Gunboats Move To Protect Foreigners In Wuchew

(By The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, April 4.—American blue-jackets fired upon hostile Chinese with machine guns today, wounding four of them.
The trouble occurred near Chinkiang, when coolies attempted to capture the American steamer Chinan from blue-jackets who were guarding it, said a wireless dispatch received here.

LONDON, April 4.—Another crisis seems to be approaching in Hankow, Foreign Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.
He said, however, that latest reports showed a lull following yesterday's fighting in the concession there.

CANTON, April 4.—A general exodus of Americans from Canton to Hongkong is under way.
The American gunboat Pampagna has arrived here, and a British gunboat has gone to Wuchew to protect Britishers there.

SHANGHAI, April 4.—Five Japanese civilians and five sailors were carried off from Hankow during yesterday's fighting in the Japanese concession, says a Japanese wireless from Hankow today.

The kidnaped persons are still missing today. It is believed one sailor was killed and thrown into a river. Several Japanese houses in the concession were destroyed. The homes of those living in the Chinkew suburb are surrounded by Chinese pickets.

Pampa To Represent Poland In Parade At W. T. C. C. Meet

Geography and European dress are puzzling the W. T. C. C. convention committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce since word has been received that this city is to represent Poland in the great parade at Wichita Falls May 16 and 17.

More notification of the assignment has been received here, but Secretary W. S. Barcus has written for further information. Originally it had been planned to represent Scotland, and this nation was suggested by Homer D. Wade when he saw the Scottish feature of an entertainment here.

Panhandle will represent Bulgaria at the convention. Delegations will in costumes of the various countries, costumes of the various countries.

In assigning the parts to the 20 different towns expected to be represented at the convention, nationalities harmonizing with names of industries of the towns were selected as far as practicable. For example, Shamrock will represent Ireland, Turkey the Turkish nation and Quana the North American Indian.

Pampa will represent the Poles, but Amarillo, a city of a Spanish name, was crowded out by other Latin-Americans and had to be assigned Egypt.

Week-End Raids Here Net Much Liquor—Arrests

In several raids over the week-end, the sheriff's department assembled a big assortment of liquor and still equipment.

The hauls included 50 gallons of raisin beer, six cases of empty bottles, 1 1-2 gallons of corn whisky, 1 gallon of choc beer, and a bottle of corn whisky.

Several arrests were made in connection with the raids, and these added to those for drunkenness and gaming filled the county jail today.

Local Men In Canyon Help To Advise Committee

CANYON, April 4.—Mayor F. P. Reid and T. D. Hobart represented Pampa before the appropriations committee of the house at a luncheon meeting here. The House committee of sixteen members were visiting Canyon with a view of determining the needs of the West Texas State Teachers college.

Mr. Hobart spoke before the assembly in order to give them some idea of the services of the West Texas State Teachers college to the schools of the Panhandle, and the work which it has done in fostering the Panhandle-Plains Historical society, of which he is president.

Mayor F. P. Reid found many old acquaintances in the group and took advantage of the opportunity which he found to impress upon the visiting legislators the needs of the only first-class college in this section of the state.

Eleven towns in the Panhandle had from two to a dozen or more representatives in Canyon for that day.

The West Texas State Teachers college is urgently in need of three buildings, an education building, a library, and a science building.

Pampans Invited To Attend Opening Game At Amarillo

The Amarillo Texans open their baseball season at home April 14, and this morning Mayor F. P. Reid received word from Lee Bivens, mayor of Amarillo, that a half-holiday would be observed that day, and invited as many ball fans from Pampa as can attend the game.

Mayor Bivens also enclosed a pass for Mayor Reid and family. The opening game will be with Lincoln, 3 o'clock.

Grandstand Will Be Ready For The Amarillo Game Sunday

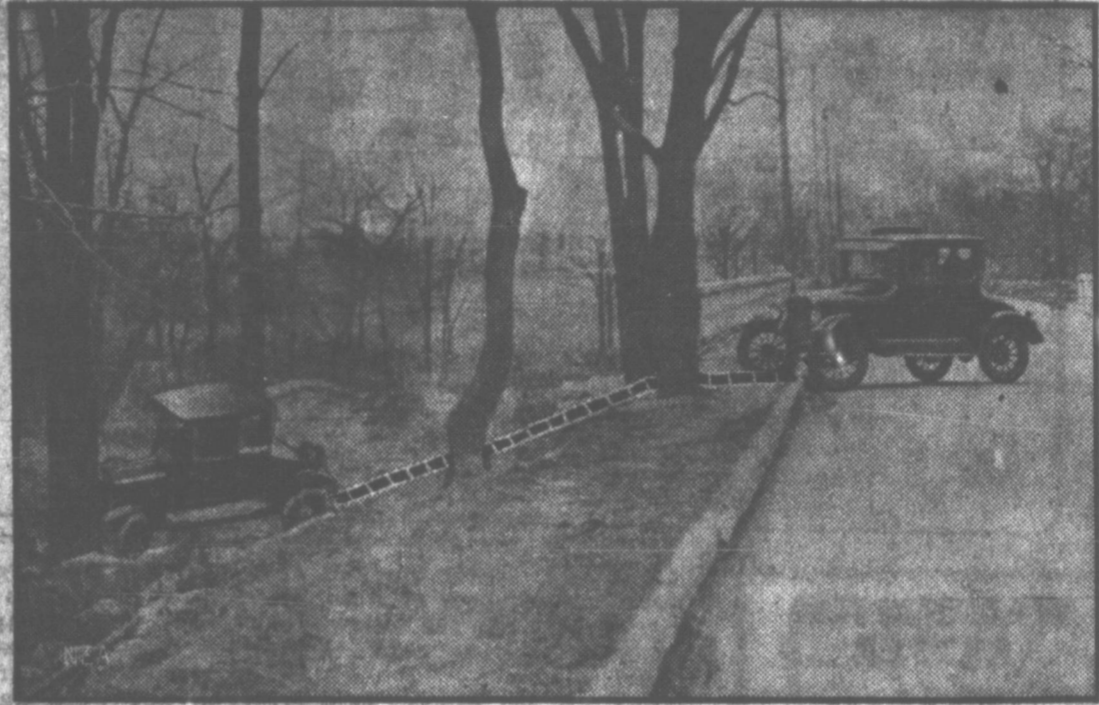

At a meeting of the temporary board of directors of the Pampa athletic association this morning, plans were completed for the immediate construction of a grandstand and baseball diamond at the new home of the Pampa Grays.

The field will be ready for the return game with the Amarillo Metros next Sunday. Manager Gohler is now making arrangements to have the Texans here Tuesday, April 12. If this game can be arranged Mayor Reid will declare a half-holiday so that the entire city can see the big game.

Well Known Lawyer Dies In Pullman

(By The Associated Press.)
FORT WORTH, April 4.—George Culp, 71 years old, widely known criminal lawyer of Gainesville, was found dead in a Pullman berth on a Santa Fe train enroute from San Antonio to Fort Worth today.

How Henry Ford Was Injured

The scene of the crash in which Henry Ford was injured and a realistic illustration of how it happened are pictured here. Coming over the River Rouge bridge, near Dearborn, Mich., Ford's coupe was crowded off Michigan boulevard by a larger car. The coupe jumped the curb, went down the embankment, and crashed into the tree as shown in the picture.

SEVEN CANDIDATES CERTIFIED IN TOMORROW'S CITY ELECTION

Names of seven aldermanic candidates for the city election of Tuesday, April 5 were certified today for printing on the ballots.

The election will be held in the three wards tomorrow, in the following places: First ward, First National Bank building; second ward, office of city marshal; third ward, the Bradford Drug store.

Elmer Barrett will be presiding judge in the first ward, Dave Osborne in the second, and T. H. Lane in the third ward.

The candidates, by wards, are as follows:

M. Hoffin, Tom E. Rose, Baker Saulsbury—First ward, comprising the district north of the Santa Fe railroad and east of Cuyler street.

Alex Schneider, Jr., J. E. Murfee, Jr.—Second ward, comprising the district north of the Santa Fe railroad and west of Cuyler street.

F. T. Mason, C. E. Haley—Third ward, comprising the district south of the Santa Fe railroad, both east and west of Cuyler street.

Two aldermen are to be elected from the first ward, and one each from the second and third wards. The official poll list was obtained at Lefors today for use of election clerks.

Election judges may get supplies at the office of the city secretary.

Italian Flier Takes Off On Another Trip

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN ANTONIO, April 4.—Commander Francesco Depeido, Italian aviator, hopped off from Medina Lake for Hot Springs, N. M., on another leg of his aerial tour of four continents this morning.

He will arrive in Hot Springs between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon unless delayed. He awaited a breeze to help lift the heavily loaded plane, which yesterday failed to take the air during a calm.

To Study At The U. of Oklahoma

W. Y. Woodward and Ivan Conklin of the Pampa Gas company left for Norman, Okla., today, where they will attend a week's school of instruction at the University of Oklahoma.

Every year the university has a course of instruction for men to study meters, regulators and new gas appliances. The instructors are experienced men.

Man Struck By Car On Bridge

DALLAS, April 4.—Lying unconscious on a street car track on a trestle over the Trinity river here, C. M. Chancellor, 32 years old, last night was pushed off the rails by a car and thrown into the river bottom 30 feet below.

He is believed to have been slugged and left on the rails.

Report Says Boll Weevils Survived Winter Storms

(Special to The News.)

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Survival of boll weevils in hibernation during winter months will be higher than usual, the department of agriculture estimated today in publishing results of its annual survey.

Temperatures throughout the cotton belt have been unusually mild the department said, adding that this made possible higher survival among those weevils actually in hibernation.

In Texas especially, the central portion of the weevil population was decidedly increased by favorable weather conditions during the latter part of the growing season of 1926.

Somewhat heavier initial infestation is expected this season than for several seasons the report said.

Buckeye and Kansas Relays On Same Day

COLUMBUS, O.—More than six-hundred college and high school track teams in the eastern half of the country have been invited to the Ohio State University relay meet, to be held in the Ohio stadium here April 23, the same date as the University of Kansas relays at Lawrence. The Kansas meets figures on drawing a heavily from the middle and south west.

Sapiro Received $70,000 In Five Years For Work

(By The Associated Press.)

DETROIT, April 4.—Aaron Sapiro testified today in his million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford that he had received $70,000 from Southern cotton organizations since 1922.

He admitted that he would refuse to serve as legal counsel for cooperative organizations which he had promoted unless paid for his services, although primarily he had the interest of the farmers at heart.

Teacher Plans Baseball Schedules

(By The Associated Press.)

GOLDEN, Ill., April 4.—Floyd O. Smith, village school teacher in a town of 657 inhabitants, tells the teams of half a dozen baseball leagues when and where they shall play.

He makes schedules, and though he never sees the games he knows all about how to plan the rivalry that leads to pennants, and how to send the Evansville club around the Three-Eye circuit so that it will miss state fairs, racing meets and rainy Sundays.

He got interested in schedule drafting in 1921, when he fashioned a playing program for an amateur league in western Illinois. Minor leagues enlisted his services, and when he sent some sample schedules to the National League, it put him to work.

His hardest task, he believes, was drawing a schedule for the Mid-Atlantic league, a 360-day circuit with two cities that permitted Sunday baseball and two that didn't.

ESCAPE FROM SIGNAL HILL IN DASH SUNDAY

Officers Raid Is 30 Minutes Behind Pair

THINK TERRILL SHOT IN LEG

Habeas Corpus Hearing Postponed To Late Today

(Special to The News.)
BORGER, April 4.—Matthew Kimes and Ray Terrill, who with Ed Bailey are alleged to have robbed the First National Bank of Pampa Thursday, are believed today to be afoot in this city.

They are said to have been staying in a shack at Signal Hill, a village near here, and it has been virtually proved that they left on foot for Borger 30 minutes before deputies and Rangers raided a farm and Signal Hill yesterday.

Three cars, all thought to have been used in the last few days by the two bandits, are in possession of police. In one of the cars was a pair of trousers believed to have been worn by Terrill. That Terrill was one of those who two weeks ago killed Coke Buchanan, and that he was shot in the leg by Buchanan before the latter died is a theory advanced here.

With the arrival of a dozen Texas Rangers, a thorough search of this vicinity is under way, and citizens feel more secure but expect a momentary battle when the bandits are cornered.

(By The Associated Press.)
BORGER, April 4.—Habeas corpus hearings for Ed Bailey and "Whitey" and Hugh Walker, brothers held in connection with the shooting Friday of deputy sheriffs Pat Kenyon and Elmer Terrill, were continued from this morning to late today to permit the arrival of their lawyer from Oklahoma City.

(Special to The News.)
BORGER, April 4.—Officers here today were believed to be close on the heels of Matthew Kimes and Ray Terrill, Oklahoma outlaws sought in connection with the killing of two deputies here Friday and the robbery of the First National Bank at Pampa Thursday. The bandits are thought to be hiding in the Canadian river breaks, following a dash from a shack at Signal Hill, a village near here.

EMERGENCY SCHOOL AID IS DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL, SO MOODY MAY NOT SIGN BILL

Prospects for obtaining emergency school aid for Borger, Pampa, and other cities having abnormally high enrollments are regarded as poor, since the attorney-general has ruled the bill unconstitutional.

Governor Dan Moody still has time to sign the measure, and it is understood that he will do so providing attorneys now working on the problem are able to prove to the attorney-general that his reply to the governor's query is wrong.

A special school census is just being completed here for the purpose of asking for aid under the bill now on the governor's desk. The appropriation of $20,000 made by the Fort-tenth legislature will be apportioned among several school systems if the bill is found constitutional.

AUSTIN, April 4.—(AP)—Four bills passed at the recent legislative session were held unconstitutional Saturday by the attorney-general's department in response to queries by Governor Dan Moody before whom the measures awaited approval.

They included the appropriation of $30,000 to take care of an overflow school enrollment in Borger, Pampa, and other school districts.

The school bill was held unconstitutional because the appropriations carried was not based on general census figures, but only on informal recapitulation of increased enrollments in individual cases. Appropriation was sought on claims that the number of school children had more than doubled since the last census and that per capita funds based on that census were entirely inadequate.

A CITY ELECTION

The school trustee election was held Saturday with the customary lethargy, and tomorrow's aldermanic poll gives little indication of the importance of the problems which are before the city.

It is not news to residents of citizens of Pampa that some extra-legal methods have developed in the governing of this city during recent months. Progress has been made, but in such a manner that ill feeling is threatening to hinder local cooperation. The argument is often heard that it does not matter what methods are used, if results are obtained. The point is that Pampa is in Gray county, and Gray county is in Texas and the United States.

The strongest argument for defined courses of action is that the law provides the steps necessary. Tomorrow's election will place in office four men, who with two others and the mayor will make most of the decisions affecting the government and public improvements of Pampa. They have not announced platforms but leave the voters to assume that each candidate and his principals are well known. It would be useless to single out any candidate on the basis of the present general knowledge

Under such conditions, voters will go to the polls—or most of them—somewhat bewildered but hopeful. It is to be hoped that the men who have announced have mental reservation only for the good of Pampa. Local people, many of them new in the city, will judge by the results, and if those results are not immediately forthcoming, will then revise the system of government, in order to obtain desired action. Although the vote tomorrow will be by wards, it is a whole city activity. A full vote is desirable.

TWINKLES

Wheels on the feet are all right, of course, but should be in tune with wheels in the head.

If vehicular pedestrians are to monopolize the sidewalks, a one-way system should be provided for their use.

"Young men for war; old men for counsel," should be changed to "young men for action; old men for political wrangling."

Slot machine cameras have been invented, but it is doubtful that they can withstand the onslaught of women displeased with results.

Men lately have been classified as cerebral, respiratory, muscular, or digestive in type, and most any farmer will admit having mules of similar attributes.

Some people should be charged with driving in our ears, but it would be hard to distinguish the difference between one of the vehicle groggy with blows from our alleged streets.

Time to Begin Laying More Golden Eggs

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON—What, one is likely to be asked during these days of activity on the part of the State Department, is diplomacy?

Baron de Cartier de Marchienne, ambassador from Belgium, gave his conception of it in a talk at a recent luncheon of the Foreign Service club, an organization of State Department officers. "Diplomacy," said the ambassador, "is the art of bringing home the bacon without spilling the beans."

It appears that some of our diplomats abroad are not, if you get the point.

Just a little while ago, Mr. Lawrence Dennis, erstwhile legation secretary and charge d'affaires in Nicaragua, was not a good diplomat. He resigned and wired the department here certain loud squawks against its promotion policy and its Central American policy. It was a sizzling hot telegram and carried the implication that much more would be heard, and that publicly.

Now Mr. Dennis has become a good diplomat again. As he started for Washington and as Washington awaited his coming with some excitement and as reports spread that Senator Borah would center an investigation about his complaints, the department, in order to foil newspapermen who planned to meet him in New York, told him to go ashore down south and come here by train. For the first two days, the presence of Dennis here was kept very quiet and at the end of the two days Dennis refused to be interviewed and said it was all the bunk about that alleged secret document where in Secretary Kellogg was supposed to have told him to help push Adolfo Diaz into the presidency.

Proof that the department realizes that Mr. Dennis has again become a good diplomat may be expected to materialize with an early promotion for Mr. Dennis.

Mr. Dennis has brought home the bacon in more ways than one—and, although he made threats, he hasn't spilled the beans.

After someone had made the Dennis telegram public there was a great hoop-te-doo about it in the department. Somehow the finger of suspicion was pointed at the consular officers. Some of them were brought before William

R. Castle, Jr., newly appointed assistant secretary of state, and something like the following conversation is said to have followed: "How did you fellows happen to know anything about the Dennis telegram?" "Everyone in the department knows about it unless they're stupid."

"Well, I don't know anything about it."

"Well, we can't help that."

PRESS FORUM

CRITICIZING THE NEWS-PAPERS

Few, if any, of the people who are so prone to criticize the newspapers for every little mistake they can find and are ever ready to blame the newspapers for everything from the bad weather to the failure of the Democrats to elect a President, ever give a single thought to the immense amount of work done by newspaper workers in order to get everything correctly as possible and how easy it is to get news items wrong.

Some newspaper man of a mathematical turn of mind has figured that there are more than a thousand chances for a newspaper to get an item wrong to one chance to get it absolutely right in every detail, besides the hundreds of ways of getting it wrong through typographical errors. The misplacement of a single letter or line may change the meaning altogether, may even give an exactly opposite meaning.

There are three major reasons and hundreds of minor reasons for mistakes in newspapers. The three major reasons are as follows:

First and foremost the failure of reporters to secure sufficient information. Probably more incorrect items appear in newspapers because of this fact than any other one thing. If the reporter has not secured sufficient information to make his story complete, he must either do some guessing or hand in his story incomplete. He usually guesses and some cases guesses wrong.

Second, the reporter gets the wrong information. This often happens but not so commonly as the first reason given above. The reporter is not the same altogether for getting the wrong information but the newspaper is blamed just the same. Two people seldom see anything alike, so in reporting a happening two eye witnesses may tell an entirely different story. If the reporter gets the wrong one, the newspaper is blamed, not the informant.

Third, typographical errors and errors in proof readings. These cause thousands of mistakes daily in newspapers all over the land. Fortunately for the newspapers, typographical errors do not cause many mistakes of fact, but bad proofs continually will make the news paper a laughing stock with most readers.

But before criticizing the newspaper, think of the immense and wide range of knowledge a newspaper man must have in order to report correctly all news items. "A newspaper man must know something about everything" is a common saying. Here are a few things a reporter must know in order to turn out his daily stories:

He must understand court proceedings of all kinds, including charges, complaints, trials, arrests, felonies, misdemeanors, judgments, decisions, laws of every form, various kinds of suits, civil and criminal, and a number of other forms which he must know or know where to find quickly.

He must know all kinds of sports and athletic events; all forms of church procedure and services; society events, club and fraternal organizations; school work and activities, including work of city officers and everything with which they are concerned; chambers of commerce and their work; various forms of physical injuries and diseases, including their treatment; all kinds of accidents; every occupation and any kind of work engaged in by men; every kind of crime that is ever committed; construction of all forms of buildings and improvements; and dozens of other things of equal importance. And above all he must know how to discuss and report activities involving any of the above without violating the laws of libel.

Consider these things before criticizing the newspaper for any mistakes it may make. —Vernon Record.

Every Dog in Town Knows Her As Friend

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Every day is a "dog day" to Miss Mary Foubister, who is said to know every dog in town. Miss Foubister is a combination of secretary, nurse detective, guide, philosopher and friend to the canine world.

As secretary to the local dog protective association, Miss Foubister has hundreds of dogs card-indexed. She brings together homeless dogs and dogless homes. When dogs are hurt or ailing she ministers to their needs or puts them in animal hospitals. When respectable canines go astray Miss Foubister traces them and restores them to their owners. Less fortunate individuals find a temporary home in the association's dog shelter. Rochester's annual dog show is held under Miss Foubister's management.

PAMPA Coca Cola Bottling Co.
JNO. O. COLQUITT,
PHONE 275
NORTH HOUSTON STREET

Pampa's nearest chance of scoring came in the first inning with two men on and one out. Ravey recovered a fly ball and threw Weeks out at third. In the second with two men on, when the wind carried a batter and so died the Gray's hopes. Vaught, the Metro's shortstop, gave a good exhibition, covering worlds of ground and making almost impossible putouts at first. Ravey self out of a bad hole. With three on Bassett struck out the last two.

Sealing at third for Pampa and Hust at second gave a good exhibition both in the field and at bat. Sealing getting two nice singles and Hust one. With another week of practice the Gopherites will give battle to the best of them.

Gober is trying to make arrangements to have the Amarillo Texans here Tuesday April 12, and with the new park Pampa can accommodate a large crowd.
