PAMPA — An immunization clinic offering vaccines that give protection against several childhood diseases is set from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Nov. 19 at Columbia Family Health Center, 600 W. Kentucky.

The vaccines protect against polio, diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps, and HIB (haemophilus influenzae type B). Influenza and pneumococcal vaccines will also be available.

The Texas Department of Health is charging to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. Fees are based upon family income and size and the ability to pay.

FORT WORTH (AP) — A former high school football player who admitted shooting his abusive father to death in 1995 has pleaded guilty to manslaughter in a plea arrangement with prosecutors.

Lance Butterfield, 20, received a three-year prison sentence but could be released on parole in two years under the plea bargain.

Butterfield admits killing his father, 45-year-old William Arthur "Bill" Butterfield.

Last August, jurors in his trial were unable to reach a verdict. A second trial was to have started on Thursday.

The shooting occurred after Bill Butterfield stepped out of the shower and was in a hallway clad in a towel when his son approached him, police said.

The teen was holding a gun under a towel or robe when his father asked him what he was holding. When the teen replied, "Nothing," Bill Butterfield walked away and was shot twice in the head and back by the family's .38-caliber revolver.

Lance Butterfield later said his father had been abusive toward him.

VFW seeks public's help with repairs

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

The VFW building downtown is facing potential trouble and veterans are looking to residents for help.

It's all about a structure problem that became clearly exposed after the recent demolition of the von Brunow building wall.

The trouble actually began when the VFW building was blown away from its Highway 152 location by the tornado that hit two years ago. The storm forced the vets to find a new building and location.

And they did — where downtown at Cuyler and Foster you can find the newly remodeled building.

But the recent demolition of the old von Brunow building wall next to the VFW has brought a new problem for the veterans.

After the wall, which was adjacent to the current VFW building, was torn down — the VFW found that their building had problems.

It was not built as solidly as they had thought previous to acquiring it, according to John Tripplehorn, Gray County Veterans Services Officer.

Now that the Brunow wall is gone, it is quite clear that the north side of the VFW building is in bad shape.

“...Unbeknownst to us, that (von Brunow) wall was protecting our building,” said Tripplehorn.

The mortar problems and the holes resulting from missing brick in the wall give good reason for worry, said Tripplehorn.

“We need something to keep the weather out, and we can't

Woman leads list of Top Ten wanted Crime Stoppers - 669-2222

There's money waiting for the anonymous tipster who can help Pampa/Gray County Crime Stoppers (669-2222) catch this week's most wanted criminal — Vereanki "Reani" Roynell Rolland, 33, who is sought for a probation violation on a felony theft conviction.

Rolland's last known address is on South Pierce Street in Amarillo and she's described as a black female, 5'4" tall, weighs 135 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes.

Police say Rolland has been hiding out making it difficult to find her and officers warn she should be considered armed and dangerous.

The rest of this week's Top Ten Most Wanted are:

1. Dennis Lawrence Bliss, white male, age 23. He is wanted for violation of probation on a burglary conviction.
2. Michelle Angel Stillwell, white female, age 23. She is wanted for violation of probation on a burglary conviction.
3. Richard Capallelo, white male, age 44. He is wanted on a grand jury indictment for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.
4. Jeremy Merle Fitzer, white male, age 17. He is wanted on a grand jury indictment for burglary.
5. Robert Lee French, white male, age 42. He is wanted on a grand jury indictment for burglary.
6. Judy Eileen Hammer, white female, age 46. She is wanted for violation of probation on a theft conviction.
7. Betty Jacklyn Weatherwax Lee, white female, age 36. She is wanted for two counts of violation of probation on arson and aggravated assault convictions.
8. Jesus Jose Vasquez, white male, age 32. He is wanted for possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver.
9. Boyd Scott Pilgrim, white male, age 34. He is wanted for violation of probation on a controlled substance conviction.

Postcard design contest under way

The Pampa Area Foundation for Outdoor Art members are designing postcards for Pampa and Gray County to be available in local stores in March.

One of the designs will feature pictures by local artists of local points of interest. This work can be in watercolor, acrylic, and/or pen and ink. Washes should be stable yellows, browns, light blues, and green-browns.

Pictures can not be any larger than 8 inches by 10 inches and must be on lighter weight drawing paper that can be wrapped around disk for processing. Suggested subjects are buildings as well as art sculpture.

The finished card will include from four to nine works of art that will be photographed to a reduced size so they can be arranged in a layout that will be processed postcard size, about four inches by five inches. The purpose of this postcard design is to promote Pampa and also include art.

The completed art should be put in a large envelope and titled "Postcard Art" and include the artist's name, address and phone number on the outside of the envelope. It must be delivered to the Chamber of Commerce by noon, December 19. A sample art card is available at the Chamber for viewing. For additional information call Kathy Gist, 665-4742.

Food bank fed 337 families last month

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

Where do they get the food to feed the masses? and what kind of people donate themselves to the cause of making sure the hungry get fed?

Both of these questions were answered in actions more than words one morning last week in Pampa.

On a chilly and early Tuesday morning, John Norris was up and at 'em, rounding up other volunteers to help him unload the foods waiting to be distributed to Pampa area non-profit organizations like Good Samaritan Christian Services, Pampa Community Daycare, Tralee Crisis Center, Meals on Wheels and the Salvation Army.

Many days a full-time volunteer at Good Samaritan, Norris acts as a sort of tour guide as he and several others begin the twice-monthly process to get the food from the Amarillo Food Bank put away and stored. That's before it goes to the Pampa residents who truly need the food.

"It's really getting to be a full-time chore," said Norris.

The process is no doubt a lengthy one. The Food Bank of Amarillo brings a truck full of food into Pampa two mornings a month. Before its arrival, area organizations have called the bank and placed "orders" on the kinds of goods they need at the moment.

The truck comes in, driven by Linda Brown of Amarillo, and then it's up to the volunteers of the organizations to get the tons of food back to their home bases.

"Get a picture of Lloyd — he doesn't get enough recognition," said John Norris. So Pampa resident and volunteer Lloyd Brummet stands among the packages of frozen bread that the Good Samaritans distribute daily to those in need.

Teen guilty in Wichita Falls stabbing

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A Wichita Falls teen-ager has been sentenced to 28 years in prison after pleading guilty to killing her 14-year-old neighbor at a school bus stop last year.

LaShawna Yvette Duval, 18, pleaded guilty to murder in a pre-arranged agreement. She won't be eligible for parole until 2010 for the Sept. 26, 1996, stabbing death of Erica Holloway.

Ms. Duval's younger sister, Taquisha Nicole Ragsdale, was convicted last March for the same crime. Ms. Ragsdale, 15, received a 15-year sentence and is currently in custody of the Texas Youth Commission.

After Ms. Duval was sentenced Wednesday, a friend of Ms. Holloway said the punishment didn't fit the crime.

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," said Rodeshia Galbert, a witness to a face-off between the sisters and Ms. Holloway the night before the killing.

As Ms. Holloway and friends were waiting for a bus the next morning, a black Camaro screamed up beside them, witnesses said. Ms. Duval emerged from the car, an argument ensued and Ms. Holloway struck Ms. Duval.

Ms. Duval chased Ms. Holloway and returned holding a knife. Ms. Holloway reappeared moments later and said, "She stabbed me," before falling down.

afford to put up another wall," Triplehorn explained.

Triplehorn said if he and the other veterans had known this was the case, they never would have not approved of the Brunow wall's destruction.

"If we had known, we would have fought it tooth and nail to prevent this," he said.

The VFW, in its attempt to be a good neighbor and agreeable to most of whatever was going on for the von Brunow park, is now in trouble, he says.

"We have a major problem and if there's anyone who can help us, we need it because the city can do absolutely nothing," Triplehorn said.

After approaching the city with their concerns, the VFW found that the city will not be able to help.

"We can't go fix their wall because it's private property, just like we can't go onto anybody else's private property ... and we didn't damage their wall, as far as I know," City Manager Bob Eskridge said.

"We're not casting ill will at the city, we just have a problem," Triplehorn said.

All of the funds the VFW had were put into this building and they can't afford to put up a new wall before the harsh winter winds come toward the south, he and veteran Mike Porter explained.

"It's a disaster! Here we are. We just got into this new building after the tornado ruined the last one and now we need some help from the community," said Triplehorn.

FOOD

Norris explained that the operation is getting more and more difficult to do. Presently, the Phillips Petroleum station on Highway 152 is allowing the Amarillo Food Bank truck to use its parking lot as a drop-off place.

In addition, Peggy Koehler, a Phillips employee, meets the volunteers each time with the company forklift and she unloads the food into the flat bed trailers that the organizations have borrowed for the cause.

A trailer donated by Johnson Furniture was brought in early that morning by Doyle Keeton and Steve Fredric to load the goods for the Good Samaritan organization.

Norris explained how thankful he is for the help from Peggy Koehler and Phillips, but, he said, Good Samaritan, really needs a forklift of its own.

"This way, it is taking Peggy away from her work and if we had our own forklift, we could keep it in our building," he said.

The way things work now, they use the fork lift, load food, drive it all back to Good Samaritans, and then four or five other volunteers join in the process of unloading the food.

With a fork lift, the process could be simplified.

The food bank truck could go directly to the organization where the food could be placed directly into storage. No waiting in the parking lot, no borrowing trailers or forklifts or Phillips employees, and no driving back and forth.

As it is — by the time Norris and the volunteers are done, the morning's gone and it's time for lunch.

"If we had our own lift, we could set it all in here instead of making two trips," said Norris.

Back at Good Samaritan, seven men have showed up to help unload the various food products and put them into storage.

All the hands work quickly to get this food "show on the road." In between the unloading of chips and eggs an occasional joke is heard.

"I'm a chip off the old block," ... "Who wants scrambled eggs?"

But amidst the light morning breeze and the joy that emanates from the volunteers is the somber truth of the matter.

"You think we're taking off a lot of food this morning, but it will all be gone in two weeks," said Norris.

"And we have to keep looking for things to minimize the work," he said.

Last month, Pampa's Good Samaritan organization fed 337 families — over a 1,000 people.

And so, the show must go on.

The vacant shelves await to be filled and the same few volunteers keep coming coming back.

"I can't explain why, but it gives you a sense of being," Norris said. "You get taken up in it and you do it."

Brothers finger influential attorney in case of the missing secretary

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Thomas Capano's ties to influential politicians were his strength for years: An aide to governors and mayors, he even called on powerful attorneys when he became the sole suspect in the disappearance of a woman he'd been dating.

Capano's closely knit world fell apart Wednesday when he was thrown in jail and charged with first-degree murder. Lawyers said the arrest — long awaited by relatives of the missing woman, Anne Marie Fahey — came after two of Capano's own brothers gave authorities key evidence about her disappearance.

Ms. Fahey, 30, vanished after having dinner with Capano at an upscale Philadelphia restaurant on June 27, 1996. President Clinton offered federal assistance in finding the secretary of Gov. Thomas Carper.

Capano, 48, an attorney, had been a suspect for months — the FBI within three weeks of her disappearance found what it said was Ms. Fahey's blood in his apartment. But he was never charged and no body was ever found.

State prosecutor Ferris Wharton said he believes Capano killed Ms. Fahey at his home and dumped her body in the Atlantic Ocean miles off the southern New Jersey coast.

"You like to have a body, but it's not an obstacle that can't be overcome," Wharton said.

Capano did not enter a plea to the charge, pending a preliminary hearing.

"You can bet every dollar in your pocket and every hair on your head that he's going to plead not guilty," said his lawyer, Joseph Hurley Jr. He accused one of Capano's brothers of lying to authorities to get out of a drug charge.

A diary belonging to Ms. Fahey, who was single, indicated she had been trying to end a secret affair with Capano, a father of four who was separated from his wife. One entry called him a "jealous maniac."

Capano, a legal aide to Rep. Michael Castle, R-Del., when Castle was governor, told police he dropped Ms. Fahey off at her home after the dinner. She was reported missing two days later.

But police said they have new details from a witness who described seeing Capano the morning after the dinner. Police and prosecutors did not identify the witness, but Hurley said it was Capano's younger brother, Gerard.

According to the police affidavit, the witness "asked Capano, 'Did you do it?' meaning did he kill the man or woman who was extorting him. Capano nodded and said, 'Yes.'"

The witness claimed Capano was the victim of an extortionist.

The witness also said he and Capano then sailed from Stone Harbor, N.J., to a spot 60 miles to 75 miles out in the Atlantic. There, the witness said, he and Capano dumped a cooler secured with an anchor overboard. The witness told police he saw a human foot and part of a calf slipping into the water.

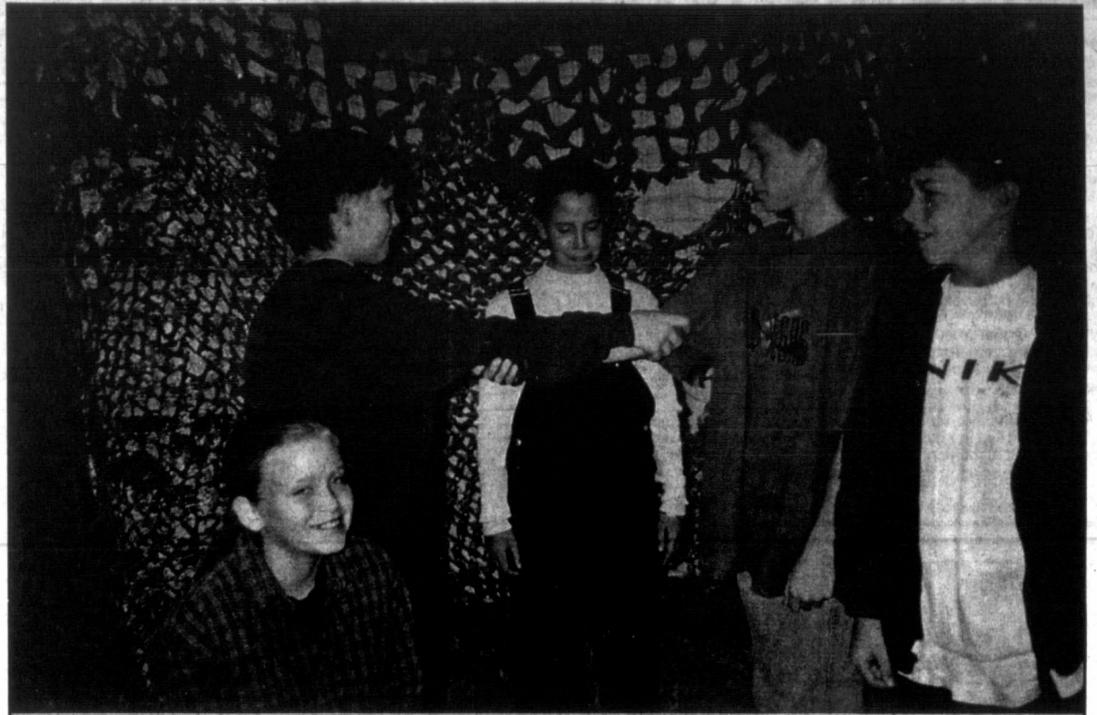

Hurley said Gerard Capano lied to avoid possible prosecution on drug and weapons charges. A grand jury has been considering indicting Gerard Capano after federal agents raided his home.

"Gerard Capano is trying to get out of 10 years (in prison)," Hurley said.

Another of Capano's younger brothers, Louis, acknowledged through his attorney that he has given authorities information about his brother. The information was not disclosed.

Louis Capano's lawyer, Catherine Recker, said he had misled investigators out of loyalty to his brother but asked Capano to turn himself in after learning "information which caused him to re-examine his actions."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Leading the way to better environment

When it comes to the environment, an ounce of prevention turns out to be worth more than a pound of cure.

That's the message behind innovative laws that have been approved by Texas and 22 other states. These environmental audit laws encourage cooperation and incentives for business to protect the environment.

Under Texas' environmental audit law, companies are given incentives to assess their own environmental compliance and take corrective action. Rather than playing a waiting game for state regulators to find environmental violations, companies will find and stop violations.

This arrangement is based on the common sense assumption that everyone, including business and industry, has a vested interest in clear skies, clean water and a safe environment. Instead of a game of "gotcha," the private and public sectors in our state are working together to strengthen environmental protection efforts.

I have introduced legislation, the Environmental Protection Partnership Act, that will apply this environmental audit system to federal regulation efforts. Under my bill, if a company voluntarily completes an environmental audit—a thorough review of its compliance with environmental law government may not turn around and use the audit report against that company in court. This will encourage companies to look for, find and remedy problems, rather than wait for the heavy hand of the regulator to descend upon them.

In addition, if a company performs an audit, promptly corrects any violations and reports this to the Environmental Protection Agency, that company will not be penalized for its violations. By ensuring companies that they will not be dragged into court for being honest, the bill encourages both compliance and reporting.

Environmental audits do not mean companies that pollute will go scot free. My bill in no way protects willful violators, those that do not promptly address violations or those trying to evade investigation. But the cooperative approach will free the EPA to target enforcement dollars on the "bad actors" those who intentionally pollute.

The bill also directs federal agencies to assist small businesses (which typically have fewer resources) to develop in-house compliance systems for performing voluntary self-evaluations.

Businesses need to play an active role in environmental protection. This legislation will make companies active partners with the Environmental Protection Agency in assuring compliance with the law.

The EPA itself has acknowledged the necessity of such an approach. In a recent policy statement, the EPA pointed out that, "because government resources are limited, maximum compliance cannot be achieved without active efforts by the regulated community to police themselves."

Texas and the 22 other states which have passed environmental audit laws are encouraging companies to be "good actors" and play a positive role in environmental protection. In the Lone Star state, hundreds of companies have carried out voluntary environmental audits, correcting countless violations in the process. These are corrected violations that the EPA and state regulatory officials may or may not have discovered. Other states tell similar success stories.

We have made monumental strides in cleaning up the environment over the past 30 years. Our air, water and soil are far cleaner now than they were when we first rolled up our sleeves and went to work. The Environmental Protection Partnership Act will allow us to build on those gains, and engage industry more fully in protecting the environment.

Things that puzzle me ...

Does this sequence make any sense?
—Most activist environmentalists are deeply concerned about "global warming." Human beings, they stress, contribute to such warming by burning fossil fuels which release "greenhouse gases" into the atmosphere. They maintain that over the course of many years, deep into the next century, this process of global warming will likely proceed far enough to be dangerous to our children and grandchildren. glaciers will melt, tides will rise, infectious tropical diseases will infect, floods will flood, heat waves will wave and sweating people will say it's not the humidity, it's the heat. Thus sayeth the vice president. It must be so.

—Nuclear power produces electric power without emitting any greenhouse gases.

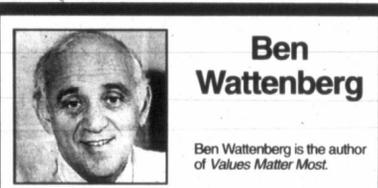

—Activist environmentalists (most of them) hate nuclear power.

—President Clinton and Vice President Gore say that America will not build any more nuclear power plants on their watch, and threaten vetoes to slow the process.

—President Clinton announces with great fanfare that America will now be selling nuclear reactors to the Chinese and that this would have a great environmental benefit for the Chinese.

Huh? If nukes aren't safe for Americans, why are they safe for the Chinese? If nukes are safe for the Chinese and are environmentally sound, and if global warming is serious, why won't the enviros, and Clinton-Gore, consider moving ahead on nuclear power? How should we characterize all this: Hypocrisy? Stupidity? Green religious fervor? Vice President Green-Gore's personal passion? The strong-arm politics of special-interest exaggeration?

Probably all of the above, but with its genesis in tree-hugging green fundamentalism. The decades-long argument about nuclear power offers a key to that mystical and muscular religion.

Ben Wattenberg
Ben Wattenberg is the author of Values Matter Most.

Nuclear power started out as an environmentalist's dream: no emissions, producing electricity "too cheap to meter." But the spooky idea of poisonous, invisible radiation became too tempting a target for neo-Luddites. What fluoridation of water was to the conspiratorial right, nuclear power was to the green left. Right-wing anti-fluoridation screwballs lost their fight; as a result, Americans have many fewer cavities.

But left-wing anti-nuclear activists won their fight. Environmentally engendered legal battles delayed construction of nuclear power plants by many years; thereby raising costs. Nuclear fence-jumpers set up further delays. Learned scientists like Jane Fonda denounced nuclear power. Courageous politicians (Mario Cuomo) canceled a completed $5 billion (!) nuclear plant under political pressure, and New Yorkers paid for it. A sometimes recalcitrant nuclear industry didn't help its case. Nor did falling prices of fossil fuels. In America, no new nuclear plant ordered since 1973 has been built.

We didn't get more cavities from halting nuclear construction. What we did get, according to the greens and Gore-Clinton, is too much American-generated greenhouse emissions. One reason: America gets only 20 percent of its fuel for electricity from nuclear reactors. France gets almost 75 percent. Now, at the upcoming U.N. global warming conference in Kyoto, Japan, we will be told by the international community that we have to reduce emissions and pay for our sins, not with cavities, but with money, passed along in one form or another to American consumers. (Thanks, Jane.)

This is not to say that at this very moment a crash program to build nuclear reactors is the way to go. Some neutral observers, for example, think that gas-fired turbines may have the intermediate-term cost advantage for new power production. They produce less greenhouse emissions than coal or oil—but they still do produce significant amounts.

If the threat of global warming is serious—I am quite dubious about the alleged science, but you never do know—then nuclear power is surely a long range answer. We should keep all our options open, including the nuclear one.

American-built plants are now much advanced, and with recent congressional action, pre-certifiable to avoid some of the tortuous legal hurdles. The trouble with nuclear waste is not that there is no solution, but lots of them. We know how to transport the hot stuff—2,500 shipments have already moved without a single radiation-spilling accident. (Although, of course, the greens call the vehicles "mobile Chernobyls," just as they say curing global warming with nuclear power is like curing alcoholism with heroin.) Not one person has been killed from radiation exposure from a nuclear plant in America.

American firms are now exporting safe and efficient nuclear plants to others—including, soon, our dear democratic friends in China. Accordingly, we should begin building some here, soon. If the environmentalists were serious, they would endorse such action. It's time to stop the hot air.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Nov. 13, the 317th day of 1997. There are 48 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Nov. 13, 1789, Benjamin Franklin wrote a letter to a friend in which he said, "In this world nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes."

On this date:

In 1775, during the American Revolution, U.S. forces captured Montreal.

In 1927, the Holland Tunnel opened to the public, linking New York City and New Jersey beneath the Hudson River.

In 1940, the Walt Disney animated movie "Fantasia" had its world premiere in New York.

In 1942, the minimum draft age was lowered from 21 to 18.

In 1956, the Supreme Court struck down laws calling for racial segregation on public buses.

In 1969, speaking in Des Moines, Iowa, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew accused network television news departments of bias and distortion, and urged viewers to lodge complaints.

Forbes is clearly no dummy

Because of my oft-stated personal rule against writing about presidential politics so soon after the last election, I feel I should seek your permission to proceed with a few words about the way the Year 2000 race is shaping up for the GOP.

All in favor say Aye. All opposed say Nay. The ayes have it. Thank you.

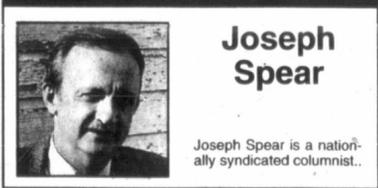

So far, by my count, some two dozen Republicans have been mentioned as potential candidates. With apologies to such stalwart would-be contenders as Sen. Robert Smith of New Hampshire and Gov. Mike Leavitt of Utah and Rep. Dick Arme of Texas, the contest appears to be shaping up as a three-man race.

We have the former governor of Tennessee, Lamar Alexander, who is campaigning on the fact that he has changed his shirt. Gone is the workman's plaid that he favored in 1996. It "got in the way of my message," he said on CNN a couple of months ago.

We have J. Danforth Quayle, who, for the benefit of those who don't follow politics, was the vice president who couldn't spell beans. He has been retooled, they say. He is confident, he is rested, he is newly articulate, he plays a mean game of golf, and he promises to continue his campaign against fictional characters who give birth out of wedlock.

And we have magazine magnate Malcolm S. Forbes Jr.

The wealthy publisher of Forbes Magazine was out of the box the day after the 1996 elections with a fax that reminded Republicans of his service to the cause and of his "hope, growth and opportunity" message. He is extremely bright, a Princeton University graduate who can discuss the expansionist policies of the James Polk administration or the history of farming in Nigeria without pausing to look up anything.

Joseph Spear
Joseph Spear is a nationally syndicated columnist.

He is a buoyant optimist, a tireless promoter of his ideas, and there is even something reassuring in his nerdy countenance and stiff, unpolished manner of speaking. Everyone knows pols are tanned and wear contacts. The pasty-faced, four-eyed Forbes must therefore be a real person.

He was shoved into the political spotlight in 1995 by the same suppleside economists who captured Ronald Reagan's imagination in the early 1980s. His devotion to Supply Side Bushwa got lost, however, in the excitement over his proposal for a flat-rate income tax system, and the public's infatuation with the idea soon turned him into a formidable force. Suddenly, he found himself under attack by his opponents. A flat tax is a "special loophole for millionaires," said Lamar Alexander. Then the cultural purists piled on. What was his position on abortion? What did he think about homosexual marriages?

Well, Forbes said, he would like to see abortion "vanish from America," but it would have to be dealt with in the cultural arena. As for gay marriages, well, he was "hopelessly conventional" and didn't like them at all, but, you know, live and let live. And what difference did it make, anyway, he said. "The Christian Coalition does not speak for most Christians."

Bye-bye Steve Forbes. His '96 flop should have marked the end of Forbes' political career, but someone must have told him about Richard Nixon's maxim that zealots control Republican primaries, and those who covet the presidency must run to the right to win the nomination, then go back to the center for the general election.

And guess what Steve Forbes has been doing. He pursued Ralph Reed, then executive director of the Christian Coalition. He wooed the Rev. Louis Sheldon, founder of the extremely conservative Traditional Values Coalition. He courted the Rev. Jerry Falwell, and James Dobson of Focus on the Family. He addressed a Christian Coalition conference in Atlanta and said, "Remember, life begins at conception and ends at natural death."

He was interrupted seven times with standing ovations. Steve Forbes didn't have to read "Politics for Dummies," as he clearly is not one. He read the Sayings of Chairman Nixon.

Cook-Adams Addition site of historic homes

About 1927, the Cook-Adams Addition to the town of Pampa was developed by Charles C. Cook and W.A. Adams. Mrs. Charles Thut gave the White Deer Land Museum a list of the first six homes built in the addition. These houses were:

◆ 1003 Christine — Charles C. Cook, Pampa's first lawyer, was well known as an attorney and for his assistance in bringing the Clinton and Oklahoma Western and the Fort Worth and Denver railroads to Pampa. He wanted Pampa to be a city of beautiful homes, streets, schools and substantial buildings. He died at a sanatorium in El Paso on his 43rd birthday, July 28, 1933.

◆ (919) 931 Christine — Clyde Fatheree, son of Vestus Emmett and Hattie Fatheree, was 20-years-old when his parents moved to Pampa in 1920 and bought the Bridges Drug Store on Cuyler Street.

When Laura Hobart came home from Simmons College in Boston for the Christmas holidays, she asked her sister to invite "that new boy in town" to a dance at the T.D. Hobart home.

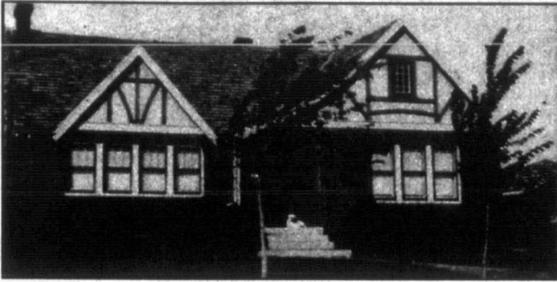

Clyde and Laura were married on Oct. 11, 1924, and built the house at 931 Christine in 1927. Their sons are Warren, Hobart and David.

Clyde, a pharmacist, died on May 15, 1965. Laura continued to live in the house at 931 Christine until her death on December 21, 1990. David Mann Fatheree, son of David and Mary Fatheree, now lives with his family at that address.

◆ 1021 Christine — Dr. Archie Cole, a native of Kentucky, came from Mobeetie to Pampa in 1915. He traveled the plains in horse and buggy and answered the call of the sick at all times. He and Dr. Walter Purviance had an office at the back of the Pampa Drug and later in the Rose Building.

Dr. Cole was concerned about burglaries which often occurred during the days of the oil boom. In his bedroom, he had a light switch installed that would turn on all the lights in the house simultaneously. Any burglar would have been well illuminated.

Dr. Cole and Mattie Martlow were married at Fayetteville, Ark., on April 7, 1915. Their daughters are Lucille and Jeanette.

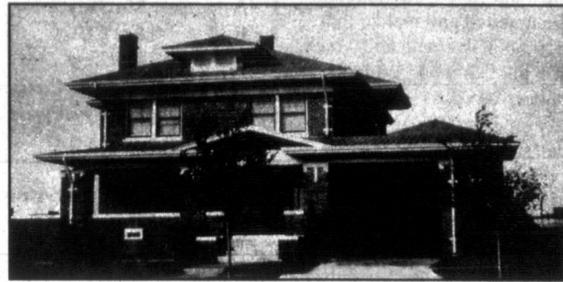

Dr. Cole died on June 21, 1934. Mattie Cole died about May 20, 1973, in Dallas.

◆ (918) 930 Mary Ellen — H.

Otto Studer, son of pioneer J.C. Studer, was born in Canadian. He practiced law in Pampa with his brother, John F. Studer. He moved to Amarillo shortly before his death on Oct. 31, 1943. He was survived by his wife, Annie Laurie, and by his eleven-year-old son, Stanley. Annie Laurie Studer was the daughter of Dr. A.R. Sawyer, early Pampa dentist.

◆ 1105 Mary Ellen — Charles Thut, son of Gray County pioneers Henry and Anna Thut, was Gray County Clerk from 1925 to 1971. After he retired, he began to hook rugs as a hobby and enjoyed hooking rugs for his family and friends.

in early 1915 and taught school at McLean and Lefors before working in an abstract office. Charles and Cappie were married on April 12, 1918, and moved to Pampa in 1928. There were the parents of Charles Dale and Donald Burton, who died in 1972. Charles Thut died on July 29, 1980, and Cappie Thut died on Nov. 17, 1996, at Tyler.

◆ 1101 Mary Ellen — Siler Faulkner, born in Missouri, came as a cowboy to the area of Lefors and worked for Perry LeFors. He began his abstract business after Gray County was organized in 1902. In 1923, he came to Pampa, and in 1928 he was given offices in the new courthouse.

Siler Faulkner and Edna Merritt were married June 15, 1910, in Columbia County, Ark. Their children are Virginia and Siler, Jr.

Siler Faulkner died on Sept. 19, 1939, and Edna Faulkner died on March 5, 1970.

Virginia (Mrs. E. L. Green, Jr.) now lives in the house at 1101 Mary Ellen.

The house at 1114 Mary Ellen attracted a great deal of attention because it was advertised as a "model home." When it was built, there were windows all across the front of the house. For a number of years E. Bass Clay lived with his wife, Ethel, and their daughters, Mattie Lee and Ruth, at this house. Clay was president of Pampa Mortuary and assistant cashier at the First National Bank.

The Pirates heading in a New Direction... VICTORY!!

staff writer
Katie Miller

Lefors 1997-1998 Basketball team is counting down the days until Basketball season starts. We asked some of our upcoming Basketball players how they thought the season will go. Here are a few comments:

I think the year will go great!! I hope everyone will work hard and dedicate themselves. I expect the very best from the Lady Pirates this year.

Senior: Nikki Bockmon
The year will go good as long as we work hard and as a team.

Junior: Penny Summers
I think that if we all try and put our hearts into it we will do real good. If we play to together as a team I think we can win.

Junior: Heather Howard
I think we have a really good chance this year. We have alot of girls with alot of skill and a heart to win. I think with hard work and dedication we will have a good outcome.

Sophomore: Melody Seely

I think it is really hard to tell how the year is going to go so early in the season. There is alot of pride in our team this year, the players have matured and realize that our school is small and you can't goof around. With the number of guys we have every player has to be in great shape with the attitude of winning. With this we will have a season worth watching.

Sophomore: Michael Steele
This is only speculation but I believe if we continue on in our work ethics, and be a TEAM, we will come out on top. Our team will promise to give 110% no matter if we win or lose.

Sophomore: Jeremy Pierce
I think it will go good if we all play together.

Freshman: J.W. Mains
I think we will win at least half of our games.

Freshman: Chris Alexander
All these players have great expectations for the upcoming season. They need as much support as possible. The first boys game is November 18, at 6:30 p.m. in Mobeetie. The Girls first game is the Lefors Tournament November 20-22. Our fighting Pirate boys team has six players. Those six guys have enough heart to take on anyone. Our fighting Lady Pirates start practicing soon and when they do start there's no stopping them. They are out to win.

GOOD LUCK PIRATES!!

Junior High Volleyball Comes To An End

Shelly Murray
yearbook editor

Last Monday, October 20 th, the lady Bandits played their last Volleyball game of the season.

Their opponents, the Cougars, had first serve. After a six point lead for the Cougars, Coach Billy Lynch called a time-out to encourage the Lady Bandits. His pep talk must have worked because they started to catch up. In the end of the first game Ft. Elliot pulled out the win, but the Bandits were far from giving up.

Both teams were pumped up for the next game. The second game was just as fun as the first one. It was also won by the Cougars, but the Bandits worked very hard and had a great season.

We want to congratulate both teams on a job well done!

Drug Prevention Week Ends in Entertaining Performance

Angie Davenport
editor

Friday, Oct. 31, brought an exciting end to drug prevention week with a program the whole school was involved with.

The high school cheerleaders kicked off the event with anti-drug cheers. The elementary classes performed songs and chants to popular tunes followed by the high school speech class, directed by Mr. Carothers, skit about the consequences of drug use.

Drug prevention is important in today's society. It is vital that the school takes part in helping guide youth away from drug use.

Lady Pirates Battle Chillicothe in Playoffs.

staff writer:
Katisha Jackson

Lady Pirates battled Chillicothe in a playoff game Thursday the 6th at 6:30 p.m. in Paducah.

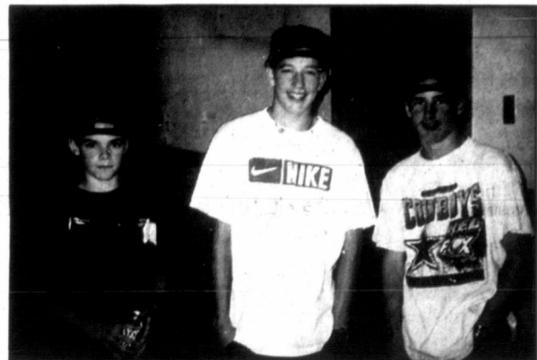

The lady Pirates starting string consisted of:
Seniors:
Nikki Bockmon # 10
Angie Davenport # 17
Juniors:
Penny Summers # 1
Katie Miller # 7
Heather Howard # 12
Sophomore:
Melody Seely # 5

Chillicothe received first serve but was unable to make points. Lady Pirate server Melody Seely, with the help of her team mates, was able to bring in the first points.

Lady pirates fought a hard battle, but were defeated in the end. 15-4 15-0

Putting the One Act into Perspective with Substantial Improvements

Heather Howard
staff writer
Misty McMullen
newspaper editor

Mr. Carothers is working with Mr. Alvis to make the necessary improvements to the stage to prepare for the coming of the One Act play to Lefors High School in March.

These improvements will include the updating of the lighting and the sound systems. This will also include the cleaning and repairing of the curtains. The curtains pulley system will also be repaired or replaced along with the ropes.

These improvements will be made by the Honeywell Controls Company. They will also make other improvements throughout the whole school, including all of the buildings.

Mr. Alvis thinks that the job will start after Christmas and will be finished within four to six months after they begin the first improvements.

Question of the Week Responses

Shelly Murray
yearbook editor

Should baggy clothes be outlawed?

I don't care, but if the school is going to buy us clothes then they can tell us what to wear. If not, they should just leave us alone.

-Tobee Bowman
I think that is fine to wear baggy clothes as long as you don't show anything. Plus it is really comfortable to wear baggy clothes.

-Katie Miller
I don't see why they should because they are just clothes. As long as they are not falling off or revealing anything then they are just fine.

-Dana Crutcher
Yes, because it looks very tacky and sometimes they are so baggy that they show too much.

-Katisha Jackson
I think that more people should wear baggy clothes, to realize how comfortable they are, but I think that is tacky when your shirt is too short and your pants are falling off.

-Aaron Jones
NO, they shouldn't because they don't buy our clothes and they're not our parents to tell us what to wear. That's just like saying they can't wear their ties and slacks because they look like they live in the 50's and need to realize it is the 90's.

-Levi Oldham
Yes, I think we should be able to wear baggy clothes because it is comfortable. We should get to wear what we want and when they start buying our clothes then they can tell us what to wear.

-Rey Villalon
I don't think that they should be able to decide what we wear. It's a matter of style. What we wear is our business. In larger schools baggy clothes and chains are a problem but here in this little town it is not. We should decide what we wear.

-Zach Turner
They should not outlaw baggy clothes because they are comfortable and cool.

-Leander Feltner
The school board should not be able to tell us what kind of clothes to wear because they have no good reason and baggy clothes are cool and comfortable and they don't buy our clothes.

-Caleb Barnes
Should Elementary have a longer recess?
Yes, because it is too short.

Yes, because we don't have enough time to finish anything we start.

-Lindsay Duckworth
Yes, because it is too short and we don't have enough time to do anything.

-Jonelle Tinney
Yes, after lunch we don't have enough time to take a break from all of our work.

-Brandi Ponce
Yes, the reason is because we don't have enough time to burn off energy after lunch.

-Savanah Smith
Should prisoners be able to work at school when students are in class?

I see no problem if they are well supervised.

-Nora Franks
As long as they are guarded and don't interact with the students, then there is no reason why they shouldn't be able to.

-Jada Murray
If they are well supervised, I don't see a problem with it.

-Pat Seely
I don't think it is a good idea because if only one time a prisoner did something to a student, then it would be one time too many. If a prisoner will steal a school car there is no telling what they will do.

-Marian Miller

FDA to decide fate of baldness pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merck & Co. wants to help balding men regrow their hair by merely popping a pill, and today government scientists will decide whether that's a safe thing to do.

If the Food and Drug Administration agrees, Merck's Propecia would become the first anti-baldness pill for American men. The only option now for bald men who want to grow hair is to slather Rogaine on their scalps.

Propecia works by suppressing a hormone that shrinks hair follicles.

It's not a miracle cure, cautions Dr. Ronald Savin, a dermatologist in New Haven, Conn., who helped test the drug.

The new hair "is not like anybody ever had when they were 13," Savin said. But "it is an obvious difference. ... I've got to tell you, I've seen the pictures — the before and after — and it's impressive."

Propecia actually is a lower dose of a drug already used for enlarged prostates, called Proscar. For the merely hair-impaired, Merck says a safe dose is 1 milligram a day of the active ingredient, finasteride, not the 5-milligram Proscar pills that prostate patients take. The lower dose would also be available only by prescription.

Merck says Propecia would not be marketed to women because of the threat of birth defects. Doctors even tell women not to touch the pills for fear the drug could be absorbed through their skin.

Some 40 million American men suffer hair loss. Their only option for growing hair has been Rogaine, a nonprescription drug sold in the shampoo aisle. It helps about 25 percent of users grow back moderate amounts of hair, but the balding resumes when they stop using it.

Merck today will show scientific advisers to the FDA studies of 1,553 men that found 86 percent of those who took Propecia grew more hair or maintained the amount they had, compared with 42 percent of men who took a dummy pill.

More significant to Savin was that Propecia helped preserve what hair men had left, even if they didn't grow any more.

He said investigators spent two years counting the hairs in specific sections of men's scalps, and those who didn't get Propecia treatment lost 2.5 percent of their hair every year, while hair counts were stable for the treated men.

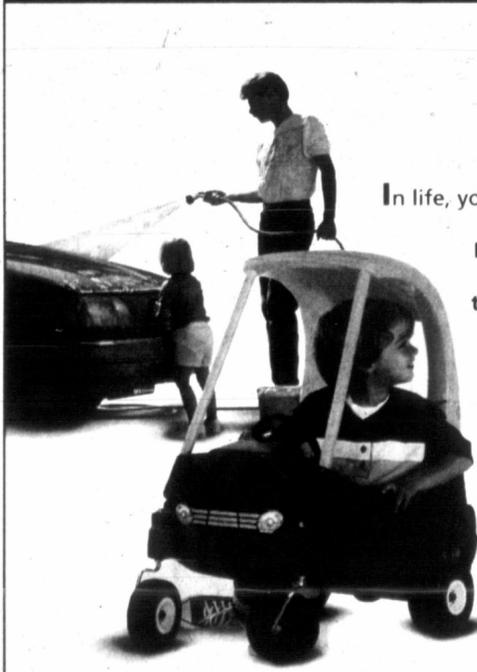

But the big question for the FDA panel is whether using a pill that affects hormones is safe for a simply cosmetic problem. The FDA is not bound by the panel's decision, expected by late afternoon, but typically follows its advice.

Merck says side effects included decreased libido and impotence in 2 percent of the men who took Propecia, a number the company says is insignificant, particularly because 1.3 percent of men who took a dummy pill reported the same problems.

Propecia works by blocking production of a testosterone-related hormone called dihydrotestosterone, or DHT, that causes hair loss.

Scientists knew to investigate the drug because studies of a group of related men in the Dominican Republic who naturally have very low concentrations of DHT never go bald, Savin explained.

Woman's Prince Charming Is Turning Out to Be a Frog

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating "Ross" for 13 years. We have never lived together. Shortly before I met him, his business fell on hard times. We agreed (I thought) that once he was financially back on his feet, we'd get married. Well, it's been almost two years since his financial recovery and still no proposal.

Abigail Van Buren
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

Last Christmas, he asked me what I wanted. I told him, "an engagement ring." Needless to say, I didn't get one. When I asked him why, he said he has become disenchanted with marriage. Then he talked about actress Goldie Hawn and producer/actor Kurt Russell's long relationship — very happily unmarried. Many of Ross's friends and family are either going through divorces or are unhappily married. But I don't understand what this has to do with us. Why should I be penalized?

DEAR UNHAPPILY SINGLE: I don't blame you for feeling hurt and disappointed. Ross may be afraid of commitment and is unwilling to take on the legal and financial responsibilities of marriage. Regardless of the reason, what is missing from this relationship is his willingness to make a legal commitment.

I have never pressured Ross about marriage. I thought it was only a matter of time. He says he loves me, there's no other woman, and I believe him.

There's an old saying, "If you're looking for trout, don't go fishing in a herring barrel." If it's marriage you desire, stop hanging onto a man who is disenchanted with the institution and find one whose values are more in keeping with yours.

We are still seeing each other exclusively, and I don't want anyone else. But something is missing. We're not "complete." I find myself getting upset with him over many little things. I can't let go of the hurt and disappointment. Am I to blame for allowing this to drag on without a solid commitment from him? What do you think, Abby?

DEAR ABBY: When I read the items in your column about the definitions of "elderly," I had to share this:

UNHAPPILY SINGLE IN CINCINNATI

About 12 years ago, my husband, "Jeff," and I, our two young children and all of Jeff's family gathered for a five-generation dinner. Jeff's great-grandfather, who was 97 years old at the time, was visiting for the first time since our children were born.

Also in attendance was his daughter, my husband's "Grandma Hazel," aged 72.

All of us women were in the kitchen preparing the dinner when I noticed that Grandma Hazel was drinking a soda. In the eight years that I'd known her, I had never seen her drink one. She drank a beer now and then — but never a soda.

When I commented to Grandma Hazel that I had never seen her drink a soda in all the years I'd known her, I was floored by her reply. She leaned over and whispered, "I know. I had to put my beer into a soda can because Dad doesn't approve of my drinking!"

YOUNG WHIPPERSNAPPER, ARLINGTON, TEXAS

DEAR WHIPPERSNAPPER: Regardless of age, we're all children in the eyes of our parents and we seek their approval. Evidently, Dad had never approved of Hazel's drinking habits. As the old expression goes, "To get along, you need to go along."

(Everybody has a problem. What's yours? Get it off your chest by writing to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Horoscope

Your Birthday

Friday, Nov. 14, 1997

New social involvements with new people could make the year ahead a banner year. Do not wait for others to come to you; take measures to go out and meet them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to insure an enjoyable day today, associate with friends who share an interest with you. You could be of help to one another. Astro-Graph year-ahead predictions make great Christmas stocking stuffers for all signs of the zodiac. Mail $2 for each to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state the zodiac signs you desire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Material conditions continue to favor you today. For best results, focus your attention on profitable arrangements that are under way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A substantial payoff could be likely for you today. You have devoted a lot of time and energy to the project, but leave it up to chance now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Beginning today, you might experience sudden changes in your financial circumstances. Gains may emanate from two unrelated areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Take advantage of any opportunities you get today to meet new people. Two individuals who could help to advance your hopes might become involved.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be lucky both in friendships and in career matters today. Each will usher in pleasurable experiences in their own unique way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Competitive involvements could hold a particular appeal for you today. If someone drops a gauntlet, I think you'll understand what I mean.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Changes precipitated by others today could work more for your ultimate advantage than it will for theirs. Let events run their course unabated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a storybook day where important associations are concerned. Loyal allies might help you achieve objectives you couldn't attain unaided.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Material circumstances look exceptionally promising for you today. Chance and trends may open windows of opportunity where none existed previously.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Do what's expected of you today, and even more if possible. A job well done will attract attention and offer hidden benefits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck might take an interest in your desires today and provide you with something for which you've been longing secretly. Maintain your faith.

College football: Championship chase is on

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

Don't count No. 4 Ohio State or No. 5 Tennessee out of national title contention just yet.

Entering Saturday's games, the Buckeyes (9-1) and Volunteers (8-1) need to keep winning and hope for a few surprises that could put Ohio State in the Rose Bowl and Tennessee in the Orange.

"I think you can go crazy at this time of year worrying about that stuff," Buckeyes coach John Cooper said.

Ohio State should have an easy time against Illinois (0-9), but then comes the toughest — at No. 1 Michigan on Nov. 22 with a Rose Bowl berth hinging on the outcome.

Tennessee, led by Peyton Manning, has clear sailing into the SEC title game on Dec. 6, with games against three teams with losing records — Arkansas (3-5) on Saturday, Kentucky (4-5) and Vanderbilt (3-6).

"We've been through two years of a lot of frustration to get ourselves to this point to have a chance," Vols coach Phil Fulmer said, referring to Florida's SEC dominance the past few seasons. "Now we've got a chance and we need to make the most of it."

An Orange Bowl bid could come Tennessee's way if No. 12 Florida beats No. 2 Florida State on Nov. 22.

Manning, who threw for 399 yards and four TDs in last week's 44-20 win over Southern Mississippi, is 205 of 337 for 2,500 yards and 23 TDs this season, while freshman running back Jamal Lewis has 789 yards and three TDs.

For the Buckeyes, Joe Germaine, 107 of 156 for 1,494 and 13 TDs, leads the way, along with a defense ranked second in the nation in points allowed at 11.3.

David Boston is the top receiver with 64 catches for 836 yards and 11 TDs.

The big game in the Pac-10 has Washington (8-1, 5-1) at UCLA (7-2, 5-1), where the loser remains in contention for the Rose Bowl, but would need lots of help in the four-team race.

If the Huskies win, and then beat Washington State on Nov. 22, they will play in Pasadena on Jan. 1.

Washington quarterback Brock Huard is expected to return after missing last week's game — a 31-28 loss to Oregon — with a sprained ankle. Running back Rashaan Shehe, though, is out with a knee injury.

UCLA, after a week off, is as healthy as it's been all season.

"I wish I could be a fan in the stands for this one," UCLA coach Bob Toledo said. "We're looking forward to it."

UCLA dropped its first two games — by three points to Washington State and by six to Tennessee — but has won seven in a row. During the streak, Cade McNown has 14 TD passes and three interceptions. Skip Hicks has 20 TDs and needs one more to set a school single-season record.

The picks: No. 1 Michigan (minus 15) at No. 23 Wisconsin.

Wake Forest (minus 33) at No. 2 Florida State. Let the countdown to Michigan begin. ... OHIO STATE 45-0.

No. 5 Tennessee (minus 25) at Arkansas. Looks like Peyton is back on target for Vols. ... TENNESSEE 42-14.

No. 8 Penn State (minus 6) at No. 19 Purdue. Bolleymakers looking for first home unbeaten season since '79. ... PENN STATE 28-20.

No. 16 Auburn (plus 7) at No. 7 Georgia. Daws needed four OTs last year, have it easier this time. ... GEORGIA 35-21.

UCLA 35-31. Colorado (plus 10) at No. 10 Kansas State. Buffs riding 11-0-1 streak vs. K-State. ... KANSAS STATE 31-24.

No. 11 LSU. Notre Dame (plus 11) at No. 11 LSU. Death Valley, an appropriate setting for the Irish. ... LSU 28-14.

No. 12 Florida (minus 17) at South Carolina. Gators' Pass 'N' Pray offense should handle wounded Gamecocks. ... FLORIDA 38-17.

Stanford (plus 15 1/2) at No. 14 Washington State. Ryan Leaf shows why he's Heisman worthy. ... WASHINGTON STATE 44-19.

Oregon (plus 9 1/2) at No. 15 Arizona State. Ducks run into foul climate in Tempe. ... ARIZONA STATE 31-20.

No. 17 Mississippi State (plus 3) at Alabama. Bulldogs beat 'Bama in '96 when Tide was good. ... MISSISSIPPI STATE 24-14.

No. 18 Texas A&M (minus 14) at Oklahoma. Aggies looking for spot in Big 12 title game. ... TEXAS A&M 44-14.

No. 21 Syracuse (minus 19) at Pittsburgh. Donovan McNabb & Co. too much for Panthers' defense. ... SYRACUSE 35-13.

No. 22 Iowa (minus 8 1/2) at Northwestern. Wildcats looking to end poor season on high note. ... NORTHWESTERN 28-24.

DALLAS (AP) — Troy Aikman, who hinted at retirement as recently as last January, now says he can envision playing well into the next decade, The Dallas Morning News reported Thursday.

The nine-year veteran, rattled by five NFL concussions, told the newspaper he agrees with Cowboys owner Jerry Jones that he could soon sign a contract extension that would keep him in Dallas several seasons past 2001.

"I could see that happening," Aikman said. "Assuming physically that I'm capable of playing, I could definitely see that happening."

Aikman's current eight-year, $50 million contract runs through 2001. The 30-year-old is expected to extend his contract after this season to give the team more room under the salary cap.

VOLLEYBALL

BRISCOE — Fort Elliott meets Grand Fall-Royalty at 5:45 Friday in the regional round of the playoffs in the Lubbock Monterey High School Fieldhouse.

Grand Falls has a 26-5 record and is ranked No. 2 in the state in Class 1A.

Fort Elliott (14-9) defeated Knox City, 15-6, 15-10, in bi-district Tuesday. Fort Elliott is in the regional round for the fourth straight year.

FOOTBALL

ASHBURN, Va. (AP) — For yet another day, Ryan Kuehl worked with the first-team defensive line of the Washington Redskins.

"I don't know about tomorrow," Kuehl said Wednesday, shaking his head after practice. "I couldn't do anything right out there."

If demotion day were looming, Kuehl would be the least-surprised person at Redskin Park. He feels he's playing on borrowed time, even though he's started the last two games at defensive tackle and even though the Redskins allowed only one touchdown in each of those games.

"You've got to remember," Kuehl said. "I'm just a low-life free agent. They don't have a draft pick, they don't have any money invested in me. They can drop me at a drop of the hat."

Two months ago, Kuehl was helping coach his old high school team in Maryland. In these days of pros dressed in Armani suits, he doesn't look anything like an NFL player with his unkempt hair, sweat-shirt, sweat pants and flip-flops. He has no delusions of multimillion-dollar contracts. He's big — 282 pounds — but isn't blessed with All-Pro natural talent.

But the Redskins, ranked next-to-last against the run, are so thin at defensive line that every available able body is needed. That's why Kuehl, who was cut at the end of training camp after spending almost all last year on the practice squad, was called back to the team two weeks into the regular season.

"My goal?" he said. "I play not to get cut the following week."

Kuehl has made the most of the opportunity. Rather than settle for being a sacrificial backup to be used only in desperation, the 25-year-old Virginia graduate gradually moved up the depth chart. He got his first NFL start in the 31-8 victory over Chicago, and made it two in a row in Sunday's 30-7 win over Detroit.

Against the Lions, Kuehl tackled Barry Sanders for a loss and got a hand on the pass that Jesse Campbell intercepted in the first half. His intelligence and determination have erased whatever doubts his more experienced teammates may have had.

"Ryan's the kind of guy you want on your team," said tackle Marc Boutte, who has lined up next to Kuehl for the past two weeks.

White Deer, Canadian set for bi-district contest in Pampa

PAMPA — When White Deer and Canadian meet in a Class 2A bi-district game this weekend in Pampa, two former teammates will on opposite sidelines.

Ralph Samaniego (White Deer head coach) and David Flowers (Canadian head coach) were teammates at Panhandle State University in Goodwell, Okla. Friday's meeting will be the first time their paths have crossed as head coaches since Flowers graduated from Panhandle State in 1980. Samaniego graduated a year later and played center on the Aggies' national playoff team.

"It's an unexpected pleasure to be meeting Canadian," Samaniego said. "I had a pleasant meeting with coach Flowers in Pampa. It's going to be fun playing against someone you know and respect."

Samaniego looks for a close contest when the two teams square off at 7:30 Friday night in Harvester Stadium.

"Canadian's a lot like us," he said. Neither team has any big guys and our speed is about the same. We're going to be very well-matched."

Samaniego said the Bucks'

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

defense will be tested trying to contain John Ashley, Canadian's southpaw quarterback.

"He throws the ball well and has a quick release. He doesn't take many sacks," Samaniego said.

Ashley, a 6-0, 170-pound senior, has thrown for 15 touchdowns and 1,327 yards this season.

Flowers is also looking forward to the bi-district showdown.

"Ralph is a good old boy. It's going to be fun," Flowers said.

While White Deer could have problems with Ashley, Canadian-could-have-trouble-stopping Craig Urbanczyk, the Bucks' super star running back.

"Urbanczyk is a tough runner, but White Deer has good players on both sides of the ball. They really get after it on defense," Flowers said.

Urbanczyk, a 165-pound junior, has rushed for 21 touchdowns and 1,836 yards.

White Deer has a 9-1 record and is making its first playoff appearance since 1993.

Canadian, also 9-1, won the District 1-2A championship after failing to make the playoffs a year ago.

WHEELER — Wheeler meets Kress in a Class 1A bi-district game at 7:30 Friday night in Childress.

Wheeler, 7-3 for the season, won the outright District 1-1A title for the second year in a row.

Kress, 8-2 for the season, grabbed the NO. 2 seed behind Springlake-Earth in District 2-1A. Kress also finished in the runnerup spot a year ago.

The Mustangs, who averaged four touchdowns per game during the regular season, are led by senior running back Jeremy Davis, who has rushed for 1,031 yards and eight touchdowns. Senior running back Bryan Judd has rushed for 920 yards and nine touchdowns.

Junior quarterback Aaron Dunnam has rushed for 762 yards and a dozen touchdowns.

Kress, averaging 27.5 points per game, lost to Springlake Earth, '21-7, last weekend to decide District 2-1A's No. 1 and No. 2 seeds. Both teams finished district play with 6-1 records.

It's a funny game, sometimes

High school football in the Panhandle. It's a funny game, sometimes. Just look at what happened in the last month of the District 1-4A season.

Borger beat Pampa, Randall beat Borger and Pampa beat Randall in that order. Borger and Randall advance to the playoffs and Pampa stays home. What happened in between is why the Harvesters failed to make the playoffs for the first time in a couple of years.

Amarillo Caprock, a team that was in never-never land against five district foes, put it all together in their final game.

The hapless victim was, of course, the Harvesters. It was disaster at Dick Bivins Stadium on Nov. 1 as Caprock toppled Pampa, 34-27. The Longhorns finished at 1-5 in district and had the same overall 4-5 record as the Harvesters.

That stunning loss eliminated any Harvester playoff hopes, but coach Dennis Cavalier's crew wasn't quite ready to mothball their uniforms yet.

The Harvesters, playing their best all-around game in their season finale, gave playoff-bound Randall a 21-12 loss in Harvester Stadium.

Perhaps, even Cavalier didn't see it coming. He was at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon when Randall effectively handled Borger. It wasn't as close as the 21-14 score indicated as Borger scored a touchdown with one second left to play.

"Randall is a team that has played well all year," Cavalier said prior to the Pampa-Randall game. "They not only beat Borger, but actually beat them pretty soundly. We're going to have to do everything right to hang in there with them."

Sports Editor

The Harvester did just about everything right on both sides of the ball. Running back Eric Greer rushed for 110 yards and two touchdowns. Quarterback Justin Roark threw only four passes, but completed two of them, one a touchdown to Brian Waldrip. Ronnie Proby used his 275-pound body like a battering ram to pick up 59 yards on just seven carries.

Pampa linebackers Jared White and Vincente Martinez, along with cornerback Shannon Reed, were largely responsible for the Raiders gaining just 50 yards on the ground. White made 15 tackles, had two quarterback sacks and a blocked pass. Martinez collected 14 tackles while Reed made seven tackles and broke up five passes.

Pampa's defense never let up. Josh Blackmon and Dustin Hall each had a pass interception and White recovered a fumble. Only a pass interference call gave Randall its last score late in the fourth quarter.

When the final horn sounded, Randall head coach Alan Cornelius gathered his shellshocked Raiders in the middle of Harvester Stadium to access the damage. It would be a long bus ride home.

High school football is a funny game, sometimes.

NO. 19 Georgia slips by Texas, 89-87

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Michael Chadwick hit two free throws with 1:37 to play to put No. 19 Georgia ahead and new coach Ron Jirsa got his first victory with an 89-87 win over No. 22 Texas in the third-place game in the Coach Against Cancer Classic on Wednesday night.

Jirsa, who got the job after Tubby Smith left for Kentucky, could not celebrate until a surprisingly wide-open 3-pointer by Gabe Muoneke bounced off the front of the rim at the buzzer.

Junior guard Ray Harrison had 22 points, one off his career high, and highly regarded freshman Jumaine Jones added 18 for the Bulldogs (1-1), who were beaten 47-45 by North Carolina State on Tuesday night.

Texas junior forward Kris Clack matched his career high with 25 points before fouling out in the closing seconds. Freshman guard Luke Axtell was also impressive, scoring 19 points on 7-of-12 shooting from the field.

Texas is 0-2 with assistant Eddie Oran running the team for Tom Penders, who underwent heart surgery last Thursday, having a defibrillator implanted.

The 52-year-old Penders, who was diagnosed with cardiomyopathy in 1991, is expected to resume his regular duties within two weeks.

Eight teams still in contention in WAC

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer

With only two weeks left in the season for most teams, eight schools remain in contention for the Western Athletic Conference football championship.

Four of them play each other on Saturday, with Brigham Young traveling to New Mexico and Rice playing at Utah in a pair of key Mountain Division matchups.

BYU, New Mexico, Rice and SMU — which plays at Tulsa — share the division lead with 4-2 records. Utah is 3-3 and retains an outside chance of winning the division.

In the Pacific, Colorado State (6-1) is idle this week, having clinched at least a tie for the division title with last week's 41-3 rout of Fresno State.

Fresno (4-2) and Air Force (5-2) also remain alive in the Pacific. Fresno entertains San Diego State, while Air Force is home against Wyoming. A loss by Air Force gives the division title to CSU.

In other conference action, Hawaii visits San Jose State and winless Texas Christian plays at Texas-El Paso. UNLV is idle.

BYU appears to have gotten healthy again offensively just in time for New Mexico, a team it has beaten 16 straight games.

"It's a team we've had some success against," BYU coach LaVell Edwards said. "But we've had some close games with them, especially the last few years."

Griffey named AL's MVP

SEATTLE (AP) — It was a no-brainer, right? Nobody else had Ken Griffey Jr.'s numbers in the American League last season. He led in home runs with 56 and was tops in the majors in RBIs with 147. The Gold Glove center fielder also led his league in runs scored (124), total bases (393), slugging percentage (.646), extra base hits (93) and intentional walks (23). Still, Griffey wasn't sure if he was going to get his first Most Valuable Player award on Wednesday. He saw what happened to Seattle Mariners teammate Alex Rodriguez last year. "I didn't really want to think about it," Griffey said. "I've never been in this situation where I was called the front runner. You know how superstitious I am. When anybody wanted to talk about it, I said, 'We'll wait and see what happens.'" He didn't have to worry. In fact, he became the league's ninth unanimous MVP. "Sure, I'm happy," he said. "I'm still in a little bit of shock. I'm still nervous. I really don't know what to say or how to react." Runner-up to Frank Thomas of the Chicago White Sox for the award in 1994 despite an AL-leading 40 homers, Griffey received the biggest honor of his career a little more than a week shy of his 28th birthday. Griffey, who will earn $7.75 million to play for the Mariners in 1998 and is contracted through 2000, is an eight-time All-Star. "This award means a lot," he said. "You always think about being the MVP." It would have meant more if the Mariners would have made it to the World Series, Griffey said. Unfortunately, Griffey didn't hit much (.138) and the Baltimore Orioles eliminated Seattle in the playoffs, spoiling the Mariners' second AL West title in three years. "We fell a little short this year," he said. "Hopefully, we'll get back to the playoffs next year. My goal in baseball is to win the World Series." In receiving all 28 first-place votes and 392 points in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America, Griffey became the first unanimous AL pick since Thomas in 1993, and the 13th unanimous selection overall.

Dallas Stars, Bruins battle to 3-3 deadlock in hockey play

DALLAS (AP) — Forget about style points. The Boston Bruins were only concerned that the puck found its way across the goal line. With goalie Byron Dafeo off for a sixth attacker, Ted Donato's centering pass deflected into the goal off a defender's skate with 41.5 seconds left to give the Bruins a 3-3 tie with Dallas on Wednesday night. Dallas took a 3-1 lead into the third period, but Bruins defenseman Ray Bourque cut it to one at 10:54. Bourque's 40-foot pass at the net deflected off a Dallas player's stick past goalie Ed Belfour. Then in the final minute, Donato made a centering pass at the net that bounced off defenseman Derian Hatcher's skate and past Belfour. "To tell you the truth, I still haven't got a clue how it went in," Donato said of his ninth goal of the season. "But the lucky bounces usually even out."

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — At 6-foot-10 and 200 pounds, senior center Andy Ellis is expected to add visibility to Texas Tech's basketball program. Ellis of Lamesa High School on Wednesday signed a national letter of intent to play for the Red Raiders. He averaged 16 points and nine rebounds at Lamesa, which was 20-10 last season. "This is an important day for Red Raider basketball," said Tech head coach James Dickey. "Andy is a big key in our recruiting and for the future of our program."

Risks remain, but companies doing more to protect workers overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The murders of four U.S. oil company workers in Pakistan was a chilling reminder of the potential dangers faced by Americans working abroad, but security experts say U.S. companies are becoming more savvy about protecting their people overseas.

Relying on everything from embassy "telephone trees" to country-by-country risk assessments and consultants who offer sophisticated counterterrorism training, multinational corporations are becoming their own security experts.

Just last week, more than 700 corporate security directors were in Washington for a daylong State Department briefing that included an appearance by Secretary of State Madeleine Albright.

"This is sort of becoming a way of life for us, as it is getting to be with most large companies today," Boeing spokesman Joe Jorgensen said. He added that the Seattle-based aircraft maker errs on the side of caution.

"If the State Department issues an advisory to bring your employees home, our employees are usually on a plane already," Jorgensen said.

While many U.S. companies were reluctant to discuss their security efforts publicly for fear of drawing attention to workers overseas, independent security consultants said they see a growing determination on the part of at least the largest corporations to make sure their workers are protected abroad.

"American companies abroad, particularly in the Third World, are much more aware of the threats directed against their personnel than they were a few years ago," said Vince Cannistraro, a former government counterterrorism official who runs his own security business. "There's no such thing as a foolproof system, but there are lots of preventive, cautionary things that can be done."

Frank Johns, managing director of Pinkerton Global Intelligence Services Division, said: "In the old days there was a lot of fear. Now, it's more resolve, and more of a measured, intelligence approach."

In the wake of Wednesday's ambush attacks in downtown Karachi and the convictions of Muslims in two U.S. murder trials this week, the State Department warned U.S. citizens to defer non-essential travel to Pakistan.

Johns said American civilians have become more of a target since the government stepped up security at embassies and other federal facilities in overseas hotspots during the 1980s. Terrorists then turned their attention to "softer targets, which naturally were members of the U.S. business community, who were really out on a limb," he said.

FBI suspends TWA crash probe, says no evidence of a crime

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI found "absolutely no evidence" that a criminal act caused the deadly explosion aboard TWA Flight 800 and suspended its investigation, The Associated Press has learned.

The decision, outlined in a letter the FBI sent to victims' families and obtained late Wednesday by the AP, narrowed the possible causes of the explosion pursued by investigators to one: mechanical failure.

The explosion of the Paris-bound flight on July 17, 1996, off the coast of Long Island killed all 230 people aboard. Numerous theories emerged as to the cause — from sabotage to a bomb to an errant Navy missile — but investigators focused on problems in the plane's center fuel tank.

The FBI investigation probed possible links to international terrorist groups and included interviews with more than 7,000 people, according to the letter written by James Kallstrom, the FBI assistant director in charge of the agency's investigation.

Hundreds of pieces of wreckage were analyzed and much of the plane was reconstructed inside a hangar, where hole and punctures were checked for evidence of a crime. The FBI even detonated warheads to see their impact on metal and hired forensic and missile experts to do their own tests.

The agency "found absolutely no evidence to cause us to believe that the TWA Flight 800 tragedy was the result of a criminal act," Kallstrom wrote.

"Every lead has been covered, all possible avenues of investigation exhaustively explored and every resource of the United States government has been brought to bear in this investigation," wrote Kallstrom, who confirmed that the letter had been sent but declined further comment.

The FBI planned a news conference next week to issue a comprehensive report on its criminal probe, a law enforcement source said on condition of anonymity.

Michel Breistroff of Paris, whose 25-year-old son, Michel, was killed in the crash, received the letter Wednesday.

"I guess the explanation for this crash is going to be mechanical," he said in a telephone interview. He added that he will have lingering doubts about the cause until a definitive answer is found.

Kallstrom's letter said the FBI's sole mission was to determine whether there was evidence of a criminal act and if so, "to bring those responsible to justice."

The FBI will now provide assistance to the ongoing investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board, Kallstrom wrote. The agency will resume its probe if "any new information is developed that warrants FBI scrutiny."

Sam's Field report #2, 240 miles from Abilene

You won't believe where I'm calling from. And you won't believe the group I've run into. Let's just say Thanksgiving is not their idea of a holiday. My advice is to run for it but they won't budge. I even tried yelling, "stuffing!" I'll call you later with an update. It'll probably be at night or on the weekend when the call is free. I'm really thankful I've got my Cellular One phone, otherwise I'd be talking to a bunch of turkeys. Bye for now.
