Twelve 'Sticks of Dynamite' Found

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secret U. S. government papers obtained ten years ago by an admitted Communist agent contained international dynamite, it was disclosed yesterday.

Twelve of some hundreds of papers uncovered by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in its investigation of a Communist spy network were made public by the committee with State Department approval. The papers were from confidential State Department files.

One of the dozen was among information which had been recorded on microfilm.

This film was found on the farm of Whittaker Chambers, a self-admitted former Communist last week in a hollowed-out pumpkin.

Chambers has accused Alger Hiss, former State Department official, and others of passing some of the documents to him. This has been denied by Hiss.

A New York federal grand jury, which also has been looking into the extent of Communist espionage, is gleaning a new look at the documents.

The 12 documents made public by the committee would have been "extremely valuable" to any foreign governments which got them back in 1938, diplomatic authorities said.

It was then that Hitler was fashioning the military machine by which he hoped to subjugate Europe and when Japan's hopes of an Asiatic empire was beginning to burn bright.

The documents show that Hitler might have known some of Britain's secret naval plans 18 months before he actually plunged the continent into war by invading Poland.

Another secret message from a U.S. diplomat to his government, portending Hitler's star and Japan's support of Chiang Kai-shek would be detrimental to British interests in the Orient.

These were all things that if brought into the limelight at the time might have had marked repercussions on the international picture at a time when the United States was far from ready for war.

But the passage of time and the course of events, which saw both Hitler's star and Japan's dream of empire fade below the horizon, have all but ended their impact on international events.

Yet only 12 of the "leaked" papers have been published. Whether the others will be revealed is still problematical.

Some are still labeled top secret. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) of the committee will deliver the microfilms to the New York grand jury.

And while there, he will take up the question of when the committee can question some major witnesses.

The committee has deferred some of its questioning until the grand jury can have access to various individuals.

The 12 papers made public by the committee ranged over a wide sequence of events.

Among them are copies of 21 diplomatic messages signed by such pre-war figures in American diplomacy as former ambassador to France William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Japan Joseph C. Grew, and former ambassador to Poland Anthony J. Drexl Biddle, Jr.

Several of them are marked "strictly confidential" but the House committee said the State Department indicated that their publication would no longer be considered "dangerous" to American security.

Their potential value to other governments is the time that the State Department is evident from examination.

Britain's naval plans in 1938, for example, were of vital concern to Adolf Hitler in his then undisclosed plans for conquest of Europe.

Yet one of the documents, a memorandum which committee records say is in the handwriting of Alger Hiss, former State Department official, is a miniature of Europe.

A huge lighted sign tops the factory and at the lane leading into Savage off the busy Washington Boulevard is a miniature castle.

Naturally, Santa Claus and his eight reindeer pulling a sled are there, too. There's also a circus tent with life-size animals operated by motors.

Two special Baltimore & Ohio Railroad trains hired by Heim will bring youngsters from Baltimore and Washington, equidistant from here, to Santa Heim.

Mrs. Saylor, who was 68, moved to Pampa with her husband from Montgomery County, Mo., in 1906 and operated a farm southeast of town until 1926, when they moved to Palacios, Tex.

Mrs. Saylor is survived by one sister, Mrs. George Boles, Hadley, Idaho; by one son, B. E. Saylor, Bay City, Tex.; and by one grandson, Donald B. Saylor, U. S. Navy, and by one granddaughter, Donna Jean.

The Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Dr. Douglas Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will officiate at tomorrow's services.

Mrs. Saylor will be buried beside her husband, who died Sept. 8, 1946.

The Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home has charge of the arrangements.

That the personnel at the Pampa Postoffice is so efficient, even the bulls in the Pampa area receive their mail.

A letter was received at the local office yesterday addressed to a bull by a specific name, C. W. Stowell. Post-office employees, placed the letter in Frank Carter's box. Right move—the bull was one of Carter's prize animals.

'The Messiah' to Be Given At Jr. High Tomorrow Night

YULETIDE SNOOPING

Can't wait to see the Christmas nativity scene on the Court-house lawn. It'll be put up this week. We've heard. Besides a six-foot angel there will be several eight-foot camels, a dozen sheep, Wise Men and a large star.

Home Decorations
Only five more days until the Home Decoration Committee gets going on the judging for the contest. Notice a few homes are ready for the judging. There's a clever crib nativity scene in the 900 block on Mary Ellen. Also, the Bill Heskew and John Nutting residences have cathedral windows that look like real things.

Christmas Dinner
Hear the VFW Auxiliary had quite a Christmas dinner Friday night for Girl Scouts who aided them during "Buddy Poppy Day." Some of the things they had in the way of food would tempt even Santa Claus. Troop 19 sang "White Christmas" as part of the program.

Bright Sight
Wait until you see the nativity scene that is going up at the Court-house. It is about seven by fifteen feet and will certainly brighten up W. Kingsmill.

Parade Judging
Hear some of the entries in the "Flight of Santa Claus" parade were dissatisfied with the judges' decisions. Seems Dewey wasn't the only one who was over confident.

Scout Yule Trees
Got our Christmas tree the other day. Those Boy Scouts of Troop 80 certainly have a lot of full south of Texas furniture. The proceeds from the trees will help finance the troop during 1949.

New Society of Engineers Is Organized
A new society of chemical engineers, reported to be the only one of its kind in this area, was formed this week at an organizational meeting in the Phillips Grade School Cafeteria at Phillips.

Sale of TB Seals Pushed
Mrs. H. M. Stokes, president of Gray County Tuberculosis Association, reminds county residents of the Christmas seal purchase needs.

Sailor Rites to Be at Graveside
Graveside services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Fairview Cemetery for Mrs. O. E. Saylor, former Pampa, who died in a Wharton, Tex., hospital Thursday morning.

Pampan Attends Rites for Brother
J. E. Murfee, Jr., owner of the Texas Furniture Company, yesterday attended the funeral of his brother, George Murfee, who died at 10 a. m. Thursday in his home at Abilene.

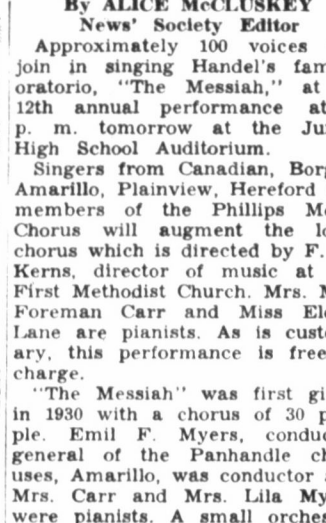

Aged Couple Searching for Mattress For Which They Have Worked and Saved
An aged McLean couple, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Geisler, yesterday were still looking for their new inner-spring mattress. All they know is what a highway work crew told them when they inquired about it along the highway—"a woman" picked it up.

ALL KINDS OF MEAT WILL CONTINUE AT HIGH PRICE

CHICAGO — (AP) — If Mrs. Housewife can't get pork chops at prices she likes, it won't do her much good to turn to beef or lamb. These meats are less plentiful than they have been for many years. Scarcity makes for higher priced stock.

And behind the situation she will find a good many reasons and such varied influences as droughty conditions in the Southwest, support prices for corn in the Midwest, and the high price of feeder stock.

For the six weeks since Nov. 1, the total of cattle and sheep marketed at Chicago has been sharply lower. It is these marketings from which comes the current supply of beef, lamb, and mutton.

Comparisons for the last four years are:
Nov. 1-Dec. 10, 1948, cattle 195,800; sheep, 120,700. Comparable 1947, 248,800, 130,100; 1946, 246,700, 193,500; 1945, 285,900, 185,300.

Not only are numbers sent to market declining but so is quality. Medium and good grades were prevalent in the cattle market and in oversupply, yet traders head landing is being returned to.

Despite the smaller supplies, prices have been going down in recent weeks. The Agriculture Department said, "this week saw the average cost of slaughter steers at Chicago drop to a new record low of $27.72, more than $9.00 below the average price of last July highs."

Here are some of the experts' reasons for what's going on and some of the things that could be done about it.

J. H. M. Conway of the National Livestock Producers' Association says wheat pastures and grass ranges in Southwestern states have needed rain for some time and have been too poor to support the normal cattle and sheep population.

Cold rubber, he said, is the first really new development in the synthetic rubber program since its beginning. Buy it, life can be increased from 30 to 39 percent, while all previous developments had increased tire life by only five to 15 percent, he said.

"Synthetic rubber is now competitive, or superior, to natural rubber for the tire tread stock," Troyan said.

A constitution was adopted by the society and affiliation with the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will be forthcoming.

Body of War Dead Returned
The body of Pvt. Revista J. Harvey, 28, who was killed in action in Italy, is being returned to Pampa for permanent burial from a temporary military cemetery in Europe.

Harvey was born Mar. 24, 1915, at Crandall, Tex., and graduated from Pampa High School in 1938. While a prisoner, he was a squad member on the Harvesters football team.

He entered the service in January, 1941, and was killed in action while making the beachhead landing at Salerno, Italy, Oct. 14, 1943.

He is survived by his father, A. R. Harvey, Pampa; his mother, Mrs. Minnie I. Harvey, Leonard, Tex.; and by three brothers, Elbert H. Calvin, J. of Wichita Falls, and Fred N. of Springhill, La.

Funeral services, to be conducted by the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, are pending arrival of Harvey's body Wednesday morning.

Officers of New Hospital Are Renamed

Officers of the Highland General Hospital Board were elected for another one-year term Friday afternoon during a joint meeting of the board and County Commissioners' Court in the County Court Room.

Re-elected were: Reno Stinson, president; A. G. Stokely, McLean vice-president; and Attorney Arthur Teed, secretary.

The joint meeting was held to discuss purchase of equipment for the new hospital and the cost involved.

John A. Hatch, Amarillo, hospital advisor to the Commissioners' Court and the Hospital Board, reported that all hospital equipment has jumped 25 percent in price over last year. A list of 49 general items, ranging from operating room lights to window shades, totaling $112,924.66, was given to each commissioner and board member.

Hatch, who drew up the list, explained that these figures were catalogue prices, but through competitive bidding could be brought down 10 to 15 percent.

Discussion of the itemized list and explanation of each item lasted from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Some of the larger and more expensive items on the list were:

Operating room lights, $950; sterilizing equipment, $16,815; patient room furniture, mattresses, pillows, and reception room furniture, $28,431.85; kitchen and dining room equipment, $12,759.40; X-ray equipment, $7,785; mobile X-ray unit, $1,725; laboratory equipment, $1,500; two major operating rooms, $6,544.50; two delivery rooms, $2,000. Also attending will be P. H. Harrison, Stinnett, C. R. Rhoads, Clarendon; J. W. Patric, Claude; W. A. Pittman, Pampa; and Quentin Williams, Pampa.

Picture for Area Brighter Than Some

Gray County is only a comparatively bright spot in the swirling gray picture of what has been reported as Texas' worst drought on record.

Quentin Williams, district conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, said yesterday that county lands are being badly hurt now by the cutting dust storms of yesterday and last week.

In some places in the county, young wheat has been blown away. Farmers replanted only to see their wheat drift away again from under their very feet.

It is certain, Williams said, that some wheat will be lost because of these storms.

Williams continued, "is that they are coming at a time of the year when nothing can be done about them." It is too late in the season to plant cover crops against the drifting dust.

The worst of these storms, Williams continued, "is that they are coming at a time of the year when nothing can be done about them." It is too late in the season to plant cover crops against the drifting dust.

However, there is a considerable amount of sub-surface moisture here that is expected to make Gray County's condition much better than that in Denton County, for instance.

In that county, the Associated Press reported, farmers are suffering their heaviest loss in years. W. A. McKamy, rancher, said, "My grass lands in the worst condition I've seen in 40 years of ranching." Pastures are burned up; cover crops couldn't be planted; and a 75 percent loss of wheat, oats, barley, and vetch is expected.

Following the severe "dust bowl" years of 1934 to 1939, Williams said, there was a large-scale and intensive effort to prevent such a national catastrophe from occurring again.

Planting cover crops and leaving crop residues on the land until sufficient moisture has accumulated to protect it, and other conservation measures have been highly successful where they were practiced, he said.

Dust storms now should be more local than they were during the "bowl" years, Williams said. Nevertheless, Soil Conservation Service officials at Fort Worth have estimated that 3,000,000 acres in West Texas are without sufficient cover to prevent blowing.

An over-the-state survey by member newspapers of the Associated Press shows a virtually every section, except the Northern Panhandle, is suffering. The Weather Bureau could recall no drought to equal the current situation.

Hardest hit is West Texas. Around San Angelo, ranges are feeding the smallest number of livestock in two decades. In the Abilene area, cattle, sheep and goats wintering on the ranges are being fed grain hay and cottonseed hulls. At Big Spring, the West Texas cotton harvest is drawing to a close—farmers are (See DUSTER, Page 6)

Romania and U.S. Recall Diplomats

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Romania is throwing two American and two British diplomats out of the country, and the United States is retaliating by similar orders for two Romanian envoys assigned to Washington.

The Romanian Communist government said the four it is tossing out conspired with "spies and saboteurs." The U. S. called this ridiculous. Britain delayed a decision on whether to demand the recall of Romanian diplomats from London.

This latest flareup in the cold war was revealed both here and in Bucharest, where the major action centered. It involved an exchange of diplomatic insults in polite terms which, however, scarcely served to conceal the bitterness underlying such incidents as this.

The four Anglo-American diplomats had been named in connection with trials in Romania of alleged plotters, spies and saboteurs against the Communist government. In the latest of these trials, the government alleged that one of the defendants had confessed that the Americans and British promised they would parachute arms and troops into Romania for anti-government forces in event of conflict.

The State Department denied all charges against the American diplomats. American Minister Rudolph E. Schoenfeld so informed Romania's woman Communist Foreign Minister, Anna Pauker, in a note delivered to her Friday.

At the same time Schoenfeld said that "in conformity with usual international practice," the two Americans would be withdrawn. He labeled the charges against them ridiculous and contrary to fact.

The State Department press officer, Michael McDermott, released the exchanges of notes between Pauker and Schoenfeld. He immediately announced also that the State Department notified the Romanian legation that two of its top diplomats are "persona non grata" (personally unacceptable) to the American government. The American government gave no reason for its action and McDermott said that the action was "without any connection at all purely coincidental" with the Romanian moves against the two Americans in Bucharest.

The school will be conducted by G. M. Morris and Maurice Gamble, both of the regional Soil Conservation Service office at Ft. Worth. Visitors will include R. H. Hopkins, chief project plans division and Dr. A. D. Steeg, chief of the nursery division from the regional office at Lubbock, Neb.

Air National Guard Plays Vital Role in Emergencies

MERCY FLIGHT—Successful ending of an Air Guard mercy flight: Col. George R. Stanley, 103rd Fighter Group commander, hands serum to Dr. Paul A. Fichtner of McCook Memorial Hospital, Hartford, Conn., after an emergency flight to Montreal. On the wing is Lt. Col. H. B. Wetherell, group deputy commander.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—America has a speedy new disaster and mercy-mission service.

It's the Air National Guard of the various states, now composed of 30,000 men and 2,200 airplanes. The Air Guard's primary mission is to serve as a ready reserve arm of America's air defense. But its extra-curricular duties in saving lives and property are becoming almost as important as its defense jobs.

A sample list of the jobs these fliers take on as a routine operation includes: rushing doctors, nurses and medical supplies to flood areas; carrying fire fighters and equipment to forest fires; hunting for persons lost in the mountains or in the woods; locating crashed airplanes; bringing medicine and serum to epidemic areas; transporting sick and wounded persons to hospitals for emergency treatment.

Without the services of the Air Guard such disasters as the Mount Hood forest fire, the Texas City explosion, the Ohio and Washington floods of last spring and the hurricanes which have lashed the coast would have taken a much greater toll of lives.

The file is full of individual cases of life-saving. Dr. Paul A. Fichtner, a Hartford, Conn., physician, needed a small quantity of a very rare serum to save a patient's life. An hour on the telephone finally located some in a hospital in Montreal. But how to get it from Montreal to Hartford in time? His patient was fading fast.

The trip was 500 miles by air. At first they thought of flying in a commercial plane to Boston and relaying it from there. That would have taken too long. In desperation Dr. Fichtner called Col. George R. Stanley, commanding officer of the 103rd Fighter Group. Col. Stanley said he thought he could help him. In a matter of minutes he got permission from U. S. and Canadian authorities to make the flight. Within an hour he and Lt. Col. H. B. Wetherell were flying an A-26 bomber to Montreal. Less than two and one-half hours later Dr. Fichtner had the serum, and was starting the treatment. It was successful.

The Alabama ANG has a long list of mercy missions in its record book. Janet Gentle of Russellville was once a health champion of her county until polio sent her to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. After months of treatment it was finally decided that she could leave the hospital. But that required a two-day trip in a mobile iron lung which doctors agreed would be extremely dangerous. Janet's father appealed to Gen. Charles Saliba of the Birmingham Air National Guard and for help.

One week later Janet was flying home in a C-47 piloted by Capt. Joseph L. Shannon and Lt. William E. Sloan, both former Air Force pilots. The trip was smooth and took only four hours, compared to the two days it would have taken otherwise.

The same plane was used a week later to fly a man, who had become suddenly stricken with a strange lung trouble in Tucson, Ariz. The doctors had tried everything and the patient was slowly dying in an oxygen tent. Flying him to Arizona was considered a last hope. But with the aid of the Air Guard his life was saved.

Official reports of such actions are usually terse and uncolored. For instance, this account of bringing aid to a tornado-torn community comes from the books of a unit in Wichita, Kan.:

"Pre-dawn 10 April 1947, a tornado struck Woodward, Okla. All means of communication destroyed. Obvious need for doctors, nurses and medical supplies in a hurry. The local Red Cross unit was immediately notified that they had at their disposal the C-47 and crew of the 12th Fighter Squadron. Flight instructor took off before dawn with 18 doctors and nurses and medical supplies. Crew consisted of Capt. Carl L. Buggs, Capt. John L. Greer, 2nd Lt. Gene E. Turner, 2nd Lt. David R. Hinton. Next morning another flight dispatched to area with more doctors and nurses. Return trip brought back first contingent of doctors and nurses who were in an exhausted state."

Pilots and crewmen of the Air Guard are mostly former members of the Air Force who like to keep the "feet" of flying.

The emergency call usually comes in the middle of the night.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The hotel door opened and a fat fat the mace of a mutton flipped out.

It caught me playfully on the chin and snapped my head six inches to the leeward—all the play my neck has left.

"Hello, 'ello!" boomed Primo Carnera. "Come in!"

I walked in with a friend, who carelessly tossed his hat on a bed.

"Oh, my God, oh, my God, don't do that," Carnera reproached him. "That's bad luck to put the hat on the bed!"

But today bad luck is something the big man they used to call the Ambling Alp no longer has to worry about. He's riding the coast now making $200,000 to $250,000 a year in the wrestling ring.

At 42 the ex-heavyweight boxing champ is a success again, and happier than he has ever been. He is in love with his own life story. And he likes to tell it, with the simple pleasure of a small boy reciting an adventure tale. But there is hardly space in one hotel room for Carnera, his king-sized bed and his over-sized voice.

The big fellow, so poor as a boy in Italy he wore gunny sacks for shoes, became European and relaying it from there. That would have taken too long. In desperation Dr. Fichtner called Col. George R. Official reports of such actions are usually terse and uncolored. For instance, this account of bringing aid to a tornado-torn community comes from the books of a unit in Wichita, Kan.:

"Pre-dawn 10 April 1947, a tornado struck Woodward, Okla. All means of communication destroyed. Obvious need for doctors, nurses and medical supplies in a hurry. The local Red Cross unit was immediately notified that they had at their disposal the C-47 and crew of the 12th Fighter Squadron. Flight instructor took off before dawn with 18 doctors and nurses and medical supplies. Crew consisted of Capt. Carl L. Buggs, Capt. John L. Greer, 2nd Lt. Gene E. Turner, 2nd Lt. David R. Hinton. Next morning another flight dispatched to area with more doctors and nurses. Return trip brought back first contingent of doctors and nurses who were in an exhausted state."

Pilots and crewmen of the Air Guard are mostly former members of the Air Force who like to keep the "feet" of flying.

The emergency call usually comes in the middle of the night.

Resuming to New Orleans.

He said cruises will feature light training maneuvers and shore liberty in Caribbean ports. Applications for orders to the cruises are being accepted by commanding officers of Naval Reserve units, the commandant said.

The first force of four ships, with space for 30 officers and 200 enlisted men, will sail Jan. 9. The second force, which can accommodate 50 officers and 500 men, will depart Jan. 23.

The chief constable of a small town is also the veterinary surgeon. One night the telephone rang and his wife answered. "Mr. Thomas there?" asked an agitated voice. "Do you want my husband as a veterinarian or as constable?" "Both," came the breathless reply. "We can't get our bulldog to open his mouth, and there's a burglar in it!"—Reader's Digest.

Jan. 9 have been set aside by the Navy, he said. The battleship Missouri heads an impressive fleet that will put to sea on the cruise.

In Hollywood by ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD - (P) - Night club heckling is having a post-war renaissance. Hecklers who try to break up an act...

So the class will please come to order for today's lesson: "Hecklers and How to Bury 'Em." Our professor: Phil Foster, night club comedian for the past 18 years.

But before Phil tells how he murders you hecklers, here's the way he classifies America's night club audiences: Eastern: Vicious, Midwestern: Vicious, Southern: A plain fight.

A heckler is trying to break up your act with verbal insults. What happens? "We don't try to bury him immediately," Phil said. "We let the audience get mad first. By the time the guy is shouting, we have the audience's sympathy and then we bury him."

But these, Phil said, are stock lines. There are occasions that call for a much finer, more artistic and more subtle technique. Like the time when Eddie Cantor was starting out in show business...

Once a week, this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent directly to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON - What ever happened to the plan to pay compensation to Americans and their dependents, both civilian and military prisoners, who suffered from starvation, overwork, illness and general mistreatment during World War II?

CLAIM - Congress acknowledged their claim, and President Truman signed the bill setting up a claims commission to examine the 115,000 cases, and to make the proper awards. It was brought out in hearings and debate that many of these people are in extreme need, and quite a few have died without any material recognition.

INCOME - Another letter on veterans matters propounds a question frequently asked by dependents of World War I and II soldiers. An Albuquerque reader wants to know whether a World War I widow, now receiving $42 a month, would forfeit that benefit if mortgage income from a house she could sell makes her income $1,000 annually.

THE worst type of heckler, Phil said, is a vicious female. Nine times out of 10, he said, you have to become vulgar to compete with her.

At peril to himself, Chambers has certainly saved the committee. The American people may be thankful that his Quaker conscience at last permitted him to "get mad" and causes him to bring out everything now without fear, though he knows the department of (in?) justice will hop on him before long.

But the most piquant angle of the case may come up when some one asks: What did Dean Acheson as State Department executive have to do with Hiss' activities? And would Dean Acheson's activities as attorney now for Hiss amount to connivance to defeat justice?

FOR THE BOMB - MUCH THANKS (New York Daily News) No matter by accident or design, the merry Thanksgiving week of 1948 saw the publication of a most unmythical and melancholy book - "No Place to Hide" by E. J. Bradley; Atlantic; Little Brown, 190 pages, $2.

This is the latest in a long line of shudder-shudder volumes aimed at scaring the livers and lights out of the American people because they possess the atom bomb.

Dr. Bradley was one of the thousands of observers who watched the overwater and underwater atom bomb blowoffs at Bikini Atoll July, 1946. He seems to have been having nightmares about the potent pineapple ever since.

His most spine-tingling assertion is that a city drenched by radioactive spray from an underwater atom explosion offshore would be pure poison to people from then on through eternity. The good doctor also rings the changes on the familiar claim that there is no place to hide, because the fact that he hat every other supposedly unbeatable weapon in history has bred its counter-weapon.

Would Truman Tell Us Why?

Perhaps President Truman would deign to testify before the committee now investigating certain persons in respect to stolen documents for the Communists.

For in that way he could do the country a greater service than that now being rendered by him when he says the investigations are nothing more than Republican-engineered "red herring."

Thursday he reiterated a former statement - made at a time when he was campaigning for reelection - that the House action probing un-American activities was nothing but propaganda.

Now, at a time when headlines all over the country are shouting the incriminating evidence, the President says the investigations are a dead one (by virtue of a Democratic Congress, come next January) and that, therefore, the present investigations may be discounted as "red herring."

But it will seem to the citizens of the country that such evidence as is now being uncovered is evidence, incriminating and shameful, whether it be gathered by those who call themselves Republicans, Democrats, or just plain Federalists.

It may appear to the people that, in a case like this, there should be no mention of politics - yet politics has predominated every investigation of subversive activities since the U. S. entered the war.

If every business head in this country will say "yes" often than he says "no" to the developments of novel, arresting and exciting new things, we can view the future with confidence, knowing that the economic basis for... a higher living standard actually exists in this country.

TO DO INJUSTICE? by Upton Close

WASHINGTON - When Alger Hiss foolishly decided to take Whitaker Chambers' dare to sue for libel, Hiss hired the law firm of Dean Acheson.

Just how a "Do unto others as ye would be done to" pacifist Quaker could have been minion to Jo Stalin's crew of Marxist dialecticians (who teach advantage of the other fellow's decency) is hard to comprehend.

Way back in 1939, before great sorrows were brought upon the United States, Chambers tried to sue Dean Acheson for being a spy.

Natural Gas Market Opened By New Acetylene Process

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—An important new market for the Southwest's vast reserves of natural gas was promised Saturday to the Southwestern chemists.

Dr. Eugene P. Schoch, director of the Bureau of Industrial Chemistry of the University of Texas, in a luncheon address at the fourth annual Southwest regional meeting of the American Chemical Society, told of an outlet to be provided through the manufacture of synthetic acetylene gas by a new process.

He described the process for which he received the first Southwest regional award Friday night in his award address at a luncheon.

His speech, entitled "Some Development in Use of Electric Discharges for Chemical Changes in Gases," closed the three-day convocation, which was attended by 1,000 chemists and chemical engineers of ten states.

In his new process, based on the principle of the neon light, Dr. Schoch utilizes methane, the chief constituent of natural gas, converting it to acetylene by an electric current, which produces a glow like that of a neon tube. The efficiency of the technique is remarkably great, Dr. Schoch said.

He explained that the low percentage of energy loss is one of the most important theoretical results attained because it gives a basis for expecting liquid hydrocarbons (gasoline and oil) to be produced from methane by electric discharge at a comparable cost with that of the Fischer-

Navy Airlift Plane Falls

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A U. S. C-54 Navy airlift plane, returning from Berlin, crashed Friday night near Homburg and killed a crew member, one of six persons aboard. Four others, including a Texan, were injured.

The accident occurred in the fog-shrouded Taunus Mountains. The hostess, Diana Day of San Francisco, escaped with slight injuries. The crash threw her clear of the plane.

"I can't understand it," said Navy Lt. Joseph Norris of Lexington, N. C., the pilot. "We were cruising at 1,000 feet, according to instruments. The radio seemed to be blacked out. The weather was foggy, but not too bad."

Norris, who was slightly hurt, searched the plane after the crash and found his engineer dead.

Ensign George H. Blackwood, San Angelo, Tex., co-pilot, suffered a fractured leg.

The Air Force withheld the name of the crew member who was killed, and a passenger, one of the Air Force officers, who was seriously injured.

Lt. Frank T. Heffernan, Bronx, N. Y., escaped injury. He said the crash came without a warning. "We were just flying along and hit the mountain," he said.

Man Plagued by Problem of Seven Million Tent Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—I know a man who's got 7,700,000—and he's complaining.

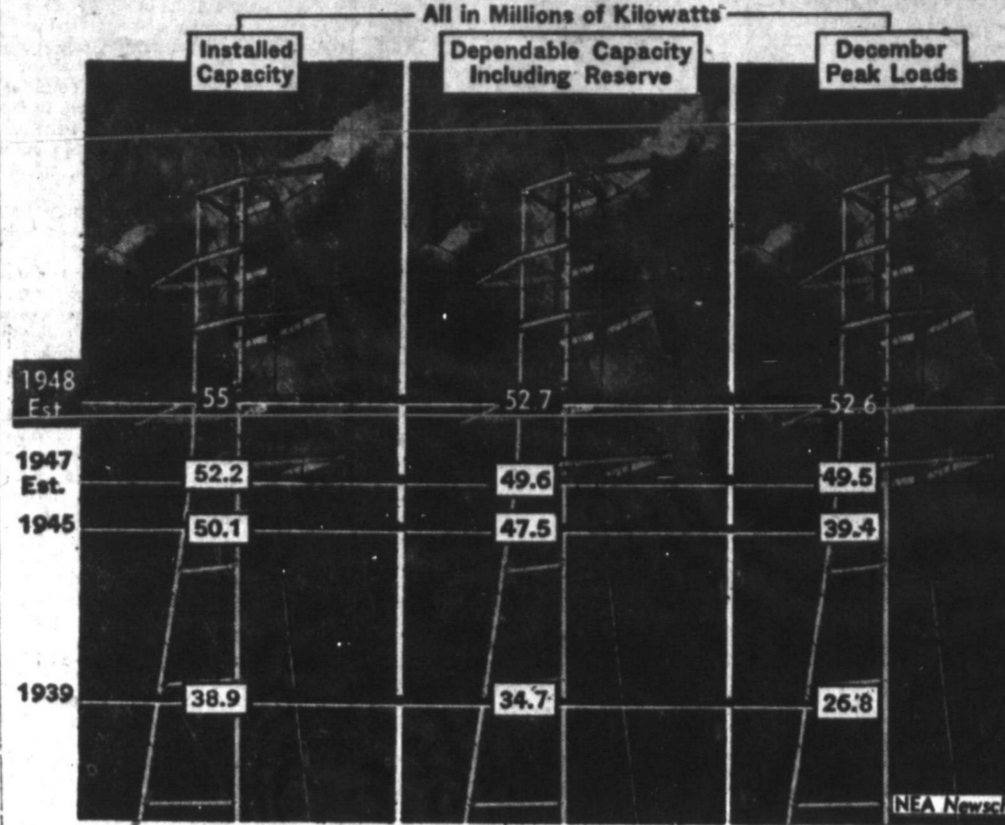

But R. W. ("Rocky") Johnson doesn't have 7,700,000 dollars. He has 7,700,000 tent stakes.

And that's why he's complaining. He's a one-man monopolist with a monopoly nobody seems to want—tent stakes. And Rocky, a Kansas City businessman, owns a mountain of 'em.

Rocky's troubles began last May while he was traveling about the country buying war surplus materials. At New Orleans an official of the War Assets Administration told him: "At Shreveport we've got 8,500,000 surplus tent stakes. It's a real bargain. Think of all the things they could be used for."

They had cost the government $898,000 — better than a dime

Christmas Means Crisis to Nation's Power Lines

December is the peak load period for U. S. power and light companies and, as the Newschart above shows, this year it brings a crisis that gives power men the jitters. Demand has overtaken supply. Reading from left to right, you'll see that the nation's installed generating capacity is about 55 million kilowatts, but this is never wholly available. Power actually available now is about 52.7 million kilowatts. Compare this with the estimated peak demand for 52.6 million and you'll know why brownouts, widespread industrial shutdowns and curtailment of power for domestic use is feared. Contrast these figures with those for prewar 1939, when available power was 34.7 million kilowatts and peak demand was only 26.8 millions, giving a comfortable margin of safety.

Fourth-Round Wage Boost Demands Loom

DALLAS (AP)—First dates for American labor's fourth-round wage boost demands were announced by Dallas Friday night.

John W. Livingston, national vice president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, revealed that his union would begin talks with the Ford Motor Company in May. Major aircraft companies will be approached about the same time, he said.

John Vinson, head of the UAW in Dallas, said talks will begin here Dec. 19 with the first of sixteen companies whose contracts expire between now and next June.

Citrus Supply Said Ahead of Demand

WESLACO (AP)—The citrus supply is still ahead of the demand, Paul Harding, Florida citrus expert, said here.

Harding, a representative of the U.S. Horticultural Field Laboratory, Orlando, Fla., said new uses for citrus are needed to balance production and consumption. He spoke before the citrus section of the Citrus and Vegetable Institute.

SPY PROBE

The memo said: "March 3, (Hershel V.) Johnson, U.S. charge at London, cabled that Lord Chatfield has told the naval attache that... he would not change his plans for cruisers this year, and in any case, new battleships would not be laid down before the end of the current year."

Lord Chatfield was Britain's first sea lord and naval staff chief from 1933 to 1938.

The House committee made public a report from a Veterans Administration handwriting expert. The committee had submitted to this expert a specimen of what it called Hiss' writing, and also the naval memorandum. The expert expressed the opinion the same man wrote both.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman, told newsmen all of the documents were believed to have been filed in the State Department in 1938. Only one was among the "pumpkin papers" which Chambers lifted from their hiding place and turned over to the House committee last week.

The others were produced by Chambers in his defense against a $75,000 libel suit brought against him in Baltimore by Hiss. Hiss is now president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

A long message signed "Grew," dispatched from Tokyo at noon, Feb. 12, 1938, and marked "strictly confidential," told then-secretary of state Cordell Hull of Japan's rising temper against the British in China.

Grew told Hull of a stormy conversation between British ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craige and then Japanese foreign minister Koki Hirota in which he said that "for the first time in our respective dealings with him, Hirota twice lost his temper with Craige."

Grew's cable continued: "The minister's demeanor tends to confirm reports which have come to both Craige and myself that Hirota is steadily becoming harder and more intransigent as regards foreign interests in the Far East."

"According to Craige, the minister (Hirota) in some instances in their intercourse became very angry, inveighed against the continual British demands for renewed assurances, said that under present war conditions Japan had given all the assurances that can reasonably be expected, and asserted that if warfare (with China) is prolonged Japan may be forced to occupy more territory whether insular or on the mainland."

Grew said the general tone of the Craige-Hirota talks "appears to have been acrimonious" and that Hirota's outbursts showed "a marked change in the minister's usually placid, courteous and friendly bearing."

Then he added: "He (Craige) believes that Japanese assurances of no territorial designs are likely to be withdrawn at short notice."

"These prospects so seriously concern British interests that he contemplates recommending or has already recommended to his government... that continued support of Chiang Kai-shek, whether by furnishing war supplies and funds or otherwise, is detrimental to British interests."

Such information obviously would have been of great value to the Japanese at that time. A cable from U. S. Consul General John C. Wiley in Vienna, marked "rush" and sent to Secretary Hull on Feb. 15, 1938, told of a dinner he attended with Austrian Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg and other top diplomats shortly before Hitler imposed his "anschluss" on Austria.

Wiley noted that the dinner atmosphere was "most oppressive" and continued:

"To French minister, Schuschnigg described visit to Berchtesgaden as the most horrible day of his life. He says Hitler undoubtedly a madman with a mission and in complete control of Germany."

"Hitler openly told him of his desire to annex Austria and declared that he could march into Austria with much greater ease and infinitely less danger than he incurred in remilitarization of the Rhineland."

"To French minister, Schuschnigg felt that the actions which he was about to take would produce a temporary breathing period but in the end would prove just as unsatisfactory to Hitler as his actions which followed the accord of July, 1936."

In this accord, Hitler recognized Austrian sovereignty, and Austria acknowledged herself to be a German state. On Feb. 12, 1938, Hitler in a conference at Berchtesgaden put strong pressure on Schuschnigg. Defenseless, Schuschnigg agreed to a number of concessions. Among other things he admitted several Nazi sympathizers into his cabinet, including Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, who got control of the Austrian police.

Bullitt, in his cable of Feb. 16, said Schuschnigg "expected that at some future date Germany would attempt again to repeat the Berchtesgaden coup on the Austrian frontier."

An event proved, Hitler did just that—and marched in.

On March 29, Ambassador Biddle in Warsaw, Poland, disclosed to the State Department, that he had received from Polish officials "in the strictest confidence" a story of Mussolini's plans to avert German encroachment in the Danubian valley.

EMIL F. MYERS, Amarillo, conductor general of the Panhandle choruses, originated the idea for presentation of "The Messiah" in various Panhandle towns. The first presentation was in Pampa in 1936 with a chorus of 39 people. Myers was conductor and Mrs. May Foreman Carr and Mrs. Lila Myers were pianists.

Pampa's First Presentation Of 'The Messiah' Was in '30

The regional Messiah presentation began in 1915 when 80 voices from Amarillo and Canyon sang the oratorio in the old Grand Opera House, since burned.

Amarillo expects nearly 500 voices to join in the 18th annual presentation, being held tonight.

The Pampa group will present ten choruses this year, concluding with "Worthy is the Lamb." The audience will rise during the Hallelujah chorus, according to custom. At the close of the concert, the Twentieth Century Club and the Chamber of Commerce will honor the chorus with a reception in the Junior High Cafeteria.

Local soloists being featured are Miss Dorthea Loewen, alto, who will sing the Recitative "Behold a Virgin Shall Conceive," and the aria "O Thou That Tellest of the Tides;" Miss Edith Kral, soprano, will sing "Come Unto Him;" Mrs. Lucille Hinson, alto, will sing the Recitative "Then Shall the Eyes of the Blind Be Opened," the aria "He Shall Feed His Flock," and "He Was Despised and Rejected of Men;" Mrs. Floyd Wilson, soprano, will sing the Recitative "There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Field," and "And, Lo the Angels of the Lord;" Miss Janet Ethridge, soprano, will sing the Recitative "And Suddenly There Was the Angel," and "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Other soloists: Clifton Janak, baritone, Amarillo, who will sing the Recitative "For Behold, Darkness Shall Cover the Earth;" L. R. Sperberg, bass, Borger, "The People That Walked in Darkness;" Mrs. Virginia Probst, soprano, Borger, "Rejoice Greatly;" Mrs. C. I. Turner, alto, Borger, "How Beautiful For Behold, the Earth;" Dwight Elliott, bass, Amarillo, "Thus Saith the Lord;" and aria "But Who May Abide?" and "Why Do the Nations So Furiously Rage Together?"

Officers of the Pampa Civic Chorus are: Jack Skelley, president; Kirk Duncan, secretary; Mrs. Oran Payne, secretary; G. F. Branson, treasurer; Mrs. Lynn Boyd, chairman of the sponsor committee and Mrs. J. W. Garman, Jr., reporter.

Members of the Pampa chorus who are going to Amarillo to join the other Panhandle choruses in the presentation of "The Messiah" are requested to meet at 6 p. m. at the First Methodist Church.

DUSTER

Fires race east through the cracking woodlands of East Texas. At Tyler, the prized rose bush industry has taken a whipping-rainfall is less than half of normal.

Pasture crops have been dead since mid-summer in Grayson County, North Texas, and grain crops are losing out. Even South Texas ranges are suffering, a report from Jim Wells County said.

The North Plains counties of the Panhandle have had more than normal rainfall—wheat prospects are satisfactory. But the farm picture is bleak in South Plains counties and stock tanks are dry.

Beaumont, on the Gulf Coast, has had 32 inches of rain but says it's a dry year. Dallas has had only 2.90 inches of rain since July 11.

Here is a section-by-section report: San Angelo: It's the driest four years on record. Ranchmen to the west who ordinarily run 5,000 to 7,000 breeding ewes now are running from 600 to 1,300—and all are being fed. Very little range land has any appreciable grass.

Only irrigated small grains are doing well. What few cattle are still on the range are carrying comparatively good flesh. Only 49.47 inches of rain in four years. Midland: Drouth condition critical; range and farm lands driest in years. High winds have kicked up sand several weeks. Ranchers have started feeding. Foy Proctor, one of West Texas' biggest cattlemen, says situation bad but country is light enough stocked so that, with reasonable feeding, stock can weather the cold months. Cotton production 60 percent of normal.

Arlene: With drouth in fourth year, range in this area has ebbed to all-time low. Conditions in Callahan and Coleman counties especially bad. Cattle, sheep, goats, being fed grain, hay, cottonseed hulls. Wheat grazing failed to materialize. There is concern for large acreage of wheat planted.

Tyler: Fires are burning over woodlands and pastures in every sector. In the rose bush industry, budding ran as much as two months late. Fall truck acreage far below normal. Most dairymen have had their cattle on feed since June. Cotton has benefited from the dry weather.

San Antonio: Crops and feed generally in better shape than at same time last year. Cattle, other small grain badly need rain. Stock in good shape due to curtailment of herds. Very little grass left.

Beaumont: Thirty-two inches of rain through November, about 20 inches short of full year's average. Winters pastures about 60 days late but responding well to recent rain. Condition of cattle fair.

El Paso: Rainfall about half of normal. No measurable rainfall last month. Range conditions fair. Some cattle moved to feed lots; others sold.

Alice: Ranges suffering and much stock has been sold off. Stock tanks still have water. Little damage to grain sorghums, flax, onions and spinach in Jim Wells County. Pastures sadly lacking in grasses in Jim Wells, Duval and Brooks counties.

Amarillo: Year's precipitation 3.88 inches above normal. Over most of North Plains there is considerable grazing of wheat, indicating satisfactory condition for this area's principal farm product. Most South Plains counties are in poor shape as far as drouth in farming is concerned. Amarillo rainfall best since 1941.

Wichita Falls: It's the driest fall on record in this area, with only two and one-half inches of rain since Sept. 1. A seven-county survey by the Wichita Falls Record News shows stock tanks have dried up, pasture grasses are skimpy and brittle and prospective wheat profits have been cut thousands of dollars. The counties included in the survey are Wichita, Montague, Jack, Knox, Hardeman, Young and Haskell.

Risk, and investment which a feeding program demands. As for lambs, the Department of Agriculture finds them in the lowest supply in 30 years. The support price for wool, which is a good share of the value of a lamb, will be no higher next year than this. Even if it were boosted, it still takes three years or more to expand the nation's sheep flocks.

Both the swift and the peregrine falcon can fly 200 miles an hour.

PRICES (Continued from Page 1) further fattening. 4. With slaughter prices high for mature range animals, feeders passed them up and turned to calves and yearlings for stocking up their feedlots. Young stock such as this requires eight to 10 months or more to achieve a high market finish, pushing their dinner table availability beyond next July 1. 5. An important new influence in the Western cattle raisers themselves are going into the feeding business. They have found that the nation's population is shifting westward, that there is a good West Coast demand for fat beef, and that it adds more profit to feed local grass and cottonseed cake, plus some imported corn as a supplement, than to ship out the thin cattle to Midwestern areas for further feeding. 6. A less direct influence is a reported growing tendency among money lending institutions to require the cattle feeder to put up a bigger proportion of the purchase price for a herd of feeder cattle. 7. And, of course, with the attractive government loan value pasted on sealed corn, averaging about $1.44 a bushel nationally, some farmers who might normally feed cattle or lambs are staying out and avoiding the work.

Specialist Ruins Pop's Excuse for Electric Train

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — So you're going to buy that expensive electric train for junior, aged six months, and see his eyes sparkle in glee Christmas morning.

Don't, advises Mrs. Eloise T. Johnson.

She is extension family education specialist of Texas A & M College. There are some tips she gives Christmas shoppers with a wee tot in the family:

When you start looking for toys, don't forget how old the child is. Buy toys that suit the age of the youngster. For instance, a very small child will take to something that's bright colored and makes a noise. Be sure it doesn't have any sharp edges or poisonous paints, because he'll put it in his mouth if he can. Be sure it's too large for him to swallow. For the sake of the family, you might watch to see that the noise isn't too shrill.

Children a little older like the push and pull toys and ones that make noise too. Big blocks and big things they can lift and carry—wagons, carts and trucks—just like the real ones—are toys that will make the two year old happy and help him grow and learn.

And those a little older are even more active. They like tractors, dump trucks, a stake wagon with removable sides, or a fire truck big enough to ride on—play houses, doll buggies, telephones and plastic dishes. Remember that toys are to be played with over and over so get things that will stand real wear.

"We can help do away with some of the Christmas tensions with toys that are fun through our shopping carefully," says Mrs. Johnson. "But don't wait too long, or there won't be anything left."

"Start now, while the counters are still full and the choices are many. If you do, you'll find what you're looking for."

Three Persons Burn To Death in 24 Hours

DALLAS — (AP) — Three persons were burned to death here in the space of 24 hours.

J. T. Nichols, 64, a cripple, died in an apartment blaze Friday night.

A man believed to be Thomas Bradley, 76, was found in the embers of a fire that destroyed a river bottom shack early Friday morning.

William Kirk died of burns received early Friday morning as he was burning leaves.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in London in 1844 by George Williams and a group of employees of a drapery firm.

Bearden's Latest Pitch Has Only Camera for an Audience

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — RANGY Gene Bearden glanced toward first base, then cocked his leg in the air and hurled a stinging ball toward home plate.

It was just like big league stuff—except that the grandstand of the Hollywood Baseball Park was empty and the batter was Jimmy Stewart, doing an imitation of one-legged Monty Stratton. Also, the camera was turning.

After the scene was shot, I buttonholed Bearden, the pride of the Cleveland Indians. A tall, husky-built man, he has the rugged good looks of a Burt Lancaster. Like many sports figures he's a laconic talker, but I found out a few facts by tossing questions at him.

Has he ever acted before? "Yes, I was in a few plays in high school. Nothing since then." "First time around a movie lot?" "Naw, I worked as a rigger at Fox back in '45. I was playing for Oakland then."

I asked Director Sam Wood about Gene's acting.

"He looks very good on the screen," he answered. "He looks as good as Red Grange did. I directed Red in his first picture and he could have been a star. But he found out he could make more money playing pro football."

Jimmy Stewart is faced with the task of batting against Bearden, and the actor gave up baseball after high school, except for some softball "under duress" during his Army career.

"It's a mighty frightening thing to see that ball coming at you," he commented, "especially when the script calls for a ball high and inside. The first time it happened I just turned my teeth the other way."

Isn't that just like an actor—to think first of saving his teeth?

Cabinet Parley Will Deal With State Finances

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Beauford J. Jester and state department heads will talk finances at a meeting of his administrative cabinet Dec. 20.

Jester, announcing the session, also revealed that he is in favor of pay raises for state employees. Jester also told his press conference that it is too early to say whether there will be any need for new taxes.

The meeting of his cabinet will be held as a preliminary to Jester's budget recommendations for the 81st Legislature meeting Jan. 11. The Governor said he would ask the comptroller for a forecast on anticipated revenue but he did not expect to be ready with this immediately.

Winds Dry Texas Soil

AUSTIN — (AP) — Moisture-stealing high winds dried topsoil in all parts of Texas last week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported.

This aggravated droughty conditions in most areas, brought on by continued lack of rain.

The dry, cold weather held growth of small grain pastures, winter weeds, clovers and rescue grass to a standstill nearly everywhere.

Eastern and Coastal Bend counties had fair moisture supplies, mostly suitable for growing crops as well as for necessary field work. Scattered southern counties and northern counties of the High Plains were also in fair shape, but all remaining areas continued very dry. Some losses of small grain resulted from windstorms and freezes and growth was generally retarded by low temperatures and lack of moisture.

The wheat crop was holding up well in northern High Plains counties, but in all other areas, growth was at a standstill.

The cold weather of the previous weekend that destroyed vegetables in the Eagle Pass-Winter Garden-Laredo districts reached in to the lower Rio Grande Valley on the morning of the 30th. Damage to tender crops was general throughout the valley but severe in the west end from around Mission to Roma. Despite the low temperatures in all areas hardy type vegetables came through in fairly good condition. Crops in the Coastal Bend were in especially good condition, and by the latter part of the week other sections were showing good progress. Harvest of beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots and spinach was underway in the Winter Garden, Eagle Pass, Laredo and lower valley districts.

Siberia covers nearly one-sixth of the world's land area and has almost one-tenth of the world's inhabitants.

Gas Plentiful in West Texas Says Gas Co. Head

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Power Commission was told that supplies of natural gas in West Texas and New Mexico are ample to meet all foreseeable demands for at least 15 years.

This forecast was presented by Paul Kayser, president of the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the San Juan Pipeline.

Testifying at a hearing on applications of the companies to deliver gas to the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. of San Francisco, Kayser said:

"There is nobody who sees a shortage of gas for the next 15 years, except to cover peak consumption periods and I'll say there won't be any shortage after 15 years, or 20 years."

"Those cut-offs which do become necessary during peaks are not caused by questions of supply but simply by limitations on sizes of pipelines."

Most of Kayser's testimony dealt with technical problems of deliveries and rates to be charged PG&E.

He told the commission the San Juan Co. proposes to pick up 150 million cubic feet of gas daily in the San Juan Basin. Its pipeline would extend roughly from the northwest corner of Arizona, Arizona towns which lie "within striking distance" of the pipeline would be served by it, he testified.

Official Vote Total Gives 49.5 Percent to President Truman

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A total of 49,263,798 ballots were cast on Nov. 2, but only 48,680,418 were marked for president.

That means 683,382 voters' ballots for state, county and local candidates, but skipped making a choice for the highest office in the land.

The 48,680,418 total vote for president is the second highest in history. In 1940, the record year, it was 49,520,312. In 1944 it was 47,976,263.

The results became available with tabulation by the Associated Press of official totals from the 48 states.

Presidential electors meet Monday in the state capitals to go through the formality of casting their votes. President Truman should get 304 from 28 states unless Tennessee gives one or two of hers to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will get 189 from 16 states, and Thurmond 88 from four, excluding that possible mix-up in Tennessee.

Truman's total vote was 24,104,886. Dewey received 21,969,500; Thurmond 1,169,312; Henry A. Wallace, Progressive, 1,187,100; Norman Thomas, Socialist, 132,138; Claude A. Watson, Prohibition, 103,348; Edward A. Teichert, Socialist-Labor 27,921; Farrell Dobbs, Socialist Workers 13,007, and the rest scattered.

Truman won by a plurality of 2,135,386, but it was the first time since 1916 that a winner has failed to capture a majority of all votes cast. His percentage was 49.5. Dewey was 45.1, and the others combined 5.4.

Ex-Spy Feels Human Again Since Renouncing Red-ism

NEW YORK (NEA)—Elizabeth T. Bentley sat in an overstuffed chair with a white cat on her lap. She looked more like a New England schoolmarm than a spy queen.

In the last 15 years or so, she has been both. As an active Communist espionage agent who broke away from the party, she became a headline figure when her story was revealed last summer. Now with communism out of her life, Miss Bentley said:

"It's the first time in 13 years I've felt like a human being."

In the Catholic residence club for business women where she lives, Miss Bentley stays out of the limelight except for lecture appearances she is making. Later, she'll "probably go back to school-teaching."

A tall, slender woman dressed in a blue suit with lace blouse and a crucifix on a chain about her throat, she spoke with complete frankness of her shadowed past and the future she looks forward to with confidence.

For 13 years, she had lived a strange and strained life. First, on guard as a Communist Party member; later as an active espionage agent; then, after she left the party, working undercover with the FBI and facing grand juries and the House Un-American Activities Committee.

She is not the dramatic type you might expect a headline spy queen to be. "Just tell your friends," she instructed dryly, "not to bring up their children to be spies."

Discussing her recent conversion to catholicism, she said it was not on sudden impulse. Even as a student at Vassar, she related, she studied the life of St. Francis of Assisi and was greatly inspired.

At the time of the hearings in Washington, she met Louis Budenz, the former Daily Worker editor who had embraced catholicism. She spoke to him of the whole problem and told him she wanted to receive religious instruction. This she received from Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen.

She is glad she was slow in making her decision, because "the longer you have to think about things, the surer you are you're in the right place. That's the trouble with me as a Communist. I just jumped in feet first."

She added that she did wish the public would make it easier for others to cogite out of communism.

"In my case, I'm lucky. But others receive a bad reception. What bothers me is that in a lot of these cases I know they would have come out if they had known they wouldn't be kicked in the teeth. It's an economic problem for some, too. They're afraid of physical reprisal and mud being slung at them, and not being able to get a job."

Capital Preaches Equality, Practices Discrimination

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—In this capital of the nation more is said about all men being equal—and ending discrimination because of race, color or religious belief—than anywhere else in America.

For that reason the things that are preached—and those actually practiced—are shown in strange contrast in a 91-page report called "Segregation in Washington."

This is the result of a study, begun in 1946, of the treatment given Negroes in Washington.

It is sponsored by a committee, called "The National Committee on Segregation in the Nation's Capital," made up of 51 prominent men and women, white and Negro, from all over the country.

What follows is taken from the committee's report, either in direct quotes or briefed form:

"In spite of all its principles and all its professions, its executive orders and directives, the government is systematically denying the colored citizens of the capital equal opportunity in employment and is setting an example of racial discrimination to the city and the nation."

"Discrimination prevails in all (government) departments in varying forms, usually as a matter of accepted practice."

"In some departments Negroes are hired only for menial jobs."

"In Washington the schools for whites and Negroes are separate. White and Negro athletic or debating teams never meet. The schools for colored children are inferior to those for whites. Negro schools are too few and too small. Negro schools are short of teachers."

In the school-year 1946-47, the white schools received $180.21 per pupil for current operations, and the Negro schools $128.52.

Only one of the four universities in the city—not counting all-Negro Howard University—admits Negroes as undergraduates.

Only 20 percent of the people living in the District of Columbia are Negroes. But 70 percent of the people living in slums are Negroes.

And 69 percent of the people who die from tuberculosis are Negroes. And 69 percent of the people arrested for crimes are Negroes.

In 1946 Negro babies born in the district were almost twice as likely to die as white babies. Negro mothers were six times as likely to die as white mothers.

One-fourth of the 12 private hospitals exclude Negroes altogether. The remainder allot them a number of beds in segregated wards.

"Negro doctors are segregated from the district medical society and from the American Medical Association."

They also are barred from all the 12 private hospitals of the city. There is only one hospital in the city to which a Negro doctor can take a private patient.

Negroes who work for a living in Washington work longer hours and the percentage of Negro teenagers working is twice that of whites.

Negroes are excluded from most skilled trades by the craft unions, and from white industries by management policy. In stores, on buses and street cars they have little chance for a job. The big department stores deny a Negro woman a chance to become a clerk.

Negroes can ride beside white people on street cars and buses but they are segregated in theaters, restaurants, churches, parks, and playgrounds.

Strike Sentiment Spreads Among Phone Workers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Strike sentiment was spreading among union employees of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. after the union charged the company with stalling in negotiations on a new wage contract.

A spokesman for the company vigorously denied the charge.

Company officials asked for additional time to study the union's counter-proposal calling for a flat wage increase of $6 a week. The company's latest offer stands at $2 to $6 a week raise.

The recess in negotiations will continue until Monday and probably longer.

Frank P. Lonergan, vice-president of Division 20 of the Communications Workers of America, said the union has practically completed strike preparations in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas.

"We hope we don't have to use them," he said.

Father Marries Son's Ex-Wife

PAONIA, Colo. (AP)—Rep. Robert F. Rockwell (R-Colo.) and his son's divorced wife are honeymooning in Miami, Fla., where they were married Nov. 23.

The 62-year-old congressman, defeated for reelection, said he will return Dec. 19 to Washington, D. C., with his 33-year-old bride, Elizabeth Armstrong Rockwell. He wrote a newspaper editor friend in his hometown here that they plan to live there indefinitely.

Rockwell's son, Wilson, was divorced from the bride Dec. 19, 1947. He married Emid Wolverson of Paonia last April 26.

The younger Rockwell said last night: "This marriage is unusual, I know. But we in the family who understand it, are quite in favor of it."

The young of the opossum are born incompletely developed and live constantly in their mother's pouch for nearly two months after birth.

The Right Rev. Philip N. W. Strong, Lord Bishop of New Guinea, is visiting the United States to thank American soldiers who helped liberate the island from the Japanese. Arriving on his first visit to the U. S., the bishop said, "I think New Guinea will always be sacred ground, for thousands of Americans gave their lives there."

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY: Well-to-do Louis Durand carries on a correspondence courtship with a Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. She comes from St. Louis to New Orleans by boat to marry him. She is young, vivacious, blond. Within a month of their marriage, she withdraws $50,000 from his bank account and disappears. Investigation proves her an impostor. Durand retains Walter Downs, detective, to prove that the woman who was committed against the real Julia Russell, who vanished on the boat trip to New Orleans. A year later, Durand is alone in El Paso. He makes the acquaintance of a Colonel Worth in a hotel bar. Worth persuades Durand to dine with him and his fiancée, Miss Castle, the following evening. At the restaurant, Durand catches a glimpse of Miss Castle before he is seen himself. She is the woman he knew as Julia. He quickly leaves.

XXXIII

ONE thing and one alone he wanted, one thing alone he'd have. He wanted her death.

He stood for a while outside their hotel, hers and Worth's, to calm himself, to compose himself. Then he turned and went into the brightly lighted lobby of the place. He went unobtrusively toward the desk, stopped before it, drummed his fingernails upon its white-veined black marble top to hasten the clerk's attention.

Then when he had it, "I'm a friend of Colonel Worth's. I've just left him and his party at the Grotto."

"Yes, sir. Can I be of service?"

"One of the young ladies with us—I believe she's stopping here—found the evening chiller than she expected it to be. She's sent me back for her scarf. She explained to me where it's to be found. May I be allowed, to go up and fetch it for her?"

The clerk was professionally cautious. "Could you describe her to me?"

"She's blond, and a rather small little person."

The clerk's doubts vanished. "Oh, that's the colonel's fiancée, Miss Castle. In Room Two-six. I'll have a bellboy take you up immediately, sir."

He jarred a bell, handed over a key with the requisite instructions.

Durand was taken up to the second floor, in a ponderous lattice-work elevator. Its shaft transparent on all sides. He noted that a staircase coiled around this on the outside, rising as it rose, attaining the same destination.

They went down a hall. There was a brief delay, as the bellboy fiddled with the door and tried it. Then as the door opened, the most curious sensation that he had ever had swept over Durand. It was as though he were near her all over again.

SHE was present to every faculty but vision. Her perfume still lay ghostly on the air. He could feel her at the ends of all his pores. A discarded taffeta garment flung over the back of a chair rustled again as she moved, in memory, in his ears.

It whipped his hate so, it steered him to his purpose. He made no false step, wasted not a move.

The bellboy had remained defiantly beside the open door.

"She must be mistaken," Durand said plausibly, for the other's benefit but as if speaking to himself. "I don't see it over the chair."

He raised the taffeta underlip, replaced it again. "It must be in one of these bureau drawers." He opened one, closed it again. Then a second. From this he withdrew a length of filmy heliotrope voile, sufficient at least for the purpose of his visit if nothing else.

"This, I guess," he said, concealing a relieved smile at his good fortune.

He closed the drawer, came back toward the door, stuffing it into his side pocket.

The joy's eyes, inevitably, were on his prodding hand. His were on the edge of the door, turned inward so that it faced him. It had, above the latch-tongue, a small rounded depression. A plunger controlling the lock. He had counted on that.

Before the boy was aware of it, Durand had relieved him of the duty of reclosing the door; grasping it by its edge, not its knob, directing over the plunger, and drawing it closed after the twist of them.

He had, while doing so, changed the plunger, pressing it in, leaving the door off-lock and simply unlatch no matter whether a key was used or not.

He then allowed the boy to complete his appointed task of turning the key, extracting it and once that was done, distracted him from testing it further by having a silver half-dollar extended in his hand for him.

They went down together, the boy all smiles.

Durand nodded thanks to the clerk as he went by, tapped his pocket to show him that he had secured what he'd come for.

He went from there to his own room, unlocked his traveling bag, and took out the pistol. He cracked it open, though he knew already it was fully charged; and found that it was. Then he sheathed it in the inside pocket of his coat and returned to her hotel.

He went up the stairs to the second floor without meeting anybody. He followed the corridor along which the page had led him before, with its flower-carpeted red carpeting and walnut-dark doors. He paused before one of them, cast a quick precautionary look about him, seized the knob, gave it a rapid turn, and was in. He closed it after him.

There were the same low night lights burning. She wasn't back. He selected a chair at random, sank into it to wait.

He waited from then on without a move, and the night seemed to wait with him.

It must have been hours later that he heard her laugh, somewhere far in the distance.

(To Be Continued)

He whipped his hate so, it steered him to his purpose. He made no false step, wasted not a move.

The bellboy had remained defiantly beside the open door.

"She must be mistaken," Durand said plausibly, for the other's benefit but as if speaking to himself. "I don't see it over the chair."

Tomato Crop Cut By Cold Weather

LAREDO —(AP)— The November cold weather in the Rio Grande Valley around Laredo reduced that section's tomato crop almost in half.

Tomato growers estimated that the section will market about 480 carloads of tomatoes, including truck shipments. This compares with 650 carloads moved last year. Growers earlier estimated shipments would total 800 cars. Acreage planted was considerably greater this year than last.

U.N. Committee Completes Human Rights Declaration

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The most far-reaching Declaration of Human Rights ever devised has been completed by the United Nations Social Committee after two and a half years of diligent labor and is ready for consideration by the General Assembly.

The 21 articles in this historic document are calculated to encompass all the dream of the centuries for the well-being of mankind. Because of this the highest significance attaches to the fact that Russia and her satellites bitterly opposed the declaration, which includes such articles as these:

Everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of person—to freedom of thought, conscience and religion—to freedom of opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media regardless of frontiers.

Everyone has the right to a nationality—to take part in the government of his country—to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of himself and family—to a social and international order in which the rights and freedoms set forth in the declaration can be fully realized. All human beings are born free and equal, in dignity and rights.

The 58-member Social Committee approved it 26 to 6 and now it goes to the General Assembly.

It isn't difficult to understand, of course, why the Bolsheviks should turn thumbs down on the declaration, and claimed it failed to include a condemnation of fascism.

Under the Red lam man is merely a pawn of the Communist high command. The only right he has is to sing in unison with the other stooges. Bolshevism couldn't exist under any such code as is projected by the declaration of rights.

It isn't hard to understand why Moscow should have a special hatred for the Italian and German isms, and should have applied the term "fascist" to both brands of anticommunism. What a lot of folk don't realize, however, is that Moscow has extended the use of "Fascist" to apply to any government, organization or even individual opposing communism.

Many of course use "Fascist" in connection with any totalitarian regime. If we accept that as its definition, it applies to all Bolshevik governments, but obviously doesn't apply to all anti-Communists.

Hollywood Split Again Reported

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Trigger-happy gossips again are rumormongering a split in the Barbara Stanwyck-Robert Taylor marriage, and the actress is denying the reports for the umpteenth time.

The cause of these recurring rumors, Barbara reasons, is her penchant for changing houses like some women change their hairdos.

Barbara confessed that she has changed houses six times in their 10-year marriage, thereby creating at least six opportunities for the rumor mongers.

Dennis O'Keefe has this explanation on why some of the current comedies are not funny: there aren't enough comedians.

O'Keefe had to abandon a comedy he wanted to produce because he couldn't find a co-star. Gals like Dunne, Young and Russell are too expensive and the few young ones who can handle comedy—he named Jeanne Crain and June Allyson—aren't allowed out of their studios.

"Comedy is the hardest thing to act," he said on the "Dan Patch" set.

McAllen Approves Public School Plan

McALLEN —(AP)— Unofficial approval of the Gilmer-Aikin public school plan has been expressed by the McAllen Independent School District.

Supt. T. E. McCullem said he figured the formula would add $100,000 to school funds here without raising taxes. The board invited Lt. Gov. Allen Shivers, Jester Appoints Judge

AUSTIN —(AP)— Gov. Beauford H. Jester appointed Ben F. Moorhead as judge of the 11th Judicial District at Houston, to succeed the late Judge W. W. Moore. Moorhead had been elected to the post in November. Moore did not seek reelection.

Rep. Joe Kilgore and State Senator Rogers Kelly to discuss the plan with them.

Domestic, Foreign Policy Called Most Important for New Congress

DALLAS —(AP)— Lyndon Johnson says he wants the seven million people of Texas to help him be a good senator.

The young Democratic senator-elect addressed the Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. He said he would be the best senator within his power.

Johnson said the biggest problem facing the new Congress was how to insure peace. He said again that he favors continued foreign aid and a preparedness program in keeping with ability to pay.

About business, he said, "I see nothing on the horizon to turn us into a tailspin, or either a depression or recession."

After his talk Johnson went to Temple to visit Mrs. Johnson, who is recuperating following an operation there.

National Resources Said Nearing End Unless Strictly Conserved

SAN ANTONIO —(P)— John G. Sinclair, Texas conservationist, says if resources of the U. S. are not conserved, soon it will be too late for conservation. A faculty member of the University of Texas medical branch at Galveston and president of the conservation council of the Texas Academy of Science, Sinclair delivered a paper at the academy's convention here. Dr. Omer E. Sperry, Texas A & M College, reported that poisonous plants, which destroy many animals, have increased as a result of over grazing on Texas ranges. This year, he said, some ranchers lost as many as 80 percent of their sheep through bitter-weed poisoning. Roy L. Donahue, extension agronomist at Texas A & M, said that in teaching soil conservation it is necessary to overcome a certain degree of inertia among the people directly concerned. He blamed this on the fact that the gradual disaster of soil is less spectacular than other disasters which are no more serious in the end. Dr. J. Bryan Eby, Houston geologist, was announced as president of the academy, succeeding Dr. L. W. Blau, of Galveston. The election was held recently by mail ballot. Other officers elected were C. W. Pomeroy, University of Texas medical branch, Galveston, executive vice-president; Gladys H. Baird, Huntsville, secretary-treasurer; and the following sectional vice-presidents: Newton Gaines, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth; Gordon

Texans to Get Daily Holiday

AUSTIN —(P)— Texans will get a day-by-day count from the Department of Public Safety when people start killing each other with automobiles before Christmas. A promise to rush reports on every traffic fatality came from Director Homer Garrison. "People can't believe it when we tell them that 35 Texans will be killed in the ten days from Dec. 23 through Jan. 1. And it's even harder for them to believe that 30 will be killed and 900 injured in the two days immediately before Christmas," Garrison said. "We are asking Texas Highway Patrolmen to rush reports to the press and radio twice a day. And we hope the bloody details—the names and places—will hit the people in the face like a wet towel and cause at least some of them to ease up on the accelerator, stay out from behind the wheel when they're drinking, and be extra careful in every way."

Oil Operators Winning Fights Against Shutdown

AUSTIN —(P)— Oil operators continued to win their court fights against the Railroad Commission's shutdown orders which would stop oil production until flare gas is turned to beneficial use. Judge Charles O. Betts of 98th District Court granted a permanent injunction against the order to the Flour Bluff Oil Co., Humble Oil and Refining Co., and the Barnsdall Oil Co. of the Flour Bluff field, Nueces County. Last week he permanently enjoined the commission from enforcing its shutdown order in the Heyser field, Calhoun and Victoria counties. That decision has been appealed directly to the Supreme Court by the state attorney general, and hearing is scheduled Jan. 12. The state is expected to appeal the trial court's decision in the Flour Bluff field and any other adverse rulings which may result from the trial of 15 similar cases. The club will hold its installation banquet on Wednesday night. Evelyn Laycock is the incoming president of the club, succeeding incumbent Lieb Langston.

Mrs. Stewart Resigns From State Senate

AUSTIN —(P)— Gov. Beauford H. Jester announced receipt of the formal resignation of State Senator Maribelle (Mrs. Lacy) Stewart of Houston. Mrs. Stewart gave "personal matters" as her reason for resigning, the Governor said. A special election will be called for Jan. 8 to select a new state senator from the district, he said.

Nap in Back Seat Results in Death

BEAUMONT —(P)— A nap in the back of a car ended in death for a New Bedford, Mass., merchant seaman who suffocated at the Stanolind docks when his cigaret apparently ignited upholstery. Deputy Sheriff Russell Bridges, who investigated, said the man, William O. Forrest, 42, was an able-bodied seaman aboard the SS J. W. Van Dyke, a tanker. Justice of the Peace David Bush returned a verdict of death by suffocation. Similar suits still pending in 98th and 83rd district courts. Thirteen fields are involved in the suits yet to be heard.

Postoffice to Initiate New Service for Yule Mailing

The Pampa Postoffice will initiate a new service during the 1948 Christmas rush season, W.B. Westherrer, postmaster, said this morning.

During the heavy mailing season a man will be stationed in the lobby of the Postoffice to stamp and insure the packages. He will have a scale on a table in the center of the lobby, and weigh each parcel.

At the window, two men will receive the parcels, attach the stamps and write in the insured number. The general delivery window will be moved to the window at the right of the present general delivery window in the middle of the lobby to lessen congestion.

"We hope with our new service there will not need to be any waiting lines for Pampans wishing to mail parcels," Westherrer said.

The postmaster has urged that out-of-state parcels be mailed not later than tomorrow in order that they may be delivered before Christmas.

With the normal mail volume at an all-time high, Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson today warned Christmas mailers that unless they mail their Christmas parcels at once and their Christmas cards well in advance of Christmas week that they face the likelihood of not having them delivered until after Christmas.

Directing the attention of Christmas mailers to the fact that normal mail volume in the Life Looks Like Series Of 'Flops'

By HAL JOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A man comes home from his toil and finds waiting for him there a wife as weary as if she had spent the whole day wrestling an alligator.

When he asks, "How come, Baby?" he is told wistfully: "Kian works from sun to sun but woman's work is never done."

This doesn't clarify the mystery at all. For the average husband is convinced that if there is one person who has an easier life than his boss—it's his wife. He can't understand why she can get so worn out when he has been breaking his own back earning enough money to buy gadgets to make her housework simple.

The only way for a husband to get at the real truth of the matter is to stay home and find out what makes a wife so tired. What are her problems? How does she meet them?

Last week I was bedfast in my own four-room castle with a tumult in my loes that the doctor called a rheumatoid infection. I had a good chance to observe the work routine of my wife, Frances. Business often sharpens the senses, and I think I have finally found out why wives get weary.

If your household is anything like mine, this is the way the day goes:

The good wife cooks and eats breakfast and carries out the dishes to the sink. Then she goes back to bed and lies down for a few minutes.

Up she jumps and goes in and feverishly does the dishes. She flops on the couch and rests. She jumps up and does the beds. She flops on the loveseat and makes out a grocery list. She jumps up to answer the phone.

She flops down on the couch. She bounces up to go to the door. No, she tells the man, she doesn't want to buy a four-volume history of Abyssinia.

And so the day wears. She's up... She's down... She's down... She's up.

After watching this for six days, I felt I was in a position to offer Frances my findings.

"Housewives could climb the Washington monument with the strength they waste flopping down and getting up all day long. Either they should stay up longer and get more work done or else lie down longer and get more rest."

When I asked Frances what she thought of this theory, she said:

"I don't care for your use of the word flop. And for your theory, all I think it shows is that you are well enough to go back to work."

I guess my theory was a flop—I mean a failure. But it also explains why husbands come home tired. They sit at their desks, then get up and go to the water cooler to keep from tackling a problem. They come back, flop in their chair, rustle some papers—and back to the water cooler. They're up... They're down... They're down... They're up... They're up... They're down... They're up...

Fight Looms for House Control
AUSTIN (AP)—State Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen said he will not give up his race for the speakership of the House of Representatives in the 51st Texas Legislature.

"I don't think the fight is lost," Kilgore told reporters.

He conceded that the odds "seem to be against me" in view of Rep. Durwood Mansford's claim of 104 signed pledges of support from House members.

Kilgore said he has 48 of the 150 representatives lined up on his side.

Ordinarily, contests for the speakership are settled before the Legislature convenes, and the actual election is a mere formality.

This time appears to be an exception, Kilgore said he anticipates a real contest on the floor of the House the first day of the new Legislature meets. He has the backing of Rep. W. O. Reed, present speaker.

Several other representatives have dropped out of the race for speakership. Rep. Reuben Benthall of San Saba being the only one still competing with Kilgore and Mansford for votes. He is accorded little chance.

Texas Mill Ordered To Deal With Union
WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board has ordered the Hillsboro Cotton Mills, Hillsboro, Tex., to bargain collectively with the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

The NLRB also ordered the company to "cease and desist" from refusing to bargain with the union, and from interfering with union activities of its employees.

The decision upheld findings of Trial Examiner Max M. Goldman, made in an intermediate report last July.

Crippled Woman Is Victim of Fire
ALBANY (AP)—Mrs. Lou Ada Royall, 78, who was partially paralyzed and nearly blind, was burned to death Wednesday when fire destroyed the one-room house in which she lived alone.

Carlson Heads Oil Commission

WICHITA, Kans. (AP)—Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas—a former member of Congress and a Republican—was elected chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission yesterday.

He succeeds Democrat Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas in the one-year post, as head of the 21-state cooperative agency to promote conservation of oil and gas resources of the nation.

Don T. Andrus of Bradford, Pa., second vice chairman, was advanced to first vice chairman and succeeded in his former post by James McClure, Jr. of Sardis, Miss. The elections closed the year's final quarterly meeting for the compact.

States elected to representation on the Executive Committee were Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New

Palaver de Pampa

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU—Let's build a new office building and hotel.

IN THE WIND—I'm no soil expert, but at the corner of Somerville and Francis I suddenly came face to face with dust from Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma. In fact, it doesn't take an expert to tell that it had traveled far. But it will be a good sign when this stuff stops flying and settles down to help make crops. In addition, it will stop those rumor-mongers (we hope that's all they are!) who are beginning to predict dire things for this part of the country—dust-bowl days and all that. If you give me my choice (and who are you to give "choices" where the elements are concerned?), I'll say bring on a blizzard now and then, but put a little moisture in it, and we'll save our wheat!

THE GRAPE VINEYARD—Word has been received here that Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kennedy are the parents of a new baby girl. Mrs. Kennedy is the former Ursula Jones. An old favorite at Cabot has returned to Pampa: Red Salmon. The Citizens Bank had the annual Christmas party at the Grill on Thursday night. My selection of a "goodfellow" is C. P. Buckler, who has devoted a lifetime of service to this community; among things he did were donating land for a city park, helping build the school system. There are lots and lots of things of activity this month, expectable, of course. Kiwanis Club will have an installation banquet, the annual rendition of the Messiah... and the Country Club is just bulging at the seams with more and more Yule parties.

PANORAMA-WISE—We saw Don Conley stranded on W. Francis (car trouble, Don?). Dr. George Snell is up and about after recent operation and is moving into his new dental clinic on N. Frost. We are in accord with the County Commissioners in adding private bath-rooms in the new hospital. Genial Jack Graham, opening the Legion Hall for the hot dog feed which was served to the bands and chairs after the parade on Wednesday. (Heard a lot of remarks—nearly every one good—about the parade and all the kids in it. There were some grown-ups, too, but this is the Kids' Big Month. Mrs. Ed Anderson, a faithful church and civic worker, a "goodfellow" Mrs. "Doctor" Plieratt, always the last word in fashion. Mrs. John Beverly, one of Pampa's "grand women"... they go in pairs; some of Pampa's top-notch salespeople are man and wife: Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murfee, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hamm, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brumley, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Caraway, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Cornelius—to name some of them.

THINGS STOLEN—If you want to put in your two cents' worth these days, you need at least a dime... nothing interests a woman more than something she doesn't hear... some men are born with a conscience; others marry one... the task of our educational systems is to take a lot of live wires and see that they are well grounded. (Pauline Glenn)... the reason that worry kills more people than work is that more people worry than work. It's the man who dreams of talking back to the boss should never attempt it after she has had a hard day with the children (Kenneth L. Krichbaum)... don't worry if you never see your teen-agers—they'll come home after they are married (Chal Heery).

CHRISTMAS-ING—In searching for a way to decorate the tree, I ran across suggestions by master display artists who say their ideas are all yours—to copy outright or to vary and adapt as the whimsey strikes... One that caught my eye is to use dark green and shiny balls in three sizes, scattered through the dark green branches—using smaller balls at top—makes a tree modern and monochrome... another is to paint spray a tree from charrreuse and top to dark green at base, wire strands of water to branches to hold clusters of red geraniums or carnations... and finally a tree dreamed up for ribbon-savers... tie bows on branches, the more colors and widths, the merrier... We might add a local chapter to this, as Jane Reynolds has finished spraying her tree a soft shade of pink, to be completed in uniform blue balls... Jane and Ruth Osborne have been doing some paint spraying and have beautiful trees to prove it.

BOUQUETS (a la deserved)—Betty Dees is pleasant to meet in the Modern Appliance Store that she and her husband took over not too long ago... Charlie Thru is our nomination for one of the best liked people in Pampa... holding his job as county clerk for around 25 years is only one of the many signs we point to in calling him popular... for other signs, ask a Lion, or just anyone in the Courthouse.

DECORATIONS—There's obviously keen competition between homeowners and business people for the first prize on Christmas decorations... and from what I've seen, it's going to be a close race... there's only one prize in each division, I understand... but Pampa has done well, especially in stimulating interest in the Christmas program.

WHAT DOES IT TAKE to construct a building on the main street (at the corner of Kingsmill and Cuyler)... understand someone at Amarillo owns the lot and won't sell same... if someone would tell me just what it takes, might raise the money and put up a building myself... (WHAT AM I SAYING?)

FINISHING TOUCHES DEPARTMENT—Carrie Naton (of the RR Commission office here) is always so friendly to meet... it's a treat to know him, and, besides, he has apartments! Mrs. Fannie Griffiths, a popular new teacher at Pampa this year, is anticipating a trip to Arkansas during the holidays... attractive Sybil Loehgrin may now be found at the Pampa Office Supply... she was formerly with Behrman's... we're glad Mrs. Fred Glass is up after her recent fall which practically broke her... and we're sad for Bert Arney who is all "swelled up" after dental surgery.

TALKING OF things dental, this Christmas shopping is about to exact my dental (financial) eye-teeth.

Faithfully,

Mamm P-T-A Hears Kinard Speech

Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, was guest speaker at the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday at the school.

In discussing his topic, "The Home—A Unit for the Development of Emotional Ties," he said that in America are found the best homes that can be produced, but we as families must learn to create a home atmosphere in order to make these real homes rather than just houses.

"Our teachers are trained to teach children, but the children need to be taught by parents that home is the place for learning to live happily with others." He emphasized the fact that we first learn to love and share in the family where there are several children... where the lesson is taught that each person, regardless of age, is as important as any other.

Pastry-Crust Meat Pies

A hearty meat mixture hides under the flaky crusts of these individual meat pies. Served with a crisp slaw, there's a complete meal, wanting only a fruit dessert.

Stews and similar mixtures have always been favorites with the family. Although they taste good and are high in food value, they seldom appear before guests. There's no good reason for this favoritism, for stews can be dressed up to meet company standards.

Flaky pastry crusts, covering the top of the large or individual casserole in which the meat and vegetable mixture is baked, will really put the lid on the entree. These crusts will puff and brown so enticingly that everyone will want to be first with the fork that uncovers the filling.

Pastry tops are made just as for dessert pies. Roll out tenderly and cut into fitting circles, using an overturned casserole cover as a guide. Crimp or prick the edges when the circles are fitted to the ramekins and cut a few slashes in the top so steam can escape while the pies bake.

In this recipe, there's a further surprise as the contents of the casserole disappear. There's a bottom crust, too, as flaky and good as the top covering.

Every Nation Regards Spies As Essential, Analyst Says

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The Congressional inquiry into the case of the "pumpkin papers" and other alleged Communist spy activities has evoked from Assistant Secretary of State John H. Purnifoy the belief that foreign nations cracked a top-secret pre-war government code with the aid of papers sneaked out of the State Department a decade ago.

"What I regarded as most serious about this whole thing..." he is quoted as telling the House un-American Activities Committee, "is the fact that these documents were taken out of the State Department in 1937 or '38, and to me that means our codes were being read by foreign nations during the whole period."

Those two years, as World War II was boiling up, were a period of global feverishness and stress. It is at times like this that nations seek to probe the secrets of one another, and spies are everywhere. Looking back in my notes I find that at the end of September, '37, I recorded:

"Every country employs spies, both in war and in peace. They are the eyes and ears of governments in ferreting out the secrets of other nations, either for protection or for offensive operations." "Spies at this moment are walking the streets of Washington, and of every other capital of the world. The United States has military and naval and possibly diplomatic secrets which other nations want."

Moving on a few months to March of 1938 my log shows that I recorded this: "The Pickwickian fat boy who is making the public flesh creep at the moment seems to be the spy. What with the mysterious American spy-riding, the grim treason trial in Moscow with its allegations of British and German plots against the Soviet regime, and spies' heads popping up and popping off all over Europe, there are enough thrills and chills to satisfy the most eager arm-chair seeker after red-blooded adventure."

So that was the position ten years ago when what are now known as the "pumpkin papers" were sneaked out of the State Department.

No matter how much we may dislike the idea (and we dislike it plenty), secret agents still are regarded as essential to every nation and have been since the days when Moses sent twelve men to "spy the land" of Canaan to size up its strength and riches. By the way, the report of those scouts of old that Canaan was "flowing with milk and honey" is probably the most famous of its kind.

Paul's Epistles Most Formidable

By WILLIAM E. GILORY, D. D.
The Apostle Peter, while he commended "beloved brother Paul's" Epistles (II Peter 3:15, 16), said also that Paul had written "some things hard to understand."

The New Testament contains epistles by Paul, Peter, James, John and Jude. Of these a greater number are by Paul. As far as their length, variety, subject matter, and historic place and impact upon the Christian church, they are much the most formidable, even though the Epistles are all alike and bear similarity in their expression of a common Christian spirit and teaching.

If we were to judge Paul's Epistles by those more obscure and difficult passages to which Peter referred or by the many references to local problems and controversies in the churches, we should hardly think of his letters as being the world's greatest.

But think of the many passages in which Paul showed himself far in advance of his age and well abreast of modern thought and movements in his conception of church and society in which men and members one of another. Think of the clarity of his zeal for righteousness and the soundness of his ideas concerning life and labor. And then you have reason to appreciate the greatness of Paul and his letters.

But even beyond these things is the loftiness of the thought and the unexcelled beauty of expression in many passages that lift the letters to a great height.

If Paul had written nothing but the 18th chapter of I Corinthians, the "love" chapter, that gem of spiritual and literary perfection would have marked his greatness. But that is only the finest of many richly beautiful chapters or portions of chapters.

These are but a few examples of the world's greatest letters. With the vigor and variety of the Pauline conceptions was combined a rich vocabulary and a high skill in the use of words. His lists in various places are striking: The list of things to think about, in Philippians 4:8; the list of the fruits of the Spirit in Galatians 5:22-23. The striking of all is the list of all possible experiences, followed by the list of all possible forces and powers, in Romans 8.

Men of action are not always articulate or forceful in expression, but Paul was as great in words, at least in the written word, as he was in deeds.

SWEETEST DAY DOESN'T HAVE A SOUR NOTE

AP Newfeatures Writer
New York City now has, by proclamation of its mayor, a "Sweetest Day." It falls upon the city, like a warm blanket of snow. And a very exciting thing it is, too.

As a patriotic, public-spirited American I try to observe all of the hundred-odd special Days, Weeks and Months which are proclaimed, in addition of course to the usual, old-fashioned ones like Thanksgiving and Christmas. Believe me, I'm a busy kid, not to mention a broke one.

Before "Sweetest Day" crossed my horizon, my favorite observances have been National Knit Glove Week, National Optimist Week and, of course, Sew and Save Week. But from here in, I'm a "Sweetest" fan. Its motto is "Make Someone Happy!" But I sort of suspect the idea is to make someone happy with e—y.

The "Sweetest" sponsors are very wise. The day is observed in a handful of cities in October, when people are fresh and enthusiastic. The Day and Week people figure everyone is out of town and vacation-minded during July and August, leaving you nothing to whomp it up about except the 4th of July, which is pretty old hat. So the true celebrant's year starts in September, and from then on until June it's pretty much of a rat-race. The tough period is May, a mad whirl including very important observances like National Cotton Week on into Restaurant, Be Kind to Animals, Golf and Foot Health weeks... Golly gosh, it makes me dizzy to think about last May!

Of course, I'll never forget National Honey Week and National Wine Week. My "bills" were phenomenal. It's really a lucky thing National Cherry Week falls around Washington's Birthday. The narrowest squeak I ever had was a dreadful episode during National Noise Abatement Week. I remember it so well, because it came right after exciting National Packaging Week. Anyway, I went around on tip-toes for days glaring at backfiring autos and honking taxis. But every night I was shocked and dismayed at the attitude of the family next door. You could hear the racket right through the walls: singing, piano playing, and the radio. Heck gee, their decibel count on my counter was several degrees higher than a single-engine plane warming up. I stood it as long as I could. Finally I just went over there. The whole family were gathered around the piano, singing at the top of their lungs.

"Mrs. Brewer," I said sternly, "Mrs. Brewer, don't you know this is National Noise Abatement Week?"

She wasn't even embarrassed. "Well," she fires right back, "don't YOU know this is National Music Week? And since that obviously means nothing to you, it is also National Family Week. And my family is observing them both together."

It was, too! I'd neglected to make a final check and hadn't realized there were three important weeks rolled into one. Well, the Brewers and I stopped speaking. The whole episode took the enjoyment out of celebrating Days and Weeks for a long time. I couldn't eat a thing on National Donut Day; I never cracked a smile during National Laugh Week. Wild Life Restoration, Pharmacy, Fellowship, Fishermen's, Sweetest, and Nationally Advertised Brands Weeks passed slowly without even a nod.

But now I've got "Sweetest Day," and I made the Brewers happy. It's changed everything!

Mental Draft Dodgers Try Right Wrong Answers to Outfox Army Psychiatrists

DRAFTEES got a few words of wisdom from the sergeant before they face the mental exams and intelligence tests, and Army quiz show in which the experts try to keep from being outfoxed.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — You've got to be a "polished liar" to avoid the draft by flunking the Army's mental and psychiatric tests on purpose. Nevertheless it appears to be a tight race these days between the government's mental experts and the new draftees as to who outfoxes whom in the psychiatric department.

Many state draft officials recently meeting in Washington admitted that some of the men being examined are double-talking their way out of uniform by giving the right wrong answers to the mental stability questions.

Just what these questions are seems written and some oral — is top secret. And that's been part of the problem, keeping them secret. There have been eight major revisions of the standard test since 1940, partly for this reason.

The questions arise as to whether the questions can be changed enough to fool the men any more. Millions of men have taken these tests during the past eight years and a lot of information has gotten out as to their general technique and intent.

Within a few months another brand new test will be brought into use. It is supposed to be the best combination of everything the Air Force, Navy and

Army have learned about mental examinations and intelligence tests.

This new test will put special emphasis on a man's ability to visualize objects in space. A typical question will show a flat diagram with dotted lines. The problem is to describe the shape of the object which would result from folding the diagram along the dotted lines. The new test will also attach greater importance to a man's job experience in attempting to classify him for service.

The same general test and psychiatric interview is given to both draftees and men who enlist.

The big difficulty for the man trying to fail is that he can't tell which are the hard questions and which are the easy ones. Varying degrees of difficult ones and extremely simple ones, disguised as to their relative simplicity, are scattered through the tests. When a man answers four or five of the hard ones correctly, and then misses the easy ones, it is obvious to the scorer that the man has tried to fail.

Those who are caught trying to fail are given a special interview to determine whether they are worth forcing into service. If it can be proved that they deliberately tried to fail the tests, they can be prosecuted.

One reason an increasing num-

Dog Bites Policeman Investigating Dog

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Police officer John D. Carver, called to investigate the viciousness of a dog here, took evidence back to headquarters with him.

He had gone to warn the owner of a dog, which had bitten a neighboring resident, to keep the animal tied up for observation. As Carver was talking to the owner the dog sneaked up and bit his leg.

trained examiners. On some of the tests it takes a pretty shrewd psychologist to detect inconsistencies.

The Army isn't so desperate for young men that this method of dodging the draft will make any difference to their manpower needs. As one Army official points out, any man who would go to that extent to keep out of service probably wouldn't make a soldier worth training, anyway. It is a deliberate attempt to violate the law, however, and the Army promises that every effort will be made to punish offenders.

Wichita Falls Area Hit by Most Serious Fall Drouth

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — The worst fall drouth on record is causing serious damage in seven counties in this area.

The situation grows more and more serious, a survey by the Wichita Falls Record News showed. Stock tanks have dried up, pasture grasses are skimpy and brittle, and prospective wheat profits have been cut by thousands of dollars.

Discouraged farmers pointed out that the area is just now entering into the period—December, January and February—when normal rainfall is scanty, anyway. Crops usually depend on fall and spring moisture.

Only two and one-half inches of rain has been measured at the local U. S. Weather Bureau between Sept. 1 and Dec. 8.

The report by counties showed: Wichita: farm situation almost "desperate," County Agent Max Carpenter said. With the exception of Red River bottom lands near Burkburnett, the wheat area showed serious signs of deterioration. Winter grasses and wild rye are not coming up for livestock grazing. Many cattlemen have been forced to take their animals off winter wheat because of its condition.

Montague: County Agent Nick Owens said the last good rain was July 5. Stock tanks are dry, seeded grain and vetch are dying. Pasture grasses are dry and brittle and most crops are covered with dust.

Jack: Livestock situation bleak, County Agent J. W. Husley said, adding that the last good rain was in June. Stock tanks are dry and no winter grass is available. Wheat and vetch are dying. Crop prospects said Husley, are "nil."

Knox: County Agent Kenneth Lewis said pastures and wheat badly need rain. High winds have caused considerable damage to wheat in sandy land areas.

Hardeman: This is normally one of the best wheat producing counties but County Agent Ray Stockard estimated only 15 percent of the grain is up. Stock

Flowers Made Him Man of the Hour in Weslaco

WESLACO — (AP) — They put on a unique style show here and to make it more unusual the feature event winner was a man.

The occasion was Weslaco's 29th birthday party, a two-day affair. J. Chapman Rice, the first man ever to enter the annual style show, carried off top honors in the costume division.

His suit was made of eggplant and grapefruit peel and pulp. His tie was of poinsettia petals. And slung over his shoulder was a serape of variety fruits, vegetawater is low and pastures are short and dry.

Young: County Agent R. O. Dunkle called the situation "dangerous" for stock ponds, pastures, small grain and winter legumes.

Haskell: Rain is needed. County Agent F. W. Martin reported farmers have plenty of stock water with crop prospects not too bad at present.

Kids Asks for Part in Inaugural Dancing

AUSTIN — (AP) — Note from Gov. Beauford H. Jester to a Corsicana ninth grader:

"I believe it would be a good idea to have the Junior High square dancers here for the inauguration. I'll see what I can do about it."

Jester received a letter signed "your friend, Junior High student," suggesting there were eight good squares of young dancers at Corsicana who would like to take part in that feature of the inaugural.

"Don't forget your own home team," the student urged.

bles and flowers.

Mrs. Hank Hamel of Weslaco won first place in the evening dress division and Mrs. Jo Davison of McAllen in the street dress contest.

A number of contestants were dressed in garments made from valley products. For weeks they plucked flower petals, peeled grapefruit, sliced carrots, tore cabbage leaves and pared eggplant.

A crowd of about 6,000 attended the show at Barbee Field.

Fir Fer Lunch Fer NW Cattle

SEATTLE—(AP)—Farmers of the Pacific Northwest may one day be feeding Douglas fir to their livestock.
Not only that, but the animals will be eating the cheapest form of the timberwood waste suitable for the manufacture of lumber and other solid wood products.
That was the possibility raised here in a talk before a farm clinic sponsored by the University of Washington.
Of course, the wood will undergo processing. What livestock actually will eat is a molasses made of sugars extracted from the wood.
Dr. E. G. Locke, of the Pacific Northwest Forest and Range and Experiment Station at Portland, told in a prepared address, of work done along that line.

Grocery Chain Buys Kraft Denison Plant

DENISON—(AP)—The Coldstream Products Company, a division of Safeway Stores, Inc., has purchased the Kraft plant here.
G. C. Pound of Chicago, executive vice president of Kraft, said the purchase involved a six-acre tract, buildings and some machinery of the Kraft plant in northwest Denison. The new firm will take over as soon as Kraft moves to Garland, Texas.
Under Coldstream, the plant will manufacture margarine and shortening, with other items to be added when equipment becomes available. R. O. Hoag, who will be manager, said he hoped the plant eventually would employ the approximately 350 persons now with Kraft.
Modern refrigeration was invented in 1861.

Pipeline Year Ahead of Time

WASHINGTON—(AP)—C. C. Craig, vice-president and general manager of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., says the firm is a year ahead of schedule in building its new gas pipeline to California.
Craig told a Power Commission hearing Wednesday that 41 miles of pipeline have been laid since the commission authorized the project Sept. 30.
He testified in connection with the company's application for a permit to build another line to supply larger quantities of Texas and New Mexico gas to Northern California.
Fazen Dixon, consulting geologist for the company, also testified.

U.S. Driving Hard Against Jerry-Built Homes for Vets

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The government's drive against U. S. home builders who have cheated veterans, which has been gaining momentum during the past three months, is now in high gear.
Nearly 200 contractors who sold millions of dollars worth of shoddy homes to several thousand veterans have been fined, indicted or jailed so far. Fines have ranged up to $50,000 and jail terms up to a year.

PHILIP W. YAGER—the goal is a square deal on hooked houses.

Most spectacular result of the drive, however, is the way it has inspired contractors all over the country to make voluntary amends for sub-standard homes which they sell.
Typical of what is happening all over the country is the case of the veteran in Dallas, Texas, who has been living in his hooked house for two years. One morning he was astonished by a crew of workmen who showed up to give him a completely new set of gutters and rainwater downspouts. When the veteran inquired, "What's going on?" he was told the original gutters weren't right but that he had been waiting for materials to make the change.
That surprise visit happened one week after three contractors had been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury for selling jerry-built houses to veterans.
In the Los Angeles area alone in one recent month, the U. S. District Attorney reported more than 1000 satisfactory out-of-court settlements had been made for veterans who had complained about their hooked homes. Settlements ranged from $200 to $1200.

According to Philip W. Yager, special assistant to the attorney general who is coordinating the government's investigation, this same activity is taking place all over the U. S. He says:
"Our primary goal is to see that the veteran ends up getting a square deal on a house, not to send builders to jail. The most gratifying results of the work so far are the great numbers of shoddy homes which have been helped to effect and which our investigations have inspired, without criminal or civil court actions."
The Office of the Housing Expeditor reports the same results. OHE recently turned 281 special investigators loose on the problem of helping veterans who got cheated on post-war houses. Out of 13,167 investigations satisfactorily completed in three months, only 448 had ended in court litigation. The great bulk of OHE's results have been out-of-court settlements.

More than $8 million worth of faulty construction has been found in the first $200 million worth of veterans housing investigated. When the investigation started in September, the government had a backlog of 30,000 complaints from veterans. The wide publicity given the probe brought in another 200,000 complaints. It is estimated that settlements can be made on about 45,000 of these.

The U. S. Department of Justice and OHE have directed their efforts to helping veterans who have already been victimized, and the Veterans Administration has taken an important step to halt of becoming a cog in the totalitarian machine.

Smugglers' Trial Postponed Until May

BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—Trial of three men on a $101 smuggling charge has been postponed until the May term of federal court here to allow the defense attorney more time to prepare the case.
An $8,500 bond for one of the men was forfeited Thursday when he failed to appear. He was Felix Klarberg of Tel Aviv, Palestine, and New York. The other defendants are Kurt Charles Wajnryb and Jacques Bodner, both of New York.
The men were arrested at Hidalgo, Tex., July 10. They are accused of attempting to smuggle 348,000 pesos ($49,000) in gold from Mexico to the United States.

In two games against the Washington Redskins in 1940, the Philadelphia Eagles could gain only 54 yards by rushing the ball, but they gained 547 yards in the air.

12 Leading Doctors Complete Study of Rheumatism, Arthritis

In a 48 page booklet, a committee of 12 of the nation's leading doctors have issued a complete report of their study of rheumatism and arthritis covering a period of many months of medical research. From their findings a formula for the quick relief of rheumatic pain was developed by a well-known pharmacist.
This formula, called Ru-Tel was first tested by physicians, hospitals and clinics and has achieved remarkable results in relieving the pain of rheumatism, arthritis and neuritis. They found that Ru-Tel Tablets are pleasant to take, do not upset the stomach—in most cases give quick soothing relief, sometimes overnight. Now, these Ru-Tel Tablets are available, without prescription through all drug stores. First bottle must help or your money refunded.

AMA Tells Fight Plans

CHICAGO—(AP)—The American Medical Association formally told plans for its battle against compulsory health insurance—a proposal it is seeking to raise $3,500,000 to combat.
In an editorial captioned, "A Call to Action Against Nationalization of Medicine," the AMA Journal notified AMA members they would be assessed $25 each.
The fund, the editorial said, will be used for "meeting the proposal of the present federal security administrator to nationalize the services of the medical profession through the enactment of a compulsory sickness insurance act covering every person in the United States."
Decision to assess the AMA members was reached by the AMA House of Delegates at a secret meeting Dec. 1 during the AMA interim session in St. Louis.
The journal said that Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, was "attempting to break down public confidence in the medical profession by every possible technique."

In his radio talks and interviews, the journal said, Ewing "has chosen to insult, berate, deride, and ridicule the great medical profession of this country." The editorial added:
"Again and again Mr. Ewing has referred to the fact that the lives of 140 million persons are more important than the wishes of 180,000 physicians. Let the people know that medical care comes from the medical profession and that no compulsory sickness insurance plan or other form of nationalization of medical service can succeed without replacing on that medical service the total burden of service."
"Mr. Ewing would do well to confer with leaders of the medical profession as to the path that medicine should take in this country rather than relying on the kind of arguments that win cases before juries for great corporations or for criminals."

Bevin Predicts Common Budget for Western World

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's prediction in Parliament that the Western nations one day will have a common budget and defense is a striking commentary on the trend of our time, which most certainly is towards a division of the globe into two worlds—one democratic and the other Bolshevik.

Perhaps Mr. Bevin would not speak so bluntly as to state the case in terms of "two worlds," when the hopes of peace-minded people center on "one world." However, the implication is there and you can't evade it any more than you could dodge an earthquake.
The foreign secretary said that the North Atlantic pact (involving a military alliance) now being considered in Washington should let the United States and Western Europe divide some of the burdens of defense. He added:
"It is quite sure that before many years—I make this prophecy—you will find the defense ministers and finance ministers of the Western world sitting down, discussing a common budget, common cost, and a common method of defense."
Bevin might have gone on to point out that this epochal development has been forced by Moscow's creation of a great Bolshevik world which constitutes another world that is engaged in a cold war against the democratic bloc. The blocs are the nuclei of the two worlds which are developing rapidly.

This wretched situation naturally raises the question of how our new peace organization fits into the picture. Of this Bevin remarked succinctly:
"The United Nations is giving us very grave concern as to whether it is going to face up to grave problems at all."
Well, what can we expect? Just as the U. N. is divided into two blocs, so the U. N. is house divided against itself. While the world remains divided, the U. N. will be divided and incapable of facing up to grave problems at all as a unit.

The position of the U. N. is well illustrated by the current fight over the Declaration of Human Rights which finally has been completed after two and a half years of labor. Naturally the Communist bloc is against the declaration, which is supported by all the democracies. The Reds are against it because the only human right they believe in is that of becoming a cog in the totalitarian machine.

If the peace body can't agree on a declaration of human rights, what in the name of common sense can they agree on? The answer is nothing.
Negotiations regarding the proposed military alliance between the U. S. and Western Europe were resumed in Washington Friday. American Undersecretary of State Lovett met with representatives of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada. The alliance and the Marshall Plan would complement each other, making a powerful military-economic team for defense and rehabilitation.

Amarillo Tops Odessa; Monahans Bests Phillips

Sandy Star Jim Garner Game's Hero

A favored Amarillo Golden Sandie football Amarillo won the six-point win over the Odessa Bronchos Saturday to advance another step toward the Class AA state championship. Next Saturday they will meet Denison in the semi-finals. The 12-6 win was scored without registering a penetration on the scorebooks.

It was a clear, cool but breezy day, with a 30 mph wind blowing in Broncho Stadium in Odessa at game time. Amarillo won the toss and elected to receive but to no advantage. Neither team scored the first half of the ball game.

The first penetration of the game was made on a 25 yard pass play by Odessa, but the Sandie wall held and they took over on downs. A pass to the left by Patterson, Broncho fullback, stopped the lone threat made by the Sandstorm in the first half.

The second half fireworks began quickly. When the period was two minutes old McNeil took a Broncho punt on his own 34 and on a cross-crisis handed it off to Jim Garner who raced 66 yards for the first touchdown of the game. Huggins' try for extra point was blocked, making the score 6-0 Amarillo.

A few minutes later the Sandstorm again reached paydirt. Odessa again it was big Jim Garner who intercepted an Odessa pass and raced 82 yards for the score. Huggins' try for point was wide, and the score stood Amarillo 12-0 Odessa 0.

It looked as if that would be the final score of the game. But the Bronchos got fired up midway through the final period and marched 70 yards before Huggins smashed over from the three for the first and last score of the day for the Odessians. Patterson's attempt at the extra point was no good.

To say that anyone else but Jim Garner was the star of the day would be libelous. He not only scored the two Sandie touchdowns, but he also was a power on defense. The Amarillo came down out of the game in good physical shape and should be ready for Denison next Saturday.

Blackhawks Lose Number Thirteen

LUEBOCK — (AP) — The Monahans football moved into the state Class-A football semi-finals today as they downed a stubborn Phillips Blackhawk team 13-7 before a crowd of 8500 fans.

Waldo Young, power-driving 145-pound fullback, scored all 13 Monahans points as he sparked the Lobos to their thirteenth consecutive victory. Young scored in the second and fourth periods as he gained a net of 159 yards in 37 rushes from scrimmage.

Phillips scored in the third quarter, scoring a touchdown when a wobbly 19-yard pass from Bill Bralich bounced from Young's hands, as he tried to intercept and into the arms of Phillips' back Tommy Moore in the end zone. Jimmy Williams place-kicked the extra point.

The victory moved Monahans into the semi-finals against New London, and the loss was Phillips' first in 13 outings this season.

Joe Louis OK's Billy Conn

CHICAGO — (AP) — Heavyweight Joe Louis thinks Billy Conn is a good candidate for the We-Want-To-Fight-Louis Club.

But some 6,500 fans who saw the Brown Bomber toy with Conn in a six-round exhibition last night would say Joe is just being charitable for old times' sake.

Conn, who twice previously was defeated in title bouts by Louis, staged a fearless show against the champion last night. The no-decision box was fought with 14 out gloves, compared with the six-glove mitts used in their two title bouts.

Nursing purple bruises on his left forehead and left cheek bone, Louis said after the exhibition that Conn was "much faster" than in their 1946 meeting when Joe won an eighth-round knockout.

"Only a pretty good fighter can go on for Edward (Charles) Joe dawked on his dress-up room table. Conn should keep up his come-back."

Most of the writers, however, thought Conn was lucky Louis was wearing the big pillows. In the third and again in the fourth rounds, Louis unleashed his dynamic left hook and jolting right cross. Even heavily-cushioned, these attacks jarred Conn and obviously would have meant curtains for the spritely Pittsburgh scrapper if Joe had had on work mitts.

Gideon Wins Over Al Getz

Friday night was a rough and tumble night at the Sportsorium. The boys got a little rough and a couple of them found themselves outside the ropes looking in quite a bit of the time.

The main event featured Eddie Gideon and Al Getz, ex Southwestern champion. Gideon was the ultimate winner, when Getz was disqualified for throwing Gideon over the top rope out of the ring. It was permissible to throw him out through any of the ropes below the top one, but not over the top one.

The first fall was somewhat of a boxing match as well as wrestling. Both Getz and Gideon slugged it out, around and around the ring. Getz finally jumped out of the ring, and Eddie went right after him and chased him out couldn't catch the fleet footed Getz. When they finally did get back into the ring Gideon pummed Getz with an arm scissor following a series of flips. The time on that was 12 minutes.

The second fall was really cruel. Getz forgot all the ring rules and slugged, kicked, pulled hair and kneeed until he had Gideon groggy and practically out on his feet. Then is when he picked him up and threw him out of the ring, for the automatic disqualification.

But the fight didn't end there. Eddie recovered from Getz left the ring, and Gideon caught Getz in a corner and gave him a very good sample of his own actions, much to the crowd's approval. Before the night was ended the press table was smashed up when Getz landed on it in his efforts to leave the ring before the angered Scotsman caught up to him again.

The first event was won by Dory Detton, who gave the bearded Benny Trudell a lesson in fancy footwork. Benny was again dressed in his fancy skunk suit, a black suit with a white stripe down the back. Dory gave Benny a split lip early, as lesson one in use of the feet. After 13 minutes of rough and tumble Detton applied his pet hold, a figure four head scissors which won him the first fall.

Trudell climbed back through the ropes after Detton had thrown him out for a 12 count to pin Dory with a single crab in five minutes of the second fall.

The final fall went to Detton who won it with a reverse surfboard hold in seven minutes time. During the final fall Dory gave Benny a good ribdown with Benny's own beard, which was pleasing to the crowd.

Stuhldreher out As Wisconsin Football Mentor

MALISON, Wis. — (AP) — Harry Stuhldreher gave up his post as head football coach at the University of Wisconsin Saturday. But the surrender didn't cost him much.

The little general, under heavy fire all season, resigned in a dramatic move but kept his position as athletic director and his $12,000 yearly salary.

"The double job was getting too tough," he said.

The Board of Regents agreed and sent University President E. B. Fred out into the marketplace to find a successor.

Stuhldreher's 1948 team wound up in the Big Nine cellar with a single conference victory. It won one other game in nine starts. The "Good-bye Harry" boys, who unfurled their banner in the midseason Yale game which favored Wisconsin lost, 17-7—spearheaded a statewide assault on his position.

His resignation came four days before a student referendum on his status. But, Stuhldreher said, that had nothing to do with his decision, which actually was made last Tuesday. Anyway, the vote was called off.

Stuhldreher, who quarterbacked Notre Dame's famed four horsemen, under Knute Rockne, found his 13th season a jinx. It ended the longest current tenure in the conference. His teams won 45 games, lost 62 and tied six. His top team was the 1942 squad, which won eight, tied one and lost one, finishing second to Ohio State in Western Conference standings.

Names of possible successors mentioned in alumni circles include Paul Brown, coach of the All-America Conference Cleveland Browns; Lisle Blackbourn Sr., present Wisconsin backfield coach; Vince Gavre, former Badger star and freshmen coach who now is football coach at Western (Colorado State) College; Win O. Brockmeyer, Wausau (Wis.) prep coach who has compiled a phenomenal record.

Grape Bowl

LODI, Calif. — (AP) — College of Pacific, held scoreless the first half, shoved across five touchdowns in the last two periods to earn a 35-0 tie with Harding-Simmons in the second annual Grape Bowl Football game.

Harvesters Defeat Hollis

A terrific band of Pampa Harvesters racked up their first victory of the current season last Friday night in Hollis, Okla., when they downed an experienced Hollis Tiger quintet, 41-34.

After falling to Stratford, 35-33, on the previous Tuesday, the Harvesters appeared to have regained most of the accuracy and pep from last year. Last season the locals compiled a record of 28 wins and only two losses.

The Harvesters made a game of it for three and one-half quarters, until the Pampans finally began to pull ahead. Derral Davis, rangy pivot-man, took top honors in the scoring department, meshing 13 points. Bill Bond, closely followed Davis, however, hooping 12 points.

The first quarter ended with the two teams deadlocked, 5-5, as Hollis guard Wendall Whitman snook two field goals and a free shot to keep the Tigers in the running. The Harvesters jumped to a 15-12 heading in the second period with all five Harvesters getting in on the scoring.

In the second period, a rejuvenated band of Tigers took the floor and quickly tied the score and scored into a 20-18 lead. The two outfits fought a see-saw battle during this phase, but the locals managed to regain a 26-24 lead as the period ended.

After the final quarter got under way, the Harvester plays began clicking with precision. The Tigers seemed dumfounded as the green and gold clad boys rolled up a 36-28 lead with three minutes and 15 seconds left to play. Tommy Giltentine brought the home-owners within four points of the victors with a field goal from mid-court. With the score reading 38-34 and only 25-seconds left to play, Jimmy Howard broke lose for a crisp shot, but was fouled in the process, and then hit a free toss as the game ended.

W. F. Luker counted 30 points to lead the Tigers point parade and Wendall Whitman hooped nine.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What famous football player made four touchdowns in the first twelve minutes of play?

ANSWER: Red Grange scored four touchdowns in the first twelve minutes of play against Michigan in 1924, to lead Illinois to victory.

STORY TIME: There was a rookie pitcher with the Dodgers one year who didn't hesitate to ask his infield questions. Brooklyn was playing the Cardinals when Rogers Hornsby came to bat. The rookie, on the mound, promptly called time, trotting over to Jacques Fournier on first base. "How shall I pitch to this bird, Jack?" he whispered. "On the inside," Fournier whispered back, without the slightest hesitation.

But the Great Kahlan set the first pitch whistling past the third baseman's ear like a projectile. On the bench at the end of the inning the rookie turned to his informer aggrievedly. "I thought you said—" he began. "Yeah, I know I did, kid," returned Fournier. "But if I'd told you to give Hornsby one on the outside my wife might have been a widow and my two kids orphans by now."

Borger Cage Tournament Results

BORGER—(Special)— Superior height and a fast break paid off for Lubbock Thursday night as the Westerners downed Spearman, 44-30 in a first-round game of the Borger basketball tournament.

Led by big Jim Wilson, who hit 18 points, the Westerners went out in front early in the game and were never seriously threatened.

Wallie Clayton, little Spearman guard, canned 13 points to lead the losers.

The victory advanced Lubbock into the semifinal round of the tourney.

A relaxed and smooth working Stratford, quieted did just about as it pleased in walloping the Pampa Guerrillas, 58-30.

Center Keith Green led the Stratford scoring with 14 points. Followed by Marion Brannan with 11 and Johnny Lyons with nine.

The pint size Guerrillas were no match for the towering Stratford five, and were never in the game. They trailed 11-28 at halftime.

The triumph showed Stratford into the championship semifinals against McLean, while Spearman dropped into the losers' bracket.

Amarillo's Golden Sandies grabbed an early lead and then hung on to defeat the Childress Bobcats, 46-26, in the final game of the first round playings.

Jack Little led the Sandies in the scoring department, getting eight points; followed by Don Ratcliff and Bill Hughes with six apiece.

Friday Results

BORGER—(Special)— Stratford overcame a one-man scoring spree by McLean's Johnny Haynes Friday afternoon to outlast the Tigers, 45-34 and move into the championship finals.

Haynes, a free-wheeling forward with an eagle eye, threw in nine field goals and two free tosses for 20 of his team's 34 points.

Despite Haynes' shooting, Stratford moved out in front early in the game and was never threatened. Led by Ray Spurlock, the winners led 21-14 at halftime and stretched this margin to 16 points midway in the final period. Spurlock topped his team in scoring with 14 points.

The Perryton Rangers put down a desperate fourth-period bid by Spearman to edge the Lynx 34-24 Friday afternoon.

Ranger football backs Raymond Powell and Jerry Key teamed with Johnny Revis to lead Perryton past the huddling little Spearman five. Revis led the scoring with 12 points, followed by Key with 10 and Powell with eight.

The Childress Bobcats romped past the Quannah Indians 38-25, here Friday night to advance into the finals of the consolation division.

Faced by T. Jones, who hit eight points, the victors went in from early, held an 18-8 halftime lead and coasted throughout the final two quarters. Billy Walker, Quannah center, had nine points for top scoring honors.

Gilbert Ford dropped through 20 points as he led the Amarillo Sandies to a 44-33 win over Borger's Bulldogs in a quarter final.

The Sandies, displaying smooth passing and a tight defense, raced to a 22-9 halftime margin and matched the Borgans in scoring all through the second half.

Jerry Glass, with 12 and Thomas Hooper, with 11, paced the losers' scoring.

Saturday Games

A red-hot Lubbock five shot its way into the finals of the Borger cage meet Saturday afternoon, licking the Amarillo Sandies 42-30.

Morris Turner canned seven in fielders and five free throws for 19 points and top scoring honors. Lubbock's zone defense was so effective that 12 minutes of the first half elapsed before Amarillo got its first field goal. The Westerners led, 17-10, at halftime.

The Perryton Rangers, paced by footballer Raymond Powell, who dumped in 21 points, waltzed past the Pampa Guerrillas, 51-27, here Saturday afternoon in the consolation semifinals. Perryton led, 23-12, at halftime and was never headed after that.

Becoming the third player in the circuit's history to win the honor four or more years, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox captured the 1948 American League batting championship with a .369 average.

By repeating as batting champion—Ted's leading average in 1947 was .343—he joined the exclusive company of Ty Cobb and Harry Heilmann, onetime Detroit greats. Cobb took the batting laurels 12 seasons, Heilmann four.

The big Red Sox outfielder took a blue ribbon in one other department. His 44 doubles was tops, but he failed to rewin the homer, run scored and total base laurels he took down in 1947.

Home run king of the circuit was New York's "Yankee Clipper," Joe DiMaggio, with 39 round trippers. Seven more players topped Joe Gordon of Cleveland. DiMaggio also took total base honors, with 355, while the runs scored leadership was set by Tom Henrich of New York, with 138.

Top man in total hits was Bob Dillinger of the St. Louis Browns with 207, the only other player to hit the 200 mark in safeties being Cleveland's Dale Mitchell, with 204.

Dillinger also repeated as stolen base champ, bagging 28 sacks, six under his 1947 total. Henrich led in triples, with 14.

BETTER BOWLING

By BILLY SIXTY
SLOW ALLEY SENSE: Bowlers with a natural hook usually find it difficult to keep the ball consistently on the right side of the head pin—between the 1-3 pins—on a very "slow" alley. A slow alley, however, as you may know, magnifies or adds to any hook tendency that the ball may have from spin.

I remember a tournament in Toledo not long ago where the alleys were badly in need of polish, and as a result were extremely slow. It was so bad that the ball took a sharp break inward, or to the left, as soon as it hit the boards. Under such conditions, a bowler with a fast hook-break really has difficulties.

A bowler faced with this problem can counter-act it very well by any one of three remedies: First, he can increase the speed of the ball. This makes the ball skid farther down the alley before any spin takes effect, and it cuts down the time in which the spin has a chance of being effective. A note of warning: Rushing the swing for the extra speed might well throw off your footwork — if you're not concentrating on form as well as speed.

The second remedy: Turn the thumb slightly to the right of center in taking the original grip and KEEP IT THERE throughout the swing. This will cause the ball to assume a reverse spin—just enough to hold it in a direct line (straight) until the "run" of the alley turns it to the left.

The last choice is, I think, the best one for an experienced hook bowler. The bowler with the natural hook has to start the ball from the center of the alley and allow for a big break by aiming at either the No. 3 or the No. 6 pin... as is shown in the illustration. By simply changing his stance to the center of the alley and letting the ball sweep into the strike pocket in a big curve, the bowler can put the normal amount of "turn" on the ball for carrying power. And then there is no reason to disrupt established bowling form.

Try them all: then use the system that fits in best with your style.

Consolation Title Goes to Reapers

The Reapers won the consolation honors at the Junior High School Interscholastic Tournament at Amarillo this weekend, and Horace Mann of Amarillo won the championship honors.

The Reapers lost their first game yesterday to Canyon by a 26-10 count. But they bounced back to trim the Maverick Club of Amarillo Saturday morning 38-17, and later in the afternoon defeated Vega 25-23.

Horace Mann, in winning the tournament, held Canyon to four points the final three quarters of their game to gain a 15-11 victory.

One of Coach Pernal Scoggin's Reapers placed on the tournament all-star team. He was Roy Pool, a guard.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

In Nature the little does not always go to the strong and fierce. Consider the cottontail, and his vigorous prosperity, advises Byron Dalrymple, author of many outdoor articles.

The well-loved little rabbit, known everywhere in the United States and hunted from border to border and coast to coast by millions, is not, as he has always been portrayed, a cute little bunny of bedtime stories, or a cartoon character. He is actually a sly, crafty soldier of fortune who has padded silently about, chuckling inwardly over the hoax by taking the role of his neighbor, including man.

He has managed this great hoax by taking the role of orange beast in his world of enemies. He has aroused our sympathy and love by posing as the meekest of the meek, all the while prolifically reproducing his species. He has attained an enviable position in the world of wildlife: he consorts with mankind, and "prosper!"

We must assume that the cottontail started in some restricted territory. Yet today his beat covers almost every section of the United States — and more. He has pushed his trails up mountain slopes of the West, out into southwestern deserts, felt his way into the cold of southern Canada, probed the tropics below our borders and on down into South America. No timid spirit ever colonized such vast, varied, and dangerous lands.

To the rabbit, every moment is filled with personal danger. Hawks, owls, foxes, wolves, bobcats, house cats, dogs, hunters seek him always and everywhere. Yet he leaves the mark of his hunger for adventure everywhere. He goes out in plain view of all the dangers which beset him.

Perhaps his philosophy is primarily one of fateful resignation, but certainly there's nothing defeatist about it. Curiously, he holds a wry sort of natural power block, for by suddenly

THE DRILLER'S LOG
By KEN BENNETT

Two new locations in the Pampa area have created a new interest this past week. They are the Placid Oil Company's new location in Armstrong County, a deep test, and the Texas Company's wildcat location in Hutchinson County. The Texas Company well is on the Belle Wisconsin Lease. This lease has production on it but this site, being three miles northeast of Stinnett, is considered wildcat territory. The deep test of the Placid Oil Company is on the J. P. Matheson Lease, Section 173, Block B-3, H & GN Survey. The proposed depth is 4,300 feet.

The Sinclair-Lippes well in Roberts County is now down to around 6,700 feet and drilling ahead. Interest is still high in this new field, with royalty prices soaring in that section of Roberts County and on up into Ochiltree County. Several larger oil companies are a few smaller independents are bargaining for acreage. There has been no lessening of interest, whatever, in this new field and it is generally considered by all who are following the well closely that the company is fulfilling its contract in drilling ahead with the well. Of course, more information will be obtained by the company on different depths—information that will be interesting to Sinclair, and of course all who follow new production. But this same information will more than likely be tied up in the records of Sinclair for a considerable length of time.

The stag party held by the API members at the Pampa Country Club this past week was a huge success. From beginning to end there was not a moment lagging. The social hour was definitely a success; the meal, served buffet style, was both bountiful and delicious; and the talk made by Walter Rogers, local attorney, was a gem in both humor and well illustrated facts. The subject, "What the Oil Man Thinks About," of which I gave leeway to many approaches, none of which were overlooked by Attorney Rogers. One thing that always impresses me at any meeting of oil men is the manner in which they unite efforts in forming such an organization to make it as outstanding as it is. These men are all in highly competitive fields, yet their friendship expressed to each other is sincere and a relative outsider such as myself can readily recognize it as such. I have yet to meet any executive or employee of the oil industry that I considered un-American or unpatriotic. As a matter of fact, they always give me the impression that they are very much interested in the progress of the nation as a whole and especially in the communities in which they reside.

As a side issue I have one complaint to make about the "Flight of Santa" parade held in Pampa this past week. One float depicted Fred Nedage sitting before the fire reading a newspaper. People who know Fred know that he would have looked much more natural had he been sitting at a full-course meal, especially a large king-size steak.

Which also brings to mind the comment I have heard time and again concerning the beautiful school bus that Borger had in the parade. If you doubt that Borger is out to make a real city of itself, bettering every portion of the city possible, and looking to the future, that bus is very significant. Being forward-looking in every aspect and keeping their best foot forward and well in the public eye, is nothing new for Borger the past few months. Consider this... they now have a beautiful new school building housing their high school and new JUNIOR COLLEGE. They have just raised, by subscription, more than enough to construct a NEW HOTEL. They are at present constructing a NEW BRIDGE, modern and capable of handling all traffic, across the Canadian River and are soon to begin a new BOULDER-LANE HIGHWAY to Stinnett. It is also very significant that Canadian has just had approval on its new bridge across the Canadian. All this leads up to reminding all concerned that one of the principal needs of this area right now is the completion of the Perryton-Pampa Highway, and a bridge of some sort across the Canadian. Pampa needs other improvements, of course, but to supply this new field from the supply houses located in Pampa is going to be a serious task unless some relief is given as to distance to be covered to the field. That distance can be shortened only by completion of this project. Now is no time to be letting things take a course... It's time to be working... and HARD.

Deep tests: The Gulf well in Hansford County, still setting location preparing to drill. The Gulf-Porter, Lipscomb County, preparing to drill ahead after a little more trouble at around 10,052 feet. Pure-Langford, Hartley County, also preparing to drill ahead. Last reported around 7,500 feet. The Huber-Jasper, temporarily abandoned. The Phillips-Catherine A. Sherman County, down to around 3,030 feet. The Humble-Nanny, Swisher County, still trying to drill past cave-in trying.

Guess What This Kid Gets in His Sock Christmas
BURLINGTON, N. C. —(AP)—Jody old Santa was anything but jolly at Burlington's Christmas parade. He got the hotfoot. An unidentified youngster made his way beneath the Chamber of Commerce float bearing Santa as it progressed along Main Street. Once under its covering, the kid set the jolly old saint's trouser leg afire with a match. This time the old bearer got disappeared down the chimney on his float and attempted to force the prankster from beneath the vehicle. As he did so, the youth jerked out a pocket knife and cut a hole in Santa's shoe, barely nicking a toe. Santa went up the chimney and the kid fled.

Convict Flees Prison
HUNTSVILLE —(AP)—Thomas Pickens, 26, serving 10 years for robbery from El Paso County, escaped from the main unit of the Texas prison system Thursday. He disappeared from a construction gang at 5 p. m. A saddle horse also was missing. Pickens had been working on the prison's rodeo arena just outside the prison walls.

Skelton Reviews Texas Oil News

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON —(AP)—Independent oil operators are alarmed over increases in imports of crude oil. They say the mounting imports are being emphasized at the expense of curtailed domestic production. Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, recently said the IPAA was founded in 1929 on a fight to limit imports. "It looks like the same situation is with us today," he added. W. S. Rodgers, chairman of the board of the Texas Company, feels there is no cause for alarm. He says his company is importing considerable oil but adds: "These imports will decline as soon as refining facilities in Western Europe become adequate to meet the demand."

Gulf Oil Corporation last week announced plans for expenditure of $40 million for improvement of its facilities at Philadelphia, designated as the company's chief port of entry for foreign oil. Latest Bureau of Mines statistics show crude oil imports for the first nine months of the year totaled 89,051,000 barrels, compared with 73,271,000 for the same period last year.

This represents an increase of 15.8 percent. Domestic crude production, however, continues to hit around record-breaking productions. Crude production for the week ending Dec. 4 declined 1,900 barrels to a daily average of 5,615, 180, but still was 360,000 barrels above the same period in 1947.

Gasoline production for the week totaled 18,216,000 barrels, only 28,000 barrels short of the all-time record and more than 2 million ahead of the same week last year. Crude and distillate fuel oil stocks declined slightly to 85,990,000 barrels, far ahead of the total of 85,241,000.

A New York banker on Thursday said profits of 30 oil companies for the first nine months of the year totaled $1,410,000,000, but not excessive. FINANCES Joseph E. Pogue, a vice president of Chase National Bank, told the Senate House Economic Committee only 24 percent of the net income will go to stockholders, compared with 38 percent last year and 48 percent in 1946.

The profits, he said, are in terms of a cheap dollar which does not have the purchasing power it once had. LEGAL BATTLES The Texas railroad commissioners are spending much time in courtrooms these days. A state district court in Austin has issued permanent injunctions against commission orders shutting down two fields alleged to be wasting oil well gas.

The State Supreme Court set a hearing on appeal of one of the injunctions for Jan. 12. In Houston last week, a three-judge federal court dissolved a temporary restraining order granted earlier to Canadian River Gas Company which is protesting the Pampa field, world's largest natural gas producing area.

Canadian Gas also has asked the judges to hold the three commissioners in contempt of court, alleging violation of a permanent injunction granted in 1937. Attorneys for the company indicated they will file a mandamus suit with the Supreme Court in Washington in seeking to force the three judges to hear the case.

HERE AND THERE Phillips Chemical Company officials say their new ammonium sulfate plant at Port Adams, Tex., will be in operation before Jan. 1. Paul Kayser, president of El Paso Natural Gas, testified before the Federal Power Commissioner Tuesday that natural gas supplies in West Texas and New Mexico are ample to meet all demands for at least 15 years. High bids totaling $2,141,487 have been received by the Texas state school land board for mineral leases on 79,138 acres of public land. Richfield Oil from sealed bids sales of holdings in West Texas and New Mexico, the company withdrawing Jan. 1 from Permian Basin operations.

WILDCATS Carter oil's new well in Garvin County, Okla., recorded test flows of 441 barrels in seven hours and 780 barrels in 18 hours. W. M. (Mike) Griffith, Plymouth Oil vice president, says he considers a Tom Greene County, Tex., well, which tested at the rate of 10 barrels hourly, good for 500 barrels daily production. potential of 1140 barrels daily has been filed for Sinclair Prairie Oil's Andrews County, Tex., discovery well. Continental Oil's wildcat discovery, 10 miles south of Hobbs, N. M., had a drill stem test flow of 98 barrels hourly.

Area Reports Completions

Eight new oil wells were completed in this area during the past week according to a report from the Oil and Gas office of the Railroad Commission issued yesterday. One new gas well was also reported as completed in Gray County.

One well was plugged in Gray County, also. Hutchinson County led in completions, having reported four completed wells. One well was reported completed in Carson, Wheeler, Gray, and Moore counties.

Moore County J. M. Huber Corp., No. 1, Puller, located 2310 feet from west and 330 feet from south lines N-2 Section 5, Block M-16, AB & M Survey, tested 44 barrels of oil in a 24 hour test. Top of pay 3235 feet. Total depth 3262 feet.

The Texas Company, No. 2, R. F. Douglas, located 330 feet from north and west lines Section 36, Block 13, H & GN Survey, tested 15 barrels of oil in a 24 hour test. Top of pay 2115 feet. Total depth 2153 feet.

Movie Goers Fool-Proof

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—The trouble is that you're too smart. That's what Producer Benedict Bogus says about you, the movie public. "You can't fool them," the film bigwig complained. "No matter what you do, they can sniff out a bad picture. "You can spend a million dollars on publicity (as some producers have done lately). You can tell them it's a great picture, but if it's bad, they won't come anyway. What's more, they won't come the first day. They seem to sense that a picture isn't going to be any good." Independent producers are normally a complaining tribe, but Bogus claimed they have more to beef about than usual. "We're taking an awful chance every time we make a picture. (His latest gamble: "The Crooked Way" with John Payne, Bonny Tufts, Ellen Drew.) "The English situation is what murdered us. I had $4,500,000 tied up in pictures when the tax was levied. The tax meant a million dollar loss to me. "And," he added mournfully, "there doesn't seem to be any bottom to the market." A "stone" of weight is 14 pounds.

Business Asked to Share Federal Problem

HOUSTON —(AP)—William Benton, former assistant secretary of state, says the new Truman administration will face grave problems which businessmen must share. Benton, chairman of the board of Encyclopaedia Britannica, spoke before the annual banquet of the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

He said business can expect higher taxes, presumably corporation taxes. United: NBC 12:30 p.m. Chicago Roundtable "Election and Republican Party."

Foreign Oil Said Being Stored Here WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — Foreign oil is being brought into the U. S. in amounts larger than necessary to balance supply with demand, the president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association said here.

George W. Dimock said: "The oil producer finds himself again caught in the same oil squeeze play."

"When a major oil company with immense foreign oil reserves and production makes the statement that world crude oil supply and demand is in balance," he said, "and the company has no intention of meeting the increased prices posted by others, it is time to ask if the power of these companies to control the domestic oil industry is in the national interest."

(W. S. Rodgers, chairman of the board of the Texas company, said Wednesday in Houston that oil supply and demand were in balance and it was not logical for crude oil prices to be hiked. He said also considerable oil was going in storage.)

Dimock said: "How can the major oil companies reconcile statements by their attorneys in the flare gas hearings that every barrel of crude is badly needed, even though wastefully produced, with statements such as that issued by Mr. Rodgers to the effect that an increase in price is not justified because 'considerable oil is going into storage.'"

Four-Month-Old City Votes to Dissolve SHERMAN — (AP) — Residents of Highland City voted 72 to 66 Tuesday to dissolve the corporate existence of the four-month-old town on the edge of Sherman's north city limits.

The 1,062-acre tract was incorporated in an election July 10 after Sherman started a charter amendment to allow annexation of adjacent territory without the consent of the residents of the area to be annexed.

Several producing oil wells are located in the Highland City area. The Tadjikistan Soviet Socialist Republic, in the extreme south of Central Asia, is a land of high mountains traversed by narrow valleys. Its principal crops are cotton and grain.

Peanuts... Real Estate... Oil Leases

It sure pays me to advertise—you know that little ad I run last Sunday under Wades Gift Shoppe, one of our subsidiary companies—I sold every item I had advertised—Mr. Coffin came in and bought every one of the beans—Mrs. Taylor got the house out on Louisiana—Somebody bought the combination radio and phonograph and Ive misplaced his name, and Joe Loopers boy got the deep freeze to give to his Mother for a Xmas present—and while Im on that Deep Freeze, I'd just like to give Joes boy a little advice—dont ever send Joe in to do your trading—you can save your self some money by doing your own—I dont know whether it was Joe getting up against a smart trader like me, or whether he trades like that with every body—anyway you could of saved 10 dollars on that box if your Father hadnt talked so much.

Does any body ever read Harry Kellys curbstome farmer in the Out-Look—somebody brought me a copy the other day and showed me where this Mr. Kelly might be throwing his self wide open to a law suit—I'd like for everybody to know right here and there, that I never took no advice from Curley Boyd let alone him being called my advisor—Mr. Boyd dont advise me on anything—the only time this Mr. Boyd ever did try and advise me was on that office furniture moving job that he done when I moved out of the Duncan Bldg.—we couldnt get together on the price, so he advised me to leave the chair up there—that green plush chair is still up there in the Duncan Bld., and as far as Im concerned it'll be there a long time if I have to pay those kind of moving prices.

Anybody need any peanuts—why I buy stuff like I do I dont know—I was down in Wheeler County here awhile back a visitng, and when I left I had bought about 50 lbs. of peanuts in the hull—now I dont need that many peanuts even if my family is fond of them—so we have decided to sell some and of course the price will be right—I wouldnt want to sell less than 5 or 10 pounds to the customer, and I guess I would want about 10 cents a pound—if you wanted them huled and parched naturally we would have to have more.

Ive just had listed with me one of the choice lots in the Frazer Addt.—it belongs to my un-married nephew here in the office—I thought for awhile he was going to need it to build a house on, but somethings came up, so he wants to sell—it's a 75 ft. corner lot, located on Willis ton and Worrell Sts.—if your looking for a home-site this might be something choice, as there is nothing left in this vicinity for sale.

Need a house worth the money?—we have one with two big rooms—it's not the best, but it is comfortable and warm—it's located on three 50 ft. lots, and its in a good location in the Talley Addt.—has an out-house or two, and we can sell you this for 850 dollars.

Is your Xmas shopping getting you down—it is me—about this time of year I always give my wife her shopping money—and she does all of the buying—well I gave her 25 dollars the other day and told her to go to it—the 1st thing she done was to go down and buy 14.95 worth of electric lights—I may be getting old, but that seems like a lot of money to spend on Xmas bulbs—I dont see why some people cant be a little more conservative with their money—I get the cold shivers when I think of the money that is being spent nowadays.

I have one 25x75 ft. vacant building that I can rent—will give a good lease to an up and coming business.

When you read this go to Church—You'll feel better the rest of the day.
