the way today for passage Monday of the $71,898,425,740 war bill—and for a fight over a proposal to set aside house demands for scrapping the National Youth Administration.

Asserting NYA's work is "absolutely essential" in training young men and women for manual tasks in war plants and shipyards, Senator Truman (D-Mo.) offered a proposal to appropriate $47,800,000 for that depression-born agency.

He submitted the proposal as an amendment to the $1,100,000,000 labor department federal security administration appropriations bill in substitution for a house provision allowing the NYA $3,000,000 with which to liquidate by January 1. The senate appropriations committee had approved the house provision by a 13 to 10 vote.

With the new fiscal year starting next Thursday, the senate sent the $71,898,425,740 farm appropriations bill back to conference committee for a further attempt to settle differences between the two houses over the farm security administration, crop insurance and soil conservation payments.

Gen. Hodges Will Direct Maneuvers
SAN ANTONIO, June 26 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges, commanding general of the third army and southern defense command, will personally conduct the maneuvers of his third army troops in Louisiana during the third period, beginning Monday.

General Hodges planned to leave his headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, tomorrow for a large part of western Louisiana and part of East Texas.

The 1943 maneuvers will last approximately two months, and will give troops training in tactical problems and maneuvering under battle conditions.

Corn Processing Plants Shut Down
NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Two large corn processing plants closed today because of a shortage of grain and industry representatives unless more corn became available more corn became available.

Nazi Coastal Wall Also Blasted By Heavy Bombers

LONDON, Sunday, June 27 (AP)—A large force of American heavy bombers attacked airfields and industrial targets in France by daylight yesterday, winding up the busiest week yet seen in the mighty Allied aerial offensive which has devastated the German war cradle in the Ruhr valley and woven a pattern of destruction along Hitler's coastal wall.

A communique issued jointly by the U. S. Army's European theater headquarters and the British air ministry said supporting Thunderbolts destroyed three enemy fighters and that some unescorted bombers shot down a "considerable number."

Five bombers and seven fighters were lost in the daylight assaults, which were accompanied by British fighter sweeps over the continent and followed Friday night's RAF attack on the heart of the Ruhr coal and steel belt.

Many squadrons of RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters took part in the daylight operations.

The precise objectives of the American heavyweights were not announced in the communique, which described the sky fleet as a "large formation" and said it included some light bombers of the RAF.

One returning flier said however that "we really smashed those factories. I could see the bombs dropped by the formations behind us still exploding all over the target area."

The communique said "adverse weather conditions were encountered by some of the heavy bombers and those which were unable to identify clearly their targets dropped no bombs."

Most of the heavy bombers, including Flying Fortresses, flew unescorted and engaged in numerous combats with enemy fighters.

An earlier air ministry communique had told of the raid on Bernay airfield, 40 miles south of Le Havre. "Bursts were seen on buildings, hangars and dispersal pens," the air ministry said.

Called Valley Of Spreading Ruin

The Ruhr was described as a bomb-pitted valley of spreading ruin after this week of assault—the mightiest ever loosed against a similar area.

After Friday night's blow at Bochum and Gelsenkirchen by a great force of RAF heavyweights, one military observer estimated that 30,000 tons of explosives had ripped into the compact German industrial valley since the Allies opened their intensive aerial bombardment three and one half months ago and declared that the task of neutralizing the Ruhr was nearing completion.

The observer, who could not be identified by name, said that even the most concentrated anti-aircraft and fighter defenses the Nazis were able to muster had failed to check the onslaught, capped by the destruction of nearly 100 German fighters in the last two daylight raids by American Flying Fortresses and last night's telling punch by the RAF.

The customary haze of smoke from the Ruhr's armament factories was reported to have thinned out appreciably in recent weeks and in some points to have disappeared entirely.

In last night's attack the British smashed through swarms of Nazi fighters to strike at the core of the valley's coal and steel production. It was the seventh straight night that the RAF poured flaming destruction on Hitler's war plants, and the cost was 30 big bombers. Pilots said they dropped the loads on assigned targets despite intense opposition and poor weather conditions.

Production Definitely Impaired
There was a definite feeling here, supported by Paul Joseph Goebbels' own propaganda, that the ruin now has been spread over such a huge area of the Ruhr that traffic and utilities are disrupted, morale seriously disturbed and production definitely impaired.

Recent massive raids have not been directed at the main centers of the Ruhr, such as Essen, Dueseldorf and Dortmund, but at a smaller towns on the perimeter of the great arsenal.

One commentator said it could be assumed that the large cities had received a "sufficient dose" for the moment and that the experiment to see whether Germany could be bombed from the war was approaching its climax.

"The night's RAF attack came as a thundering follow-up to yesterday's pounding of unspecified targets in northwest Germany by America's heavyweights, estimated by the Germans to number 300. The Nazis seized on the second American raid within a week to cut losses with bitter new tirades in which they called American airmen cultural vandals and military barbarians.

Nazi Exaggerate American Losses

"Humanity should blush in shame that, say, a 20-year-old American, Canadian or Australian soldier flew can and is allowed to destroy a picture by Duerer or Titian."

All day the Nazi radio blared exaggerated accounts of recent American losses. It began by asserting that 11 Flying Fortresses were shot down yesterday, then raised the number to 20. By nightfall, according to Berlin, the Allies had lost 55 planes over Germany in the past 24 hours.

The Allies acknowledged the loss of 87.

American fliers described yesterday's fighter opposition as terrific, with Focke-Wulf and Messerschmitt pilots preferring home their attacks with suicidal ferocity.

"They would come at us two and three abreast and barrel roll through our entire formation with their guns going like hell," one crewman said.

The U. S. fliers lost 11 planes in their unescorted sweep, but their gunners took a heavy toll of Nazi fighters. Fortresses from the station alone destroyed 76 enemy craft, probably destroyed 24 more and damaged five. U. S. army headquarters reported that American heavy bombers had shot down nearly 100 enemy fighters in their last two raids on the Reich.

Nazi Sub Crews Reported Imprisoned For Mutiny

By JOHN COLBURN
STOCKHOLM, June 26 (AP)—Six German submarine crews in Norway have mutinied and refused to re-embark in the undersea boats, it was reported in Norwegian circles here today.

Usually reliable sources were said to have relayed rumors that officers and men alike had jointly decided to mutiny, and that all were sent to a military prison in Oslo. The sources cannot be identified by name.

Camera Goes To Battlefield In Ritz Feature, 'Desert Victory'

Termed unanimously as the greatest war documentary film yet put on the screen in "Desert Victory," the top half of a two-star program featured at the Ritz theater today and Monday. On the same bill is Walt Disney's comic interpretation of a trip to South America, a Technicolor cartoon called "Saludos Amigos."

"Desert Victory" was made by the combatant cameramen of the British Eighth army, the RAF and the Royal navy, a number of whom lost their lives. It covers the pursuit of Rommel from El Alamein, 60 miles from Alexandria, to the surrender of the Italians at Tripoli, and here's what a professional review says about it:

"The photography of battle scenes is magnificent, the commentary is extraordinary because of its sincerity and understatement. The ground and air shots make the spectator feel like a participant in an historic adventure. x x x

"This is the present war—the war that has raged on the desert sands of Africa; war in a theater that probably will have served as the starting point for the ultimate defeat of the Nazi enemy and his satellites. The picture goes much further than any previous war film, for it reveals the entire campaign in Egypt and Libya during which General Bernard Montgomery and the British Eighth Army under his command exploded the myth of Rommel's "invincibility" and paved the way for the invasion of Europe. Maps and charts, with very simple animation, clarify the action that is to come when the offense began on the night of October 23, 1942 and carried on for 30 days of advance toward and into Libya. Included in the picture are some films found among other booty taken from the Nazis, made by the Germans of Rommel (seen in close-up in several shots) and his attempted counter-attack and rear-guard actions as the British hurled the Nazi forces back. Inclusion of these latter pictures makes the "Desert Victory" an unusual war documentary indeed, for as an assembled whole the finished film becomes a cohesive and inclusive as a carefully written and produced photoplay. It's a thriller, this picture, a thriller revealing thrilling history of a world-shaking event."

"Saludos Amigos" is the result of a trip Walt Disney, a staff of his artists—plus Donald Duck and Goofy—made into South America. It was a goodwill mission, and the resulting film is a goodwill document. "Saludos" is part travelogue. With animated maps and live action filmed in color, it traces the route of the Disney party through COMING—That fabulous production, "Gone With The Wind," is with us again, to play at the State theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with three shows daily, at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. You know, of course, that Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh are Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara.

Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Peru and Bolivia. But these travel notes are merely links between four animated episodes, which rank with the funniest and most delightful Disney sequences.

The first finds Donald Duck, tourist, at Lake Titicaca high in the Andes. He cavorts on reed boats, suspension bridges, and meets the natives and animals of the Bolivian highlands. They are, he finds, fine fellows.

Pedro, a young mail plane who flies when larger aircraft are "under the weather," carries the mail through Andean storms from Chile to Argentina in the second cartoon. Its style recalls "Dumbo."

The Argentine episode begins in live action with Disney and artists visiting the studio of F. Molina Campos, famous artist of the pampas. Goofy is whisked from Texas to learn the customs of his fellow South American cowboys. His experiences are hilarious.

Brazil's favorite, dance rhythm, the samba, is joined with the best Disney color in the last sequence. The title, "Aquarela do Brasil" ("Brazilian Watercolor"), and music are from a tune by Ary Barroso, at the top of Rio's hit parade. There are also live color scenes from the Rio de Janeiro carnival.

Lusty Story Of Canadian Wilds In Lyric's 'Northwest Rangers'

William Lundigan, new discovery in leading men, and beautiful Patricia Dane provide romance, laid amid thrills in the Canadian wilds, and James Craig and Jack Holt add lusty substance to a dramatic story of thrills and romance in M-G-M's "Northwest Rangers," offered today and Monday at the Lyric theatre.

Laid amid beautiful scenery, the story deals with two foster-brothers, played by Lundigan and Craig. Lundigan becomes a Northwest Mounted officer, as was their foster father, Jack Holt. Craig becomes a gambler.

Despite the fact that Craig is a gambler and Lundigan an officer of the law, they remain close friends. They both fall in love with Patricia Dane, who sings in the town's cafe. However, when Craig learns that Miss Dane is also in love with Lundigan, he gives them his blessings and wishes them happiness.

When another gambler, John Carradine, creates trouble and threatens to ruin Lundigan's reputation, Craig kills him. Although Craig murdered to protect him, Lundigan, loyal to the mounted police, tracks him into the North woods. When Craig makes a break for freedom, Lundigan is forced to shoot him.

Joe Newman directed the picture, his first feature after a series of successful short subjects, and handled it with deft skill. Jackson Rose's scenic photography is beautiful.

At 19, With Only 18 Months In Service He Wears Stars Of 8 Major Sea Battles

Wearing a machine-gun crease in his skull and boasting his branch is the most rugged in the navy, Walter Turner, 19, SIC, is nevertheless ready to go back to his P-T boat assignment when his leave is done.

He stopped here Thursday, en route home to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Turner of Lufkin, in hopes of seeing his cousin, Buck Tyree, who is now stationed elsewhere in the army. (Tyree formerly was a Herald employe.)

Although it has been only little more than 18 months since he enlisted in the navy, right after Pearl Harbor, Walter wore the stars of eight major sea battles. Moreover, his squadron had been part of the Tokyo task force.

Starting out in April of 1942 on a sub-chaser, Walter was transferred to PT duty when the chaser drew three torpedoes, one passing through the ship and exploding on the other side. Thereafter, his unit of 17 PTs and more than a hundred men sailed through engagements in the Coral Sea, the Java Sea, Santa Cruz, Midway, Macassar Straits, Libby Field (in the Philippines) and off Guam. The eighth star is for a battle not yet announced by the navy.

Nine Survivors

Of the original group, Turner is one of nine surviving, when he says his branch is the most rugged of the navy, he has plenty of argument on his side.

But if the PTs lost heavily, they exacted a much heavier toll of the enemy. Walter said his squadron claimed 133 Jap planes, seven destroyers, at least damage on three cruisers, and an assortment of tankers, transports, etc.

Basically, he explained, the PT was conceived as a scouting arm and as a force to retard the enemy until protecting cruisers could lay back and cut loose with big guns.

"But," he chuckled, "we sometimes did a little more than slow them down."

One of his most exciting experiences occurred when his PT boat whipped within 300 yards of a cruiser. The commanding officer was cut in two with .50 calibre machine gun fire, and there was a moment when Turner was alone on the bridge. He got word below to the other officer, who immediately took over and ordered the "fish" fired. The PT rocketed off amid a shower of shell. Direct hits were scored on the cruiser but the boat didn't wait around to observe results.

In the Coral Sea battle, he had rolled out of his "sack" (hammock) grabbed his two .45 pistols and hit the deck without his "tin" hat. The commander ordered him to signal the "blue" to attack a certain manner. Whipping his flags to get attention, Walter left the one in his left hand slip. Then he caught a bullet across the right cheek—then one furrowed up his skull.

He Blacked Out

"I blacked out, Walter admitted. "It was a .30 calibre bullet or I probably wouldn't be here. I sure caught it about machine gun bullets bouncing off my head."

One of the first engagements was at Libby Field, which was along a Philippine beach.

"Three Jap destroyers lay out of reach of the shore batteries and were shelling the field," he recalled, "and we got orders to go out. We were new then and it looked like PTs everywhere. Yes sir, we wrote up three tin cans after that deal."

Perhaps his most frightening experience came the time his boat flushed an enemy tanker, slapped a couple of "fish" into it and dashed away. But—"the motors konked—konked cold. I tell you, there we were, just gliding out and duck soup. Luckily, the torpedoes broke the tanker in two and they were too busy getting off to worry about gunning us."

Getting a Destroyer

One of the neatest jobs accounted for a destroyer, according to Turner.

"It was just about dark and we slipped up jam against it without being seen. I tell you we could have spit on the damn thing. The commander ordered the .50 guns on the bridge, and I guess we must have killed everybody up there. When that roused things we made a half circle, rammed our "fish" in her magazine and beat it. She blew up and was gone in about three minutes."

Some of the events he has most wanted to see, he somehow missed. Once when newsreel shots were taken of the whole squadron, "I was in livery," he moaned.

His division had been scouting for the Tokyo task force when it encountered stormy weather off the coast of Japan. The force split and the PTs came back to get wind protection from the flat-top, (aircraft carrier). Next morning when Doolittle and the 15 other pilots and crews took off, Walter was snoring away in his sack.

"Aw well," he said, "we didn't even know where they were going, so it didn't make any difference."

Virtuous Weather

WARSAW, Mo.—Rainfall was heavy for eight consecutive Sundays in this Ozark community, beams the Rev. J. H. Wagner, First Methodist pastor, — and church attendance boomed as a result.

"Folks can't catch fish in muddy water," he explained.

THE WAR TODAY: Prologue To Invasion Near A Climax

By GLENN BARR

Summer's first week-end finds the world still waiting for the curtain to rise on the main show, the anticipated titanic clashes of the armies and navies in the fateful campaign of 1943. Meantime, its attention was gripped by the blazing prologue in the skies.

Any morning may see the Allied landing barges sweeping toward the enemy's coasts, probably in the Mediterranean.

The British and American air fleets had their most tremendous week of the war. The "neutralization" of the Ruhr, heart of German war production, was virtually completed and the sapping of Italy's power and will to resist made good progress.

The anniversary of Hitler's attack on Russia passed with his armies still immobilized along the whole length of the eastern front. The Japanese continued to give ground in China. In the South and Southwest Pacific Japan still was waiting for something, meanwhile suffering heavy attrition in the war.

With June almost gone it seemed the time was fast running out in which an Axis offensive could be expected.

A week of attack cost the Allies 184 multi-engine bombers, many of them carrying ten or more men. The RAF, out every night, lost 147, the Americans 57. To show for this they had the crippling devastation of Krefeld, Muelheim, Wuppertal, Huls, Bochum and Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr, the great Chenevier arsenal at Le Creusot in France, the German "radar" factory at Friedrichshafen, the Italian naval base at La Spezia. Reliable reports said between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 civilians already had been evacuated from the stricken Ruhr, above which the accustomed industrial haze from factory chimneys was reported many degrees lighter.

There was no doubt that Germany was sorely wounded in a vital spot. The reaction of Goebbels' propaganda reinforced this conclusion. It was a combined attempt to appeal to the soft-hearted in Allied countries by vivid accounts of civilian suffering and to the hatred in German hearts by stories of alleged destruction wrought by the American barbarians to the cultural monuments of the old world.

In the Mediterranean the Allies ranged along the North African shore, obviously were well along with the job of setting up Sicily, and to a lesser extent Sardinia, for invasion. Naples and its industrial environs, on the nearby mainland, also were heavily blasted. On Sicily the week began and ended with shattering attacks on Messina, chief port for communications with the mainland.

One new figure in the pattern of the Mediterranean war was a long-range raid Thursday by more than 50 American Liberators on the Greek port of Salonika, pointed reminder of the role of that city in the first World War.

In the words of 14 successive Moscow communiques, there were no significant changes on the long Russian battle line. But Moscow took occasion of the second anniversary of Hitler's attack on the Soviet union to remind the western Allies of the imperative necessity of a second front in Europe if Hitler Germany is to be destroyed. The Allied answer was to plough ahead with the Casablanca-Washington program which none doubted called for an invasion of the continent

Cattle Tests Slated Here On July 5th

Dr. A. N. Giles, US department of agriculture veterinarian, will come here July 5 to test dairy and other cattle herds for tuberculosis. K. E. McFarland, health unit sanitarian, said Saturday.

Although many may have had tests run months ago on their herds to comply with the city milk ordinance, they probably will want to avail themselves of this free service, said McFarland.

The tests are by no means restricted to dairy herds and any farmer or rancher may have tests run on his cows.

Williams Injures Hand In Belt Mishap

O. L. (Ollie) Williams carried his right arm in a sling Saturday and figured he was lucky that others weren't carrying him in a box.

While he was dressing a belt well pulling casing in a 500-foot well for Andy Brown at Ackerly Friday evening, Williams' glove stuck to the belt and dragged his hand and arm between the belt and pulley. The gauntlet type glove somehow kept the pulley slipping until he could wrench his arm to one side and kick the unit out of gear. His hand was badly mashed but probably not broken and his arm had a severe gash.

Directors of the chamber of commerce will hold their regular semi-monthly meeting Monday noon with County Judge James T. Brooks and members of the county commissioners court as guests.

As soon as possible.

The aspect of the war in the South and Southwest Pacific saw little change, although the Japanese air force continued to lose heavily in its new attempts to challenge Allied rule of the air.

The trend toward Allied victory in the battle of the Atlantic persisted. There was nothing to disrupt the growing belief that the curve of Allied ship losses, declining sharply since March, would dip even lower in June. German propaganda prepared its people for this setback.

Wisconsin Leads States In Newest Class Of Cadets

Wisconsin led the states in representatives as the first of the members of cadet class 43-13 arrived at Big Spring Bombardier School for the training that will win them their bombardier wings.

New York, leading state in almost all of the previous classes, had only four native sons on the latest roll of cadets. Pennsylvania and Illinois followed close behind Wisconsin in the number of representatives.

Wisconsin

Arthur J. Crowns, Jr., Nekosha, was a law student at Central State Teachers College when he entered the service. A brother is an AAF corporal. Elton W. Broege, Janesville, studied at the University of Wisconsin until he was called into the army. Jerome D. Noderwiler, Milwaukee, was a traffic engineer before entering the service. Lowell Brubans, Milwaukee, was a gas and electrical welder in the Brewery city. Ralph N. Anderson, Racine, is one of the youngest members of the class and he joined the cadets just a month before his eighteenth birthday. Lawrence Roscillo, Kenosha, studied at the University of Wisconsin and was a punch press operator in his hometown.

Japs To Need More Men To Win In China

ENSHIH, ON THE UPPER YANGTZE FRONT, China, June 26 (UP)—Japanese forces in China proper are not strong enough to begin another offensive unless they draw reinforcements from Burma, the Southwest Pacific, or the northern provinces, Gen. Chen Cheng, who turned back the recent Japanese thrust toward Chungking, declared today.

Whether the Japanese will weaken other fronts to renew the assault in China "remains to be seen," he said in an interview.

Up to now, Chen explained, the enemy has been able to pull together enough troops from various fronts within China itself to launch an offensive, but now the number that can be taken from garrison duty in occupied areas is limited.

Chen, 47, and one of China's best generals, was recalled from Yunnan province to halt the Japanese advance up the Yangtze in a threat to the Chinese capital. He is commander-in-chief of Chinese expeditionary forces facing Burma from both Yunnan and India.

Asserting that the Chinese "have fought nearly six years on morale," Chen declared that a "bigger air force and more heavy guns" are needed to push the Japanese out of China completely. He said one per cent of the United States' estimated airplane production of 84,000 planes a year "would be enough," but doubted China would get that number.

He said the Chinese "didn't fulfill expectations completely" in the Yangtze defeat of the Japanese, whose casualties were placed officially at 40,000 troops. The strategy, he explained, was to draw the enemy farther into the mountains where they could more easily be trapped, but the Japanese retreated before they met the full strength of the Chinese armies.

Inter-American Work For Texas University

AUSTIN, June 26 (UP)—The University of Texas board of regents today accepted a grant of $1,000 from the coordinator of inter-American affairs to aid in the establishment of an inter-American workshop at the university.

The regents also accepted a gift of the medical library of the late Dr. J. M. McReynolds of Dallas for the medical branch at Galveston, approved a number of changes in personnel at the medical school, and approved appointment of 13 Houston physicians to the clinical staff of the M. D. Anderson hospital for cancer research at Houston.

The proposed inter-American workshop will provide small scholarships for Latin-American students, Mexican teachers of English, of Texas teachers dealing with Latin-American subjects. It will furnish funds to employ instructors and consultants in the problems of teaching English as a second language.

Best-Ball Matches Cut To 18 Holes

DETROIT, June 26 (UP)—A major change in the conduct of the Ryder cup challenge golf matches scheduled here Aug. 7 and 8 was announced today in establishing the distance of best ball matches at 18 holes instead of the customary 36.

Frank Sprogel of Grand Rapids, National PGA secretary, said the shorter distance would permit the best ball play to be confined to the afternoon of the first day for the convenience of war workers.

The course is being sponsored by the health unit with Graham Smoot, consultant with the bureau of public health education, state health department, in charge of the six-series program.

There will be repeat sessions in the evening at 7:30 p. m. for the morning classes, McFarland said. The plan calls for one series on Monday, another on Wednesday and still another on Friday. The second week will follow an identical schedule.

Monday the topic will be "How the Whole Thing Started," and films, "Man Against Microbe" and "Slinging Hash" will be shown.

Other program topics and films to be shown follow:

Wednesday—"Hidden Dangers" and "Sand in the Gears."

AAFBS Sends 43 Men Into College Work

Forty-three Big Spring bombardier school soldiers Saturday exchanged the Army's traditional "nut-two-three-four" for college yell as they were transferred from their military assignments to universities where they will be enrolled under the Army Specialized Training program.

Immediate transfer was to Oklahoma A. & M. where they will be given tests to determine the course of instruction they are to receive. Later the 43 men will be sent to various universities all over the nation.

Under the ASTP, they will receive a 12-week course that is equivalent to a full semester college course. At the end of the 12-week period the men will either be continued in college, sent to OCS or sent to service with some army unit. College credits received under the ASTP will later be transferable to regular college credits and may be used for degrees.

Two members of the post orchestra were among the 43 soldiers

Youths To Be Guests At The Bombardier School Sunday

It was announced Saturday from the office of Colonel Robert W. Warren, commandant of the Big Spring Bombardier school that there will be an "open house" for 17 and 18 year old lads on Sunday, July 4. The field will be open to the youths from 2 p. m. till 5 p. m. and all 17 to 18 year old lads are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to see what goes on behind the scenes of a huge bombing college.

All airfields throughout the United States are conducting similar tours for the teen age lads in their areas. The entire program is sponsored by the Flying Training Command which feels that these young men should know of the tremendous activities connected with the U. S. Army Air Forces.

The afternoon's activities will begin promptly at 2 p. m. and the lads will be conducted on a tour of the entire field. They will see how the cadets live, be informed as to the various phases of their training program, and will be able to question the cadets on the many angles of bombardier training. The bombardier cadets themselves will act as guides to the boys.

The boys will also make a tour of the line and be free to mingle with the aircraft mechanics and the pilots, and see the many types of bombing planes used here for practice bombing missions. They'll visit the ordnance area and see the

Negro Slaying Believed Solved

Although the arrest of a suspect was yet to be accomplished, police Saturday accounted the slaying of Louis "Bearcat" Bolden, negro, here early last Sunday as solved.

Police Chief J. B. Bruton said that a pick up order had been put out in the case and that in time a suspect would be brought back to face murder charges filed Friday by the sheriff's department.

The case was cracked by A. D. Bryan, veteran city officer, who, with other officers, investigated the case for a week. Bruton said Bryan Friday wrote a statement out of a negro who witnessed the stabbing of Bolden back of the Dreamland hotel, negro hot-spot, in a June "teenth" aftermath.

Bolden was stuck through the throat and ran for a block before he collapsed. Officers expressed confidence that the negro suspect

S'east Loop Drops Most Of Grid Rules

ATLANTA, June 26. (AP)—Members of the football-conscious Southeastern Conference got a green light today to continue intercollegiate athletics in the deep south — if they can.

Following the lead of the Western Conferences, the Southeastern's executive committee granted unlimited athletic eligibility to all men assigned to member institutions by the armed services. At the same time, however, the conference retained transfer rules and other limitations on civilian students as a guard against migrant athletes.

Continued at least until the December meeting of the conference is the $10,000-a-year office of athletic commissioner Mike Conner, set up two years ago to police subsidization of football players under the federation's legalized scholarship plan.

The executive committee rejected informal suggestions by president Rufus Harris of Tulane and others that the conference "freeze" its organization for the duration, and leave to individual schools the responsibility for carrying on athletics. Instead, the group adopted a limited play-as-you-go plan, under which each institution will operate with a minimum of control by the conference.

Four schools — Florida, Mississippi State, the University of Mississippi and Vanderbilt — have suspended intercollegiate competition. Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State and Tulane have indicated determination to carry on if possible. Auburn, Tennessee and Kentucky are listed as doubtful football contenders, but both Tennessee and Kentucky hope to compete in basketball.

To allow withdrawal of those schools desiring to do so, the conference ruled that any institution may cancel athletic contracts without penalty, provided notice is given the other party concerned not later than July 15, 1943.

The conference left to individual discretion the question of continued athletic scholarships. Acting Athletic Director Wilbur Hutsell of Auburn urged the executive committee to eliminate scholarships for the duration, but other members objected.

Under eligibility regulations as now adopted, any athlete in armed service may compete if permitted to do so by his commanding officer. Such eligibility would extend even to athletes who had completed their regular three years of varsity competition, or who might have engaged in professional athletics.

New Nine To Meet Lubbock Lads Today

From now on it's going to be hardball as well as softball out at the Big Spring Bomber School. And according to 1st Lieut. James W. Tolbert, the director of physical training here, this newly-formed baseball team looks good, and ought make it plenty hard for its opponents in other army flying fields.

Members of the team represent organizations throughout the post. The champion 359th softball team gave up three of its star ball players for the hardball cause. They are Cpl. J. M. Millard, Dayton, Tenn.; S/Sgt. F. D. Dunham, Parkersburg, W. Va.; and Sgt. S. O. Durham of Alvarado, Tex. The 78th contributed S/Sgt. J. J. Smeator, Norwood, Mass., and Pfc. W. E. Ramsey of Chillicothe, Tex. The 512th came through with the most men, seven good ball players in all.

In a practice game Friday with the 359th Aviation Squadron the new team won 2-1. Its first scheduled game takes place at Lubbock today beginning at 2 p. m. The boys will have their first real trial when they face the crack baseball team of the South Plains Army Flying School there.

The new uniforms just issued them are of white, muleskin with the word "Bombers" emblazoned across the chest. Navy blue socks and solid blue caps complete the outfits.

Accompanying the team in a managerial capacity will be 1st Lieut. James Tolbert of Austin, Tex., and 2nd Lieut. C. H. Laymon of Indianapolis, Ind., the assistant director of training at the Big Spring school.

The present position setup on the team is as follows: pitchers are Shelton and Browning; catchers are Westenberg, Carr and Nelson; at first base is Millard; at second is Kemp; at third is Smeator; short stop is Ramsey; outfielders are Nicholson, Kirk and McKee; Dunham is the coach-player, and Durham is a utility man, ready to step in and fill anybody's shoes.

Rodeo Slated Friday As A USO Event

Whirling, twisting, bucking steers — unpredictable carrying of wild mules — cowponies bearing down after wild-eyed calves with tails flying high and dashes, quick saddle changes and spills when cinches slip on sharp turns — all this and more too will be in store at a USO-sponsored rodeo here Friday evening.

Designed primarily as an attraction for soldiers—many of whom have seen few if any rodeos — the old west show will be staged at the rodeo grounds in eastern Big Spring through courtesy of the Big Spring Rodeo Association.

Any service uniform will admit the wearer free of charge, and wives of enlisted men will be given tickets if they register in advance at the USO club.

Regular rodeo fans, however, will be charged but will find the show to be bargain priced entertainment. Adult tickets are 50 cents and those for children 25 cents.

There will be only one performance starting at 8 p. m. Program details are still in the making, but Ira Rice, Alvin Walker, Odell Buchanan and many other rodeo performers were drumming up a large field of entries.

Preliminary response indicated upwards of 100 participants in the show and possibly that many head of livestock to be used in the roping and riding events.

"The rodeo is not a benefit affair," explained Ross Clarke, USO director, "but an entertainment designed primarily for service men and for those in the community who like to see rodeos." Should there be any surplus over bare expenses, it will be turned over to some appropriate service fund.

Events definitely shaping up are calf roping, bull riding, pony express race, wild mule race, and a Flag Race for girls and boys. Calf roping offers men who come from other sections a good sample of the skill required by cowboys in catching calves on the open range. In this contest, calves are turned from a chute and given a start. Then the rider bolts out on his pony, whirling his lariat over head until the moment when he whips the loop out. Instantly the well-trained cowpony sits back and tightens the rope while the rider bounds off, throws and ties the calf.

Sometimes this is done in slightly over 15 seconds. Sometimes cowboys miss on two lariats and are out. Sometimes they can't throw calves after they catch 'em.

There probably will be several other embellishments for the program and Clarke said that those in charge would try to organize the program into a rapid-fire affair. Music will be furnished by the Big Spring Bomber School band.

Hughson Whips Yankees Again; Cards Humbled By Chicago Cubs

It's Eighth In A Row For Him Over Bombers

BOSTON, June 26. (AP)—Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the New York Yankees No. 1 fix, beat the American league champions for his third straight time this year and his eighth in-a-row over two seasons today as the Boston Red Sox took a 4 to 1 decision.

In hanging up his ninth victory of 1943 as compared to three setbacks, the Sox ace right-hander tossed a seven hitter and fanned six to bring his total strikeouts for the season to 62. When he whiffed Joe Gordon in the ninth inning, it marked the 44th time that the Yankee second baseman had struck out in 66 games.

Nick Etten drove in the Yanks only run with a single, on top of a pass to Charley Keller and a single by Johnny Lindell, in the first inning. That gave the champs a lead they held until the fifth when Bill Conroy walked, moved up on a sacrifice, and came home on Pete Fox double.

The Sox went ahead in the sixth when Bobby Doerr tripled and Babe Barna walked and stole second. A walk by Atley Donald allowed Doerr to score and Eddie Lake's double accounted for Barna. Successive singles by Fox, Lapen and Tabor in the eighth gave the Sox their final run.

INDIANS EDGED 3-2
CLEVELAND, June 26. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox came from behind in the ninth inning today to whip the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2, tying the series at a game apiece. Rookie Guy Curtright hit safely in his 22nd consecutive game to drive in the tying run, and Chubby Dean walked in the winning tally.

VICTORY FOR BROWNS
ST. LOUIS, June 26. (AP)—Don Gutteridge hit three doubles and each figured in a two-run scoring inning as the St. Louis Browns won their second straight victory from the Detroit Tigers today, 6 to 3.

SENIORS DEFEAT A's 4-1
WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Early Wynn bested Jesse Flores in a hustling duel tonight as Washington defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 1. Bob Johnson of the Senators clubbed a home run with a mate on base in the first inning.

Devil Diver Takes Race

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—Devil Diver, lightly-regarded stable mate of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out, won the 55th running of the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct today.

The two Whitney steppers were hooked up as an entry, and no matter which you liked, you got back $3.90 for each $2 investment.

Although his time of 2:03 2-5 didn't threaten either the track record of 2:02 2-5 or Whirlaway's stake record of 2:02 2-5, the Diver was under a full head of steam and on the express track at the finish of the mile-and-a-quarter. Market Wise, best of the others as he closed from next to last, had a half-length margin on the fading Don Bingo, while Shut Out, after running into all kinds of pockets in the stretch finished fourth, four lengths in back of Crooner Bing's pride and joy.

Back of the top four came Attention, the son of Equipoise, who did some running early in the race, then just went along for the air. Boyy, leader for three quarters of a mile, wound up sixth in the field of nine.

Segura Has Little Trouble In Taking NCAA Net Crown

EVANSTON, Ill., June 26. (AP)—Francisco (Pancho) Segura, as he had said he would be, was a better tennis player today than he was yesterday—when he was sensational. Consequently, he had little trouble in beating Tom Brown, Jr., of California to become the singles champion of the 59th National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

The scores were 6-3, 6-3 and don't think that Brown himself wasn't an excellent and game performer.

Boys At Post Hard At Work For Field Day
It's getting close to Field Day at the Big Spring Bomber School, and the boys are all working like galley slaves trying to get themselves in shape for the games this coming Saturday, July the 3rd.

Entries from every organization on the post are pouring into the physical training office, and it looks like each outfit will be well represented by a strong team of athletes.

Points will be given for the first four places in each event, 5 points for first place, and 3 points, 2 points, and 1 point for the following three. The winning outfit will be awarded a handsome trophy depicting a runner on top of its walnut base, and a winged victory figure perched atop of a slender walnut column. For the 440 shuttle relay, and the mile relay the winners of each event will be presented with smaller trophies each depicting a runner atop a walnut base. The winning tug-of-war team will be given a gold cup, and the first place winners of all other events will be awarded gold medals.

Redbird Lead Is Reduced To A Half-Game

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, self-designated stumbling blocks in the St. Louis Cardinals' plans for a repeat title, humbled the world champions for the third straight time within a week and reduced the Redbirds' league lead to a half-game as they converted Paul Derringer's six-hit pitching into a 5 to 2 victory today.

A three-run sixth inning into which they clustered three of their eight hits off Howie Pollett and in which Lou Novikoff poked the key double to break his four-game slump gave the Cubs their seventh victory over the Redbirds in 13 meetings this year.

Derringer, turning in his third straight winning start in ten days for his season's fifth victory, finished with a flourish, retiring the last 13 batters in succession after Stan Musial was nipped by Catcher Clyde McCullough trying to steal third base for the second out in the fifth inning.

HUBBELL BEATEN
NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—The Boston Braves made it two straight over the New York Giants today, driving Carl Hubbell from the mound with a five-hit attack in the seventh as they scored a 3 to 1 triumph. Jim Tobin, who held the Giants to six hits, drove out a homer for the Braves in the fifth.

HIGBE WINS OWN GAME
PHILADELPHIA, June 26. (AP)—Kirby Higbe won his own game against the Phillies today, pounding over the New York Yankees to provide the Brooklyn Dodgers the winning margin in their 3 to 2 triumph.

PIRATES SWAMP REDS
CINCINNATI, June 26. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates swamped the faltering Cincinnati Reds and Johnny Vander Meer today with a steaming 9 to 0 victory. Bob Elliott hit a homer with one on for the Pirates in the sixth.

Miss Judith Pickle Becomes The Bride Of Lieut. J. P. Lancaster

Before an altar banked with fern and decorated with floor baskets of blue ogonthis, babies breath, feverfew and pink crepe myrtle, Miss Judith Pickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pickle, and Lieut. Jonathan P. Lancaster, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Lancaster of Dexter, N. M., were married in the auditorium of the First Methodist church Friday evening by the bridegroom's father, the Rev. Lancaster, pastor of the First Methodist church at Dexter.

Double ring wedding vows were exchanged at 8 o'clock, and floor baskets of gladioli, stock and other spring flowers marked the place where the wedding party stood. Cathedral tapers in slanting candelabra flanked the altar, and Miss Sue Read and Wynnell Woodall lighted tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white dutchess satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her veil of bride illusion fell from a Mary Queen of Scots cap, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations showered with ogonthis. The traditional something old and borrowed was a strand of pearls belonging to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jarrell Pickle of Austin. Something new was a handkerchief belonging to her sister, Mrs. Bishop L. Bailey, and something blue was a ribbon which she wore in her slipper.

Miss Fern Smith, bridesmaid, was attired in a gown of spicy rose net, fashioned with a bouffant skirt. She wore a Mary Queen of Scots cap, and carried a bouquet of Tallasman roses and orchid statice.

Lieut. Lancaster was attended by his brother, James Lancaster of El Paso.

Mrs. V. H. Flewelling sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me" as pre-nuptial music accompanied on the organ by Mrs. L. R. Mundt, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. Lancaster, who graduated from the Big Spring high school, attended Texas College of Mines, El Paso and received her degree at Texas University. She taught in the Big Spring school system for two years, and has been employed at the sub-depot supply at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

At present, he is stationed with the 14th anti-sub group at Falmouth, Mass., and is holder of the str medal for extraordinary achievement in anti-submarine patrol work.

A reception was held at the Settles Hotel following the ceremony, and refreshments served from a table laid with an ecru lace

Cosden Chatter—

By TOMMIE MCBARRY
R. L. Tollett left Dallas Saturday for New York City to make preparations for the annual meeting of Cosden stockholders to be held in Big Spring July 18.

The entire company is mourning the loss of their friend and fellow employee, Jess Hush. Final rites were conducted Saturday afternoon.

George Grimes, refinery superintendent at Graham, visited in the office last week.

Mrs. W. L. Sandridge and Virginia Satterfield left this week for Corona, Calif., to spend two weeks with Hollis D. Sandridge who is attending a naval medical school.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peters, Sr., attended the graduating exercises for class 48-9 at the Bombardier School Thursday morning.

A. V. Karcher left by plane Saturday for Miami, Fla., upon receipt of word of the death of his brother, Lester Karcher. We extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Karcher.

The new president of the American Business club is our own Jake Morgan. Congratulations!

Marvin Miller is spending the weekend with his family in Graham. We are looking forward to having them all here in Big Spring.

W. E. Gibson left Friday on a business trip to Washington, D. C. The news of the week is the change in temperature in the office building. Speedy was finally able to replace the missing part of the air conditioning system.

It Frank Duley, brother of our Helen, is now at Orlando, Fla., in a special assignment.

Gladys Smith is spending the weekend in Lamesa with relatives.

E. W. Williams is on a business trip to Austin, Fort Worth and Ranger.

Leonard Blackwell vacationed last week. We are expecting him to return Monday morning all refreshed, and with lots of fish stories to tell.

It is exactly 1067 feet from the high way to the corner of the office building. Two of the fellows laboriously measured the distance with a 50-foot tape. What people won't do on a bet!

At last Ann Arsulich has an alarm clock which was donated by a sympathetic friend. It is rather antiquated looking, but after a bath in nail polish, it works swell!

P. S.: Thanks to Newshound Samuel Hafner for helping yours truly this week.

Past Matrons Entertain At The Settles

The Big Spring chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star was host to the other chapters in district two, section eight, with nine other West Texas towns assisting in the all day school of instruction which was held at the Masonic Temple Friday.

Final check revealed that 169 persons registered, representing 19 Eastern Star chapters and grand officers of the organization. Examinations were given through out the day, and 57 A certificates and 52 B certificates were presented for satisfactory completion of examinations.

Registration was held at 9 a. m. with Mrs. Bernard Fisher and Mrs. Eutsa Hall in charge. The opening program started with the pledge of allegiance to the flag, followed with the introduction of grand officers by Mrs. Daisy Sutton of Goldsmith, presiding officer.

Mrs. Addie Bell of Crane gave the invocation and Mrs. Leora Cooper of Midland gave a tribute to the flag. Welcoming address was given by Mrs. Agnes V. Young, past worthy grand matron, and Mrs. Allene Quinn of Odessa gave the response.

Mrs. Alice M. Stewart, district deputy grand matron, presided over the school, and Mrs. Emilee Beckham and Mrs. Peggy Davis sang a duet number. The remainder of the morning session was devoted to lectures for examinations.

Luncheon

A luncheon was held at the Settles hotel at 12 o'clock, and a patriotic motif was used in table decorations. Flags of all allied nations and an arrangement of spring flowers formed the centerpiece, and were placed at vantage points down the table. Mrs. Ethel Lee gave the invocation. Committee in charge of the affair included Mrs. Harry Lee, Mrs. W. W. McCormick and Mrs. Rose Stringfellow.

The afternoon meeting which started at 1:30 o'clock, opened with a piano selection by Miss Lois Garrett of Odessa. The remainder of the program was devoted to examinations and lectures by grand officers.

Douglass Back From Markets

Furniture production has its own limitations because of the war, reports D. D. Douglass, manager of the Barrow Furniture company here, who has just returned from a three-week tour of various manufacturing and marketing centers.

Douglass said that while he was able to buy adequately for his store, the choice of lines is more restricted and some deliveries will be slow. Manufacturers are operating on quotas, and shipments are governed accordingly.

Douglass made an extensive trip, going directly to manufacturers in Fort Worth, Dallas and East Texas points, in Fort Smith, Little Rock and other Arkansas towns, and to the Chicago Merchandise Mart. Because of these visits, he said, he was able to fill in on most lines. There are some acute shortages, however, particularly in floor coverings.

"We have been buying strongly for some months," Douglass said, "and because of our back orders we are continuing to receive furniture. Locally, we have reason to believe we will have sufficient merchandise." Emphasis, because of restrictions, Douglass said, is on better quality lines.

"Seems like Gas does everything!"

Yes, in war production, GAS is Industry's fastest, most versatile fuel

A new type of opaque glass that floats like cork and can be used as the buoyant element in making life boats, life rafts, life preservers and pontoon bridge supports has been developed by the Pittsburgh Corning Corp. It's called "foamglass," has excellent insulating qualities, weighs only 10 pounds per cubic foot and is odorless, fireproof and vermin-proof. Another real role for gas.

Three war plants in one large Canadian city are now using more gas than the whole city used before the war. And they're still putting in more industrial gas furnaces.

It does seem like "Gas does everything!"

Converting gas enameling furnaces and ceramic tunnel kilns to large-scale annealing and heat treating of metals presents several difficult problems—but the task is being accomplished.

Potteries that use gas are busy making dishes for camps, bases and ships. Kilns in other ceramic plants are being altered for the heat-treating of metals. Some ceramic kilns may be converted to the dehydration of foods for our armed forces and those of our allies.

Gas is doing another star war job in making precision glass for fine glass lenses. Utmost care and scientific control must be maintained at every step from selection of materials to precision heating and annealing.

It's Time To Break Spell Ration Coupons Hold On Us

One thing people refuse to hear. That's a ration coupon. It burns holes in pockets, starts stampedes, tricks folks into buying all kinds of things they don't really need. You'd think an unspent coupon was a disgrace.

As the mountaineer did, who, confronted by his coupons, wrote Washington: "I want to be patriotic, but I can't afford to buy all this sugar."

Take Number 17. That was a close one. Thousands almost forgot it. Then came the deadline of June 15. Frantic Americans tore into town with Ration Book Number One, its precious coupon 17 scorching their fingers.

Shoe stores were mobbed. Clothes were torn, feet were trod upon, shoe clerks ran around in a whirl, and exhausted merchants closed their stores that night with a litter of boxes on the floor and half their stock swept off their shelves.

It isn't just shoes, either. Coupon 17 isn't the only guilty one. There are those little red and blue points. They're dangerous, too. Let an expiration date come around, and accumulated coupons come pouring forth in a torrent. Frenzied buyers rush to turn their points into meat and canned goods, regardless of whether they actually need them.

It doesn't make sense. It isn't patriotic. But it happens time and time again. Sometimes you may even find yourself doing it. It's easy to be swept into the current, but it's a current of emotion rather than reason.

The very fact that there are extra points in the book at the end of the period is assurance that there's certainly nothing to worry about. It's time people stopped to think, and refused to be mesmerized by ration coupons.

Fred M. Vinson's Power

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Every time the Administration reshuffles the cards (and not since the appointment of Secretaries of War Stimson and Navy Knox has it done much more than that) the question is where in the wartime deck will the next honors show up.

When the president established the Office of War Mobilization, it was conceded here that it was no more than a reshuffle of the same old deck—with one possible exception. That exception was, of course, Justice Fred W. Vinson, of the District of Columbia court of appeals. "Why Vinson?" asked a lot of observers. The answer is easy.

Vinson, as a member of the special court to hear price-fixing appeals (he was appointed by Chief Justice Stone) made judicial history with his opinion holding that a Brooklyn bank couldn't up the rental on safety deposit boxes.

Although he admitted that the Price Control Act was "a breath-taking legislative departure from our peacetime economic policy," he hewed to the letter of the law. He went further. He admitted that the rental on safety deposit boxes was more or less routine. He was a student at Centre College, Danville, Ky., he was college librarian, student instructor, star quarterback on the football team and the school's pride and joy in mathematics and Latin.

He is a 53-year-old native of Louisville, Ky., and his political rise was more or less routine. He was city attorney, Commonwealth (district) attorney, member of the House of Representatives (in 1924).

New Curbs On Labor. Effects Of Coal Strike To Be Felt For A Long Time

By JOHN GROVEVE
WASHINGTON—Possible long-range effects of the on-again, off-again coal strike have been overshadowed by its immediate threat to war production, but analysts here see it leaving its mark deep on the next several years.

Veteran observers attach great significance to Assistant President James Byrnes' espousal of anti-strike legislation. This move, by the Administration's No. 2 man, indicates a revolutionary Administration tack.

Always before, the administration fought off all attempts to pass legislation restricting organized labor. Within the past three weeks, Madame Secretary Perkins and other Administration spokesmen were sniping at the anti-strike proposal. It is a justified conclusion that their views were pre-approved at the White House. Cabinet members do not customarily run counter to the boss man's policy.

The startling development that Byrnes has thrown his considerable weight in favor of anti-strike laws marks the first time the Administration has tried anything but sweetly reasonable persuasion in dealing with labor chiefs.

The growing group of political wiseacres which sees Byrnes being groomed for a place on the 1944 presidential ticket reads deep meaning into the choice of the assistant president as the first Administration spokesman to support restrictive laws.

It is their thesis the Administration has concluded that the lack of a firm labor policy has been increasingly unpopular over the country, and has determined to bow to this political wind. Byrnes, already being given a build-up, was named sponsor of the new labor line to increase his stature further.

It is the informed consensus that organized labor's days as a pampered political darling are numbered. But no well-posted observer contends that this means an era of labor-baiting and union-busting is about to begin. Far from it.

What the Smith-Connelly bill presages is simply labor's coming of age, if the interpretation of majority analytical opinion is correct. In other words, labor will be forced, by the middle-of-the-road legislation, to accept responsibilities to the national community commensurate with the privileges granted in the past ten years.

Another development freely predicted in the press galleries is the indicated eclipse of the old-time labor boss. The recent troubles in industry have caused even staunch friends of organized labor, who support labor's gains, to conclude that some curb on personal powers is necessary.

It is notable that many who favor continuance and even expansion of organized labor's social gains at the same time differentiate sharply between rank-and-file labor and its entrenched leaders. It is also reported by some congressmen that large blocs of organized labor also favor reforms, forced if necessary, to prevent labor dictatorship and to make the labor movement more

THEY CALL IT PACIFIC

Chapter 24
From about the middle of February we had begun to discuss plans for leaving the Philippines. I had made my arrangements with Lieut. Buckley while Jacoby was keeping in touch with the army officers operating the small ships running to the southern islands and coming back with supplies.

We had two motives for wanting to leave. None of us wanted to fall into Japanese hands there or anywhere else. We had heard that Don Bell, the American radio announcer in Manila, had been tortured and killed after failing to escape from the capital. We had strong reasons to suspect that we would face the same fate.

Our second reason was less selfish. By mid-February we had learned that there was very little likelihood of reinforcements being sent to Bataan. We began to suspect that Bataan was becoming an embarrassment to the military leaders in Washington; the longer it held the louder the American people were clamoring that help be sent. And the government had no intention of taking the risks involved in a major relief expedition. MacArthur's messages, when they were answered, informed him of that fact.

We believed that if we could escape from the Philippines and get to Australia and then fly to the United States, we might be able to persuade the authorities that the battle was not yet lost. We might be able to convince them that MacArthur's army had become a veteran, tough outfit, full of fight and confidence; and tell them that a few airplanes could make all the difference in the world, and that given a little encouragement the people of the Philippines would fight with us to the death.

and together we made arrangements to see MacArthur after noon. He received us at his desk in the USAFFE tunnel.

"Do you want to go?" the general asked.

"We told him that it depended on whether we could do more good by staying than by going. The general refused to make our decision for us, but as a result of what he said we decided to take a chance on getting through.

MacArthur talked to us for more than an hour, as eloquently and stirringly as ever. He discussed not only his own desperate situation, but the entire world picture. His heart was in the Philippines, but his brilliant mind grasped the whole strategy of the world struggle.

He pointed out the futility of trying to defeat Japan by "blockade" and "attrition," now that Singapore had fallen and Java was about to go. With the capture of those places Japan would have all the raw materials and the bases needed for a war of blockade and attrition against us. He was disturbed, but he was not bitter. He was ready to face his fate like a soldier; but, like an American soldier, he wanted to win—not to lose.

Hollywood—Nature Hasn't A Chance With Movie Set Men

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Ain't-nature-grand department:

Out near Santa Anita race track, which isn't a race track any more, the late multimillionaire E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin laid out gardens which attract movie cameras as well as sightseers.

One day not long ago the gardener had another group of interested visitors. One was the movie director, Robert Siodmak. Another was the movie art designer, Alex Goltztein. The rest were "green men" movie landscape artists.

What they saw was a small lake, lily-padded, in the midst of towering, vine-mantled palm trees and a wealth of tropical shrubbery. White swans floated on the water, regally.

"We'll have to skim the moss off the lake," began Goltztein.

"Those trees should be in bloom," said Siodmak. "Have some magnolia tree sin full bloom moved in."

The "green men" took notes as the orders piled up: "Cover the banks of the lake with carpet grass. Montez might bruise her foot on one of those stones."

"Better order about five dozen potted palms and a half dozen different kinds of tropical ferns," said Siodmak.

I went over to the Navy tunnel and found Captain Ray, the chief of staff.

"Captain," I said, "Lieutenant Bulkeley has told me I could go along with him on his trip to China. Now there is a chance for me to leave by another way. What is your advice?"

"You better go the other way," Captain Ray said. "Bulkeley's orders may be changed, or the boats may be sunk or break down, or they may be required for some other purpose."

I thanked him and found Jacoby,

"Go armed while you are in the Philippines," the general advised. "When you board a ship to leave the islands, if you are fortunate enough to make connections, throw away your khaki, your guns, passports, and all diaries and identification papers. When you get to Cebu look up the names of some businessmen and learn enough about them so as to enable you to assume their identity, if you are captured."

When he shook hands with us he said, "I hope you'll make it. Say good-bye to Annalee for me." MacArthur gave us special credentials.

We spent the afternoon making final preparations. I wrote some last dispatches and arranged for Dean Schedler to be relieved from
