Oprah on display ...at trial by day, talk show by night

By MARK BABINECK
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO (AP) — It's tough to tell which of Oprah Winfrey's shows will draw the biggest crowd: Her real-life daytime courtroom saga or the taping of her talk show tonight in Amarillo.

Witness testimony was to begin today in Ms. Winfrey's $10.3 million beef defamation trial. A group of Texans say they lost money when cattle prices plunged in the wake of her April 16, 1996, show on "dangerous foods."

Plaintiffs cite a segment on mad cow disease in which Ms. Winfrey swore off hamburgers after food safety activist and co-defendant Howard Lyman told her processed livestock was being fed to cattle.

The practice was cited for spreading mad cow disease in Europe in the 1980s. It was banned in the United States last summer.

"The evidence is going to show Oprah and her company stand for quality, integrity and fairness," Winfrey attorney Charles Babcock told the eight-woman, four-man jury during opening statements Wednesday.

The crowd of about 100 spectators who crowded to see Ms. Winfrey leave the courthouse Wednesday could pale in comparison to the crush expected at the taping of her talk show tonight at a local theater.

Ms. Winfrey and her production company allowed false and defamatory statements about beef into the broadcast in an effort to generate a "scary" show to boost ratings, plaintiffs attorney Joseph Coyne said.

"Howard Lyman was their ace in the hole," Coyne said. "They knew what he would say."

Jurors spent Wednesday afternoon watching two versions of the show in question: a 1-hour, 20-minute unedited version and the 42-minute final cut that was broadcast.

Cattlemen say too many pro-beef statements were edited from the raw edition. Babcock retorted that industry spokesman Gary Weber, invited to be a counterpoint to Lyman, was allowed to present his message that mad cow doesn't exist in the United States.

Lyman's remarks about cattle eating processed livestock "just stopped me cold from eating another burger," Ms. Winfrey said.

Cameras kept rolling after the show, capturing Ms. Winfrey telling the audience, "We believe Howard because he used to be a cattle rancher and now he doesn't do it."

Lyman testified in depositions that bankruptcy, not conscience, forced him out of the ranching business in the 1980s.

Babcock told jurors it was ridiculous to think Ms. Winfrey set out to hurt the industry.

"Oprah Winfrey is not anti-beef, not anti-cattle, not anti-rancher," Babcock said. "She did not wake up one morning and say, 'Hey, let's get the beef industry.' She's come too far and fought too hard to do that."

Lyman attorney Barry Peterson said his client had a right to question the meat industry. But Lyman never lied

Student vehicle burglaries probed Stereos taken; autos damaged

CD players, speakers, amplifiers and CDs have been stolen from the autos of three Pampa High School students while their vehicles were parked on school area parking lots.

And today, officers continued to investigate in an effort to find the culprit or culprits and recover the equipment.

The break-ins were Tuesday in which two thefts occurred between 8 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. and the other that night sometime between 7:30 and 8:50, according to the reports of Officer Fred Courtney.

In addition to the thefts, damage was reported to the dashboards of the vehicles as well as to the points of entry such as breaking out windows and prying open the rear window of a pickup truck, Courtney reported. The damages and value of the items taken total thousands of dollars.

The victimized students were Justin Earl Chad Barnes, Roy Don Devoll and Faustine Elizabeth Curry.

Also at the high school this week, two female students, whose names were not listed on the report, were taken into police custody Wednesday for fighting.

Clinton denial continues over affair allegations

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his denial of an alleged affair and cover-up still reverberating, President Clinton met today with legal advisers to respond to prosecutors' demands for documents and promised a fuller accounting of his relationship with the young woman.

"There are a lot of other questions that are, I think, very legitimate," Clinton said during an Oval Office photo session. "You have a right to ask them and you and the American people have a right to get answers."

"We will give you as many answers as we can as soon as we can at the appropriate time, consistent with our obligation to also cooperate with the investigation."

The president gave an impassioned denial of the allegations that he had an affair with intern Monica Lewinsky, 24, and that he asked

Amarillo teens shot to death

AMARILLO (AP) — A 17-year-old and two 15-year-olds have been found shot to death in an east Amarillo house.

Police said they believe the teens had been dead for several hours before being discovered by friends Wednesday afternoon. Neighbors said they heard gunshots around 2 a.m. or 3 a.m. Wednesday morning.

The bodies were sent to Lubbock for autopsies,

Amarillo police Lt. Ed Smith said.

The young male residents of the house where the bodies were found often sat outside and left the door standing open, said Tim Bitela, an Austin Middle School student.

Neighbors reported a steady stream of visitors frequently passed through the house.

"You could see people go in and come right back out," nearby resident Stephanie Phillips said.

CLINTON

her to lie about it in testimony in the Paula Jones sex harassment case.

"The allegations are false, and I would never ask anybody to do anything other than tell the truth," he said during a photo opportunity with Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat.

Kenneth Starr, the Whitewater prosecutor now charged with investigating whether Clinton's denial is true, had planned to answer reporters' questions today outside his downtown Washington office but announced this morning he would be available only for a photo.

Sources said that in a subpoena delivered to the White House on Wednesday, Starr sought documents showing when Ms. Lewinsky entered and departed the White House.

Officials told The Associated Press that there were records of several visits by Ms. Lewinsky to the Oval Office after she had left her White House job, most times checking in to see the president's personal secretary.

Individuals also said that in his sworn deposition on the Jones case last weekend, Clinton denied a sexual relationship with the woman but acknowledged providing her some gifts, including a dress.

Officials also said longtime presidential confidant Vernon Jordan and U.N. Ambassador Bill Richardson arranged job offers for Ms. Lewinsky around the time she was being asked to testify in the Jones case.

Cosmetic company Revlon disclosed that Jordan, who is a member of the company's board, referred Ms. Lewinsky for a public affairs job at a Revlon affiliate. She was interviewed over the past two months and offered a job. That offer was rescinded Wednesday.

Officials confirmed that Richardson interviewed Ms. Lewinsky at his office at the Watergate complex in Washington, where she also has an apartment, and offered her a junior job in public affairs at the U.S. mission at the United Nations in New York.

"The decision to hire Ms. Lewinsky was based on her qualifications, initiative and reputation as a hard worker," Richardson spokesman Calvin Mitchell said. "There was no pressure by any individual to hire her."

Officials told AP that White House deputy chief of staff John Podesta, acting on a request from Clinton's personal secretary, Betty Currie, asked Richardson to consider hiring Ms. Lewinsky. The officials said Podesta forgot the intern's name during the conversation, but Currie then forwarded resume information about Ms. Lewinsky to the ambassador.

In conversations secretly recorded by a friend of Mrs. Lewinsky that are now in Whitewater prosecutors' hands, the former intern is quoted as saying she had an affair with Clinton and that later both the president and Jordan asked her to lie about it.

Ms. Lewinsky has sworn in an affidavit that she did not have such an affair.

She was scheduled to be deposed Friday in Dallas by lawyers in the Jones case, and was said to be considering telling the judge in the case that she planned to invoke her Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination and not testify.

At this morning's senior staff meeting, Clinton's top deputies did not discuss the simmering crisis, powerless to contribute to its resolution. The discussion was unusually subdued, according to one official. Chief of staff Erskine Bowles, who presided, left early without explanation.

Officials said Clinton met with his legal team, including personal attorney David Kendall, to discuss how to comply with the subpoena.

Those officials said there was evidence at the White House showing that Ms. Lewinsky, who was a White House intern in 1995, checked in several times to the Oval Office to visit the president's private secretary after Ms. Lewinsky left her White House job and went to the Pentagon. The officials said Ms. Lewinsky and the secretary were friends.

Newsweek reported that it had listened to some of the tapes now in prosecutors hands and that they show Ms. Lewinsky soured on the president and refers to him as "the big he" and "the creep."

She also said on the tapes, "I have lied my entire life," the magazine said.

"If he's not telling the truth, I think the consequences will be astronomical," former White House spokeswoman Dee Myers said on NBC's "Today" show.

Attorney General Janet Reno, who approved expanding Starr's investigation into the Clintons' Whitewater dealings to include whether there was an effort to cover up the alleged affair, declined today to explain her decision. She said she had had no contact with the White House about the matter. "I won't comment," she said repeatedly. "The whole purpose of the law is to have somebody independent handling it, and thus the Justice Department and the attorney general should not comment."

The investigation was prompted when one of Ms. Lewinsky's coworkers, former White House staffer Linda Tripp, provided Starr with dozens of taped conversations, some in which Ms. Lewinsky alleged an affair with Clinton and recounted conversations she allegedly had with Clinton and Jordan about denying the relationship, lawyers said.

Newsweek magazine reported Starr's office arranged a sting operation with Tripp and tried unsuccessfully to get Ms. Lewinsky to participate in a sting against Jordan. Newsweek, NBC and The Washington Post reported Tripp was wired by the FBI for the secret taping of a meeting in recent days with Ms. Lewinsky.

"There is not a sexual relationship," Clinton said firmly in a White House interview with PBS' Jim Lehrer. "I did not ask anyone to tell anything other than the truth."

His wife, Hillary, said she did not believe the allegations.

"Certainly I believe they're false. Absolutely," the first lady said.

She said the allegations were "a continuation of a lot of the political accusations and attacks my husband has been subjected to."

Tripp's tape recordings of Ms. Lewinsky began last summer, after Clinton attorney Robert Bennett suggested Tripp wasn't telling the truth about another allegation regarding Clinton. Tripp said another White House staffer, Kathleen E. Willey, had confided that she had stepped from the Oval Office into a private office with Clinton and that the president kissed and fondled her.

Newsweek also reported it obtained a potentially damaging document suggesting Tripp was coached to deny the Willey incident. The reports described the document as a page of "talking points" possibly drafted by a lawyer and given to Tripp by Ms. Lewinsky as Tripp was about to give an affidavit.

Ms. Lewinsky's attorney, William Ginsburg, said Wednesday that "at this time, she stands by her" affidavit denying the affair with Clinton. Later, however, Ginsburg suggested in a television interview that her account could change, noting that Starr has the authority to grant immunity to Lewinsky in exchange for her cooperation in the investigation.

"Mr. Starr's office could give her protection," Ginsburg said on ABC.

CHRISTIAN

McDowell met with Pastors and Pampa church representatives from at least 15 churches in the community last week to explain his campaign — how it works and what he is planning to do in Pampa the next couple of months.

He cited a poll from Newsweek in 1994 that showed that 76 percent of Americans surveyed believe America is in a state of spiritual and moral decline.

"How do we keep the culture from capturing our kids? How do we pass on Biblical truths to our kids?" McDowell asked the pastors.

The campaign was developed after 42 of the nation's top Christian youth leaders unanimously agreed that their number one concern was this generation's loss of a biblically based value system, he said.

McDowell has structured his campaign so that he will come to communities, like Pampa, three times. "We launched the 'Right From Wrong' campaign to resource parents and Christian educators to equip kids," he explained.

The first time, he talks with pastors and church leaders. The second time, he gives a seminar to parents and adults and the final time he comes prepared to speak to the youth in a multimedia event.

McDowell told church leaders that this had proven to be the most effective way of spreading his message. He has already been to 70,000 churches from every denomination, McDowell said.

"It's good to be here — although I've never heard of Pampa," McDowell mused with the audience.

"My heart's desire is to go where national speakers speakers can't afford to go. I want to go to hometown America," he said.

McDowell will be back Feb. 22 from 6 to 10 p.m. to speak with parents at M.K. Brown auditorium and April 27 to speak to students from 7 to 10 p.m. at the McNeely Field House PHS gymnasium. Tickets are $7 and will be distributed by participating churches.

For more information, contact Pastor Lynn Hancock at 665-7201. Hancock encouraged participating churches to provide tickets for those who can't purchase them.

Clinton reportedly acknowledges his affair with Jennifer Flowers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton has acknowledged for the first time that he had an affair with Jennifer Flowers during the 1970s, according to a published report. Flowers said "it's hard to believe" Clinton now admits what he had long denied.

The Washington Post said today that the president's statement came during Clinton's six-hour deposition Saturday in the Paula Jones sexual harassment lawsuit. The Post quoted unidentified sources familiar with his testimony.

During the 1992 presidential campaign, Clinton denied Ms. Flowers' statements that he was romantically involved with her but admitted having caused pain in his marriage.

White House press secretary Mike McCurry refused to discuss Clinton's reported turnaround. "I'm not going to get into that right now," he said.

Ms. Flowers, who lives in Dallas, called The Associated Press early today after hearing the report from a friend.

"It's hard to believe after all this time," she said, her voice trailing off. She declined further comment, saying she planned to make a fuller statement later today.

In an earlier interview with CNBC, Ms. Flowers said: "It sort of surprises me at this point with all of the problems and the scandals and the 'Gates' that have come up during his terms, that he would be foolish enough to do something like this at this point. You think the boy would learn."

Tobacco settlement isn't final

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — A federal judge overseeing the settlement between Texas and the tobacco industry has yet to finalize the $15.3 billion deal announced last week.

U.S. District Judge David Folsom of Texarkana said he does not want to enter his decision piecemeal. He instead plans to rule on the case all at once.

Folsom spent Tuesday and Wednesday reviewing details of the settlement. He is expected to release his decision today.

The deal was made public last week by Attorney General Dan Morales, who has come under fire for deciding how to spend the first year's $1.2 billion payment to the state and for negotiating fees with outside attorneys.

Those issues have resulted in several complaints.

Hispanic rights group sues over military's border operation

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — A Hispanic rights group is hoping for quick action on a lawsuit to stop an anti-drug operation that the military and the Border Patrol have launched along the Rio Grande.

The Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund filed the lawsuit Wednesday on behalf of two residents of a colonia.

MALDEF asked U.S. District Judge George Kazen of Laredo to halt immediately a military operation that aims to build or improve 240 miles of roads and to build helicopter landing pads.

"We want the court to look at it as quickly as possible to stop the construction that is already under way," said Cynthia Cano, an attorney for MALDEF in San Antonio.

"The environment, once you lose it, it's lost," Ms. Cano said. The project is intended to make it easier for the Border Patrol to reach remote areas along the Rio Grande. Targets of the operation are drug smugglers as well as undocumented immigrants and bandits who prey on them.

The lawsuit was filed against the U.S. Department of Defense, the Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, which oversees the Border Patrol.

The suit claims roads to be built in the targeted construction zone will adversely affect the area's environment.

Ms. Cano said plaintiffs Maria Gonzales and Guadalupe Elizondo of the Rio Bravo colonia are also worried about having soldiers around their community. She noted that 18-year-old Esquivel Hernandez of Redford was shot to death last year by a Marine on an anti-drug patrol in the Big Bend area.

"We are ultimately concerned about the use of that infrastructure," the attorney said.

Also suing to stop the project are the Rio Grande International Study Center and rancher David Brask, according to Ms. Cano. They are represented by environmental attorneys from Austin.

Another Hispanic organization may join the lawsuit, according to Larry Dovalina, president of a local chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Dovalina said his organization will ask the national LULAC organization to join the lawsuit.

"We expect the same process that all state, local and county agencies follow for a project to apply to the federal government," Dovalina said.

Maureen Bossch, a spokeswoman for Joint Task Force Six, which oversees joint military-law enforcement operations, said she had not seen the lawsuit, but she defended the roads project as environmentally safe.

"They spend a lot of time, money and effort to ensure that they comply with all the environmental regulations," she said. "If this project were not environmentally sound, the military wouldn't be doing it."

Clinton confident Jordan, ambassador Richardson arrange jobs for intern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drawing intense scrutiny from Whitewater prosecutors, longtime presidential confidant Vernon Jordan and U.N. Ambassador Bill Richardson arranged jobs for a young woman who alleges in secretly taped conversations that she had an affair with President Clinton and then was urged to lie about it.

Officials confirmed there was evidence at the White House showing that Monica Lewinsky, who was an intern in 1995 to Clinton's chief of staff, checked in several times to the Oval Office to visit the president's private secretary after Lewinsky left her White House job and went to the Pentagon. The officials said Lewinsky and the secretary were friends.

Clinton denied both the affair or that he encouraged Lewinsky, now 24, to lie as Whitewater prosecutors Wednesday subpoenaed the White House for all documents on Lewinsky.

The leader of the Whitewater team, independent counsel Kenneth Starr, planned to answer reporters' questions today outside his downtown Washington office.

The investigation was prompted when one of Ms. Lewinsky's co-workers, former White House staffer Linda Tripp, provided Starr with dozens of taped conversations, some in which Ms. Lewinsky alleged an affair with Clinton and recounted conversations she allegedly had with Clinton and Jordan about denying the relationship, lawyers said.

Newsweek magazine reported in a special release Wednesday that Starr's office arranged a sting operation with Tripp and tried unsuccessfully to get Ms. Lewinsky to participate in a sting against Jordan. Newsweek, NBC and The Washington Post reported Tripp was wired by the FBI for the secret taping of a meeting in recent days with Ms. Lewinsky.

"There is not a sexual relationship," Clinton said firmly in a White House interview with PBS' Jim Lehrer. "I did not ask anyone to tell anything other than the truth."

His wife, Hillary, said she did not believe the allegations.

"Certainly I believe they're false. Absolutely," the first lady said.

She said the allegations were "a continuation of a lot of the political accusations and attacks my husband has been subjected to."

The arrangements for Ms. Lewinsky to get a new job were made in the past few months as she was being pulled in as a witness in the Paula Jones sexual harassment case against Clinton. Ms. Lewinsky prepared an affidavit denying an affair with Clinton.

Tripp's tape recordings of Lewinsky began last summer, after Clinton attorney Robert Bennett suggested Tripp wasn't telling the truth about another allegation regarding Clinton. Tripp said another White House staffer, Kathleen E. Willey, had confided that she had stepped from the Oval Office into a private office with Clinton and that the president kissed and fondled her.

Ms. Lewinsky's attorney, William Ginsburg, said Wednesday that "at this time, she stands by her" affidavit denying the affair. Later, however, Ginsburg suggested in a television interview that her account could change, noting that Starr has the authority to grant immunity to Lewinsky in exchange for her cooperation in the investigation.

Women's Forum seeking nominations for annual awards

AMARILLO — The Amarillo Women's Forum is seeking nominations for the annual Distinguished Service Awards. The purpose of the Distinguished Service Award is to honor outstanding women who have helped shape the development of the Texas Panhandle through their contributions of talent and skill. finance, education, health care, law, science, volunteerism and other fields.

Nominees must be Texas women who are legal residents of the top 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle and have not previously received this award. The forum encourages people to re-nominate women who were nominated in previous years.

Winners of the Distinguished Service Award will be chosen on the basis of an individual's significant impact on the Panhandle of Texas through their local communities. An anonymous panel of judges representing the Panhandle will select recipients on the basis of their lasting contributions and achievements.

The deadline for nominations is Feb. 28. Presentations of the Distinguished Service Awards will be made during a luncheon on April 18 at the Amarillo Country Club.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Big question mark
hangs over Amtrak

President Harry Truman once said, "Children and dogs are as necessary to the welfare of the country as Wall Street and railroads."

A great number of Texans apparently put railroads in the same, must-have category. Nearly 60 percent of those who responded to my annual questionnaire said they believe it serves our national interest to maintain rail passenger service. What follows are some of their comments.

From San Antonio: "I would really hate to see Amtrak fold because it is an interesting way to travel."

From Lockhart: "The states, as well as the federal government, need to be involved in keeping passenger rail viable. I was glad to see the state of Texas step up to the plate to keep Amtrak's Eagle line running."

From Selma: "The United States is far behind most other developed countries when it comes to convenience. Sooner or later, we must have fast, efficient passenger rail service."

From Longview: "I'm all for Amtrak, but it should be required to be profitable. Government should not provide a subsidy for this service."

From Wake Village: "It certainly would serve our national interest to have an efficient, reliable rail passenger service. Amtrak isn't there yet."

From Kaufman: "The unions and liability lawyers and all the others who are feeding off of Amtrak's government underwriting are going to have to start living in the real world with the rest of us. Amtrak should only keep going if it's competitive."

From Ballinger: "The fact that most people get around by automobile isn't the result of free enterprise, but the result of massive government support of travel by auto in the form of building highways and interstates. This was done at the expense of all taxpayers, including taxpaying companies such as railroads. It is no more wrong to subsidize Amtrak than it is to use tax revenues to build highways."

From Ennis: "I want to live long enough to see high-speed rail service between all of Texas' major cities."

From Idalou: "I can't believe we'd even think of letting Amtrak go down the tubes. We live in a huge state. We need to be talking about more transportation options, not less."

From Tomball: "We need to be as careful with our railroad tracks as we are in keeping our highways up. It's a lot easier to keep something going than to start again from scratch should that become necessary."

From Flower Mound: "If we can all pitch in a little to build an airport, what's wrong with pitching in a little to keep Amtrak going?"

From San Marcos: "Maybe we can get along without Amtrak, but I doubt anybody in Washington is arguing that we can get along without rail freight lines. Don't they run on the same tracks? We wouldn't build and maintain an interstate just for truck haulers."

When Congress set up Amtrak 26 years ago, it imposed financial burdens that no enterprise, regardless of how well run, could maintain indefinitely.

Reform legislation enacted last fall gives Amtrak a fighting chance. It encompasses what Amtrak needs: contract and liability reform and closer accountability. It also calls on Amtrak to put its house in order or face the consequences.

A passenger rail system could provide mobility for those who don't drive; it also could provide another travel option by connecting city or state feeder lines to airports and points of interest.

Congress has given Amtrak the chance for a new start. Passenger rail is poised to evolve once again into an enjoyable and affordable way for Texans and all Americans to travel.

It just comes naturally, that's why!

It's trivial, I know. What can I say ... some of us are a little more trivial than others.

And with that said ... written, whatever - I would now like to take this time to address a little bit of a "dressing" habit that I have, so that I may at least inform my husband, for the record, about the age-old philosophy behind:

Changing clothes five times prior to morning departure!

You see, he just doesn't get it. Can't say as I do, either. I've never really sat down and tried to verbalize why I feel the need to change outfits half a dozen times before I leave in the morning. I just try to ignore his joking about it. But I do want you to know:

I don't do it every single morning. It certainly isn't a requirement for me. (I won't have to check into a psych unit if I don't get to change my clothes several times a morning.)

As a matter of fact, I'd really rather skip the whole process. But, unfortunately, I have this innate desire to make sure I FEEL like I'm dressed in a way that I feel comfortable. (Exception to the rule: when I'm really late, putting the first thing on and leaving it on is always preferable.)

I'm not even saying that what I end up wearing as I'm walking out the door is the best thing in the world. Oh contraire, mon frere.

And no, you don't have to have a ton of clothes to get into this habit, although I'm sure it would make it easier. It's just a habit, okay? I'll explain.

I wake up. I wonder why I have I'm so tired even though I got 8 hours of sleep. I go to the bathroom. I say hello to my cat, my two dogs. I kick my dogs as they try to come into the bathroom and let all the warm air escape from the room because of the shower my husband is taking.

(This could take all day. Fast forward to me getting dressed.)

I go to the closet and think about a potential ensemble. A couple of things I take into consideration ... do I have an interview today? How am I feeling ... am I in a dress mood? Usually not. What's the weather going to be like? It's winter. The answer is cold. What have I not worn already this week? What's comfortable yet nice enough for work? I wish I had more clothes. Ah, what jeans should I wear? And then I pick something and try it on.

I almost always never wear what I first put on. For some reason, it doesn't look right. It doesn't fit how I feel, or the mirror says it's making me look bigger than I think I am. Great. Just what I don't need ... a mirror that tells the truth. So I take it off. And generally, I hang that first outfit up.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Jan. 22, the 22nd day of 1998. There are 343 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

Twenty-five years ago, on Jan. 22, 1973, the Supreme Court handed down its Roe vs. Wade decision, which legalized abortion, using a trimester approach.

On this date:

In 1901, Britain's Queen Victoria died at age 82.

In 1917, President Wilson pleaded for an end to war in Europe, calling for "peace without victory." (By April, however, America was also at war.)

In 1922, Pope Benedict XV died; he was succeeded by Pius XI.

In 1938, Thornton Wilder's play

"Our Town" was performed publicly for the first time, in Princeton, N.J.

In 1953, the Arthur Miller drama "The Crucible" opened on Broadway.

In 1957, suspected "Mad Bomber" George P. Metesky, accused of planting more than 30 explosive devices in the New York City area, was arrested in Waterbury, Conn.

In 1968, the comedy show "Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In" premiered on NBC.

In 1970, the first regularly scheduled commercial flight of the Boeing 747 began in New York City and ended in London some 6 1/2 hours later.

In 1973, former President Johnson died at age 64.

Clinton publicizes upcoming agenda

To the chronic frustration of the opposition party, the president, every president, has a built-in advantage in putting his proposals at the head of the agenda.

They may not stay there, but they start there. That's why President Clinton is one up, or better, as he and now the long recessed Republican Congress present competing ideas for action in 1998.

The Republicans shouldn't take it personally. The same scenario has played the other way in prior rounds, when they held the White House and Democrats ran Congress.

The uneven rivalry is never more evident than in the weeks leading up to the State of the Union address: Clinton will deliver his Tuesday night to Congress and an every-network television audience.

Then the Republicans get their TV response time, separate and not close to equal. The out-party has been trying for two decades to find formats that will make their quasi-State of the Union talks into more than routine replies.

It hasn't worked yet, after the drama, setting and audience of the president's major speech of the year.

The Republicans have been trying to catch up in advance, with tax, budget and education plans to counter Clinton's succession of proposals, essentially previewing his Jan. 27 address.

The long congressional recess, 2 1/2 months, worsened their disadvantage by yielding the Washington stage to Clinton. With 535 lawmakers scattered for the holiday, and some GOP factions differing with others on what to do, the White House edge widened.

The practice of delivering, or more often leaking, State of the Union proposals in advance has been standard procedure for Republican as well as Democratic presidents. But Clinton has made an art of preemptive proposals, and of shifting his stance when the opposition found an issue too potent to withstand.

He did so to endorse legislation to rein in the Internal Revenue Service, passed by the House, soon to become a Senate Republican boasting point, at about tax time in an election year.

He boasts of balancing the budget, and he began the process with his politically distasteful economic plan of 1993, enacted over unanimous GOP opposition. But in 1995, he resisted the Republican plan for a five-year timetable to end deficit spending, and later revised his own budget to embrace the 2001 deadline. That's moot now that a surging economy has the budget approaching balance ahead of that schedule.

"Everybody is talking about what to do with the surplus," he told a Democratic fund-raising dinner Tuesday night. "You know, nobody else would talk like this. ... So, it may be old-fashioned, but if I might modestly suggest, let us balance the budget first."

He does want to spend more on day care, education, college student aid, expanding the Peace Corps, and other items in his succession of pre-State of the Union proposals.

The most sweeping of them is his call to open

Medicare to people under 65 for the first time - 62 for retirees, 55 for people who lose their jobs and their insurance - with premiums the White House said would cover most of the cost.

Clinton said his plan "will not increase the deficit or wreck the Medicare trust fund," which will have to be shored up anyhow. GOP critics say it would add unmanageable numbers and expenses to a program already facing financial trouble.

"It is the right thing to do," Clinton said. "It's a Democratic program, within the constraints of fiscal discipline, and I hope you'll support that."

Republicans, meanwhile, were proposing tax cuts, in varying versions.

One plan would reduce taxes by about $200 billion over the next 10 years, and pay down the national debt by another $200 billion, using the budget surpluses now projected.

Another outbids that idea, seeking a trillion dollar tax cut.

There are GOP plans for education tax breaks and the conversion of programmed federal aid into grants to the states. There's a House GOP proposal to hire 100,000 new teachers with federal aid, cost to be covered by cutting other programs.

Republican National Chairman Jim Nicholson complains that GOP proposals are being virtually ignored by "the elite news media" which has given extensive coverage to Clinton's plans.

That's not elite, it's inevitable. The president has the platform now. Republicans can reclaim theirs when Congress reconvenes Jan. 27. They've got the votes to counter, change or scrap what Clinton's been offering.

PIRATE PRIDE & LEFORS NEWS

This Issue of the Pirate Pride is Dedicated to the Memory of.....
D.J. Shaw

My memories of D. J. Shaw
Mr. Alvis

D. J. was an active 6th grade student in Lefors Schools. He was a very handsome young man with many friends. He usually had a big smile on his face and was friendly with students of all ages.

From announcing the football games and watching the workouts, I found D. J. to be a gifted athlete who worked hard in practice and gave his very best in the games. As attested by his grades, he showed good achievement in his academic subjects. He was a fine young man and will be missed by all of us in Lefors.

Classmates Memories of D.J. Shaw

Katie Miller
staff writer

In a recent interview with a few of D.J. Shaw's sixth grade classmates, they shared their memories of him with me. These are just a few of the things they shared:

"D.J. was the best friend in the world to me. He was always there for me. He always stood up for me when ever I needed him to. I will always rember our good times we shared together. DJ was my best friend and I will always remember him." Jesse Soto

Some of the girls in D.J. class said they will always rember his sense of humor in class, "he always made me laugh" stated Katie Barnes. "He always had a really big smile on his face and loved to give people a hard time." Savaha Smith.

D.J. was a really good friend to everyone he will always be remberd by his sixth grade classmates and his teacher Mrs. Fry. The students in D.J. class had many memories of D.J. but I think the best memory of him was his sense of humor and his "BIG SMILE".

He was not only my brother he was my friend. I loved him and will keep his memory in my mind, heart, and soul. He gave me a lot of good memories to love. I hope that he is going to enjoy himself in heaven.

His Brother
Richard T. Thigpen

D.J. was my heart and soul, as all my children are. But as an individual he was my SECOND hellion. He lived his life his way, to the max. As fast as he could go, always pushing that envelope with after-burners on. Just as his oldest step-brother and my oldest son Justin. Together they could age any parent one hundred years in a day. But I wouldn't have changed any of them, just hang on to them for the ride and hope to be the anchor they needed. He filled my life and continues too. I loved him then, I love him now and yearn for the day when I'll see him again and he'll worry me once again with his wild and crazy ways. I miss you.

I'll love you forever Son,
Your Dad- Cal

How do I begin to talk about D.J.? He was my best friend and a constant joy at home. He had a way with me that no one else has ever had. I hope that every mom remembers that our children are only ours to borrow and there are no guarantees with life that we will have them tomorrow. I will miss my hundred kisses and telling him every day twice a day I love him with all my heart and soul. There is a special angel watching over me now.

I love you D.J.,
Mommy

His Journey's Just Begun

Don't think of him as gone away- his journey's just begun. Life holds so many facets- this earth is only one. Just think of him as resting from the sorrows and the tears In a place of warmth and comfort where there are no days and years. Think how he must be wishing that we could know today How nothing but our sadness can really pass away. And think of him as living in the hearts of those he touched... For nothing loved is ever lost- and he was loved so much.

Remembering....

Shelly Murray

He was pretty cool to be around. I will miss him a lot because he was good at sports and boy he did look good, (especially in his jeans). I will never forget him. Brittney Gilbert- 7th grade

I remember him as a good person to talk to and be around. I don't think of him as gone I think of him as still here. Jennifer Brown- 9th grade.

D.J. was one of my friends, he wasn't scared to do anything. We would dare him to do something and he would do it. I guess you could say that D.J. was daring. He was one of the best friends a person could ever have. Eddie Soto- 10th grade

My memories of D.J. Shaw is he was a really easy person to get along with. I will always remember his big smile. I remember him always wanting to ride around in my car and he would always say "turn up the music". I really enjoyed him going with me because he always put me in a good mood. Katie Miller- 11th grade.

I will always remember D.J. making everyone laugh. I'll never forget his humorous attitude. Shelly Murray- 11th grade

D.J. was always a little on the wild side, but that was what made him so great. I didn't really know that much, but it didn't take that much to get to know how he was. Everyone will miss him no matter how little they knew. Angie Davenport- 12th grade

Rick Thigpen was in an accident Sunday January 4, and was taken to Columbia Medical Center in Pampa where he was treated for cuts, abrasions, bruises, and had surgery to repair a broken leg.

Rick was released from the hospital Sunday January 11, but will require several more surgeries in the next couple of years.

Best Way To Catch A Man Is To Lure With Rod And Reel

DEAR READERS: I recently printed a letter from "Willing Wallflower in Arizona," a woman who asked me to put out the word to men that the way to attract women is to dance with them.

To my delight, I received this clever rebuttal:

Abigail Van Buren
 SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR ABBY: All my life I have loved fishing, as do most other men I know. It is exciting, fun and great exercise. Couples fishing together are so romantic. When I see a woman who can fish with a man, I'm instantly fascinated by her — and so are my friends.

Why, then, are women who can fish so hard to come by? Women are supposed to be charming, romantic and good companions. Fishing is all of that. Yet most women are "dancers" who say, "I don't fish."

I thought women liked attracting men. I know some people say women are dense. But this fact cannot escape anyone's attention: A woman can attract men by going fishing.

Will you please put out the word for us and tell women how sexy and attractive they are when they're fishing?

WAITING WITH BAITED HOOK IN NEVADA

DEAR WAITING: I receive letters every day from women who complain about how hard it is to meet men. Women, now you have heard it from the source! Get off the dance floor and onto the lake, river or ocean. You won't even have to take lessons. My experts tell me that fishermen love to tie knots. With the right bait, there's no telling what you might reel in! Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: I am sending you a poem I wrote in 1962 when our twins were born. I thought that since you are a twin, you would appreciate it.

AL WILLIS, ARLINGTON, TEXAS

DEAR AL: You thought right. I'm printing your poem to be enjoyed by those readers who were also blessed with "double trouble." Please forgive me, but I can't help but brag that my wonderful son, Edward Jay, and his lovely wife, Leslye, blessed our family with "double trouble" in 1994, a boy and a girl — the twins are named J.J. and

TWINS ARE DOUBLE TROUBLE
 by Al Willis

Twins are double trouble. They cry, they smash, they tear. They break and spill and bite and scratch And pull each other's hair.

They practice art upon the walls And yank electric plugs. And cookies, milk and something else Get ground into the rugs.

They drive their mother crazy, Their father is berserk, He's glad when Monday comes around, So he can go to work.

The diaper pails are filled again; The laundry tub's piled high. The doctor bills (and others, too) Are mounting to the sky.

So if you have a single child As placid as a dove, Contain your envy, if you can; We have a double love.

 Good advice for everyone — teens to seniors — is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61064-0447. Red Raiders end Big 12 losing streak

BASKETBALL

PAMPA — Pampa defeated Caprock, 52-43, in a junior varsity boys' game Tuesday night.

Corey Young and Gary Alexander led Pampa with 15 points each while Casey Owens added 13.

Pampa has an 11-8 record for the season. They are 4-2 in district. Pampa plays at Borger Friday night.

BRISCOE — Curt Smith scored 20 points as Fort Elliott downed Miami, 56-48, in non-district action Tuesday night.

Blake Hurst had 13 points and Marshall Flowers 12 for Miami.

Clay Zybach chipped in 10 points for the Cougars.

Fort Elliott won the girls' game, 59-39.

Amanda Shields was high scorer for Fort Elliott with 17 points, followed by Carissa Dukes and Amber Estes 9 each.

Erin Locke had 10 points and Misty Manley 9 to lead Miami.

SOCCER

PAMPA — Victories against Caprock have been few and far between for the Pampa girls' soccer team. That all changed last weekend when Pampa shut out the Lady Longhorns, 4-0, in the Lubbock Tournament.

"We didn't beat Caprock once last year, so it's kind of nice to be able to do that," said Pampa coach Matt Gantz.

Pampa and Caprock are scheduled to play again in a District 5 match Feb. 3, starting at 4:15 p.m. in Amarillo.

FOOTBALL

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones reportedly is meeting with former San Francisco 49ers coach George Seifert today to discuss the team's vacant head coaching position.

Quoting a source it didn't name, The Dallas Morning News reported today that Jones and Seifert would be joined by Larry Lacewell, the team's pro and college scouting director.

Jones declined to comment on the report, but said he won't hire anyone to replace Barry Switzer until after the Super Bowl, because he plans to interview Green Bay offensive coordinator Sherman Lewis.

The New England Patriots also were reported to be interested in talking with Lewis about becoming their offensive coordinator. The Boston Globe and the Boston Herald said the team had approached Lewis through a third party.

Lewis told the Herald he has not been contacted by the team and has no intention of joining the Patriots.

NFL rules prohibit teams from discussing job possibilities with members of Super Bowl coaching staffs until after the game is played. Green Bay and Denver meet Sunday.

Jones said his plan to interview Lewis is unrelated to criticism recently from black assistant coaches that they aren't being considered for head coaching jobs.

HOCKEY

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Stars and Colorado Avalanche are developing an intense rivalry, marked by physical play and tough defense.

Wednesday night's game was a fitting example.

Joe Nieuwendyk scored twice and Darryl Sydor had a goal and two assists as the Stars remained unbeaten this season against their Western Conference rivals with a 3-2 victory.

"We're like two pit bulls fighting for turf," Stars coach Ken Hitchcock said. "It's become a very good rivalry, as good as us and Detroit."

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The Texas Tech Red Raiders got just what they needed to end a three-game Big 12 Conference losing streak.

Texas Tech got 31 points from Cory Carr, clutch free throw shooting from Rayford Young down the stretch and a strong second half from Cliff Owens, resulting in a 79-76 victory Wednesday night over Kansas State.

The victory was the first for Texas Tech (8-7, 2-3) since a 66-55 victory over Iowa State on Jan. 3 and, at least for the moment, boosts the morale of a slumping Raider team.

"This is very important for us," said Carr, who scored in double figures for the 36th consecutive game. "Our confidence was low, our self-esteem was low. Some people were pointing fingers. We pulled together tonight. Certainly any game you win at this point is a confidence booster for your team."

Kansas State (11-5, 2-4) suffered its fourth loss in five games.

With Tech leading 75-74, Kansas State fouled Young with 10.8 seconds to play, but he made both ends of a 1-and-1 to put the Red Raiders up by three.

Kansas State's Duane Davis hit two free throws to cut the lead to one point again with 4.7 seconds remaining, and the Wildcats fouled Young immediately.

The sophomore guard from Pampa iced the game by hitting two more foul shots with 3.9 seconds to play.

"We just didn't make the plays down the stretch when we needed to," Wildcats coach Tom Asbury said. "We have to stop doing dumb things. We had our opportunities, and we didn't make any plays, and we didn't have an answer for Carr."

Aaron Swartzendruber led Kansas State with 21 points. Shawn Rhodes added 15 points, and Davis and Manny Dies added 13 points apiece.

Dies, the Big 12 player of the week, did not start because of disciplinary reasons, having arrived late for practice Monday.

Texas Tech struggled through the first half, shooting 35 percent. A 15-4 run midway through the second half finally lifted the Raiders, who shot 67 percent after halftime.

"I'm very proud of our team, especially in the second half," Tech coach James Dickey said. "Our team really responded, made some big plays, did a great job defensively, and played with confidence. We shot the ball well in the second half, and that makes a big difference in the ballgame."

Carr was one of three Raiders scoring in double figures as Tech hit 55 percent from the field, including 57 percent in the second half.

Stan Bonewitz scored 14 points, including four 3-pointers, and Cliff Owens added 12 points, all in the second half.

PHS cagers test Borger's homecourt

PAMPA — The Pampa Lady Harvesters, going for their third consecutive win, take on the Borger Lady Bulldogs at 6 Friday night in Borger.

The Lady Harvesters will also be looking to avenge an earlier 47-34 loss to Borger.

Pampa, 9-12 overall, 3-5 in district, have back-to-back wins over Caprock (56-43) and Dumas (44-31).

The Lady Harvesters have picked up their scoring in the last two contests. Against Caprock, Pampa had three players scoring in double figures. Lavonne Evans led the way with 11 points while McKinley Quarles and Lisa Dwight had 10 each. Jordanna Young had 12 points and Quarles 10 in the win over Dumas.

Borger is 6-12 for the season and 2-5 in district. The Lady Bulldogs got off to a fast start in district, winning their first two games before falling on hard times. In their last game, Borger suffered a 59-52 loss at the hands of Caprock on Jan. 16.

Brandi Page (5-8 junior) and Megan Paige (5-9 freshman) have been carrying much of the scoring load for the Lady Bulldogs. Maggie Sauls, another 5-9 freshman, has also helped out.

Page (Brandi) had 16 points and Sauls 11 in the Dec. 16 over Pampa. Pampa did take a 6-5 first-quarter lead on Borger, but shooting problems led to the Lady Harvesters being down by nine (21-12) at halftime. Pampa never recovered from that second-quarter shooting slump.

PAMPA — The Pampa-Borger boys' clash on Dec. 16 was one of those basketball barnburners. The second meeting between the two teams Friday night in Borger is expected to be more of the same thing.

In the first meeting, Pampa jumped out to a 29-21 halftime lead and held off the Bulldogs down the stretch for a 58-54 win.

Pampa is 7-16 for the season and 1-5 in district. Borger is 11-9 overall and 3-3 in district.

Senior guard Reggie Briggs leads the Bulldogs in scoring. He had 17 points in the loss to Pampa.

Junior guard Shawn Young is averaging 12 points per game coming off the bench for the Harvesters. Young had 21 points in the win against Borger.

Colorado takes win over Baylor

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Baylor coach Harry Miller and his Bears, undefeated in Big 12 play going into the Colorado game, knew Kenny Price could shoot from the outside but they were in for a surprise.

Price sparked two key runs and scored 23 points — 15 from long range — to lead Colorado to an 84-71 over Baylor Wednesday night.

The surprise was Marlon Hughes' 3-for-4 shooting from outside and 20-point scoring.

"We knew Price could shoot outside. But Hughes hurt us from the perimeter and we weren't expecting that," Miller said.

Takedown Club

Local gymnasts compete at Lubbock meet

LUBBOCK — Team Pampa gymnasts recently participated in a USA Gymnastics Junior Olympic meet in Lubbock. The meet was a qualifier for Level 7 and 8 gymnasts to the North State Semi-Finals meet and an Invitational for Levels 4-6.

Abby Cavalier and Erin Coffey competed in Level 8 for the first time. Level 8 is one of the top levels in Junior Olympic competition. Coach Kristi Fatheree said both girls had very good competitions and qualified to the North State meet already.

Cavalier competed in the 13-year old group and finished second in All Around with a 33.25 total score. Her solid performance on uneven bars earned her first place with an 8.8. She was second in floor exercise, 8.6; second on balance beam, 8.2 and second on vault, 7.65.

Coffey was entered in the 12-year old age group and finished first in All Around with a 32.55. She earned first place on vault, 8.0; first on bars, 7.3; first on beam, 8-7, and first on floor exercise, 8.55.

Participating in the Invitational portion of the meet, Jaclyn Spearman and Alyssa Bromwell competed in their first Level 6 meet. Coach Fatheree said both girls had very good performances and won first place All Around in their age groups. Spearman won first on floor exercise, 8.9; first on vault, 8.7; first on balance beam, 8.3 and fourth on bars, 7.85 in the 10-year-old group. Her winning All Around score was a 33.75.

Bromwell competed in the 11-year-old age group. She won first on vault, 8.65; first on balance beam, 8.15; second on bars, 7.45; fifth on floor exercise, 8.05. Her winning score was a 32.20.

The Level 5 competition, Ashlee Ferguson and Amy Youree, had several personal bests. Both gymnasts received their first score of 9.0 on any event.

Youree finished second on floor exercise, 9.05; second on balance beam, 8.2; first on vault, 7.75; and third on bars, 7.65. Her All Around score was a 32.65 and was good for the silver medal in the 9 year olds.

Ferguson's All Around score was a 32.20, her best ever, and was also good for the silver. She received second on floor exercise, 9.0; third on bars, 8.0; fourth on vault, 7.7 and fourth on beam, 7.5 in the 10 year olds.

In Level 4 competition, Pampa was represented by Lacie Long and Brittany Warminski. Both girls had their best All Around scores ever.

Long received a ribbon for her 31.95 All Around. She also earned a blue ribbon for her outstanding floor exercise, 9.2; red for balance beam, 8.4; yellow for bars, 7.35 and yellow for vault, 7.0.

Warminski received a ribbon for her 29.25 All Around. She also had an excellent floor routine, 9.0, and received a blue ribbon. She earned a white ribbon for balance beam, 7.7, and yellow ribbons for vault and bars.

Pampa freshmen defeat Amarillo Caprock cagers

AMARILLO — Pampa defeated Caprock, 48-40, in a 9th grade boys' district basketball game earlier this week.

The Pampa freshmen are 5-10 for the season and 3-4 in district.

Kevin Schaub was high scorer for Pampa with 9 points. Bryce Jordan, Kenneth Reed and Shawn Strate followed with 7 points each. Also scoring were Undral Jernigan with 6 points, Steve Terry 5, Victor Brooks 4, Jared Allen 3 and Kirk George 2. Tanner Hucks didn't score, but had several assists.

"We're going to keep working hard on the fundamentals and try to get better.

We want to go out and play harder than our opponent," said Pampa coach Troy Bell. "When we do that, we'll always have a chance to win."

Level 4 competitors do not compete against other gymnasts. They earn ribbons based on their own personal performances.

Team Pampa gymnasts and other Gymnastics of Pampa students will be participating in a tumbling meet in Dumas on Jan. 24. The team will then head to Big Spring for another Level 4-8 meet.

Caprock won the B team game, 53-29.

Jonathan Munn had 9 points and Joey Tucker 7 to lead Pampa scoring.

Pampa's B team is 1-11 overall and 0-7 in district.

"These young men have come a long way," coach Bell said. "The record doesn't indicate it, but they are improving. You can't go by won-lost records, but by what you see. If they keep improving they're going to win some district games."

The Pampa teams play at Dumas on Saturday with the B game starting at 10 a.m. and the A game starting at 11:30 a.m.

Pampa defeated Caprock, 34-26, in a 9th grade girls' game earlier this week. Shanna Buck led Pampa in scoring with 13 points.

Lawsuit pits private property owners against state

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N.C. (AP) — For $5,000 down and a good credit rating, Charles Casteen thought he was getting a bargain seven years ago.

The condos at Shell Island weren't much, but they had a beautiful view of an empty beach, with Mason's Inlet hundreds of feet away. Now most of the beach is gone, swept away by an inlet that has spent the last century on the move.

The sea is held back only by a wall of sandbags less than 50 yards from the 169-unit hotel. Even that protection must be taken down by next fall.

Casteen and the other owners have sued the state, demanding that it abandon its 20-year ban on permanent seawalls. The ban is considered one of the nation's toughest because it favors public beach over private property.

"We have to do something or the building will be lost," said Kenneth Shanklin, an attorney who represents the hotel. "Our purpose is not to destroy coastal policy. We're trying to save our facility and that's it."

Regulators fear that seawalls will only move erosion problems elsewhere.

But Casteen, a former industrial plant engineer, said the hotel deserves protection since the owners didn't know about the potential problems. The owners also say they didn't know about a risk clause signed in 1981 by the hotel's developer.

banned but he said the message was clear: "We will not sacrifice the public beach for your private development."

The owners of the condo units that comprise the hotel filed their lawsuit Jan. 7 to have the state law declared unconstitutional. They also want a judge to force the state to permit a wall on the inlet.

Casteen said an exception for Shell Island would not set a precedent because the issue involves an inlet, not the oceanfront.

Shanklin said units that once sold for $80,000 to $120,000 have sold recently for $50,000 to speculators betting the hotel will be saved.

was built in 1985, about 3,000 feet of beach separated it from the inlet. The state's own map at the time showed the area was safe. The 1996 state map shows just the opposite.

The state Coastal Resources Commission is scheduled to hear a report on the situation Friday.

"To get into an oceanfront hotel for $5,000 was a hell of a good investment until the inlet got to us," Casteen said. "There are no wealthy people there.

Willard said as he gazed at the hotel and zipped his windbreaker against the cool January breeze. "It's nice to have a nice wide beach to walk on. With seawalls, there wouldn't be any beach at high tide."

The rules are designed so people like Willard could have a beach to use, said David Owens, an attorney and former director of the Division of Coastal Management who helped write the seawall ban. Developments were not

WTAMU faculty to hold recital

CANYON — West Texas A&M University's music and dance faculty will showcase their talents at the annual Faculty Grand Recital beginning at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30 in Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall.

The annual event is the finale to the Department of Music and Dance's career day for high school musicians. The Faculty Grand Recital is free and open to the public.

Music faculty will perform in solo and chamber settings, and this year's program will feature a dance number for the first time, according to Dr. Joseph Cox, professor of music and recital chairman.

"As always, we bill this program as a 'thank you' to all of our benefactors, patrons and those who support the department," Cox said.

The Harrington String Quartet will open the program. Cox, on trombone and accompanied by staff accompanist Karla Qualls on the piano, will perform "Sonata" by Stepan Sulek.

Dave Ritter, trumpet and associate professor of music, will perform "Sonata con Tromba" by Arcangelo Corelli, accompanied on the organ by Qualls.

Stanley Potter, piano and assistant professor of music, will perform "Two Preludes, Opus 23" by Sergei Rachmaninoff.

Crystal Campbell, instructor of dance, and Jerry Vizen, dance assistant, will perform a classical pas de deux to "Air" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Dr. Robert Hansen, tenor and professor of music, will perform "If I Sing" by Maltby and Shire, accompanied by Qualls on the piano.

Dr. Robert Krause, oboe and professor of music; Dr. Tina Carpenter, bassoon and assistant professor of music; and Robert Zimmerman, double bass and instructor of music, will perform "Concerto in G Major" by Johann David Heinichen, accompanied by Qualls on the harpsichord and Perri Morris on the cello.

Joe Ella Cansler, soprano and instructor of music, will perform "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" arranged by Margaret Bonds, accompanied by Qualls on the piano.

The WTAMU Jazz Quintet, featuring Ritter, trumpet; Doug Storey, tenor sax and assistant professor of music; Dr. Susan Martin Tariq, drums and assistant professor of music; E.P. Simmons, piano; and Inez Wyrick, bass, will close the recital with "The Theme" by Miles Davis.

Members of Mu Phi Epsilon and Tau Beta Sigma music sororities, Phi Mu Alpha and Kappa Kappa Psi music fraternities and students from the music therapy program assist with the production.

Following the Faculty Grand Recital, a reception sponsored by the Sybil B. Harrington College of Fine Arts and Humanities will be held in the Northern Hall Atrium.
