TEX'S TOPICS

Funny incidents crop up on travel trips. . . Have you ever noticed that? For instance Mayor W. A. Bratton had a strange tale to tell when he returned Sunday night from a trip to Arizona.

Among other things he was forced to fight a severe snowstorm through mountain passes. . . In many places the snow was as much as a foot deep.

What amused the Pampa mayor, however, was the fact that when he was creeping his car over the mountain roads at snail's pace, he noticed another car following closely behind. . . At one point along the road when he stopped to get out and clean the snow from his windshield, this car passed him.

He noticed that it was a small coupe of not any too recent vintage. . . The mayor and his party got back in the car and continued to grope through the snow. . . On up the road quite a distance he encountered the same car in deep difficulties, snowbound and string-haltered, to say the least.

Then, our chief executive with true Pampa hospitality, stopped to inquire if he couldn't be of assistance. . . The young man at the wheel admitted that he could. . . Remember, now . . . this was a winter night in the mountains. . . The youth had come from a warmer clime and was not prepared for a sudden rush of icy blasts such as had caught him unaware.

He had no top coat, wore no hat. . . Between chattering teeth he asked the driver of the mayor's car if he'd kindly give him a push over the top of the pass. . . So they began pushing. . . As they pushed along this mountainway, the blinding snow still falling, it occurred to the mayor that the young man in the coupe might have difficulty keeping on the narrow mountain road.

If the windshield became covered with snow, Bratton figured, the driver might drive off the side into a canyon, and as long as he was being pushed he had nothing to say about starting or stopping his crippled car. . . So it was decided that the plan would work no longer, and that to pull would be safer than to push.

So they stopped and held a conference up there in the snow. . . The mayor suggested that the youth and his companion get into the mayor's car, ride along the Eagle Nest, remain there for the night and return for the disabled car the next morning.

Reluctantly the young man consented to the arrangement. . . And when his companion got out of the car it was discovered that the mayor's party managed to break in between sobs and ask her why all the fuss.

"I just can't help it," she said, "don't you think this is a miserable thing to have happen on your honeymoon?" . . . Everybody agreed with her that she was quite right about it. . . However, we understand that they finally got straightened out onto the road which leads to happiness ever afterward.

A farmer just paid $10 for a farm in the dust storm country. After the first storm, his neighbors will owe him about $5.

A human foot was found buried deep in Kentucky. If he had been a sportsman the routed sutor would have returned it to the girl's father.

At Chattanooga, N. Y., a skunk walked on the stage while a man was singing. This sort of incident gives a polite audience a chance to hold his nose.

A girl was shot out of a cannon at Toronto. We've heard of a lot of cannon fodder, but never of cannon sister.

It seems strange that the Madrid bulls have not run amuck, since we have always understood they went haywire at the sight of red flags.

When Germans start turning wood into food, they can utilize knotholes for doughnut centers.

According to a Cleveland, Orchestra Leader Ted Lewis, in the city during the Legion convention, should have been a big hit with his "Is every buddy happy?"

There are 18 games called football. Several of them can be seen at one time by a flask-toting collegian.

"At the age of 14, an English scientist could write in 14 languages." The family pride is almost as good, being able to scribble in everything but English.

I Heard . . .
That the Pampa Harvester-Norman Tiger football game will be played at Harvester field Friday night at 8 o'clock will be broadcast over station KPDN, the Pampa Daily NEWS station. It will be the first football to go on the air over the local station. Permission to go on the air for the game has already been received from the Federal Radio commission.

Although other officials of the "regular" Spanish government are reported to be making plans for escaping in the event of a rebel victory, the name of Largo Caballero is ought in vain. Baby Is Born, Tony Leaves for Few Hours

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Damp cold hung over the Polo Grounds today, but world series fever—excitement engendered by baseball's greatest spectacle—ran high among the would-be bleachers who milled about the gates.

From Texas and Maine they came and from South Carolina, Washington and Oregon, this cosmopolitan crowd of dyed-in-the-wool fans braving the elements.

Some 1,200 shivered in the shadowy recesses of the stadium at first faint dawn and cared not a whit. Theirs was a fellowship born of perseverance.

McLEAN'S GRID SUITS STOLEN MONDAY NIGHT

Uniforms Never Used Were in Dressing Rooms

McLEAN, Sept. 30.—The McLean high school football squad will have to take the field against the Panhandle Panthers here Friday night in their old uniforms unless officers find the brand new outfits which were stolen Monday night from the dressing rooms under the grandstand at Tiger field.

Coach Bill Allen had just received the new equipment and had opened only a few boxes to let the boys have a peek at their new paraphernalia. That was on Monday afternoon.

Oil Field Schedule Released

Magnolia Petroleum Co. brought in what is believed to be a crevice well near midnight when the bit dropped into pay in the company's No. 2 Cantrell in section 136, block 3, T&GN survey. Although no log of the well has been filed or any test made, the well is believed good for about 1,000 barrels, natural flow.

Drilling ahead was in progress at a few feet below 3,100 feet when the pay was encountered. A heavy flow of gas shot oil from the hole when the bit was removed. Depth of pay has not been determined.

The new producer, one of the largest in the area, is located about two miles northeast of Kingsmill and just south of U. S. highway 40 and the Santa Fe tracks; about four miles southwest of Pampa.

LATE NEWS

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—The third court of civil appeals today upheld a trial court judgment in favor of the East Texas refining company which has been seeking to move 35,000 barrels of oil from Louisiana to Longview. The court ruled that a federal court judgment holding the oil had been produced in violation of Louisiana conservation statutes was not admissible as a defense by the Texas railroad commission against the company's suit for tenders to move the oil.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 30 (AP)—The weather gave the fire-ravaged regions of southwestern Oregon another break today and officials said "the situation is definitely better."

A large number of small spot fires set by the high wind of late weeks was tonight by Leopold G-dowsky. This teacher is Charles Kirk of Wichita Falls. The boy has a memorized repertory of 25 musical compositions, some of which are 15 to 20 minutes long.

Ward will be presented in concert by Boy Scouts of troop 80 which last year sponsored the Esther Johnson concert here. The boys are selling the tickets at 35 cents each for adults and 20 cents for children. Tickets are also on sale at the Scout headquarters in the city hall, and at the secretary's office in the First Methodist church.

Cars Are Derailed at Street Crossing In Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 30 (AP)—A switch key found by the switch thrown open late Monday night to wreck the fast L. & A. passenger train near Winnfield, resulting in the death of two employees and injuries to three others, including one passenger, loomed today as the strongest clue in the solution of the case.

Investigating authorities look to tracing this key as a possibility of identifying the person who is supposed to have caused the wreck. The bodies of the victims of the wreck, H. H. Vaught, 39, of Roanoke, and one of the employees, were found first for a double.

BARTELL AND SELKIRK HIT FOUR-BAGGERS

SCORE IS TIED 1-ALL AS 6TH INNING OPENS

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Big Red Ruffing and the Yankee infield blew up in the rain with a resounding roar in the eighth inning today, giving the Giants and Carl Hubbell an easy 6 to 1 victory in the miserably wet setting of the opening game of Manhattan's world series.

Heavy legged Gus Mancuso's long single to left, scoring Mel Ott in the sixth, gave the Giants a 2-1 lead over the Yankees as rain poured down on the first game of the world series and the pitching duel of mighty Carl Hubbell and burlly Red Ruffing. Playing conditions were the worst in the past ten years of series history.

Dick Bartell's home run into the left field stands in the fifth, matching George Selkirk's circuit smash for the Yankees in the third, provided all scoring until Ott, chunky Giant right fielder, bounced a double off the left field wall starting the sixth, was sacrificed to third, and scored on Mancuso's long drive down the left field line. The Giant catchers hit might easily have been another double had he gambled on the mud sloopy base paths.

Conditions were so bad that the bleachers were almost deserted, the crowd, overcast against the cold, turned up their collars in the exposed field boxes or dashed for cover under the stands. The pitching mound was a soggy mess, the infield wet and slippery.

Hubbell, though he fanned six in the first six innings, was in trouble, overcast against the cold, fourth. After Selkirk blasted his homer into the right field stands with none out, Red Rolfe and Joe Dimaggio singled with two gone but were stranded when mighty Lou Gehrig could no more than roll to the pitcher.

Again in the fourth Jake Powell, speedy Yank left fielder, who hit safely his first three times up, smashed a long double to left with one gone. But after Tony Lazzeri walked, Powell was thrown out trying to steal third and Selkirk, the early hero, fanned.

The Giants touched Ruffing for six hits in the first six innings, wasting two in the third when Hubbell and Artell singled, and Ott walked, only to have young Jimmy Ripple fan in the clutch with the bases full.

Powell's third hit, a single to left, opened the Yankees seventh, but nothing came of it as Tony Lazzeri fanned, Powell was forced at second on Selkirk's grounder, and Ruffing fanned for Hubbell's eighth strikeout. The Giants went down in order in the seventh.

The Giants pulled out of a terrible hole in the eighth with a spectacular double play after Frank Crossetti, first man up for the Yanks, doubled to the left field corner. Hubbell fumbled Red Rolfe's attempt to hit Dimaggio lined to Burgess, sacrifice, Crossetti reaching third. But Dimaggio lined to Burgess Whitehead at second and Rolfe was nipped off first for a double.

Samuel Beecher, republican mayor of Terre Haute, said the police chief had his support in the arrest of the communists.

"We are not going to allow communism to become established in Terre Haute," said Beecher. . . Browder, after an address last night at Gary, Ind., went to Chicago and came to this city where a meeting had been scheduled in the auditorium of the Indiana State Teachers' college.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Sometimes people say that no one who ever was a First Class Scout was ever sent to the penitentiary, not realizing that such a claim is unfair to a boy who may think mistakenly he has to join the Scouts to keep out of the pen, or that if he does not, he will wind up in prison, or that a Scout troop is a sort of reform school, that it is too assy or too tough.

Recently at Amarillo a young man who was a first class Scout 8 years ago was sentenced to the Federal prison at El Reno for embezzlement of Post office funds. His family, widely-known and greatly respected in Carson county, now grieves uncontrollably.

Just being a Boy Scout is not going to tip any boy who relies upon the idea of the Movement instead of loyalty to the Scout oath to make him happy. There are too many Eagle Scouts, now grown up, in Pampa and other towns whose moral standard is now lowered to the extent that they practice banal vices, not to hunt for the moral good in Scouting instead of technical benefits, like the merit badges. A boy may feel the same way about living up to his Scout Oath that his father feels in living up to his church vows—that depends largely on his parents.

Climaxing the entertainment given for Miss Ruby M. Adams since her engagement to James H. Travis was announced last week-end, Priscilla Home Demonstration club was hostess last evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Lewis to about 60 friends from over the county.

Miss Adams, county home demonstration agent here for nearly five years, is leaving today for Amarillo and will reside there after her marriage.

The Lewis home was bright last evening with yellow daisies, marigolds and other flowers in fall colors. Guests registered in a hand-made monogrammed book, and were told by Mrs. E. A. Shackleton that they were to assist the club women in a final test of canning methods learned from Miss Adams.

Partners for the contests were found by matching pictures of vegetables and fruit. A word-canning contest and "love in a garden" contest followed, the winners presenting the awards to the honoree.

Miss Clara Pearl Gatlin gave a clever reading, The Man Who Married a Cook. Each guest wrote three wishes for the bride, which were read before the numerous gifts were presented. These were unwrapped and placed on the dining table and buffet for inspection.

When the white and yellow refreshments were served, the honoree's table was placed under a wedding bell, a souvenir of an early Pampa wedding at Old Mobeetie. Corages of calendulas and baby breath were on the women's plates, and bouquets of marigolds on the men's.

Special Services Of First Baptist Revival Planned

Tuesday night at 7:30 another large crowd heard Hymen Appleman, Christian Jewish evangelist, preach a gospel sermon. His subject was "The God That Answers by Fire." It was a graphic, true to life description of "the religious situation in Pampa" and a passionate appeal to the members of the church to "pay the price for an old time Holy Ghost, Pentecostal revival."

According to the preacher, "Pampa needs not just another evangelistic campaign, but a real religious upheaval, a meeting that will make our town God conscious, sin conscious, church conscious. By holy living, by earnest, intercessory praying, by ceaseless witness bearing, Christians can bring that to pass."

Tonight the Jew will preach on "What Is the Price of a Soul in Pampa?" Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock his subject will be "The Greatest Force in the Whole World." The services will continue twice daily, 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. All Christians are invited to attend these prayer meetings. The services, day and night, are open to everybody.

Tonight after the services there will be a special meeting of all the officers and teachers of the First Baptist Sunday school. Thursday night has been designated as All-First-Baptist-Church Members-Night. Everybody else is cordially and urgently invited to attend, but particular invitations have been issued to the members of his particular church. The evangelist will preach on "Taking Christ's Place."

"The services are extremely inspiring, George Reynolds is a master singer, the choir and the congregation respond to him beautifully. He knows the hymns to choose, knows how to get people to sing them. The program, from the first song to the last amen of the benediction is short, peppy, enthusiastic, spiritual, uplifting. Come for a treat religiously," urges the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor.

FRISCILLA H. D. CLUB Mrs. Albert Lockhart will be hostess at her home Friday at 2:30 to Priscilla Home Demonstration club.

FDR DROPS FIRESIDE MANNER AS HE BLISTERS REPUBLICANS

COMMUNISM IS DISCUSSED IN BITING TERMS

GOP LEADERSHIP SAME NOW AS EVER, SAYS HE

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt sped southward for a busy round of conferences at the White House after launching his personal campaign for re-election in his home state by repudiating any communistic support and scoring the republican leadership for what he called "smooth evasion" on social security and taxation.

Addressing an uproarious democratic state convention last night at Syracuse, the President drew repeated applause as, speaking of communism, he urged a prompt burial of that "false issue" and assailed past and present republican commands for "lack of purpose" in striving to meet social problems.

Before taking to the road on his campaign special again tonight for a second major address at Pittsburgh tomorrow evening, he arranged a series of Washington conferences that were to take up his first full day in the national capital in ten days.

As chairman of the Peru-Ecuador boundary commission, he called an early initial meeting of that group at the White House. He planned to meet for the first time his new maritime commission and later in the day to confer with public and private power interests in an effort to form a southeastern "power pool" for mutual utilizing of power and transmission lines in TVA territory looking to low cost electricity.

Mr. Roosevelt last night declared his entrance into the campaign with "confidence" on through to the end when he asserted the "true conservative seeks to protect the system of private property and free enterprise by correcting such injustices and inequalities as arise from it."

"He did not mention the republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees by name," but said the "real, actual, undercover republican leadership is the same as it was four years ago."

Comparing republican promises of the past with those of the present, he asserted:

"The same lack of purpose of fulfillment lies behind the promises of today. You cannot be an old guard republican in the east, and a new deal republican in the west."

"You cannot promise to repeal taxes before an audience and promise to spend more of the taxpayers' money before another audience."

He said the opposition was "banking too heavily on the shortness of our memories."

"No one will forget that they had their golden opportunity—twelve long years of it," he added amid laughter and applause.

Mr. Roosevelt set off a demonstration at the outset when he asserted the task of the democrats was twofold: to separate the "false from the real issue; and secondly, with facts and without rancor, to clarify the real problems for the American public."

Then, calling attention to "malicious opposition" that hurled charges against Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Wilson, he brought laughter and cheers when he said:

"In this campaign another hearing turns up."

He referred to communism.

"Here and now, once and for all, let us bury that red herring and destroy the false issue," he asserted. After citing his record as New York governor and as president, he added:

"To that record, my future and the future of my administration will conform. I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism or any other alien 'ism' which would by fair means or foul change our American democracy."

The President said there was no difference between the two major parties as to what they "think about communism," but there was a "very great difference between them in what they do" about it.

He averred the democrats had not been content merely to denounce communism, but had been "realistic enough to face it" and do something about it.

ALCAZAR IS SICKENING WITH BODIES' STENCH

By ELMER W. PETERSON
(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 30 (AP)—Insurgent soldiers "mopping up" in Toledo, completed occupation of the provincial capital today as Gen. Francisco Franco and I claimtred over debris in the ruined Alcazar.

General Franco, newly-appointed fascist chief of operations, hastened to the Alcazar where he threaded our way over huge piles of fallen masonry and between teetering wall segments.

The first general impression we got on our tour of the fortress was one of utter ruin. The ancient fortified palace looked as if it had been struck by a dozen cyclones.

The bodies of horses and donkeys blocked the dimly-lit subterranean alleys. Roofs sagged over our heads. We saw at a glance that only the Alcazar's solid rock foundations with their labyrinth of subterranean passages remained.

Over the entire area hung a sickening stench of decaying bodies, both from inside and outside. Through basement openings barricaded with furniture and stones we could see the bodies of socialist attackers who were killed as they hurled hand grenades into the fortress. Fifty corpses had been tossed into a large pit.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

CROWELL, Sept. 30 (AP)—An automobile accident 10 miles east of here last night crushed R. E. Jacobs, 50, Plainview, to instant death. The car overturned at a curve. Jacobs, his wife, a daughter, Guenelle, 8; a son, Joe, 18, and his brother-in-law, Bert Skover, were enroute to Decatur, Ala., to attend funeral services for a sister of Mrs. Jacobs and Skover. The other occupants of the car escaped serious injury.

TEXAN FREED IN TRIAL FOR HONOR KILLING

CALIFORNIA UPHOLDS UNWRITTEN LAW IN VERDICT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30 (AP)—Acquitted of murder charges by a jury which found he killed another man in defense of his wife's virtue and his own life, James Henderson of Alpine, Texas, observed today his first day of freedom since July 4.

With his 25-year old bride, Leona, and his rancher father, W. T. Henderson, near his side, the young cattleman heard his innocence pronounced in court late yesterday.

Henderson was charged with murdering Thomas Leroy Patton, Santa Monica beer parlor operator, when he found the 50-year old acquaintance trying to attack Mrs. Henderson while she lay unconscious in her bedroom.

The three had been on a drinking party, terminated, Mrs. Henderson said, when she was given a "knock-out" emotion by Patton which made her ill. She left Patton's beer parlor for her home. Concerned about her safety, Henderson followed later and said he came upon Patton mistreating her.

When he ordered Patton to leave immediately, Henderson said the man refused and attempted to assault him. The cattleman fired six shots with his pistol.

GOOD SEASON PREDICTED FOR VIRGINIA TRAPPERS

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Chairman Carl Nolting of the state fish and game commission forecasts a prosperous winter season for Virginia trappers, whose income from furs annually aggregates from half to three-quarter of a million dollars.

The bulk of the furs taken in Virginia is muskrat, found in the swamps of the coastal regions. Nolting said these animals were expected to be plentiful, as they have about recuperated from the effects of the 1933 hurricane waters and had not been much injured by last year's severe cold.

Famous Show Man For Ringling Dies

TYLER, Sept. 30 (AP)—John Francis O'Connell, about 50, advance man for Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus, died in an ambulance Monday after a heart attack.

His body lay in state Tuesday and circus followers paid respects. Samuel Comperetz of Sweetwater, Tex., vice-president of the show, said burial would be in Lynn, Mass. Attaches of the circus said the veteran's death was the show business' greatest loss since P. T. Barnum died.

They said his circus career began in his early twenties when he toured Europe with Buffalo Bill. It was his duty to hold the wild westerner's horse.

Later he was connected with Barnum and Bailey during a European tour and then went with Sells Floto before joining the combined show. His widow and two sisters of Lynn, Mass., survive.

DEATH TRAP AVERTED; DYNAMITE DISCOVERED

HAVANA, Sept. 30 (AP)—An explosion intended as a death trap for police and army intelligence agents was averted today with the discovery of 20 sticks of dynamite wired to a telephone in a vacant apartment.

The officers, investigating the Sept. 20 bombing of the newspaper El Pais were jured yesterday at the apartment near the center of Havana by an anonymous tip it was the hideout of radicals.

The charge was set to explode when the telephone receiver was lifted from the hook. Police, however, suspecting a trap, found the dynamite and broke the connections.

The explosives were of the same make and kind as those found after the El Pais bombing in a truck parked in front of the plant of the newspaper Dairo de la Marina.

A similar trap claimed the lives of two policemen during the administration of former President Gerardo Machado.

WATERS COVER TEXAS HOUSES TO ROOF TOPS

FAMILIES, LIVESTOCK TAKEN TO HIGHER GROUND

HEARNE, Tex., Sept. 30 (AP)—Farmers and stockmen removed their families and livestock to higher ground today as the crests of the rampaging Brazos and Little rivers moved toward their confluence near here.

The Brazos began rising menacingly last night, creeping toward the 47-foot overflow stage. The Little was rising slowly.

The Little had begun to recede slightly at Coleman, but its greater rise, dumped into it by the Leon and Lampasas rivers, was rolling down stream. Floodwaters spread over 40,000 acres of milam county farmland and blocked highways to the east. The river was a mile wide in some places.

No lives were reported lost. Ample warned, farmers had moved most of the livestock but crop and property damage mounted into millions.

Dan Hughes, airline pilot, reported scores of houses covered to the rooftops and thousands of acres of rich farmland turned into lakes near Belton. He said no towns appeared in danger.

Farmers at Marlin, in Falls county, found crops which previously appeared a total loss to be in fair condition.

The Brazos had dropped to 25 feet, 16 feet below Sunday's destructive level, at Waco. The Red Cross took over rehabilitation work and planned feeding for the more than 2,000 persons made homeless by the flood. Business men had raised $14,000 for relief and 300 WPA workers assisted in clearing the city of debris deposited by receding waters.

At Temple directors of the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district appealed for the release of additional federal funds for construction of dams on the Brazos, Texas' longest and at flood stage most damaging river.

The district, was created by the Texas Legislature in 1929 and outlined a series of 13 major dams on the Brazos and its tributaries.

Funds have been released for the construction of one, the Possum Kingdom unit near Mineral Wells.

Goldthwaite, near the rain-gorged Colorado river, experienced a flood stage of 60 feet, the highest in the town's history.

Floodwaters that caused heavy damage at Presidio in the Big Bend country last week neared Laredo, on the Rio Grande, a high of 15 to 18 feet was predicted and no damage was expected.

Delegations from the Panhandle district are expected Thursday and Friday and from the Brownsville district Sunday and Monday.

BACK TO COLLEGE

Even stripped of its statistics detailing the increasing stream of youth flowing back to college this fall, The New York Times' report of university registrations shows many revealing facts. For instance, freshmen enrollment is soaring at most schools where there is no limitation on numbers, and few upper classmen are dropping out of the race.

More significant is the report of an increasing trend toward engineering, business and other practical courses with a corresponding declining interest in liberal arts.

Many causes might have contributed to this renewed swing from "impractical" to utilitarian studies, a swing that long has been fuel for educational controversies. Important might be the fact that Americans, normally practical persons, are resuming their old habits of learning how to do things rather than enjoy things. Further, depression hit youth might be deciding to train itself adequately so it will not be caught short when the next cyclone strikes.

Whatever the causes, some will deplore and others hail the practical trend in education. It might be recalled, for instance, that a survey of a typical pre-war Harvard class showed most of the graduates had not made history but that most of them were grateful for the lasting cultural interests they acquired at school. On the other hand, it could be urged, Cicero and Shakespeare don't help one to sell steel.

Apparently the only thing certain is that youth wants to go to college and thinks it knows what it wants from its studies. Perhaps that is all that's necessary.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

By DECK MORGAN

Chapter IX Ted Graham was in port for almost a week, getting the Mariner ready for its next flight; and Kay saw him every day between her own trips on the Overland route.

She had her introduction to the life of the flying colony at Ship Harbor, the home port of Transpacific Airways. It was a homey group. Everyone knew everyone else—the petty trials, rivalries, good fortune and bad that came to their neighbors.

At first they regarded Kay as an outsider, but soon they came to like her. Kay herself was in excellent spirits. She was enjoying her work and was no longer lonesome.

The young pilots at Ship Harbor were all interested in the new girl. Though she was usually seen with Ted, they liked to dance and flirt with her. Monte Blaine was particularly attentive. The fact that Ted had known her previously only seemed to spur Monte's interest. Rivalry was part of his nature.

But the flying colony knew Monte was the "hero type" of an earlier era—dashing, adventurous, holder of trans-continental speed records. Once Monte took a private plane and flew to Reno in less than two hours to have a date with Kay. She felt enormously flattered, but when Ted Graham heard about it he called Monte on the carpet and gave him a lecture.

The day after Monte's trip to Reno, Kay had a wire from the Central headquarters, transferring her to the Oakland airport. Doris Lee took Kay's place in Reno and decided it would be convenient to stay on in the apartment Kay had rented.

It wasn't a second parting between the two girls, for they would still see each other frequently.

Kay hurried out to Ship Harbor the afternoon to see the Flying Mariner take off for Hawaii. Her taxi was caught in a jam and she didn't arrive in time to see Ted. She ran down to the quay just as the giant flying boat was taxiing out into open water.

Kay, like the other spectators, waved goodbye. Tears came into her eyes, blinding her; she didn't know why. With four 800-horsepower motors roaring in unison, the big flying boat rose gracefully from the water and headed directly for the Golden Gate.

The sun had set and Kay saw the ship's lights, blinking red and green. Then she could see no more. She wiped the tears from her eyes and turned to find Monte Blaine standing beside her, tall and broad and clean, watching the ship disappear.

He turned and, with mock gravity, took a handkerchief from his pocket and presented it to Kay. "There," he said, "wipe those lovely eyes. You'll have me believing you're in love with that guy!"

Monte followed her down the quay. "Come on, sweetheart, cheer up!" he said. "Give us a smile!" Kay smiled and they both looked up into the night where a single green light still shone. "There they go," Monte said, "flying to Hawaii. When I was 22 I was a test pilot. I've had 3000 hours in the air, and I hold the Panama to New York non-stop record—but in this outfit do you know what I am? Just an apprentice pilot!"

Kay took his hand. "After you've had 10,000 hours in the air—" "I'll be an old man!" Monte laughed, dismissing the cloudy thought. "Angel, don't fall in love with that man Ted Graham. For 15 years he's been living for the air. He's reduced life to a science. It's all instrument work, laying the ground work, taking measurements. Think all human activity should be organized the same way."

Kay smiled indulgently. Monte, in spite of his broad shoulders and handsome, dark head, seemed so young. She said, "We won't talk about"

Ted—when he's away. I've been transferred. From now on Ship Harbor is my home."

Two days later Kay found an apartment near the beach at Ship Harbor where, from her window, she could see the trans-Pacific liners, moored at the quay. She envied the men of the crews on those flights! There seemed to be magic in the names of the places they visited—Honolulu, French Frigate Shoals, Midway Island, Guam, Manila.

Ted Graham was away from the home port for the next two weeks. It was the time of the Easter holidays, so Dickie, his adopted son, was home from military school. Dickie liked the grime and dirt of the hangars and he liked tools. Since Jerry Searies (with whom Ted lived) was at the airport all day, Dickie spent most of his time there, too.

Kay met him the first day of his vacation, and he came to her with shrill cries of joy, putting grimy little fists around her waist. She didn't mind. She was on her way home with the evening meal, literally, in her arms.

Dickie was hungry. He said, "Pal, you wouldn't invite a guy to eat, would you? Jerry's food is all right, but it all comes out of cans. Kay laughed. "I'm afraid mine all comes from the delicatessen store, Dickie, but you're perfectly welcome."

She followed her home and didn't like it because she insisted he wash his face and hands. When supper was ready, however, he was shining like a button.

"I think Ted likes you," Dickie confided, over the ice cream. "Once I slipped into his room and he was drawing little circles and writing 'K' in them. That's your name, isn't it?"

The doorknob rang and Kay went to answer it. It was, as she had expected, Monte Blaine. He had brought one of the other apprentice pilots with him. Ralph Bangs was a bright-eyed youngster with curly hair and a slight scar on the left cheek.

Monte demanded, "Why didn't you invite us to the housewarming? Which reminds me, the house hasn't been warmed and you've been living in the colony a week. Shame, shame!"

"I'm not sleepy," Dickie put in quickly. When Ted is away I don't go to bed until 4 o'clock in the morning. Sometimes I don't go to bed at all!"

"Dickie!" Kay said, gathering him into her arms. "You're sleepy right now, you don't know what you're saying."

She walked down the beach with the child. A heavy fog was rolling in from the bay and, after she had turned Dickie over to Jerry Searies and was on her way walking back to the apartment, she could scarcely see more than a few feet ahead.

Monte and Ralph were talking and smoking when she returned. "It's a bad night out for flyers," Kay announced.

Each of the men shivered, feeling the fog in their bones. "We called up some friends," Monte told her. "Thought tonight was as good as any for the housewarming."

"But, Monte, I haven't a thing here to eat!"

He grinned. "That isn't the etiquette of a housewarming here. Guests bring their own refreshments."

The bell rang again and Kay thought it must be Monte's friends. Instead it was Doris Lee on the threshold.

"The night plane was grounded," Doris said. "We couldn't leave the airport in this fog, so here I am!"

Monte appeared in the doorway. "This is a haven for sailors in a storm," he informed her.

Doris saluted. "It's a wicked night out, sailor."

Ralph Bangs was leaning over the radio as Doris entered the living room. As soon as she saw him she dropped her bag with a clatter. "So it's you!" she exclaimed.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK—There's an ancient wheeze about the motorman who took his trolley out one morning and came back in the evening with the highest total of receipts ever taken on that line. "How in the world did you do it?" exclaimed a startled official.

"Well," said the fellow. "Business wasn't so good on the road where you sent me, so I switched the car to Broadway."

Of course, such things are only possible in jokes, but in the amusement field many noted personalities owe their continued success to the adoption of a new line. And the financial payoff hasn't been bad, either. Let's take a look at a short listing:

Phil Baker gained his first stage assignment as a pianist, but soon switched to the accordion and gags. Smooth sailing for Phil ever since.

Jack Benny started life as a violinist, but he switched talents after starving for a few years, and radio is none the worse off. Can you imagine James Melton tooting a saxophone? That's how it all began.

But a college professor (this was at Vanderbilt) urged him to give his voice at chance, and now he is one of the highest paid stars.

Frank Black might have been a chemist. Abe Lyman would be a taxi driver and so would Paul White-man. But they learned how easy it was to swing batons, and thereafter achieved swinging steering wheels.

And to Black, the science of song has been much more lucrative than the science of chemistry.

Every time Phil Lord passes a barbershop he tips his hat. Having his curls trimmed one day, he listened to a program extolling the beauties of New England, and squirmed at its insincerity. This gave him the hunch to sit down and write the Seth Parker stories, which gave him entry to the radio field. Curious-ly enough, his new sponsor is a manufacturer of shaving creams and the other whisker-destroying equipment.

Bob Hope was an auto mechanic in a small garage and used to crack gags while smelling gas and oil. His friends called him "Hopeless" because he was always telling the world he was going to get somewhere some day. So he went into radio and now—you guessed it—his program is sponsored by one of the big oil companies.

When radio did come along, Frank Black was one of those industrious fellows who earned his living manufacturing phonograph records. Since the death knell for records seemed to have been sounded, he immediately hopped into the new racket that threatened to destroy his livelihood. And that's all—except that today he is the musical head of one of the greatest broadcasting systems in the world.

Jackie, a Bowery character, isn't permitted to try his skill in the local shooting galleries any more. He's too good. After breaking 50 consecutive birds, and collecting a $25 wager, the proprietor did a little research work on him. Jackie, it appears, came by his talents honestly. He used to be a sharp shooter in a circus. Now the boss of the stand has augmented his warning to stay away by erecting a sign: "No professionals eligible."

cannot be taught in any such set manner. It is learned by absorption, and the only way to absorb it is unconsciously, by being steeped in it. It is soon forgotten otherwise.

There is today such a profusion of cheap editions of the best books, that a library can be gotten together at comparatively little cost. Book collecting is a profitable and satisfactory hobby. If the family starts a library when the children are small, and keeps adding to it, the children are pretty sure to use it and profit by it later on. To say nothing of the pleasure it should give the adults of the family.

BOTH SIDES of the CAMPAIGN

Official views of the Republican and Democratic National Committees on leading issues of the campaign are presented by leaders of the two parties in this series of 12 articles, taking the place of Rodney Dutcher's Washington column during Dutcher's vacation. The Republican and Democratic arguments are presented on alternate days.

BY LESTER J. DICKINSON United States Senator From Iowa

When a man makes a promise and breaks it, then makes another and breaks that, and contradicts himself time and again, can he ever be trusted to fulfill any future pledge that he makes?

This is the situation that confronts President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal party as they stand today at the crossroads of American public opinion.

The facts are, and the record supports it, that President Roosevelt is the greatest promise-breaking chief executive in the history of the nation, and that he has never hesitated to turn from a pledge when political expediency demanded that action.

A glance at the Roosevelt record tells the whole tale. On March 4, 1933, Mr. Roosevelt swore to uphold and preserve the Constitution. During his administration he has fathered nine pieces of legislation declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

President Roosevelt promised "a sound currency, to be preserved at all hazards." On April 30, 1933, he abandoned the gold standard in the United States by executive order; on May 12 of the same year he signed a bill giving him power to issue $3,000,000,000 in fiat money, and on Jan. 31, 1934, he fixed the gold content of the dollar at 59.06 per cent of what it had formerly been.

President Roosevelt called the spending of the Hoover administration "the most reckless and extravagant pace" discoverable in any peacetime government. He promised a saving of 25 per cent in the cost of federal government.

The New Deal government increased the Hoover spending by 38 per cent in 1934; by 43 per cent in 1935; and by 92 per cent in 1936. It created more than 50 additional bureaus and agencies.

The nation's chief executive promised to avoid the danger of a loose fiscal policy, and to set an example by making the government solvent. From March 4, 1933, to July 30, 1936, the New Dealers have increased the national debt by $13,563,000,000, to an all-time high of $34,500,000,000.

Yet in his budget message of Jan. 3, 1936, the president said, "The credit of the government is at its highest."

President Roosevelt declared on Jan. 4, 1935, "The federal government must and shall quit this business of relief." Today there are approximately 11,000,000 people unemployed, while WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins estimates that on Jan. 1, 1936, at least 19,000,000 people were receiving relief benefits.

On Feb. 2, 1934, President Roosevelt condemned politics in relief. Yet New Deal leaders in politics all over the nation, by letter and otherwise, warned those receiving relief and holding WPA jobs to register Democratic or else lose their jobs.

In accepting his nomination, President Roosevelt subscribed to the removal of government from all fields of private enterprise, except where this was in the public interest. At least 20 government agencies created since March 4, 1933, compete with private enterprise.

Next, J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, reviews the 1933 banking crisis and discusses soundness of New Deal banking reorganization measures.

In addition to cotton, the Rust brothers' machine was found to have picked up trash, though a cotton field would seem the last place to throw modern novels.

It would be nice if crooners made a habit of trans-oceanic hops, even though one of them has just returned safely.

HARVESTERS' SPIRIT INDICATES THEY WON'T BE DUCK SOUP FOR NORMAN

BOYS PLAN TO WRECK RECORD BOOKS FRIDAY

NORMAN FAVORED BUT PAMPA'S CHANCES ARE GOOD

Back to the familiar turf at Harvesters field were to go the Pampa Harvesters this afternoon following two days of workouts south of the gymnasium. The squad was scheduled to go through a stiff scrimmage session with the "first string" meeting the rest of the gang.

On Friday night the Harvesters will meet their toughest foe of the season, the Norman Tigers at Coach "Shorter" Luster. At least the Tigers, according to dope, will be the toughest foe so far this season. Game time will be 8 o'clock with general admission 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Both tickets may be purchased at Cretney Drug, Harvesters Drug, Fathere Drug No. 4 and Pampa Drug No. 1.

Records prove the strength of the Tigers. Here is how it goes: Central of Oklahoma defeated Paul's Valley 20 to 0. Central beat the Harvesters 26 to 0. Amarillo won from Paul's Valley 18 to 0. Amarillo defeated Paul's Valley 18 to 0. Now figure it out.

When the Harvesters take the field Friday night, Captain Roy Lee Jones and Glen Maxey will be back at their end positions. Neither played against Childress because of injuries received in the game with Central two weeks ago. John Henry Nelson will be at the tackle position where he started last week. Although a midget, he has the knack of piling up the opposing line.

Pass offense and smothering out plays has been the chief course of instruction for the Harvesters so far this week. This afternoon a mighty scrimmage was on the books with new plays being expected to play an important part.

Preceding the scrimmage, however, the Mitchelmen were scheduled to spend considerable time working on a pass defense to stop the Munsey to Jennings and Jennings to Munsey passes. Blocking, something the Harvesters have failed to produce in any great quantity so far, was also on the books for consideration.

Coach Luster and 22 of his fiercest Tigers will arrive in Pampa about 4:30 tomorrow afternoon. They will immediately go to Harvesters field for a workout. At that time, fans will have a preliminary peek at the great Munsey and Jennings and the rest of the Tiger band.

The line buster of the Tigers is Willard Corbit, brother of the once famous Amarillo Steers. Corbit is the biggest man on the team, weighing 174 pounds. Torrey Smith is the other tackle. He is a 170-pounder. At guards, Coach Luster has Miller and Stubbs, each weighing 166 pounds. The ends are Garrett and Spotswood, 148 and 155 pounds respectively. Wood, the center, tips the scales at 158 pounds.

Assisting Munsey, quarterback, and Jennings, halfback, in the ball-toting are Remy, a 135-pound streak of lightning, and fullback Devore, 160 pounds.

With the exception of Devore, every player on the starting lineup has had from two to three years experience with eight of the players in the 3 year class.

PATTY BERG IS GIVEN STIFF FIGHT BY SHORB

SUMMIT, N. J., Sept. 30 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Eva Shorb of Canton, Ohio, is out of the fortieth Women's Golf championship but she gave Patty Berg of Minneapolis worries galore in the first round of the national tournament yesterday.

Miss Berg won, 1 up, by holing a putt after Miss Shorb had missed hers on the eighteenth green but before that the blonde Eva had the little American favorite shaking her head and wondering how the tournament would look from the sidelines.

Miss Shorb has been playing golf about four years. She "learned it

COACH MEYER SHIFTS BAUGH TO HALFBACK

FIVE SOPHOMORES MAY BE IN LINEUP OF FROGS

(By The Associated Press)
Five sophomores may be in the Texas Christian lineup when the Horned Frogs tangle with the Arkansas Razorbacks in the south-west conference lid blaster at Fort Worth Saturday.

After the Frogs' defeat by Texas Tech Saturday and their close call the previous week against Howard Payne, Coach Dutch Meyer began experimenting with new combinations. "Slinging Sam" Baugh was shifted to left half and other changes were made.

The Arkansas Porkers continued tuning up the aerial barrage they plan to fire at the Frogs. Jimmy Benton, end, returned to practice after being out with a cold and probably will see service in the game.

The University of Texas Longhorns, preparing for their season's debut worked behind locked gates for their clash with Louisiana State at Austin Saturday. Coach Jack Chevigny, who scouted last week's game in which LSU trimmed Rice 20 to 7, drilled the Steers in defense formation.

The Rice Owls were en route to Pittsburgh for their Saturday's contest with Duquesne.

New plays for use against the Centenary Gents at Tyler Saturday occupied the attention of the Baylor Bears. Sam Boyd, sophomore end, may not get to play because of injuries suffered in the Hardin-Simmons tilt last week.

At College Station Coach Homer Norton used freshmen as cannon fodder as he sought to correct flaws in the defensive line play of the Texas Aggies.

Coach Matty Bell at Southern Methodist called on his second stringers to go in against a freshman team after the varsity failed to show advantage against the frosh. The Mustangs meet Texas A. & I. Saturday.

FOOTBALL FANS ARE ASKED TO GIVE OPINION ON GRID PLAY

Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters thought he was on the witness stand yesterday noon when he attempted to make a talk at the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce meeting. The coach started out by discussing his boys but ended by trying to answer questions on rules and plays.

The coach was stumped on one question and frankly admitted it. "I don't know," he said, such great coaches as Harry Kipke, Fielding Vest and several others have been unable to give a definite ruling on the play.

Maybe some of the sideline coaches can answer the question. If so, the coach and the sports department would be glad to hear from them. Here is the question: "Team A is on the offensive with the ball on the opponent's 3-yard line. The fullback takes the ball through the line but on the 1-yard line he fumbles and the ball rolls out of bounds in the end zone."

New members received yesterday, with "Sixteen" Johnson, including: W. H. Howard, John Shannon and Jack Kreisinger. Visitors were Hurl Hamilton, Pampa, and C. F. Kitto, Oklahoma City.

Add to growing list of those who believe the University of Arkansas will bag the Southwest conference title: Howard Grubbs, Texas Christian assistant coach. "No ifs and ands about it," said Grubbs, "Arkansas will win the championship decisively."

OLD RELIABLE

Quiet, unassuming Mel Ott, veteran outfielder of 11 years, although only 26, is the little fellow with the big punch in the Giants' batting attack. Hitting around .330, the Gretna, La., boy led the circuit in home runs, and his team in runs batted in.

11 to 3 triumph last night to knot the series at two-all.

The fifth game will be played here tonight, after which the teams will return to Tulsa to fight it out for the title and the right to represent the league in the Dixie series.

The Steers shelled the Oilers with 11 timely bingles and took advantage of six Tulsa miscues for their easy victory.

The Oilers touched the veteran Marberry for 13 blows but the old-timer managed to scatter them and was never in serious trouble.

RAINY DAY CAN CAUSE SERIES POSTPONEMENT

RUFFING WILL PITCH OPENING TILT FOR YANKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—If the weather man holds up that third strike he's threatening to slip across, the Yankees and Giants get their all-New York world series under way at 12:30 p. m. (CST) today, before a crowd packing the Polo Grounds to the rafters.

Although the official "continued cold and probable rain" forecast brought with it the possibility of postponement of a series opener for the first time in the memory of the oldest veterans, Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis withheld final decision on the "play ball" okay until noon.

In the meantime, "King Carl" Hubbell and Charley (Red) Ruffing took things easy until time to warm up for their assignments as starting pitchers in a series that undoubtedly will break all financial and attendance records in the books if it goes six games, as is the general prediction.

Reserved and box seats for the entire series have been sold out for days at both the Polo Grounds and Yankee stadium. The National league ballyard will be host to the opening two engagements. The next three are carded for the stadium, and the sixth and seventh, if it goes that long, will be back under the shadow of Coogan's Bluff.

One of the principal points of discussion in the jammed baseball headquarters, lasting overnight and still going on today, was the wisdom of Manager Joe McCarthy's selection of Ruffing to go against Hubbell in the opener. Many of the baseball wise classes any pitcher as a "human sacrifice" against the south-paw screwball specialist, whose 26 victories, 16 of them in a row, were the result of that career ball-thrower's troupe to the National league pennant.

Several still insisted that McCarthy would have been giving his side more of a break by shooting his erratic speedball star, Lefty Gomez, against Hubbell, and leave the more dependable Ruffing, top winner of the Yankee staff this season, for the number two game, against either Freddy Fitzsimmons or Hal Schumacher, whichever Terry nominates.

Governor Herbert Lehman and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia headed an imposing list of notable planning to attend the opener. President Roosevelt has arranged to be present for the first game in Yankee stadium, scheduled for Friday, but the Giants have made tentative plans to entertain him there if a postponement sets the regular order back.

JAPANESE MILITARISTS ASK DRASTIC REFORMS

TOKYO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Powerful militarist leaders of the army and navy pressed the government today for drastic administrative reforms and insisted that the sweeping changes be made without discussion.

Should Premier Koki Hirota reject the army-navy plan, it was feared that Lt. Gen. Juichi Terauchi, minister of war, might resign, causing the fall of the present cabinet.

Among the war party's stringent demands, it was disclosed today, was the establishment of a combined control board within the cabinet for the formulation of national policy under a minister without portfolio.

Among the proposed reforms, all closely affecting Japan's military establishment, were:

Consolidation of the foreign office with the overseas ministry.

Amalgamation of the ministries of agriculture, forestry, commerce and industry.

Consolidation of the departments of railroads and communications.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Darryl Zanuck, just 34, is production generalissimo of the 20th Century-Fox concern, besides personal supervisor of certain films of his own. Formerly at Warner Bros. he capitalized on headlines for movie material, and in such timely films as "Little Caesar," "Public Enemy," and "Fugitive from a Chain Gang" introduced Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney and Joan Blondell.

His films furthered the careers of Paul Muni, Barbara Stanwyck, Bette Davis, Warren William, Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell.

Subsequently Zanuck stand-outs include "Les Miserables," "City of Dreadful Night," "The Sign of the Cross," "Road to Glory," the Dionne quintuplet films, and the Shirley Temple. He recently signed Eddie Cantor.

One of his best talent prospects, at the moment, is Simone Simon, signed by Winfield Sheehan but first cast by Zanuck.

Stromberg Prominent

Hunt Stromberg is a leading producer—at Metro—where "Ah, Wilderness!" "Wife Versus Secretary," "Small Town Girl" in which Janet Gaynor starred, and "The Great Ziegfeld" have increased his prestige in recent times. Two popular "teams" have come from his productions—William Powell and Myrna Loy in "The Thin Man" and Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie." He has done several Joan Crawford pictures, including "Letty Lynton," and his name is on the epic "Eskimo."

But youngest of the producers that Hollywood knows best by name is Fando Berman, a small plump fellow of 31, who has been a full-fledged producer only two years. Before that he was executive assistant in charge of production, and earlier had worked up from lesser film jobs.

Berman Boasts Many

Berman's pictures have included the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers hits from their first co-starrer, "The Gay Divorcee." He has been in charge of Katharine Hepburn's films since "The Little Minister" and his imports from the stage include Lily Pons, Burgess Meredith, Doris Dudley and Harriet Hilliard. It was he who gave Bette Davis her best opportunity, opposite Leslie Howard in "Of Human Bondage," when her own studio had found no similar possibility for her.

Those mentioned here, of course, are but a few of the town's more prominent producers. There are others, like Lesse Lasky and Samuel Goldwyn, who lavish infinite care on select and limited productions, much in the Thalberg man-

GERMANY'S WAR BABIES WILL BE CONSCRIPTED

BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—A widespread increase was ordered in the German military establishment today as Nazi officials began conscription to raise their fighting forces to 800,000 men under the new two-year compulsory service rule.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler decreed an increase to 300,000 youths for the spade corps—the government labor service—which is the preliminary training unit of the standing army.

Hitler, taking a leaf from the Kaiser Wilhelm system, decreed the two-year service August 24 to become effective Oct. 1. The training period previously was one year, in addition to half a year in the spade corps which must be put in prior to being called into the fighting forces.

The recruits are 21 and 22 years of age—Germany's war babies—parts of the classes of 1914 and 1915.

PEEK FOR LONDON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The support of George N. Peek, first agricultural adjustment administrator and once head of the New Deal's expert-import bank, today was behind Governor Landon of Kansas for president. Declaring President Roosevelt "has taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and has put the foreign farmer into the American market," Peek assailed his former chief last night for what he termed "broken promises."

LAW AFTER 'PISTOL TOLERS'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Moving against organized crime, Alabama is requiring every "pistol toter" in the state to obtain a license effective Oct. 1.

The Illinois is a group of North American Indians belonging to the great Algonquian linguistic tribe.

FALL DRILLING CAMPAIGN IS IN PROSPECT

ORDINARY FALL SLUMP HAS FAILED TO OCCUR

BY ALFRED WALL Associated Press Staff Writer TULSA, Okla., Sept. 30. (AP)—Unexpected strength in the demand for crude oil was reflected today in the plans of producing companies for a greater fall drilling campaign than usual.

The ordinary fall slump has failed to occur and despite the unexpected production which continued to hold steady in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 barrels a day, refinery outlets reported a brisk movement of their products and they continued to call on the producing end for more crude to feed the stills.

Fears of an over-produced condition had failed to materialize into facts. The balance between supply and demand seemed maintained. A cheerful spot in the picture was the report that a 10-cent per barrel cut in the price of one type of Michigan crude, ordered ten days ago, had been restored 50 per cent. Authorities who took a bullish view of the situation were quick to point out that the reason for the Michigan price cut was because that oil had a high sulphur content which made it hard to refine.

"You can look for an intensive campaign of exploration on all fronts," one authority said today. "When you review the activity of the past half year it is apparent that no really great new pools have been opened up lately.

"Most discoveries have been extensions of pools previously proved. Then, too, oil companies have learned the business of keeping their reserves in the ground until needed, and with proration, the opening up of a new pool does not, nowadays, mean a dumping of unwanted crude on the market. Some companies really are in need of reserves. You can count on a lot of new drilling this season."

The chilly weather during the week caused a jump in the demand for fuel and burning oils. Prices of refined products and crude were at the same levels.

The trend toward cutting down state allowances for the winter period was maintained in the action of the Oklahoma Corporation Commission in reducing state October quota to 559,900 barrels daily, a decrease of 3,100 barrels.

The Texas Railroad commission, however, kicked over the traces and raised the October allowable for the Lone Star state to 1,179,948 barrels daily, an increase of 54,274 barrels daily over the basic allowable for September, and 73,948 more than the Federal Bureau of Mines estimated would be needed from Texas.

Col. E. O. Thompson, commission chairman, voiced belief the Bureau of Mines had discriminated against Texas in recommending a reduction of 17,000 barrels daily. Oil men looked toward the Oklahoma compact meeting in the Oklahoma City Oct. 2 in hope the difficulty could be straightened out there. Art L. Walker, secretary of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, said at Oklahoma City last night he believed "everything would work out all right" and advised oil operators not to worry.

In Kansas there was an early revival of drilling activity with four small pools opened up in a busy week.

OIL PRODUCTION DROPS TULSA, Okla., Sept. 30. (AP)—A drop of 10,923 barrels daily in the national production of crude oil for the week ending Sept. 26 was reported today by the Oil and Gas Journal. It brought the production figure to 3,024,323 barrels daily.

Oklahoma showed a decrease of 9,870 barrels daily to a total of 580,575 barrels while East Texas showed an increase of 2,697 barrels daily to a total of 441,884.

The output of the total state of Texas was up 5,853 barrels daily to a new total of 1,157,263. In Louisiana, too, there was an increase amounting to 3,445 barrels daily, bringing the state's production to 238,645 barrels daily.

In California there was a decline of 14,150 barrels daily to 568,400 and Kansas increased 4,825 barrels daily to 170,175.

Eastern fields including Michigan produced 142,900 barrels daily, a decline of 100, and the Rocky Mountain area's production declined 240 barrels daily for a total of 63,610 barrels daily.

J. E. Hill of Amarillo transacted business in Pampa yesterday.

McLEAN PLAN 'JERICHO GAP' FETE OPENING

Dedication Ceremony To Be Held on Oct. Ninth

Pampa will join cities along highway 66, the Will Rogers Memorial highway, in celebrating the opening of pavement in the famous "Jericho gap" and also a dedication of the highway at McLean on October 9. Date of the celebration was set for October 2 but conflicting engagements caused a change of date.

The celebration will officially get under way at 1 o'clock at the Lone Star theater on Highway 66. T. E. Johnson of Amarillo will act as toastmaster, with the Rev. W. A. Erwin, pastor of the Presbyterian church of McLean, making the welcoming address. Entertainment will be provided from cities along the highway and from Pampa, where the Lions club quartet has been invited to participate.

A parade will be held at 2:30 o'clock with bands from many Panhandle cities and the famous Oklahoma City Klitsch band participating. Immediately following the parade, a polo game will be played between the Pampa Rough Riders and the McLean Mounted Tigers.

Climaxing the afternoon program, a barbecue will be served at the high school football field at 5 o'clock. Tickets will be 50 cents and can be secured at the chamber of commerce office in the city hall here. Manager Garnet Reeves urges Pampans to secure their duets early so that an idea of the number attending from here can be learned.

The celebration will close with a football game between the McLean Tigers and the Memphis Cyclones at 8 o'clock. It will be an important conference game.

Yesterday Rev. Erwin and C. O. Green visited in Pampa in the interest of the celebration. They were assured that Pampa would have a large delegation of citizens at the dedication.

closely on the capital, mobilized two additional classes of militia into a powerful army. It planned a sharp counter-attack to repel the Fascist drive across central Spain and to recapture the city of Toledo.

Socialist troops retreated stubbornly from the Toledo sector, fighting doggedly under a barrage from six-inch batteries ranged on the city's heights.

The government declared a truce in the war tide was imminent, maintaining the further the insurgents stretched out their lines the weaker they became.

BURGOS, Spain, Sept. 30. (AP)—The insurgent high command announced today that their Fascist armies had a strategic hold on Madrid, ringing the government capital with a virtually completed band of steel.

With the encircling movement, basic feature of the Fascist tactics, drawing to its pincer-like close, the insurgent junta declared the direct attack on Madrid would begin immediately.

The predicted imminent fall of the capital and a planned uprising of the population of Madrid in the final hours of the drive would climax its capitulation.

Madrid was pictured in wild confusion in announcements from Fascist general headquarters.

MADRID, Sept. 30. (AP)—The Spanish government mobilized two additional classes of conscripts into a powerful army today to counter attack the southern Fascist forces and hunt them out of recently fallen Toledo.

Socialist troops stubbornly halted their slow retreat from Toledo to Madrid and dug in under bursting shells from insurgent six-inch batteries blazing away from the heights of Toledo.

Arrested with Browder were Waldo Frank of New York, a famous novelist, and Seymour Waldman of New York, who is a representative of the national election committee of the communist party. All three were held on charges of vagrancy pending investigation.

Yates, who in three years rose from patrolman to head of his department, said yesterday that "I won't let Browder speak here."

Browder, who sent telegrams yesterday to President Roosevelt and Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana protesting against being denied the right to speak here, submitted to arrest agreeably and posed for pictures.

Chief Is Positive Browder said he would speak to-night if permitted. He said he was a law-abiding citizen and said he could not understand why he was being held.

Yates said he would not allow anyone belonging to the communist party to speak in Terre Haut as long as he was chief.

There he issued a statement saying: "This whole situation is most absurd and unjust. We will have a meeting tonight if at all possible. It is a travesty on justice when law abiding citizens are thrown into jail on charges such as these."

The police chief was emphatic in saying there would be no meeting of communists permitted.

Asserting he had the support of other public officials, business men and patriotic organizations, Yates said: "There will be no communist speaking here as long as I am police chief. There will be no communist meeting here tonight or any other night. We are going to clear out agitators and Reds."

Participating in the arrests was H. A. Collins of Terre Haute who described himself as secretary of the Vigo county law and order league.

After his arrest Browder commented briefly: "This is the first time I have ever been arrested on no charge at all. I'll reserve comment until I see an attorney."
