Are They Holding Hands?

With the romance of England's King Edward and Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Wallis Simpson become a popular conversational topic throughout the world, here's newly revealed picture calculated to add fuel to the fire of discussion. The question is: Are they—or are they not—holding hands? The "hand-holding" could be an illusion of perspective, or it could be an actuality and a real indication of the strong link of friendship between the British monarch and the American woman. The picture was snapped by an amateur photographer as the King and Mrs. Simpson disembarked from the Royal Yacht on a recent cruise.

Who says the Panhandle isn't a wonderful place in which to live? asks C. W. Masters of 112 South Starkweather street. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Masters brought to The NEWS several branches from his cherry and Italian prune trees and believed the trees were dead. A few weeks after he noticed sprouts appearing again and as the weeks passed, new leaves developed, blossoms appeared and then came the fruit.

Some representatives asserted the lower chamber would accept deliberation, one of the most controversial subjects to face the legislature in years, while others as staunchly declared it would never agree to drastic restrictions. Few thought the issue would be decided before the closing minutes of the session after the conference committee reported. The committee like the legislature in adjournment today, planned to meet tomorrow to consider a final draft of its report.

It is a message of peace, peace in work and peace in peace," he shouted from the gorgeously decorated central piazza.

He spoke not far from the spot where almost exactly ten years ago a young fanatic fired at him, cutting in two the neck of the order of St. Lazarus across his breast.

At times he was hidden from view as his automobile crawled through the throng which pressed down upon him.

Local fascists tried to push the crowd back, but Mussolini only laughed.

From the rostrum he told the cheering thousands he was holding aloft "a great olive branch" at the end of the fourteenth year of fascism and the beginning of the fifteenth.

This branch, he cried, "grows from an immense forest of 8,000,000 bayonets, well-sharpened and gripped by young men with intrepid hearts."

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—The fate of legislation to provide new financing of old age assistance and cut down the number eligible to receive it was distinctly in doubt today as the legislature faced adjournment of its special session next Tuesday.

A conference committee had virtually completed work on a bill to raise additional taxes and delimit the pension law, but because of bitter opposition in the House of Representatives to the latter none could forecast the outcome with assurance.

Some representatives asserted the lower chamber would accept deliberation, one of the most controversial subjects to face the legislature in years, while others as staunchly declared it would never agree to drastic restrictions.

Few thought the issue would be decided before the closing minutes of the session after the conference committee reported. The committee like the legislature in adjournment today, planned to meet tomorrow to consider a final draft of its report.

Much "missionary" work was going on with both proponents and opponents of deliberation seeking converts to their sides. Governor James V. Allred went to Oklahoma for a speech in behalf of the democratic national campaign, but intended to return in time for the show-down.

In a privately-worded message personally delivered, the governor had

Reading from what he said was

A "moral victory" is never a satisfactory victory because the sting of defeat is always there, but the courageous little Harvesters' gallant fight against the mighty behemoths from Lubbock convinced Pampa's admiring fans that the local boys battled with reckless abandon to the limit of their skilled ability.

It seemed to Pampans sitting in the stands that the vanquished deserved as much praise, if not more, than the victors, and most of those fans yearned to go out on the field and pump the hands of those boys who have been fighting their hearts out in unparalleled and unprecedented fashion all year against overwhelming odds.

Harvester fans are to be congratulated because they have supported a losing team that deserved to be supported! These may be dark days, but there has been less "gripping" this year than ever before. The Harvesters and their coaches have found that this is the year "when a feller needs a friend," and they have found that they have more friends in adversity than in prosperity. And that is real sportsmanship!

Coaches Mitchell and Prejean are doing their best and that is as good as any high school coach's best, state champions or no state champions! The boys are doing likewise. It is not November yet; they will cover themselves with glory before that fateful Thanksgiving afternoon when, and it's possible, it may be "death in the afternoon" for a certain Sandstorm. Harvesters, we're sticking by you, win or lose, until the last whistle. Again, we salute your courage, and hope that we as fans may have as much Friday, fans remembered the green bunch of boys who played their first football in September, and when they gazed upon the same but almost unrecognizable team a month later, they conceded that it was almost a miracle. When it is considered that Thanksgiving a month away, and when the improvement of the last month is pondered, where is the man who will rise up and say that "we haven't got a chance!" He wasn't in the stands last Friday! YEA, HARVESTERS!

Four orphan children making a brave determined and thus successful effort to make a go of it alone—with the assistance of neighborly Pampans. If they had certain things, they will be off to a good start. Generous Pampans are asked to donate a mattress, chairs, dresser, dishes, cooking utensils and money (about $13) for shingles, flooring, linoleum, and to turn over these contributions to Mrs. DeLoe Vickers and Mrs. C. L. Bastain. Neighbors are donating carpenter work at the one-room house. Three of the children go to school. The oldest works in the sewing room.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Dyer and son, Arland Ray, of Moore, Okla., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Taylor.

Mr. Foster, a farmer, made the discovery, slightly more than 200 yards from the pasture, and he thought the youths had become lost and wandered through darkness until exhausted.

The boys' parents told Justice D. M. Painter their sons often left home and stayed for several days with friends or relatives. They had just begun to be uneasy regarding the boys, they said, when news of their death was reported.

Weather here has been blistery and cold, though not freezing. The boys were barefoot and their clothing was light and thoroughly wet.

Investigation found matches in the boys' pockets, though apparently no attempt had been made to kindle a fire.

The bodies were brought to an undertaking establishment here.

Crushed between a boiler and a falling boiler stack, death came instantly to William Scott Green, 37, Pampa, while he was at work on a Magnolia lease, eight miles south of Sunray in Moore county, Friday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock.

Green, a mechanic for the Magnolia Petroleum company here for the last 10 years, accompanied a fleet of trucks from Pampa to the Moore county lease and was assisting in dismantling the boiler when the accident occurred. Green, company officials said, was on top of the boiler assisting in the removing of the stack, which came loose and fell on him. A verdict of accidental death was returned by a Moore county coroner.

A world war veteran, Green was active in Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and 40 and 8 organizations, both in Pampa and in the state. At the time of his death he was grand commander of the State 40 and 8. He was a past chief of the 40 and 8 of the Pampa 40 and 8 and a past commander of Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion.

Green served in the United States navy during the war. He joined in January 1917 and received his discharge in December 1919. He was on foreign service with the U. S. Illinois from shortly after enlistment until his discharge.

Survivors are his wife, who was visiting in Electric at the time of his death, a son, Billy, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Green of Electric, early Panhandle settlers, and a sister, Mrs. Bill Hallmark of Pampa.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Electric. He will be accorded a military funeral.

Many Pampa veterans and fellow employees will attend services.

When he pulled a pan of boiling water off the stove, Carl Schlemmer, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Schlemmer, suffered severe scald burns about his neck, both arms and chest. He was taken to Pampa-Jarratt hospital where he was resting as well as possible last night. The accident happened at the family home, 528 South Ballard-st., about 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

10-0 PITT ROUTS OTRE DAME 26-0 MINNESOTA ROLLS OVER PURDUE 33-0

6 BIG TEAMS ERASED FROM UNBEATEN LIST FORDHAM NOSES OUT ST. MARY'S 7 TO 6

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Pitt's infuriated Panthers handed Notre Dame its worst defeat in 22 years today as six other major teams were wiped off the unbeaten list and Minnesota's Gophers, turning loose the power for the first time this year, rolled up its 21st consecutive victory.

Upset by Duquesne in shocking fashion a week ago, Pitt gained double consolation this week. First Duquesne, unbeaten, untied and unopposed upon, was knocked off by West Virginia Wesleyan last night. Then the Panthers routed Notre Dame, 26-0, before a crowd of 70,000 to put themselves right back in the running for a possible Rose Bowl nomination.

Meanwhile, 50,000 watched Minnesota roll over Purdue, previously unbeaten, with a tricky lateral-passing offensive, 33 to 0. The Bollermakers put up a great fight for the first half but bowed to Minnesota's superior reserve strength in the end.

Joining Notre Dame and Purdue in the beaten list for the first time Michigan State, Duke, North Carolina and Catholic university.

St. Mary's lost a grueling 7-6 decision to Fordham's Rams who will take a perfect record into the battle with Pitt next Saturday. Michigan State bowed to Marquette's unbeaten army, 13-7 and Catholic was bowled over by Mississippi, 14-0.

Duke bowed to Tennessee's fighting volunteers in a spectacular engagement at Knoxville, 15-13. North Carolina was no match for Tulane, and surrendered, 21-7.

Holy Cross rallied in the final period to stop Carnegie Tech, 7-0; Army rolled over Springfield, 33-0; Villanova stopped Boston University, 28-7, and Yale trounced Rutgers, 28-0.

The eastern program otherwise was marked by Princeton's 7-0 conquest of Navy before 51,000; Dartmouth's 26-7 rout of Harvard; Penn's impressive 48-6 parade through Brown; a 41-0 victory for Colgate over Lafayette, and Cornell's 13-7 defeat of Penn State.

In the mid-west, Northwestern, which tackles Minnesota next week, kept its undefeated record intact by trampling Illinois, 13-2 as Michigan upset a favored Columbia eleven, 13-0, and Ohio State knocked over Indiana 7-0. Nebraska took a strange hold on Big Six honors by whipping Oklahoma, 14-0, as Missouri earned its first conference victory since 1932 by trimming Iowa State, 10-0, and Kansas State romped over Kansas, 26-6.

The Southwest Conference race found Texas A. and M. still on top although held to a scoreless draw by Baylor. Rice unexpectedly upset Texas, 7-0, as Texas Christian and Mississippi State of the southeastern conference battled to another scoreless tie.

Vanderbilt surprised by holding Georgia Tech to a scoreless tie and Florida gave Kentucky a tussle before surrendering 7-0. Auburn and Louisiana State, undefeated but tied, were returned winners. Auburn halted Georgia, 20-13, and Louisiana checked Arkansas, 19-7. In the southern conference, North Carolina State won from Virginia Tech, 13-0; Washington over Virginia, 13-0, Virginia Military over Richmond, 20-0, and Davidson over Citadel, 21-0. Washington won from California, 13-0; Southern California upset Stanford for the first time since 1932, 14-7, and Washington State eked out a 3-0 victory over Oregon.

88,000 CHECKS TO BE MAILED ON NOVEMBER 1

AUSTIN, Oct. 24, (AP)—Orville S. Carpenter, director of old age assistance, said today 88,000 checks amounting to $1,500,000 would be mailed to pensioners Nov. 1.

November payments were made possible by legislative action transferring $510,000 from the permanent to the available pension fund. Carpenter said he had been assured by federal authorities the money would be matched.

The director said there would be no December payments unless the legislature provided funds. The most likely source for such money was a bill, passed by the house of representatives and pending in the senate, authorizing $3,000,000 in interest-bearing deficiency warrants on the old age assistance fund.

Considerable doubt existed as to whether the senate would pass the bill. Bankers told Governor Allred they would cash the warrants only if the legislature provided taxes to guarantee ultimate payment.

WOMEN DEBLORE DALLAS, Oct. 24, (AP)—The Texas Athletic Federation of College Women went on record today in opposition to girls playing in college bands or taking part in football demonstrations. The resolution displayed co-ed participating in any activity organized primarily for men.

Mrs. T. R. Hickman of Dallas visited her sister, Mrs. R. W. Lane, and family last week.

Mrs. E. T. Kirksey of Panhandle was admitted to Pampa-Jarrett hospital Friday afternoon.

a stenographic report, Allred quoted Landon as saying on March 27, 1935: "I desire to acknowledge in a tangible way the appreciation of the people of my state of the courage with which President Roosevelt has attacked the depression."

Allred also charged that Landon during the emergency period had favored a dictatorship of the oil industry and federal control of business, in direct contrast to present campaign denunciations by Landon of "bureaucracy and concentration of power in Washington."

In reply to Landon's criticism of the Supreme Court, Allred said more laws had been declared unconstitutional under republican administrations than under democratic administrations.

In 1933 Landon advocated the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Texas governor said. When the AAA was held unconstitutional Governor Landon declared, Allred said, "The AAA, sound or unsound, as it may have been in some of its long time permanent implications, nevertheless was the only major agency operating to meet the emergency of the farm situation."

"The President has in his files hundreds of letters, telegrams and records of telephone calls from Governor Landon begging for federal money on the plea that the people of Kansas were in dire distress," Allred said.

"There was not a word of criticism in those dark days of rehabilitation. For in those hours of need the sound of the people's joy swelled upward, from ocean to ocean, in a resounding cry of thanksgiving and praise of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

4-YEAR OLD BORGER GIRL DIES OF BURNS BORGER, Oct. 24 (AP)—A 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDougle, died at 1:40 this afternoon of burns received at noon. She was playing in the garage at her home, where a flame was kept burning to furnish heat for baby chicks, when her clothing became ignited.

Her mother, attracted by her screams, extinguished the fire only after she had been burned over practically her entire body. The little girl was rushed to a hospital where she died.

The parents and a brother, Frank Neal survive her. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon.

BABY DERBY IS 'RACKET,' SAYS ONTARIO CHIEF

Only One Out of 12 In Toronto Okay Millar Will

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (AP)—They give prizes for dogs and squashes, for home rule pies and for statures made of soap, so why, inquired Mrs. Lily Kenny tonight, shouldn't there be a prize for the mother who excels at bearing babies?

That was her answer to the blast of criticism Premier Hepburn set off here he called the mothers' marathon a "racket" and a "disgusting, revolting exhibition."

Mrs. Kenny is the No. 1 claimant to the $500,000 which Charles Vance Millar bequeathed to the city's most prolific mother.

She put it this way: "People with large families don't get divorced. More large families mean less divorces. Mr. Millar must have thought of that, so he sat right down and did something about it."

"He knew there were prizes for almost everything — for bathing girls, perfect cakes, and shapeliest fingernails — prizes for everything but children. So he took care of that."

Mrs. Kenney's enthusiasm for the late lawyer and his postmortem interest in increased population did not find general support. Most of the opinion heard today endorsed the statement of Premier Hepburn who said it was the duty of the government to "stop this fiasco."

The Toronto Globe, seeking a cross-section of opinion, found only one person out of 12 to say a good word for the stork derby. Some of the comment was: "Scandalous. Don't you think they've gone the limit."

"This method of promoting child-birth is little short of criminal."

Last night the stork, virtually on the verge of a nervous breakdown, missed a big chance to create a sensation. He found his weary self flying around with a load of triplets—enough babies to turn the contest upside down.

Instead of taking them out to Mrs. Grace Baginato, a leading contender for the Millar prize is "expecting" the stork dropped the babies at general hospital to Mrs. Sidney MacLean, heretofore childless.

GRAY PENSION LIST ON FILE AT NEWS OFFICE

THE NEWS has secured, through Eugene Worley of Sharnock, representative from this district which includes the counties of Gray, Wheeler, Collinsworth and Donley, names of all Gray county citizens who are receiving old age assistance pensions from the state of Texas.

THE NEWS was moved to obtain such a list from the state after scores of requests for that information had been made during a period of months. The list of pensions is at the NEWS office and any person who wishes to peruse it "to see who is getting pensions and who isn't" may do so for that or any other reason. The list contains 202 names.

THE pension list also includes the amount each pensioner is getting. THE NEWS is not publishing the list for the same reason that it does not publish the amount of taxes, income or otherwise, paid by Pampa citizens; that is, such matters are more or less personal.

Constant objections of attorneys on both sides interrupted evidence, and another delay was caused Friday evening when defense witnesses were discovered seated in the courtroom and were admonished by District Judge E. J. Pickens.

District Attorney W. L. McConnell is assisted by Dayton Moses, attorney of the Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, in the prosecution. Defense attorneys are Major E. A. Simpson, Dan Hoover, and E. J. Cussens.

without warning at very short range four shells at the motorship Fernando Po, flying a Spanish flag, which set this vessel on fire and sank it. The captain and the crew of the Fernando Po were drowned.

Renewed charges against Germany were added by the Spanish embassy in its announcement.

The Allegations included that 15 German submarines entered the Mediterranean through the Straits of Gibraltar the night of Oct. 19; that "German youths arrived at Seville in an open boat with 12 anti-aircraft guns" Oct. 8.

With these developments representatives of the European powers wrestled with the problem of how to retain the neutrality pact over the increasing recriminations growing out of alleged aid from foreign nations to both of the Spanish belligerents.

A sub committee of thirteen nations, including Russia, met during the day. The Russian ambassador to England, Ivan Malsky, and the other Soviet delegate, M. Kagan, were non-committal after the session.

"No decision has been reached, but the discussions are going on," said Malsky.

A British note asserted that "reliable evidence" of violation of the Spanish neutrality agreement by Russia and Italy was "worth bringing before the committee."

The note asserted there was supporting evidence of four infractions.

MADRID, Oct. 24, (AP)—A quarter of a million persons were mobilized tonight for defense of this capital, prepared to fight to the death as it became apparent the hour of a decisive battle with the besieging enemy was not far distant.

Seven out of every 10 men between the ages of 18 and 40 were in uniforms of some kind, strung along the city's outer defenses awaiting the decisive clash.

The great body of civilians responded to the government's call to show "the true mettle of the capital's 700,000 residents."

The government, in a note to Great Britain, expressed surprise that there should exist a belief that the noble citizens of Madrid are capable of collective vengeance against political prisoners.

The note was sent in reply to a British appeal for exchange of prisoners between the government and fascist leaders. It said the Madrid regime could provide protection for prisoners should the situation demand.

An official communique late tonight said government troops again were besieging fascist-held Oviedo, in northwestern Spain.

An insurgent force of Moroccan, the announcement stated, was annihilated by Austrian miners, and other fascist soldiers were trying desperately to hold their positions.

Mrs. Christine Dodson was taken to her home from Pampa-Jarrett hospital yesterday.

BURGLARY LOOT RECOVERED BY GRAY DEPUTIES

Found in Garage at Amarillo by Officers

Several tires, tubes and a cash register, stolen from service stations in McLean and Alanreed, were recovered by Gray county deputies yesterday in Amarillo. The loot, and a Plymouth car, stolen in Portales, N. M., were found by Amarillo sheriff's officers yesterday.

Four men are in jail in Lubbock in connection with the theft. They were arrested Tuesday in connection with burglaries in Alanreed, McLean, Portales, N. M., Spur, Lubbock, Memphis and other places.

Grady Lester, one of the trio, implicated himself, Freeman Alba and D. C. Hutton as the actual burglars, and named Bert (Sheriff) Hamilton of Amarillo as one of the persons receiving the stolen goods. It was in Hamilton's garage, rented under an assumed name, that the stolen property was found, officers said.

Deputies O. T. Lindsey of Pampa and L. S. Timin of McLean, who have been working on the case, drove to Amarillo yesterday and returned with the stolen property which included seven tires, taken from the J. W. Ball Service station at Alanreed, and three tires, 13 tubes and a combination cash register—adding machine taken from the Johnny Mertell Service station at McLean.

Officers said last night that the three men named as the actual burglars face a federal charge of driving a stolen car across a state line, and nine state charges including burglary and theft at Lubbock, Pampa and Portales.

8 KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENTS ON SATURDAY

(By The Associated Press) Traffic collisions added eight names to the list of violent deaths in Texas today while other accidents claimed two more lives.

A head-on collision at Mineral Wells killed W. E. Godfrey, 43, and his mother, Mrs. W. C. Godfrey, of Sweetwater. Their coupe, in passing a truck, skidded and hit an approaching truck.

At Beaumont, an automobile-truck collision caused the death of Maurice Agee, 22, Ben Alton Creamer, 27, and Samuel Oliver Smith, 26. The gasoline tank on the truck exploded, burning Smith, while the other two were killed by impact injuries.

Two automobiles and a truck were involved in a wreck at Forney in which F. A. Mitchell, operator of an oil tank factory at Wichita Falls, and two negroes lost their lives.

Injuries received in a high school football game at Crosby killed Viry Fontenot, 18, player on the Crosby team. He died of cerebral concussion incurred in a tackle, hospital attendants said.

The body of Albert Johnson, about 55, a fisherman, was found floating in the Galveston harbor, apparently accidentally drowned.

Rainy weather and slippery highways contributed to a growing list of week-end accidents, sending many motorists to hospitals with injuries.

'Big Broadcast' Includes Bob Burns And Jack Benny

Two 'Big Broadcast' Stars

George Burns and Gracie Allen are two of the stars in the "Big Broadcast of 1937" which will open at the LaNora today.

With the now popular team of 'Arkansas' Bob Burns and Martha Raye in the hilariously say and tuneful "Big Broadcast of 1937," which opens at the LaNora theater today thru Wednesday, there would seem to be little left for the remaining large cast of stars to do. In addition to Bob Burns and Martha Raye, the cast includes Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Benny Goodman and his orchestra, Shirley Ross and many other outstanding singers, dancers, musicians, comedians and specialty performers.

The story centers around Jack Benny, a radio station manager, and his attempts to keep everybody happy. Frank Forrest, because Shirley Ross, an unknown announcer in an obscure station, is ribbing him is unhappy. He demands that Benny do something about it. Benny and Milland, Forrest's press agent, lure her to New York on the promise of a big job. When she arrives Milland is assigned to keep her amused but off the air. They fall in love.

Shirley discovers the trick and is furious. Gracie Allen, sponsor of a program puts her on her program to team with Forrest. The team is an instant success. A big program is engineered in which Forrest proposes to Miss Ross and is accepted. Then all America is steamed up for a radio wedding in which the two are to be united. When the big moment comes, however, Shirley refuses to go through with it and flees. A frantic search is begun for her. Gracie, left alone in the studio, puts on a program of her own ingenious contrivance which is one of the high spots in this hilarious comedy.

Miss Ross is found after a wild search, returned to the studio and hurried into a bridal costume. With all America listening in, she marches down the aisle and faces the groom who, it turns out, is Milland who has also been forced into proper clothing for the big event. They are married.

Up And Down The Air Waves

By RAY D. O.

Up and down the air waves is probably somewhat like this column—up and down insofar as interesting items are concerned.

We hope this isn't a game, or maybe we hope it is—anyway, the Tex's Topics editor, apologetically, took out his Sunday "lacer" and proceeded to "lace" us in his column, last Thursday. No, Tex, we didn't get mad, in fact we rather enjoyed it. Now, suppose we just kindly re-read that item of his. First, we gather that the Tex's Topics editor was not reared in a family of tobacco chewers, else the idea of a tobacco chewer's habits would be just a bit more realistic. You tobacco chewers had better take out your watch and see if it is 10 o'clock so you can take your first chew of tobacco. We rather suspect that he got mixed up with the "10-2 & 4" drink, since that isn't the way tobacco chewing is being done in the "tobacco chewing circles." Insofar as that 10 o'clock chew of tobacco "rhyming" with their glass of "tomato juice," that would not only be "unethical," but it would be impossible. All the rhythmic and melodious tunes would have, long since, been gone from the first and second "shaw," and the chewer's glass of "tomato juice" is, at that time, "just a memory," but his "tomato juice" was a cup of black

LA TEMPLE'S NEW PICTURE IS 'DIMPLES'

MOVIE BEING RECEIVED WELL IN NEW YORK

(Glimpses of pictures that will be shown in Pampa later in the season.) Shirley Temple's last picture, "Dimples," which was formerly known as "The Bowers Princess" is now being shown in the royal cities of the nation. The premier showing, reviewed in the Roxy theater, New York City, was regarded by the people who stood in line early on a Tuesday morning, as a bargain. Reports show that there were plenty of laughs and many a tear in the audience that packed the Roxy.

The story, which is usually a small factor in a Shirley Temple picture, is dated 1860 in New York City. The star is a street urchin, singing and dancing for coins with a band of children fondly but loosely looked after by her grandfather, a poor aristocrat with somewhat questionable principles. Circumstances tend to bring them in connection with the Drews, especially the romantic interests of Allen Drew, who is to produce the new, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Shirley is given the role of little Eva in which she not only displays her greatest talents, but also makes everybody in the picture happy.

Frank Morgan, as the impoverished grandfather, gives one of his best and most convincing performances. Robert Kent and Delma Byrd add the romantic angle while Shirley is singing and dancing four new numbers. Even Stephen Fetchit makes the most of a minor role which makes the story complete with the exception of Shirley's last number which the reviewer says has been added in order to give the audience a chance to dry their tears before entering the theater.

Advanced reports on "Labeled Lady" which boasts a cast including Ham Powell, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow, and Spencer Tracy, are that it contains all of the smart, elaborately mounted comedy that drew patrons to theatre doors when the "Thin Man" was showing.

With something to amuse happening in almost every sequence, the progress of the picture is unimpaired. To begin with, Editor Tracy leaves the expecting-to-be bride, Jean Harlow, at the church door to investigate the rumor of a $5,000,000 libel suit which is to be brought against his boss by Millandres Myrna Loy. Tracy spends many anxious moments in the effort for suit-quoter William Powell and after finding him at his own back door marries him to Jean Harlow to quell the characteristically hardboiled attitude she has taken. While working on the Loy case Powell is taken to Europe where he encounters and befriends the father of Loy, Walter Connolly. Sophisticated comedy dialogue eventually convinces Loy and Powell that they are really in love with each other. In spite of Powell's marriage to Harlow, which is capably taken care of, the story is close in a series of comic and happy reunions.

Even though the story seems to have a sophisticated thread, the comic manner in which it has been treated bring it into the realm of a desirable attraction for any kind of audience from the teen age up.

Powell, classical piano and vocal; 3:00, from the Borger studio, "The House by the Side of the Road"; 3:45, "Personal Reminiscences"; 4:30, Banner of Adventure. We believe you'll like these programs, so tune them in.

Rastus: "My gal am so lazy she won't laugh when she hears a funny joke." Jumbo: "Huh! Dat ain't nothin'. My gal am so doggoned lazy she won't ache when she got a pain."

Why not attend church today? That is a duty and a privilege that we should all pride ourselves in doing.

THEATER RAMBLER

"Anthony Adverse" was enjoyed by plenty of Pampa people, but we believe Mr. Boyd Scott takes the star-endorsed photo for being the most absorbed. An usher, on duty during the evening performance, encountered the odor of burning cloth. After checking all inflammable material in the foyer and lobby, he caught the sight of smoke coming from Scott's pocket. Congratulations Scott, we usually don't have enough money in our pocket to strike a match.

Mrs. Hill, who had to make a hurried trip from the Rex to the LaNora theater last Thursday night, maintained enthusiastically between pants of exhaustion, that the pace was not a bad fast for rane as lucky as she had to be.

The Harry Smiths, after much excitement and haste had finally managed to make the earlier than usual last feature at the LaNora on Monday evening. After they were seated and had time to think, Mrs. Smith suddenly remembered she had failed to turn off the

HIT TO SHOW AT REX TODAY AND MONDAY

Neck-and-neck with death, half-way round the world, Charlie Chan races a ruthless murderer in his most baffling case, "Charlie Chan at the Race Track," which shows at the Rex today and Monday.

Opening with the thrilling Melbourne Sweepstakes in Australia, the scene of the film races across the Pacific, where the murderer first strikes, to Honolulu and then Los Angeles, with Chan on the killer's trail.

Chan encounters thrilling and exciting experience during the chase. A huge gambling ring that stops at nothing has switched the favorite in the Santa Juanita Handicap with an inferior horse. Chan alone discovers the fact but the killer kidnaps the wily Chinese sleuth the day of the big race. Chan is faced with an infernal trap that kills with the speed of light and a deadly foam emitting venomous poison. By a ruse, Chan escapes from his captor, and arrives at the track just as the big race is about to start—and the murderer is about to strike again!

MOVIE SCENIC CLASS HAS COMMERCIAL USES

The extent to which movies and science walk hand in hand is illustrated by a new scenic effect used in the "La Bomba" sequence in "The Big Broadcast of 1937."

The effect is a new glass which twists like paper and stays put while retaining all the characteristics of glass. It is used extensively in the La Bomba sequence to form palm trees and other decorative props. It provides a startling and novel effect. The new glass, it is said, will be adopted for automobile and airplane window purposes to provide a shatterless glass which will be a marked improvement over anything now in use.

NEW TURNER HOME IS EXAMPLE OF MODERN BUILT-IN DESIGN

The new home of J. M. Turner at 433 North Yeager is an interesting example of modern design that features every built-in convenience and decoration that characterize the modern home.

The outside of the 5-room house is finished in white with oxidized red trim. The interior has light-toned wallpaper with light woodwork.

The dining room and the living room are double insulated with a clever archway between that has built-in bookcases. A novel feature is the disappearing staircase to the attic that transforms the attic into a useful space that is easy to reach. Each bedroom has a closet and there is an extra closet that is lined with cedar. A linen closet with shelves and drawers is conveniently located. A service porch with concrete floor and drain is an added idea that solves many difficulties.

The house was designed and built by the John E. Hill Lumber company, from one of their modern house plans, which embody every convenience such as built-in tables, ironing boards, and broom closets.

FHA Is Achieving Goal, Says Journal

WASHINGTON — The recent announcement by Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald that the average mortgage insured by the Housing Administration for the first six months of 1936 was $4,001 "is evidence that FHA is achieving its primary goal," according to an article in the September issue of American Architect and Architecture.

Through this announcement, the article continues, the Housing administration gives proof that, "despite rising real estate values, FHA is making it possible for potential low-cost-home owners to procure mortgages and that these same people are grabbing at the chance."

Discussing Mr. McDonald's comment on the rapidly increasing general interest in low-priced homes, the article stated:

"Looking for the reason behind the operative builder's comparatively rapid return to prosperity, it becomes immediately apparent that the Federal Housing Administration must be given the lion's share of the credit. There is no occasion for surprise, therefore, when a survey of 1,200 operative builders and real estate salesmen in 22 cities discloses that this group is highly complimentary to FHA."

Dixie Howell, assistant coach at Loyola of New Orleans, was an all-American half-back on the 1934 Alabama team that defeated Stanford in the Rose Bowl.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE FINANCED AT A LOW COST

Plan To Be Explained Here During This Week

Property owners in Pampa and Gray county may now finance improvements on their property at a low cost, with no down payment. These improvements may be paid for in monthly installments to suit the income of the property owner, because of the very favorable terms of the National Housing Act.

Financing of these improvements, as outlined by the Federal Housing Administration, may be arranged through representatives of the Panhandle Lumber Company, who are to be in Pampa the week of October 25. These representatives, working under the direction of Sam McLean, an expert in FHA financing, are making a house-to-house canvass of the city in an effort to better acquaint the citizens with this branch of the federal administration.

Loans to repair, alter or improve property may be made under Title I of the National Housing Act and amounts from $100 to $2,000 can be secured on any one piece of property. Loans can be made from one to five years, with no down payment. Repayment is made in monthly installments based on the borrower's income and any individual, who, today has an assured income and a good credit standing, can borrow money.

There are no restrictions on the materials used or the methods of construction employed. These loans are also available for the purchase of materials where labor is to be done by owner, or on separate contract. The money borrowed for improving property must be used for that purpose and nothing else. However, equipment for the interior of the home may be purchased, provided such equipment is of the "built-in" or attached type and cannot be removed from the house.

Mr. McLean said today that "now is the time to make improvements. The National Housing Act was designed to help improve property and increase its value and usefulness. The act makes it possible to make delayed repairs and provide better surroundings for the family. For several years past, many property owners have been unable to pay for normal upkeep and improvements which mean better housing and better living."

New houses may also be built and financed under Title II of the same act. Long term mortgages, low interest rates and other costs similar-

WELLINGTON SKYROCKETS ARE 24-0 VICTORS OVER McLEAN

WELLINGTON, Oct. 24 — Wellington's Skyrockets shot high Friday night to blast the McLean Tigers under a barrage of touchdowns for a 24 to 0 victory. McLean, still crippled from their tussle with the state champion Amarillo Sandies a week ago, were never in the running until the last play of the game when the ball rested on the Wellington 1-yard line.

Wellington registered 13 first downs to 9 for McLean. Estes, Parker and Clark were the powerhouse in the Wellington attack. Laswell and Bogan were the McLean ground gainers with Laswell cutting off tackle for one jaunt of 29 yards.

Estes opened the scoring for Wellington in the first quarter when he took the ball from Parker on a cross to make the final three yards.

Parker heaved a 25-yard pass to Fulton for another center in the second period. Another second-quarter touchdown was registered by Clark who plunged over after the entire Wellington backfield had assisted in a 65-yard march.

McLean played outstanding football in the third quarter but couldn't get in scoring range. Wellington's last touchdown came in the final quarter when Austin swept his left end for a touchdown and then added the only extra point of the game.

Watson, Norman and Overton played bang-up defensive game for McLean. Watson made a nice run to tackle Estes on the McLean 12-yard line and saved another touchdown. Watson played only part of the game because of injuries.

tractive atmosphere in which to shop. I can honestly say that modernization of retail establishments is the most important factor in soliciting a better class of trade."

Mr. Comins is proprietor of the Joyce Shop, a ladies' ready-to-wear establishment formerly located on Broad Street. The high rentals of this 100 per cent business district necessitated the occupancy of a small shop which soon became inadequate.

Last year a store but a few steps around the corner was vacated. While the place was decidedly old-fashioned, Mr. Comins, with the aid of a $4,000 insured modernization loan obtained from the National State Bank under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration and the addition of $3,000 of his own money, built what is now regarded as one of the

SUNDAY GUEST EDITORIAL

By L. L. SONE, High School Principal

IS SCHOOL A LUXURY TO YOUR CHILD? School becomes a luxury when it is used for pleasure alone or for a time of ease.

We, as parents, feel that we want our children to have every opportunity. We want them to have every chance that other children have.

Is it then any wonder that it takes many years for them to adjust themselves to the life they must lead? Is it any wonder that many of our people fail to ever become adjusted?

Let us place the blame where it should be placed. A child is like a tender plant which can be trained in any direction.

Only when we are using it as a means toward an end does it cease to be a luxury. Is school a luxury for your child?

Let's give our children the opportunity they deserve by giving them responsibilities and placing before them problems to be solved.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher INDIANAPOLIS.—Indiana, where politics is a profession for many and a hobby for all, may give its 14 electoral votes to Landon.

But the essentials of the situation are obvious. Insofar as the presidential contest goes, an Old Guard Republican machine is opposing a pro-Roosevelt mass movement which draws its strength from the sensing and feeling of the poor.

The Republicans find anti-New Deal sentiment strong among farmers, business men, and many conservative Democrats.

They find that the "waste and extravagance" issue is the most potent one against Roosevelt, especially in rural areas.

The Wrong Murderer By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter Five STICK-UP It was evident that there was going to be action shortly. He made the way to entrance number three.

"Blast!" said Mahony briefly. He realized that he was in the wrong costume. He hurried to the men's cloak-room, changed his costume about, and returned as quickly as he could to entrance number three.

By this time the gaily had reached its highest pitch: everyone was noisy and excited. A thousand people were enjoying themselves irresponsibly and a little drunkenly, not caring what anybody thought of them or how much row they kicked up.

As the floor emptied, Mahony caught sight of Elsa and the Charles the Second coming toward the exit. When she was nearing the exit, the monk in brown stepped forward. The black monks drew closer together, as if preparing for action.

"Hail Queen of Hearts!" exclaimed the brown monk in a loud, jovial voice. "Let us salute her, brothers." He made a flamboyant gesture with his right hand, beckoning the black-clad monks, laughing loudly, they ran forward, surrounding Elsa.

The masked figures joined hands, forming a circle, and began to dance wildly round Elsa and the Charles the Second. If all looked perfectly natural and harmless, merely a rag by a small party of people occupying a small space on the big floor, Elsa stood in the middle of the circle, laughing; the sight of those solemn figures capering round her amused her.

"Let's take her to the monastery, brothers," shouted the brown monk, suddenly. He plunged into the middle of the circle, picked up Elsa's light figure easily in his arms, and began to carry her towards one of the exits.

Laughing and shouting, the other monks crowded round him, clearing a way through the throng. Nobody attempted to interfere; it was still so obviously merely a harmless rag by a small party of irresponsibles. And Elsa did not seem to mind much. One effort she made to escape from her captor's arm; then she remained quiet and ceased to struggle.

Shouting and singing, the party surged along a passage, crossed the vestibule, and went out by the main doorway of the hall into the street outside. A short distance away a big car was waiting with its engine running, and they made for it. The brown monk thrust Elsa into the car; the other monks scrambled in after them.

"You shouldn't think," said Mahony. "It's a bad habit. Now just step back a bit, please." "Half a moment, I..." began the brown monk. He broke off suddenly, uttered a startled exclamation, and pointed toward the back of the yard over Mahony's shoulder.

"That went off all right," observed the brown monk in a tone of hearty satisfaction. "I pushed the needle into her as I picked her up; she hardly moved at all. Now don't forget your instructions. As soon as we've delivered her, we get back into our Arab make-up and return to the Hall at once. Nobody will have missed us during the short time we shall be away, and when it's discovered that she's not there, somebody who's still fairly sober is sure to remember that she was carried off by a party of monks. A pretty scheme. I have to hand it to Mulgrave; he certainly is a neat schemer."

"Yes, if he thought of it himself," observed another monk. "He probably got his orders typed in red on a sheet of blue paper with a number at the top."

"Well, whoever gave the orders, we did the job," said the brown monk. "And a very neat job we made of it. All we have to do now is to hand her over and get back to the Hall."

Mahony sat silent, saying nothing. He did not feel in the slightest degree nervous. Nor did the fact that he might have to shoot one of two of these men trouble him at all. It did not seem to occur to any of them to question Mahony's presence among them.

The drive did not last very long. After twenty minutes they turned off the main roadway and drew up inside a small timber-yard off a side street in Homslow. Another car was drawn up inside the yard. In an office on the right-hand side of the yard a light was shining.

A man emerged from the office and came up to the car. "Okay," he asked. "Okay," replied the brown monk. "We got her all right. Where do you want her?"

"Put her in the other car," replied the man. "Then go into the office and change your costumes round."

"We better get out first," said one of the monks. "Then we can get her out more easily." They all stepped out of the car, Mahony last.

"It's been a nice party," he said. "But it's over now. Stick your hands up, all of you!" From under his robe his hand came out, holding his pistol.

There was a moment's stupefied silence. Then the brown monk spoke. "What the...? And who the blazes are you? I wondered why there were four of us," he exclaimed in an astonished tone. "Where the devil do you come from, and what's your game? I thought the Chief must have sent another man at the last moment."

Candidates, Unafraid

PRESIDENTIAL nominees, unafraid, invaded supposedly "enemy" territory this week. With Democrats cocky about a record California registration and Republicans counting New England in the bag, Governor Landon started the cannonading at Los Angeles and President Roosevelt fired back from Worcester, Mass. The air vibrated every night with the attacks of lesser campaigners, and some of them nearly stole the show. Old shells were retrieved for the final bombardments as both sides fired off familiar charges and denials. Mr. Landon: "If we are to preserve our form of government, this administration must be defeated."

Mr. Roosevelt: "We will not again allow people to be regimented by selfish minorities into bankruptcies and breadlines." Charging abuse of the public purse, Mr. Landon said the New Deal had spent $25,000,000,000. "How much did we spend?" countered the President. "Enough to get results—enough not to fail."

After making a gesture to the Townsends, the Republican nominee turned back across the continent to climax his eastern drive next week at New York.

Secretary Ickes showed again how election charges go round and round. For months the President has been assailed both as fascist and communist. Most of the time Governor Landon has been called "tory" and "Bourbon" by his opponents. Now the caustic secretary of the interior says the Kansan was a "state socialist" when he sought federal help for state-owned telephone and gas distribution lines, but became a "rugged individualist" overnight. Landon rejoined he still favored "public ownership as a gun behind the door" to force lower utility rates.

John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, took position beside Alfred E. Smith in arraigning the New Deal as unfaithful to Jeffersonian ideals. James P. Warburg, banker, returned to the Roosevelt ranks.

Deep-chested Gerald L. K. Smith, whose voice used to boom for Huey P. Long, called a play that shifted the old Townsend-Smith-Lemke line-up. Mr. Smith, announcing a $1,500,000 national organization, had hardly outlined his anti-communism plans to a New York audience before the Union party and the Townsend organization called them un-American and severed relations with him. Denying fascism, Smith asserted his group would be backed by business men and be a "political pressure body" with no need for storm troops than the Baptists. Union party spokesmen later accepted Smith's explanations.

Another spectacular development on the communist front, Earl Browder's second attempt at speaking in Terre Haute, Ind., ended in rotten egg throwing. With $1,000 in pocket to prove himself no vagrant, Browder stepped off his train unhindered. But when he tried to deliver a radio address, several hundred persons crowded around the building, threw eggs and started fights until he retreated to his taxi.

Communist candidates are now assured places on 31 state ballots.

Oddly Enough

Hardy sourdoughs at Barrow, Alaska, are heated up over plans for a 9-hole golf course on the frozen Arctic ocean. The idea man, a government physician, figured the aurora borealis would furnish light; polar bears and icebergs would be the hazards. Not even the Arctic's only pool table got so much attention.

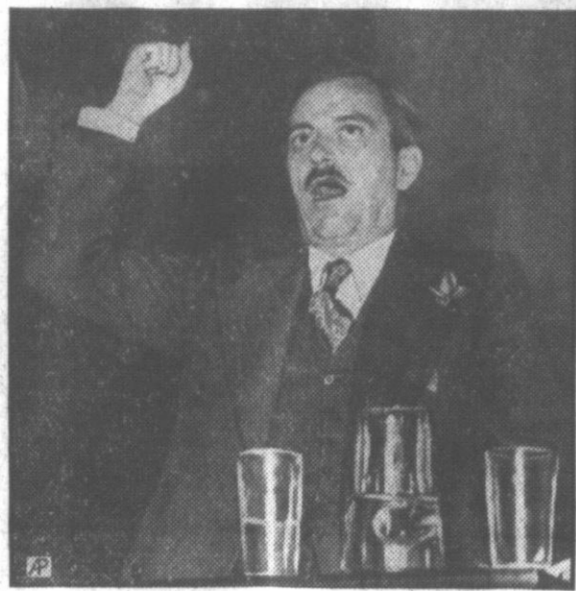

In Chicago, officials spent long hours devising gadgets to speed up electric chair executions, made a record of 6 seconds at a dress rehearsal, 8 seconds at a real tryout. In Yugoslavia, a hangman sent four criminals to death, decided he was tired out and postponed two other hangings until the following morning.

Visitors to the tomb of John Marshall, famed U. S. chief justice, saw little to suspect in the gray granite memorial. But the superintendent of the old Shoccoke cemetery at Richmond, Va., found the covering loose and whiskey inside. The tomb and others nearby were bootleggers' caches.

Helen Keller, upon the death of her teacher: "I pray for strength to endure the silent dark until she smiles on me again." Col. Frank Knox: "This administration has secret and undetermined plans, we know not what." Vice President Garner: "The safest thing that could happen to this country is the reelection of President Roosevelt."

At Home

Sterilization Stirs Prison

Sterilization, advocated as a cure for social evils, was legalized a year ago in Oklahoma for certain classes of criminals. This week state officials blamed the law for unrest within prison walls and the escape of at least six convicts. Other prisoners were so disturbed they financed a test case by Jack Skinner, third term convict, who wanted "to go out and look up his divorced wife or some other woman and rear a family."

Pagan Hangover

The "hex," a hangover in America from medieval paganism, is being banished by education from Pennsylvania where it has led to many crimes from murder to arson in the past 50 years. Educators said this week that instruction in science has proved the most effective weapon against the superstition, with its rituals to cause or dispel misfortune. In a few years, they believed, voodoo doctors may be run out of business.

soner, as well as of other officials and Manila's Catholic bishop, should they resist an attempt to take over the government. Twenty-three radicals arrested since the $500,000 fires in Manila Oct. 3, were directed, said the police, by Benigno Ramos, Sakdal chief who has carried on his operations from Japan. The party may now be dissolved.

Ship Of Death

Carrying a dead weight of 3,000 tons of sand, the Sand Merchant stood out from Point Pelee, Ont., for Cleveland but ran into a 50-mile gale. As water sloshed into the hold, the crew manned pumps, finally swung out the boats just as the craft overturned, plunging 25 sailors and the mate's wife into Lake Erie. Only 7 men lived to see rescuers. Last July another Chicago Lakes sandcrafter sank off Chicago and drowned 15.

Wider Wings

Their worth proven by a year's arduous service over the widest ocean, the Clipper ships will serve as models now for bigger boats. Six 40-ton planes, twice the size of the present clippers, are being planned at Seattle. Another clipper more powerful than the present is being built at Baltimore for Russia.

Winged Revenge

Since the fall of Addis Ababa and the "pacification" of Ethiopia, dozens of Italians and natives have died in battle. This week the toll increased. Supplying another object lesson in the transport of fighting men by plane, Italy landed 500 heavily armed soldiers at Likemti. There they attacked fiercely a concentration of native warriors, inflicted heavy losses. It was a "mass reprisal," the black shirts explained, for the massacre of 13 Italian aviators last July. Next day an Italian army southwest of Addis Ababa routed an Ethiopian regiment, killed 300.

East Meets East

No sooner had Great Britain got the Jewish-Arab problem of Palestine under some sort of control than the Hindu-Moslem problem of India broke out afresh. Raw relations between the two sects became open wounds during construction of a Hindu temple near a mosque at Bombay. Roving knives and club wielders soon killed 58, looted stores and fired temples. Business: Recovery Tide At Flood

Brisk autumn days find business reaching for new heights. Normally Wall street looks for expansion in trade and industry when harvests put money in farmers' pockets. This year, under momentum of a spring and summer rise, business has turned out some of the best October figures since 1929. Steel, electric power production and railroad carloadings, three leading barometers, were at or near peak recovery points. For added impetus to recovery, analysts looked to building, public utilities and foreign trade.

Pacts

Peace Talk And War Moves

Peace pacts were the talk of European diplomats this week while events smacked of war. Russia, calling for a Spanish non-interference accord a "capitalist plot" employed by Germany and Italy to insure fascist victory, saw planes and ammunition as the only real aid for Spanish socialists. And no matter what happens, officials emphasized, Russia stands only the present Spanish government.

Spinach Protest Upheld

Spinach eating under protest may not be common if Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is heeded. The Mayo clinic specialist told an International Medical assembly at St. Paul that spinach isn't digestible unless heavily creamed; that milk is "poison" to one person in 15; that chocolate often causes sick headaches. So physicians are now trying to make the diet fit the patients, he said, instead of the patients the diet.

Flu Fighters Cheer

A preliminary victory over the flu was announced to the American Public Health association in New Orleans. Rockefeller institute experimenters said the first vaccine for the dread disease had been tried on 30 humans with 100 per cent success. The association also heard the suggestion that a vaccine (not found yet) exists for all such diseases as flu, colds, yellow fever and infantile paralysis.

New Blood, Old Hearts

At Philadelphia the American College of Surgeons learned of a new operation developed by Dr. Claude S. Beck of Western Reserve University to supply hearts with blood through engrafted muscles and fat, replacing or supplementing the normal arterial supply.

Iron Men

World In Brief

Premier Hirota of Japan got the army and navy to permit gradual rather than sudden reorganization of the government. A federal grand jury in New Jersey indicted Ellis H. Parker, Sr., and Jr., and three others in the Paul H. Wendel kidnapping, sequel of the Lindbergh baby case. Jean Batten landed in New Zealand, 10 days and 21 hours out of England—the first woman to make the flight. New west coast forest fires killed 3, did $1,000,000 damage; a $2,000,000 fire swept a San Diego block. Tokyo announced plans for airlines to mandated German islands, denied the islands were fortified. Italian earthquake killed 16; fire on luxury ship Vulcania killed 4; sinking of the Dutch ship Van der Wijck off Java left 72 missing. (Complete Page Copyrighted, 1936, by The Associated Press)

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquiries must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. When was the present town of Teague established and for whom was it named? D. D. A.

A. Prior to the building of the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad in 1906, the small community town there of about 75 people was called Brewer. The name was then changed to Teague. The Texas Almanac says it was named for a Mrs. Teague, an aunt of B. P. Yoakum, railroad builder. Fred Massingill, in "Texas Towns," says it was named for J. R. Teague, an early settler.

CRAYON PROJECTS IN TEXAS HISTORY

It is easy to teach children history with penciled outline pictures of historical subjects and colored crayons. History taught in this way is never forgotten and a taste is created for more information.

"Centennial Projects, Texas Under Six Flags," contains 36 pages of outlines on many phases of Texas history and events, with cover showing the Texas Capitol under six flags, each in its correct colors. Mailed postpaid for 25 cents. Send order to Will H. Mayes, 2610 Balado Street, Austin, Texas.

Q. Upon what facts is the statement based that Mrs. George W. Walling, who died recently at Austin, was the oldest living Methodist? B. G.

A. She was born near Lebanon, Tenn. in 1838, joined the Union Circuit Methodist Church there in 1845, and was a continuous member of the church for 91 years.

Q. Who was in command of the troop that opened the battle at San Jacinto? H. H. K.

A. Colonel (afterward General) Sidney Sherman, a native of Massachusetts and descendant of Roger Sherman of Revolutionary fame. He is in the market at Newport, Ky., when the call for volunteers was made, left his business, raised and equipped a company of 50 men and HELP.

The present United States gold supply is the largest in the history of the country. It has been said because of this foreign nations couldn't buy and pay for American products. But the new currency and gold agreements with France and Great Britain have changed the picture. Due to currency conversion the gold hoard of the United States can now be reduced with shipments going to Europe.

Latest international money information is that funds are beginning to flow back to France. This helps to strengthen the position of the franc. For the time being it is expected that the flow of gold will be towards France from the United States and British holdings. It will aid in the industrial recovery of France.

RAILS.

First nine months' railroad earnings were the best since 1913. What will they be like for the last three months of the year? According to informed rail circles they will not be as good as they were—on the average—for the first nine months. While they'll be better than those of the like period last year, the average improvement over the previous three months will not be as good. But for the full year rail results will make better reading when compared with those of 1935.

How about next year? The same rail circles say that it looks bad. Maintenance costs will be much higher because they were kept low this year. Revenues will be $100,000,000 lower because the emergency freight rate surcharges expire on December 31. An if the Pension Act is good law it means another $60,000,000 levy. Coal costs will be higher. Labor troubles are expected. Passenger revenues may be lower because of aviation competition. All in all, insiders aren't very optimistic on the 1937 rail outlook.

PEACE WAR.

General Electric has announced a broad reduction in prices of its oil furnaces. The reason given is that per unit output cost has been reduced due to increased production and sales volume. The trade says there's another reason. It is believed that General Electric is making a stronger bid for a larger portion of the industry's sales volume. Some hint that a price war is in the offing but will not start until the peak of the current selling season has passed.

COTTON.

Sounds strange yet it is true. British cotton trade interests are more bullish on American cotton price prospects than Americans are. Liverpool indicates that the supply of American cotton abroad is limited. It is also shown that 1936 foreign cotton growth is not only of inferior quality but less in quantity than had been expected. World consumption figures continue high. A confidential Liverpool cable reads: "If American prices don't advance too rapidly consumption figures will continue to increase, which is a most encouraging premise."

COCA.

The commodity cocoa continues to sell at the highest price levels since 1930. In addition to persistent manufacturer's buying there's a new reason for strength in the futures. When African Gold Coast shipments were to have started speculative interests assumed short positions on the belief that receipts would be larger. But to date there is a tightness of such offerings. The trade sums up the situation as follows: The short interest is large; Gold Coast offerings are limited; therefore a squeeze of these shorts is indicated. It means cocoa futures could move higher.

The above, of course, is merely repetition of news-behind-the-news already known to Financial Whirligig readers.

FURNITURE.

The furniture trade continues optimistic. Dollar sales volume is averaging 30 per cent ahead of last year. Dealers report that stocks in hands of retailers are not large therefore new buying is expected. Largest part

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

Why do Banks expect a loan to be paid when due?

A LOAN is a contract between the bank and the borrower. If it is not repaid when due, the contract is broken. Ability to repay is the best proof that the loan is good.

There are, however, circumstances which sometimes justify renewal. But bankers know from experience that the longer a loan is carried the weaker it usually gets. Bank examiners are, in fact, very critical of a loan which does not turn over at least once a year. Prompt repayment is also better for the borrower - for it strengthens his credit.

A bank cannot tie up its funds for long periods because most of its deposits are subject to withdrawal on demand. Furthermore, bank credit is for the use of the whole community and regular repayments are necessary for making fresh loans.
