Roosevelt, Bullington Vote Urged

Democrats Urge 'New Deal All Around' For Texas

FORT WORTH (UP)—Texas Democrats were urged to elect Orville Bullington governor of Texas, at the same time supporting the national democratic nominees for president and vice president to secure "a new deal all around."

A Roosevelt-Garner-Hollington club was organized here late yesterday by a group of "regulars" who elected Webb Walker, Fort Worth chairman.

"We have always supported the nominees of the democratic party, and we are not refusing to support them at this time," because Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson is not the nominee of the democratic party," it was declared. "Their statement implied her nomination was secured fraudulently and illegally."

"The time has come in Texas when every true democrat must take a stand to put an end to the strife which for 20 years threatened to destroy the democratic party in Texas. The honor of the state is involved.

"Even as Bullington is being offered to the people of Texas to bring us out of political chaos, just so are the democratic nominees for president and vice president being offered to the nation."

"We resent the brazen attempt to subordinate the interests of the party, its national standard bearers, to the personal fortune of a political adventurer who is in no true sense a democrat. The interest of Roosevelt and Garner are not in the remotest sense identified with the interests of the Democrats in Texas."

"To Governor Roosevelt's plea for a 'new deal for the American people,' we add our plea for a 'new deal for Texas,'" the statement concluded.

It was signed by nearly 50 democrats, including W. W. Naman, Hilton Howell, J. W. Mann, A. J. Bush, John Gorham and Albert T. Clifton, Waco; A. E. Morgan, H. L. Adkins, Maurice Adkins, G. G. Ordway, and E. H. Stone, Abilene; Sam McCorkle and E. L. Smith, Mexico.

John Alford, Henderson; Dr. W. D. Jones, Ed Crane, R. A. Thompson, and Dexter Hamilton, Dallas; and Dallas Seaborough, Abilene.

M. P. Official Oppose Higher Cotton Rates

DALLAS (UP)—Installation of the so-called Arkansas cotton rates plan for shipments of the staple from inland Texas and Oklahoma points was urged here by J. R. Staley, St. Louis, Mo., assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Staley appeared as a witness for interior cotton shippers who are opposing at a joint hearing of the Interstate Railroad commission and the Texas-railroad commission the petition of the Burlington system for a state change for uncompressible cotton.

The Missouri Pacific official testified the Arkansas cotton rate system preserves for the individual shipper the benefit of a less than carload lot privilege but at the same time permits use of carload rates. The plan calls for concentration of cotton in small lots for shipments by carloads, with the carload rate applying from the point of origin of the less than carload shipments.

Albert Reed and J. K. Moore, chief counsel for the interior cotton points fighting the rate change, indicated they would ask the two commissions to install the Arkansas rate system in Oklahoma and Texas.

County Commissioners Tell Oil Men They Are Unable To Promise All-Weather Road Through Field

Prospects for a caliche road could make no promises. To be included under the already approved budget, more money for construction would necessarily come out of the road and bridge fund. Commissioners and Judge Debenport said that right-of-way on highways No. 1 and No. 2 would be paid for out of the road and bridge fund.

Uncertainty of the amount to be expended in purchase of right-of-way, said Judge Debenport, would not permit the commission to promise the petitioners a caliche road through the field.

Home Town Talk by Betty

"Parson" Lindley hit the right note at the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday when he said Sweetwater er beat us last year, not because she had better talent but because the Mustangs refused to be whipped. There are strong convictions in some quarters this year that Sweetwater has the better team. But Sweetwater will not win Friday if the Steers and the entire community refuse to be defeated.

Coach Brisson, another guest at the club meeting, said we may not have the best team in the country but I'll promise that you have never seen a team go on a field here that put up a harder fight than this one will Friday afternoon.

Buck Johnson the "uptown quarterback" of the Mustang force, urged his friend, Tom Ashley, here Thursday as follows: "Pony Express will arrive 1:30 tomorrow with 1,000 fans who appreciate clean, fast football and to show our appreciation for your special train last year, May the best team win. We think it will be the Mustangs."

At least one of every five persons in town ought to attend the Community Pep Rally on the courthouse lawn this evening beginning at 7:30. That would mean a crowd of at least 2,000. Let's map out our sluggishness a d help this team get over a big hump. Things that are easy to do are not nearly so interesting and worthwhile as big jobs that call for all your strength if they are cared for as they ought to be.

You can put a hump in your neck, too. That's what the Mustangs did last year. There'll be a large crowd, plenty of action, all eyes and ears for those who play their football, and folks, put us to a test in that bunch. Of all the men, it is that bunch of football is the great test.

The school kids will be at the rally tonight in full force. The pep squad, the band, the cheerleaders and all the coaches will be there ready and waiting to go. They'll be able to wait until 3 p. m. Friday for the game to begin.

Sweetwater folks certainly entertained us in fine fashion last year. Now let's not let 'em go on one (CONTINUED ON PAGE 5)

Humanitarian Bosh
SOME OF THE good people living in Evanston, Ill., have gone on the warpath to force three white mice from an improper diet.

A school teacher, wanting to show her pupils the effect of an unbalanced diet, got four white mice to keep in the schoolroom. One mouse was fed on what a mouse needs while the other three had to get along without any vegetables and the general idea was that the children, observing it all, would see the importance of eating their spinach and carrots regularly.

But a lot of humanitarians descended on the teacher, protesting that she was being cruel to the mice and that they should be restored to full rations instantly, and the whole business illustrates beautifully the odd way in which we have learned how to waste our energies in this modern world.

The humanitarian impulse is one of those frail growths that take a long time to come to flower. For many centuries in the world's history it hardly existed at all—and where it did exist, it was a sign that its possessor was both a weakling and an impractical visionary.

A good part of the history of the rise of civilization is simply the history of the development of a society in which the humanitarian impulse could make its influence felt.

We have such a society now after endless generations in which all kinds of cruelty were taken as a matter of course.

And as a token of our arrival in this happy state, to have people who can get terribly disturbed because three white mice aren't getting the right kind of food.

It is sad, of course, to think of three starving mice. But there are people to whom the thought of starving human children is even worse; and the United States today, unfortunately, contains an abundance of hungry children whose plight ought to stir the humanitarians as they have not been stirred in a generation.

Offhand, one might suppose that it would be better to worry about the hungry children and let the unlucky mice get along as best as they can.

In addition to nearly a score of women who qualified Friday on the Country Club course and on the Municipal course Tuesday, seven more names have been added to the list of qualifiers for the local Women's Golf association.

Those qualifying on the Municipal course Tuesday who had not previously qualified on the Country club course are Mmes. R. W. Henry, P. H. Liberty, Ben Carter, Hayes Stripling, James Little, Emil Fahrenkamp and Eck Lovelace.

More women have qualified on the country club links since Friday but scores have not yet been reported, it was announced.

Business In Southwest Has Made Long Strides Since September 1

DALLAS (UP)—Business in the southwest has made such long strides since Sept. 1 toward normal conditions that men keeping a hand on the pulse of commercial life forecast better times were well on the way.

The predictions were voiced by leaders in both retail and wholesale trades, transportation, company executives and bankers.

The State Fair of Texas, now past the halfway mark of its 16-day showing, has served to further stimulate business. The tonic, said leading merchants here, has the same effect as sunshine to a patient who has been bedridden for days.

Crowds at the State Fair exceed those of last year. The visitors include persons from Texas and adjoining states of Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

"Business is rapidly on the road to recovery," said W. W. Groves, agent for the Railway Express. "The concerns here manufacturing certain lines of women's wear are enjoying the best trade they have had in the 15 years I have been here. Our own business and that of many other lines is now 500 per cent above the low ebb that was experienced in July."

Patients "Up" He compared business to a sick man and agreed with others the patient was "up," that recent revivals served as tonics.

Grove reported the express business had increased 40 per cent since Sept. 1. The sharp gain in the price of cotton several weeks ago served to throw money into circulation, he said, and the price break did not cause as much of a reaction as expected.

Dallas manufacturing firms, especially women's hats, coats and dress manufacturers, he said, had increased their trade territory until some firms were selling to concerns in Pacific Coast states and in the middle west.

As indicative of business improvement in retail lines, he said, Sunday deliveries to retailers had been resumed.

George E. Young, postmaster, reported the parcel post business has been steadily increasing during the past three or four weeks. He said this referred to both incoming and outgoing mail.

Much Travel The Union Terminal company reported the biggest week-end railroad travel business in several years. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad carried more passengers in out of the city than it has in a week-end in ten years, Frank Griffin, general passenger agent said.

Bus and interurban rates were so low for excursionists that few traveled here by automobile. Scores of extra men were employed by the terminal company and railroads in handling traffic, conditioning and in moving trains in and about the city.

Majority of incoming and outgoing trains carried from 212 to 16 Mrs. The biggest train was that of the Texas & Pacific from Marshall Sunday of 18 cars, carrying 1,204 persons. The Katy operated nine outgoing trains Sunday night, six of these specials, and the total number of passenger cars was 94.

Hotels reported they were able to fill rooms to only about half the number of persons that sought reservations.

Robert S. Pool, assistant manager of the Baker Hotel, reported reservations the largest in several years and the Baker and Adolphus hotels roomed about 1,200 in each over the week end. Baker restaurant managers said between 8,000 and 10,000 persons were served meals in their places over the week-end.

Bus Operators Work Two Years Without Mishap

Eight bus operators of the Southland Greyhound lines have just completed a two-year driving record without an accident of any kind, according to J. A. Knutson, operating manager of the company. These men have been awarded the two-year gold award for safe driving. With the award goes a pearl button pin.

The eight men to receive this award are: Roy Benson, E. A. Brown, J. E. Doherty, L. D. Porter, H. Hohnert, E. Layne, L. Springer and J. Walsh. Over the two-year period each of these men have driven approximately 125,000 miles, a distance equivalent to five times around the world, without a single accident.

To date 26, which is nearly two-thirds of the Southland Greyhound bus operators have won the one year safety award. Mr. Knutson states that Southland Greyhound Lines, over the period from January 1st to October 1st, operated 4,563,841 miles and averaged only one accident every 108,658 miles of operations. This includes even minor accidents, such as scratched fenders. This is one of the most outstanding safety records of any public transportation company in the entire country. Mr. Knutson attributes this remarkable safety record to the careful schooling of drivers, plus regular safety meetings. There has never been a passenger fatality on the Southland Greyhound Lines since it began operations.

Presiding Elder To Be At Center Point Sunday

Rev. O. P. Clark, presiding elder of the Sweetwater district, will preach at the Center Point Methodist church Sunday, October 23, at 7:30 p. m. Business of the fourth quarterly conference will conclude the service, according to an announcement by Rev. George L. Keever, pastor of the Coahoma charge of the Methodist Episcopal church, south.

Mrs. Charles McPherson of Los Angeles, Calif., is here visiting her mother, Mrs. D. H. Clingen for the remainder of the week.

Harrington Circus To Be Here Saturday

Harrington's nickel plate three-ring circus and wild animal show will exhibit here Saturday, October 22, at Third and Bell streets. Two performances will be given. Long before the average boy and girl has had his or her breakfast the huge caravans on motor trucks transporting the elephants, camels, lions, hyenas, tigers, monkeys, horses, dogs, and ponies will have arrived in the city and the mammoth task of erecting the tented city will be under way. The circus is a city in itself inasmuch as there are superintendents for each department; while one crew of men is busily engaged in raising the three ring circus others are "putting up" cook houses, menagerie and side show. Each man is allotted a task and with clocklike precision the tents go up and when Equestrian Director Bob Norton blows his whistle all will be in readiness for the people to see the circus.

Mr. Roosevelt said that "For my distinguished opponent" 1931 was the year when all "his distinctive 1928 economic heresies seemed to come home to roost together..."

He declared that to argue no American policy was in the least to blame for the economic disturbance was "like ascribing measles to its spora rather than to its characteristic germs."

Prices Slumped "As a direct result of these influences, our export markets dried up, our commodity prices slumped and our domestic business was declining at a more rapid rate than business in some of the backward and crippled countries," he asserted.

better on that score. We must have plenty of cars at the station at 1:30 p. m. when the Sweetwater special train arrives.

We have a letter from a business man in which he says, "Let's all get together and have all business houses close from 3 to 5 p. m. Friday. We want to show our boys we are for them and know they will beat Sweetwater."

Apparently those business men who are willing to close during the game are very much in the minority. Such a plan would be followed in many towns of this size, but for some reason most of our merchants have never paid much attention to football.

"You take what you want, don't you, Mr. Ball?" There was a cutting edge to the girl's voice and a sarcastic note in it. "Even though it can do you no good."

"It has done me much good," Stan stated simply.

His answer angered her more than the answer she would have given. She sat very straight and her most cheering prediction: "I don't know what's going to be the score, but whatever it is we'll be in the lead."

Tonight every member of the squad will no doubt be called upon to give his individual opinion as to the outcome of the crucial game. We'll gamble that the verdict will be unanimous. "They can't do it"—that slogan came from the squad itself, not from any publicity agent. The players are in the finest possible mental condition, and their role of underdogs is encouraging from a psychological standpoint.

"There will be no regrets" was the slogan of the Sweetwater-Big Spring game last year. Conditions will not be necessary here after the game at least. The Steers have all to win and nothing to lose.

A group of local fans invited San Angelo citizens to the game here in the following fashion: "Blondy Cross: Since San Angelo is technically a member of District 3 in a football and since we feel that a few of the citizens might be vaguely interested in the outcome of the District 3 championship race we issue this cordial invitation to all of San Angelo to be in the Steer Stadium at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, when said championship will be decided."

Sam Baugh, the Mustang all-district quarterback, may be in shape for the Sweetwater-Big Spring melee. Baugh was the best passer in District 3 last year, and Ed Hennig declares that his presence in the game would strengthen the Ponies' offense and defense at least 20 per cent.

Baugh's eligibility must be passed upon Friday morning by the district committee, but we predict a clean bill of health for the "forward passing fool." And we say power to him.

Two other games are on the district schedule this week-end. The fast-stepping Colorado Wolves meet the Midland Bulldogs, and the Barrymen are hoping for less severe treatment Friday afternoon. In fact we understand that Midland fans are hoping for a victory. But it should be the Wolves on the first and every ball.

San Angelo invades McCamey and if the Badgers win perhaps the fans won't feel so harshly towards Superintendent C. V. Compton. Harry Taylor's henchmen, however, should have little trouble with the second weakest team in the district.

Just at present this department is wondering whether Charles Gregg, the district's newest sports writer, was trying to be sarcastic when he referred to the writer as "almost as good-looking as Blondy Cross," as human as anyone could expect a sports writer to be and "with a fairly intelligent gleam in his eye." We do not resent the reference to sports writers in general since a sports writer is by nature a perceiving, faithful sort of fellow who never receives full credit for his efforts from an unappreciative public. Nor do we particularly mind a limiting adverb applied to the adjective describing our mental faculties.

District Three Approaches First Week-End Of Real Activity With Ponies, Wolves And Bobcats Favored

Sweetwater and Colorado were favored to continue their unbeaten and untied march through the District 3 grid schedule, with San Angelo to make it a three-act at the expense of the McCamey Badgers, as this portion of the state interscholastic league prepared for its first week-end of real activity.

The Mustangs, whose 54 to 0 win over the Midland Bulldogs caused every coach in the district to wince with pain, invade Big Spring for a traditional, blood-and-thunder battle with Obie Bristow's game Steers, and in spite of a "do-or-die" spirit that overflowed in Bovine town as time for the game neared were heavy favorites to win by two or three touchdowns.

Jim Cantrell's Colorado Wolves, dark horses of the current campaign, take on the Bulldogs and it remains to be seen whether the Barrymen can recover from last week's slaughter in time to stem the Red and White tide. Colorado was far from impressive against Sweetwater, losing 6 to 0.

The San Angelo High Bobcats, who did not disgrace District 3 in a 9 to 7 loss to the Abilene Eagles in an inter-sectional game, meet the McCamey Badgers in the heat of a two game series, and should have received credit for a half game won by Saturday evening. The game will be played in McCamey. Baugh To Play

 Sam Baugh, all-district quarterback in 1931, was expected to be in the Sweetwater lineup against the Longhorns in spite of recent attack of injuries and illness that has kept him out of action all year. Baugh's eligibility must be passed upon by the district committee Friday morning, but it is expected that the verdict will be unanimously in favor of the Red and White star.

Branded as potential state champions by their tri of victories over Abilene, Lubbock, and Midland the Hennigmen were nevertheless preparing for a stiff battle in Big Spring Friday afternoon. The two schools, traditional rivals for years, have always played on close terms, and the Sweetwater coach is scoffing at the twenty and thirty point wagers being offered throughout the district.

Likewise confident that the game will be a battle from start to finish is Obie Bristow of the Steers, who has been leading his team through strenuous workouts in the afternoons and lectured to them each evening in a desperate attempt to form a creditable offense against the Ponies. Livian Harris, backfield ace, was the only casualty in the Big Spring roster last week.

Midland Crippled
 Injuries threatened to cripple the chances of L. K. Barry's Midland team, at least seven of the Bulldogs being handicapped by afflictions that ranged from broken hands to scratches and bruises. Captain G. B. Hallman, outstanding star of the Purple team, has been out of the lineup for the last two games and may not be able to start Friday, while Rick Llewellyn and Collins, two other top-notchers, are also numbered among the casualties.

Colorado's "jack-rabbit" backfield, with Bud Hall and P. J. Burris bearing the brunt of the ball-carrying and Bill Viles doing the kicking and passing, was in tip-top shape for their second conference game, and Cantrell was well pleased with the showing of his charges in workouts during the week.
