Downward enrollment trend slows

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

Student enrollment in the Pampa Independent School District is looking better compared to previous years.

Superintendent Dawson Orr said although the district is 30 students smaller this year than last, that "trend wise, it's slowing down."

During the administrative report at Thursday night's school board, Orr and board members examined enrollment numbers for the 1997-98 school year.

Orr informed the board that in the past few years, the district has lost about 75 students a year compared to this year's 30.

The board also touched on a number of other issues after they took some time to give attention to three teachers who have received nominations and awards for "Teacher of the Year" this year.

The teachers recognized included Debbie Weaver and Marcella Diller from Pampa Middle School and Pam Lash from Wilson Elementary.

In other matters, the 1997-98 tuition rate was set for the school district. Incoming transfer students tuition will be $2,925.

Mark McVay, business manager for the district, told the members, "the purpose of tuition for out of district students is to charge what it costs to educate these kids."

Other action items included the approval of reappointing Gray County Appraisal District Board of Directors, Wallace Birkes and Lewis Meers.

"We appreciate their efforts and can see they have community interests at heart," said John Curry, president of the board.

The members also approved the consideration of advancing funds for the Multi-Purpose Activity Center Construction project, until other project monies come in from vending machines, etc.

The consideration of Pampa High School's Band and Choir spring trips was approved.

The sale of delinquent tax property was also approved, along with the cash receipts and expenditures for August.

The consideration to set 1997 tax rates for maintenance and operation was deferred until a morning meeting on September 25th.

ANGLETON, Texas (AP) — Officials in Texas are planning a counter lawsuit if the state of Missouri refuses to make $319,000 payment still owed for housing inmates at the Brazoria County Detention Center.

The bill is due Saturday and covers the final month's cost of food and leased bed space for hundreds of Missouri convicts kept at the Angleton jail.

The Brazosport Facts reported Thursday if the payment is not received, officials will sue Missouri.

Missouri abruptly canceled its $6 million annual contract with Brazoria County last month and ordered the 415 prisoners home after a videotape obtained by the newspaper showed deputies kicking inmates and using a stun gun on them.

The inmates were overseen by sheriff's deputies and guards hired by Capital Correctional Resources Inc. of Groesbeck.

In August, Missouri Attorney General Jay Nixon filed a breach of contract lawsuit against Brazoria County officials, claiming they resisted an investigation into a videotaped Sept. 18, 1996 incident.

Earlier this week, Nixon said until that lawsuit is settled, Missouri does not intend to pay the $319,000.

Nixon spokesman Scott Holste told The Facts Brazoria County should be held additionally responsible for the extra cost of taking some 400 prisoners back to Missouri.

But Ron Barclay, an assistant district attorney in Angleton, said Brazoria County is entitled to the money the Missouri Department of Corrections still owes for the last few weeks Missouri inmates lived at the Brazoria County Detention Center.

Also, Brazoria County will try to have the lawsuit transferred from a Missouri circuit court to a federal court, which Barclay believes has jurisdiction over the interstate contract.

Barclay also accused Nixon and other Missouri officials of trying to capitalize on the sensational aspects of the incident.

Singer and story teller Don Sanders of Houston was at Austin School in Pampa Wednesday performing his one-man show The Sourdough Cowboy. Sanders, who appeared this afternoon at Wilson School, was in Pampa courtesy of the Texas Commission on the Arts.

Tall tales, singing, rope tricks part of cowboy's art grant visit

The Sourdough Cowboy was in Pampa, singing cowboy songs and telling cowboy stories to Pampa elementary students.

Don Sanders of Houston visited Pampa schools Wednesday singing, telling stories; playing his guitar and banjo, his spoon and harmonica; and spinning his rope along with a few yarns.

Funded by a Texas Commission on the Arts grant, Sanders sang traditional songs and told stories based on those collected by writers in the 1930s. "The events in the stories you'll hear," he said, "are true. I found most of the basic information in the WPA Writer's Project interviews with cowboys that were done in the 1930s."

Sanders took the events and anecdotes and combined them with appropriate songs, he said, for his performance.

"Cowboys entertained themselves a hundred years ago," Sanders said. "Entertainment or recreation was often closely tied to their everyday lives rather than a spectacle created for them by professional entertainers."

Born and reared in Houston, Sanders has written and recorded half a dozen albums of his own music. He said he's travelled the country performing his songs and acting in plays. He's also written a one-man show and translated several plays from Spanish to English.

Sanders has a bachelor's in philosophy and a master's in Spanish literature from the University of Houston. He's married and has a 6-year-old son.

How was man hurt? Law officers seek details

By LAURA HALEY

State troopers and Roberts County Sheriff Deputies are still searching for any information that could shed light onto the events leading to the injury of a 54-year-old Pampa man.

"We're still at a standstill," said Department of Public Safety Trooper Lee Coronado about the investigation.

Richard Johnson, of Pampa, was discovered lying in the middle of the road on Highway 70 by motorists between 9:30 p.m. on Labor Day. He had sustained injuries to both arms and his head.

Although there are no skid marks, broken glass or any other indication that a vehicle may have hit Johnson, Roberts County authorities said the injuries are similar to being hit by a vehicle.

Coronado said it is likely a driver could have unknowingly struck Johnson.

"Somebody could have hit him and not known they hit him because he was wearing camouflage," he said in an earlier interview.

Johnson and a friend had gone hunting earlier that afternoon, but on the drive home had gotten into an argument. The friend dropped Johnson off at the side of the road about 9:20 p.m. and promised to return with Johnson's wife, authorities said.

Roberts County deputies have received eyewitness reports of the two men on the side of the road. An additional report was made later by a passing motorist about something that "looked like a body" lying on the side of the road. A short while later, Johnson was discovered by two more hunters lying in the middle of the road.

Trooper Coronado said a blood sample has been sent for alcohol analysis. Results should be available, he said, in about two weeks.

Anyone who may have seen Johnson or have any information is urged to call the Department of Public Safety at 665-7168 or Roberts County Sheriff's Office at 868-3121.

Field burn sends smoke into Pampa

Pampa looked like it was covered in fog at mid-morning today as a large cloud of wind-blown smoke made its way over the city.

City Fire Department Training Officer Tim Kirkwood said the smoke came from a controlled burn of a field of stubble. The field is north and west of Celanese.

Though the smoke was evident by sight and smell for about an hour, brisk winds helped to clear the sky.

Injury accident

A red Dodge Stealth collided with a Chevrolet pick-up truck at 10 this morning on Highway 60, east of Celanese. Pampa Fire Department personnel worked hard to pry out and rescue those in the Dodge. Victims were taken by ambulance to Columbia Medical Center. No other details were available and the officers were still investigating circumstances surrounding the accident at press time.

Food Lion will close 61 Southwestern stores Layoffs to number about 3,100

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Food Lion Inc. is concentrating on its roots in the Southeast and ending a troubled venture into the Southwest, closing 61 stores in three states and eliminating 3,100 jobs.

The cuts in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, announced Thursday, mark Food Lion's second pullback since its much-second-guessed expansion into the Southwest in 1991. Three years ago, the grocery chain closed 47 stores in Oklahoma and Texas.

"We examined a number of options, including possible acquisitions, and determined that it was in the best interests of the company and our shareholders to sell the stores and deploy our assets toward further growth in our successful Southeast and Mid-Atlantic markets," said Food Lion president and chief executive Tom Smith.

Neal Kaplan, an analyst with Scott and Stringfellow Inc. of Richmond, Va., said the slow sales in the Southwest were dragging down an otherwise successful company.

"It's clear the Texas side of the business appeared to be down. The rest of the company appears to be up," Kaplan said. "They are getting rid of what seems to have been a problem all along."

The decision to branch into the Southwest was not embraced by everyone in the company, leading Food Lion co-founder Ralph Ketner to resign from Food Lion's board of directors in 1993.

At the time of the 1994 closings, the grocery chain blamed its failure to gain a foothold in the Southwest on a damaging hidden-camera expose by ABC's "PrimeTime Live" in November 1992.

"PrimeTime Live" said the chain was selling meat past its expiration date. The company denied the allegations but blamed the show for a sharp drop in its stock price and a decline in profits.

In January, a federal jury in Greensboro awarded Food Lion $1,402 in compensatory damages and $5.5 million in punitive damages, finding that ABC producers lied on job applications in order to collect videotape for the report.

A federal judge last month reduced the jury award by 90 percent to $315,000. Food Lion is trying to determine whether it will accept the reduction.

Food Lion employs more than 75,000 workers at 1,058 stores in 11 states and 91 Kash n' Karry stores in Florida.

The grocery chain also reported Thursday that its third-quarter earnings plunged to $1.2 million from $50 million in the same period last year because of costs of the closings and layoffs. Without those costs, earnings would have risen to $54.4 million.

Drug charge nets life in prison

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A Houston man has been sentenced to life in prison for running a crack cocaine ring that distributed the drug in Louisiana on a weekly basis for several years.

Norwood Johnson, 30, was handed the sentence Thursday by U.S. District Judge John Shaw.

Johnson was convicted March 17 on several drug charges, including running a continuing criminal enterprise. His brother, Richard Earl Johnson, 26, of Houston, also was convicted and received a 20-year prison sentence on Tuesday.

Norwood Johnson's former girlfriend, Shannon

Martin, 26, of Houston, was sentenced to four years. She pleaded guilty and testified against Johnson.

Twenty-five other people also have been convicted in connection with the drug ring.

During the trial, testimony from several of Johnson's employees showed the ring brought at least one to two kilograms of crack cocaine to Louisiana for several years.

The jury also found that Johnson made at least $3.7 million in the drug business, an action that allows the government to seize Johnson's assets and look for assets hidden under other names.

Texas home sales hit high

COLLEGE STATION — Nearly 14,000 homes were sold by Multiple Listing Services in major Texas markets during July, the most of any month so far this year.

"Total home sales were up slightly compared to June and compared to July of last year," says Mark Baumann, researcher with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. "The median statewide home price for July was $92,700 — down $800 from June but $4,300 more than a year ago."

"One indication that sales are slowing," says Baumann, "is the slight increase in the overall supply of homes available for sale. For July, Texas had a 7.3-month housing inventory — the largest supply since last November. In June, the inventory was seven months. Last July the inventory was 7.6 months."

Most homes sold in major Texas markets — 18.6 percent — were priced at $60,000 to $79,999, according to Baumann. Another 15.8 percent sold for $80,000 to $99,999.

The lowest median price for July was reported in Paris — $52,500. Three other cities reported medians less than $60,000 — Port Arthur ($56,900); Palestine ($57,900); and Lufkin ($59,000).

Plano had the state's highest median at $158,800. Montgomery County in southeast Texas was second with $129,200. Six other Texas MLSs reported medians of more than $100,000. These were Northeast Tarrant County ($122,000); Irving ($121,200); Denton ($121,100); Fort Bend ($117,800); Austin ($116,200); Dallas ($112,500).

Baumann maintains a unique database assembled from 44 of the state's largest MLSs. He tracks price distribution, days-to-sell, total homes for sale, home sales, months inventory, median and average prices, employment activity and building permits issued.

Lawsuit alleging spiked smoothie settled

HOUSTON (AP) — An Austin-based seller of natural foods has settled a lawsuit filed by a Houston bar and restaurant operator who alleged he was served a wheatgrass smoothie spiked with eye medication.

Rudy Trabaino alleged in his lawsuit against Whole Foods Market that, as a prank, a store shift manager used a bottle of Visine to spike the smoothie.

Trabaino said he became violently ill and was hospitalized for several days with acute pain and a variety of serious medical problems.

State District Judge Richard Hall notified participants in the suit that a settlement had been reached and the case would be dismissed today.

Luis Fabrega, an attorney who represented the grocery chain, said Thursday that terms of the

Patients urged to test for HIV after tampering

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston hospital is urging 53 former patients to get tested for the HIV virus because a former nurse who may have tampered with some drugs has been found to be infected with the virus.

The action was taken Thursday by officials at Twelve Oaks Hospital because they fear the nurse, who was not identified, may have tampered with vials of narcotics such as Demerol, Dilaudid and morphine and might have contaminated them.

Steve Altmiller, the hospital's chief, said the nurse resigned.

"We are going to attempt to interview him," said spokeswoman Kathy Barton of the city of Houston Health and Human Services.

Ex-city pension manager to plead guilty to fraud

AUSTIN (AP) — The manager of the pension fund for Austin's city workers will plead guilty to charges that she padded a private bank account with between $140,000 and $350,000 in pension money, according to the U.S. attorney's office.

Merle Wilkins, who was the pension officer for the Austin Employee Retirement System from 1991 until last March, used a fake Social Security number in the scheme, according to court records.

She will plead guilty Monday to money laundering and bank fraud, according to an agreement reached Sept. 12 with the U.S. attorney's office.

In exchange for the guilty plea, the U.S. attorney's office will recommend a sentence at the low end of federal sentencing guidelines. The maximum sentence is 20 years for the money laundering charge and 30 years for the bank fraud charge.

U.S. District Judge Sam Sparks still must approve the plea bargain.

Ty Herndon to appear before judge

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Republican circle, are questioning Country-western singer Ty Herndon will be back before state District Judge James Wilson later this month.

The singer whom Wilson sentenced to five years probation, and later released from probation three years early, on a drug charge is scheduled as a guest performer at the judge's re-election fundraiser rodeo and concert.

Even some within Wilson's own whether it's appropriate for Herndon to perform for the judge who sentenced him.

"I don't think there's anything illegal about it, but I wouldn't do it," Tarrant County Republican Party chairman Steve Hollern, who added that Wilson could have used better judgment. "Given the connection there, I probably would have just stayed away from it."

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Inside the Beltway with
Rep. Mac Thornberry

Still much left to be reformed!

I spent a lot of time this past month talking to people about the tax and budget plan which Congress passed in July and how it will affect their lives.

Most of the people I heard from were happy to hear that a balanced budget had finally been passed and were even happier to hear that Congress had passed a tax cut for the first time in 16 years. But as pleased as they were that these things had happened, most people I talked to also believe there's a lot more work left to be done.

Taxes are still too high, and the tax code itself remains a complicated mess — one that has too many loopholes for those don't pay their taxes, and too many headaches for those who do. Government regulations are still a problem, creating roadblocks for small business owners trying to get ahead, and nightmares for small family farmers just trying to get by.

As for education, it used to be that parents would send their children back to school excited about what they were going to learn. Now they send them off with concern about what they might not learn and fear for their safety. The teachers and students aren't the problem. The problem is the system, and the fact that parents feel as though they're losing control over what is taught to their kids.

In short, the people I heard from in August said that Congress has a lot of work left to do. I agree. The budget and tax bills were a step in the right direction.

But until we have a smaller, smarter government that lets people keep more of what they earn, the job which people elected us to do is far from complete.

Why are we still in Bosnia?

Whatever else this country's involvement in Bosnia has done or failed to do, it has made a royal hash out of the conventional political alignments. Any controversy that finds Abe Rosenthal and me allied against Margaret Thatcher and Noam Chomsky qualifies, to put it mildly, as unusual.

That explains why I am writing this column to criticize a recent editorial in the Weekly Standard, a Washington-based journal of conservative opinion with which I generally (not always, but generally) agree. In its Sept. 8 issue, the Standard comes out strongly for extending "the artificial 'deadline' of June 1998" for the withdrawal of America's 25,000 troops from Bosnia. It defines our purpose there as "smashing Karadzic's power once and for all and then creating a sustainable system of inter-ethnic cooperation in Bosnia," and denounces the "neo-isolationist" impulse that has allegedly led so many Republicans to oppose Clinton's policy there. It calls upon the Republican Congress to become again "the party of Ronald Reagan."

Where to begin? Let's start by dismissing that "neo-isolationist" nonsense. To use myself as an example, I was an "interventionist" long before Pearl Harbor, a diligent Cold Warrior, an advocate of our involvements in both Korea and Vietnam, and a supporter of President Bush's Gulf War. But I cannot for the life of me understand why we have committed American fighting men and women to Bosnia.

The test for putting American lives at risk is, or at least used to be, and still ought to be: Is a vital American interest involved? The Standard's editors apparently know this, for at one point they assert that "it's vital that America stay the course in Bosnia, even if it means casualties." That astonishing statement is left, however, completely unsupported by any evidence or explanation whatever.

Since the end of the Cold War, and the demonstration of American military prowess in the Gulf War, a lot of Americans, including many liberals who were devout "doves" in the Cold War, have apparently found the temptation to throw Uncle Sam's weight around overwhelming. We dispatched 2,500 troops on a disastrous expedition to Somalia, risked the lives of 25,000 more on "Operation Restore Democracy" in Haiti (which dismally failed to restore democracy), and are now gambling 25,000 more in Bosnia in support of our vital interest in ... what?

acquiescence in this last venture by solemnly pledging to withdraw our troops by June 1998. Now, of course, the early maneuvers are under way to welsh on that commitment, but it is sad to see a professedly conservative and Republican journal providing cover for them.

"The party of Ronald Reagan" — When and where did Ronald Reagan risk American lives in situations not involving a vital American interest? He committed 10,000 troops to the invasion of Grenada — a forward Soviet base in the Caribbean — in the depths of the Cold War, sent fewer than a thousand Marines to Lebanon (and then wisely withdrew them), and approved one air raid on Gadhafi's headquarters in Libya in retaliation for proven terrorist acts. Period.

Bosnia is an historic tragedy: the age-old battleground of the Croats, Serbs and Muslims, all of whom across the centuries have been guilty of unforgivable atrocities against each other. It is argued that the United States must take the lead in sorting out their disputes and enforcing peace because our European allies have demonstrated their unwillingness to do so. Is it possible that they know something we don't?

Create "a sustainable system of inter-ethnic cooperation in Bosnia"? How prettily that trips off the tongue! And just how many American lives are the editors of the Standard ready to commit to that lofty goal?

Let's hope the Republican Congress pulls America back from this bottomless pit before it's too late.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today in History
Today is Friday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 1997. There are 103 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On Sept. 19, 1796, President Washington's farewell address was published. In it, America's first chief executive advised, "Observe good faith and justice toward all nations. Cultivate peace and harmony with all."

On this date:
In 1777, during the Revolutionary War, American soldiers won the first Battle of Saratoga.

In 1881, the 20th president of the United States, James A. Garfield, died of wounds inflicted by an assassin.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was arrested in New York and charged with the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh infant.

In 1945, Nazi propagandist William Joyce, known as "Lord Haw-Haw," was sentenced to death by a British court.

In 1955, President Juan Peron of Argentina was ousted after a revolt by the army and navy.

Everyone should get involved

It is early fall, and as Texas schools settle into the new year of educating the more than 3.7 million students across the state, I find myself thinking about the old adage, "the more things change, the more they stay the same."

As the 1997-98 president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, one of my goals is to focus attention on our shared responsibilities. We all realize that today's children are tomorrow's adults, but I wonder if we fully comprehend how more than ever before, each member of society plays an integral part in the whole education of today's youth.

The supplies needed for today's student can no longer be purchased for a few dollars. Necessities may now include such items as computer disks, Jay runners and wrist-rings for house keys. My kindergarten class at the end of last year was entering information on the computer lab hard drive in exactly the same way I did as a college freshman working part-time in the student affairs office.

Educators are faced with many additional roles,

Lynette King
President of Texas Classroom Teachers Association

in large part due to the overwhelming changes in lifestyles that have evolved over the past 25 years. Some research indicates that the very busy parent may spend a mere 15 quality minutes per day with his/her son or daughter. In many households, economic realities dictate the need for two wage earners. There are also more than one million single-parent households in Texas, and those parents' job schedules may well involve after-five employment just to make ends meet.

It is imperative that we recognize the changes that have taken place, draw from experience and make a participatory contribution to our Texas schools. Tax dollars will address the needs for facilities and will provide lunch and even breakfast for nourishment, but we must also invest time and expertise ... whether it is one day per month, an hour each week or just attending the neighborhood Parent-Teacher Organization meeting. I particularly encourage the retired community and those young adults who may someday be parents to get involved in our school systems.

The Texas children of today will be our job force of tomorrow. The benefits of a well-educated workforce include not only a larger tax base but a more secure future for all generations. In today's classrooms sit tomorrow's CEOs, medical specialists, environmentalists and the most important role of all ... parents themselves.

I challenge you to call your local school this week and volunteer in the library, mentor a class, or just stop in to really see how the schools have changed. Virtually everyone has a talent or skill, an idea, or unused supplies or materials that would benefit the students. Texas children need all of us and I am betting that if you are reading this editorial, you are ready to become an active participant in supporting our public schools.

Trade proposal slow in coming

President Clinton's trade allies in Congress have been pressing him for months to deliver in writing the legislation he wants passed this year to give him unfettered authority to negotiate trade deals.

Not quite yet. It's still wait, and then hurry up.

For all the rhetoric on an issue debated for more than two years, the specific terms aren't ready yet. What Clinton seeks is clear: a new ease on the fast-track trade negotiating authority that expired in 1993. That would allow the administration to make trade agreements and put them to Congress as yes-or-no propositions, no amendments permitted.

How Clinton gets there is unclear. The lack of a detailed trade proposal is a symptom of the political stresses at work on the issue.

At a White House sendoff recently, Clinton made fast-track approval sound like the next thing to patriotism. "... if we want to spread prosperity and open trade to support peace and democracy and freedom and free markets, we must do this," the president said.

Congressional Republicans stayed away to protest his lack of a bill.

This is traditionally a Republican cause, and liberal Democrats always have been at least skeptical about the impact of trade agreements in jobs at home.

"There's nothing complicated here," Gene Forster, director of the president's National Economic Council, said of the delay, calling it a matter of a few more days for consultation.

There are political complexities. Clinton can't win without a solid Republican majority in Congress to offset opposition among Democrats. So he has to balance Democratic demands that the bill include provisions on labor standards and environmental protection by U.S. trading partners against GOP insistence on terms that don't tie strings to trade.

Walter Mears
AP Special Correspondent

That's nothing new: the lines were drawn long ago.

"Trade issues have always been hot-button issues for organized labor," said Secretary of Commerce William Daley, who had to tackle that political problem when he was chief lobbyist for Clinton in winning approval of NAFTA, the free trade deal with Mexico, in 1993.

That agreement has not been the trade bonanza advertised at the time, an added burden for the administration now. Labor argues that it has been a job drain, to low-paying Mexican manufacturers. The administration counters that it has had a positive, but modest economic impact.

This trade debate is over umbrella authority to cover future trade agreements. Clinton sought it unsuccessfully in 1995 and shelved it as too sensitive for campaign-year action in 1996. The case for it is that other trading nations won't make agreements with the United States unless they can be assured that Congress won't pick the deals apart with amendments.

Congressional Democrats want labor and environmental conditions set in advance. "The delay in sending up a detailed bill is hopefully a sign that a majority of Democrats and their concerns are being heard," said Rep. Dick Gephardt, the House minority leader.

The Republican counteroffer is to empower presidents to set conditions on environmental and labor standards in future treaties, so long as they apply directly to trade in specific products.

That isn't going to satisfy Gephardt and his allies. The administration needs to find terms that will satisfy enough Democrats to win, knowing that Gephardt and a majority of them will vote no.

Vice President Al Gore will be a leading spokesman for the White House, promising a collision with Gephardt that may preview their likely competition for the 2000 Democratic presidential nomination.

When the administration withheld specific fast-track legislation more than three months ago, Democratic Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who supports the authority, complained that the bill was being held up because of political calculations involving Gore.

Not so, the administration said, and there was no campaign logic to it anyhow. It reflected frustration at the delay among fast-track supporters, who said even then that if Clinton didn't send Congress a bill, there wouldn't be time to act on one this year and he might not get one in 1998, with a campaign on.

They're waiting, and warning that more lost time, even days, makes it less likely that he will get one in 1997.

Chinese plan to exploit weaknesses in U.S. military

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the top echelons of the U.S. and Chinese military get together, they exchange smiles, handshakes and photographs. Behind the scenes, lower-ranking officers are planning for possible conflict.

A laborious Pentagon translation of hundreds of books and journal articles by mid-level Chinese military officers shows that Beijing's future military leadership sees U.S. military power as waning and plans to exploit weaknesses in U.S. weaponry and supply lines should conflict occur.

The Pentagon analysis of Chinese military writings was disclosed Thursday to the Senate Intelligence Committee in a hearing on intelligence challenges posed by China.

The committee's chairman, Sen. Richard Shelby, R-Ala., said he called the hearing to learn more about gathering intelligence on "the only great power whose defense spending has increased in recent years." Taken as a whole, Pentagon analyst Michael Pillsbury told the committee, the Chinese studies acknowledged that China's forces remained decades behind the United States. But they argued that China could catch up with power-leveraging weapons such as highly accurate cruise missiles and torpedoes.

One book published last year by Maj. Gen. Li Zeyun contained articles written by 64 Peoples Liberation Army authors listing in detail weaknesses in U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force capability.

Navy task forces, strung-out supply convoys, logistics bases, military computers and even stealth aircraft could become vulnerable if China exploited the proper technologies.

One book published last year by Maj. Gen. Li Zeyun contained articles written by 64 Peoples Liberation Army authors listing in detail weaknesses in U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force capability.

"This book represents a common theme in PLA views of future warfare — America is proclaimed to be a declining power with but two or three decades of primacy left," Pillsbury told the committee. The Chinese view, he said, was that "U.S. military forces, while dangerous at present, are vulnerable, even deeply flawed, and can be defeated with the right strategy."

The articles and books, Pillsbury said, were not only "very unfriendly" towards the United States, they also were highly accurate in their analysis of weak points in U.S. weaponry.

Pillsbury said that when he approached U.S. weapons experts with some of the weaknesses pointed out by the Chinese, often the reply was, "Where did you hear about that?"

Far from hiding these writings, Chinese authorities openly gave them to the Pentagon and promised to provide more.

Pillsbury translated some 200 books and journal articles in a study conducted for Andrew Marshall, head of the Pentagon's Office of Net Assessment, a Pentagon long-term planning office.

The National Defense University, an arm of the U.S. military, was publishing Pillsbury's book on the project, Chinese Views of Future Warfare.

Pillsbury said it already had been translated and sold in China.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A BIBLICAL HATCHET-MAN!

ONE OF THE MOST LOYAL AND INTENSE FOLLOWERS OF KING DAVID WAS BENAIAH, THE SON OF THE CHIEF PRIEST JEHOIADA! (II SAM. 23:20) BENAIAH WAS A MAN FAMOUS FOR HIS VALIANT DEEDS! HE WAS CELEBRATED FOR HAVING SLAIN TWO LION-LIKE WARRIORS OF MOAB AND, ON ANOTHER OCCASION, DESCENDED INTO A PIT, IN THE DEAD OF WINTER, TO KILL AN ACTUAL LION! ON ANOTHER DAY, WHEN ARMED ONLY WITH A WOODEN STAFF, HE MET A GIANT EGYPTIAN IN BATTLE, WRESTLED THE MAN'S SPEAR FROM HIM AND KILLED HIM WITH HIS OWN WEAPON! (II SAM. 23:20, 21) HE WAS IN CHARGE OF KING DAVID'S PERSONAL BODYGUARD AND ALSO COMMANDED THE MILITARY DIVISION FOR THE 3RD MONTH (I CHRON. 27:5, 6) SO DEPENDABLE WAS HE, THAT HE ALSO WAS USED--WHEN IT WAS NECESSARY TO HAVE SOME POLITICAL MURDERS TAKEN CARE OF--HE EXECUTED, BY THE ORDER OF KING SOLOMON, THE ELDER...

Minister's musings...

After a tragedy or the death of a loved one, many are flooded with an abundance of emotions that can "cripple" an individual for days, weeks, months, and in some instances, years.

There have been hundreds of books written to aid individuals in their hour of sorrow or bewilderment. Some are excellent, some are fair and the rest mean well.

If you find yourself felling like you are locked into darkness and the future is bleak or even nonexistent, then it is time to seek outside help. If you are dealing with emotions that are keeping you from being who you want to be or dealing with some kind of destructive behavior, then it is time for you to seek professional help.

In some situations, you will find your pastor willing to help to a certain extent. If he or she is trained to counsel people who need some outside help, then this is a logical place. Most pastors know when to refer to specialized counselors who are specially trained to help in certain "specialties".

By Rev. Darrell W. Evans
First Christian Church

In our community, we are blessed with angels who are prepared to help when things get out of control. If you are struggling with issues concerning the death of a spouse or someone else close to you, then perhaps you could find a trained specialist through your church, local Hospice Organization or the Samaritan Counseling Center. The point is this: If you need help, there is no reason to go without the assistance that you may need.

As a pastor, I am frequently asked: "When do you know for sure that you may need outside help?"

Here is an abbreviated list: When you can not sleep at night, when you feel trapped, when everything looks dark and you find that a relationship is falling apart. Sometimes loneliness begins to creep into your daily experience (There are many forms of loneliness that are natural).

The bottom line is that there are trained personnel in our community. If you need help, it is okay to ask for it.

Bishop to visit St. Matthews

BY EDYTH JACKSON
For the News

The Rt. Rev. Wallis Ohl, Bishop Co-adjutor of Northwest Texas Diocese, will make his first official visit to St. Matthew's parish in Pampa September 20-21.

The Rev. Jake Clemmens, Rector of St. Matthew's said, "I am pleased and excited about people getting to know Bishop Ohl. I have known him for many years and recommend him to one and all as a bishop full of God's grace."

Bishop Ohl will officiate at both Sunday services—8 a.m. and the 10:30 service of confirmation. The Rev. Clemmens said, "We have the largest number of confirmands that we've had in the last four years. Also, we will be celebrating St. Matthew's Day."

Ohl was consecrated the fourth bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas—the 930th bishop ordained and consecrated in the American wing of the worldwide Anglican communion—on June 28, 1997.

The Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas was granted diocesan status in 1958. Its 77,000 square miles stretches from the Panhandle to west of Odessa, east beyond Abilene and South of San Angelo. There are 11,000 communicants from 37 churches and missions; eight elementary school; two retirement centers; and one conference center.

Bishop Ohl was born October 21, 1943 in Bay City, Texas. He received his BA degree from the University of the South in 1965 and Master of Divinity degree from Nashotah House Seminary in 1974. He was ordained in June of 1974; served as Assistant Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral in Oklahoma City (1974-76); as Vicar (77-80) and Rector (80-91) of St. Michael's in Norman, Oklahoma; and as Rector of St. Michael the Archangel in Colorado Springs, Colorado (91-97).

Also, he was professor of History and Dean of Bishop's School of Theology (75-78); on the Standing Committee of the Church (77-82 and 87-90) president (80, 82, and 90); on the commission on Ministry (77-91) chairman (85-91); and a Deputy to General Convention (82 and 91). He was on the board of Examining Chaplains in the Diocese of Oklahoma (83-91); served on the Ecclesiastical Court (92-94) as president (94-97). He is the author of Into the Household of God.

Bishop Ohl and his wife, Sheila, married since 1964, have three children and two grandchildren.

The Rev. Clemmens extends a welcome to all who wish to celebrate with members of St.

Rt. Rev. Wallis Ohl
Matthew's.
A luncheon, hosted by Jennifer Butler, Holly Burger, and Marsha Darby, will be served after the 10:30 service.

Fellowship Baptist Church sets revival

Fellowship Baptist Church, 622 E. Browning, will hold a revival Sept. 28-Oct. 1 featuring evangelist The Rev. Dr. Tommy Stone of Sherman, Texas. Services will start at 7 p.m.

Stone, who has been in full-time evangelism for 14 years, is also a musician and he'll play the piano and sing gospel songs as well as perform music on a hand saw.

Stone was born in Italy, Texas, and moved when an infant with his family to East Texas where his father forker started on the wrong road, a road of sin, says a brochure about Stone.

When he was 14, Stone coaxed his dad into getting him a minor's release so he could work at his dad's side as an oil field roughneck. This association with older, hardened, men got him started on the wrong road, a road of sin, says a brochure about Stone.

When he was 18 he was saved and at 25 was called to preach the Gospel. He has pastored from 20 years, including 13 years at Grayson Bible Baptist Church.

Hope

There's Plenty To Go Around.

Wouldn't it be great if we went through life without any problems? Well, that's not the way things are. We all struggle. But there is a way to face whatever comes along with peace, and with confidence.

We're your neighbors, the people of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, and we invite you to celebrate with us that special hope and peace that Christ alone can bring.

Woman All Tied Up In Knots Must Cut Herself Some Slack

DEAR ABBY: I have huge expectations for myself, but I never achieve my goals. For example, I want to be a straight-A student, but even though I study and study, I still get B's.

I want to be beautiful. I eat right, I work out, I get enough sleep, but I've never been able to lose the extra 10 pounds I carry.

Plus, I look in the mirror, and all I see is disorder. I want to be happy and surrounded by friends and family. In reality, every time I start to get close to a man, I get scared and ruin it. And if I spend more than an hour with my parents, I'm climbing the walls.

In short, how do I change so I can finally accept myself as I am, and begin enjoying life?
FRUSTRATED PERFECTIONIST IN OAKLAND, CALIF

DEAR PERFECTIONIST: You're already on the right track because you realize your unhappiness comes from the tint on the lenses through which you view your situation. Counseling is the answer. Once you get to the root of why you have such high expectations for yourself that nothing you achieve is meaningful, you'll be able to forgive yourself, and get on with your life.

car seats. Perhaps my experience will impress parents with the importance of this safety measure.

My friend Suzie and I decided to take our sons to her father's home to swim in his pool. Suzie had two sons (ages 3 and 1) and I have one. I always insisted that the children buckle up in my car, and they never gave me a problem with it. I told them that they could either buckle up or walk along behind the car, and because they thought I would actually make them walk, they buckled up.

Well, the day we were going to take them to Suzie's father's home, my back seat was full of laundry, so we took two cars. I allowed my son to sit in the front seat, but I moved it way back so he wouldn't be too close to the dashboard — then I buckled him in. Suzie's 3-year-old threw a fit about the safety seat, so she let him ride unbuckled. She followed me, and in my rearview mirror, I could see her son climbing from front to back and back to front.

Suddenly a car turned in front of me and I couldn't stop. I hit it and spun around, coming to a dead stop in the middle of the road. Suzie was so busy yelling at her son, she didn't see what was happening until it was too late. She hit me!

Although my little compact car didn't hold up very well, my son walked away with only a few minor bruises. Sadly, Suzie's 3-year-old didn't fare so well! He was thrown around in the car and critically injured. He died two days later. Every day I think about how easily his death could have been prevented had Suzie forced him to be buckled in his safety seat.

Since that accident, my son insists upon being buckled in. If I forget, he reminds me.

Abby, I want to tell parents that it's a lot easier to tolerate your children's anger when you insist that they are buckled in than to regret for eternity that you didn't.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A friend might do something spiteful today, but your suspicions won't last long when you realize he or she was just trying to be humorous.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not let pent-up urges to succeed make you unduly assertive today. You will do much better if you think in terms of sharing instead of dominating.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you conduct yourself in a manner today that others can respect, they'll support your right to express them, whether they agree with you or not.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your best breaks could come about today from sources that might not be readily recognizable. Do not lose your faith if your first attempts don't work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're too self-serving today, you may jeopardize any impending agreement. Making concessions could prompt good will from your counterparts.

FOOTBALL

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quarterback Pete Gonzalez started the season as a fifth-year senior with little to show for his experience and doubtful prospects of ever playing in a big game for Pittsburgh.

Three weeks into his last year, he has already bounced an opponent out of the Top 25 and led the Panthers (3-1) to their best start in six years.

Gonzalez completed 19 of 33 passes for 187 yards and two touchdowns and ran for another score Thursday as Pittsburgh upset No. 22 Miami 21-17, prompting fans to tear down the goalposts at the east end of Pitt Stadium.

"It's just frustrating, yes," Gonzalez said. "This just means so much not just for me, but also for the senior class and all the seniors who have been with me this far."

COMMERCE, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Adam Brooks fumbled while trying to run out the clock, and T.J. Williams ran 30 yards with the ball for a touchdown that gave Southeastern Oklahoma a 15-14 victory Thursday night.

The score came with just 32 seconds left on the clock.

Brooks went to one knee on first down, but Southeastern Oklahoma called time out, and Brooks fumbled on a keeper on second down.

Andra Johnson returned the kickoff 17 yards to the Lion 48, and Brooks threw 16 yards to Alex Green, putting the ball on the Southeastern Oklahoma 34. But David Dell missed on a 55-yard field goal attempt on the game's final play.

Brooks' 34-yard pass to Kasey Cowan gave A&M-Commerce a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, but the visitors led 9-7 at the half on Eric Nuber's 40-yard field goal and Chris Erloe's 24-yard pass to Robert Marshall.

Radical realignment dead; 5 to 7 teams is new goal

ATLANTA (AP) — Baseball owners have abandoned their attempt at radical realignment and are concentrating on a more moderate plan that has five or seven teams switching leagues.

Owners, unable to form a plan with enough support for approval, extended their deadline for a decision from Sept. 30 to Oct. 15 and said it could be delayed again.

Realignment committee chairman John Harrington said about a half-dozen plans were under consideration, and acting commissioner Bud Selig finally admitted the total geographic realignment, in which 15 teams would have switched leagues, is "very, very, very unlikely."

"They've looked at more maps than Magellan," Selig said after the relatively brief 2 1/2-hour session.

Proponents of realignment appear set on switching Anaheim, Oakland and Seattle to the National League and moving Florida and Montreal to the American. Some also would like to move Houston and possibly Arizona to the AL in exchange for Kansas City and possibly Milwaukee.

"We have a difficult job in front of us," Atlanta Braves president Stan Kasten said, "because we have 30 teams, which means we have 30 different histories, 30 different sets of circumstances."

Leading rusher

Senior running back Ronnie Proby (43) leads Pampa High rushers with 192 yards on 44 carries and one touchdown after two games. The 275-pound Proby will have the opportunity to add to those yardage numbers when the Harvesters take on Plainview at 7:30 tonight in Plainview. It will be the final non-district game of the season for the Harvesters.

Pirates rip Astros to keep NL playoff hopes alive

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates are alive for another day in the NL Central. What they want to do is get it down to the last day.

In Houston. With Francisco Cordova on the mound.

The Astros still lead the Pirates by 3 1/2 games in the NL Central despite losing to Pittsburgh 12-3 Thursday night, and they still expect to wrap up the division before the teams finish the season next weekend in Houston.

"They've got to do a lot of work to catch us," said Darryl Kile (18-7), who lost his fourth decision in five games. "We got what we wanted here — a split."

But should the Astros let the Pirates back into the race by that final series, they might get exactly what they don't want — Cordova (11-8) on the mound in a meaningful game.

At least they got a couple of hits off him in six innings, something they didn't do when he no-hit them for nine innings on July 12. But they mostly flailed helplessly at his sinker and changeup as he extended his hitless innings streak against them to 15 until Billy Spiers' homer in the fifth.

"I couldn't believe it when he threw me six straight changeups," Jeff Bagwell said of his sixth-inning strikeout. "I also couldn't believe it when I swung at them."

Now the Astros know how teams felt when they sent Nolan Ryan to the mound. Cordova's linescore in four career starts against Houston: 29 innings pitched, five hits, two runs, a 2-0 record and a 0.62 ERA.

The right-hander's effective outing was especially important to the Pirates because he had lasted only 9 1-3 innings in two starts since coming off the disabled list.

"The key to Francisco is keeping the ball down, and that's what he did," catcher Jason Kendall said. "He kept us in a game we needed to win. We've got nine left and we want to win them all. Obviously, we want to go to Houston with a chance."

They wouldn't have had much of one had Houston swept the two-game series. A loss would have dropped Pittsburgh 5 1/2 games back and, as Turner Ward said, "That would have pretty much been the season."

Sauers takes lead at Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gene Sauers escaped the heat that turned the greens into table tops in the first round of the LaCantera Texas Open.

Teeing off in cool shadows just after 8 a.m., well before the course was baked to 100 degrees Thursday, Sauers had an eagle, seven birdies and a bogey for a course record-tying 64 and a 1-stroke lead over Mike Brisky.

"I was in the second group out," said Sauers, who has one top 10 finish and four missed cuts this year in 13 events. "It wasn't so hot yet. The greens were perfect, and I was putting well."

Today, those with morning tee times in the first round were to play in the afternoon, and vice versa. Temperatures again were expected to climb to triple digits.

Duffy Waldorf appeared on his way to the course record Thursday after six birdies on the front nine helped him get to 8-under with six holes to play. But he made two bogeys and missed three birdie putts inside of 10 feet down the stretch to finish at 6-under-par 66, tied with Paul Goydos for third place.

Waldorf was the only player with an afternoon tee time to make a run at Sauers.

"I don't think we play in conditions much hotter, especially in September and after playing events in cooler places like Montreal and Milwaukee," Waldorf said, sweat pouring off of his face after his round. "I'm looking forward to a morning tee time."

Red Ribbon Campaign slated for next month

This year's Red Ribbon Campaign against drug abuse has been slated for Oct. 23-31, according to officials with the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, who will be helping to promote the annual event.

The Red Ribbon Campaign helps coordinate a wide range of substance abuse prevention efforts on the part of schools, businesses, prevention agencies, community groups and religious organizations.

Kids, parents and other concerned adults may show their support for a drug-free life and future by wearing red ribbons on their clothing during this special time.

The Red Ribbon Campaign was founded in the wake of the brutal murder of a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent in 1985. Enrique "Kiki" Camarena, a 37-year-old father of three, was killed in the line of duty while investigating a multi-billion dollar drug marketing operation in Mexico. Since then, millions of Americans have joined in participating in the program. The National Family Partnership, formerly the National Federation of Parents, is the official U.S. sponsor.

The Texans' War on Drug program was the official state sponsor of the campaign through 1996. TCADA this year has been helping to update and produce new program tools that communities can use in their own local campaign.

TCADA Executive Director Terry Bleier said: "One of the best prevention tools we have in the fight against substance abuse is increased public awareness. The Red Ribbon Campaign offers us an excellent opportunity to help the public focus on the need for prevention work."

Bleier said many Texans have been involved in prevention work for years, and TCADA is making major efforts to emphasize the importance of prevention in its programs and contracting. Helping to promote the Red Ribbon Campaign gives TCADA an opportunity to build support for new and existing substance abuse prevention initiatives in communities across the state.

Red Ribbon Campaign materials are available to the public at TCADA's 11 new Prevention Resource Centers. For information about the nearest center, call the toll-free number (888) PRC-TEXX.

The Centers have a wide variety of substance abuse prevention materials available for public use. They are located in Abilene, Bryan, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, Nacogdoches, Odessa, San Antonio, and Tyler. The same materials are available at TCADA's Library and Clearinghouse in Austin, which can be contacted toll free by calling (800) 832-9623.

The first Red Ribbon campaign was launched by groups of concerned parents in Illinois and Virginia. Congress officially recognized and extended support to the program in 1988.

TCADA is providing copies of the 90-page Texas Red Ribbon Campaign manual titled The Tie That Binds free of charge. This manual also can be ordered by calling the toll-free number (888) PRC-TEXX.

Protestors fight to block memorial

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Comparing it to planning a house without a zoning permit, protesters say the future of the Air Force memorial remains uncertain despite a dedication ceremony.

Earlier this week, a neighborhood group and a New York congressman asked a federal court for an injunction to stop the memorial. Protesters say its proximity to the Iwo Jima Memorial — about 500 feet — ruins the sanctity of the Marine Corps monument.

"To me, it's hallowed ground," said Herbert Newman, 71, a retired Marine who served at Iwo Jima. "All you have to do is open the door, and they would be putting monuments all over this place."
