

Murder charges dropped in assisted suicide cases

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The second dismissal of murder charges against Dr. Jack Kevorkian puts assisted suicide back in the Legislature's lap, with foes and backers of the practice urging quick action.

Oakland County Circuit Judge David Breck on Tuesday threw out charges against the suicide machine inventor because Michigan has no law against helping someone commit suicide. He also said prosecutors failed to show Kevorkian tripped the devices that two women used to die.

He suggested that Kevorkian stop counseling chronically ill patients for now. "To continue, I fear, hurts your cause, because you may force the Legislature to take hasty, and perhaps improvident, action," he wrote.

The retired Royal Oak pathologist said he has no plans to assist another suicide, but "I would if the case were extreme."

Gov. John Engler wants the Legislature to restrict assisted suicide "before Michigan gets known as the suicide state," spokesman John Truscott said Tuesday. "It's the Legislature's responsibility."

California voters will decide this fall whether the terminally ill should have the right to seek a doctor's help to die. Proposition 161 would let doctors help mentally competent adults in the final stages of a terminal disease kill themselves. Voters in Washington state rejected a similar measure last November.

In Michigan, lawmakers remain deadlocked. Polls suggest most residents believe they should have the right to commit suicide with a doctor's help.

"There's clearly a crisis now in Michigan," said Susan Wolf of the Hastings Center, a medical ethics research institute based in Briarcliff Manor, N.Y.

The Hemlock Society, which advocates the right of terminally ill people to die, suggested that Kevorkian has gone too far. The two women in the latest case were not terminally ill.

"Once again, this points to the need for specific laws allowing physician aid-in-dying and providing adequate safeguards to both patients and physicians," said Cheryl K. Smith, a spokeswoman for the Eugene, Ore.-based group.

The state Senate has approved a bill that would make assisted suicide a felony. Its sponsor, Sen. Fred Dillingham, said he would ask the House to take up the bill today, but that was unlikely since it is the day before summer recess.

"We have more consumer protection for people buying a car than we do for people making this type of decision," Dillingham said.

A House measure that would let doctors help the terminally ill die is stuck in a subcommittee.

"When all is said and done, we'll set parameters for (assisted suicide) and decide how and when it can be done, but we won't make it a crime," said Rep. David Hollister.

"Dr. Kevorkian's methods are questionable. But the issues he raises are legitimate."

Kevorkian, 63, was charged with first-degree murder after the Oct. 23, 1991, deaths of Sherry Miller and Marjorie Wantz.

Miller, 43, of Roseville, had multiple sclerosis. She used a Kevorkian invention to inject a lethal dose of drugs. Wantz, 58, of Sodus, a victim of chronic pelvic pain, inhaled carbon monoxide.

"For those patients, whether terminal or not, who have unmanageable pain, physician-assisted suicide remains an alternative," the judge said in Tuesday's ruling.

Kevorkian also was present when Susan Williams, 52, who suffered from multiple sclerosis, killed herself May 15 by inhaling carbon monoxide. No charges have been filed, but a coroner ruled the death a homicide.

In 1990, Janet Adkins, a 54-year-old Portland, Ore., woman suffering from Alzheimer's disease, died after Kevorkian hooked her up to a machine and she pressed a button that injected lethal drugs. A different judge dismissed a murder charge six months later.

"Michigan leads the country and the civilized world outside of the Netherlands," where euthanasia is legal, Kevorkian said. "Are you going to watch people suffering in agony when we have the power to do something about it?"

Bride dies in car wreck on eve of wedding day

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A man buried his fiancée in her bridal gown three days after they were to have married.

A wedding band was on her finger.

Beverly Davis, 25, and her mother, Betty Davis, 56, were remembered Tuesday by about 300 friends and family.

The women were killed Friday in an auto accident as they returned from decorating a reception hall.

Miss Davis was to have married Eric Schwartz on Saturday. The minister who would have performed the wedding conducted the funeral.

The car the women were in was struck broadside by a charter bus in Bullshead Township.

Low-Cal Country is skinny, not scrawny

By CHERYL BERZANSKIS
Lifestyles Editor

Two of my favorite words were joined in luscious combination - "low-cal" and "country" - and they pertained to another of life's great pleasures - food.

Always wondering how to have my cake, Mississippi Mud preferably, and eat it, too, without paying the dreaded price of cellulite and thunder thighs, I'm always on the look out for gastronomic imposters. That is, recipes which look like the real thing, taste like the real thing, but have 75 calories and take 10 minutes to make.

A piece of mail crossed my desk offering a cookbook called Low-Cal Country by Louise Dilow. The letter further stated that the recipes contained in the cookbook were lower in calories and cholesterol but had all the heartiness of traditional country cooking.

Bingo! I was hooked! I ordered the cookbook, took it home, tried a couple of recipes, and now you get the benefit of my paranoia about fat.

Review

My first endeavor was Baked Chicken with Buttermilk Sauce. Let me pay it the highest compliment of all - I would feed it to company. It was easy, filling and tasty without seeming scrawny. (A country cook would never want it to seem like she was scrimping on anything.)

Seriously, not every selection is what I call "country," but it contains recipes which, while being stripped of every gram of fat and cholesterol possible, are "real food" that "real people" would eat - no tofu chili. Regional selections have been reworked for higher nutrition and lower calorie content. The ingredients are common and the directions clear. The author was consistently interested in good health and fine taste.

My main thought here is that this cookbook is a good beginning point for re-thinking how we cook. Do we need oil to coat the bottom of a non-stick skillet or is a good dose of vegetable cooking spray enough to saute' vegetables or brown chicken breasts? Can we increase a vegetable portion in a recipe and reduce the number of ounces of red meat? Will increased taste through spices replace a craving for sugar?

I feel that if we look critically at old favorites and take a cue from new market offerings such as Low-Cal Country, we can all cook lighter and healthier without sacrificing the comfort foods we hold so dear.

Now about that Mississippi Mud Cake....

Low-fat recipes whet country appetites

BAKED CHICKEN WITH BUTTERMILK SAUCE

- 3-lb. frying chicken
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 tablespoon instant chicken bouillon granules
- 1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
- 1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary
- 2 bay leaves
- 4 medium red potatoes
- 3 carrots
- 2 medium onions
- 1/2 cup low-fat buttermilk
- 3 tablespoons flour
- Paprika
- Salt
- Pepper

Cut up chicken into serving pieces. Remove the skin and all visible fat. Brown chicken pieces in nonstick skillet which has been coated with vegetable cooking spray. Place chicken pieces in sprayed casserole baking dish. Wash and quarter the red potatoes, leaving skin on. Peel carrots and cut into one-inch pieces. Cut onion in vertical slices. Arrange potatoes, carrots and onions around chicken pieces. Sprinkle sweet basil and rosemary on chicken. Pour 3/4 cup of water chicken and vegetables. Add bay leaves. Cover lightly with foil and bake in preheated 350° oven for 45 minutes to one hour, until chicken is tender. Take off foil the last 15 minutes for chicken to brown evenly. Transfer chicken and vegetables to serving platter and keep warm. Pour juices out of casserole into a skillet and add water to make a cup of liquid. Combine buttermilk and flour and add to liquid in the skillet, stirring constantly to blend. Cook on medium heat for five minutes or so until you have a thickened, bubbly gravy. In the meantime, sprinkle paprika over chicken. Pour gravy over chicken, or place in gravy bowl and pass around. Who says you can't have cream gravy while watching your calories.

Food exchanges: 2 meat

MRS. MCMULLAN'S EXTRA GOOD SQUASH CASSEROLE

- 5 or 6 medium yellow squash
- 1 medium onion
- 2 garlic cloves
- 1/4 lb. cheddar cheese, light, grated
- 8 soda crackers, crumbled
- 1/4 cup egg substitute
- 1/2 cup skim milk
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika

Cut up squash and parboil until tender. Saute' onion and garlic in nonstick skillet. Drain squash and mash. Spray a casserole baking dish with vegetable cooking spray. Place a layer of one half of the squash on the bottom, then a layer of crumbled soda crackers, then a layer of grated cheese. Beat milk and egg substitute. Pour one half of the milk-egg mixture on top. Sprinkle with paprika. Repeat a second later, with milk-egg mixture on top. Sprinkle with paprika.

8 servings: 96 calories per serving; 4 grams fat; 7 mg. cholesterol; 1.6 grams saturated fat.

Food exchanges: 1 meat, 1 vegetable, 1/2 fat

OKRA SALAD

- 1 lb. okra
- 3 tomatoes
- 1 medium onion
- Salt to taste
- Black pepper
- 1/4 cup cornmeal
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil

Cut okra into bite-size pieces. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge in cornmeal. Pan fry in Teflon skillet with 1 tablespoon vegetable cooking oil. While okra is frying, chop tomatoes and onions. When okra is tender and light brown, mix with tomatoes and onion. Seal in covered bowl. Let stand a few minutes before serving.

8 servings: 64 calories per serving; 2 grams fat; 0 cholesterol; 0.3 grams saturated fat. Food exchanges: 1 vegetable, 1/2 bread.

Eating 'style' may determine size of girth

You race out of the house in the morning - grabbing an éclair for breakfast - to make it to work on time. Because you don't have time for a sit-down lunch, you opt for a burger and fries to eat on the run. Then, in lieu of time constraints, for dinner you pick up a prepared, greasy chicken.

Sound familiar? The fast-paced lifestyle so many of us lead can challenge our weight-loss efforts. However, identifying our "patterns" or lifestyle rhythms can assist us in trimming our waistlines. Here are examples of different patterns and how to deal with them:

Busybody - if you like your life filled to the brim, try taking a few minutes the night before or wake up earlier to plan the day's meals and prepare a healthy brown-bag breakfast and lunch to be eaten in the car. A bagel, muffin, cheese sandwich and fruit are all good take-along items.

Laid-back - time spent reading, watching television or talking on the phone can often cause us to reach for high-calorie foods without thinking. Try creating non-food related alternative activities which can be performed during leisure times. For example, work on a jigsaw puzzle while visiting on the phone or reorganizing the photo album while watching television. Use your imagination!

Not living in the present - constantly dwelling on - and feeling guilty about - past overeating binges doesn't accomplish anything. Neither does worrying incessantly about future events. While it's natural to glance back at unhealthy eating habits, the purpose should be learning from our mistakes. And instead of worrying about tomorrow, try planning for it.

Swiss Steak

Submitted by Beverly Taylor

- 2 1/2 - 3-lbs. round steak
  - 1 small onion
  - 1 small green pepper
  - 8 oz. sliced fresh mushrooms
  - 16 oz. can stewed tomatoes
  - 4 oz. can tomato sauce
- Brown round steak on both sides, then in same skillet add all of remaining ingredients and simmer until vegetables are cooked to your taste.

Webworms, caterpillars infest trees

Several calls and inquiries about large webs on area trees have come through the office this past week. These are commonly called webworms but could be one of numerous species of worms or caterpillars.

Fall webworms, the most common species, is found on elm, plum, chokeberry, poplar, cottonwood, willow and other hardwoods. Moths emerge in late spring or early summer and lay eggs on the underside of the leaves. Larvae emerge 10 - 14 days later and feed in groups in webbed nests constructed around leaves at branch-ends. By the end of summer the nests may be one meter across and contain fragments of leaves and larvae cast skins.

Uglynest caterpillars are found on cherry, hawthorn and rose. They are seldom abundant enough to cause any lasting damage to their host. Uglynest caterpillars are similar in color and description to fall webworms.

Tent caterpillars feed on many ornamental trees including plum, willow, ash, oak, poplar, and cottonwoods. In the summer, tent caterpillars lay eggs in a cementing substance around twigs. They hatch in early spring as the leaves unfold, and the young caterpillars construct their nests. On warm, sunny days, they emerge from their nests to devour the surrounding foliage. In mid to late summer, brownish to reddish moths appear.

These plus the mimosa webworms are easy to control if insecticides are applied early in the spring or summer. After the webbing around the caterpillars becomes extensive, penetration can be a problem. For best results with large webs, trim out webs and burn remains. Sevin, Diazinon and Orthene do an excellent job of controlling the larvae.

SLIME FLUX OR WET WOOD

Many of you have been concerned about a sudy, watery, substance oozing from branches or trunks on trees, particularly on area willow trees. This is a bacteria called slime flux and also known as wet wood. The bacteria infects the heartwood, producing abnormally high sap pressure. The pressure is caused by bacterial fermentation and forces sap from wounds, cracks or crotches in the trees. Large areas of the bark may be covered with this smelly sap which dries to a grayish-white color.

There are no chemical controls for this condition. bore a slightly slanted drainage hole through the wood below each oozing wound. Insert 1/2 inch diameter plastic tube just until it stays firmly in place. The tube will carry dripping sap away from the trunk. Be sure to disinfect tools with rubbing alcohol after pruning infected trees.

Men who wear hats indoors should hang heads in shame

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I moved to South Texas, I have been annoyed by the lack of common sense and courtesy displayed by men who wear baseball and cowboy hats indoors — particularly in churches, classrooms and theaters. Apparently, it has never occurred to them that not only are they being rude, but they are also blocking the view of most people seated behind them.

I assume that these men have never been informed that it is impolite to wear their hats and caps indoors.

Since this may be a new subject to your readers, let me paraphrase Llewellyn Miller's Encyclopedia of Etiquette on this subject:

Men are required to remove their hats on entering places of worship during a prayer, burial, dedication or wedding; during the raising or lowering of our flag or while the flag is passing in a parade; during the Pledge of Allegiance; on entering the inner lobby of a theater; and on entering a restaurant.

DAVID L. LAUGHLIN,
REFERENCE LIBRARIAN,
KINGSVILLE, TEXAS

DEAR MR. LAUGHLIN: Thank you for the above information — particularly that which concerns the American flag. However, in most instances, religious tradition outranks social etiquette, so if you should visit an Orthodox synagogue in South Texas, you will find Jewish males wearing hats — not necessarily cowboy hats, but their heads will be covered with small skull caps called "yarmulkes."

DEAR ABBY: A few years back, you published a letter in which a reader told you off, saying that God alone was the only truly qualified "family planner."

I clipped it out to save and now I can't find it. If you recall that letter, will you please run it again? I thought your answer was one of your best.

RUTH COMSTOCK,
LA JOLLA, CALIF.

DEAR RUTH: I found it:
DEAR ABBY: Since God alone can create life, and since God alone

Dear Abby

knows what tomorrow brings, he alone is truly qualified as a family planner.

How did a smart girl like you ever get taken in by Planned Parenthood?

A LONG-TIME ADMIRER

DEAR ADMIRER: I read the figures on the population explosion and saw pictures of thousands of starving children born of parents who did not want them and could not feed them. I then concluded that a just God could not possibly have given life to innocent children only to doom them to death by starvation in their infancy.

DEAR ABBY: When I read your column in The Kansas City Star regarding mistakes in grammar and pronunciation, I was disappointed that no one mentioned the oft-quoted phrase: "A mind is a terrible thing to waste."

I cringe every time I hear it, and wish someone would phrase it right: "A mind is not a terrible thing — "It is a terrible thing to waste a mind" is what is meant.

Thank you for setting the record straight.

MS. NAOMI BOYCE,
BONNER SPRINGS, KAN.

DEAR MS. BOYCE: It is indeed terrible when a mind is wasted because the person lacked the funds to attend college. The United Negro College Fund adopted those words for its national fund-raising slogan. Bill Cosby and Oprah Winfrey have been generous beyond description in support of that cause.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could be rather fortunate today where your material interests are concerned. However, there are indications you might not be as adept at handling things that affect your reputation. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) As long as you treat today's developments philosophically, this should be a pleasant day for you. However, if you lose your cool and overreact, you could cause yourself and others discomfort.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Strive to be as fair toward yourself today as you will be toward others. You're entitled to the same considerations as they are — no more, no less.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you do things with a partner today, you'll be held accountable for this individual's tactics and procedures. Be sure the person you're teamed with measures up to your standards.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Objectives can be achieved today. Provided you do things the way you envision they should be done. Input from outsiders could have a negative influence and steer you off course.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're planning on having a social event today, leave people who don't mix well with one another off your guest list. They could clash and spoil everyone's good time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There are ample opportunities around you today, but there is a chance you might be oblivious to their presence. If you cannot recognize them, you'll have only yourself to blame.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's important that you treat everyone you're involved with today on equal terms. Don't kowtow to the big shots while disrespectfully patronizing the little guys.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Financial trends could be a trifle unstable today. In situations where you come out ahead, make certain you don't do things that might nullify your gains.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be careful today that you don't put yourself in a position where you are operating against your better judgment and best interests. You could be your own worst enemy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your luck has its limitations today, so don't press it too far, especially in situations where you think it can be used as a substitute for honest effort.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you do not dominate events today, they will end up dominating you. Have a game plan that makes sense and stick to it, or else you may be buffeted about.

Hidden Hills Seniors pair with British Open

Last week during the British Open, the Hidden Hills Senior Golf Association held a very unique tournament.

Each senior drew a professional from the British Open to be their partner. At the end of the tournament both scores were added together to determine the winner.

FIRST LOW GROSS went to the team of Charlie Harper and Raymond Floyd with a 144.

FIRST LOW NET went to Bob Brandon and Ian Woodsnam with a 130.

SECOND LOW NET honors went to Arthell Gipson and Greg Turner at 137.

Keep up the good play, seniors!!!

In the Hidden Hills Thursday Night Scramble, first place went to the team of Kyle Woods, Harley Knutson, Richard Abbott and Mike Hutcherson with a 32. Second went to Mike Handley, Jim Stroud, Mike Bradford and Mike McGivern.

DON'T FORGET, the Third Annual Pampa News City Championship, Aug. 8 and 9 at Hidden Hills. The tournament is open to all Gray County residents. Entry fee is $45 plus cart. To enter contact David Teichmann at the course. Entry deadline is Aug. 6.

We would like to wish the seniors the best of luck next week during the Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament at the Pampa Country Club.

GOLFING FEATS...

HIDDEN HILLS...Bob Brandon shot a 39 on the front nine, his best ever. Harvey Malone shot a 87 for his best round ever. Lynn Thornton shot a 79, his best ever. Good round, Lynn!!!

PAMPA COUNTRY CLUB...Ralph Baker made an eagle-2 on the par-4 ninth hole. He hit a driver and a 9-iron. Good shot, Ralph!!! Weldon Talley shot a 72, his best ever. I'll need some ups next time we play. Until next week, SEE YA' IN THE ROUGH.

Late scuffle makes Rangers fighting mad

Texas stops losing skid after brawl in 10th

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A hard, fight-provoking slide followed by a long drive brought an end to a four-game losing streak for the Texas Rangers.

"A brawl is OK as long as nobody gets hurt. It seemed to have fired our guys up. We needed it," Rangers manager Toby Harrah said.

Moments after Dickie Thon slid into Milwaukee second baseman Scott Fletcher, prompting a bench-clearing fight, Rafael Palmeiro hit a three-run homer in the 10th inning as the Rangers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 6-3 Tuesday night.

"We had a lot of excitement but we came out of it on the short end," said Brewers manager Phil Garner after his team denied Nolan Ryan his fifth straight victory but still couldn't extend its four-game winning streak.

"It was just a matter of the game. I went hard, and after I went hard he kind of pushed me after I was coming off," said Thon. "I just reacted. It was nothing against him. I was just playing hard. I wasn't trying to do anything. I guess he didn't like it."

Jeff Frye and Thon had singled off Darren Holmes (3-4) to start the 10th. When Dean Palmer grounded to third, Kevin Seitzer threw to second and Thon slid in hard. Both he and Fletcher came up swinging and both were ejected.

"I was trying to throw him off. I was trying to get to my feet and he grabbed my jersey," said Fletcher. "That's when the swinging started. I don't know if I landed any punches...On the replay it looked like he might have come out pretty far (on the slide)."

Garner naturally defended Fletcher. He argued with home plate umpire Ken Kaiser that Thon used a roll block.

"I didn't see what happened. I don't think Scotty had anything to do with it. He was trying to turn the double play," Garner said. "I thought roll blocks were illegal."

After the field was cleared, Dan Plesac relieved Holmes (3-

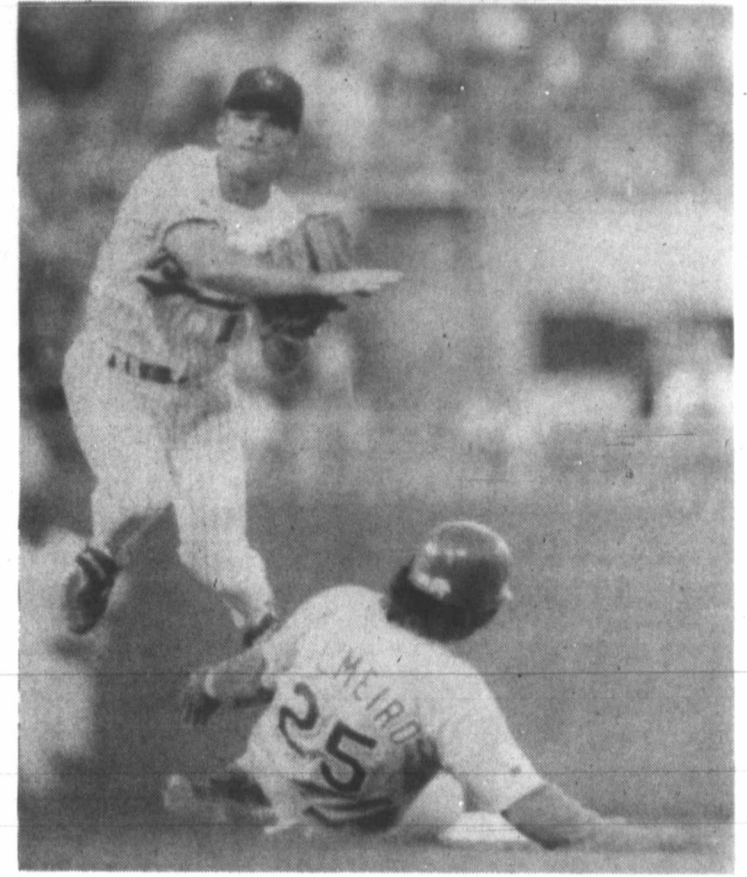

4) and surrendered Palmeiro's second homer of the game and 11th of the season. The homer came on an 0-2 pitch.

"It was just a little brawl. I don't think that had anything to do with it (the homer)," said Palmeiro. "That was not on my mind. It was just one of those things that happened between two guys."

Terry Mathews (2-4) pitched 2 1-3 innings for the victory, allowing three hits and one run, but he failed to protect a lead for Ryan. Five times this season the Rangers' bullpen has blown a lead after Ryan departed and three of them have come against the Brewers. The Rangers have 17 blown saves.

Ryan lasted 6 2-3 innings, allowing seven hits with two walks and four strikeouts, but couldn't get his 319th career victory.

"It's been a frustrating year for everyone on this team. We have a great team. The starting pitchers keep us in the game and at the end we screw it up and give it away," said Palmeiro.

Houston's Cody Carlson struggles with backup role to Warren Moon

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Cody Carlson has a word for his five years as a backup to Houston Oilers four-time Pro Bowl quarterback Warren Moon. Boring.

"It gets a little bit, instead of saying frustrating, I'd like to say it's boring," Carlson said. "You have to fight through that and stay ready and be prepared."

Not frustrating? "It would be frustrating if I played my whole career as a backup," Carlson said as he faces yet another season of anonymity while Moon embellishes his stardom.

Not bitter? "I kind of whined and moaned (seeking a trade in 1989) thinking that might free me up but I've never been bitter about my situation," Carlson said. "I probably didn't handle that right but I haven't been frustrated to the point that it made me a different person away from the game."

Attention turned to Carlson on Sunday when Moon failed to make the first team meeting because he's involved in a contract dispute over a clause in his contract.

Carlson quickly realized this wasn't his big chance. He knew that Moon would arrive soon and that he'd return to the role of understudy until the next time there is a question about Moon's status.

He can even muster the positive aspects of his predicament.

"On the positive side I haven't experienced the punishment most people have at this stage and I feel very fresh physically," Carlson said.

Carlson appeared in three games last season, completing seven of 12 passes for 114 yards. He was sacked once for a nine yard loss. It was the lowest production of his career since his rookie season when he didn't get in a game.

For that, Carlson went through the grueling preseason practice, four preseason games and the regular season that ended abruptly in the second round of the playoffs.

Now he's back fighting the boredom. "If I could write a script, it would be competing for the starting job and winning it with the Houston Oilers," Carlson said. "That's what I'd like to do, but if it's with another team, so be it."

Carlson has had moments of brilliance. With Moon sidelined with a dislocated thumb, Carlson completed 22 of 29 passes for 247 yards and three touchdowns for a 34-14 victory over Pittsburgh that put the Oilers in the 1990 playoffs.

But the following week, Carlson completed 16 of 33 for 165 yards and an interception as Cincinnati beat the Oilers 41-14 in a first round playoff game.

"This preseason will be a good opportunity for Cody to show us he can have the consistency to do it game after game," offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride said.

Moon, 35, is under contract through next season but the Oilers must look ahead to his replacement and Carlson is hoping to be the successor.

A busy preseason with five exhibition games and two scrimmages with the Dallas Cowboys will give the Oilers chances to examine Carlson.

Houston couple sues Nolan Ryan

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County couple has filed a lawsuit against Texas Rangers pitcher Nolan Ryan claiming he breached a contract that gave their business the exclusive right to sell likenesses of his hands.

The lawsuit, filed by Bronze Memories Inc., and its owners, Roy and Bernadette Champomont of Katy, names Ryan, Matt Merola and Mattgo Enterprises, as defendants.

The lawsuit alleges that the former Houston Astros pitcher signed a contract with Bronze Memories in June 1989, giving the bronze-art business the exclusive rights to manufacture and market bronze or other non-photographic reproductions of the pitcher's hands, according to court records.

Ryan was paid $25,000 for the rights, along with his commitment that he would autograph baseballs and photos to be sold along with the bronze castings, the lawsuit alleges. Each casting of Ryan's pitching hand was to contain one of the baseballs.

Ryan was to receive 10 percent of the gross revenues from the sales, records in the lawsuit, filed last Friday, show.

The Champomonts learned about a year after the contract was signed that Ryan had signed a contract in 1985 with L.T.D. Premium Co., giving that company the licensed rights to produce items bearing his likeness, particularly his face and hands. The lawsuit says Merola participated in the negotiation of both contracts.

The lawsuit alleges Ryan, Merola and Mattgo violated the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act. It also alleges breach of contract and fraud, since they did not get the exclusive rights for which they were contracting.

Dream Team ho-hums past France in exhibition

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Never again will Magic Johnson roam the beaches of Monaco in peace.

Johnson and Michael Jordan were the darlings of the small sellout crowd at Stade Louis II arena Tuesday night as a U.S. Olympic team of NBA professionals made its European debut with a 111-71 victory over France.

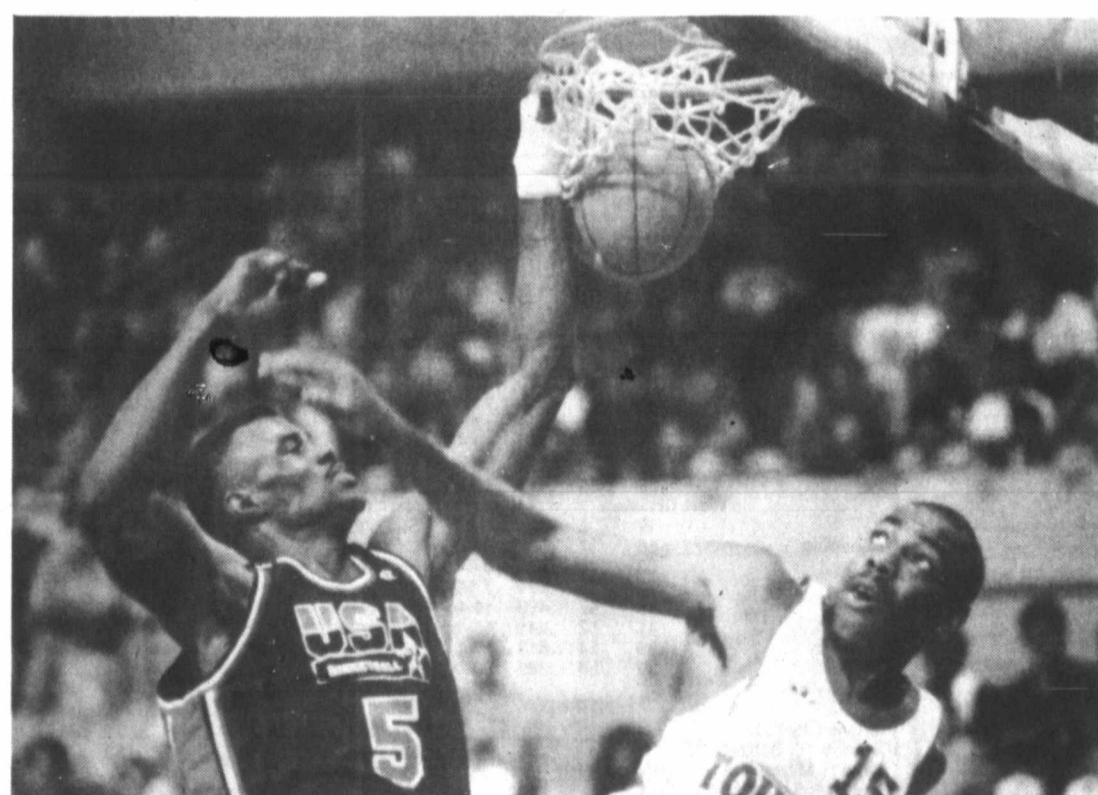

"I was at the beach for an hour and it was OK," Johnson said. "Then four kids recognized me and it was just like I was at home. I could never go out for that long at home."

Johnson's 8-point, 11-assist performance in the pre-Olympic exhibition game and his appearance in the Olympics at Barcelona may guarantee that he will never again have a peaceful life in public.

Johnson and Jordan had the crowd, including Princes Rainier and Albert, chanting "Magic! Magic!" and "Jordan! Jordan!" during the game.

"They've seen us on television here, but most of them never in person, so they wanted to see us in person," Johnson said. "I guess they made me minister of basketball tonight. I didn't expect anything like this."

Many of Johnson's assists came on spectacular passes.

After the game, he was asked to go up to the royal box to accept the handshake of Rainier and his son, while many in the crowd went on the court to wave and shout at Johnson.

Jordan scored 21 points, 17 in the first half when the United States started slowly against the French national team.

"The crowd showed a lot of respect for us," Jordan said.

"At home the opposing crowd usually respects you but they don't show it. This crowd didn't boo us at all."

Jordan said the hoopla surrounding the first team of NBA players in the Olympics won't be a distraction to the players.

"It might be a distraction for the other team because they aren't used to it," Jordan said. "We're all used to the hype."

Charles Barkley scored 14 of his 21 points in the second half and also was a crowd favorite with five dunks. Clyde Drexler scored all of his points on four dunks for the United States, which was rusty from the outside, missing six of seven 3-pointers.

"Any basketball fan should like to see us play," Barkley said. "We try to be as athletic as we can — run and dunk and playing defense."

The game was the final American tuneup for the Olympics, in which the United States is the prohibitive gold-medal favorite. The Americans conclude their training period in Monte Carlo on Friday and will play their first two games at Barcelona on Sunday and Monday, against Angola and Croatia.

"The games I'm looking forward to are the ones against the best teams — like Brazil, Croatia, Lithuania and Germany," Barkley said.

Chris Mullin, who scored 16 points for the Americans, often was misidentified by the French-speaking public address announcer as John Stockton, who is still recovering from a broken leg.

Larry Bird, who missed most of the Olympic qualifying tournament in Portland with a stiff back, started for the United States but played only 16 minutes with two points.

"It's hard to judge how Larry played because he was so tentative," coach Chuck Daly said. "But the whole team was rusty."

Spurs sign Daniels

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — New York City legend Lloyd Daniels is finally getting a chance to prove he's a New York City legend.

The San Antonio Spurs announced Tuesday the team has signed the trouble-plagued street basketball star to a two-year contract.

"It's a dream to be playing in the NBA," Daniels said. "There are a lot of kids out there that play basketball like myself, wishing they could get an opportunity like this. I'm just going to do the best I can do with it."

The 6-foot-8 Daniels most recently played with the Long Island Surf of the United States Basketball League, averaging 23.7 points, 6 rebounds and 7.8 assists during a 16-game season.

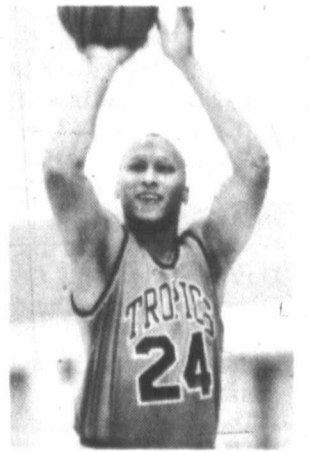

Joining the Spurs means Daniels gets another shot at playing for coach Jerry Tarkanian, the new San Antonio coach who recruited him to play for UNLV in 1987. Daniels never got to play there after getting arrested in a Las Vegas crack cocaine house.

Daniels, 24, has never played college or NBA basketball. Nicknamed "Sweet Pea," he was a schoolboy star and playground legend in New York before trouble beset him, almost dashing any hope of him making it to the big-time.

He attended five high schools in three years, never received a high school diploma and read at a third-grade level when he arrived at UNLV. The NCAA investigated alleged irregularities in connection with his recruitment there.

Later, after the cocaine arrest in Las Vegas, Daniels was shot three times in 1989 in an alleged drug dispute. A bullet is still lodged in the back of his left shoulder.

Daniels has been through two rehabilitation centers. He says he now is free of drugs and alcohol, has a 3-month-old daughter and plans to marry his longtime girlfriend.

Cowboys, LA Raiders slug it out in joint drills

By The Associated Press

Eric Dickerson of the Los Angeles Raiders, light jersey, is stopped by Dallas defender Larry Brown (24) and other Cowboys during joint training camp drills in Austin Tuesday.

It didn't take long for hostilities to break out Tuesday when the Los Angeles Raiders visited the Dallas Cowboys training camp in Austin for three days of work.

Dallas defensive tackle Russell Maryland and Los Angeles Raiders guard Steve Wisniewski tangled in a typical football fight before they were separated.

Each landed several blows to the other players' helmet. "It was my first football fight since I was a redshirt freshman at Miami," Maryland said.

"I thought I got a few cheap shots from Wisniewski and I wasn't going to take it."

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson wasn't pleased about the scuffle. "Tempers flare and things like that happen when you get two teams together," Johnson said. "I don't want it to be a habit. I'm not as concerned about the fight as I am 15 yards penalties."

"We were the least penalized team in the NFL last year and I want to keep it that way."

The Cowboys and Raiders will work against each other in two-a-day sessions through Thursday. The Raiders will fly to Phoenix later for more work against the Cardinals.

Simms, who will be 37 in November, started the final four games. He completed 82 of 141 passes for 993 yards, eight touchdowns and four interceptions in 1991.

Kemp joined the Eagles before their eighth game last season, one day after being placed on waivers by Seattle. This will be his 11th NFL season.

Kemp's value to the Giants before their eighth game last season, one day after being placed on waivers by Seattle. This will be his 11th NFL season.

Last season, Kemp completed 57 of 114 passes for 546 yards and five touchdowns. He also rushed 38 times for 179 yards.

Also signing was Jeff Snyder, the Eagles' sixth-round draft choice. The 5-foot-6, 170-pound Snyder is a wide receiver and punt returner out of the University of Hawaii.

Salisbury, 29, was elevated to second-string two weeks ago when Minnesota cut Wade Wilson.

With top quarterback Rich Gannon unsigned and Wilson now playing for the Atlanta Falcons, Salisbury will be the main man in camp. However, Salisbury knows that his first-string status could end as soon as Gannon signs.

"I worked hard as a third-stringer. I'll work hard as the backup. I'll work hard if I'm the starter," he said. "You're not going to get any more out of me."

Before joining the Vikings in 1990, Salisbury starred for Winnipeg of the Canadian Football League.

Camp has just started and Denver already has quarterback problems.

Steve Pelluer, the backup to John Elway, has a sore throwing arm, leaving Shawn Moore as the only available quarterback who can throw without restrictions.

Elway is easing back into throwing following shoulder surgery, and rookie Tommy Maddox has yet to sign.

Jays top California

By The Associated Press

Think the Minnesota Twins miss Jack Morris?

On a night when Morris, the World Series hero for the Twins a year ago, put on another solid performance to help the Toronto Blue Jays increase their division lead, the Twins were turning to the man who replaced him as their ace.

And Kevin Tapani proved he's no Jack Morris.

The Jays rallied for the final six runs of the game Tuesday night and defeated California 9-5, increasing their AL East lead over Baltimore to 4 1/2 games.

Minnesota, meanwhile, got a weak outing from Tapani and fell for the second straight night to the Cleveland Indians 5-2. The Twins remain three games ahead of Oakland.

In other games, Kansas City defeated Boston 8-0, Texas beat Milwaukee 6-3 in 10 innings, Chicago beat Baltimore 10-7, New York defeated Oakland 5-1 and Detroit beat Seattle 6-2.

Royals 8, Red Sox 0

Hippolito Pichardo, a 22-year-old rookie who saw only limited success in Double-A ball, surprised everybody by throwing a one-hitter against Boston.

"I was very happy, happy to get my first shutout and my first major league complete game, and that I made it past the sixth inning," Pichardo (5-4), who was a career 9-21 in the minors, said through an interpreter.

Yankees 5, Athletics 1

In Oakland, Danny Tartabull hit a two-run homer and Charlie Hayes drove in two runs with a slump-ending double as New York posted its third straight win over Oakland.

Melido Perez (9-8) pitched a four-hitter for his fifth complete game of the season. He struck out seven and walked four as he became the Yankees' winningest pitcher this season.

White Sox 10, Orioles 7

In Chicago, Steve Sax's two-run single highlighted an eight-run eighth inning — the White Sox's biggest inning of the year — and lifted Chicago to a 10-7 win over the Baltimore Orioles.

Baltimore starter Rick Sutcliffe, looking for career win No. 150, took a 7-2 lead into the eighth, only to see Chicago rally for the win.

The win went to Terry Leach (2-3), who pitched a scoreless eighth and ninth. Todd Frohwirth (3-1) took the loss.

Tigers 6, Mariners 2

In Seattle, Mickey Tettleton hit his 21st home run and Frank Tanana won for the fifth time in his last eight starts.

Kansas City pitcher Hipolito Pichardo works against the Boston Red Sox Tuesday in Kansas City. Pichardo threw his first complete game, a one-hitter.

Atlanta wins 10th consecutive game

By The Associated Press

Back in early May, the Atlanta Braves blew a 9-0 lead in the fourth inning at St. Louis, wound up losing 12-11 and immediately went into their only prolonged slump of the season.

So when the Braves wasted a 6-1 lead at Busch Stadium Tuesday night and saw the Cardinals go ahead, it looked like a repeat performance.

Only there's one difference these days — Atlanta doesn't lose anymore.

The Braves came through again, bouncing back to tie it on Ron Gant's home run, then winning 9-7 in the 12th inning for their 10th straight victory.

In other games, Houston rallied past Pittsburgh 4-3 in 12 innings, Chicago edged Cincinnati 1-0, New York defeated Los Angeles 5-2, San Diego held off Philadelphia 4-3 and Montreal beat San Francisco 5-1.

Astros 4, Pirates 3

Rookie Juan Guerrero hit his first major league homer, a one-out shot in the 12th inning that gave Houston its second straight dramatic victory over Pittsburgh at the Astrodome.

The Astros rallied for three runs in the ninth against Doug Drabek and Stan Belinda to tie it. Then Guerrero, who averaged 15 home runs during the last four years in the minors, connected in his 65th at-bat in the majors.

Cubs 1, Reds 0

Kal Daniels hit a home run in the fourth inning and four Chicago pitchers made it stand up, combining for a three-hitter in Cincinnati. The Cubs ended the Reds' four-game winning streak.

Mets 5, Dodgers 2

Bret Saberhagen, pitching for the first time since May 15 because of tendonitis in his right index finger, held Los Angeles to one run in five innings and New York rallied to win with four runs in the eighth at Shea Stadium.

Saberhagen threw 67 pitches and gave up five hits. Lee Guetterman (2-0) wound up with the win and Anthony Young got his fifth save.

Expos 5, Giants 1

Marquis Grissom stole four bases, tying a team record and increasing his major league-leading total to 50, as Montreal rushed past San Francisco at Olympic Stadium.

Grissom scored twice, once on a jarring play at the plate that sent catcher Kirt Manwaring to the hospital, and Larry Walker hit a two-run homer as the Expos sent the Giants to their fifth straight loss.

Aggies, OU sign deal

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas A&M will renew its football rivalry with the University of Oklahoma in 1993, officials for both schools announced today.

Aggies Athletic Director John David Crow and OU Athletic Director Donnie Duncan said the two-game series will begin in Norman next year and move to College Station in 1994.

"The dates for those games have not been set.

"This series is great for college football," Crow said. "These two schools have tradition-rich programs and the support of both schools will make for quite an exciting event."

"The University of Oklahoma and Texas A&M University are always among the nation's best," Duncan said. "This series offers college football fans in Norman, College Station and across the country the opportunity to see two of the best in action."

The Sooners hold a 7-5 advantage over A&M in the series, which began back in 1903 with Oklahoma winning 6-0. The schools met every year from 1944 through 1951 with the Aggies winning 14-7 in the last meeting.

UT's Murray miffed

at San Francisco

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas center fielder Calvin Murray says he has not signed with the San Francisco Giants, and is so upset by their contract negotiations that he may return to school to play his senior year.

"I'm not even close to signing," Murray told the Austin American-Statesman on Tuesday as he prepared to leave for Barcelona, Spain, with the U.S. Olympic baseball team.

Earlier reports indicated that Murray signed a $500,000 bonus with the Giants.

But Murray said he rejected the offer after Stanford outfielder and fellow Olympian Jeffrey Hammonds signed for a $975,000 bonus with Baltimore.

"I'm not going to sell myself short," Murray said. "When I sign, if I sign, I want to be happy. If I would have signed for $500,000, I'd have been upset," he said. Murray is the only Southwest Conference player to steal more than 40 bases three consecutive seasons, and hit a team-high .351 last season.

Quarterback announces

he's transferring to TCU

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Chris Gilliam, who led Northwestern State to three victories last season before breaking an elbow, says he is transferring to Texas Christian University.

The decision to transfer was based on several factors, notably the chance to play closer to home and with high school friends, Gilliam said Tuesday.

Gilliam, a 6-1, 198-pound sophomore, is from Sherman, Texas, about 80 miles northeast of Fort Worth, home of TCU.

Northwestern State head coach Sam Goodwin called Gilliam's decision a major setback for his program. "It's a tremendous loss for us. We didn't recruit a quarterback this past year because we were very confident of Chris' ability. Chris is a great athlete. Probably the best we've had here since I've been aboard. He's going to be missed," Goodwin said.
