Forty youth facility bids make deadline

Pampa economic development officials hope to have some visitors the week of Oct. 20.

Ron Arnett, director of business services for the Texas Youth Commission in Austin, said they will begin deleting applicants for the agency's proposed youth prison the week of Oct. 20 and will begin visiting possible sites during that week.

Pampa is one of 40 communities that has submitted proposals to attract the facility which would generate more than 300 jobs during its first phase. It would have an annual payroll of about $10 million. Later expansion of the proposed facility could bring more than 600 jobs to the community which is awarded the site.

Lewis Meers, chairman of the Pampa Economic Development Corp. board of directors said he feels Pampa's proposal is superior. The proposal is a joint effort by the PEDC, the City of Pampa and Gray County. It was delivered to the Austin TYC offices Friday morning by Pampa Mayor Bob Neslage and PEDC executive director Lew Mollenkamp.

Officials said communities making the short list will be notified by Oct. 23 for oral presentations.

TYC officials said the site selection process should be complete by mid-December. "This could have monumental impact on our community," Mollenkamp said.

The PEDC director said 600 jobs would eventually be created over a 15 year period by locating the youth corrections facility in Gray County. He said he expected more than $725 million to flow through the community during that time frame because of jobs created by the facility.

PAMPA — The White Deer Land Museum has been awarded a grant through the Panhandle Museum Resource Sharing consortium. The Pampa museum's grant will be used for training staff in exhibits design and interpretation.

A trainer from a mentor museum in the area will spend several days here helping the staff with the design and labeling of exhibits. The trainer is expected to come from the Quarter Horse Museum in Amarillo, where the Pampa staff will attend workshops on the design and construction of display cases.

Included in the grant was a computer and printer from the LEK Corporation of Amarillo.

PAMPA — A cast call has been issued for the December performance of The Nutcracker by Jeanne Willingham, director of Pampa Civic Ballet. Advanced dancers, ages 13 and up, will be auditioned at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 11 at Beaux Arts Dance Studio, 315 N. Nelson.

At 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 12, little girls ages 3 - 7, will be auditioned. Girls and Boys ages 8-14 will be auditioned at 3 p.m. the same day. Anyone wishing to perform must be present for the cast call, Willingham said.

All dancers chosen to perform will be required to furnish their own costumes and to attend all rehearsals to which they are called. The performance is set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6, at the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

Fight that flu bug...

Jackie Wyatt, a White Deer second-grade school teacher, (right) receives her yearly flu shot from RN Sue Leeper at Antler Gym in White Deer last Friday morning.

That time again... Flu shots available now

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

The month of October means flu shots for many local and Pampa area residents.

Immunizations clinics will be available in various locations around the Texas Panhandle for residents at minimal cost, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH). The amount charged will be based on family income and size, as well as the ability to pay. Medicaid will be accepted.

The TDH is encouraging all Texans to get yearly flu vaccinations and experts also warn that the elderly and others who may be at high risk of influenza and its complications should be immunized before the season begins.

The flu season usually lasts from December through April.

Self-sufficiency important key to Pampa woman's life

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

Sandy Pendergrass has a key for you. "You can come sit over here!" she yelled out.

If you lock your keys in the car, you're sitting on the pavement at the Coronado Shopping Center and you find you have some time on your hands ... (while waiting to hear from her employer, Vic Laramore, the only traveling locksmith in town who is out unlocking the doors of someone in Shamrock) — then Sandy can keep you company. She'll give you a key.

"Didn't I tell you to check that key in your car door before you left with 'em?" She firmly asks. Don't recall.

"Well here's the deal: we'll

make your keys over again, but you'll have to pay to have the door unlocked.

Sounds pretty fair. But almost everything about this Pampa native's life sounds ... well, almost sounds less than fair.

Sandy's husband works 30 or more days at a time before he gets to come home for a five day, often less than that, vacation.

So Sandy raises her two girls, ages 4 and 8, at home, by herself, most of the time.

Coming from a family of 10 children, Sandy seems extremely self-sufficient.

Before becoming a locksmith, she worked long, hard shifts as an Allsup's manager. But really, it's the story of her first becoming a mother that seems was the most difficult task of all.

"Right after my sister had her first baby, Kristan, she called me one day crying and I went over and she said, 'Here, can you help me?'"

Sandy helped out and took the crying baby ... for good. At age 15, Sandy decided to care for her baby niece herself, and had her parents put the baby's bed in her bedroom.

"I took her to day care while I was in school, and then I got a babysitter for her when I had to work at night, but I took care of her. I was the one who stayed up

Man guilty of DWI Attempted murder, DWI charges pend

A Shamrock man was out on appeal bond today after being convicted of driving while intoxicated, second offense, last week by a Wheeler County jury.

Richard Johnson, 35, of Shamrock, was convicted in Wheeler County Court of driving while intoxicated, second offense, by a jury of three men and three women. The jury returned their guilty verdict about 6 p.m. Thursday after hearing testimony from Shamrock Police Chief Joe Daniels, District Attorney investigator Bill McMinn and Wheeler County Deputies Jerry Bailey and Rick Walden.

Officers said Johnson was seen leaving the scene of a disturbance where shots were fired on the night of Aug. 26, 1996, in Shamrock. The officers testified that when Johnson was stopped, he appeared to have been drinking.

Wheeler County Judge Wendell Morgan sentenced Johnson to 90 days in jail, 21 months probation, a $1,000 fine and court costs.

"This will be appealed," Phil Pendleton, Johnson's attorney, said today. Pendleton filed a notice of appeal with the Wheeler County Court, and Johnson was released on an appeal bond.

Johnson also faces another DWI charge from late last summer, but, authorities said, because the second offense had not been adjudicated at the time the third charge was filed, the third charge will be tried as a misdemeanor.

Johnson also faces attempted murder charges in Wheeler County. He was indicted in May for attempted murder in connection with a stabbing in March.

Assault case ruling expected tomorrow

A Pampa judge is expected to rule in the morning on a motion to continue the aggravated assault case of a man who is scheduled to go to trial Tuesday.

Alfred Shane Bromlow, 32, is accused of beating Joy Bybee, 34, with his fists on June 11, 1996, at 534 S. Reid. Bromlow was indicted on aggravated assault charges by a Gray County grand jury July 22.

FLU

"We know that one reason some older people fail to be vaccinated is because of a persistent, unfounded fear that the vaccination can actually cause influenza. The truth is that a vaccinated person may still contract some strain of influenza, but not from the vaccine. If they do become ill with the flu, the vaccine usually helps lessen the severity of the case," Jim Schuermann, of the Texas Department of Health Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Surveillance Division.

Other categories of people who are most likely to develop influenza complications are:

- Adults and children with chronic heart or lung disorders, including children with asthma;
- People under medical care for chronic metabolic diseases, diabetes, kidney or blood problems or weakened immune systems; and
- Children (18 and younger) who already are receiving long-term aspirin therapy, which can place them at risk of developing Reye's syndrome after influenza.

The influenza vaccine can take two weeks to become effective and about six weeks to reach peak strength. Children younger than 9 who have never received flu vaccines need their first shot, followed a month later by a booster. Adults need only one shot each season.

The only people who should not receive the influenza vaccine are those with severe allergic reactions to eggs; the vaccines are produced with virus cultured in eggs.

The next influenza and pneumococcal immunization clinic in Pampa will be Oct. 10 - 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Columbia Family Health Center, 600 West Kentucky. For information on services in Pampa call 665-0746.

Crisis Coordinating Council

all night with her," Sandy said. What happened to Sandy's older sister? "She wasn't ready to be a mom," Sandy said. So Kristan continued to become Sandy's appendage. "I took her to the drag with me, I didn't care," she said smiling. "Everybody knew Kristan." When Sandy turned 17 and prepared to get married and leave home, she cried because her parents wouldn't let her take the baby girl with her. Kristin needed to stay with her brother, Sandy's mom explained. (By this time, Kristan had a baby brother, Brandon.) But living close to her mother, Sandy and her husband, Billy, remained active in raising the youngsters. That's why it's sad to hear that Sandy's niece and nephew have moved away. Kristin moved in with her father two years ago as a teenager, and the younger teen, Brandon, is now living with her sister, his real mother, in Dallas, Sandy explains as she shows off the pictures of her children. Her first two "babies" are gone — right now, it seems for good. But still, life goes on. Raising her children alone, working full-time and missing her husband, Sandy, somehow, all the while, graciously keeps her customers entertained. Yes, Sandy's making keys today. And she's not only quick to remind you to check your keys in the car door before you drive away, but whether she knows it or not, she's quick to remind you that being locked out of your car for the afternoon just isn't quite as bad as you first thought it was.

ASSAULT

1996. Judge M. Kent Sims is expected to rule on the motion filed by the defense after a jury is selected in 31st District Court Tuesday morning. The motion was filed, authorities said, because several witnesses subpoenaed in the case had not been served. Gray County deputies were expected to try to serve the subpoenas Monday afternoon. Officials said if the witnesses are not served or if they fail to appear in court Tuesday, then the case will most likely be continued to a later date. Judge Sims said he would issue his ruling after jury selection Tuesday morning.

Pastoral Counseling Center to offer depression screening

As a community service to persons unsure as to whether they are experiencing clinical depression, the Pampa Pastoral Counseling Center will be participating in National Depression Screening Day, offering free, confidential screenings for depression. There will be a brief educational presentation on the causes, symptoms and treatment of depression, followed by a video presentation. A written self-test for depression will be offered, followed by a free screening interview with John Southern, L.P.C., L.M.F.T., counselor for the center. The screening will be Oct. 9 at the First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray, Pampa. People attending may come anytime between 12 noon and 4 p.m. For information, call 1-800-318-1725. Depression strikes more than 17 million Americans each year, according to figures from the National Institute of Mental Health. Fewer than half of them, however, actually seek treatment even though treatment can help 80 percent of those affected. Common symptoms of depression include feelings of hopelessness, restlessness, irritability, changes in sleep and appetite, loss of energy, and/or thoughts of death or suicide.

Reynolds to speak at Top-O'-Texas Peer Helpers Conference at WTA&M campus

CANYON — The public is invited to hear Patrick Reynolds, grandson of tobacco company giant R.J. Reynolds who turned away his family fortunes to become an advocate of a smoke-free America, speak at the seventh annual Top-O'-Texas Peer Helpers Conference at noon Oct. 17 in Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall. Reynolds will present a 40-minute lecture followed by a 20-minute question-and-answer session. A reception will be held immediately following the seminar in the Northern Hall Atrium. The presentation is free and is sponsored by WTAMU Peers, Understanding, Listening, Speaking and Educating (PULSE) and WTAMU Medical Services.

In 1989 in Los Angeles, Reynolds established The Foundation for a Smokefree America, a non-profit, charitable organization whose mission is to help bring about a smoke-free society.

He has addressed Congress, state legislatures, corporations, associations and various medical conferences in support of proposed smoking ordinances. In 1988 in California, he helped pass the 25-cent per pack state cigarette tax increase. He has approached several members of Congress about the need to limit the exporting and advertising of U.S. tobacco brands abroad and has lobbied for a law banning cigarette sales to those under 21.

Local junior high and high school students from programs such as Peer Assistance Leadership, Drug Abuse Resistance Education and student government will have the opportunity to hear Reynolds at 9:15 a.m. as part of the Top-O'-Texas Peer Helpers Conference. Workshop topics for the conference include anger management, gang prevention, self-defense, self-esteem, stress management and dating violence.

Schedule for the junior high and high school conference is as follows.

8:45-9:10 a.m. — Check in at the WTAMU Virgil Henson Activities Center
9:10-9:15 a.m. — Welcome and introduction 9:15-10:45 a.m. — Patrick Reynolds and question-and-answer session

10:55-11:35 a.m. — Breakout session I
11:45 a.m.-12:25 p.m. — Lunch-Middle School; Breakout session II High School
12:35-1:20 p.m. — Lunch-High School; Breakout session II Middle School
1:25-2:10 p.m. — Dolls-PULSE production; door prizes and evaluation

The conference for junior high and high school students is $15 per student and $20 per adult. Fees cover the cost of conference materials, presentations, workshops, continental breakfast and lunch. The deadline to preregister is Oct. 7. The late registration cost will be $20 per student and $25 per adults and will be accepted until the day of conference.

The conference is sponsored by WTAMU PULSE and Region XVI Education Service Center of Amarillo.

For more information about the conference or to register, contact Paula Logsdon, WTAMU peer education adviser, at (806) 656-2391.

CEO of Hastings Entertainment makes donation to learning center

CANYON — West Texas A&M University's $2,835,000 electronic learning center, currently under construction and expected to open for 24-hour student use in the fall of 1998, received a major boost. John Marmaduke, president and CEO of Hastings Entertainment, Inc., announced an endowed gift of $500,000, to be given in $50,000 increments each of the next 10 years, for the purpose of upgrading and enhancing the center's technology at a Sept. 18 media briefing on the WTAMU campus.

Dr. Russell C. Long, WTAMU

president and CEO, accepted the gift on behalf of the university and announced that he will be requesting approval from the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents to name the 36,000 square-foot facility the Hastings Electronic Learning Center. The board will review the request at its Sept. 25-26 meeting in College Station.

"We entered this construction project with the goal of providing a state-of-the-art electronic learning facility for our students," Long said. "This generous gift ensures that the Hastings Center will remain state-of-the-art well into the 21st century."

The Hastings gift also provides funding for four WTAMU student interns who will split employment time between the Amarillo-based company and the University's Hastings Center.

"Today students must be trained for a technological workplace similar to what we've developed at Hastings," Marmaduke said. "The Hastings Center will expose students at WTAMU to networking knowledge and advanced computer systems, enabling them to be better students to get better jobs."

The Hastings Center will be located on the first level of Cornette Library on the WTAMU campus.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Overreacting to knotty problem

Recent months have brought increased scrutiny of religious persecution around the world. In July, the State Department released a report detailing such persecution by the governments of the People's Republic of China, Saudi Arabia, Somalia and other countries. The report was required by an act of Congress and its being used to formulate U.S. policy.

Congress now needs to make sure that it doesn't go too far in setting such policy. It now is considering House Resolution 2431, by Rep. Frank Wolf of Virginia and Sen. Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania, both Republicans. Dubbed the "Freedom from Religious Persecution Act," its intentions are noble but its results well could be otherwise. HR 2431 would establish a new federal bureaucracy, independent of the State Department, called the Office of Religious Persecution Monitoring, headed by a director appointed by the president.

The director apparently would have immense powers over foreign trade. HR 2431 stipulates that if "the director finds the occurrence of ... religious persecution, the director shall notify the relevant United States departments and agencies, and such departments and agencies shall ... prohibit all exports to the responsible entities." Such entities are defined by "the director, in consultation with the secretary of State."

In other words, the director determines where religious persecution is occurring and who should be punished for it through trade sanctions.

But as we long have pointed out, trade sanctions often backfire. Thirty-five years of sanctions against Cuba have not removed Castro's repressive regime from power, but have denied his people the exhilaration of more open ties to free countries.

Many in the religious community also oppose sanctions. "We're strongly looking for ways to alleviate religious persecution wherever it occurs, but so far we don't think that bill quite does that," said the Rev. Albert Pennybacker, a Disciples of Christ minister and associate general secretary for public policy of the National Council of Churches in Washington, D.C.

"The bill automatically invokes one style of sanction response," he said. "We think that's inappropriate. One shoe doesn't fit all people. One solution doesn't fit all situations. It's grossly insensitive to the way things are for some people."

Another factor to consider is the Constitution, which gives only Congress the power to regulate commerce with foreign nations. Can that power be delegated to the executive branch, as HR 2431 would do?

James Madison and the other founders feared the centralization of power in the executive branch that they had seen occur in Europe and wanted to prevent legislative powers from being delegated to the executive.

Rep. Wolf's office expects that HR 2431 will be taken up in the International Relations Committee. Republicans should not rush to give more power over foreign policy to a president who is being investigated for allegedly selling his control of foreign policy for political contributions from foreign special interests.

Cities might get healthy

"Five Strikes And You're Probably Out" is not the title of Professor Fred Siegel's devastating new book, but that is its import as an Election Day massacre looms in New York City. Siegel's book is actually entitled The Future Once Happened Here (The Free Press, 1997) and deals with the sad recent history of New York, Los Angeles and Washington, D.C.

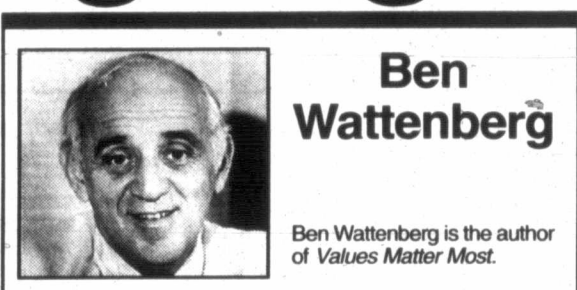

In harsh strokes Siegel offers an answer to the question that has energized the favorite parlor game of policy pontificators: What killed the cities? As the game went on over the decades, we heard: It was the automobile. It was the suburbs and the malls, the bastard children of the automobile. It was the South-to-North migration of poor people, mostly black. It was white flight. It was black flight. It was black crime. It was nasty Ronald Reagan who took away federal funds from the cities. It was de-industrialization that took good working-class jobs from the cities.

Siegel may have come up with a game-ender: Liberalism killed the cities. The good news, says Siegel, is that because of what liberalism did to the cities, liberalism committed suicide. The best news, Siegel believes, is that the cities can now rise from the dead, post-liberal and Phoenix-like.

Modern American liberalism, Siegel notes, germinated in big cities, most particularly in New York City in the early parts of this century. There may remain many good aspects of the liberal tradition, but Siegel believes that whatever turned sour in general became acid in the metropolitan areas.

Urban liberalism, says Siegel, yielded a political philosophy of "Dependent Individualism" whose principal feature is that it got the idea of "markets" wrong in two catastrophic respects. DI suspects free market economics. DI salutes free market morals.

Accordingly, practitioners of DI look for urban salvation from "programs" of government, by government, and (ultimately) for government. If these programs need unrealistically high tax rates that drive business out of the city, too bad. If these programs trample on a value system that honors hard work and family, too bad. Siegel reminds us that for many years many liberal intellectuals in New York and elsewhere were pushing to get people ON welfare and to INCREASE welfare payments.

Why? Siegel counts the liberal ways: because there was no difference between the worthy and the unworthy poor, because federal anti-poverty lawyers pushed for expanded eligibility, because welfare caseworkers were "welfare colonialists" who violated the recipients' right to choose their own standard of morality, because if more wasn't given there would be more urban riots, and so on through the whole tawdry modern liberal catechism. Moreover, such a view of welfare served the interests of both race polarizers and public employee unions. Siegel recounts the moment when an angry welfare mother confronted New York's dashing Mayor John Lindsay at a public hearing and shouted, "I've got six kids and each one of them has a different daddy. It's my job to have kids, and your job, Mr. Mayor, to take care of them." Dependent Individualism.

The liberal view of crime wasn't much better: What happened in Los Angeles in 1992 after the Rodney King verdict was not a "riot" but a "rebellion." In Washington, says Siegel, Mayor Marion Barr's liberal practitioners forgot about the kids and saw the public school system as "an adjunct of the race industry (whose primary purpose ... was to provide employment for the black middle class."

Ultimately, enough voters understood what was going on and voted NO to all of the above. And so:

—In 1993, New York's liberal Mayor David Dinkins was beaten by Republican moderate Rudy Giuliani, just barely, by 51 percent to 48 percent (in a city where Democrats outnumber Republicans 5 to 1).

—In 1994, Republican moderate Richard Riordan was elected mayor of Los Angeles by a modest margin, 54 percent to 46 percent (in a city where Democrats outnumber Republicans 3 to 1).

—In 1995, deliberations began in Congress to take most control of Washington, D.C., away from "Mayor for Life" Marion Barry. In 1997, 80 percent to 90 percent of a Congress that was 47 percent Democratic voted to do just that. (In Washington, Democrats outnumber Republicans 11 to 1.)

—In 1997, Riordan did not win modestly. He beat Democrat Tom Hayden by 26 points.

—In a few weeks, Giuliani will face Democratic liberal Ruth Messinger. He will not win just barely this time. Current polls show a solid victory for Giuliani, quite possibly by double digits.

That's five straight strikes against urban knee-jerk liberalism. There are two schools of thought about this. First is the idea that after five strikes you're out. Liberalism is dead in the cities and moribund elsewhere. The second idea is that the modern variety of liberalism is like crabgrass. No matter how often weeded, it keeps coming back. If it does, the future will once again end in the cities.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Oct. 6, the 279th day of 1997. There are 86 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Oct. 6, 1927, the era of talking pictures arrived with the opening of The Jazz Singer, starring Al Jolson, a movie which featured both silent and sound-synchronized scenes.

On this date:

In 1683, 13 families from Krefeld, Germany, arrived in present-day Philadelphia to begin Germantown, one of America's oldest settlements.

In 1884, the Naval War College was established in Newport, R.I.

In 1889, the Moulin Rouge in Paris first opened its doors to the public.

In 1891, Charles Stewart Parnell, the "Uncrowned King of Ireland," died in Brighton, England.

In 1939, in an address to the Reichstag, Adolf Hitler denied having any intention of war against France and Britain.

A world enamored of cigars

Were he alive today, Baltimore's most famous soursup would surely swear off his lifelong habit of cigar smoking.

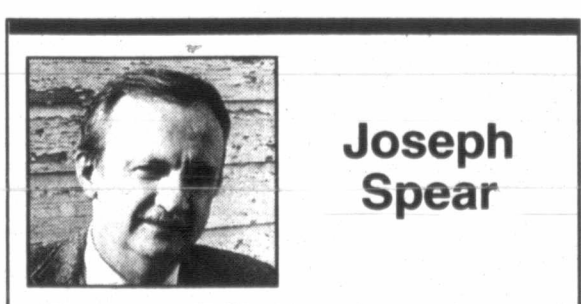

I am convinced of it. No way would H.L. Mencken continue a practice that a gazillion people, give or take a few, have suddenly commenced. Curmudgeons are perverse in that way. When stogies got to be, like, cool, he would have given them up.

More than that, he would have done it with a flourish. At least he had gotten hooked on the noxious weed honestly, he would thunder, unlike the youthful knaves who see pictures of a pneumatic Claudia Schiffer fondling a panatela or a long-legged Elle Macpherson chomping a corona and rush right out to buy some.

"No one ever went broke underestimating the taste of the American public," he would say. Something like that.

The demigod of curmudgeonry would do it, so, by thunder, can I. Notice: I hereby denounce cigars. The dumb things stink and impart an odor to my suits that dry-cleaning chemicals cannot extract. Not to mention that I have a heart condition and breathing stogie smoke is not likely to help matters any.

Wait a minute, let me edit that: I hereby denounce publicly smoked cigars. I don't give a hoot how much puffing people do in the privacy of their homes, or in those trendy cigar bars, or at cigar parties or on cigar cruises. Just quit enveloping me in your noisome fogs, that's all — especially on the golf course. At a tournament this summer, I was attempting to analyze the swing of Justin Leonard when I lost sight of him in clouds of cigar smoke emitted by several lord paramours barely out of their Huggies sucking on stogies roughly the size of baseball bats.

Actually, coming out against cigars is an easy thing for me to do, as I don't smoke them and never have, unless you count the occasional White Owl and the twisted things soaked in rum that my buddies and I used to puff as teenagers. "Crooks," I think they were called. I'm pretty sure it was the rum part that tempted us.

How did it come to this? How did one of the most disgusting habits on God's green planet get to be so very chic? A few years ago, smokers of any kind were being banished to the furnace room. Then along came a slender little magazine called Cigar Aficionado and the next thing you know, people are talking about tobacco in terms previously reserved for fine wines and suddenly the zine is the size of a Sears catalogue and featuring covers of such celebrity smokers as Demi Moore and Tom Selleck and Linda Evangelista, and before you know it, 4.6 billion cigars a year are being sold, a goodly portion to impressionable youth.

It is probably an act of rebellion, the trend specialists tell us. It is Generation X's way of saying up yours.

Think about this. Our rebellious grandparents drank bathtub gin; our depression-era parents knocked back applejack; we sipped Schlitz out of quart cans. Boomers smoked dope.

Gen Xers light up stogies.

There is a message in there somewhere. I'm telling you, this cigar thing is a lesson in marketing that ought to be featured in business school textbooks. If you can sell cigars with celebrity pictures, then you could sell dog-doo the same way. Cigars and dog-doo are roughly similar, aren't they? They look the same, smell the same, probably taste the same. So you start up a glossy magazine called Dog-Doo Aficionado and you feature a cover of Claudia en decollete holding a stick of something that looks like dog-doo and before you know it, you'll have twenty-somethings clamoring for dog-doo and lining up to get in dog-doo bars and whatnot.

The cigar craze might even have compelled Mencken to alter his epitaph: "If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have a thought to please my ghost," he once wrote, "forgive some sinner and wink your eye at some homely girl."

But not one, he might now add, with cigar breath.

Capitol ornaments now available, committee says

AUSTIN — Nelda Laney, project chairman of the Capitol Ornament Committee, recently announced the formal opening of sales of the 1997 Capitol Ornament. Laney was joined at the announcement by First Lady Laura Bush, wife of Gov. Bush, and Jan Bullock, wife of Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

"This year's ornament features the State Seal of Texas," said Laney, who helped design and implement the Capitol Ornaments program. She is the wife of Texas House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center. "This is the second in a series of collectible ornaments featuring our great symbols of Texas."

The ornaments help fund educational programming and continued preservation of the Capitol.

"For all of us who love Texas, this series of ornaments, which benefits the Capitol preservation project, is a wonderful collection to pass down through our families," said Bush.

Bullock added: "This gives everyone an opportunity to take a timeless keepsake home for the holidays. At the same time they can take pride in knowing they've made an investment in Texas education and efforts to preserve the Capitol."

The ornament is a 3-1/4-inch circular ornament with a 24k gold finish on a three-dimensional design of the seal enhanced by a navy border. The seal details are highlighted with green, red and white enamel with "The State of Texas" lettering in white enamel edged with gold.

The ornament is presented in a blue velour-lined gift box and includes a leaflet relating the history of the state seal. The ornament series is modeled after the White House ornament program.

"Last year, we had hoped to sell 500 or so ornaments and were surprised when demand exceeded 14,000," Laney continued. "We've ordered 20,000 this year." A limited number of the first edition ornaments, featuring the south facade of the Capitol, are also being made available.

Cost for either the 1997 State of Texas seal or the 1996 Texas State Capitol ornament is $18.40 per ornament (includes tax, shipping and handling.) A 20 percent discount is offered for quantities of 25 or more.

Mail orders to The Capitol Gift Shop, P.O. Box 13286, Austin, TX 78711. Telephone: (512) 305-8408; fax: (512) 475-3184.

Panhandle Information Network to receive grants

Members of the Panhandle Information Network were recently awarded $10.6 million in two technology grants. A $6.1 million grant from the Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund Board was awarded to the PIN Internet Collaborative to provide direct Internet connectivity to 46 of the smallest school districts located in the Panhandle. A $4.5 million grant from the Texas Education Agency Texas Technology Literacy Challenge Fund Initiative has been awarded to the Region 16 Education Service Center on behalf of the PIN Video Collaborative to install a two-way interactive video conferencing network in the Panhandle.

The PIC grant project includes the school districts of: Allison, Canadian, Grandview-Hopkins, Groom, Lefors, McLean, Miami, Shamrock, Wheeler and White Deer.

This $6.1 million grant will provide direct Internet access, computers, printers and training and will also provide for the creation of centrally managed services such as e-mail, web page and telecommunications support.

The PIN Video Collaborative includes: Pampa, Allison, Canadian, Groom, McLean, Shamrock and Wheeler.

This $4.5 million grant will provide training to core teams from 34 Panhandle schools in order to integrate technology into the curriculum. Training will be delivered via 15 two-way interactive videoconferencing sites located at Canadian, Childress, Clarendon, Dalhart, Hart, Spearman, Stratford, Sunray, Tulia, and McLean ISDs, Amarillo High School, Caprock High School, Amarillo Area Center for Advanced Learning, Region 16 Education Service Center, and West Texas A&M University.

Each participating campus will also receive lap-top computers which will serve as educator work-stations throughout the professional development program.

Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Festival scheduled

PLAINVIEW — The 23rd Annual Running Water Draw Arts and Crafts Festival will be Oct. 17-19 in the Ollie Liner Agriculture Center in Plainview.

The festival will bring together over 125 artists and crafts persons from throughout the Southwest. Over 6,000 people will attend the event. All items for sale are handmade — jewelry, pottery, clothing, furniture, quilts, afghans and numerous country crafts. Original artwork in oil, watercolor and acrylics are also offered. Every exhibitor also prepares items to meet the needs of the Christmas shopper.

This event is sponsored by the Plainview Rotary Club and Wayland Baptist University. Proceeds from ticket sales and booth entries are used to support the numerous charity and civic activities of the Plainview Rotary Club and to provide direct support for the Museum of the Llano Estacado located on the Campus of Wayland Baptist University.

The Festival will be open on from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. Oct. 17 and 18 and from noon to 5 p.m. Oct. 18. Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for students. Tickets are available at the door of the Ollie Liner Agriculture Center located on Business 1-27 South in Plainview.

Young Mother's Happy Marriage Still Leaves Her Feeling Lonely

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old mother of two children and have been happily married to a wonderful, caring man for three years; we dated for two years before we got married. My husband's career is demanding and he has very little time off. He works with the public, so when he has time off, he doesn't feel like socializing. I attend college part-time and also visit friends a couple times a week, but I still feel lonely.

Abigail Van Buren
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

Lately, I've found myself thinking about a man I used to date. We had a lot in common and had many good times together. We live in a small town and I run into him often. I have been tempted to ask him out for coffee. I don't want to be unfaithful to my husband, but I want to enjoy life while I'm young.

Abby, do you see any harm in going for coffee with my ex-boyfriend?

simple: Introduce his wife to my husband. They would be a perfect match!

After only three months of marriage, my husband won't kiss, touch, cuddle, hug or even discuss the problem. Sex is only a memory.

I am 60, still sexy and crave all of the above. Maybe we could arrange a trade-off.

LOOKING FOR LOVE IN LONG BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR LOOKING FOR LOVE: You have my sympathy, but I do not recommend mate-swapping. To paraphrase the great bard, William Shakespeare: 'Tis better to bear the ills you know than fly to others you know not of.

DEAR ABBY: The realization of my lifelong dream finally arrived when, at age 50, I left my high-pressure job as a nurse-manager to enter the world of fashion by opening my very own dress shop.

I love my shop and enjoy everything about the retail business with one notable exception. I was ill-prepared to deal with the devious methods used by shoplifters to sneak merchandise out the door.

After initiating all the usual procedures to minimize theft, I have instituted a method of my own: I warn shoplifters that getting caught and arrested may be the least of their worries. I have posted the following notice on the walls of my changing rooms:

AN OPEN LETTER TO THOSE WHO WOULD STEAL FROM ME

"Some stores have signs that say, 'Shoplifters will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.' That is the least of it. If you steal from me, I will put a 'curse' on you that will...

"Widen your hips,
"Lower your boobs,
"Flab-out your butt,
"And thunder your thighs.
"Your feet will lengthen,
"Your face will wrinkle,
"Your teeth will yellow and your hair will thin.
"Your eyesight will falter 'til the only light you can see is cellulite.
"Jail will start looking pretty good to you

"Compared to your own image in the mirror.
"Think about it."

Horoscope

Tuesday, Oct. 7, 1997

Most of your energies and interests are likely to be devoted to increasing your worldly goods in the year ahead. Your prospects look encouraging, provided you're methodical and practical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is a good day to catch up on situations that require some form of communication. Clear up correspondence and stop avoiding phone calls. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lady Luck will favor you today in terms of your material interests, but she might not treat associates as generously. Call the shots in joint endeavors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today, avoid individuals who tend to make unreasonable demands on your time and talents. If you get weighed down, you won't be very effective.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It is not what you'll do for yourself that will provide you with the greatest gratification today. Let compassionate instincts rule your behavior.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If there was something important you wanted to do yesterday but had to postpone until today, you could be luckier if you give this matter top priority.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Challenges tend to awaken your stronger qualities today; they'll infuse you with optimism that tells you you can succeed. Believe your intuition.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things should run smoothly today if you treat developments philosophically. If you tell yourself that everything will come out okay, it will.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) An important career objective is achievable today, though perhaps not on the first try. Obstacles will only increase your determination.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This could be a beneficial day for you regarding involvements you share with associates. Put we, not me, uppermost in your thoughts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There might be some developments today that will enable you to further your personal ambitions. Try to identify the early glimmers of opportunity.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Try not to make this an all-work-and-no-play day. Relaxing shouldn't be considered frivolous, but as an essential refurbishing for your psyche.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do not be overly concerned today as to how a particular situation is going to work out. Keep visualizing a positive ending and march toward it.

FOOTBALL

By The Associated Press

Angelo State defeated West Texas A&M 31-23 to remain unbeaten this season and atop the Lone Star Conference standings.

The Rams compiled 549 total yards, including 267 passing yards and three touchdowns by quarterback Erik Hartman. Running back Eric Standley ran for 139 yards and a touchdown for Angelo State.

In other league games: Texas A&M-Kingsville defeated Tarleton State 43-14; Abilene Christian defeated Eastern New Mexico 40-7; Texas A&M-Commerce defeated Midwestern State 49-7; Harding defeated Southeastern Oklahoma 17-14; Northeastern State defeated East Central 35-0; Central Oklahoma defeated Langston 51-0; and Southwestern Oklahoma defeated Ouachita Baptist 12-6.

Texas A&M-Kingsville was led by Norman Miller, who rushed 111 yards and scored two touchdowns, and quarterback Oktay Basic passed for 169 yards and three touchdowns. Tarleton's Chad Cole passed for two touchdowns.

In a game with no touchdowns, Southwestern Oklahoma's Kyle Bengs set a school record with four field goals for the victory.

Jeremy Thompson kicked a 41-yard field goal in overtime to give Hardin its victory over Southeastern Oklahoma. Southeastern's Eric Nuber missed a 46-yard field goal attempt with 43 seconds left in regulation play.

Texas A&M-Commerce, which had 31 first half points, was led by quarterback Matt Morris, who passed for 274 yards and two touchdowns. Casey Cowan caught one of the TD passes for a school record 99 yards.

Abilene Christian intercepted three passes in the first half and used the thefts to build a 19-7 lead against Eastern New Mexico.

Pampa girls down Borger in volleyball

PAMPA — The Pampa Lady Harvesters' volleyball won their third straight match Saturday, defeating Borger, 15-10, 15-10, in District 1-4A action. They avenged an earlier loss to Borger.

"As a group we played well, particularly on a homecoming morning," said Pampa coach Sandra Thornton. "I just wish we would have played Borger that way the first time."

Lisa Kirkpatrick was 15 of 15 on hitting with 8 kills for the Lady Harvesters. Lisa Dwight was 17 of 22 with 7 kills.

"Lisa Kirkpatrick's stats were perfect. I thought it was by far her best game of the season," Thornton added.

Kelsey Yowell had 9 blocks and Tiffany McCullough 6. Katy

Cavalier was 6 of 6 in serves received.

In digs, Deidre Crawford, was 10 of 10, and she was also 10 of 10 in passing. Lori Lindsey was 9 of 9 in serving with 7 points. Tandi Morton was 9 of 9 with 6 points.

Pampa is 3-5 in district play and 12-8 for the season. The Lady Harvesters travel to Randall for their next match, starting at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Pampa also won the junior varsity match, 15-3, 15-4.

Anne Gaddis was 6 of 6 in hitting with 5 kills while Courtney Lang was 4 of 4 in hitting with 3 kills.

Cassi Scott scored 10 service points. Lang had 5 digs and Gaddis 6 blocks. Setter Lindsey Earl finished with 13 assists.

Where are the big men on campus in college football?

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

As the college football season begins to take on a personality, some of the big men on campus have turned into nerds.

The roll call: Alabama, Miami, Notre Dame and Colorado.

Alabama. After a shocking 40-34 overtime loss at Kentucky on Saturday night — the Wildcats' first win over 'Bama in 75 years — the Crimson Tide (3-2, 1-2 SEC) fell out of the Top 25 for the first time since 1991.

"We are extremely disappointed in the outcome and the performance," first-year Alabama coach Mike DuBose said.

Miami. The Hurricanes (1-4), already in bad shape, are the pits these days after a 47-0 loss to No. 4 Florida State — Miami's worst loss since Texas A&M beat 'em 70-14 in 1944.

"If we don't begin to play better," Miami coach Butch Davis said, "our last six games are going to be a struggle."

Notre Dame. Following a 33-15 loss at No. 16 Stanford, the Irish (1-4) and new coach Bob Davie are probably looking for a few friends. The Irish are off to their worst start since 1963.

"I'm not sure what it's going to take to get things going," Irish quarterback Ron Powllus said.

It's the first time since the final poll of the 1982 season that all three teams — Alabama, Miami and Notre Dame — failed to make the Top 25.

Colorado. There's not much spark in this year's version of the Buffaloes (2-2). After a 16-10 loss to No. 15 Texas A&M, No. 24 Colorado barely kept its poll streak alive at 143 consecutive weeks being ranked in the Top 25.

Life is not well at a few other former hot spots.

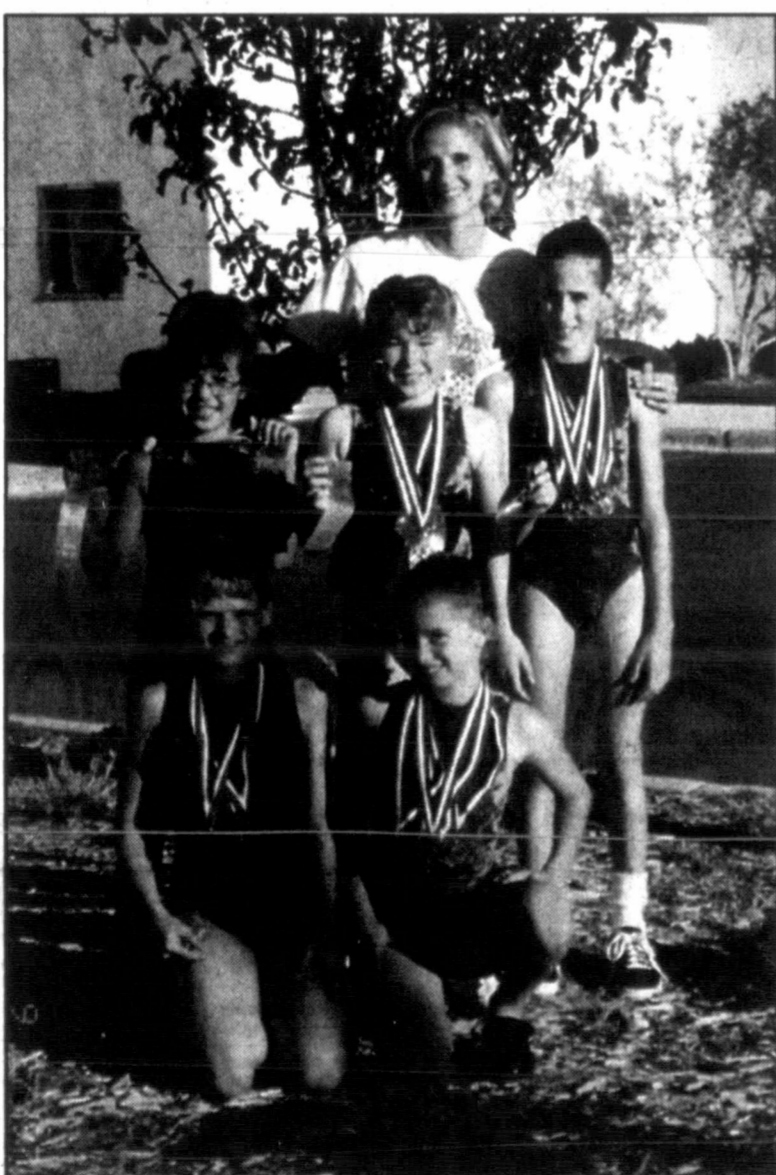

Like Texas (2-2). Coming off a Big 12 title, Texas had high hopes this season. Instead, the Longhorns were whipped 42-16 by Oklahoma State, three weeks after a 66-3 loss to UCLA.

And Virginia Tech (4-1). After playing in bowl alliance games the past two seasons as the Big East champs, the Hokies are in hiding after losing to Miami of Ohio — not to be confused with the bad Miami — 24-17 at Blacksburg, Va. On homecoming.

While these former big shots are lying low, there's plenty of room for fresh faces.

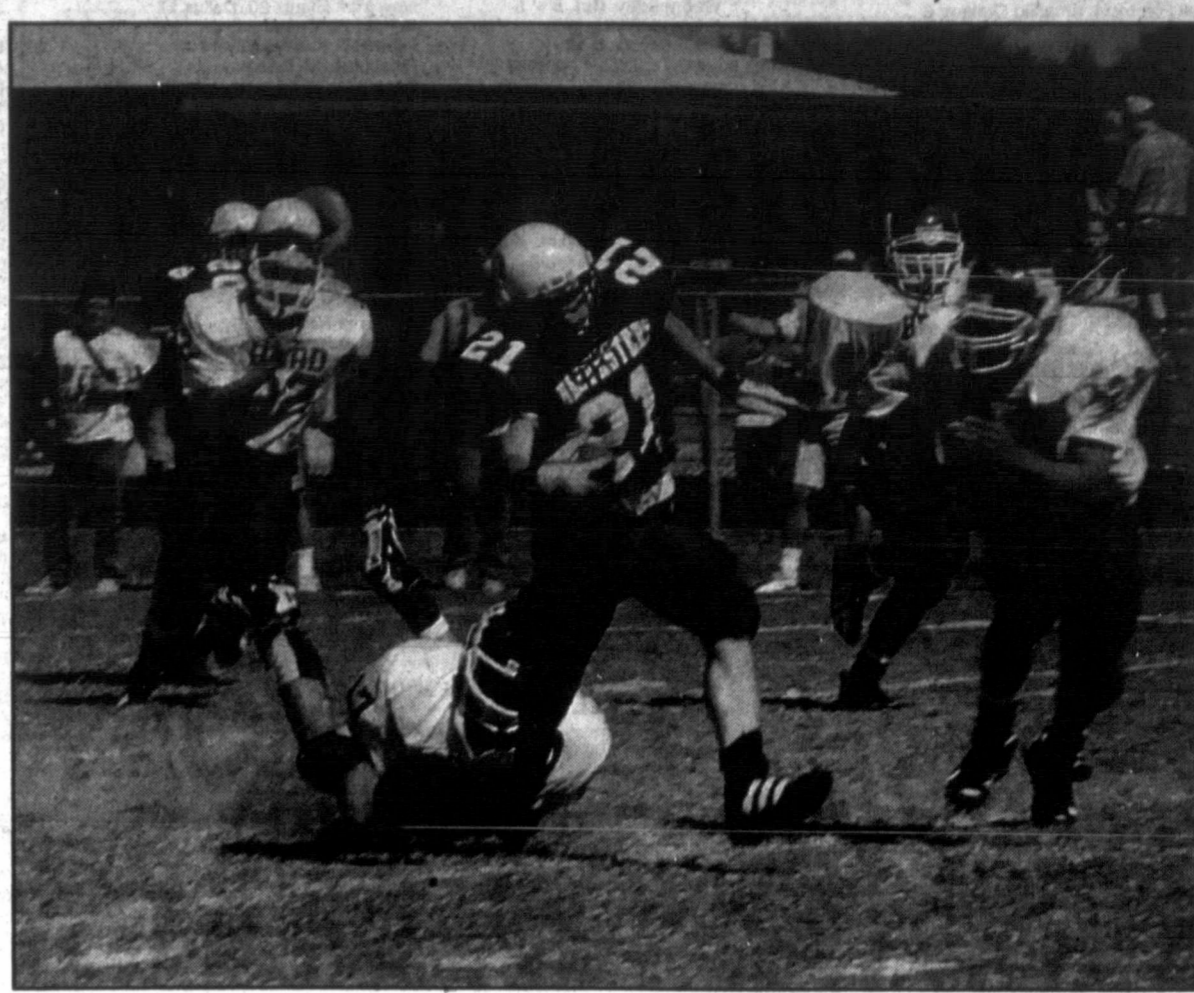

Such as No. 11 Michigan State. The Spartans, 4-0 after beating Minnesota 31-10, are off to their best start since 1966, the year of the infamous 10-10 tie against Notre Dame. Bring on Big Ten foes Michigan, Ohio State and Penn State.

Pampa fullback Erich Greer breaks loose from a shoestring tackle attempt by a Hereford defender in the District 14A homecoming game Saturday.

Harvesters stop Herd in overtime thriller

PAMPA — It may have been the first overtime game in Pampa's football history. Whatever the case, Pampa's homecoming clash with Hereford Saturday afternoon in Harvester Stadium will long be remembered.

Junior quarterback Justin Roark's 21-yard touchdown pass to senior wide receiver Bryan Waldrip in overtime gave Pampa a 27-20 win over Hereford in the District 1-4A thriller.

"It was a wild affair and hotly-contested by both sides. We got behind by 13 points and had to do some playing to catch up," said Pampa head coach Dennis Cavalier.

The win evened Pampa's district record at 1-1 while Hereford drops to 0-2. The Harvesters are 2-3 for the season while the Whitefaces are 1-5.

Hereford had scored three straight touchdowns, two on passes by freshman quarterback Cody Hodges, to put Pampa in the hole 20-7 with 7:29 remaining in the third quarter. That's when the Harvester started on the comeback trail.

Starting on their own 12, Pampa drove for a touchdown in eight plays with running back Robbie Proby scoring on a 14-yard run. The key play on the drive was Roark's quarterback keeper that netted 57 yards.

On the ensuing kickoff, Justin Barnes delivered a perfectly-executed sideside kick that teammate Shannon Reed covered on the Hereford 33. On the very next play, Roark hooked up with Brandon Hill on a pass completion to the Hereford 7. Four plays later, Barnes made good on a 25-yard field goal that cut Hereford's lead to 20-17 with 2:13 remaining in the third quarter.

Hereford went on a long drive deep into Pampa territory in the fourth quarter, but a Harvester defense led by Jared White, Aaron Hayden, Shawn Harris and Erich Greer shut the Whitefaces down on the 12.

Pampa then went on a 6-play, 71-yard drive and with just 17 seconds remaining, Barnes split the uprights with his second field goal of the game to tie the score at 20-20.

Hereford won the coin toss in the overtime period and chose to go on defense first. During overtime, in which a team starts on the opponent's 25, Proby picked up four yards on Pampa's first play. Roark and Waldrip then hooked up with what turned out to be the game-winning TD. Barnes added the PAT to make it 27-20.

It was Pampa's turn on defense and the Harvesters rose to the occasion. On Hereford's first play, Pampa linebacker Brent Phelps sacked Hodges for a one-yard loss. Hereford picked up a first down to the 10' on the next play, but that was as far as the Whitefaces would get. Five plays later, Pampa's Jarred Bowles picked off a Hodges pass near the goal line for his second interception of the game.

"I've had experience in overtimes in other states where I've coached and I'd much prefer to play an overtime than to have the game end in a tie," Cavalier said.

Pampa had scored the first touchdown of the game back in the first quarter on Roark's 10-yard pass to Erich Greer. The drive was set up when Bowles intercepted Hodges' pass on Hereford's first possession.

The score was tied 7-all at halftime after a Mark Rodriguez four-yard run early in the second quarter.

Roark at quarterback and Barnes as a kicker delivered some clutch performances for Pampa. They were filling in for injured starting quarterback-kicker Josh Blackmon.

Roark, who usually starts in the defensive backfield, completed 13 of 17 pass attempts for 198 yards and two touchdowns. Four of his passes went to Waldrip for 79 yards.

Barnes, a sophomore, was called up from the junior varsity. Besides his two field goals, Barnes was 3 for 3 in extra point tries.

Pampa had 437 in total offense while Hereford had 308. Proby led Pampa's ground attack with 117 yards on 25 carries. Jeremy Miller rushed for 138 yards on 22 tries for Hereford.

NEW AP Poll includes Oklahoma State

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

Florida and Penn State held steady at 1-2, the top 10 remained unchanged and undefeated Oklahoma State cracked The Associated Press' Top 25 for the first time in nine years.

The Cowboys (5-0), with a 42-16 win over Texas Saturday, jumped into the rankings at No. 20 — their first appearance since finishing No. 11 in the 1988 final poll.

Alabama, which lost 40-34 in overtime to Kentucky, dropped out of the Top 25 for the first time in six years. The Crimson Tide (3-2) were last unranked in the third week of the 1991 season.

The Gators (5-0), 56-7 winners over Arkansas, were No. 1 for the third week in a row, collecting 35 first-place votes and 1,704 points from the 70 sportswriters and broadcasters who vote in the poll.

Penn State (4-0) beat Illinois 41-6 and received 26 first-place votes and 1,672 points. Last week, the Gators led the Lions 36-25 in first-place votes and 1,704-1,673 in points.

Nebraska, (4-0), was No. 3 with six first-place votes and 1,606 points after a 56-26 victory over Kansas State (3-1), which fell five places to No. 22.

Florida State (4-0), a 47-0 winner over Miami, was No. 4 with one first-place vote and 1,540 points, and North Carolina (5-0) No. 5 with two first-place votes and 1,464 points.

Michigan, which beat Indiana 37-0, remained No. 6, followed by No. 7 Ohio State, No. 8 Auburn, No. 9 Tennessee and No. 10 Washington.

Michigan State, a 31-10 winner over Minnesota, was No. 11, followed by Washington State, Georgia, LSU, Texas A&M, Stanford, Iowa, UCLA, Air Force, Oklahoma State, BYU, Kansas State, Virginia Tech, Colorado and Georgia Tech.

In the USA Today/ESPN poll, the top five were Florida, Penn State, Nebraska, Florida State and North Carolina.

It's been 39 years since No. 12

Washington State has been ranked so high. The Cougars were No. 10 on Sept. 22, 1958.

Michigan State (4-0) attained its highest ranking since finishing the 1987 season at No. 8, while Georgia (4-0) had its highest ranking in five years after improving five places from a week ago. The Bulldogs were No. 8 in the 1992 final poll.

In addition to Alabama, Arizona State, a 26-14 loser to Washington, dropped out of the Top 25. Joining Oklahoma State as a poll newcomer was Georgia Tech (3-1), which beat Boston College 42-14.

Texas A&M, which beat Colorado 16-10, improved six places to No. 15, while Iowa dropped six places to No. 17 after a 23-7 loss to Ohio State.

Virginia Tech, upset by Miami of Ohio 24-17, took the biggest tumble, nine spots to No. 23, while Colorado fell eight places to No. 24.

Colorado (2-2) barely kept alive its streak of appearing in consecutive polls at 143, second to Nebraska's 265 straight polls.

Tampa Bay loses first game; Dallas falls again

By The Associated Press

The Green Bay Packers aren't back yet, but they're creeping up on Tampa Bay.

The Dallas Cowboys are letting the rest of the NFL creep up on them.

The Packers, stumbling all season, handed the Bucs their first loss Sunday, beating them 21-16 on two Brett Favre-Antonio Freeman touchdown passes and a 77-yard interception return by defensive end Gabe Wilkins.

"As long as we can fight through these early games, we'll be all right," Favre said after the Packers let the Bucs back into the game after taking a 21-3 at halftime. They then held on in the face of a Tampa Bay resurgence led by Warrick Dunn.

Had the Super Bowl champions lost, they would have been three games behind the Bucs in the NFC Central.

The Cowboys weren't as lucky, despite outgaining New York 428-166, in a 20-17 loss to the Giants.

Meanwhile, Kordell Stewart again showed his varied skills in rallying Pittsburgh from a 24-7 halftime deficit in Baltimore as the Steelers beat the Ravens 34-17.

Jerome Bettis rushed for 137 yards, Yancey Thigpen had 162 yards receiving and Will Blackwell returned the second-half kickoff 97 yards for Pittsburgh (3-2).

But Stewart was the story. At one point he was 3-for-8 with three interceptions. In the second half, he was 11-of-14 for 181 yards. And his TD run came after the host Ravens (3-3) closed to 35-32 and put the game away.

Bills 22, Lions 13

The game-turning safety came two plays after Eric Smedley downed Chris Mohr's punt at the 1. Sanders ran off right tackle before getting tripped by Smith and tackled by Phil Hansen.

Rookie running back Antowain Smith put the game away for the Bills (3-2) with a 56-yard TD run. Scott Mitchell's 8-yard TD run tied the score for visiting Detroit (3-3) with 5:54 left in the game.

Dolphins 17, Chiefs 14

Miami's defense held Kansas City scoreless in the final 31 minutes and Orlando Mare kicked a 26-yard field goal with 5:40 left to give the Dolphins (3-2) the win.

Elvis Grbac had touchdown passes to Andre Rison and Tony Gonzalez for the Chiefs (4-2), who had a four-game winning streak broken and lost in Miami for the sixth straight time.

Eagles 24, Redskins 10

Ricky Watters, Charlie Garner and Kevin Turner combined for 202 yards rushing for the host Eagles (2-3). Watters had 104 of the yards and two TDs and Ty Detmer was 17-of-27 for 246 yards and ran for a score.

The Eagles defense, meanwhile, pressured Gus Frette of Washington (3-2), who finished 16-of-37 for 216 yards.

Jaguars 21, Bengals 13

At Jacksonville, Mark Brunell threw three TD passes for the Jaguars (4-1), who got 160 yards rushing from an offense that had run for just 110 yards combined in the past two games.

The Bengals (1-4) had a chance to tie after Mike Hollis missed a 27-yard field goal. But Kelvin Pritchett got his third sack of the game, and Blake missed Carl Pickens on a fourth-and-4 play with less than a minute left.

Jets 16, Colts 12

Adrian Murrell gained 99 yards on 30 carries, including a 24-yard touchdown run for the Jets (4-2), who won for the third straight time and are 3-1 on the road.

The Colts (0-5) rallied from a 13-0 deficit behind Paul Justin, who replaced the injured Jim Harbaugh, to 13-10. But John Hall then got his third field goal of the game.

Charles Way scored on a 3-yard run for New York (3-3), which used Danny Kanell at quarterback for most of the game after Dave Brown reentered his chest.

Dallas (3-2), which beat Philadelphia when the Eagles bungled a last-second field goal attempt, almost tied it. But right tackle Erik Williams couldn't get set after Troy Aikman's completion to the Giants 17, forcing a 10-second penalty, allowing the clock to run out.

"Obviously we had more to do with losing than they did in winning it," coach Barry Switzer said. "We beat ourselves today."

Steelers 34, Ravens 34

Jerome Bettis rushed for 137 yards, Yancey Thigpen had 162 yards receiving and Will Blackwell returned the second-half kickoff 97 yards for Pittsburgh (3-2).

But Stewart was the story. At one point he was 3-for-8 with three interceptions. In the second half, he was 11-of-14 for 181 yards. And his TD run came after the host Ravens (3-3) closed to 35-32 and put the game away.

What a difference year makes for OSU

By OWEN CANFIELD
 AP Sports Writer

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State coach Bob Simmons was not among the many at Lewis Field who were stunned by the Cowboys' 29-0 halftime lead over Texas.

"Why should I be? We were ahead," Simmons said.

The assembled media broke out laughing, but the coach was serious. He had been confident the Cowboys could play with Texas, and they rewarded his confidence with a 42-16 victory Saturday afternoon.

Oklahoma State (5-0, 2-0 Big 12) held Texas to 240 yards and limited the Longhorns' exceptional tailback, Ricky Williams, to 79 yards on 16 carries. With Tony Lindsay at quarterback, they used a nice mix of the run and pass to control the clock, and they got a special teams bonus — a 78-yard punt return for a touchdown.

"A year ago, we handled them very much so in Austin in a game we dominated from the beginning," Texas coach John Mackovic said. "This is a high-water mark for them in their resurgence and the rebuilding job he's done."

Last year, the Cowboys lost to Texas, 71-14, one of the worst losses in school history. Saturday's outcome was the biggest victory in recent memory.

The Cowboys are 5-0 for the first time since 1987, and are 2-0 in conference play for the first time since 1972. They have already equaled their victory total of last year. Perhaps more importantly, they showed they can hold their own against a quality program.

"Our bunch of kids are very confident about who they are and where they want to take this program," said Simmons, who's in his third year on the job.

Texas (2-2, 0-1) was not able to overcome a first quarter in which the Cowboys scored three times, including the punt return by R.W. McQuarters, and the Longhorns totaled 38 yards and one first down.

Oklahoma State gave a sign of things to come on its first drive. The Cowboys gained five yards on their first play, but on the next snap gave it back with a penalty to set up second-and-10.

Fullback Brian Aikins then rumbled 17 yards for a first down, Lindsay threw a 38-yard pass to Sean Love, and two plays later Lindsay scored on an 11-yard option keeper.

On OSU's next possession, Lindsay had completions of 9 and 26 yards to tight end Alonzo Mayes and ran for 11 more on another option play. He later capped the drive with a 1-yard sneak.

The Longhorns were without their two best defensive tackles, Chris Akins and Casey Hampton, who got hurt last week against Rice. But Mackovic refused to use that as an excuse.

"Defensively, we just were not able to slow 'em down at all today," he said. "We have a lot of work to do and we have to continue to push our guys to improve."

It is on defense where Oklahoma State is most improved. Led by tackle Jamal Williams, the Cowboys are strong up front. They were weak there last year, and as a result gave up 225 yards rushing yards per game.

This defense is giving up 60 per game. The Cowboys answered critics of their soft early schedule by holding Texas to 86 yards on the ground.

"We knew what we wanted to do," said defensive end Andre Waddle. "We went out as a team. We fought. We all came together knowing that we were going to get the job done."

Oklahoma State played sloppily in the third quarter, when Texas finally scored. But after James Brown hit Cortney Epps on a 24-yard touchdown pass to make the score 29-8, Lindsay responded with a 55-yard keeper for a touchdown to put the Cowboys up 36-8. Texas scored on its next possession to draw within 20, but got no closer.

The outcome left Oklahoma State giddy and Texas looking for answers.

"We need to work, all of us, not just players but coaches and everybody involved," Mackovic said. "We have a lot of work to do and a big hill to climb."

Friday's homecoming parade brought many floats filled with high school participants, such as this balloon covered float with several PHS students waving to the children and local residents on the west side of Central Park.

John Bradock rode his bike alongside the traveling cars in Friday's PHS Homecoming Parade.

Erica Cox and her small companion, Christopher Turlington, showed their support for the big game as they cheered for the parade's participants.

Those Whitefaces didn't have a chance! Friday afternoon football players participated in the homecoming parade and said they were going to be "relentless" even before they had to face the big game on Saturday.
