Pastoral Counseling Center expanding services offered

Alan Kee is joining with John Southern and expanding the counseling services offered by the Pastoral Counseling Center in Pampa.

Kee, L.P.C., L.M.F.T., is a graduate of Southwestern University, Georgetown. He received his Master of Education in Counseling Psychology from Temple University, Philadelphia, Penn. and is completing his doctoral degree in counseling psychology from Temple.

A native of Perryton, he has engaged in clinical training and work in a variety of settings in several states. He has counseled in community counseling clinics, a vocational counseling clinic, worked at the Pavilion Counseling Center and was staff psychotherapist at Quest Professional Services in Amarillo.

He has broad experience in working with children and adolescents in drug and alcohol abuse, as well as counseling parents of children with speech and hearing difficulties. He has served on the adjunct faculty of Amarillo College and is a certified Parent Effectiveness Training instructor.

The Pastoral Counseling Center of Pampa is a community-organized counseling center that provides counseling services for individuals, couples and families. Its pastoral approach allows use of faith sources in a therapeutic setting.

The center is supported by a variety of local churches and is able to offer services with fees adjusted on basis of financial need.

Non-denominational, the center is supported by a variety of local churches. A satellite office of the Samaritan counseling Center of Amarillo, it is accredited by the American Association of Pastoral Counselors. And as a United Way agency and recipient of Jona Payne Foundation funding, it is able to offer services with fees adjusted on basis of financial need, if requested.

Appointment are provided in a confidential setting and may be made by calling 806-669-0344 or 1-800-318-1725.

Father, son facing elderly abuse charges

Two Pampa residents, a father and his son, were behind bars at the Gray County Jail today in lieu of $10,000 bond each on charges of abuse of the elderly.

Charles Claude Ashley, 74, and Charles Mathis Ashley, 50, both 707 E. Frederick, were charged Thursday with abusing Opal Ashley, 72, the elder Ashley's wife and mother of the younger man.

Investigators would not discuss the woman's injuries nor would they say where she is citing concern for her security.

Police responded to the East Frederick address when a 911 call was placed about 4 p.m., Thursday after which time the men were taken into custody. Police said it was still undetermined this morning as to who placed the call or if it came from the home because they had not yet reviewed the tapes.

Pampa Detective Connie Lockridge said Adult Protective Services has been brought in to assist in the case.

She said instances of elder abuse are handled similarly to child abuse cases and that while the investigation will be handled as an assault, state law makes concessions for any victim over 65.

Gray County District Attorney John Mann wouldn't discuss specifics in this case but said punishment for abuse of the elderly can be a prison term of two-to-10 years and a fine up to $10,000.

Girl, 15, killed on carnival ride

Teen was thrown into a wall

AUSTIN (AP) — A 15-year-old girl was killed and another was injured when they were thrown off a carnival ride called the "Himalaya," a ride that whips people around an undulating track at high speeds.

The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. Thursday at a carnival operating during the annual Austin/Travis County Livestock Show and Rodeo.

The girl, whose name was not immediately released, was on the ride with her 9-year-old brother and a 16-year-old friend.

Witnesses say the victim was thrown into a wall. She suffered head, neck and chest injuries, and died at the scene.

The 16-year-old girl also was thrown off the ride, but was treated and released at a hospital Thursday night for less-serious injuries. The brother was reported in fair condition.

Officials said the accident happened when the sled-like compartment in which the three youths were riding hit a rise in the circular track.

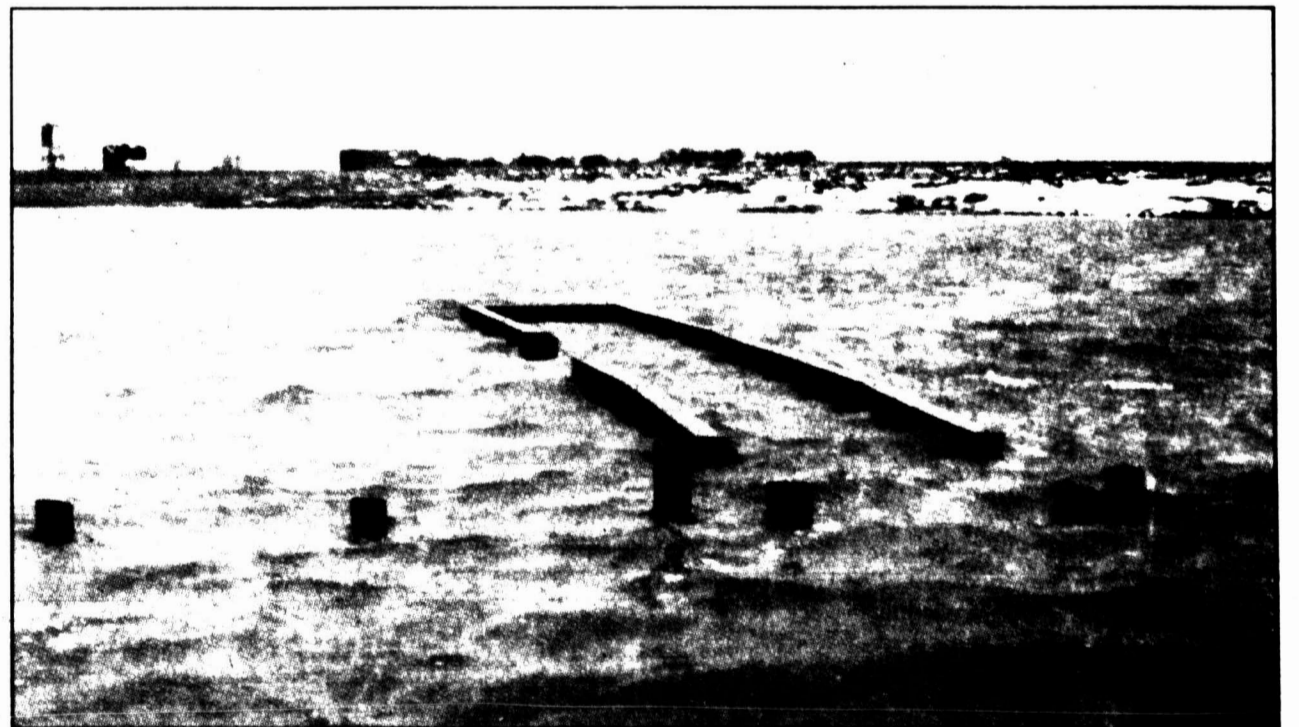

The girl's arms flew up, her head went back and her legs went into the air as she was thrown, said Charlene Quintero, 11, who was standing near the ride when the accident occurred.

"It will haunt me forever," said the girl, who was at the rodeo carnival celebrating her birthday.

It was the first serious accident at the rodeo in at least 14 years, according to rodeo spokesman Jeff Nash.

"Our thoughts and our prayers are with the girl's family," Nash said.

Officials said all of the carnival rides were inspected by a safety See GIRL, Page 2

The recent bout of rain and snow have raised the water level and flooded the dock often used for fishing at Recreation Park. Clearer weather and warmer temperatures are predicted for the weekend.

Golden Spread Chorus performs tonight

The Amarillo-based Golden Spread Chorus will perform for the Magic Plains Chapter of the American Business Women's Association tonight in Pampa.

The ABWA is holding their Business Associate of the Year dinner at 7 p.m., March 20, at the Top of Texas Masonic Lodge in Pampa.

The Golden Spread Chorus is an all-men's chorus that sings acapella in four part harmony, according to Howard Wilkerson, spokesman for the group. The chorus belongs to The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

The Golden Spread Chorus won division one small chorus competition in southwestern district competition of the SPEBQSA for the past two years.

The chorus directed by John W. Zimmerman, music director for Palo Duro High School in Amarillo.

Emu breeder faces charges

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A former emu breeder has been arrested on charges of mail fraud and money laundering in connection with his sale in 1992 and 1993 of emu chicks that were never delivered.
 H. Conray Chase, former owner of C&R Exotics Inc., was arrested Thursday by FBI and Internal Revenue Service agents following his indictment by a federal grand jury on six counts of mail fraud and two counts of money laundering.
 Chase was arraigned Thursday before U.S. Magistrate Robert Roach and was released without bond. The Henrietta man faces up to 70 years in prison if he is convicted of all the charges. Roach ordered him not to leave the North Texas area.
 Chase is accused of scheming to defraud potential investors in his emu business and of using the U.S. mail to carry out his plan, court documents say.

Texas Editorials

By The Associated Press

A sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers: Baytown Sun on Latrell Sprewell's example: Attention everyone: It's OK to choke whomever you don't like. What other moral can be drawn from an arbitrator's ruling in the Latrell Sprewell vs. the National Basketball Association case.

How any rational human being could have come to such an unbelievable conclusion is beyond comprehension. No responsible employer should be expected to allow conduct like that of Sprewell's to go without immediate termination and filing of criminal charges.

Who would want to employ a hoodlum who disregards the law and takes matters into his own hands? Not any sane employer.

Yet arbitrator John Feerick has seen fit to force the Golden State Warriors to, in effect, rehire Sprewell at his old salary of $8 million a year with just a little slap on the wrist. ...

Just think what we can expect from the kids who play sports when they see such conduct. Now, instead of having to complain to someone about the way your coach treats you, you just choke him. Not getting enough playing time? No problem, find your coach and choke him. Unhappy with coaching strategy? Choke your coach. The same goes for employees. Don't like your boss? Just choke him.

Sprewell should be permanently banned from basketball — then, perhaps, the message would be clear. ...

The ghost of television past

Like Justice Hugo Black, Fred Friendly always carried a copy of the Constitution in his pocket. He often gave it away, to be quickly replenished. Friendly was intrigued by its challenges as a persistently living document. When he was buried this year on March 8, two copies of the Constitution were buried with him. A few hours later, David, one of his sons, said, "My guess is he's already given them away."

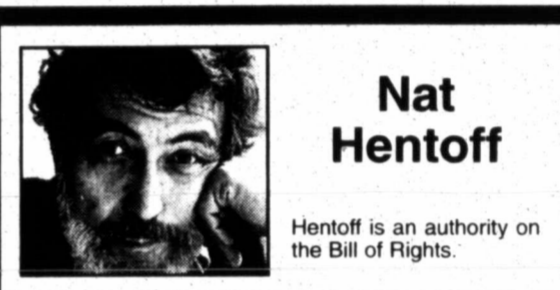

Friendly saw himself as a teacher, exemplified by the CBS television documentaries he produced with Edward R. Murrow, such as "Harvest of Shame," which brought the bitter lives of migrant workers into American living rooms. Another example was their confrontation with Sen. Joseph McCarthy at a time when much of the nation, including the broadcast industry, was frozen in fear of the dangerously reckless senator from Wisconsin.

In a later part of his career, Friendly defied all the rating odds by creating a series on the Public Broadcasting Service that consisted of conversations and arguments about "The Constitution: That Delicate Balance." Those seminars, often repeated, reached millions of viewers.

He also took the risk of asking me to appear on a number of those seminars although he knew I was not a lawyer and that my knowledge of the Constitution was entirely self-taught.

In 1966 Friendly, a passionate, impatient dispeller of ignorance, said: "TV is bigger than any story it reports. It's the greatest teaching tool since the printing press. It will determine nothing less than what kind of people we are. So if TV exists now only for the sake of a buck, somebody's going to have to change that."

He and Murrow surely tried, but as an index of the shameless reality of current television priorities, Dan Rather told the New York Times that "before airing Mr. Friendly's obituary on March 4, there were voices at CBS that had argued against so much air time for a downer of a story about a man whose time had long passed."

Indeed, it is unlikely that Murrow and Friendly would be given air time at CBS now. Documentaries are as rare as regular, serious criticism of the press on commercial TV.

I remember watching the Friendly-Murrow documentaries with their utter lack of showbiz elements. After each program, I would hear, and sometimes be a part of, discussions in schools, workplaces and bars on what had aired.

Friendly put all his bets on a faith "in the intelligence of ordinary citizens," as David Halberstam puts it. "He believed if you gave them reports on difficult, troubling subjects, they would understand and this would be a better society."

He was right, as "Frontline" on PBS continually verifies. And CBS's "60 Minutes," orchestrated by Don Hewitt, a Friendly disciple, keeps the faith. But at that same network, CBS killed a scheduled repeat of Roberta Baskin's documentary on the naked truth about the abysmal working conditions of employees in Vietnamese factories making Nike sneakers and other expensive Nike goods.

After all, Nike was a prominent sponsor of CBS's television coverage of the Olympics, and you may have seen its "swoosh" logo as an obligate to the reporting. For a time, CBS News reporters there were commanded to wear Nike parkas. Fred Friendly, never known to curb his indignation at anyone polluting the news, would have exploded at that one.

I had Fred Friendly very much in mind a couple of months ago when I did two sessions on constitutional rights — particularly those of students — for public-school children in Miami. There were hundreds of youngsters, mostly black and Hispanic, in a large auditorium.

As I was about to start the first session, a helpful teacher said, "You won't find this pleasant. They care about music and clothes, but on this subject, you'll be lucky to finish the hour. So if you don't expect much, you won't be disappointed."

The students were hardly attentive at the start, but as we explored, for example, the history of the Fourth Amendment — how the colonists bitterly resented British troops searching their homes and persons at will they became silent and leaned forward. At the end of each hour, the youngsters stood and cheered. They were cheering for themselves.

"They discovered they were Americans," I told the surprised teacher, and I thought of how much I had learned from Fred Friendly that went into those sessions. Not only his constitutional knowledge, but especially his faith.

He also brought Supreme Court justices on his televised seminars, and they turned out to be quite human — and even vulnerable — without their robes, as they too shared his faith.

Today in history

- By The Associated Press
 Today is Friday, March 20, the 79th day of 1998. There are 286 days left in the year. Spring arrives at 2:55 p.m. EST.
 Today's Highlight in History:
 On March 20, 1727, physicist, mathematician and astronomer Sir Isaac Newton died in London.
- On this date:
 In 1413, England's King Henry IV died; he was succeeded by Henry V.
 In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte entered Paris, beginning his "Hundred Days" rule.
 In 1816, the Supreme Court affirmed its right to review state court decisions.
- In 1896, U.S. Marines landed in Nicaragua to protect U.S. citizens in the wake of a revolution.
 In 1948, "Gentleman's Agreement" won the Academy Award for best picture of 1947, as well as best director (Elia Kazan); Ronald Colman won best actor for "A Double Life," and Loretta Young won best actress for "The Farmer's Daughter."
 In 1976, newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was convicted of armed robbery for her part in a San Francisco bank holdup.
 In 1987, the Food and Drug Administration approved the sale of AZT, a drug shown to prolong the lives of some AIDS patients.

Health care in bits and pieces

Gradually, in small doses, President Clinton is trying to reassemble a national health care program, to broaden insurance coverage and make it more affordable. It is the incremental approach he rejected four years ago in his politically costly attempt to overhaul the whole system at once.

He said then that incremental change was a formula for defeat. But the national program designed under Hillary Rodham Clinton's guidance collapsed in Congress, and instead became a big government issue turned against the Democrats in the winning Republican campaign of 1994.

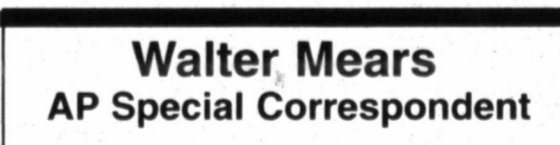

Clinton acknowledged afterward that he had tried to do too much too soon.

He'd wanted universal health care coverage, once threatening to veto any bill short of that. He didn't get a health care bill to veto from the last Democratic Congress, and his aims since Republicans took over have been more modest.

"We don't have a comprehensive program a la 1994, but we have been continuing to work at ways that you can address access, quality and affordability," White House press secretary Mike McCurry said after the president went to the Capitol to push his latest proposals.

He wants to let people as young as 55 buy coverage through Medicare, now reserved for those 65 and older and the disabled.

"Let's don't play election-year games on this," Clinton said at a sendoff rally with the Democratic sponsors of his bill Tuesday, saying the Republicans should join to support it.

It does have election year appeal, opening coverage to perhaps 400,000 people who lose jobs and coverage at 55 or older, and to retirees not yet 65.

Republican critics of the idea say Congress shouldn't be creating a new entitlement as part of a medical care program already facing financial stress.

And the leaders of a commission on Medicare's future financing, which is supposed to propose long-term answers after a year's study, say changes should await their findings.

But Clinton says there is no need to wait because the expansion will be at the expense of the people who buy the early Medicare coverage and will not cost the existing system more money.

Still, the bipartisan commission appointed by Clinton and GOP Senate and House leaders is just beginning its study, with a March 1, 1999, deadline. Opposition there may be telling.

Clinton also ordered action to stiffen enforcement of a 1996 law that was to have guaranteed continued health insurance to people who change jobs, or lose them, including those with ailments that might otherwise lead to rejection. As a first step, the government is warning insurers that blocking access to coverage is illegal. He said the administration will look at ways to strengthen the law — which entitles people to convert their group coverage to individual policies — after being alerted that some companies are using overcharges and long delays to avoid extending coverage.

The president also is urging enactment of a patients' bill of rights that would guarantee coverage for treatment by specialists and in emergency rooms when necessary. That measure also would give people the right to appeal to an outside panel when coverage is denied.

He said in the State of the Union address that patients should have the right to know all their medical options, "not just the cheapest," and to choose the doctors they want.

There are proposals along similar lines from Republicans, on an issue driven by the frustrations of managed health care.

"Above all, our nation must develop uniform national standards so that health plans can compete on quality, not just cost, and so that health care consumers can judge for themselves," Clinton said March 12. He said the White House will convene a health care forum in June to begin work in that direction.

Add to Clinton's health care list the legislation approved last year to finance coverage for up to five million children of low-income families by 2000.

It's not the universal, government-supervised system he proposed four years ago. But the pieces are starting to add up.

Fine Arts Association sponsors touring artists Wood-Henry Duo

The Wood-Henry Duo presented programs on Texas history and music for the seventh grade classes at Pampa Middle School this past Monday and Tuesday.

Rick Wood, classical guitarist, and his wife, Jamie Henry-Wood, flutist, have compiled slides and music which they use to tell the story of Texas from the time of the Caddo, Karankawa and Comanche peoples through the period of Spanish and French settlements, and the days when Texas was part of Mexico, to Texas independence, and then statehood in both the Confederacy and the United States.

The Wood-Henry Duo is based in New Braunfels.

Because seventh grade students study Texas history, this was the grade selected by Tim Powers, Pampa Middle School principal, to participate in this residency.

The duo is listed on the Texas Touring Artist Roster approved by the Texas Commission on the Arts, and Pampa Fine Arts

Rick Wood

Association received a grant to help with artist fees. Pampa Independent School District assisted with part of the support, as well.

Pampa Fine Arts Association also sponsored Cindy Horstman and Friends, a jazz harp combo, at the 1997 Labor Day Chautauqua Festival. Additional funding for school presentations was provided by Miami and McLean Independent School Districts. The combo performed for students in both schools.

Texas Commission on the Arts is the official state arts agency. It is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Texas State Legislature. There is also a new fund that has been established to help statewide support of arts-related services - "State-of-the-Arts" license tags. Doris Alexander of Amarillo, formerly of Pampa, was appointed by Gov. George Bush as a commissioner for the Texas Commission on the Arts, and she has been working closely with First Lady Laura Bush to promote these "State-of-the-Arts" tags. The Texas Panhandle is also fortunate to have another commissioner on TCA, Dr. Maloof Abraham of Canadian.

PFAA's next major effort will be the "Summer Arts Program" set for June at Travis Elementary School in Pampa. For more information, call 665-0343.

TPMHA to sponsor SOS! parenting class

AMARILLO - Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority Child and Adolescent Services is offering a parenting class - SOS! Help for Parents - for parents of children ages 2-12 from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday evenings beginning March 31 and ending April 28 at First Presbyterian Church, 1100 S. Harrison.

SOS! Help for Parents is written by Lynn Clark, Ph.D. Dr. Clark, a clinical psychologist, lives in Kentucky and is a professor of Psychology at Western Kentucky University. He has extensive professional experience in community mental health centers, hospitals, counseling centers and community agencies. As a parent, Dr. Clark has used all the methods of behavior management in the SOS program with his own children.

Gene Ann Grant, Family and Community Education director at TPMHA, said, "SOS! Help for Parents is designed to help parents learn ways to become more self-confident and effective in their parenting style. Areas that will be covered in the course are the fundamentals of behavior and ways of improving behavior, basic skills of time-out, parenting skills, and other resources for helping the child."

The class cost is $5 and the book is $10. The class is being taught by TPMHA Child and Adolescent Services staff Tracy Griffith, LPC, and Martin Sauer, MA. Classes are open to the public and recommended for parents, professionals, childcare workers - anyone who lives and/or works with children. Pre-registration is required. To register, call 354-2191.

The mission of the TPMHA to provide an accessible array of quality psychosocial services to children and their families with an emphasis on family preservation. This non-profit agency serves children and adolescents ages 2-17 who have some form of a behavioral, emotional or mental disorder.

For additional information, call Grant at (806) 354-2191.

Mexico dealing with money-laundering industry

MEXICO CITY (AP) - In a rare public admission of Mexico's flourishing money-laundering industry, authorities have charged a man with helping a powerful drug cartel buy a stake in a bank to hide illegal profits.

The charges are an acknowledgment of how far drug corruption has reached into a banking system that has teetered on the brink of insolvency since the Mexican peso was devalued in late 1994, plunging the country into economic crisis.

Juan Alberto Zepeda was charged Thursday with money laundering for his alleged purchase of $12 million of shares in the Anahuac Financial Group on behalf of the late drug lord Amado Carrillo Fuentes in 1996.

It was the first time Mexican authorities confirmed that a drug-trafficking organization had tried to buy into a financial institution. They have bristled at previous suggestions - especially when made by U.S. authorities - that drug lords have been using Mexican banks to hide their illegal earnings.

"A portion of the capital of the Anahuac Financial Group was found to belong to Amado Carrillo Fuentes' organization," said a statement from the Attorney General's Office on Thursday. The complex web of drug money that allegedly flowed through Anahuac in 1996 may have touched top politicians or their relatives, Mexican news reports say.

Even Rodolfo Zedillo, President Ernesto Zedillo's brother, says his construction company was approached in early 1996 by Zepeda and his associate Jorge Bastida about investing in real estate projects.

The Guadalajara newspaper Publico reported Thursday that Rodolfo Zedillo and Bastida co-invested in a Mexico City hotel project.

But Zedillo responded: "Neither myself, nor the company I represent, ever carried out any kind of financial transaction with these people."

Federico de la Madrid, the son of a former Mexican president, served as a vice president of Anahuac when the shares were purchased by Carrillo Fuentes' men. He told Publico that he never knew drug traffickers were involved in the bank.

Pampa sailor says Navy's modern Aegis high tech communications invaluable

by JASON EMERSON

SAN DIEGO, Calif. - Aegis was the name the Greeks gave to the shield of Zeus. As myth had it, the shield symbolized the awesome powers of the gods and was impregnable.

The Navy liked this idea so much they built an Aegis of their own. The modern Aegis, found on several types of Navy ships, is a sophisticated radar system that can detect enemy missiles, aircraft and ships hundreds of miles away.

Daniel R. Hampton, who works on an Aegis destroyer, knows that the Aegis's ability to protect an entire battle group has never been more important. Hampton and his shipmates are part of the naval armada massed in the Arabian Gulf.

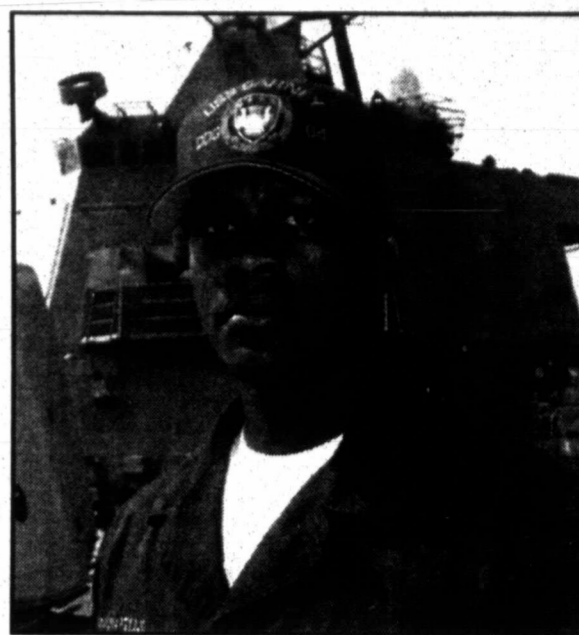

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Hampton, the 24-year-old son of Evaline Hampton of Pampa, is stationed aboard the destroyer USS Carney. He feels the drama unfolding in the Gulf is a prime example of why Navy ships need to be sent there on routine deployments.

"Unlike the larger aircraft carriers or submarines whose jobs are limited, we have a wide range of capabilities," said Hampton, a 1992 graduate of Palo Duro High School.

Hampton, a communications specialist, transmits and receives messages linking the Carney with other naval activities. Without him and his shipmates, the Carney could not remain 10,000 miles away from its San Diego home port for long.

"My job is important because it allows us to communicate with the rest of the battle group, as well as other afloat and ashore units worldwide," said Hampton, a five-year Navy veteran.

The Carney is an ideal weapon for carrying out U.S. and U.N. policy in the Gulf. Its stores of Tomahawk cruise missiles can destroy targets ashore, the Aegis radar allows it to track enemy ships and aircraft, and its advanced sonar enables it to search for enemy submarines.

Most countries in the Gulf region depend on the United States to enforce U.N. policy. Six-month-long deployments by Navy ships provide this protection. The deployments also fulfill another mission, however, one maybe as important as enforcement. They allow Sailors and Marines to meet and understand the citizens of our Gulf allies.

"Deployments allow the United States to work closely with other nations," Hampton said.

Gun & Knife Show celebrates 20 years

AMARILLO - The 20th anniversary Texas Gun and Knife Show is scheduled from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, March 28 and from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. and Sunday, March 29 at the Amarillo Civic Center. In celebration of the start of its third decade in Texas, the show will feature two-for-one admission during the first hour of admission on both days, plus opportunities to win door prizes.

"We're inviting everyone to come help us celebrate our twentieth year," said Don Hill, president of the Texas Gun and Knife Association. "We promise to make it well worth their while - with the great collection of guns, knives and accessories we'll be featuring, plus the special early-bird admission. People who are looking forward to our biggest show ever won't be disappointed."

As in years past, Texans from all over the state will gather at the 1998 Texas Gun and Knife Show to buy, sell and trade an extraordinary variety of guns, knives and related items. Dozens of exhibitors will be on hand, and the public is invited to bring their own guns for sale or trade as well. Browsers are more than welcome.

In addition to guns and knives, this year's show will feature gun parts and accessories such as belts and holsters. The 1998 Texas Gun and Knife Show will also continue the tradition of offering for sale wildlife art, books, historical artifacts, "Texana" items, Native American and military memorabilia, and attractively-priced gold and silver ladies jewelry.

Seek the Lord and his strength,

1 Chronicles 16:11

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

AN OFFICER NAMED ASAIAH

ASAIAH WAS AN OFFICER IN THE COURT OF KING JOSIAH, WHO CAME TO THE THRONE OF JUDAH WHEN HE WAS BUT 8 YEARS OF AGE. ASAIAH COMES TO NOTICE BECAUSE HE WAS SENT AS PART OF A SPECIAL ENVOY BY KING JOSIAH, WHEN JOSIAH WAS 18 YEARS OLD, TO FIND OUT IF THE LORD GOD WOULD DESTROY THE KINGDOM BECAUSE THEIR FATHERS HAD GOTTEN AWAY FROM WORSHIPPING GOD! THE KING HAD REPENTED FOR THE "SIN OF HIS FATHER'S" EVER SINCE THE DAY HE HAD READ IN THE BOOK OF THE LAW THE ANWFUL PROPHECY IN DEUTERONOMY (DEUT. 29:25-28). THAT KING JOSIAH WAS "DEAD SERIOUS" WAS SHOWN BY THE FACT OF HIS CHOOSING ALL HIGH OFFICERS IN HIS COURT FOR THE ENVOY AND HEADING IT WITH THE HIGH PRIEST HILKIAH (IIKINGS 22:14).

THE OTHER MEMBERS OF THIS ENVOY WERE SHAPHAM THE SCRIBE, ACHBOR, A MOST TRUSTED OFFICER OF THE KING, AND AHIKAM, THE SON OF THE ROYAL SCRIBE SHAPHAM AND A PRINCE OF JUDAH. THE ENVOY WENT TO THE PROPHETESS HULDAH, WHO WAS HELD IN THE HIGHEST ESTEEM. SHE WAS THE WIFE OF SHALLUM, KEEPER OF THE KING'S WARDROBE. HULDAH AGREED WITH THE PROPHECY OF DEUTERONOMY BUT ADDED A PROPHECY OF HER OWN, WHILE ASAIAH AND THE OTHERS UNDOUBTEDLY STOOD AGHAST WITH SHOCK - HULDAH TOLD THE ENVOY THAT BECAUSE KING JOSIAH HAD BEEN SINCERE IN HIS REPENTANCE THE DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM WOULD NOT BE IN HIS TIME! SO, FOR ASAIAH AND THE REST OF THE ENVOY THERE WAS AT LEAST SOME GOOD NEWS TO BRING HOME WITH THE BAD NEWS FOR THE KING!

Minister's musings...

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE!
Have you made a difference in Pampa lately? Do you believe you can make a difference?

At times, the magnitude of the problems in our world seem overwhelming. Can one person really do anything significant? Yes! Jesus did and because He lived in me I know I can too!

Jesus only had three years to communicate His message and changed the world. How did He do it? The Washington Post,

By Todd Blackhurst,
Youth minister
First Baptist Church

CNN, the Internet? No, but He did have a plan. He invested His life in twelve men and they were changed forever. He taught them, encouraged them and loved them. How simple and yet profound. Could you or I do the same thing? Could we make that kind of difference? I believe God has called me to do that very thing and with His help I will. How about you? I invite you to join me.

Jesus wants to make a difference in your life so you can do the same thing for others. you can make a difference, for Christ.

New Life hosting speaker Sunday from Philippines

New Life Assembly of God will have as its guest speaker this Sunday morning the Reverend David Sobrepena, the General Superintendent of the Assemblies of God in the Philippines.

Although he is a Philippine citizen, Rev. Sobrepena grew up in Seattle, Washington, and felt God calling him to return home to the Philippines to minister to his people there. Some ten years ago, he began a church with seven people that has grown to over 8,000 member today. Since that time he and his congregation have established over 100 new churches in the Philippine Islands.

As a successful pastor, church planter, and church growth conference speaker, Rev. Sobrepena has spoken at Dr. David Cho's church in Seoul, South Korea, the largest church in the world with over 750,000 members, and has held church growth conferences drawing an audience from all over the world. He is a dynamic speaker who ministers with great anointing, and the congregation of New Life Church extend an invitation to the public to attend. The church is located at 1435 North Summer and the service will begin at 10:30 a.m. For more information or for a ride, call 665-0804.

Athletes' public vows give faith a new, high visibility

By DAVID BRIGGS
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Winners and losers, players in the NBA and the NFL join hands in prayer after games. As millions of fans watch, baseball stars, Olympic athletes and heavyweight boxing champions praise God at the moment of victory.

God is back in the games that Americans watch. But who is the winner as sports and religion converge?

In a new book on "Faith in Sports: Athletes and Their Religion On and Off the Field," sportswriter Steve Hubbard documents how sports stars are more likely to publicly proclaim faith and how media are less likely to ridicule them for it.

At the same time, he raises the provocative question of whether sports — so omnipresent, from cereal boxes to multibillion-dollar TV contracts — have taken the traditional place of religion in America.

"Think about it," Hubbard tells readers. "What takes up more pages in your newspaper — sports or religion? Which is more likely to be talked about at the water cooler on Monday morning? Which evokes more passion? ... Who excites our youth more — Michael Jordan or Jesus Christ?"

The questions echo the lament of Sir Sigmund Sternberg, recent winner of the Templeton Prize for Progress in Religion. The London philanthropist is urging business leaders to integrate their faith into public life. In the corporate world, he says, people are more likely to disclose which teams they support than which faith they practice.

Of course, the issues are more complex than Hubbard's questions indicate. While sports teams have strong followings, not many people will seek family values or the meaning of life in sports. Consult a newspaper, and see how the issues — from medical ethics to welfare reform — will more likely be effected by devotion to religion than to the home team.

And spend some time talking to children about what concerns them most — the death of a relative, the fear of a school bully, and discover that most turn to God for answers, not to Michael Jordan.

So how do religion and sports cross in society? Does the new visibility of faith on the playing fields benefit or trivialize religious expression?

To start, go back a hundred years, when the commandment to honor the Lord's Day barred athletic competition on Sundays. "Sport needed religion to legitimize it," says sociologist James Mathisen of Wheaton College in Illinois.

Fifty years ago, with evangelicals on the sidelines of public life, they used athletes for evangelism. Then, Mathisen said, "it was conservative Protestants who needed sports to legitimize them."

To gauge their success, consider the decade-long growth of such organizations as the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Athletes in Action and Professional Athletes Outreach. As Hubbard described in his book, that success is matched in print and online with stories devoted to Christian athletes in magazines Sports Spectrum, Sharing the Faith and Christian Sports Flash.

Just a generation ago, many athletes were hesitant or fearful of snide remarks if they talked about God after a game.

"Now," Hubbard said in an interview, "they're making a very public display of it, and it seems to be embraced by a lot of society."

And not just Christians. Houston Rockets star Hakeem Olajuwon keeps a strict fast during Ramadan.

Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf, then with the Denver Nuggets, stirred controversy in the spring of 1996 when he refused to stand for the national anthem, reserving a sense of reverence only for God. "I'm a Muslim first and a Muslim last," he said. "My duty is to my creator, not to nationalistic ideology."

In a society that forced religion from such public arenas as education and entertainment, sports is one significant area where religion is taking its place on the playing field.

"Maybe here is one sphere where religion can penetrate the public square," Mathisen said, adding, "This is accidental, I think. This is serendipitous."

Some high-profile athletes — those considered the high priests or gods of modern American society — have learned that even enormous amounts of fame, money and adulation do not lead to fulfillment.

In his book, Hubbard recounts that moment of revelation for San Antonio Spurs star David Robinson, watching Jordan embrace the Chicago Bulls' first championship trophy as if a piece of metal could validate a life.

"Here I am with five cars, two houses and more money than I ever thought I'd have. What more could I ask for? But where am I going?" Robinson tells Hubbard. "Here's Michael Jordan. He has more than me and, boy, I'd like to have some of the things he has. But is the world setting a trap for us?"

"What I had should have been plenty," he adds. "But no matter how much I had, it didn't seem like enough because material things can't satisfy your deepest needs. That's when I started to realize I needed the Lord."

Religion in brief...

'It's not enough to build a ramp'

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — People with disabilities have much to offer church congregations, but their needs often are not met.

"It's not enough to build a ramp," said Ginny Thornburgh at Pacific Lutheran University, site of a conference to help churches include people with disabilities in worship.

"The house of God should welcome everyone," said Mrs. Thornburgh, director of the religion and disability program for the nonprofit National Organization on Disability in Washington, D.C.

She suggests that congregations form task forces to accommodate worshippers with disabilities.

Practical aids, such as assisted-listening devices, large-print service bulletins, grab bars and ramps are important, Mrs. Thornburgh said, but the most crucial step is changing attitudes.

"You don't have to say anything except, 'We will be with you. We may not know much about your disability, but we'll walk with you in this journey and we'll learn.'"

Mrs. Thornburgh, 58, is co-author of two publications on disability and religious life. A member of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.), she is the wife of Dick Thornburgh, former U.S. attorney general and former governor of Pennsylvania.

As a baby, Thornburgh's son, Peter, suffered a disabling brain injury in a car crash in which his mother died. Now 38, he lives and works in Harrisburg, Pa., and faithfully attends worship services.

"Peter is a man of faith," Mrs. Thornburgh said. "Peter may not be able to tell you how to spell Ecclesiastes, but he loves God."

Gay pastor keeps job pending appeal

AMES, Iowa (AP) — A gay pastor whose ordination was to have been revoked on April 15 will continue his ministry at Lord of Life Lutheran Church in Ames, pending his appeal.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of America decided in February that the Rev. Steve Sabin had violated a policy banning practicing homosexuals from the ministry. A disciplinary committee voted to remove him from the church's list of ordained ministers.

Lutherans allow ordination of gay and lesbian ministers if they vow to abstain from same-sex relations. Sabin argues that church policy does not clearly define "practicing homosexual."

Church officials, he said, granted his request for a delay at least until an appeals committee issues a decision, in September at the earliest. If his appeal is rejected, Sabin's congregation could vote to retain him as pastor but would risk church sanctions.

Islamic school gets go-ahead

LEESBURG, Va. (AP) — Plans by Saudi Arabia to build a Muslim school have advanced with a land use permit approved by the Loudoun County board of supervisors.

The Islamic Saudi Academy for 3,500 students would open by 2000. Enrollment at a Saudi school in nearby Fairfax County has reached 1,300, and school officials want room to grow. The school serves a Washington-area Muslim population estimated at 200,000.

Plans for the private religious school have divided residents ever since the Saudi government selected a site on a sod farm about two miles from Dulles International Airport.

Opponents claim that the new school could pose a terrorism threat. One couple, William and Annette Groves, wrote to county officials, saying they didn't want to be "exposed to the possible terrorism danger of having a Muslim and Saudi target in our backyards."

Jim Burton, a supervisor who supports the school, said: "Foreign policy is not the business of this board."

Among other supporters is retired Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf, who explained how Saudis accommodated the religious traditions of American soldiers in Saudi Arabia during the Persian Gulf War.

In honor of the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary of Preston and Pearl Sargent, their children and grandchildren cordially invite you to join with friends and family in celebration at a reception on Saturday, the twenty-first of March from two until five in the afternoon in the fellowship hall of Grace Baptist Church located at 824 South Barnes in Pampa, Texas

Woman's Obesity Weighs On Sister-In-Law's Mind

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is a wonderful woman who has a severe weight problem. She's 50 years old and has no bad habits except for eating. She refuses to discuss diets and gets very upset when the subject is broached. She's beginning to experience signs of deteriorating health — shortness of breath, chest tightness, extreme redness in her face when she's warm or upset, and she has painful back and knee problems. She has fallen down stairs because she was unable to see the steps.

Abigail Van Buren
 SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

Abby, she refuses to see a doctor, my brother tells me, because she knows a doctor will confront her about her weight. I suggested she should at least have her blood pressure taken at the local pharmacy. She ignores me.

I believe she needs psychological care. I can't bear to lose her, and I fear that she will die soon if she doesn't try to help herself.

SCARED FOR MY SISTER-IN-LAW, IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR SCARED: Although some people use food the way junkies and alcoholics use drugs and alcohol, I know of no intervention program for people with life-threatening weight problems. Indeed, she may need psychological help in order to win her battle. However, unless she is willing to admit that she has a problem and takes steps to overcome it, there is nothing you or anyone else can do for her. She has my deepest sympathy.

DEAR ABBY: You asked for reader's input for the woman who had told her husband she had shared a bed with a male friend without "anything happening." Her husband, influenced by some buddies, didn't believe her.

I could write about the early American custom of "bundling," or point out that in many cultures families and guests share sleeping accommodations — but that's really irrelevant to the main problem. Namely, the woman's husband believes his buddies and doubts his wife. I'd say that is a very serious problem.

This husband is judging something that happened not only before their marriage, but before they were even introduced. I can't help but wonder why the husband even told that story to his buddies, but the real question here is whom should he believe — his wife or his buddies?

That woman's position should be: "Believe me, or call me a liar. If you believe me, then we need to see a marriage counselor about why you didn't trust me. And if you think I'm a liar, then we need to see a divorce lawyer."

A MALE READER FROM OXNARD, CALIF.

DEAR MALE READER: Thank you for taking the time to share a masculine point of view. It reminds me of a quotation I've known for many years: "A woman's virtue is like a fine painting. Once it's questioned, it's never quite the same."

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? Get it off your chest by writing to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

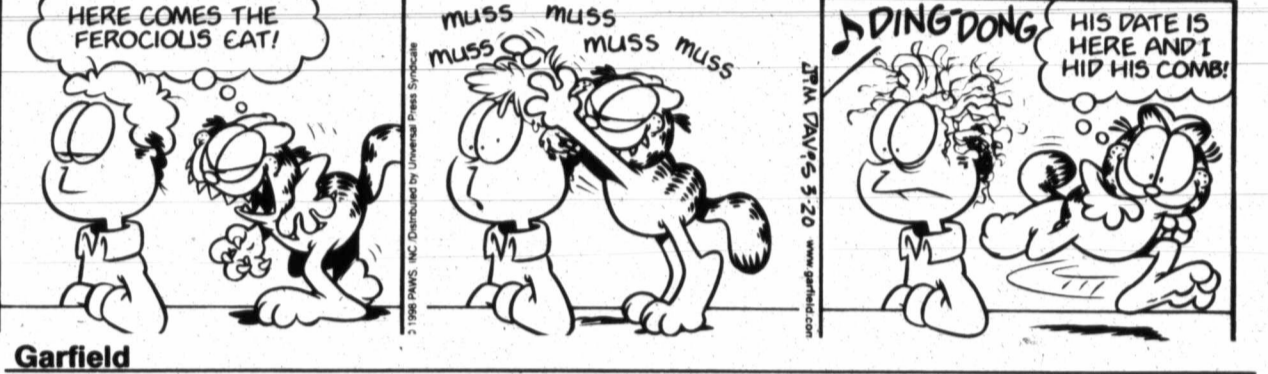

Good advice for everyone — teens to seniors — is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Anger Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

Horoscope

Your Birthday
 Sunday, March 22, 1998

New vistas will be conquered in the year ahead, because you'll know how to utilize to your advantage impediments that previously worked against you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you hope to achieve your objective today, you'll have to be resilient and thick-skinned. If you're soft or sensitive, you could get decked in the early rounds. Aries, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Realism is essential in order to do well in commercial matters today. Be logical without being a defeatist and don't dwell in shadows where none exist.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An endeavor of yours could be subjected to unnecessary delays if you bring a nonproductive into the act. Limit participation to doers and contributors.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In a situation where staunch allies are required today, use your best judgment to determine the depth of their support. Do not proceed if uncertain.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your imagination will be very active today, but you might use it only for finding clever excuses to set aside duties that you should be addressing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Poking your nose today into matters that do not affect you directly could prove to be a sorry choice. It might penalize you socially or monetarily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Fresh life could be breathed into an old, unresolved issue today. Try not to say or do anything offensive; let sleeping dogs lie.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today, you might not accomplish anything significant. Your goals may be too scattered and you could have a hard time bringing them into focus.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Usually you're not stingy toward people who have treated you in a generous fashion, but today the absence of this trait could dull your image.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Relatives will respond to you today in the same manner you treat them. If you're hypercritical, they'll point out your imperfections as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your ability to tune in to positive aspects is numbered among your best assets, but today you may zero in on negatives and impair your judgment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your friends might not be too eager to pick up your end of the tab. If you fail to pay your share, you won't look too good with others.

Buzzer-beaters continue in NCAA tourney

By The Associated Press

So this is what they really mean by March Madness: buzzer-beater after buzzer-beater.

Connecticut and West Virginia were the latest to play the game. The Huskies won at it Thursday night, while the Mountaineers misfired.

Second-seeded UConn edged long-shot Washington 75-74 in the NCAA East Regional semifinal when Richard Hamilton hit a rebound jumper as the game ended. It was Connecticut's third chance in the last eight seconds.

"The ball just came to me and I said, 'Make sure I gather myself before I let his one go,'" said Hamilton, the Big East player of the year. "I gathered myself, let the ball go and it went in."

After it did, the bench emptied and the UConn players piled on top of each other. Their reward is a date Saturday with top-ranked North Carolina, which disposed of Michigan State 73-58 at Greensboro, N.C.

"We came to play Carolina," coach Jim Calhoun said. "The only way to get to the Final Four is to go through Carolina."

West Virginia, a 10th seed, went home after Jarrod West missed three shots in the final minute and the Mountaineers fell to Utah 65-62. West's 3-point bank shot in the final second last week gave them a victory over second-seeded Cincinnati, but he missed each time down the stretch against third-seeded Utah.

"I had good looks at them, they just didn't fall down for me," a tearful West said afterward.

The Utes (28-3) play defending champion Arizona on Saturday at Anaheim, Calif. The top-seeded Wildcats eliminated Maryland 87-79.

Tonight, it's Duke vs. Syracuse and Kentucky vs. UCLA in the South at St. Petersburg, Fla. In the Midwest Regional at St. Louis, it's Purdue vs. Stanford and Rhode Island vs. Valparaiso.

EAST
Washington (20-10) took its first lead 74-73 with 33 seconds left on a 3-pointer by Donald Watts.

Connecticut's Jake Voskuhl's shot bounced off the rim and Hamilton's follow missed. After it was tipped from the other side, Hamilton grabbed the loose ball and hit a fadeaway jumper over 7-foot Patrick Femerling, the ball falling through the basket as the buzzer sounded.

"It seemed all 10 guys got a hand on it," he said. "Then the worst thing that could have happened, happened."

Calhoun was not thrilled with his team's performance in improving to 32-4.

"We looked like most teams look when they play us," Calhoun said. "My theory was we were out of gas. I have no idea why because we had five or six days of rest, but we were out of gas. We had no energy."

They'll need to recover that against the Tar Heels (33-3).

Antawn Jamison had 20 points and 14 rebounds, Vince Carter added 20 points and 10 rebounds, while Shammond Williams had 18 points and a career-tying nine rebounds.

North Carolina, in its first season under Dean Smith's longtime assistant, Bill Guthridge, moved within a victory of its fifth Final Four of the decade. Guthridge tied Indiana State's Bill Hodges for the most wins by a first-year coach. Hodges accomplished the feat in 1978-79, with Larry Bird in his lineup.

"I'm excited about being one step away, I certainly hope we can get there," Guthridge said. "But I've been there a lot and I don't feel any different as a head coach — except when you (reporters) bring it up."

The Tar Heels also would tie the single-season school record for wins by beating UConn.

Mateen Cleaves, the Big Ten player of the year, led the Spartans (22-8) with 18 points, but was 7-for-21.

WEST
Even the presence of Jerry West, the most famous West Virginia alumnus of them all, couldn't help the Mountaineers (24-9) pull another upset when they couldn't buy a basket in the final moments.

"We still had enough time to tie or win the game," coach Gale Catlett said. "We couldn't convert at the end."

Michael Doleac had 25 points and nine rebounds for the Utes, who have averaged 28 wins the last four seasons, but not gotten beyond the regional final.

"It certainly wasn't an artistic game," coach Rick Majerus said. "But I was proud of the way our guys played. We hung tough."

Mike Bibby scored 18 of his 26 points in the first half as Arizona (30-4) spurted away from Maryland (21-11). After trailing by 14 early in the second half, Maryland closed within one with 10:32 remaining. Arizona simply kicked in its speedy offensive game, reeling off nine straight points to put down the Terps' threat.

"One person starts hitting, another person starts hitting, then another person starts hitting, that's a spurt," Michael Dickerson said. "We just get some easy baskets."

Laron Profit led the Terps with 19 points and 10 rebounds.

BASEBALL-SOFTBALL

PAMPA — Pampa Optimist Club is looking for managers for the baseball-softball leagues this year.

Managers are needed at every level, but especially in the 7-9 year-old softball league. Presently there are two managers for teams in this league.

Three additional managers are needed to guide teams in this age division.

If you are interested in managing a team in the 7-9 softball league, contact Jimmie Clark before Thursday, March 26 at 669-7782.

Managers are also needed for the baseball leagues. The number of teams and players will be limited by the number of managers.

Persons interested in coaching a baseball team can contact Sam Coffee at 665-1259.

BASKETBALL

PAMPA — The annual Pampa High School boys' basketball banquet is set for 6:30 p.m. March 26 in the First Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Call 669-4832 if more information is needed.

WHITE DEER — White Deer senior Nick Knocke has been named to the All-District 2-2A Boys' Basketball Team.

Kareem Abdullah of Clarendon was named the district's most valuable player.

All-District 2-2A Team

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)

Avery Johnson and Vinny Del Negro kept the San Antonio Spurs in the game until David Robinson found the range in the final quarter.

Johnson scored 20 of his 22 points and Del Negro 14 of his 16 in the first three quarters Wednesday night as the Spurs held the Minnesota Timberwolves to their lowest point total this season in a 92-76 victory.

Johnson went 9-of-12 from the field and Del Negro was 7-for-11 for the Spurs, who led 68-62 after three quarters.

"With our team, our perimeter guys have opportunities because our big guys draw so much attention," Johnson said. "This was a night when we had some better spacing than some other nights."

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)

With eight seconds left and his team down by one point, Ronald McKnight went up for a can't-miss layup and did just that — missed.

Fortunately for McKnight and his DeKalb, Ga., teammates, he was fouled on the play and nailed two free throws to help DeKalb beat Mesa, Ariz., 65-62 in the men's National Junior College Championship tournament Thursday.

The loss eliminated Mesa from the tournament.

In other action, Angelina, Texas, eliminated Allegany, Md., 92-82, and Northern Oklahoma eliminated Western Nebraska with an 86-66 victory. Northwest Mississippi (29-5) beat Vincennes, Ind. 68-59; Indian Hills, Iowa, beat Pasco Hernando, Fla., 81-59; and Southern Union, Ala., defeated Kaskaskia, Ill., 103-98 in overtime.

McKnight led DeKalb (25-9) with 16 points, Trabian Booker had 15 points and Marvin Hampton scored 13.

Thomas Watkins led Mesa (20-14) with 22 points.

Eric Chatfield put together a near-perfect first half to propel Angelina (21-14) to a 92-82 win over Allegany, Md.

Chatfield scored 17 points in the first half as Angelina took a 35-27 halftime lead.

Pampa sophomore Joy Young, in her first year on the Pampa track team, has given the Lady Harvesters depth in the sprints. She is the sister of Texas Tech basketball standout Rayford Young.

Pampa girls entered in Borger meet

PAMPA — Going into spring break, the unbeaten Pampa High girls' track team looks more unbeatable with every meet.

The Lady Harvesters are averaging 190 points a meet in winning the Top O' Texas Invitational, Frenship Relays and Bulldog Relays this season.

The Lady Harvesters are getting it done with depth. At the Bulldog Relays in Plainview last weekend, Pampa had eight individuals who placed third or better in six events.

That's not counting the 800 and 400-meter relay teams which win both events with relative ease.

"Our relay teams are doing real well. We won the sprint relay with a 49.75, but we had a 49.5 in the preliminaries, which is real good," said Pampa coach Mike Lopez.

Pampa's 800-relayers had a 1:46 in the prelims and won with a 1:44.75.

"We're way ahead of schedule with our times," Lopez added.

In the shot put, Pampa junior Barbara Wine seems to be right on schedule for another state meet appearance.

Wine's 42-4 at the Bulldog Relays is the best throw among area shot putters so far this season.

"I felt like Wine did excellent," Lopez said. "It was one of her best throws ever."

Wine finished third in the state meet a year ago.

Lopez also lauded the efforts of Von Evans (200), Andrea Rodriguez (discus) and Lacrese Ford (100).

"Evans had a real good meet with her 26.04," Lopez said.

Evans, a sophomore, is unbeaten in the 200.

Rodriguez, who placed second in the discus at the Bulldog Relays, has been a pleasant surprise for Lopez.

"She's been a plus for us. She finished second in the discus and we weren't expecting it. She's been working real hard to improve," Lopez said.

Ford is unbeaten in the 100 after three meets.

"It was another win for Ford," Lopez said. "I'm expecting real good things from her."

Only about half of the Pampa team will compete in Borger's Bulldog Relays Saturday.

"We won't be at full strength," Lopez said. "Some of the girls will be taking off because of spring break."

It may be the only meet this season where an opponent has a chance at challenging the Lady Harvesters for first place.

Work ethic keeps Witt in big leagues

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) — Bobby Witt had the best start of his career last season and one of his worst finishes.

Witt provided stability in the Texas Rangers rotation with a 7-0 record through May 25. Then came the 5-12 finish for a 12-12 record and 4.83 ERA. He won only two games after the All-Star break.

The second half fizzle has Witt in spring training this year doing what he does best: work.

"Growing up, my Dad always worked two jobs and I think the way he went out and worked instilled in me at a young age that to get to the next level you have to work," Witt said.

Witt's good start last season was a bright spot in an unstable rotation that was hampered by injuries to Ken Hill and Roger Pavlik and an off-season by John Burkett.

"Bobby's been around so long because he works so hard," general manager Doug Melvin said.

"There are guys who came up with him that may have had more talent but they're gone and Bobby's still here."

Witt, beginning his 12th season, still can pop a 90 mph fast ball but he's learned better control over the years and still regularly strikes out 100-plus batters. He had 121 strikeouts last season.

"I credit my work ethic for still being here," Witt said. "Just because you make it, doesn't mean you've got it made. You can't just kind of put it a roller coaster and ride out the rest of your career."

But Witt's 1997 performance was like a roller coaster ride, with a big dropoff at the end.

"I'm trying to forget about last year," Witt said. "I started well and I was 10-4 at the break," Witt said. "Then it got to mid-August and things weren't going right. I think maybe I wasn't concentrating as much as I should have been."

Witt started the season as the fifth starter. Expectations rose with his 7-0 start, but more victories didn't follow.

"I was letting things around me distract me from what I was trying to do and that wasn't a good situation," Witt said. "I shouldn't have been doing that."

Although he's pitched for Oakland and Florida, most of Witt's career has been with the Rangers and he's well-represented on the club's all-time leader lists. He's second among Rangers pitchers with 99 victories, 100 losses, 1,375 strikeouts, and he's the all-time walks-allowed leader with 968.

He still enjoys going to work.

"This is my work period, down here, getting ready for the season and I enjoy it," Witt said. "I still get that little pre-game feeling, not nervous but more like butterflies."

Texas Tech sets Red-Black game

LUBBOCK — The Texas Tech football team will culminate its spring drills with the annual Red-Black Game scheduled for April 4 at 10 a.m. at Jones Stadium.

The Texas Tech athletic department has planned a number of exciting activities to make the event fun for fans and players alike and encourage attendance from throughout the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico region. In addition, for the first time ever the game will be broadcast live on KKAM-AM (1340) in Lubbock and in Spanish on KXTQ-AM-FM (93.7).

"This year's Red-Black game will be a real fan-oriented event," said Texas Tech football coach Spike Dykes. "We wanted to do something that our fans would enjoy, while at the same time providing a fun atmosphere for our players and coaches. With the fans choosing the starting lineups and Chancellor Montford coaching the Red Team, I think the entire event will be a real treat to those in attendance. I won't have to do anything but sit back and watch what happens. With Raider Alley and the baseball game against Missouri afterwards, I'm looking forward to a fun day."

Fans will have the opportunity to select the starting lineup for the Red team on Texas Tech's Internet website at <http://www.texastech.com>.

For information on the Red-Black game, contact the Texas Tech Athletic Marketing and Promotions Office at 806-742-1195. For radio broadcast information, contact All Sports Radio Network at 806-792-2000.

Travis State Office Building, Austin, Texas, and, to the extent possible, of subsequent working days. The room number and exact time of the continuation will be announced on the record in this proceeding and recorded with Docket Services, Office of General Counsel, Railroad Commission of Texas. PURSUANT TO SAID HEARING, the Commission will enter such rules, regulations, and orders as in its judgment the evidence presented may justify, including placement of the proposed well at a different location from that requested by applicant, and establishment of the amount of acreage of the applicants' tract that can reasonably be considered to be productive of hydrocarbons for the purpose of assessing an allowable. ANY REQUEST FOR POSTPONEMENT of this hearing must be received no later than five (5) working days prior to the scheduled date shown above. Copies of such request must be forwarded to all parties shown on the service list. TO APPEAR IN SUPPORT OF OR IN OPPOSITION TO THIS PROCEEDING, a party other than the applicant must file with Docket Services, Office of General Counsel, at least five (5) working days in advance of the hearing date, a notice of intent to appear. IF ANY PARTY DESIRES A WRITTEN TRANSCRIPT of the hearing, that party should notify the Court Reporter's office at (512) 463-6926, at least five (5) working days in advance of the hearing date. If a written transcript is requested, the commission may assess the cost of the transcript to one or more parties. Unless any party requests a written transcript, the record will be made by audio tape recording. ANY INDIVIDUAL WITH A DISABILITY who need auxiliary aids and services in order to have an equal opportunity to effectively communicate and participate in this hearing must request such aids or services at least two weeks prior to the scheduled hearing by notifying the Personnel office of the Railroad Commission of Texas by mail at P.O. Box 12967, Austin, Texas 78711-2967, or by telephone at (512) 463-7327 or TDD No. (512) 463-7284. ALL EXHIBITS FILED AS A PART OF THE RECORD IN THIS CAUSE MUST BE SUBMITTED IN DUPLICATE. DATA IN COMMISSION RECORDS MAY BE INCORPORATED BY REFERENCE, BUT THE REFERENCE MUST BE SPECIFIC, AND IF IT INCLUDES EXHIBITS FILED IN PRIOR PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE COMMISSION, A COPY OF SUCH EXHIBIT PROPERLY IDENTIFIED SHALL BE SUBMITTED FOR THIS RECORD.
