Winter projects spruce up Pampa parks for springtime

The City of Pampa's Parks Department is staying busy even in the cold of the winter. Parks employees made repairs on the sprinkler system at East Coronado Park behind the Coronado Hotel this week. A drip irrigation system is being installed in the park to accommodate the two dozen new trees that were recently planted along the south side of the hike and bike trail. The young Green Ash trees, grown in the department's own nursery, were planted along the newly overlaid trail to provide shade in the coming years for Pampans, said Parks Department Director Reed Kirkpatrick. A $50,000 grant was awarded to the department for the hike and bike trail, Kirkpatrick said. Employees will resume work on the trail in July, 1998 and continue into the fall with the project. Just under a mile of the trail was completed through the city's parks this last summer, he said. The parks department also recently completed the "McCullough Ave. median project," Kirkpatrick said. Twelve trees were planted and the ground has been landscaped at the median. A sprinkler system and drip irrigation system have been installed to accommodate the grass and trees.

Gangs subject of local meeting

By JEFF WEST
Staff Writer

"Sometimes parents expect teachers to do their jobs for them, or police officers," said Rev. Lyndon Glaesman, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. "If there is anyone who could be instrumental in helping solve this community problem it's the parents." The community problem he is referring to is gangs. He and his church are sponsoring a parent/adult conference on gangs March 28, at the church. Sessions will be conducted by Corporal Steve Powers of the Amarillo Police department who works with gangs there. Fred Courtney of the Pampa Police Department and Melissa Nichols who is the director of "The Hood" Ministry, at Victory Church in Amarillo, will also be on hand. Glaesman said Nichols often holds services on Amarillo Blvd. with members of several gangs meeting together to worship. Glaesman says parents are the most important link because they see the schoolbooks and their children's rooms and can see the signs of gang activity if they know what to look for. "The gangs in Pampa aren't very prevalent right now, I'll admit that, but they are going to be prevalent," Glaesman said. Glaesman said that Powers told him that the Panhandle is going to be one of the hot spots in the next three to five years. The gangs are moving from both the east and west coast to the middle of the country. Currently he says there are 115 recorded gangs in Amarillo. While he knows of only four or five in Pampa currently, he believes the problem will get worse here if nothing is done. In the conference, which he encourages all parents and grandparents to attend, the police officers will discuss current gang activity — how to identify gang graffiti, clothing, colors, etc., said Glaesman. He says there are ways to tell whether markings on school books is just teenagers mocking the gangs or signs of gang involvement. He said grandparents should See GANGS, Page 2

Lefors district obtains award

Improvements made in math and reading

Lefors Independent School District received a monetary award today, according to Tom Alvis Lefors ISD superintendent. The award for $500 was made as part of the Texas Successful Schools System run by the Texas Education Agency (TEA). The Lefors school district is among the 368 schools rated acceptable by the TEA to receive awards based on their comparable improved group. The amount of the award went from $500 to $5,000 based on student population. A total of $2.5 million was awarded to schools this year under the TSSAS program. The TEA used data from the Academic Excellence Indicator System, sometimes called the state's school report card. The awards for this year were based on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills or TAAS scores as well as standards for dropout and attendance rates. Schools that won the award in the acceptable category ranked in the top 25 percent of their group in TAAS scores for reading and math. The categories were based on several factors including the percentage of students identified as minorities. "We're proud to be receiving this award and are striving harder to win more in the future," Alvis said.

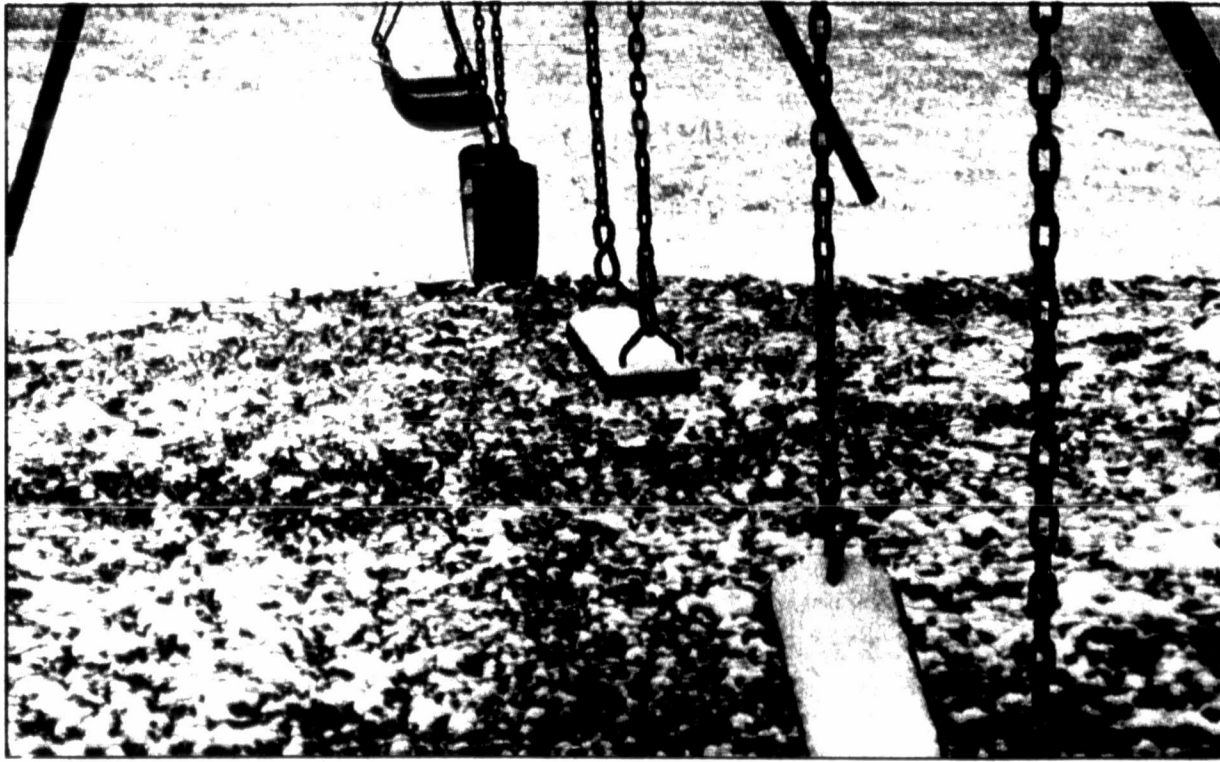

Sexual assault month events

By MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

"Standing Together" will be the theme for March's Sexual Assault Awareness Month. Members of the Crisis Coordinating Council began to organize related activities to promote awareness for the event at last week's regular meeting. Students in the Pampa ISD will be asked to participate in a March poster contest to promote awareness. The winner of the contest will have their picture put up on a billboard in town. Ann Hamilton of Tralee Crisis agreed to contact the school system regarding the contest. Appropriate forms will be sent to the schools in mid-March. Representatives from the council were selected to visit area schools to explain the contest and the idea behind the contest. Kim Davis of Juvenile Probation, Claire Ann Edwards, Panhandle Services Coordinator, Ann Hamilton and Janet Watts of CASA agreed to visit with students at Austin, Lamar, St. Vincent's and Travis. One more volunteer is still needed to visit with students at Wilson. Justice of the Peace Bob Munns will donate paper for the contest, Claire Ann Edwards offered to make copies of the form and the group discussed prizes for the poster contest. Jamilou Garren of Tralee volunteered to approach different organizations for prizes. Kim Davis said she would prepare green ribbons to promote public awareness for the month's activities. Before adjournment, a monthly report on Gray County domestic violence and sexual crimes cases was distributed. Thirty eight cases in Gray County were filed for the month of December — an increase of 17 cases compared to the 21 reported in November. Twenty seven domestic calls were made, without reports taken.

Oprah completes testimony today

AMARILLO, (AP) — A beef industry spokesman said in videotaped testimony today that he signed a release saying his comments on an Oprah Winfrey Show that included a segment on mad cow disease could be edited. But Dr. Gary Weber added that he did not read the release thoroughly, thinking it was merely a generic document. "I glanced over it," said Weber, a spokesman for the National Cattlemen's Beef Association. Weber also said that he had met with public relations personnel to prepare for his appearance on the show, had participated in a practice show and had watched it afterward. The April 16, 1996, show is the focus of a lawsuit by Texas cattlemen against Ms. Winfrey, her Harpo Productions company and vegetarian activist Howard Lyman. The cattlemen contend the talk show violated a state law against disparaging Texas agriculture and food products. Jurors heard testimony from Weber on Thursday that cows were not "round up and ground up" as was implied by Lyman during the show. Weber said the 10-minute segment on bovine spongiform encephalopathy was misleading because it didn't give all the facts. "This was the antithesis of a balanced show," he said. Weber said the imagery of cows eating cow parts is not fact. See OPRAH, Page 2

Instead, rendered cow had been added to feed before a mandatory ban went into place last year. He complained that Lyman had said cows eat cows and had said that mad-cow disease could make AIDS look like the common cold. "It still surprises me that somebody can grasp onto an issue like AIDS and integrate it into something like this," he said. The former USDA employee also said his comments were overrated and that he was frequently interrupted.
 "I've never been treated like that before," Weber said.
 He appeared on a second Oprah show because it was "imperative that we get the facts out."
 Weber said he spoke to Ms. Winfrey before taping began and that she told him: "We were not fair to you."

Ms. Winfrey testified for the third day on Thursday, growing visibly frustrated as subjects were reshaped. Several times she put her palms to her forehead and asked to review prior testimony. On two occasions, Judge Mary Lou Robinson told the plaintiffs' attorneys to limit questions to new information.
 Ms. Winfrey continued to spar with plaintiffs' attorney Joe Coyne. She told him the point of the show was to ask if mad-cow disease could occur in the U.S., not attack cattlemen.
 "I didn't know these men existed. Even with the attempt to muzzle me, and people like myself, I still feel I have the right to ask the question," she said.
 The cattlemen alleges Ms. Winfrey's show attempted to grab ratings with alarming statements. They are seeking more than $10 million in damages for the slump in cattle prices during the spring of 1996.

PCCA to present Aspen Wind Quintet in concert

Pampa Community Concert Association will present the Aspen Wind Quintet in concert at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 7, in M.K. Brown Auditorium.

Since winning the Naumberg Chamber Music Award in 1984, the quintet has brought wind chamber music to a par with fine string quartets. The quintet has been praised for its sophisticated and sensitive arrangements. Their repertoire includes Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, selections from the Renaissance and the Baroque periods plus new works by rock star Frank Zappa and jazz artist Paquito D'Rivera.

Attendance is by membership in Pampa Community Concert Association and, by reciprocal agreement, by membership in concert groups in Canadian, Borger and Hereford.

Aspen Quintet has played in the finest halls including Carnegie Hall, the Concertgebouw and St. Petersburg Philharmonic Hall. During a recent tour of Russia, the quintet presented concerts in major cities and Baltic republics at the invitation of Gosconcert and the United States State Department.

The group has given master classes at the Juilliard School, Hart Conservatory, Princeton and Stanford Universities and the Chautauqua Institution.

Members are Barli Nugent, flute; Robert Ingliss, oboe; Todd Levy, clarinet; Chris Komer, horn; and Susan Heineman, bassoon.

Texas to benefit from military projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton's line-item veto of 38 military construction projects did not make it through the House as lawmakers overwhelmingly voted to reverse his use of newly expanded veto powers.

Three of the projects valued at $22.5 million were at bases in Texas.

The House on Thursday voted 347-69 — well more than the two-thirds majority required for overrides — to go ahead with the projects despite Clinton's line-item veto of them last October in order to shave $287 million from a $9.2 billion military construction bill.

The Senate is expected to follow suit next week.

Lawmakers argued that Clinton carelessly abused the powers Congress voted him in 1996 to remove wasteful or unnecessary projects from large appropriations bills without having to veto the entire spending package. Many who had voted to give Clinton the expanded authority were rankled that he used it to cut spending in their home districts.

"When you voted for the line-item veto you didn't take a blood oath that anything that was vetoed, that you would go along with it," said Rep. W.G. "Bill" Hefner, D-N.C. "That's not the way our democracy works. This is a good bill."

Covering 24 states, Clinton's hit list eliminated four projects in California worth $28 million. Cut by Clinton was $20 million for a wharf at Virginia's Norfolk Naval Shipyard, $17.9 million for dredging and pier improvements at the Mayport Naval Station in Florida, $16 million for new rail track at Fort Carson, Colo., and $14 million for a flight simulation training facility at Kirtland Air Force Base, N.M.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Texas Editorials

By The Associated Press

A sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers: The Lasso (Texas Woman's University) on Tucker execution: On Feb. 3, Karla Faye Tucker is scheduled to be put to death by lethal injection.

She will be the second woman executed by the state of Texas since the Civil War. ...

Gov. George W. Bush has received criticism from proponents on both sides of the issue about whether Tucker's execution should be carried out. ...

Gov. Bush should not look at what is popular, but what the law declares.

If justice is to be equal and impartial, then Karla Faye Tucker should be executed. She was charged with a crime, found guilty in a trial of her peers and accordingly sentenced by what the law allows.

Arguments for sparing Tucker's life seem to center around the fact that "she has found the Lord."

What if Tucker were an African-American male and a practicing Muslim? Would there be as much fervent religious support under those conditions? Also, when did finding the Lord become reason enough for clemency or pardon?

It is very noble of Pat Robertson, founder of 700 Club and the Christian Broadcasting Network, to come to the defense of Tucker. He and his brethren should show support for all the converted convicts.

But this execution is more than finding salvation, more than gender, more than politics. This is a question of equality under the law. By following through on the execution, Gov. Bush shows the impartiality of the state justice system. ...

Those who are holding vigils for Tucker's pardon should spend some extra time in silence, and remembrance of the two people Tucker and her accomplice pick-axed to death for drug money.

Lubbock Avalanche-Journal on Clinton's poll numbers:

Americans seem confused and perplexed as to what they think, or should think, about the behavior of their president. They appear to hold certain attitudes that are actually contradictory.

A majority gives Mr. Clinton high marks for his performance in the White House.

A majority believes that he had an affair with former White House intern Monica Lewinsky and then told her to lie when asked about it.

A majority considers the president to be just as ethical as most other politicians.

A majority thinks he should not resign now because of the latest allegations involving Ms. Lewinsky.

A majority believes he should resign if he lied about the alleged affair.

A majority blames Mr. Clinton's enemies for creating the latest scandal.

Those, at least, are Americans' opinions as reflected in several polls over the past few days, as the Clinton presidency seemed to be in deep peril.

The attitude apparent among many Americans — that Mr. Clinton is no worse than other politicians — troubles us. What it suggests is that the citizens of this nation have become highly cynical about all elected officials.

Cynicism is a corrosive thing. It undercuts faith in our democratic system. It discourages people from participating in the process. Citizens who are qualified to vote but who become hardened in their attitudes tend not to vote. U.S. citizens turn out for elections in proportionately fewer numbers than almost any other democracy in the world.

A Rasmussen Research survey of 1,000 American adults that was conducted Jan. 24 pointed out the American ambivalence about politicians and their ethics. Rasmussen is a public opinion polling firm that conducts independent surveys on events in the news and on other topics.

The Jan. 24 poll indicated that 57 percent of Americans consider Mr. Clinton to be just as ethical as most officeholders. Only 36 percent considered him to be less ethical than other politicians. ...

Says Scott Rasmussen, president of the polling firm: "When it comes to ethics, the American people grade their politicians on a curve. In the minds of many, the only thing different about Bill Clinton is that he got caught."

If that is true, as it appears to be from polling results, our democratic system is in a sorry state indeed.

Let us hope that our collective national attitude is not nearly as cynical as the polls might have us believe.

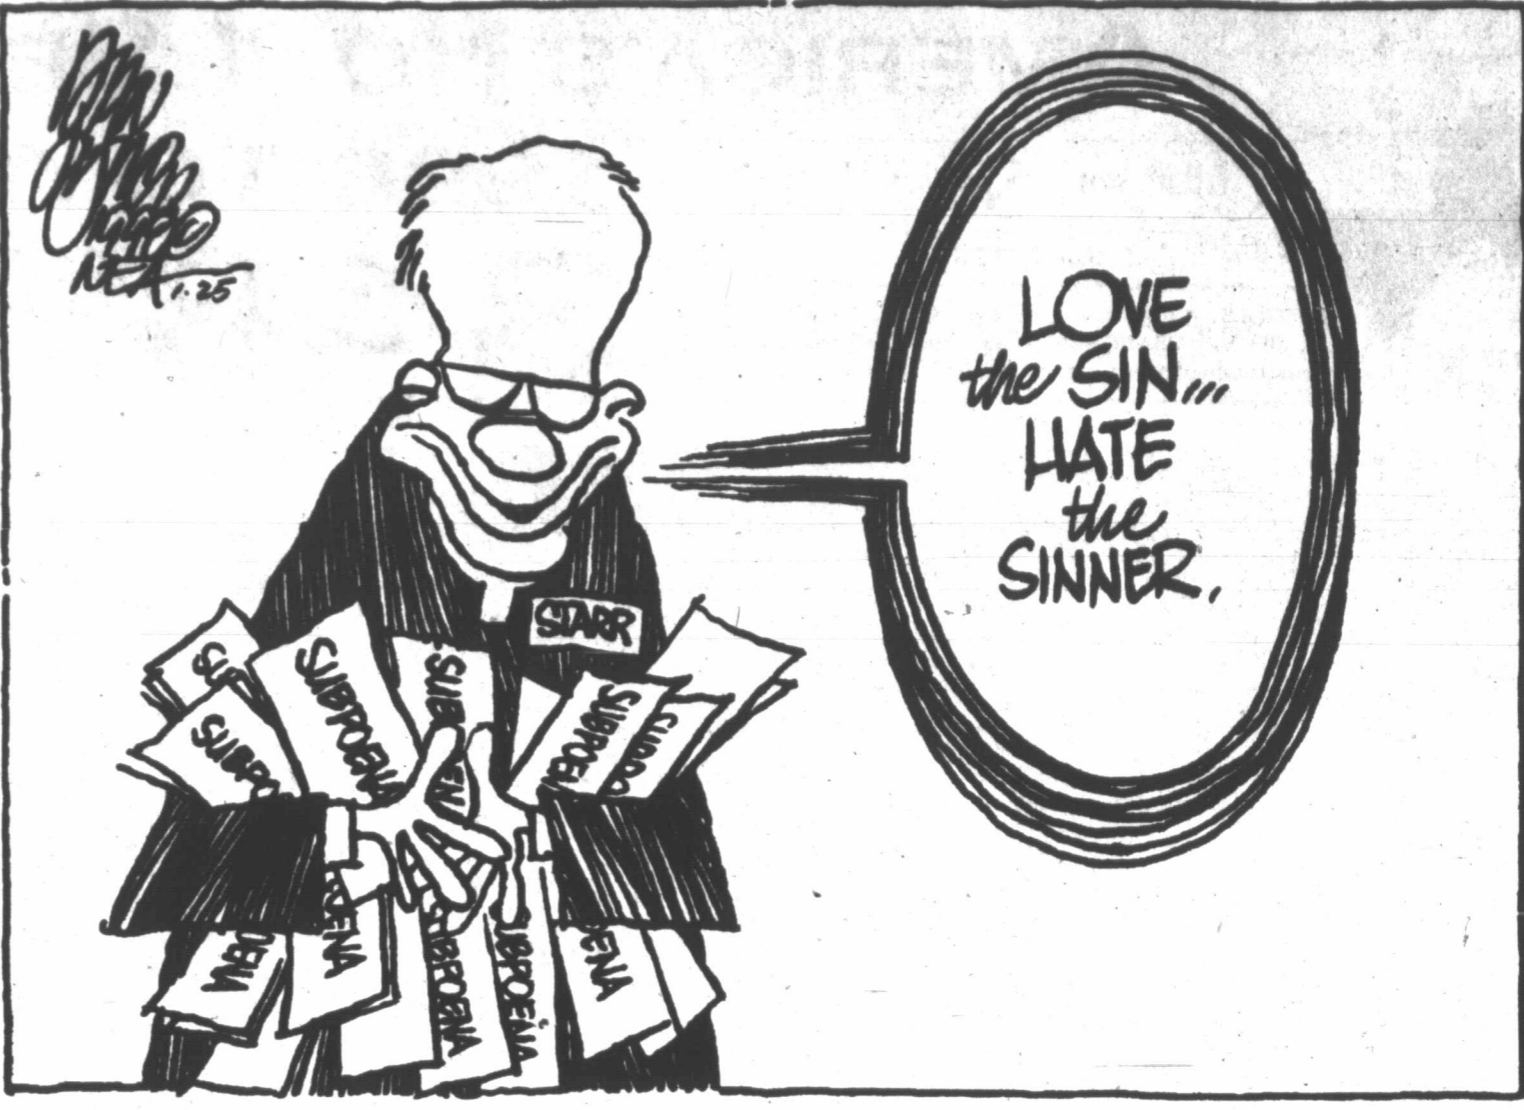

Let us hope that what most Americans appear to be thinking merely reflects a current state of confusion that will eventually be dispelled as the truth becomes known in this disturbing episode in our national history.

The Victoria Advocate on Clinton's State of the Union address agenda:

President Clinton's remarkable ability to make the best of whatever situation he finds himself in served him well Tuesday night, as he delivered a forceful State of the Union address in which he gave every indication of being a man in command and prepared to stay the course, no matter how furious the media firestorm surrounding the latest set of scandalous allegations about him becomes.

In the process of setting forth his ambitious agenda for the nation, he again set the stage for a confrontation with Republicans that the Republicans are very likely to lose.

...That's quite a grab-bag of goodies for various political subsets, and there's more, less clearly defined. It all adds up to an activist agenda for the federal government, one conservatives will deplore and liberals will feel is insufficient. Our own view is that it clearly reflects the president's desire to win the political game, and not much else.

Nursing mothers are ostracized

Restaurant owners frequently ask these people to leave their stores. Mall security guards scowl at them and shoot them from benches. And when members of this caste are seen in the park or on a bus they are often met with looks of disgust from passersby.

Yes, the world is a cold and brutal place when you are a nursing mother.

Fortunately, women who breast-feed their children in public have the law on their side. There is no law that forbids a woman from nursing her child outside the home, and thus far the courts have consistently upheld a mother's right to breast-feed in any place where she would otherwise have a right to be.

Nevertheless, 13 state governments have been compelled to pass laws that specifically affirm this right. In California, where such a law recently took effect, Gov. Pete Wilson said he was initially reluctant to sign the bill, thinking it unnecessary, but the grim reports of mothers being ousted from buses and restaurants persuaded him otherwise.

"By signing this bill, I am removing barriers of embarrassment, harassment and charges of indecent exposure when a mother breast-feeds her child in public," Wilson said in a statement.

Sara Eckel

Eckel is a nationally syndicated columnist.

"This legislation is needed, regrettably, to specifically clarify that breast-feeding is not something indecent and in fact is in the best health of the mother and child."

That last point was recently affirmed by the American Academy of Pediatrics, which this month revised its recommendations for how long a woman should breast-feed her child. It had previously recommended six months, now the AAP urges women to nurse for at least a year. This comes in light of findings that show that breast-feeding enhances a child's immune system and, according to a study published this month by the AAP, might even have an effect on school performance.

At present, few American women are meeting this requirement. Although 59 percent of American women breast-feed their child during infancy, only 22 percent continue to nurse after six months.

And who can blame them? In the United States, a mother who wishes to breast-feed her child must either ignore the cries of a hungry baby when outside of the home, or feed the child and be treated like a pariah, or cloister her self away until she can re-emerge in public as a decent, respectable citizen. Indeed, surveys cite societal disapproval as one of the main reasons why women stop breast-feeding.

"People are told to breast-feed, but it's always 'not in my living room.' It's cumbersome to believe you have to be behind closed doors or stay home just because your child is hungry," lactation consultant Janet Burrue told the Sacramento Bee.

It is as if we have forgotten what breasts are for, forgotten that their primary purpose is not to sell cars. But it's high time that we got over whatever discomfort a nursing mother might make us feel. We need to stop acting like eighth-grade boys and start doing everything we can to help women do what is best for their children.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Feb. 6, the 37th day of 1998. There are 328 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Feb. 6, 1952, Britain's King George VI died. His daughter, Elizabeth II, succeeded him.

On this date:

In 1756, America's third vice president, Aaron Burr, was born in Newark, N.J.

In 1778, the United States won official recognition from France as the nations signed treaties in Paris.

In 1788, Massachusetts became the sixth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1815, the state of New Jersey issued the first American railroad charter to John Stevens, who proposed a rail link between Trenton and New Brunswick. The line, however, was never built.

In 1895, baseball legend Babe Ruth was born in Baltimore.

In 1899, a peace treaty between the United States and Spain was ratified by the U.S. Senate.

In 1933, the 20th Amendment to the Constitution was declared in effect. The so-called "lame duck" amendment moved the start of presidential, vice-presidential and congressional terms from March to January.

In 1943, a Los Angeles jury acquitted actor Errol Flynn of three counts of statutory rape.

In 1959, the United States successfully test-fired for the first time a Titan intercontinental ballistic missile from Cape Canaveral.

In 1978, Muriel Humphrey took the oath of office as a U.S. senator from Minnesota, filling the seat of her late husband, former Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Ten years ago: Presidential hopefuls stormed through a final weekend of campaigning before Iowa's precinct caucuses, with a poll for the Des Moines Register giving Bob Dole the lead among Republicans and Dick Gephardt a narrow lead among Democrats.

Five years ago: Tennis Hall-of-Famer and human rights advocate Arthur Ashe died in New York at age 49.

One year ago: President Clinton sent Congress a $1.69 trillion budget for fiscal 1998, saying it would erase deficits by 2002 and for 20 years beyond. Though citing costly new programs and phantom savings, Republicans said they were ready to bargain.

Today's Birthdays: Former President Ronald Reagan is 87. Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor is 81. Actor Patrick Macnee is 76. Actor Rip Torn is 67. Actor Mike Farrell is 59. NBC news anchorman Tom Brokaw is 58. Singer Fabian Forte is 55.

Trie incident reignites controversy

Walter Mears
AP Special Correspondent

Meanwhile, in the other scandal, a fund-raising friend of President Clinton faces criminal charges of buying access at the top with illegal donations to the Democrats.

The political money system Yah Lin "Charlie" Trie is accused of using illicitly still is reaping millions in unregulated contributions to both the political parties.

Clinton still is urging reform, while helping Democrats raise the kind of donations he wants banned, saying his party can't surrender unilaterally to Republicans who take in more money anyhow.

There is to be a Senate vote by March 6 on the campaign finance legislation advocated by Clinton. It was stalled before by filibuster threats which had prompted a presidential threat to keep Congress in session until there was action.

The campaign finance controversy, under congressional investigation and political dispute for most of 1997, has been submerged lately by the more sensational, and personal case of intern Monica Lewinsky, and the covertly taped allegations that she had an affair with Clinton and he wanted her to cover it by lying under oath. The president has vehemently denied both.

That scandal is sometimes salacious, but simple. Sex, lies and secretly taped conversations don't carry the complexities of the campaign fund-raising cases.

A year ago, the illegal foreign donations the Democrats got in the 1996 campaign was the issue, targeted for televised congressional investigations with advocates of reform saying admitted abuses in fund raising would lead Americans to demand an overhaul of the system.

The Senate hearings didn't have the anticipated impact, despite the memo that showed Clinton's hand in offering major Democratic donors a night in the Lincoln Bedroom, despite the White House coffees, despite the Republican promise of evidence that China had tried to buy influence in the election campaigns of 1996, which never was proved. The House investigation is still on, but hardly explosive.

Nothing, in any of it, to match the uproar of the Lewinsky case. With that one unfolding, the Trie indictment and arrest were reported dutifully but without the barrage of coverage it would otherwise have produced on television and in print.

Yet campaign finance abuses of the past and possible changes for the future are far more significant than a sex scandal in their impact on the government and the democratic process.

One of the 15 counts against Trie and a business associate charges that they "purchased access to high-level government officials in the United States by contributing and soliciting contributions to the Democratic National Committee."

No names, but no missing the meaning. Between the spring of 1994 and the late summer of 1996, Trie was at 10 dinners, lunches or coffees with Clinton, four at the White House. He was at four where Vice President Al Gore appeared. Trie arranged three White House tours for his business associates and got their photographs taken with Clinton.

His friendship with Clinton dates back some 20 years, to his days as a Little Rock restaurant operator, before he set up his international trading corporations with ties to Indonesia and China.

There's more to come in the campaign money investigation, a Justice Department operation involving 120 lawyers and FBI agents. Atty. Gen. Janet Reno called the Trie indictment "an important step forward in addressing campaign finance abuses," cases in which she has refused Republican demands for a special prosecutor.

There's word that the Buddhist temple where Gore attended a fund-raiser that yielded illegal donations is an indictable target of the investigators.

Trie donated or raised some $645,000 for the Democratic National Committee, all of it refunded as tainted or at least questionable foreign money. Foreign donations are illegal, although legally resident aliens can contribute. For a year, the Democratic committee, defensive after refunding a total of some $3 million in suspect donations, had barred contributions from anyone except American citizens, but that self-restriction has been lifted.

So has the Democrats' voluntary $100,000 limit on unregulated donations, the soft money that can be given to the parties without the strict ceilings applied to direct campaign contributions. They said it was essential to stay competitive with the Republicans, whose national party was $10 million better off going into the campaign year.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MESHA AND THE MOABITE STONE

MESHA WAS THE MOABITE KING WHO ERECTED WHAT HAS BECOME KNOWN AS "THE MOABITE STONE." THIS STONE WAS RAISED TO COMMEMORATE THE SUCCESSFUL REVOLT OF THE KINGDOM OF MOAB, LED BY ITS KING MESHA, AGAINST THE KINGDOM OF ISRAEL AFTER THE DEATH OF KING AHAB IN BATTLE. (II KINGS 3:5) EVER SINCE THE DAYS OF OMRI, KING OF ISRAEL, MOAB HAD BEEN PAYING TRIBUTE TO ISRAEL. THE BIBLE TELLS US THIS TRIBUTE AMOUNTED TO 100,000 LAMBS AND 100,000 RAMS WITH ALL THEIR WOOL! (II KINGS 3:4) THIS WAS A COSTLY PAYMENT, YEAR AFTER YEAR, AND WHEN KING AHAB WAS KILLED AND ISRAEL DEFEATED IN BATTLE KING MESHA, OBVIOUSLY, DECIDED THAT THIS WAS THE BEST TIME TO REFUSE TO PAY THE TRIBUTE! WHEN JEHOHAM, THE SON OF AHAB, BEGAN HIS REIGN, HE INQUIRED OF THE KING OF JUDAH, JEHOASHAPATH, IF HE WOULD AID HIM IN CONQUERING MOAB, AND WHEN HE GOT AN AFFIRMATIVE ANSWER HE SET OUT WITH A THIRD KING, THE KING OF EDOM, TO INVADE MOAB! THE CAMPAIGN MAKES INTERESTING READING (II KINGS 3:5-27) AND EVEN INVOLVES THE PROPHET ELISHA AND BOTH THE GULLIBILITY AND THE GREED FOR LOOT OF THE MOABITES! ALTHOUGH MOAB WAS DECISIVELY DEFEATED IN BATTLE, THE ISRAELITES DID NOT DEMAND ANY FURTHER TRIBUTE BUT WENT BACK TO ISRAEL—KING MESHA ERECTED THE STONE AND CALLED HIS REVOLT A SUCCESS—WHICH IT WAS, FOR ALL INTENTS AND PURPOSES!!

Minister's musings...

After much prayer as to the subject of this article, I decided to share my heart's burden for my "home town" Pampa, Texas. I have loved Pampa since I was a small child and I will continue to do so until the day I breathe my last breath. It is because of my Love for Pampa that I have a dream for our beloved city.

Do you know what Pampa needs most? Most say jobs, new businesses or financial growth. As nice as each of those would be, that is not what Pampa needs most. Pampa needs to see the Christian community gathered together in true loving unity under the cross of Jesus Christ. I don't mean that we need more churches. Ever since I can remember, Pampa has had plenty of churches. I'm not even saying that we need more preachers. Sometimes we preachers make it even harder to be unified. I'm not even pointing out that Pampa needs more Christians. Pampa's greatest need isn't more churches or more preachers or even more Christians. Its greatest need is to witness UNITY among the churches, preachers and Christians that it already has.

I hear so many believers from different churches right here in Pampa talking about the need for REVIVAL. I agree! Many churches pray every Sunday for a mighty move of God's holy hand on our land so that it might be healed. But how can we be so concerned about REVIVAL and so unconcerned about UNITY. I truly believe that until the Christians in Pampa begin "coming together" in large numbers, God will withhold REVIVAL.

I know of a few attempts being made to draw Pampa's believing community together "under the same roof". (Pampa Area Ministerial Alliance's 5th Sunday Community Workshop Service; 1st Sunday Praise and Worship) I have heard of a few other gatherings of 2-4 churches coming together on a special occasion. But usually it is with churches that are "very similar". Lively churches don't mind getting together with other lively ones. More reserve churches don't mind getting together with other reserved churches. Even churches that very different don't seem to mind getting together as long as it isn't very often. What do we think that heaven is going to be like? Do we think that there are going to be sections to accommodate our personal comfort zones? What will we do if the Lamb of God leads the singing too slow, or too fast? What if everything is just too lively, or not lively enough? What if God doesn't sing

And we rebuilt. And Jesus did it again. And on and on. Then I woke up. My heart was sad.

I thought to myself, what would we do if that really happened? How many times would Jesus have to burn down Hi-land Christian Church before Mike Sublett got the message that at least some of the time. He wants all of his kids under the same roof? Would Mike Sublett ever get the point? Or can Mike see no further than his own church doors? How about you and the church you are part of? I have discovered that most churches in Pampa won't even consider closing their church doors one Sunday night each month so that we can all come together under the same roof in simple praise and worship to Jesus.

Don't you think every church that really believes in the UNITY OF ALL BELIEVERS could at least give up one Sunday night each month to demonstrate it to be the community? What have we proven if we always "do our own thing at our building"? What kind of witness is it if we only get together with other churches that "do it our way"? If we want to see REVIVAL in Pampa, Texas, I truly believe that we are going to have to move "unity in Practice" to a higher position on our list of church priorities. Until we do, we are not ready to be the instruments that God will need in the coming REVIVAL. Imagine what a witness it would be for the M. K. Brown auditorium and the Heritage room to both be packed one Sunday night each month. What a testimony to our unity in Christ Jesus that would be. The only thing preventing it is US.

"our songs or choruses"? Will we ask to go home? Get up and walk out?

Pampa needs to see the body of Christ coming together regularly under the same roof in order to "prove" the unity that is talked about so much. Nothing going on in any church in Pampa, especially Hi-land Christian, is as important as displaying true unity to our fellow Pampans. Go to your pastor/minister/priest and ask why your church hasn't been a regular part of these community gatherings. You may be surprised at the answers you get. If it is, "We just didn't know about them", then give me a call at 669-6700 and I will see that your church is better informed. More likely the answer will center around the "importance of our individual church programs", "how uncomfortable some might be at such gatherings" and "how different some churches are from us".

I had a dream one night that on a Saturday night Jesus burned down every

The Melody Boys

Melody Boys concert

The "Melody Boys Quartet" originally began in the 1940's as a "Stamps Baxter Quartet". They were pioneers in early Christian television, with the daily "The Melody Boys" program through the 1950's. The group has 7 albums to its credit, and have received extensive radio air play on 7 different singles including their latest "Sing me a song about Jesus", from their 1996 release on Zion Records.

The Melody Boys skillfully blend Southern gospel music with a harmony reminiscent of the quartets of yesteryear while bringing brilliant, new "nineties" arrangements for today's audience. The Melody Boys will present a free concert at Central Baptist Church, Pampa, 6 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 8.

Doctors Managing Patients Are Given No Time To Care

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to support "Doctor in Michigan," who wrote that doctors have no time to talk to large numbers of depressed or suicidal people on the phone. Unfortunately, this doctor told you the truth. The best way to handle these people (and there are many) is to tell them to call the suicide hotline and make a follow-up appointment with their doctor.

Managed care, which is what the majority of doctors work under, means a lot of managing and very little care. In fact, we doctors aren't even doctors anymore; we are "providers." I have worked as a "provider" for 10 years in four different jobs and locations. All of them were crummy. At my current job, I see a patient every 15 minutes with a "double-book" occasionally thrown in.

Most providers routinely eat a 10-minute lunch and avoid consuming much liquid so they won't have to take too many two-minute potty breaks. I don't even dare ask patients how they are anymore, for fear they will really tell me. Under managed care, I'm given no time to listen to their answer, anyway.

I doubt you heard from many doctors on this issue because most are too busy trying to keep their miserable lives afloat. I pity those carrying big mortgages and supporting kids in college, because they probably can't afford to leave these "factory jobs" behind. I, myself, plan to eventually change careers.

falling apart in this country. It's a tragedy. Unfortunately, I cannot sign my name. Just sign me ...

A DOCTOR, TELLING IT LIKE IT IS

DEAR DOCTOR: I am aware that with the arrival of managed care, doctors are compelled to see more patients in less time. However, even if a physician is unable to schedule an emergency appointment, a return call at the end of the day would be the courteous and caring course of action. Read on for another view:

DEAR ABBY: I was fortunate enough not to be the patient of the "family physician" in Michigan when my life came crashing in around me.

I called my physician's office and asked the staff to have him prescribe something for my agitation, as I was so upset I felt like blowing my brains out. His assistants were tremendous. They told me to come in right then! My doctor saw me immediately, listened with compassion, assured me that we'd get through this, and thanked me for calling him. He phoned a therapist in a nearby building and set up immediate therapy for me. He asked if I could walk over there alone, or if I wanted his nurse to take me. Then they watched to make sure I made it safely to the other building, where the therapist was waiting for me outside the front door!

Dr. Wayne Owens, his staff, and Pat Booker, M.S.W., literally saved my life. I am now emotionally healthy and stable, and enjoying life as I never had before.

There's a light at the end of the suicidal tunnel if people like these help you when you're at your lowest.

Horoscope

Sunday, Feb. 8, 1998

In the year ahead, you may have to shoulder more responsibilities than you have in the past. Do not let this intimidate you, because the larger the assignment, the greater the rewards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Criticizing the efforts of another won't help improve his or her performance. In fact, it could cause this person to walk off and let you fend for yourself. Aquarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you've been mismanaging your resources lately, you might find yourself in a tight position today with a shortage of essential funds.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The restrictions you might feel today aren't apt to be due to others, so don't get on their case. Alter your attitude to where you can laugh at yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you feel negative today, it could be due to misplaced self-emphasis. The doldrums will desert you if you start focusing your thoughts on helping others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It looks like some mending will be required in a valued relationship with an old friend. Patch up things today before it deteriorates any further.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lofty objectives might not be easy to come by today, because in order to be an achiever, it may require more effort than you're prepared to extend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today, you might get involved in a discussion with friends about a mutual pal who isn't present. Keep unsavory details about him or her to yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try to deal with what you have today instead of going to others to bail you out. Hard feelings could result if you fail to complete certain responsibilities.

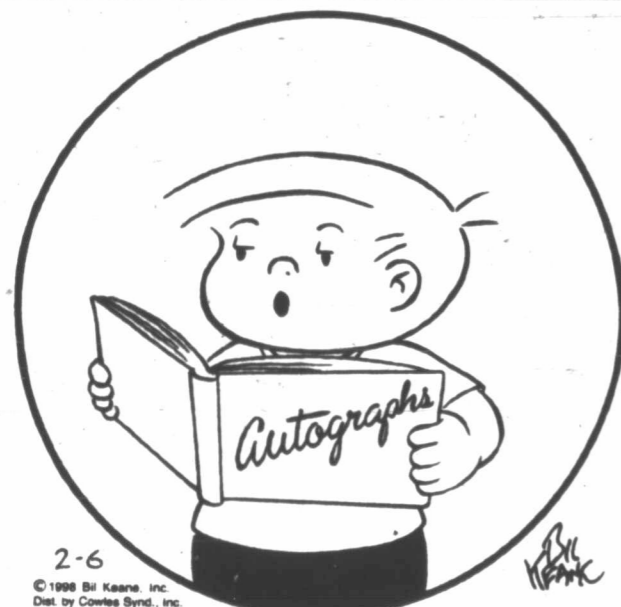

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Companions could have a strong influence over your outlook today. Avoid pessimists; they could incline you to look at the world with a gloomy perspective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Frustrating responsibilities may pop up unplanned for you today. They will be manageable, provided you don't make them worse unintentionally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today, you may run into one of your least favorite individuals at an assembly of your peers. Do not let his or her presence spoil your fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be very careful today not to introduce outsiders into a disagreement between you and your mate. It could be an extremely unwise move.

OLYMPICS

NAGANO, Japan (AP) — DAYS UNTIL GAMES BEGIN:

1. SNOWFALL FRIDAY: No new snow in Nagano or on men's downhill course. Current blanket is 82.6 inches on the downhill course.

OLYMPIC UPDATE: Nearly 4,000 athletes and officials from 72 countries and regions will gather at 11 a.m. Saturday (9 p.m. EST today) for a tradition-infused ceremony that formally opens the Winter Olympics, the biggest and costliest ever. The ceremony mixing traditional Japanese rites and modern elements promises to be a visual and sensory treat for the 50,000 spectators at the Minami Nagano Sports Park and the hundreds of millions of viewers watching on worldwide television broadcasts.

CARRYING THE TORCH: All three Olympic torches arrived in Nagano City today.

BASKETBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — This should be an All-Star game to remember, a crossroads event with subplot upon subplot in the media capital of the world.

Michael Jordan in his "last" All-Star game vs. Kobe Bryant in his first.

The league elders vs. the toddlers.

Grumpy George Karl vs. laid-back Larry Bird.

The slam-dunk contest vs. 2-ball.

It even has the David Stern vs. Latrell Sprewell sideshow.

"It's going to be fun. I can't wait. Talk about your emotions and adrenaline!" said Bryant, the 19-year-old Lakers reserve voted by fans into the starting lineup for the Western Conference as the youngest NBA All-Star ever.

The game, which tips off Sunday at 6:38 p.m. EST, looks like it may have some of the pizzazz that was missing the last couple of years in humdrum contests in the too-big Alamodome in San Antonio and the silent Gund Arena in Cleveland.

The New York Knicks' Madison Square Garden is known as the mecca of basketball and the game hasn't been in the Big Apple since 1968. Some 1,817 media credentials have been issued, scalpers have been demanding more than $1,000 for the best seats and even the players seem to be looking forward to it instead of secretly dreading the lost vacation time.

"It's going to be very exciting, given all the young players who have made the team," Jordan said. "Most of the old guys and some of the old faces have gone. It's like the changing of the times."

The East and West rosters feature players from different generations. There are elders in Jordan, Karl Malone, David Robinson and Reggie Miller; youngsters in Bryant, rookie Tim Duncan, Kevin Garnett and Antoine Walker; and three generations of 'tweens: the Jason Kidd-Nick Van Exel-Vin Baker types; the slightly older Grant Hill-Penny Hardaway-Shaquille O'Neal set; and the early 30s Shawn Kemp-Glen Rice-Mitch Richmond crew.

Among the "old faces," Jordan was talking about are Patrick Ewing of New York (an 11-time All-Star); Charles Barkley (11); Hakeem Olajuwon (12) and Clyde Drexler (10), all of Houston; John Stockton of Utah (9); and Scottie Pippen (7) of Chicago.

Injuries and diminished vote totals kept all of them from making this year's cut, leaving their formerly automatic roster spots open to some of the league's most exciting newcomers.

Jordan and Utah's Malone are the oldest veterans on the All-Star team, and the seven first-timers are: Bryant, Van Exel, Duncan, Walker, Steve Smith, Rik Smits and Jayson Williams.

PHS swim squads compete at regionals

PAMPA — Pampa swim team members will try and go one step further at this weekend's regional meet in Lubbock.

Only the first-place finisher in each event plus the eight fastest times from around the state qualify for the state meet later this month in Austin.

At last weekend's district meet in Lubbock, Pampa qualified five individuals and two relay teams for regionals.

"Everyone bettered their times in at least one event. That's what we're looking for," said Pampa coach David Pink.

In the boys' division for Pampa, Justin Nelson finished in both the 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle. Matt Withers was fifth in the 100 butterfly and fifth in the 100 backstroke. Matt Brown was fourth in the 100 backstroke.

Two Pampa individuals qualified for regionals in the girls' division. Stacy Huddleston was fifth in the 100 butterfly and Holly Brooks was fifth in the 100 breaststroke.

Pampa boys placed third in the 200-meter relay event. In the girls' division, Pampa was fourth in the 200-freestyle relay.

The top six individuals and relay teams at district qualified for the regional meet, which will be held at the Texas Tech Aquatic Center.

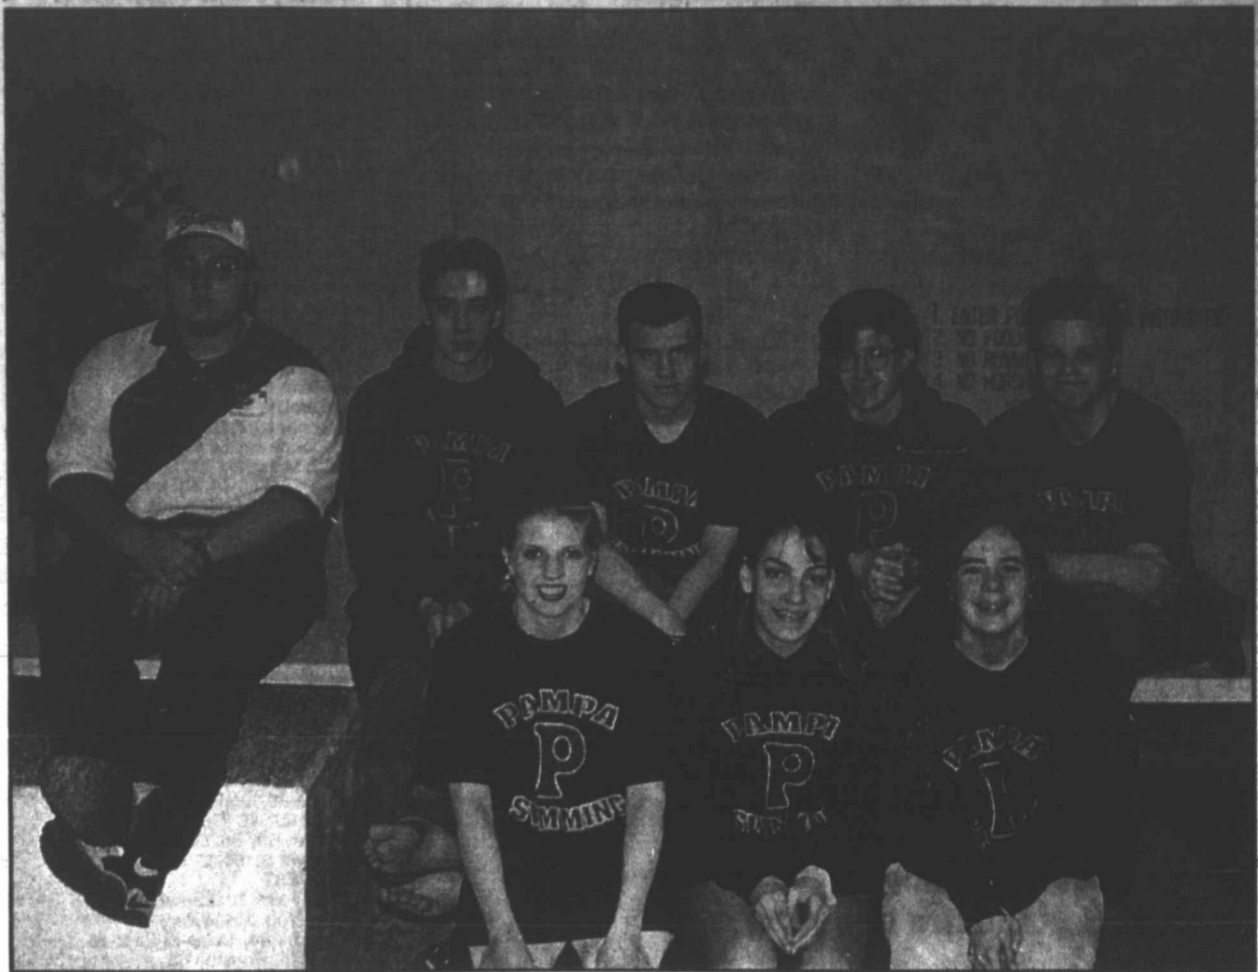

Number One Duke falls

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Antawn Jamison got North Carolina the lead and Ed Cota made sure it didn't get away.

Jamison scored 23 of his 35 points in the first half as the second-ranked Tar Heels took a 16-point halftime lead and Cota came up big down the stretch when No. 1 Duke closed within four points.

North Carolina won the showdown of the nation's top two teams 97-73 Thursday night, the sixth time in as many appearances it has won a 1 vs. 2 matchup.

The Tar Heels (23-1, 9-1 Atlantic Coast Conference) seemed to have things under control as Jamison went 9-of-11 from the field in the first half as they opened a 50-34 lead.

Local gymnasts participate in tumbling contest at Dumas

DUMAS — Gymnastics of Pampa students and team members recently participated in a tumbling meet in Dumas. Gymnastics from Dumas, Spearman and Stinnett also competed in the meet.

Pampa results are as follows:

Level 3, Age 3: First place, Madison Cochran; Second place, Carli White; Third place, Kolbi Furgason; Fourth place, Makayla Hampton; Fifth place: Shelby Broadus.

Level 1, Age 4 girls: First place, Callie Hampton; Third place, Chelsei Hampton; Fourth place, Karami Rice.

Level 1, Age 4 boys: First place: Trace Carter.

Level 2, Age 4 Girls: Third place, Holly Gage.

Level 2, Age 5 Boys: First place: Trent Carter; Second place, Garrett Fatheree.

Knoblauch could be a Yankee

NEW YORK (AP) — Chuck Knoblauch is on the verge of joining the New York Yankees — unless Bud Selig balks.

The Yankees and Twins agreed Thursday on the four minor leaguers who will go from New York to Minnesota and decided the Yankees will send the Twins $3 million, several sources said on the condition they not be identified.

In exchange for Knoblauch, a four-time All-Star second baseman, Minnesota will receive pitchers Eric Milton and Danny Mota, outfielder Brian Buchanan and shortstop Cristian Guzman.

Members of baseball's ruling executive council approved the trade after they were polled by telephone. Final approval was needed from acting commissioner Bud Selig, unavailable most of the day while meeting in Los Angeles with Rupert Murdoch, who intends to buy the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"There's a couple of things that have to be OKed," Twins general manager Terry Ryan said. "I think it'll go through. Until they get the responses, we can't finalize anything."

Because of the money in involved, the deal needs the approval of Selig and the council.

Knoblauch, 29, hit .291 last season with 117 runs, a career-high 62 steals, 10 triples, nine homers and 58 RBIs.

Pampa powerlifters compete at Childress

CHILDRESS — Seventeen Pampa High athletes took part in the Childress Powerlifting Meet held recently.

John Resendiz placed third in his division on his last attempt at 400 pounds, which was more than three times his 118-pound body weight. Nick Harvill improved 15 pounds from his total two weeks ago to place seventh. Michael Friend was the most improved, moving his total up 85 pounds. Breck Hoggatt completed the meet with a total of 640 pounds.

Randy Burklow totaled 820 pounds in the 165-pound class. J.J. Roark and Joe Kirkland both deadlifted 300 pounds, a personal best for best athletes. Brandon Orr broke the 800-pound barrier in his first ever meet.

David Robison, weighing 144 pounds, squatted 300 pounds. Ben Williams improved his total 35 pounds. Ollie Lowe deadlifted an incredible 425 pounds to raise his total 25 pounds.

Allan Parker and Brian Sealman broke the 900-pound barrier to place seventh and fifth respectively in the 198-pound division. Jared White placed sixth in the 220-pound division with a total of 1,005 pounds. Andy Schroeder totaled 915 pounds. Taylor Harris placed second in his division after totaling 975 pounds in his very first meet.

Andrea Rodriguez placed fifth

Idaho defeats North Texas, 85-72

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Troy Thompson scored 21 points as Idaho beat North Texas 85-72 in Big West Conference basketball Thursday night.

Clifford Banks scored 17 points and grabbed 14 rebounds as Idaho (11-8, 5-4 Big West) dominated the rebounding by 63-34.

North Texas (3-16, 2-7) got 13 points and 11 rebounds from Charles Washington. Travis Schofield added 12 points and Ed Harvey 10.

Idaho led 45-38 in the first half. The Vandals also got 16 points from Avery Curry and 11 points and eight assists from Josh Toal.

White Deer cagers host Quanah in district action

WHITE DEER — White Deer cagers will try to regroup tonight after double setbacks to Clarendon earlier this week.

White Deer hosts Quanah tonight.

District leading Clarendon (7-0) took a 65-48 win from White Deer in the boys' division last Tuesday.

Kareem Abdullah had 20 points to lead the Clarendon scoring attack while Brent Gaines added 19.

Clarendon, leading by just five (41-36) outscored White Deer, 24-12, in the fourth quarter.

Craig Urbanczyk had 11 points and Jeremy Crook 10 to lead the Bucks.

The Bucks are 2-4 in district play and fifth in the district standings.

Clarendon won the girls' contest, 68-52, to stay in second place at 6-1 behind unbeaten Panhandle, 7-0.

Kasi Ashcraft's 17 points paced Clarendon while Kim Alexander followed with 15. Amanda Freeman was high scorer for White Deer with 18 points while Nicole Salzbrenner followed with 13.

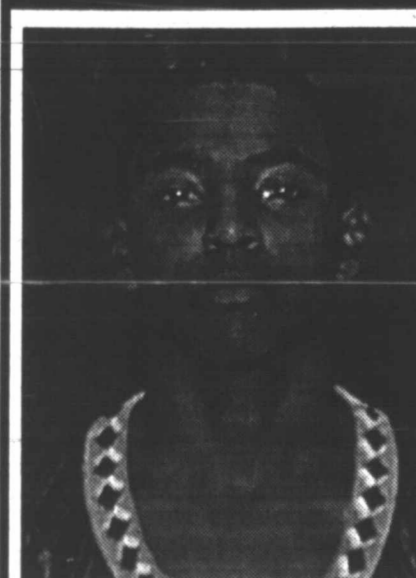

Clarendon led by only three (28-25) at halftime before pulling away to a 15-point lead going into the fourth quarter.

White Deer (4-3) is in third place in the 2-2A standings.

In other district action tonight, Clarendon travels to Panhandle and Wellington visits Memphis.

Quanah boys have a 1-6 record while Quanah girls are 2-5.

BOBBY HOLMES

Son Of Bobby Sr.

& Kathleen Holmes

Pampa Harvester Basketball

A junior transfer from Shamrock, Holmes is working hard to make the adjustment from Class 1A to Class 4A. Bobby plays the guard position and has seen lots of action coming off the bench. If he continues to improve, Bobby has an excellent shot at making the starting lineup next season.

TCU wins 8th straight game

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — James Penny scored 28 points, including two key baskets in the final minute, as Texas Christian defeated Fresno State 99-91 for its eighth straight victory.

Lee Nailon had 25 points and Mike Jones added 22 for the Horned Frogs (19-4, 8-0 in the Western Athletic Conference).

Fresno State's Chris Herren led all scorers with 31 points followed by Terrance Roberson with 18.

In a fast-paced first half, Nailon and Herren each scored eight points early to keep the score close, but Penny broke loose with 10 points and TCU went on a 14-2 run to take a 13-point lead.

Two 3-pointers by Herren and an 11-2 Bulldog run cut TCU's lead to three, before Jones hit a basket and a pair of free throws to give the Horned Frogs a 49-42 halftime lead.

TCU went ahead 73-57, but Nailon and Penny both got into foul trouble and sat down at midway in the half. The Bulldogs took advantage, cutting the deficit to nine. Nailon eventually fouled out with 5:55 left.

Herren scored two 3-pointers to cut TCU's lead to 86-81, but Malcolm Johnson hit a basket and Prince Fowler a free throw to put the Horned Owls up by eight with 2:30 left.

Colombia's anti-corruption campaign backfires, hunters become hunted

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) - After years of pursuing high-profile, high-risk corruption probes against Colombia's top politicians, five prosecutors accused of misrepresenting evidence have been suspended, stripped of their bodyguards and publicly exposed.

Within hours of their dismissal, the death threats began.

Between obscenities, a caller told prosecutor Oscar Toro that he would "take care of" his young son. Other threatening calls were made to the men's homes and cellular phones.

The attorney general's office has accused the prosecutors, who led dozens of drug corruption cases, of splitting one witness's testimony into anonymous and attributed parts in a case against a jailed ally of President Ernesto Samper - making it appear as if it came from different people.

"I am repelled by the thought that one should be allowed to use any irregular form of evidence gathering just because" the case is important, Attorney General Jaime Bernal said.

But Alfonso Valdivieso, who spearheaded the corruption probe before stepping down in May to run for president, said that even if the prosecutors are guilty, the 90-day suspensions announced Monday have crippled the investigation.

"These people have been fighting very tough battles and have risked their lives. There are a lot of people who want to see them harmed," Valdivieso said, adding that "other prosecutors are going to be afraid to step in."

The men, anonymous before their dismissal for security reasons, say they were targeted because they worked against the president's allies.

"We did nothing wrong," Toro told The Associated Press by telephone. He refused to discuss the case further or reveal his location for fear of retribution.

Others agree, adding that "Case No. 8,000," as the once wide-sweeping corruption investigation is called, has lost momentum.

"They were removed for political reasons," said former Deputy Federal Prosecutor Adolfo Salamanca, who helped initiate the probe. "The charge is an invention to give the attorney general an excuse to get rid of them."
