Open Letters by Pa Pampa

To The Rev. James Daly
REVEREND SIR: I don't know when I enjoyed anything so much as your address on "Crime," as delivered at the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club Friday. My only regret is that I did not hear it. Since you say that something you read in Thursday night's Pampa Daily News inspired the talk, the editor of my home town paper should feel grateful that he got you off on that line of thought. I heartily agree with you that what the country needs today is a systematic, scientific method of crime prevention, rather than crime correction. If, as you say, one-fifth of the money spent on the latter method, which doesn't seem to be working successfully, were spent on the former method, then we might be getting at the bottom of a cancerous condition which besets our country today.
PA PAMPA.

To McLean Boosters
DEAR FELLOWS: Thanks for your invitation to come over to your party Oct. 9 on the occasion of the Will Rogers Highway-Jericho Gap celebration and barbecue. As I understand it now, a great many of my citizens will be on hand to help you celebrate, along with delegations of good-will from here to Oklahoma City. Just to reassure you that my people know you are good neighbors and that they'll try to express that relationship with you on this great occasion.
PA PAMPA.

To Mayor W. A. Bratton
DEAR MAYOR: I read with interest your experience with honey-mooners on a snow-covered mountain pass. I must take this means to express my appreciation to you for carrying Pampa hospitality to the heights. When I see in the evening blasts cannot melt torrid heartbeats. As an aid to cupid, you are "tops."
PA PAMPA.

To Restaurant Proprietors
DEAR BOYS: A friend of mine who writes for this space during the week days, as you no doubt have guessed by now, is a hamburger sandwich addict, and he is pretty picky about the spelling and pronunciation of his favorite fruit. He called up last night to remind me that he hasn't overlooked the fact that some of you still are misspelling it on your daily menus. You ought to take care of that. "Hamburger" is correct, if you're still in doubt.
PA PAMPA.

To Carl Benefield
DEAR CARL: I liked your gesture in turning over one of your theatres Saturday to gather wearing apparel for needy children in Pampa. Making shoes and clothing equal to theatre tickets is one of the best group of children and much needed bringing good entertainment to one assistance to another.
PA PAMPA.

To David S. Ballou
DEAR DAVID: Welcome to Pampa as manager of Radio Station KPDN. I understand you are an old Texan, Californian and New Yorker, and with all that background you ought to have a barrel of good ideas that will pay KPDN's vast audience of listeners to keep their car tuned to your wave from the Top 'O' Texas. We'll be listening.
PA PAMPA.

To Mrs. Julia Kelley
DEAR MRS. KELLEY: And while we're standing here at the head of the welcoming committee, let me open our doors of hospitality to you, too. As new head of the County Home Demonstration office here we realize that you have a definite task in our community and it is a pleasure to have you with us, and to offer any cooperation which we may lend.
PA PAMPA.

To The Harvesters
DEAR FELLOWS: Even though you came out on the short end Friday night, you sure looked good and showed many improvements over your other two games this season. As it appeared to me about the only thing wrong with you in the Norman game was a bit of "goal-line fright." In the radio business they call it "mike fright," and on the stage it's "stage fright." Getting the ball down there didn't seem to bother you much, but getting it over was the problem of which you failed in solution. But keep on improving as you have, and you ought to have that whipped in another week.
PA PAMPA.

To Miss Bernice Addison
JOURNALISM TEACHER: Pampa is proud to have you join her staff of public educators as instructor in the English and Journalism classes

I Heard . . .

That Jack Sutherland arrived in Pampa Friday night with a night owl hanging on the handle of his car door. He said he drove thru a regular cloud of the birds near Liberal, Kans. One of them failed to get clear and was pierced thru by the door handle.

That Chris Martin put on a regular war dance when he learned that T. G. U. his alma mater, had defeated Arkansas yesterday. Clifford Braly also staged one when he found out that his old team, Texas Longhorns, had held L. S. U. to a 6 to 6 tie.

PENSION FUND SHORTAGE PREDICTED

Exhibits Prove Matanuska Fertility

Typical of Matanuska Valley homes and farm buildings are those, owned by Walter Pippel, colonist, who already has started repaying his government loan. He was an expert truck gardener in Minnesota before going to Alaska. Striking proof that nearly every variety of vegetable can be grown in Alaska is given here, in an exhibit at the first Matanuska Valley fair. M. D. Snodgrass, old settler in the valley and chairman of the fair, is shown with onions, carrots, cucumbers, cabbage, lettuce, turnips, celery, potatoes, wheat, and clover raised by colonists.

PAMPANS GIVE GENEROUSLY TO NEEDY CITIZENS
Necessity For Drive Appears To Be Growing

Foot-gear of every description, shoes, boots, slippers, low quarters for men and boys, tennis shoes, house shoes, baby boots, sandals, rubbers, overshoes, and even football shoes filled a huge box at the entrance of the LaNora theater last night after the close of the clothing-shoe matinee.

Four huge boxes of clothing were accepted as admission. More than 225 children were admitted free after either shoes or clothing were inspected and pronounced wearable. Mrs. Willie Bains of the relief office said that all shoes were in good condition, and members of the Parent-Teacher association which inspected the clothing, said that the garments were the best yet received in a similar manner.

Sasser Gives Sack Full

Persons in need of either clothing or shoes are urged to make their wants known at the relief office on the third floor of the courthouse, next to the district clerk's office.

All shoes, except those for children, of pre-school age and for adults, will be turned over to the P-TA for distribution. The P-TA

MINNESOTA BEFORE GOING TO ALASKA
Striking proof that nearly every variety of vegetable can be grown in Alaska is given here, in an exhibit at the first Matanuska Valley fair. M. D. ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 4.
—Nearly two months before Thanksgiving day, Alaska's Matanuska Valley has celebrated its first bountiful harvest by staging the First Annual Matanuska Valley Fair.

For four days the Matanuska colonists gloated over fat livestock, bundles of vegetables, sheaves of wheat, bunches of clover, and other products which were the colonists' answer to those who said nothing could be grown in Alaska.

Typical example of what can be grown is the garden of Ross L. Shierly, manager of the corporation. Potatoes, radishes, turnips, beets, rutabagas, parsnips, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, lettuce, kohlrabi, peas, beans, onions, spinach, celery, and even tomatoes were there.

Most of the colonists do not fear the oncoming winter. Their houses are built now, and the first winter was no colder than the winters some of them had gone through in the states.

Mosquitoes were bad during the summer, but the season for them is only about a month and a half long.

Three colonists, Virgil Eckhart, Joseph Puhl, and Walter Pippel, no longer need government credit and have started paying back government loans.

However, it has been more than two months since any colonists have left to go back to the states. Sixty children have added to the population of the colony and there will be many more arrivals in the next few months.

All in all, the majority of the Matanuska residents are finding plenty to live for again, and it was with the spirit of the Pilgrims of 1621 that these 20th century pioneers celebrated their first Thanksgiving.

NEW MANAGER TAKES POST AT STATION KPDN
David Ballou Heads Staff of Pampa Radio Unit

David S. Ballou, formerly affiliated with the motion picture and radio industries in California, has joined the staff of KPDN, Pampa Daily News radio station, as manager. Mr. Ballou succeeds Robert J. MacKenzie who resigned a month ago to take a new radio post in Temple, Tex.

The new manager of KPDN has had wide experience in the radio field. He formerly was associated with Warner Bros. film company in Los Angeles, station KGB in San Diego, stations KPAC-KFVD and KFI in Los Angeles, production manager of KNX, Hollywood, and general executive of KMTR in Hollywood.

Mr. Ballou also was associated with the National Broadcasting Company in San Francisco. For the past year and a half he has served as national representative for Standard Radio, Inc., with headquarters in Chicago.

Management of KPDN was assumed by Mr. Ballou Friday. The new executive of the Pampa radio station is 35 years old and married.

Fire Prevention Week Proclaimed
City-Wide Program Outlined For Period

Pampans are urged in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor W. A. Bratton to observe Fire Prevention week by cleaning up their property and correcting fire hazards. A city-wide program is being arranged for Pampa this week when the terrible losses of life and property from fire will be unfolded through talks, posters and demonstrations.

Mayor Bratton's proclamation follows:

WHEREAS the annual fire loss in the United States includes thousands of human lives taken and hundreds of millions of dollars of property values destroyed; and

WHEREAS this loss has been materially reduced by the preventive measures adopted during recent years; and

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Pampa to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Pampa this third day of October in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-six.

W. A. BRATTON.

Madrid Bombarded By Rebel Planes

EVACUATION OF CAPITAL BEGUN AFTER ATTACK

FASCIST BATTLE LINES ARE NEARER TO SEAT OF GOVERNMENT

MADRID, Oct. 4 (Sunday)—(AP)—Evacuation of Madrid, nearly encircled by Fascist battle lines, was reported early today to have begun following new bombardment by insurgent planes.

Wounded government militiamen and children were understood to have been the first to leave the city. They were said to be going to Valencia on the Mediterranean coast to the east.

In that direction alone could persons flee from the capital without encountering the Fascist forces, which were strung south, west and north of Madrid.

Officials reported that the insurgents had dropped 45 bombs in the latest raid but that there were no casualties and little damage.

North of Madrid, surging Fascist attacks broke on the government's defenses.

From the northeast and northwest, in the Sierra sector, the insurgents rolled their lines forward on Madrid as the government pushed expansion of its anti-aircraft defenses.

Much importance was attached in the capital to air raids on Madrid as it was feared the insurgents hoped to clear their way into the capital by instilling terror into the inhabitants.

A military communiqué however, said 250 of the enemy were killed in action near Elvillar village on the Cordoba front.

Government forces operating from Olias Cabanas de la Sagra were reported to have renewed their counter-attacks on the Fascist captors of Bayacas despite a continuous bombardment from 12 insurgent bombers which lasted the entire morning.

WAR ON FIRE HAZARDS BEGUN IN CITY DRIVE

Pampa will join the rest of the nation this week in a fire prevention campaign in which schools, clubs, organizations and individuals will have a part. Yesterday Mayor W. A. Bratton issued a proclamation urging residents of the city to cooperate in every way in making Pampa a safer place in which to live.

The program designed to teach men, women and children the dangers of fire has been outlined by a chamber of commerce committee composed of M. A. Graham, chairman, Fire Chief Ben White, Harry Oden, W. T. Fraser, B. W. Rose and R. B. Fisher. It will include placing of home inspection blanks in the hands of every school child, placing of placards in prominent places, talks at civic clubs and in schools, and inspections by firemen and the city building inspector.

Parents are urged to help their children fill out the 19 questions on the inspection blank. Principles of the high school and grade schools and their teachers have pledged their support of the fire prevention program.

Pupils in the English classes in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will be asked to write a 50-word theme on fire prevention. Three medals will be awarded in each grade by M. F. Downs Insurance

BURGLARS LOOT CULLUM'S SAFE

Robbers gained entrance to the Cullum and Son garage on N. Cuyler-st Friday night and looted the office safe of $181.14 in cash and a $75 watch in which to live.

The robbers took advantage of the fact that all employees had left the building to attend the football game. Fred Cullum, proprietor, said yesterday that in a hurry to get to the grid contest some of the cash was left in the safe.

Entrance was gained by entering a rear window. The robbers knocked the combination knob off the safe with a sledge hammer and used a punch to pry locks from two cash boxes on the inside.

The robbery was discovered Saturday morning by the porter who found the office in disorder. Mr. Cullum said the thieves overlooked $20 left 24 cents on the floor and did not take any checks or gasoline books. These were found scattered about the office.

Deputy sheriffs and city police were called to investigate. The only clue found was a footprint outside the rear window of the garage. Police said it was believed the robbers used gloves.

REVISION OF PRESENT LAW IS NECESSITY

DIRECTOR OF FEDERAL BOARD DELIVERS WARNING

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—The House of Representatives concluded its inquiry into old age assistance today with the questioning of Frank Bane, director of the National Social Security board.

In ringing tones, the director told the legislators, sitting as a committee of the whole, the federal government would not lend money to Texas for pensions this quarter, but could match only funds in the treasury or expected to be therein before Jan. 1.

Further explaining federal policies, he said the government would not match retroactive grants to pensioners as provided by the Texas law. He expressed the opinion he would send about $750,000 in Texas soon to match state funds now on hand and later on would match what money had accrued.

Allred Comments

Texas had requested $3,000,000 in federal aid to continue pension payments until January 1, and Governor Allred called the legislature into special session to provide new revenue. The governor commented after Bane's testimony that considerable funds were in the treasury, more would come in from liquor taxes and House committees had reported favorably bills transferring about $450,000 from the permanent pension and $25,000 from the securities funds to the available pension fund.

As an emergency measure, the governor has recommended borrowing $3,000,000 from the highway fund, but this has met bitter opposition in some sources. A hearing on the proposal will be held by a House committee next Tuesday.

Following by a day the appearance of Orville S. Carpenter, state pensions director, Bane said that while the social security board has not determined a definite policy on the point he believed it would not match payments to all persons over 65 years of age, if Texas authorized them, but that proportion definitely in "need." Throughout his testimony, he stressed that the national law provided for payments based on "need," but the states could define "need."

He also voiced the personal opinion that federal aid could not be

TEXAN, 118, LONGS FOR DAYS WHEN SPAIN RULED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 3 (AP)—One hundred and eighteen years of life have left Mrs. Anastacia Camargo sharp-eyed, sharp-witted, and erect—but regretful that "young people nowadays die fast."

"They don't seem now to have so much of life as we of the older stock" lamented the ancient Indian woman, who has seen four flags fly over her Texas home on the Rio Grande.

Ernest Arthur L. Campa, University of New Mexico folklore authority, told today of his visit with Mrs. Camargo. Through her memory, he sought to enlarge the volume of fact and legend concerning the early days of Texas and southern New Mexico.

At 118—old records verify her age—Mrs. Camargo is well and active. Her hair is white, but abundant. She can thread a needle, sew and cook. Daily she carries on such laborious household chores as washing and wood-chopping.

In the hills nine miles from El Paso, Tex., she lives in a little adobe house with her youngest son, himself more than 70. She calls him "Mi Hijo"—my little boy.

Her eyes brighten with pleasure when she recalls the gay days when Spain, and the Mexican, ruled her homeland. She disapproves of modern music and dancing as just "moaning" and "hopping around."

pass from Spain to Mexico. She saw the birth of the short-lived Lone Star Republic and the later days of territoriality in any statehood. Raymond Archer was taken home after receiving medical attention. A third person was not injured.

The two injured men were taken to Pampa-Jarrat hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance. Their car, which rolled into the narrow pit, was badly damaged. Cause of the accident was not determined by officers.

A few minutes after the Memphis car had left the road, two cars met near the same place with damage to both. No one was injured in that crash.

ANOTHER WORLD BROADCAST IS GIVEN BY KPDN

Supt. Fisher Talks to Pacific Coast Listeners

KPDN, radio voice of The Pampa Daily News, talked with the world again early Saturday morning in another of its semi-monthly long distance broadcasts. The station went out over a cleared frequency between 2 and 3 a. m. by special permission of the Federal Communications Commission.

R. B. Fisher, superintendent of Pampa schools, spoke for ten minutes on the broadcast which was dedicated to Pacific coast listeners and to Radio Station WKY, Oklahoma City.

Other features on the DX program included Billy Hunter's Hollywood Ramblers orchestra, Casa Loma Cowboys, and various entertainers on the regular station staff.

Uncle Bud, KPDN character entertainer, acted master of ceremony and Ray Monday, station announcer, handled the DX program announcements.

Officials of KPDN today were in receipt of many mail, telegraph and telephone messages, congratulating the station upon its service in bringing the World Series games play-by-play from the Polo Grounds in New York and for the excellent broadcast.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Two Pampa high school students, willing to have their names published, have answered Judge Todd who recently deplored the night clubbing and drinking of Pampa boys and girls in their early teens.

One is a girl who is a pep squad leader, a member of the National Honor Society, most popular girl in her class for two years. The other is a boy, elected favorite last year. The reply:

"We agree that many kids here drink and throw wild parties but their number is small compared to the huge group that doesn't, but that is beside the point. Why do they debase themselves at night clubs and 'rat races'? Because there is no place else to go. Because the powers that be in the city decide to spend thousands on the race track to encourage gambling, instead of building recreation centers that would discourage vice and crime; because the men who run Pampa are now planning to build a lake that will be nice for those who own boats. The thousands of dollars spent on the race track and the huge sum paid for a recreation building in every part of town, and would have stopped much of the juvenile delinquency and debauchery that now so upsets the laws who sometimes raid the night clubs."

MEMPHIS YOUTHS ARE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Two Memphis youths, enroute to Pampa from LeFlore where they had attended a football game, were injured Friday night about 10:30 o'clock when their car overturned a mile south of the city limits. Ross McLure was treated for cuts and bruises and suffered shock which caused him to be kept in the hospital until yesterday morning. Raymond Archer was taken home after receiving medical attention. A third person was not injured.

The two injured men were taken to Pampa-Jarrat hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance. Their car, which rolled into the narrow pit, was badly damaged. Cause of the accident was not determined by officers.

A few minutes after the Memphis car had left the road, two cars met near the same place with damage to both. No one was injured in that crash.

KING'S FRIEND RENTS RESIDENCE IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 3 (AP)—The News Weekly, Cavalcade, said today Mrs. Ernest Simpson, Baltimore woman who is a friend of King Edwards, will take over a house in the fashionable Regents park section of London on Thursday for seven months.

Mrs. Simpson, Cavalcade asserted, is already busy decorating her new residence and making it as comfortable as her old Bryanston court home, where the king had teas and dinners.

The magazine said that she has rented the house for 25 guineas (about $126 weekly) from Mrs. Cuthbert Stewart and that she paid her rent in advance before Mrs. Stewart left for a vacation world cruise.

I Saw . . .

In the A-P story on the S. M. U.-Javelina game at Dallas yesterday that Charles Busacker who spent the summer in Pampa and who was known as the best diver at the swimming pool, started in the backfield for the Mustangs, one time returning a kick to the A. & I's 7-yard stripe.

One little girl whose pair of shoes was turned down at the LaNora shoe-clothing matinee yesterday. The child's parents are among the needy. Friday she went to the relief office and declared she "had" to have a pair of shoes. She was wearing them when she left the office. Yesterday, they were offered at the Theater. "The child was desperate to see a movie; I feel sorry for her," the relief worker said.

New Financial Feature To Begin Monday in NEWS

"The Financial Whirligig," a daily feature written by Lou Schneider, national known stock market analyst, will begin in Monday's Pampa Daily News as a regular daily feature in this newspaper.

The Whirligig will give Daily NEWS readers the news behind the news in the world of finance. It is an up-to-the-minute resume of what's happening in stock, bond, trade and industrial channels throughout the nation.

It will supply an insight and analysis of market conditions and discuss possibilities and likely trends along national and world financial avenues.

"The Financial Whirligig" is an outstanding service that the Pampa Daily News feels fortunate in obtaining for its readers. Watch for the first WHIRLIGIG in Monday's paper.

FORD ADVISES INDUSTRY TO HELP FARMER

USE PRODUCTS, SUCH AS SOYBEANS, HE URGES

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 3. (AP)—Henry Ford, whose genius carried him to world industrial heights, foresees a better day for the American farmer, through public realization that:

"The farm and the shop each needs what the other produces."

This inscription on the wall of the Ford rotunda at Dearborn, characterizes Mr. Ford's idea of a "national partnership" between agriculture and industry.

It is his theory that agriculture and industry suffer from ailments which can be cured by a partnership.

Mr. Ford said: "Business is only exchange of goods. If we want the farmer to be our customer, we must find a way to become his customer."

That is exactly what Mr. Ford set out to do six years ago.

Experimentation and development took time.

Today, however, Mr. Ford declared the partnership is "coming so fast that we can hardly keep up with it."

It is an interesting story, a story of accomplishment, centering about the soybean, the farm product which has found a place in industry, although for thousands of years it was known only as a food for animals and humans. Laboratories were set up and various products were subjected to experiments. It was found that oils, proteins, carbohydrates and fibers, valuable to American industry could be obtained. The soybean offered one of the greatest possibilities, both agriculture and industry being considered. Other products were not forgotten, but it was decided to concentrate on soybeans. "There was immediate need," Mr. Ford believed, "for the American farmer to become an industrial supplier and an industrial worker to aid himself in bettering his financial condition."

'PAM' BARTON TAKES WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE

SUMMIT, N. J., Oct. 3. (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Pamela "Pam" Barton of London, British titleholder, won the 40th U. S. women's golf championship today and became the second woman in history to win both major titles in one year.

Miss Barton, plump, titan-haired, and always smiling, conquered the veteran Maureen Orcutt Crews of Coral Gables, Fla., 4 and 3 in 33 holes.

She dashed the hopes of the 28-year-old American who also was beaten in the finals nine years ago, with a two under par performance on the last 17 holes, mastering conditions on Canoe Brook country club's soft and slow course that had flummoxed other contestants during the week's play.

By virtue of her triumph, Miss Barton equaled the "double" scored by Dorothy Campbell, now Mrs. Hurd, in 1909 and kept alive a long tradition—every foreigner who ever reached the finals has won. Mrs. Hurd won in 1909 and 1910 and Gladys Ravenscroft, another English woman, captured the title in 1913 in the last international final until today's.

SHERIFF'S SALE THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Gray

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain alias order of sale issued out of the honorable 78th district court of Wichita County on the 2nd day of June, 1936, by L. Sanderford, clerk, by Edna Berner, deputy of said 78th district court, of Wichita county for the sum of thirty-seven thousand one hundred twenty-five and no 1/100 dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment, in favor of the First National Bank of Wichita Falls, Texas, a national banking corporation, in a certain cause in said court, No. 30154-B and styled The First National Bank of Wichita Falls, Texas, a national banking corporation, vs. T. B. Noble, placed in my hands for service, I, Earl Talley, sheriff of Gray county, Texas, did, on the 3rd day of October, 1936, levy on certain real estate, situated in Gray county, Tex., described as follows, to-wit:

An undivided one-half interest in sections 9, 10, 15 and 16 in block A-6, H&ON RR. Co. surveys in Gray county, Texas, each section containing 640 acres, and the northeast quarter of section 49, block A-9, H&ON RR. Co. survey, containing 160 acres, said land being located in the middle-eastern part of Gray county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of T. B. Noble and that on the first Tuesday in November, 1936, the same being the 3rd day of said month, at the court house door of Gray county, in the city of Pampa, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said alias order of sale, I will sell said above described real estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said T. B. Noble.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Pampa Daily News, newspaper published in Gray county. Witness my hand, this 3rd day of October, 1936. EARL TALLEY, Sheriff, Gray County, Texas. By BUFORD REED, Deputy. (Oct. 4-11-1936)

Greta Garbo's Woodland Retreat in Sweden

In a retreat she has established forty miles from Stockholm, Great Greta Garbo (inset) will seek the seclusion that has surrounded Sweden's moving picture star with mystery for years. The handsome, remodelled 19th century farmhouse in which she will make her home and a glimpse of its inviting park and lake are pictured. Miss Garbo is said to have spent $75,000 for the estate retirement to which is believed to mark her farewell to the movies.

STOCKS RISE TO $3 A SHARE ON EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—On the heaviest Saturday buying rush since Feb. 1, equities on the New York stock exchange made gains of several cents to $3 or more a share today, numerous issues thrusting to new highs for the past six years.

Buying tumbled into the market in the wake of Friday's burst which started the vigorous upswing. Many blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares changed hands.

Brokers said Wall Street's fears of liquidation from abroad had largely vanished and that this had touched off a large pile of bullish market tinder which had been accumulating recently.

Since August, they explained, two forces have been at work. Good news had been coming in from the trade and industrial front. Meanwhile the threat of French franc devaluation had dangled over Wall Street, generating fears of a possible resultant avalanche of foreign selling, as "refuge" funds returned to Europe to cash in dollars for a greater number of devalued francs. Stock transactions totaled 1,632,260 shares.

VALLEY STUDENTS ARE ATTENDING CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, Oct. 3. (AP)—Two hundred students from the Rio Grande district arrived in Dallas tonight for the observance tomorrow and Monday of District 24's days at the Texas Centennial exposition.

Students from that area, lying from Brownsville northward to Corpus Christi and westward to Laredo, are expected to invade the fair grounds approximately 1,000 strong tomorrow.

Delegations arriving were 80 students from Alice, 90 from Sinton, 24 from Ben Bolt, a rural district near Alice.

Hutchinson Returns Eight Indictments

(Special to the Pampa News) STINNETT, Oct. 3.—The Hutchinson county grand jury today returned indictments against Whalen Noblett and Eddie Smiles on three counts and Babe Welch on two counts of burglary.

Arlis Curtis, Walter McConnell and Roy Lee Speck must answer to charges of theft of more than $50. J. M. Sidwell and Alvin Hewitt were indicted for auto theft.

The jury adjourned until Monday when it is expected additional indictments will be returned.

GRAND CHAMP STEER IS ABERDEEN-ANGUS

FORT WORTH, Oct. 3. (AP)—Visitors at the Fort Worth Centennial livestock show for the opening day today witnessed selection of the grand champion steer.

This honor went to the champion Aberdeen-Angus steer Sir Black Cat Quality, shown by W. E. Scripps, Lake Orion, Mich., in competition with the champion Hereford steer, Texas Pride, exhibited by J. D. Jordan Jr., Art, and the shorthorn champion, Coronet's Heir 4th, entered by A. & M. college of Texas.

Prize winners in the Hereford steer class were John M. Gist, Odessa, August Jordan, Art, Oklahoma-A. & M. College, Stillwater, Okla., and J. D. Jordan Jr., August Jordan is no stranger in show circles at Fort Worth. He had the grand champion steer of the 1935 show at Fort Worth.

First prize winners in the shorthorn classes were A. & M. college of Texas; Genoa ranch, Genoa; Max Walton Farms, Mansfield, Ohio, and A. & M. college of Texas.

BOY OF 7 YEARS BEATS BABY WITH IRON ROD

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 3. (AP)—A seven-year-old first grade school boy who beat and critically injured a 22-month-old baby with an iron rod showed defiance toward police but no remorse, authorities said today. They planned to recommend institutional care for him.

"I wanted to knock his (the baby's) brains out," Police Inspector Fred Benson quoted the boy as having said under questioning. Police Chief Ralph E. Reed said the lad told Benson, "If I were a little older I'd punch your nose." The boy's name was withheld.

JOHN DUENKEL FIRM Joe Harrison of Bartlesville, Okla., joined the staff of the Charles Duenkel Funeral home yesterday. He holds a Texas funeral directors and embalmers license. Mr. Harrison is a graduate of the Hohenshuh and Carpenter college of embalming at St. Louis, Mo.

FASCIST PLANES BOMB LOYALIST-HELD TOWN

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Oct. 3. (AP)—Insurgent fascist warplanes renewed a bombardment of government-held Bilbao.

Some 25 projectiles were dropped upon the last major Basque city still in government hands. However, government defenders of Bilbao reported the side of the week's long battle in the northern sector had turned in favor of their forces.

The insurgents, it was reported, had been driven back into their old lines along the coast, miles from Bilbao.

Refugees reaching France said the government forces recaptured Ondarroa, while insurgent agents in France said they had learned their comrades to the west reached the Nalon river, only a few miles from Oviedo, long besieged by the government.

At the Nalon, the fascists said, the government forces broke and retreated, leaving a number of dead on the battle line.

WOMAN'S BODY HURLED FROM CAR AT KILGORE

KILGORE, Oct. 3. (AP)—A motorist found the body of Mrs. Sidney Price, 40, WPA sewing room worker at a roadside early today, a fatal bullet wound in the head.

Police Chief Bob Goss said he thought the woman had been slain and thrown from an automobile. He said he held a man for questioning. Officers arrested the suspect, they said, after sons of Mrs. Price identified him as a man who called last night to take the woman for a drive.

Police quoted the sons as saying they saw the man return and leave their mother's hat and gloves. Goss said the woman's hand was powder burned and similar burns on her face indicated she had struggled with an assailant and the shot had been fired at close range. He said searchers could not find a gun near the body.

The victim came here three years ago from Magnolia, Ark. Her husband and seven children survive. Four sons reside in Kilgore.

SUPREME COURT WILL REASSEMBLE MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Although the Supreme Court will reassemble Monday to begin a new eight-month term, there appears no likelihood that any final rulings on new deal cases will be handed down before the presidential election November 3.

The controversies over administration legislation, along with a variety of litigation involving state laws, are among the more than 400 cases awaiting action by the nine justices.

Thus far, the new deal has won two and lost 11 legal altercations before the court.

Major questions pending include the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act, and of the government furnishing PWA funds for publicly-owned hydroelectric projects.

Another dispute centers on whether the government can delay rulings by lower courts on validity of the utility holding company act until a case it has brought against the Electric Bond and Share in the southern New York federal district court is decided finally.

HELD IN CONTEMPT

HOUSTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly said today contempt proceedings against Hidalgo county commissioners in connection with a road tax levy had been withdrawn. Judge Kennerly said he had a statement saying the commissioners had complied with a citation he issued at Brownsville Sept. 22.

ARMOUR, SWIFT PRACTICES ARE UNFAIR, CLAIM

Secretary Wallace Accuses Packing Companies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Two major meat packing companies, Armour and Swift, today faced a complaint by Secretary Wallace that they had engaged in "unfair trade practices" in violation of law.

Agriculture department spokesmen said the packing companies had been notified of a hearing in New York City, Nov. 2, on charges of violating the packers and stock yards act in the New York City

Miller, chief of the meat industry who directed the act, said he was charged with obtaining meat business of New York by "fair business of the pack-

Miller said, some meat customers of the packers had obtained time in paying bills constituting a discrimination against other customers.

The solicitor's office of the department explained that the packers will be given an opportunity to answer the government charges at the New York hearing before an examiner of the department.

When the examiner's report is completed a copy will be furnished the packers and they can ask for oral argument before the secretary of agriculture, officials said.

about 30 miles south of Madrid on the main highway from Toledo. The line stretched over an important railway bridge and off to Mora, which is 35 miles almost due south of the capital, thence zig-zagging southwest and southeast. The insurgent warplanes spotted the troop movements and bombed the most concentrated government units. The railroad line into Madrid, another target for the insurgent airmen, escaped serious damage, but two houses were demolished by the 14 bombs loosed by the aviators.

HENDAYE, France, Oct. 4 (Sunday)—(AP)—Reports from Toledo, Spain early today said 2,300 government fighters were killed in the capture and "clean up" of that city last week by the Fascists. Ninety government militiamen who took refuge in a seminary of the occupation by the insurgents were reported captured and killed after holding out nearly a week. The Fascists set the building afire after a siege which bid fair to develop like that of insurgents in the old Alcazar fortress.

NO COMMUNISM BEING TAUGHT, AVERS DEAN

AUSTIN, Oct. 3. (AP)—Dean A. P. Brogan of the graduate school of Texas University, commenting on the legislative investigation into reports that communism was being taught in the state-controlled schools, said today: "The sentiment here is that if there are any communist groups in the university, it will serve a good purpose to find them out."

Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university, could not be reached for comment but has said he would welcome any investigation.

clothing room is located in the building formerly occupied by the Pampa Office supply company. The largest gift of shoes was made by D. W. Sasser, owner and manager of the City Shoe Shop, who donated several dozen pairs of shoes, all fully repaired and in good condition.

The shoe-clothing matinee was given by the LaNora theater in response to a plea made in the columns of the NEWS to help the needy. It was stated that scores of Pampa children could not go to school because they had no shoes or did not have sufficient clothing.

Need of Drive Apparent Before the matinee, dozens of sacks of clothing and shoes were brought to the relief office. One man brought a sack full of shoes to the NEWS office, and dozens of people telephoned stating that they would like to donate clothing or shoes, or would like to help needy persons mentioned in the newspaper.

The recent interest in relief cases and the anxious, generous willingness to help that was demonstrated, indicates that Pampa people do not want their neighbors to suffer from cold or hunger this winter, and that if a campaign to provide for their necessities were launched they would respond generously, as they always have. Persons well-acquainted with the local relief situation believe that a drive for funds to take care of the needy eventually will be necessary, and the sooner it is conducted the better off everybody will be.

Major hazards include: 1—Venting of stoves and heaters with vents that stop in the attic and do not extend through the roof. That allows gas fumes to collect, causing explosions and fire. 2—Burning trash in open containers on windy days. 3—Spontaneous ignition caused from improper care of oil mops, paint, clothing covered with grease, etc. 4—Use of gasoline for cleaning purposes. Gasoline vapors are heavier than air and will travel down at a rapid pace or to other rooms on the same level or if caught in a draft they will rise. When the right mixture of gas fumes and air is reached, it is as powerful as dynamite. 5—Letting trash accumulate in attics, basements, closets, etc. 6—Gas leaks. 7—Careless use of matches, cigarettes, etc. 8—Excessive use of lamp cord, running it under rugs, behind curtains, etc. 9—Bridging of fuses and use of coins bridged fuses in meter box. There are a few preventative suggestions: 1—Report a fire immediately so that the department can arrive in time to keep it from spreading. 2—Have a small extinguisher handy. It is easy to stop a fire if it is gotten to level enough. 3—Know your correct address when calling the fire department. 4—When a fireman comes to your house to make an inspection he is doing you a great service and is helping you save life and property.

Law Must Conform Answering a question by Rep. A. T. McKinney of Huntsville, chairman of the House steering committee, Bane said Texas had every right to expect that the government would match its pension funds "dollar for dollar" provided its law conformed to the social security act and was approved by the security board.

With reference to testimony by Carpenter that college degrees were qualifications for local inspectors, the director said the board had not made such requirement, but had urged, and had agreed with the Texas pension authorities on, the plan which it was believed would insure efficient administration. He said he questioned whether the pension administration in Texas had been as efficient or economical as it might have been. He explained this doubt was based solely on the large number of pensioners and the

He added, however, that this included many grants for the second quarter and expressed the opinion congress would appropriate more if the fund became empty.

Outlines Procedure The federal officer urged three lines of procedure to reduce the large number of pensioners in Texas. These were careful investigation of applications remaining to be examined, making certain that only competent, qualified persons were in the pension organization and careful rechecking of applicants already on the rolls.

The examination of Bane brought to an end a week in which the pension inquiry was the legislator's chief activity. A score of bills proposing various taxes to bolster old age assistance were introduced in the time, waiting for revenue measures to be sent over from the lower chamber.

Outlines Procedure The federal officer urged three lines of procedure to reduce the large number of pensioners in Texas. These were careful investigation of applications remaining to be examined, making certain that only competent, qualified persons were in the pension organization and careful rechecking of applicants already on the rolls.

The examination of Bane brought to an end a week in which the pension inquiry was the legislator's chief activity. A score of bills proposing various taxes to bolster old age assistance were introduced in the time, waiting for revenue measures to be sent over from the lower chamber.

Rep. Jesse James of Cameron, vice-chairman of the House committee on revenue and taxation, announced hearings would begin Monday on money bills and continue through Wednesday. Those providing levies on oil will be taken up first. A place for a hearing on the expectation the rolls would soar to 147,000 by Jan. 1. Bane testified the social security board already had allotted $40,000,000 of the $85,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the fiscal year which started July 1. He added, however, that this included many grants for the second quarter and expressed the opinion congress would appropriate more if the fund became empty.

Law Must Conform Answering a question by Rep. A. T. McKinney of Huntsville, chairman of the House steering committee, Bane said Texas had every right to expect that the government would match its pension funds "dollar for dollar" provided its law conformed to the social security act and was approved by the security board.

With reference to testimony by Carpenter that college degrees were qualifications for local inspectors, the director said the board had not made such requirement, but had urged, and had agreed with the Texas pension authorities on, the plan which it was believed would insure efficient administration. He said he questioned whether the pension administration in Texas had been as efficient or economical as it might have been. He explained this doubt was based solely on the large number of pensioners and the

THE POWER TO TAX

"The Power to Tax is the Power to Destroy." More than 100 years ago Chief Justice Marshall made that striking observation in one of his decisions on taxation.

There must be a great deal of truth in that maxim or it would have been forgotten years ago. Under some conditions the exercise of the power to tax is destructive. It is becoming alarmingly so today, and there is nothing in sight to indicate that taxes will be reduced, but rather, they will undoubtedly be increased to take care of the mounting expense of running all units of our government, including city, school district, County, State and Federal.

Taxation means (as I understand it) the taking of private income for public purposes. When any government exercises its power of taxation in unlimited degree it is capable of taking everything.

Fair taxation of incomes of property or inheritances is not harmful, but by placing on them exorbitant taxes destroys wealth or jobs of the course of an income.

We must remember that—as President Roosevelt said "taxes are paid out of the sweat of every workers brow," and today we have more taxes than were ever dreamed of before. Everything is taxed. The people generally do not realize it, but as a matter of fact they are paying a big rake off in taxes, so that millions of job-holders can be kept on government pay rolls and relief rolls. Senator Carter Glass, Democrat of Virginia in a recent speech denouncing taxes said:

"We now have a system of government of privilege and discrimination such as Patrick Henry denounced. The governments now is in all sorts of business. I wish Patrick Henry were living today. I wonder what he would think of the whims and vagaries in government—whime of impractical academicians some of whom never did a day's work or earned a meal by the sweat of their faces. If Patrick Henry were living, he would not cure one evil with a multitude of other evils. If he were living, he could not be bamboozled by talk of federal aid to states. When the government needs money it goes down into your pocket and gets it."

The statement that the present number of taxes is a burden on the backs of the citizens is no figure of speech. It is a hard relentless fact. Every man who spends five cents is a taxpayer, whether he realizes it or not. Taxation particularly in the shape of hidden consumers' taxes is like a hole in the pocket through which money quickly filters. Every added tax is equal to a cut in salary since it hikes the cost of living and depreciates the dollar's buying value. It makes the workman labor harder to scrape together the necessities of life and the few luxuries to which he is entitled as an American citizen.

Economy in government could well be practiced at home. Instead of having duplicating offices and officers for the City, County, School District, etc., the work could be consolidated under one head in one office and handled for the various sub-divisions just as efficiently and with considerable less expense to everyone. There are many places in our local government where economy could be practiced successfully if demanded by the taxpayers and voters. Our own local tax situation discourages, to some extent, the ownership of homes, discourages the building of new enterprises and the advancement of our city.

This situation cannot be corrected so long as the people themselves stand by meekly and do nothing about it. It is up to us to let our representatives know where we stand and prove it by our votes.

We have today the best city in the best state in the greatest nation on the face of the globe. We can make it better by intelligently exercising our voting privileges and electing our various representatives who will represent the people rather than obeying the commands of some political boss. After all it's up to us.

GENEVA IS HEARD FROM

The most zealous supporter of the League of Nations will have to confess there is something funny about that organization's insistence on acting as though Emperor Haile Selassie were sitting safe and secure on his throne in Addis Ababa.

The emperor is in Europe. His court is scattered. The loose hold which enabled him to call Ethiopia an established government has been broken. Italy has routed Ethiopian soldiers. Italians occupy Addis Ababa and, as Premier Mussolini says, "Ethiopia is now Italian."

These facts are not pleasing to everyone, but they are facts. The only way to make them cease to be facts is for a combination of world powers—say Great Britain and France—to go to war with Italy to dislodge that nation's soldiers from Ethiopia, to shatter Premier Mussolini's regime and to conquer the Italian population.

Obviously, no one has any idea of doing that. Yet, the League of Nations insists that Ethiopia still must be a member, an attitude which automatically makes it impossible for Italy to support the league. In short, that organization has signified it would rather have a non-existent Ethiopia on its roster than an existent Italy.

The whole thing is about the same as insisting that the champion heavyweight contender is Jack Sharkey, when everybody knows that Joe Louis, who knocked out Mr. Sharkey a short time ago, is the fighter to be reckoned with these days.

Luckily for Democrats, the New Deal can't be accused of having built that $10,000,000 League of Nations edifice at Geneva.

If Germans do start to eat food made of wood by the newly-discovered process, frauleins will just have to bear it if their husbands bark at them.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

Loquacious, stoop-shouldered Sinclair Lewis, as solidly home-spun as a hickory fence, is back on Broadway with a chore to perform, and there's a chorle in it for somebody.

"Red," as everybody calls him, is supervising the production of his second venture at playwriting, and if you should happen to wander over to the gloomy old Adelphi any afternoon or evening, you'll probably find him loitering around, interviewing actors. They're putting his dynamite-laden novel, "It Can't Happen Here," on the boards, and presently there'll be companies all over America presenting it.

This is where the whoop comes in. Several months ago one of the major film companies had a special script prepared and was training his cameras on the set when all production was suddenly and inexplicably called off. Mussolini objected, it seems, on the ground that the Fascist form of rule would be held up to ridicule, and the film company on the coast is after the diplomatic relations between the United States and Italy.

Sidney Howard, one of Broadway's straight-from-the-shoulder authors, who had written the screen play, came back to town carrying on the coast is after the screen rights. Jack Moffitt, former writer on the Kansas City Star, Collaborated with Lewis on the dramatization. Moffitt used to write theatre stuff for the K. C.

Now the United States government, through the Federal Theatre project, is producing the play itself, and as a result every film company on the coast is after the screen rights. Jack Moffitt, former writer on the Kansas City Star, Collaborated with Lewis on the dramatization. Moffitt used to write theatre stuff for the K. C.

HOW'S your HEALTH

VITAMIN C AND GASTRIC ULCERS Gastric ulcer is a serious and common condition, yet relatively little is known about its causation.

Staff members of St. Bartholomew's hospital of London premise a relationship between gastric and duodenal ulcers and a deficiency in vitamin C, producing what is termed a sub-scurvy state.

Vitamin C, present in oranges, lemons, limes, tomatoes, lettuce and cabbage, is termed the anti-scurbutic vitamin. It was established, empirically, in the days of the sailing vessels, and scientifically, recently, that a marked deficiency of this vitamin leads to the development of the disease scurvy.

Scurvy is a systemic condition—that is, it affects the entire body. Its outstanding characteristic is a fragility of the blood vessels called capillaries. In consequence, the sufferer bleeds easily from his mucous membranes, as well as internally, within his tissues, especially into the outer bone covering known as the periosteum.

Nowadays the so-called classical cases of scurvy are but rarely seen. However, it has been shown that many individuals, especially children, suffer a partial want of vitamin C. Such individuals are in a state of sub-scurvy.

The diagnosis of this condition is made ingeniously. It is known that the body does not store vitamin C in any amounts. The administration of an excessive quantity of the vitamin to a normal individual leads to its prompt excretion through the urine, from which it may be recovered and measured. Hence if a large quantity of vitamin C is given an individual, and he fails to excrete it in its entirety, that is, if he retains an appreciable amount, it is presumptive evidence that he was vitamin C deficient.

It has also been observed that scurvy sufferers do not heal their wounds as promptly as they should. This observation, plus certain experience with patients who succumbed to operations on the stomach, led to the study of the relation of the sub-scurvy state to gastric and duodenal ulcers.

The findings were that more than 80 per cent of the ulcer patients he reached for his hat after a session of looking at actors the other day. "Don't worry," he told the assistant producer, "I'll be back. Honest, I'm just going out to see a man about a steak."

Talks to parents

DISLOYALTY

By Brooke Peters Church

Discussing one's children with one's friends is really a form of disloyalty, and many parents are guilty of it. The very mother who is shocked because her son has been talking her over with his chum, would not hesitate to produce the boy and his personal peculiarities and problems as a topic of conversation at afternoon tea with her friends.

It is a poor rule that does not work both ways. To air one's soiled linen in public is always bad taste. But many persons do.

Any group of mothers is nearly sure at some time during their conversation to talk over their children. Mrs. Smith repeats a conversation she had with Mary the other day. Mrs. Jones tells a funny story about her Jane—a story which Jane would hate to have known; Mrs. Brown tells, in confidence, of course, what Henry told her also in confidence, in a moment of ill-considered expansiveness. Afterwards Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown go home and retail all the intimate trifles they have gleaned to father and the children. Mary and Jane and Henry feel but butterflies on pins the next time they see each other. How can one confide in a mother who cannot or will not hold her tongue? Mothers don't seem to realize.

Of course this kind of mother soon finds herself excluded from her children's inner lives. They hide what they can of their thoughts and actions, and put up as well as they can with whatever undesirable publicity they still have to endure. Mothers who wish the trust and respect of their children will guard their secrets with the utmost care, in never, even to prove a moot point, repeat what they have seen or heard. A mother, by virtue of her position, has an unfair advantage over her child; she knows too much.

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Chapter XII

Ted talked on, presenting his views on what he called "this marriage business." He said, "You've got to plan for marriage, just as we planned, years and years, for the Trans-Pacific flight. None of this heady, romantic stuff! You've got to build, stone on stone, to achieve something that will endure without mishap."

Kay could not quite accept all this. She did not agree that all human relationships could be organized on such a basis, but she did not give these sentiments voice.

It was the most unromantic proposal of which she had ever heard. Never this was Kay Dunn, who had wanted the man-of-her-heart to sweep her off her feet and say, "Kay, I adore you. I can't live without you!"

But when Ted had finished talking he sat there, waiting for her answer. She simply gazed at his eyes and saw what she wanted to see. The touch of his hand was reassuring. His kiss, when she said, "Yes," welded her heart and mind. She knew, by all the signs a woman understands, that she was in love with Ted.

But, even as she accepted him, she felt again the fear that had tormented her before. Was Ted asking her to marry him merely to make a home for Dickie? Her mind—but not her lips—asked the question, "Are you sure you love me or do you simply want a well-ordered life, a life like the charted course of the Flying Mariner?"

She did not say these things to Ted, because she knew that they would hurt. At the moment she could not doubt his sincerity.

"I do love you dearly," she repeated. "I've known it—for ever so long. There was a time when I fought against it. I didn't think it was for you."

"Ted, you dear!" Kay said, snuggling closer to him. "You should never fight against loving a woman. When you do, you're lost. He smiled. "It was a losing battle all the while. Those eyes, that hair—"

They both laughed, and he kissed her gently again. They sat there, looking out across the lights of the bay, each of them with the same thoughts—planning their future. For a long while neither spoke.

"Until death do us part," Kay murmured blissfully. "And those are big words," Ted said, in his matter-of-fact way. "We'll have to get down to the business end of it. First, you'll have to give up your job, of course. Being the wife of Ted Graham, with a child going on 8, is a job big enough for a girl like you."

Kay sat up a bit disturbed. She hadn't thought of leaving the air service. But of course Ted was right. The Overland line had rules against employing hostesses who were married.

"Well, there were plenty of girls who would be glad to leave her job. Besides—the thought came back to her too frequently—there had to be a home for Dickie."

"Dickie adores you," Ted said. "There'll be no trouble on that score."

"And I adore him," she said slowly. "He'll be happier living at home, on the beach. I think we ought to send him to day school, and let him be with you as much as possible. I'm away for six weeks sometimes—"

She smiled. "That's the penalty for being the wife of a pilot on the Trans-Pacific flight," she said.

"Just a sailor's wife," he told her, but when he squeezed her hand she felt sure of herself and of him.

Kay's complete confidence in Ted grew as they planned together for the future. "Do you like this house?" he asked. "Of course I'm quite used to it. It's like—my plane."

"I adore every corner in it," Kay said. "I'll love this room more than any other because—you asked me to marry you here."

"Of course," he said, smiling. "Jerry will have to take up headquarters elsewhere!"

"I should hope so!" she said. "I wouldn't want him to be forever reminding you of the state of single-blessedness. You bachelors can't be a case! You think you're free, and you're not."

Ted laughed. "Poor Jerry. I've known him since the war. He was a bomber. I suppose I suppose he'll be stepping off now, too. He always said, joking, 'I'll never marry as long as the boss doesn't.'"

"But we'll invite him to dinner—lots!" she said. "Show him what he's missing in overlooking wedded bliss!"

"Like fun we will," Ted said. "I want you all to myself. I'm selfish that way."

"It makes me feel—surer. You—in all those foreign ports most of the time! Those South Seas strens—" He said, prosaically: "They're not all they're supposed to be. I can assure you, I've seen them all in my day."

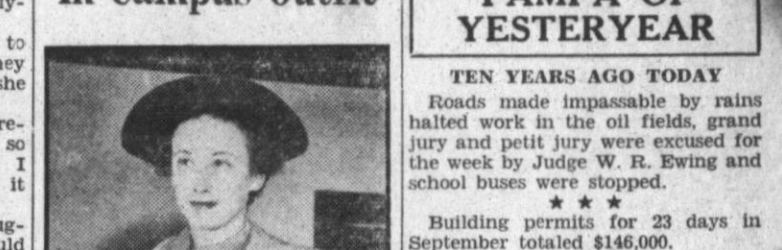

"Not all, dear!" she corrected. "What will we do with Sato?"

The words gave Kay another twinge of fear. Wasn't Ted even going to let her run the house? He was so capable and efficient, such an organizer, was he going to take over management of the kitchen, as well as everything else?

But she laughed as she answered, "So we've come to the kitchen now. In a well-ordered house it's as important as anything else. I suppose it's only after men have been fed that they can be romantic."

Ted laughed, aware that she was poking fun at him. He enjoyed the give-and-take of this conversation.

'FITZ' PITCHES ONE OF GREATEST GAMES IN HISTORY THEN LOSES IT

YANKEES WIN 2ND BATTLE 2 TO 1 IN 8TH

GIANTS GET 11 HITS, OPPONENTS ONLY FOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—The greatest crowd in world series history, 64,842 fans who filled the expansive Yankee stadium nearly to capacity, saw the Yankees capitalize the breaks of the third game in New York's baseball civil war today to beat the Giants, 2 to 1, despite the spectacular four-hit hurling of Fred Fitzsimmons, 35-year-old Arcadia, Calif., chicken farmer and exponent of the baffling knuckle ball.

Fitzsimmons, rated one of the best fielding pitchers in baseball, lost a heart-breaking duel to his right-handed rival, Irving (Bump) Hadley, because he failed to hold a sharply hit grounder by Frankie Crosetti in the critical climax of the eighth inning rally that gave the Yankees their second straight triumph and a 2 to 1 lead in the current championship struggle.

Home runs in to the right field stands by Lou Gehrig, the Yankee captain, and Jimmy Riddle, freshman centerfielder of the Giants, carried the most exciting match of the series all square into the eighth inning before the last of tough breaks turned against the National League champions.

Fitzsimmons already had cut off one run at the plate, on Pinch-hitter Red Ruffing's blunder, to the box. There were two out, with Yankee base-runners on first and third as Crosetti faced Fitzsimmons. After taking two called strikes and strictly "in the hole," the Yankee shortstop slashed at a knuckle ball and hit it sharply to the right of the pitcher's box.

Burgess Whitehead, second sacker of the Giants, probably could have handled the ball easily for the third out, but Fitz darted for the ball and got his glove in the way of it. It was so hard hit, however, that the caromed off and behind the mound. Before Fitz could retrieve it, Crosetti was safe for a scotch base hit and Jake Powell was scampering across the plate with what proved the winning run.

Fitzsimmons threw his glove to the ground in sheer disgust as he saw slip from his grasp the fruits of one of the best games he ever has pitched and one of the finest performances ever to meet reversal in world series competition. It was the biggest "break" of a game that saw the Giants beat the Yankees, 11 to 4, only to let scoring chance after scoring chance escape the National League champions, due to their own poor strategy, lack of wallop in the pinches, or the defensive skill of the home club.

The team that simply slaughtered five of the Giants' pitchers yesterday to the record-breaking tune of 18 to 4 won the crucial third match of the series because it was the better defensive club. The home-run hitting hero of the second game, Tony Lazzeri, became the defensive star by a jumping stab of Joe Moore's line drive, with two Giants on base, for the third out in the seventh inning.

It was another great day for the Italian triumvirate as Joe DiMaggio, the brilliant Yankee freshman centerfielder, had another superb afternoon as the defense, and Crosetti came through with the lucky hit that tallied the deciding run. In short, the American league's famous "murderers' row" demonstrated that it doesn't always need to ride the crest of the hot bats to win a game and that it's able to grab the breaks with equal success.

The outcome of a game that was a sharp and exciting contrast to the previous day's slugfest puts the issue squarely up to the celebrated southpaw of the Giants, Carl Hubbell. The Oklahoma master of the screwball, who beat the Yankees so easily in the rain-drenched opening game, last Wednesday, will return to the box after nearly four full days of rest tomorrow. He will oppose Monte Pearson, erstwhile Yankee invader, in what is expected to be a hard-fought victory that would put the Giants back on even terms with their Bronx rivals.

71 Passes Thrown As Baugh Hurls Frogs To 18-14 Win

Robbins - Baugh Duel Comes Off As Advertised

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Oct. 3 (AP)—Big "Sluggin' Sam" Baugh curled his huge hand around 30 passes, hurled a dozen to devastating completion and simply pitched his Texas Christian Horned Frogs to a stunning 18-14 triumph over a favored University of Arkansas team here today.

Seventy-one passes cluttered the air in a wild, two-hour aerial show that was in doubt until the last seconds of play when Texas Christian gained possession of the ball and froze to it until the field judge's gun fired.

The heaped passing duel between Baugh, perhaps the greatest of all Southwest conference throwers, and lean Jack Robbins, the Porkers' gunner, came off as advertised. Twelve thousand fans thrilled to Baugh's 30 tries and 12 completions for 183 yards and Robbins' 31 attempts and 18 completions for 154 yards.

Passes Surpass Record
Statisticians dug back in record books and said today's aerial show—71 thrown passes—surpassed anything in history. Baugh did all the throwing for the Christians while Sloan and Holt aided Robbins in the total aerial gain of 228 yards.

Two of the Christians touchdowns were scored on runs but it was Baugh's trusty right arm that rocketed the ball to scoring position. Twenty-two passes fogged the air in the first period which ended with Arkansas clinging to a 7-6 lead. The Christians scratched first when "Sluggin' Sam," in his rarest form, started, back on his own 20-yard line and completed, with only one interruption passes of 27, 15, 8, 8, 6 and 6 yards that sent the ball far down field.

Montgomery Receives
Vic Montgomery, dashing half-back, was the receiver in the Frog's newest passing combination. Baugh crossed up the Porkers after the flurry of aerials, faked a pass and then tore off tackle to the Porker 18-yard line. He flipped another pass to Montgomery on the Razorback six stripe and Wilkinson, plunging full-back, ripped over on the first attempt for the first score. Roach's kick for the point was wide.

Arkansas took the kickoff and busied themselves with trying to score, which they did on bounding runs by Allan Keen, elusive back, and a series of perfect passes from Robbins to James Benton, quickly passing snaggling end. They quickly carried to the Frog two-yard stripe and then, after being temporarily repulsed on a drive, they made some pass Robbins chucked to Rawlings, B. A. Owen converted.

Another Christian touchdown in the second period was averted when Keen leaped high, grabbed one of Baugh's heaves on his own goal line, later scored on a broken and back, twisted to escape the would-be tacklers, and sped across the final chalk mark. A perfect block by "Red" Sheridan cut down the last L. S. U. tackler having a chance to stop him. Louisiana State's only tally came after a fumble by Jay Arnold of Texas on his 36 in the third period.

Pat Cofee, the Tigers' main offensive gun, even though he was a substitute, placed the ball in scoring position with runs of 15, 8 and 9 yards. Art Morton, another substitute, circled his own right end for 4 yards and the touchdown. He crossed standing up.

The hard-charging Texas line blocked the L. S. U. try for extra point. Harrison's drop kick after the Texas marker had been wide.

Louisiana State, rated as one of the most powerful teams in the south, drove close to play dirt near the end of both halves but fumbles halted them. Grass was the "goat" in the first half, dropping the ball on the Texas 9 yard line. The Longhorns recovered only 6 yards from their goal when Mihalic fumbled in the final period after snagging a toss from Cofee.

The character of the Texas tackling was partly responsible for the fumble epidemic of which the Tigers were afflicted throughout the afternoon.

The result was a strong indication that Texas, picked by many as the Southwest conference champion, will be a factor in the conference race. Louisiana State last week trounced Rice of the Southwest conference, 20 to 6.

The untired Longhorn line held better than could have been reasonably expected. There never was any doubt that the Longhorn backfield could go places if given help up front.

WHEELER BEATS CLARENDON BY FIRST DOWNS IN THRILLER

WHEELER, Oct. 3.—Many great football games have been played on Mustang field, but never one to equal last night's scoreless battle between the Wheeler Mustangs and the Clarendon Bronchos.

Before the kickoff, coaches agreed that in case of a tie, penetrations or first downs would count for victory. At the final whistle, neither team had scored. Penetrations were deadlocked at one each. Then the first downs were totaled and Wheeler was declared the winner with nine first downs to eight for Clarendon.

For 58 minutes a midfield battle waged. Then each took a turn advancing within the 20-yard line but neither could get to the goal line.

Ford and Norman carried the brunt of the Wheeler attack, with the entire team playing outstanding defensive ball.

The win keeps Wheeler's conference record clean for the season. McLean and Shamrock loom as the Mustangs' mightiest foes. Mobeetie will be the next opponent for the Mustangs.

Wheeler's lineup: Elmer and Maxwell, ends; Kilmer and Page, tackles; Whitman and Green, guards; Weels, center; Norman, quarter; Cole and Groves, halves; Ford, full.

FIRE DAMAGES CHATEAU
VERSAILLES, France, Oct. 4 (Sunday)—(AP)—The left wing of the famous Chateau of Versailles, once the home of Louis XIV and now a public museum, was damaged by fire early today but the blaze did not spread to the main part of the great palace.

Texas Surprises Louisiana State In 6 To 6 Upset

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—A surprising victory over the University of Louisiana State surprised the heralded L. S. U. Tigers to a 6-6 tie in its season opener today. The crowd was estimated at 15,000.

The running of Hugh Wolfe, twisting Stephenville back who was ineligible last year, and frequent fumbler by the invading Tigers kept Jack Chevigny's Texans very much in the game all the way.

Wolfe's 37 yard gallop in the second for the Longhorns touchdown was the prettiest play of the day. A half dozen Bengals clutched at his silk trousers but were unable to hold on. The angry West Texan started around his right end, cut back, twisted to escape the would-be tacklers, and sped across the final chalk mark. A perfect block by "Red" Sheridan cut down the last L. S. U. tackler having a chance to stop him. Louisiana State's only tally came after a fumble by Jay Arnold of Texas on his 36 in the third period.

Pat Cofee, the Tigers' main offensive gun, even though he was a substitute, placed the ball in scoring position with runs of 15, 8 and 9 yards. Art Morton, another substitute, circled his own right end for 4 yards and the touchdown. He crossed standing up.

ALANREED IS DEFEATED BY JUNIORS 7-0

LONGHORNS WILL PLAY HERE THURSDAY AFTERNOON

A touchdown in the first two minutes of play gave the Pampa Junior High football team a 7 to 0 decision over the Alanoed Longhorns Friday afternoon in Alanoed. On Thursday afternoon at Harvester field, the Longhorns will play a return game with the boys coached by Tom Herod.

Junior High took the kickoff which was returned to their own 40-yard line. With the entire Junior high backfield, Prater, Leavitt, Dunaway and Freeman carrying the ball, a goalward march went into high with Leavitt making the last 8 yards on a smash off tackle. Dunaway carried the ball across for the extra point.

After the first touchdown spurge, the teams played hard, defensive football. Although Alanoed never threatened to score, they kept the Pampans from getting across. At the half, the Junior high eleven had the ball on Alanoed's 2-foot line with two downs to go.

Three times during the final half the Pampans pushed the ball inside the Alanoed 10-yard line. The Junior high blocking showed a letdown from the previous game which cost them at least two touchdowns.

Starting Junior high lineup was: Flemming and L. Clemmons, ends; Meeks and Nicholson, tackles; Rumble and Nichols, guards; Candler, center; Prater, quarter; Leavitt and Nichols, halves; Freeman, full. Substitutes: R. Clemmons for Nichols.

MONK LEADS CADETS
WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—An Army football machine that appeared to have enough power to do whatever it pleased repulsed the southern threat of the Washington & Lee Generals 28 to 0 today before an opening game crowd of 12,000 fans in Michie stadium. Led by the elusive and wingfooted Monk Meyer, the Cadets rang up a touchdown in each of the four quarters. Meyer personally accounted for two of the scores.

DINNER PARTY ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT OF MISS GORDON

EXES OF PAMPA HIGH TO DINE AND DANCE BEFORE LUBBOCK GAME—COMMITTEES CALLED

Board and Chairmen On Arrangements Will Meet

Social events of the football season will be climaxed again this year by the annual dinner and dance for ex-students of Pampa high school, set for the evening before the game with Lubbock. Board members of the Ex-Students association are making plans now.

They are to meet with committee chairmen tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the lobby of the Schneider hotel at the call of Mrs. Alex Schneider, association president. She requests that the chairmen telephone her before the meeting, to learn of their duties.

Committees were named at a board meeting last week. They will start at once preparing for the entertainment on October 23.

The committees follow, with chairmen named first: Program, R. B. Fisher, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Ramon Wilson; publicity, Miss Clara Brown, Ewing Williams; printing, Fred Sloan; invitations and registration, Mrs. DeLea Vicars, Mrs. R. Crawford of Amarillo, Mrs. H. H. Heiskell.

Tickets, Gene Fatheree, Albert Doucette, DeLea Vicars, Bert Stevens, Charles Madeira; menu, Mrs. Mack Graham, Mrs. Roy Tinsley, L. L. Sone; decorations and tables, Mrs. Dude Balthorpe, Mrs. Clinton Henry, Miss Claudine Pope, Mrs. Jess Patton.

Dance hosts, who will also have charge of arrangements for the dance, are Alfred Gilliland, Mrs. Mel Davis, Clinton Henry, Frank Lard.

Board members are Mrs. Schneider, president; Fred Sloan, vice president; Albert Doucette, treasurer; Miss Brown, secretary; DeLea Vicars, Gene Fatheree, Ewing Williams, Charles Madeira, Mrs. Tinsley, and Bert Stevens, directors.

Guests Join the Deuce of Clubs For Bridge Play

Fall flowers in profusion beautified the home of Mrs. B. R. Woods Thursday afternoon when she entertained the Deuce of Clubs and two special guests, Mrs. I. B. Hughey and Mrs. W. T. Finley.

Table appointments were in Hal-lowe'en motif, which was cleverly stressed at the tea hour. Salads were served with wafers and coffee.

Mrs. F. H. Sifton made high score for club members and Mrs. Hughey for guests, while Mrs. Marvin Harris scored second high and Mrs. Paul Carmichael received the traveling prize. Other players were Mmes. R. K. Eason, Reuben P. Weeks and Ralph Jones.

College-Bound Girl Is Honoree

Miss Leona Vernon of Kingsmill, graduate of Pampa high school last spring who is leaving today for Oklahoma City to enter business college, was given a handkerchief shower by Mmes. Newt McSister and J. R. Budley Friday afternoon.

Mrs. W. H. Morgan assisted the hostesses in serving refreshments to Mmes. E. G. Frasier and Bernard Leslie of Pampa, Mmes. Harrelson, Blacklock, Morgan, John Kirby, H. W. Widener, Tolle Jinks, H. A. Layne, J. G. King, J. W. Woodworth, W. D. Varnum, Mmes. Claudine Frasier and Louise Meador.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. H. W. Waters of Pampa, Mmes. J. J. Smith, Roy Franks, and Miss Kathleen Nuehl.

TENNYSON WILL CLOSE REVIVAL SERIES TODAY

Final sermons of a revival at Central Baptist church will be preached today by the Rev. R. C. Tennyson of Crosbyton, who has brought daily messages the past two weeks. His subject this morning will be Christ Our Mediator, and this evening, Religious Indecision.

Friday evening he preached on Right Considerations. In part he said:

"Man must consider the power of God. Man, comparatively powerless, still has power to reject God. Man must consider the judgment, the fact that all must face it, and the contrast between heaven and hell. Finally, man must consider the salvation which God offers, free, to all."

The morning sermon Friday was on Elements of Church Strength. Those he named were loyalty to God's teachings, right lives of members, fidelity of members to the church, unity of membership, and systematic giving.

'At Least Some Fur' Is Style Edict on Coats

Whatever the age of the wearer, there will be no escaping the youthful appearance afforded by this swaggy coat in a warm shade of smoke gray. Trimmed with Persian lamb and worn with a matching hat and Ascot, it is as simple in design as the coats worn by baby sister. For that something different in a winter coat, how about this one of rough black woolen? It has a luxurious silver fox collar that extends downward along the left sleeve and is rolled twice around the arm at the elbow. The neckline is fastened with a jeweled clip.

Ministers Will Meet at Luncheon

The Ministerial Alliance will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow at the Schneider hotel, for lunch and a regular session. New officers, elected last month, will be in charge of the meeting. All ministers in the city are invited to be present.

Entry of Blossoms And Admission To Be Free

Fall flowers will be on display at the annual show sponsored by the Garden club on October 16, it was announced following a meeting of the show committee yesterday. Committee members are Mrs. R. F. Birken, Mrs. Fred Cullum, and Mrs. Ray Hagan.

Open to entries from all Pampa gardeners, and to visitors from everywhere who enjoys seeing the colorful beauty of late blossoms, the show will be given in the annex of First Presbyterian church from 1 to 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

No entry fees or admission fees are charged for this yearly display, which is usually visited by scores of flower lovers. Experience in recent years has shown the convenience of keeping the show open to evening hours, as many persons employed until late afternoon visit it after work hours.

Entries are not confined to Garden club members; last year numerous ribbons were taken by a man who works in the oilfields and grows flowers as a hobby. Men, women or children may enter flowers of any type.

Dahlias, fall roses, and chrysanthemums are expected to be the most showy flowers in the fall show, although marigolds, petunias, cosmos, calendulas, and dozens of other garden flowers will have their places.

Committees to prepare for the show were named by the Garden club group. Mrs. Cullum, Mrs. Lynn Boyd, and Mrs. H. C. Schoolfield will be in charge of registration. Mrs. Fay Hagan, Mrs. Glen Pool, and Mrs. W. H. Davis of publicity.

Local judges will be Mrs. F. E. Leech, Mrs. Tom Rose, and Mrs. Lee Waggoner. Out-of-town judges will award the ribbons.

FURNITURE FOR VARIOUS HOMES WILL BE SHOWN

A. A. U. W. Group to Sponsor Meeting At Store

Furniture styles, period designs and modern trends in home furnishings and types of furniture suited to various rooms will be demonstrated at a meeting sponsored by the research group of the A. A. U. W. tomorrow evening at the Texas Furniture store.

All club women in the city have been invited to be present, and others interested in home furnishings are also invited. Guy McTaggart, manager of the store, will discuss and show the different types of furniture, and he expects that L. C. Jackson, representative of a furniture distributing company at Wichita and expert on period furniture, will also be present.

The meeting will be at 8 o'clock. Miss Josephine Thomas is chairman of the group sponsoring the unusual program, which was planned to appeal to all women wishing to know more about the choice of distinctive home furnishings.

Mrs. Murphy Beats Mrs. Cartwright

In a play-off game, Mrs. W. M. Murphy defeated Mrs. George Cartwright three strokes in handicap medal play for a grand prize which will be given at the close of the season. The woman winning the most last week matches wins the prize.

Playing in the last week tournament were: Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Carl Smith, Mrs. Del Love, Mrs. Joe Bowers, Mrs. Mark Heath, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mrs. Larry Padden, Mrs. W. M. Miskimins and Mrs. Coombs.

Huckaback is a coarse type of linen cloth figured similarly to damask.

Wake and Midway islands are under jurisdiction of the navy department.

MRS. FATHEREE IS HOSTESS TO MAYFAIR CLUB

Highest Score Made At Bridge by Mrs. Damon

Mrs. Clyde Fatheree was hostess at a party for Mayfair bridge club at her home Thursday afternoon. She decorated the tables in vivid blue and gold suggestive of football colors, and accented the color note with yellow garden flowers.

Mrs. Edward Damon made high score in the games, and Mrs. Arthur Holland second high. Mrs. Clarence Barrett and Mrs. Fred Hobart of Canadian were guest players. Others present, members of the club, were Mmes. P. O. Sandberg, Lynn Boyd, B. C. Low, John Sturgeon, LeRoy Miller, A. B. Goldston, Arthur Swanson and W. J. Smith.

Four New Units In District P-TA Now in Prospect

By BETTY PEARSON HODGES, Publicity Chairman

Inquiries have been received by officers of the eighth district of P-T-A about organizing new units at Dalhart, Skellytown, Laketon and Briscoe.

The Laketon group will meet at the school building on Friday evening, Oct. 9, when plans will be completed for organization.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, district president, will speak on "The Why of P-T-A work" at the meeting of the Miami P-T-A. on Monday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. Ross Cowan is president of the Miami unit this year.

Canyon held an informal social and get acquainted meeting in the high school auditorium, at which Cal Farley of Amarillo spoke of his recent trip to Europe and the Olympic games. Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Lee Foster.

Oct. 3 is the date set for the Memphis school of instruction for officers and members of Parent-Teacher association.

The East Ward P-T-A. of Wellington held a meeting on Friday, Sept. 25, at 5 o'clock, and a short program was given. The West Ward unit there has elected room mothers for the year, and elected Miss Lawrence as treasurer of the organization.

A social meeting was held at the Webb P-T-A. Saturday and room mothers were announced.

Officers for this year for the Huntington P-T-A. are as follows: President, Mrs. R. T. Bowen; vice-president, Mrs. Joseph Bremmer; secretary-treasurer and historian, Mrs. Harry Mountcastle; parliamentarian, Mrs. O. A. Schuster; committee chairmen are as follows: Program, Mrs. C. H. Black; publicity, Mrs. Joseph Bremmer, finance, Mrs. H. L. Litan; membership and hospitality, Mrs. B. L. Hunter, and refreshment, Mrs. J. W. Day. Their first regular meeting was held Friday evening, Sept. 18. Mrs. A. C. Emberson, Mrs. B. L. Hunter and Mrs. Bremmer were chosen as delegates to the county council. A study group was also held there on Oct. 1.

The Oklahoma Lane P-T-A. of Farwell met for their first meeting on Sept. 18. A meeting date for the fourth Monday night of each month was arranged. Supt. Harper was the main speaker of the evening and his address was followed by games and general "get-acquainted" time.

REVIVAL RALLY DAY OBSERVED WITH PROGRAM

Today is designated revival rally day in First Baptist church, where a goal of 800 has been set for Sunday school attendance. Classes for all age groups will begin at 9:45 this morning, and those who do not attend Sunday school elsewhere are invited.

The Rev. Hyman Appelman, evangelist who is conducting the revival, will preach at the morning service on Taking Sides in Pampa, and at 7:30 p. m. on The Most Important Question in the Bible. Song hours will be under direction of George Reynolds, who leads the congregation in old-time hymns and contributes solos to the services.

Unusually large crowds are attending the revival services, which will continue through next week at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. daily. The evangelist is one of the Texas Baptist state evangelists, employed by the executive board of the Texas Baptist convention. He is an especially interesting speaker, who arouses comment wherever he is heard.

Everyone is invited to hear him at least once during his stay in Pampa.

Services each day are preceded by prayer meetings beginning at 9:30 a. m. and 7 p. m., to which an invitation is also extended.

A twin turnip—two perfectly formed turnips joined—was grown by B. H. Camp of Albertville, Ala.

Engaged

Miss Alice Gordon, daughter of J. W. Gordon Sr., is to be a November bride, it was announced when Mrs. Joe Gordon entertained a group of intimate friends at a dinner Friday evening. Miss Gordon is to marry Charles C. Buchanan of Houston at Port Arthur.

NEW AGENT IS IN CHARGE OF H. D. MEETINGS

Mrs. Kelley Attends Club Programs This Week

Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, new county home demonstration agent who replaced Miss Ruby Adams Thursday, has already started her work and hopes soon to be acquainted with club members over the county and ready to lead them in their fall program.

She met last week with the McLean Home Demonstration club. On Tuesday she is to meet Kingsmill club in the home of Mrs. Chris Baer, on Wednesday the Bell club at Mrs. C. McKnight's.

Girls' club meetings scheduled for the week are at Alarred Thursday, and at McLean Friday morning. A meeting of Sunshine girls' club postponed during the change of agents, will be announced soon, she said.

Mrs. Kelley came to Pampa from Plainview, where she has been stationed as Hale county agent for eight years. She was an active member of the Business and Professional Women's club there.

Girls' Softball Team Forms Club For The Winter

Girls on the Norge Sluggers softball team formed a club at a meeting Sept. 21 and elected officers at the first regular meeting Monday evening at the home of Miss Ruby Aldridge.

Miss Artie Robbins was named president, Miss Frances Nash vice-president, Miss Avis Heiskell secretary-treasurer, Miss Elsie Hall reporter.

Other members are Mmes. DeAun Heiskell, Lillie Mae Redman, Boots Baucom, Zella Hughey. The team's coach, Jack Kretzinger, is an honorary member. Girls who are interested in playing softball with the club next season are asked to see Miss Avis Heiskell or Mr. Kretzinger.

The Norge Sluggers club will meet on first and third Mondays of each month. A constitution has been adopted, subject to revision if necessary.

A picnic at Hoover was planned for this afternoon. Members are to meet at the Norge store at 2:30. Each is to invite a guest and bring lunch for two.

LAY SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH TODAY

A lay service will be conducted at St. Matthew's Episcopal church this morning at 11, with S. G. Surratt as reader. It will follow the usual church school meeting at 9:45.

The Rev. Robert J. Snell, minister, left last week for the home of his parents in Birmingham, Ala., to recover from a recent illness. During his absence members will be in charge of services.

Meetings for next week include that of the adult choir at 7:30 Wednesday evening, and the children's choir at 4:15 Thursday.

EVERYMAN'S BIBLE CLASS

The class meets in city hall auditorium at 9:45 a. m. Sunday. Security and Protection will be the subject. There is no man but needs both, no one but can have both. Many came through a downpour of rain last Sunday. We want a better attendance. Men owe it to themselves and each other to study the only divine authentic truth we have—the Bible. The visitor is always welcome.—Class officers.

MARRIAGE WILL BE SOLEMNIZED NOVEMBER 17TH

Pampa Girl to Wed Charles Buchanan Of Houston

To announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Alice Gordon to Charles C. Buchanan of Houston, Mrs. Joe Gordon entertained with a dinner Friday evening at her home.

The announcement was written on cards attached to the tiny colonial nosegays which were place favors at the table. The wedding will be solemnized at First Presbyterian church in Port Arthur on Nov. 17.

A crystal boat on a mirror plaque centered the dinner table, flanked with tall white tapers in white holders. On the bride-elect's bouquets where at either end of the centerpiece, with yellow white carnations, and silver lace vine in keeping with the yellow, white, and silver color scheme.

Tiny silver slippers held the name cards at places. The guest list, consisting of the bride-elect's intimate friends, included Misses Clotilde McCallister, Florence Jackson, Lois Hinton, and Jewel Shaw, Mrs. Harvey Todd, and Mrs. F. L. Stallings.

Miss Gordon, daughter of J. W. Gordon Sr., is a member of a pioneer Panhandle family. She has lived much of the time in recent years at Austin, where she attended public schools and the state university. Port Arthur, where the wedding will be solemnized, is the home of her sister.

QUICK DESSERT BOON TO COOKS

Little Work Needed On These Tasty Dishes

Department of Home Economics Texas State College for Women DENTON, Oct. 3.—A great variety of simple desserts can be made by the housewife with little expenditure of either time or energy. Some can be prepared in advance. Others may be partly fixed with the basic materials, and later you can do wonders with them by adding sauces or fruit fillings.

Cherry and Pecan Torte: Prepare cup cakes, using whole egg cake batter. Cut off tops carefully so that the covers may be replaced. Hollow out centers somewhat and fill with a mixture of chopped pecans and marshmallows, cherries, or raisins may be substituted for cherries. Replace tops and decorate with whipped cream.

Fried Apple Slices: Wash and core apples. Do not peel. Cut across apple for 1/2 inch slices. Put fat in iron skillet. Cover bottom generously. Fry slices, turning once when brown on both sides. Sprinkle with sugar and serve on platter.

Orange Crullers: Beat 2 eggs without separating. Add 1/4 cup granulated sugar and 1-4 cup whole milk. 2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-2 teaspoon soda. Add grated rind of one orange and mix to a dough. Roll small amount on the board until 8 to 10 inches long. Pat out thin and spread with butter. Cut each piece in two and twist the two pieces together. Put into greased pan. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in hot oven at 450 degrees F for 15 to 20 minutes. While hot, brush over with thin icing made with 1-2 cup confectioner's sugar moistened with 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Almond Cookies: 1 cup butter, 5 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1-2 lb. almonds, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 cup flour. Mix in the order given and with the fingers roll into size and shape like a large peanut. Bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven. When slightly cool dust with powdered sugar. If the dough sticks to the fingers when cookies are being shaped, a little more flour should be added.

Auxiliary Will Install Officers

Officers for a new year, headed by Mrs. Katie Vincent as president, will be installed at a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Legion hut.

A special program is planned, and all members are invited. Mrs. Roy Sewell is retiring president of the Auxiliary.

POLICE DOG TAKES HER QUINTUPLETS FOR RIDE

HOUSTON, Oct. 2 (AP).—Monty had quintuplets but didn't get her name in the paper for that, because Monty is a 3-year old B. L. spaniel dog. Then Monty took the quintuplets for a ride in a baby carriage and got her name in the paper.

She handled the carriage efficiently, as any mother should, taking care that the signs were right before crossing streets and carefully tilting the carriage to get it up on the curb again.

Monty has another trick—that of going to town with an umbrella raised above her. The handle is equipped with a little bar which she holds between her teeth, enabling her to raise the umbrella at the best angle for protection from the weather.

Murals Portray Texas Life

Expressive of the four sections of Texas, their bountiful natural resources and historical background are the elaborate murals which adorn the walls of the $1,200,000 Hall of State, the dominating building of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. At the top a section of one of the giant murals found in the great hall portray two of Texas' foremost natural resources, oil and cotton. On the extreme left may be seen the prow of a sea-going freighter, representing the vast shipping industry of East Texas and the lower Gulf Coast. In the center mural, which hangs in the North Texas room, Old Man Texas is the predominant figure. The lower is unmistakably typical of the hearty West. The paintings adorning the walls of the Texas Building's great hall are reputed to be the largest in the world. They portray the story of Texas, both in the days of the republic and after statehood. Although opened but a few weeks ago, the magnificent Hall of State has won a place as one of the nation's foremost memorial edifices.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 SHOULD BE ADOPTED, DECLARES MOFFETT

By Rep. George Moffett
Chillicothe, Texas

Unless our present Constitution is amended, population will continue to be the only yard stick by which representatives are allotted to the various counties.

Thirty states take geography as well as population into consideration in laying out legislative districts.

Between 1920 and 1930 the population of Texas increased 1,161,000. Almost exactly one-third of this increase occurred in the three most populous counties. By actual census figures 69 rural counties showed a decrease in population between 1920 and 1930. Power farming probably accounted for most of this decrease.

The trend of population is unquestionably toward the larger cities. If Texas were redistricted today under our present Constitution, Dallas would have ten members and Houston eleven. In 20 or 30 years more this would be doubled.

County commissioners' precincts, city commissioners' precincts, judicial districts, school districts and many other districts are not laid out on a population basis but with an eye to giving each section or community adequate representation. Geographic and territorial considerations play an important part in shaping the aforementioned districts and should likewise be considered in laying out representative districts instead of using population alone.

Our forefathers wrote it into the Federal Constitution that the President and Vice-President of the United States should not come from the same state. They opposed concentration of power and Amendment No. 6 does the same thing.

The U. S. Supreme Court in 1932 definitely held that congressional districts need not be even approximately equal in population.

School Heads Plan Banquet at WTSTC

CANYON, Oct. 3.—Seven school superintendents and principals from Gray and Carson counties have been chosen as key representatives of the ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers college to the giant banquet of the ex-students of all the Texas Teachers colleges. They are: Aaron Meek, W. B. Weathered, and A. L. Patrick, of Pampa; George Heath, J. B. Speer and Davis Hill of White Deer and Skellytown, and Rural Ford of Groom.

Two thousand five hundred guests are being planned for at this banquet which will probably be the biggest ever held in Texas. It will take place November 2 as a part of the meeting of the State Teachers association at Fort Worth. Lieutserole, topped with browned buttered crumbs.

The tomato sauce usually comes in small tins holding about 1 cup. However, if you prefer, you may make your own sauce from either fresh or canned tomatoes. The sauce should be tart, not sweet.
For dessert with such a meal, bittersweet chocolate molds may be made in this way:

Bittersweet Chocolate Molds
For Six
Two squares chocolate, 1 can condensed milk, 1-3 cup fine bread crumbs, 1-4 cup cold water.

The bread crumbs are added to give the pudding a certain crunchiness, tasting rather like nuts or macaroons. The crumbs should be toasted and ground fine.

Melt the chocolate in the top of a double-boiler and add the condensed milk (not evaporated milk).

Stir and add 1-2 cup of crumbs. Allow to thicken.
Add cold water.
Pour into six very small rinsed molds or sherbet glasses and chill well.
This dessert is very rich and should be made in small portions.
Serve with whipped cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. Mickey Brooks and son, Charles Eugene, have returned home from a visit of several days in Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, and Cleburne.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Weathered and children are visiting relatives at Kirklind and Carey today.

Mrs. J. A. Meador and Mrs. Jim Back of McLean shopped in Pampa yesterday.

O'KEEFE FIRM GIVES BANQUET TO CELEBRATE

AMARILLO FUNCTIONS ATTENDED BY PAMPANS

Two men, who eleven years ago opened an insurance agency in Pampa, came to Amarillo Wednesday night and with their 25 present insurance and investment company employees to celebrate the biggest year in their business experience with a dinner dance at the Herring hotel.

They are R. Earl O'Keefe, Pampa, president of the Panhandle Insurance Company and Southwestern Investment Company, and S. Wayne O'Keefe, Borger, who holds the office of vice president.

The past 11 years for the O'Keefe brothers reads like fiction business romance. In October, 1925, they opened a small office in Panhandle to handle general insurance business. The office had a couple of chairs, a desk and a typewriter, and a homemade table. Business was slow the first year, but then the company began to grow rapidly. An office was opened in Borger, another in Pampa, and this year in Amarillo. The main office of the company is in Pampa.

Other men associated with the O'Keefe in official capacities are W. A. Meyers, of Pampa, vice presdent, and J. B. Bourland, Pampa, secretary.

The dinner-dance Wednesday evening was principally a fun affair, but it was also the occasion of awarding achievement prizes for increased August business. The individual production award went to Bill Fonville, of Pampa, while the first place prize for the offices went to the Borger branch. Bill Furness, Borger, was second in the three offices.

There were approximately 45 company officials, employees, their wives or guests attending the party, which was in the Crystal ballroom. Emmet Ellis, of Borger, was toastmaster. Arrangements were directed by Paul Potter, of Amarillo.

Following the dinner brief talks were made by the toastmaster, the company president, and F. M. Culbertson, of Pampa.

Seated at the dinner were: From Pampa—Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson,

Mr. and Mrs. Fonville, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Farris Oden, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. (Bill) Brown, Miss Jerry Mitchell, Miss Ruth Smart, R. Earl O'Keefe, W. A. Meyers, Victor Kelly, George Maguire, Harold Simms, Buck Kelly, and George Lane.

From Borger—Mr. and Mrs. S. Wayne O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Ellett Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Caldwell, Miss Lynnie Everest, Bill Furness, and A. M. Minton.

Of Amarillo—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Potter, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gaskoy, and Dave Price.

Aima Lee Holley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Holley of LeFors, was taken to her home from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By NEA Service
Somehow, most of us feel that no dinner is complete without meat. It really is an erroneous notion. To prove it, here is a recipe from New Orleans that, served as a main dish, will make a dinner sure to be long-remembered.

The eggs are stuffed, fried in deep fat and served with a tomato sauce. Doesn't the description make you want to try the recipe? The Roquefort cheese in the stuffing gives the dish its distinctive flavor.

Eggs New Orleans for Three
Six eggs, one 1-4 ounce package Roquefort cheese, 1-8 cup finely chopped onions, 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, 1-4 cup fine bread crumbs, 3/8 cup finely chopped celery (optional).
Hard boil the eggs and slice them lengthwise.
Remove the yolks and mix them thoroughly with the mashed cheese, onions, celery and parsley.

Refill the egg whites with this mixture and press the halves firmly together.
Leave in the refrigerator for several hours to harden somewhat before frying.
Dip the eggs into the beaten raw egg, to which the water has been added.
Roll in very fine bread crumbs, toasted. Ground crumbs are best. Fry in very hot fat until brown. This allows two eggs for each serving.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Bananas and toast-to-serve cereal, cream, broiled bacon, whole wheat toast, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Cheese fondue, salad of cabbage, celery and dates, apple cobbler, milk, tea.
DINNER: Eggs New Orleans, noodles en casserole, string beans, mixed green salad with French dressing, bittersweet, chocolate molds, coffee.

For the tomato sauce, use a small tin of prepared tomato sauce, adding 2 onions and one green pepper, chopped fine and browned in butter.

Four this sauce around the eggs. With this egg dish serve Italian spaghetti or noodles in casseroles.
Gov. Walter Woodul, Dr. J. A. Hill of Canyon, and Supt. John W. Gregory of McAllen are to be speakers on the program.

Damon Vs. Pythias

CAMPAIGN speeches by Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith, erstwhile Damon and Pythias of democracy, put drama this week in the presidential campaign.

While the President upheld the New Deal as an antidote to communism, the "happy warrior" of 1928 avinced his distrust.

Off the platform for the time being, Governor Landon was arranging a fourth major stumping tour to Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit.

"The people are in a fighting mood," he said after sampling sentiments between Wisconsin and Kansas.

The President opened the frankly political phase of his campaign before the New York state Democratic convention in Syracuse.

Rebutting charges that he has communist support, he depicted the republican leadership as the same which brought the country "to the brink of 1933," and called himself a "conservative" whose "liberalism" has safeguarded democracy.

No 'Red Herring' Wanted
"I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism or any other alien 'ism' which, by fair means or foul, would change our American democracy," he said.

Roosevelt linked his re-election cause with that of Governor Herbert Lehman. Conversely, the Republican state convention at Albany joined an attack on Lehman's administration with arraignment of Roosevelt policies.

The threat of a party split over the G.O.P. gubernatorial nomination was averted when Justice William F. Bleakley pledged the support of his principal rival, George R. Fearon.

Landon, talking to reporters as he strode the living room of the executive mansion in Topeka, pledged extension of the merit system in the civil service—"no man can be simultaneously a member of my cabinet and chairman of the (Republican) national committee." New Deal social security laws also were objects of his fire.

Criss Cross Politics
There was more crossing of party lines. George N. Peek, the first AAA administrator and a Republican supporter of the Democratic tickets in the last two campaigns, took hold of the Landon farm and tariff views and swung back to his party. "I was fooled by President Roosevelt's promises," he said.

John G. Winant, on the other hand, resigned as Republican member of the social security board to denounce Landon's old age pension-unemployment insurance views. "An advance has begun, no man has the right to call 'halt!'" he said.

Writing to Senator Borah, whose campaign for the Republican presidential nomination he managed in Illinois, Edgar J. Cook of Chicago called the Landon nomination a "step backward" and announced he and some other Borah allies were organizing to help Roosevelt.

Senate campaign funds committee members decided unanimously to continue inquiry into charges of industrial coercion in Pennsylvania and countercharges of intimidation of voters by WPA officials.

Earl Browder, the communist nominee, was jailed at Terre Haute, Ind., on a vagrancy charge when he tried to speak there.

Screwball Ace Passes Mud Test

The Yankees found out it's true what the National leaguers knew all along about Carl Hubbell of the Giants as the World Series got under way in New York.

Hubbell won the first, or "jump," game of the series, 6 to 1, striking out eight, practically silencing Murderer's Row and getting two hits himself.

The pride of Meeker, Okla., known as the screwball-pitching king of the majors, yielded the first run of the subway series to George Selkirk who pounded a homer into the left-center field stands with none on base. That was all of the Yankee stonking.

Hubbell's triumph over Charlie Ruffing in a drizzle and mud was one of the form-sheet variety, but it turned popular favor to the Giants.

When Flannel Foot took a vacation this summer, and gave advance notice, the bobbies took a rest. Now they're disconsolate again and back on the trail. Flannel Foot also is back.

The Manhattan Main

Pirates and gold treasure are being sought in deadly earnest along the New York waterfront. The treasure hunter is Simon Lake, submarine inventor, who says he has located the hulk of the gold-laden British frigate, Hussar, in the East river, and hopes to recover as much as $4,800,000. The pirates, lacking jobs on rum row, are back at their old occupation of robbing anchored boats and wharves of anything movable.

People: 'Friendly' Ogpu Chief

A hint of liberalism for Russia's dreaded Ogpu or secret police leaked out this week when Nikolai Ivanovich Yezhoff took charge. Described as friendly, hard working and loyal, he is the first Ogpu chief who has turned up in the organization. He is 41 years old, a native of Leningrad and a Bolshevik since 1917. From then until 1921 he fought in the Red Army. His advancement to the Ogpu post occurred shortly before promulgation of Russia's new constitution which is expected to grant the populace additional liberties.

It Happened Here To the Black Legion

Charles A. Poole died in a ditch near Detroit last May because Black Legion members heard false gossip that he beat his wife.

This week the pretty 21-year-old widow had the last word as eleven of the Legion, convicted after a month-long trial of Poole's murder, marched on court.

"I hope you're satisfied," snarled one of the convicted men.

Life sentences were mandatory for seven of the group, convicted of first degree murder.

The case had exposed the existence of the secret terrorist band bent on moral and political dictatorship.

May 22, ten days after the murder of the young WPA worker, police announced the arrest of 16 men in the case and the confession of four.

Dayton Dean confessed killings and plots and turned state's evidence. As the trigger man who pumped five shots into Poole's body while the youth pleaded "there must be some mistake," he said he acted on a superior's orders because death was the penalty of disobedience in the Legion.

As sensation followed sensation during the investigation, grand juries working at top speed returned indictments involving the "thrill killing" of a negro hod carrier at a Black Legion drinking party; and conspiracies to kill an editor and two municipal officials. Twenty-two men were indicted for criminal syndicalism. One prisoner told of a plot to kill Jews with typhoid germs in milk.

Several of the men convicted in the Poole case are among the 70 against whom charges are still pending.

Crime File No. 2
A new clearing house for crime information, comparable with the federal fingerprint files, is now being set up in Washington.

The project, disclosed at a Dallas convention of identification experts by J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man, will consist of a file on the nation's stolen property. Designed to "throw more tightly the net of science about the criminal world," Hoover hopes it will become "a center of identification in theft cases throughout the United States."

He spoke while agents of other federal bureaus were making the year's biggest crime cleanup. Acting on secret orders from Washington, 2,500 officers pounced on more than a thousand persons accused of narcotic and liquor law violations.

second Mrs. Ernest Aldrich Simpson, whose friendship with the King of England has caused comment. She and the present Mrs. Simpson, she explained, are close friends. As for the King of England, "he is a charming gentleman, and of course any lady would be honored by his friendship. Unquestionably there is no thought of lack of propriety." The second Mrs. Simpson was among the king's guests this week on a Scottish holiday. The first Mrs. Simpson, in New York, has a business of supplying decorators and artists for wealthy clients.

Mickey Mouse Man

In 1928 Walt Disney scraped up an acquaintance with a tame mouse in the back room of a Kansas City studio. This week at Hollywood the 34-year-old cartoonist celebrated the eighth birthday of Mickey Mouse, whose earnings are estimated at half a million dollars yearly.

At Home

Havoc Brewed In 'Fire Bowl'

Fire, flood and snow spread destruction this week in the west.

Hundreds of small brush fires on the Pacific coast were fanned by a brisk wind into a "fire bowl" between ocean and mountains. There were a dozen deaths, a ruined town, perhaps 700,000 acres of blackened forests in Oregon and California. Damage was estimated at one time as high as $4,000,000. Southern Washington also suffered. So quickly did the blazes spread that incendiaries were suspected, although logging operations also were blamed.

Bandon, Ore., was transformed in an hour from a pretty little coastal port into an inferno.

"If the wind changes, God help us," said watchers in nearby towns.

But the sea wind brought a cooling fog that ended immediate danger.

In Texas it was rain.

Floods piled up damage along streams flowing to the gulf across fertile farm lands.

The Brazos, which has caused 346 deaths and $29,000,000 damage in 16 years, drove thousands from lowland homes. Damage estimates mounted and at least four deaths were blamed on storm and flood.

Colorado's worst September snowstorm did $7,000,000 damage in Denver alone and led to 16 or more deaths.

Tear Gas Education

Student strikes, phenomena of recent years in U.S. education, had added features this week.

At Campbell, O., several hundred pupils protesting the transfer of Michael Graban, a favorite teacher, picketed Memorial school. When they appeared again with "Strike" and "We Want Graban" placards, Police Chief Frank Cunningham, flanked by half a dozen officers, urged them to "go home or go to school." The students yelled and Cunningham fired two tear gas charges.

Some of them coughing and weeping, the students made off a ways but many returned later. Mayor John S. Borak said gas never would have been used had he known of the plan.

Death; No Holiday
Death is on the cards, says the National Safety Council, for an increasing number of autoists and pedestrians. Despite a month to month reduction of auto accidents compared with last year, the council predicted "1936 will apparently see no exception to the usual upward trend to peak in the late fall or early winter."

Abroad

'Lifeline' Anchored In Holy Land

When Britain ordered a fair sized army to Palestine, Italian skeptics inquired if such a force really were needed to combat unrest in one small mandated area. They thought the object of keeping open the "British lifeline" through the Mediterranean might be a big factor in the movement.

This week the British privy council supplied another reason.

Striking at Arab terrorism which has taken about 400 lives in six months, the council clamped down martial law on the Holy Land. Cold-eyed Lieut. Gen. J. C. Dill, who arrived at Jerusalem a fortnight ago at the head of 14,000 reinforcements, will wield dictatorial power to restore order.

He faced hands of Arabs fighting Jewish expansion as Arabs under Lawrence of Arabia fought the Turks in the World war. Their six months' campaign has caused numerous injuries and great property damage as well as the deaths. Strangely, no damage has been reported to $40,000,000 worth of property owned there by Americans.

Demand Bid, China's Play

Japan's army-navy clique pressed this week for new authority, at home and abroad.

In Tokyo, powerful militarists demanded that the government accept sweeping reforms.

In Shanghai, Japanese marines still patrolled a militarized zone in the foreign area where two Japanese were wounded and another shot to death last week by a Chinese gunman.

Additional marines landed while Japanese and Chinese negotiators, seeking settlement for the killing of five Japanese in a month, played a bland game of Oriental diplomacy.

There were reports that Japan would insist on setting up a new

In words intended for the ears of Chiang Kai-shek, the Chinese dictator, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita of Japan warned: "China is now at a tremendous crossroads. The army and navy are ready to carry out whatever measures are necessary."

Instead of taking the warning, Tokyo newspapers said, China rejected all demands and made five of her own, including recovery of Manchoukuo and suppression of smuggling.

Nazi 'Leniency'—Three Years

Fourteen months ago Nazi police seized Lawrence B. Simpson, hollow-cheeked American seaman, aboard the liner Manhattan and charged him with espionage and treason. This week he went to trial.

Slight and partially-deaf, Simpson clutched a chair while testifying in fluent German before five judges, one with a fierce, bristling mustache. Glibly he admitted conspiring with three communist friends to set up a popular front government in Germany, and smuggling in bales of "Death to Fascism" stickers.

The espionage charge was dropped and a young German attorney named to defend the penniless Simpson pleaded that his client "as an American had no real opportunity to learn the benefits of life in the Third Reich."

But the court promptly found Simpson guilty of spreading subversive literature, decided to be "lenient" by sentencing him to three years, including time already served. His German co-defendant drew a four-year term.

Off Gold; Trade Up

INTERNATIONAL traders shed few tears this week as the gold bloc crumbled. With the French franc devalued, they saw hope for unsmiling international trade, weak link in work economies.

Devaluation was the dramatic climax in a financial cycle that began five years ago when England cut the pound loose from gold. Now the pound seemed forging ahead again as several currencies deserted the franc and tied up with sterling.

While England's devaluation resulted in frenzied and fearful stock sales, the French action, by contrast, was followed by a pickup in Wall street, only prominent security mart that did business as usual.

Honor Among Nations
Before making a move, Leon Blum, the French premier whose unwilling hand had been forced by the flight of $200,000,000 in gold during a seven-week period, had a gentleman's agreement from the two other great democracies, the United States and England, for maintaining equilibrium of the franc, dollar and pound.

Said U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau: "There's no such word as 'war' in the Japanese diplomatic vocabulary."

"The United States government, as also the French and British governments, declares its intention to continue to use appropriate available resources so as to avoid as far as possible any disturbance of the basis of international exchange."

The Limit: $2,000,000,000

His pronouncement wasn't 24 hours old before Russia offered a million pounds sterling on the New York market. Morgenthau promptly took the offering at "a handsome profit" to the U. S. treasury.

"We will go the limit," he said, on the gentleman's agreement. Two billion dollars is the amount of the American stabilization fund.

Russia hastily explained the sale of pounds was a routine transaction and that Morgenthau was guilty of "absurd invention" in seeing it as an attempted raid.

Establishment of the French fund was part of Blum's devaluation program presented to a special session of parliament but the senate demanded changes.

French devaluation forced Switzerland and Holland off the gold standard and in all Europe Belgium alone remained with a technical rating as a gold standard country. The dollar was considered the one major gold standard currency.

Children First At Madrid

Backtracking a thousand years of history, Moors charged the Visigoth gate of Toledo this week at the head of a fascist army that relieved the rebel garrison of the crumbling Alcazar and swept on toward Madrid.

As the insurgents fought through the ancient capital of the Moors in Spain, the wan-faced defenders of the Alcazar sallied from their battered fortress and put the fleeing government militia between two fires. An order in half an hour it was all over and the valiant garrison, hysterical with joy at deliverance, was feeding once more on better food than horseflesh.

Madrid rallied every available man for a last ditch resistance. An order to "shoot your comrades" went from the high command to the front line. Although the Dutch gesture of opening a huge dam to flood the rebel army on the far side of Toledo was successful only temporarily, the government still hopes its defenses around Madrid would hold fast.

Real War Babies

In an orgy of revenge before their retreat from Toledo, loyalists slaughtered 800 priests, according to stories told by survivors.

In the dank, foul dungeons where they had survived a 7-week siege by dynamite, heavy shells, airplane bombs, flaming gasoline and machine gun fire, the Alcazar cadets proudly showed their liberators the scene of their ordeals.

Twelve hundred men, women and children took refuge there July 18, they said, and all but 80 came out. Every day they butchered a horse or mule for food. An engineer among them followed enemy tunnel operations by ear and showed them how to avoid dynamite blasts. The commander, Col. Moscardo, sacrificed his son, a hostage among the loyalists, rather than surrender. Two babies were born in the dungeons. Only one bottle of chloroform for operations remained when help finally arrived.

Flight From Madrid Begins

There was better news for the loyalists in the east and north. Barcelona, an anti-fascist stronghold, called more men to arms and announced the capture of a mountain pass on the road to Huesca. At Bilbao, on the north coast, six government battleships suddenly appeared and bombarded fascists marching on the city, then convoyed ships with food and arms into the harbor.

This naval coup was followed, however, by the sinking of a loyalist destroyer, the Almirante Juan Fernandez, by rebel ships in the straits of Gibraltar.

Madrid denied reports that President Azana and other government officials had asked passage on an Argentine cruiser. But children of government militiamen were sent from Madrid to points of safety.

'Gorgeous Hussy' And 'General Dies At Dawn' Feature Theater Program

Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper Are Films' Stars

Two motion pictures which have received tremendous ballyhoo, The Gorgeous Hussy with an all-star cast, and The General Dies at Dawn, featuring Gary Cooper, will show at the LaNora theater this week. The two productions combine to produce the most ambitious program the house has offered in some time.

The Gorgeous Hussy purports to tell the truth about Peggy Eaton, Andrew Jackson and other celebrities of the Jacksonian epoch, but does not. If the truth had been told the picture would have been much better. But it is well-known that the movies seem to believe they must tell gorgeous lies in order to make an impression.

The real story of Peggy Eaton and her pals is far more thrilling and interesting than the one the picture relates; however, if you like a good story and don't care whether your history is genuine or faked, you should like the Gorgeous Hussy. A typical example of the many historical inaccuracies in the picture: John Randolph in the film is young and handsome, while in real life he was almost in his dotage.

There is nothing phoney about Gary Cooper in The General Dies at Dawn. When he socks the leading lady, Madeleine Carroll, she is socked. Clifford Odets, author of Waiting For Lefty and other Communist plays, wrote the scenario including the dialogue for the General Dies at Dawn, but there is no trace of Communism in the script. The play was written to be a thriller, exuding mystery, romance, glamor, and that substance which burb writers term the "haunting fascination" of the East. If you saw Marlene Dietrich in Shanghai Express you know what we mean. Previous indicate that the picture will be just another triumph for Gary Cooper.

Between the two of them, The General Dies at Dawn, is to be preferred to The Gorgeous Hussy, but not if you like Joan Crawford. It's funny, but most people who fancy Joan don't care for Greta Garbo, so the Hussy fiction (not history, remember) is likely to be far more popular than the General's adventures.

The Rex program for the week features comedy in Three Married Men, and Jean Hersholt in Sins of Men. The re-run program at the State will include William Powell and Jean Arthur in The Ex Mrs. Bradford.

The General Dies at Dawn" presents Gary Cooper again in a soldier-of-fortune role, one which has added greatly to his stature as one of film-dom's outstanding stars. Playing opposite him—as a woman who uses her beauty as a lure in the high game of intrigue—is beautiful blond Madeleine Carroll, young English actress who is headed for a major position among the great stars.

The film is based on the struggle between modern China and the predatory war-lords who are laying the country waste. On the one side is General Yang, ambitious war-lord intent upon crushing China under his iron heel. On the other is a growing people's movement. Cooper is in the ranks of this movement.

Sent to Shanghai with money with which to buy arms, Cooper is lured aboard a train by Miss Carroll, daughter of a crooked international agent. The train is held up and Cooper is captured. The agent is given the money and sent to Shanghai to pick up Cooper's arms consignment. Once there he decides to flee to America with the money. Cooper escapes from Yang and reaches Shanghai where he kills the agent in a shooting scrape. Yang arrives and takes him prisoner again, together with Miss Carroll. He takes them aboard his junk where he intends to torture them into revealing the hidden place of the money which neither of them know.

Miss Carroll discovers she loves Cooper and to atone for her duplicity in leading to his capture, offers to pay Yang with her life if he will permit Cooper to go. Before this becomes necessary, however, Yang is shot in a scuffle. Realizing he is about to die, he orders his soldiers to kill Cooper and the girl and then to kill themselves so that he can enter heaven with an entourage befitting his rank. Just as the soldiers are about to fire, Cooper begins a desperate scramble for life by playing to Yang's vanity.

The part of General Yang is played by Akim Tamiroff, skilled depicter of sinister oriental roles. The picture was directed by Lewis Milestone and the screenplay was written by Clifford Odets, the young playwright whose recent works have created a mighty stir among dramatic critics throughout the country.

CLIFFORD ODETS WRITES STIRRING CHINESE PLAY

Clifford Odets, 29-year-old playwright who skyrocketed to fame two years ago when his plays "Waiting For Lefty," "Awake and Sing," and "Till the Day I Die," caused a sensation in dramatic circles, wrote the screen-play for "The General Dies at Dawn," which opens Friday at the LaNora theater.

Noted for his strict adherence to fact and utter disregard for where his barbs fall, Odets was chosen to do the screen-play for this romance of modern war-torn China. "The General Dies at Dawn" features Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carroll. "The General Dies at Dawn" is his first motion-picture effort, and was viewed by Hollywood as so successful that Odets has been in demand everywhere. So far, however, he has not revealed his plans for the future.

Gary Cooper Coming Friday

Beautiful Madeleine Carroll, cast as an intriguing adventuress, and handsome Gary Cooper, famed for his soldier-of-fortune portrayals, appear together for the first time in "The General Dies at Dawn," opening Friday at the LaNora theater, a tensity dramatic story of modern war-torn China, written by Clifford Odets.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — Gladys Smith, born of humble parents in Toronto, Canada, in the early 1900's, may change her name—for the fourth time.

Gladys Smith... Mary Pickford... Mrs. Owen Moore... Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks... and now, possibly, Mrs. Buddy Rogers, wife of an orchestra leader and former film star 10 years her junior.

The career and the life of the child actress who became the most famous woman in the world and at one time literally the idol of millions from Iceland to Capetown, have been kaleidoscopic.

Retired As Actress. Now retired from the screen as an actress but still with ambitions to produce pictures (notwithstanding the recent announcement of the dissolution of the firm of Pickford-Lasky after making just two films), Miss Pickford's friends are asking how this expected marriage will affect the career of "America's Sweetheart."

Knowing Miss Pickford's reluctance to be separated from Douglas Fairbanks during their wedded days, her friends predict that she and Buddy will try to parallel their future activities so they will not be far apart—at least not for any length of time. A report a few days ago that Buddy was attempting to negotiate a contract here indicates that he prefers Hollywood to travel.

Although 43 years old, Mary has a definite childlike quality in manner as well as in appearance. Denied the pleasures of childhood because she had to work, she has retained some of the characteristics of a child. For instance, she often expresses the greatest delight over the simplest things, like a dog or a new hat. At the same time, her judgment is mature; and it is doubtful if there is a woman in Hollywood with a keener business sense.

Her friends point out that she retained her identity when she became Mrs. Owen Moore, and kept on being Mary Pickford while she was Fairbanks' wife. She seemed unchanged to those who know her when that marriage ended. These same people see this vital, dominant woman, whose name was so long a trade name, remaining only herself

THREE MARRIED MEN AT REX IS RIOT OF LAUGHS

Hen-Pecked Hubbies Fail to Discourage Groom

With three comedy stars, Roscoe Karns, William Frawley and Lynne Overman to insure laughs the Rex theater shows "Three Married Men" today through Tuesday.

Frawley and Overman, as the two embittered hen-pecked husbands who seek to discourage Karns, the anxious groom, play their parts with a conviction bespeaking actual experience. A near riot is in the offering as Karns ignores the advice and marries co-starring Mary Brian. However, it is polished off nicely when Karns' loudly colored pajamas causes a split on their wedding night. Reconciliation is hindered by everyone affected, except the bride and groom, until they decide to part and forget everything, at which time a surprise climax will send the patron chuckling from the theater determined married life is usually just about what the in-laws make it.

CRIME PREVENTION IS STRESSED IN SPEECH

Crime prevention, rather than crime correction, was stressed today by the Rev. Fr. James Daly, of Children, speaker at the Friday, Kiwanis session in Hotel Schneider. The Rev. Fr. Daly related interesting stories of prison visits in some of America's largest penal institutions, including Sing Sing and San Quentin.

Betty Bythe and Dorothy Jo Moore, two of the Harvester high school pep leaders, led the Kiwanians in a brief pep session in advance of the Pompa-Norman grid game here. Tex DeWeese was inducted to Kiwanis membership at the meeting.

CRAWFORD IS FEATURED IN HUSSY PICTURE

HISTORICAL FIGURES REPRESENTED IN MOVIE

Unquestionably the most emotionally appealing motion picture in which Joan Crawford has ever appeared is Samuel Hopkins Adams' dramatic story "Gorgeous Hussy," which shows at the LaNora theater today through Wednesday.

In this picture will be seen a triumph of casting that hasn't been equaled in cinema annals for some time. Not only is Joan Crawford perfectly cast as Peggy O'Neal, the innkeeper's daughter who became the First Lady of Democracy, but her teaming with the sensational Robert Taylor as "Bow" Timberlake, officers of the U. S. S. Constitution, brings forth a romantic theme that makes most others seem pale in comparison.

As though this were not enough, "The Gorgeous Hussy" offers its onlookers Lionel Barrymore in a fascinating and remarkably accurate makeup and characterization as Andrew Jackson; Franchot Tone as John Eaton; Melvyn Douglas as John Randolph, the senator from Virginia; James Stewart as "Rowdy" Dow, Washington newspaper reporter; Allison Skipworth as the gossip Mrs. Beall; and a score or more of expert minor characterizations.

Briefly summed up "The Gorgeous Hussy" tells of the tempestuous Peggy O'Neal who throws Washington into an uproar during the fiery period of Andrew Jackson's fight for the presidential nomination. In love with John Randolph of Virginia, she marries "Bow" Timberlake, a naval officer, because Randolph's political beliefs disagree with Jackson's and her own. Timberlake is killed in a brawl and Peggy ultimately marries John Eaton, minister to Spain, sacrificing her real love in an attempt to hold the Union together.

William Bush, 81, Findlay, O., is still active in his carpentry trade doing heavy work that many younger men would find difficult.

Q. What two Texas brothers were noted generals in the War Between the States? O. G.

A. Gens. Ben and Henry McCulloch, sons of Alexander and Frances McCulloch, who came to Texas from Tennessee. Gen. Ben McCulloch, for whom McCulloch county was named, fought as a private at San Jacinto, represented Gonzales in Congress in 1840; was United States marshal of Texas in 1853. He was killed at the battle of Pea Ridge, Ark., March 24, 1862; was buried first at Waxahatchie, and his remains were later moved to Austin. The parents moved from Gonzales to Ellis county about 1854.

BLINDED HOMING PIGEONS CAN ALWAYS FIND THEIR WAY HOME

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—The homing pigeon, despite numerous specialized means of communication, still is an important factor in the United States army in time of war. Staff Sgt. Max Bronkhorst, seventh signal service company here, is the keeper and trainer of more than 125 of the birds, which Uncle Sam would use in case of war.

Bronkhorst, born in Nyswagan, Holland, has raised and trained pigeons all his lifetime and knows everyone of his feathered messengers by name and number. His father also raised and trained homing pigeons.

Bronkhorst has many national champions in his flock, including "General Allison," named for the chief signal officer of the United States, which this year won the national racing championship. The bird was liberated at Topeka, Kan., at 5:05 a. m., June 20, and was in the home loft here at 3:05 p. m. the next day. The performance was one of endurance rather than speed, although "General Allison" traveled the distance of approximately 700 miles at the rate of 772 yards a minute.

Other birds in the loft, on shorter distances, have set speed records of a mile a minute.

Racing, however, isn't the chief objective of Chief Pigeoner Bronkhorst's charges. They are, first of all, carrier homing pigeons and must go through military training even as the soldiers in the arm. A fledgling remains in the loft pen at least three months before training begins.

At three months, Bronkhorst says, a pigeon has developed enough intelligence, and attachment for its home that its first thought when out of the loft is to return. The birds first are turned loose about five miles from the loft, the distance gradually being increased to 150 miles so that distance becomes no barrier to their urge to home. Having gone through this process the birds are ready for racing.

Army pigeons are placed in races because it increases their stamina, speed, and ability to home, says Col. Walter E. Prosser, signal officer for the eighth corps area in charge of signal corps activities for the army in Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Texas, and part of Wyoming.

"The speed with which a pigeon homes determines its value to the army in time of war," Col. Prosser says. "Pigeons that have participated in long distance races are better equipped to home quickly on account of this training, although in time of war they would not be required to fly long distances."

The army maintains a mobile loft, a home for pigeons on wheels, in addition to the regular pen, which the birds know as home whether on or off the army post.

Bronkhorst believes pigeons do not rely on sight to bring them back safely, but that their home lofts set up certain atmospheric vibrations which the pigeons recognize and which guides them home. The loft at Fort Sam Houston, where the radio station once operated, is the most successful ever located here, the sergeant says.

"Our pigeons return here quicker than to the other loft and fewer fail to return on distant flights," he says. "I believe that is due to quantities of copper wire buried around the building which has done much to make vibrations of the loft more distinct to birds on the wing."

Pigeons released from airplanes in sight of the loft, he says, did not make a bee-line for it, but circled several times as if waiting for guidance, then darted "home." This experiment led him to believe pigeons do not start home until it has certain aerial vibrations to follow.

Bronkhorst says world war records show that pigeons followed this guidance vibration home. Many were shot to pieces but found their way back, and others were blinded by blood and gas but their messages came through. Bon Ami, decorated for bravery for delivering an important message in the Meuse-Argonne sector, was blown near to pieces before it reached the loft. Others had eyes shot out but came home. Bronkhorst has pigeons blinded by hunters, which found their way home.

16-YEAR OLD GIRL OF PAMPA DIES IN IOWA

Mary Ella Johnson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Johnson, who reside nine miles south of Pampa, died in a hospital at Muscatine, Iowa, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Central Baptist church with Rev. Jno. Scott, pastor, officiating.

Miss Johnson is survived by her parents, a brother, Henry, and two sisters, Ruby Fay and Shirley Anne. She attended Pampa high school last year, but because of illness had not entered school this term. She was a member of Central Baptist church here.

Christmas Black Eye Stands Out In Pampa Man's Reminiscences of Boyhood Days Some 30 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the first of a series of "Childhood Biographies," depicting the early lives of Pampa and Panhandle residents. Some of them will carry readers back many years and bring to them schoolyard memories, incidents in some of the biographies will almost immediately identify the authors to old-time residents. The stories, however, will be equally interesting to newcomers. The author of the following article has lived in and around Pampa for 30 years. Can you guess his identity?

By J. B.

(As Told to Helen Partridge) I remember coming to this part of the country. I was only about five years old, but I can remember it. It was in the winter of 1905. Railroad connections weren't so good then, and it took much longer to travel than it does now. We came from Ellis county, Texas, and stayed over night at El Reno, Okla. It seems funny when you think it over, that you had to go into another state in order to get back to your own. Ellis county is in the eastern part of Texas, and to come to the Panhandle on the Rock Island one had to go by way of El Reno.

There were three families of us. They were all big families, and all relatives. McLean was the first stop when we came out here, and it was night when we got in. We stayed at the Russell Hotel. Mrs. Hindman had a hotel there, too. One of the first things I remember was seeing the Russell boy and the Hindman boy go by the hotel the next morning horseback. Yes, I knew the Hindmans. We used to sell butter and eggs to the hotel. Of course, that was after we had been there awhile.

I started to school in McLean. We lived about a mile and a half from the school, and we kids always walked. I remember always carrying a dinner pail. It was either a syrup or a lard pail. I remember that dinner pail so well, because I had a fight with it once. I had to go up a little hill on the way home, and there was always a bunch of kids walking together. One evening a couple of boys caught me and were going to put some big red ants down my back. When they started getting the ants, I whinned away with that old dinner pail. I hit one of the boys just above the eye, and he still carries the scar. I always carried a big heavy cup in my pail, and that was what made it hit so hard. I didn't intend to hit so hard, but was just trying to defend myself.

Christmas was always a big thing. We didn't have toys then like the kids do now, and the only time we ever got anything was at Christmas. We didn't go to some five and ten once or twice a week to buy a toy. Old Santa Claus always brought them, and I was half grown before I knew there wasn't a Santa Claus. We always hung up stockings and had a Christmas tree every year. There were no electric lights on it, though. If it was lit up, it used to be wax candles in candle holders, and trimmed the trees with popcorn and cranberries.

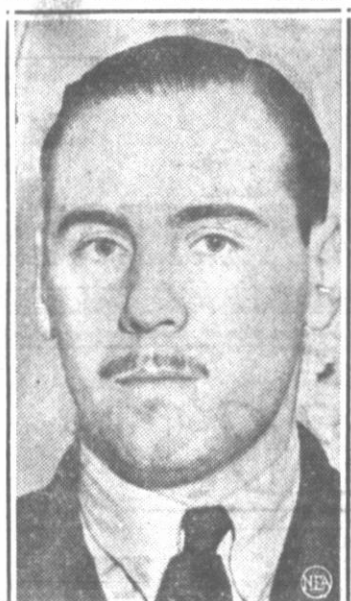

The second fight I ever remember having was on Christmas eve. Another boy and I had been quarrelling for a long time. That afternoon we were down behind a little old news building. Some other big kids were down there, and they kept "egging" us on until finally we doubled our fists and went at it. Some men came out and separated us. I got a black eye and a smashed lip out of the deal, and the funny part of it was that I happened to be on the Christmas program at the church that evening. Well, no one ever backed out of anything at Christmas time, especially if there was a red wagon or a toy pistol at stake. I went on and was in the program, but I must have been a pitiful looking sight.

The wagons we got then didn't have rubber tires, and no headlights. I never had a tricycle or a pair of roller skates, didn't even know what they looked like. There were no sidewalks then. I suppose there were tricycles all right but I don't remember seeing one around McLean. We used to come over to Pampa now and then, but it certainly didn't look like it does now. It was just mostly the wide-open spaces then. I've worked as far back as I can remember. It was my job every evening to chop kindling, get in coal, and shuck corn for the horses. I milked cows ever since I was knee-high to a grasshopper. One year they opened a new strip in Mexico, and people got the homestead fever. We lived on the highway going to Mexico, and every day covered wagons would go by whole families of them. They would stop at our place for water. A lot of them came from Oklahoma. I remember one year when a family stopped, and the next year the same family came back with a sign on both sides of their wagon. "IN

Establish Claim to British Title

Difficulties in obtaining a birth certificate led Raymond Moulton O'Brien (below) of New York to make inquiries that have established his right to the title of Earl of Thomond, dormant since 1774. Once a sweeper in a London office, O'Brien reports his claim has been acknowledged by the British crown, elevating him to the station of his beautiful wife, (above), the former countess Guiliaris de Zante of Greece.

God, We Truited. In Mexico We Busted. A lot of them came back; homesteading wasn't so good. When evening came it was just another evening, and when the chores were done, and supper was over, we went to bed. No radios, only a few shows, and no night ball games. A community gathering or a pie supper now and then. But somehow I must of had a lot of fun or it wouldn't be so much fun thinking about it now.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 3.—Experiences in Texas and other southwestern states in building their systems of low-cost bituminous highway systems will be discussed by C. M. Gillette, materials engineer, Bureau of Public Roads, Fort Worth, in the Fifth National Road Oil and Asphalt Congress here October 3 and 9. It was announced today by the program committee.

The Congress will bring together state and county engineers, engineers from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, chemists and engineers from the petroleum industry and scientists from southwestern universities in a two-day program devoted to papers and discussions of the modern practices in low-cost road building. Engineers from seven southwestern states and from Montana will participate in the program.

The 1936 Congress, fifth in a series, is sponsored by the petroleum industry through the Western Petroleum Refiners Association with the cooperation of state highway departments, universities and contractors.

"The bituminous type highway, built of scientific mixtures of asphaltic oil or asphalt, has come to be recognized as the means of extending our state and national highway systems," states Emby Kaye, chairman of the Congress. "We have learned it is uneconomical and unnecessary to spend $25,000 to $50,000 a mile for a highway when, thru more scientific and economical use of the bituminous materials, excellent highways can be built for $2,500 to $6,000 a mile."

The Congress is held annually to provide a meeting place for highway builders to exchange experiences and benefit from developments in other territories. About 400 are expected to attend.

Evans and Johnson Leave for Flint To See New Buicks

Tex Evans and Hugh Johnson of the Tex Evans Buick company, left today in Flint, Mich., to view the new 1937 Buick and to meet with company officials. Dealers will be addressed by Harlow H. Curtice, president of the company, who is thoroughly sold on the continued strides toward recovery which the country is making.

Addressing a meeting of service representatives of his company recently, he said: "The public is hesitant to appraise the extent to which recovery has progressed, but I am convinced that we are entering our 1937 program under conditions which could not be better."

He supported his convictions with the statement that his company had expended nearly $30,000,000 in the last two years in expansion of manufacturing facilities, and that $14,500,000 of this now is being spent in the process of rehabilitating, enlarging Buick operations and preparing for the introduction of 1937 models.

Mr. Curtice predicted a substantial improvement in the coming year in sale of his company, which he said had grown from 40,000 units in 1933 to more than 175,000 in 1936.

The company is rapidly moving into volume production of its 1937 cars, he said. Output thus far has been confined to the Series 80 Roadmaster and Series 90 Limited models, with the beginning of production on the lower priced Series 40 Special and Series 60 Century scheduled to start immediately.

HUNGARIAN FLOCK TO APOSTLE BUDAPEST

—Scores of gypsies are flocking to hear the self-styled gypsy apostle Feri Garzo, who preaches to what he calls his "racial brethren" in their own language throughout southern Hungary. Many of them go to him to confess their sins, promising to legalize their illegitimate marriages and to visit a church regularly.

News Of Interest From Nearby Towns

The 1936 Carson county tax rate has been set by the commissioners at 90 cents, according to County Judge J. C. Jackson.

The taxes will be apportioned as follows: Jury fund, 15 cents; road and bridge fund, 30 cents; general fund, 25 cents; courthouse and jail fund, 14 cents; and road bond, sinking, 6 cents.

This rate will be collected with the taxes due the first of October.

A D-Shong truck was picked up at Clarendon Wednesday by highway patrolmen on a charge of overloading. The driver entered a plea of guilty to overloading on both truck and trailer, it is said, and paid a fine of $21 on each amounting to a total of $42.

The injunctions secured by the De-Shong company against interference of patrolmen is said to have been dissolved recently.

Buddle White of Trinidad, Colo., loaded with spuds bound for Paducah and Crowell was charged with overloading about the same time. He also is said to have pled guilty, and was fined a dollar and costs amounting to $12.

The Mobeetie school board has leased 10 acres of ground just south of the school buildings on which it is planned to build a modern athletic field. The tract is 710 yards long by 613 yards wide, and is leased for a period of five years. At present it is sown to wheat.

Next year the field will be planted to grass and efforts made to light it for night games.

With this modern convenience, the Hornets will surely win many games of football.

November 13 and 14 have been set as the tentative dates for the F. F. A. poultry show and judging contests for the 9 F. F. A. chapters in the district of which Miami is a member. McLean, Wheeler, Canadian, Perryton, Claude, Panhandle, White Deer, and Pampa are the chapters that will be invited to take part in the judging contests.

Definite plans for the Miami show will be worked out by the local F. F. A. during the coming week, and definite announcements concerning the various classes of chickens and eggs that will be shown will be given next week. Chapter members will make a canvas of the community in an effort to encourage showing of better fowls to be found in Roberts County.

139 WELLS ARE COMPLETED IN E-TEXAS FIELD

September Report Is Filed by Railroad Commission

KILGORE, Oct. 3 (AP)—A total of 139 wells were completed in September in the East Texas oil field, increasing the field's total to 21,429.

These figures were reported today by the engineering department of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The 21,429 wells had an hourly potential production of 13,112,210 barrels of the total number of wells, 16,076 were classed as marginal producers with an hourly potential of 8,138,397 barrels.

As October production began, the daily allowable was 436,936 barrels. The allowable factor remained unchanged at 2.32 per cent of the hourly potential.

The 139 new producers during September added 59,620 barrels to the hourly potential. Daily allowable figures advanced 2,811 barrels during September.

Twenty-one refineries were operating, while only 16 were in operation at the end of August.
