MAN HELD HERE FOR MURDER

Chicago Police Chief Promises Quick Capture Of Gangsters

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

THE MAN who made possible Big Spring's new City Park will be thanked and should be through the years. Hundreds are enjoying the place each day. The city commission's attitude toward a park improvement program is commendable. The organizations such as the Kiwanians with their wading pool, and other groups, deserve much credit. And, one individual should be accorded plenty of appreciation. He is L. L. Freeman, long time citizen and a familiar figure along the T&P, as he surveys the landscape from a locomotive cab. Mr. Freeman personally raised the funds that provided the tables, chairs, benches, and other equipment at the park.

THE PROPHECY this column made some days ago that the civic committee, headed by Mr. Robbins, would put over its campaign to improve Scenic Drive, is being fulfilled. Persons who have inspected the work already done are vociferous in their praise of the project. This issue contains a third list of donors.

AS BLUE as a Chautauqua guaranty is a timely local phrase. It, incidentally, means deep blue.

WE ARE GLAD to see the American Legion snapping out of its lethargy. The organization has been rather dormant but now is coming to life. Besides planning to do its part toward the success of the Oil Jubilee, by putting on a sham battle, the local post proposed organizing a drama corps. Big Spring needs some distinctive type of organization which could represent her in parades and other public functions.

Now, if some club would organize The Big Spring Chasers, or, in other words, a parading glee club we'd have something that would make a distinct hit.

TOMMY CARSWELL, of Abilene, over here today to confer with our local committee relative to organizing a division office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, a part of the U. S. farm board's machinery, is a man who is strong for a new state highway leading from some point on the Bankhead through to Hobbs and Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Big Spring and Howard county are being almost criminally negligent in their highways. It's a shame. And, just so long as we look at the highway situation solely in terms of "where will the road go" we'll hold the sack. That attitude has retarded more highway construction than all the rest combined. It has kept many a county in the mud and bumpy for months and during which they could have been reaping the benefits of paved highways.

The following passengers on east and west bound Southern Air Transport planes, were reported today by officials of the local airport:

Two Have Police Commissions Here

KILLING OF REPORTER IS CAUSE

$55,000 Total Of Rewards For Slayer

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Under fire of city council criticism, Chief of Detectives John Stege launched an intensive police drive late today which he promised would cleanse Chicago of gangsters within six hours.

Chief Stege informed the aldermanic police committee he had organized a special detail of his own whose experience in gang battles qualified them to guarantee immediate results.

Two men wanted for investigation in the killing of "Jake" Lingle, star gangland reporter of the Chicago Tribune, were in custody awaiting examination at the detective bureau. Sam Hunt, dragged from a gang automobile a week ago, surrendered with his attorney and denied implication in the Lingle shooting but was held for a show up before witnesses to the slaying. Ralph Pierce appeared with Hunt, and was locked up for investigation.

CHICAGO, June 11—A reward of $5,000 hangs today over the head of the man who murdered Alfred (Jake) Lingle.

The Tribune, for whom he worked as a reporter, was first offering $25,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer. Its morning competitor, the Herald and Examiner, today had added another $25,000, and the Evening Post has offered $5,000.

The slaying of Lingle Monday afternoon in the Illinois Central subway at Randolph street has been followed by such concerted public and official indignation as has seldom been provoked here in recent years.

Residents of Big Spring are invited to attend The Herald's "fight party" Thursday night, at which round by round and blow by blow reports of the heavy-weight title bout between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling at New York will be announced.

A public address system will be installed at The Herald building through the courtesy of Anderson Music company.

Reports coming over The Associated Press wire from the ring-side will be read over a microphone in The Herald office. The main bout will start about 8 o'clock, central standard time. Preliminaries will begin here about 7:30 o'clock.

The amplifiers will make the announcements audible to all persons in front of The Herald building.

Plea For Boys Of City Entered By Club's Speaker

"Pleading for the boys of our town," J. M. Manuel was the principal speaker at the regular luncheon of the Business Men's Luncheon Club held in the basement of the First Methodist Church today.

Mr. Manuel declared there existed a Boy Scout troop in Big Spring, that "is trying to get along without a leader."

No Leader?

"I wonder," he declared, "if in this city of more than 13,000 residents, there is not one man to take over this troop of boys? It seems there should be one person willing to donate a few hours each week to aid in the development of youth.

"We are developing every other power, but I am sincere in saying we are neglecting man power. We are not aiding the boys of this town as we should. We are not matching our boys with knowledge, ability, and power to aid them when they grow up.

"I am proud of our churches and our school and our civic organizations aiding in developing this community. But I believe that manhood and womanhood are being sorely neglected. I would rather have the friendship of a boy than any other thing I know.

"The boy is the most valuable asset any city can boast of. That is why I am here today, pleading for the boys of our town. Men are giving money and some time, but we are not giving manpower. Vocational guidance is necessary, and that means giving advice, giving time to the boy." Mr. Manuel asked some young man between the ages of 15 and 20 to take over the leadership of the troop.

Visitors

Tommy Carswell, secretary of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, Jimmy Greene, secretary of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Daniels, district superintendent of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, Mr. Porter of Colorado, and Walter Robinson, prominent Howard county farmer, were among the guests of the club.

Carswell told of organizing a branch office of the cotton association at Abilene, declaring a $40,000 to $50,000 contract was now being underwritten. He declared the entire city endorsed the association, pointing out the business men believed the farmer would get more for his cotton, a first chance at profits, and the organization would aid every line of business in this section.

Green said a contract for establishment of an office at Colorado had been underwritten, with the merchants in unanimous favor of the policy. Porter told of organizing a branch office at Snyder and predicted others would be organized in this section.

Mr. Robinson declared he was in favor of the association, believing it would ultimately aid the farmer of every section.

Baby Sons Of Twins, One Itself A Twin, Buried At Coahoma

Two tiny caskets, containing the remains of the baby sons of a twin brother and sister, were lowered into graves at the Coahoma cemetery Wednesday afternoon following funeral services from the First Baptist church there, with Rev. S. B. Hughes, of the East Fourth Street Baptist church of Big Spring officiating at the double service.

One of the little ones was born here early Tuesday morning, one of the twin boys. His little brother was reported doing nicely Wednesday.

Walter David Joiner, born August 11, 1929, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Joiner, died at 2:15 p. m. Tuesday. He is also survived by two brothers, Kenneth and Keith, and a sister, Pauline.

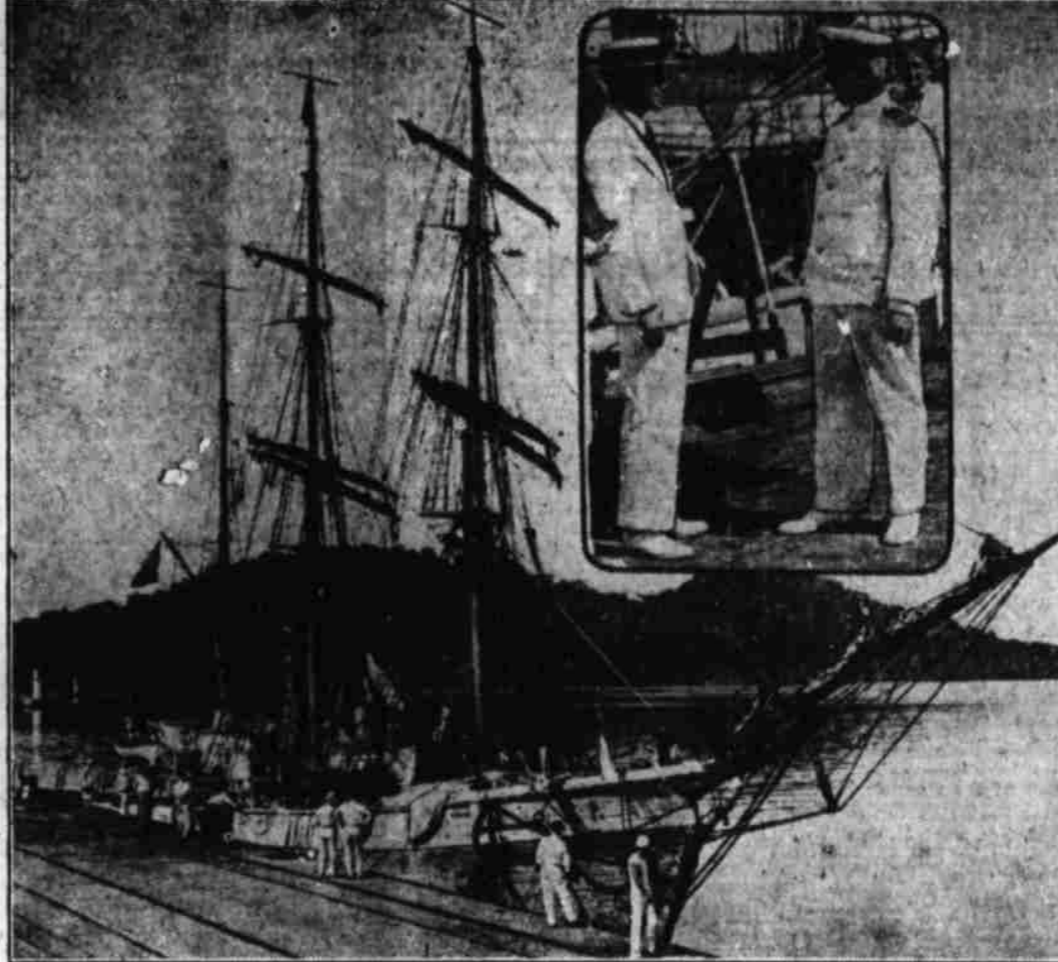

Mrs. Joiner is the twin sister of Russell Kennedy, father of the twin boys born here at 8 a. m. Tuesday. One of them died at 3 a. m. Wednesday.

The Charles Ebert Funeral home had charge of arrangements.

FORTY-FIVE DIE IN FLAMING OIL FOLLOWING COLLISION OF STEAMERS

Public Asked To Inspect Work Under Way Along Scenic Drive

"Until the last dollar and the last mile of road," said B. F. Robbins as he sat in his car on the scenic drive and looked proudly down the back of the hill to where group after group of men were busy grading, piling rocks and grubbing bushes.

The first place where the work on the drive is apparent is right at the entrance gate. The road has been graded and built up until it is most smooth.

Farther up the hill the rocks have been removed, the ditches have been graded, and are placed in disconsolate piles along the side of the road.

In many places the road has been re-routed, either to cut off some sharp rock ledge or to add a half mile more scenery.

Up and around on the western ledge, where the magnificence of the view just begins to make itself felt, the side of the road, next to the edge has been piled with large boulders, which will be painted white, according to Mr. Robbins.

To the left is the airport and beyond that the shades of silver lakes with the afternoon sun caught in their bowls.

The medley of color, clear and true in the thin atmosphere of the scene runs through the prism of glass, into the yellows and reds of the sands. There are sandy reds and clay reds. The little lake

FASHION H A S ITS FOURTH BIRTHDAY

The Fashion, 121 East Third street, today entered upon its fourth year in business in Big Spring.

Max S. Jacobs, owner and proprietor of the woman's apparel shop, inaugurated the business in Big Spring June 11, 1927. Since that time his store has enjoyed liberal patronage of residents of Big Spring and this trade territory.

Mr. Jacobs has been in the mercantile business since he was 19 years of age. For more than thirty-five years he has been a citizen of Texas and has been in business in various cities.

Prior to coming to Big Spring he owned large stores at Greenville and Wolfe City.

When he organized The Fashion he specialized in wearing apparel for women and carries only this line in stock.

"We have had a good business here," he declared. "We have found that by specializing in one line we are better able to supply our customers with their needs in this particular line.

"We have always catered to a high class of trade, and we continue to do so. Our lines are smart, and our stock is fresh at all times."

Mr. Jacobs is observing the birthday of the Big Spring business with a special anniversary sale.

TURTLES ARE ENTERED FOR JUBILEE RACE

Wanted: No more terrapins.

Chris Ming, who will be in charge of the Turtle Derby during the Oil Men's Jubilee, asked the Herald last week to tell the public a dime would be paid for each terrapin brought to Jubilee headquarters in the Petroleum building.

Forty-eight hours later The Herald received an S.O.S. call from Mr. Ming.

"I've got more than seventy terrapins already. One boy brought in 31 and got his $5.10 cash. Tell 'em to stop," he appealed.

Calls continued coming to Jubilee headquarters and to the Chamber of Commerce, asking "do you buy terrapins?"

Entries in the Turtle Derby are being received by the dozen. The entry fee is two dollars.

Preliminaries will be run in heats during July 4. The winner of each heat will be awarded $25. The five best turtles in each heat will enter the finals, July 5, to compete for the grand prize of $100.

Among the turtles already entered are: Louis Talley's "Silver Bullet"; Bill Lemmons' "Man O War"; Ray Simmons' "Barber's Itch"; Max Boyd's "Fallen Archer"; Dr. J. R. Barcus' "Run Over Heels"; Dr. H.

R. E. Thomason Opens Campaign At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, June 11.—Mayor R. E. Thomason of El Paso opened his campaign for election to congress from the 16th district in an address here last night.

He announced this speech marked the opening of an active speaking campaign that will carry him to every part of the large district.

Mr. Thomason's address was, in part, as follows:

I am a candidate for Congress from the Sixteenth District subject to the action of the Democratic primary on July 26th. I have asked nobody's permission or approval to seek this office. I am not a candidate on any other man's record. If elected, I want it to be on my own record and merit, if I have any. I have no master but the people and with me this will be a campaign of principles and not personalities. My appeal will be to the honest, independent voter who is interested in good government and the election of competent men to public office. With the exception of the first year, my life has been spent in Texas, and the last half of it in West Texas. I have had twenty years of continuous and active residence in this district. I have actually resided here every day of that time and paid my taxes, including my poll tax. I have shared the hardships, droughts, and struggles along with you.

As a member of the Legislature and Speaker of the House, I did my best to protect the ranch and live stock interests of this section. I gave active help to the passage of the public land revaluation law, irrigation law, validation act, and prospecting for oil and minerals on school and university lands. With the help of such men as the late Dr. George Bird, and also Mr. M. B. Pulliam and Dr. J. B. McKnight, I was glad while Speaker to help them get the first large and adequate appropriations for the Carlsbad Sanatorium. I was active in the establishment of Sul Ross Normal and gave support to the College of Mines and the Agricultural and Livestock Experiment Stations. I have tried to actively identify myself with all movements fostered by citizens, communities and Chambers of Commerce looking to the upbuilding of this section. I want to continue in my humble way to help make West Texas a better place in which to live. The question for you to decide is who is best qualified to represent this district in Congress and who can get you the best results.

At Home

My neighbors and home people should know me best. They have honored me for beyond what I deserve. El Paso is a growing, prosperous city of more than 100,000 people and with many complex problems. They re-elected me Mayor without opposition and my administration must not have been altogether bad. I can only refer to the merchants, bankers, preachers, lawyers, doctors, and working people of that city as to whether I have the character, ability and experience to make a good Congressman, and whether or not I have always stood for decent, honest and efficient government.

I think I know something about the needs and problems of this section. Legislative experience and the administration of public affairs should be worth something. There are some great problems to solve and many important interests to be represented in this large and diversified district.

The following are some of the things I stand for:

Tariff

I shall work and vote for a tariff on sheep, goats, wool, mohair, cattle, hides, crude oil, long staple cotton, and other raw products of this district that come in competition with the cheap labor and free land of foreign countries. It is neither right nor just that the manufacturer have his tariff on the finished article and that the producer have none. I am not a free-trader and neither am I for a prohibitive tariff that creates monopoly, but I do strongly favor a competitive tariff. I am for a tariff with rates so adjusted as to equalize the cost of production at home and abroad. I am not going

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Chicago, Ill.

How can a conscientious self-respecting woman live today without knowing the world? I am in revolt against the decadence of jazz and with glaring exceptions, the stage, the screen and the modern novels are putrid. The modern girl has neither modesty nor dignity and she does not even hold her body sacred. What is your honest opinion on these matters?

Well, it is hardly as bad as that, although any one who has sufficient knowledge of the facts must feel some measure of sympathy with the purging spirit of your protest. Do you not think the counts in your indictment are somewhat exaggerated? What you call "decadence" is very largely a matter of degree or relativity. True, there are many elements in modern life which are unacceptable to those of us who are along in years. But the chief reason for our dislike is because we were brought up under a different regime.

The difference between traditional music and jazz is a matter of taste, not necessarily of morals. Your charge against modern dancing has something substantial in it, so far as certain groups are concerned. But the majority who dance do so for social recreation, without any thought of the objectionable features you name. As to your charge against the stage and the novel, I can only suggest that since your letter concedes there are some good plays and worthwhile books, surely no one is under any compulsion to patronize anything but the best. It is therefore a matter of selection. The modern girl can speak for herself. Doubtless she exhibits a freedom and an unconventionality which many older persons regard with anxiety. Yet from all trustworthy accounts the girl of every age has had the same charges brought against her. Grandparents who now condemn the younger generation were once condemned themselves.

The best cure for such pessimism as yours is suggested in what I have already said, namely, that there have always been adults who felt as you feel. The familiar description of the daughters of Zion found in Isaiah III: 23 is a case in point. The chaplain to Henry the Second of England complained of the women in that distant time that they went to church only to make assignments with their lovers. "The new fashions of women and the behavior of girls nowadays baffle description," wrote "Doleful Giles" in 1350, and a minstrel of the sixteenth century deplored in much the same strain as you do the horrible age in which he lives.

Surely it cannot be that the world is steadily growing worse, for such predictions have been made about it from the first. Yet had these predictions been justifiable humanity would long since have perished in its own rottenness. The world is always changing, and though many things appear in the process which we regret, it contains beneficial results.

I am convinced that more genuine human goodness is diffused throughout society today than in any previous era. While moral progress may not have been uninterrupted or continuous during the long history of man's development, nevertheless it has been the gradual course of the race. In fact, it had to be his course, otherwise he could not have survived. Those groups and nations which did not thus make headway dwindled and were ultimately replaced by those who did.

Little Rock, Ark. I am a layman, a college graduate, and a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Will you recommend a book or books which will help me to understand the literature and religious contemporary with that of the New Testament?

As an educated man you cannot do better than study Professor Ernest Findlay Scott's Kerr Lectures upon "The Gospel and Its Tributaries." This scholarly work covers the ground in question. It is eminently fair, dispassionate and readable. The opening chapter, on "Old and New in the Gospel," is a foretaste of the good things to come which are discernible on every page of this important work.

For a thorough knowledge of the various faiths of the period I recommend "The Religious Quests of the Greco-Roman World," by Dr. Angus; also his volume on "The Mystery Religions and Christianity." Unqualified praise has been given this author for his lucid and careful treatment of the religious backgrounds and environments of the New Testament, and of the periods before and after the birth of Christ. Their symbolism, prophecy, legislation, myth, magic and ritual are discussed at length. Secure Dean Inge's writings on the early mystics, especially "on Plotinus, who was the connecting link between the Pagan and the Christian mystics. The dean always deserves the attention of inquiring minds.

This paper's first duty is to print all the news that is fit to print honestly and fairly to all, unbiassed by any considerations, even including its own editorial opinion.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in any issue of this paper will be cheerfully corrected upon being brought to the attention of the management.

Errata: To publishers are not responsible for errors of commission or omission. Corrections that may occur further than in the next issue after it is brought to their attention and if Pharaoh and you have a perpetual news item of consuming interest.

Most of these mythical cures are grounded only in fancy, some, however, are based on misinterpretations of natural phenomena. The relatively recent discovery and exploitation of the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen brought up once again the ancient belief that death will come on swift wings to him that touches the tomb of a Pharaoh.

Some there are who point to the fact that many of those connected with the Tut-ankh-Amen project are now dead.

Ten or twelve of the principal persons involved have met with what is judged by some to be unusually or violent death.

Howard Carter who opened the tomb, however, is still alive and, according to reports, in good health.

He discounts the superstition that hangs about Pharaohs' tombs by saying "I have handled Egyptian relics myself many times for years and I am still as well as ever."

Still, this seeming superstition that death shall come on swift wings has a basis.

Many an ancient robber, seeking to despoil the rich graves of the Pharaohs and princes, died of a leath that came on swift wings, not that death scientists nowadays know as having been due to carbon monoxide gas.

The long sealed tombs wherein to breath of air stirred, perhaps centuries, were often filled with carbon monoxide, an odorless, colorless gas which when inhaled kills like death on wings.

The record of the present highway commission is the outstanding thing in Texas government of the past twenty years.

Notwithstanding; what we may think about certain acts of Mr. Moody as governor, this newspaper gives him credit, and much of it, for his appointments to the highway commission.

Mr. Sterling has led in this strenuous and faithful campaign building of so many hundreds of miles of really permanent highways.

West Texas needs, more than any other section of the state, to study thoroughly the candidates' record and promises relative to the highway department.

During this administration federal aid has always been forthcoming, and in increasing sums. Under the previous administration federal aid was withdrawn due to the chaotic condition of the department.

Man localities, perhaps, feel they had not had an even break of highway construction.

Most of these local conditions are caused either by the inhibitions of the state laws governing highway financing or by refusal of these localities to cooperate with the state highway department.

The state cannot pay all the cost of paving highways. The counties under the existing law, must pay a portion. Therefore the counties must provide their funds before any construction can be possible.

Many counties which now are suffering from inferior types of highways, while their neighbors are busy building good roads, blindly aim their wrath at the highway department, which really is powerless to remedy the situation.

The matter is in the hands of the counties—of Howard county. There is no controversy which ought to be more careful than this one in examining the highway platform and record of each candidate. For it is extremely important to us that a commission equal in ability and fairness to the present one be kept in office after January 1, 1931.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS: How To Prevent Mobs

Sherman Democrat: OUT in West Texas last week a husband whose wife had left him and fled suit for a divorce, called at the home of her mother and killed her. He then shot and killed her mother and father, both up in the seventies. He surrendered to the sheriff and was placed in jail, but when rumor of a mob were heard, the sheriff took the murderer and rushed him to another county for safe-keeping. That was the proper thing to do. What transpired in Sherman little more than a week ago should be impressed on every peace officer and judge in every county in the state. There should be no hesitancy in transferring a case of this character. Texas juries anywhere may be depended upon to do the right thing, and the danger of mob violence is thereby averted. No mob is ever right and mob violence should not be encouraged or even given an excuse.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

Pharaoh's Curses: The mind of man dearly loves the mysterious.

Place a mythical curse on a Rajah diamond, a duchess's pearl necklace, or on the tomb of a Pharaoh and you have a perpetual news item of consuming interest.

Most of these mythical cures are grounded only in fancy, some, however, are based on misinterpretations of natural phenomena.

SON OF DORA, TEXAS, FARMER BEGAN TO IMPROVE FEW DAYS AFTER TAKING ARGOTANE

"Argotane certainly has been making of my son," said J. C. Rogers, a well known farmer, of Dora, Texas, while in Bowen's Drug Store, at Sweetwater, a few days ago.

"Yes, sir, since I put my son on Argotane, he has picked up several pounds in weight. This seems remarkable to me, but it's a fact because I weighed him myself. He is now getting to be the very picture of health and really looks like a different man."

"He had been in bad health for he past one and a half years and got in such bad shape that it seemed like no medicine would do him any good. He suffered terrible from headaches most all the time and I read he was bilious because he had been sickening dizzy spells."

"I had been reading how Argotane was helping so many people right around us here in Sweetwater, that I couldn't see why it wouldn't be good for my son, too. So after talking with several of the neighbors who had taken it, and inquiring fully into it, I started my son on it, giving him doses as per the required physician's directory. Well, I'm a happy man now over what it has done for him."

"He commenced to look brighter and pick up in weight and strength in just a few days. He soon got a good appetite began to eat a hearty meal and gained in health right along. It does me so much good to see him so cheerful and happy all the time now. It's a pleasure for me to recommend Argotane because it has made my son like a new being at a cost too small to notice."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drugs—adv.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD — Nearly two years ago the dainty Anita Louise was called the films' youngest leading lady because she appeared opposite John L. R. Coghlan, boy star, in a juvenile feature.

ANITA LOUISE

Today she is still the youngest leading lady in pictures, but with a difference. A month or so ago she has stepped into romantic leads and the right to vie for the movie hero's heart with the best of them.

Only a few months ago she was the shrewd, vain little golden-haired child in "The Marriage Playground." Today, at 15, she is the innocent, fragile heroine of "Just Like Heaven," the beloved of tall young David Newell.

STILL A CHILD

On the set she is still the child, except when in character, and then she is every bit the actress—so much so that the studio has signed her on contract for more grown-up leads.

Anita's closest rival for youth, at present, is Mary Kornman, another blonde, who used to be featured with "Our Gang."

After a turn in vaudeville, she has returned to Hal Roach's lot as leading lady in a series of two-reelers concerning high school youth.

Extremely youthful leading ladies, however, are no innovation here.

Lucille Ricksen, a charming girl who died before attaining the heights, was playing romantic leads at 13, pretending to be older.

And Mary Pickford assumed her first grown-up screen role at 12, in a one-reel Biograph, long before the curly-headed hoyden of her later career appeared.

FIE ON 'EM

Many burlesques of outstanding movies are better in many respects than the originals, as far as entertainment goes, and others are priceless enough.

But now a Hollywood comedy producer has made a travesty on "All Quiet" and "Journeys' End," the great war talkies.

Some may find it amusing, but to the majority the offering will seem "mab out as witty as sacrifice. There should be a law.

Guy Oliver, playing about his nineteenth sheriff role, says he won't wear a badge. He explains that "folks will know who I am without it."

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH SYNOPSIS: The wife of the murdered Dan Parados confesses that she attempted to plot his death. She tried to lure two French convicts, who she believed were his enemies, to his home to kill him. The murderer is unknown.

Mrs. Parados denies killing her husband, and Anatole Flique, shrewd French detective, relieves her by saying he knows she is not guilty. Flique suggests to Alan Hunt that he find Caroline Brent, with whom Hunt has fallen in love. Inquiries reveal that no one has seen her for some time. Caroline is not to be found in the house. Police, sensing sinister possibilities, order a thorough search of the island.

Chapter 33 IN THE CIRCLE OF LIGHT

My heart had turned cold at the gravity of Flique's tone. As my eyes met his the substance of his thought flashed upon me.

"You are thinking of Le Balafre and Bec?" I ejaculated. "They are here—they may have told of Caroline—is that what you mean?"

"My friend, I know those little ones," he said grimly. "Did I not tell you that the agony of their hatred would drive them here. Liberty to them is a mockery if they cannot first burn the iron of their hatred into the body of Jules Lacote. I know Le Balafre and Ciceron Bec."

"Are they here—on the island?" I cried. "Do you know they are here?"

"I shall tell you something," he said. "A letter from the French consul at Los Angeles was brought to me this afternoon. It told me that Le Balafre and Ciceron Bec were as far north as Ensenada four days ago—"

"That would be last Wednesday!" Samuels ejaculated. "Ensenada isn't more than 150 miles south of here. They'd do it in six hours in a fast boat."

"They had a fast boat, monsieur," Flique continued grimly. "Does not the consul inform me that a launch, a fast one, was stolen in the harbor of Ensenada that Wednesday night? Two rascals beat the owner, carried him off to sea, and put him out in an open boat. He should have died, but he did not. Yesterday he is discovered and today he is able to speak and to describe one of those rascals. Meseurs, it is Le Balafre, The Scared One."

Flique could not resist the temptation to pronounce that sinister name with a flourish. The room became quiet. Horror began to drill at my heart.

"It can't be that," I groaned. "Why should they take Caroline? Lacote is dead. They could have no reason for coming back."

Flique's arm fell across my shoulder. "Come, we shall find her around the corner, sound and safe, I do not doubt. You ask me what I know and I have told you. But we waste time!"

I was not reassured, but the briskness of his tone helped.

"Miss Brent must be found," Samuels was saying. "Every man on the island will take part in the search. Johns and Kirk will look after the south side of The Gut. The rest of us had better spread out like a fan. Gridley, you and Hendricks go to the head of The Gut, then continue straight up the slope. Anersley and I will veer off to the right of you. Flique, you and Lum We go north along the foot of the slope. Hunt, take the short. She may have fallen off the cliff."

Caroline's room was lighted and the door was ajar. I slipped across the corridor and looked into the room. It was empty. My own room was the next and I had stopped in front of it when my eyes were drawn to the door at the end of the corridor. It fascinated me—because the bodies of Parados and Grainger were behind it, perhaps. At any rate, I found myself moving toward it. My throat was dry, I felt as if I were moving through a tomb peopled with the living. The door was not locked. I gave slowly, noiselessly, before my pressure. The room was dark. Nothing happened for a moment; I heard no sound. Then my face suddenly was ringed in light. My own torch was still in my left hand but I had forgotten it and my fingers released the switch without the consent of my will. It parried the first beam and but into the second circle leaped a face that was of neither the living nor the dead. A scream rang through the room. "Alan!" The face had leaped at me. Something fell on my head and I dropped. (Copyright 1930 William Morrow and Company) Tomorrow Hunt begins a wild race to bring Caroline back to safety. Jumbled...and How! Solve it. See Page 2. HEAVIES ARE SET FOR TITLE BATTLE

Garcia Hurls Neatly To Beat Railroad Aggregation

The afternoon Bruce Nesbitt will adjust his hair, and Spike Henniger will shift his shirt. The north and east and the two will bring their aggregations to the Dusty D. for a bottle of battles. Should the Laundry wash and rough dry the Couden unit, the gasoline makers will drift down a depot or two to go into a tie with Richco for third place. On the other hand should Couden put the laundry in one of their stalls and turn the crank, they will be nipping the heels of the Barbers for first place honors.

Simms, in all probability, will try his luck again for Couden. Smith, the slim twirler of the still runners, has vanished from these parts, as well as Adams, sensational little left fielder that Couden had on tap. The exodus of Smith leaves Simms and Potter as the Couden mound ace. Simms blew skyhigh in his last start. Potter can be relied upon to hold his own with any of the teams in the loop.

This should be Couden's day for the Laundry. Aiken slipped a fast one by the Bankers Monday, almost scoring a shutout. Crouch, who has had something ailing almost every time he has been on the hilltop, might have all his afflictions taken care of by 5:30 this afternoon. If so he will be doing duty for the cuff clippers.

It is with amused, and amused interest only that one peruses the discussions of some of the scribblers in this district as to football prospects. Year in and year out it is the same old story about this line of the year with some of these sport followers that commit embezzlement by getting paid for what they pound out of antiquated machines. For instance, Boyce House always starts out by picking Eastland as the dark horse. That is a tradition with the old folks scribe down in the heart of the belt. And Blondo Bobcats to whip everything but the all-star team from Mars. Even now Cross declares the Bobcat team is the best on paper. He doesn't say what kind of paper. If only some of the coaches could figure a way of transferring their teams from paper to gridiron, their reputations would be made. Cross declares the Bobcats will beat Chico and Abilene. He didn't say whether they had decided where the Bobcats would go for the state championship.

Before it slips out non-skid mind. The Lions Club Miniature Golfist team challenged the Miniatur Golfist team of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs to a golf tournament, the match to be played on whichever miniature golfist course is free. The Lions team is composed of a preacher named Lindley and a fast piano player named Witt, and the two together beat a fast hymn with the putters. Challenges are issued and accepted through this department.

The Texas — Pacific aggregation dropped another on Tuesday, Richco being on the receiving end of the victory. Little Garcia was on the mound for Richco and he seemed to be able to hold his nerves in one bundle. Woods lost.

It seems there is a bit of controversy raging between the sister cities of Abilene and San Angelo. Frexy Anderson, Abilene Reporter-News scribe, has taken time off from washing the dishes and sweeping the floors, to lead the wanderer Cross back to the correct pasture. His dissertation appears in another column.

Schmeling and Sharkey—a prize fight without glamour. Just a couple of the big boys that are bound to mix it. When Jack Sharkey awoke with the dull realization that such a man as Tunney really lived, and when Tunney chuckled leather and trunks for fiction, et cetera, the glamour faded from the picture. Maybe it will return to the ring in a few years. But it isn't present in the heavyweight tilt set for tomorrow night.

Cameron Deputy Is Found Near Death

SANTA ROSA, June 11. (AP)—Lereedes Torres, 28, deputy sheriff of Cameron county, was in a hospital at Harlingen today, after he was found shot and near death from loss of blood in his automobile, parked near here on the highway. Although conscious when help reached him last night, an hour after he had been shot, Torres would give no information about the shooting. He apparently had emptied his gun at the person who shot him, for his empty revolver lay beside him. Two bullets had pierced his chest and emerged from his back.

SLUGGERS CRAWL ON WOODS

T. & P. Crew Loses Loose Battle, 14 To 3

BY CURTIS BISHOP

While Garcia was holding the T. & P. nine scoreless after the first inning his mates pounded Lefty Woods for twelve hits and the Richco went into almost a mathematical tie with the Laundry for third place by defeating the Railroaders, 14 to 3.

Every man on the Richcoons secured at least one hit except manager Moore and Burns, and had the former been given time off from receiving walks he might have added a bingle to the pile. Cramer led the attack with three singles, but Hoeha was the real batting star with a pair of doubles that came at opportune moments. Reed and Rhoten also secured a brace of safeties for the Refiners while Schwarzenbach and Gunter accounted for four of the T. & P. hits.

Lefty Baber's nine started off with a rush. Schwarzenbach singled and went to second when Mason walked. Both runners scored on Gunter's single and the T. & P. shortstop followed them across the plate when Garcia threw wild in an attempt to catch him at second and Cramer's throw to third rolled through Cook's legs. The Richco outfit accounted for five of their runs in the first. Clarke singled and stole second. He had company on the paths when Moore walked and both runners came home when Hoeha sliced one down the left field foul line for a double. Cook tripled, scoring Hoeha, but was thrown out when Cramer attempted to steal third and was successful. Reed singled scoring Cramer and later tallied on Rhoten's double to left center. Bishop's single was wasted for the T. & P. but the Richco celebrated the second inning by scoring four more. Moore worked Woods for his second walk of the day and came home on Hoeha's double to right. Burns walked and after stealing second trotted home behind Moore when Gunter threw wild to the plate. Cramer singled to right scoring Cook.

Schwarzenbach and Gunter slammed out their second hits of the game during the interim but the rest of the scoring came in the fifth and sixth and was accredited to Richco. In the fifth Cramer singled and was followed by Reed and Rhoten. The first two scored when Segall threw wild to third. In the sixth Cook was safe when Gunter threw wild to first. Cramer followed with his third hit of the afternoon and Reed was safe when Woods elected to try for Cook at home and was unsuccessful. Rhoten was safe and Cramer scored when Gunter threw wild to first. Garcia singled to right, tallying Reed. Clarke grounded out to end the game for Richco.

The T. & P. team made four errors and the Richco nine three. Garcia allowed only five hits. Sain's fielding at third base featured the contest.

Ballyhoo Of Debate Casts Interesting Light On Fray

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—In the most interesting and most extravagantly ballyhooed fight affair since the late Tex Rickard pulled the strings of the heavy-weight punch and judo show, Jack Sparkey will fight Max Schmeling tomorrow night, 15 rounds or less, at the Yankee stadium for the "heavyweight championship of the world."

SO SAYETH THE SAGES

Or Crimes Committed by Scribblers

By BLONDY CROSS
San Angelo Times

Some of the boys continue to squeak about the removal of Chuck Bird, fullback, from Mineral Wells to Ranger. They say the district should declare him ineligible. Possibly it should; we are not acquainted with all the facts of the case. But whether the district does or doesn't cause no worry to Bill Bissett and his Bobcats. Several of the Concho clan believe Bird overrated. At any rate, they stopped him flat last year every time the Mountaineers menaced the goal and Bird was given the ball. Let the lad go; if he can make a better living in Ranger than Mineral Wells, what do we care? Seems to be the Bobcat attitude. We'd

It is by all odds the most significant heavyweight bout since the retirement of Gene Tunney, but whether the winner will be recognized outside of Germany, Lithuania and the United States remains to be seen.

With any kind of an even break from old man weather, a crowd of 75,000 fans probably will pay in excess of $700,000 to see the big show. This is a far cry from the figures attending the last of the outstanding Rickard extravaganzas on Chicago's lake front in 1927, but it excels anything on the books of the heavyweight business for the past three years. In addition the customers will have the happy opportunity to serve a double purpose in benefitting the children's milk fund, sponsored by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, and in aiding the recovery of the indigent heavyweight division.

Two Questions

Today, the two main questions up for debate among the railbirds are:
First, can Schmeling carry the flaccid heights that three previous foreign challengers, Firpo, Carpenter and Heeney, failed to reach?
Second, can Sharkey overcome the temperamental jinx that has seemed to pursue him in international competition and fight at his best?

The fight is no exception, when it comes to the speculative "ifs" and "buts" or even the loose talk that everything is "in" and "all right" for one principal or the other. So far as that goes, it is just the ballyhoo that has become a part of the game.

Mediocre Bouts

The belief that Sharkey is due for one of his good fights and, therefore, will emerge the winner is offset by his record of consistently putting up mediocre bouts against foreign rivals. It is this strange feature of Sharkey's career that seems to give Schmeling the best chance to capture heavyweight honors that any invader has had since Luis Angel Firpo knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring at the Polo Grounds seven years ago.

Sharkey has fought his good fights almost exclusively against the domestic punch absorbers. His most impressive performances were scored against Harry Wills and George Godfrey, the so-called black menaces; Jim Maloney and Tommy Loughran, representing the Irish-American contingent.

Against this, there is Sharkey's record of being knocked out early in his career by Romero Rojas, the Chilean; beaten by round, Johnny Risko, the Austrian baker boy; held to a draw by old Tom Heeney, the New Zealander; victor over Phil Scott, the Englishman, in a very questionable bout at Miami where Phil might easily have been declared the winner on a foul, whether or not he was hurt by Sharkey's low blows.

This information may be food for the hunch-players, even though not consoling to the patriots, who will consider it a national calamity, scarcely less important than the Wall Street crash, if the heavyweight title is lost to America. In spite of it, the form players have made Sharkey a 9 to 5 favorite in the betting and he probably will enter the ring at that figure.

The training camps have contributed little but wordage to the general discussion. The main facts are that Sharkey, best of a poor crop of American heavyweights, has the fighting equipment and experience with which to beat back the challenge of the young, hard-hitting and courageous German.

Mexican Killed In Fight Near El Paso

EL PASO, June 11. (AP)—An unidentified Mexican, under the name of Max Garcia, was killed here last night after a furious battle with El Paso Electric Company lineman and deputy sheriff. He had attacked Paul Coates, sub-station operator for the company, at a station about five miles northwest of El Paso, forcing Coates to take refuge in a telephone booth. Coates called the police.
It is interesting at this time to review the history of the Concho contemporaries' reporting of the Brothers' Green footrace. On the morning after the event, the Abilene boy was given full credit for his victory; a day later, the Eagle Lier was accused of being at fault in a running with Brothers on the first curve; a week afterward, it was stated that Brothers had been fouled by his opponent; two months later, it is claimed, in effect, that Brothers won the race!

CARDINALS DEFEAT BRAVES

BY HUGH S. FULLERTIN JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

A little thing like a rapidly descending elevator, which causes unpleasant sensations in many quarters, shouldn't bother the St. Louis Cardinals a bit from now on. The Cards went up to the top of the National League with about the greatest possible speed, winning 17 out of 18 games, and have been coming down from the heights with about as great rapidity.

The Cardinals came to a temporary stop in their losing yesterday after dropping five straight games, but it took them ten long innings to gain a 2 to 1 decision over the Boston Braves and even that triumph left them with a record of only two victories in their last 12 games.

The Chicago Cubs, who appeared to be leading for the job of successors to the Cards as league leaders, suffered another setback after losing two out of three to Brooklyn. They ran into Phil Collins of Philadelphia and got only six hits. The Phillies pecked away at Pat Malone, winding up with a three run burst in the eighth for a 6 to 2 victory.

All the other National League games and the Washington-Cleveland contest in the American League were rained out. Another champion club, the Philadelphia Athletics, played the second division baseball as they dropped an eleven inning struggle to the Chicago White Sox by a 7 to 6 count. The worst exhibition came in the tenth inning when Philadelphia could get only two runs on five hits, having two men thrown out at the plate.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers put on another exhibition of poor fielding and heavy hitting. The Red Sox made 17 hits off four Tiger hurlers and reaped the benefit of four errors, all of which figured in the scoring for a 12 to 6 victory.

The New York Yankees got a fast start against the St. Louis Browns and scored all their runs in the first two innings to win, 5 to 2. The rest of the game a close battle between Herb Pennock and Dick Blaloch, who succeeded Dick Coffman on the mound.

Spudgers Have Off Day; Barely Defeat San Antonio Tribe

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Yesterday's lesson in the Texas League had to do with the base hit and its effect, if any, on the outcome of a ball game.

The San Antonio Indians, in a bilious mood, banged out 16 hits off two Wichita Falls pitchers. The Spudgers, experiencing an off day, could gather only seven blows off one San Antonio chunker. Now, which team won?

You were right—the Spudgers. Why? Because Mr. Kloza, who plays center field for the Spudgers, smacked a home run in the tenth inning with on of his playmates on base, whereas the Indians had not been able to gather their hits in clusters. The score, 4 to 2. And are the Spudgers in the habit of doing tricks like that? Oh, my yes; that is why they are leading the Texas League by six and one-half games today.

Getting back to business, the victim of Kloza's k-j punch was Darrow, who up to that time had flung a very creditable game for the downstayers. The extra inning victory enabled the leaders to square the series. Joe Moore did nobly for the losers, contributing a double and three singles to the cause.

Houston lost ground in the race when the Fort Worth Cats squared their series, 7 to 6. The Buffs were almost a week behind the Spuds today, and only eight days remaining before the club owners will vote on a split season. The Cats sewed up yesterday's verdict in a hurry, jumping on Ray Lingrel for six runs in the first two innings. Joe Brown relieved Lingrel and hurled good ball the last six innings, but to no avail. Dick McCabe went the route for the Felines.

Lefty Stein, who can look better one day and worse the next than almost any pitcher in the league, had one of his very good days, and the Waco Cubs made it two straight from Dallas, 6 to 5. Not only did the Cub scoutpaw hold the cellarites to five hits, but he smacked a homer in the sixth with the bases loaded to rectify any mistakes he might have made. About the only mistake he made all day was throwing a fence ball to Homer Eggert, Steer infielder, with two aboard in the third.

Shreveport took a firmer hold on third place by walloping the skidding Beaumont Exporters again, 6 to 2. They were only a half-game out of second place today. Underhill limited the Shippers to four hits, two of them doubles by Bud Stapleton, while his mates hopped on Vaughn and Mallett for nine, including four-baggers by Perry and Krauss. Underhill registered six strikeouts.

Moody Joins Texas Highway Motorcade

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—Governor Moody today joined the Texas King's Highway trail motorcade to Caddo Lake on the Texas-Louisiana boundary line. He said he did not think he could go the entire distance.

If the caravan also was R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the highway commission, whose entrance into the governor's race caused the withdrawal of Governor Moody from the marathon.

The motorcade started the journey from Crystal City, Zavilla county, yesterday.

Murphy Continues Active Campaign

SAN ANGELO, June 11.—E. E. Pat Murphy, San Angelo, candidate for congress, resumed the third week of his stump campaign Monday by making three speeches at Monahans, Kermit and Wink. His schedule of speeches for this week is as follows: June 9 Monahans, Kermit and Wink; June 10 Barstow 2:00 p. m.; June 10 Pecos 8:00 p. m.; June 11-14th to El Paso.

Mr. Murphy has announced a speaking engagement for Thursday, 8:00 p. m., at El Paso and will probably make several speeches in El Paso at the very time his opponent is in the San Angelo territory.

Mr. Murphy last week made speeches in every town on the T. & P. Railroad from Lorraine to Odessa. He expresses himself as well pleased with the warm reception of his candidacy at every place. In his speech at Odessa Mr. Murphy said, "The people of this district and of Texas are sick and tired of a rule by professional politicians and I find thousands of voters in all sections of the district rallying to my support because of my training of several years in Washington and because I was the first candidate to publish a detailed platform."

Representative Webb of Odessa, in introducing Mr. Murphy to Ector county, Friday night said he was supporting Mr. Murphy because he was an Ex-Serviceman who had trained himself in the matters of government rather than politics, and said Murphy would carry the oil section easy.

Mr. Murphy expressed great interest in action of the American Legion Convention at Odessa in passing a resolution condemning the action of Mr. Thomson in printing an alleged endorsement of the Legion on his campaign literature. Mr. Murphy will return to the eastern section of the district about June 14 making speeches en route probably along the T. & P. Railroad from El Paso to Del Rio.

A federal laboratory, and experiment station for the study of paper trees will be established near Austin, Texas.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter & Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks.

The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

Thomason—

to promise in advance to vote for any and every bill that may be offered. I am not going over bag and baggage to the Republican Party and work on the masses of our people. I will vote and fight for a just tariff bill, provided it furnishes ample and fair protection to the producers of raw material in this district. Some kind of tariff legislation is going to be passed and I am going to support the best bill that it is possible to get that gives to the rancher, farmer, and independent oil operator the protection he deserves and that he must have if he is to continue in business.

Farm and Ranches
I stand for a better and more efficient system of marketing farm and ranch products. I believe in the principle of co-operative marketing. I think that the Federal Farm Board act is a step in the right direction, provided it is fairly and justly administered. I shall give active support to the Department of Agriculture in its fight against the pink boll worm and hoof and mouth disease, and the eradication of predatory animals. I also favor the regulation of cotton exchanges to the end that the wild gambling and speculation in our greatest farm product be stopped.

Immigration
I am for restricted immigration, which means that if I am elected to Congress, I will vote for the Box-Johnson Bill. There are today more than two million Mexicans in the United States, or about one-seventh of the population of the Republic of Mexico. There have been years when as many as 70,000 were admitted.

It is true that during the last year the Immigration authorities have more strictly enforced the law and materially reduced the influx. But during the last ten years the average has been more than 50,000 per year who legally entered, which probably is not more than half. This cannot continue with safety to the American working man or to the maintenance of American ideals. The Department of Labor says there are today about 4,000,000 men out of employment in this country. Mexico has stringent laws limiting the number of aliens who may be employed in any particular industry. There are many native and naturalized Mexicans who are good citizens entitled to every protection, and should not be disturbed. It is our solemn duty first to care for our own people. As Mayor of a city of more than one hundred thousand people, I have been in a position to know what a burden the Alien has placed upon our schools, hospitals, charities, jails and courts. I am going to do everything in my power to help ease this law.

Labor
As a member of the State Legislature, I was the author of the law requiring every voter to make out his own ballot and at a later session I helped amend it so as to require him to be an American citizen. This eliminated several thousand and illiterate Mexican voters and helped to destroy corrupt politics in the border cities. As Mayor of El Paso, I approved an ordinance that no contractor can do public work for the city who does not work American citizens exclusively.

In addition to favoring restricted immigration, I am also for a reorganization of the Federal Employment Bureau so as to connect the jobless man with the manless job. Many thousands are now out of employment. The government should have a program to stabilize the labor of the country. Public works such as highways, rivers and harbors, public buildings, flood control and irrigation projects should be accelerated during times of business depression. Statistics as to unemployment should be available and complete cooperation exist between the federal and state agencies. I am against "yellow dog" contracts. I am for limiting the authority of federal courts to grant injunctions in labor disputes. I am for human rights as well as property rights. I am the friend of organized labor and my record in public office will attest it. I am for high wages and decent living conditions. Cheap labor never made a country or built any cities.

Soldiers
I am going to the very limit to provide adequate and just compensation and hospitalization for the sick and disabled soldiers of all our wars. There are 18,000 tuberculars and 23,000 mental patients now uncompensated. An average of 72 of these men are dying each day. I am not concerned about whether it is called the Johnson Bill, Rankin Bill or what not. What I want is action and that quickly. The delay, red-tape and duplication is a disgrace. It is a crime that the burden of proof is on them to make out their case. I do not care whether their disability is service-connected or not. If they have served in any of our wars with honor and valor, and rendered worthy and patriotic service, they are entitled to help if they are sick and disabled. I will work for the coordination of the different veteran activities that will get prompt and efficient results. I want all those who are sick and disabled, as well as those who suffered loss of limb or sight in battles, to have their compensation increased. I will work for more hospitals for the tubercular and mental patients in order that they may have treatment and care before it is too late. I will fight for an allowance for the dependents of veterans who lie sick in hospitals. Their insurance policies should be made incontestable. I am not willing for this rich and powerful nation to let these men suffer and die while congress argues over technicalities.

Prohibition
The Eighteenth Amendment is a part of the law of the land. I have always supported prohibition. No man can defend traffic in liquor. Nothing practical has been offered in its place. In Cooke county I was for local option as well as statewide prohibition. In El Paso I supported prohibition, but told the people when I was a candidate for legislature I would carry out their instructions as to submission. That question was on the ballot and there was a fair and honest expression of the people against submission. At the same session of the legislature, President Wilson sent a message that conditions about the army camps were terrible and asked for relief. The city of El Paso had many thousand soldiers in camp there. I was joint author with Mr. Bledsoe of Lubbock of the so-called zone law, which drove saloons from the army camps and made my own city dry by closing more than a hundred saloons. I never want to see the return of such conditions and will oppose it to the limit of my ability. Later, while a member of the legislature, I voted for the ratification of the national amendment which helped make the nation dry. That is my record on prohibition. I am for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment as well as the enforcement of all laws. In this connection let me add that the records will show that I was also an active supporter of woman suffrage long before it was a law and as speaker signed the ratification of the national amendment.

West Texas and the 18th District
If elected, I expect to give expression to my convictions on problems and issues affecting our national policies and problems, yet my great concern will be to do something worth while for the people whom I shall have the honor to represent. The happiness and prosperity of the people of the Sixteenth district will be my hobby. Congress has already committed itself to the construction of the Red Bluff dam above the city of Pecos. This will reclaim thousands of acres of fertile land in that wonderful valley, and I shall devote my best efforts towards making that a reality as soon as possible. I am going to work for the location of a great government hospital in Kerrville. Aviation is here and I predict that federal airways and mail routes will soon be established. I expect to do my part towards getting recognition for the growing and thriving cities in this district. West Texas and her shippers have been discriminated against in the matter of freight rates, and I expect to exert such pressure and influence as I can towards having the interstate commerce commission correct this injustice. There are valuable irrigation and power sites along our rivers and I favor the government exercising control over them before they have passed into the hands of the power trust. Land titles along the Rio Grande should be settled and the rights of American title holders protected. This river should be straightened in the irrigated districts, and much valuable land reclaimed. A great playground for the people of Texas should be established in the Davis Mountains.

Government aid should at least be available in the building of permanent and attractive roads. Fort Bliss and Fort D. A. Russell should be enlarged and adequately supported. In many of the prosperous and rapidly growing young cities of this district, postoffice accommodations are inadequate and federal buildings should be erected. The claims of ex-service men in this district will have my personal attention. My experience in legislative and administrative matters should have taught me something about how to get results. I represent no special interests. If honored by election, I pledge the best there is in me to the cause of good government, looking always to the welfare of the people of this district.

Out beyond the experiment farm the colors run into rich reds and deeper purples. The crisp cross of the farmland is a child's drawing of squares each in different crayon color.
The town below the eastern edge of the mountain does not sprawl. It marches leisurely and systematically block after block, from its center which is now the new hotel.
Coming down the drive the road has been entirely re-routed and built out of nothing. It winds about the edge and drops abruptly into the valley alongside, bringing the car out on the edge of Edwards Heights instead of back on the highway where it started.
According to Mr. Robbins the committee has enough labor and money to keep up work a little longer, but needs more and more. He asks that the citizens come out and see what is going on. The drive is no longer one full of dangers to the car and its occupants.
