

Ike Leads Applause For Dewey

President Eisenhower leads the applause for New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey after the latter stepped to the dais in the Hotel Astor, New York City, to introduce the President to the fifth annual dinner of the New York State Republican Committee. Attendance at the $100-a-plate dinner was so large that it was held in two sections, one at the Astor and the other at the Waldorf-Astoria. Ike spoke at both dinners in his first political appearance since taking office. (AP Wirephoto).

Shivers Has A Plan For Speedy End To Session

Looses New Blast At Teacher Group

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—Gov. Shivers publicized today a plan to give school teachers a $300 a year conditional pay raise and end the Legislature's session soon. It drew quick fire from backers of the $600 a year boost.
The $300 increase and some other appropriations would depend on settlement of the 45 million dollar gas pipeline tax suit in favor of the state. If the state lost, the teachers and others would lose.
Shivers told a news conference of the plan, but said it should not be taken as "the governor's program for a compromise." He said he and several members of the Legislature would explore "these and other possibilities and try to evolve a workable and acceptable program."
The governor loosed a new blast at the leaders of the Texas State Teachers Association whose attitude, he said, was "arrogant and adamant" in insisting on a $600 annual base pay raise.
Charles Tennyson of the association when asked for comment said: "I am not trying to settle this fight in the press. The cause is too great. This isn't a game of politics. It is a game involving the welfare of 1,650,000 Texas boys and girls who must have teachers."
The governor outlined the latest plan to bring a quick end to the Legislature without a new tax bill after a week in which date for final adjournment could not be fixed.
The $600 teachers pay bill is dormant, passed by both houses but red-tagged "insufficient funds" by the comptroller.
These were the suggestions offered in the governor's statement: A pay raise of $300 a year for classroom teachers.
An 80-20 per cent ratio of state-local contributions to the minimum foundation school fund "local contribution of approximately two per cent less than at present."
Elimination of the state supervisor-counselor program at a saving of about $2,600,000 a year.
The balance of the appropriation to be contingent on favorable settlement of the gas-gathering tax.
The same bill to provide contingent appropriations for building at Southwestern Medical Foundation at Dallas, Anderson Hospital and University of Texas Dental School at Houston, the State School for the Deaf at Austin and the state prison system.
Sufficient support to be enlisted among House leadership and membership to assure early passage.
The same support to be committed to immediate final adjournment after passage.
Reps. Charles Hughes of Center who have fought for the $600 pay raise opposed the suggestions.
"This isn't a compromise," Hughes asserted. "The governor hasn't compromised in the least. The $300 raise was what he wanted all along and a contingent raise is no raise at all. The 80-20 plan would be getting the local districts."
Sen. A. M. Alkin Jr., of Paris, author of the $600 pay boost bill, said he appreciated the effort being made.
"I have never said there couldn't be a compromise," Alkin said. "When it is presented to me I will look at it and do everything I reasonably and consistently can to work something out. One thing I want to talk about is making the 80-20 effective two years hence."
Shivers said it was too late now to work out a tax bill at this session. He said if the teachers had been willing to accept less than $600 earlier in the session, there would have been time to work out a tax bill to finance it.
Speaker Neuben Senterfitt called the idea the "sensible answer." He said he thought the contingent teachers' pay raise idea was legal and that the Legislature would take it and adjourn soon.
Shivers said he did not think the $300 pay raise could be retroactive, but could go into effect when the gas tax suit was settled. The state Supreme Court last week upheld the tax, but appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court is in prospect.
Shivers said he met with Reps. Frank Carpenter of Sour Lake, Ben Glusking of Kingsville and Frank Crain of Victoria, who were spokesmen for legislators who tried to work out a compromise last week.

Ike Is Urged To Air Budget Woes

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Some advisers are urging that President Eisenhower take to the air ways soon to offset the bad political effect of disclosures that Republicans are going to continue red ink federal spending.
These advisers apparently feel that only some blunt talk by Eisenhower—delivered by radio and television into the voters' living rooms—can counter any feeling that the new administration is faltering in its purpose to balance the budget.
The political strategists want the President to blame the previous Democratic administration for the financial difficulties which both Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey have said will prevent budget balancing in the fiscal year beginning July 1.
They want an expansion by the President of the note he sounded in a recent White House news conference when he said his administration was trying to make sense out of a "crazy quilt of promises, commitments and contracts" left in the military field by the Democrats.
The advisers think the President should stress anew his complaint that holdover funds voted by previous Congresses at Truman's request constitute an order at the corner grocery for "81 billion dollars worth of goods which we've got to pay for as they are delivered, in addition to paying the regular household running expenses."
Eisenhower has been reluctant to make any really partisan political speeches since he took office, but some GOP strategists believe it isn't too early for him to begin preparing the nation for what's ahead financially in 1954.

RAINFALL FOR MONTH ABOVE NORMAL HERE

Sand-blasted people in these parts may find it difficult to believe, but rainfall in April actually was above normal for the month.
This, according to the climatological data for the month, compiled by the Weather Bureau.
Total precipitation for the month was 1.8 inches, .15 inch above normal. It was the wettest April, says the Bureau, since 1945, when 2.3 inches was measured.
Average temperature during the month was 63.6 degrees, .5 degree below normal. Thermometer readings went from a low of 35 on the 19th to a high of 91 on the 17th.
Hail was recorded on two days of the month, but it was light and caused no damage. Severe sand and dust storms occurred the last three days of the month.

Modification Of Red Proposals Is Asked

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles declared today that some provisions of the Red proposals for disposing of prisoners of war in Korea are unsatisfactory as stated and should be clarified and probably modified.
At a news conference, he also disclosed that the United States has been rushing small arms ammunition and other military aid to strengthen the armed forces of Thailand against the threat posed by the Red invasion of Laos in Indochina. Thailand asked emergency assistance earlier in the week.
His carefully qualified comments on the Korean truce negotiations provided the first official guidance to United States reaction to the eight-point plan which the Reds put forward three days ago at Panmunjom. Under instruction from Washington, U. N. truce negotiators have been seeking the clarification which Dulles said is essential.
Dulles said that the view he expressed was generally agreed upon among the United States and Allied nations like Britain, France, Turkey and others with troops fighting in Korea. The United States, he made clear, has been consulting these countries on the response which the U. N. Command should make to the Red POW plan.
He also said he and other officials discussed the matter with President Eisenhower at the White House Thursday and yesterday. Dulles' words sharpened an impression here that if the Reds would modify some provisions—principally the proposals for introducing European Communist satellite forces into South Korea and for settling the final fate of some POWs at a political conference—the United States and its Allies would quickly agree upon the Red plan.
Dulles met with reporters at the State Department at noon a few hours before leaving on a 20-day tour of the Middle East and South Asia. In a statement and in response to questions Dulles made these principal points about the critical Far Eastern situations:
1. The United States has advised Thailand that it would be pleased to see that country cite to the United Nations the threat to Thai territory caused by the invasion of neighboring Laos by Indochinese Communist forces. This is true even though there has been some retreat of Red troops in Laos.
2. The United States is continuing to talk with the French and Indochinese governments (Laos, Cambodia, Viet Nam) about the possibility of action by France to put the invasion itself before the U. N. The French government is reluctant to do this. It is afraid, though Dulles did not say so, that such an appeal would start a U. N. battle over alleged French colonialism.
3. C-119 Flying Boxcars which were rushed to Indochina this week to strengthen the French airlift reinforcing troops in Laos are being flown by American civilian crews who were hired by the French government in the Far East.
4. There is nothing in the armistice negotiations in Korea which either states or implies that it would be appropriate to bring Communist China into the United Nations. Dulles said this in response to a question about published reports that the truce talks were leading up to critical decisions here on Chinese membership in the U. N. China, the United States aid to Indochina, the onset of the monsoon weather, or the Korean truce talks may be responsible for Communist retreats in Laos. Dulles said the puzzling situation was not sufficiently clarified yet to enable the United States to make a positive evaluation.

Reds Insist Balking POWs Will Return

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
PANMUNJOM, Sunday, May 10 (AP)—Communist truce negotiators today insisted that all the 48,500 balking Red prisoners held by the Allies would be willing to return to their homelands after explanations were made to them by their own people following a Korean armistice.
The Allies said that was "more than doubtful."
The Red statement was made at today's 59-minute truce session by the top Red negotiator, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, as he answered some of the many questions asked of the Communists yesterday by the senior U. N. Command truce delegate, Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison.
Harrison sought amplification of the Allies' statement.
"Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle"
Reports reaching us, in a round about way, indicated Saturday that the Big Spring high school band won high honors at Okla. Okla. The unit made the trip to participate in the Tri-State Musical festival. The reports, while not confirmed, were that the band had won sweepstakes honors—first division in sight reading, marching and concert playing.
Into every life a little rain must fall—figuratively speaking, of course. Possibility of a couple of new oil pools brightened with shows of oil in Green No. 1 Slaughter, northwest of Vealmoor and Soblo No. 1 Yarbrough, four miles southeast of Colorado City.
Back to a favorite subject—weather. W. S. Goodlett Jr., district conservationist, sagaciously observes that "we tried a rain-maker last year. What we need now is a windstopper." While the past week was well behaved, breezes did stir, and naturally they came from the west and southwest. Yet, in the face of this, some souls are prophesying rain.

Viet Nam Expecting Phony Peace Move

SAIGON, Indochina, May 9 (AP)—French and Indochinese officials expressed belief today the withdrawal of Communist-led invasion forces from Laos may foreshadow a phony Vietnam proposal for an armistice in the seven-year-old war in Indochina.
Premier Nguyen Van Tam of Viet Nam, one of the three French-associated Indochinese states, said in an interview he thought it very possible that such a peace offer will be made soon and he doubted it would be sincere. In any event, he added, "Viet Nam will only accept the principle of an armistice if it is preceded by the unconditional surrender of the enemy armies."
Other Indochinese and French sources said an armistice offer would be a smart move by the Moscow-trained Vietminh leader, Ho Chi Minh, because of the possibility of slowing the French war effort and disrupting the flow of American military aid.
They said they were certain any armistice talks would bog down and that when the war was resumed the French would be in a worse position than now.
French military sources in Hanoi, command center for military operations in Northern Viet Nam and the adjoining state of Laos, said they are convinced that the Vietminh withdrawal in Laos was ordered by Communist leaders in Moscow and Peking because the rebel invasion had created a storm of world protest at a time particularly inopportune for the current Red peace campaign.
Black-uniformed, bareheaded and barefooted Vietminh regulars, who only a week ago massed for an expected smash assault on Luang Prabang, home town of Laotian King Sisavang Vong, plodded northward through dripping jungles and over mountains under heavy attack by French bombers and fighters.

EX-PRISONER TELLS OF BRUTAL MARCH

HEREFORD, Tex., May 9 (AP)—A thousand U. N. prisoners started a Korean death march, but only 400 survived 40 frozen days of horror.
One of those who did live was Sgt. Gerald Neighbors, 23, Army veteran from this little Panhandle city.
Returned to the U. S. in the change of wounded, Neighbors is home with his wife, Shirley, and his daughter, Cindy, 2½. She was born while Neighbors was overseas. He saw her for the first time when he landed at Amarillo a few days ago.
Sitting with his family, Neighbors, a young-old man, without dramatics told Robert E. Baskin, staff writer of the Dallas Morning News, of the 40 days of death and weary misery in late 1950 and early 1951.
Millet and corn—just the grains—were the only foods served the prisoners. They were given one meal a day.
Frozen feet and hands and dysentery plagued the captured men. Four days after his capture, on Dec. 5, 1950, the march of death started.
"We moved out northward that night with Chinese troops and made between 15 and 20 miles," Neighbors said. "A few more prisoners joined us. Night after night we marched about the same distance with more prisoners joining the column all the time."
"Our condition began to go down rapidly. The men were suffering with dysentery, frozen feet and frozen hands."
"The column must have had about 1,000 prisoners in it. Men began to fall by the side of the road. Sometimes they were dead when we left them. Sometimes they were barely alive."
"We were too weak to help them. The Chinese didn't seem to care."
On Christmas Day, 1950, the prisoners reached an old mining camp where there were wooden buildings.
"They put us in rooms about 10 by 10 feet and crowded up to 25 in each room."
"We had no blankets—just our individual clothes. I was wearing fatigues, shoe pads, a helmet liner, a jacket and didn't have an overcoat. It wasn't near enough to keep warm."
"Our water came from a frozen stream, and we had to break the ice to get it. There were no latrines. At night, fires were not permitted and it was extremely cold."
"The men died rapidly at this place, from the exhaustion of the long march, from wounds, starvation and lack of medical care."
"From the time the march started until Jan. 15 I estimate 600 men had died, out of a total of a little more than a thousand."
Neighbors began another march Jan. 15—this time to POW Camp 5 at Pyokjong on the Yalu River. He stayed there until the exchange of prisoners.

Midland Approves Road Bond Issue

MIDLAND—Midland County voters gave resounding approval at the polls today to a bond issue to provide right-of-way for a four-lane thoroughfare on Highway 80, east from the city of Midland to the Martin County line.
The vote was 303 for the bonds, to 38 against. The issues carried in all ten of the county's precincts, unanimously in three of them.
The bond issue authorized is for $350,000. It would provide bonds for 150-foot right-of-way for an eleven-mile stretch. There already is a four-lane divided highway on 80 westward from Midland.

writing a magazine column on aviation—which is being used as ammunition by those who oppose him on the grounds he is too strongly pro-Air Force and anti-Navy for the impartial job of JCS chairman. There is nothing in the law making rotation of the job among the services mandatory.
Therefore, if Eisenhower chooses to keep the appointment entirely clear of either of the contending services—Air Force or Navy—he can turn to any one of a number of his former Army colleagues.
Among these is Gen. Mark Clark, supreme commander in the Far East. But nomination of Clark might bring opposition in the Senate, which must confirm the nomination, from the Texas delegation. Some Texans still hold Clark responsible for heavy casualties suffered in a battle in Italy while he commanded the forces there during World War II.

Adm. Carney Mentioned As A Likely Successor To Bradley

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Speculation on a successor to Gen. Omar N. Bradley as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff centered today on Adm. Robert B. Carney, commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Southern Europe.
Bradley is due to retire Aug. 16 and the field of possible successors appears to be wide open. Those who suggested that Carney be kept in mind regard him as a potentially satisfactory compromise in the long and bitter dispute between the Navy and Air Force over their respective roles in aviation.
Carney has kept virtually aloof from much of that bickering. Thus he has stirred no deep hostility in the Air Force camp and is looked upon as a friend of many Army officials.
But the factor that really counts is that Carney is not a naval aviator.
Adm. Arthur Radford, command-in-chief, Pacific, is an aviator and has been a sharply outspoken proponent of the Navy in its quarrels with the Air Force and, at times, with the Defense Department. Radford's name has been high in speculation on the Joint Chiefs' chairmanship, especially since he accompanied President Eisenhower on the latter's pre-inauguration journey to Japan and Korea.
But talk of appointing Radford evokes deep and angry muttering in Air Force circles.
Navy proponents, on the other hand, have evidenced alarm at fresh rumors that the chairmanship might go to Gen. Carl A. (Toogy) Spaatz, famous World War II Air commander and later Air Force chief of staff. Spaatz, since retiring a few years ago, has been

Industry Leaders Believe Business To Top '52 Level

By STERLING F. GREEN
HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 9 (AP)—Industry leaders assured Secretary of Commerce Weeks today that business activity in 1953 promises to top last year's boom level.
But profits may lag because of harder competition in prices and services, members of the Department of Commerce Business Advisory Council predicted in their closed meeting here.
The corporation heads, speaking for as many major fields of industry, presented the forecasts to the conference of 100 executives. Council Chairman John D. Biggers summarized the outlook later for reporters, saying:
"In many lines, the seller's market has passed or is passing. Competition is becoming more intense, and the council considers this a desirable economic development."
"It was the general conviction of members that business will be good, certainly for the rest of 1953, and that the volume in most lines—and as a whole—will be better than in 1952."
Vice President Nixon, speaking off the record, gave what members later called an "impressive and lucid account of the Eisenhower administration's efforts to cope with the double-barreled problem of keeping the government solvent and the country secure."
Privately, industry men said they were impressed with the attack made by the Eisenhower administration on the problems.

Toll Road Building Enjoying Big Boom

By WALTER BUSSEWITZ
NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Toll road building is having its biggest boom in history as one state after another decides on super-highways that pay their own way.

Toll express highways under construction or planned will stretch out 2,500 miles and will cost almost three billion dollars.

The newest pay road is Oklahoma's Turner Turnpike, which will open next Saturday. The $8 million dollar pike runs 88 miles between Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

The trend to toll roads has taken a spurt as states take notice of the solid financial success of the New Jersey Turnpike, in operation since November, 1951, and the spectacular record of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The Pennsylvania super-highway has been bringing in a fantastic yield since the end of gas rationing after the war.

New Jersey's turnpike surprised the experts by accommodating 18 million vehicles in 12 months, more than double the number predicted.

Many a motorist has expressed his willingness to pay a nominal fee. He saves time and miles by riding the turnpike, a big factor in making a long trip in a short time. Also, the gleaming strips of concrete are easier on the automobile, often eliminate sharp climbs and have low accident rates.

Opposition comes from truckers, who contend they pay enough in gasoline taxes and registration fees. The toll road, they argue, constitutes double taxation.

Truck fleets often shun turnpikes, because they feel this adds to the cost of haulage. Yet a trucker will use a pike in hilly country because the fuel saving often will offset the toll charge.

The longest of the toll highways, the 535-mile New York State Thruway, is expected to be completed late in 1954. The 500 million dollar highway will run from New York north to Albany and then to Buffalo.

A recent check showed half of the 44 state legislatures in session, including Texas, were confronted with toll highway proposals. Many states have formed turnpike authorities, turnpike commissions or study committees directed by legislatures to report on the advisability of toll-road construction.

Some major turnpike projects under consideration and their lengths include: 440 miles in Florida, 70 miles in Washington, 100 miles in Louisiana, 125 miles in North Carolina, and 250 miles in Wisconsin.

Teachers Will Meet Tuesday

The Howard County Teachers Association will hold its last meeting of the school year Tuesday evening; it was announced by W. A. Wilson, president.

The meeting will be held in the Big Spring High School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Dinner will be served, and cost will be $1.50 per plate.

Lenore Tummel, county superintendent of schools at Tahoka, will be the guest speaker. She will talk about operations of the United Nations. She visited the U. N. headquarters at New York in February.

Wilson said plans are being made for 75 people to attend. Teachers from all rural schools and independent districts at Knott, Coahoma and Forsan will be invited.

Award Is Made In Compensation Case

E. E. Baker was awarded $1,250 in 118th District Court Friday after he reached a compromise agreement with the Houston Fire and Casualty Insurance Company.

The award was made by Judge Charlie Sullivan. It was specified that $333.34 would go to Baker and $416.66 to the firm of Hooser and Hooser, his attorneys.

The award results from a compensation suit filed by Baker after an accident at the United Pipe Protection Company here on July 30, 1952.

Baker alleged that he was struck on the left leg by an eight-inch pipe which fell on him while he was working. The injury tore nerves and muscles in his back and leg, the petition alleged, causing arthritis.

Civilian Personnel Officer At Webb AFB Gets Award

Colonel Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., Commanding Officer of Webb Air Force Base has received notification of the approval of a superior accomplishment pay increase for Warren A. Farrow, WAFB Civilian Personnel Officer. The commendation and increase were given by order of Major General Gabriel P. Disoway, Commanding General of Flying Training Air Force.

The commendation stated in part: "Mr. Farrow has performed his duties in such a way as to reduce the need for supervisory checks and instructions below the minimum expected for superior performance. His complete trustworthiness and the superior supervision exercised by him have won the fullest confidence of his superiors. The Civilian Personnel Program, under his supervision and guidance, has met the needs of Webb Air Force Base and has been an important factor in the effective accomplishment of the primary mission. Mr. Farrow's overall performance of his duties, therefore, merits the use of the adjective "superior" in the fullest sense of the word."

Farrow became Civilian Personnel Officer at WAFB on December 9, 1951. He has served in that capacity since that date. Under his direction the number of civilian employees on the base has grown to 475. These employees now perform many vital tasks necessary to successful completion of the mission of the base.

A native of Lexington, Missouri, Farrow has been connected with the United States Air Force as a civilian employee since 1946.

An Army Air Corps veteran of four years service in World War II, he spent two years in the China-Burma-India Theater of Operations.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Green of San Angelo, Texas. They now make their home at 1506-A Wood Street in Big Spring.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines has saved more than 165 million tons of coal by controlling fires in inactive deposits, at a cost of less than a cent a ton.

Compromise Plan Taking Shape For Controversial Trade Bill

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—House members reported today a compromise plan is taking shape to modify sharply a bill for American industry.

They said the plan will eliminate or soften many of the bill's provisions opposed in testimony this week by six Eisenhower Cabinet members. But they predicted a House floor fight on a few points in the controversial measure.

The House Ways and Means Committee has been holding hearings on the bill for two weeks. Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), second in seniority among committee Republicans and a staunch supporter of the Simpson bill, predicted it will be modified "quite a bit." There is an area of compromise, he added, "which might be satisfactory to all concerned."

Other supporters of the bill indicated they are willing to make these concessions as bargaining points:

1. They would forego provisions in the bill making findings of the tariff commission mandatory on the President. Instead the President would keep his present power to continue old tariff rates, or fix new ones, even though these rates are found by the commission to be hurting American industry.

2. They would modify or drop far-reaching language in the bill defining the extent of injury to American industry which would justify tariff hikes or import quotas. Under the present law, "serious" injury must be proved to an entire industry. Relief has not been granted if only some segments are being hurt. Under the Simpson bill, even the slightest unemployment in a single plant could be taken as justification for more protection, even though the plant or the industry continues to make profits.
3. They will go along reluctantly with the administration's idea for a one-year special commission to study trade and foreign economic policy. In effect, basic changes in law on trade policy would be postponed one year.

In return for these concessions, supporters of the bill are counting on getting:

1. A clear understanding that in administering the present law, the new Republican regime will be "more sympathetic than the Democrats" in granting tariff protection.
2. Administration support, or at least acceptance, of a provision creating a seventh member of the tariff commission, in effect giving Republicans a 4-3 majority. Democrats are planning to charge that the GOP is "packing" the commission in favor of higher tariffs.
3. Administration support for provisions cutting in half the time for action on an industry complaint.

46 Claims Filed For Unemployment

Claims for unemployment compensation were filed by 46 persons during the week, according to Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Thirty persons were referred to employment during the week. Kinney said, and of these 26 were placed in jobs. Twenty-eight new applications for jobs were received during the period.

Office visits for the week, described as a light one, totaled 329.

Achievement Tests Slated Thursday

Eighth grade achievement tests for all rural school students will be given Thursday.

County Superintendent Walker Bailey said the exact time of the tests has not yet been determined. They will be given at a room in the Howard County Junior College.

Results of the tests will be averaged with each student's previous grades for the semester. Bailey said that all students must take the test.

Achievement tests in other grades are administered by individual teachers at their convenience, he said.

that it is being hurt by imports. Committee members predicted a compromise something along these lines would be included when the Simpson bill is reported out of the committee.

Ackerly Burglary Suspects Are Arrested In Lubbock

Three Negro men were arrested "by chance" in Lubbock early Saturday morning for burglarizing an Ackerly establishment before the owner even knew his place had been entered.

J. A. Hogg, operator of H. & H. Mercantile in Ackerly, received a phone call at 4:30 a.m. Saturday from Big Spring police asking if his business had been burglarized.

He checked and found from $150 to $200 worth of tools missing. Police informed him that the tools had been recovered at Lubbock when three Negroes were arrested.

The tools were in a box with the label "H. & H. Mercantile, Ackerly." Consequently Lubbock police radioed Big Spring police to see if the tools were stolen.

The Negroes had been stopped Saturday morning just before entering Lamesa going north. Officials suspected them of bootlegging. Not finding any liquor, the Negroes were told to go on their way.

Again in Lamesa they were stopped. This time authorities noticed the tools, but the Negroes said they were mechanics. The Negroes were told to go on once again.

However, Lamesa police got to worrying about the tools and radioed Lubbock to stop the Negroes when they came through. When Lubbock police arrested them, the label on the box was noticed.

Then the contact with Big Spring and Hogg followed. Hogg found that the back door of his establishment had been entered. It appeared that the lock had been broken with some type of metal bar.

Hogg said that the burglars took some of his wife's sewing equipment out of the box to make room for the tools. If they had taken the tools without the box, they might never have been caught, he said.

Building Costs For Dams Are Starting Down

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—The cost of building big multi-million dollar dams has started going down, the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee handling the Army Engineers' civil works program was told today.

Brig. Gen. C. H. Chorprenig, assistant chief of engineers for civil works, said the cost of such projects increased five per cent from July 1951 to July 1952, and three per cent more since that time.

Then he added: "The last several months, however, our bids have shown some trend downward. We hope that will continue."

He said that bids have become more competitive and closer to estimates.

Chorprenig said the Belton reservoir on the Leon River near Temple, Tex., is expected to be completed at a cost of $12,752,000. He said this is almost exactly five million dollars less than the expected cost when authorized by Congress.

The reduction in costs at Belton, he said, resulted from "very favorable bids" received from contractors, and in changes in plans for the relocation of highways which would be flooded when the reservoir basin is filled.

Reds' Revolt Bodes No Good For West

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

A revolt against Stalinism gains momentum daily in Moscow. But in the long run, it bodes no good for the West.

An obscure, one-paragraph dispatch from the Soviet capital, fitted in with other puzzling developments, leaves little doubt such a revolt is on. For the time being, it would cause the leadership to move cautiously and play for time. But if and when the revolt is complete, it can mean a sharp shift away from Stalin's guarded isolationism, ultimately toward a more active Soviet role in stimulating revolution abroad.

The revealing Moscow dispatch brought the information that the Order of the Red Banner of Labor was awarded Grigorii Ivanovich Petrovsky for his "services to the Soviet state." There was little point in recording this bit of incidental intelligence unless something lay behind it. Investigation showed there was something there.

Petrovsky appears to have returned from exile—an exile ordered by Stalin at the height of the mighty purges of the 1930s. Stalin was establishing himself then as supreme dictator.

Petrovsky was a close friend of Lenin, a revolutionary long before the 1917 upheaval in which Bolshevism seized power. He is now 78 years old, a real "Old Bolshevik."

At one time he was secret police chief of the central Soviet state, the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic.

In 1938, with the blood purge at its height, Pravda and Izvestia announced that Petrovsky had been fired from his Ukraine job. From that day until last Thursday, not a word was heard of him.

Petrovsky may have been among those freed by the amnesty declared by the government of Premier Georgii M. Malenkov shortly after it took over. He also may be one of many exiled by Stalin who are now returning. He was honored as an "Old Bolshevik" which in itself is significant, since Stalin all but wiped out the Old Bolsheviks in the purge.

But this item alone is not the basis for the assumption of the revolt against Stalin. It fits in with other evidence.

1. The Soviet press, forcing Russian literature and culture upon the 15 republics outside Russia proper, has listed Plekhanov's works among the new required reading. Plekhanov, teacher of Lenin and Marxist philosopher, once was ridiculed by Stalin as an "Old Bolshevik" who was remarkable only because he was old.

2. The Communist party bible, the magazine Kommunist, recently announced that the "restoration of the united world market" is desirable. Division of the world so half its markets cut off from the West was a boast of Stalin, who insisted it was deepening a capitalist world crisis. However, it had a damaging effect upon the Communist world and the Kommunist item is an open admission that what Stalin accomplished in this respect was wrong.

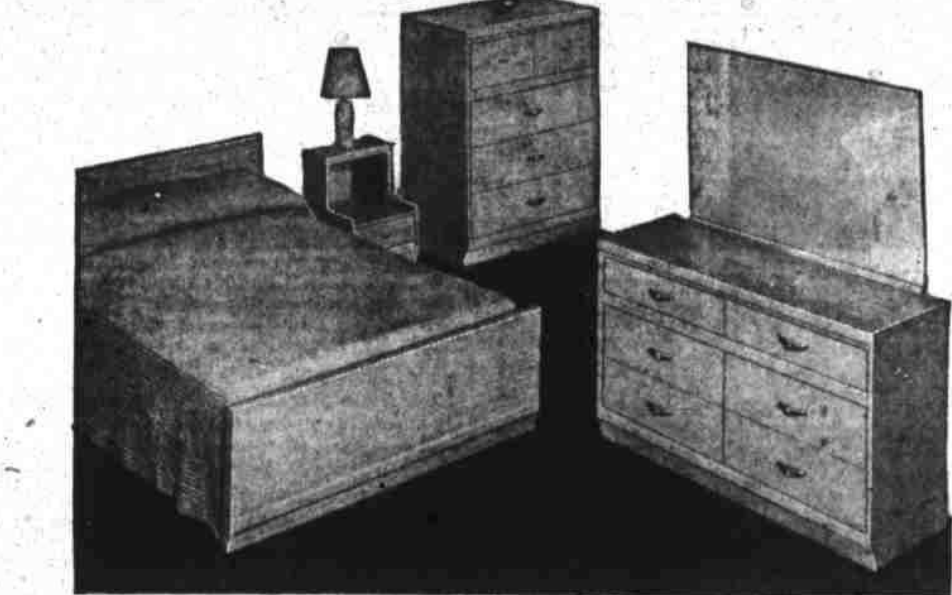

3. The return to "democratic

Theft Of Rings Reported Here

An $800 set of wedding and engagement rings topped the list of items stolen here recently and reported to police Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. S. J. Harmonson, 900 E. 3rd, reported theft of the diamond contents of a purse which was taken from a car parked at the Round Top Cafe. Also stolen was $50 in cash.

H. O. Jackson, Snyder, reported theft of $80 worth of piano tuning tools from his car while the machine was parked at the rear of the Douglass Hotel Thursday night.

Dean Skinner, 1104 Stanford, Saturday told police of the theft of 75 feet of water hose from his place. The plastic hose was in two sections, one 25 feet long and the other 50.

Thieves also stole $120 in change from the Crittenden Service Station, 100 Main, Friday night. The business place was entered by way of a window.

H. A. Carr lost a pair of fender skirts from his 1948 Mercury. He reported the accessories were stolen while the car was parked at 605 Main Friday night.

Stolen from a car in the Douglass parking lot was a green tool box containing a drill and bits, hammer, spot light and 100 feet of extension. The car belonged to E. F. Barnett of Dallas.

Woman Seeking 'Papoose Board'

Anybody that has a "genuine papoose board" kicking around the house is requested to get in touch with Mrs. P. H. Lyman at Big Alum Lake.

Mrs. Lyman writes the Chamber of Commerce she wants one of the things so she can carry her baby on walks in the woods and up the mountains around Fiskdale, Mass.

Mrs. Lyman's 13-year-old son, who was born in Houston, also has a request. He wants to correspond with some 13-year-old Big Springer. He specified a boy, but probably wouldn't be averse to writing a local girl.

The Lymans moved to Massachusetts from Houston when the son (name not given) was a year old. He reckons now he'd like to learn something about his native state and that Big Spring might be a typical town.

Apparently the Lyman boys (there's four of them) have everything a young man could desire, except a correspondent. Mrs. Lyman writes that they live on a fresh water lake, have skating, ice fishing and tobogganing in the winter, and fishing, swimming and sailing in the summer.

If you have a papoose board for sale or wish to correspond with the son, their address is: Lyman Lodge, Big Alum Lake, Fiskdale, Mass.

Little Damage In Truck Collision

Little damage and no injuries resulted from a mishap involving a gasoline truck and a pickup in downtown Big Spring Saturday.

The accident occurred in the 100 block of West Third. A pickup driven by Loren Joseph McPherson, 415 Sunset, was in collision with a gas truck operated by Thurman M. Wagon, Odessa, police said.

Two other minor traffic mishaps were reported in the city Saturday, with no one being injured.

Police said L. W. Pearce, 202 N. Nolan, and K. G. Smith, 208 NE 3rd, were drivers of cars which collided at N. Johnson and Second. A mishap at West Third and Presidio involved cars operated by R. L. Baker, 217 Elm, and C. L. Bradford, Rankin.

An accident in the 600 block of State Friday evening involved a pickup driven by James T. Rogers, 410 Abstin, and a car operated by Danna Jean Weaver, Austin, officers reported.

England's Laborites Claim Big Victories

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH
LONDON, May 9 (AP)—Laborites chalked up big gains in this week's local elections, but both sides claimed today their popularity has increased.

Jubilant Laborites took more than 350 Conservative seats in voting for nearly 3,000 places on town and borough councils throughout Britain.

Labor said the outcome showed public dislike of the Conservative government. Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives pointed out they polled more votes than the Laborites, and said the swing really was toward the government.

Independents, Liberals and Communists all showed net losses.

Neutral observers, without minimizing the Labor gains within the local councils, doubted whether these elections were any accurate guide to how Britain would vote now if House of Commons seats were at stake. Many editorial writers were frankly puzzled.

The Liberal News Chronicle said: "Taken at their face value, the figures show that the Labor party has regained some, though by no means all, of the ground it lost in recent comparable elections . . . But only a month ago the Gallup Poll showed that the Tories were well ahead in public favor."

The Labor Daily Herald claimed the election showed public dissatisfaction with the Conservative budget.

"The mass of the people were not fooled," it said. "What kind of government is it which makes education and the health service the first victims of economy?"

Observers with no political axes to grind were doubtful whether the local elections were any guide at all to the way Britons would vote in national elections.

Conservatives swept ahead in the 1950 local elections—but lost the next national election some months later.

However, arguments can't alter the fact that up and down the length of Britain, for at least the next 12 months, Laborites will have a bigger say in the way local councils spend money on schools, police, drainage and all other branches of administration.

Jones, Blum Acquire Store

J. D. Jones and Joe Blum Saturday announced the purchase of Nathan's Jewelers, 221 Main.

Effective Monday, the business will be known as Lynn's Jewelers and will open with a completely new stock of nationally advertised brands of merchandise, Blum said.

Blum has been manager of Nathan's for the past few weeks, having returned to Big Spring recently from Dallas where he was associated with Shaw Jewelry Company. He also was manager of Shaw's in Big Spring from 1942 to 1950, when he moved to Dallas in a similar capacity. He has been in the jewelry field for 20 years.

Assisting with operation of the new store will be Mrs. Blum, who is equipped with 20 years of experience in the jewelry business and as a consultant on bridal showers.

J. T. Grantham will continue to have complete charge of the watch repair department at Lynn's. A licensed watchmaker, he has resided in Big Spring for the past 10 years.

The Jones and Blum partnership grew out of many years of friendship between the two couples.

Lynn's will stock such well-known brands of merchandise as Bulova, Elgin, Gruen, Hamilton, and Mido watches; 1847 Rogers and Community plate silverware; Gorham, Heirloom and International sterling; Franciscan pottery, and Ronson and Zippo lighters. Diamonds will be imported directly from Antwerp, Belgium, with lifetime guarantee.

Costume jewelry also will be featured, with items bearing the Trifari, Coro and Zsada's trademarks, among others.

Sexy Book Bill Due In House

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—A Senate-passed bill to outlaw sexy book covers is up for House committee study next week.

It is one of 14 bills on the dwindling public hearing dockets of committees for the week.

The bill proposes a fine up to $1,000 or three to six months in jail or both for anyone, wholesaler or retailer, offering for sale books with cover pictures of "nude and partly nude women in compromising and suggestive poses."

The hearing will be before the House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

In the Senate, committee hearing was to resume on the House-passed bill to redistrict the state's courts to catch up with population shifts.

Districts in the Panhandle, West Texas and North Texas are to be heard Monday at 1:30 p.m. Controversy-loaded South Texas districts will be heard Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Hearings on public districts in East and Central Texas were held this week. The only recommended adjustments in the House proposal were in East Central Texas.

To The Taxpayers Of Glasscock County

In regard to the proposed $50,000 bond issue that is to be voted on the 19th of May, we thought that it might be well to explain it so that it might be correctly understood.

This to clarify the notice that we published last week, the equipment that we aim to pay for is motor graders that were already bought on credit, and not any more maintainers; maintenance of county roads such as the Spraberry roads, and construction of caliche roads in other parts of the county.

At present we put 45c of the county tax rate in the Road and Bridge Fund. We propose to put 7c of the 45c in the Sinking Fund to retire the bonds.

The bonds will be 10 year bonds with a five year option, which means that the bonds can be paid off at the end of five years without being penalized.

When the bonds are voted, this will be a painless solution of the financial obligations, and operation of Glasscock County, in that the present property valuations, will remain the same as at present, and the present Tax Rate will remain the same also.

Warning Issued On Paper Tags For Used Cars

A warning was issued Saturday to local automobile dealers that laws will be strictly enforced which require second hand cars to be licensed at time of sale.

The warning came from Chief Deputy Sheriff Dale Lane. He said the sheriff's office is fixing to "crack down" on dealers placing paper tags on second hand autos which are sold.

Lane cited Penal Code 1434 for his authority. The law requires that second hand vehicles be registered (licensed) before sale.

"Unless the dealer issues license receipt and certificate of title to the buyer at time of sale, he is subject to fine up to $200," Lane said.

However, Lane pointed out that paper tags can be placed on new cars when they are sold. "The paper tags are to enable the buyer to transport the new car to his home before obtaining license," he said.

"Paper tags would give a man from Big Spring who purchases a new car in Abilene the opportunity to bring the car back home before buying license tags."

"New cars just naturally don't have license plates before they are sold," Lane said. "But second hand cars have to be registered and should have the plates on at time of sale."

Quite a few second hand cars have been spotted about the city with paper tags on them, Lane said. Drivers, when questioned, state that the dealer put them on. This is against the law, Lane said.

A dealer can only demonstrate cars under a dealer's license. It was explained. Such a license is obtained by the dealer for demonstration purposes alone and cannot be used by a person purchasing the car.

Harvest Prospects Poor Over Heaviest Wheat Growing Area

By The Associated Press
Wheat prospects range from poor to "pretty tragic" in Texas' main growing areas.

Farmers in the Northwest Texas counties around Wichita Falls said Saturday only half of the wheat planted can be harvested. Except for a few healthy spots, wheat stands are poor and some are dead.

But State Agriculture Commissioner John White asserted the situation there is "pretty good" in comparison to the "pretty tragic" prospects facing farmers in the Panhandle, where most Texas wheat is grown.

The reason: "Drought—nothing but drought," said White.

Frank White of Edrus Mills told Panhandle grain and feed dealers last week that "failure" is the only word for the crop in that section.

White said the U. S. Agriculture Department estimate in early April was that Texas would produce 30 1/2 million bushels, but since then a lot of fields have been plowed under or had cattle turned in to graze on them.

He said the most optimistic estimate now would be a 25-million bushel crop, but he'd bet on 22 million and has heard reliable grain men guess as low as 18 million would be right.

If production should drop below 18 million bushels it would be the lowest since 1935, when the crop totaled 11 1/2 million bushels.

Until 1951, Texas' 10-year average wheat production was 60 million bushels annually. In 1951, the crop dropped to 18 million. Last year it was 35 million.

White said he considers conditions around Childress, Vernon, Crowell and Wichita Falls the most hopeful.

Experts in the Wichita Falls area agreed there are some good stands along the Red River north of Electra and in Wichita, Wilbarger, and Knox Counties. Spots where local showers have been good will yield up to 20 bushels an acre, they said.

The estimated yield for the 10-county area now is 250,000 bushels. A normal yield in a good year is at least a million bushels.

The first wheat in this area already is in, but general harvesting won't begin until the first week in June.

Wheat got off to a good start in the Wichita Falls area, the best in years, but drought, wind and dust knocked out many fields.

In the Panhandle and South Plains, the harvest is expected to be the worst in three successive bad years. The best yields probably will be from about 100,000 irrigated acres, mostly in the South Plains.

Until a month ago, wheat in the Northeastern Panhandle was in fairly good shape, but root systems were shallow and the continued drought caused plants to drop.

There is a little insect infestation and not much wheat left for the bugs to eat.

About three million acres were planted in wheat last fall. Much already has been plowed up by farmers who hope rain will come in time to give them a chance to raise a grain sorghums crop.

Water Consumption Here Remains High

Big Spring water consumption Friday exceeded 4,000,000 gallons for the second consecutive day.

Mounting temperatures are expected to keep average daily consumption well above 4,000,000 during the next few months.

Deserted Child's Hearing On May 29

Hearing in the case of 10-year-old Ernestine LaVerne O'Brien, who was deserted here last Sunday, will be held Friday, May 29.

Judge Charlie Sullivan, who presides over 118th District Court, set the hearing date Saturday. He appointed Juvenile Officer A. E. Long to represent the little girl.

The hearing will determine whether or not she will be declared a dependent and neglected child. County Attorney Hartman Hooser, who filed the petition, is also asking that the parental rights of her mother and father be terminated.

According to the petition, Ernestine is the daughter of Thomas O'Brien and Ernestine O'Brien, residents of Kentucky. Her father and mother were divorced when she was two weeks old.

It is alleged that her mother is financially unable to care for the child, and that her father has not been contributing to her support.

Ernestine has been living with her sister and brother-in-law, Nancy and Clarence Strickley, here.

However, she was deserted last Sunday and has since been living with Mr. and Mrs. James D. Farmer of Big Spring.

Hooser stated that Ernestine will be made a ward of the court if she is declared dependent and neglected. This will open up possibilities of adoption.

Long stated that he has received "hundreds" of calls in regards to adoption of the little girl.

Shortage Of Brainpower Is Reported

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower and a National Council on Scientific Manpower will meet in Washington May 18 to discuss a report declaring there are "serious shortages of brainpower involving danger to national security and social progress."

Plans for the session were announced by a White House aide here today as the President spent a vacation week end with his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College.

The manpower council is a citizens survey group organized at Columbia University's Graduate School of Business in April 1951 while the Chief Executive was President of the university.

The council was set up to formulate a policy for professional and scientific manpower. The Ford Foundation granted funds for what Eisenhower then called "a continuing appraisal of America's manpower resources in a period of enduring emergency."

"Divorce granted," said Judge Roberts.

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Remember Carl Sandburg's poem "Grass"?

If you don't you can find it in any good book of American verse. Here is the new West Texas version of it for comparison with the original:

Pile your errors of the plow high at Big Spring and at Lamessa and at Stanton. Shovel them under and let me work—

I am the sand, I cover all. And pile them high at Midland and pile them high at Colorado and Tahoka. Shovel them under and let me work.

Two years, ten years, and passengers ask the T&P conductor:

What place is this? Where are we now? Was this Big Spring?

I am the sand. Let me work.

Grady Lane of the Soil Conservation Service and your Grub Line Rider have traveled many miles this week looking over the damage caused by the big non-political blow, and in making a photographic record of it. From time to time we hope to print several of these pictures in the Herald.

But the real story can't be told in flat photographs in black and white. Nor can the real damage be easily seen while riding along the roads at a pretty fair clip. A person has to get out into the fields to see the real story of what has happened.

Blowing is pretty bad when it literally blows post holes right out of the ground, and yet that has happened pretty generally over the entire area. And this isn't any joke. We have the pictures to prove it. Post holes have actually been blown out of the ground. By this we mean not only have the holes been blown out from around those parts of countless fence posts in the ground, but in some cases after the posts have fallen over they have been covered up with sand.

We found telephone and electric poles with two feet or more of dirt blown from around them. On the Snyder Road we found a sand-blasted but otherwise perfectly preserved right-of-way stake that was set when the road was built. This stake was long ago covered up with sand, and then uncovered by the recent blowing. In the interim there hadn't been enough moisture at that point to cause the least bit of deterioration.

In one field, many times cultivated, we found a rusted pair of pliers that must have been lost at least eight or nine years; that had sifted down to the hard pan and that was revealed when all the top soil blew off. In another we found an old jack knife in about the same condition. In another field we found bird shot on top of the hard pan. Through years of cultivation the shot had sifted down through the top soil to come to rest on this hardpan. Winds that moved all the top soil off left the bird shot exposed.

The tragic part is that these weren't isolated or unusual conditions. They are general symptoms of soil sickness over the area.

But one discovery had us stuck. In one pile we found about a dozen whiskey or wine bottles that the winds had uncovered. They were filled with sand and had probably been buried, where discarded beside the road, for several years. Apparently they were as perfectly sand-blasted as glass can ever get to be, and this was an attractive appearance. We thought they'd be right pretty with ivy growing in them, but we left them where we found them.

Neither of us being well enough acquainted with whiskey or wine bottles to know whether they'd been originally made that way or had been blasted by West Texas sand and wind, we didn't bring them in.

"I don't know anybody on the Herald staff well enough acquainted with bottles to tell us," I confided to Grady.

"And I don't know anybody in the Soil Conservation Service who knows anything about liquor bottles," Grady answered.

But we still think those bottles were mighty pretty and I'll bet there are some ladies who would like to have them for ivy or other house plants. They had a real antique finish.

Why didn't we pick those bottles up and bring them in?

That's a perfectly natural question, and we have an explanation. If we had picked up everything unusual that we saw that had been uncovered by the sand we would have been loaded down in no time at all. In fact, we could have made up quite a lot of mesquite stumps and roots sand-blasted into all sorts of unusual shapes and patterns.

You can't find so many of these things driving along the highways at 60 miles an hour but you can sure find them in the old fields.

This is an overall situation that will be discussed in detail and at length in the soil and water conservation meeting that will be held at the Settles Hotel, next Thursday afternoon, starting at 1:30, and to which all business people of this area are invited. Maybe these business people don't realize just how vital conservation is to the drug business, the hardware business, the clothing business, the beauty shops, the cafes, the automobile industry—and all other commercial and industrial activities.

The meeting next Thursday may bring these facts home to them. The business people of West Texas have as vital an interest in conservation as the man who has title to the land.

We stopped in at Jack McKinnon's store at Elbow for a cooling drink a few days ago.

There's been some blowing around Elbow, just as there has been everywhere else, but in spite of this Jack says he believes garden seed is selling better this year than for a long time. He bases his observation, he says, on the fact that he visited other stores selling seed, too, and it looks like the sale has been unusually good in them all.

Now Jack didn't say the rest of this but maybe it works out this way: The people figure that if the drought and blowing won't let them grow enough cotton to buy something to eat they can at least get enough moisture (perhaps out of a well) to grow something to eat.

A meeting to discuss proposed modifications of, and amendments to the federal milk marketing order has been scheduled to be held at the Windsor Hotel in Abilene on May 25.

The order which became effective the first of last December when requested by more than two-thirds of the dairymen in this 26-county West Texas area, fixes the minimum price the plants must pay the producer for milk. The plants opposed the order in the beginning and have vigorously sought its outright repeal or emasculating amendment. A few dairymen have also expressed themselves as being against it. The majority of the dairymen, however, appear to favor continuing it for at least one year to see how it works out.

It is anticipated that all sorts of proposals to modify or amend it will be offered at the Abilene conference at which all producers, plant representatives, consumers and business people have the right to appear and be heard.

The producers say this order gives them the first opportunity they have ever had to actually know how their milk weighs out and to see the results of the tests for butterfat content and bacteria count. All weighing and testing is now under federal observation and supervision and the records are available to the dairymen.

Mr. C. E. Crow, custodian of the Martin County Courthouse is going to become the best "jacks" player in Stanton—if the game can be learned by observation, that is. Since last fall the Stanton School has been undergoing a remodeling and new construction program. Consequently all this school year many of the grade school classes have been scattered all over town, and some of these have been in the Courthouse.

Now the "jacks" season has hit the kids and in going about his duties Mr. Crow is hardly ever out of sight of a good hot game unless classes are being held.

A. H. Walker, range specialist at Texas A&M College, was in Martin County Saturday for a meeting with County Agent Ray Hastings and the Martin County 4-H Club's grass judging team. While there Walker gave the team some good advice and also consulted with Hastings on range problems brought about by the drought and bad blowing.

Members of the team are Bobby Carlisle, Jugy Britton, Malcolm Tunnell and Gordon Stoffe Jr. This team recently won second place in the district contest held at Alpine, and will go to the state contests at A&M next month. Hastings also hopes to have a rifle team organized and shooting top scores before too long.

The Martin County agricultural agent says he doesn't see how the blowing could have been any worse over there.

The king snake, a constrictor, is immune to the venom of many poisonous snakes, says the National Geographic Society.

Personnel Being Lined Up For City Program

Supervisory personnel are being lined up for the summer recreation program being sponsored by local service organizations, schools and city. Grover Good, YMCA secretary, reported Saturday.

Good said supervisors for the program probably will be announced early this week. A special account also will be established this week for the pooling of funds contributed by the various groups supporting the program. Some of the pledges already have been turned over to the YMCA director, and the remainder is expected within the next few days. A total of $3,150 has been pledged, leaving the fund $100 short of the estimated $3,250 needed to finance the program through June and July.

Pledging support have been the city, school district, YMCA, American Business, Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Recreation program will be centered around school grounds, gymnasiums, city park and swimming pool and other facilities in all sections of the city.

The YMCA director has been named coordinator for the program by the Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Committee and a special guidance group set up after Good and the Chamber jointly sponsored a drive for the city-wide youth project.

Municipal Begging Becomes Prevalent

EL PASO, May 9 (AP)—Municipal begging appears to be increasing. Smaller towns, unable to finance improvements from local revenues, have begun passing the hat among the nation's mayors, using different approaches to getting something for nothing.

Several such requests have been received by Mayor Fred Hervey. Recently an Ohio city asked for $1 from each mayor to help build a swimming pool. Hervey sent his contribution and received a note acknowledging the gift, but pointing with regret to the fact that America's mayors on the whole are something less than generous.

The latest request received by the mayor is for funds to build a swimming pool, this time at Chesaning, Mich., which is "50 miles from any lake or bay."

The letter asked for a wrapped gift which could be auctioned off on May 22 as a part of the fund-raising drive.

Measles Become Widespread Here

Measles became more widespread in Big Spring and Howard County during the past week with local physicians diagnosing 51 cases of the disease.

Eleven other communicable diseases, accounting for 82 additional infections, were listed on the weekly report of the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit Saturday. Other diseases and the number of cases of each reported were: whooping cough, 15; mumps, 10; tonsillitis, seven; gastroenteritis, six; gonorrhea, one; pneumonia, six; pharyngitis, two; bronchitis, seven; diarrhea, nine; chicken pox, six; and strep throat, four cases.

Debt Suit Filed In County Court

Dave Carter filed a $670.28 suit for debt in Howard County Court against E. J. and Joe Grifford Saturday.

Carter, operator of a local service station, alleges the money is due because of merchandise sold and services rendered. The Griffords are partners in a trucking and hauling business.

Tom Adams is attorney for Carter.

Tuberculosis Group Plans To Reorganize

Reorganization of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association is the objective of a meeting called for Thursday evening.

Representatives from the state association are due here to assist in efforts to broaden the base for the association. Mrs. W. N. Norred has consented to serve as temporary chairman of the meeting set for 7:30 o'clock in the high school library.

"Anyone who is interested in the work being done to combat tuberculosis is invited to participate," said Zolite Mae Rawlins, executive secretary. "Anyone who bought Christmas seals or made a contribution is regarded as a member."

Various organizations have been asked to send representatives to the party.

Reorganization is not being undertaken because of financial or program difficulties.

"It is simply that we have dwindled to a small board, with only a few individuals out of the number, attempting to carry on the work," explained Mrs. Rawlins.

State association officials have suggested the reorganization step in an attempt to enlist a much larger number of people concerned in this health problem.

Last year the association sponsored its most successful mass X-ray campaign to date. The Modern Women's Forum shaped up a successful Christmas seal sale. But for inability to secure patches, the usual tuberculin tests would have been carried on in schools.

The local chapter started the year with a balance of $1,932, added $1,393 through seal sales and $47.50 through miscellaneous sources, showing $3,373 resources for the year.

Disbursements amounted to $690 for the year. Against the seal sale totals, there were expenses of $401 in this area of endeavor. Follow-up X-rays accounted for $27, administration $240, and $18.50 miscellaneous expense in connection with the mass X-ray survey. Current balance of the association is $2,682.12, thus the revitalized organization will be far from defunct.

Passport Found In Time To Board Ill-Fated Airplane

NEW DELHI, India, May 9 (AP)—U. S. Embassy officials revealed today the tragic story of a young American schoolteacher who found her misplaced passport in time to board an airliner which crashed minutes later, killing all 13 passengers and crew.

By catching the flight early today, Miss Pauline Lehman, 26, of Mountain Lake, Minn., joined in death two teacher companions with whom she planned to share the joys of a round-the-world tour. Her friends—Miss Jean S. Cohen of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Anita Whistler of Berkeley, Calif.—were among 43 killed in the crash of a British jet Comet near Calcutta a week ago.

An engine on the plane Miss Lehman boarded caught fire just after the Air India C47 transport took off early today for Bombay. The pilot attempted to return to New Delhi's Palam Airport, but the two-engine craft crashed in flames at the edge of an Indian bamboo hut village.

Among the 13 passengers was a second American—Ramchand Watumull, 40, of Honolulu, an Indian-born member of a wealthy Hawaiian family.

The three schoolteachers had completed exchange teaching assignments in Rangoon, Burma, and made extensive plans for their world tour. Miss Lehman started out alone on a trip around India and was scheduled to meet Miss Cohen and Miss Whistler here last Saturday.

As she waited in a hotel lobby a travel agent broke the news that Miss Cohen and Miss Whistler had been killed in the crash of the jet airliner.

Other exchange teachers here said Miss Lehman lost her heart in sightseeing and booked air passage for home via Bombay and Cairo.

Sabres Down Two Red Jets

Secul, Sunday, May 10 (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets carried the brunt of the air war Saturday in their dual role as fighters and bombers, destroying two Red jets and touching off raging fires at two Communist troop-supply centers.

Ground fighting was small in scale but frequent, particularly along the Central and Western sectors.

The Eighth Army reported 19 clashes along the line—11 of them thrusts by the Communists. It said "contacts showed a marked increase" as patrols bumped into each other in no man's land.

The Air Force said 72 Sabre divebombers swarmed out in record sorties Saturday over the Western Front. A total of 36 hit and blasted into flaming ruin 45 buildings in a troop concentration a few miles southwest of Kaesong, near the mouth of the Yesong River.

In an afternoon strike 36 more Sabres dive-bombed a Red fuel and supply area at Sariwon, dropping 75 tons of explosives.

Stuck With It

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Democratic senators will open their first concerted attack on one of President Eisenhower's legislative requests this coming week.

They will lead a drive to kill the President's plan for reorganizing the Department of Agriculture and its far-flung farm programs.

Public hearings on a motion to reject the plan will open Tuesday before the Senate Government Operations Committee, with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), presiding.

Leadoff opposition witnesses will be Democratic Senators Russell of Georgia, Johnston of South Carolina and Murray of Montana.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas also has indicated that he will be in the opposition camp.

Even before the battle gets underway, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said that chances for the plan "right now are not good."

Secretary of Agriculture Benson already has reshuffled some functions and agencies within his department but the pending plan would give him much broader authority and two additional assistant secretaries.

Key argument by the Democrats probably will be that Congress, then under Democratic control, killed a similar request by former President Truman.

"I want to be consistent on these matters," Sen. Johnston said. "I believe Congress is certain this is too much arbitrary power to give any secretary of agriculture, no matter how much we trust the individual."

Red Cross First Aid Class To Start At HCJC June 2

A Red Cross first aid course, open to any adult, has been scheduled to start June 2 at the Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

Otto Peters Sr. will head up a staff of instructors for the standard course which will be spread over a period of one month.

Reservations for the course may be made by telephoning Mrs. Moore Sawtelle, executive secretary of the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter at No. 256. She will, of course, welcome personal or mail inquiries or enrollments.

"We hope as many who can will plan to take part," said F. G. L. Snow, chapter first aid and accident prevention chairman. "We would like to hold to 60 in the class, and if you do enroll, try to attend all sessions so you won't be depriving someone else, who might otherwise have registered, of an opportunity to qualify as a first aider."

While the initial session will be held June 2 at 7 p.m., regular class sessions will be on Monday and Thursday evenings. Class dates, said Snow, will be June 2-11-15-18-22-25-29 and July 2. Upon completion of the 20-hour course, certificates for the standard course will be issued.

Information on Big Spring and its history will be given. The program will be aired over Station KRLD from 9:30 to 10 p.m. Sunday, May 17.

Radio Program To Salute Big Spring

Big Spring will be featured on a Dallas radio program next Sunday evening.

KRLD Salutes, a 30-minute broadcast, will call attention to the city. Included on the program will be a two-minute recorded talk by Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Chamber of Commerce president.

Information on Big Spring and its history will be given. The program will be aired over Station KRLD from 9:30 to 10 p.m. Sunday, May 17.

Suit Filed For Debt

The First National Bank filed a suit in Howard County Court today against Raymond Plumlee for collection of debt.

The bank alleges that Plumlee owes $204.33 on a promissory note issued Dec. 2, 1952.

The bank is asking that a lien on a 1951 Buick be foreclosed and debt paid. Walter S. Morrison is attorney for the bank.

THE WEEK

here Thursday, with the Chamber of Commerce, West Texas Conservation of Commerce and Soil Conservation Service cooperating, could be a vitally important one. Events of the past two weeks have shown they certainly have a subject of prime importance.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile is returning here May 25-26 for 300 pints from civilian donors and May 28-29 for military donors. Surely, we can find one out of every 100 people who will give blood to our fighting men.

Howard County Junior College threw its survey mechanism into gear last week with a meeting of a general committee. Those attending — and they represented most areas of community life — were asked to make inquiry and be prepared to recommend specifically how they felt the institution could better serve those in this vicinity. We have a good college and it can and should be made to serve many more people.

The Foodhandlers' course got good response last week with around 275 enrolling and 225 qualifying for certificates. These courses make for better, safer and more courteous service.

Thursday evening the Seniors and 1953 Steers will tangle in the grand finale of the spring football practice season. Reports from Steer Stadium are enough to warm the cockles of fans' hearts. Thursday night should give a preview of what may be coming up next autumn.

Judge R. H. Weaver last week reported that arrangements appeared complete for a road around the upper end of the CRMWD lake. This will serve a useful and increasingly popular demand. We understand that perhaps that right-of-way is available in Mitchell and Scurry Counties for a road that would lead off the Big Spring-Snyder highway directly to the dam. This would make a good project for those counties to consider.

The high school Parent-Teachers Association gave up the ghost last week. A small group has been trying valiantly in recent years to stimulate wider interest, but to no avail. By the time their children reach high school, most parents are about PTAed out.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd was searching Saturday night for his Dalmatian dog, which was missing near the business district. Dr. Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, said the dog strayed from the church grounds late Saturday.

"We are particularly anxious to find her, because she has six pups at home," he said.

Stones Mark Place For Child's Grave

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla., May 9 (AP)—Two small coral rocks just far enough apart for a child's coffin marked out a place in lonely Anclote Cemetery today for the buried body of tiny Kathy Tongay, 5-year-old aquatut who died in Miami.

Huaky Russell Tongay and his school-teacher wife, parents of the little swimmer, remained in seclusion and there was still no word as to when funeral services would be held.

Tongay was free in $5,000 bond after surrendering to Miami police Friday on a warrant charging second degree murder. He denied he had ever beaten Kathy and insisted she was injured while diving from a 33-foot springboard. She died in convulsions Wednesday.

The Tongays and their only living child, Bubba, 7, another swimmer prodigy, were staying in a trailer they brought from Miami at the home of Mrs. Tongay's mother, Mrs. R. S. Meyer, in Anclote, two miles from this Florida West Coast sponge fishing town.

It was in Anclote that Mrs. Tongay was born. It was there that the Tongays first child, Russell Jr., was buried.

Mrs. Helen Hennig, publisher of the Tarpon Springs Leader, went to Anclote Cemetery and saw the two coral rocks beside the grave of Russell Jr., who died in 1945 of a head injury when only 18 months old.

Two Tarpon Springs florists in this picturesque Gulf Coast town reported they were swamped with orders for funeral flowers from all over the United States.

The Vinson Funeral Home, in charge of arrangements, said they had been instructed not to open Kathy's coffin but had received no word about funeral plans.

Mrs. Tongay said in Miami Friday that they were driving to Tarpon Springs "to bury Kathy. We need to be alone to sit and think this thing out. We may be there for some time. My mother is very ill."

She made the statement shortly before her husband was booked on the second degree murder charge. A hearing has now been set for 2 p.m., EST, June 18 before Peace Justice Edwin Lee Mason.

Stop Signs Get Most Violators

Most of the traffic fines assessed in city court during the week resulted from stop sign violations.

Thirteen drivers were issued tickets for running stop signs and each was fined $10.

Two motorists were fined $15 each for speeding, and one fine of $25 was assessed for driving without license.

One driver ran a red light and was fined $5. Parking in a prohibited zone cost another $3, and two fines of $3 were levied for prohibited turns. Another $25 fine resulted from a charge of failure to yield right-of-way.

Drunkness fines amounted to $332. They were assessed against 17 persons.

Transferred from city to County Court were three persons charged with driving while intoxicated, one accused of aggravated assault, one charged with attempt to murder, two charged with sodomy, and one for failure to yield right-of-way.

Dust Howling In West Texas; Cool Spell Due

By The Associated Press
Howling duststorms with winds up to 40 miles whipped the Panhandle and Far West Texas late Saturday while the rest of the state basked in sunny weather.

In the adjoining and nearby states of New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma, sudden temperature drops of 15 to 20 degrees accompanied the dust storms but in Texas the mercury remained in the high 80's at the windswept points.

Amarillo late Saturday afternoon had its visibility reduced to one mile with wind gusts to 47 miles per hour, Lubbock had two-mile visibility and winds to 40 m.p.h. In far West Texas, El Paso had wind gusts to 50 miles per hour and visibility reduced to one mile. Similar weather was reported at Salt-Flat.

In most of West Texas and North Central Texas, skies were virtually clear with only scattered clouds. The South Central Texas area was partly cloudy while clouds blanketed the Gulf Coast cities. Winds up to 35 m.p.h. were reported in these sectors.

There was no rainfall reported. Temperatures ranged from a 79 at Galveston to 97 at Wink, Abilene, Big Spring, Childress, Midland, Laredo and Del Rio were among cities reporting readings in the 90's.

Increasing cloudiness and widely scattered thundershowers have been forecast for the state Sunday. Cooler weather was predicted in West Texas and the Panhandle.

Next, take a good long look at its distinctive styling and its luxurious color-matched interiors.
Consider, also, Pontiac's reputation for unsurpassed dependability, long-range economy and high resale value.
Finally, compare its low price—so low, in fact, that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac. Why not come in and see for yourself?

Damages Asked As Aftermath To Fatal Crash

STANTON (SC) — A suit seeking $241,750 in actual, punitive and exemplary damages, growing out of a fatal traffic accident, has been filed in the office of Mrs. Doris Stephenson, district clerk.

The plaintiff is Mrs. Louis Allen Burris, widow of one of three persons killed in the collision of her husband's car and a truck at the intersection of the Stanton-Lamesa road and the Big Spring-Andrews road in Martin County on March 17. Mrs. Burris, a bride of three months, was visiting her family in Lamesa, and her husband was on his way there at the time of the collision, which occurred about 8:15 p.m.

The other two victims of the wreck were Mrs. Minnie Lee Cantrell, wife of James Cantrell, a member of the Midland Fire Department, and the Cantrell's four-year-old daughter, Joyce Ann. The only survivor among the four passengers in the Burris car was an 18-month-old daughter of the Cantrell's.

Named as defendant in the action is the Zephyr Drilling Co., an Oklahoma corporation, owner of the truck driven by Lee Odell, who was fined $500 in a criminal action in the Martin County Court on April 29. The criminal action was based on the same set of circumstances as the civil suit filed by Mrs. Burris.

The petition, filed by Bob Huff, a Lubbock attorney, asks $1,000 compensation for funeral expenses; $750 for a suitable grave marker; $100,000 actual damages growing out of the loss of her husband, and $100,000 in punitive and exemplary damages.

During the week, Mrs. Stephenson said, Judge Charlie Sullivan of Big Spring was here to name a jury commission, the members of which are James N. Biggs, Truitt H. Holder and Alton Turner.

The next term of the Martin District Court is set for June 1.

225 Persons Are Awarded Certificates

Certificates were issued Friday to 225 persons who successfully completed the annual Foodhandlers School conducted here by the State Health Department and the local health unit.

Eighty-seven food dispensing establishments were represented by the foodhandlers receiving certificates, Lige Fox, city-county sanitarian, reported. In addition, 11 professional foodhandlers now unemployed graduated from the school. Managers of 42 places also attended.

Fox said the school was the most successful since he has been associated with the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit, a three-year period. He expressed appreciation for cooperation of operators of food serving establishments and for attentiveness of trainees.

The number of certificates presented was the largest since 1946, first year a foodhandlers school was held, when some 900 completed the course.

Represented by the 1953 enrollment were 54 cafes, nine drug stores, one bakery, two hamburger stands, two barbecue stands, five grocery stores, three hospitals, two coffee shops, one packing house, two drive-in theatres, one snow cone stand and five school cafeterias.

West Reich Trying To Reduce Oat Crop

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's agricultural minister, Wilhelm Niklas is trying to reduce the oat crop. Stubborn German farmers keep growing oats while the number of horses diminishes because of farm mechanization.

Niklas says there are now 285,000 tractors, plowing ground that horses used to work. But the farmers failed to reduce their oat acreage. So Niklas lowered the price as much as 65 marks (about 16 dollars) per ton effective July 1.

Ike Takes Out For Golf With Brother

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower took time out from affairs of state today for a round of golf and some trout fishing with his youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College.

The President, the First Lady and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, arrived from Washington by special train at 8:18 a.m. EST, for a quiet week end at the campus home of his brother.

By mid-morning the President was tramping down the fairways at Centre Hills Country Club, a nine-hole course two miles out of town.

They played 15 holes with Wilmer E. Kenworthy, assistant to the college president and director of student affairs, rounding out a threesome. There was no immediate word on scores.

The Chief Executive and his brother then left for a well-stocked trout stream 14 miles west of here on the estate of Robert I. Harpster a Phillipsburg, Pa., businessman.

Trout up to 3 1/2 pounds were reported running. The last time the President did any trout fishing was in the Colorado Rockies last July.

Eisenhower set out for the trout stream wearing a light brown sport coat, gray slacks and a tan corduroy cap.

Leaving the campus, he noticed a small group of students with cameras. The President grabbed his brother by the arm, walked over to the camera enthusiasts, and let them snap away for a few minutes.

In between golf and fishing the President and his brother planned talk over Dr. Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to South America as the Chief Executive's good will emissary. He plans to leave the United States about June 20.

The President plans to return to Washington either tomorrow night or Monday morning. The First Lady will stay on to crown the Penn State College Queen Monday.

Diabetic Camp Name Changed

GAINESVILLE, —Indicative of the broader scope of territory from which diabetic children are being attracted to Camp Sweeney, Gainesville's non-profit summer camp, the name of the foundation operating the camp, has been changed.

Guided by a majority vote of directors, conducted by mail, the name has been changed to Southern Diabetic Foundation, Inc., replacing the name of Sweeney Diabetic Foundation, Inc., which had been used since the organization was started six years ago.

The change was made with the concurrence of Dr. J. Shirley Sweeney, who remains as medical director of the foundation, but the summer camp itself will continue to be known as Camp Sweeney. The change affects only the foundation.

Notice of this action has been sent to the Secretary of State at Austin.

The first of three summer semesters of Camp Sweeney will open Friday, June 5 and continue for one month. Other semesters will open July 4 and August 2nd. The Camp will close Aug. 30th.

Applications received from boys and girls of eligible admittance ages, totaled 112 on May 4 and each day witnesses receipt of other applications.

Camp Sweeney is a non-profit enterprise and depends largely on private contributions. A major portion of the money in the past has come from Gainesville citizens but now that the camp is serving diabetic children from many states of the Union and some foreign countries, outside financial aid has become a necessity.

No doubt about it... Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Load-master engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Frank Daugherty Of Olton Leads Attack On Records

Sunset Grabs Title In AA

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—Sunset of Dallas, Brenham and Sugar Land swept to championships today as the greatest track and field meet in the history of the Texas Interscholastic League crashed to a close with 23 records, two surprising national marks, being written into the books.

Roy Thompson, Lamar (Houston) betwined the national standard for the 150-yard low hurdles when he ran the event in 18.5 seconds. Yesterday Frank Daugherty, Olton, had bested Jesse Owens' national interscholastic record in the 220-yard dash by speeding the distance in 20.5.

It was the greatest record smashing output for any meet in 41 years.

Sunset won the Class AA championship in a neck-and-neck finish with Baytown. The Dallas team hammered out 28 1/2 points. Baytown had 35 1/2.

Brenham repeated as Class A champion with 56 points. Refugio finished second with 28.

Sugar Land again won the Class B championship, rolling up 58 points. O'Donnell was second with 33.

Neither Thompson's nor Daugherty's records will be accepted as national marks because each was helped by a 15 m. p. h. wind at his back—almost 11 miles over the standard allowed.

Individual stars sparkled in every class but none of them did more than Kenneth Hall, who again led Sugar Land to the championship. He set no records but he made the points that put his team over.

Daugherty was the sensation of the meet with his great 20.5 in the 220 and a 9.8 100-yard dash, while James Peters, the tremendous Brenham quarter-mile runner, turned in the fastest 440 ever seen in this huge meet. He whipped around the oval in 48.7 to wipe out one of the oldest records in the books yesterday. Then today he did 49.0 flat, which was the old record.

Another great record was a blistering mile relay turned in by Baytown. It swept the distance in 3:22.5, which set an overall mark for the meet by 2 1/2 seconds and was just 1 1/2 seconds over the national record.

There were four overall records—Daugherty's 220, Thompson's low hurdles, Peters' 440 and that Baytown mile relay.

There was one little tragedy. Isaac Tension, San Saba, who had set a record of 14.3 seconds in the Class A 120-yard high hurdles in the preliminaries, tripped and fell on the third hurdle while leading the finals and couldn't finish the race. Don Maynard, Colorado City, won it in 14.5.

Most of the records were set in the preliminaries yesterday, but 15 standards were hung up, but several of those were bettered today. Net number of new records made today was seven.

Hall made 36 points although he won only one first place—the broad jump. He led Class B scorers by a wide margin. His 36 points was two less than he made last year, however.

Bobby Whilden, Lamar (Houston) topped the Class AA pointmakers with 18, getting first in the 220-yard dash and second in the 100. Bobby Morrow, San Benito, was second with 16.

Bobby McBride of Refugio topped the Class A pointmakers with 24 of his teams' total of 28.

Chicago White Sox Vanquish Detroit

The ten runs were the most scored in the inning so far in the American League season.

Right-handers Art Houtteman and Hal Erickson were the victims of the Chicago outburst in which 14 Sox went to bat.

IN CHICAGO RING

Marciano Puts Unbeaten Record On Line Friday

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—Unbeaten Rocky Marciano, the "sneaker" boxer with the sledge-hammer punch, defends his heavyweight title for the first time against the man he blasted into oblivion, Jersey Joe Walcott, at the Chicago Stadium Friday night.

The 15-round match, postponed from April 10 because of injury to Marciano's nose, will be telecast nationally. The gate is a potential $637,000 gross. Another $250,000 will come from TV rights.

The bout will be broadcast nationally. It appears certain the former record indoor gate of $422,818, also set at the Stadium, will be broken. The record was set July 18, 1947, when Rocky Graziano knocked out Tony Zale to regain the world middleweight title.

About half of the 20,000 seats have been tagged as $50 "ring-side." Other seats are scaled from $30 down to $5.

Walcott, 39, who turned back the clock in boxing, currently is a 3 to 1 underdog in his quest to become the first man ever to recapture the game's premiere championship.

The pappy of six was giving Marciano, 28, a good whacking through 12 rounds of one of the most thrilling heavyweight bouts in years at Philadelphia Sept. 23. But suddenly the sturdy-legged Italian from Brookton, Mass., rocked a paralyzing right to the jaw which jugged Walcott into oblivion against the ropes in the 12th round.

Since February, the principals have been preparing for their rematch. This will be the 44th pro fight without defeat for Marciano, who has scored 38 knockouts. He hasn't been held to a decision since he won a 10-rounder from one Red Applegate in April of 1951.

Jersey Joe's manager got a flat $250,000 guarantee. Marciano gets 30 per cent of the net gate and the $250,000 TV swag. Unless ticket sales perk, Marciano's guaranteed $250,000.

Majors Don't Expect Import Crack-Down Until Next Year

By WALTER BREEDER JR.
NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Will Congress crack down on oil imports this year?

The big oil companies which do most of the importing say they don't expect it in 1953, but they're worried about 1954.

"Next year almost anything could happen," says one major U. S. importer.

Cheap foreign oil has caused contention almost since the end of the war. The uproar died down in 1950-51, then erupted with renewed fury last fall. The current battle started after the U. S. renegotiated a trade agreement with Venezuela last year which opened the gates for vastly increased oil imports.

As the volume of foreign imports grew, conservation bodies in such major oil-producing states as Texas and Oklahoma ordered cuts in domestic production. Angry cries came from independent oil producers whose incomes depend solely on domestic operations.

"Recent months have brought evidence of the crippling effects of unrestrained imports," the independents said. "Prices are inadequate in the face of higher costs. Production rates are being forced downward. Tax revenues and the economy in the oil-producing states are being adversely affected. Drilling activity has slowed down."

Coal mining interests jumped into the fight. Imports of cheap residual fuel oil, used mainly by utilities, manufacturing plants and for heating large buildings, displaced 30 million tons of soft coal last year, mine owners complained, throwing miners out of work and costing the industry an estimated 150 million dollars in lost business.

All this is denied by the importing companies. Eugene Holman, president of the big Standard Oil Co. (NJ) recently said the current difficulties of coal have resulted from competition with domestic oil produced out of natural gas, not from foreign oil. He cited conversion of home heating plants from coal to oil and gas, and dieselization of railroads.

Recent domestic oil production cutbacks, Holman asserted, stemmed from temporary short-term causes such as an abnormally mild winter which curtailed demand for heating oils. He said imports have had "relatively little" influence on coal output and no adverse effects on the domestic oil industry.

While both the domestic oil producers and the coal interests want Congress to restrict oil imports, the two groups are by no means in agreement as to how this should be done. The coal people want drastic curbs on heavy or "residual" fuel oil. Domestic oil producers are more interested in restricting imports of foreign crude.

That's why some Capitol Hill spokesmen have been critical of the oil import provisions of the much-discussed foreign trade bill sponsored by Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.). The Simpson bill would extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for one year beyond June 12, but write new import restrictions in it.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA), recently said the Simpson bill cracks down so severely on foreign fuel oil that it would actually permit increased imports of crude because fuel oil would account for so small a fraction of the entire oil import quotas. It would limit total oil imports to 10 per cent of demand and residual fuel oil imports to 5 per cent of demand. Residual fuel oil makes up about 40 per cent of our total oil imports.

There is also a division of opinion among the independents. Maston Nixon, Corpus Christi oil man, recently quit as chairman of the IPAA's Import Policy Committee, saying he was against congressional curbs and felt imports should be held down by voluntary action.

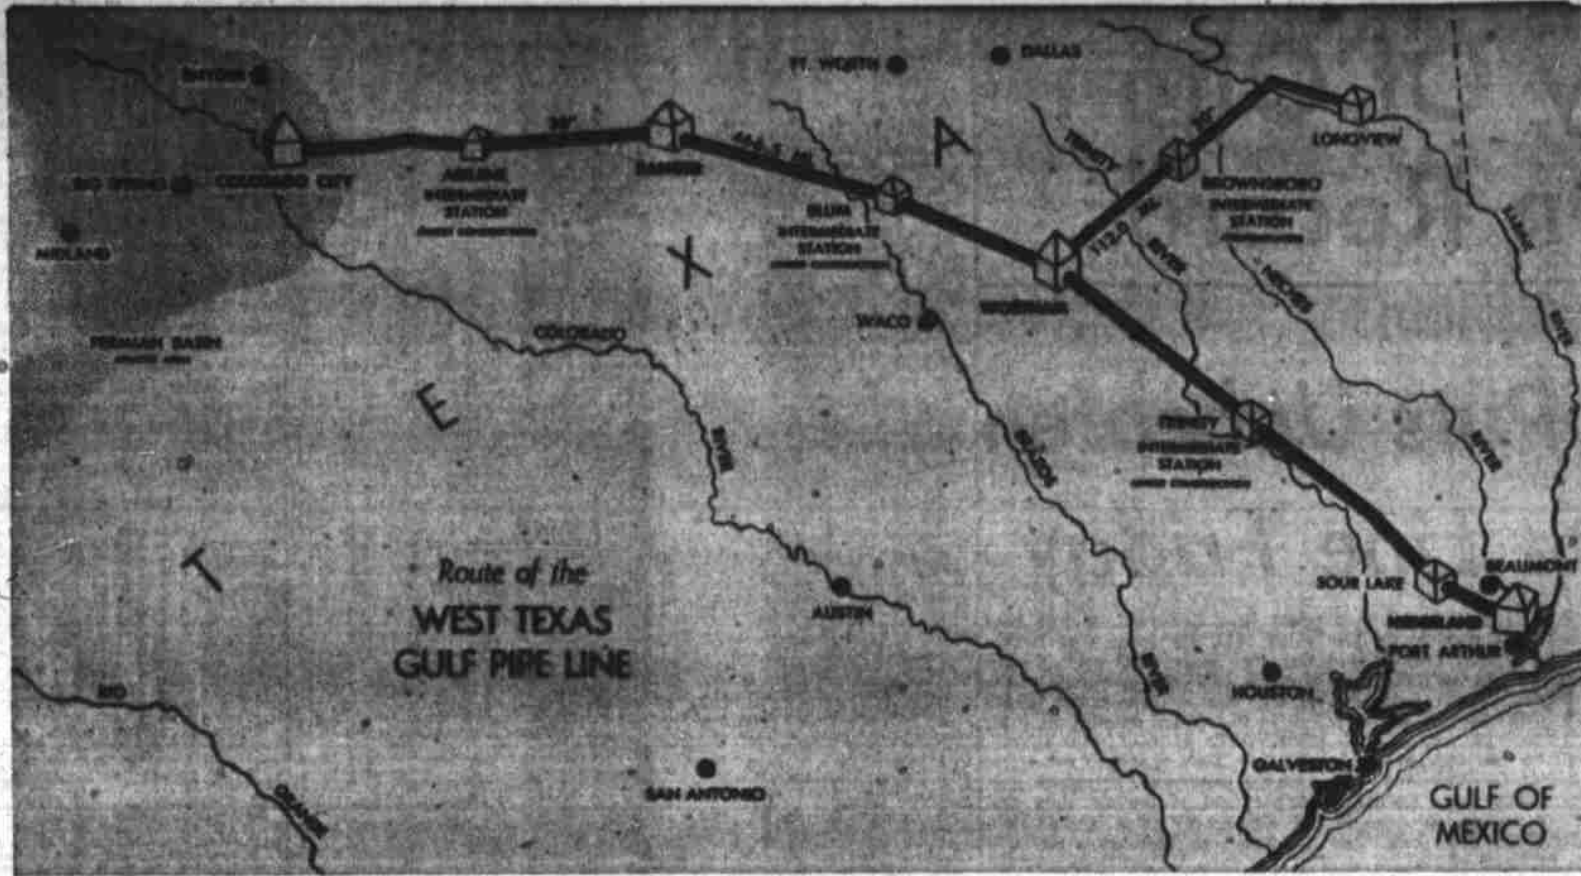

The controversy has ramifications into the broader field of this country's relations with its Allies in the struggle against Communism.

Venezuela is a case in point. It supplies 70 per cent of our total oil imports. It is a staunch ally and a good customer, free trade proponents say. Its purchases of U. S. goods, automobiles from Detroit, flour from Minneapolis, butter from Wisconsin, cotton from the South, have been running about half a billion dollars annually.

Reef Producer Due In Dawson

Stanford No. 2 W. H. Classen, northeast edge of the Mungerville-Pennsylvanian field of northwest Dawson County, is due to run pipe and complete for production. On a drillstem test in the lower reef on 8,635-95, the tool was open one hour. Gas surfaced in 14 minutes and recovery was 180 feet of gas-cut mud, 2,500 feet of oil and 1,190 feet of salt water. Flowing pressure was 230-1,350, and the 15 minute shut-in pressure was 2,770. Operator is taking electric logs.

This well had shown for production from 8,400-8,560 and is expected to try for completion at that zone after plugging off the lower one. Location is 330 from the south and 990 from the east lines of the northeast quarter of section 95-M, EL&RR.

Route Of "Biggest Inch" Line

Built to transport crude oil produced in the Permian Basin area of West Texas and New Mexico, this largest crude pipeline in North America stretches more than 466 miles across the state to Nederland, with a 112-mile spur branching off to Longview. It would take 10 eight-inch lines to move the 440,000 barrels daily that this giant tube can ultimately carry, a load equal to that of 20 trains of 100 tank cars each.

Biggest Inch Pipeline Is Due To Be Dedicated On Tuesday

HOUSTON, May 10—The largest crude oil pipe line in North America will be dedicated Tuesday by the West Texas Gulf Pipe Line Company at its new Colorado City pumping station.

The 26-inch arterial giant stretches 466.5 miles from Colorado City to Nederland, near Houston. Ultimately it will be capable of transporting 440,000 barrels of Permian Basin crude daily.

Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, oil and gas regulatory body for this state, and L. S. Westcott, president of Pure Oil Company and chairman of the board of the American Petroleum Institute, will speak.

Industry leaders from throughout the country, national and state officials, business and civic leaders from Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, and press, radio, and television representatives will be on hand and will be given an opportunity to look over the huge manifolds and the automatic controls with which the flow of crude is regulated in this newest and largest of the nation's underground transportation facilities.

Five companies, Gulf Refining Company, Sun Pipe Line Company, Cities Service Oil Company, Standard Oil Company (Ohio), and Pure Oil Company, joined forces to build the line, augmenting their present crude transport facilities from West Texas.

J. H. Russell, president of West Texas Gulf, will serve as master of ceremonies at the dedication. This one big steel tube, with its 20-inch, 112-mile spur extending from Wortham to Longview, will carry more oil than could be moved in ten eight-inch lines, the "big inch" for pipe lines less than a generation ago.

This new "biggest inch" for crude oil pipe lines starts about 12 miles north of Colorado City on the eastern edge of the oil-rich Permian Basin, 100,000 square miles of sun-baked acreage under which there are nearly four billion barrels of oil reserves. Ten feeder lines bring the oil into the Colorado City pumping station. Largest of these is the 24-inch Mesa Pipe Line from the Midland area.

In all, five types of crude oil (Ellenberger, Scurry, Coke County, semi-sweet, and sour) are gathered and transported. All five can be in the line at the same time, without mixing.

From Colorado City the pipeline runs eastward to Ranger, where it starts a gentle arc toward the southeast and Wortham. At Wortham the system splits into two segments, a 20-inch line to Longview and a 26-inch line to Nederland on the Sabine River just south of Beaumont, more than 466 miles from the beginning of the line in Scurry County.

The line crosses 25 Texas counties and two principal rivers; the Trinity, near Crockett; and the Brazos, near Glen Rose, where the span is more than 360 feet long. Twenty trains of 100 tank cars each would be required to move the 440,000 barrels of oil this 26-inch line will carry in one day at a speed of three and a half miles per hour, or as fast as a man can walk. All the oil produced in Texas in two days, under present allowances, would be needed just to fill the pipe line and its attendant tank farms, which have a total capacity of more than five and a half million barrels.

In excavating the ditch in which the pipeline is buried, enough dirt was dug to fill a hole a foot in diameter drilled all the way through the earth. The 26-inch pipe is laid in a trench 42 inches wide and 50 inches deep. The 20-inch Wortham - Longview segment ditch was 32 inches wide and 44 inches deep.

A thousand men worked two million man-hours through dust and mud to move the 42 million cubic feet of earth, lay the line, and cover it over.

To secure the right of way, a strip of land 50 feet wide and more than 578 miles long, land men dealt with 2,905 individuals owning 1,784 separate pieces of property. No portion of this land had to be secured by right of eminent domain.

Batteries of massive pumps in several stations will push the crude on its way, building up a maximum line pressure of 750 pounds per square inch, equivalent to a push of nearly 200 tons against the 26-inch diameter. The pipe that carries this pressurized cargo is easily equal to its rugged task. Some of the 40-foot steel joints weigh nearly two tons each; 127,199 tons of steel pipe were welded together to form the line. And it took nearly a ton of welding rods, pencil-thin, arm-long strips of steel, to weld each mile of pipe.

Some 13,000 more tons of steel were used in building the tanks that serve the system. Each type of crude handled by the line has its own tankage, a total of 3,789,800 barrels.

Operational control of this sprawling network is deceptively simple. In each station a man sits at a desk and pushes buttons. But behind this button-pushing job are years of scientific research to develop the complexity of electronic miracles that make the controls possible.

Exhibit Opens On Thursday

TULSA, Okla. — Charlton H. Lyons, Shreveport, La., president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, will deliver the principal address at ceremonies which will open the 30th Anniversary International Petroleum Exposition here Thursday.

W. G. Skelly, president of the exposition, announced Lyons' acceptance to officially welcome oil men from throughout the United States and some 40 foreign countries to the 10-day "World's Fair of the Petroleum Industry."

Introductory remarks will be made by Skelly and Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma. Gov. Murray has served as the exposition's "chief ambassador" since plans for the 1953 oil show were announced nearly two years ago.

Exposition officials estimated opening day attendance for the $100,000,000 oil industry exhibition will be "around 50,000 persons." Approximately 10,000 are expected to be on the grounds for opening ceremonies, Skelly said.

Lyons is a member of the oil producing firm of Lyons, McCord and Logan, Shreveport. Active in oil industry affairs for many years, he is serving his second term as president of IPAA. He is also a past president of Louisiana-Arkansas division of Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

A native of Louisiana, Lyons attended public schools at Melville, and earned his B. A. and L. L. B. degrees in law from Tulane University. He practiced law at Winnfield and Shreveport before entering the oil business as an independent.

Lyons' talk will follow colorful ceremonies which will include the raising of a giant, 40 by 60-foot United States flag which will be unfurled between two 140-foot rotary drilling masts on the exposition grounds.

Five marching bands will escort a parade of flags representing all oil producing nations of the world. These flags will fly on standards above the oil show headquarters of the NOMADS, international organization of oil equipment and service firms.

Borden Explorers Drill And Prepare For Final Tests

Helmerich and Payne, Inc. No. 1 Dorward, six miles west and two north of Ceil, was progressing at 6,976 in lime and shale Saturday.

This 10,250 wildcat is located 330 from the north and west lines of section 19-32-5n, T&P.

Charles Green and Oceanic Oil No. 1 Sue Slaughter, 660 from the north and west lines of section 24-33-3n, T&P, had drilled plug and was conditioning to test for possible completion. While this venture was geologically low on the top of the reef on datum minus of 2,853 in reference to the Vealmoor pool a mile to the southeast, it flowed considerable free oil on test.

Second Reef Well To Final

Magnolia No. 1 Timmons, south offset to the Hassie Hunt Trust and Dan Auld No. 1 Timmons, discovery of the Lakeview Pennsylvanian field in northwest Lynn County, has shown for probable production.

Operator perforated opposite the Pennsylvanian from 9,835-65 and treated with 500 gallons of acid. When the load and residue was swabbed out, the test flowed 121 barrels of new oil in nine hours through 13-64 choke.

Flowing tubing pressure was 450. Operator was flowing to test and complete.

This is the second project in northwest Lynn County to get the reef and pay in it. The test is about two miles south of Lakeview. Location is 660 from the south and east lines of section 14-12, EL&RR.

Geophysical Unit To Meet Saturday

The second annual day-long Permian Basin Geophysical Society meeting will get underway at 9:30 a.m. May 15 with the welcoming address by G. A. Grimm of Tide Water Associated Oil Company, society president, in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Grimm will be followed by John Emery Adams of Standard Oil Company of Texas, Midland, who will talk on "Stratigraphy of West Texas Basins." Adams is president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

At 10 a.m. Lorenz Shock of Midland Geophysical Company, will lecture on "Initial Energy Distribution Patterns from Various Arrays of Surface Charges."

The afternoon portion of the meeting will start at 2 p.m. with a talk by Roy L. Lay of The Texas Company, Houston. His subject will be "Let's Get Acquainted with SEG." Lay is president of National Organization of Geophysicists.

John Daly, geophysical and geological consultant of Midland will talk at 2:30 p.m. on "The Solutions to Some Problems in Seismograph Exploration for Deep Structures."

Next in line will be a lecture on "Are Your Public Relationships Good, Bad, or Indifferent?" by Charles Deegan, petroleum consultant of Dallas.

FANCY FIREFIGHTER Oil Fire Truck Marvel, But Takes 40 Men To Operate

By HOWARD HEYN
LOS ANGELES, May 9 (AP)—A versatile fire truck to fight oil field and refinery fires three ways was demonstrated recently in a harbor area tank farm.

The equipment was built for the Richfield Oil Co. A 40-man crew put out billowing oil and gas fires in seconds to demonstrate the truck's triple-threat facilities. Tanks and pumping apparatus for foam, dry chemical and water are provided aboard the big vehicle.

One tank holds 2,000 pounds of anhydrous dry chemical. This tank feeds four hoses with a dry compound of sodium bicarbonate and other chemicals, at the rate of 1,300 pounds per minute.

Dry chemical has been in use for some time, but it remains the newest product for fighting fires in inflammable liquids. It works, engineers said, by smothering and also by literally blowing out the flames. Refinery officials say it is effective in putting out fires atop flues, tanks and in other hard to reach places.

Another tank aboard the truck carries 800 gallons of pyrene high-expansion liquid foam, an old favorite in fighting oil fires. A water pump, powered by a 265-horsepower engine and capable of throwing 2,800 gallons of water per minute through eight additional hoses, likewise is mounted on the fire truck.

The foam, mixed with water in the proportion of 5 per cent foam and 95 per cent water, expands 16 to 20 times so that the total volume amounts to more than 250,000 gallons in 13 minutes, fire engineers said. Foam forms a blanket over the flames.

Water also can be used separately, as a cooling agent, to prevent the spread of gas and oil fires. All three means of suppression are well known, but this is said to be the first time a single truck has incorporated all of them, along with facilities to project Seagrave Manufacturing Corp. of Columbus, Ohio, built the truck. Although equipment is supplied for them under high pressure.

Completions Gain Slightly For Week

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—Oil well completions climbed again this week to 251, nine more than last week.

The Railroad Commission reported 3,729 oil wells completed this year compared with 4,058 a year ago. There were 24 gas well completions, down 14. Wildcaters brought in 13 oil wells, nine gasers and 77 dry holes. The total average daily oil allowable rose to 2,592,602 barrels, up 12,868 from last week.

Bell Says He Didn't Mention Borger Schools

SAN ANTONIO, May 9 (AP)—Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio said today he did not mention Borger schools as places where Communist literature was found in arguing for his bill which he says would take pro-Communist literature out of public schools and college libraries.

Bell, in an April 7 House speech urging passage of the bill, displayed a bulletin he said was mailed to Texas colleges by Communists. He was quoted afterward as saying the material was found in Borger Junior College. The bill has passed the House and gone to the Senate.

Bell said, "I mentioned no school system in connection with my exhibition of Communist literature. The Borger school board has been highly co-operative in fighting this sort of thing."

He said material he was given was not allowed to reach Borger students but was turned over to J. C. Phillips, editor of the Borger News-Herald, who forwarded it to him.

In Borger, Phillips said Supt. C. A. Cryer, trustees and many teachers have endorsed HB566 (Bell's bill).

Bell's bill has two main parts: (1) "It shall be unlawful" for schools to have material which discredits the family, holds up to ridicule the American Constitution, freedom of religious worship, American or Texas History, or advocates the overthrow of the American government by violence.

(2) "It shall be unlawful" for the schools to have books written by a member or former member of the Communist Party or by a member of any organization listed as subversive unless that book is stamped in red ink with a notation that the author is a member of such a group."

Area Roads Due Face Lifting In State Projects

Several area roads are slated for face liftings in the near future. They will be sealcoated as part of a state-wide highway improvement program costing nine million dollars.

Area roads to be affected will be U. S. Highways 80, 87, and 180 and State Highways 101 and 350. Improvements will be in Howard, Mitchell and Borden Counties.

Bids for the improvements were called Friday by the Highway Commission and will be tabulated May 19. According to J. C. Roberts, district engineer, contract for all jobs in the district will go to one contractor.

Other areas in the Abilene district to be affected will be Jones, Stonewall, Taylor, Nolan and Haskell Counties.

On U. S. 80, sealcoating will be laid from six miles east of Howard County to Westbrook and from Westbrook to near Colorado City. The sealcoating will also be applied on U. S. 87 from the Glasscock County line to Big Spring.

Improvement on U. S. 180 will be from Dawson County to 8.2 miles east in Borden County.

Another Howard County job will be on State 350 (Snyder highway). The sealcoating will go from 12.5 miles northeast of Big Spring to the Mitchell County line.

In Mitchell County the state highway from Colorado City to Spade will also be sealcoated. Sealcoating means to apply asphalt and gravel on top to seal the water from under the base of the road.

Seven Of Clubs Is Death Card

HOUSTON, May 9 (AP)—A seven of clubs turned out to be a death card for Felix Hardy in a poker game early today.

Hardy, a Negro, died from a stab wound of the leg. Justice Tom Meier said.

A Negro, 40, who was playing poker with the victim was arrested.

"I caught him dealing off the bottom of the deck," the 240-pound man said. "I went into the pot with a pair of queens and he had a pair of sevens. I saw him pull the seven of clubs from the bottom of the deck and beat me out of the $14 pot."

Assistant deputy sheriff Lloyd Frazier said the men were playing poker in a building behind a cafe named the Black Cat.

Dog Pulls Master From Raging River

CORTLAND, N. Y., May 9 (AP)—Pal won a hero's reward today for pulling his 2-year-old master from a rain-swollen river to the safety of an island.

Major Robert H. Kerr pinned a medal on the German shepherd for "distinguished dog heroism."

Leslie Seltzer disappeared from his riverside home April 9. Searchers found him, drenched but unharmed, on a small island 150 yards downstream in the Tiohoga River. Pal, also a 2-year-old, was panting beside him.

BIG SPRING HERALD

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Darlene Sneed

With the end of this college term being only three weeks away, students at HCJC are busying themselves with plans for Senior Day, the Freshman-Sophomore prom and banquet, the graduation banquet and, too, with the thought of exams.

The sophomore class met Tuesday morning during activity period. Weldon McElreath presided. The class box supper, which was scheduled to have been this last Friday evening was canceled due to conflicting activities. The supper is planned for next Thursday night in the cafeteria. Any college girl or high school girl is invited to bring a box to be auctioned off. Proceeds will go to the class fund for a gift to the school. A dance will follow the box supper.

Students of the college, faculty members, and several people of the town enjoyed a very enlightening assembly program Thursday morning during activity period. Featured on the assembly was Rabbi Milton Rosenbaum. The Rabbi spoke on "What Judaism is." Rev. Jordan Grooks, pastor of the First Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Robert Cobb was named captain of the Jayhawk Track team this week. Tracksters along with all other athletic participants who earned letters will receive their rewards the night of the graduation banquet, June 1. Track boys who lettered are Bob Baker, Carl Preston, Weldon McElreath, and Ben Hitt. Maple Avery, John Hillary Brown and Jackie Gilbert will receive reserve letters. The team concluded the year's events when they attended the state track meet in Denton last week. The Hawks placed fifth in the meet.

Congratulations are in order for Diana Farquhar and Russel Nelson who became engaged this week, and to Robert Merworth and Kay Richbourg who also are engaged.

One of the highlights of this week was the arrival of the 1953 annuals, the Jayhawkers. The annuals, were given out Friday night at a branding party given by the annual staff. The annual's covers are a gray-silver color with silver lettering. The fly leaf is a picture of the school in red. The "Jayhawkers" is dedicated to Kenneth Barnes, ex-student who was killed in Korea. A page entitled "In Memoriam" is dedicated to Gene Reynolds and Robert Brown.

The branding party was given in the cafeteria. Some of the kids there signing annuals were Rodney Cramer, Jim Hahn, P. D. Fletcher, Richard Souther, Mrs. Harold Davis, J. T. Clements, Frances King, Jack Lee, Voncell Rhon, Larry Shotes, Francys Rice, Joe Mize, Sue Lower, Nan McGahey, Diana Farquhar, Mary Sue White, Lonnie Muse, Billy Mac Sheppard, Mary Stevens, Bobby Head, Milburn Hoover, Lyn Mitchell, Gwendell White, Daisy Jones, Dallas Williams, Ed Hartman, Dolmer Hartin, Marie Petty, Betty Hulsey, Vesta Harrison, James Pierce, Gerald Farmer, Carl Preston, Bobby Adams, Darlene Sneed, Beverly Jones, Lou Ann Nail, John Brown and Calvert Shortes.

Charles Warren is a new member of the Library Club.

Jimmy Jennings was given a surprise going away party Thursday night in his home. Those there were Bobbie Adams, Jackie Jennings, Marie Petty, Lou Ann Nail, Shirley McGinnis, Diana Farquhar, Dot Crittendon, Voncell Rhon, Casey Jones, Dick Gilmore, Cecil Hoggard, Beverly Jones, Lonnie Muse, Bobby Maines, Dallas Williams and Jimmy.

The Lasso Club met Saturday morning during activity period. Lou Ann Nail presided.

Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle donated the book, "The Growth of Scientific Ideas" to the memorial shelf at the library.

Some of the members of the Rodeo Club went to the San Angelo College Rodeo Saturday and today. Those who went were John Dameron, Joe Jabors, Wayne Glenn, Bud Nichols, Billy Mac Sheppard, Don Edwards, Lou Ann Nail, Mary Sue White, Marie Petty and Lonnie Muse.

LT. AND MRS. FLETCHER AND CHILDREN

Hearts Of Fletchers Belong To Miami, Fla.

First Lt. and Mrs. William P. Fletcher, Theresa, 13, and Joyce, 20 months, are living in Big Spring. But their hearts belong to Miami, Fla.

And why shouldn't they want to return to Miami. That's where they own their own home and that's also where Mrs. Fletcher's parents live.

The family is living at 2101 S. Monticello now.

Lt. Fletcher, a Korean veteran who flew 100 missions while there, is an instructor in T-28's at Webb Air Force Base.

While her husband was in Korea, Mrs. Fletcher was busy furnishing their home in Miami. The lieutenant provided many of the luxuries from visits to Japan. While in the East, he sent his wife place settings of sterling silver, a set of bone china, an elaborately carved cuckoo clock, ivory figurines and several beautifully embroidered pictures.

But perhaps Mrs. Fletcher's pride and joy is a strand of "black pearls," which are, in reality, a pastel blue.

Lt. Fletcher likes to bowl when he has spare moments. He has become so proficient in his hobby that he has three trophies to attest to his prowess.

His petite blonde wife enjoys her home and children to such an extent that she finds little time for outside activities.

Club Group Entertains

Members of the Luther and Center Point Home Demonstration Clubs were special guests recently at a tea given by the Coahoma Club in the First Baptist Church.

A group of Coahoma High School girls entertained the group with vocal numbers and readings. Students of Mrs. Nell Frazier of Big Spring presented a program of vocal and instrumental numbers.

The refreshment table was laid with a white linen drawn work cloth centered with an arrangement of red roses and ivy. Red and white candles flanked the scene. Mrs. J. L. Adams, Mrs. Sam Armstrong and Mrs. Flossie Williams served.

About 60 attended, including a group of Coahoma 4-H Club girls.

Bride-To-Be

R. M. Cochran is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Mary Jo, to Bob Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Porter of Odessa. The Rev. Kenneth Carter, of Plainview will officiate at the ceremony June 7 at the First Baptist Church. The bride-elect is a senior at Big Spring High School. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of BSHS. The couple will live in Oregon.

Cancer Society Needs Sheets For Bandages

You'd be willing to trade your old sheets for new, wouldn't you?

That's just about what you'll be doing if you take your old sheets (in reasonably good "one piece" condition) to C. R. Anthony's Monday through Saturday.

At a booth in the store, employees will receive your old sheets, of any adult size or type, and give you a certificate worth 50 cents toward the purchase of two Pacific Contour Sheets. The certificates may be redeemed any time during May.

The old sheets, which should be laundered and folded but do not need to be ironed, will be donated to the American Cancer Society by Pacific Mills.

An old clean sheet, needle, and thread provide the simple equipment that volunteer units of the American Cancer Society need to make dressings. The bandages will be sent to needy patients.

The need locally for dressings is great, according to Mrs. Clyde Angel, who is in charge of local volunteer workers for the event.

Search your linen closet today for every flat sheet that shows wear and tear; then in to help supply the American Cancer Society's program, she urges.

Bring in one flat sheet and get one pair of Pacific Contours at 50 cents off. See how the trade in adds up? Remember only one certificate may be applied against each pair of new sheets.

Assisting Mrs. Angel in stimulating interest and publicizing the drive will be Mrs. Norman Reed, Mrs. F. W. Bettie, Mrs. W. C. Blankenship, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. Alton Underwood, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Mrs. Ira Thurman, Mrs. R. D. Uirey, Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mrs. H. C. Stipp, Mrs. C. O. Nalley and Mrs. R. B. Reeder.

Announcement of the drive will be made at church services today, at club meetings during the week and on the radio.

Indoor Sports To Have Game Party

The Indoor Sports Club will sponsor a game party Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Girl Scout Little House.

Tickets will be sold at 50 cents each, and may be purchased either from members of the club beforehand or at the door. Proceeds will go to meet expenses for the district board meeting to be held here July 19.

Games to be played include canasta, bridge, "42" and dominoes. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

The Good Sports will assist the Indoor Sports in preparing for the affair.

Chip Compton To Return From Dallas

Chip Compton will return this evening from Dallas where he visited his mother, Mrs. Munson G. Compton, for Mother's Day. He left by plane Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Compton are former Big Spring residents and are now living in Dallas. Chip is living with his grandmother, Mrs. Hugh Compton, 201 Mt. Vernon, until the close of the school year. He attends Washington Place School.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Ruth Roman Stresses A 'Natural' Make-Up

By LYDJA LANE HOLLYWOOD — Ruth Roman is one girl who has made her dreams come true. When she was a child in Boston she had one ambition: to become a movie star. She did not allow anything—even severe privations—to make her lose sight of this goal.

"Even when one person in authority after another told me I was not beautiful enough or sufficiently talented to make the grade, I didn't let them discourage me," Ruth confided as we chatted in the charming living room of her Brentwood House.

"I was determined to prove that they were wrong." I asked Ruth to tell me the secret for her success—how she went from an average Boston girl to one of Hollywood's most important stars.

"Hard work, the ability to take hard knocks, and an unshakable confidence in myself," she answered. "After 'The Champion' people used to say to me, 'Aren't you lucky to have become a star overnight?'" Ruth laughed.

"Exercise is the answer," Ruth said quickly. "I don't think most people realize how much can be accomplished with just five or ten minutes every day. It isn't necessary to exhaust yourself—just work hard enough to get up your circulation. The important thing is to stay with it. A wimpy-wimpy attitude won't get you anywhere."

"Are you dieting?" I wanted to know. "I don't have a weight problem so long as I follow one rule—no overeating," Ruth answered.

"I find it much more pleasant to eliminate fattening things than to follow a set diet," she added. "For instance, I never eat between meals. I give up butter and dessert, use salt sparingly, and drink no liquids with my meals. Salt and water make you heavy because they cause the tissues to retain fluids."

"I asked Ruth what was the biggest thing she had had to overcome. "It is not easy for me to look like a glamour girl when I am not working," she said. "When you are on a picture, you have to be dressed and in full make-up from early in the morning until late at night. So it was a vacation for me when I wasn't working to wear slacks, a sweater, and to put nothing on my face. When I lived alone it didn't matter how I looked when I was at home, but now it is a different story. I think no matter how little time or money a woman has, she should make an effort to be attractive for her husband."

"What is your favorite glamour trick?" I asked. "You don't have to be an actress to be glamorous," Ruth commented. "Glamour trick—that's just another name for knowing your best features and drawing attention to them."

"This doesn't mean you have to go overboard with make-up—there is great appeal in a clean, scrubbed look. When I'm not work-

RUTH'S ADVICE

You'll learn a lot by following Ruth's advice about make-up. And to help you more along this line, you'll want a copy of "The Art of Make-Up," which shows you how to correct facial faults with make-up. Added, a chart of Hollywood's "Ideal" face to help you with your cosmetic application. To get your copy, send 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Herald, Big Spring, Tex. Ask for leaflet M-27.

I never use a powder base, and my only make-up is lipstick, mascara and a little grease on my eyelids. But the color of lipstick is important. Every season there is a big promotion on some new shade, but I think a girl should only wear what does the most for her.

"It's important to remember that colors change with the way you are lighted, so that what is becoming at night may look too dark and heavy in the daytime."

"Even when you are dressing for special occasions," Ruth continued, "I think make-up should be natural. A very thin coat of

In Observance Of Golden Anniversary

County Home Demonstration Club women prepared a display in a local store window this week in observance of the golden anniversary of the founding of home demonstration clubs. This week also observed the official Home Demonstration Club Week. Included in the display was a sewing chair, copper pictures, corded belts, a quilt, crocheted doily, hat, purse and gloves, a hassock made from a cheese box, an aluminum tray, hand-hooked rug and other things made by the women. An unusual note was struck by a glorified glass painting done in Oriental lacquer against a background of silver foil.

Girl Guards Plan To Commemorate Founding

Big Spring Troop of the Girl Guards will open Girl Guard anniversary week May 18 by serving at a dinner at the Salvation Army. A week of activities, May 18-24, will commemorate the 37th anniversary of the Salvation Army organization for young girls. A special program is planned for each day of the week. Theme of the Monday program is "Service." Captain W. R. Goodier of Dallas and Captain Basil Wyatt of San Angelo will speak at the dinner for all Salvation Army groups. Tuesday each girl will bring hard candy to the Salvation Army Youth Center. The group will pack it to be sent to Korea, where it will be distributed through the Salvation Army Children's Home. Theme will be "Others." The group will visit aged shut-ins on Wednesday. Anyone who has the name of a shut-in the girls could help by a visit is asked to call the Salvation Army at 454 and leave the name and address. Theme of the day will be "Others." Acting on the theme, "Citizenship," Friday the group will visit the city fire department. They will return to the Youth Center for a discussion on "What the United States Means to Me."

The Texas and Pacific Ladies Safety Council will meet Thursday at the Settles Hotel at 2:30 p.m.

Former Local Woman May Be Pickle Queen

Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Pickle, 1801 Lancaster, may soon find themselves related to "royalty." Their daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. C. Pickle of San Angelo, formerly of Big Spring, is a candidate for the title of national pickle queen. Her first name, Elizabeth, helped to qualify her for the contest. The National Pickle Packers Association is going to publicize their product by having a coronation of a national pickle queen in conjunction with the coronation of Queen Elizabeth of England. The association is selecting its queen by contacting all the women named Elizabeth (after the queen of England) Pickle in the United States. The NPPA learned about Mrs. J. C. Pickle through her sister, Katherine Williams of Fulton, Ky., who submitted the name through a Memphis newspaper.

The queen candidate, a ninth grade general science teacher, may soon find herself in competition with her husband's sister-in-law. That's because Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pickle have another daughter-in-law named Elizabeth, who lives in Lubbock. She is Mrs. Randall Pickle, who is also Mrs. Joe Pickle's sister. However, neither her mother-in-law has heard whether she has been contacted by the NPPA. The winner of the contest will receive a $100 cash prize and an all-expense-paid trip to Chicago.

Fourth Grade Entertains

FORSAK (Sp) — Fourth grade students and their teacher, Mrs. Bob Honeycutt, entertained their room mothers Friday night with a wiener roast at the Country Club. The P-TA will sponsor a game party Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Tickets are being sold at 50 and 25 cents and proceeds will go toward lighting the tennis courts. Dominoes, bridge, canasta and "42" will be played. A full-length film and comedy will be shown for the children. Pie and coffee will be served. There will be a business meeting at which new officers will be installed and a short program will be held before the party. P-TA officials are asking that women in the community donate one or two pies for the occasion.

To conclude Ranch Week activities, the Student Council sponsored a hay ride Thursday night. Glen Graham, Mrs. O. D. Daniel, Mrs. F. P. Woodson, all from the County Home Demonstration Club, and Mrs. Loyd Branon of Big Spring.

Wives' Club Adopts Two German Children

A little German girl, ill with tuberculosis will soon be receiving medical aid from the Officers' Wives Club of Webb Air Force Base, under the Foster Parents Plan for War Children, Inc. The club has adopted Anna Gruninger, 9, and her brother, Rudolf, 11, who live in Notzingen, Germany. They and the six other members of their family live in wooden barracks and are completely dependent on a monthly income of $51.00 from public assistance and their father's unemployment insurance. The Officers' Wives Club will contribute $30 a month toward the support of the two children. The money will pay for medical care for Anna and for food and clothing. Each child will be given $7 in cash. Mrs. Grant Mann is in charge of making arrangements for the adoption and sending the monthly contribution to the Foster Parents Plan. One member of the club will write the children each month. They were born in Czechoslovakia during the war. In August, 1946, when all Ethnic Germans were expelled from the country, the family was uprooted from their home and sent to Germany. According to the Foster Parents Plan's case history of the children, the family was placed in a refugee camp where they endured great hardship. Finally they were able to get private accommodations on a farm near Wellington and the father found factory employment. During this period Anna fell ill with tuberculosis and was hospitalized for two months. Since then the family has moved to their present home and Anna has been treated in the hospital for periods of months at two different times, for both malnutrition and tuberculosis. The family's financial situation became hopeless, according to the case history, when the father became totally incapacitated from a back injury in 1952. The case history reports that Rudolf is a serious boy and an average student and likes to draw, paint and work with tools. Anna is behind in school because of her illnesses but she is a bright girl with a talent for music and likes to write, paint and do needle work. Both speak only German.

Mothers Of Exchanged POWs Are Happiest In The Country

By CALVIN MANON
Associated Press Staff Writer

"It's wonderful to have him again."

These simple, quiet words by Mrs. Clarence Shaw of Syracuse, N. Y., summed up the feelings of scores of the happiest mothers in the nation today better than all of the eloquent phrases and oratory that greeted the annual observance of Mother's Day.

Mrs. Shaw, ill and unable to go to Valley Forge Hospital in Pennsylvania with the rest of the family to greet her freed prisoner of war son, had her wonderful Mother's Day reunion after M-Sgt. Robert W. Shaw of Vancouver, Wash., made an all-night bus trip from the hospital.

Her happy reunion was similar to scores of others which made the day one in a lifetime for families of released prisoners of war.

Officials at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., where the released prisoners were processed on their return to the United States, reported that most of the repatriated veterans would be with their families today. Few of the veterans had any special plans except to get home. Any celebrations were up to the families.

Against this joyous backdrop for several scores of mothers there was the contrast of a day of only unguished hope for hundreds of others who did not know whether their boys were dead or alive.

These were the mothers of boys reported missing in action and of whom no further word had been received. For them there was only the agonizing hope that there may be some word of their boys before another Mother's Day rolls around.

For a few other mothers the day was one of tempered happiness. These mothers had heard through the repatriated prisoners that their boys were alive and in Communist prison camps—the first word that many of them had had since the boys were reported missing in action.

Among this group was Mrs.

Myrtle Johnson of Leon, Iowa.

The list of names struggled out by repatriated prisoner of war Pfc. Joseph Picenor of New York City brought her the first news she had received of her son, Pfc. Sam Lamphier since he was reported missing in Korea Dec. 17, 1951.

But to Mrs. Robert B. Bird of Rutland, Vermont, the day brought only hope—gawling hope that the picture of an unidentified officer released by a Communist propaganda agency might be that of her son, Capt. Robert J. Bird, 34, missing in action since Nov. 19, 1952.

Since seeing the picture—purporting to show the excellent care and recreation for three prisoners—which was printed in a New York newspaper April 28, Mrs. Bird has been praying for word from her son, whom she believes is one of the men.

"It would be wonderful to get a note from Bobby for Mother's Day," she said with a note of hope quivering in her voice.

These three mothers typify the joys, hopes and fears that stand out as reminders to all Americans of the meaning of the day, and of the ideals that Americans are fighting for.

While the nation's thoughts and sympathies go out to the mothers typified by these parents of service men, Mother's Day at home went on much as usual, in deep contrast to this serious vein.

There were the usual childish gifts to the young mothers as yet unaffected directly by the world strife; there were the usual clumsy efforts by father and the children to make the day one of rest for mom while they messed up the kitchen so thoroughly that she would have to work a week to clean it up; there were the usual serious religious observances; there was the customary discussion about who thought it all up in the first place, and there was the usual complaint over commercialization of the day.

And there was the childless couple out in Colby, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wallsmith, who observed the occasion by adopting five children, three girls and two boys ranging in age from 2 to 10 years.

But whatever the occasion at home, the joys, hopes and sorrows of the mothers of servicemen overshadowed all else.

The American mother was called "the greatest enemy of war and the greatest shield to peace" by Mrs. Ethlyn Wisecarver Bott "the American Mother of 1953."

As plans were laid for its observance, there was controversy over the origin of the idea of Mother's Day observance.

Many give the honor of originating the special day to Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia.

Her mother died in 1906. A year later she suggested the idea to a friend and succeeded in interesting many friends in pushing the thought.

Regardless of the origin, the day now has general observance with emotions varying with the joys and hopes of the individuals.

H-S Paper Wins Award At Session

The Big Spring Corral, school newspaper of Big Spring High School, was presented an Award of Achievement in Journalism by the League Press Conference. The award recognizes the extraordinary achievements of the paper during the 1952-1953 school year. It is a special award, given to comparatively few papers each year, and because of the high degree of improvement or achievement on some special fields required. If a paper is to qualify for the Achievement Award, this ranks as one of the highest awards offered by ILPC.

The Press Conference, Texas-wide organization of public school publications, climaxed its 26th annual convention in Austin Saturday by the announcement of the ratings of papers in each of five classifications. The Corral ranked among only five in its class receiving this award.

The certificate presented by the Press Conference states that the award is "in recognition of outstanding achievements and progress in journalism among high school papers of the year in Texas."

A Bible Thought For Today —

The certain knowledge that God is on our side, infinite in power and love should indeed comfort us. His great heart is moved by our need. "We may be able to comfort them that are in any affliction, through the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted by God." — II Cor. 1:4.

Only We As Citizens Can Make Airmen Feel That They 'Belong'

In just another week, the nation will be observing Armed Services Day, and our own Webb Air Force Base will be observing the first anniversary of its formal activation.

The observance of a special day for the military establishment is not necessarily just a demonstration of the nation's might on the land and sea and in the air, but it serves to show how integrated into the nation's over-all welfare are its facilities for defense.

Particularly is it true in communities such as ours, where a military installation is located, that the civilian interests should be as interested in an Armed Services Day as the military.

Big Spring will be given an opportunity, next Saturday and Sunday, to renew various ties of association with the uniformed men who are in our midst, and to make something more than a gesture for solidarity.

Actually, we have a continuing job here in the fusion of interests between civilian and military—a job that goes on all year and not on just one special day.

As far as we can observe, Webb Air Force Base, from its top commander down to its lowest airman, has employed every reasonable program to integrate its interests with those of the community. Civilian requests always are heeded; lectures are given to the men to impress upon them that they are citizens of Big Spring as well as assignees to Webb. There is every evidence that the military people want to be a contributing part of the community.

They can't do this, of course, without some cooperation on our own part. And there is cause for doubt, at times, as to whether Big Spring at large really has worked at the job of integrating the uniformed visitors into community activity.

It must be remembered that many men at Webb are young men, away from home for the first time, and that home, in many cases, is very distant—a type of place completely different from West Texas.

We are far from the metropolitan centers, and the facilities that provide wholesome interests to young people are lacking in many respects. We have to make up that shortcoming by being as hospitable, at all times, as we know how.

It is time for some self-questioning, now that Webb has been operating here a year; have the clubs and the churches and the fraternal organizations and the civic groups done all they should to bring the airman into the local scheme of things? Are we meeting the young strangers on half-way ground? Are we making them feel a sense of "belonging"?

We have intense pride in our own home town, and like to think it is a good place to live. But do we act so as to convince the newcomers that we have a good place to live? The military man's stay in such towns as ours is going to be remembered by the type of reception he gets from the civilians, by the friends he makes and the treatment he receives. We ought to be concerned that we pass the test of hospitality with flying colors.

Labor Outlook

Though Labor Peace Prospects Good, Some Trouble Looms On The Horizon

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Employers and unions are squaring away for some potentially explosive labor battles that could result in serious strikes.

Government experts, gloomy several months ago over labor peace prospects for the rest of the year, have revised their estimates somewhat on the brighter side. But they still have their fingers crossed.

The major fever spots are in the steel, railroad, maritime and coal industries—in roughly that order. Steel wage talks get under way next Thursday at Pittsburgh when representatives of the U. S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the wage pattern for the rest of the industry, and the CIO's steelworkers union sit down at their initial bargaining session.

It will be the first big bargaining test for David J. McDonald, 50-year-old union president who succeeded the late Philip Murray at the steelworkers' helm.

What happens in steel may well set the pace for pay changes in other industries. The experts feel there is a good chance the negotiations can be navigated without another costly steel strike.

The union last year won a "package" of a 21-cent-an-hour wage hike and other benefits, but only after a 55-day steel shutdown.

The steel strike helped set a record for 1952. The 5,162 strikes recorded by the Labor Department for the year were more walkouts than experienced in any other year. The resulting idleness of 59,100,000 man-days lost was only about half the 116,000,000 man-days lost in 1946, when there were several hundred fewer strikes.

Several important maritime industry contracts expire in June, others in September, and there is the possibility of a shipping tieup on the East, Gulf and West Coasts. Contracts of the CIO's National Maritime Union, representing East and Gulf Coast seamen, and of the CIO's American Radio Association, representing West Coast shipping radio men, expire next June.

All the principal railroad union contracts expire this fall. Pacts covering about a million and a quarter workers come to an end in October.

And John L. Lewis can also renegotiate his United Mine Workers' contract in the fall after a 60-day notice. The coal business is having dark days at present, however, and Lewis may elect to postpone the negotiations until next spring, hoping for a better opportunity.

When David L. Cole, who resigned recently as director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, testified before a congressional committee last March 26, he forecast considerable labor unrest during 1953. However, the experts think the picture looks a little better now.

Cole figured both labor and management perhaps are wearing a chip on their shoulders these days, partly because of the new Republican administration in Washington and partly because of some economic lags.

"I think there are some parts of American industry that feel a little triumphant over the change in administration," Cole testified. "There are parts of the labor movement that definitely have a chip on their shoulder—let's see what you can do to us now."

Others, however, feel that the new White House policy of steering clear of government interference in key labor disputes is going to have a generally beneficial effect. They say once the employers and unions come to realize they can't expect any help or favors from government, they will be more anxious to settle their own squabbles.

Other trends to look for:

1. Now that living costs have stopped moving upward, unions may seek to abandon their "escalator" clauses tying pay rates to the government's living cost index. In any event, unions are making a tremendous effort to get what they gained on a rising index incorporated in hourly rates, so they won't lose on a declining index. This is a principal issue in negotiations now quietly under way in the auto industry.
2. Whatever pay increases are granted are likely to be followed up by price increases. The steel industry just recently made some upward price revisions and some more seem to be coming.
3. Businessmen are cautious about taking on extra costs because of uncertainty over the future. As pay raises come harder to get, unions can be expected to stress "fringe" demands—longer vacations, more holidays, health insurance, pensions, etc.
4. Whatever pay increases are granted are likely to be followed up by price increases. The steel industry just recently made some upward price revisions and some more seem to be coming.

Here's The Proper Way To Break In A New Boss

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Bosses, like other office equipment, wear-out and have to be replaced.

When this happens, there is always tension about the office. Who is the new boss? What'll he be like?

Rumors fly: "I hear they dropped him on his head when he was a baby, and he wears a silver plate in his forehead."

"They say that at the last place he worked he cut the staff in half, and salaries, too."

"Well, hear he's the big boss's cousin. There is a family resemblance. Notice how close together his eyes are?"

"Is it really true he eats his own young?"

By the time the new boss actually shows up, the office staff is firmly divided by hope and hysteria. Half have a chip on their shoulder and are determined to put him in his place. Half have secretly decided to butter him up.

Well, which course is right? The answer is neither course. Having a new boss is highly satisfying to the ego, but ruinous to your goal of ignore take-home pay.

Fawning on him will only cause him to question your intelligence. The proper way to break in a new boss is to surround him with an atmosphere of cordial impartiality and let him know he is on his own mettle. Here are a few tips:

Never tell him, "The old boss wouldn't do it that way." If the former boss's name ever comes up at all, just shake your head in wonder as if to say, "How did our organization even manage to survive under that muttonhead."

Don't volunteer to do more work. Throw as much of your own work as you can on the new boss's shoulders. Then, as you gradually start doing it yourself again, feel grateful toward you.

Try to keep him at ease, but not too sure of himself. If he tells you a joke, laugh. But laugh moderately and thoughtfully.

When he does a really good job, or finds a way to cut down expenses by making the paper clips last longer, don't hesitate to reward him with a little credit. Always leave him yearning for more.

Never point out the boss's blunders to him. Let the other fellows make the mistake of telling the boss about his blunders.

One final tip: If you learn the new boss is a 24-karat dumbbell, don't grouse about him or spread the news too far. In that case they might fire him and hire a really smart boss. Who in the office wants a catastrophe like that?

Mothers Sometimes Are Strict, But They Have The Nicest Laps

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

My ten-year-old friend did such a whole-some job on the piece about babies that I asked him to write a few weeks ago, I felt he could do as well with a composition for Mother's Day.

He agreed to try again, but again insisted that his name not be used. I therefore have to submit another anonymous piece:

"Mothers are nice people. Once in a while they get some funny ideas, and at times are awful strict, but they are a lot of help, too. I am glad that there are Mothers.

"Mothers seem to pay a lot of attention to things like school, Sunday school, staying clean, and eating your supper on time. A lot of times I see no reason to be studying an ole spelling lesson, but my Mother makes me do it. She says I will be glad later on that I did, but I have no way of knowing about later on."

"She also seems to think that my school books are more important than funny books. I guess it's because Mothers do not always know what is the most interesting."

"Mothers make an awful fuss about getting people up in the morning. They say you have to get to school on time. I guess you do, but gee whiz."

"Mothers don't, but gee whiz. I think that playing baseball on Saturdays, and in the evenings, too, is better than pulling weeds or cleaning up the yard, but Mothers aren't this way. I guess Mothers ought to pitch and bat some, themselves, and they would see things different."

"Mothers put an awful store on Sunday School. They think it is the best place to be every Sunday morning, and even make you go. I guess this is all right, but gee whiz."

"Where Mothers probably are the worst is on making you clean up. They can worry more about a little ole dirt on your arms and neck than anybody. If they tell you to wash for supper, and you wash your hands, they send you back to get your ears and neck and wrists, too, but I don't know of anybody that eats with their ears and neck and wrists. I told my Mother that, but she just said, you do as I tell you, young man."

"One thing about Mothers, though, they can really cook. Some other boys say their Mothers fix good cookies or ice cream, but I would rather have the cookies and ice cream my Mother makes. Only trouble is getting her to make enough of them. She said she couldn't feed the whole neighborhood all the time, but gee whiz."

"Another good thing about Mothers is their laps. I don't talk about this much around the other fellows, because it was mostly when I was little that my Mother's lap felt good. I have sat in my Dad's lap, and in other grown people's laps, when I was littler, of course, but nobody else's lap is like my Mother's. It just feels better, some way."

"Mothers can look awful pretty, too. When they are not mad at you, or when the baby isn't crying, or when something didn't go wrong in the kitchen, and when maybe they are fixing to go some place and they fix their hair, sort of, and stay in front of the mirror a long time, boy, that's when Mothers are pretty."

"Mothers are good to have around when you get hurt. They mostly know what to do, and it always helps. I would not want to get hurt unless I could get my Mother there, awful quick."

"Really, I don't know many Mothers, just the Mothers of my pals, and my own Mother. The other fellows say their Mothers are awful nice, but gee whiz, I would rather have my own Mother."

Happenings In Indo-China Are Puzzling To Lot Of Americans

WASHINGTON — In the business of crying doom there is a great deal of competition in these times. The raw material is always available. And it sometimes seems impossible to exaggerate the magnitude of what has happened and what may yet happen.

China was "lost," and the pursuit of seagoats among us still goes on. Now Indo-China is on the slippery slope. Strange place names come into the news. The Communist troops make a swipe at the capital of Laos, one of the three countries that make up Indo-China.

Americans, who have paid little attention to that remote spot, are puzzled. What's the matter? We've been sending aid out there, haven't we? Who dunnit?

The final crash may not come at all or it may be merely postponed. But it is time that American officials began to talk with greater candor about what is actually happening there, the powerful forces at work and what these forces can mean. The conventional phrases about rushing more aid may mask the final tragedy and open the way to another whodunnit in the Chinese pattern, with assorted seagoats tarred and feathered.

Those with access to detailed intelligence reports beyond the news accounts of battles won or lost see many similarities in the situation in Indo-China today and that in China five or six years ago. There are the same disturbing reports of the misuse of arms and materiel sent to the French in Saigon who have for seven years been resting the Communist guerrillas.

Americans returning from Indo-China have reported that part of this supply is actually falling into Communist hands in one way or another. Reports just like that came from China in the last stages of Chiang Kai-shek's battle with the Communist armies.

The Indo-Chinese complain that the French have not granted essential political reforms, including a specific pledge of independence. They charge that loyal Viet-Namense are not being trained and formed into an army to fight Ho Chi-Minh's guerrillas. Reports come back that the local population not merely fails to resist but tolerates Communist infiltration. Here, too, the similarity to the conflict in China hardly needs pointing up.

Recently King Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, one of the three Indo-Chinese states, visited New York and Washington on his way home from France. As a measure of his desperation, he said in a public interview that the French would not grant his country the pledge of independence he considered essential to win popular support for the war against the Communists. Cambodia is next door to Laos where the guerrilla army is advancing on the capital.

A major difference sets the Chinese and the Indo-Chinese wars apart. The war in China was a civil war, with limited American aid furnished one side. The fighting in Indo-China is between forces sent from France and the Indo-Chinese rebels who are receiving limited help from the Chinese Communists.

Inherent in the situation in Indo-China is a dilemma that may be at the root of the tragedy. The French military have resisted the effort to grant greater independence to the governments of Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam. The argue with impressive logic that Frenchmen will not be willing to go out to fight and die in the green hell of jungle warfare for real estate that will be part of a federation independent of France when the war ends.

With logic just as impressive the leaders of the independence movement argue their people will not fight for a French dependency. They know they need the partnership of France in this war. But they insist they must be promised independence when it ends.

What is most devastating from the viewpoint of a free Asia in partnership with the West is the propaganda effect of Communist successes. The shock of this news—a native force pushing back what is supposedly a trained and armed force from the West—spreads with the impact of an earthquake through Thailand, Burma, India. This is loss of face, prestige. Moreover, it underscores the constant Communist propaganda that the French are fighting a colonial war against the people of Indo-China.

The earthquake has repercussions in Washington, too. As the contest over the extent of foreign aid begins in Congress, there are those who would be only too happy to find an excuse for cutting deeper into the aid appropriation. The discreet state department line is "keep quiet." But it is well to remember that too much was kept quiet about China until after the debacle.

Sunday Talk: About Mother's Day

When Mother's Day comes near, millions of men, women and children have special thought for their mother. Each wishes to honor the woman who has given care through the years.

Most readers of this column I feel sure, still have their mothers with them. Those of us who have lost our mothers grieve over the loss, but in a sense Mother remains with us.

Two years ago my own mother passed away — on the morning after Mother's Day. All of her sons and daughters were with her at the hospital on Mother's Day, and this must have meant a great deal to her. She had seemed a fixture in our lives, and now we miss her warm sympathy and kindly, human outlook. These qualities live on, however, and supply a light for us.

To those of my readers who still have Mother with them, let me suggest this thought: anything you may do in her behalf will tend to comfort your heart if the sad day comes when she must leave you.

Mother's Day is a reminder of the importance of Mother. We are apt to take our parents as a matter of course, and it is well to be prompted to special attention, whether we give flowers or a present of another kind, let it be plain that love goes with the gift.

There is another thing which I urge, and that is continuing effort. In years gone-by, many persons used to pass around Christmas baskets to the poor. That was helpful, but it hardly settled the problem of the unfortunate. After all, there are at least 364 days in a year besides Christmas Day.

In the same way, Mother lives during the entire year. A gift on Mother's Day is beautiful in itself, but it hardly secures for the rest of the year.

To boys and girls I offer this thought: give to your mother on Mother's Day, and also remember other days. Mother will be pleased, for example, if you are faithful about your school work.

I know of one boy now away at college who did something fine for his mother while he was in high school. Noting that she grew tired after preparing a family dinner, he made it a custom — because of his own wish — to wash and wipe the dishes every evening.

Which Type Destruction Most Feared, Military Or Economic?

In the 1930s, a wrong order of priorities destroyed Britain as a great power and all but leaders of Britain as a nation. The British leaders of the period — men of the highest attainments and best possible intentions — genuinely believed their own catch phrase, which excused their long neglect of Britain's defenses:

"We must remember that Britain's first line of defense is Britain's economic strength."

Unfortunately, the event proved that a balanced budget would not stop a Panzer division or a Heinkel bomber, a it cannot be counted on today to stop a Soviet TU-4. It is at least highly significant, therefore, that the same order of priorities seems likely to be officially established by the Eisenhower administration.

The debate has been going on for three months. In the somewhat alien chamber of the National Security Council, the President and the key members of his Cabinet have been wrestling continuously and prayerfully with the same problem of priorities on which Britain foundered. The tentative result — and it must be emphasized that it is only tentative — is a decision that "economic destruction" is just as much to be feared as national destruction in the more literal sense of the phrase.

This debate has been the real, unseen drama of the Eisenhower administration to date. The issues in dispute were first raised in September, 1949, by the explosion of the Soviet atomic bomb.

To begin the policy story at its very beginning, the Soviet atomic explosion resulted in March, 1950, in a National Security Council policy paper known as NSC-68. Previously we had relied on our atomic monopoly as our sole defense. NSC-68 for the first time established the principle that Soviet military power must be in a measure matched by American military power.

President Truman and Secretary of Defense Johnson signed NSC-68 in March, but continued their contrary policy of American disarmament until June, 1950, when the Korean aggression taught them the error of their ways. The Korean War brought NSC-68 into force with a vengeance.

As early as 1951, however, a re-examination of NSC-68 was launched in the inner circle, largely on the motion of Secretary of Defense Lovett. This further study by the National Security Council revealed much that was deeply disquieting.

Despite the heaviness of our own defense burden, the Soviet military-industrial effort was still on a greater scale than ours. Meanwhile, the growing Soviet atomic stock and strategic air force were beginning to constitute a very serious threat to this country. Over-all America, once invulnerable, was becoming very vulnerable indeed. Such were the findings.

These findings led to a revision of NSC-

'HOAXSTERS' TELLS STORY OF COMMUNISM

"The Hoaxters," a factual and pictorial review of Communism from its bloody beginning to now, will be shown at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday.
 Produced by M-G-M, the documentary film covers the past 35 years. Actual scenes from American and foreign newspapers, armed forces film, and captured enemy film are used. Film editors studied more than two million feet of film in order to select scenes. Communism in the picture is taken from its birth in Moscow to its present impact on America.
 Narrators for the movie are Marilyn Erskine, Howard Keel, Walter Pidgeon, Barry Sullivan, George Murphy, Robert Taylor and James Whitmore.

PLAYS AT RITZ

'Titanic' Is Movie On Ship's Disaster

The Southwest premiere of "Titanic," film version of the 1912 sinking of the famous ocean luxury liner, will be held at the Ritz Theatre today.
 Produced by Twentieth Century-Fox, the movie is the first ever filmed about the catastrophe which took 1,517 lives. It will also show Monday.
 Clifton Webb and Barbara Stanwyck head the cast. Supporting actors include Audrey Dalton, Robert Wagner, Brian Aherne, Thelma Ritter, Richard Basehart and Ailyn Joslyn.
 The film deals with the personalities of passengers aboard the doomed ship. Stars portray fictional characters, but the background is factual.
 Producers of the movie have tried to picture the personal heroism, bravery and self-sacrifice of those aboard the ship.
 The story centers about Webb and Miss Stanwyck, a couple who have been married 20 years and have two children. Miss Dalton plays their daughter, a social snob. Wagner plays a romantic young collegian who falls in love with Miss Dalton just before the tragedy. Miss Ritter has the part of an eccentric and wealthy widow. Basehart will be seen as a priest who is unfringed because of his desire to drink. Aherne has the part of the captain, and Joslyn plays the man who hid in woman's clothes.
 Each individual's life is traced in the movie, and the disaster brings on a climax in each.
 Miss Stanwyck tells her husband she is going to divorce him in order to find a meaningful life for her and her children. She further tells him that she has not always been faithful. Then comes the crash.
 Miss Dalton mends her attitude toward life after meeting Wagner. Basehart returns to his priestly duties in the final minutes.
 Aherne, the only man playing a factual part as the captain, is shown challenging the mountain of ice which zips into the ship causing the disaster.
 All the action is overshadowed with the gaiety of the holiday-minded passengers of the "floating palace."

Women Duel In New Ritz Movie

The movie with a street gun fight between two women will show at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.
 It is "Woman They Almost Lynched," starring Joan Leslie and Audrey Trotter as the two women involved in the duel. Other members of the cast are John Lund, Brian Donlevy, and Ben Cooper.
 The movie has a Civil War background, concerning a neutral border town. Donlevy plays Quantrell, and Miss Trotter is his wife.
 Lund has the part of a lead mine foreman and a Confederate agent. Miss Leslie plays an Eastern lass who moves to the border town to join her brother.
 On the way, Miss Leslie's stagecoach is robbed by Donlevy. However, Donlevy has Cooper (Jesse James) escort Miss Leslie on into town.
 On arriving in town, Miss Leslie finds her brother drunk, brooding over Miss Trotter marrying Donlevy in a drunken stupor he drawn on Lund and is killed.
 Both Miss Leslie and Miss Trotter fall for Lund. They have a street gunfight to decide who will win him. Miss Leslie cripples Miss Trotter.
 Lund, who is exposed, has to flee. Miss Leslie, making a cover-up confession for him, claims she is a Confederate agent. The populace nearly lynches her, but Miss Trotter saves her from the noose.
 The war over, things return to normal, and Lund and Miss Leslie are reunited.

New Italian Actor in 'Cry Of The Hunted'

The story of an escaped convict and a pursuing security officer is told in "Cry of the Hunted," which shows Saturday at the Ritz Theatre.
 Vittorio Gassman, new Italian actor, has the part of the convict. Barry Sullivan is the officer, and Polly Bergen has the feminine lead.
 Sullivan catches Gassman in the Louisiana bayous, the convicts home grounds. Excitement of the chase leads up to the fighting climax. Miss Bergen is Gassman's wife in the picture.

Desperado Movie Is Slated Here Today

The story of one of the most legendary gun fights in the West is brought to the screen in "Jack McCall, Desperado," which shows at the State Theatre Sunday and Monday.
 George Montgomery has the title role. Supporting actors include Angela Stevens, Douglas Kennedy and James Seay.
 The movie tells the story of the man who killed Wild Bill Hickok in Deadwood in 1876. Kennedy plays Hickok, the man Montgomery kills in a gun fight.

LeTourneau Selling Out Earth Moving Business

By WILLIAM FERRIS
PEORIA, May 9 (AP)—R. G. LeTourneau, an industrialist who once said "God is chairman of my board of directors," is getting out of the earth moving business.
LeTourneau and Westinghouse Air Brake Company have jointly announced an accord covering the purchase by Westinghouse of the earth moving tractor and related activities of R. G. LeTourneau Inc., founded and headed by the millionaire businessman and lay preacher.
While details have not been worked out, it is contemplated Westinghouse will take over the Peoria and Topeca, Ga., plants of the LeTourneau Company. LeTourneau expects to continue as consultant.

LeTourneau, 64, who attributes his spectacular rise to God's help, said today his work may include a new development project in Peru—"I have a proposition I think they will accept."
He said his mission project for developing Liberia will continue with a goal of clearing a half million acres of jungle for farmland. Last year LeTourneau sent the "ark of LeTourneau" to the African nation with 12 "technical missionaries" abroad, after the converted Navy landing craft had been blessed by evangelist Billy Graham.

The idea is to convert the natives to Christianity, and also to show them modern farming methods. LeTourneau said he didn't think the natives could be converted "when their bellies cry for food."
LeTourneau now lives at Longview, where he heads the LeTourneau Technical Institute of Texas. In 1946 he bought the Army's Harmon General Hospital at Longview and converted it into the institute.
LeTourneau got the hospital for $1 in return for benefits accruing to veterans from a training program he started, providing free shelter and tuition. The hospital cost 25 million dollars to build and had an appraisal value set at $870,000 by the Surplus Property Administration.

LeTourneau was born at Richmond, Va., of devout parents. Three uncles and two sisters were missionaries. He quit school to work in a foundry at 14. Many years later at Stockton, Calif., he bought an old tractor and, as a small contractor, went into the land leveling business.

One night he attended a meeting of the Young People's Mission. He was so inspired that, when he got home, he turned out on his drafting board a design for a power control unit which became the nerve center for his "great steel monsters that can gnaw a mountain down or fill a valley."

LeTourneau recalls, "I had a little foundry back in the boom period (1925-29) that was doing a modest business. Then the depression flattened me out. I was bankrupt and several thousands in debt. In my extremity I turned to the Lord for guidance. I promised a part of my income for missions."
Money started to trickle in, and then to pour down. In 1935 LeTourneau organized what he called "the Lord's treasury" and what goes by the more formal name of LeTourneau Foundation with headquarters in New York City. LeTourneau gave 67.5 per cent of his company's stock to the foundation, which coordinates his religious philanthropies and evangelistic efforts.

The last balance sheet, as of Dec. 31, 1951, showed the foundation owned 317,641 shares, or 63.1 per cent, of the company's outstanding common stock. Presumably, Westinghouse will have to buy this stock, or a part of it, to get control of the company. Sales in 1951 totaled nearly 56 million dollars and net income more than three million.

LeTourneau moved his main plant in 1935 from Stockton to Peoria, where he held religious meetings inside the factory several times a day.

Laughable Romance Seen In 'Sombrero'

The down-to-earth humor of life south of the Rio Grande is pictured in the movie, "Sombrero," which shows at the Ritz Theatre Thursday and Friday.

Richard Montalban and Pier Angel play the couple responsible for a laughable romance.

But two other not-so-humorous love affairs are included in the production. Vittorio Gassman and Yvonne De Carlo pair off in a tragic romance, and Cyd Charisse and Rick Jason furnish a tempestuous love.

The movie concerns a feud between two small communities. Miss Angel is the mayor's daughter, while Montalban is a lady's man from the other village.

Although no self-respecting father is Miss Angel's town will allow his daughter to associate with a boy from the other community, the two marry. Eventually the cities forget their feuds.

Gassman, though he loves Miss De Carlo, is forced to marry a girl in his social strata. Death is the final outcome in the arrangement. Miss Charisse and Jason do an abundance of dancing in the production.

'Hurricane Smith' To Play At Jet Drive-In

"Hurricane Smith," starring John Ireland and Yvonne De Carlo, is scheduled at the Jet Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Technicolor movie deals with a search for a sunken treasure on a South Sea island. Forrest Tucker, James Craig and Richard Arlen have supporting roles.

Ireland plays Hurricane Smith, and Tucker and Arlen are his buddies. Craig has the part of the man attempting to steal their treasure.

An underwater fight against a shark, a full-scale mutiny, theft of a ship in port, and fighting on an island are filmed in the movie.

Genealogists have traced the ancestry of Queen Elizabeth II of England to Woden, Fourth Century Germanic tribal king, later deified as Odin for whom Wednesday is named.

MAY EXPLAIN ACTIONS

Internal Crisis In Soviet Is Possible

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

A campaign for internal unity, begun just after Premier Georgi M. Malenkov took over, has reached such a furious peak in the Soviet press as to suggest some sort of internal crisis. This campaign may explain the sometimes bewildering Soviet peace offensive, as well as a tightening up of the Soviet Communist party and government.

By the beginning of May, almost every domestic item in Soviet organs had something to do with the theme of the "inviolable unity of the Soviet people."
Interwoven was the theme of the superiority of the Russian people proper and the debt owed them by peoples of the 15 other Soviet republics. The press inveighed violently against "bourgeois nationalism"—meaning nationalism in any dependent Soviet republic—and "cosmopolitanism," an old description of Jews with Zionist leanings.

Repeated over and over again was this theme: "So long as the friendship of peoples exists and flourishes, we need fear no enemies, internal or external." But the press says "Agents of imperialism, bourgeois nationalism and cosmopolitanism must be unmasked and eliminated."
Other articles explain how workers from far-flung Soviet provinces work together on hydroelectric stations and major construction. They tell how "with the brotherly help of the great Russian people all the peoples of the USSR achieved notable successes and economic and cultural building."

There is great stress on "rights" guaranteed by the Soviet constitution, and upon the idea of "equal rights of all races and nations."

The home front propaganda suggests that with Stalin's death there were restless stirrings among the peoples of the Ukraine, White Russia, the three Baltic states and the republics of Central Asia. All are being mentioned specifically.

This may explain the general tightening up under the Malenkov regime. Each republic government got a shakeup. Russians took over key positions in the republic governments, and the security forces were overhauled in each. The Communist party itself apparently was pruned of unreliable elements.

This also could explain the peace offensive. Previous peace campaigns were aimed primarily at convincing people abroad of peaceful Soviet intentions. This one seems equally concerned with convincing the people at home that war is not at hand.

In the shadow of possible war, two things might have happened within the Soviet republics. The war threat might have brought on the traditional fatalistic Oriental attitude—war is coming, so why slave? Two, it could have led those "remnants" of Nationalists, of whom the press speaks, to hope their cause is not lost. The thought of the Soviet Union embroiled in war might have recalled the mass defections of the last war, even to the dreaded German enemy.

In all this there is a confusing mixture—a retreat from Stalinism but a retention of Stalinism's more aggressive aspects. The Soviet press seems to be preaching more Lenin than Stalin to Communists abroad.

I'VE ALREADY CALLED ON HANFORD, THE LEADER OF THE HOMESTEADERS, AND TOLD HIM THAT HIS PEOPLE WOULD HAVE TO CLEAR OUT OF HERE.

THAT'S RIGHT! THEY HAVE FENCED THE OPEN RANGE AN' PLANTED CROPS.

HANFORD SAID THEY'D FIGHT TO THE DEATH TO HOLD THEIR LAND.

IF THEY WANT GUN-PLAY, WE'LL ACCOMMODATE 'EM!

IF THE HOMESTEADERS ARE STILL THERE BY SATURDAY, LET'S ATTACK 'EM!

THAT'S THE TICKET!

WE CATTLEMEN WILL GO BROKE UNLESS WE DRIVE 'EM OUT!

WE'LL TEAR DOWN THE FENCES, RUN CATTLE ACROSS THE CROPS AN' BURN THE HOUSES!

WE'LL SHOOT ANYONE WHO RAISES A GUN AGAINST US!

GOOD!

I'M FOR IT!

JUST A MINUTE! YOU MEN ARE IN THE WRONG. THE GOVERNMENT GAVE THOSE HOMESTEADERS THEIR LAND! YOU'VE NO RIGHT TO DRIVE THEM OUT!

THERE'S PLENTY OF RANGE WITHOUT THAT LAND--

WHO'S THE STRANGER?

MUST BE A HOME-STEADER!

GRAB HIM!

HANG ON TUH HIM!

TAR AN' FEATHER HIM AN' SEND HIM TO THE HOMESTEADERS!

WE'LL SHOW HIM WHO MAKES THE LAW AROUND HERE!
