Deciding that if the city of Big Spring desires later to go forward with a water reservoir project it should be in line to get federal help under the PWA program, the city commission Tuesday night instructed City Manager E. City Expenditures Kept Under Budget

Outgo For 9 Months $12 Under Appropriations

Although, due to capital outlay not anticipated, the city of Big Spring overran its budget for the month of December, the municipality finished the nine-month period ending December 31, 1935, with expenditures $12,000 under the budget appropriations.

Revenues $140,992.61 Total expenditures for the nine months were $97,732.47, against a budget appropriation of $37,744.50. Revenues aggregated $140,992.61, this figure including $78,675.94 in water and sewer revenues, $26,949.81 in 1935 taxes, $6,636.77 in taxes for the last half of 1934 and $29,292.62 in delinquent taxes.

General fund expenditures for the month of December amounted to $18,237.01, a total of $4,376.51 over budget figures. Again, only the street and parks departments showed an overrun.

The overrun was accounted for in the purchase of four trucks for use in connection with the street paving projects, and the purchase of additional land for park purposes which was not included in the original budget.

Water revenues for December aggregated $6,664.20, $113.66 less than the November total, but $44.54 more than the figure for December, 1934.

Interest Saving Expenditures from the interest and sinking fund amounted to $8,076.70 during December, and to $52,048.07 for the nine-month period. The latter figure included $9,500 for bonds, $6,000 for warrants, and $36,548.07 for interest and exchange.

In addition to the regular expenditures, the city purchased $22,500 of its own bonds during December which were not due until 1932. These were purchased at par with surplus cash, and the deal will result in an interest saving of $14,000 a year.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

AROUND AND ABOUT... GOLF COURSES are once more doing a thriving business.

THE CITY has a very attractive plan worked out for those who swing and golf.

THE NEW year has brought with it new hopes for tennis courts.

THE AP furnishes this sports oddity: Twenty-five per cent of the basketball coaches in the Rocky Mountain conference are Romanys.

THESE HIGH school basketball games are hard to dope. Either Odessa has had a bad let-down this past week or George Brown's Steers have improved a couple hundred per cent.

BRAVLY NIX, Forsan basketball coach, plans to take his team to the Big Lake and Garden City tournaments.

TONY ALSO notes that Lamesa has lost only one game to high school teams this season.

REYNOLDS SMITH, who at one time held four major golf titles and was a semi-finalist in the national amateur.

FOR YOU fans who follow the naps, here are the spring racing dates: Epsom Downs at Houston opens Feb. 29 and extends through March 24.

THE INTERSCHOLASTIC league papers, it is said, are basing their contention for a low age limit on the misinformation that certain coaches withhold certain athletes from competition one year in order to use them the next.

Blankenship, Gentry In Austin With Figures For Committee

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (Sp1)—George Gentry and W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring were here this morning with a mass of facts and figures to present to the executive committee of the interscholastic league when they appear before that body this afternoon to protest proposed plan to place Big Spring in football district 1.

Twenty-two teams have been invited to enter the tourney. Those already entered: Klondike, Colorado Jackrabbits, Carr, Dunn, Hi-way, Brown, Big Spring Calves, Garden City, Elbow add Moore A and B teams.

Trophies will go to the winner and runner-up, and to the consolation winner and most outstanding player of the tournament.

TO BE IN OLYMPICS TRY OUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)

The New York University basketball team, despite its string of 17 consecutive victories which is studded with intercollegiate triumphs over California, Purdue and Kentucky, fails to impress many of the experts as the likely winner of the Olympic tryouts.

The set-up for the Olympic tryouts calls for entries. Five teams will qualify from the college group.

The two A.A.U. teams, finalists in the national championship tournament, to be held in Denver for the second straight year, are likely to enjoy too great an advantage over the collegiate players in experience, age and strength.

The N.Y.U. basketball team boasts an amazing record. It went undefeated through a 16-game schedule in 1933-34 and last season lost one game, to Yale, out of 20 played.

The N.Y.U. basketball team has a string of nine consecutive victories. The great team of 1932 certainly boasted no more impressive record.

Of N. Y. U.'s recent victories none pleased Coach Cann half as much as the 41-28 win at Kentucky, scored over the Wildcats of Kentucky, A. J. year ago, when N. Y. U. won from Kentucky on a foul toss, considerable controversy was raised over the decision.

The N. Y. U. aggregation is composed of a group of fast clever ball-handlers. They are sharpshooters, too. But the feature that stamps them out standing above all else is their fine condition.

Coach Adolph Rupp, of Kentucky, was far from satisfied with the way New York officials interpreted the rules, the one on blocking in particular. According to Rupp, his team's attack was built around a formation which permits the blocking or "screening" of a player not in possession of the ball, provided there is no contact.

CALVES ENTER CAGE TOURNEY

MOORE, Jan. 15. (Sp1)—When the starting whistle sounds for the opening of the Moore invitation basketball tournament here Thursday night, the Big Spring Calves will play Carr from Mitchell county.

Following the Big Spring-Carr game, the Howard county women teachers will play the Mitchell county teachers. The evening's windup will be a game between Howard county men teachers and Mitchell county school men.

The Howard county team triumphed over the Mitchell club Saturday night at Colorado, 23-15. George Brown, Ted Phillips, Speedy Moffett, H. F. Rallsback and T. J. Turner composed the winning team, with Brown furnishing the comedy.

Trophies will go to the winner and runner-up, and to the consolation winner and most outstanding player of the tournament. An added attraction will be a girls' game each night. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

MAX SCHEMELING BRAGS OF PUNCHING ABILITY

Says He Will Have Good Chance Against Joe

BERLIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Max Schmeling, the former heavyweight champion, who last night again called Joe Louis "amatuerish," says he will have a "good chance" against the Brown Bomber.

And what is more, the German ex-champion asserts he is welcoming his fight with Louis "to ally the nameless in America that I'm afraid of him."

Schmeling said as much on his return from New York, where he looked over his next opponent, against Paulino Uzcudun, and signed the necessary papers.

His trainer, Max Machon, said much more. To him Max is the "White Hope" Jack Dempsey and others are looking for.

"Max knows his job," Machon proclaimed. "He knows that Louis never has had an opponent who fought systematically and with cold precision."

"He doesn't fear him at all, Louis' fight with Paulino showed nothing. The negro waited for a good chance, and spared his power until then."

"Sports writers in New York think Schmeling hasn't a chance against Louis; there is but one 'White Hope'—that is Max Schmeling. Remember that even the slow Paulino landed two rights to Louis' chin."

"The negro must not let that happen when Max is around," Max's men to that, however, was enigmatic.

"There's an old saying that I believe: It is better to risk and lose than never to risk at all."

Schmeling will cross the Atlantic for the first time in April to begin careful training. He has not yet chosen his training partners or quarters—but he wants "to show the people what's going on."

Rich Stakes

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Santa Anita Handicap, which will have its first renewal in California, Feb. 23, is the world's richest stake to the winner. However, the gross value does not quite reach the $135,000 total the year Whicheston won the Belmont Futurity.

The largest amounts paid to the owners of winners in the world turf fixtures are: Santa Anita, $108,406, won by Anzac.

Belmont Futurity, $105,730, Whicheston. Agua Caliente Handicap, $100,000, Mike Hall. American Derby, $89,000, Boot to Boot. International Special, $89,000, Zev.

Arlington Classic, $76,000, Gusto. Belmont Stakes, $66,040, Gallant Fox. English Derby, $63,975, Call Boy.

Kentucky Derby, $55,575, Reigh Court.

Bernie Puts In Argument

Minnesota Coach Enters Lateral Passing Tiffs

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—Bernie Bierman, who steered Minnesota's Golden Gophers through the last three football campaigns undefeated, refuses to join the chorus against the increased use of the lateral pass under the "delayed whistle" rule.

Many coaches moan over the liberal use of laterals by their own teams, declaring, in effect, "too many times the play ends with the opposition in possession of the ball."

Bierman, however, noted for his power and running plays, made good but sparing use of the lateral. Not once during the 1935 season did Minnesota yield possession on an intercepted lateral. Rather, the Gophers on lateral pass plays scored two touchdowns from kickoffs and five from scrimmage. Another lateralized charge over the goal was called back.

CODSEN DUE TO CONTINUE WINSTREAK

Braves Have Been Slow Rounding Into Top Form

Already holding a 3-1 game advantage over one A. C. C. basketball team, the Codsen Oilers, Big Springs' gift to the basketball world, will tackle another of the Taylor county teams here tonight when they take the court against the McMurry Indians in the high school gymnasium. Tip-off time will be 8 p. m.

The Oilers have dropped two games this season, as many as they lost all during the 1935 season, and they do not intend to add to that loss streak.

Turned Loose On A. C. C. After coming out on the short end of the score against Texas Tech several weeks ago, and dropping a decision to the A. C. C. Wildcats here several weeks ago, the Codsen Oilers turned loose everything to smother the Christian machine last week in Abilene. Their best exhibition of the season was the game at Abilene.

Only lack of strong opposition has kept them from improving. Sandy Chapple, manager of the strong Christian Oilers, turned down an opportunity to play the Oilers, explaining that his club was not capable of giving the Braves a stiff battle, and the Bats have a good reputation along the Concho.

Last season, with a team built around Jack Smith and Jake Morgan, the Codsenites were drubbed by a two-point margin in the season's opener by the Christoval quarter, but the Chapplemen were never able to turn the trick again.

Hans Turner, former Indian basketball coach, will probably see considerable action with the Oilers tonight. The school teacher has asked for an opportunity to get into the game with the Redskins, and Manager Baker may decide to start him.

The Indians have been slow rounding into form, but are expected to develop into a formidable combination late in the season. In their major encounters this season the Braves have been defeated decisively by North Texas Teachers, a team inferior to the majority of clubs in this section of the country.

One of the chief Indian threats is Max Abrams, who alternates at forward center, Anthony and Brookshire combine to produce the Indian offense. Meeks and Miers are regular guards.

SWIMMER BIDS FOR OLYMPICS

By PHIL NEWSOM CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (UP)—On the slim shoulders of a tall 17-year-old high school boy, Adolph Keifer, the United States has pinned its major hope in the backstroke swimming events at the Olympic in Berlin and with it the hope of a sweeping victory over Japan and a world title.

The black-haired youth, who "jerks" sodas for his meals at Roosevelt high school, holds almost a score of backstroke records. On Dec. 21 he set a new world's mark for the 100-yard distance and on Jan. 5 he lowered a 14-year-old national record in the 75-yard event.

He went the route in 67.9 seconds 2.1 seconds below the recognized mark for 100 yards. Swimming Nine Years It's been a long journey for Adolph since that day nine years ago when his father tossed him into Lake Michigan and first taught him how to swim.

Set World Mark It was in the AAU meet at Detroit last summer that he smashed the record. Kojan, a 100-yard meter world backstroke mark. He swam the distance in 1:07.8, breaking the old mark of 1:08.2 which had stood since the 1928 Olympics. That race, which he won after only three days' practice, won for him an invitation to join the American swimmers who recently completed their tour of Europe.

The Detroit meet brought the greatest thrill of Adolph's life. His second came at Bremen, Germany, when he again smashed the 100-meter mark, this time reducing it to 1:04.8.

Asked how he does it, Adolph grins and looks at his feet. "I wear a size 11 shoe now and my feet are still growing," he said. "They act as paddles for me. The rest of it comes through relaxation, a thing every swimmer has to learn. My father taught me that."

The youthful high school star doesn't think that Europe will offer much competition in the swimming events. "Japan will be tough, though," he admits. "They won the championship in 1922, you know."

Steers Stomp Odessa Team

Run Wild Against Broncos; Calves Chalk Up Victory

By HANK HART How the Odessa Broncos defeat the color bearers of the local high school last week will remain a mystery, for the quintet that took the court against George Brown's cagers Tuesday evening proved to be a vastly inferior aggregation to the high flying local quintet.

From the opening whistle, the visitors never had a chance against the Longhorns. Led by Ole Cordill, who can make an average ball club a good ball club, the Steers won by the count of 55-15, with Ole bagging 24 points for scoring honors.

Brown's men put up such a defense that the visitors did not record a field goal until Harold Smith hit the hoop ten seconds before the half ended, and, not until Brown had sent his reserves into the game in the fourth period did the Broncos run up their score.

Weldon Elgony, sophomore forward, turned in a nice performance, ringing up nine points and passing better than a second year man is expected to do.

The count stood at 10-1 at the termination of the first quarter, with Longhorns were out in front, 24-4, at the end of the half, and, boasted a 40-10 advantage at third quarter time.

Cordill found the basket for eleven field goals and two free throws to completely dominate the scoring picture. Tucker was high for the visitors with five points.

Complete Rout To complete the rout, the Big Spring Calves swamped the Coils, Odessa reserve team, in the evening's opener, by the count of 37-7 with several of the boys showing a lot of promise.

Like Cordill in the senior game, E. C. Burris was master of the scene, consistently outjumping his opponent in the center circus and lacking scoring honors for the game with fourteen points.

Burris, although he still has a lot to learn, showed ability in taking the ball down under the basket. Combining with Marvin House and Dick Ray, the young center produced such an offense that the visitors failed utterly in attempts to stem the tide.

WILLIE KLEIN ONE OF BEST TO COMEBACK

Took Up Slack By Winning Famous Miami Open

By TOM PAPROCKI Associated Press Sports Writer Strange how the thread of old Harry Vardon's golf magic runs through the fabric of American golf. Only a few days ago a 100 per cent American, by name Willie Klein, who was born in New Hyde Park, Long Island, demolished all scoring records for south Florida's idyllic classic, won the Miami Open with a score of 272.

It would seem a far cry from Harry of the mammoth hands, to the big blond of Wheatley Hills and Florida—Klein. But there is a direct line of relationship.

Years ago, in old England, Frank Bellwood, was an assistant to Harry. He grew up with the Vardon grip, the special parade of fingers and curiously on a golf shaft, which has become a standard of the world as a golfing grip.

Later Bellwood came to this country and settled on Salisbury Plains, that win swept area of Long Island which comprises several of the country's most famous golf courses, the Garden City Golf Club, the New York Break, Salisbury, Cherry Valley, Garden City Country Club and others, and is also the hub of aviation interest, with Roosevelt Field and Mitchell Field nearby.

As a youngster Klein was apprentice to Bellwood, and developing into a fine stylist, became one of the big hopes of post-war American professional golf. At the age of 21 he won the Long Island Open at Cherry Valley, and repeated the following year at the Garden City Country Club so that he apparently was destined for a prominent place with the rising battalion which included Gene Sarazen, Johnnie Farrell, Leo Diegel and Wild Bill Mehrlorn.

But something went haywire in Klein's machinery and except for meteoric flashes, he languished on the verge of obscurity. Of course, the golfing world will remember one of his most sensational days, that summer afternoon in 1925 at Shawnee when he putted to turn with a mediocre 39, only to rise suddenly to the peak of glory, shooting a spectacular 29 for 36, shooting a spectacular 29 for 36, shooting a spectacular 29 for 36, shooting a spectacular 29 for 36.

But, under only 11 pounds, Whopney is a dangerous threat, though decidedly a "dark horse" in the field. As for the 1935 juveniles, only two of the better ones have been nominated for the Santa Anita. They are The Fighter and Valetorian, and are conceded slight chances of upsetting the handicap stars.

Singing Wood, 1933 juvenile champion; Head Play and Time Supply have won approximately $100,000 each.

Nominations for the Santa Anita indicate that owners consider the event strictly a race for older horses. The only thoroughbred prominent in the 1935 three-year-old campaign nominated is Hal Price-Hoadley's Whopper, which has been dubbed "America's ugliest horse."

But, under only 11 pounds, Whopney is a dangerous threat, though decidedly a "dark horse" in the field. As for the 1935 juveniles, only two of the better ones have been nominated for the Santa Anita. They are The Fighter and Valetorian, and are conceded slight chances of upsetting the handicap stars.

The board of commissioners indicated this Tuesday night, when it gave instructions that no city license is to be issued on machines, ranging from $25 for machines with a final court ruling. The city of Big Spring will not imply any sanction of operation of possibly illegal machines.

Some funny things happened during this championship," said Klein. "I suppose you'd call them coincidences, but all sportsmen believe in rabbit's feet and horseshoes. Six weeks ago Frank Bellwood gave me an old Vardon putter, which he said would improve my play, and I call him a good prophet, for that club certainly worked magic around the greens at Miami Springs."

But here again Klein seemed to lose the victory touch. He has played in every Miami Open since that first day and it was not until a few days ago that he returned to the top. The word "glory" is used advisedly because he qualified the course record with a spectacular 29 in the third round, and ran away from the field with an aggregate score of 272-17 shots better than his winning score of 1925. He had a 32 on one nine and he finished by five shots ahead of Gene Sarazen, himself 4-time winner of the classic.

Six weeks ago Frank Bellwood gave me an old Vardon putter, which he said would improve my play, and I call him a good prophet, for that club certainly worked magic around the greens at Miami Springs."

At the end of the session the letter winners will be called on to vote for one of their number to be awarded the captain's monogram for the year. The plan was agreed upon by members of the squad.

DISCOVERY FAVORED IN HANDICAP

By ROBERT KAY NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)

If one of eight thoroughbred winners the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap near Los Angeles on Washington's birthday he will enter the select circle of horses that have won more than $200,000 during their racing careers.

Not since Equipoise, Twenty Grand and Mate bowed out after trailing Auvar in last year's inaugural of the rich stake American turf seen a horse which has won that much.

The thoroughbreds having a chance to boost their winnings to that total on February 22 are Discovery, Auvar, Cavalcade, Lady's Man, Top Roy, Head Play, Time Supply and Singing Wood. Each is a first class horse and it is extremely likely the winner will come from this group.

Discovery The Favorite Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery, of course, is the favorite to win the Santa Anita, despite his 200 lb impost of 130 pounds. Discovery has won approximately $100,000 during his career, and has won the fastest mile and a quarter—2:01 1/4—of any of the nominees.

Fred M. Alger, Jr., Auvar, surprise winner last year, has earned a total of $135,000, though he has not won a race since his major triumphs, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade, three-year-old champion in 1934, has a total of $125,000.

Lady's Man, which was second to Auvar last year and has a brilliant victory over Equipoise to his credit, was juvenile champion in 1932 and has won $120,000. Top Roy, twice conqueror of Discovery, has won $110,000.

Singing Wood, 1933 juvenile champion; Head Play and Time Supply have won approximately $100,000 each.

Nominations for the Santa Anita indicate that owners consider the event strictly a race for older horses. The only thoroughbred prominent in the 1935 three-year-old campaign nominated is Hal Price-Hoadley's Whopper, which has been dubbed "America's ugliest horse."

But, under only 11 pounds, Whopney is a dangerous threat, though decidedly a "dark horse" in the field. As for the 1935 juveniles, only two of the better ones have been nominated for the Santa Anita. They are The Fighter and Valetorian, and are conceded slight chances of upsetting the handicap stars.

The board of commissioners indicated this Tuesday night, when it gave instructions that no city license is to be issued on machines, ranging from $25 for machines with a final court ruling. The city of Big Spring will not imply any sanction of operation of possibly illegal machines.

Allred Proclaims Special Days On Buying, Housing

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (UP)—Gov. James V. Allred has proclaimed Jan. 13-30 as "Buy It Made in Texas Week" and Jan. 14-8 as "Better Housing Days."

"It is appropriate that during the centennial year every effort should be made to call attention to the merits of Texas industry, agriculture, and manufacturing," Allred observed. "Throughout the state a campaign has been launched to focus the attention of Texas citizens upon the superiority of those products resulting from Texas industry, agriculture and manufacturing."

In connection with "Better Housing Days" Allred noted that federal housing administration meetings at San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, and Houston, the first meeting at San Antonio, began Tuesday and continues to the end of the week.

Midland County Road In Line For Early Contract

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (UP)—Road projects estimated to cost $220,000 were announced today for early bidding by the state highway department. Included were six-tenths miles of roadside planting west from the circle intersection on highway 67 at Waco and 17 miles of grading and drainage structures and culverts has course on a feeder road from Midland to the Fator county line.

Kid Berg Sails South On A Boxing Mission

LONDON, Jan. 15. (UP)—Disappointed by failure to interest promoters in the possibility of a London contest with Tony Canzoneri, Jack (Kid) Berg has departed for South Africa.

Berg, holder of the British lightweight title, has been working on the Canzoneri proposal for months but he now realizes that there is small chance of the fight taking place.

So, with nothing else in view, he accepted a match with the South African champion, Laurie Stevens, who as an amateur won an Olympic title at Los Angeles.

Marble Machine Licenses Being Refused By City

Until the legal status of marble machines—now in a muddle because of numerous cases before the Texas courts—is cleared up, the city of Big Spring will not imply any sanction of operation of possibly illegal machines.

The board of commissioners indicated this Tuesday night, when it gave instructions that no city license is to be issued on machines, ranging from $25 for machines with a final court ruling. The city of Big Spring will not imply any sanction of operation of possibly illegal machines.

The commission adopted an ordinance setting new rates on beer licenses. This action was only a formality since the rates are in accordance with a new state law. The new fees provide for sharp reductions, ranging from $25 for manufacturing and wholesaling to $10 for a local dealer who sells the beverage for consumption off the premises.

League Meet Slated Today

Blankenship, Gentry In Austin With Figures For Committee

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (Sp1)—George Gentry and W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring were here this morning with a mass of facts and figures to present to the executive committee of the interscholastic league when they appear before that body this afternoon to protest proposed plan to place Big Spring in football district 1.

Twenty-two teams have been invited to enter the tourney. Those already entered: Klondike, Colorado Jackrabbits, Carr, Dunn, Hi-way, Brown, Big Spring Calves, Garden City, Elbow add Moore A and B teams.

Trophies will go to the winner and runner-up, and to the consolation winner and most outstanding player of the tournament. An added attraction will be a girls' game each night. The championship will be decided Saturday night.

Clark and Pressnell "spelled" each other at quarterback during the 1935 season. Shepherd saw plenty of action at half and fullback. He was the nation's leading collegiate scorer in 1934.

Asked how he does it, Adolph grins and looks at his feet. "I wear a size 11 shoe now and my feet are still growing," he said. "They act as paddles for me. The rest of it comes through relaxation, a thing every swimmer has to learn. My father taught me that."

The youthful high school star doesn't think that Europe will offer much competition in the swimming events. "Japan will be tough, though," he admits. "They won the championship in 1922, you know."

PTA Council Announces New Projects

Study Course To Start Tomorrow Morning At Church

Mrs. Minette Fort talked to the members of the P-T-A. council Tuesday afternoon at the high school building, explaining the proposed nursery project that is part of the adult education program of the school. The nursery will be established, she said, for underprivileged preschool children whose mothers are too busy during the day to look after them. The hours will be from 8 to 4 o'clock. The physical needs of the child will be taken care of, he will be fed and given maps. He will follow a routine planned for the best possible physical development. Mrs. Fort said there are about 158 children in Big Spring who would attend such a school. Unemployed teachers would be in charge. The council urged the units to furnish their record books in time to take them to the district conference that will be held in Sweetwater in April. It was announced that material for the study course was arriving and that the course would be held on Thursday mornings at the Presbyterian church parlor at 9 o'clock. The first lesson will be held this Thursday. Mrs. Charles Koberg will be the speaker. All P-T-A. members interested in a study of the work will be welcomed. It was announced that membership in the various units was much greater this year than last and that attendance had increased considerably. Present were: Meses. C. A. Bulot, Hayes Stripling, H. W. Smith, J. T. Brook, A. J. Cain, Kin Barnett, J. C. Loper, L. E. Eddy and Fort. Superintendent Blankenship will speak to the council at its next session.

Texas Artists Asked To Submit Work To Centennial Exhibit

As a feature of its exhibitions in connection with the Texas Centennial exposition, the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts is going to have one big room of Texas artists. Because of the lack of space and the high quality of the rest of the summer's exhibition, the paintings by Texas artists will have to be judged severely and limited strictly. The museum believes, however, that there is enough fine work being done in Texas today to form a show which will be in every way comparable with the great paintings of the past which will constitute the major portion of the exhibition. The selection of paintings will be made by a jury, consisting of Dr. John S. Ankeney, formerly director of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, and now connected with Louisiana State University; James Chillum, Jr., director of the Museum of Fine Arts of Houston; and Alexandre Hogue, Dallas artist. This jury is a carefully balanced group of competent men who should give an exhibition of the finest quality. Prospectuses and application blanks for this exhibition have already been sent out to a long list of Texas artists. Anyone who has not received them and wishes to send works in, may secure proper blanks after Jan. 15 from the office of the director at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. Entry blanks must be returned to the museum by Feb. 14. Works will be received by the museum between Friday, Feb. 14 and Tuesday, Feb. 23.

Odessa Girl May Become Movie Star. ODESSA, Jan. 14.—The student body of Odessa high school and the citizenry of Odessa, are anxiously awaiting the outcome of a decision to be announced this week on a screen test with Paramount for Miss Pauline Shows, 17, brunette, dark-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shows of this city. Miss Shows was selected from a group of three girls to represent Odessa at the recent Sun Bowl Pageant in El Paso. Out of the group of representatives from towns all over West Texas and New Mexico, Miss Shows was the only Texan to win a chance for the test. Miss Shows is a senior in the local high school and has had four years of work in dramatics, taking part in all of the school plays. She is also president of the Glee Club. During the past football season when the Brones lost only one game and finished in second place in the district, Miss Shows was one of the cheer leaders on the sideline. When the Brones were playing in the basketball tournament here last week-end she was among the local fans furnishing enough pep for two or three girls. This is the third year for Miss Shows to play on the girls basketball team at a forward position and she intends to continue her play and school work here and graduate in June, test or no test. In El Paso after the three girls were selected, Chalmers B. Fithian, the Paramount agent, took the girls several places in a preliminary test to learn how they acted among strangers and had them walk and observed their use of the knife and fork. Mr. Shows is an automobile dealer here and Pauline has been a student in the local school ever since she was in the second grade, coming here from Lorraine. Enjoying the honor with the family is Superintendent Murray H. Fly, who is one of Pauline's biggest boosters.

Ethiopian Drive Is Repulsed By Italian Troops

(By The Associated Press)
Italy claimed Wednesday its southern armies had crushed a gathering Ethiopian drive on the Dolo front, repulsing and pursuing the enemy.
Ethiopia meanwhile reported a surprise engagement with an Italian detachment Jan. 2, asserting the battle resulted in the death of 88 Italians and six Ethiopians.
Sweden protested to Italy the Italian bombing of Desaye in which one Swedish subject was fatally injured and another wounded.
French circles reported the possibility that the league of nations council may ignore the subject of war at the Jan. 20 meeting.
The British cabinet was reported to be discussing the possibility of new economic sanctions against Italy.

Water Wells To Be Tested

Excavation, Coring Work Now Under Way In County Survey

Measuring of every water well in Howard county twice a month is scheduled to start sometime next month, Howard Samuel, attached to the U. S. geological survey and in charge of the WPA underground water survey in Howard county, said Wednesday.
At the present time Samuel has nine men working under him doing excavation and coring in order that he may obtain the gradient and thickness of the Trinity sands, water bearing formation for this section.
The ditch marking the north-west slope of south mountain is a part of the work. The excavation has provoked much speculation as to whether a pipeline was being run down the mountain.
Samuel said that corings would be taken every mile east to Signal mountain.
After heavy rains well levels will be tested to determine what effect precipitation has on the supply, or whether the supply is from water bearing sands or is merely "sheet" water. The checking will continue for seven months.

Senator Claims Wilson Falsified War Conditions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Chairman Nye of the senate munitions committee today asserted that Woodrow Wilson "falsified" in chronicling some of the circumstances surrounding American entrance into the world war.
He attacked Wilson's post-war story that he did not know, at the time the United States entered the struggle, of secret treaties between the Allies for the redistribution of Europe.
Nye asserted he had read documents proving that Wilson and his secretary of state Lansing, knew of the treaties.

A new set of kettle drums has increased the number of instruments in the high school band to more than 50.

Club Inspects Cosden Plant

Lions' Visit One Of A Series To Manufacturing Concerns

Lions club members inspected the Cosden refinery plant here Wednesday as a continuation of a series of visits to Big Spring industrial concerns.
Members were shown the various units for manufacturing third grade gasoline, asphalt, high octane gasoline, tractor oil, etc.
They traced the operation from furnaces producing more than 1,000 degrees temperature to finished products which would produce cracking in a few minutes. They saw crude being pumped into furnaces and emerging as gasoline after being run through the topping unit. They saw asphalt being turned out in about 20 different grades.
The plant, Lions were told, has a monthly payroll of $25,000, handles 250,000 barrels of locally produced crude per month, and uses the Texas & Pacific railway for shipping practically all its products.
Approximately 1,000,000 barrel storage capacity is necessary to accommodate the demand for the plant. For the first time in the history of the plant, said E. W. Potter, superintendent, the unit is getting within 25 per cent of the crude it needs.
Meeting with the club Wednesday was Roy Keaton, representative of Lions International. The program was arranged by Dr. P. W. Malone.

Grant Asked For Courts Building

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (UP)—Application of the state of Texas for a grant of from $750,000 to $1,000,000 for erection of a new supreme court building at Austin was laid before President Roosevelt today by Jesse Jones, RFC chairman.
Mr. Roosevelt took the application under consideration. The proposal calls for the state to put up $200,000 in cash and real property.

Rural Teachers Meet Saturday

Howard county rural school teachers will meet Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in the district court room to discuss plans for the second half of the school year, it was announced Wednesday.
Among things to come before the teachers will be the choice of standardized tests to be administered to students of the seventh grade.
Problems facing the county inter-scholastic league will also be dealt with, it was said.

Many Eliminated From Relief Rolls By Redistricted Plan Now In Effect

Only those classified definitely and permanently as unemployable are given direct relief now, and the change in the relief program effected Jan. 1 has eliminated certain groups of applicants, Mrs. Ora Wood, relief supervisor for this district, said Wednesday.
She said that applicants falling under the following classifications are ineligible:
(1) Persons who are temporarily ill or otherwise unable to work; (2) persons too far from WPA projects; (3) persons who are cared for by other agencies; (4) persons who are awaiting WPA assignments, and (5) persons who have been assigned to work and have become ill.

The present restricted relief program will continue through March 31, but after Jan. 15, a new staff of relief workers will be provided for this district. It will include Mrs. Wood as administrator; G. C. Dean as commodity supervisor; and E. O. Clendenen, supervisor of accounting. Relief in other counties will be cared for by seven case workers and three assistants.
The case workers, in addition to caring for unemployables, must certify as to the eligibility of the WPA clients, and must make reference of eligible farm families to the rural resettlement commission.
Work is to start on or before Feb. 15, with completion date set for May 1.
The structure will be of steel and concrete, with wide patios and exhibition spaces. It will include an amphitheatre for a series of elaborate musical and entertainment programs which the Ford company will present during the progress of the exposition.
A feature of the Ford plans will be "Roads of the Southwest." This will consist of a series of replicas of historic Southwestern roads and trails which will be constructed around an ornamental lagoon near the Ford building. Each section of historic road will be appropriately landscaped and Ford cars will carry exposition visitors across the trails with the compliments of the company.

The estimate was in addition to President Roosevelt's budget figures of $1,100,000,000 to be carried will have surplus commodity distribution started as a WPA project in cooperation with relief administration.
R. F. Boston, works supervisor, predicted that the Terry county NRWR job would be started next week on a road from Brownfield to the Lynn county line.
"Much Relieved," Says Lady After Taking CARDUI
Although they may be very active and apparently in good health, many women, at certain times, will do well to take Cardui. It may relieve some of the nagging symptoms that are so annoying every month.
Mrs. F. T. Foster, of Greensburg, Ky., writes that she has "derived great benefit" from Cardui. "Before taking Cardui, I was weak and extremely nervous, and suffered from sleeplessness. This made me tired and worn in daytime. My back ached continually. Being an active woman, I did not want to continue in this condition. Having heard a great deal about Cardui, I found, after just a few bottles, I was much relieved. I continued taking Cardui and was so much helped."
Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

A TIME FOR DELIBERATION

Although a majority of the members of the legislature answering his questionnaire favored a special session now, Governor James V. Allred still is not certain that another gathering of the lawmakers is necessary.

His deliberation in the matter is justified. There is no pressing problem before the state at this time that calls for an extraordinary session, with the exception of that of financing the old age pensions. And there are some matters that should be cleared up below the revenue provision is completed.

First of all, the national social security act may fall before the supreme court. If so, the Texas pension system, which is bound up in the national act, would have to be reworked. Financing need not be considered if the system itself is not to go into effect.

Second, there is not yet a definite enough estimate before the legislators on the cost of pensions to warrant enactment of tax laws. There is no way of telling yet how many persons will be entitled to pensions; there will be no way of knowing until after applications are validated after the pension plan goes into effect next month. There is no reason for considering revenue measure until it can be determined how much money will be needed.

Third, the governor has said that he might find a way to finance the pensions, all or in part, from present sources of revenue without taxation. He has been at work on this problem with the auditor, although no definite report has been made.

If this were possible, the governor and others responsible for making this discovery of available money, would be due hearty thanks from the taxpayers of Texas, who, although they are not opposed to age pensions, would like very much to meet the cost without another tax burden. The tax payers are willing to give Governor Allred and his auditor more time in this work.

Special sessions are costly. They should be called only for emergency purposes. And the assembling of the salons before the time is right for pension-financing, and before a definite program is at hand would serve to no good end. It's a good time to proceed slowly.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—After years of writing of New York, I'm getting to be like the fellow who occasionally whacks himself on the head—it feels so good when you stop.

I mean, of late I've been asking myself what Broadway is and it's disturbing to find that I don't know.

If a stranger were suddenly to bob up and demand an explanation, I suppose I'd describe it as an era that began with Rectors and ended with the House of Morgan, for Broadway never extends beyond the present. But that definition at best, would be superficial. The truth is, there isn't an answer that is genuinely satisfying unless one wishes to fall back on the old frayed statement that Broadway is a state of mind.

Perhaps things here are too transitory. New York's complexion changes so rapidly that what currently confounds and amazes will be ancient history tomorrow. This doesn't necessarily mean its facial structure, though only the gods who watch over contractors know how often skyscrapers are put up and torn down.

We embark each morning on what apparently is to be a fascinating journey but before nightfall we emerge into the same old phony street. . . . A street of chorus girls who love their old mothers and who nurse broken hearts while waiting for Prince Charming to rescue them from their night life world—only, most of them wouldn't be rescued if they could. A street of brass bands, flea circuses, orange juice counters and Irish cops.

The thing we call the Big White Line is really an exciting treadmill, spinning crazily but getting nowhere. We know this subconsciously but haven't time to worry about it. Time is short and tomorrow may never come.

Today I write of something new and strange to New York, but I must hurry. Tomorrow it will be a bone picked clean by every urchin in the street. This was illustrated very clearly when I wanted to quote that telegram Charlie MacArthur sent to Helen Hayes the night she opened in "Victoria Regina."

MacArthur wired: "Congratulations. I'm always glad to see a radio actress make good on the stage." This was typical MacArthur humor, and I was telling it about the office when a smarty copy boy said loftily, "I heard that on the subway this morning." The wire then was only eight hours old and hadn't been chronicled by any of the Broadway scribes. Don't ask me where he got it.

If there were columnists in ancient Rome, one wonders what thoughts filled their minds as they strode the Appian Way, wrapped in their flowing togas, snaring gossip from the passing Caesars and lean-flanked senators. Perhaps an innate sixth sense warned them that the Broadway they knew would some day come down to the dust, just as this Broadway will a thousand, three thousand, ten thousand years hence. What then will have become of the metropolis between the rivers?

I know. Curious figures will poke among the ruins. And one of them, consulting a crinkled parchment chart, will suddenly cry:

"Sink me, Aesop, if here isn't where Tex Gulpan had her 300 club!"
It may be like that.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Appointment of Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn as commander of the United States fleet culminates an ancient and at times virulent feud between him and Rear Admiral Joseph Reeves, who retires as commander of the fleet.

It began when they were both young naval officers. It continued when they went as naval experts to the Geneva naval conference of 1927, where Reeves worked against an agreement and Hepburn for it. The feud reached a climax during the Pacific maneuvers last summer—the greatest peacetime maneuvers ever held.

Hepburn commanded the scouting fleet in Alaskan waters which attacked the defending fleet around Hawaiian waters. The defending fleet was commanded by Reeves. Hepburn maneuvered all around Reeves, scored important hits, theoretically "sank" several of his vessels. The referees decided that Hepburn, representing the enemy, won the day, could have invaded the shores of California.

It was largely on the basis of this feat that Hepburn secured his present promotion to take Reeves' place.

Casualty Reeves
One incident occurred during the Pacific maneuvers that so far has been a strict secret. Theoretically Admiral Reeves was "killed."

His flagship, the Pennsylvania, clashed with Admiral Hepburn's flagship, the Maryland. And the captain of the Pennsylvania (who, some naval officers suspect, did not like Admiral Reeves) marked down a hit for the Maryland on the Pennsylvania's control room.

Theoretically, the control room was blown up. Admiral Reeves was in the control room. Theoretically therefore, he was killed.

The admiral was quite indignant about this. He did not like the idea of being killed, especially on his own flagship. However, the captain of the ship said he had been killed and there was nothing much Reeves could do about it.

But when the umpires checked the reports of the two battleships, they found that the Maryland, theoretically had fired no shots. Therefore, the control room was intact, as was also the bristling beard of Admiral Reeves.

NOTE—Hepburn is considered one of the most brilliant strategists in the navy. Relatively young, he favors a revolutionary clean-up of navy personnel, is not popular with the older sea-dogs.

Justice Roberts
One unnoticed highlight of the White House reception to the judiciary was Justice Owen Joseph Roberts, immaculate, tall, straight as an arrow, talking to Joseph E. Keenan, No. 3 man in the justice department.

Said Justice Roberts: "I thought the arguments of the government were excellent, especially those of the solicitor general."

Just three days before, he had handed down the famous AAA opinion knocking those arguments into a cocked hat (Stone, Brandeis, Cardozo dissenting).

RPC Next?
In view of the supreme court's banning of the entire AAA although only the processing taxes were directly before it, much official conjecture has arisen regarding the fate of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The giant government lending agency—whose billions of public funds saved hundreds of banks, railroads, insurance companies and industries from collapse—is indirectly involved in an unnoticed case pending on the court's calendar.

The immediate parties to the suit are the Baltimore Trust company and the Maryland tax commission. The point at issue is whether the RPC must pay state taxes on bank stock it has purchased.

The Maryland tax commission claims that the RPC is subject to the state tax just as any other stockholder is. But the bank claims the RPC has filed a brief supporting the bank's position.

Lawyers think it highly unlikely that the case to pass on the legality of the RPC. But if it follows its policy in the AAA case of going beyond the immediate question and ruling on the constitutionality of the whole law, then it may very well call the turn on the RPC.

Among the hundreds of personal messages received by the president congratulating him on his message to congress was one from General Hugh S. Johnson.

As one of the new deal's most caustic critics recently, Johnson's telegram was particularly appreciated by the president. He singled it out for special mention to close friends.

But in his daily newspaper column several days later, Johnson characterized the address as a "rabble-rouser," staged in an atmosphere resembling "the French revolutionary convention before the tribunes of the Terror."

Texas Cattle Are Improved

Calling Of Herds By Govt. Purchase Seen As One Cause.

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 15.—The government purchase of cattle during the drought, enabled the ranchmen and farmers of Texas to cull their herds which has resulted in a better class of beef cattle, according to George W. Barnes, extension animal husbandman.

Barnes in outlining a few things to be done in 1936 for further improvement of Texas beef cattle, also said, "County agricultural agents are taking advantage of the government culling job and are encouraging the use of better registered sires."

The extension animal husbandman went on to outline a few tips on raising good beef animals. He said, "The better the quality of the calf the longer it can profitably be fed. A six months' feed will be required to fatten well bred 400 pound steers. If calves are as light as 250 pounds when started on feed, seven months will be required. Heifer calves of the same weight and quality will finish 30 to 50 days earlier than steer calves."

"More rapid gains may be secured on steer calves the second 90 to 100 days of feeding than the first. In the fattening period a calf should at least double his weight. A gain of two pounds per day may be considered satisfactory. The amount of feed necessary to fatten a calf will depend upon the condition, quality and weight of the feeder. Under ordinary farm conditions, it will take 1,500 pounds of shelled grain or one ton of grain sorghum heads or eight, 200 pounds of cottonseed meal and from three-fourth to one ton of roughage per head."

"Grain should be fed in limited amounts at the start of the feeding period and gradually increased until calves are on full feed. Briefly, the whole feeding process consists of starting calves on a little grain and a lot of roughage and gradually changing to a little roughage and a lot of grain. The skill with which a person makes these changes largely determines his success as a feeder."

"Silage may be used as part of the roughage for calves. Silage alone will not produce a satisfactory finish. Silage may be mixed with a full amount of cottonseed meal as the sole feed for at least 30 days to give fill and develop stomachs. As grain is increased, cut down on silage. Two pounds of dry roughage per head per day is advisable."

Murder Mystery With New Angles

Play At Ritz Tuesday, Wednesday

A group of socially prominent young people—the faster set on Long Island—wake up after slugging a party to find that a murder has been committed in the "Remember Last Night" which plays the last times today at the Ritz theatre. Chief among the players is Edward Arnold, who scored a success in "Diamond Jim," while also in the cast are Constance Cummings, Sally Eilers, Robert Young, Robert Armstrong, Gregory Ratoff, Reginald Denny, Monroe Owsley, and others.

The story, based on a novel that was popular last year, "The Hangover Murders," opens with Constance Cummings as Carlotta Constance, and Robert Young as her husband, Tony. Awakening in a vast Long Island mansion to find that during a party given the night before they've been married six months—one of those progressive parties which goes from house to house—George Mosker, playing the role of the wealthy Vic Huling, has been shot in the heart.

They begin making their own investigation into the killing and discover that there are grounds for suspecting everyone, including themselves. First an ace detective, played by Edward Arnold, and his assistant, Edward Brophy, are called in. They are making some headway when a hypnotist is summoned. But then new murders are accomplished and clues are lost and facts distorted. It is only through the clear deductions and herculean efforts of Arnold that the killer is apprehended under unusual circumstances.

NEVER MIND THE LADY

by David Garth

Chapter 34
BLACKMAIL

Fox regarded him keenly. LaMarr seemed very sure of himself. Knew all the tricks of manners, could dance divinely, and talk vividly of far countries and big game hunts at early dawn—that must have intrigued Nell West, but Allaire had never had any use for him.

"Well, let's have it," he said. "What's on your mind, Mr. LaMarr?"

The other waved a hand. "This is hardly the place—may I have the honor to call?"

"What's the matter with right now?"

LaMarr shrugged. "Nothing. But let us go where we won't be disturbed."

He seemed to know his way around the house. He took Fox down stairs to the little reception room with the brassbound clock. They sat down and LaMarr took a cigarette out of a long silver case and then placed the case at Fox's elbow, with a polite cack.

"Mr. Fox," he said, lighting up and leaning back in a cloud of smoke, "I have come across something that might cause some unpleasantness and notoriety if it should be published abroad."

Fox said nothing.

"You do not know of what I speak, perhaps?" LaMarr queried.

"Not exactly," LaMarr said. "Begin at the beginning."

"Ah—yes," LaMarr nodded, and smoked for a minute in silence. Fox stared fixedly at the lowing tip of his cigarette. "Mr. Fox, I need thirty thousand dollars. I need 'em immediately. You—don't know who would arrange a loan for me perhaps?"

"That's a lot of money."

"Not such a sum—considering the interests involved."

Fox said nothing for a moment. There wasn't much of the diplomat in his handsome face as he looked hunching to the shoulders, that hinted at action some time in the very near future.

LaMarr seemed to sense that. He laughed.

"Nothing unpleasant, please, Mr. Fox," he said calmly. "I can be unpleasant too—which is one reason I have no country just now. I merely ask you to arrange a loan for me—you refuse?"

"I refuse," Fox said grimly.

LaMarr sighed and arose. There was a queer air of triumph about him that Fox couldn't quite fathom. The attaché had the idea that LaMarr hadn't cared particularly whether he "arranged the loan" or not. LaMarr had wanted something else—and whatever it was, Fox had a strange feeling that he'd got it.

"Ah, well, no matter. Mr. Fox, I will look elsewhere. If you do not care to accommodate me, perhaps Mr. West will be more amenable. Good day."

"Just a minute," said Fox. "Get this, LaMarr. I don't intend to let you get away with anything queer. Understand?"

"You threaten?" said LaMarr, pained. "A diplomat—now, really, Mr. Fox."

He bowed and left. Fox lit a cigarette and tried to relax. It was as pretty a set-up for a little blackmail as he'd ever seen.

Allaire would probably have told LaMarr to go to the devil, but Ray and Nell West would submit to a shakedown. So would Steve Perry probably. And Fox himself, hated the idea of seeing the girl he loved spread over countless yellow sheets, her motives misconstrued, stamped for life by purple pens.

Stahmann's claim was denied by the commissioner recently and he is now ready to file his suit in the federal district court. The filing will be delayed. Mr. Stahmann's attorney said, pending the decision in the Georgia case.

The proposed new test of the Bankhead act involved the payment under protest of $19,000 in excess cotton taxes by D. F. Stahmann, operator of farms in the upper and lower valleys.

While Les Moor, farmer and contractor, was getting to the supreme court with an injunction suit, Stahmann and his attorney tried another method—payment under protest and a suit to recover the tax.

The formality of having the protest denied by the commissioner of internal revenue, a requirement before suit to recover can be filed, has taken as much time as Moor required to get to the supreme court.

WORK ON BUSINESS CENSUS IN THIS DISTRICT IS UNDER WAY; ENUMERATORS TO BE NAMED

LUBBOCK, Jan. 15.—First enumeration work under the business census was to be started in the 19th congressional district Wednesday, it was announced here by J. E. Inmon, who has been named district supervisor. He said enumerators will be named within the next few days to make the canvass in this district, which includes 25 counties.

Offices of the census are to be established in the federal building here and a staff of three persons will be employed to handle the work. All census employees are bound by a strict census oath not to reveal any information contained on business reports and the law makes any violation a criminal offense.

Inmon said that every retail and wholesale business, all hotels, places of amusement, business service companies, insurance agencies, real estate offices, and trucking and bus companies; all banks, office building managers and contractors will be canvassed for reports on their operations during the calendar year 1935. The results are to be tabulated in Philadelphia, headquarters of the business census, and become the basic statistics which business men use in planning their operating policies.

New Test On Cotton Law

Another El Pasoan Ready To Take Suit To High Court

EL PASO, Jan. 15. (UP)—A second test of the Bankhead cotton control act is in the making in El Paso, dependent on the U. S. supreme court's action in the Georgia case.

The proposed new test of the Bankhead act involved the payment under protest of $19,000 in excess cotton taxes by D. F. Stahmann, operator of farms in the upper and lower valleys.

J. E. Brown Asks Precinct 1 Job

J. E. Brown, long time resident of Howard county, announced Tuesday that he would make the race for commissioner of precinct No. 1 in the Democratic primaries this summer.

Brown, who farms two miles north of the Highway school, has lived in the county for 21 years.

Declaring himself for economy in administration of county and precinct affairs, he said he also favored the making of necessary improvements as the need arose.

In announcing, Brown said that he would appreciate consideration and support given his candidacy.

Soviet Inspects Machine

Russia has made a bid for aid in solving her cotton picking problems, it was reported. The pres-

dent of the Amtorg Trading company, New York agents of the Soviet government, reportedly inspected the machine. The model operating in the test here had been "wanted pretty bad" by the company, the elder brother said.

Eventually, the inventors, who control the company which plans large-scale production, expect to export machines to all parts of the world. To date they have made little or no effort to find buyers, they said.

Most local cotton men seemed enthusiastic over possibilities of the machine. Some estimated, however, that about 10 per cent of the cotton was knocked on the ground by the tractor which preceded the picker.

The speed of picking is multiplied twenty-fold or more. The harvested cotton is cleaner, and the rows, following two trips by the machine likewise are cleaner, than when hand picking is used.

Toy Makers Get Early Start For '36 Yuletide

LEIPZIG (UP)—The uniforms worn by the soldiers in every war fought in American history are represented in regiments of toy soldiers.

The early uniforms worn in the Indian wars are shown in surprising variety. Next in turn come the standardized uniforms of the Revolution worn by Colonial, British and Hessian troops. The war of 1812, the Mexican war, and the uniforms of soldiers, both of the north and south in the Civil war, later the Spanish war, and of course the World war are all represented in Leipzig fair exhibits.

Mahon To Aid Toward New Farm Program

Is Confident That Government Will Meet Present Obligations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 — "A practicable farm program can and must be worked out, the supreme court notwithstanding; however, the far-reaching effects of the decision must not be underestimated. The fight for equality of agriculture has only begun." Thus stated Congressman George Mahon in commenting on the supreme court decision which ruled the agricultural adjustment administration unconstitutional last week.

"I am confident that congress will pass a bill now pending which provides for taking care of obligations already outstanding where the producer has complied with the terms of his contract. Such action is a responsibility which the federal government must assume, and action along this line should be expected in a very short time."

In discussing a possible substitute for the AAA program, Mahon said: "It will no doubt be a matter of several weeks before a definite plan can be worked out. I am confident that the government will do its best to meet its obligations."

As one Christmas passes, toy makers start to work on next season's output.

ing to work with our farmers, the house committee on agriculture, and department of agriculture officials, in an effort to assist in developing a workable program that will help to maintain the progress realized under the AAA during the last three years. I am particularly interested in assuring our new and developing section fair recognition under whatever plan is finally evolved. Some features of our former program were somewhat ill-suited to the needs of our rapidly growing area."

Mahon spent Friday morning in the office of Secretary Wallace with one hundred and fifty farmers, several of whom were from Texas, in a meeting called by the secretary to discuss possible plans for a workable agricultural program. Among the Texas farmers attending the series of meetings was Cliff Day of Plainview.
