Alanreed ISD faces 'last hurrah'

By BETH MILLER
Senior Staff Writer

ALANREED — Taxpayers poured into the Alanreed school Thursday evening after learning that the school board was scheduled to vote on a significant tax increase to keep the small school district alive for one more year.

Most school board members and Superintendent Billy Bob Adams said, however, that this is likely the last year for the kindergarten through eight-grade school district. There are 10 students this year, five of whom are transfer students from McLean Independent School District.

School Board President Dick Bode said, "We're through this year. This is our last hurrah."

About 30 people attended the school board meeting, during which a public hearing was conducted on the 1992-93 budget of $252,961, which was adopted by the school board.

A tax rate of 35 cents per $100 property valuation was also adopted by the board. The 35 cents represents a 13.5-cent increase over last year's rate of 21.5 cents per $100 valuation. That rate is subject to a tax rollback.

The board had published a notice in The Pampa News which stated that it was proposing a 39 cents per $100 valuation, but Adams recommended Thursday that the board adopt the 35 cents rate, which was unanimously approved. No one attended a public hearing on the tax rate held Aug. 27. The notice of the hearing was published in The Pampa News, but those attending the meeting Thursday said they do not subscribe to the newspaper and were unaware of the meeting.

Most of the tiny school district's problems with staying in operation were blamed on the unconstitutional County Education Districts. In the 1991-92 school year, Alanreed ISD taxpayers paid in $172,000 to CED 14 and received only $56,931 from the CED, a loss of $115,069. The school district was scheduled to receive $85,511 back from the CED, but due to a loss of students — an average daily attendance drop from 19.6 to 13.85 in 1991-92 — more had to be paid to the CED.

One person asked what would happen if Alanreed ISD did not pay the money to the CED.

Bode said, "If we did not pay the money to the CED, they would close our doors."

Others then questioned why the school was going to stay open.

Bode responded, "We had two elections and the decision by the local people is that they want to continue to operate the school because the taxes here, have been in the past, lower than the district we might have merged with."

One taxpayer responded, "We didn't know how fast we were going to get that doubled, did we?"

Bode said, "Just because I'm on the school board, that doesn't make me exempt from paying taxes, that doesn't make me exempt from having an opinion about the CED ... It's very simple when you get right down to it — we have to comply with state law or be closed. The community decided they wanted a school, they're going to have to pay the taxes."

Adams said that if Alanreed did not have a school district, the taxpayers would have paid a total of $1,235 cents per $100 valuation last year (to McLean ISD), compared to the 97 cents per $100 valuation they actually paid to Alanreed ISD.

Jimmy Shaw said, "I think the first meeting we had up here about combining these schools, the statement was made that there would probably be no reason for us not to have school here another year without raising any of the taxes without any problem."

Bode said, "If that remark was made, the one thing you should understand is the CED had a 20 percent increase, which is not within our control."

Monte Johnson, an Alanreed ISD taxpayer of Amarillo, asked, "Do you think you might have ballooned this budget a little too much when we're $18,000 more than last year and we had more students then?"

Bode said that the budget did have some fat, but that was because the district did not want to have a shortfall prior to school being out.

The school district's fund balance

(reserves) at the beginning of the 1991-92 school year was $241,473. At the end of the 1991-92 school year, that fund balance stood at $131,692 and it is expected to be depleted by the end of this school year, Adams said.

Delbert Trew said, "I think you've done the best you can under the circumstances ... I'll even commend you ... I'm not going to like it, but I guess I'm going to have to pay it whether I like it or not. I'm going to pay for my ignorance of what was going on."

"... You've done it legal. It was posted so there's no problem. But I think I was certainly misled and I'll blame that on my ignorance. My question is how far are we going? ... I'd like to know where we're going to shut this thing off?"

Bode responded, "We are elected by the community. The majority has decided that there would be school. We, by oath, have committed ourselves to serving this community's school. We have no choice ... we were sworn to uphold their wishes, but if the dollars aren't there (next school year), what are we going to do?"

Trew said later, "I'm willing to give you a check right now for my taxes this year because I don't think there's anything I can do about it, but I'll tell you next year it's going to be a damn fight, Dick (Bode)."

Bode said, "And I'm willing to tell you I'm not going to be on the board next year."

Dedication set for million-dollar Recreation Park

By ANGELA LEGGETT
Staff Writer

A brief dedication ceremony for the $1 million Recreation Park project is scheduled for 6 p.m. Saturday near the lake and picnic areas at Recreation Park.

"The project was made possible by a $500,000 matching grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department," said City Manager Glen Hackler. "It is the product of the tireless efforts of multiple city departments and generous assistance from Gray County."

Recreation Park promises to be a regular showcase for a variety of leisure activities, he said.

The park will include 134 acres of leisure area, a seven-surface-area lake with boat launch, pier and beach volleyball, 28 recreational vehicle hook-ups with water, sewer, electrical and shower facilities, lighted softball fourplex with rest rooms and concession areas, group shelter, picnic area, kiddie park and hiking trail.

Also located at Recreation Park is the Top O' Texas Rodeo Arena, livestock pavilion, skeet and trap range, and rifle range.

"The city matched the grant in money and labor," Hackler said. "We spent less than $200,000 in cash and over $350,000 in labor and equipment."

Hackler added, "Completion of the park is estimated to be 90 to 95 percent by Saturday."

Opening of the leisure area will be within 60 days, he said. All of the facilities, the softball fields and the fishing lake will be open and stocked by spring.

The approximate half-hour presentation will include a welcome by Mayor Richard Peet, an invocation by Dr. Darrel Rains, pastor of First Baptist Church, and a historical perspective by State Rep. Warren Chisum.

"Warren Chisum fished in the lake 35 years ago," Hackler said. "He will tell about the history of the park."

"Parks Director Reed Kirkpatrick will present how the park idea developed and what the project involves," Hackler said.

"It is the product of the tireless efforts of multiple city departments and generous assistance from Gray County," City Manager Glen Hackler manager invites residents to take self-guided tours of the park facilities.

The project was made possible by Pampa businesses, originations, employees and volunteers.

"Gray County Commissioners Court and workers spent four to six weeks volunteering to dig the lake bed," Hackler said. "They made a 12-month project a 60-day project."

The unveiling of a commemorative marker will be done by Richard Morris, city engineer and Susan Crane, city purchasing agent.

Hackler is scheduled to make concluding remarks and acknowledgements.

Following the ceremony the city

Hoechst Celanese donated the iron structure and some of the siding for the group shelter building.

"Four thousand dollars was donated for beach volleyball by the Rotary Club," Hackler said. "Top O' Texas did work on their facility as well as fencing on the perimeter of the park."

"Thousands upon thousands of hours were done by the city crew," he said. "There were times when half of our work force (city employees) were working on the project."

The city contracted for some of the work, but did a large percentage themselves along with keeping the city operating.

"When the quality of work is seen," Hackler said, "it is obvious people took pride in the work they did and the project."

There will be a few things to be completed in the upcoming months including parking space striping, kiddie park equipment installation and something to prevent driving off of the road, Hackler said.

The park is handicap accessible.

"The group shelter hike and bike trail are still remaining," he said. "We received a grant for 100 trees to be added to the park in February."

One group shelter with rest rooms and shower facilities for $65,000 was built instead of two facilities for twice the cost.

"It's (the group shelter) built to be in Pampa a long, long time," Hackler said. "The shelter is stout and the softball complex is state of the art."

The area will require routine maintenance.

No admission charge will be requested to use the park, Hackler said. There will be a nominal charge to recover actual costs for the trailer hookups.

"The exact cost has not yet been determined," he said. "It will be around $8-$10 a night."

"There will be 24-hour live-in security," Hackler said. "If used enough, and it would dictate, the city would be interested in contracting out for a general store near the lake area."

The city is anticipating to keep several hookups available at the Hobart Street Park at the continued no charge for overnight visitors, he said.

Court of Appeals upholds life sentence for Grimes

By BETH MILLER
Senior Staff Writer

The Court of Appeals in Amarillo has upheld the trial court's actions and the life sentence and $10,000 fine given to a Pampa man for a 1986 rape.

Troy Lee Grimes, 32, had appealed the case after sentencing in October 1991 during a new trial on the punishment phase only.

Grimes was originally convicted on May 22, 1987, of aggravated sexual assault in the case. Using an enhanced indictment alleging a prior conviction for rape, the jury sentenced him to life in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The Court of Appeals reversed the decision, but upon petition for discretionary review, the Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the guilty conviction, but remanded the case for a new trial on punishment.

Grimes was convicted in 1987 of raping a 10-year-old Pampa girl, after abducting her as she walked home from Sunday school on Nov. 9, 1986. He had a prior 1977 rape conviction, for which he received a 15-year sentence.

The 10-year-old victim had to undergo surgery for injuries she received in the rape. She testified in both trials that Grimes had threatened to kill her throughout the ordeal.

In his appeal on the last sentencing trial, Grimes said there were four points of error in the trial.

He contended that 223rd District Judge Lee Waters erred in failing to sustain his motion to disqualify the Gray County District Attorney's office from prosecuting the case. He also contended that the court erred in informing the jury of the procedural history of the case and in failing to sustain his objections to the state's jury argument.

"We will overrule all points of error and affirm," Justice H. Bryan Poff Jr., wrote for the Court of Appeals for the Seventh District of Texas in Amarillo. Please see GRIMES, page 3

Allies find no evidence of Iraqi attacks

ABOARD THE USS INDEPENDENCE (AP) — Allied pilots flying over southern Iraq have seen no signs that Saddam Hussein's forces are attacking civilians or that a Shiite Muslim rebellion has been crushed, a U.S. commander said today.

Meanwhile, Navy pilots took their first break in the 9-day-old allied enforcement of a "no-fly" zone over southern Iraq for routine maintenance of their planes. U.S. Air Force planes remained in the air.

American, British and French planes began enforcing the air exclusion zone over southern Iraq below the 32nd parallel on Aug. 27 to afford some protection to the Shiites.

Since then, no flights have been reported over the zone by Saddam's aircraft. Western officials say the Iraqis had been flying an average of 30 attacks a day against the Shiites before the zone was imposed.

Rear Adm. Brent M. Bennett, commander of the eight-ship USS Independence carrier battle group in the Persian Gulf, reported no evidence to support Iranian reports that the Iraqi army had set fire to parts of the vast reed-covered southern marshes to flush out Shiite rebels.

"We certainly have the capability to monitor that kind of activity," he told reporters. "I can't comment on the reports ... because I have no information to support them."

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Cyprus, said Thursday that the Iraqis were burning the marshes, sending up huge columns of smoke over the marshy region, which covers 6,000 square miles.

The report also said Saddam's forces crushed rebel operations in the town of al-Qurnah — which some people hold to be the site of the Garden of Eden. The area is 40 miles north of Basra and the place where the Euphrates and Tigris rivers meet.

"If there were huge fires, we could probably see them from here," Bennett said. "The weather's been extremely good."

Comer completes two week suspension

By BETH MILLER
Senior Staff Writer

Former District Attorney Harold Comer is back to work in his private practice this week after being placed on two weeks suspension by a Grievance Committee for the State Bar of Texas.

A complaint was docketed by the Grievance Committee against Comer alleging certain acts of professional misconduct on the part of Comer, according to an agreed judgment of probated suspension filed in the case.

The Grievance Committee and Comer signed an agreed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

The Committee found that Comer was guilty of professional misconduct and suspended him from the practice of law in Texas until Feb. 27, 1993, but probated the suspension except for the 14 days, which ended on Monday.

In the findings of fact filed in the case, the Grievance Committee found that on April 23, 1991, Comer came into possession of seized drug funds which belonged to the state and that he failed to maintain the money in a separate account as required by law.

The Committee also took into full consideration the unsolicited letters submitted by the Gray County Bar Association, Senior District Judge Grainger McIlhany and former 223rd District Judge Don Cain. The committee also considered the letter of Assistant Attorney General Shane Phelps, who prosecuted Comer on Feb. 27 for misdemeanor official misconduct.

Comer pleaded guilty to the official misconduct charge in February and received deferred adjudication of one year probation and a $1,000 fine. He was also ordered to make restitution of $101.23 to the district attorney's forfeiture fund. As part of the plea bargain, Comer had to resign from the district attorney's office and take his name off the ballot in the November election.

Phelps said in February that Comer took $10,000 in cash seized by law enforcement in a drug bust and placed it in his law office trust account on April 22 and then into Comer's personal account. After 2 1/2 months, Comer replaced the money in the district attorney's forfeiture fund. Phelps said a strong mitigating factor in the case was that Comer returned the money before an investigation was even begun.

Phelps wrote the State Bar a letter which in part states, "It was obvious to me, in determining how to properly proceed with the case, that Mr. Comer always intended to return the money he appropriated. Also, when confronted with the investigation, Mr. Comer voluntarily surrendered all documents and evidence necessary to complete the investigation."

Phelps also said that while he did not condone Comer's conduct, he believed mitigating circumstances did merit consideration.

"While I realize that my recommendation is not binding upon you at all, please consider a resolution of the grievance against Mr. Comer that would allow him to continue in his law practice," Phelps wrote.

Cain wrote in a letter to the State Bar, "Mr. Comer served as District Attorney during most of the years I was 223rd District Judge. We were in almost daily and weekly contact in his trial of both criminal and civil cases. The captioned matter is the only blemish upon his approximately 34 years of law practice. I hold him in the highest regard as a trial attorney, professionally, morally and ethically."

Cain wrote that Comer, in his judgment, had been punished "publicly, severely, and sufficiently for this transgression," and requested that Comer not be "sanctioned further."

McIlhany, formerly the 31st District Judge, wrote to the State Bar that Comer has always been a strong advocate for his clients and has always been courteous to everyone.

"He is a decent person and is a credit to our profession," McIlhany wrote. "He had no criminal intent in the matter under consideration. He recognized the error and placed the drug money in the proper account before it was forfeited to the State."

Pampa High School students sing the school song during a pep rally at the football field this morning. Pampa meets Garden City, Kan., at 7:30 tonight at Harvester Field.

Former pro-choice speaker to be in Pampa

Carol N. Everett, a post-aborted mother and an ex-abortion provider, is scheduled to speak at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Heritage Room at M.K. Brown Civic Center.

Everett was employed in the abortion field in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for six years.

"I became involved in the abortion industry believing I was 'helping women' exercise their 'right to choose' a 'safe, legal abortion.' The reality is that I was involved in the murder of 35,000 babies and the maiming or death of at least 20 of those mothers," Everett said.

Everett said her last month's income at the abortion clinic was $13,625. She also said that the abortion industry is not about choices, but is about money.

"Abortion is not a choice women make. Abortion is a skillfully marketed product sold to a woman at a crisis time in her life. She needs help — they sell her an abortion — she finds the product defective. It is too late to return it for a refund. Her baby is dead."

Everett said she had an abortion almost 20 years ago because her second husband did not want children. She said she's seen both sides of the issue because she's been pro-abortion and now she's pro-life.

Everett is being sponsored in Pampa by the Top O' Texas Crisis Pregnancy Center. Tickets for the program can be purchased at the Crisis Center, 118 E. Browning, or at First National Bank.

Houston man wins $1 million drawing

HOUSTON (AP) — Jesse Almaguer almost gave it all away.

He had a lottery ticket that gave him a shot at becoming a finalist for the million-dollar drawing, but he didn't think he had that kind of luck. He considered giving it to his brother-in-law, but didn't. A lucky move.

On Thursday, the 40-year-old Houstonian beat the odds and six other finalists to win the Texas Lottery's grand prize — $1 million, or $800,000 after taxes.

"I feel great!" Almaguer exclaimed moments after he became the state's 12th million-dollar winner. He was quickly overcome with emotion, wiping away tears as his family rushed to hug him.

After almost giving his ticket away, he was skeptical again when he got the call saying he was a finalist. He said he thought the caller was a bill-collector or a sales person.

It seemed to be finally sinking in the day before the drawing.

"I'm real nervous," he told reporters Wednesday. "I don't think I've slept for the whole week."

And when he pulled open the safe with the grand prize, he was stunned. "I didn't believe it, you saw me crying," Almaguer said.

Besides Almaguer, the finalists were Deborah Orlandi, 42, of Temple, Jose Lopez, 39, of Garland; Teresa De La Rosa, 60, of San Antonio; James A. Wharton Jr., 60, of Mexia, Jim Davis, 29, of Kilgore, and Marco Martinez, 23, of Seguin.

Ms. De La Rosa and Mrs. Orlandi each won $10,000, Martinez and Lopez each got $15,000 and Davis' take was $25,000. Wharton won the runner-up prize of $50,000.

Almaguer, a technician at Gulf Environmental Inc., said he planned to buy a car for his daughters, ages 19 and 18, so that they can use it to attend college, which he now can afford. He also has a 12-year-old son.

Residents balk at leaving homes damaged by Hurricane Andrew

By MELISSA CONTI
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — New waves of federal troops started arriving today to help rain-soaked residents of south Florida recover from the massive destruction of Hurricane Andrew, the military said.

Part of their mission will be to fan out across flattened suburbs to sell reluctant hurricane victims on the idea of leaving unsafe homes for the relative comfort of tent cities.

The weather was a continuing problem for people living in damaged homes. Rain poured through broken windows and swelled sagging ceilings and beams on Thursday and a tropical wave — a band of intense thunderstorms — was expected to arrive Saturday.

Army officials said they expected the rains to drive people to the camps.

"Every time it rains we'll see more people coming in here," said Marine Sgt. Dan Sauls, interviewed today at a largely empty tent city in Homestead.

Residents of devastated southern suburbs have so far been reluctant to leave their homes and what few possessions they have left to sleep on cots in one of five tent cities.

As of Thursday night, only about 300 people were living in the makeshift camps, which so far have room for 3,800. The Army has enough tents and cots on hand to sleep 35,000 people, if necessary.

In all, 11,600 more troops were ordered by the Pentagon into the area to aid the thousands left homeless by the hurricane. They will be arriving throughout the weekend, military officials said.

The new troops will join 16,000 other troops and 6,000 members of the Florida National Guard in the area.

"They (the troops) will go out into the community to each block and neighborhood so they can put their arms around people and tell them it's OK," Lt. Col. Bill Reynolds, a spokesman for the military information center in Miami, said Thursday.

On Thursday, building inspector Ida Mesa pleaded with a woman to leave her house with its damaged roof, darkened rooms and contaminated water. It would be safer, she said, to enter one of the tent cities.

"I don't want to lecture you. I just want to tell you that you have choices. You have children here. There are other ways to live," Ms. Mesa told Kellie Kortright, who stood by her battered four-bedroom yellow house, home since the storm to seven adults and four children.

Ms. Kortright was unimpressed.

"We're comfortable here," she said. "The water's no good, but we can shower. There's no electricity, but that's OK."

Federal officials said they might install laundries, televisions and videocassette recorders in the tent cities to make them more attractive.

Reluctance to move into the tent cities was to be expected, said Democratic presidential nominee Bill Clinton, who joined the long line of politicians visiting south Florida.

"People do not want to leave their homes and their items," Clinton said Thursday at a news conference. A tent city, he said, "seems like a kind of alien environment."

Clinton refused to join any criticism of how President Bush handled the crisis, but promised to assume responsibility for hurricane relief if he is elected.

Transportation Secretary Andrew Card said during a tour of the devastated Homestead area that he sensed the recovery was "maturing rapidly," with people taking the initiative to dig themselves out of despair.

Card saw people putting up plastic or tar paper roofs and clearing debris from their yards. He said the Red Cross had received more than $4 million since Bush appealed for the nation to pitch in Tuesday night.

The White House announced that the Small Business Administration had speeded up its handling of loan applications from hurricane victims in Florida and Louisiana, reducing the usual 30-day processing period to seven days.

SBA Administrator Pat Saiki handed out checks totaling $155,580 to the first five hurricane victims approved for loans, all homeowners.

The state Department of Labor reported Thursday that 60,000 homes had been destroyed in Florida, leaving 250,000 people homeless. It said 86,000 people were thrown out of work by the storm. More than 400,000 people remained without electricity.

Other agencies have produced widely varying estimates of the number of homes destroyed. The Red Cross said 94,000 homes were damaged, and about half of those were destroyed.

Andrew, which smashed into south Florida on Aug. 24 with wind gusts of more than 160 mph, has been blamed for 51 deaths in Florida, Louisiana and the Bahamas. Damage in Florida has been estimated at $20 billion.

Adams also announced that he was retiring effective June 30, 1993. Adams said, "My recommendation to this school board is there is no way we can justify having school with four students (next school year)."

Shaw asked, "If it's not feasible to have it for four, how is it feasible to have it for five (this year)?"

This year there is also a loss of almost $750,000 in property tax values, Adams said. Last year's taxable value on property in the district was listed as $23,192,735. That figure dropped to $22,482,940 this year. The 35 cents tax rate will bring in an estimated $76,330.

Bob Sherrod said, "I'll tell you what it boils down to. They had a chance to vote to consolidate, they didn't do it, so consequently the people are going to pay whatever it costs to educate five or seven little kiddos. That's the way it's going to be. It's already done so there's no use fussing about it."

Grimes

Grimes said the district attorney's office, represented by then District Attorney Harold Comer, should be disqualified because then Assistant District Attorney John Mann had been in a law firm which represented Grimes in the prior trial of the case.

The Court of Appeals found that Mann had only a "limited" participation in the preparation for the trial and the appeal, and that Comer and Mann had agreed not to discuss the Grimes' case and Mann would not participate in the retrial.

The justices said the trial court did not err in refusing to disqualify the district attorney's office and they did not find a due process violation.

"It is evident from the record that Mann did not participate in the subsequent prosecution of appellant save and except for his being called as a defense witness," Justice Powell wrote. "It is also clear Mann's participation in the original case was minimal. It also should be noted the retrial was only a trial on punishment. Thus there is no apparent prejudice and no harm."

On Thursday, Comer said he was pleased that the Court of Appeals upheld the trial court's decision. He added, "That was the most terrible episode of sexual abuse of a child I have ever prosecuted."

Grimes, in a second point of error, had said the court erred in not sustaining his objection to portions of the state's jury argument.

In particular, Grimes objected to Comer's statement of: "Certainly, the defendant has no sympathy or compassion about what he was Volunteers fanned out over the city of Pampa this week to begin collecting money for the once-a-year United Way campaign.

"By concentrating the fund-raising event for several organizations into one effort, the United Way allows Pampa citizens to give what they can afford to help the most people in Pampa — without the hassle of constant requests for money," said Curt Beck, campaign chairman.

The United Way Board of Directors earlier in the year approved a budget allocating porjected revenues of $326,000 to 16 organizations in Pampa. Officers of the groups noted that 87 percent of the money raised by the campaign goes to the organizations.

"We budget 9 percent of the total for fund raising, and budget one-third of one percent for United Way of Texas. At this time, the United Way board has not decided on whether to send any money to United Way of America," Beck said.

Organizations in Pampa and the amount they will receive are Girl

Scouts, $25,100; Pampa Sheltered Workshop, $14,550; Boy Scouts, $31,360; Big Brothers/Big Sisters, $12,200; South Side Senior Citizens Center, $9,280; Community Day Care Center, $20,320; Gray County Latch Key, $11,040;

Pampa Family Services, $7,780; American Red Cross, $30,300; The Salvation Army, $35,580; Genesis House, $19,320; Pastoral Counseling Center, $2,308; Gray County Child Protective Services, $4,616; High Plains Epilepsy, $3,720; Pampa Meals On Wheels, $27,696; and Tralee Crisis Center for Women, $23,080.

"How do these organizations use the money that they receive? We know this is a question that is frequently asked by people who donate," Beck said.

"In an effort to help Pampa citizens better understand how their money is used, The Pampa News has agreed to run a series of feature stories about some of the groups. We hope that the more people understand how much good these groups do, the more money they will want to give."

doing to her or what her feelings were. At that point, he acted as if he was an animal in his own personal jungle... He acted as if he were an animal in his own personal-jungle and he had decided upon (the) 10-year-old (girl) as his prey. Now, that sums it up. He had no regard for her or her life at all."

Grimes alleged that the comments made by Comer were "indirect comment on his failure to testify" because it called the jury's attention to the absence of evidence only Grimes could supply.

The justices wrote, "We find the argument to be a permissible reasonable deduction from and a colorful summation of the evidence... We overrule point of error two."

Grimes also alleged the court had erred by stating a brief history of the case, which included the Court of Criminal Appeals overturning and remanding for new trial the portion on punishment.

The Court of Appeals decision states, "We find the court's comment to have been both proper and appropriate... We find no error in the court's instruction."

In the fourth point of error, Grimes again objected to part of Comer's argument to the jury in which he was discussing the appropriate length of punishment for Grimes.

At the close of that argument, Comer said, "Don't make today a bargain day in the Gray County Courthouse for a repeated rapist. Think about what your verdict is going to say to people, other men, or other persons who are prone to commit the same offense..."

The Court of Appeals said, "We find the argument in question was a proper plea for law enforcement..."

Lone Star flag tradition ends

AUSTIN (AP) — The 30-year tradition of racing a gigantic Lone Star flag up and down the Memorial Stadium field before football games is coming to an end.

At Saturday's season opener, the flag will be kept at one end of the playing field during pre-game exercises.

The change was prompted by concerns about how to move football teams across the field "without them running into the cheerleaders, the band and all those things," said Glenn Maloney, assistant dean of students.

Under the new arrangement, the flag will stay at one end of the field and the band at the other. A clear space in the middle, from each 40-yard line, will give the visiting team room to make its entrance.

The action drew concern from Alpha Phi Omega, a campus coed volunteer service organization that is the flag's custodian. The 41-yard-long flag is unfurled while the band plays "The Eyes of Texas" during the pre-game show.

Allan Villabroza, Alpha Phi Omega president, said, "We're concerned about any diminished role the flag might have."

"He has already received severe public punishment, and my request to the Committee is that he not receive further sanctions and be allowed to continue to earn a living for his family."

The Gray County Bar Association wrote to the State Bar that during Comer's years of practicing law he had gained the mutual admiration, respect and trust of the attorneys.

Pilot killed following bird strike

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A 27-year-old jet trainer pilot was killed when the T-38 he was flying struck a bird.

Officials at Sheppard Air Force Base identified the pilot as 1st Lt. David A. Wyatt. He was an instructor pilot for the 90th Flying Training Squadron, according to the base.

"He has enjoyed an absolutely unblemished and spotless record and reputation for fairness, integrity and ethical conduct," the bar association said. "Each of our members and, we believe, each of the judges is saddened and deeply regrets that our fellow member could have been so thoughtless as to have allowed himself to be placed in serious legal jeopardy which now may jeopardize his career."

"Notwithstanding this unfortunate conduct, each of his fellow attorneys sincerely believes that Mr. Comer remains a morally and ethically proper person fit to practice law in the state and in our county."

The pilot died of "massive head injuries and a possible broken neck," according to Taylor County Justice of the Peace Sam Matta.

The bar association letter was signed by 18 attorneys.

Gray County Judge Carl Kennedy also wrote to the State Bar expressing his opinion that the punishment assessed by the District Court was sufficient.

"When Harold was in office, I was aware that criminal matters before the district courts were being taken care of in a dignified, professional manner," Kennedy wrote. "... I hope that his entire record will be considered, as well as his one regrettable mistake."

Conditions of the suspension include that Comer not violate any of the provisions of the Texas Disciplinary Rules of Professional Conduct nor any provisions of the State Bar Rules, and that he not violate the laws of the United States or any other state other than minor traffic violations.

During the 14-day suspension, Comer could not practice any legal services for others or accept any fee directly or indirectly for legal services or hold himself out to others "in any manner, in conjunction with the words, 'attorney at law,' 'counselor at law,' or 'lawyer.'"

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Opinion

Morally repugnant and fiscally foolish

To "reduce the federal budget deficit, Bill Clinton wants to impose a surtax on millionaires. This "soak the rich" proposal might find support in hard economic times. But the proposal should be rejected for two reasons.

First, it is an appeal to envy, which leads to a total assault on private wealth, as occurred in the failed socialist countries. Even in a less virulent form, envy violates the Coveting Commandments, corroding the moral foundation of society. All taxes are unfair; but taxation is most plausibly justified when used to raise revenue only, not to "punish" the successful. To resist envy, follow this principle: If your taxes are too high, work only to reduce all tax burdens, not to increase someone else's.

Second, higher taxes on the wealthy will not reduce the federal budget deficit; only sharp reductions in waste will. According to Paul Merski, fiscal affairs director at the Tax Foundation, "No matter what you've heard, there are simply not enough wealthy taxpayers for a 'soak the rich' policy to generate any significant increase in revenue."

Merski's Aug. 5 piece in The Wall Street Journal reported that in 1990 only 63,642 Americans earned gross incomes of $1 million or more. That's just 0.06 percent of all taxpayers. Doubling their tax bills would bring in only $39.1 billion more, "enough to run the federal government for only 10 days."

Of course, that money would be collected only if the millionaires sat still for the fleecing. In fact, many millionaires would work less, earn less, or leave the country. In the pithy language of economist Arthur Laffer: "People don't work to pay taxes. People will work to avoid paying taxes, and if necessary will stop working to avoid paying taxes."

Following Laffer's advice, the Reagan administration cut tax rates in 1981 and 1986. We enjoyed eight years of economic growth. In addition, as Merski noted, "Despite sharp cuts in income tax rates in 1981 and 1986, actual tax-return data show that top earners paid a steadily higher percentage of the total tax bill. By 1990, the top 5 percent of earners paid 42.9 percent of total income tax revenues."

Tax cuts bring income out of tax shelters. That income then can be taxed. And that income, by being put to more efficient uses, generates greater economic growth, adding yet more money to the pile of taxable income. Clinton and other politicians should be told that all Americans - poor, middle class, and wealthy - already are taxed to the gills; and that appeals to envy are fiscally foolish and morally repugnant.

Separating hawks from chickens

Smog is rolling in - a smog of recrimination and bad history. In the matter of Saddam Hussein and Desert Storm, we are hearing from a bellicose army of hindsight quarterbacks who are insisting that allied forces should have acted more decisively in March of 1991.

Let me advance a clean air proposal. Let President Bush call Congress back into session for a new resolution on what to do about Iraq. Meanwhile, a backward look is in order.

The thrust of today's sideline oratory is that Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf had the demoralized Iraqi forces on the run. The enemy's air force had been vanquished, most of its tanks destroyed, its vaunted army crushed. We should have driven straight to Baghdad, it is contended, and just accidentally, inadvertently, killed Saddam Hussein. If we had seized the opportunity then, we would not be worried about Iraq today.

So goes the oratory, 16 months after the fact. It may be a useful moment for a refresher short course in history. Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, 1990. Immediately the United Nations launched upon a series of resolutions demanding Iraq's withdrawal. President Bush took the lead in putting together a diplomatic coalition that eventually included 28 nations. Meanwhile he set in motion an impressive military buildup in the Persian Gulf.

The United Nations kept passing resolutions. Congress kept dithering. Bush kept moving troops and supplies. At last on Nov. 29, the U.N. adopted Resolution 678. It authorized member states to use "all necessary means" to uphold the U.N. demands. Then came the great debate over a congressional validation that would amount, in effect, to a declaration of war. In the House, Reps. Lee Hamilton of Indiana and Dick Gephardt of Missouri, with the help of Speaker Tom Foley, sought vainly to prevent the use of force. Their idea was to continue sanctions. They lost when the House voted 250-183 to give the president a free hand.

The Senate's vote was much closer. Majority Leader George Mitchell rallied all but 10 Democrats in support of his own resolution to rely upon sanctions. It fell by a vote of 53-46, and the Senate then voted 52-47 to go to war if Hussein had not withdrawn by Jan. 15.

These resolutions, of course, were not actual declarations of war. They were resolutions in support of the United Nations' final Resolution 678. That was our warrant for Desert Storm. It was the only warrant we ever had. It authorized force for a single, specific goal - to restore the legitimate government of Kuwait.

Schwarzkopf and his allied forces accomplished that goal in 43 days. The emir of Kuwait returned to his throne. And our writ ran out.

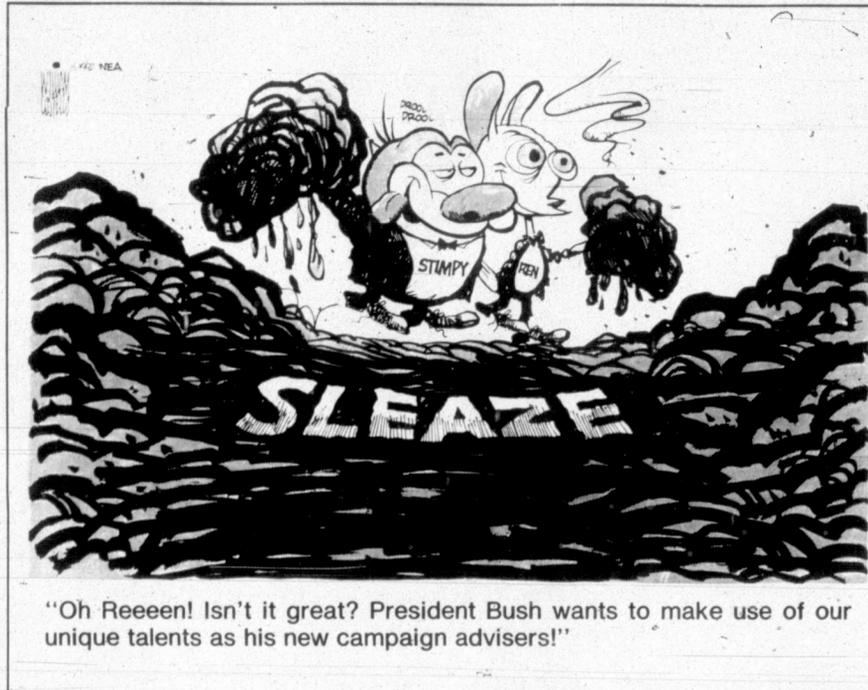

If the allied troops had surged on to Baghdad, the coalition of 28 nations would have dissolved on the spot. Saudi Arabia and other Arab nations would have deserted us. The United States would now be maintaining an army of occupation. We would have installed our own man to succeed Hussein, and the world would regard him as our puppet. We should be giving prayerful thanks that Bush resisted such monumental folly.

Yes, a part of the job must be done again. The White House is expected to announce that the United States, with the support of Britain and France, will again uphold a U.N. resolution in Iraq. A "no-fly" zone is to be established at the 32nd parallel, protecting the Shiite people in the south as we are protecting Kurds in the north.

If Bush is wise, he will again go before Congress and ask for validation. This would accord with the spirit of the War Powers Resolution, and it would provide an opportunity for congressional hawks to be hawkish when it counts.

Congress is not scheduled to resume its session until Sept. 8, but the Constitution says that a president may, "on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them," if we are to avoid a future smog of partisan recriminations and bad history, we ought to call the roll up onder.

When this whole sequence of events began two years ago, the proper course of action lay in patience. Diplomacy and sanctions had to be given a fair chance. But patience has its limits and diplomacy has its drawbacks. If Hussein ever is to be brought to heel, decisive action must be taken now.

"Oh Reeenn! Isn't it great? President Bush wants to make use of our unique talents as his new campaign advisers!"

Today is Friday, Sept. 4, the 248th day of 1992: There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Sept. 4, 1781, Los Angeles was founded by Spanish settlers. (Its original name: "El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles de Porciuncula.")

On this date: In 1886, Apache Indians led by Geronimo surrendered to General Nelson Miles at Skeleton Canyon in Arizona.

In 1888, George Eastman received a patent for his roll-film camera, and registered his trademark: Kodak.

In 1917, 75 years ago, the American expeditionary force in France suffered its first fatalities in World War I.

In 1948, Queen Wilhelmina abdicated the Dutch throne for health reasons. In 1951, in the first live, coast-to-coast television broadcast, President Harry S. Truman spoke to the nation from the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco.

In 1957, Ford Motor Company began selling its ill-fated Edsel, which proved so unpopular it was taken off the market in 1959.

Our life-support system threatened

Our federal government, in its infinite wisdom, elected to deregulate the air lines - to allow almost anybody to start up his own air line.

The competition, we were promised, would expand air travel and reduce the prices of plane tickets. It did neither.

And deregulation has resulted in an epidemic of air-line bankruptcies.

Our federal government, in its infinite wisdom, is now contemplating another shortsighted shortcut.

And this time it is gambling with the stability of our nation's life-support system, our continuing supply of electricity.

If you consider this utility anything less than a life-support system, imagine life without it.

Our nation has become utterly dependent on electricity. Our lives, our homes, our hospitals, our schools, our jobs, our food, our industries would "die" without this life-support system.

What I've just said should not need to be said, but sometimes we forget.

Our electricity makers need friends. Government is too often inclined to resist power-plant construction and the delivery of electricity with myriad punitive regulations.

While any protected monopoly should expect to be watchdogged, sometimes the dogs bite until it bleeds.

Currently, for example, Congress is contemplating a dangerous degree of re-regulation which could invite the kind of free-for-all competition that is suffocation the air lines.

They want to allow independent producers of electricity to use power lines owned by the mainline companies.

It's the mainline companies that built and maintained those great highways of power at enormous cost.

Now these upstart companies expect a free ride on a sort of industrial "party-line."

Again, the newcomers did not build these facilities, have not paid to maintain them, but want to use them to compete with those who do.

As in the case of the air-line deregulation, this puts a quest for a cheaper price ahead of the much more critical consideration - reliability.

Understand, our nation's power producers do share facilities; they barter among themselves for cheaper prices in your behalf. This voluntary effort over the years has created interconnections and power pools that use everybody's output with maximum efficiency.

And electricity is being produced at the skintight cost required by regulatory authorities.

Since early in this century, there has been this cooperation. The result has been electricity with reliability and at a price that is the envy of the rest of the world.

Mr. Congressman, if it ain't broke, don't fix it!

GOP presents platform of intolerance

They will probably say this column is just one more example of an incredibly biased media person bashing the Republican Party and poor old George Bush.

They will be almost right. This column is not about bashing honest and upright Republicans. I have friends who are Republicans, and they're not a bad sort once you get to know them. No, this column is about bashing mean-spirited, nasty, disgusting Republican leaders, including the president. It is the media's job to hold transgressors accountable and if they don't like it they can insert it in their ears.

After months of whining about being picked on by Democrats, Genteel George is finally in his campaign mode, and he fancies himself a latter-day Give 'Em Heck Harry Truman. The difference is, Harry was a plain dealer. Bush and his bellicose buddies wouldn't know fair if they bunny-hopped with it.

I am not speaking of the mendacious rubbish that was bandied about at the Republican Convention concerning Bill Clinton's alleged draft problems, tax hikes, lack of patriotism and belief that he is Thomas Jefferson reincarnate. I am not speaking of Bush's claim that he personally purged the planet of communists (he somehow forgot 1.13 billion Chinese). This is the normal sort of slithering that you expect from snakes and politicians, and the Republicans did not disappoint.

No, I am talking about the kind of venomous speech that was delivered by Pat Buchanan, the one where he said it's time we "take back our culture" and left the impression he'd like to import a few Serbs to supervise the operation. I am talking about Marilyn Quayle's flinty slam of working women, which had me longing for a camera shot of her feet to see if she was wearing iron heels. I am talking about Pat Robertson and the pricrusteans who assembled on a mountaintop and carved the GOP platform on stone tablets and brought it down to Houston.

"Bill Clinton ... is running on a platform that calls for saving the spotted owl, but never once mentions the name of God," Preacher Pat told the multitude gathered there. "When Bill and Hillary Clinton talk about family values, they are ... talking about a radical plan to destroy the traditional family and transfer its functions to the federal government."

Hours later, Give 'Em Grief George stopped off at a meeting of evangelicals in Dallas and did that little puritan-pandering step at which he is so adept: "I was struck by the fact that the other party

Then Give 'Em Aggravation George stopped off in Georgia, where he introduced Rep. Newt Gingrich as someone "who helps us so much in Washington," then stood by while the nonpareil slimeballer linked the Democrats to the Woody Allen scandal.

"I call this the Woody Allen plank," said Family Values Newt, who asked his first wife to sign a separation agreement as she lay in a recovery room following cancer surgery. "It's a weird situation and it fits the Democratic Party platform perfectly. If a Democrat used the word 'family' to raise children in Madison Square Garden, half their party would have rebelled and the other half would not vote. Woody Allen had non-incest with his non-daughter because they were a non-family."

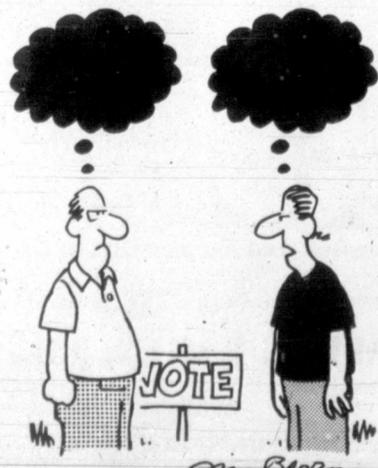

I am left wondering whether George Bush is running for president Ayatollah. I am left pondering how this country got transformed from a land of immigrants and religious tolerance to a place where legitimate political parties offer platforms to bigots like Pat Buchanan and demagogic, intolerant, money-grubbing pseudo prophets like Pat Robertson.

Go ahead, say it. I have checked the Constitution and determined the First Amendment is still there and thus I am ready with a response. So go ahead, say it.

"Spear, you are an unrighteous, biased, Bush-hating, liberal lynch-mob jerk."

Go to heck.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

Care packages sent to Gulf are better late than never

DEAR ABBY: I am currently in the U.S. Air Force, serving temporary duty in the Persian Gulf. Yes - some of us are still over here, enjoying the 100-degree-plus weather. Sorry I cannot be more specific about my location.

My job here is dealing with moving freight. We recently received a large shipment of freight that had been delayed at a water port for almost a year and a half! This shipment contained numerous "care" packages sent by caring people from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, and a few other Midwest states.

Although these "care" packages were sent for troops during the war, they have been distributed, and are being thoroughly enjoyed by those of us who are stationed here now.

Abby, please print this to let people know that their packages were received, and greatly appreciated.

AIRMAN IN THE GULF

Conn. I believe my father collected $50 (in pennies!) for his winning entry. I hope you will consider it a worthy addition to your collection.

GEORGE D. VAILL JR., WINCHESTER, MASS.

DEAR GEORGE: I do. And here's the limerick:
 The bustard's an exquisite fowl,
 With minimum reason to growl;
 He escaped what would be illegitimacy
 By grace of a fortunate vowel.

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed your column in which you advised, "If you are curious about a person's nationality - ask." Here is how I stuck my foot in my mouth:
 In 1977 I was traveling by train in France. Seated in my compartment was a nicely dressed elderly Oriental gentleman. Carefully enunciating every word, I asked, "Do they drive as poorly in the Orient as they do around here?"
 He replied in perfect English: "Beats me. I'm from San Francisco."
 LEROY MC VAY, SEATTLE

DEAR AIRMAN: I will spread the word to my readers. And yes, I am aware that you cannot be any more specific about your location for security reasons. Thank you for writing, and God bless every one of you men and women, and return you home safely.

DEAR ABBY: Since you have introduced limericks in your column, I can wait no longer. I am enclosing a limerick written many years ago by my father, George D. Vaill, a former Yale University historian, renowned humorist and prolific author. His contention was that a limerick, by definition, is naughty in its connotation.
 In the May 1979 issue of Reader's Digest, his limerick was selected as the winner from among 12,000 entries in a national limerick contest sponsored by Mohegan Community College in Norwich?

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN ZEHTI

IN THIS MODERN DAY AND AGE, WE HAVE BECOME USED TO LARGE SIZES—HUGE FOOT-BALL PLAYERS, TOWERING BASKETBALL STARS, ETC. BUT WE STILL HAVE A LONG WAY TO GO IF WE WANT TO TOP WHAT THE BIBLE TERMS AS GIANT. THESE TWO SEVEN-FOOT BASKETBALL PLAYERS AND AN AVERAGE-SIZE FIVE-FOOT, TEN-INCH COACH PALE IN COMPARISON NEXT TO THE BIBLE'S GOLIATH.

WE LEARN IN I SAMUEL 17:4-7, THAT GOLIATH STOOD SIX CUBITS AND A SPAN. THE CUBIT BEING APPROXIMATELY TWENTY INCHES, A SPAN NINE INCHES, PUTS GOLIATH'S HEIGHT AT TEN AND A HALF FEET—A HALF FOOT HIGHER THAN THE BASKET WHICH HANGS TEN FEET ABOVE THE BASKETBALL COURT!

HOWEVER, THE SPY AND AGILE YOUNG LAD, DAVID—WHO, NOT BEING FULL-GROWN, COULD HARDLY HAVE STOOD MORE THAN FIVE FEET AT THE TIME (JUST HALF GOLIATH'S HEIGHT) TAUGHT GOLIATH AND THE WORLD A BIG LESSON—THAT NO MATTER HOW FORMIDABLE THE ADVERSARY, ONE CAN OVERCOME IF HE IS FILLED WITH COURAGE AND A FIRM BELIEF IN THE RIGHTNESS OF HIS CAUSE!

HOWEVER, THE SPY AND AGILE YOUNG LAD, DAVID—WHO, NOT BEING FULL-GROWN, COULD HARDLY HAVE STOOD MORE THAN FIVE FEET AT THE TIME (JUST HALF GOLIATH'S HEIGHT) TAUGHT GOLIATH AND THE WORLD A BIG LESSON—THAT NO MATTER HOW FORMIDABLE THE ADVERSARY, ONE CAN OVERCOME IF HE IS FILLED WITH COURAGE AND A FIRM BELIEF IN THE RIGHTNESS OF HIS CAUSE!

Religion roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Catholic Conference's annual Labor Day statement says "society has a moral obligation to reduce joblessness."

Church social teaching is "pro-work, pro-family and pro-child" and joblessness is a clear threat to family life, the statement says.

Issued by Bishop James W. Malone of Youngstown, Ohio, chairman of the USCC's committee on domestic social policy, the statement says "far too many families in this country have little reason to celebrate this Labor Day."

"Presently, more than 10 million Americans are looking for work; millions more have stopped looking; another 10 million are underemployed, working at part-time jobs that do not pay a decent wage."

NEW YORK (AP) — A Harris poll finds members of Congress, lawyers and members of the Bush administration were the most negatively rated for moral and ethical standards among six groups.

Business executives and journalists were rated somewhat better, but still predominantly negatively. In the poll of 1,256 adults, small-business owners were the only group with a predominantly positive rating — 64 percent.

CHICAGO (AP) — A Mennonite Church commission has suspended the ministerial credentials of theologian-ethicist John Howard Yoder over allegations of sexual misconduct, reports the ecumenical weekly, The Christian Century.

Yoder served as president of the denomination's Goshen Biblical Seminary in Chicago from 1970 to 1973 and had taught there since 1965. He has been a faculty member at the University of Notre Dame since 1977.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev says true socialism promotes the values preached by Christ.

In a newspaper interview published here, he said true socialism works for social justice, freedom, equality and human values, adding, "In short, we promote the cause of Christ."

Also, the U.S.-published fortnightly, Christianity Today, reported that Gorbachev, after touring sites in Israel recalling the life of Jesus, termed himself a "lifelong socialist, following in the footsteps of Jesus."

He said peace and social harmony between Palestinians and Israelis "would have to be founded on the spirit of Jesus."

Bennett concert set Saturday

Y.O.U. to host contemporary Christian singer

Youth Outreach United plans to present Bob Bennett, a contemporary Christian artist, in concert at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Heritage Room at M.K. Brown Civic Center.

Bennett signed with CBS Priority Records in 1981 and that led to the album, "Matters of the Heart," which Christian Music Magazine named "Album of the Year" in 1982. It also made the list of the top 25 contemporary Christian albums of all time in a 1988 critic's survey.

In 1984 Bennett opened 35 concerts for Amy Grant. Recently he has toured with Michael Card.

His new album is "Songs From Bright Avenue."

Bennett said that for him, "A concert performance (or 'time of music ministry,' if you prefer the lingo) is probably the purest, most satisfying part of my work."

Critics have said that Bennett's music has elements of Dan Fogelberg, Bruce Cockburn and Michael Franks.

Tickets are available from local churches, the Gift Box or at the door.

Bob Bennett will bring his music to Pampa on Saturday.

Bible Church announces fall conference

The Bible Church of Pampa, 200 W. Browning, announces its 11th annual fall Bible conference. Dr. Paul R. Van Gorder, former associate teacher of the Radio Bible Class, will be speaking on "Being God's People in an Evil Age."

The conference begins at 7 p.m. Sept. 12 and continues through Sept. 13. The three meetings on Sunday are at 10 a.m., 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

For 20 years Van Gorder was heard regularly on the national and inter-national radio program. In addition, he was one of the featured speakers on the telecast of Day of Discovery.

Prior to his ministry on radio and television with the Radio Bible Class, Van Gorder was pastor at the Colonial Hills Baptist Church in Atlanta for nearly a quarter of a century. He has traveled widely as a speaker for Bible conferences, missionary conventions, and spiritual life conferences, both in North America and overseas.

A regular contributor to the devotional guide Our Daily Bread, he has authored more than 50 study booklets and several larger volumes.

Pastor of the Bible Church of Pampa, the Rev. Roger Hubbard, said the public is invited to the conference and that a nursery will be provided. A special conference for children, ages preschool through eighth grade will run concurrently throughout the conference, he said.

South African church approves ordination of women

MBABANE, Swaziland (AP) — The Anglican Church of the Province of Southern Africa has approved ordination of women as priests, but with worried opposition from some church leaders.

Delegates to the synod of the 2.4 million-member church, about 75 percent of whom are black, voted by a 79 percent majority to open its priesthood to women.

Archbishop Desmond Tutu, synod president, noting some strongly felt opposition, said the action did not compel any bishop to ordain women.

The church includes 23 dioceses in South Africa, Mozambique, Swaziland, Lesotho, St. Helena and Namibia. Of 34 national churches and provinces of the worldwide Anglican Communion, 14 have ordained women.

Dean Colin Jones of Cape Town, supporting the action, said there must be more to priesthood than maleness. "The essential characteristics of God are not wrapped up in gender," Jones said.

Your circle of social contacts could be substantially expanded in the year ahead. However, it might be wise not to become involved in business dealings with your new-found friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're required to make a choice today between associating with individuals you like or with those you feel obligated to, choose the former. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Activities that please you today might not be as equally appealing to your companion. Yet neither of you will have a good time if you try to foist things upon your partner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Spend time relaxing and enjoying life today, but don't do so in a manner that will cause you to neglect responsibilities and duties to which you should attend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Personal gains are possible today; you'll be both industrious and clever. Yet you might yield to extravagant whims which could diminish your returns.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to keep emotions on an even keel today, so that you don't make sudden mood swings that could cause friends to feel uncomfortable in your presence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're forthright when requesting favors from friends today, what you ask for will be granted. However, if you're coy and others think they are being manipulated or used, you'll be denied.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If negotiating a deal with another today, keep your expectations within reasonable bounds. Each time you get something, you'll have to give a little in return.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order to achieve important objectives today, you might have to disassociate yourself from co-workers who can't emulate your ambition and drive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You should do rather well in competitive involvements today, provided the game is of greater significance to you than the score. Play it loosely.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Joint ventures look promising for you today, but there is also a possibility for complications. Try to maintain parity of effort with whomever you are involved.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unless you and your mate are in accord on both the major and minor points today, little of mutual value will be achieved. Each must be totally supportive of the other.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're with someone today who isn't as materially fortunate as you are, be very careful how you express yourself. Thoughtless remarks could wound feelings.

Mark, my Words

By Mark Spencer

Non-district contests pose mental challenge

I've heard a certain comment several times since two-a-days began in early August.

It goes something like this, "We don't care what happens as long as we're ready by Oct. 9 and the first district football game."

I've heard that from the Pampa High School coaches. I've heard it from the Harvesters' coaches. I've even heard it from one of the concession stand workers at the pride drill.

I guess they're right. District games are the only ones with bearing on who makes the playoffs at the end of the year. These first five games are basically a warm-up.

Right? "I will never say that a game doesn't matter," Pampa Coach Dennis Cavalier said. "We honestly try to win every game. With that attitude, you're going to be disappointed some because you won't win every game you play. But that's the way you think."

It seems the song has changed its tune since early August around the Harvesters' camp. I kind of suspected it would.

I'm all for cliches like, "It's not whether you win or you lose, it's how you play the game." I also appreciate, to some degree, coaches' canned comments like, "We didn't win but we showed good improvement."

Those things are fine, I guess.

Rah-rah. Go team. Win one for the Gipper. But do those sayings really apply anymore? Is there honestly one high school coach in Texas that is preaching improvement from one week to the next over winning as many games as possible?

"There is one thing about that," Cavalier said. "When you don't win in the pre-district season, teams become discouraged, and a lot of little things crop up that undermine confidence. From that standpoint, it is important that we win."

Before you start wishing for a Pampa domination of Garden City tonight, however, you should know there's not much security in winning during the preseason either.

For an example, look no further than Pampa's recent history.

Three seasons ago, the Harvesters entered the season without any of the high expectations this year's team is receiving.

Their first game was against Canyon who was ranked near the top of Class 3A in the first year after it split from Randall.

Then in that first game, the Harvesters split Canyon seemingly into two pieces again by beating them a convincing 48-0.

As a result, Pampa began to receive statewide acclaim and even rose 50 places in the Harris Ratings.

It was a season headed for the top, but it suddenly took a U-turn.

"We were 1-0 and flying high, and they were a disappointed 0-1," Cavalier recalled. "In the end, they woke up and became a playoff team. We became fat and overconfident. We ultimately finished on a down note."

While it seems like there are two arguments for winning and losing in the pre-district, there is really only one main thing for teams to remember during that time.

The only way to enter the Texas high school football road to the state championship is on a steady emotional pace. It's a marathon not a sprint.

"It's a big mental thing to deal with," Cavalier agreed.

So, you can go 5-0, and it doesn't matter. You can go 0-5, and it doesn't matter.

"Theoretically, nothing matters because on Oct. 9 we're all 0-0," Cavalier said. "But that's theory, and you know how theory goes."

In this case, the theory goes best if a team doesn't ride the far edge of that rising or sinking emotional wave after tonight's game.

ADDITIONAL PREVIEWS
OF TONIGHT'S GAMES, p. 10

It's a two-fisted offensive attack that the Pampa High School Harvesters will take into tonight's season opener against Garden City, Kan.

But right now, there's a bit of concern in the Harvesters' camp that their knockout punch from their running game might not have its setup punch, the passing game, in top condition.

"I don't have a good answer for why it's not working," Pampa Coach Dennis Cavalier said. "I just know it's not clicking."

Pampa's passing might not be the biggest factor from the outset of the game scheduled for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff at Harvester Stadium. But as the game moves to its later stages, a passing attack of some caliber will be relied on, Cavalier said.

"We have to make Garden City commit defensive personnel to defend the pass," Cavalier said. "If they don't, we must find a way to take advantage of that. That's what proficient passing is in my opinion."

The bulk of Cavalier's concern about Pampa's passing game comes as a result of two shaky performances through the air in preseason scrimmages.

Against Lubbock Estacado, the Harvesters completed only two of 11 passes. A week later at Altus, Okla., Pampa connected on one of six attempts.

"I expected us to be a lot more efficient than we have been," Cavalier said. "Basically, the problem simply has been a combination of bad throws and bad catches."

While the passing game has sputtered, Pampa's running game has moved into a higher gear the last two weeks capped by a nearly five-yard carry average in a game-simulated scrimmage segment at Altus.

"We feel like at this point that we're making progress in our running game, but we're not where we want to be," Cavalier said.

There is no doubt the Harvesters have improved that area of their attack in the pre-season, however. In fact, Cavalier admits maybe too much time has been devoted to running the ball during practices.

"We've spent our time with our receivers blocking and our running backs running the running game," he said. "We, by nature, spend a lot more time running the ball than passing. What amount of time we have spent on our passing game has been used to put in an overall complete passing package. We have not specifically worked on any one area of it."

Speaking of passing, the Harvesters will be weary of Garden City's air arsenal. It features play-action passes and three-step quarterback drops.

"We have had a terrible time distinguishing between the run and the play-action pass," Cavalier said.

But tonight's game setting should clear some of that confusion for Pampa's defense, who has been burned for several passes over 40 yards in the preseason scrimmages.

"So much of our defense is predicated on down and distance, field position and various things like that," Cavalier said. "There's just no way to get into the flow of that when you're in a 20-play series during a scrimmage."

Harvesters' Notebook

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY: Ironically, the Harvesters might have received a lucky break when starting safety and backup quarterback Dave Davis was injured and removed from the Altus, Okla., scrimmage last Friday. "All of a sudden, we realized we don't have an emergency third string quarterback prepared," Pampa Coach Dennis Cavalier said. To remedy the situation, sophomore fullback Matt Garvin and senior defensive back Marc Hampton are being cross-trained at quarterback. Davis returned to the Harvesters at full strength this week and will be the backup to starting quarterback Tony Cavalier tonight, if necessary.

FOR OPENERS: The Harvesters are 3-2 overall and have won their last three season openers under Cavalier. Cavalier refused to divulge his career record in season openers when asked saying only, "Those three in a row make the longest streak I've ever had."

ROAMING BUFFALOES: Garden City Coach Dave Meadows said a large community following had developed for his team following its two straight Kansas Class 6A title game appearances. "The people here are really behind us," he said. "I don't know how many we'll bring down to Pampa, but I'm sure it will be quite a significant number."

RANKING TONIGHT'S GAME: Poll watchers might find special interest in tonight's game. Pampa, although unranked by the Associated Press in Texas, were selected 11th by the Harris Rating System. "I've got mixed emotions about that," Cavalier said. "I feel good about what this staff and former players have been able to accomplish. But sometimes when you get so close to your goals you can lose the drive to get all the way to the top. I'm concerned about that with this team." Garden City is ranked second in Class 6A by The Wichita Eagle and the Kansas Associated Press polls.

Baseball owners vote to oust commissioner

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — After months of rumors, it's finally clear that an overwhelming majority of baseball owners want Fay Vincent to resign.

The owners voted 18-9-1 Thursday for a no-confidence resolution against the commissioner, urging him to quit. Vincent immediately repeated he had no intention of leaving office before his term expires on March 31, 1994.

The meeting was adjourned to Wednesday in St. Louis, where owners will decide the next step. The Major League Agreement provides no mechanism for firing a commissioner, but the disenchanted owners say they have legal opinions that Vincent can be dismissed.

"We did not discuss what we're going to do if he's not going to resign," said Chicago White Sox owner Jerry Reinsdorf, a leading Vincent opponent.

Vincent, elected to a 4 1/2-year term on Sept. 13, 1989, remained in New York, saying the purpose of the meeting was unlawful under the Major League Agreement, the contract that governs baseball.

"I believe strongly that a baseball commissioner should serve a full term as contemplated by the Major League Agreement," Vincent said. "Only then can difficult decisions be made impartially and without fear of political repercussions."

The four-hour special meeting, held at a hotel near Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, unfolded calmly. Toronto Blue Jays president Paul Beeson was elected chairman, and Pittsburgh Pirates president Douglas Dandorf introduced the resolution, which was drafted by lawyers for the National and American leagues.

"The major league clubs do not have confidence in the ability of the present commissioner, Fay Vincent, to carry out the responsibilities of the office of the commissioner, and that under his direction it is impossible for baseball to move forward effectively and constructively," the resolution stated.

"Those clubs voting in favor of this resolution will not vote in favor of the re-election of commissioner Fay Vincent to another term of office when such matter is presented to the major league clubs for vote," it also said.

"(It is) further resolved, that commissioner Fay Vincent be requested to resign effective immediately and that the commissioner be offered in the event of his immediate resignation a severance agreement consistent with his employment agreement of Dec. 13, 1989."

New York Yankees managing general partner Joseph Molloy said Vincent's treatment of Yankees owner George Steinbrenner and pitcher Steve Howe were among the issues discussed. The resolution also made references to labor and television negotiations and franchise stability.

"The sooner he resigns, the better," Philadelphia Phillies president Bill Giles said.

The vote was taken by secret ballot, but several owners and officials identified the Baltimore Orioles, Boston Red Sox, Florida Marlins, Houston Astros, Montreal Expos, New York Mets, Oakland Athletics and Texas Rangers as eight teams that spoke against it.

Owners said the vote of the Kansas City Royals was unclear after the remarks by owner Ewing Kauffman, and that Mike Ilitch, who bought the Detroit Tigers last week, did not speak. Most of the owners contacted said they believed the Royals were the ninth team supporting Vincent but were not 100 percent sure.

Cincinnati Reds owner Marge Schott left the meeting early, and her vote was counted as an abstention. The undecideds as of last week — Colorado, Detroit, San Diego and Seattle — all joined the anti-Vincent group as did Atlanta, which previously said it would support the commissioner.

"I think now, for the first time, he can see the numbers against him," Reinsdorf said. "Before this, he may very well not have realized there were 18. Now he knows."

American League president Bobby Brown and National League president Bill White, who called the meeting over Vincent's objection, read the resolution to the commissioner following the meeting during a telephone call.

"The ball is in his court. If it comes back to us, then we'll run with it," said Jackie Autry of the California Angels. "I don't know what this means. The only thing for certain is that 18 people want to get rid of the commissioner."

The commissioner's supporters were less vocal than his opponents after the meeting. Texas Rangers general partner George W. Bush spoke up in Vincent's defense prior to the session and by most accounts was Vincent's most vocal defender.

Gundy throws Sooners past Raiders

LUBBOCK (AP) — The 15th-ranked Oklahoma Sooners are showing their high-flying offense is no passing infatuation.

The Sooners left most in disbelief last year after throwing, not running, their way to a 48-14 demolition of Virginia in the Gator Bowl.

Thursday night, it was nearly a replay, as quarterback Cale Gundy threw for a school-record 341 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for a score as Oklahoma defeated Texas Tech 34-9 in the teams' season opener.

"We made a statement to the rest of the country that the Gator Bowl performance was no fluke," said Gundy, a junior who also pitches for the Sooners' baseball team. "We had a really good performance."

With solid protection from an untested offensive line laden with underclassmen, Gundy zipped passes to nine receivers. He left the Red Raiders' bend-but-don't-break defense mostly broken.

"They threw a bunch of quick stuff and we didn't give our line a chance to get to him (Gundy)," said Tech safety Tracy Saul. "I don't care who you are, it's just hard to stop that kind of passing game."

Saul had one of the few highlights for the Red Raiders when he halted an Oklahoma drive by intercepting Gundy in the end zone midway through the second quarter.

It was Saul's 21st interception, breaking the Southwest Conference career interception record set last year by Texas A&M's Kevin Smith.

But the night belonged mostly to Gundy, who completed 22 of 28 passes on the way to breaking the school yardage mark of 329 he set in last year's Gator Bowl.

"The numbers don't affect me at all," Gundy said. "I care about winning 12 games this season and winning a national championship. I don't care what else happens."

Oklahoma coach Gary Gibbs promised before the season that Gundy and the pass would be the focus of his team's offense, replacing the Sooners' traditional ground attack. Gundy didn't let him down Thursday night.

"Cale played an outstanding game and did a heck of a good job changing things up when he needed to," Gibbs said.

Gibbs also lauded his offensive line which starts two freshmen and two sophomores who average more than 280 pounds.

"I thought our offensive line did a good job of adjusting. ... They just got stronger as the game progressed," Gibbs said.

Gundy's 1-yard keeper early in the fourth quarter put the Sooners in charge at 27-9.

Kenyon Rasheed made sure Oklahoma's once-proud ground attack wasn't forgotten, rushing 11 times for 73 yards. But in keeping with the tone of the game, his touchdown came on a pass from Gundy.

Oklahoma's defense struggled through most of the first half with Texas Tech's wide-open offense, led by Byron Morris, who rushed for 103 yards.

The Sooners grabbed the momentum with 1:40 left in the half when Aubrey Beavers broke up a pitch from Tech's Robert Hall to Morris, and Reggie Barnes recovered at the Raiders' 48.

Four plays later, Gundy threw a 13-yard touchdown pass to Earnest Williams through tight coverage for a 20-9 halftime lead that took the wind out of the Raiders.

Beavers intercepted a pass from Hall early in the fourth quarter and returned it 5 yards for Oklahoma's final touchdown.

Hall, who scored Tech's only touchdown on a 1-yard option on fourth-and-goal with 4:09 left in the first quarter, completed 12 of 31 passes for 150 yards, with one interception.

Oklahoma's Earnest Williams (20) is slowed down by Texas Tech defenders Stephen Gaines (77) and Steve Carr (92) Thursday in Lubbock. (AP Photo)

Area teams ready to play for real

By L.D. STRATE
Sports writer

Six-man teams Groom, McLean and Miami will be on the road to open the 1992 football season.

Groom travels to Benjamin, McLean visits Lazbuddie and Miami goes to Follett with kickoff times set for 7:30 p.m.

Class 2A teams Wheeler and Canadian, both members of the same district because of UIL realignment this year, kick off at home. The Mustangs take on Gruver while the Wildcats host West Texas High with both games starting at 8 p.m.

Scrimmage inspires Groom

After running roughshod over Follett in a scrimmage last weekend, the Groom Tigers are raring to get the new season started.

"After that scrimmage it was like somebody turned a switch on," said Groom coach Terry O'Dell. "They are ready to go. It seems like they grew up pretty quick."

The scrimmage turned out to be a one-sided affair with Groom outscoring Follett eight touchdowns to one.

"We are really coming around on offense. We've made a lot of progress since our first scrimmage with Valley," O'Dell said.

Benjamin, a team composed mainly of sophomores and juniors, played a junior varsity schedule last year.

"Benjamin has a young team, but they have a pretty competitive bunch of kids. They stopped playing football for a while, but this is about their third year in a row to have a program," O'Dell said.

Because of an increase in numbers, the Tigers will have the luxury of running fresh players in and out of the lineup this season.

"On offense, we'll be running about three players in at a time with plays. On defense, we'll have about 10 players we'll be switching in and out on a regular basis," O'Dell said. "With more depth this year, we're going to be able to do that."

Returning starter Matt Fields will anchor the Tigers on both sides of the ball, at center and noseguard. Also returning are starters Paul McLaughlin and Corky Hickey at running backs.

Bo Burgin gets the nod at quarterback while Wesley Hall and Robbie Evenson are the first-team receivers.

On defense, John Weinheimer and Hickey start up front at the end spots. Behind them are Bronte Britten and McLaughlin at linebackers and Rhet Patterson at safety.

McLean faces tough opener

McLean, defending District 1-1A six-man champion and favored to win the title again, face a tough opener at Lazbuddie.

"Lazbuddie is quick, experienced and they pass about 85 percent of the time," said McLean coach Jerry Miller. "But

Pigskin Predictions

Each week, four members of the Pampa News staff will predict the outcomes of several high school, college and professional football games. Selecting the games will be News Managing Editor J. Alan Brzys, Sports Editor Mark Spencer, Sportswriter L.D. Strate and Staff Photographer Daniel Wiegers.

we're ready to put things on the line and see how we look."

With all-stater Christian Looney leading the way, the Tigers should have a high scoring offense. Looney was switched from quarterback to running back this season to make better use of his speed and quickness.

Jeremy Thomas takes over the signal-calling role and Toby Northcutt joins Looney in the other backfield slot. Up front, Dennis Ward is at center with Tom Pennington and Erlé Rawlins holding down the end positions.

"Our offense is looking real good," Miller said. "We're still got some work to do, basically with our defense."

McLean's defense surrendered five touchdowns in a scrimmage against Lefors last weekend.

"It was a tough rascal," Miller said. "Lefors has a good team this year."

Defensively for McLean, Rawlins and Will Shaw will be up front with Northcutt, Pennington and Ward at linebackers. Looney will be at safety.

Solid West Texas visits Canadian

Canadian coach Paul Wilson describes opening opponent West Texas High as a "blue-collar" club.

West Texas is real solid, a blue-collar type team. They don't have any real outstanding players, but they're good at every position," Wilson said. "They can move the ball on offense with a good balance of run and pass."

Wilson said the Wildcats are ready to get the season underway.

"We've progressed to the point where we're ready to play a regular game. We need to see how we're going to perform under fire," he said.

Canadian will operate out of a multiple-set offense this season with Steven Flowers moving from fullback to handle the quarterbacking chores. Backfield partners include Dean Spruell at fullback, Kevin Flowers and J.K. Hester at running backs.

On the offensive line, Chris Lee and Trent Butler are listed as the starting ends. Martin Reyes is at center, Klay Yarnold and Jody Stewart are the tackles, and Jeremy Shaw and Brian King will man the guard positions.

Defensively, Hester moves into one of the end spots with Jeremy Harper at the other side of the line. Kevin Flowers and Yarnold are set at tackles while the guards will be Stewart and Shaw. Jerry Price is penciled in at middle-linebacker. The secondary will have Butler and Lee at halfbacks, Jason Martin at strong safety and Steven Flowers at free safety.

"We didn't look bad in our scrimmage (against Paducah) last weekend, but we tended to give up the home run play too much. Paducah has a fast, quick team and they were able to score on some of those little short passes," Wilson said. "We went to sleep in the secondary and that's supposed to be our strong point."

However, Wilson wasn't that unhappy with the scrimmage as a whole.

"Our weakness is in the line and our linemen did pretty well. They could have done better with their blocking, but overall I was pretty pleased with our effort," he said.

Wheeler makes 2A debut

Wheeler and Gruver went in opposite directions in 1991, but the tables could be turned this football season.

Wheeler is rebuilding after a sparkling 11-2 season while Gruver returns a host of veterans from a team that just won three games.

"Gruver is going to be improved over last year. They're going to have a good size in the offensive line, and they're going to have a real quick backfield. I'm concerned about them," said Wheeler coach Ronnie Karcher.

Wheeler must undergo some adjustments after returning only four starters from last year's area champions, but the Mustangs are steadily making progress.

"We had a good scrimmage last Friday at Shamrock," Karcher said. "We got after them pretty good. Our film gave us a good idea of what we need to work on and that's what scrimmages are for."

One of Wheeler's starters, however, will be out at least two weeks. Genaro Meraz, who started at strong guard and linebacker last season, recently had minor arthroscopic knee surgery.

"Genaro was going to be starting at fullback and on defense. He was one of our leaders and it's going to hurt us with him being out," Karcher said.

Wheeler's offensive controls will be taken over by Chad Dunnam, who saw action at safety last season. Dunnam has played quarterback before and is an accurate passer.

"We're going to go with a wing-T and I-formation and with Chad at quarterback, we'll probably throw the ball a little bit more than last year," Karcher said.

Taking Meraz' position at fullback is Jason Hink, who will also be a starting guard on defense. Mark Marshall, who rushed for over 900 yards last season, and Jarrod Ledbetter, have the running back spots nailed down.

Joe Dan Ledbetter is back at tight end while Heath Sabbe and Marcus Hardcastle will alternate at wide receiver. Russell Woollard will be over center with Todd Baize and Cory Case at tackles and Phillip Wiggins and Ryan McNeil at guards.

Karcher is hoping Wheeler's inexperienced defense can overcome its inconsistency.

"At times our defense has looked all right, but some of our young players have been too tentative. They've been thinking too much instead of reacting," he said.

Handling defensive duties up front will be Baize, Hink, Joe Dan Ledbetter and Brad Harrison. Case and Wiggins will be at inside linebackers while Dunnam and Ciriacio Meraz will be on the outside. Sabbe and Hardcastle will team up in the secondary with Marshall at safety.

Deep Miami travels to Follett

Depth may help make up for Miami's inexperience against Follett tonight.

Only two starters — offensive end-cornback Andrew Neighbors and cornerback Allan Dinsmore — return from Miami's 5-5 team of a year ago. However, over 20 players turned out for preseason drills, giving coach Terry Bean a sizable group to choose from.

Follett finished 5-4 last season and the Panthers could improve on that record because of the return of eight let-terms.
