Plan now to attend the Panhandle Centennial celebration at Pampa June 2, 3, 4, and 5, with which is combined a Pioneer's Roundup and Oil Men's Reunion. It is a GREATER celebration for the whole Panhandle.

Twinkles
We may be, as some believe, "racing toward communism," but this country flies off on so many tangents that we expect to see plain old democracy emerge intact, and considerably improved. For democracy, you know, is a very flexible word.

Now and then you see a candidate, who hasn't a 1,000-to-1 chance of being elected, have the brains to withdraw from a race. But such good judgment is rare.

Politics is a cruel game. But many of those who are defeated by big majorities never know that most of those who voted against them did so with the kindest feeling.

"Summerize" is a pertinent motoring term. But the ladies are one jump ahead of us men—they've been summerized all winter and some of them will probably winterize in mid-July if they can afford the furs.

It is probably just as well that we have no economic or political prophets which we believe implicitly. We would probably disown them and maybe even deplore them if they should tell us what the future holds in the next 50 years.

Musing of the moment. Things I never wish to do include: Pining a piccolo, raising rice, studying astronomy (the universe is too big), writing a novel in two volumes, deep sea diving, emulating a human fly, penetrating a disease-infested jungle. We hanker to do nothing things, all right, but not these.

Brevitorials
SOME OF THE most interesting trips being made by Pampans these days are those to civic clubs of this territory. With the Centennial celebration as the main topic for discussion, and with music as an added feature, these Pampans are having a grand time. In every instance, the Pampa programs are being accepted in the spirit they are offered. Friendships are being made which will be of lasting benefit to all concerned. Worth far more than the time required are these journeys to the company of good fellows. Civic club members speak a common language—and there are no strangers when they meet.

At a Clarendon meeting, Banker W. H. Patrick added the remark that the Pampa radio station, KPBN, was the strongest daytime broadcast on the air at Clarendon and apparently the most popular. He praised the programs without reservation. Such appraisals are much appreciated, as also are constructive criticisms.

CONVENTIONS, TOO, are of great value in "putting over" a community and making it of more service in a territory. Many of the women attending the recent PIA convention had not been here before. Knowing Pampa was an oil center, they were not prepared for the many evidences of permanent growth. "I certainly didn't know," one woman from a not distant town told WORDS, "that you had so many fine school buildings."

Congressman Zioncheck's amateur acting will be watched with keen interest by other young office-holders and political aspirants. If he gets anywhere by dolish tactics, we may yet see a comedian in the White House. But it takes more than clowning to make a statesman. There is nothing more disgusting than a dolish fellow who isn't funny. And there is no evidence that Zioncheck had the

When your boy goes skipping down the street he jumps to touch the store signs that swing in the wind overhead. He strikes the sign with the plaster to wear the warts off, and then he will stop to pick at the wart. He will stop to pick up whatever he sees, that is if he thinks it's worth picking up. He bounds to the edge of the sidewalk to see if the North star is where it should be, and as he jumps at the swinging signs, he is really riding a horse in the steeplechase. And as he jumps from one concrete square to another he is really winning the hop skip and jump in the Olympics at Berlin.

Simple Day Dress—Two-Way Neckline

Shows New Feeling For Gay Color Contrast In Trim
By ELLEN WORTH
Today's model favors sharp color contrast that Paris is so terribly interested in on white and pastel summer frocks.
It combines pale blue and navy blue.
The dress itself is rather a dainty feminine yet sportive. It is one of those very simple but very smart cuts. Some may prefer the neck worn opened. It forms revers. See small view! The sleeves are easily handled even by an amateur at sewing. Inverted plaits give youthful animation to the skirt.
Vivid green and pale flesh linen is a new and gay scheme for this easy-made model.
Style No. 1712 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 35-inch material with 3/4 yards of 35-inch contrasting with 2 1/2 yards of binding for pocket and belt.
Our Illustrated Home Dressmaking Spring Book will enable you to have smart clothes and more of them for less money. Each step in the making of a dress is shown with illustrated diagrams. Send for your copy today.

CHILD HEALTH DAY STRESSES WELFARE WORK

Bigger Programs in 47 States Are Under Way

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Child Health day, May 1, draws new significance this year from expanded state and federal welfare programs fostered by the social security act.

Katherine Lenroot, children's bureau director, estimates $3,000,000 is being spent nationally and locally for child welfare in the first half of 1936 and expects an equal amount will be appropriated for the second half.

The social security act authorizes federal grants to states for four types of children's aid—material and child health services, crippled children's services, child welfare services and aid to dependent children.

Child Aid Most Popular.
Federal money is allotted on the basis of proved state need—after the state has devised a plan acceptable to the social security board for handling the funds and has established a state agency to administer the plan.

States must match federal money 50-50 for crippled children's and maternal and child health services and two-for-one for dependent children's aid. For child welfare work no ratio has been set.

With state legislatures, the children's aid provisions of the social security act have proved most popular. All but one state, North Dakota, have submitted plans for receiving at least one type of federal assistance for child welfare.

Many Plans Approved.
For the first quarter of 1935 the social security board approved 38 state plans for child and maternal health services, releasing $38,857, 26 state programs for crippled children's services, calling for federal grants of $168,792, and 17 state proposals for aid to dependent children, with federal appropriations totaling $69,175 to 12 of these states.

State child welfare programs submitted to the social security board contemplate the following activities for the year: pediatrics and obstetrics courses for doctors, nurses, and teachers; parental classes and clinics; health conferences for pre-school children; public health nursing and home-instruction immunization services; special investigations for gonorrhea and tuberculosis among school children.

Centennial Song Program Will Be Heard by Scores

CANYON, April 30.—The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You! lustily sung by 2,500 school children from the schools of 26 Northwest Texas counties will be the inspiring sound that will be heard at the singing of the first district, which will be held at Buffalo stadium Friday morning from 9 to 12.

For weeks the children of big schools and little schools have been practicing their songs, some of them directed by a teacher, others singing with phonograph records.

State Superintendent L. A. Woods will be on hand to hear the children sing and to give a brief address to them and their parents who accompany them. The singing will be directed by Miss Nell Barnette of the State Department of Education. Superintendent Carl G. Clift of Potter county has been district director of the sing-song. Arrangements for handling the crowd of children and showing them through the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum and over the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college have been made with Professor F. E. Savage, and A. K. Goodman, in charge.

Deputy State Superintendent J. D. Wilson whose headquarters are at Canyon and Tuesday, "We expect the stadium to overflow but hundreds of people can be seated on the turf of the Buffalo field and hear the program even better than from the stadium. There is no charge for the program which is a part of this district's centennial observance."

Besides the singing of the junior and senior choruses there will be special numbers by the Pampa High School Glee club, by the West Texas State Teachers college band, and by the Stamps Centennial quartet.

Abilene College To Observe Week

Featuring a remote control broadcast from the auditorium on the Abilene Christian college campus over WFAA, Dallas, meetings of ex-students in various towns and communities in the different parts of the United States, and special programs arranged by students of the college, Abilene Christian college will observe its first A. C. C. week May 3 to 10.

The broadcast over WFAA will be given from 8:30 to 9 on the evening of May 8 and will feature student activities at the Abilene school. The college, Ex-Students' association and the students are cooperating in the A. C. C. week move.

SCHOOL MUSIC GROUPS LEAVE FOR CONTESTS

BAND AND ORCHESTRA MEETING JOINS FESTIVAL

Young musicians from school bands and from private classes left today for Amarillo to take part in the annual Panhandle Music Festival and in the contests of the North Texas School Band and Orchestra association.

Woodrow Wilson school sent contestants in the saxophone duet and solo, cornet and clarinet solo groups, as well as several vocalists. Miss Lois Stalling, accompanist, and Miss Willie Jo Priest accompanied the pupils.

In the party were Betty Cree, Evelyn Auld, Billy Gise, Bruce Daugherty, Joe Tom McCoy, Gene Barber, Doyle Lane, Jeanette McMillen, Lester Shirley, and Frankie Yates.

The Sam Houston Blue and Gold band will go tomorrow to enter the ward school band contest. Today's contestants from that school in solo and duet events are Marquis Bratton, Betty Ann Culbertson, Willadean Ellis, Martha Frances Pierson, Elaine Carlson, Richard Cox, Henry Snell, Joe Cargile, and Raymond Harrah Jr.

A. C. Cox, band director, and Miss Thelma Guinn, accompanist, went with the group.

W. Postma, band director at B. M. Baker school, and three mothers, Misses A. A. Day, Roy Holt, and Cecil Lunsford, accompanied that school's representatives, Louene Cox, Maxine Holt, Jessie Elliott, Blanche Day, Ernestine Holmes, James Lunsford, Dardan Sjims, and Margaret Jones.

TREBLE CLEF'S OPERA WILL BE GIVEN MAY 8

Music Week Program Is Now Being Arranged

Next Friday has been set as the date of the Treble Clef club's music week presentation, a light opera, Romance of Kashmir. It will be given at La Nora theater at 8 o'clock, in conjunction with the motion picture program.

Regular prices will be in effect, and the public is especially invited by the club to hear and see this, their most ambitious musical effort of the year. Orchestra accompaniment will add to the production, and there will be a singing and a dancing chorus.

Girls of the Carolettes club are assisting in the choruses. Mrs. Phillip Wolfe and Mrs. Dave Dodge are directing the opera, and ticket sales are in charge of Mrs. Alex Schneider.

The motion picture to be shown on the program is "The Singing Kid," Al Johnson's latest film.

A music week calendar is being arranged by Mrs. H. O. Roberts. The first program will be by the Girls Glee club of the high school, Sunday afternoon at the school gymnasium. A radio broadcast is being arranged by the Treble Clef club for Sunday afternoon from station KPDN.

Rehearsal for the principals of Romance of Kashmir is called this evening at 7 in Schneider hotel.

HANK GREENBERG FRACTURES LEFT WRIST; JACK BURNS TO TAKE PLACE

PARMELEE IS VICTOR OVER CARL HUBBELL

CARDS DEFEAT GIANTS 2 TO 1 IN 17 INNINGS

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Jack Burns, first baseman hastily acquired from the St. Louis Browns, will strive today to fill the left in the lineup of the world champion Detroit Tigers by the injury of Hank Greenberg.

Mickey Cochrane, the Detroit manager, announced he expected Burns to arrive from Philadelphia where the Browns are playing, in time to step into his star first-sacker's shoes in today's game.

Faced by one of his toughest managerial problems—how to win ball games without the player who was voted the most valuable in the American league last year—Cochrane disclosed that he traded Elton Hoes, left-handed relief pitcher and an unrevealed amount of cash for Burns last night.

BY SCOTTY RESTON.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

When this major league baseball season rolls down to the world series, the experts may point to yesterday's games in explanation of the final result.

Most significant in a day of extraordinary happenings was Hank Greenberg's collision with young Jake Powell of the Washington Senators, in which the big Detroit first baseman fractured his left wrist.

Today the Tigers were in the desperate position of having to answer the question that has been thrown at them for the past two seasons: What will happen to your club when luck breaks wrong?

Manager Cochrane was expected to recall from Milwaukee Rudy York. Outstanding among superlative pitching performances in 17 games was Leroy Parmelee's 17-inning, 6-hit victory for the Cardinals over the New York Giants.

Though he lost, Carl Hubbell gave the Cards only 11 hits in the 17 frames, which is pretty good pitching when the St. Louis crew faces you 60 times in an afternoon.

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, pilot of the world champion Detroit Tigers, today faced one of his toughest managerial problems—how to win ball games without Hank Greenberg.

The lank first baseman—voted the most valuable player in the American league last year—will be out of the lineup for at least a month with the wrist fracture he suffered in yesterday's game with the Washington Senators.

Admitting his team sustained a setback worse than a string of losses when Jake Powell, fleet Washington centerfielder, collided with Greenberg's outstretched arm, Cochrane added optimistically that the club's pitching and hitting would keep it near the top of the league.

Mickey said he was undecided whether to continue the combination of Marvin Owen at first base and English at third, or to recall Rudy York, who hit well with the Bengals in spring training, from the minor league to which he was farmed.

Owen, third sacker for the Tigers, was shifted to first after yesterday's accident, while English took his place at third.

Today Greenberg, the Tigers' clean-up hitter, was carrying his wrist in a plaster cast. It's the same wrist he hurt in the 1935 world series.

Yesterday's injury came at a time when Detroit had won five straight games and was fast moving toward top position. The team lost yesterday, 7 to 3.

Matching Strides in Drake High Hurdles

Elbow to elbow are these 110-yard high hurdlers as they top the timbers at the Drake Relays in Des Moines. Running against a 28-mile wind, Kellner, of Wisconsin, second man in the above picture, won the event in .156 a second slower than the carnival record.

2 Former Champions Will Play In Women's Golf Meet

-SPORT SLANTS-

By ALAN GOULD

Rogers Hornsby certainly did a neat job of changing Rolie Hemsley from a rollicking playboy who had outlived his usefulness in the National league into one of the leading catchers in the American league.

Hemsley had been with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds, and had earned the unenviable reputation of being hard to handle. He was a fine catcher, mechanically, but refused to be bound by conventional training rules. He loved to step out and have a good time and more often than not wound up in trouble. A year was about all he could last with any club.

Finally, the Cincinnati Reds turned him over to the St. Louis Browns for the waiver price after other National league clubs had passed him up. That was in 1933.

Hornsby announced at the time that Hemsley was just the type of ball player he was looking for—a fighting ball player. That was for public consumption.

Got Him Told.

More than likely, in the privacy of his locker room, Rogers counseled Hemsley in this fashion: "Now, you listen to me you young so-and-so—you'll do as I tell you or you're through in the big leagues. The National league wants no more of your nonsense and the American league managers will want no part of you if you can't behave yourself."

You have the makings of a real catcher, but you won't get any place until you learn the importance of discipline and abide by the rules of training. I'm going to see that you do both for the Browns. If you don't I'll kick you out—and that means that you won't find another job in the big show."

Rolie resolved to heed Hornsby's advice, and for quite a spell gave a good imitation of a man walking the straight and narrow path. Hornsby ironed out some of his batting faults and before long had Hemsley one of the most discussed players in the league. Managers who had failed to figure a way of handling him rubbed their eyes in amazement. The Browns turned down several tempting offers for him and in 1934 were rewarded with some fine work behind the plate on the part of the born Realie. He caught 123 games that season and batted .309.

All went well until the middle of last season. Rolie weakened and went haywire in Philadelphia. The evening's fun, which included a mix-up with the Philadelphia police, netted him a fine ant suspension. Hornsby relented and took him back for another trial, but the fine stood when he signed up with the Browns.

After that Hemsley stuck to his knitting and worked behind the plate in 144 games for the Browns. Bottomley a Rookie.

After 14 years in the National league Jim Bottomley finds himself just a rookie in the American league. Sunny Jim learned all about the pitchers in the senior circuit but when he signed up with the St. Louis Browns it meant starting all over again. He finds himself among strangers, even in St. Louis where he spent 11 years with the Cardinals.

One warning around the circuit to get wised up, and Bottomley feels that he will be ready to be of some real help to his old teammate, Rogers Hornsby.

Mrs. Chandler To Be Opposed by Mrs. Lapham

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
SAN ANTONIO, April 30. (AP)—Two former champions came together today in the stand-out of four quarter-finals matches in the Texas Women's Golf association championship over the San Antonio Country club's course.

State titleholders first when her opponent was still a child, Mrs. Jack Lapham, San Antonio sportswoman, meets Mrs. Dan Chandler, finalist in the last four years and winner in 1932, in the feature match.

Mrs. Lapham won her first championship in 1913 and came back 15 years later to beat the field again in 1928. She is after her sixth state title.

Mrs. Chandler, quarter-finalist in the National Women's tourney last year, came back on the final nine holes yesterday with a flurry of birdies and pars to eliminate Miss Betty Edwards of Dallas. She closed with a birdie three on the 17th hole to best Miss Edwards' par four and win 2 and 1.

Mrs. Lapham eliminated Mrs. A. E. Brown of San Antonio, 4 and 3 with a 42 on the first nine and near par golf on the remaining six holes.

Miss Betty Jameson, 16-year old San Antonio high school student favored to reach the finals in the lower bracket, had her work cut out for her in a match with Miss Helen Warren, promising Dallas youngster who defeated Mrs. P. J. Lewis of San Antonio, 2 up. Miss Jameson stroked the ball in her best form to eliminate Mrs. Jed Roe of San Antonio, 4 and 3.

Two veterans, Mrs. Otto Armstrong of El Paso and Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth, were matched in another likely looking battle. Mrs. Armstrong, long ruler of the West Texas and Arizona links, dropped Miss Marie Levl of Dallas 3 and 2.

Mrs. Winger was playing her usual steady game as she eliminated Mrs. Fred Dodge of Port Arthur, 3 and 3.

Miss Hilda Urbantke, long a threat in the state tourney but never a winner, was slightly favored over Mrs. W. W. Nesley of San Antonio in the other third round match. The Austin Country club star eliminated Miss Neil Moody of Sherman 3 and 1, while Mrs. Nesley went to the second extra hole before defeating Mrs. C. M. McCullough of Amarillo in a tough battle.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Lefty Gomez, Yankees—Tumbled the Indians from first to third place in the American by letting them down with three hits.

Bill Lee, Cubs, and Van Lingle Mungo, Dodgers—They pitched four hitters against each other, former winning 1-0, and latter losing when his hit, driving in tying run, hit a runner on base and retired the side.

Pete Appleton, Senators—Gave Tigers only two hits and won 7-3.

Rick Ferrell, Red Sox—His single with bases loaded drove Red Sox to a win over Chicago and put his team in first place.

Leroy Parmelee, Cards—Pitched six-hit 17-inning ball game to beat the Giants, 2-1.

TULSA OILERS ARE AT TOP IN TEXAS LEAGUE

MOVE FROM 4TH TO FIRST PLACE IN DAY

(By The Associated Press)

Today's games:
Dallas at San Antonio.
Fort Worth at Beaumont.
Oklahoma City at Houston, night.
Tulsa at Galveston, night.

The Tulsa Oilers led the Texas league today, having moved up from fourth to first place yesterday as first division teams met defeated.

The Oilers won a 5 to 2 victory over the Houston Buffs. George Mulstead's five-hit hurling and flawless support enabled the Oilers to turn the trick. The Buffs were without a manager for the contest. Skipper Ira Smith having been called to Wichita, Kan., because of the serious illness of his wife.

It was a great day for the Fort Worth Cats, who broke a losing streak of 12 games by downing the San Antonio Mission 7-5. One of two things, or perhaps both, a black cat and a juggled line-up, was credited with the change in events for Fort Worth. A black cat was on the bench as a new Fort Worth mascot as the Cats put across two runs in the ninth to break a tie and win the ball game.

The Galveston Buccaneers added their fourth win in 13 starts by defeating Oklahoma City and dropping the Indians into second place. Tommy Governor's tenth inning out provided the margin of victory. Tom Davis, Jakucki and Woodrow Davis held the Indians to five hits but allowed eight passes.

A pair of runs in the ninth ended the Beaumont Exporters to defeat Dallas, 4-3, and break the Steers' winning streak. Lefty Hermander won the route for the winners and scattered seven hits, two of them homers by Connaster in the sixth and Rensa in the ninth.

Boxing Matches To Be Sponsored By High School

Fight night, the first of its kind, will be staged at the high school gymnasium one week from tonight. The sponsor will be the high school athletic association and proceeds will go into a special fund.

The card will open at 7:30 o'clock with grade school boys vying with each other. Then will come matches between high school boys of Pampa, McLean, Moberle, Wheeler, Shamrock, and other schools. General admission will be 15 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

Schools in other sections of the Panhandle have been holding boxing matches for some time and they have proved popular. There are several top-notch high school boxers and fans will get a real treat.

Registrations For Convention May Total 3,500

AMARILLO, April 30.—Advance registrations in Amarillo alone for the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, May 11-13, are expected to reach 3,500.

Bill Gibbs, head of the host city's convention committee on registrations, estimates there will be at least that many Amarilloans wearing the official badge of the eighteenth annual meeting before visitors and delegates begin arriving.

Hundreds of advance registrations also will be made in cities affiliated with the large regional organization, especially those cities intending to send special trains or unusually large delegations to the convention.

In order to expedite registration and to avoid the rush of registrants on the opening day of the convention, Gilstrap and his committee plan to send identification badges and credentials to other cities.

Wichita Falls, one of the bidders for the 1937 convention, has pledged at least 100 advance registrations through Wilburn Page of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce.

Plainview, where the convention was held last year, also has pledged heavy advance registrations.

Mobs Jam Louisville; Rain Cannot Dampen Enthusiasm

Threat of a Muddy Track Becoming Insistent

BY ORLO ROBERTSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30. (AP)—If you can thrill to the task of pushing your way through crowded streets and packed hotel lobbies stand the pangs of hunger while waiting seemingly for hours for a ham sandwich, or smile as loaded taxicabs fly past with your weary feet crying for a rest then you will be long in Louisville for the sixty-second running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

The Derby fever, which annually grips this city, today was spreading like an epidemic as railroads, airplanes, and automobiles poured their passengers on the scene of the country's greatest turf classic.

Even the threat of a typical Derby day, with either rain, a heavy track or both, failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the incoming mobs. Rain which started falling early yesterday, stopped only long enough last night for the festival parade and then continued.

Out at the track, far from the happy, jostling throngs, the trainers of the 15 colts and one filly expected to start in the big race stared at the heavily laden skies. Some looked worried. Others fairly beamed with joy.

R. E. Nelson, trainer of Grand Slam, wore one of the biggest smiles, for the Bomar ace moves up many pounds over a heavy track. If the rain continues and the going should be heavy then in all probability the Detroit-owned colt will go to the post equal choice with J. E. Widener's Brevity.

Little is known of Brevity's mud-running ability. Pete Coyne, the colt's trainer, declared he sees no reason why the heavily played colt should not like an off track. However, he would much rather prove it in some other race.

William Woodward's Granville, a son of Gallant Fox, comes from a mud-running family. His father, Wheatley stables' Teufel, an offspring of Diavolo, and Morton L. Schwartz's Bold Venture, sired by Twenty Grand's daddy, St. Germans Of the other leading contenders Major A. J. Frazier's Indian Broom world record holder at one and one-eighth miles, and the E. R. Bradley pair of Bien Joli and Banister prefer a fast racing strip.

Texas Company Beats Methodist Players 14 to 2

The Texas company, Coltexo, and the Christians joined King Oil and Voss Cleaners in the win column of the Playground Ball league which opened Tuesday afternoon. King Oil nosed out Phillips in two extra periods and Voss Cleaners had to go to the last inning to defeat the Baptists.

Texas company encountered little opposition in taking a 14 to 2 game from the Methodists. McBride and Stencil had things their own way allowing the Methodists only three hits. Covington was behind the bat. Nelson worked on the mound for the Churchmen with Dedman receiving.

Coltexo took the opener with the Cities Service, 7 to 4, in a well-played game. Phillips and Maxey worked for the winners with Campbell on the mound for Cities Service and Word receiving.

A schedule for the rest of the season is being worked out and will be released soon.

Graham Due To Announce Golf Tourney Date

Date of the city championship golf tournament will be announced within the next few days. Mack Graham, chairman of the tournament committee announced yesterday. The tournament will be played late in May, but the starting date has not been determined.

A list of prizes will also be released soon. This year's tournament is expected to be the biggest and best in the history of the Country club. Prizes will be more expensive and more uniform.

The course and clubhouse grounds are being improved daily. Already the greens have been gone over, the tee boxes re-built, and new benches erected at each tee box. Thirty-four trees have been set out around the clubhouse and planting of the clubhouse lawn with Bermuda grass was begun this morning.

More golfers are playing than in recent years. Better scores are also being registered and competition in all flights will be keener this year than ever before, the tournament committee predicts. They estimate that more than 100 golfers will participate in the city tournament.

ANOTHER CITY IN ETHIOPIA IS CAPTURED

ITALIANS AND ENGLISH BELIEVED SEEKING AGREEMENT

BY GEORGE C. JORDAN. (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

ROME, April 30.—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the Italian expeditionary force in Ethiopia, reported today that Sasa Baneh, the gateway to Ethiopia's second city of Harar, had been taken by storm yesterday.

Sasa Baneh was taken, he said, as a climax to many days bitter fighting.

His report came as authorities here said tension between Italy and Great Britain was relaxing and that the danger of a European war resulting from the Italian campaign was diminishing.

Meanwhile, on the northern front, the fall of Addis Ababa appeared imminent, Badoglio reporting that the motorized advance on the capital was continuing.

Another Italian column advancing from Lake Tana, took Debra Tabor, east of the lake.

As this column advanced, its operations were directed by sea-planes flying from their new base on Ethiopia's vast lake reservoir for the Nile.

Badoglio's communique said, in part:

"The powerful line of fortifications at Sasa Baneh and Bullah, designed and constructed by Belgian and Turkish officers, and defended with bitter forces by the Ethiopians of Ras Nasibu, were taken by assault by the troops of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani.

Italian press dispatches said the advancing Italian column in Ethiopia had taken Anebar, the important city on the southern highway to Addis Ababa and once the capital of Siba.

Rome newspapers carried headlines reading: "Our troops about to reach Addis Ababa" and "Our troops near Addis Ababa."

The entrance of Italian troops into the Ethiopian capital, it was suggested, probably will not be announced before tomorrow or the day after. Some authorities thought it possible, however, that the announcement might be made tomorrow to coincide with the communist Red day and thereby point a contrast with fascism's newest achievement.

The occupation of Anebar, which is 85 miles from Addis Ababa gives the Italians control of one of the main caravan routes to Harar and partly cuts off Ethiopia's second city from the capital.

Italians' Mustard Gas Takes Toll in Ethiopia

Proof of charges that the Italians have spread death and injury through Ethiopia by use of poison gas, an action angrily protested by England, is given in this picture, of bandaged victims on stretchers at the British Red Cross station in Ala Mata. Many natives have died of asphyxiation and the agonizing burns also have caused the deaths of many patients, say dispatches. A helmeted attendant is standing behind one of the gas bomb containers in the photo.

Playwright And Actress Make up After Shooting

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—A lovers' quarrel between an 18-year-old actress, Doris Dudley, and Sidney Kingsley, the playwright, punctuated by a rifle shot that wounded her in the chest, was patched up today in a hospital room.

The shooting occurred in the apartment of the young creator of "Dead End," current Broadway hit. Police said the wound was self-inflicted and reported finding a "farewell" note she had written. "They withheld its contents," Miss Dudley's father, Bilde Dudley, the drama critic, however, said a physician assured him there was no evidence the young actress had attempted suicide. He added: "Mr. Kingsley possesses several rifles and the explanation of the accident is that they were examining some of the guns and the one in Doris' hands went off unexpectedly."

The wound was superficial and, within a few hours after the shooting, Miss Dudley and Kingsley were reunited at her room at York hospital. It was said she will return to her role in "End of Summer" in a few days.

Detective Charles Kleber reported the couple quarreled at dinner in a West Side restaurant when the playwright reproved Miss Dudley for hesitating earlier about making a can of rat poison Jan. 3 and that Billie Fae became ill the next day. The witness declared Billie Fae's illness was similar to that of Dorothy 40 days later. The witness said the child begged for a physician but that one was not called until the day after she became ill.

1,200 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AT AUSTIN FOR LEAGUE FINALS

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—The state's premier athletes and scholars were en route to Austin today to participate in the 26th annual University of Texas interscholastic league meet tomorrow and Saturday. League officials expected the number of athletic and scholastic contestants to reach 1,200, representing 339 schools.

Track and field entries soared above the 400 mark and four state records were regarded as definitely in danger. Officials said a successful meet was in prospect.

Included in the list of track and field stars entered were Jack Price of Santa Anna, Walter Cecil of Freeport, J. D. Tidwell of Abilene, Burton Bernstein of Houston and W. E. Allen of Lovelady.

Price shattered the league record in the shot put at the regional meet, tossing the shot 53 feet, seven inches, five inches better than the old mark. Cecil and Tidwell tied the record of 97 seconds in the 100-yard dash. Bernstein negotiated the high hurdles in 15 seconds, almost equalling the league mark, and Allen came within one-quarter of an inch of tying the running high jump record.

A strong group of schoolboy tennis stars, winners of tough regional competition, was ready to open championship play.

Registration of contestants opened today and numerous social events and entertainments were on the program, including scientific exhibitions by physics and engineering departments.

Delegates to the league press conference will be guests at a dinner dance tomorrow night. The first section meeting of commercial

Evidence Ruled Admissible in Patterson Case

GREENVILLE, April 30. (AP)—State attorneys moved today to complete what developed into a double-barrel case against Mrs. Velma Patterson, thrice-widowed widow accused of poisoning her daughters, Dorothy and Billie Fae McCasland.

District Attorney Henry Pharr, saying testimony concerning Billie Fae's death was finished, announced state plans to rest by noon. That testimony was ruled admissible after Pharr, with the jury excluded from the room, argued the children died under similar circumstances and that evidence was pertinent to a fair picture of the cause of Dorothy's death.

The 34-year-old brunette was called to trial on charges of slaying Dorothy, 12, although she also was indicted in connection with the death of Billie Fae, 11.

Annie Cooper, maid in the Patterson home at the time the children died about a month ago early this year, who had testified Mrs. Patterson was in love with a cattleman and wanted to marry him "if it wasn't for the children," was re-called for questioning concerning Billie Fae's death.

She said that Mrs. Patterson

John Garner Is 'Cute' Says Miss Newman, Painter

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Vice President John Nance Garner was described as "cute" today by Miss Amelia Newman, a young portrait painter who is often told she looks like Joan Crawford.

"He was so cute and so wonderful when I painted him," she said. Miss Newman, who was wearing lemon yellow Chinese pajamas, a half dozen tinkling bracelets and a ring on her forefinger, spoke with similar enthusiasm of Walter Huston, the actor, whom she also painted.

"Sometimes while Walter Huston was sitting, he threw his head back and declaimed lines from 'Othello,'" she recalled. "He was learning that role then."

"He was so wonderful—" "Vice President Garner was intrigued because I didn't make him talk politics," she said.

"He called me 'little lady,' and gave me a long discussion about taking care of my teeth."

Mr. and Mrs. Buisz Urbanczyk of White Deer are the parents of a son born yesterday at Pampa-Jarratt hospital.

THIS NATURAL FOOD GENTLY REGULATES YOUR SYSTEM

Furnishes Needed "Bulk" for Regular Habits

Your doctor will tell you that keeping healthy depends far more on proper diet than on drugs, that common constipation is usually due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, and that patent medicines give you only temporary relief.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gently acting "bulk" which corrects the cause of common constipation. This "bulk" takes up moisture, forming a soft mass which helps to cleanse the system.

ALL-BRAN gives your body the regular internal exercise it needs to prevent sluggishness. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. Studies on normal men and women have shown that this delicious cereal is perfectly satisfactory. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk."

Asks Slow Sign

Residents on East Francis and East Browning have asked the City to place "slow" signs and white center lines on those streets, where sharp turns must be made. Speeding on those streets, especially at night, have resulted in several accidents. Residents fear that cars may not be able to make the turns and may crash across curbs and into groups of playing children.

Received Check

R. B. Fisher, superintendent of schools, received a check for $50 through the mail this morning. It was for the cafeteria fund and was signed by the exalted ruler and treasurer of the Pampa Elks club.

The money was raised at the Elks club charity ball held last week. Supt. Fisher turned the check over to the cafeteria committee which will use it to purchase food for underprivileged school children.

Woman and Lover Are Accused of Killing Husband

CENTER, April 30 (AP)—District Attorney Wardlaw Lane announced today that Mrs. Eable Childs, charged with murder in connection with the slaying last Thursday night of her own husband, had made a statement.

Lane said the statement told of her being friendly with Terrance Bramlett, 21, who also is in jail charged with murder.

A statement attributed to Bramlett said Morrie Childs, 35, crippled former treasurer of Shelby county was shot to death in a plot to obtain his property, valued at approximately $30,000. Childs was practically an invalid as a result of infantile paralysis.

A small-caliber bullet fired through his bathroom window at close range while he was brushing his teeth killed him.

Ranger Captain J. W. McCormick and Ranger Dan Hines, with Shelby county authorities, took Mrs. Childs and Bramlett, former Civilian Conservation Corps worker, to San Augustine for questioning yesterday after the charges were filed.

stuff on the ball that Huey Long had.

WALTER WOODRILL, acting governor in the absence of Jimmie Allred, put in a good word for the proposed constitutional amendment to raise governor's salaries from $4,000 to $12,000 a year.

The present low salary is a disgrace to this proud state. Do we wish only rich men for governors—we who require candidates to spend thousands of dollars to court our good voters? Do we wish poor men to lead the governor's chair deeply in debt? Do we wish the "interests," big or little, to pay lobbyists more than we pay our governors? We think a raise in pay for governors would be the best investment Texas could make at this time.

The Young Democrats are coming Saturday. This may not be news to most persons, but to those who like to see political antics it is an interesting date. Sessions will be held in the district courtroom. One will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday and the last at 2 p. m. No great issues are before this meeting, but interesting arguments always develop at such times. Pampanas with leisure time Saturday should hear at least one of the sessions.

SAYS THE Dalhart Texan: "Hand bills are falling into disrepute in the nation's most progressive cities because they lessen the number of handshakes—not only for the business sending out the bills but for the community as a whole. There have been movements against handbills here for several years. In recent weeks, bills have been turned down by various women's clubs because they render impotent, the clubs says, any permanent benefits from beautification."

Ex-Grid Star Is Dead After He Killed Bandit

MUSCATINE, Ia., April 30 (AP)—State Highway Patrolman Oran H. Pape, former University of Iowa football star who proved as heroic in a gun battle as he was on the gridiron, succumbed early today to a wound inflicted by a bandit he killed in a desperate struggle.

The former Hawkeye grid star died after an emergency operation and a blood transfusion a few hours after he slew Roscoe R. Barton, 23, in a hand to hand fight yesterday.

Pape, 28, encountered Barton on the highway near Fairport and stopped his car to investigate. As he approached, Barton drew a gun, ordered Pape into the car with him and started to drive away.

Pape grabbed for the pistol with which he was covered. Barton fired the point blank, wounding the officer in the abdomen.

Pape then wrested the weapon away and sent a bullet through the gunman's head.

With the aid of finger prints, Pape's slain foe was identified as Barton by Police Chief Sam Kelly of Davenport, Ia., Barton's home. Kelly said Barton was involved in a robbery of the Davenport armory in 1934.

Toscanini Given Farewell Tribute

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—The 11 crowded years Arturo Toscanini directed the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society as its principal conductor were at an end today, climaxed by Carnegie hall, where he led the orchestra through the still vigorous 69-year-old master. He sails Saturday for Paris with concerts there, in Salzburg in Palestine and possibly in Egypt during the remainder of this year.

A distinguished audience filled Carnegie hall and stood in their seats at the end, clamoring for more after the maestro had led a devoted, intent orchestra through the swirling valkyries ride of the Wagner music.

Hundreds had stood in line throughout the day, most of them in a vain effort to obtain the tickets for standing room. Toscanini conducted 429 concerts in the United States and 23 in Europe during the 11-year period.

At Toscanini's wish the $23,750 proceeds from last night's concert went to the orchestra, doormen ushers, and staff personnel and the pension funds of the Carnegie hall and Symphony Society.

Pneumonia Takes Sam Gilliland

Pneumonia claimed Sam Gilliland, 8 years 10 months, late yesterday afternoon in a local hospital. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Gilliland and had resided here with his parents for five months. He attended Woodrow Wilson school.

Surviving are his parents, two sisters, Elizabeth Ruth and Dorothy Louise, and a brother, Ira Lee. Funeral services will be conducted at Holy Souls church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning with the Rev. Joseph Wonderly reading funeral mass. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery in charge of G. C. Malone Funeral home.

"Yet some of those who voice loudest their opposition to regimentation in general demand, at the same time, a commercial policy that would inevitably lead to such regimentation, and a permanently increasing dole as well."

DEFICIT

ident's proposal for taxing corporations on a basis of percentages of undistributed income, center of the controversy over the tax measure said it was merely an extension of principle of "taxation according to ability to pay" which he said, had "the unobjectionable and unquestioned endorsement and support of the citizens of this nation."

The treasury secretary, for the first time, however, disclosed that this new corporate tax plan, estimated to yield $620,000,000 annually in permanent revenue, would raise only $310,000,000 for the first fiscal year.

Without referring specifically to plans of some Senators—notably LaFollette (P, Wis.) and King (D, Utah)—to propose a general boost in individual income taxes, Morgenthau said:

"What are the dimensions of tax avoidance with which we are dealing? A few simple figures tell the story. It has been estimated by the treasury department that under the present tax law the income tax liability of corporations on the basis of 1936 earnings would approximate 964 millions."

"The department has also estimated that under the present law more than four and one-half billion dollars of corporation income in the calendar year 1936 will be withheld from stockholders and that if the income were fully distributed to the individual owners of the stock represented in these corporations, the resultant yield in additional individual income taxes would be about one billion three hundred millions."

"With tax avoidance occurring on the scale indicated by the figures I have cited, I do not see how any increase in individual income tax rates or other general and continuing taxation could be justified until this leak in our tax system is stopped."

Seymour fishermen are not fishy. While there is a generous sprinkling of confirmed fly and bait-casting artists, the main idea is to catch fish and sink bait, silverside and redhorse minnows and angle worms have their devotees. Lake Kemp is noted for its crappie and bass, and minnows do the trick as well as fancier lures.

Meanwhile, Seymour was not alone in its enthusiasm on the eve of season opening. Reports from all parts of the state indicated unusual interest. Reservations at Lake Dallas were sold out by last week-end. Lake Worth Medina, Caddo, and scores of smaller lakes in all parts of the state anticipated heavy business.

Traxler Chased By Officers in This Community

Pete Traxler, Oklahoma's No. 1 desperado who is credited with several offenses in Texas, including hijackings, near Groton Monday night, led eastern Panhandle officers on a merry chase late yesterday and last night.

Pampa officers, county highway patrolmen, and the sheriff's department participated in the hunt after Traxler was reported seen in Panhandle. The sheriff and deputies returned to Pampa about 6 a. m. today.

Traxler, driving a Ford coach (black V-8, license number 413-201), eluded officers near the Oklahoma line and today was believed back in more familiar haunts. At one time, Traxler passed Sheriff Raymond Waters of Wheeler county and a deputy on a hill. Both cars were making about 75 miles an hour at the time last night, and passed so quickly that no shots were fired by the occupants.

Roy Carhart, Panhandle deputy, was said to have spotted Traxler yesterday afternoon at or near a small cafe. He was on the highway, however, before officers were on the chase. He out-distanced them near White Deer. A woman was with him at the time, but he was alone when seen in Wheeler county.

Traxler was recently "jumped" in Wichita Falls when a companion was captured. At the same time, loot was obtained, local officers say, which has been identified as part of that taken from motorists on highway 66.

Traxler, enjoying more than ordinary luck, escaped at Wichita Falls. No shots took effect in that skirmish.

his arms before he could bring her back to her sick room.

Defense attorneys, in trying to force McCasland to say he was drunk Feb. 16 and again Feb. 18, when Dorothy was buried, got from him nothing but denials.

Through it all Mrs. Patterson sat quietly, her face as expressionless as it had been all through presentation of the State's case, except when her former maid, Annie Cooper, had created a sensation by revealing the defendant was in love with Jimmie Wallace, a cattleman, and allegedly said she "would marry him if it wasn't for the children."

Then, as her purported love affair was unfolded in the words of the maid, Mrs. Patterson leaned forward, listening intently to every word.

Fred Patterson said he visited his sister-in-law's home several times from January 4 to 17 and saw Wallace there frequently; often before breakfast.

Bill Patterson, the woman's third husband, died the latter part of last year. Previously she had married and divorced W. W. McCasland, the father of Dorothy and Billie Fae, and Bill Kelly.

MILLION DOLLARS TO BE SPENT TO PROVIDE COOL AIR FOR FETE

DALLAS, April 30.—The Texas Centennial exposition will be the first air-conditioned world's fair in history.

"For the first time, an exposition has been designed and is being built with the comfort of its visitors primarily in mind," said William A. Webb, general manager of the $25,000,000 show which opens in Dallas June 8.

"More than $1,000,000 is being spent to provide fresh, cool air throughout every major building. The temperature and humidity of the atmosphere will be kept constant over more than ten acres of floor space in twenty-nine buildings. This is 60 per cent of our floor space. The air over all other floor space will be changed, completely every eight minutes or less, thus lowering the temperature ten degrees or more and insuring fresh clean air at all times.

"With two exceptions, our exhibit buildings have been erected without windows. This makes it much easier to control the temperature.

"There were a few air-conditioned spots at the Century of Progress in Chicago," Mr. Webb continued, "but this is the first time an entire world's fair has been air-conditioned. We feel sure, however, that in future all big expositions will be equipped in this way."

Air-conditioning engineers said 6,000,000 gallons of water will be used daily in cooling the atmosphere at the Dallas exposition. As an economy measure, this water will be used over and over again, only enough being added to take care of evaporation.

"This volume of water, of course, does not include that used in the many fountains, reflecting basins and the lagoons," Mr. Webb explained, "although they also will help cool the air. Indeed, engineers tell us they will take a considerable load off the air-conditioning equipment."

FUTURE OF TEXAS OIL AND GAS INDUSTRY REASSURING, PREDICT

AUSTIN, April 30.—Elmer H. Johnson, University of Texas, economist, today predicted the future of Texas' fast-growing oil and gas industry was reassuring.

A steady march of oil production in the southwest since 1900 to supplying 70 per cent of the nation's crude, he said, was "an achievement worthy of careful attention." Equaled by few economic enterprises, he said Texas' position, geographic and geologic, was such that it constituted the center of attention.

"The same factors of geography and geology," he said, "make it reasonably certain that future developments will pivot about Texas resources, even more so than in the case during the past two decades."

The dominant position of Texas and the southwest, he said, was reassuring especially in view of the fact that Texas has about 50 per cent of the estimated proven reserves of oil in the United States.

First reported production in Texas was 48 barrels in 1889, while the Spindletop discovery in 1901 put production under way. Last year the southwest contributed 71.7 per cent of the national output.

California, once dominant, still leads in the total output, Johnson said, because of longer production, and because of the southwest's total output of the United States, he reported; California, 25 per cent; northeastern fields, 15.4 per cent; and Wyoming and Montana, 26 per cent.

The value of mineral production in Texas during 1934, he said, was $509,500,000, outranked only by 5546-900,000 in Pennsylvania. Other states producing minerals in excess of $100,000,000 value were California, West Virginia, Oklahoma, and Ohio.

Texas Conserving Last of Torcayes

Once abundant in Texas and south of the Rio Grande, the Torcaya, or red-billed pigeon, is now almost extinct. They lay but one egg a year—two if the first is broken—and hunters, once epicures began to appreciate the torcaya flavor, killed them by the thousands. In Brackenridge Park, San Antonio, an effort is being made to conserve the birds which never are found north of Central Texas. They are to be displayed at the National Pigeon Show, which will have a two-week run at the Texas Centennial Exposition, $25,000,000 World's Fair opening at Dallas June 6.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, April 30.—(P)—Lack of interest in coming state political campaigns has sent observers in search of a reason but their efforts to center on any particular cause generally has been unsuccessful. The campaign, outwardly, has the usual ingredients for a typical Texas political melee but the spark seems lacking.

One commentator attributed the lethargy to concentration of interest in the national campaign. Texas as it was pointed out is vitally concerned in the outcome since it is a high ranking Democratic state and is represented in national political circles by many prominent men, including Vice-President Garner.

PLAINVIEW RESIDENT POSED FOR FAMED PORTRAIT OF S. HOUSTON

PLAINVIEW, April 30.—(P)—Col. R. P. Smyth, former member of the legislature who makes his home here, posed as a model for W. H. Huddle's portrait of Gen. Sam Houston and saw "The Surrender of Santa Anna" in the making. Smyth roomed with Huddle for five years at Austin.

Search by the state historical commission for records to establish the state's title to the historic painting reminded Col. Smyth that Huddle "wanted $5,000 for the finished picture."

"My understanding is the price was reduced to $4,000," Smyth added. "Then came another hitch," he explained. "The committee, acting for the state, discovered no likeness of Guy M. Bryan among the prominent Texans represented in the painting. Huddle had some dislike for Bryan and I remember him intimating he was inclined to decline the sale rather than put Bryan in," Smyth stated.

"When I next saw the painting it was in the rotunda of the capital. The records of the comptroller's and treasurer's offices should show whether the $4,000 was paid Huddle."

Smyth said he saw many of his artist-friend's paintings develop from the stretching of the canvas and several times was pressed into service to model for full-length figures.

He "still feels the strain" upon his muscles representing a soldier shot and falling at the foot of the blasted pine tree in Huddle's painting "All Quiet on the Potomac Tonight."

He posed for Huddle's painting of Gen. Houston representing him sitting in a chair. One hand held a heavy walking stick, the other Huddle's old white hat and a Mexican blanket across his shoulders. Huddle, scrupulous about detail and historical background, went to Matamoros, Mexico, to get the correct blanket. The hat was Huddle's and was familiar to all his haunts at Austin, Smyth related.

Smyth said he was impatient sitting for that picture because he gave up his noon hour to aid the artist. It was at his suggestion, however, the painting was offered to the state.

"As one official explained, a good road job in the spring or early summer is worth a couple of projects in the fall. Works undertaken in the fall and winter months are usually completed before the election while one getting underway around election time is apt to stick in the voters' memories."

Many original reasons are urged by county delegations in pressing for road construction.

At the commission's last meeting a delegation of approximately 200 citizens from Bosque, Bell, and McLennan counties pleaded for a road from Valley Mills to Belton. They cited figures showing the area to be traversed was a rich agricultural section and a spokesman added:

"You know, a McGregor boy never marries a Moody girl, not because Moody doesn't have the girl, but because the McGregor boys can't get over to court them," a delegate remarked. "We call that stifling competition and an undue restraint on cordial relationships."

Senator Tom DeBerry of Bogata left the hearing room happy after the commission indicated favorable reaction to a proposal to complete highway 37 between Mount Vernon and White Oak creek.

"That is the last button on my baby's blouse," DeBerry noted for his home-spun expressions, said. DeBerry will retire at the end of his present term.

TEXAS IN WASHINGTON

By DONALD A. YOUNG

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(P)—Through the long impeachment trial of Judge Halsted Ritter of Florida, a quiet Texan worked again as prosecutor.

Rep. Hutton Summers of Dallas, a veteran of three Senate impeachments, for the second consecutive time as "chairman of the House managers"—the congressional phraseology in such cases for the chairman of the House judiciary committee who piloted the complaints against Ritter through his committee and through the House.

In his thin voice, Summers exhorted the senators, who sat at the "jury," to convict Ritter on the House "articles of impeachment and sat in front of the regular Senate seats in special space not more than 15 feet from the chair of Vice-president Garner.

Senator Morris Sheppard voted to convict Ritter on all seven counts and Senator Tom Connally voted the same way except on the charge that the judge evaded income tax payments. Ritter was acquitted on the first six allegations but was convicted on the seventh.

During debate which preceded House passage of authorization for a $400,000,000 appropriation for roads, Rep. Tom Blanton of Abilene took occasion to attack a recent trip to Washington of representatives of the Texas county judges association.

Labeling their visit a "junket trip to Washington," Blanton said he "knew immediately" the purpose of the journey was political as far as Clyde L. Garrett, Eastland county judge, was concerned when he saw Garrett have his picture taken "walking down the front outside steps of the House of Representatives... braving the cold weather."

Blanton said Garrett had announced against him for Congress.

With one exception, the cabinet officers who compose the federal Texas Centennial commission had little difficulty approving allocations of money and types of projects at their last meeting before the state exposition opens.

"There was no discussion of the manner of spending $400,000 allocated to Houston, $250,000 to Fort Worth and $50,000 to Goliad but with San Antonio it was a different matter."

For more than an hour, Vice-President Garner and Secretaries Hull, Roper and Wallace heard arguments on why that city's $400,000 should be spent for a stadium, statues or memorials of a wide variety. They finally increased the Alamo city's share by $44,000 so Bexar county could have a new stadium, could rehabilitate the Alamo and San Jose Mission and erect statues of Austin, Bowie, Bonham, Crockett and others.

Rep. Maury Maverick, who insisted in vain a year ago that the $3,000,000 congressional appropriation specify that San Antonio's share be spent for "historical exhibits," declined to say what allotments he preferred and, instead, suggested an impartial judge be sent to the city to seek to compose differences among residents.

Karl Crowley of Fort Worth, solicitor in the postoffice department, will head the Texas club of Washington for another congressional year.

Crowley succeeded Malcolm Bardwell, former secretary to Rep. Maury Maverick of San Antonio. Ernest H. Donohoo of Marlin, secretary to Rep. O. H. Cross, will continue as secretary.

Admittedly "getting my hand in," representative George Mahon has started accepting invitations from the democratic executive committee.

tee to speak. He recently went to Mansfield, O., to address a state-wide Dolly Madison organization.

Senator Tom Connally filed almost in vain recently to protect the small cattle packing plants in Texas.

Opposing for several days the Capper stockyards and meat packing bill during protracted senate debate, Connally told his colleagues:

"In the bill is a provision which would prevent packing plants from buying cattle and thereafter feeding them in order to properly prepare them for killing. There is a packing plant at El Paso which serves New Mexico, Arizona and a part of Texas.

"If we prohibit that plant from buying cattle and feeding them for the purpose of slaughtering in that plant, we thereby practically destroy that packing house. Why is that so? It is because that packing plant would then have to go to Kansas City, Omaha, Chicago or somewhere else to buy fat cattle. . . . The Department of Agriculture says the provision in the Capper bill to which I have referred would reduce competition instead of increasing it. Do senators want to do that?"

In contrast with last session, the East Texas oil field has been discussed comparatively little in Congress recently, but there is almost as much talk backstage and in certain departments.

Secretary Ickes has been having his troubles with administrative officials of his petroleum agencies at Kilgore, Tyler and vicinity. Thomas G. Kelliber, director of the federal petroleum agency No. 1, has resigned. Other changes appear imminent.

The young Rodessa petroleum pool almost on the state border has caused a new problem affecting Texas and Louisiana. Louisiana production laws not similar to those of Texas and different allowances in the same field, all within the two state laws are causing difficulties. Senator Connally has appealed to Ickes to straighten out the difficulty.

An interesting comparison of federal tax contributions with emergency relief expenditures by states shows:

Texas has 4.73 per cent of the nation's population, pays 2.2 per cent of all internal revenue collections, pays 1.98 per cent of all income taxes and 1.33 state and local relief contributions are 13.2 per cent and those of the government 86.8.

Using the principal of the stereoscope, X-ray apparatus has been developed in Russia that shows pictures in three dimensions.

Dusting The Covers of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

Austin, April 30.—"The trade opening between Texas and the West Indies, especially the Island of Cuba, will soon become important," Arthur T. Kin, English consul to the Republic of Texas, wrote in 1841. Kin prepared a "Guide to Emigrants," which was published in London for the purpose of attracting English colonists to the new country. In this little book, now a rarity among Texans, he took up every important aspect of Geography, topography, agriculture, commerce, and other general statistics concerning Texas, and placed at the disposal of prospective settlers a vast fund of information calculated to interest them in the Republic as a new home.

One copy of this rare volume is now in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas library.

"From Texas, these islands can be supplied with provisions and mules, more easily and more cheaply than from any other quarter," Kin wrote, referring to the West Indies. "The Mexican traders will often sell mules in Western Texas for 30 dollars, which would command, in the Havana, 150."

"Hides, as well as cotton and tobacco, will form a considerable export to Europe."

"That invaluable timber for ship building, (especially for vessels of war), the live oak, must also become a very important object of commerce. It is in Texas one of the most common, as well as the most noble of the forest trees; and it is believed, it might be procured there at less cost, and better quality, than from any other coast to which we have access. (Note: In a report made by the secretary of the committee to the United States Congress in 1832, the value and scarcity of this species of oak are thus referred to:—'The value of the live oak is so generally known that it will not, I am sure, be necessary to say anything to the committee on that subject. It is the most essential material in ship building, equal in durability and strength to the teak, and far surpassing it in buoyancy, without any substitute on this continent, its destruction cannot be contemplated without the most serious apprehensions. For ships of war it is admitted to be the best in the world. This timber is only found in any quality south of latitude 32°, and rarely grows north of 34°. . . . It is disappearing by exportation, by sales, and by clearing up the country for cultivation, until the coast of Georgia is nearly shorn of every branch, and a large portion of East Florida. There is none in the Sabine and the Mississippi, and the small quantities in Alabama, and the state of Mississippi, are inaccessible. Compared with the demand, there is but a small portion in West Florida. . . . If natural product is our dependence, we shall be in half a century without live oak enough to repair such a vessel as the 'Constitution,' and shall have to sell her ex necessitate. . . . The Congress of the United States appropriated 200,000 dollars as early as the year 1799, to form plantations of live oak, and it has since been recommended by Mr. Jefferson. There is scarcely an intelligent officer in our navy who is not in favor of it.'")

"Shippers to Texas must for a time be cautious as to the extent of their consignments; recollecting that, however great the commercial prospect of the country are,

it is at present only a new market, whose own consumption must necessarily be limited, and the channels of whose interior, or transit trade, are as yet but very partially opened. The time will soon arrive when a vast amount of British goods may be advantageously imported. At present, shipments should consist of small general assortments; that is to say, of great variety of articles—but not great quantities of each article. The quality should be always good. The great mistake to suppose the refuse of other markets will sell well here. Winter is the busiest season for trade. Cotton being the chief return, it will be some guide to shippers to know that the quantity grown in Texas during the present year is generally estimated at full 60,000 bales. Much of this, however, reaches New Orleans via the Red River, without being identified as Texan cotton. The official returns of the quantity duly exported did not, in 1840, include more than 15,304 bales, though it should be added, that much of the year's crop was not exported until 1841. Besides her cotton, and some hides, Texas already procures no inconsiderable amount of specie from Mexico, with which to buy European goods.

The total amount of imports during the four years ending December, 1840, exceeded 4,870,941 dollars.

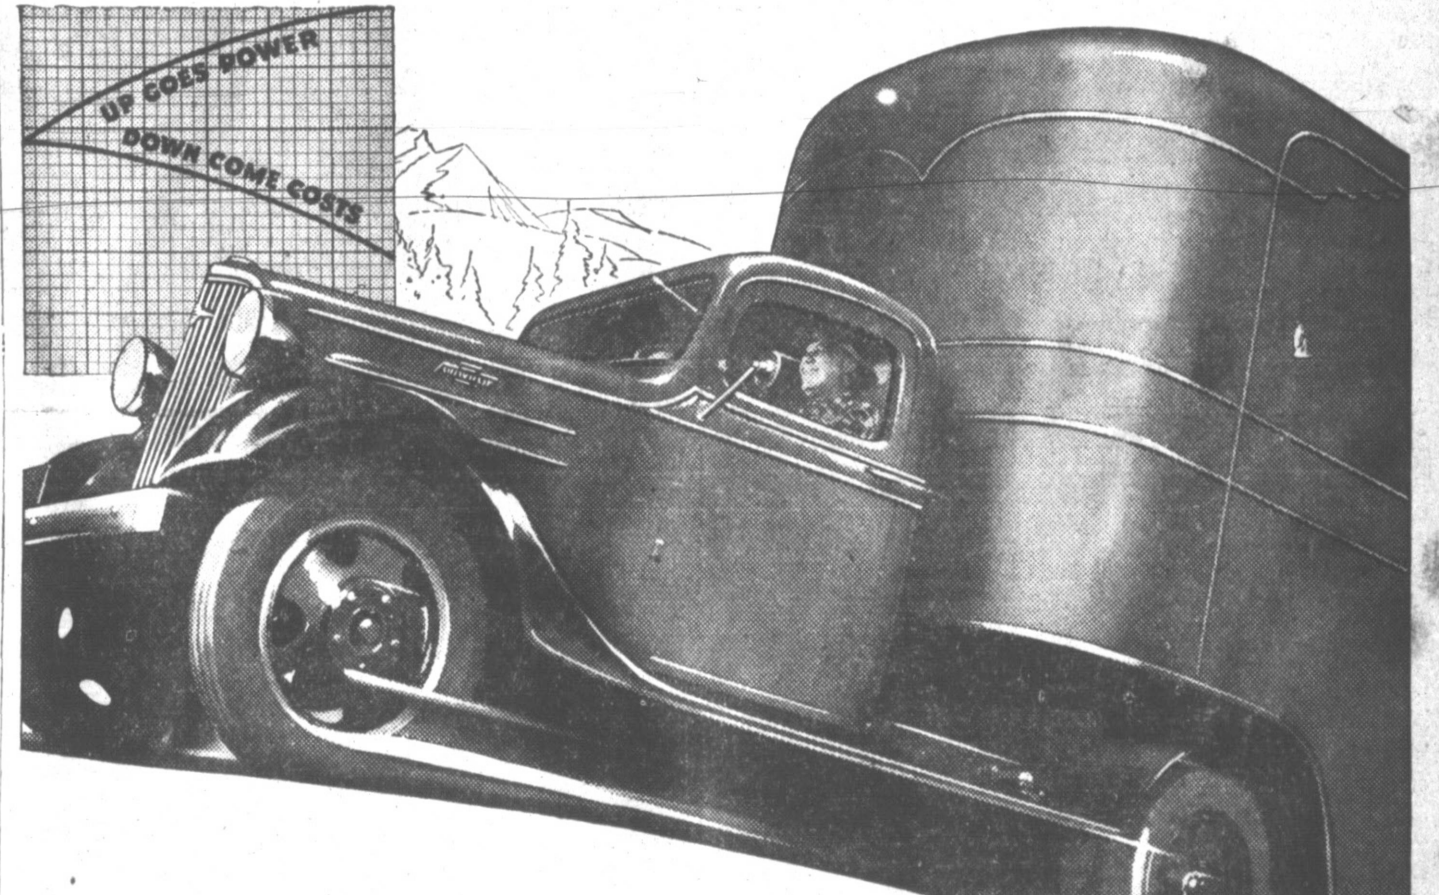

"The imports during the first quarter of the present year were 291,671 dollars.

"The exports from September, 1837, to September, 1840, exceeded 793,887 dollars, of which 218,134 were exported during the nine months of 1840 alone. The exports in the first quarter of the present year were as far as the returns had been received, 92,795 dollars.

"The rate of 'legal' interest in Texas is 8 per cent per annum. Conventional interest may not exceed 12 per cent. Commission charges are generally rather high. Port dues are light, and there is no tonnage duty exacted.

"The Texan tariff will be found, with other statistical information, at the end of this little work. It will be seen that the duties on manufactured goods have been raised to the nominal rate of 45 per cent. As they are payable in depreciated paper currency, the real amount of duty does not exceed 10 per cent. That paper having, however, been greedily bought up by speculators, many of whom would part with it for little less than par value, is becoming scarce, and consequently must rise in value, which will be sufficient reason for the tariff being again reduced, especially as it Texas shall, in the language of an eminent American, 'become the great free trade republic of the world.'

"The limited depth of water in the Texan ports has been already noticed. Vessels of about 250 tons, or not drawing more than ten or eleven feet, are best suited to the trade. The open anchorage outside the bars is very good; the holding-ground being generally a stiff clay; and the severest gales which occur during the winter months, blowing off the land, seldom produce much sea on the coast."

WORLD'S THRIFTIEST HIGH-POWERED TRUCKS

IN TRUCKS, it's pulling power that counts . . . and the new Chevrolets for 1936 have the greatest pulling power of any trucks in the entire low-price range! Moreover, they give you this greater pulling power with the lowest gas and oil costs, lowest maintenance costs and maximum all-round economy!

They are the world's thriftiest high-powered trucks; and the whole secret of their extra pulling power, extra thrift, extra safety and dependability is the fact that they have a combination of features not found in any other low-priced truck.

These new Chevrolets alone have a High-Compression Valve-in-Head Six-Cylinder Engine, the most efficient engine built for all-round duty . . . a Full-Floating Rear Axle of maximum ruggedness and reliability . . . New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes, giving the quickest, safest, "straight line" stops . . . and New Full-Trimmed De Luxe Cab for driver comfort, with clear-vision instrument panel for safe control.

THE UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of six articles by G. H. Nelson of Tahoka, state senator, on a subject about which there is nationwide discussion at this time.)

The Unicameral Legislature simply means One House. The question in Texas is not whether we shall abolish the House of Representatives or the Senate, retaining the other, but shall we abolish both of such houses and create one new house of a given number of men and women as Representatives of the people, elected from the various districts of Texas in proportion to the population within each such district.

The one house Legislature is not a new idea. The nations of Switzerland, Australia, Ireland, Finland, and the Philippine Islands operate under a one house representative body. The Philippine Islands, the most recent nation to set its ship of State afloat upon the sea of democracy, was directed by the United States and set up under a one house Government. Each province of Canada, with the exception of one, has a Unicameral Legislature. Nebraska, because of their senior United States Senator and progressive statesman, Geo. W. Norris, will convene their first one house Legislature in January 1937, the same having been adopted by constitutional amendment by an overwhelming majority of the people of that State in 1934.

England, the mother country from which we of America took our ideas in formulating our democracy, does, in fact, have a one house system of Legislation. In the year 1911 the House of Lords was shorn of all its representative power, and today has even no veto power which extends beyond two years.

In the second called session of the Legislature I introduced in the Senate of Texas a resolution calling for the adoption of such a system in this State. The resolution received six votes in the Senate and failed to receive a majority in the House of Representatives by only two votes. On one or two occasions prior to the introduction of my resolution, there had been introduced in the House of Representatives resolutions, in more or less general terms, calling for such a system.

In recent months, bills for establishment of the Unicameral Legislature have been introduced in seventeen States other than Texas, the most recent of which has come from the Legislature of Massachusetts, to whom Governor Curley of that, the most conservative of the States of the union, urged the adoption of such a system modeled after that which Senator Norris of Nebraska succeeded in having the voters of his State put into effect.

In 1642 in England the masses of the people demanded of their ruler that they be given some recognition in the carrying on of their Governmental affairs. The king, recognizing such demand, but at the same time desiring to safeguard his coveted powers, selected of his own choosing, representatives from various sections of his nation to counsel with him. Of course, it was a matter of only a short time until the people realized that they were being given no real participation in their Government such as we now recognize under our democracy. Soon thereafter greater demands were made upon the king, and they, the common people, were permitted to elect men of their own choice to serve as legislators. Thus came into being the first representative body—and this under a one house system. In that day in England there were those known as Lords and Peers, they being the property taxpayers and landed estate owners of the nation. This class soon recognized that too much power had been placed in the hands of the common people, and that if some action were not taken on their part, their interests would not be safeguarded. Hence, they went to the king and demanded of him that they be allowed representatives who would safeguard their rights under the Government. Thus came into being what was, and is today, known in England as the House of Lords. This is where we got our idea of two houses when our Democracy was established.

It will be observed that the members of these two houses were selected from different classes of people to serve the best interests of a particular group of people, to wit, the masses on the one hand and the land owners on the other; the members of the House of Commons were elected for a short term whereas the Lords were appointed for life; they received different compensation for their services; they had different functions to perform; they were required to have different qualifications for membership in their respective assemblies.

Today, in Texas, both houses are elected by direct vote of the people; they are elected for identical purposes and to perform identical functions; they are paid exactly the same salary; and both the members of the House of Representatives and of the Senate are elected for the purpose of serving the best interests, not of a particular class, but of all the people of this State.

We do not recognize different classes in Texas, hence, we should admit either that different classes do exist and that, therefore, we should elect our Representatives in the House to represent one class and admit that the Senate is to represent wealth, power, special interests, and the aristocracy of this State, if there be such, or we should abolish both of such houses and form one, the members of which can be forced by the people of this State to actually represent their best interests.

Q. Where was Friml, the composer, born? H. J.
A. Charles Rudolph Friml was born in Prague, Bohemia. He came to America at the age of 22.

Q. How many radio speeches has President F. D. Roosevelt made? M. C.
A. He has made about sixty radio speeches since his inauguration.

Q. Are stock car races to be held at Daytona Beach each year? K. S.
A. It is contemplated that a race will be held annually.

Q. Does the exact center of a revolving shaft revolve with shaft or does it remain stationary? W. P.
A. The National Bureau of Standards says that the question concerning the revolution of the center of a solid shaft is merely a catch question, depending upon what is regarded as the exact center. Actually, a point has position and no magnitude.

Q. Are there more telephone calls from residences or from business concerns? G. G.
A. Usually the residential calls are a little under half the total.

Q. What nation performs the most labor? R. M.
A. Because of its many labor-saving devices the United States performs half the useful tasks of the world. America is the chief user of power about 13 horse-power per person being consumed. Forty times as much work is done by mechanical means in the United States as by human labor.

Q. How did the United States acquire California? H. W. M.
A. As the result of the Mexican War, the United States acquired the territory which has since become the States of California, Nevada, Utah part of Colorado, and the larger parts of New Mexico and Arizona. Mexico was paid $15,000,000 for this land.

Q. How many young people will be graduated from colleges and high schools this spring? L. R. B.
A. It has been roughly estimated that there are 132,000 pupils finishing college this year, and 1,000,000 completing high school this year.

Q. What foods contain iron? W. L. B.
A. The following foods are among those that are rich in iron: spinach, oysters, lettuce, string beans, egg yolk, lean beef, strawberries, navy beans, potatoes, raisins, oatmeal, prunes, graham bread, oranges, milk and white bread.

Q. How is artificial wood made from sawdust? J. H. R.
A. The following formula was patented in France: Sawdust 33 per cent; paper waste 20 per cent; casein glue 22 per cent; limestone or chalk 10 per cent; water 15 per cent. The proportions are varied somewhat with the type of product. The ingredients are ground together to make a uniform mixture then moulded and dried. The board can be reinforced by placing pieces of wood in the mold.

Q. Is there an Isle of Capri? B. F. P.
A. Capri is an island in the Mediterranean, at the entrance of the Bay of Naples. It is 21 miles south of Naples and has an area of 5 1/2 square miles and a population of 6300. On the island are ruins of Roman baths and aqueducts, and of the twelve grand villas built by the Emperor Tiberius. To the west of the town of Capri is the Blue Grotto, a cavern entered from the sea, one of the most renowned tourist resorts in the Neapolitan area.

Q. What are the most popular subjects for discussion in educational forums? E. L.
A. For the school year of 1935 the five most popular topics were the international situation, economic recovery, fascism and war, new deal legislation, and liberty and democracy.

Q. Is much radio equipment manufactured here used abroad? E. L.
A. In 1935 more than $25,000,000 worth of radio apparatus was exported from the United States.

Q. What is the oldest National park? E. H.
A. Yellowstone park was the first National park established in the United States.

Q. In Uncle Tom's Cabin, what is the name of Uncle Tom's wife? E. C.
A. This kind old Negress was called Aunt Chloe.

Q. When were NRA and AAA declared unconstitutional? J. W. S.
A. NRA was declared unconstitutional on May 27, 1935, and the AAA on January 6, 1936.

Q. In what part of the Atlantic ocean is the tide the highest and how many feet does it rise? C. V. H.
A. The largest known periodic tides in the Atlantic ocean and in the world as a whole occur in Minas Basin, Bay of Fundy, Nova Scotia, where a mean range of 42 feet and a spring range of 45 feet have been reported.

Q. What is the weight of a baby elephant at birth? U. Z.
A. The average weight of elephant calves at birth is from 160 to 200 pounds. Young elephants mature very slowly and do not gain very much in weight during the first week. They live entirely on milk for several months.

Paris Described By A. N. Dilley For Rotarians

A discussion of Paris, from the days of the world war to the present time, was given before the Rotary club yesterday by A. N. Dilley. He told of the days after the armistice and of the soldiers who were left in France to handle the details of settlement. He told of the beauty of Paris, including the spots of interest to tourists through their historical and artistic significance. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. J. W. Garman and the French national anthem was played by Mrs. Walter Stein.

Visitors were C. E. McGrew, Fred Hobart, Carson Loftis, Mrs. A. N. Dilley, and Rotarians Emmet Galloway, Amarillo; John Caylor and R. M. Hobby, Canadian.

PRODUCTION HAS RECOVERED BUT EMPLOYMENT AND WAGES CONTINUE TO BE HELD DOWN

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—Back in 1888, David Wells, perhaps the most celebrated economist of his period, wrote a book called "Recent Economic Changes." It was regarded as epochal showing, as it did, the marvelous alterations which the second half of the Nineteenth Century was making in the economic life of America. This rise of production, the increase in wages, and the vicissitudes of prices were analyzed acutely. The book was widely quoted here and in Europe.

When Herbert Hoover was secretary of commerce, he named a committee of economists who brought out a weighty volume under the title "Recent Economic Changes." It traced the rise of mass production, the phenomenal increase in wages, and the vagaries of prices. That book, too, was widely quoted in the world.

It now seems time for another book on "Recent Economic Changes." The country emerges from its worst period of depression with a vastly altered economic complexion. It can not be said that the emergence is complete. The levels of the high year of 1929 have not been recaptured and there are those who assert they are not likely to be recaptured in our time. But there has been a remarkable degree of readjustment.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has just completed a survey of the year 1935 which reveals some startling economic changes. The most startling one is that it is apparent that recovery of production is readily accomplished—almost too readily in the opinion of some—bit recovery of employment and especially of payrolls is another matter. There are variations among the industries, to be sure, but the general trend, the fundamental economic change, is that the same ratio between production on the one hand and employment and payroll on the other no longer exists.

For all manufacturing industries, it is shown that in 1929 there were 8,800,000 workers employed earning a payroll of $222,000,000 a week. In the low year of 1932, production was down to 53 per cent of what it had been in 1929; there were 6,500,000 workers employed or 61 per cent of 1929 and payrolls amounted to $94,000,000 a week or 42 per cent of 1929. For 1935 production stood at 76 per cent of 1929 and employment at 78 per cent with 6,900,000 workers, while payrolls were only $142,000,000 a week or 64 per cent of 1929.

Employment and Wages Lag
There has been a concerted effort to spread employment. Even before the NRA, individual companies were staggering jobs and spreading the work out thin so as many individuals as possible could have some employment. For this reason, the employment numbers show more recovery than otherwise they would. But the payrolls, for the most part, have been held down.

The basic steel industry shows a 1929 production of $4,300,000,000 tons of ingots. Workers employed 419,000 and payrolls amounted to $14,100,000 a week. In 1932, the low year, production was down to 13,300,000 tons or only 24 per cent of 1929, while workers numbered 209,000 or 60 per cent, and payrolls were $3,200,000 or only 23 per cent. In this industry a tremendous amount of wages came out of surplus, men being held on when no profits were being realized. In 1935 production was up to $2,400,000,000 tons or 62 per cent and workers up to 300,000 or 72 per cent, but payrolls recovered only to $8,000,000 or 57 per cent.

A sensational revival of the automobile industry was largely responsible for the increased demand for steel. In 1929 production had 4,400,000 cars; employment 441,000; and payrolls, $14,100,000 a week. In 1932 production was down to 1,400,000 cars or 26 per cent; and payrolls down to $5,300,000 or 38 per cent. In 1935 production had recovered to 4,900,000 cars or 94 per cent; workers to 439,000 or 98 per cent; and payrolls to $12,600,000 or 89 per cent. Here was the one great industry which showed a strong regaining in payrolls.

The 1929 production of electric power was 97,400,000 kilowatt hours and the industry had 320,000 workers and total payrolls of $9,600,000 a week. In 1932 production was down to 83,200,000 kilowatt hours or 85 per cent; workers to 266,000 or 83 per cent; and payrolls to $7,700,000 or 81 per cent.

This was a remarkably steady industry. Another steady one, but one in which the workers did not fare nearly so well was the boot and shoe industry. In 1929 production was 361,000,000 pairs; workers numbered 206,000; and payrolls amounted to $4,300,000. In 1932 production was 213,000 pairs or 59 per cent; workers numbered 174,000 or 84 per cent; and payrolls were down to $2,600,000 or 61 per cent. Last year the industry recovered so far in production that 285,000,000 pairs were made. This was 6 per cent more than in 1929. But the number of workers was restored only to 183,000 or 89 per cent, while payrolls came back to only $3,200,000 or 74 per cent.

More Goods Produced
In the cotton textile field it is shown that 1929 production was from 92,400,000 active spindles; workers, 426,000; and payrolls, $6,200,000. In 1932 production was from only 27,800,000 active spindles or 30 per cent; workers numbered 267,000 or 62 per cent; and payrolls were $3,100,000 or 50 per cent. In 1935 production was from 26,700,000 active spindles or 29 per cent; workers numbered 210,000 or 49 per cent; and payrolls were $2,100,000 or 34 per cent.

Manufactured or mined, these goods had to be transported. In 1929 American railroads loaded 52,390,000 cars, had 17,900,000 workers, and payrolls amounting to $56,000,000. In 1932 car loadings were 28,100,000, or 53 per cent; workers numbered 1,000,000 or 59 per cent; and payrolls were $29,400,000 or 52 per cent. In 1935 car loadings had recovered to 31,500,000 or 60 per cent; and payrolls stood at $31,500,000 or 56 per cent.

While industry, as a whole, produced more goods, employed more workers, and paid out more wages in 1935 than in any year since 1930 there were such shifts that it is obvious that the industrial revolution is not over. There may be further and more drastic changes in store.

Copper Pan Clue to Coronado

This tempered copper and brass cooking vessel may be the clue which will definitely fix the disputed route of Coronado and his Spaniards across Texas. Found near Lubbock by Dr. H. B. Carroll, of Hillsboro Junior College, the vessel has been identified by the Smithsonian Institute as of Coronado's time. It will be displayed in the historical exhibit of the Texas Centennial Exposition, $25,000,000 World's Fair, opening in Dallas June 6. Above Dr. Carroll shows his find to Exposition Rangerette Lucy Ann Snell.

CHAPTER XXX.
Harriet said, "Oh, Toby—" in a voice that was barely above a whisper. A few moments before she had been a picture of bridal beauty—the loveliest bride Toby had thought she had ever seen. Now Harriet's face was drenched of color—whiter than the gown she wore or the filmy veil about her shoulders. Her eyes, bleakly bewildered, stared at Toby's.

"What is it?" Toby demanded again. "Harriet, what's happened?"

Instead of answering, Harriet looked at the letter she was still clutching in her hand. "Read it," she said, holding it out to Toby.

It was the letter Clyde Sabin had written. Toby took it, hastily read the brief paragraphs.

"Dear Harriet: When you get this I will be on my way to California. This morning I was married to Mrs. Lorchfield. You probably remember that her husband, who died last winter, was an officer of the company.

"I hope you will not take this too hard, Harriet. My only excuse for not telling you sooner is that I couldn't bear to hurt you. But I will always think of you as one of the sweetest girls I have ever known, and some day I know you will meet someone who will make you as happy as you deserve to be.—Clyde."

Toby said, "Oh, darling, I'm so sorry!" The words sounded trivial and meaningless. Harriet was still standing there, ghostly white. There was no sign of tears in her eyes, no sign of emotion at all in her face except that she pressed her lips together, trying to steady them.

"You ought to sit down," Toby said, putting an arm around her. "Here—I'll send the maid to get something for you."

But there was no time. Miss Wylie, the director of the style show, appeared and said crisply, "Is everyone ready? Line up, you bridesmaids. Where's our bride?" She motioned toward Harriet. "You go in last," she said. "All right now. We're ready—"

Toby turned to Harriet. "But you can't!" she said. "You can't go on now. Someone else will have to take your place!"

Harriet shook her head. "No," she said. "I'm all right. I'll go on."

"But you shouldn't—" Harriet was not listening. "My flowers," she said, turning to the maid. "Where are my flowers?"

A few moments later, the bridal bouquet in her arms, she was walking slowly, steadily out on the stage. Toby was never to forget the picture of Harriet in the glistening satin gown, her lovely red-gold hair beneath the cap of lace and the long veil floating back from her shoulders. Harriet has never looked more beautiful. Toby's own heart was pounding and she stole anxious glances at her roommate, but Harriet looked completely calm.

She was like that afterwards in the dressing room. She took off the wedding gown and got into her street clothes. She stopped to put powder on her nose and see that the brim of her hat tilted over her eye as it should.

Out on the street, Toby said, "We'll take a cab home." She thought that, away from the others, Harriet's reserve would break. Toby said, "Harriet, wasn't good enough for you, Harriet."

ABOUT NEW YORK

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Honest, it's an easy life writing a column in New York these days—if you've got a pencil and a few old frayed income tax due slips. . . . You just go around talking to people and jot things down:

Old John L. Sullivan started something when he opened that saloon in Boston. . . . Since that time most of the champions have followed suit. . . . Jim Corbett had a daisy at 33rd and Broadway, and Jack Dempsey has a veritable platinum palace on Culler Row, just opposite Madison Square Garden. . . . Now the latest to hang up his gloves and go in trade in Mickey Walker, the old Toy Bulldog. . . . You'll find his place just across the street from Dempsey's on 8th avenue.

Perhaps it may amuse you to know that Boris Thomashofsky, dean of the Yiddish theater in New York, is running a nightclub on the lower east side. . . . The audiences are composed largely of grey-beards and children, but apparently age makes no difference in the interest manifest in velvet, semi-nude chorines. . . . Everybody has a whale of a time.

Ralph Kirbery, the orchestra leader, doesn't boast of his fishing catches any more. Purchasing a scale to establish the exactness of his remarks, everyone was duly impressed with the weight of his bass and trout—until a doctor borrowed the scales to weigh a new-born baby. The kid weighed 47 pounds.

Zeke Manners, radio hill-billy, has a ranch just 50 miles from New York, and it'll soon be branding time. Jack Benny pays members of his cast for every gag that can be used on his program. Dean Cornwell, the artist, paints left-handed. . . . Dubose Heyward refuses to review novels and negro life despite the fact that he is famous as an author of such. He feels there are those who would think him prejudiced irrespective of what his critical opinion might be.

VITAL STATISTICS REGISTRARS PREPARE INVITATION TO F. D. R.

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—Registrars of vital statistics in Texas, a bit dissatisfied with the official invitation extended President Roosevelt to visit the Texas Centennial, took a "postman's holiday" and prepared one of their own.

In a statistical frame of mind, Dr. W. A. Davis, state registrar, prepared an invitation describing Texas' hospitality in figures and submitted it to 1,400 local registrars for approval.

Dismissing formalities, he wrote: "We understand you don't care for lath tubs, that you prefer a spring. Texas has 10 springs producing from 25,800,000 to 245,480,000 gallons of water per day. We hate to mention it, but we think the smallest one produces more water a day than Warm Springs, Ga., does in a week.

"You will also find ample bathing facilities in the streams of Texas, with more than 50,000 miles of clearest, cleanest, running water you ever bathed in."

After the morning bath, Dr. Davis discussed breakfast: as an appetizer, if you want grapefruit, the lower Rio Grande valley produces 497,551 boxes of grapefruit. If you prefer oranges, the 376,245 boxes are at your command. "If he chose tomato juice, Texas produces more than 4,166,263 worth of the 'diciest tomatoes you ever saw.'"

With 1,561,460 pigs in Texas, the president could have plenty of bacon and "your toast also will be unlimited. Texas produces more than 44,077,760 bushels of wheat, or 2,115,732,480 loaves or 38,083,184,640 slices of toast. You might bring your family, if convenient, for this means we have 312 slices of bread for each man, woman and child in the United States."

With 58,015,512 pounds of butter in Texas, "you'll have to be a little economical with the butter for that is a little less than one patty per slice."

Texas could supply plenty of jam with 5,474,598 quarts of black-milk in record time or fly the Atlantic.

Exploiters have found pygmies in Africa that seem to be able to talk with gorillas and are not molested by those animals, which attack full size natives.

Progressing to dinner, the vital statistics registrar counted a sufficiency of steaks from 6,662,700 head of cattle, or other meats from 7,021,334 sheep, 36,275,068 chickens or 3,782,912 turkeys, or 18,482,000 pounds of fish annually.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—If the Capitol press correspondents are scooped on any robberies of the state treasury it will be their own fault. The alarm bell is located just below the press room window.

When recent false alarm sounded the correspondents went into the treasury right behind—not in front of—the riot squad of the department of public safety. A workman on the new vault had accidentally touched the alarm button.

Because of calls on them at all hours of the night, Edward Clark and Pat Moreland, Gov. Allred's secretaries, have been given unlisted telephone numbers. Now they are hoping to get more sleep.

Allred's home telephone is listed regularly as "Governor's Mansion." At night he frequently answers the calls himself but people are more hesitant at awaking him than his secretaries. One of his office telephones is unlisted.

Concluding his plea at the monthly prorator hearing that the fastan bill be given a larger allowance, Senator Clint Small of Amarillo said:

"And we have a new map of the field to place in evidence."

"That's fine," remarked Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commission chairman. "We want all the maps we can get—free."

From the audience, a voice, unidentified, murmured:

"You've got so many now you can't find the right one when you want it."

Traylor Russel of Mount Pleasant is one of the large number of state representatives not seeking re-election. He is running for county attorney and has two opponents, including the incumbent.

"I got a big kick out of being in the legislature but I couldn't afford to keep it up," he said. "The chief return, aside from the satisfaction of public service, is the acquaintances one makes. The time taken from private business is the main loss."

"Where is Harry Hines?" someone asked.

"Attending a chamber of commerce meeting," was the answer.

Hines is chairman of the highway commission.

Plenty of other state officials are doing likewise and there is no reflection. It is political year. A man is elected by getting about and having his friends do the same.

Sunday school class teaching has not obtained full swing yet but may be expected to develop.

"It's the only way one can campaign on Sunday," an observer explained.

How would you like to knit on 420 needles?

Yes . . . 420 all at once! That's the way your stockings are knit . . . on a whole row of tiny needles set up straight in a needle-bar like the teeth on a comb. If you're wearing a 45-gauge stocking, there were 45 needles to every 1-2 inches of stocking-width. That would make 420 needles, to knit the regular width of stocking.

But alas! It is easy to cut off a few needles at each end of the needle-bar. That saves thread and money for the manufacturer. But it also makes the stocking skimpy. You don't actually see this difference in the store because after the dye-bath the stocking can be stretched and dried to look full-width. But when you try it on . . . too tight and too short! Terrible!

For real stocking satisfaction, you want to buy them by the advertised brand name, or from a store where you regularly trade. Read the hosiery advertisements. Learn the names and the features of the various makes. Especially now that we're all wearing the sheerer grades and hoping they'll wear like service weights. Study the hosiery advertising and know your subject before you shop.

NATIVES BEGIN EVACUATION OF ETHIOPIA CITY

ITALIANS REPORTED 75 MILES NORTH OF ADDIS ABABA

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press) ADDIS ABABA, April 30.—Reports that Italian troops advanced past Debra Birhan, strategic town only 75 miles northeast of Addis Ababa, threw Ethiopia's capital into a panic today, and the natives began an evacuation.

Foreigners started to take refuge in the various delegations, the Americans going to the British compound. The northern Italian army, marching in from Dessie, was reported advancing without encountering any resistance.

The advance guard of the fascist forces was expected to reach Addis Ababa by tomorrow.

High government officials were leaving the capital.

A British ambulance unit which returned hurriedly overnight to the capital and reported the Italian advance on Debra Birhan was understood to be going to the interior, either accompanying Ethiopian government officials or joining other units which had already left in a search for Emperor Haile Selassie.

The government was withholding all official information concerning the situation on the northern front.

Before the native evacuation of the capital started, a squadron of Italian airplanes descended this morning on the Akaki airfield, and machine-gunned the Ethiopian hangars. The hangars were empty.

The British ambulance unit which came to the capital from the north first reported that the Italian troops were within 40 miles of Addis Ababa, on their march to Addis Ababa.

The British legion, to which Americans in the capital turned for protection, is situated in the hills on the eastern outskirts of the city and has elaborate underground protection for foreigners.

The American legion, situated on a hillside on the opposite side of the city from the other legions, is dangerously close to the postoffice and one of the three Ethiopian radio stations.

About 30 Americans remained in Addis Ababa, most of them missionaries. Many Americans decided some time ago to seek refuge in the British legion if it became necessary.

The American legion residence was closed from the outside until early last month when the wife and two small children of Cornelius Van H. Engert, minister-resident and consul-general, arrived from Cairo.

In the broad valley just below the legion is the Addis Ababa railway station, terminus of the line from Djibouti, French Somaliland, which is the only one entering Ethiopia.

Members of the British ambulance unit which returned to the capital said the Italian advance guard had already taken Tarna Dur Mountain, almost without resistance, in their drive on the seat of Emperor Haile Selassie's government.

The mountain stronghold was reported to have fallen before the Italian advance because Ethiopian reinforcements, sent from Addis Ababa, failed to arrive, and because the few defenders holding the mountain were not supplied with food.

Swedish Captain Tamm, commanding the defense of the mountain, with only 330 men, was forced to retire. He returned to the capital seeking reinforcements.

AWAITS SENTENCE
SAN ANGELO, April 30. (AP)—Charles F. White of Amarillo and Jack Walker, fugitive from the New Mexico prison, awaited sentencing today for robbery of the First National bank of Bronite July 1, last. A federal court jury convicted White yesterday and Walker, who pleaded guilty, was convicted on an instructed verdict.

As "Future Veterans" Unleashed Attack on War

Sardonic signs proclaiming their antagonism to war and its aftermath of economic disaster, groups of the rapidly growing "Veterans of Future Wars" paraded about many college campuses in observance of the annual students' peace strike sponsored by the American Student Union. Columbia University students are pictured massed on the campus in New York City during the demonstration.

Politics at Random

BY BYRON PRICE,
Chief of Bureau, Associated Press, Washington.

The idea of a constitutional amendment to broaden federal powers appears to have been shuffled to the bottom of the political pack; but that is no proof that the original concepts of the "new deal" are to be abandoned to their fate during the coming campaign.

In fact recent events point in the opposite direction. The new soil erosion act is a frank attempt to attain the major purpose of AAA, which was the control of agricultural surpluses. Similarly, the President himself has forecast a further effort by the federal government to accomplish the wage and hour objectives of NRA, and more.

Furthermore, the general trend of these enterprises is becoming fairly clear. Both NRA and AAA were held unconstitutional on the ground that they infringed on local authority. The tendency of recent administration action has been toward joint action with the local authorities.

In other words, it now is proposed by some of the administration stalwarts to accomplish by cooperation what the Supreme Court has said cannot be done by compulsion.

Cooperation the Key.
The social security act, which was passed after some of the earlier "new deal" statutes began to get into trouble in the courts, is an illustration of the cooperative idea. Under this legislation the federal government makes certain grants to the state governments, provided the state governments themselves enact social security laws satisfactory to Washington. So eager has been the desire of the states to participate in these grants that 26 already have qualified to receive payments from the federal treasury.

Although the state governments as such are not involved, a similar general method has been followed in the soil erosion program. The farmer signs no contract, as he did under AAA, agreeing to regulations

Negro 'Half-Wit' Is Shot Down by Mob in Arkansas

LEPANTO, Ark., Apr. 30. (AP) Three outbursts of mob violence within 48 hours—the slaying of two negroes and a demonstration against a third which was frustrated by National Guardsmen—centered attention of the southern race problem today.

All the negroes were accused of crimes against women.

Willie Kees, 19, described by City Marshal Jay May as a "half-witted" petty thief was shot to death by a band of 10 masked men who wrested him from officers here yesterday.

Tuesday Lint Shaw, 45-year old negro farmer, fell victim of rifle and shotgun fire of 40 men at the scene of an attempted attack on two white girls near Colbert, Ga. The mob, which broke into a jail to get him, left his body tied to a pine tree.

National Guardsmen used tear gas to disperse a throng at Huntsville, Ala., that threatened Walter Miller when he was arraigned yesterday on charges of assaulting and slaying pretty Vivian Woodward, 19.

TEXAS SPECIAL TRAIN ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS URGED TO BE AT CENTENNIAL

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—One hundred Texas business and newspapermen touring the south and east in behalf of the Texas Centennial marched on the White House today to urge President Roosevelt to attend the exposition.

The chief executive set aside a few minutes on a busy calendar to receive the emissaries from the Lone Star state before noon.

President Roosevelt said many months ago he hoped to witness opening of the Centennial in Dallas June 6 but Senator Connally (D., Texas) announced recently a late adjournment of Congress and other business might prevent the chief executive's leaving Washington at that time.

The Texans reached Washington by special train late yesterday and were greeted by Vice President John N. Garner, Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and several hundred other Texans living in the District of Columbia.

They attended a Texas banquet at the National Press club last night. Among the speakers on a broadcast program were Earl Crowley, solicitor of the Post Office department, Jones, Senators Connally and Sheppard, Gov. James V. Allred, and George W. Stimpson, president of the Press club and Washington correspondent of the Houston Post.

The Texans planned to leave the capital at noon for Philadelphia, New York City, Buffalo, N. Y., Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, and Kansas City remain on the itinerary which will end in Texas about May 1.

Allred, official head of the Texas Press Centennial special train, planned an early start today on a round of informal conferences in Washington. He had an 8 a. m. appointment with Vice President Garner and an hour later was scheduled to discuss the Texas old-age pension plan with officials of the Social Security board.

The Texas special train rolled into the union station slightly behind schedule and in order that a national broadcast of the arrival might be conducted as planned, the visitors remained in their cars while Garner, Jones, and others on the reception committee waited on the platform.

The governor eventually emerged and apologized to Garner for the delay. The party paraded down Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues to a downtown hotel with Garner and Allred in the first car.

Diesel-Powered Car Driven 158 Miles Per Hour

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, April 30. (AP)—The racing world has a new record to shoot at today—the 158.87 miles an hour that Capt. George Eyston tacked up for Diesel-powered motor cars.

The speed is the first official world mark established for cars of the type. A year ago Bill Cummings made a run over a measured mile at Daytona Beach, Fla., with American Automobile association officials clocking him at 137 miles an hour. However, Arthur Pillsbury, the AAA official who timed Eyston yesterday, said Cummings' achievement was not recognized as a record.

Eyston—a retiring Englishman and the world's crown prince of speed—established the record in an unannounced run over a seven mile section of the glistening white, saline track used by Britain's Sir Malcolm Campbell last year to shatter the 300-mile an hour mark with his gasoline-propelled lightning bolt, the Bluebird.

JUST TOO BAA-AA-AAD! GREENVILLE, Ga., Cecil Perkinson mourned today the loss of his fox hunting billy goat, the only creature of its kind, he claimed, and one which he fears cannot be replaced.

The goat, which followed the hounds regularly, hasn't returned from a run of ten days ago.

Perkinson said he believed the goat either had tangled its horns in a fence and died there, or was snared by a thief to be roasted "in somebody's barbecue pit."

ROTARIANS PREPARE FOR BIG CONFERENCE AT FORT WORTH

Plans are rapidly being completed for the tenth annual conference of the Forty-First Rotary district of Texas, to be held in Fort Worth on Monday and Tuesday, May 4 and 5, presided over by District Governor James N. Willson of Floydada.

A large registration is expected on Sunday, however. Entertainment, sightseeing tours, dinners, and informal receptions have been planned for Sunday afternoon.

The conference will be officially open at 9:30 a. m. Monday, May 4 at the Worth theater. There will be two large luncheons held Monday noon and at the same time will be held at the Fort Worth club for the Rotary Ann one of the most outstanding style shows and luncheons ever held in the southwest.

Monday evening, a dinner dance will be given at Lake Worth including a ten-act floor show with Gus Arnheim's orchestra furnishing the music.

The conference program proper will be outstanding in that some of the most forceful and inspiring speakers to be found on any program of this nature have been obtained. Rotary International will be represented by Robert E. Heum of Richmond, Ind., chairman of the boys' work committee. Other speakers will be R. L. Thornton of Dallas, Al Shuman of Fort Worth, C. Q. Smith, vice president of Southern Methodist university, Bishop C. S. Quinn of Houston, and many other Rotary leaders of Texas.

A breakfast Tuesday morning, and luncheon Tuesday, together with the announcement as to newly elected district governor will be some of the features of the day.

Radio announcements will be made Tuesday evening, announcing the educational and entertainment features of the program. Radio broadcasts can be heard over WBAP at 5:50 p. m.
