Grid Contest

Bulldogs And Steers Out
Of Race But Continue
Own Feud

The third chapter in the history of Midland-Big Spring grid rivalry was to be enacted in Steel Stadium Friday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. when the purple clad Bulldogs and the gold-jerseyed Steers, both definitely eliminated from the District 3 championship race, were to come together under perfect conditions before a holiday crowd expected to reach 20,000 marks.

A motorcade of visiting fans, including the colorful "Nighthawks" pep squad and the snappy school band, both clad in purple uniforms joined the local cheering squad in a parade through the city streets immediately upon the arrival of the Midland delegation around 1:30 p.m. Over 500 Midland supporters were expected to be here for the game.

Both teams were in good physical condition just before the game with the Big Spring Steers possessing a slight home advantage. Midland, however, was far from conceding the game to the Bovines and even the most pessimistic Bulldog fans were contending that it would be a real battle from start to finish.

Strengthened by the return of G. B. Hallman, captain and fullback; and Tom Collins, guard, both stellar players who were out for the earlier part of the season with injuries, the visitors were ready to make their best showing of the year against a District 3 opponent. The Bulldogs have stropped three one-sided decisions in succession in conference play, losing to Sweetwater 34 to 0, to Colorado 26 to 0, and to San Angelo 61 to 0. Coach L. K. Barry jugged his starting line-up in order to throw his strongest possible eleven against the locals, shifting Sherrard, a halfback, to end, and including Parr and Dorsey, utility linemen, in the starting assignments.

Briestow announced that he would stand pat on his regular lineups, and that his charges expected to win by two or three touchdowns. Over-confident, he declared, would not hurt his club's chances.

"One thing the Steers can boast of is that they're always fighting," he said. "Midland will have to play their best game of the year if they hope to avoid a stampede this afternoon."

Howard county gave Governor Roosevelt slightly less than 95 percent but cast only 62 percent of its votes for Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee for governor, complete returns from Tuesdays general election disclose.

The returns were completed late Thursday when the Gay Hill box reported. Unusual delay in sending in returns from that box prevented a complete report until Friday morning.

All of the nine proposed amendments to the state constitution were approved in this county. The Centennial proposal, however, carried here only 983 to 769.

Vote for president, governor and on the amendments complete for the 15 county boxes follows:

For president:

Hoover 148

Roosevelt 2,732

For governor:

Bullington 1,112

Ferguson 1,778

University investment amendment: For 1326 against 438.

Centennial: For 963; Against 769.

To allow railroad money and may men to hold public offices and vote for 1191; against 560.

Cons. bond proposal: For 1120; against 466.

Tax exemption on homestead valued at $3,000 or less: For 1613; against 402.

Delinquent tax limitation: For 1216; Against 515.

To consolidate assessor and collector: For 1538; Against 365.

Redemption of land: For 1479; Against 356.

To allow only payers of taxes on property duly rendered to vote on bond elections: For 160; against 366.

After a short business session the members voted to use for the English books secured for the 8th grade and to spend a sum enough to arrange for the pupils up to the 5th grade to wash their hands before lunch by placing soap water and towels to their convenience.

Dr. Root presented the school with cases for paper towels brought from the Colorado Hospital and never heard.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Cuthbertson chairman of the program committee. Dr. Root gave a talk on tuberculosis which was very interesting and practical in regard to prevention of the disease.

After the program refreshments of cherry pie, whipped cream and coffee were served to twenty-three persons.

Ex-Service Men Honor
Fallen Comrades, Present School Flag Staff

Big Spring school children marched with veterans of the World War and other wars in which the nation has engaged to pay honor Friday, the fourteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which ended the world war to fallen heroes.

The parade was headed by a mounted color squad. Members of the American Legion and of the W.W. W. were led by the Legion corps, directed by Fred Dews.

The parade, extending more than four blocks, included members of Boy Scout troops, members of the Mickey Mouse clubs, the Big Spring high school girls' pep squad and children of the elementary and primary grades.

The parade led to the high school campus, where a brief ceremony was held. The crowd then went to the City auditorium for formal program, in which a 60-foot flag pole presented the high school by the ex-service men, was presented on behalf of the veterans organization by Prof. Leland L. Martin of Fort Stockton. Acceptance was by Prof. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the schools here.

The Armistice Day address was by Commander C. L. Bryant of William Frank Martin post, American Legion.

At the high school campus ex-service men faced west one minute in honor of fallen comrades. Bugler Fred Drew sounded "to the colors" and the 5-foot American flag purchased with school children's pennies was raised from half mast to full mast.

Thievery In Chicago

IT IS common knowledge, course, that the automobile industry has not been prospering in recent months. Nothing better the fact home to one, however, quite so vividly as the recent announcement from Chicago that during September automobile thefts there actually exceeded automobile sales.

In Chicago during that month $375 automobiles were stolen. In Cook county as a whole in the same month, automobile sales totaled 22,000.

All of this indicates that prosperity has not yet returned to the automobile industry; but it also indicates that the Chicago police are singularly inefficient in protecting the property rights of automobile owners. Whether this amazingly high figure is due to the depression or a new "crime wave," it is apparent that Chicago's fight against automobile thieves has become exceptionally lax and ineffective.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

Gather closely while we go into a huddle with our staff of advisors and come out with the hot tips on today's games over the state. You can, it is added, either take them or leave them.

Texas versus T. C. U.—one vote for Texas, one for the Frogs, and that's that. If you find out from a reliable source how the game's going to go don't forget to advise us before 2:30 p. m. The greatest backfield the southwest has ever known against the greatest forward line in the country.

Baylor versus Texas Tech—Tech is a nice school and deserves a vote of confidence.

Breckenridge vs Abilene—The swarming Buckaroos seem to be headed for a district championship.

Colorado vs Sweetwater—It's touch and go, but the Wolfies were such fine boys too.

McKinney versus San Angelo—The Bobcats won 7-6 in October but walk in October. The Bobcats are a massive machine.

Midland versus Big Spring—Three running backs for Odie Weston's Homicide brigade. Three or four touchdowns.

Waco at Gebrine—Waco by a nose margin but Waco nevertheless gelo, and Squid Carrithers of San Angelo. In the backfield Coleman has Herb Reid of San Angelo, George Decker of San Angelo, Red Sheridan of Sweetwater, and Bud Hall of Colorado.

Where, if might be asked, is one going to put Elmer Dyer, the best center in West Texas high school football circles? What, it can be added, is one going to do with Virgil Jones, one of the best all-around backs in District 37? Why, someone will want to know—oh, well, it isn't our team anyhow.

Raleigh Mims, freshman back at McMurry University, is spending the Armistice holidays in Big Spring. Both Mims and Luther Glover are in the McMurry backfield.

A few predictions on today's game: Woodrow Armstrong picks Big Spring by three touchdowns at least. Fred Martin gives the Steers six points more. Lillian Harris thinks Big Spring will win 25 to 0. George Zarofonitis does it 26 to 0. Howard Schwarzenbach guesses 36 to 0.

Something was said about Henry Richburg's chances of passing the District 3 scoring parade, and Swatzy was told that he ought to have the Bovine fullback an opportunity to make every touchdown this afternoon. "I'm going to make 'em myself," Swatzy retorted, "from back of the twenty yard line."

The confidence with which Big Spring is regarding this afternoon's game is not at all justified. Midland has a strong club, as far as material goes they have the strongest club in the district. The one-sided defeat suffered by the Dogs this year have, in our opinion, been due more to a timeliness than anything else. The visitors will have a five to ten yard advantage on every exchange of kicks this afternoon. They will possess a heavier, faster backfield. Their line is just as bulky.

Barry seems to be making use of every opportunity to strengthen his forward wall. Sherrod, who has spent most of the season in the backfield, is listed as a starting wingman, while Parr and Dorsey, both utility men in the line, have been assigned starting places.

If the Midland first line of defense hold its own against the Steer wall it will be a battle this afternoon. However, it takes no keen student of football to know that.

"If you can make it I'll try to cut back some of the brush around this cabin so that the fire will not cross the clearing," Stan grumbled.

Jungs pump themselves clear. Stan tried every trick that he knew to keep the flames from spreading and then returned to Asper. But his work was futile. The old man would have to ride in and get help; that was the only way a disaster could be averted. He ran around the cabin and ducked through the smoke. Stepping where he had left Asper he looked down, and his lips pulled into a strange one, the moment when gone!

"Still bent on taking me, I guess," Stan spoke bitterly. "Thinks he can get a gang of men here while I fight this fire." Tossing aside a green bush he had been using to beat out green flames, Stan whistled to his mare. He might as well make a run for it before he had to use a gun to get away.

He had a foot in the stirrup when a husky voice halted him. "Just a minute, Ball!"

Stan whirled to see Asper running through the smoke toward him.

"I had to get a swallow of water to talk." Asper held out a grimed hand.

Stan took it without hesitation and his old grin burst through the ashes and sooty patches on his cheeks.

"I've been a fool but I know everything now." Asper's voice was only a rasping whisper.

"This was more of Swergin's work?" Stan waved to the mass of flames that marked the cabin.

"Caught me on the way down to Pass Creek." Asper's eyes blazed from sooty hollows.

"You better get down and give an alarm," Stan suggested. "I'll take you beyond the saddle to the edge of the clearing."

Asper caught Stan's arm and his eyes glowed. "I'll stay here. You go down." Swergin made a threat to go to the camp and to take Dora or to see her. Asper's voice wavered. "He wouldn't dare do a thing like that with all the men there, but I wish you'd ride in, if you will take those chances. I'll stay and fight this fire and keep it in the clearing."

Stan bent forward. His face was black with anger more than with smoke and ashes. "I'll ride in," he gritted between his teeth. Tossing his saddle knife to Asper, he whirled and sent the black mare hammering down the mountain.
