

SIX DRIVERS CHARGED AFTER CHASE

O. B. W., one of our secret operatives who slipped off the original assignment and who now is studying things literary in Boulder, Colo., writes to tell us that the latest stunt in literary tricks is to write a novel in one sentence.

As an example, points out O. B. W., "It might go something like this: Poor Uncle John, one week after Aunt Mary died, he up and moved his Morris chair and spittoon into the living room."

There you have the complete novel in a single sentence—a plot so intricate, so deep-rooted that thousands of words could have been written around and leading up to the grand climax.

You can picture Uncle John and his story down through the years when Aunt Mary was very much alive and what happened to the old boy every time he even attempted to get his spittoon within gun-shot of the living room, the old rascal.

But, under this new system—and in a modern world in which readers are so busy playing bridge or shooting craps that they don't have time to read a lot of unnecessary details—you tell the complete story in a short, snappy sentence, according to what O. B. W. is being taught at Boulder.

Wow! We'd like to go this modern school of short story writers up at Boulder one better. It is our opinion that most short stories need not be dragged out into a sentence. Nine out of ten of them can be written in one word.

Just to prove the point, we will now write a story in one word:

Wow! What a story! In this three-letter one-word novel is a world of action plots unending, to say nothing of comic and dramatic situations unlimited in scope.

There are many other one-word novels with even more action and still a greater profundity of dynamic plot possibilities. Among the most prolific and well-understandable of these is that well-known volume, "Nertz."

"Scram!" is another ultra-modern and popular one-worder full of action, speed and thrills. Modern Americans like to puzzle over things. They love to be mystified.

So, why not write novels in a single word and give them to the reading public and let the readers imagine all sorts of things which they have a right to believe the author had in mind at the time he was writing the one-worded book. Their guess probably will be an improvement on the writer's original plot, anyway.

We had the privilege of making a tour of the Gray county south oil field the other day, driving through the breaks, turning, dipping, climbing and skidding on the back roads—covering about 80 miles from start to finish.

It's a pretty sight, spinning through the forest of steel derricks, and, as our driving companion said, there's something about it that lifts you up—sort of gives you that feeling of security that comes from living in a prosperous country.

We were impressed, as we went deep into this oil field, by the tidy, well-kept camps that dot the area every few miles. Here, far off the beaten path, one finds, tiny cities of spic and span homes, beautiful lawns and all of the community pride that is to be found in the more populous centers.

To one a bit given to getting down in the dumps, or who may feel that things do not look so rosy, we recommend the trip through these modern oil fields that remind you a lot of Aunt Mary's living room before Uncle John moved in with his spittoon.

A by-trip of this kind leads you face to face with the facts and starts you thinking that the territory is rich in productivity; that there is a vast proven area which is yet to be tapped—and you know right well that beneath the surface over which your car hums there flows the black, liquid gold that means prosperity for many years to come.

Perhaps that's the principal reason Gray county business men and women rarely get the big jitters. Untold possibilities are here and they know it. It's a land of promise—something which cannot be applied to a great many areas of this land of ours—and they know that, too.

Pampa is a comparatively new spot under the sun in this great, modern frontier of the west, and, less many who are in a position to know are completely off the track—as old Cap'n Henry says: "It's only the beginning, folks, it's only the beginning."

People You Know

1918 when the Four Horsemen ravaged the earth, and soldiers sickened, stiffened and died, it like flies of the dread plague known as Spanish influenza in army camps, there was a Red Cross nurse at Camp Travis who carried a bucket full of pills and a heart full of courage as she went among the sick and dying soldiers, giving a smile to this one, a cheery word to that one—serving humanity as well as her country. Soldiers loved their last messages for love they ones to her. She held their hands while they gasped their last breath, and today we mourn the death of "Lady Lemuel" von Brunow... and in our mind's memory recur the words of a song that was written for such as she: "Mid the war's great curse, stands the Red Cross nurse, she's the rose of No Man's Land!"

MRS. BRUNOW'S FUNERAL TO BE ON TOMORROW

Rites To Be at 3:30 At First Baptist Church

The funeral of Mrs. Lemuel G. von Brunow, who died at her home here yesterday, will be conducted at 3:30, followed by a service at the grave in charge of the American Legion post which she once served as commander.

The Rev. James Todd, Jr., will officiate at the funeral service, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister. Active pallbearers will be John Bowers, Otto Studer, Harry Lipshy, E. L. Vickers, F. A. Frank and O. K. Gaynor.

Friends of Mrs. Brunow and her husband, Dr. W. von Brunow, among Pampa old-timers and physicians of the Panhandle, will serve as honorary pallbearers. Flowers will be in charge of Mrs. W. Purviance, Mrs. Henry Gerhard, Mrs. H. Hicks, Mrs. C. P. Buckley, and Mrs. Sila Faulkner.

Mrs. Brunow was a native Texan, descendant of Andrew J. Sewell, Texas revolutionary hero and historian. She was born on the Spur ranch in Kent county, Nov. 6, 1863, attended Simmons University, Abilene, and received her nursing training in St. Anthony's hospital, Amarillo.

During the World War she served as a Red Cross nurse at Camp Travis and in New York. She was a member of the Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion and was at one time commander of the only woman to hold that position and believed the first woman in the United States to head a Legion post.

Survivors, in addition to Dr. Brunow, are her mother, Mrs. L. W. Smithers of Homer, La., and G. H. Brunow of Port Arthur, Texas. The honorary pallbearers include Jess Wynne, S. D. Stennis, W. R. Erving, C. P. Buckley, Earl Talley, Dr. H. H. Hicks, Ben White, Alex Schneider, Rufe Thompson, Bill Fraser, Marvin Lewis, Sam Fenber, Henry Gerhard, J. R. Henry, W. D. CENSOR KILLS 2 EDITORIALS IN DAILY TEXAN

State And National Comment Not Published

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—The University of Texas campus newspaper, center of a "press censorship" controversy, appeared today with two editorials eliminated. Approximately eight columns of reading matter concerning its plight had not been materially changed, however.

Granville Price, former New York and Galveston newspaper man who is faculty supervisor of the Texan, killed two editorials because they dealt with state and national political questions.

Comment on politically controversial questions was ordered excluded in the board of regents' new rule which already has been denounced by a congressman, a state democratic executive committee member and others who term it "censorship."

An editorial, "Which is the American Way?" was left standing. It contrasted the new regulation of the Texas regents with the creed of the University of Wisconsin. The only other matter in the column was the editor's explanation of the elimination of two editorials.

The ear on the left side of the front page said, "Today's editorials—censored." That on the right side gave as "Today's Quotation" the following: "Those who would censor speech, then, whether they mean it or not, set themselves the task of impeding, if not stopping mental growth. And, I repeat, the right to be a man cannot be divorced from the right to become a man.—T. V. Smith."

various schools. Junior police, comprised of students, will be assigned to traffic duty at school intersections to safeguard lives of pupils on their way to and from the school buildings.

School zone traffic standards will be republished and installed in front of the buildings, urging caution by motorists driving through the school areas.

Accident posters, depicting the results of carelessness, will be placed in conspicuous places throughout the schools.

The city manager said that another change in safety policy also is to be inaugurated this year. It is planned to open Red Cross life-saving instruction classes among pupils at the start of the school term instead of near the close of school.

In this manner, Sine said, pupils who take the course first will be enabled to teach others during the course of the school year.

by Luigi Baccali, Italy's defending champion and ex-Olympic record holder, 3:49.2; Archie San Romani, Frontenac, Kas., 3:50; and Canada's Phil Edwards, 3:50.4.

Towns, America's ace high timber-topper, captured the 110-meter high hurdle championship in world record equalling time of 14.2 seconds, after winning his semi-final heat in the record smashing time of 14.1.

Great Britain's Don Finlay took second and Fritz Pollard, Jr., Chicago negro, placed third although both were timed in 14.4, equalling the Olympic standard set four years ago at Los Angeles by the late George Galvins of Iowa City.

From the German standpoint, the real hero of the day was Bernhard Steok. The Teuton, with a throw of 71.84 meters, 235 feet, 8 1/2 inches, captured the javelin title, giving Germany her third gold medal in the men's field events at the world championships.

The women's 80-meter hurdles final produced the closest finish yet in either men's or women's track events. Trebissona Valia of Italy, Any Steur of Germany, Betty Taylor of Canada and Claudia Tesoni of Italy finished in a virtual dead heat. They were all clocked in 17.2 seconds.

After viewing the photographs of the finish, the judges placed them in that order.

Hetty Green's Will Cuts Off In-Laws

BELLOW FALLS, Vt., Aug. 6 (AP)—Hetty Green, mother of the late Col. E. H. R. Green, who amassed a fortune estimated before her death at $67,000,000, provided that neither her son's wife nor her daughter's husband could inherit the estate of Hetty's husband.

The will, filed in Westminster district probate court here, left her husband's estate to Col. Green and Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, her daughter, "to the exclusion of any interest therein or control thereof by any wife or husband whom she or he has or may wed."

Court attaches today began searching files for the document to learn whether she made the same provision for her own huge estate.

Her will was drawn March 28, 1911, and directed that the court should "not concern itself with the execution of her will."

Apparently, Probate Justice George H. Thompson said today, the will was observed. He said no record of settlement or distribution ever had been filed with the court as is customary.

off a few minutes before, en route from New Orleans to Chicago.

He heard the plane crash a moment later after it went over a knoll and was obscured from his view.

George Beklmann, on whose farm the ship fell, said he heard the plane and noted the unusually loud roar of its motors.

Bodies of the passengers, many of them badly mangled, were scattered about the twisted main fuselage.

"When I first saw the plane it was barely off the ground and making a steep bank," Sharp said.

"It appeared to be turning back for the airport.

"It went over a hill and I heard a terrible crash. The motors kept right on running.

Sharp and Ben Haverkamp, whom he is visiting, searched unsuccessfully in the dark for the plane before Sharp went to the airport and reported the crash.

Isolation of the spot, a small clearing surrounded by rolling ground, prevented ground crews from immediately locating the plane. Two company employes searching on foot finally found the wreckage after four hours.

A. L. Koch and Guy Faulkner, Department of Commerce investigators, examined the wreckage and airport records but would make no statements.

The bodies were removed by St. Louis County Coroner L. B. Tiernon, who scheduled an inquest for today.

The ship's clock, still running, was found shortly after dawn 100 yards from the main wreckage.

St. Louis and was in perfect condition.

"It was one of those things that can't happen but still did," he declared.

H. R. Moore, flight superintendent for the air lines' St. Louis office, reported the plane did not answer a radio call at 10:02 p. m., seven minutes after taking off from the airport.

Attempts to call the plane through Chicago failed and a check at Springfield, Ill., revealed it had not passed over.

Moore said 9 p. m. weather information on which Pilot Zier was cleared showed a 2,000-foot ceiling, overcast skies, moderate fog, visibility of 1 1/2 miles and a four-mile-an-hour wind.

Airport records showed the ceiling dropped to 500 feet by 10:10 p. m., and the visibility to three-fourths of a mile.

CANCER DANGER CITED
DENVER, Aug. 6 (AP)—Cancer will wipe out the entire human race if it is not checked soon, Dr. J. M. Martin, professor of radiology at Baylor university, said today in a talk at the midsummer radiological conference here.

MISSION STUDY CONDUCTED BY CHURCH GROUPS

WOMEN'S SOCIETIES MEET AT TWO CHURCHES

Work of six missionaries supported by Texas Presbyterians was the subject of an interesting program in the Presbyterian Auxiliary yesterday. Mrs. W. S. Dixon was in charge. The discussion followed a Bible reading by Mrs. T. W. Sweattman.

Mrs. Jim White and Mrs. Claude Ledrick were hostesses yesterday, and served tea to 17 members to close the meeting at the church annex.

CIRCLES MEET FOR MONTHLY BUSINESS

General business of the month was transacted by Central Baptist Missionary union when all circles met at the church yesterday afternoon. Committees reported, and a deliberation was planned to the associational meeting in Canadian on Aug. 29.

Mrs. A. B. Cecil presided for the business session. Mrs. D. M. Scafe directed a home mission program on which Mrs. J. B. Davis, Mrs. Betty Small, Mrs. John R. Scott, and Mrs. C. C. Stark took part. Mrs. J. H. Dalton presented the devotional and Mrs. Scott the opening prayer.

Club and Three Special Guests Meet for Party

Hi-Lo bridge club was entertained yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Homer Lively, with Meses. E. P. Hollingshead, W. M. McWright, and J. G. Teeters as special guests at the two tables.

A red and black color note was stressed for the games, in which Mrs. Homer Wallace made high and Mrs. Tom Morris low score for club members. Mrs. Teeters high for guests, and Mrs. Jim Sturgeon and Mrs. Grady Slocum cut high. Mrs. Raymond Brunley and the hostess were other players.

A refreshing course of salad, sandwiches and grade punch was served.

'Hell No,' Says Garner, 'I'm Not Going to Fish'

DALLAS, Aug. 6. (AP)—Those Centennial publicity boys, who think the best stunt of all is to surround a celebrity with Ranges and shoot his picture, tasted defeat when they tackled Vice-President John Garner at the exposition here.

"Cactus Jack" is an ardent fisherman but when the Centennial promoters tried to put a rod in his hands and, with the encouragement of a fair of Ranges, try to hook the lone bass in the reflecting basin, that was too much.

"Hell, no, I'm not going to fish," asserted the Vice President. And he didn't.

Incidentally the lone bass for which they wanted him to fish had been obtained from the exposition aquarium.

Pension Finances Are In Good Shape Carpenter Claims

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Orville S. Carpenter, old age assistance director, said today pension finances were in good shape at present but new revenue would be needed by Jan. 1.

"Regular income from liquor taxes is running about $300,000 a month," he said, "and in September we expect approximately $500,000 from annual license fees."

The federal government will continue to do its bit, he added. It matches state funds.

Marilyn 'For' Both Her Parents

Playing no favorites in the court battle raging over her custody, chubby Marilyn Thorpe, 4, told the trial judge that she liked both her mama and her papa, screen actress Mary Astor and Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, shown with her in the nursery of Miss Astor's Toluca Lake, Calif., home. Shortly after this apparently friendly family meeting, Dr. Thorpe swore to an affidavit that his former wife had perpetrated a fraud upon Superior Court in Los Angeles. He declared she had concealed the fact that he had obtained letters of guardianship 15 months ago, and that the current hearing therefore is "of no force, avall, or effect."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE, NEA Service Staff Writer.
It does seem that Mother Nature must have realized the perfect harmony between peaches and melons when she arranged for these two fruits to be in their prime at the same time. Melons of all types and varieties blend with peaches to make delicious summer desserts, salads and cocktails.
They're so good, too, that right now, on these August days, should be serving them frequently.
Both fruits, of course, should be ripe and full-flavored, for the best results. However, there are ways of improving a melon which, in spite of careful choosing, proves a bit lacking in flavor.
To Improve Flavor.
If the melon is ripe but insipid, remove the seeds and brush the inner surface with lemon juice, faintly flavored with nutmeg. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and chill thoroughly before serving.
Another method is to fill each half of the melon with a thin sugar syrup, delicately flavored with orange juice. Chill overnight and pour off the syrup before serving.
Peaches and melons that are not quite full-flavored enough to satisfy if served at nature's can be used to advantage in the following recipe:
Peach and Melon Compote.
One and one-half cups diced peaches, 1 1/2 cups diced melon, 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar, 2 1/2 cups water, 2 tablespoons ginger syrup, 2 or 3 pieces preserved ginger. Make a syrup of the sugar and water. When about as thick as maple syrup, add syrup from preserved ginger and the preserved ginger finely mixed. Bring to the boiling point and add peaches and melon. Simmer very slowly until the fruit is clear and the syrup thick. Chill thoroughly and serve with a topping of whipped cream. Muscovite Peaches and Melons. The fruit for this dessert must be perfectly ripe and full-flavored.

Tomorrow's Menu.
BREAKFAST: Fresh pink plums, cereal cooked with raisins, toasted cheese bread, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Macaroni salad, Boston brown bread and butter sandwiches, apple snow, milk, tea.
DINNER: Jellyed ginger ale cocktail, planked lamp chops with vegetables, pineapple and tomato salad, muscovite of peaches and melons, milk, coffee.
Two cups finely cut honeydew melon, 2 cups finely sliced peaches, 3-4 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 3-4 cup powdered sugar, 3 sprigs mint, 1/2 cup whipping cream.
Crush mint leaves in sugar and combine with orange juice and lemon juice. Let stand until sugar is dissolved and remove mint. Add prepared peaches and melon. Turn in to freezer and pack in six parts ice to one part ice cream salt. Let stand three hours or longer and serve topped with cream whipped until firm and slightly sweetened with powdered sugar.

CALLED TO HOSPITAL
Friends of Mrs. W. P. Avriett of Lamesa, district president of federated women's clubs in this section, have learned that she was recently called to Temple to be with her daughter, who underwent a serious operation. Mrs. Avriett was called from Dallas, where she was acting as hostess at the federated club's house on the Centennial exposition grounds. Her daughter, a teacher at Southwestern University, is reported recovering.

Two Pampans to Receive Degrees In Summer Term

Two Pampa women will be among the 152 seniors at West Texas Teachers college, Canyon, who will receive bachelor's degrees at the summer commencement exercises August 20, according to present records from the office of the registrar.

Miss Esther Plank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Plank, and Mrs. Bess Priddy Griffith will be given degrees after an address by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college, and an open air band concert. Mrs. Griffith is a teacher in Horace Mann school here.
Mrs. Helene Harvey Dyer of Skeltytown and Miss Georgia Crutchfield of White Deer are also to be graduated from the college this summer.

Sermon Extols Wives' Advice

"Most men would be a lot better off if they would pay more attention to their wives' advice," stated the evangelist, P. H. Elliot, at the First Christian church last night.
"Pilate had the advice of his wife when Christ was on trial before him. She was more interested in him and loved him better than anyone else on earth. Pilate examined Jesus and then turned to the people and said, 'I find no fault with Him.' Pilate was looking for faults. He wanted to please the people over whom he was ruler.
"You say you would hate to be in Pilate's shoes? Let me tell you, friend, you are in his shoes. Everyone of us must do something with Jesus, the Son of God. We must either open our hearts to Him, or we must close them to Him. What are you going to do about it?
"Pilate knew what he should do with Jesus. You know today what you should do with Him. Pilate washed his hands in the presence of the mob, but there is a big difference between washing the dirt from your hands and the guilt from your heart."

Birthday Party Given for Girl

Miss Fonda Nell Smith was honored at a party on her 14th birthday Tuesday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Smith of Kingsmill. After a number of games, refreshments were served. Guests were Mary Ruth Garrison, Mary Sue Martin, Joyce and Edna Mills, Dorothy Fisher, Marie Nolan, Phyllis and Doris Cotton, Jimmy Cupider, and Kenneth Jordan. Mrs. Merle Martin and Mrs. Pat Garrison assisted in serving.

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 Miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
If kidneys don't empty 8 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 Miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist.

THE BOOTLEGGERS

The bootlegger, like Mark Twain, is able to report that rumors of his death are greatly exaggerated. Repeal, which was supposed to do away with him, undoubtedly affected his health, but it didn't cause him to die outright.

It is wise to recall, however, that reasonable persons never claimed bootlegging was going to be destroyed by repeal. On the contrary, they pointed out it had existed before prohibition and could continue to exist afterward.

They did claim repeal would cramp the bootlegger's style, and that has proved to be true. They argued that he could not compete successfully with legal manufacturers and distributors on a large scale...

Recently when John D. Rockefeller Jr. was interviewed, on returning from a trip abroad, he confessed disappointment in the failure of repeal to put an end to bootlegging. The greed of states in imposing high liquor taxes is responsible, he believes.

The public in general, however, is not so worried about the result as Mr. Rockefeller seems to be. The situation indicates a need for some kind of authoritative checkup on the condition of the nation's old and notorious acquaintance, Joe the bootlegger. It is a project which might be made a natural sequel to the excellent study of the problems of liquor control prepared on the eve of repeal by Raymond B. Fosdick and Albert L. Scott under the authority and financial sponsorship of Mr. Rockefeller.

LONGER TO LIVE

Since the beginning of the century, reports the census bureau, the average life span of Americans has increased from 48 to 59 years for white men and from 51 to 63 for white women. At the same time the infant mortality rate has dropped from 127.38 per 100 to 62.33.

Undoubtedly most credit for this expansion of the life span and reduction of infant mortality must go to preventive medicine and other allied fields of research for which it cannot be said that the modern tempo has relieved life of any of its nervous strain. Constantly science has waged war against virulent diseases which used to claim a heavy toll. Diphtheria, meningitis, smallpox and yellow fever are among the diseases yielding before the onslaught of knowledge and its intelligent application.

Science is winning the battle against premature death as it is conquering material obstacles which have hindered man's progress. Yet as one thinks of the bombing airplane, the long range artillery gun and poison gas, the disquieting conviction arises that man's social intelligence does not yet match his scientific progress. When that happy day arrives, the extra years in life will be all the more worth living.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Lutzer

WASHINGTON—Certain localized pains, vague or pronounced in accordance with the patient's individual constitution, are beginning to afflict some of the liberals who decided to support Governor Landon for election.

The pangs, of course, are almost pleasant sensations in comparison with some of the agony which has caused certain 1932 conservative supporters of Roosevelt to go leaping over the imaginary fence which divides the political parties.

Naturally enough, there is appearing in the Landon camp a division between liberals and conservatives which is more or less comparable to the constant battle which has gone on between conservatives and liberals in the New Deal.

The grumblings come from those who tend to deplore the conservatism of the governor's acceptance speech, the conservative tendencies of his advisers, the marked extent to which Landon has reversed himself from previous endorsements of liberal New Deal measures or policies, and the rather general reaction of labor leaders against the governor's remarks on labor.

It is quite reasonable to doubt whether this development will have any influence whatever on the outcome of the campaign. The liberal vote as such is rather a nebulous factor and, even so, presumably only a small portion of it is sufficiently footloose at this stage to be swung by political philosophy as unfolded in the campaign.

Some hard-boiled politicians even think that if the Republican candidate were to declare firmly against the principle of labor union organization—which is unthinkable—he would attract enough middle-class and farmer votes thereby to make it politically worthwhile.

Nevertheless, the rumor is beginning to get around that certain portions of the Landon acceptance speech were deleted and other portions inserted by Landon's uncle, William Mossman, public relations man and lobbyist for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., a thorough-going conservative.

Visits of Wall Street bank representatives, Chairman John Hamilton's attack on John L. Lewis, and the Liberty League characteristics of Col. Knox's speech also annoy the Landon liberals. They recall that Landon was once promising that "racketeers like Insull, Morgan, and Van Sweringen" should be driven from industry and finance by public scorn and the government's strong arm.

New Dealers, meanwhile, seem to think that Landon and Hamilton are doing themselves much more harm than good—especially with remarks that have antagonized organized labor and Landon's subsequent explanations.

It is easy to see the Democrats' confidence pick up. But if the next polls show an increase of Landon sentiment, they will be thrown into funk and panic.

The Landon liberals will doubtless learn to put up with a lot, just as the Roosevelt liberals have.

Before erosion became so alarming, we thought there was no greater menace to the nation's topsoil than the non-divot-replacer.

"Twenty-seven singers are only twice as loud as one singer." The item must refer to that soprano down the street.

One thing you can say for drunks: they are entirely in sympathy with the government's water conservation program.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Frederic J. Haskin

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News' Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. In what states is limestone quarried? A. W.

A. Building limestone occurs in important quantities in Alabama, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota and Texas.

Q. How early were there Federal laws concerning birth control? A. The Federal law of 1873 classified contraceptive literature and instruments with pornographic literature and obscene devices, and prohibited their importation and their transportation by mail or (in interstate commerce) by common carriers.

Q. How many small white canvas caps were sold during the year for this headgear several years ago? P. R.

A. Concerning the extent of the 25-cent white-cap fad of the summer of 1932, Hat Life says that it has an estimate published just after the decline of that fad which sets its duration at 25 days and the total number of caps sold at 4,000,000.

Q. How many refugees have been cared for by the Nansen Office? H. D.

A. The League of Nations Association says that the Nansen Office has cared for 700,000 to 800,000 Russians, 240,000 Armenians, 7,000 Assyrians, 150 Turks, and 3,000 to 4,000 from the Saar.

Q. Do any of the States have "official" trees? M. B.

A. Five states have state trees but only four of them have been officially adopted. The state tree of Rhode Island is the maple; of Illinois, the native oak; of Texas, the pecan; of Indiana the tulip tree, and of Pennsylvania, the hemlock. The public school children of Rhode Island selected the tree for that state; others listed were chosen by the state legislature.

Q. What university is conducting a clinic for driving tests? H. K.

A. The Harvard Bureau of Street Traffic Research is giving a series of tests in the Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center, New York City. Tests are for steering brake reaction time, speed estimation, color blindness, susceptibility to headlight glare, and hearing. So far about 20,000 men and women have taken these tests.

Q. Please give the dates of any festivals that will be held this summer? E. W.

A. Pennsylvania's folk festival was held at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, July 30 to August 1. The White Top Mountain Festival near Marion, Virginia, is scheduled for August 14 and 15.

Q. How old are the famous physicians, the Mayo Brothers? R. W.

A. Dr. William J. Mayo is 75 while Dr. Charles H. Mayo is 71.

Q. Who is the biggest speculator of all time in this country? F. R.

A. Probably the late Arthur W. Cramer, multimillionaire grain speculator of Chicago, might be so called. He was described by government counsel as "the greatest speculator this country has ever known." During boom days his wealth was estimated between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000. Reported to have lost $29,000,000 in 1929, he recouped by selling short in the grain pit.

Q. What is considered the forerunner of the Declaration of Independence? C. M.

A. The Plan of Union presented by Benjamin Franklin before the Albany Congress of 1754 is so considered by historians.

Q. What is Admiralty metal? M. D.

A. It is classed as brass, and is composed of 70 per cent copper, 29 per cent zinc, and one per cent tin. How many cents were available for the Olympics? F. R. M.

A. There was a total of 3,500,000 for all events.

Q. How many men held the number 258, which was the first number drawn in the World War draft in this country? J. N. C.

A. The Adjutant General's office of the War department says that the number of local boards at which the registration numbers ran as high or higher than 258 was 4,474. In other words, 4,474 men held that number.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

CHARLES DARWIN WAS BORN ON THE SAME DAY OF THE SAME YEAR AS ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

ON Feb. 12, 1809; two men were born, each of whom was to follow a separate path to fame. Lincoln took up the cause of modern man, but Darwin devoted himself to our ancestors of prehistoric eras. The world still argues over his theory that man and the ape descended from a common ancestor.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

Bert Frohman, Broadway, U. S. A. is one of those quick, convivial M. C.'s who really works at it. He has had his share of breaks, capitalized on most of them, come up with good jobs at times when jobs were not plentiful, and conducted himself off the stage and on in a way that has usually been to his advantage.

You'll remember him, or one like him, as one of the big money visiting M. C.'s when the chain theaters were sandwiching their movies with presentation units. That was the beginning of the M. C. idea for out-of-town consumption. The units usually carried a bevy of show kids, an orchestra, several headliners, a mess of "glitter" scenery—and sometimes a movie star making a personal appearance. It was up to the M. C., who usually drew spot-light entrance, to keep things humming, to introduce the star, to interpolate a little, sing a song, and, in general, play wet nurse to the troupe.

Frohman had the knack of doing okay in a spot like this. I say had, because the presentation circuit has largely disappeared, and it is only in a few metropolitan houses, and an occasional key-city theater, that units work now. They went out along with prohibitions and some other things at the peak of the depression.

That necessarily costed a lot of M. C.'s out of employment, but not Frohman, who hit for the big town and has been working ever since. His circuit today is the important cafes, the yacht clubs, the cabarets and the sec-a-Broadway-show-while-you-dine-and-dance type.

I first knew Frohman in the middle west, where he was sent by Louis K. Sidney, of Loew's Inc., to be the permanent M. C. of a de luxe theater. It wasn't long before he became a familiar figure in the downtown spots. Most people liked him for his quick smile, his inevitable good humor. He was, of course, a formal dresser—but that he had something like 40 suits, not counting natty wear or out-of-doors togethers and the belies of the town were properly fascinated.

At that time I was writing show chatter (in addition to sweeping out the office, and doing an occasional obituary for one of the big afternoon dailies, and Bert consequently figured importantly in my department. I recall giving an adieu to him when his contract ran out and he was leaving for another post.

Something of a small war had been waged just previously to this between Frohman and a local dramatic critic concerning his ability as an entertainer, and I took occasion to declare myself in my opinion was that Frohman was an Al man wielder.

"Well, into usual, it's okay, and rather less of his singing. I often wondered whether he took offense at it, though knowing how he is, I doubt seriously that he did.

Anyway, last night on Broadway Bert? Well, as usual, it's okay, and there was: "I remember you," he said quizzically, coming up with that big smile. We had a fine gab-fest, reminiscing of other days and checking up on mutual acquaintances.

Then I asked, "How is it with you, Bert?" "Well, as usual, it's okay, and rather less of his singing. I often wondered whether he took offense at it, though knowing how he is, I doubt seriously that he did.

When the sufferer of imaginary heart disease is told that his heart is sound, he is given an essentially correct reassurance. But while there is no demonstrable structural abnormality in the patient's heart, the fact remains that it does not function normally. The disease, whatever its nature, does not reside in the heart.

The heart and the circulatory system are so related to the rest of the body that they can quickly respond to the demands made upon them by the "whole organism." This is essentially for the preservation of life. When danger is present, quick action is required. The nervous system and the glands of internal secretion stimulate the heart, so that circulation is accelerated and the body prepared for flight or fight.

But, the individual's awareness of the danger is not always proportionate to the actual threat. His awareness and his reaction may be exaggerated. Some individuals may be said to be in a constant state of anxiety. Under such conditions, the person's heart will not only beat rapidly, but he may be aware of its contractions, which awareness frequently adds to his anxiety.

Again, certain infectious conditions may bring about disturbance in heart function without affecting its structures. Excessive mental or physical fatigue frequently upsets heart function. Overweight, which imposes upon the sufferer the burden of extra work, taxes the heart and may give rise to the symptoms of a disease associated with organic heart disease.

The sufferers of imaginary heart disease require a thoroughgoing examination to rule out the presence of organic heart disease. Treatment will be instated only after the cause of the condition is revealed. Treatment may consist in weight reduction, in added rest, reduction in the intake of stimulants such as coffee, tea, tobacco and alcohol. Moderate, graduated physical exercise may be indicated for the sedentary worker to build up the reserve of the heart.

RESORT HOTEL

Deck Morgan © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER IX Ann awoke with the dream that she was sailing into a crimson sunset with Jaime Laird at her side. The sun was streaming in her windows, and she felt a little lazy when she awakened. It was a fine day for a sail.

She lay back in her bed and yawned luxuriously. There were only a few days each year that she could enjoy the luxury of late sleep. She pressed a button, and the waiter came to the room to take her order for breakfast in bed. This luxury was the final touch.

She didn't feel like the Ann Hamilton who pointed a typewriter at the other 11-2 months of the year. But as she lay back, waiting for her coffee, she thought of the uniqueness of a resort hotel, isolated in a beauty spot, where people came and mingled for a brief time and then went back to their regular, ordered tasks in the workaday world.

She sensed the danger in vacation romances now, but thought she was sufficiently aware of herself to avoid them. A resort hotel was an artificial community, isolated from the home and the world's work. It was the scene of color and gaiety the year round. There was a complete lack of restraining contracts, and this left one adrift. The edges of all experience were blurred, and vacation romances were sometimes blurry. The easy familiarity in a resort hotel deceived one about the things that really counted.

Ann was a little bewildered by the admiration she had been receiving. She began to distrust her own impulses.

She was going to meet Jaime today with a feeling of premonition. Jaime had made no effort whatsoever to gain her love. He had laughed at the old-fashioned word "courtship." She had simply fallen for him from the start.

And it was strange that she should feel this way. It wasn't his money—plenty of which he seemed to have despite his losses at gambling; it was his manner toward her. Jaime was personable, charming, and they enjoyed the same things. They laughed at the same jokes. But, in the back of her mind was a faint desire to reform him.

The idea grew until it subordinated all other considerations. It satisfied some urge in her that she couldn't define.

But a desire to reform a man does not help gain insight into the man's real character. The vacation experience blinded Ann.

She didn't know Jaime well. She got up and flung the windows open. Gone were her doubts when she saw the bright sun on the choppy waves out there.

When she went downstairs she met Bill Ware in the lobby. He was leaning against the desk with a ridiculous air of proprietorship. He was sure of himself—that young man!

But Ann recalled his sincere avowal of his feeling for her. His chin was stubborn. He had said, "Perhaps every man is selfish over the girl he loves."

Bill couldn't afford yachts and gay parties, but when he saw something he thought was really worth while, he went after it.

She was talking to Bill on the porch when Jaime drove up to take her to the regatta on Cr. Regis Lake. For a moment the two men eyed each other with cool, measuring regard. Bill couldn't find it in himself to dislike this personable youth who had somehow walloped his chances of sweeping Ann off her feet.

But Bill felt that, of all the men at the resort, Ann had picked the wrong man. After he had waited all these years to find the right girl, she had fallen for a weakling. All that Bill could do was to wait—and see what would happen.

Instinct told him that Ann was infatuated with this guy laid. The way she looked at him, the way she made him tie his reefers around his throat as a protection against the morning chill, the bright chatter she conjured out of the air for him—all convinced Bill of the futility of his own blunt efforts to make her see his love.

When the pair drove away, their gay voices drowned by the roar of Jaime's expensive motor. Bill felt forlorn and lonely. His throat hurt.

It was a bitter ordeal he endured on the mountain that morning, but the ordeal was not in the climb. He lived too intensely at all times. He had stung her in his course, and he wasn't going to deviate from it, no matter how much it hurt! He was in love with the girl.

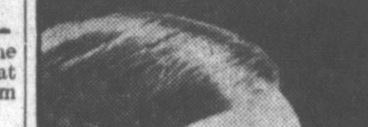

To Ann it was an adyllis day. She lay back among the pillows in the stern of the sailboat, while Jaime kept his hand on the tiller. The regatta on the St. Regis Lake was exciting. The whole fleet was out, and the pink and white sails dotting the lake looked like butterflies on the wing.

Sailing was new to her but it was no less pleasing than Jaime's behavior today. He was deferential. He remembered all the little things that pleased her. His flattery was warm and, since there were so many other pretty girls who waved gaily to him from boats, it was convincing.

When the boat was in its pen again, and they were diving along the shore, watching the sunset behind the neighboring mountain range, there was a look in Jaime's eyes that made her believe in him at last. She didn't distrust her impulses any longer. Just now she wanted to know him better. She yielded to her own urge to heart-searching.

He parked the car on a peninsula far more quickly and surely than by any lessons forced upon him from without.

Puts Question

A request that Governor Landon investigate alleged "coercive tactics" against union organizers by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation at Altiplano, Pa., the firm for which Landon's uncle, William T. Mossman, above, is public relations counsel, has been made by Philip Murray, chief of the steel organizers. Murray suggested that Landon owed it to himself to reiterate his labor stand there.

What do you think?" she asked, smiling. "It was marvelous. Too soon this is all going to end."

"Why must it end? 'I don't want it to end.'"

"Work!" she said succinctly. "Back to the pots and pans."

"Oh—work! Let's not talk about anything disagreeable now." Suddenly his eyes shone, and he turned to her. "What do you say? Let's pack our duds and run up to Canada for the weekend. You'll be back in plenty of time to climb that absurd mountain you've promised to climb with Bill Ware."

"That sounds very attractive," she said. "But—"

"We'd have a gay time! Don't be a fossil. What do you care what a lot of porch-sitters at the hotel would say? We're young. We'll have our fun where we find it. It's nobody's business but our own—up here in the mountains."

Her voice was calm. "Yes, in a vacation place, a resort hotel, it's nobody's business but our own. That's what I go. I'm thinking about — us."

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Milo Anderson, 22, who dies research on period fashions, was supervising the fitting of a hat on blond, curly-headed Marie Wilson when we ducked in from the heat of the outer Warner lot.

Bathing suits seemed a cool topic of conversation. "What's the difference," we asked tentatively, "between the swimming outfits of today and those of say, five years ago?"

Miss Wilson, who plays dumb cuties on the screen, volunteered the answer: "About a yard. They are sandals now."

Anderson, accustomed to delving into heavy books for data on period costumes—he did that for "Anthony Adverse" among other films—agreed with her without consulting authorities.

Modesty Out and In Again. "That's right," he said. Five years ago bathing suits were more modest than they are now. But by a strange quirk of fashion, they are more modest right now than they were a year ago.

Today's are more modest because the brasserie-and-trunks style of two-piece suits is going out, and as are those caught together with a ring or strap, leaving a large expanse of tummy bare. These suits of 1936 are one-piece, but they cover you up.

Five years ago, he recalled, low sun-bath bikinis had been their way in, and a suit backless below the shoulder blades was daring. Necklines were higher, suits were cut higher under arms, and the skirts (all had skirts) not only came down farther but had to cover the panties.

As the ropes were hung on rings, rubber straps, rubber cups, tricky accessories such as oskin caps and bandana kerchiefs.

White Much Used. The most popular swimming style in Hollywood this summer, Anderson has observed, is the one-piece suit of rubberized satin, either in white or pastel colors. Most of these suits have no skirts.

Printed satins, rubberized materials, wools and even taffeta are used in others.

Olivia de Havilland always wears a simple white wool suit, Dolores Costello a blue one, Joan Blondell a sporty, blue and white striped, and Ruby Keeler are among those who often wear white swimming togs.

And what of the aquatic future? Anderson, for one, thinks bathing suit styles will have to rely for next year's models on changes in materials, colors and design. As far as abbreviations is concerned, the suits can't go any further.

Hamilton Flays Roosevelt Record

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 6 (P)—John D. M. Hamilton continued today his "flying crusade" in behalf of the presidential candidacy of Alf M. Landon after telling Utah Republicans "the tax collector won't let the people forget the new deal."

The Republican National committee chairman showered criticism on the Roosevelt administration at a party rally last night. Today he conferred with state leaders and planned to leave in his chartered plane for Boise, Idaho, to deliver another of his series of western speeches.

"The people are not likely to forget that three and a half years of experimentation with the theories of doctrines gleaned from socialist books... has saddled debt upon the present and future taxpayers to the tune of more than thirteen billion dollars," Hamilton said.

Parker Hearing For Extradition Gets Under Way

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—The Lindbergh kidnaping case reached today at a public extradition hearing in the statehouse where Bruno Richard Hauptmann lost his final plea for life.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman called the hearing on the request of New York state for extradition of a nationally-known rural detective, Ellis H. Parker, and future accomplice, accused in the abduction of Paul H. Wendel.

Wendel, a former Trenton lawyer, charged he was kidnaped and tortured in Brooklyn, and induced to sign a false confession to the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. That confession and his repudiation delayed Hauptmann's execution for three days while a grand jury investigated.

GARNER WISHES GOVERNMENT WOULD GET OUT OF BUSINESS

PRaises JESSE JONES IN TALK AT CENTENNIAL

FRANKLY TELLS WHY HE SUPPORTED ALLRED

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

DALLAS, Aug. 6 (AP)—The outspoken wish of Vice President John Garner to "get out of this business of the government in business" was on the record today.

He dropped from droll humor to briefly refer to the matter in one of his rare public appearances before a banquet crowd of 2,000 cheering fellow Texans.

Mr. Garner lauded Jesse H. Jones of Houston, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, as "the best servant we ever had at the head of any bureau," and then added:

"I recall that Jones came to me to help him get more power on a certain matter. I told him, 'No, I want to take some of your power away.' I want to get out of this business of government in business."

The vice president called attention to the healthy condition of business in general and banking in particular. He invited listeners to look at statements of two large Dallas banks and compare the statements of July, 1933, and July, 1936.

"You will find the totals have doubled," he said. "Railroad tonnage has increased and one railroad recently paid back $3,000,000 it borrowed from Jesse Jones. I don't say President Roosevelt did it but I will say this—he didn't prevent it from being done!"

His audience cheered and laughed heartily.

Mr. Garner defended his action in declaring for Governor James V. Allred prior to the recent Democratic primary election. He said he had been criticized by James A. Farley, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, and continued:

"I'll tell you a little secret. Fifteen months ago I said I wanted to see the Texas delegation renominate Roosevelt and re-elect Senator Morris Sheppard. There was talk of Allred running against Sheppard so I just told him 'you run against Sheppard and I'll do my damndest to beat you.'"

Allred joined the crowd in laughter.

"Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley endorsed Governor Lehman of New York, so why shouldn't the vice president endorse a man down here in Texas?"

The vice president lauded efforts of the Texas delegation of United States Senators and Representatives with the remark it was "the best of any state in the union."

"When some talk about the United States being in danger of going into a dictatorship or communism, they are indicting the Texas delegation because the members won't permit that to occur," he said.

"The ruddy, snow-haired Uvalde fisherman spoke lovingly of his 'chief,' President Roosevelt.

"You know, the President is a wonderful chap, he has one of the biggest hearts ever put in a man's breast. I had an agreement with the chief in 1933 that he was to do the talking and I would do all the work."

He praised the Texas Centennial and spoke to 10,000 in the Cotton Bowl on the exposition grounds after his downtown speech. There he pleaded for peace on earth and said it was the cardinals hope of this and future generations.

TEXAS SPORT NOTES

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT, Associated Press Sports Writer.
PORT WORTH, Aug. 6 (AP)—The scrap book of Bobby Waugh, bulging with tinging drama of the ring, had its final entry pasted down today—a brief funeral notice.

The great lightweight of two decades ago who courted, but never won, the title, died a doddering, half-blind and tubercular peanut peddler. Easy living and too many absorbed punches, contributing factors to any enemy he couldn't whip, wrecked him physically.

Lately he had been hawking peanuts in fight arenas; a bitter end to a boxing career replete with thrills.

The Fort Worth mauler, 42 at death, saw such boxers as battling Nelson, Ad Wolfast, Joe Rivers, Charlie White, Bud Logan, Harvey Thorpe, Johnny Clemons, Harry Trendell, Mickey Sheridan and others with a deadly one-two punch and Bulldog courage. Mismanagement, his friends argue, kept him from winning the title.

He started fighting early, still in high school days. Some of the boys called Waugh, shy little church-goer and model lad, a "sis-y" when he first took to the ring. They regretted it. He punched them with a terrific right and soon started attracting attention. Training became a bore with him when the money started appearing, but he still won.

His eyesight dimmed in the evening of his career and his face was battered. He was primarily a puncher; secondarily a boxer. Stories about Bobby Waugh are many, but Mickey Riley, his closest associate, counts the Pancho Villa episode the brightest of all. Waugh, at his best, signed to fight a 20-rounder in the Juarez bull ring against Bennie Cordova, young Mexican idol.

Pancho Villa and his bandit gang rode into town early the day of the fight and soon had more than a few pesos wagered with an American acquaintance on the Mexican. At fight time Villa haughtily seated himself at the ringside and surrounded the ring with bayoneted members of his band. The story goes that the American feared for the safety of Waugh and himself if the American won—and so warned Waugh. The Texan's answer was a flurry of stiff punches to Cordova's head in the first round and every round thereafter. Rain started falling midway in the bout and ringside spectators scurried for cover of the grandstand. Pancho Villa, his armed followers, the fighters and the referee remained in the rain.

Waugh methodically cut Cordova's face to tatters and won in a walk. He turned to Pancho Villa. The bandit leader was applauding.

Ex-Husband of Joan Bennett Has His Say in Court

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 6 (AP)—Joan Bennett's post-marital troubles with a Seattle sportsman-laborer, John Marion Fox, were bared today in his fight to have their eight-year-old daughter "keep my name and be proud of it."

The ex-husband of the blonde screen star made a surprise appearance to contest her petition to change Diana Bennett Fox's last name to that of her present mate, Gene Markey, screen writer.

As Fox concluded a fiction-like story of his playboy past and current reformation from drinking, the hearing was continued until Aug. 19, when Miss Bennett is expected to give her side of the case. The actress has stated she wished the change to avoid confusion in names between Diana's and that of her child by Markey.

Valveless Motor Is Nearly Ready, Claims Inventor

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 6 (AP)—An old-time racing driver, John W. Jenkins, who "got fed up with losing races because of valve trouble back in 1909," announced today he would put his valveless motor on the market "by the first of the year."

Jenkins, 61 years old and a bit gray, said he hoped to have a race valveless motor—in shape for the 500-mile speedway race here next Decoration Day.

For more than six years he has spent his entire time in perfecting his invention, which cost him "approximately $65,000 so far."

"My motor eliminates about one-half of the moving parts found in present-day cars," Jenkins said. "The motor brings a 30 to 50 per cent saving in fuel consumption, a 15 to 20 per cent increase in speed, increased horse power and more motor efficiency."

Tallest Man in World at Fete

DALLAS, Aug. 6 (AP)—Sheriff Smoot Schmid of Dallas county today verified the assertion that Robert Wardlow of Alton, Ill., reaches into the sky eight feet and four inches.

The sheriff, who is six feet five and one-half inches, measured Wardlow, the 18-year old giant, on a visit to the Texas Centennial, and agreed he was all of the height claimed.

Schmid also said the youth wore a size 38 shoe and weighed the 390 pounds advertised.

OIL STOCKS DROP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines reported today that stocks of domestic and foreign crude oil for the week ending July 25 totaled 306,968,000 barrels, a decrease of 1,891,000 barrels from the previous week's total.

Of the total decrease, 1,879,000 barrels was in stocks of domestic crude oil, the remainder in foreign crude oil.

The bureau said current reports of the industry indicated decreased production but increased runs to still for the week. A daily average production of 3,010,000 barrels represented a decrease of 20,000 barrels from the estimate for the previous week.

A new record was shown in the report of daily average runs to stills, which totaled 2,990,000 barrels, or 65,000 barrels above the week ending July 18. Practically no change was shown in daily average imports, which totalled 76,000 barrels.

Roy Holt and daughter, Makine, returned yesterday from a visit with his sister, Mrs. O. L. Allen, at Hot Springs, Ark. Mr. Holt is the week assuming management of the Schneider hotel barber shop.

Secret Service Men Are Demoted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Announcing the demotion of two secret service officials, secretary Morgenthau said today he was "deeply shocked" to learn that secret service agents had "taken it upon themselves to investigate activities of the federal bureau of investigation."

He announced the demotion by one grade of Assistant Secret Service Chief Joseph E. Murphy and the demotion to field service of Grady Boatright, formerly in charge of the St. Paul bureau.

The treasury head made public a letter to Attorney General Cummings, expressing "deep regret to you and your department for this irresponsible action and to assure you that suitable disciplinary measures will be taken."

An investigation by W. H. Oran, chief of the secret service, and other high treasury officials has been in progress since Attorney General Cummings told newsmen at a press conference there had been "ill-advised" investigation of justice department agents by another government agency. Reports received by Cummings were that secret service men at St. Paul had made inquiries into circumstances surrounding the shooting to death of a Dillinger gangster.

Seven flood control and reservoir projects in Oklahoma to cost $6,097,400 have been approved by the war department.

27,000 Skilled Laborers Minus Jobs in Texas

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—The employment service reported to the planning board today there were 22,000 skilled and nearly 15,000 semi-skilled workmen still unemployed in Texas.

Failure of the Public Works Administration to allocate funds to Texas, on grounds there was insufficient skilled labor to complete old projects and start new, gave rise to the report.

Maj. E. A. Wood, secretary of the planning board, and three associates were en route to Washington to confer with Harold L. Ickes, PWA administrator, and Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, on PWA funds.

WPA Warehouse in San Antonio Closes

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Some 4,500 indigent families found federal relief barred to them today in Bexar county.

A situation described as "jeopardizing the whole state" WPA relief work resulted in closing of WPA warehouses supplying food, clothing and other commodities.

E. K. McCall, district administrator for the Texas relief commission, explained he ordered the warehouses closed because the county commissioner's court failed to set up an agency to certify relief applicants and direct distribution in accordance with federal requirements.

Drouth District In Colorado Has 7 Days of Rain

WALSBERG, Colo., Aug. 6 (AP)—Workers hoped for a cessation of rain in this erstwhile drouth sector as they again turned to rehabilitation work today on the heels of a second threatened flood averted last night by dynamiting a bridge over swollen Cucharas creek.

Walsberg, experiencing its seventh day of heavy rains, is in an area designated ten days ago by the federal government as an emergency drouth district.

A carload of food supplies and blankets for flood victims sent by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration arrived here yesterday.

Ethiopians Advance

PORT SAID, Egypt, Aug. 6 (AP)—Ras Imru, Ethiopian commander in the northwest, was authoritatively reported today advancing on the cities of Dessie and Addis Ababa with 40,000 warriors. The Ethiopian columns were said to be advancing from the west in the general direction of the capital and the principal city on the northern end of the mountain road leading to Addis Ababa. Many Italian outposts were reported to have been destroyed during the Ethiopian advance.

Gamblers Quiet Down

DALLAS, Aug. 6 (AP)—Big-time gamblers and proprietors of drinking establishments applied the brakes to their activities today under the watchful eyes of Texas rangers and police. The lid was clamped down as the aftermath of the killing Monday of a night club operator as Albert Sidney Johnson, chairman of the Texas public safety commission, warned that rangers would break up any attempt to re-open big-time gambling places here.

'BONES' TO MARRY

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 6 (AP)—Robert (Bones) Hamilton, ex-blocking halfback on Stanford's champion football team last year, is combining romance with work in a current gridiron picture. Friends said today he would wed Berenice Walters, Palo Alto, Calif., debutante, at an early date.

Pair Charged in Ballot Altering

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6 (AP)—Two men faced charges today of altering votes in Tarrant county's sheriff's race in the recent democratic primary.

Fige Covey, insurance salesman, and Jimmy Johnson, hired to arrange ballots for the election, were accused of changing returns in favor of C. D. Little and against the incumbent, Carl Smith.

Johnson denied he tampered with the returns.

Investigators said two election judges gave them 241 ballots on which Smith's name was scratched.

Borger Youth Is Held for Death In Truck Crash

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6. (AP) — Aaron Cook, 17, of Borger, today faced a juvenile delinquency complaint specifically charging failure to render aid as a result of the traffic death Tuesday night of Mary Lou Atkins, 11, fatally injured when struck by a truck driven by Cook.

Friends of Cook were attempting to make bond for him, Edward Eckert, 15, also of Borger, who was in the truck with Cook, was released Wednesday after making a statement.

Both youths said they did not see the girl in time to stop. Cook said he was "frightened and did not know what to do" after his truck hit the girl, in explaining why he drove on for two blocks. He had turned the truck around and was returning to the scene when officers arrested him.

The boys came here for a load of watermelons. Unable to make a deal here they had started for Montague county when the accident occurred on North Main street.

BONDS MADE
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6. (AP)—Bonds of $5,000 were posted here yesterday by Harry J. Kennedy, vice president of the Continental Oil company, and L. T. Cramer, head buyer of the company. They appeared before Federal Commissioner George Eacock and pleaded not guilty to charges of alleged gasoline price fixing in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

GIVE 'EM BOTH BARRELS
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6. (AP)—A troubled mother's plea sent Deputy Sheriff Jim Spooner hurrying to the aid of four small boys at a river swimming hole. "Something terrible has happened!" she cried. It had. The boys were huddled in bushes. They had gone swimming the old-fashioned way and someone had stolen their clothes.

CONTRACT VALID
AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Superintendent of Public Instruction L. A. Woods ruled today that a three-year contract between C. Proctor, superintendent of Temple schools, and the Temple board of trustees was valid. The Temple city commission sought to cancel the contract.

Passed Up by Hitler

Cornelius Johnson set a new Olympic record to win the high jump but didn't get a hand for it from Chancellor Hitler of Germany, who had personally congratulated the "Arvan" winners of other events. Hitler quit the stadium in Berlin just before America's colored star won his laurels. The U. S. trio won a clean sweep of the high jump are shown in this NEA service radiophone after the finish, left to right, Dave Albritton, Johnson and Deles Thurber.

Nude Model of Pioneer Woman Finally Located

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—The famous nude model of a memorial to the pioneer Texas woman, "lost" for several months after a storm of controversy, has been found and may go on exhibition at the Centennial exposition in Dallas.

Board of control attaches so reported today, intimating they had nothing to do with the proposed exhibition and if there was any renewal of public arguments on the subject they wanted no part in them.

When an art jury appointed by the board selected a group of nudes as a memorial to be erected on the campus of the state college for women, it was swamped with indignant protests. Many laudations of the model as a work of art also were received, but the board finally turned the whole matter thankfully over to the federal Centennial commission.

Meanwhile, the model disappeared, and the board said it had been "lost" en route to its creator in New York. Now it has been found again, and there is a plan afoot to show it, along with a new one, larger and clothed beyond objection, at the Dallas art museum.

ALLRED OKAYS AMENDMENTS
DALLAS, Aug. 6. (AP)—The proposed constitutional amendment placing the major portion of pardoning power in the hands of a board will receive Gov. James V. Allred's active support in the November general election. The governor said he would not campaign for other proposed constitutional changes and said he was still uncertain about calling a special session of the legislature. His course, he said, will be determined from reports of the Old-Age Assistance board.

ITALY ACCEPTS
ROME, Aug. 6. (AP)—Italy accepted the French neutrality proposal for non-interference in the Spanish rebellion. The Italian answer agreed to the "hands off" suggestion "in principle" but reserved the right to ask for clarification of her position in the agreement.

Leather-Lunged

"The loudest and clearest voice" of any train caller at Railroad Week of the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, was owned by Jesse Cleveland, of the Dallas Union Terminal. He is shown above in full voice as he won the contest.

Edward VIII Plans Sea Cruise

King Edward VIII of England will go on a month's leisurely cruise the Mediterranean and Adriatic seas, starting Aug. 8, aboard the luxurious $1,500,000, 1574-ton yacht Nahlin, chartered from Lady Yule. The king will go overland to the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia, there boarding the yacht, shown in top photo. The map shows the water's over which the monarch will voyage, the Greek islands being one special point of interest to him. He expects to make several inland visits. The yacht will be escorted by two destroyers.

DALLAS TAKES 7TH STRAIGHT; SHIPPERS LOSE

PITCHING LOOKS MUCH BETTER IN TEXAS LEAGUE

(By The Associated Press)
Today's games:
Beaumont at Galveston (night)
San Antonio at Houston (night)
(Only games scheduled).

Texas league pitchers took a bow today—as just reward for four fine, hurried performances that edged hitters from the spotlight in last night's program.

Two hurlers shut out the opposition and veterans, Prasier of Dallas annexed his eleventh season's victory with a five-hit exhibition that defeated Beaumont, 4 to 1. The victory was the Steers' seventh straight and shoved them to eight games ahead of the field.

The Exporters escaped a blanking when Christman's line drive in the eighth slipped past Outfielder Tauby for a triple and McCoy singled to bring in the lone tally.

Fort Worth fans saw another pitching masterpiece, one that lowered the Cats to seventh place. Ash Hillin of San Antonio gave up seven hits but was effectively aided afield to blank the Panthers, 6 to 0. San Antonio thereby exchanged places with the losers.

Another shutout performance was rendered fans at Tulsa. Max Thomas had his southpaw losses behaving so well that Houston batters got only four hits. Mike Cynegros, allowed eight hits. The score was 4 to 0.

Oklahoma City waited until the ninth to get Armbrust. Galveston hitler, but couldn't overtake the Buccaneers. Jakucki relieved the Pirate flogger and stopped the Indians cold. The last-placers got to three Oklahoma City pitchers for 11 hits and the score was 4 to 2.

Dempsey to Help Elect Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Jack Dempsey stepped into the political ring today as head of the sports committee of the Democratic National Committee in the campaign to re-elect President Roosevelt.

"I feel highly honored," said the former heavyweight boxing champion, "at my selection to head this important group."

"In a few days I hope to announce the men and women prominent in the world of sport, who will be associated with me."

"I intend to devote a great deal of time to my part in the campaign."

20 Clubs Entered and More May Be in Mails

Drawings for first round play in the district softball tournament next week will be made this evening at 7:30. Entries yesterday, last day for registering, brought the total of teams to 20, with the possibility that a few more entries from out of town may be in the mails.

Managers of the teams met last night and decided to start games at 6 o'clock each evening at both Road Runner park and the Skelly-Schley Amador, at Skellytown. Three games will be played at each place every evening during the preliminary rounds. Admission charges were fixed at 10 and 15 cents.

For the drawings this evening, all team managers are invited to be present, but drawing will be done by proxy for those not here. The meeting will be at the Post-Mosley Norge store in the Conbs-Worley building.

Only three girls teams are entered, old rivals in this section. They are the Canadian Lassies, the Phillips Norse, and the Phillips Flyers.

Entries in the men's division are: Gulf of Borger, Whittenburg Civic Club, Coltoxo of LeFors, Canadian Willcats, Panhandle Laundry, Roberts-Oliver Lumber Co., and Texaco-Oilers of Amarillo; Christians, King Oil, Voss, Texas Co., Phillips 66, Skelly Oilers, Baptists, Cities Service, and Harvester Loafers of Pampa, and Borden Creamery of Amarillo.

Tournament play will start Monday evening, Harold White of Wichita Falls, state softball commissioner, has announced that he will be here for the first game. The tourney will be in charge of Jack Kretzinger, district commissioner, who will certify the winning teams as upper Panhandle representatives in the state tournament at Fort Worth next month.

Blair Cherry Is Elected Head of Coaches' Group

PORT WORTH, Aug. 6 (AP)—Two cities, Fort Worth and Mineral Wells, put in bids for the 1937 session of the Texas High School Coaches' association. The fourth annual school is now in session at T. C. U. and will run through Saturday.

Officials announced that the site probably would not be selected until next spring.

Blair Cherry, coach of the champion Amarillo Saints, last night was elected president of the association succeeding H. N. (Rusty) Russell of the Fort Worth Masonic Home school. L. C. Wood of Cameron, was named vice president. Weldon Chapman of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer, and Byron Schley of Teague, assistant secretary.

To the board of directors were named Herman Crowley, Dallas; Dennis Vanant, Greenville; Russell; Raymond Berry of Corpus Christi; J. T. (Bobo) Nelson of Athens; W. B. Hinton Jr., Eagle Lake; and George Vest, Donna.

Pampa Tens Win First Games in Canadian Meet

Two Pampa teams entered in the invitation softball tournament at Canadian this week have won their first games. Voss Cleaners defeated the Roberts-Oliver Lumber Co. team of Amarillo last night in a close game that ended 9 to 11.

King Oil took its first game Tuesday evening, defeating Wellington 12 to 5 with P-e and Grapes as batteries. The Cleaners will play again tonight, meeting the Canadian Allstars at 9:15, while King will meet Coltoxo of LeFors.

Patrick pitched the entire game last night, with Sheridan behind him. Boxwell was relieved by Curry for the Amarilloan, and Bettles caught. Hitting was heavy, with home runs credited to Pinnell of Voss, and Smith, Dorsey and Curry of the lumber teams.

The Coltoxo team of LeFors, member of the local football league, also is having a successful record in the tourney. It has defeated Wellington and Lipscomb.

Swimming Star's Husband to Keep Jarrett Case Open

BERLIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Eleanor Holm Jarrett case may be closed as far as the American Olympic committee is concerned, but the band leader husband of the swimming star says he intends to take legal action against the committee.

Balked in his efforts for a conference with Chairman Avery Brundage on his wife's dismissal from the Olympic team for drinking and violating training rules, Arthur Jarrett announced he would "take the proper steps" on returning to New York.

In a statement last night, after he was informed by Brundage there was nothing further to add in the case, Jarrett announced his plans "first to obtain the facts about the case, which the American Olympic committee apparently tried to conceal, and secondly to get redress for damages done to my wife's reputation."

Declaring Brundage used high-handed methods in the situation, Jarrett said he was particularly incensed at the committee head's refusal to "sit down and have a quiet chat about the whole case."

POLO TOURNEY WILL BE HELD IN PLAINVIEW

PAMPA IS ONE OF 8 TEAMS ALREADY ENTERED

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 6—The pounding of hoofs on prairie sod, unheard since the days of the cowboy and the ranch, will reverberate here when aspiring Tommy Hitchcocks and Cecil Smiths gather August 14, 15 and 16 for the first polo tournament ever to be held in West Texas.

Eight teams, representing nearly every town in the Panhandle and South Plains where polo is played, have entered and the winner of the three day tournament will be awarded a trophy and the title of champions of this section. Plans are being made to hold the tournament every year and the team that wins it three years consecutively will be given permanent possession of the trophy.

Texline, Pampa, the Lamssa Oranges, the Lamesa Whites, Runningwater, Lockney, El Rojo of Plainview, and the Plainview Polo Club, sponsor of the tournament, have entered. The three youngest teams, Runningwater, El Rojo and Lockney, are to play here next week to determine which will enter the competition here Friday, August 14. Three games are to be played Friday, two Saturday, with finals in the consolation and championship groups Sunday morning and afternoon.

Although most of the teams are comparatively young, in the few years they have been playing they have gained considerable strength and keen competition is expected between the squads.

Arrangements are being made to take care of more than sixty head of ponies at the Panhandle Plains Cattle Show barn. All games will be played on the new turf field west of Wayland College.

While the game has been played in the southern part of the state since before the war, it was not until six years ago that polo climbed up on the cap-rock. The Barron brothers, Eric, Spin and Lee, had seen it played at San Angelo and decided that they could do it just as well. Today they are the backbone of one of Lamesa's two strong teams.

Since the Barron brothers first started practicing on their ranch, other men have seen the sport and been formed at Texline, Dalhart, Pampa, Lockney, Runningwater and Plainview and efforts are being made in several other Panhandle towns to organize squads. Interstate competition has been furnished by quartets from Clayton and Cimarron, New Mexico, and Hooker and Stratford, Oklahoma.

When Plainview enthusiasts began to play the game in the summer of 1934, it was, like the beginnings of teams in other towns, a rather makeshift affair. West Texans who believed that with the passing of the cattle industry and the coming of the automobile the horse's place in the world was destined to be no more than an agricultural one search farms for mounts. When they found several that could still gallop and were not to sway backed, they bought mares, and began playing a game that once b-longed only to the wealthy.

True enough the game was played elsewhere on flat saddles but flat saddles were as rare as they were discarded in this former ranching country, so the local players began with stock saddles.

But that was two years ago. When the teams ride out on the field here for the tournament, they will be mounted on flat saddles and on horses—not colliarmarked—that have thoroughbred blood in them. Gone, too, are the cowboy boots and rowel spurs for the West Texas polo player today with his riding boots, pleg orches, and helmet dresses for the game in the approved English style.

League Gridiron Program Praised By Bernie Moore

PORT WORTH, Aug. 6 (AP)—The Texas interscholastic league athletic program got credit for the rapid progress in southwest conference football from Bernie Moore, coach of the Louisiana State University Tigers, here today.

Moore, one of the instructors in the fourth annual coaching school of the Texas High School Football coaches association, said interest generated by interscholastic football in this state was directly responsible for such great teams as the E. M. U. Mustangs, Rose Bowl in 1921-22 coached Allen Academy at Bryan. "Now there are 100 good teams producing 500 capable players."

The rise of Louisiana State, which met T. C. U. in the Sugar Bowl same last season, is traceable to development of high school football in that state. Moore said, pointing out that it was on a smaller scale but had the same plan as Texas.

41 GRID GAMES TO BE PLAYED IN COTTON BOWL DURING FALL

DALLAS, Aug. 6—Stars in every walk of football life, from the battle-scarred, crafty professional to the eager high school lad just donning molasses, will be presented to a waiting world of sports fans at the Texas Centennial Exposition this fall.

The World's Fair gridiron season is short, action-packed, sensational. In its brief span of 29 playing days and night, 41 football games will be played in the Cotton Bowl.

They range from inter-sectional battles between professionals and All American stars to inter-city high school contests.

The Cotton Bowl's lead-off game is scheduled for the night of Sept. 7, Labor Day, and will send the Chicago Bears of the National Professional League, runners-up in the 1935 championship race, against one of the most brilliant aggregations of All American players ever to gather on an American gridiron. The lineup will read like a who's who of football greats.

Of the 41 grid encounters scheduled in the Cotton Bowl, Sept. 7, through Nov. 27, eight will be college clashes.

Major games in addition to the Chicago Bears-All Americans are: Oct. 10, Oklahoma University vs. University of Texas.

Oct. 17, Vanderbilt vs. Southern Methodist.

Oct. 24, Mississippi State vs. Texas Christian.

Oct. 31, Hardin-Simmons vs. College of Mines.

Nov. 7, Texas A. M. vs. Southern Methodist.

Nov. 27, Trinity University vs. Austin College. Other college games are tentatively booked.

Texas high schools which will play games in the Cotton Bowl are: Greenville, Beaumont, Sherman, McKinney, Gainesville, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, Waco, Denison, St. Joseph, John H. Reagan of Houston and Corsicana. All Dallas High schools will play games in the Bowl as will negro colleges and high schools.

Tickets will go on sale for all major games August 15 and may be purchased through the ticket department, Centennial Exposition. Reserve seats will sell for 2.20.

ALL-AMERICAN ELEVEN TO PLAY BEARS AT CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, Aug. 6—The Southwest's first major football game of 1936 to be played in the Cotton Bowl at the Texas Centennial Exposition September 7, will show a card of all-star characters equivalent to anyone's who's who in the great American grid game today.

Southwest fans have seen grid ghosts go galloping over their grids before, to be sure, but this battle in the Cotton Bowl, Labor Day night between the Chicago Bears and a picked All-American eleven dominated by Southwestern stars promises to be a case of collective gambling.

There will be half a hundred or more of these grid stars on hand for this game, and the majority of them, whether members of one team or the other, are not strangers to All American ranks. Check these names in your who's who in football: Truman Spain of Southern Methodist university; Bobby Wilson, also of Southern Methodist; Westmiller of Southern California; Bob Reynolds, also of Southern California; John McCauley of Rice Institute; Ike Poole and Jimmy Howell of Arkansas; Throgmorton of Vanderbilt; Lutz, University of Southern California; and "Iron" West of Southern Methodist university.

The Bears, boast of the greatest fullback, Bronko Nagurski; the most elusive half-back, Bettie Feathers, All American from Tennessee; the greatest wingman in a decade, Bill Hewitt, All American from the 10, and one of the greatest linemen in the game; and George Musso, the 260-pound tackle.

The Bears are the most spectacular of national grid outfits and were runners-up in the 1935 national championship.

Tickets for this game, and all other major games in the Cotton Bowl will go on sale in Dallas Aug. 15. Tickets may be secured by mail through the Centennial Exposition Ticket department. Reserved seats will sell for $2.20.

'Strong Man' of Greece to Crush Communism, Claim

ATHENS, AUG. 6, (AP)—The "Strong Man" of Greece, Premier John Metaxas, told the nation today he was going to crush communism.

Exercising a strong, if temporary dictatorship to cope with a general strike he said was fostered by communists, the premier announced martial law would be strictly enforced until the nation was "secured against communist agitation."

"The whole nation, he added, must be 'disciplined.'"

Ott Clouting Homers Again; Giants Are Crowding Cubs

Cardinals Jump on Champions for 4-1 Win

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

All because little Mel Ott has found the range again, pennant fever is spreading over Cookman's Bluff.

The young old man of the majors has picked up his habit of clearing those home run balls into the right field stands at the polo grounds, stirring hopes for another subway world's series between the Giants and the Yankees.

He has belted, four homers in the last two days, ten in the last 20 games, and, with him as the spark plug, the Giants are traveling at a clip that may yet overtake the Cubs and Cardinals, and grab off the National league pennant.

Ott crashed out two homers yesterday to give the Giants an 8 to 4 decision over the Boston Bees. The victory was the New Yorker's 17th in their last 21 starts, and enabled them to move up to 3½ games from the second-place Cubs.

He has belted, four homers in the last two days, ten in the last 20 games, and, with him as the spark plug, the Giants are traveling at a clip that may yet overtake the Cubs and Cardinals, and grab off the National league pennant.

The Cubs' hitting situation became more alarming than ever, as Roy Parmelee limited them to five hits and the Cardinals made it two in a row over the Chicago champions, with a 4-1 win that boosted the gas house gang two full games in front of the pack.

The Dodgers reached the last rung before climbing all the way out of the National league cellar by hitting timely behind Ed Brandt's ninth-inning pitching and knocking off the Phillies 7-3 for the second straight day. This left the Phils with a slim half-game hold on seventh place.

The Pirates and Reds bailed it out in a tight, night-game duel at Cincinnati, the Reds losing out 6-4 through a four-run Red rally in the seventh.

In the American league, the St. Louis Browns ruined Vernon Kenney's ten-game winning streak with a 16-4 victory over the White Sox in the opener of the doubleheader. Rain halted the nightcap in the seventh, with the score knotted at 9-all.

The Yankees, paced by comebacker Joe Di Maggio's homer and double, driving in two runs, maintained their 11-game league lead with a 7-2 margin over the Red Sox.

The Cleveland Indians managed at last to save something from the wreckage of their current series with the Tigers, landing on Elden Auker for three runs in the tenth inning and a 6-4 decision.

Catching the staggering Senators again, the Athletics made it a two in a row with a 9-6 win, Bob Johnson pacing the 14-hit attack with a triple and two singles, accounting for three runs.

German Captures Pentathlon in Olympic Games

BERLIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—Gotthardt Handrick, lieutenant in the German air force, today won the modern pentathlon championship of the 11th Olympic games as American contestants finished second, seventh, and ninth.

Handrick finished with the low total of 31.5 points as Charles F. Leonard of St. Petersburg, Fla., completed the live-event test in second place with 39.5 points.

Alfred D. Starbird of Burlington, Vt., was seventh with 67.5, and Lieut. Red Weber of West Point, N. Y., ninth with 79.

Nine Americans Qualify in Three Olympic Events

BERLIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—Nine Americans competing in the Olympic 400-meter run, javelin throw and running hop, step and jump events passed the first qualifying tests on this cold, cheerless morning before 60,000 well-bounded spectators.

Archie Williams of Oakland, Calif., captured three of the eight 400-meter heats. The trip qualified for the semi-finals to be run this afternoon.

All of Uncle Sam's javelin throwers, Lee Bartlett of Union City, Mich., Alton Terry of Brady, Tex., and Malcolm Metcalf of Los Angeles, exceeded the specified qualifying requirement of 60 meters, 196 feet 10 1/4 inches. However, Matti Jarvinen, Finland's defending champion and Olympic and world record holder, tossed the spear 67 meters, 219 feet 9 27/32 inches on his first attempt.

The American hop, step and jumping trio which survived the preliminaries is composed of Roland Romero of Welsh, La., Billy Brown, 16-year old Baker, La., schoolboy, and Dudley G. Wilkins of Crowley, La.

ELEVEN ENTER WOMEN'S CITY GOLF TOURNEY

TODAY IS LAST CHANCE TO QUALIFY FOR EVENT

Eleven women have qualified for play in the annual Women's City Golf tournament on the Country Club course this week. This evening is the last opportunity for qualifying, and match play will start Monday morning.

Mrs. Del Love had low qualifying score, an 88, up to today. Others who played in medalist competition over 18 holes were Mrs. Arthur Swanson, defending city champion, who carded a 91; Mrs. Larry Padden, 102; Mrs. Mark Heath, 108; Mrs. W. M. Meskimins, 112.

Entrants who qualified with nine holes were Miss Virginia Jeffries, 50; Miss Claudine Jeffries, 56; Mrs. Joe Bowers, 59; Mrs. William Murphy, 64; Mrs. H. H. Hicks, 58; Mrs. N. A. Helstand, 63.

The prize list has been completed, and includes a golf ball for the medalist, the Bill Jarratt trophy for the city champion, a sport skirt as consolation, a defending city champion's flight, a sweater from Carter's as first prize in the first flight, and two pair of hose as second prize.

Tournament matches, except the finals, are to be played in the mornings next week.

Three Softball Games Played on Tuesday Evening

Cities Service, Skelly, and Phillips were victors in the only three softball games played on Tuesday evening's schedule. Another league game, King Oil vs. Baptists, was postponed, and Cabot forfeited to Voss Cleaners.

The Christians were victims of Cities Service, 12 to 5. Munsey and Ward were batteries for the winners. Texas Company lost to Skelly 8 to 1. McBride, Texas Company pitcher, and Mayo of the Skelly team hit homers. Atkins was the Texas catcher; Hayes and Ray were Skelly batteries.

Phillips took a close game from Coltoxo, 4 to 3. Dewey, Chisum, and Morgan were Phillips batteries, Phillips and Mazy Coltoxo's.
