WELCOME THE NINE

Today's game marks a new era in Panhandle baseball. The Great American Game, not developed hereabout in the last few years, has been given new emphasis by the bringing to Amarillo of a Western league charter.

The boy gang and the vacant lot again have come into their own, and inter-city baseball has been revived as no other influence could have done. The nine is destined to become as popular as the eleven in the Panhandle. The high school and college diamond will be prevented from giving way almost entirely in interest to tennis, track and "sweet nothings" of the spring.

The appearance of the Texans will hold interest at a high pitch until the opening game with Lincoln, in Amarillo April 14, then the percentage column will be much watched. The Panhandle through the Western league will be tied up in terms of interest, publicity and sports with the larger cities and clubs of the Middle West and Southwest.

Moreover, the Amarillo club, reimbursed with new capital, interest and spirit, will give increased interest throughout league territory.

Pampa today welcomes the Texans—may they win every league game.

OPINION VS. MOBS

Has it come to pass in American government that the mob, klan, clique, or gang rules the average city?

The city election period just passed witnessed strange happenings in scores of cities. Chicago and Borger were outstanding examples of the unusual, but they were not alone.

The American city, the most misruled of all democratic institutions, was never less out of politics than now. That city which does not have party corruption sooner or later develops some other kind. Petty grafts will spring up in the best regulated communities.

Campaign slogans are too often based upon hatred, prejudice or personalities, and too seldom upon live city issues. Office holders do not investigate themselves, and rare indeed is the city which takes itself to a cleaning. To put over a clean, progressive ticket requires methods almost as steam-rolling as the gang tactics which the sincere voter is trying to override.

The reason—lack of public opinion. Many a voter who grows red in the face when his party affiliation is questioned has to be bribed, cajoled or forcibly yanked to the polls to take part in a city election. Public opinion, if it could be made responsive and exacting, could lower taxes, bring about good conditions, insure progress and remedy most of the evils about which the non-voting knocker speaks so loudly.

And more than mere opinion at this time is needed political courage. Almost any person one meets has opinions, but is seldom willing to stand by them in the face of criticisms or to pass them on to the authorities in question. In the absence of this needed courage, a big per cent of the public would like for the newspaper, the church or some other indirectly concerned institution to become a scourge, prosecuting and judge. And, too often, the public will not support in a crisis the very courses it is so anxious to have someone start.

The responsibility for its own affairs rests primarily with the public, and public opinion is the most needed influence in the American city today. Some cities have "it," and their superiorities are to be seen at a glance.

PRESS FORUM

THE LAW CATCHES UP

The exodus of undesirables from Borger is reported in full swing, and it appears that the hectic days of that latest "wild" town are about over. The law—a little late, to be sure—has arrived in the convincing persons of 10 Texas Rangers. On roads leading out of Borger in all directions, it is reported, one observes slow-moving clouds of dust. In their centers are footsore pedestrians plodding along in the hope of "catching a ride" out of the dangerous vicinity of the hard-boiled Rangers. The automobile contingent of Borger's undesirable population already has flitted to more salubrious climes. No doubt the hegira enacts many times over and in part the story of Bret Harte's "Outcasts of Poker Flat," with, of course, a modern setting.

The old Borger was, of course, an anachronism. It belonged, if we are to believe reports of the happenings there, in the days of the wild frontier. The nucleus of earnest and solid citizens, increased as it was by the earnest and sober newcomers who flocked to the town drawn by the magnet of oil, was submerged under the "flotsam which the wave of riches flung upon the once peaceful community." The machinery of the law was, of course, inadequate to the task thrust upon it. But because this is 1927 and not 1840, law-breakers could not long maintain the supremacy thus acquired. The law has caught up at Borger, and the fast growing town will settle down into peaceful pursuit of the gains which are to be legitimately acquired in a new oil field.

The Borger episode has been repeated several times in very recent past. In each case it was a new oil field which produced the phenomenon. At points and on occasions Texas still grows so fast that ordinary processes can not keep pace with it.—Star Telegram.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—The president's church will have room for Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and nearly everyone else this Easter Sunday.

For 60 years, according to the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, the First Congregational Church has been swamped by Easter crowds. It has been positively "baffled" in its attempts to hold Easter services.

Since Calvin Coolidge became president and continued to attend, the problem has been more acute than ever. Thousands of applications for seats are received each year from persons outside the city.

This year threatened to bring the worst jam yet, but the Daughters of the American Revolution saved the day. Their Congress was to meet here the week after Easter and they had engaged the local Auditorium.

Either because they were inspired by divine grace or because some mortal person put a bee in their ears, the Daughters turned over the Auditorium to the First Church for Easter Sunday.

The Auditorium is the capital's largest hall and the Rev. Dr. Pierce was able to promise that the public could be accommodated and that everyone was invited.

The president, when in Washington, has always attended the Sunday morning services of the church. In recent months services have been held in a theatre, as the District of Columbia authorities condemned the old church. A campaign for a new church is under way.

Announcement that Spain had purchased for an embassy the magnificent Sixteenth street residence which Mrs. John B. Henderson had offered to Congress for the vice president, was a sad blow to the lovely ladies of the Congressional club.

The Congressional club has had a bad case of growing pains, for its members augment after every election. It had expanded beyond its present cozy club house and has been casting its eyes around for new quarters, most longingly of all at Mrs. Henderson's wonderful, unused mansion alongside the Mexican embassy.

Ever since Congress had turned down Mrs. Henderson's candid offer, the most exciting topic of conversation when the lovely ladies got together was speculation over whether

U. S. London Embassy Is Well Furnished

LONDON—American furniture in a British home decorated by a Russian is the international combination authorized by Mrs. Alan B. Houghton, wife of the American Ambassador to the court of St. James.

The attractive furniture which Mrs. Houghton brought from the United States to furnish the new embassy at Princess Gate has a suitable setting. The dining room has been paneled in Queen Anne style to harmonize with the long dining table and chair while Adam style rules the drawing room, where there are many evidences of Mrs. Houghton's artistic taste.

The small study for the Ambassador with its curious old pieces of furniture and comfortable chairs is papered in old panoramic wall paper. The decorative scheme, supervised by Mrs. Houghton, was conceived by Prince George of Russia, nephew of the late Czar Nicholas.

OKLAHOMA WOMAN OPENS ART STUDIO IN PAMPA

Mrs. R. J. Kiser of Okmulgee, Okla., has opened the Pampette Art studio in room 6 at the Duncan building.

Mrs. Kiser comes recommended as an expert on interior decoration, and is skilled in painting, clay work, and general art work.

Mrs. Henderson, the club's honorary president, would do the noble thing and donate the place to the organization.

Settle Mothers As Eager As Children

NEW YORK—Mothers of large families in the congested districts of New York City are as eager for recreation facilities and the stimulating environment of settlement houses as are their children, says Mrs. Bernice Baumann, chairman of the Hamilton House board of directors. "Most people think settlements are for children only," Mrs. Baumann says, "but the mothers of our youngsters, most of them workers in factories, come to us constantly for cooking and sewing lessons and for companionship with neighbors."

Hamilton House is in one of the most congested districts of the city.

First Picture of Burning of Pinedo's Plane

When the seaplane of Commander Francesco de Pinedo caught fire and was completely destroyed at Roosevelt Dam, Ariz., after the famous Italian aviator had brought it safely from Italy to the United States, via Africa and South America, a cameraman for The News and NEA Service was on the scene. The telephoto picture above, taken just after the fire started, shows the great two-motored monoplane in flames on the placid waters of Roosevelt Lake with clouds of smoke rolling skyward. Below is a picture of the plane at Galveston, shortly before the disastrous flight westward was started.

Barbed Wire Is Used To Ward Off College Serenaders

(By The Associated Press.)
OXFORD, Eng., April 11.—Barbed wire entanglements have been thrown about St. Hilda's College for women in an effort to keep out male serenaders.

The college grounds already were protected by a high brick wall but this proved an inadequate barrier to the nocturnal raiders. So also have been the efforts of the Oxford policemen, who were notified to keep a strict watch in the hope of apprehending the midnight wall climbers.

The affair came to a head when on two successive nights invaders penetrated the forbidden citadel. The first Oxford undergraduate found his way into St. Hilda's by means of a fire escape, only to be discovered by the matron. Chase was given, but he escaped down the fire escape and over the wall as he had come.

Then a more daring undergraduate made his attack. Climbing a waterspout, he swung himself to a balcony, pulled himself to the ledge of a window above and tumbled into the room of the college bursar. An indignant matron raised the alarm, and a chase through the corridors of the building followed but the invader escaped through the same window by which he had entered.

The following day, a florist's boy called at St. Hilda's and handed the bursar with a wreath of laurels, presented, according to the card, "for bravery in action." But apparently she has decided to risk no more such skirmishes, for on the same day, workmen began to string their barbed wire barrier along the top of the brick wall surrounding the college.

Wins $10,000 Prize In Novel Contest

NEW YORK—Royalties on her previous novels may be large. But they will not prevent Miss Mazo de la Roche from being excited by the award made her today of $10,000 for her most recent novel "Jaina" which was chosen by the Atlantic Monthly as the most interesting novel written last year. Nearly 1100 manuscripts were submitted to the contest judges.

Miss de la Roche is a Canadian, living in Toronto. She is the author of three published novels and several one-act plays. Her literary career began when at 18 she wrote her first short stories for American magazines.

Miss de la Roche is the first Canadian author since Sir Gilbert Parker to win such laurels in the United States, for as a prize winner, the novel will undoubtedly become a best seller. The prize money is in addition to royalties and her motion picture rights so that Miss de la Roche who has had a difficult struggle for years to make an adequate living from her writing, will at last achieve comfortable financial circumstances.

SUPPORT MISSIONARY

AUSTIN, April 11.—In a recent drive for funds for the support of a Methodist missionary school in Brazil, University of Texas students contributed $4,190. Another drive will be conducted during the summer term.

Seats On Fascist Band Wagon Sought By Various Factions

(By The Associated Press.)
ROME, April 12.—All fascists are agreed in the desire to have Mussolini drive the regime's band-wagon, but they are far from being in harmony in the allotment of other seats. This state of affairs has been revealed by recent squabbling in the open between various Blackshirt factions which has shown that the expulsion of dissident elements from the party has resulted in shifting the center of political activity to the Duce's ante-chamber, with seven distinct fascist groups maneuvering for advantageous positions.

Although all groups are ardently faithful to the regime, observers point out that their complexions vary along the lines of the old fashioned political spectrum from extreme right, through the centrists to extreme left.

The most extreme right group, led by Farinacci Mario Carli, editor of the "Impero," believed in the use of violence as in the early days of the revolution, when the Italian nation was organized on a virtually military basis.

The next section, representing the confederation of industry, wants extreme conservatism with the destruction of radicalism.

The third right group, led by Federzoni, are sometimes called the Bourbonic nationalists because of their advocacy of severe repression of democracy.

The centrists are divided between moderate nationalists, led by Rocco, who insist upon scrupulous legality

Studebaker Big Six

now outsells the combined total of all the other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower

THE COMMANDER—with Big Six performance heightened—with One-Profit prices lowered—is smashing records right and left.

It is smashing records of speed, records of hill climbing, records of sales.

No sedan with horsepower equal to that of the Big Six, according to the ratings of the Society of Automotive Engineers and of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, sells for less than $4000. To get Big Six power you must pay more than double Big Six prices.

As a result of this big value in power, the Big Six has outsold all these other high-powered cars—eights as well as sixes. Today, as a result of the astounding performance of the new Commander models, sales of the Big Six are far in excess of the combined totals of all other cars (those manufactured in the United States and also those built abroad), which equal it in rated horsepower.

Command a Commander

No words, but only your own hand on the steering wheel, your own foot on the throttle, can tell you why men are trading in cars that cost twice as much, to secure the superior power and performance of The Commander.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21: Walter E. Frew, the Banker, Was Earning $33 a Month.

"AT TWENTY-ONE I was with the Wall Street brokerage firm of Shepherd, Knapp & Company, making $33 a month. My father was at one time fairly well-to-do, but during the Civil war, and the changes that followed it, his business was affected and never recovered.

"When I was sixteen my father saw that I would not be able to attend college; he was not well; he did not feel that he could see me through. So he got me the brokerage position. A year later he died. My brother and I took the little inheritance he left us and pooled it in a shipping venture, my first fling at finance. We lost every dollar. A year after my father's death I had nothing except my salary at the brokerage firm, which was $5 a week then.

"After working five years my salary of $33 a month was far from satisfactory, but I had the principal drawback of most young men—no ambition. My job was too pleasant; the hours were easy and the social connections obtained through the position attractive. But when I reached twenty-one I woke up to the realization that I was likely to continue making $33 a month for the remainder of my life. This—and a new head in the office with whom I could not get along—decided me to hunt for a new job. I got one with a bank that offered me $20 a month, in place of the $33 I had begun to think was not enough. But I resigned and took the $20 position and in this place I did the first real work of my career.—Walter E. Frew."

TODAY—Mr. Frew is president of the Corn Exchange bank of New York, a financial organization having about 60 branches with accounts in the neighborhood of 150,000. Besides this he is connected with numerous other institutions in a directorial capacity and is a famous national figure in banking. From the $20 job he got with the bank when he was twenty-one, Mr. Frew advanced to assistant cashier and gradually worked through the intermediary stages of finance until he reached his present position. Mrs. Heenan, "Peaches'" mother is shown looking on as Dr. Schireson works on the scars.

WHO ARE THE RICH?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

COUNT your treasure, and I'll count mine, And we shall see who the rich man is.

You begin with a dollar-sign, And I'll begin with a baby's kiss, You put in all a house can hold, All the splendor and all the gold, I'll put in just a roof of thatch, A bed, a table, a chair to match.

Count your treasure, and I'll count ours, You the mansion upon the crags; We have little but birds and flowers And bread and butter, but mostly rags.

We have love, on a barren floor, You have wealth, and but little more. Counting over the things of his, Which would you say the rich man is?

Neither of us, I am sure of that, For who is rich who has naught of love? And poor the lover who ever sat In calm content with a leak above. For love and lucre, and wealth and wit, Go best together, I'm sure of it.

To gather either be not too loth— The rich are those with a bit of both. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

RITES START FORGING OF MIKADO'S SWORD

TOKYO, April 12.—(AP)—Forged with ceremonial solemnity, the new state sword of Emperor Hirohito is in the hands of the most famous craftsmen in Japan. When the new Mikado goes to join his fathers, the weapon will be lowered into the imperial sarcophagus with the body.

In having a sword specially cast for him, Hirohito has departed from the customs of his father, the late Emperor Yoshihito, and his grandfather, Emperor Meiji, who used only swords made many years ago by noted artisans.

Sadakatsu Tsukiyama of Osaka, the most noted modern swordmaker of Japan, started the forging with prayers and ceremony. Priests strewed incense and Tsukiyama, with two assistants, all in white ceremonial garments, solemnly placed the iron ore in the furnace and a new scepter for a new Mikado was begun.

SAULSBURY IS MAYOR PRO TEM, SAYS REID

Mayor F. P. Reid has appointed Baker Saulsbury, a new councilman, to be mayor pro tem and take the chair as presiding officer in case of absence of the regular city head.

After being treated to the expertise of Tsukiyama, the weapon will be turned over to Riko Hishida, the leading sword polisher, who will give it the finishing touches.

East vs. West In Sprint At Penn

NEW YORK—A spring cinder track duel that promises to be exciting is the forthcoming race at the Pennsylvania Relays, April 29 and 30, between Roland Locke and Henry Russell, two of the greatest all-around sprinters America has turned out in years. Both loom as Olympic contenders, Locke from the University of Nebraska, cleaned up the middle west last year, and Russell, captaining Cornell's team, led all rivals in the east.

The Nebraskan holds the world's 220 yard record at 20 5-10 seconds, and has been clocked in 9 5-10 for the century. Russell won the intercollegiate sprint title at 70 yards, broke a world record at 75 yards, and captured the 100 and 220 yard titles in the outdoor championships at Cambridge. The 220 is the favorite for both Russell and Locke.

As The New Super-Power Plant Appears Today

The picture above shows the Southwestern Public Service company's super-power plant as it looks today. The picture was taken from a point just south of the property and gives some idea of the size of the tract purchased by the company for the erection of their big plant. The 5,000 kilowatt plant just completed is shown in the center. At the extreme left of the picture is shown a 2,800 volt substation which provides power for the immediate vicinity of the plant. Next is a 18,000 volt substation which supplies Amarillo proper. Next to the building is a 44,000 volt substation which supplies current for the high lines. Just to the right of the buildings are two small buildings which were used in the construction work. Just back of these buildings and to the right may be seen the big spray pond where the steam is condensed into water.

FEATURES FROM OTHER LANDS

Secret Weddings For Common-Law Couples

PARIS.—(AP)—Secret weddings for what Americans know as common law households have been legalized by parliament. The government prosecutor can authorize the abolition of the publicity and formalities that keep many from marrying.

Unmarried fathers and mothers of children often fear to reveal the truth by a wedding years after the birth of their children. Frequently couples supposed to be married have no children because they do not wish them to be illegitimate, and they shun the publicity of a long delayed marriage.

Under the new order of things these couples can regularize their relations without letting the neighborhood in on the secret.

Feminists seek further reforms. They want the protection of the woman and the children in an unmarried household. In a common law association that has lasted through many years damages and insurance for the death of the "husband" have been denied the woman. A similar situation occurs in the distribution of family property as the unmarried woman, although known as the wife, has no standing in court.

Paris Gets Taste Of Cubist Posters

PARIS.—(AP)—New French poster designs are following the German post-war "modern" style of geometric form and a few strikingly contrasting colors.

Cubist influence is seen plainly in the use of angular masses of flat tones, square human figures and similar tricks of the latter-day art.

The old-fashioned decorative posters still predominate and make the new signs stand out the more vividly.

Feminists Rap French Gourmets

PARIS.—(AP)—French gourmets have run afoul of the feminist movement.

The suffragists are down on the old household law that sets man in a comfortable chair at the dining table to await woman's masterpieces from the kitchen.

Andre Lamande, speaking for the "good forks," as his countrymen describe those who sit long at the table, has voiced a protest against quick lunches, apartment house common-kitchens, and a proposal to develop catering service that would do most of the cooking for families.

"Good cooking," he declares, "is the honor of our country."

"Since when," reply the feminists, "is the national honor in our stomachs? If the gentlemen wish to eat in their particular manner, let them also learn to cook."

Royalty Battles For Empty Throne

BERLIN.—(AP)—A battle royal has broken out between "Empress" Hermine, wife of the ex-Kaiser William II, and former crown Princess Cecile, wife of the former Emperor's eldest son, Frederick William. The stake is the vacated throne of Germany.

Cecile is fighting for her first born, Prince William, who will be 21 on July 4. "Kaiserin" Hermine is fighting, not as generally believed for her husband's return to the throne, but for her oldest son by her first marriage, Prince Hans Georg von Schoenau-Carolath who will be 20 on Nov. 3.

In Potsdam court circles it is generally believed that Hermine is influencing the former Emperor to adopt her children by her first marriage. It is also rumored that she does not look with disfavor upon stories appearing from time to time in the press, that tend to discredit the Hohenzollerns still residing in Potsdam, including the former Crown Prince and his family, Prince Eitel Friedrich, Prince August William and Prince Oscar.

Hermine, it is stated, has adopted the slogan, "new blood is needed in the Hohenzollern family."

Progress Alters Prussian Courts

BERLIN.—(AP)—The Prussian law courts have at last succumbed to a form of modernization.

More than 3,000 typewriters have been installed in the principal courts where most of the clerical work, with the exception of letter writing, has been done with pen and ink as of old. Adding and bookkeeping machines are being installed gradually. The Ministry of Justice has asked all justices and clerks to contribute suggestions for systematizing and speeding up the legal machinery.

In the central Berlin district court building a moving belt arrangement for distribution of mail and intra-departmental messages is being constructed. The innovations are not being carried out without protests from older jurists, who look with abhorrence on what they call "factories of justice."

Prussian Cops Hold Chess Tournaments

BERLIN.—(AP)—Chess has become the most popular indoor sport of Prussian police, who are for the most part unmarried men quartered in barracks like members of the regular army.

Chess tournaments are being played between the police forces of the various cities and with civilian clubs. The Berlin Police Sport Club opened its new clubhouse with a chess tournament in which 40 persons played. Outdoor sports are the chief recreation in summer.

Cabinet Minister Selected by Lot

BERLIN.—(AP)—Choosing a cabinet minister by lot is a political innovation of the German free state of Mecklenburg.

When the Socialist-Democratic coalition government headed by Premier Paul Schroeder stumbled over the budget bill and failed to obtain a vote of confidence, the Mecklenburg parliament reassembled to choose a new cabinet by the prescribed method of voting. Schroeder was reelected by a vote of 25 to 24, as also was the minister of finance, Asch. When the position of minister of education came up for vote, three ballots resulted in a tie between the democratic incumbent, Moeller, and the candidate of the right, Stammer. The salons of Mecklenburg, finding that the meal hour was well advanced, yet duly mindful of their responsibility to their constituents decided to cast lots. Moeller won.

Stray Dogs to Be Guides for Blind

BERLIN.—(AP)—More than 500 stray hounds in the dog pounds of various large cities of Germany will escape execution by gas in the next few months if they behave themselves, but they will be dedicated to the service of blind veterans of the war.

The Society for the Care of the Blind, which annually trains thousands of Police dogs to lead blind persons safely through city traffic, has agreed to co-operate with the Society for the Protection of Dogs and save a certain number of canines which would otherwise be asphyxiated. Dog pounds will be combed for large dogs with adequate intelligence to be sent to a training school near Frankfurt.

New Copyright Law Sought For Author

BERLIN.—(AP)—The Prussian Academy of Arts is sponsoring agitation for a modernized copyright law which would extend copyright privileges to 50 years. The existing limit is 30 years.

Authors, playwrights and composers argue that they or their heirs are entitled to income from royalties for a longer period. Cosima Wagner, 88-year-old widow of the famous composer, it is pointed out, isn't receiving a cent on her husband's compositions which others are exploiting at a handsome profit.

Many publishers, however oppose the plan. Works of men like Theodor Storm, Gustav Freytag, Gottfried Keller and many others are never really available for the large majority of the people until the copyright expires and prices fall.

Decorators Not to Be Bound by Convention

The Cretan decorators did not scruple to depart from a literal interpretation of nature if by so doing they could achieve more satisfying decorative effects.

If a monkey with a blue head suited their purpose better than a realistic monkey they showed no hesitance in altering it. This is the decorator's privilege, a sort of artistic license that has been taken by artists from those ancient times to the present.

Do not think that curious drawings and distortions are the product of amateurish hands. The Cretan decorators did not alter the apparent forms because they could not draw them correctly. It was done deliberately, to suit their scheme of decoration. Sometimes a naturalistic treatment of flowers and ferns was used.

When they liked they could give realistic interpretation and at other times conventionalize their subjects. When it suited their purpose they put in colors that nature never uses in such places. These Cretan decorators were great craftsmen and artists. Their designs are studied by artists today.

Bathing Habits Of U. S. Spread Abroad Asian Patriarchs

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Bathing conveniently and often is no longer an American idiosyncrasy, it is disclosed in Commerce Department figures on plumbing material exports.

For five years prior to 1926, such exports averaged $2,000,000, but increased in that year to $2,226,000 and a further increase is regarded as likely this year.

In Latin America bath tubs are not in great demand, but the department's trade specialists find a good field for shower equipment. Great Britain, on the other hand, takes little shower bath material. Canada, Mexico and Cuba are considered markets for the latest type fixtures.

Nation's Faith in God Expressed on Coinage

"In God We Trust" first appeared on the coins of this country in 1864, and owes its presence very largely to the increased religious sentiment in the dreaded crisis of the Civil war. S. P. Chase, then secretary of the treasury, having received a number of appeals from devout persons throughout the country suggesting and urging that the deity be recognized suitably on our coins in a manner similar to that commonly found on the coins of other nations, addressed a letter to the director of the mint, at Philadelphia, stating that "no nation would be strong except in the strength of God or safe except in His defense. The trust of our people in God should be declared on our national coins." He ordered that a device be prepared without unnecessary delay, with a motto expressing in the fewest words possible this national recognition. Various mottoes were placed on coins in 1862 and 1863. The first ones bearing "In God We Trust," however, were coined in 1864.

Seemed Something of an Odd Combination

He didn't really want to bring the two cats home from Colorado but what good is the argument of a mere man against those of a wife, three children, and a mother-in-law? So the family started home last week with the cats enthroned in a box on the back seat of the car.

He was somewhat ashamed of the ugly yellow pets anyway, and his mortification was complete when he was forced to ask a garage owner, in the town where they spent the first night, for cellar space in which to park his charges.

"I suppose," he said to the garage man, "I suppose you don't see many tourists crazy enough to be taking common alley cats with them, do you?" "Oh, yes I do," replied the garage man. "They come in here every day with all sorts of pets. But," he added as an afterthought, "by George, you're the first feller I've seen that was totin' cats and a mother-in-law both."—Los Angeles Times.

As a rule, the bath tub manufactured for export is the old style, enameled iron affair which stands on four legs. Purchaser in Norway, however, demand that the legs be detachable, and the Chinese want earthenware tubs called "soochow".

THE EASY ROAD

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THERE never was a road I came
I couldn't turn around;
You cannot get so deep in shame
But that the solid ground
Lies right behind. The way is straight,
The latest hour is not too late.

And say not ain't the easy way,
And righteousness the hard.
I've had my fun, I've had my play,
And I've discovered, pard,
That slipping down the thing grows flat,
For climbing up is not like that.

Each hour you get a finer view,
The higher that you climb,
Each day you find some gladness new—
You have a better time
Than they who walk the road below
They say it's easier to go.

Up here you find the fresher air,
You find the fairer flowers;
They walk among life's oozes there,
Up here the hills are ours;
The sun is bright, the skies are blue—
Up here's the easy road for you!

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

SARCASM

SARCASM may be ironical, it may be clever and witty, but to be really sarcasm it must also have a barb that will hurt, a lever that pries apart some shame or pretense and lays it open to amusement and contempt.

The modern usage of the word might almost be said to be a figurative adaptation of its original meaning. For we have "sarcasm" from the ancient Greek, where it meant to tear flesh like dogs.

Modern weapons are likely to be intellectual rather than physical. Civilization forbids us to use our teeth, but the edge of sarcasm can be just as sharp, and sometimes inflicts hurt far deeper than torn flesh!

"Flat-Footed Golf," English Brand, Is Shown On Riviera

(By The Associated Press.)
CANNES, France, April 12.—
"Flat footed golf," advocated by the English physiologist, Dr. Robert Blakoe, has caused mental and physical torture to golfing novices trying to improve their game on the many courses on the Riviera.

Some teachers say the doctor is right in declaring modern methods of attacking the golf ball all wrong.
Blakoe says the feet should be kept flat on the ground and not moved during the swing. Other golfers say Dr. Blakoe is all wrong and cite the American authority, Grantland Rice, who ridicules the Blakoe theory.

In the heat of the controversy Christopher E. Callaway, professional at the Trenton (N. J.) Country Club, who spends his winters with his brother at the Cannes Golf Club, came forward with the view point that there are many ways to hit a golf ball.

In the first place, he says the Blakoe theory isn't new. Forty years ago Sir Walker Simpson, an authority on golf, said, "Stay on your feet all you can." Some players, for instance, Michael Scott, a well known English player, have little body turn.

The common points in all golf swings, says Callaway, are having the club at right angles at the impact and the club head going fast. Speed at impact is essential.

If the weight of the body is on the right leg at the top of the swing the player can be up on his left, or the left foot can be on the ground.
There must be balance at the top of the swing, the weight must be transferred to the left leg as the swing progresses, and there must be the utmost degree of relaxation of every muscle as the club comes down if a long ball is obtained.

Does Foundry Work With Her Employes

TRENTON, N. J.—The village blacksmith has a rival in Mrs. Harriet Fisher Andrews, who has been called the "anvil queen" of the United States. Mrs. Andrews claims the distinction of being the only woman in the country who runs a foundry.
She says she can put through a piece of work in her plant from start to finish as well as any of her employes.

The anvil works which Mrs. Andrews inherited from her first husband has been in operation 36 years.

SEEN About New York

NEW YORK, April 12.—Some 15 years ago restaurants began entertaining diners with vaudeville acts.
Cabarets grew up. Now the entertainment seems to have the upper hand in the night clubs, a new generation of cabarets.

Some proprietors fear the designation "supper clubs" may become a misnomer under the 3 a. m. cur-few. The food items on the checks have dwindled, it being assumed that appetites do not become urgent until nearly breakfast time. Before the curfew many of the habitués ate their first substantial meal of the new day in the clubs.

A tip is supposed to be a voluntary contribution, but New York waiters, taxi drivers and others know how to wax eloquent when it is not forthcoming.

Fifth Avenue bus conductors are noted for their courtesy, but they couldn't help one old gentleman.

He wanted to pay a dime fare out of a $5 bill fairly early in the morning and the conductor hadn't the change.

"This is the fourth bus I've tried," he told the conductor, as he stood on the step. "Are you all broke?"

A fapper called out, "Come on in,
I can help."

After he climbed aboard, she explained, "I havn't anywhere near $5 but I'll stake you to a dime rather than have you hold up the bus. I'm late to work now."

A surprising number of New York homes, even in the expensive districts, are still lighted by gas.

A bespectacled man who didn't rush with the rest paused at a newsstand during the evening rush hour and looked over the papers and magazines.

"No hurry, doctor," sang out the brisk attendant, between periods of making change for others. "We've got all night—pardon me while I sell this one—no hurry doctor—we've got thousands of 'em—try another—sorry we haven't got any chairs—no hurry doctor, plenty of room—oh, that one."

A parting shot, as the "doctor" walked off with a pink sport sheet,
"I hope you won't."

Lighting of Airways Chief Expense Item

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, April 12.—Establishment and operation of lighting systems to permit night air flying is the chief item of expense in the main tenance of airways.

W. P. McCracken, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce in charge of the governments efforts to assist development of commercial aviation, has ascertained that the required number of lights can be installed at a cost of $337 a mile, and maintained at an annual cost of $197.30.

His figures are based on the cost of lighting parts of the 1195-mile airway from Chicago to Dallas. Air mail contractors who are operating on the route are taking in about $800 a day, and McCracken expects the business to double during the year.

Because of the Nanking incidents in China, there is a possibility of the evacuation of the Christian College at Canton.

Bachelors Fear Women At Polls

(By The Associated Press.)
GLASGOW, Scotland, April 12—
What will happen to bachelor members of the house of commons when the woman vote becomes greater than the male vote?

Sir Robert Horne, who represents the Hillhead district of Glasgow, is among the unmarried members of parliament who are facing this problem.

At present men and women voters run neck and neck in the district. There are 14,109 women and 14,062 men who are qualified voters.

But if all women over 21 get the ballot on the same terms as men, women voters will far outnumber men.
In fact, political leaders believe there will probably not be a constituency in the British Isles where there will not be more women than men voting when they are put on an equal footing.

At present there are 12,667,303 men electors and 9,587,121 women electors in Great Britain. There are nearly 2,000,000 more women than men in England.

Vice President and Wife Dine Usually At Others' Tables

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes

WASHINGTON, April 11. (AP)—The vice presidency may have drawbacks, but plenty of free meals go with the job.

In fact, so many dinner invitations were received during the last winter social season that Vice President and Mrs. Dawes were unable to accept them all. Those they did not decline took them away from home nearly every night, week after week. It has always been so with the vice presidency. One of the White House social rules, sometimes disregarded as in the case of the Hardings, is that the president and his wife rarely, if ever, dine elsewhere, except for the series of dinners given annually in their honor by members of the cabinet and a few others high in government life.

But the vice president and his wife have no such social restraint, and dinners galore are arranged in their honor. February, just before

Lent, is a particularly busy season.

On several occasions, not to be absent at night sessions of the senate, Dawes excused himself in the midst of dinner and hurried to the capitol to preside in evening clothes. Sometimes at a dinner he coralled one or two senators who also forsook society for their legislative duties.

Although—and again social custom dictates—the vice president is under no obligation to reciprocate, except that annually he entertains in honor of the president a week after the cabinet dinner at the White House. Mr. and Mrs. Dawes gave two big dinners last spring. Those who had entertained them were invited, and there were a hundred or more guests at each function.

This year, however, after adjournment of congress the vice president and his wife went south for a vacation in Florida, Cuba and Panama, and there will be no such dinners.

Would School Men In Baby Tending

RALEIGH, N. C.—College courses for men in baby tending and dish washing "will cut down the nation's divorce toll."

Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, head of North Carolina's home demonstration corps, is the woman who suggests this addition to educational curriculum.

"Lack of training for family life is responsible for a great many divorces granted each year," she explains. "I would not have the men do all the house work, but I would teach them how, simply to give them an insight into problems which women have to face each day."

CITY TO GRADE ROAD NEAR COOK ADAMS LAND

Grading and maintenance of 300 yards of street near the new $5,000 bridge being built in the Cook Adams addition was ordered by the city council last night.

This street will be used by a part of the crowds attending baseball games here, it was pointed out. It is within the city limits and became city property when the addition was taken in. The grader will be put on this strip from Frances street north within a short time.

ADAMS IS GIVEN RIGHT TO DELIVER WATER HERE

The city council last night entered into an agreement with G. C. Adams, under which he will deliver water to people in all parts of the city not served by the mains.

He agreed to operate sufficient trucks to give efficient service, and the council reserved the right to alter the agreement at demands or results dictate.

Two delivery services have been in operation, but the action of the council automatically terminates the second one. Mr. Adams told the council that the business it not profitable to two services, and that overlapping has caused confusion.

ALLEYS IN BUSINESS AREA TO BE LIGHTED

Prowlers along Pampa's alleys will soon be conspicuous in the business district.

The city council last night voted to make a contract with the Southwestern Public Service to install 100-candle power lamps in several alleys, the cost of operation to be added to the property owners' bill each month. The estimated cost to each merchant per month is 25 cents.

Big Petition Asks Removal Of Dump Ground

No further action was taken last night regarding the dump grounds, although purchase of an incinerator was favorably discussed. Councilmen did not speak favorably toward removal of the grounds, although it was stated that another site further from the residential section is available at a reasonable price.

City Engineer A. H. Doucette stated that gravel is being replaced in the settling basin of the disposal plant, and that sewage is now going through the filter. He said, however, that the present system is too small and that extensions should be carried further down the draw through which the sewage discharge now passes.

To Improve Jail

City Marshall John Andrews volunteered the information that the next worst place in this vicinity, from the standpoint of appearance and sanitation, is about the city hall, where unsightly wrecked cars and garbage pails are allowed to stand. The city jail has no sewer connection and highly objectionable odors were reported. The council ordered the city jail connected up with the sewer and asked that the city property be cleaned up. Revision of the sanitary ordinances of the city will be made to meet present needs it was indicated.

Councilman Ike Lewis reiterated his opinion that the city should operate the garbage removal system and have a closer control of such activities.

At several stages the council halted its discussion to take note of the fact that the lack of department heads makes responsibility hard to place. "Passing the buck" was declared to be too easy under the present organization.

Ask More Time

New councilmen several times asked that projects be deferred for action until the next meeting to enable them to become familiar with conditions.

That the city is to be asked to move the jails from their present prominent location in the business section was said to be a current proposal.
