FHA Week Focuses On City, Church, Home

Church, community, school and family will each take a part in the activities of the three local Future Homemakers of America chapters as the girls observe the eighth annual national FHA Week.

They will attend services at the First Methodist Church today and publicize FHA Week tomorrow by wearing ribbons of red and white, FHA colors.

Tuesday, on Community Day, they will bake cookies for VA Hospital patients and honor their fathers at a dinner. For School Day on Wednesday they will serve faculty members at a coffee party.

Each girl will lead family recreation Thursday, which is Family Day, and on Friday, Fun Day, the girls will attend the football game at Lamesa. A district meeting Saturday in Colorado City will officially conclude the week's activities.

High school chapter presidents are Nancy Miller and Laverne Cooper. Sponsors are Mrs. Nancy Annen and Mrs. Edna McGregor. Lou Ann White is president of the Junior High School chapter and Mrs. Roberta Wiley is sponsor.

CHIEF COOKS (below)—Mary Beth Stratton, left, and Mary Ann Leonard, High School Students, are baking cookies the FHA chapters will send to patients at the VA Hospital. The FHA girls give the patients a taste of their cooking in this way about four times a year.

STATE PROJECT (center left) — Janet Hogan, center, slips a Christmas card into a box that Wanda Murry, left, and Jacqueline Cox, have decorated. The Junior High School FHA chapter will send the box filled with Christmas cards that they've already put in stamped envelopes to patients at the State Hospital in Austin. The patients will address the cards and have them mailed to family and friends.

Queen For Halloween

Ruling over the fun and gaiety at the Senior High School Halloween carnival was Nancy Pitman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Pitman. Nancy was selected queen over five other candidates. Alvin Baker escorted her.

Good News In Fashion Seen For Next Spring

Even if the grass doesn't show up something that will put in an appearance in Big Spring come spring will be the "prettiest styles yet," according to a buyer of a local women's shop who has just returned from the Dallas ready-to-wear market.

Generally, she said, the fashions are graceful, simple and easy to wear. Pink stands out as the big color for spring and it will be seen in every shade from lightest to deep oleander pink.

Real excitement in the Dallas market were the bathing suits. One in particular was almost a complete ensemble. It was a shirred latex print cotton suit complete with matching skirt and jacket that when worn together are pretty enough to wear dancing. Most of the bathing suits feature a molded midriff and have some shirring, contrasting banding or bloomie type legs for figure flattery.

The squaw dresses that have been up and coming for a couple of years will be even better in 1954, the buyer said.

Skirts are flared, pleated or

Nancy Pitman was crowned Halloween Queen Monday night at the carnival. Her escort was Alvin Baker. The other nominees and escorts were Pat Rutledge and Jack Wachendorf, Jan Burns and James Underwood, Lila Turner and Wayne Medlin, Linda Rutledge and Clarence Thompson, and Clara Freeman and Roger Brown.

The Student Council had a meeting Wednesday. It was reported that a total of $250 was made from the Halloween Carnival. The West Texas Forum of Student Councils, which is to be held in Midland on Nov. 14, was discussed. Most of the members plan to attend this convention.

Thursday afternoon the Majors Club journeyed to Snyder for a tour of the new high school. Some of the girls reported that one of the things that impressed them the most was the school's large Journalism department.

A girl's sport that is gaining prestige in B. S. H. S. is tennis. The girls have been working out regularly since the beginning of school. The girls are coached by Miss Billie Clyburn and the regulars include Janice Rome, Clara Freeman, Peggy Hogan, Betty Anderson, Mary Ella Bigony, Nan Farquhar, Nancy Smith, Lila Turner, Maxine Rossion, Claudine Butler and Pat Tidwell.

This morning starts National F. H. A. Week for the home economics girls. To start the week off right, the girls attended church in a body this morning; they also have several other activities planned throughout the week.

It has been announced that students wishing to buy annuals have only eleven more days to do so. The El Rodeos go off sale Friday, Nov. 13. They can be purchased from any staff member for $4.50 each.

This year the annual staff would like to have some good pictures of the various club activities and parties. All clubs should try to have some good activity pictures taken for the annual. If there is no one in your club to take pictures, see Nina Fryar and she will try to make arrangements for a photographer for you.

Thursday night the Steers had a big bonfire to burn those Buckaroos to the ground. Co-captains Stipp and Armistead lit the fire, and the cheer-leaders led the students in some yells. A pep rally was also held in the gymnasium Friday morning. Pep talks were given by Coaches Bentley and Coleman, J. W. Thompson and Norman Dudley.

We know of two surprise birthday parties that have been given this week. Nita Heddeleston surprised Jacqueline Smith with a birthday party Wednesday night. The girls attending the party were Shirley Ward, Nancy Pitman, Sue Barnes, Cecelia McDonald, Kenda McGibbon and Ginger Hatch.

Thursday night Shirley Spero was also honored with a surprise birthday party. Some of the kids at this one were Lynette Blum, David Ewing, Janice Anderson, Wilbur Cunningham, Patsy Clements, Paschall Odom, Kay Bonifield, Jerry Barron, Anna Mae Thorp, Roger Brown, Anne Gray, Don Anderson, Shirley Spero, Frank Long and David Westfall.

Profits And Queens Reign Over Halloween

Halloween carnivals held Thursday night by the public schools proved profitable as well as fun making. The carnivals featured booths, games and various concessions. Halloween queens were chosen at all the schools.

Junior High School took in $870.95 at its carnival and selected Barbara Monroe as queen.

Kate Morrison School made $235 and chose Anita Alvarado as queen. Sgt. Noah Leyza was master of ceremonies.

Martha Jane Smedley was chosen queen at East Ward's carnival. Her escort was Jerry Bethel. Martha Jane represented the third grade and Jerry the second grade. Other candidates were Judy Brown, Larry Smedley, Peggy Little and Van Appleton, first grade; Linda Manley, second grade; Richard Bethel, third grade; Linda Jean Sudberry and Benny Pitzer, fourth grade; Carolyn Long and Carey King, fifth grade, and Sue Brown and Mark Sharp, sixth grade. The carnival brought in $375.

North Ward chose Ana Marie Gonzales queen and Sonny McKeivey king. Net receipts were approximately $400.

Linda Kay Thomas from the second grade and Peter Thomas Richards, also from the second grade, were elected queen and king at Midway school. Carnival profits totaled $155.

Park Hill School cleared the largest profit with a total of $1,581.05. The money was made from a spaghetti supper, cake auction, game room, spook room, white elephant sale, movies, a post office and fortune telling. The queen at Park Hill was Merry Lee Dibrelle and her king was Keith Bristow. Betty Burk and Mrs. Ray

A STANDOUT ANYWHERE Whittled Waistlines, Full Skirts Flatter All Figures

More and more of the Paris imports are showing up with whittled away waistlines and full skirts that flare out in a smooth beautiful line without a single trace of bunchiness.

Vera Maxwell has always been an advocate of this line as one of the most flattering for figures of all sizes, for the unbelted waist slims down that area, and hips, large or small, take refuge under the pretty skirt.

Without sleeves, made in a partyish material (gleaming satin or tulle in jewel tones or the delicate champagne shade, so very important for evening), this model will be a standout in any gathering. In jersey, pastel preferred, or linen, it is perfect for resort and cruise wear. If your fabric is not naturally stiff, be sure to line the skirt.

Pattern 1040 is available in Standard pattern sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 12 requires 4 yds of 50-inch material for the dress. If you like the rustle of a taffeta lining it will require 1 1/2 yds. of 39-inch fabric.

To order Pattern 1040, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Box 535, Dept. 164, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail 25 cents extra. Pattern Booklet 9, including over 100 designs, available at 15 cents.

Salvage Old Wooden Shutters

AP Newsfeatures

When old wooden shutters start creaking and falling apart, they may be salvaged for many years' service by covering them with hardboard.

Square up the framework and leave the louvers. Cut tempered pressed wood (3/4-inch Masonite) to the exact size of the framework. Bevel the edges lightly and attach the panels with brass wood screws applied through drilled holes. The hardboard will keep the framework square.

Either cut a design, such as a squirrel, bird, deer or ship, in the upper third of the panel, or fashion your design from a spare piece of hardboard for gluing on the panel with waterproof glue. Designs are easily cut with a jig saw or scroll saw.

Apply a prime coat to both sides of the shutter panels and decorations, then add a finish coat or two. If the decoration is to be superimposed on the panel, paint it a contrasting color.

You'll be amazed at the improved appearance of your house.

Mrs. Stanley To Be Welcome Wagon Representative Here

Welcome Wagon, Inc. is to renew hostess service in Big Spring, and the representative will be Mrs. Joyce Stanley, well known here as a worker in church, club and civic affairs.

Mrs. Stanley has recently returned from Memphis, Tenn., where she had a course of instruction preparing her to represent Welcome Wagon.

Welcome Wagon, a modernized version of the old time courtesy wagon which greeted travelers after a long journey, currently operates in more than 1,300 U. S. cities and towns. Welcome Wagon hostesses carry the good wishes of civic and business organizations to people, at important moments in their lives: to mothers of new babies; boys and girls on their 16th birthday; newly engaged couples; newcomers to the city; and on important anniversaries, and other special occasions.

The Welcome Wagon hostess will carry a word on the outstanding features of the city—its libraries, churches, schools, parks, welfare

Majors Club Visits New Snyder School

A tour of the 2 1/2 million dollar new high school at Snyder was made by members of the Majors Club of Senior High School recently.

The group was guided through the classrooms, office, homemaking department, gymnasium and music rooms by girls from the Snyder physical education department.

Fifteen members attended. They were accompanied by their sponsors, Anna Smith, Billie Clyburn and Arah Phillips.

ROTC Sponsor

Jo Ann (Jody) Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Miller of 1700 Eleventh Pl., has been chosen sponsor of one of the two Air Force groups at Texas Tech. She will be provided with a special Air Force uniform and will march with the 700 cadets in various public functions. Miss Miller is a speech major. She works on the campus radio station; is a member of the Tech choir, Forensic Club, debate team and the Student Union Decoration committee. She is attending Tech on scholarships awarded her for being the "Outstanding Girl in the Permian Basin."

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Going Steady

To "steady" or not to "steady"; that is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous loneliness or take arms against this problem and by opposing, end it? That indeed is a question worth considering.

Whether you personally would be happy in the steady set-up depends largely on three things: your emotional stability, your parents' attitude toward it and the popularity of steady dating in your school.

Steady dating means dating one person exclusively and it shouldn't be entered into unless you are willing to pledge yourself exclusively to one individual until you both mutually agree to "call it off."

There's no disputing the fact that it's nice to have a season ticket to all the school events and never find yourself in the date dilemma of wondering if you'll get a bid to an important party. Still, with old faithful around, you miss the thrill of attracting new dates and may be becoming friends with somebody really more ultra super. All this is worth thinking about.

If you just can't imagine how anybody could be as wonderful as your heart-throb, going steady may not be a bad idea for you. If you just think this person is "awfully cute—and nice" but you find your eyes wandering, tnxay, you'd better wait awhile.

Parental opposition to the ever-popular "going steady" custom can usually be overcome by a frank talk with Mom and Dad. Times have changed and so has the meaning of going steady. It won't take much time to let them in on the fact that today it is a common practice and usually means nothing more than friendship and Saturday night social security. Ordinarily it is of short duration and most teens steady date from six to ten times during high school.

If and when you do get the family's okay, don't forget that your new status as a steady places certain responsibilities on you that you didn't have before.

For a boy this means remembering birthdays, Christmas, and Valentine's Day; also inviting her to all the important school affairs. You're all she's got, you know.

For a girl it means not expecting the world on a silver platter, or expecting all the boy's free time. Spurning is thrilling, but a good steady will learn to enjoy a hamburger and a walk as well as dinner and dancing, and will do her part by thinking up some interesting home dates.

Will you go steady or play the field? That depends on you, personally. Both are very nice.

What's your problem? Write Beverly Brandow in care of this newspaper. You'll receive a personal answer if you enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DRESS PARADE

Mrs. O. O. Craig has just completed an exciting after-five ensemble of chantilly lace and black silk taffeta with a custom-made look. The lace is used for the sheath dress lined with natural-colored satin back crepe. The black taffeta makes the halter-neck red-lingote which has a flattering draped waistline closed with covered buttons.

With her ensemble she likes short black velvet gloves or white ones and very bare strap sandals in black suede. Her chandelier earrings of pearls and rhinestones are appropriate with the late-day costume.

Mrs. Craig makes most of her own clothes.

Mrs. Norman Read attended the Garden Club meeting Tuesday in a black crepe dress with a V neckline outlined in blue and red trim and gunmetal nailheads. Gunmetal was repeated in her costume jewelry.

COSDEN CHATTER

Evanses Take Trip To Kansas

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Evans left Thursday afternoon for Wichita, Kan., and Chicago, Ill. Mrs. Evans will visit their daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hornsby, and family in Wichita while Evans attends a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers in Chicago.

Among the visitors in the offices this week have been Nelson Phillips Jr., vice president and general counsel of Cosden, of Dallas, Bob Wilson of Arlington and Bill Tracey of Albuquerque, N. M. C. W. Smith has been in Arlington this week on company business.

Attending funeral services for R. M. Thompson, father of R. W. Thompson, in Vega Friday afternoon were R. L. Tollett, George Grimes, Jack Y. Smith, Arnold Marshall, H. C. Stipp, W. A. Underwood, Jack Alexander, R. A. Chambers, M. M. Hines, Bert Shive and Richard Liles.

Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Butts are spending the weekend in Dallas where they attended the SMU-Texas football game Saturday.

R. M. Johnson spent Friday in Fort Worth and Dallas on company business.

Refinery personnel on vacations include Jack E. Mundell, Robert F. Williams and Terrell S. Lowrey.

Her black felt hat was trimmed with cut steel beads and her bag was made of cut steel beads.

Mrs. Olive Bristow chose the popular tones of brown to wear to the meeting: a permanently pleated brown dress in a synthetic fabric, a beige stole and British tan accessories.

A lightweight suit in avocado green was Mrs. J. E. Hogan's costume. Accessories were a gold choker and tan shoes and bag.

A compliment to Mrs. J. G. Lewis' brunette coloring was the decollete black velvet dinner dress she wore to the Altruus Club's Freedom Dinner. Heavy lace trimmed the decollete and her jewelry was rhinestones. Velvet gloves matched her dress.

John Lou Callison looked chic in a navy wool faille dressmaker suit featuring tiny blue and white checked lapel and cuffs. A smart navy velvet shell hat was ideal for her short hair-do. She wore a fur neckpiece.

Halloween Dances Featured At Webb

Halloween costumes of various and sundry descriptions were the "uniforms of the night" at dances sponsored by the Officers Wives Club and the NCO Club at Webb Air Force Base Saturday.

Prizes were awarded at both dances for the best costumes.

A floor show was presented by the Officers Wives and music at the Ellis Hall dance was furnished by the Skyliners.

The Quintones presented dance music for the NCO Club.

Coat Sweater

By CAROL CURTIS

Knitted, with crocheted edging around collar, the little coat sweater is grand for out-of-door play, for school, to wear over snowsuit pants! Colorful, too, as one ball of variegated color knitting worsted is used for the trim. Navy with shaded pinks, wines, is a happy combination; red with variegated blue wool trim is handsome, too. Included in pattern are sizes 3, 5 and 8.

Discover Your Type, For Fashion Success

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Everyone in Hollywood is talking about what a good job Patricia Medina did in "Plunder in the Sun" with John Wayne. "It was fun making the picture," Patricia told me as we lunched at the Beverly Hills Brown Derby. "We were on location in Mexico the whole time."

Patricia has an English mother, a Spanish father but went to school in Paris so she speaks three languages fluently.

"Your background gives you a perspective of the American woman," I remarked. "What do you think of us?"

"I think the women here are much better groomed than they are in any other country. They take an obvious pride in their appearance. But then the United States is a woman's country. You can tell that by the way she walks into a restaurant."

"England is a man's country and oddly enough the men seem to take more pride in their appearance than the women," she added. "And in Paris, I found whenever I saw a really chic woman she turned out to be an American."

"But Paris is such a fashion center," I commented.

"I've spent a lot of time in Paris but I still prefer American fashion. The point is that the French designers are self-conscious about their talent virtuosity. The Paris woman looks too grotesque—she is either a tube or a tent."

"In the United States fashions are created to make a woman look attractive—not to give a designer an opportunity to show off."

Patricia looked at the plate of calf's liver and mashed potatoes which had been placed before her and explained, "I'm always eating more than I want but I don't seem to gain. During the war we had so little to eat and I was so nervous that my stomach shrank," Patricia explained.

"I'm sure the multitude of women who are trying to lose weight feel that you are a very lucky girl," I suggested.

"I am not half as clothes conscious as I should be," Patricia said picking up the conversational thread we had dropped. "But I feel the most essential thing is to know your type."

"That's easier said than done," I said. I asked Pat if she had any good ideas on how a girl could discover her type.

"Everyone has an essential quality, but when you are young and in the formative stage, this is not always obvious even to yourself. It may be that as a girl develops she changes her type. This happens many times—but right or wrong I think you stand or fall by being typed."

I asked her to be more specific. "Let me see," Patricia's liquid brown eyes sparkled as she played with this question. "Let's begin at the top with the elegant type. If you have a large income, good taste and enjoy spending the time it takes to be chic, then elegant you must be."

"An opposite type is the athletic girl who is very good at sports. She should stick to sweaters and tweeds as much as possible because the chances are she'll lose her charm all dressed up in cocktail clothes," she continued.

"A professional or business woman should be perfectly tailored and immaculate. Even when you don't have a great deal to spend on your clothes, insist on them having a simple, good line and limited though your wardrobe may be, always appear scrupulously neat."

"It pays to be honest with yourself and if you are the type who wants to attract the attention of men, you should never pretend to be a type you are not. If you are studious or overoccupied with other things more than your appearance,

FALL ADVICE

"Make-up and Fashion Secrets of the Stars," a leaflet giving lots of Hollywood secrets on dressing for beauty and making the most of make-up, will help you with your fall beauty plans. Get your copy by sending 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald. Ask for leaflet M-15.

be sure to choose clothes which require the minimum of attention, practical colors and non-crease fabrics. If you are definitely conservative, don't wear extreme fashions no matter what your more sophisticated friends may advise," she said seriously.

"I don't feel I am the type for short hair and though almost everyone I know has cut theirs, I'm not going to," Pat added.

"It's very pretty hair," I commented. "I hate to have to set it so I don't know what I would do without a dry shampoo," Pat confided.

As the water brought our coffee, Patricia remarked, "You know I said this was a woman's country. There is one point I didn't mention—that is the women don't sound as pretty as they look. It's as if they wear trousers in their voices—instead of soft petticoats."

"A bad voice is so unpleasant and so unnecessary. Anyone who wants to can improve their voice," Patricia insisted.

"It's just a matter of taking the time to break your old habits and form appealing new ones."

Shower Honors Mrs. McClagherty

Mrs. Gene McClagherty was honored with a pink and blue shower recently in the home of Mrs. O. D. Smith at Vealmore. Co-hostesses included Mrs. John Sutherland, Mrs. D. L. Truett and Mrs. Clint Mullinghouse.

The table was covered with a lace cloth and a rock-a-bye baby tree centerpiece flanked with vases of pink and blue flowers.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Cecil Niblett

The Lass-O's annual mother-daughter tea was held last Sunday in the Student Union building. In the receiving line were Betty Hulsey, Joe Welch, Frances McClain, Vesta Harrison, Cecil Niblett and Helen Russell. After tea was served the group was entertained by a tap number presented by Tiny Riechbourg and a solo number presented by Frances McClain. Mothers attending were Mrs. A. Ray Russell, Mrs. J. C. Niblett, Mrs. A. L. Woods, Mrs. A. O. Nichols, Mrs. Viola Keith, Mrs. J. M. Lawson, Mrs. H. C. McClain, Mrs. Alex Walker Jr., Mrs. Curtis Choate, Mrs. Lois McClain, Mrs. Bonnie White, Mrs. M. H. Hulsey, Mrs. Paul Vagt, Mrs. Bill Thompson, Mrs. J. B. Frazier, Mrs. Arnold Jamison, Mrs. Earl Bryant Jr., Mrs. G. S. Brenholtz, Mrs. Claude Miller, Mrs. A. B. Brown, Mrs. Floyd Welch, Mrs. R. Nall, Mrs. Ed Stevens, Mrs. Bill Holbert, Mrs. A. W. Dillon, Mrs. Walker Bailey.

Girls trying out for cheerleader met Tuesday and Thursday nights in the auditorium to practice. They were Joe Welch, Myrna Talley, Fay Ree Price, Margie McDougale, Jann Bailey, Frances McClain, Peggy Knight, Bobbie Jamison, Mary Ann Moore, Betty Sewell, Cecil Niblett, Dene Choate, Rosemary Lawson, Leona Lancaster and Frances Walker.

Best wishes to Ben Hitt and Dolores Sneed, who are now engaged. Dr. Hunt and Mr. Keese were at Mineral Wells Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for a conference on teacher training in secondary and college work.

Mrs. Myrtle Eller brought four books to the library this week. Mrs. Eller is a member of the bacteriology class and is one of several who has donated books to the college library.

Charles Smith brought a new kind of shrimp native to Howard County by the biology department

Monday. This shrimp, grown in a fresh water stock tank near Lomax, was identified as a philopods or a fairy shrimp in a species of apus lucasanus. West Texas is a strange place indeed!

A special snapshot contest will be featured Field Day, November 21. This is one contest that you don't want to miss. For more information, watch The Herald.

The Lass-O's will be featured in a play, "Careers in Agriculture," on Field Day. The play was written by Grayford Auten and Frances Walker.

M-Sgt. Preston Hurd of WAFB, who was accidentally vaccinated for fowl pox and Newcastle disease last week when the bacteriology class visited at Fisher's Fowl Farm, so far has developed symptoms of neither disease. It seems that Sergeant Hurd was part of a team of two who chose to vaccinate 250 chickens. His job was to hold the bird while Mrs. Alice Haynes stuck the double-barreled needle through the chicken's wing.

In the course of operation she accidentally jabbed his arm with the needle not once but four separate times.

(Please note on his shot record, WAFB, that he has been vaccinated for these two rare diseases.)

The speech class toured the radio stations Tuesday afternoon to learn how a radio broadcast is given and to understand better the system of radio speaking.

Cheer leaders for the coming basketball season were elected Friday morning in a group assembly.

Those elected were Jann Bailey, Myrna Talley, Bobbie Jamison, Cecil Niblett, Mary Ann Moore, Dene Choate, Rosemary Lawson, Margie McDougale and Becca Sewell.

Mr. Johnson, the educational director, has been on the sick list this week.

Johnny Berry and Charles Warren have been visitors at the college this week.

MR. AND MRS. JOE MOSS AND JOE DAVID

Building Model Ships Mr. Moss' Way Is Art

Shipbuilding might not seem to be a very fruitful occupation in West Texas, but as a hobby it has lots of possibilities, at least when the ships are models as the ones Joe Moss builds are.

He's especially proud of the scale model of the minesweeper Grosbeak, a ship in the mine squadron fleet for two years. He was a lieutenant (junior grade) on the staff of the commander of Mine Squadron 4, U. S. Atlantic fleet.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss and son, Joe

David, 21 months old, moved here from Abilene and are living at 1213 Pickens.

Mr. Moss' model shipbuilding approaches the artistic since he doesn't rely on special kits or other short cuts. He just starts with a block of wood and starts carving.

He worked on the Grosbeak model for over a year. No wonder he looks a little apprehensive when Joe David becomes intrigued with its moving parts.

Among the many other models Mr. Moss has made is one of the Mayflower.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss met while they were students at the University of Texas, from which he received his B. B. A. and L.L.B. degrees. Now he is an attorney for Cosden Petroleum Corp. in the land and lease department.

Before that he was an attorney for the state in Abilene.

Though both the Mosses are native Texans — from Austin — Mrs. Moss also took some college work in Illinois, at Northwestern University.

The Mosses' sports interests are golf and tennis. Both enjoy photography and have a dark room to do their own developing. Mrs. Moss does some oil painting and in college belonged to the Curtain Club, a drama organization.

We hope these two talented amateur artists find lots of opportunity to pursue all their interesting hobbies during their residence in Big Spring.

Gaining Or Losing Weight Can Be Fun For Children

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Gaining or losing weight by controlling the amount of food eaten can be a game for children.

Winning may mean that a boy will be a better ball player; that a girl will look well in the sweaters and skirts she admires most on her school chums.

Making dieting fun for children who have feeding or dietary problems is one of the major functions of a diet clinic at the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago, Ill.

The dietitian talks with the mothers of young patients who are referred to her by the doctors, and works with the children themselves when they are old enough to share in the responsibility for what they eat.

Children with diabetes learn how to select the kinds and amounts of food they can have. They learn about the use of insulin. Then they can eat their meals at the family table and have many of the foods children like. Parents are helped to understand how important it is to serve meals at regular intervals for these children particularly, and the importance of not separating a diabetic child from others in the family.

The main room in which diet conferences are held at the Chicago hospital has a cabinet for toys, coloring sheets, check sheets on foods, and a small table where children are taught "games of good food."

Charts show the good food a child should eat. There is a clock which tells the time that children in other lands eat their meals. A "toys" story on the "healthy teeth trail" draws the interest of small boys.

Mothers may obtain guides listing the best food buys of the month, as well as well-balanced meals, and the foods from which to choose to meet nutritional requirements.

If a child's condition makes it necessary for him to continue to come to the clinic for a long period, the dietitian continues to guide his eating habits as he grows.

Young patients referred from the cardiac clinic or the dental clinic, or those with kidney disease, do not find it such a chore to stay on a special diet, when a friendly dietitian takes an interest in planning with them and in making a game out of the business of eating correctly.

And mothers whose children have a condition which does require special attention to diets can feel an extra degree of confidence in checking their own meal planning in regular conferences with the clinic dietitian.

Research has long since shown that good nutrition plays a most important part in building strong, healthy bodies. Having such facilities as the Chicago dietary clinic available to help parents, and most worthwhile community service.

Faithful Workers Hold Business Meet

The Faithful Workers Class of the E. 4th St. Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. O. O. Oliver, Mrs. R. S. Peterson was co-hostess.

Mrs. Robert Smith gave the opening prayer and Mrs. Troy Harrell gave the devotion on giving thanks. Mrs. Mabel Redwine was in charge of the business session.

Each member answered roll call with a Bible verse. Mrs. Oliver was recognized for her participation in the organization for the month of October. Mrs. Harrell closed the meeting with a prayer.

The table setting featured a Halloween theme. Eight members were present.

Doris Cardin To Wed Bob Frizzell

GARDEN CITY (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cardin of El Dorado, Ark., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Doris, to Bob Frizzell of Odessa.

The wedding is planned for Nov. 14.

The couple are graduates of Garden City High School and were active in sports there. Miss Cardin is employed at present by the Lion Oil Co. in El Dorado.

Following the wedding the couple will be at home in Odessa where the prospective bridegroom is employed by the Samedan Oil Co.

Radio Station Has Children's Party

Thirty local children attended a Halloween party Saturday morning at radio station KTXC in connection with their children's show, "Hey Ho, Mac, What Time You Got?" The children were presented gifts.

They heard an original Halloween song written by Lorena Brooks and a fairy tale written about Big Spring by Harry Preston.

School Lunch Program

The Department of Agriculture reports that last year 1,600,000,000 meals were served to about 10 million children in 57,000 schools participating in the National School Lunch Program.

Recapture Waste Space In Closet

AP Newsfeatures
The inside of a closet door often presents waste space which the home handyman can easily recapture for neat storage of hats and shoes.

A shoe rack is one of the easiest contrivances to build. It can be planned like an inverted triangle to form a trough.

To fit most doors, two pieces of hardboard, 12 inches wide and 26 inches long will fill the bill. End pieces of the trough are formed with 2-inch lumber cut into triangles having two 12-inch sides and another of about 14 inches.

One panel of the hardboard is placed adjacent to the door, while the other forms a slanting platform which holds the shoes.

About 3/4 inches from the door side of the platform a strip of 1 by 1 wood is fastened to provide a rest to hold the heels of shoes.

The hat rack is no more complicated. It is constructed of three pieces of 1 by 2 inch lumber, 12 inches long; two panels of 3-16-inch hardboard, each 10 inches wide and 26 inches long. These parts are fitted together to form a long box 2 inches wide.

Semi-circles are cut into the forward piece of hardboard with a scroll saw or coping saw to provide two shapes for the hats. The hat crowns will fit into these semi-circles, while the brims will be suspended in the box and prevented from curling.

Pretty Lace Jacket Ideal Shower Gift

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The holiday bride will be sitting pretty if she has a delicate lace bed jacket designed for lazy Sunday breakfast-in-bed or a bit of relaxed bedtime reading.

If the bridal shower circuit has your piggy bank squealing for help, take a tip from your local sewing center experts and use your sewing machine to stitch up a glamorous bed jacket for the next Miss-to-Mrs. on your list.

Only a yard and a half of lace is required for the feminine jacket pictured. Line it with silk in her favorite color, or, for elegant coordination, to match the color scheme of her new bedroom. Flowers cut from the lace ruffle the throat, spill down the front and edge the three-quarter sleeves, while a narrow bow closes off neckline.

When selecting lace for this jacket, be sure to choose a pattern with a definite flower motif to cut out.

Applique lace on collar flaps, sleeve edges, bottom edge of jacket and back neck facing. If you have a swing-needle sewing machine, you can applique the lace by placing the area to be stitched in a hoop and setting the needle at No. 1 light. If you have a straight-needle sewing machine, replace presser foot with razzag attachment and set attachment guide at 1/4 before stitching.

For a warmer jacket, brushed nylon edged in lace bands is pretty and unusual.

For free directions for three bed jackets, write to: Laco Institute, 311 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Your Old Furniture Takes On New Charm

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Make it over, but don't be cute about it.

That's the advice of Henry Lionel and Ottilie K. Williams in their book "New Rooms for Old" (Harper and Brothers).

Almost at once they endear themselves to the reader with this practical viewpoint. Most of us have seen — as they point out in the book — "the transformation of weird and ugly furniture into usable pieces of taste and various degrees of attractiveness." But they caution us against carrying the adaptation too far.

Sure it is fine to use one or two brilliant make-over ideas in your house. But copper wash boilers or racks are still wash boilers and fish kettles, and look it. A towel rack with newspapers draped over it in place of towels is still "no fit companion piece for an armchair," according to the authors.

They also do not relish the fad of turning old riding boots, coffee grinders and churns into lamp bases, cradles into planters or cabinet's benches into coffee tables.

But they do believe that many old time things can be made into new and usable items, providing good judgement is used.

They abhor the freakish, cheap or blatant touch in home furnishings such as giant initials on towels or linen, fish or mermaids on bathroom walls and names on kitchen counter chair backs.

But they do stress and offer many ideas on make-do and make-over in the home within the realm of good taste. Beds, they suggest, are among the easiest pieces of furniture to remodel and salvage. You can either take a bed with no headboard and paint a panel on the wall for a decorative touch. Or you can build a shelf arrangement to straddle the head of the bed, incorporating book shelves, radio and reading light.

Old Victorian beds can be rejuvenated by switching the footboard to take the place of the over-sized headboard which is lopped off.

Cast iron beds can be transformed by sawing out everything between the two head posts and inserting a new head board of decorative wood, and finish with paint.

The authors also point out that in recent years many old sofas have sacrificed their backs to become headboards for beds. These are well worth the effort, giving the advantage of having a handsome and distinctive bed at a fraction of the normal cost. Here's how:

Locate an old Victorian or Louis XV or other sofa with a good back at auctions or junk shops. In order to get it at a good price, chances are the sofa seat will be in bad condition. But don't worry about that. All you want is the back, so you should get it cheap.

All you do then is get a pair of stub legs attached to the bottom of the sofa-back to lift it to the required height. If you use a spring mattress with casters you may have to attach a frame of boards into which the spring will fit and get support. If you plan to insert a headless-type bed into that sofa-back niche, attach a wooden bracket to the legs of the sofa back. Then it should be able to stand up without any support. Push your bed (with legs or casters) into the slot. The bed should slide over this bracket, helping to hold the back firm.

In some instances the molded board or apron that runs along the front edge of the sofa seat may be attached with screws to the bottom of the back frame to raise it up (as illustrated). Stub legs are then attached to lift it to the required height.

Use cold water for washing cooking utensils that have had dough or milk, egg or cheese mixtures in them. Once you've freed them of food particles, you can go ahead and wash them in hot water as usual.

Here Are Tips For Making Junior Bathe—And Like It

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Junior needs all the good grooming tips Mom can muster up if he is an average little boy.

Most little lads have an aversion to soap and water. You can't wheedle them to cleanliness as you can Sis by such remarks as "a bath will make you prettier" or "a shampoo will give you curly locks."

He must be prepared for the time, however, when Mom will depend on him to wash himself. So the thing to determine now is his Cleanliness Quotient. You can almost bet if he is a boy he will not care if his ears or feet ever get a good scrubbing.

If persuasion is needed to get your young man in the mood, here are some suggestions that may prove helpful:

1. His favorite football or baseball player may be used to illustrate cleanliness. Explain how the rules of outdoor sports call for good soapy showers after the game to remove grime picked up on a dirty field.

2. Call his attention to the family cat's grooming habits and how it keeps itself clean by licking its coat at frequent intervals during the day. Let your offspring help when you wash the family puppy, and then invite the animals in to watch your little cowboy take his bath.

3. A small step stool may be used at the tub to make it seem more like a private swimming pool. This calls for an interesting "beach robe" for Junior to don when he leaves the tub.

4. A gay terrycloth bath mit is likely to appeal to a little boy, especially when designs on the mitt change color when they hit soap and water.

5. Little floating toys are bath inducements for most tots. And these may be kept in special bag or hamper right in the bathroom.

6. Other bath-time gimmicks may include an old-fashioned shaving brush and mug like Dad's for Sonny's face washings, a roller towel that may be made simply by sewing snaps on the ends of a full-sized towel, and flipping it over the youngster's towel bar.

Juvenile Delinquency Rate Still Climbing

WASHINGTON — Preliminary increase over 1951 in the number of children appearing before juvenile courts that report to the U. S. Children's Bureau.

It is estimated the police come in contact with about a million boys and girls each year on charges of delinquency.

If the present rate continues, Children's Bureau officials fear, it could easily carry us beyond the peaks reached during World War II, when all-time records in juvenile misbehavior were reached.

For one thing, these officials point out, there will be more children who can become delinquent. The Bureau of the Census reports there eventually will be 42 per cent more children between the ages of 10 and 17 than there are now. Even if the rate of delinquency doesn't go up any further, the Bureau says, we still have good reason to fear that by 1960 about 1 1/2 million boys and girls will be getting into trouble with the law each year.

The things the youngsters do to bring them to the attention of the police range from stealing, destruction of property and running away from home to acts of great violence and brutality—robbery, assault, rape, even murder. And these last types are all too frequent, the Bureau says. The FBI reports 1951 auto thefts by juveniles were up more than half from 1948. Robbery was up 25 per cent, burglary 15, assault 10.

The Children's Bureau and other agencies studying the problem say too little help has been available for these children. More than half the inmates of our prisons for adults, they report, were once juvenile delinquents.

"Given proper treatment when they were still young, those men and women might have become responsible citizens, able to carry their share of our social life," says the Children's Bureau. "We cannot help but feel that society must have failed them. It's up to us not to let the same thing happen to the boys and girls of today who are getting into trouble."

It is a good idea not to hoard old medicines, especially those concocted for someone else. Discard them. Make sure you have essential items however such as gauze and adhesive bandages, aspirin, cotton, antiseptic, thermometer, burn remedy and aromatic spirits of ammonia.

Baby Gift Package

A gimmick for the new mother is a gift package which is delivered to her bedside after baby is born. The sample package contains baby foods, nursing bottles, soap, baby oils, medical supplies, clothes and even toys.

Clean Garden Hose

Your garden hose should be cleaned with a sudsy cloth and rinsed, not left dirty and twisted over the winter. It is a good idea to hang the hose well-coiled against the wall. This helps dry it after each use and the rubber or plastic tubing will last longer.

Revive Brushes

Neglected paint brushes may be brought to life by soaking them in turpentine for a day or two. Bristles may then be washed in warm soapsuds and manipulated gently with fingers or rubbed across a small wash board.

Big Spring Daily Herald 'Hams' Are Certain That Radio Is Here To Stay

Sec. III Big Spring, Texas, Sunday, November 1, 1953 Sec. III

15th University Of Texas President

Dr. Logan Wilson (right) is sworn in as president of the University of Texas by Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Board of Regents during ceremony at Austin. (AP Wirephoto).

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE

Despite the rising popularity of television, there are at least 12 people in Big Spring who claim that it will never take the place of radio.

These people are the "ham" operators who work out of this city. They believe that television has a bright future so far as entertainment is concerned and admit that it has values as yet undetermined. However, they are just as firmly convinced that radio is "here to stay" as a means of communication.

And since they can contact practically any part of the world on a moment's notice, there is something to say for their viewpoint. Amateur radio operators here have contacted points as far as Russia and Japan in times past.

The government joins local amateurs in recognizing the value of radio as a means of communication. This is witnessed by a recent announcement that a loyalty check might be made mandatory before the Federal Communications Commission will issue a license.

"That sounds like the old days," Andy Jones, long-time ham operator of this area, announced. "We used to be fingerprinted and photographed before we could get a license. But they stopped that sometime right after the war."

As yet, local radio operators have received no news concerning the loyalty check. The only information they have received is what they have read in an Associated Press dispatch. Most think the check is a good idea.

"It can't do any harm to have mandatory loyalty checks," Jones said. "And it might do a lot of good. Hams are in a position to do untold damage to security in time of war or peace."

Jones pointed out that during the last war, all ham operators were put off the air. They were not allowed back on the airways until after hostilities ended. Reason for this was that vital information could unintentionally be transmitted.

With regular hams off the air, the government had an easier time monitoring for spy stations. However, Jones does not believe many people made illegal radio transmissions then. "I imagine there's been more of it since the war," he said.

Tiny Walton, who along with Jones is a member of the "Old-Timers Club," said that hams aided the government, considerably during the last war in monitoring the airways. Walton is official observer for this area to monitor ham bands.

"If we find someone talking over the air about what our government is doing, we cite him to regulations in a friendly manner," Walton said. "And if serious enough, reports are made to government agencies."

Both Jones and Walton have held a license for over 20 years, which entitles them to membership in the "Old-Timers Club." Jones has a call sign that's really an old-timer. It is W5AW. All others here have three letters following the numeral.

Other operators and their call signs are Clyde Benjamin, W5SHS; Joe Connally, W5PKD; Ruth Walton, W5TGS; Joe Dawes, W5WBK; Bob Lebkowsky, W5NUJ; Haynes Howell, W5ISD; Dick Hooper, W5ZZF; Ben Jernigan, W5LAP; Capt. Van Foster, W5SYW; Tiny Walter, W5ROH and Dr. W. A. Hunt, W5JEE. Several other amateurs are stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

The operators explained that international contact is made by "Q" signals. These signals mean the same thing in every language, and there are enough of them so that people not understanding the same language can communicate easily.

It is necessary that all "hams" be familiar with code work (dot-dash signals). In fact this is a requirement before a license can be issued. It is also a necessity for foreign communication by "Q" signals.

While "hams" are in the business primarily as a hobby, they would play a vital role in case of an emergency. These operators have one means of communication that it would be next to impossible to stop. Such is not always the case with telephone or teletype.

In Big Spring, the "hams" gather periodically for meetings of the Big Spring Amateur Radio Club. And through this club they have been assigned definite posts in the civil defense and disaster plans of the area.

Jones is emergency coordinator of the radio operators in case of disaster here. He works in conjunction with the Howard-Glasscock Chapter of the American Red Cross in such instances. In time of war, his group would work in cooperation with the Mayor and County Judge in civil defense.

An emergency network is already in operation here, and it is hooked up with the officially designated Northwest Texas Section. This section is bounded on the west by Midland, on the north by Wichita Falls. In case of an emergency here, any other "ham" in the area could be reached over the special network.

Lubbock is the network headquarters, and special drills are held every Sunday morning when all hams get on the designated frequency—3850 kilocycles. Jones says that simulated emergency tests are also run here periodically.

During the recent tornado in San Angelo, several of the local amateurs were on the air the first night when it was impossible to get through by telephone. Jones explained that it is unlawful for the radio connections to be made so long as telephone and teletype are functioning.

Two mobile emergency radio rigs are operated here by Walton and Benjamin. And in case of tornado or other disaster, these two rigs could be placed into immediate operation at the scene of trouble. The mobile radios do not have much power, but they do have enough to suffice until other arrangements could be made with a stationary rig.

The radio club here also has a 750 watt, one cylinder gasoline generator to furnish power for a station. This unit could fit into the back of a car where it could be attached to the club's transmitter and portable antenna. This way if power was knocked out, the radio transmission could still go on.

Operation of the radio equipment is not nearly so difficult as

Owl, Though Thief, Is Left To Go Free

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Scrapper, a young owl, was lounging in his favorite maple tree in Central Park. Below a bakery truck had stopped.

As the driver got out to deliver an armload of bread to a nearby grocery, down came Scrapper in a powerdrive.

His victim, scattering bread in all directions, didn't appreciate the attention and flattened Scrapper with a blow to the head.

Patrolman Paul McMahan hauled the owl into police headquarters.

Despite badly scratched lips, Arnold Bour, the owl's victim, didn't press charges. So Scrapper, it being Halloween and all, was returned to Central Park.

Markets To Close

NEW YORK (AP)—Markets in New York will be closed election day, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Meat Industry Men View Supports Coldly

CHICAGO, Oct. 31 (AP)—Meat industry men are taking quite a cool view of any proposed cattle price support program.

No new program has been advanced, for one thing, and until it is "we have nothing to stick our teeth into," one said.

Another noted there already is some support in the market through government purchases of beef and beef products. Since July 1, these purchases have been around 200 million pounds, nearly 23 million last week alone.

These purchases go into export channels through the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) for utility grade carcass beef and into school lunch and other domestic programs for canned beef and hamburger.

This kind of program met with approval by one source who said consumption is the only safe way to remove beef from the market. To set any kind of storage program, he said, would run into losses because of spoilage and deterioration.

On the other hand, it was noted, if price support were tried at the live cattle level it would almost certainly call for compulsory grade and yield requirements which would carry through from the ranch to the feedlot to the stockyards and possibly quotas or allocations broken down by regions, market areas and finally farms or ranches.

Some commented there is more concern about cattle prices now than previously because the country is in the middle of the heavier marketing season which set in around Sept. 15 and is likely to have tapered off by Dec. 15.

The current slaughter of beef is the highest since 1947 and comes after a general drop in prices extending over the last 18 months.

H. M. Conway, director of research for the National Livestock Producers Assn., predicts higher prices late this winter and early in the spring. He said consumers would be paying higher prices for better grades of finished beef and that a seasonal shortage of lower grades and classes also is in prospect.

"The comeback in the cattle market should be more pronounced before Jan. 1 and continue on a strong basis during the winter and early spring," said Conway.

The Illinois Agricultural Assn. said also that profit margins in prospect for cattle feeders likely would encourage greater beef finishing operations and a consequent better demand for feeder replacement cattle.

The farm organization said it was generally opposed to supporting cattle prices, for one reason because it felt such a program would be "impossible to administer."

Sportsman Dies

FORT WORTH (AP)—Fred Brownling, 62, widely known sportsman and operator of Top O'Hill Ter, race in Arlington, died early Friday.

Agent Believes County To Make 10,000 Bales

County Agent Durward Lewter, who this week toured Howard County farms and ranches for the first time since being hospitalized nearly a month ago, estimates the county cotton crop at 10,000 bales.

That's a thousand bales higher than the estimate of the local Texas Employment Commission which compiles weekly estimates on the basis of ginning reports.

Lewter says best cotton in the county is around Coahoma, Donald Lay and E. T. O'Daniel each have fields part of which yield a bale per acre the agent believes. Average for all of the cotton on the two farms probably will be less than a half bale per acre, however.

October rains have caused some late cotton to load up and an extremely late frost probably would boost production considerably, according to the county agent.

Lewter said principal benefit ranchers will realize from the rains will be the growth of small grains. Winter weeds also are growing, but the growing season now is too short for grasses to attain much growth.

Robinson Will Exhibit Steer At Baltimore

"Big Spring Again" will be contending for top honors at the Eastern National Livestock Show in Baltimore this week.

"Big Spring Again" is the Lloyd Robinson steer which was reserve champion of the American Royal in Kansas City a few days ago and Robinson has announced that the animal is entered in open class at the Eastern National.

Howard County has had a grand champion and reserve champion in the Eastern National in the past two years. Edgar Allen Phillips won the grand championship in 1951 and Sue White showed the reserve champ last year.

Robinson was winner of the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago in 1950, and will enter "Big Spring Again" in the International this year in case he doesn't win the Baltimore title.

The former 4-H Club leader will leave Big Spring Nov. 9 and his steer will be shown in the Baltimore ring Nov. 17. A Howard County 4-H Club member probably will make the trip with Robinson—as a spectator. Durward Lewter, county agent, said Saturday.

Next big show for local 4-H Clubbers is the International. Six entries have been made in the club division of the Chicago show. Due to leave for the exposition Nov. 21 are steers owned by Delbert Davidson, Sue White, Lorin McDowell, James Cauble, Darrell Robinson and Jane Blissard. Sifting is scheduled for Nov. 28, and the animals will be shown on Nov. 23 and 30 and Dec. 1.

people imagine, Jones pointed out. "Anyone with a will to learn how to do the work can become a ham."

At present, he says there is a shortage of people wishing to learn the hobby. "If we can find someone that really wants to learn, we'll teach him," Jones said. However, most people don't buckle down long enough to become a full-fledged operator.

Those interested in becoming "hams" could contact club members and would find help and advice plentiful. To become a novice, an individual must take five words of code per minute, and to get the highest license he must take 20 words per minute.

A radio transmitting station of the "ham" type can be put into operation from between $50 and $100, and the cost can go just as high as the individual wishes to pay.

Economy Of 5 States Is Now Near Capacity

DALLAS, Oct. 31 (AP)—The economy of five Southwestern states is operating near capacity, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas said today.

The business review covered Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arizona.

Retail sales—rose 3 per cent in September above August, which is substantially less than usual for the month and 7 per cent below those of September, 1952.

Cotton—Bumper crop in the central, northern and eastern parts of the district. Near-record yields were reported in Central and East Texas and in Northern Louisiana.

Construction—Contracts up sharply from August, resulting from a big increase in non-residential building.

Banking—Member banks showed an increase in all principal assets and liability accounts during the four weeks ended Oct. 21. Loans rose 28 million dollars, reflecting a seasonal demand for credit.

Stratojet Bombers To Be In Maneuvers

RABAT, French Morocco, Oct. 31 (AP)—Forty-five of the U.S. Air Force's new B47 Stratojet bombers will participate in mass air maneuvers in North Africa early next month. The bombers belong to the 50th Medium Bomb Wing, commanded by Col. Elliot Vandevanter Jr. of Baltimore.

Shipments Okayed

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct. 31 (AP)—Josef Cardinal Frings, archbishop of Cologne, has announced that the Communist East German government will permit the shipment of Christmas aid supplies to needy Roman Catholics in the Soviet zone.

Honorary Degree

MONTREAL, Oct. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will deliver the Eighth Annual War Memorial address and receive an honorary LL. D. degree at Macdonald College Nov. 6.

Texas Coca-Cola Officers Are Noted Civic Workers

Fate decreed that E. R. (Gene) McDaniel go to work as a youngster when his father died and he's been busy ever since.

Today at 76 he's president of the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and directs varied business interests.

And through the 65 years he's had his shoulder to the wheel, he has kept one good eye on the Lord's work.

"The Lord was with us and we had average success," he says of an early-day contracting venture in Fort Worth.

The Lord blessed not only the contracting business, but has blessed him ever since, if his success is a criterion.

S. M. Jay couldn't have had a better beginning to assure success.

He was reared on a small farm where he learned the necessity and dignity of hard work.

Now secretary-treasurer of the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Mr. Jay is known throughout West Texas for his devotion to the Methodist Church and McMurry College.

He wouldn't admit it, but it might not be too much an exaggeration of fact, if any, to say that without Mr. Jay and his wife, there might not be a McMurry College today.

He was one of those instrumental in its founding, and certainly no one has played a stronger part than he in its growth over its full 20-year span.

Building designs and blueprints battle with bottling problems in the mind of Raymond McDaniel, vice president of The Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

He was the one who conceived the plan for the beautiful bottling plant here in Big Spring which the public along with the bottlers from Texas and Oklahoma will see at the opening.

Construction problems are no small part of management in a company as large as McDaniel's.

Raymond McDaniel is the son of the late J. Soule McDaniel, the first president of the company.

Plans for the new plant were on the drawing boards eight months. Then McDaniel flew them to Atlanta, headquarters of The Coca-Cola Co., where the firm's engineering staff suggested some minor changes.

Then the plans were turned over to the architect for engineering and to the contractor to build.

"We never hired contractors to do our construction years ago," Raymond McDaniel recalled. "Mr.

Jarrett, an old Joplin, Mo. boy heeded the call of an uncle to come to West Texas and take a bookkeeping job with the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

Young Jarrett began an association on April 1, 1920, with the company that continues to this day. Now he is general manager of the company.

Jarrett was born May 31, 1900, in Aurora, Mo. In the lead and zinc mining country, his family moved to Joplin, Mo. when he was five, and there he stayed until coming to Texas at the age of 20.

He was educated in the Joplin public schools and in 1918 entered the Student Army Training Corps at the State Manual Training Normal at Pittsburg, Kansas.

After World War I he returned to Joplin to work for a cement company and later a mercantile firm as a bookkeeper. He had learned bookkeeping in high school and through correspondence courses.

After a year as a bookkeeper in Abilene, the Coca-Cola firm sent Jarrett to Cisco in 1921 where he worked under E. R. McDaniel, now president of the bottling company.

Nib Shaw is one of Abilene's busiest civic leaders who somehow finds time also to be the Abilene manager of the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

His current commanding interest is the Chisholm Trail Boy Scout Council, of which he is president.

But the past two decades have seen his hand in countless church, community and charitable endeavors.

Shaw was born Feb. 3, 1896 in Waco, where his father, L. F. Shaw, was a farmer.

But the family moved to Stamford in 1905 and it was there that Nib spent his boyhood and received his education.

The elder Shaw ran a grocery store in Stamford, and Nib recalls that work in the store after school and during summer vacations took up all his spare time. It also established good work habits on which to build later success.

After graduating from Stamford High School in 1915, young Shaw studied in Roberts Business College at Stamford (now extinct) in 1915 and 1916.

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—September business in Texas regained 1 per cent of the ground lost during the midsummer lull. The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

Director John Stockton said most of the improvement was at the consumer level, barely offsetting weakness in the industrial segments.

Urban building permits climbed 22 per cent. Freight carloadings were up 5 per cent. Retail sales edged up 1 per cent.

Losses recorded included electric power consumption 6 per cent, crude runs to stills 5, oil production 4, and industrial electric power consumption 5.

Stockton said the business activity followed both the national and state pattern of the past few months.

"Although consumer income in general remains high and consumers are continuing to spend it rather freely, business investment in both capital goods and inventory shows signs of slowing down, and government expenditures are being cut back," he said in the bureau's publication, the Texas Business Review.

Mother, Baby Doing Fine But Not Rest Of Family, Friends

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mother and baby are doing nicely—but the rest of the family... Mrs. Stanley Smith, 21, started it all off by telling her husband she was going to have her baby in a little while. Smith took it from there.

He and friend Anthony Luce took off in Luce's convertible to get a doctor.

Too late, the baby arrived—so Smith's brother Charles took off in his car to get Smith. He found him at the doctor's office delivered the message and started back home. Halfway there he collided with a Reading Railroad freight train.

Along came Stanley and Luce in the other car and brother Charles hopped in and away they went—for two blocks, where Luce's machine collided with an oil truck, then with a tractor trailer, then caught fire.

Police and firemen arrived, extinguished the blaze, and saw brother Charles off to Northeast Hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries.

P. S. It was a girl.

Seven Texans Lose Lives In Hunting Accidents This Fall

AUSTIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Seven Texans have been killed in hunting accidents this year. The deer, turkey, waterfowl and quail seasons are yet to come.

Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen of the Texas Game Commission said today the fatalities have occurred since July 1.

Dodgen urged careful observance of safety rules, particularly when hunters open the waterfowl season at noon Friday.

One of the seven killed was a Pampa big game hunter, shot by another in Colorado.

Other deaths: A Luella squirrel hunter, who either stumbled or pulled his gun through a fence toward himself; a Fort Stockton hunter killed by own gun; an Orange man killed when his gun fired while being dragged through brush; a Ranger woman killed by a boy, 10, while squirrel hunting; a Sandia rabbit hunter killed by own gun; a Corrigan man killed by own gun while climbing fence.

Dodgen reminded duck hunters of the waterfowl rules, which have two changes this year. The daily shooting period was extended until sunset, and baiting was forbidden completely.

Other major rules: Season—from noon Nov. 6 through Jan. 4; hours—from one half hour before sunup to sunset; duck bag limit—five per day or ten in possession; geese bag limit—five per day or five in possession, including not more than either two Canada geese or two white-fronted geese, or one of each.

Use of rifles to kill waterfowl is forbidden. Guns must not exceed ten gauge, and all repeaters or automatics must be plugged to a limit of three-shell capacity.

Ducks or geese may be taken from outboard motor boat provided the motor is removed from boat and placed inside the boat, or the boat is secured to a shooting blind.

The $2 federal duck stamp is required. The general state hunting license is $2.15.

Dodgen said recent rains improved prospects for a fairly good distribution of duck and geese flights over Texas.

Reports from the north indicate most waterfowl are tarrying there because of mild weather.

Although bamboo is a tropical plant, some species are found in temperate climates.

New Bottling Plant Sets Formal Opening

The Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Company will celebrate completion of its new $275,000 plant in Big Spring with an open house event Thursday.

In addition to the open house, the company will be host to visiting bottlers from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Coca Cola's new Big Spring plant is located on West Highway 80 on the north side of the highway, and about four blocks west of the road leading to Webb Air Force Base.

Located on a plot of ground approximately 268 by 385 feet, the new building sprawls over the equivalent of a city block. Approximately 4,000 square feet are devoted to the offices, some 5,000 square feet to the bottling department, 1,000 square feet to an upper deck or mezzanine, 1,500 square feet to a basement and the balance of 18,000 square feet to the warehouse and working area.

In addition there is an auxiliary steel building of about 3,500 square feet devoted to the housing of advertising materials, making a total of about 33,000 square feet under roof.

Also there is a paved working area of approximately 48,000 feet. The imposing front of the building is brick, with face brick of a pattern used extensively by Coca Cola bottling plants. The balance of the building is of tilt-up concrete slab construction, which is particularly popular in West Texas.

In the bottling room, the filler, syringe, crowner, water cooler and carbonator are enclosed in an air-conditioned area, providing an even temperature the year around for water and syrup flow.

The contract of the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Company includes a 26-county area in West Texas. The vast enterprise, with headquarters in Abilene, serves a region stretching from Midland and Lamesa on the west to Hamilton and Stephenville on the east and north to Spur and Seymour. The Big Spring plant serves an area including Midland, Lamesa and Colorado City. Warehouses are maintained at Midland and Lamesa.

Three Civil Suits Are Set For Trial

Three civil suits have been set for trial in 118th District Court this week and a 60-man petit jury panel has been summoned for 10 a.m. Monday.

Set for Monday are two cases, Edwin Havins vs Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, suit for compensation, and Leonard West vs Art Tucker et al, damages. Scheduled for Thursday is trial of the suit styled Otto Couch et al vs W. O. Henderson et al.

Petition in the latter asks that mechanic and materialmen's liens against the Temple Baptist Church be set aside.

Runaway Girl Found

A 15-year-old girl who ran away from her home in Big Spring Thursday morning was located in Laredo Friday. A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, reported. She was apprehended as she arrived by bus in Laredo and has been returned to her parents.

She Wants Mink

"The Lady Wants Mink" and how! In the above scene Dennis O'Keefe is showing a mink to Ruth Hussey, the lady who wants mink so badly. The film shows Wednesday and Thursday at the State.

Ferber Novel To Screen

"So Big," film to show at the Ritz today and Monday is Edna Ferber's story of a woman and her son. Sterling Hayden plays Pervus De-Jong and Jane Wyman plays Selina, his wife. Steve Forrest, not shown above, plays the son.

Jane Powell And Farley Granger In 'Small Town Girl'

Jane Powell and Farley Granger appear together for the first time in the MGM Technicolor musical, "Small Town Girl," which shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz. The film boasts a number of songs and has Bobby Van and Ann Miller in dance numbers. Nat King Cole appears in the film to sing "My Flaming Heart." About 37 per cent of the continent of Europe is farm land; about 10 per cent of North America is farmable; and smaller percentages of other continents can be farmed.

Musical Extravaganza

Ferber's 'So Big' Is Current Ritz Picture

"So Big," the Warner Bros. film adapted from the Pulitzer Prize winning novel of Edna Ferber, is the Ritz attraction for today and Monday. Jane Wyman has the part of Selina, the school teacher who marries Pervus DeJong, a handsome giant of the soil, while teaching school in the country. In time a son is born, named Dirk but called "So Big" by the fond mother. When the son is eight years old, the father dies and Selina is left to run the farm alone. She is not afraid of hard work, however, and has many ideas for improving the farm that she could never put into practice while her husband was alive. From the money she makes off her farm produce, she is able to send son Dirk, played by Steve Forrest, to the university to study architecture. Badly spoiled, the son becomes more and more of a snob and Selina sees herself losing the "So Big" of her dreams. When artist Dallas O'Mara, played by Nancy Olson, comes into Dirk's life, he experiences real love. Through his love for Dallas, he is drawn from his business career back to architecture, his first love. The musical score for the film was composed by Max Steiner.

'It Came From Outer Space' Is Science-Fiction In 3-D

"It Came From Outer Space," State Theatre film which began its run with a midnight showing Saturday and runs through Tuesday, is a science-fiction film in three-dimensional. A strange light flashes across the desert skies and scientist Richard Carlson and school teacher Barbara Rush hurry to see what it is. They believe it to be a rocket ship which has buried itself in a huge crater. Further investigations are thwarted when the strange object is buried in a landslide. When townspeople arrive on the scene they fail to believe the "incredible" story. Before long, however, they are forced by the strange happenings and uncanny noises to admit that there might be something to what the young couple has to say. Carlson discovers that the "visitors" from the space ship have left their craft and that they have the ability to go about as almost invisible mist or to take various forms including that of human beings. He becomes convinced that they have kidnaped several townspeople and substituted themselves in their places. Suddenly Miss Rush disappears and "he" sheriff accepts the scientist's theory and moves into action. The film was adapted from a story by Ray Bradbury, who is widely known in the science-fiction writing field. Others in the cast besides Carlson and Miss Rush include Charles Drake as the sheriff and Russell Johnson, Kathleen Hughes, and Joseph Sawyer. The film is a Universal-International release.

'Because Of You' Due At Terrace Drive-In

Loretta Young plays a mother in "Because of You," film showing Thursday and Friday at the Terrace Drive-In. In the film she loses, for a time, both her child and her husband. Jeff Chandler plays the part of the husband and others in this Universal-International film are Alex Nicol and Frances Dee.

Rock Hudson Is Star Of Arctic Action Picture

A famous novel of the Far North comes to the screen in "Back to God's Country," film adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's book. The film, made in Technicolor by Universal-International, plays Friday and Saturday at the Ritz Theatre. Rock Hudson has the part of Captain Peter Keith and Marica Henterson plays his wife, Dolores. Steve Cochran plays Paul Blake, a local trader who has designs on Mrs. Keith. A letter from the Canadian government advises that all cargo vessels must remain at present anchorages for inspection. This leaves the Keiths sitting in the remote harbor of Franklin Bend in their ship, the Flying Moon, with a valuable cargo of 15. Mrs. Keith discovers that the letter is a forgery by Blake. Keith's leg is broken in a fight and his only hope of being saved lies in a five-day trip by dog-sled to Fort Simpson. This dramatic trip, fraught with danger both from nature and the Keiths' enemies, is a climax of the film. One of the stars of the film is not human, One of the big parts in the show, if little in the way of dialogue, goes to a Great Dane named Baron. This dog plays the part of Wapi, the dog which became a legendary fighter.

Popular Preacher On KTXC Every Sunday

Born in Fort Worth, and more recently from Decatur, Texas, the Rev. Jack Power of the Trinity Baptist Church of Big Spring has been a popular figure in this city for nearly two years. The Rev. Power's inspired preaching can be heard over KTXC-1400 on your dial—every Sunday night from 8:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. and daily at 7:30 a.m. Rev. Jack, as he is known to his many friends, lives at 608 Birdwell Lane with his wife and four children, three boys and a girl. KTXC has always provided the listening public of Big Spring with as wide an assortment of religious programs on Sundays as possible, and Rev. Power's remote broadcasts from the Trinity Baptist Church provide the listening audience with an inspired reading from the Bible. Listeners are assured of finding their religious needs met each Sunday by staying tuned to KTXC—the 1400 spot on the dial. (Adv.)
