'TRIGGERMAN' OF LIPSCOMB ATTACK NAMED

JOHNNY HUGHES, HELD IN LOCAL JAIL, IS ACCUSED

LIPSCOMB, Texas, Oct. 12 (AP)—Sheriff J. E. Shahan of Lipscomb county announced today that two more members of a band which allegedly robbed Christian Babitzke, Lipscomb county farmer, last January 12, have signed confessions.

They are Lee Kratz and Burl Wagon, who were brought to Texas last week from Arnett, Okla., to face charges of robbery with firearms. Kratz is in jail at Stinnett and Wagon in Amarillo.

Sheriff Shahan said that both men admitted participating in the $2,500 holdup and had implicated Johnny Hughes, now held in jail at Pampa, as the man who shot and wounded Babitzke's son, Ben.

Hughes has pleaded not guilty. District Attorney Lewis Goodrich of Shamrock advised Sheriff Shahan today that Kratz had asked to appear before the district court this week and plead guilty. Wagon has not yet asked a hearing.

The first member of the band to plead guilty was Pete Traxler, Oklahoma desperado, who was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Confessions that they participated in the Christian Babitzke torture robbery and shooting near Lipscomb last January have been obtained from Lee Kratz and Burl Wagon, alleged members of Pete Traxler's band of Oklahoma outlaws. It was announced here today by District Attorney Lewis Goodrich.

Wagon and Kratz, according to the district attorney, have confessed their complicity in the crime in which Babitzke was robbed of his life savings of nearly $2,500, and in which his 17-year-old son, Ben, was shot resulting in the loss of an eye.

Kratz is in jail at Stinnett and Wagon is being held in prison at Amarillo.

Traxler pleaded guilty to his part of the robbery on last Sept. 16 and was sentenced to life in the penitentiary when he appeared before Judge W. R. Ewing in a special district court session at Lipscomb.

Two other prisoners are being held for the same robbery. They are John Hughes and Mrs. Neil Walton. Hughes is charged with robbery with firearms and Mrs. Walton is held as an accomplice.

The district attorney's office has had the Traxler, Hughes, Wagon and Kratz for the four months which they robbed the Babitzkes, and that Mrs. Walton was implicated in the plans for the robbery.

MECHANIC KILLED IN FAIRGROUNDS SMASHUP

HONDO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Arthur Partain of San Antonio was killed instantly here yesterday afternoon in a smashup in a stock car auto race at the fairgrounds track.

Partain, riding as Eddie Byers' mechanic, was killed when Byers failed to take the upper turn properly, running off the roadway and crashing into the fence along the track.

Byers, 1933 winner of the Laredo-Monterey international road race, and veteran stock car pilot of Texas as dirt tracks, also suffered injuries as his car turned over on him, crushing him. He was able to extricate himself from the wreckage and walked down the track to the judges stand to report Partain's death.

The death of Mechanic Partain was the first to be put on the records of South Texas dirt track racing in two years.

Only four men were racing in the 100-mile special match race in which the mishap occurred. Fred Ruth, Early Allen, Richard Ahr of San Antonio and Byers of Austin.

Richard Ahr led the race for 45 laps but was forced out with a flat tire. Earl Allen then swept into the lead and paced Ruth to the 90th mile when he had to come in for fuel, with Ruth winning the race.

DEPUTY SHOOTS WELDER
SAN ANGELO, Oct. 12 (AP)—No charges had been filed this morning against T. J. Longacre, sheriff's deputy, in connection with the shooting here early Sunday of John Lolo, a welder from Pennsylvania.

Lolo, shot just below the heart, remained in a grave condition and his recovery was not expected. The shooting took place at the windmill, night spot on the Ballinger highway.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL
All members of the Boy Scout troop 89 were requested by their scoutmaster to attend the funeral of J. G. Stroupe at the Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Scouts will sit in a body, honoring James, Jack and Jerry Stroupe, members of the troop.

I Saw . . .
T. P. Harris, negro who works in the Standard Food poultry department, grinning widely but not a whit disconcerted yesterday afternoon as chickens in the two tall, wheeled coops he was escorting to the store's new location, cackled and crowed, and drew quite an audience which added to the din by also cawing and cackling.

PROBE OF NEW DEAL FOES ASKED

TEX'S TOPICS

Most of the uncertainty has been taken out of radio, according to Kay-Pee-Dee-Enner Dave Ballou, who explains that he means by the statement that you no longer need look for blunders and errors, once very common in radio's early stages.

When radio men get together they talk shop and always get around to the point where they bring up early-day experiences on the air lanes—tales of startling things that got onto the air by some hook or crook, and many times they were things which went into the homes of listeners and boomeranged back to make the station manager's face red.

Usually these off-the-script boners were the result of a careless announcer, or a careless engineer who forgot to pull the switch at signing off time. . . . Never were they intentional; rather, they went out into the ether entirely without the knowledge of anyone within the studio where they originated.

A recent issue of "Broadcasting," magazine of radio, had something to say about these radio errors of bygone days. Ballou calls attention to it, and believing it a good example of what we've been talking about in the preceding paragraphs, it is reprinted here:

A station made much of the fact that it was going to broadcast the blow-by-blow description of the first boxing bout ever put on in its territory. On the night of the bout, while the event was on the air, the station received word of the sudden death of the mayor.

What to do? The studio announcer excited, put on the flash at once, without notifying the ring-side announcer his broadcast was being broken into.

Station WAX regrets to announce, ladies and gentlemen, the sudden death of Mayor Doe. He died at his home tonight, soon after being stricken by a heart attack.

The studio announcer then threw the program back to the unsuspecting ring-side announcer, whose voice chimed in at the end of the flash, picking up perfectly where the studio announcer had left off: "It was quite a blow, ladies and gentlemen, but it doesn't mean a thing."

And that's the way things happened back in the good old days of radio when a kilocycle was more or less of an unknown quantity and "mike" was just a member of that well-known firm, "Pat and Mike," so far as the public was concerned.

Someone has asked what has become of the old-fashioned girl who used to get home from a date at 10 p. m. Well, we can answer that one—she now has a daughter who gets home from the date at 10 a. m.

An editorial contends a politician is at a disadvantage in talking into a "mike," instead of directly to an audience. Still, a microphone cannot throw.

Deuran Being Tried

The second trial of L. G. Deuran, indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of keeping a gambling place, was under way in district court here this afternoon.

Deuran's first trial, which occupied three days of last week, ended Saturday forenoon when Judge W. R. Ewing discharged a "hung" jury after it failed to reach an agreement in 37 hours of deliberation.

Judge Ewing said this forenoon that the trials of four other men indicted on gambling counts would follow the Deuran case, but that no definite dates could be set today.

Judge Ewing will be absent from the district court bench next week, he announced today. He asked that members of the bar meet in the district courtroom next Monday morning to elect an acting judge for the week.

Although this week originally was scheduled as civil jury week, the docket was subject to criminal case activity and the court announced that it was expected that criminal cases would be wound up by Thursday night and civil cases could be considered Friday.

He added, however, that because of his absence next week he would not undertake to open any case Friday which could not be terminated by Saturday night.

Motion for a new trial for Dave Slaughter, convicted on a gambling count last week, was overruled this morning by Judge Ewing, and the defendant was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

An appeal from the jury's verdict was filed this afternoon and Slaughter was freed under $2,500 bond pending action on the case by the court of criminal appeals at Amarillo.

Most of the forenoon in court here was spent in the selection of a jury for the second Deuran trial, and the finding of testimony did not get under way until this afternoon.

Dr. Lilje, along with two other German church officials, was a visitor Monday to the annual convention of the American Lutheran church.

Other visitors were Bishop Hans Meiser, Bishop of Bavaria, and secretary of the world conference, and Bishop August Marahrens, Bishop of Hanover and president of the world conference.

All three addressed the convention in German.

Dr. Lilje, the only one of the trio speaking English, told reporters that another reason for the peace is still on earth.

"I belong to that generation," he said. "I fought in the trenches and I haven't forgotten it. As long as we exist there will not be another war. Another reason is that peace is still the best end for all nations. A look at the present situation will show you that they cannot afford a war now."

Flays Priest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—A charge by Monsignor John A. Ryan, above, that Father Charles E. Coughlin is misleading Catholic voters by misquoting Papal writings was hurled today into the controversy between the two clergymen.

Renewing his defense of Roosevelt measures against the attack of the Detroit radio priest, Father Ryan, a professor at Catholic University, took to the air last night to point out what he termed misquotations of an encyclical of Pope Pius XI.

Father Ryan said the Detroit priest "misuses" one of the Pope's encyclicals which touches on money and credit.

"The Holy Father," the Washington priest declared, "does not say that the private control of money and credit exists everywhere and at all times. He says when it exists it is extremely bad and is practically irresistible."

"The Pope is talking of a condition that sometimes obtains. He does not say that it obtains always and everywhere or that it exists in the United States."

As a matter of fact it does not obtain in the United States.

SIX GAMBLING PLACES RAIDED IN SAN ANTONIO

Equipment Valued At $30,000 Held By State

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Equipment from six down town San Antonio gambling places was held in storage under order of state rangers today and complaints were being prepared against about 75 persons following surprise raids early yesterday.

Colonel H. H. Carmichael, director of the state Department of Public Safety, headed the raids, bringing with him 22 Texas Rangers.

Local authorities were not called upon for help until after the raids had been made.

Equipment taken from the gambling resorts is worth about $30,000, Colonel Carmichael reported. About a truckload was taken from each of the six places, according to J. W. Davis, chief deputy constable, and stored at a warehouse.

Places raided were the Ormale American club, in the Builders Exchange building; the Turf club, 121 Soledad street; Embassy club, 107 East Houston street; Dragon club, Soledad and West Travis streets; Riverside club, 103 1-2 West Houston street, and Texas club, 225 1-2 North St. Mary's street.

Colonel Carmichael divided his men into six groups, and all of the raids took place at about the same time, shortly after 12:30 a. m.

INVESTIGATION OF COX-HALEY VIEWS PUSHED

REP. TARWATER FROM PLAINVIEW HITS AT CRITICS

AUSTIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—A resolution by Rep. A. B. Tarwater of Plainview today proposed a legislative investigation of anti-new deal activities of Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the bureau of business research of the University of Texas, and J. Everts Haley, former history research employe of the school.

Tarwater charged Dr. Cox's interpretation of data conformed with "ideas and propaganda of anti-new dealers and especially with the Liberty Leaguers."

Haley, as chairman of the Jefferson Democrats of Texas, has been actively fighting President Roosevelt's re-election. Some weeks ago he obtained temporary leave of absence from his research duties, and subsequently school officials said the term of the project on which he had been employed had expired.

Haley himself charged he had been "fired by inaction," but H. J. Lutchter Stark of Orange, chairman of the University's board of regents, said he had not been "fired" and his position was temporarily vacant.

Tarwater proposed that the inquiry be made by a committee already created to investigate teachings of communism in state colleges. Representative Herman Jones sought to amend the resolution to direct the committee to investigate censorship of the Texan, University of Texas campus newspaper.

Action on the proposal was deferred until tomorrow when the hour for considering resolutions passed and the house adjourned, 59 to 2, to suspend its rules.

Tarwater said many farmers had protested against Dr. Cox's statements in opposition to the federal farm program. One of the purposes of the inquiry would be "in order that the legislature can fairly determine whether or not a request for the dismissal of Dr. Cox and Haley would be justified."

The Plainview representative pointed out that the work of both Dr. Cox and Haley was supported in part by private funds, such as the Laura Spaulding fund.

He said the committee should endeavor to determine whether such funds should be used to pay salaries of persons connected with the university. Persons so paid may not be free from bias and prejudice, he contended.

"We want to know who supports Cox and Haley other than the university and whether they have been influenced by this support in things they have written," Tarwater told the house.

Rep. Jones interposed that "if Dr. Cox is speaking the views of Anderson Clayton company of Houston this legislature is entitled to know it."

Objecting to having his committee conduct the investigation, Caldwell said the result would be to "muddy the waters" when he was about to "bring out some stuff that will be of great interest."

Mrs. Newton Harrell and family of Claude were guests yesterday of her mother, Mrs. N. A. Croson.

LATE NEWS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its decision last June 1 holding unconstitutional the New York law establishing minimum wages for women. A rehearing was sought by New York, through Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. Reconsideration seldom is granted.

In its five to four ruling delivered last session by Justice Butler, the court held the legislation invalid because it violated the right to freedom of contract.

ROOSEVELT RACE WAY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—Two Italian daredevils waged a blistering battle for the pace-setting honors today in the 300-mile race for $60,000 in prize money and the George Van derbilt cup on the new million-dollar Long Island track. Tazio Nuvolari, after losing the lead for half to his countryman, Count Antonio Brivio, because of a short stop in the pits for gasoline and new spark plugs, quickly resumed command, with one third of the twisting grind completed.

American Money System Is Called 'Safest In World'

'We Are Around The Corner,' Claims Roosevelt

DENVER, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt stood in the heart of the great Rockies today and couched a declaration that "we are around the corner" with a statement that America's monetary system "is the safest in the world today."

He asserted, too, government relief and other costs were coming down with an increase in private employment and pledged the New Deal to "more action, sound action . . . to save the constitutional representative form of government in which we rejoice."

Facing a great crowd on the west slope of the state capital, the chief executive addressed his first far-west campaign speech to the citizens of the great metal mining regions. The radio carried his words across the nation.

Declaring local citizens suggested work projects approved in Washington, he said it was "pitiful spectacle to see Republican leaders call this great program waste and extravagance—for they are the same leaders who, when their own state or county was involved, were the first to run to Washington pleading for federal aid."

After asserting water conservation was part of the administration's program and that the stock raising industry must be preserved, the President told of the New Deal's sugar control efforts and congratulated sugar beet growers on their "substantial reduction in the employment of hired children in the fields."

He spoke also of mining revival after the administration had "banned the ghost of the old gold party of the dollar" and when it purchased gold and silver.

"The great bullion reserves now in the United States treasury he said, "are sufficient to redeem every dollar of our currency far more than one hundred per cent, and yet people for partisan purposes are willing to spread the gospel of fear that our currency is not on a sound foundation."

"I tell you, and you know, that our monetary system is the soundest in the world today."

LOST COLONIES ARE DEMANDED BY NAZI
HOPE, Germany, Oct. 12 (AP)—Rudolf Hess, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's minister without portfolio, warned Europe tonight that Germany might have to employ "dumping" methods in international commerce if the falls to get her lost colonies back.

Hess, speaking at the opening of a new meeting hall, declared the restoration of the colonies, taken from Germany as a result of the world war, would be in the interest of foreign nations because otherwise, "Germany would be forced to export at any price, thus impairing the exports of other nations."

Der fuehrer's deputy asserted the only way out of present economic difficulties lay in the "world giving Germany colonies having raw materials."

The reich's slogan today, he cried, is "guns instead of butter!"

I Heard . . .

"Umpteenth" dozen Pampans who attended the big celebration at McLean Friday raving about the great time they had. The program was swell, the parade was a hum-dinger and the barbecue, "yum-yum." About 150 from here swelled the huge crowd which celebrated the opening of the paving of the "Jericho gap."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By NEA Service.

Pork chops can be more than just that. Give them a fling with pineapple and tomatoes, charbroiled by the reliable potato, and they will reveal undreamed-of friskiness. Take 6 of them, 1 1/2 lbs., season with salt and pepper, then brown lightly in a well greased skillet. Park them in a 2-quart earthenware or heat resistant glass utility dish.

Now each chop lay one slice of canned pineapple. On top of each slice of pineapple balance a blushing half tomato. Call in 15 very small potatoes, or larger potatoes cut into 15 small balls. Arrange these in dignified order around the elevated tomatoes. Melt 1 tablespoon butter and sprinkle it over this gay party and season lightly with salt and pepper. One more touch of color—2/3 cup pineapple juice added to the utility dish—and into the oven for a hot time. The heat must be moderate and the baking last one hour.

When the chops are done, garnish them with strips of green pepper and hasten to the table, brilliant, tender, and full of surprise.

Pork chops plumped up with a vegetable stuffing—well, read on and see how they taste. Get 6 rib pork chops about 1 inch thick. Tell the butcher you want to stuff them and he will make a cut through the center of each chop. Insert the filling in this "pocket".

To make the filling, combine: 1 cup bread crumbs, 1/3 cup chopped celery, 1/5 cup chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped watercress, and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Season with salt and paprika and moisten with milk. Sew up pocket with thread; brown chops in skillet, then place in pan. Add 1/2 cup whole milk, cover, bake in moderate oven until tender and pungen—about 1 hour. Take the chops from the pan and remove thread. Thicken the drippings with browned flour. And take back what you said about pork chops being pretty plain pickings.

Well, why not one of the newest necklines? Here is a darling finish which is just a little stand-up collar that ties in youthful way at the back.

The dress itself is so young. It is one of those very simple but very smart cuts with just a difference. You'll perceive the sleeves and the back of the waist are cut in one. They are raglan type at the front and cut in one with the shoulders.

You can easily run this individual little crepe frock up on the sewing machine in a few hours and wear it the same day.

Other nice suggestions are crepe-back satin, thin woolsens, velvet, etc.

Style No. 1698 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. It takes only 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material to copy it exactly for the 16 year size.

Our new Fall & Winter Fashion & Needlework Book is out! It is just crammed full of lovely dress-making designs for yourself and the children, embroidery designs for frocks and household articles and knitting patterns of dresses, suits, sweaters, etc., in your correct size, accompanied by knitting instructions. This book is worth many times its cost, which is only 50 cents. Send for your copy today.

BAPTIST CHURCH ENDS REVIVAL AND WILL ENTERTAIN WORKERS CONFERENCE HERE TOMORROW

Closing a two-week revival Sunday, with a total of 133 additions to church membership resulting, members of First Baptist church started at once preparations to entertain visitors from over the Palo Duro association who will convene here tomorrow for the monthly workers' conference.

Meetings will begin at 10 a. m. in the church auditorium. A number of out-of-town speakers will appear on the one-day program.

Enthusiasm in the revival continued through the last service Sunday evening. Sunday school had 1,065 present, and correspondingly large crowds attended the preaching hours. A special service was conducted in the afternoon with a lecture by the Rev. Hyman Appelmann, evangelist.

Mr. Appelmann left today for Oklahoma City, and George Reynolds, who has been in charge of revival singing, returned to his home at Childress.

Men's Brotherhood To Meet Tomorrow

Largest crowds of this year for regular services attended Central Baptist church yesterday. Sunday school had 163 present, and the auditorium was filled for preaching services.

Three additions to church membership were reported for the day, and after the evening service nine persons were baptized.

The church Brotherhood is to meet Tuesday evening, when all men of the church and their friends are invited to be present.

Minister Leaves For Convention

Attendance yesterday in the Christian Sunday school was 472. The sermon by the minister, John S. Mullen, was on "The Lure of a Masque of Fraternity." Miss Lorene Bastion sang "List to the Voice Divine" at the morning service and in the evening Howard House illustrated the poem, "Life's Sunset." The poem was read by Mr. Mullen with vibraphone accompaniment.

Tomorrow night there will be a buffet supper and party for the Y. P. class in the basement of the church. Wednesday night the Bible study class will meet and Thursday night the adult choir will practice under direction of Mrs. W. A. Bratton.

Church Attendance Over City Grows

All Pampa churches had larger attendance with yesterday's fine weather. First Methodist church reported 465 in Sunday school, and Francis Avenue Church of Christ 175. Mr. Cuthbertson, pastor of the latter church, left this morning for Nashville, Ark., to conduct a revival. During his absence guest preachers will fill his pulpit.

Flower Service Is Unusual One

A special flower service was conducted at Harrah Methodist chapel last evening, where a picturesque story of the life of Christ was presented in song and Bible readings in a setting of beautiful flowers.

A bouquet was presented to W. W. Harrah, who has been a Christian the longest of any present, 60 years. Another bouquet went to F. D. Rowell, whose church membership of three months was the shortest. An unusually large crowd attended.

Sunday school attendance at McCullough-Harrah churches totaled 130 yesterday.

Outstanding in this week's program is the all-men's banquet scheduled for Friday evening. Preparation of the meal, serving, and entertainment will all be in charge of men.

RED PROPAGANDA TOUR IS MADE IN ALSACE

PARIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—French communists, their propaganda tour of Alsace-Lorraine ended quietly, announced today they would invade the region for 122 meetings in the near future.

Rightists ridiculed the communist party rallies, asserting the "mobilization of the masses" brought only 12,000 persons to propaganda meetings in a region with a 2,000,000 population.

The Eastern border region was calm as strong forces of mobile guards prevented the latest partisan sessions from developing into political riots.

The dominant Catholic party in Alsace urged its followers to prevent disorder by avoiding future demonstrations on both sides.

RIVAL CITIES WILL HONOR EACH OTHER

DALLAS, Oct. 11 (AP)—A milestone in the history of Fort Worth-Dallas rivalry will be passed Thursday when the Texas Centennial exposition declares a Fort Worth day, and Friday when the Frontier Centennial celebrates Dallas day.

Mayor Van Zandt Jarvis and his council from Fort Worth will be kings for a day at the $25,000,000 world's fair in Dallas Thursday.

Mayor George Sergeant and the city council of Dallas will go on a similar expedition to the Fort Worth show Friday.

PHILADELPHIA—Mrs. Edith Kaplan captured a burglar with a scream.

She yelled as the sound of an opening door awakened her; the intruder started to run, tripped over a rug, and fell headlong down a flight of stairs.

Police found him a heap, revived him and hauled him off to a cell.

MOFFETT URGES WEST TEXANS TO VOTE FOR AMENDMENT NO. 6 AND EQUALIZE REPRESENTATION

AUSTIN, Oct. 11 (AP)—George Moffett, member of the Texas Legislature from Chillicothe, made these statements today:

"Texas is the largest and most important agricultural state in the union, and this should be the most potent fact in the minds of legislators as they enact the laws under which the people of Texas live.

"But the state's population trend is not toward the farm. It is away from it, moving into already populous centers. In the 1920-1930 decade the population increased 1,162,000, and almost exactly one-third of the increase occurred in the three most populous counties. By actual census figures 69 rural counties showed a decrease in population between 1920 and 1930. Power farming probably accounted for most of the decrease.

"If Texas were given legislative redistricting today under our present constitution, Dallas county would have ten members and Harris county (Houston) eleven. In 20 or 30 years more this would be doubled.

"Unless our present constitution is amended, population will continue to be the only yardstick by which representatives in the legislature are allotted to the various counties, and the big cities will completely control the Legislature."

son, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley and Cottle.

Another example: An area in West Texas reaching from Farwell down to Sanderson and from Balmorhea across to Paint Rock—an area as large as the state of New York—has only three members in the lower house no greater than the representation allowed Beaumont and Fort Arthur in one county, Jefferson.

Moffett sounded this warning: "It was a stern and hard fight to get the Legislature to submit this amendment. Opposition to submission, centering in the populous counties that profit most under the present law, was overcome with the greatest difficulty. If the people vote against the amendment next month, I am afraid they will never get another opportunity to pass on the question, and that the state will be redistricted under the present laws. And that would give two counties (Dallas and Harris) 14 per cent of the entire lower house membership."

WORDS OF FDR ARE DECEIVING AVERS LONDON

American Farmer is Suffering, He Asserts

ABOARD LONDON SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon told Ohio farmers today statements of President Roosevelt at Omaha were "more calculated to deceive than to enlighten."

Taking direct issue with his rival for the presidency, the Republican nominee resumed his drive for Ohio's electoral votes now claimed definitely by the Democratic national chairman, James A. Farley.

"The American farmer is suffering," Landon asserted, "as a result of New Deal tariff policies."

The governor said Roosevelt at Omaha "indicated in plain language" that agricultural exports were increasing.

"The facts," the Kansan continued, "showed exports in terms of actual quantities exported declined."

A crowd, police estimated at 2,500, greeted Landon at Mt. Vernon where he made his first talk of the day.

Campaigning in northern Ohio enroute to Cleveland for the second major address of his lake states relief, dealing with unemployment relief, for legislative purposes, are not laid out on a population basis but usually with an eye to giving each section or community fair representation. Geographic and territorial considerations play an important part in shaping the aforementioned districts and should likewise be considered in laying out representative districts instead of using population alone.

Up And Down The Air Waves

Have you often wondered just why certain programs were given the names they have? Well, so have we, but that doesn't reveal the reason, and we will just have to continue wondering.

If you like variety in a radio show, you probably will like to hear the "radio round-up" each Saturday from 4:15 to 5:00 o'clock. During this show last Saturday while the artists were playing an old-time break-down, someone, evidently performed a square dance with microphone. What do you guess?

Ray Monday, KPND announced, announced last Friday that he was "Texas Centennial" bound.

If you like a good comedy show, we suggest you tune in "Pick and Pat" at 10:30 Monday evening. You'll find them on the Columbia network. Good negro characters, good orchestra and a good quartet.

"Paula Plans" comes to you each day at 1:30 from the Berger studio. She plans an interesting helpful program. She probably didn't plan to get tickled Saturday, but it seems that the radio performer doesn't lose his sense of humor when he steps up to the mike.

Be sure and tune in on NBC Monday evening at eight o'clock and hear Fibber McGee and Molly. Programs of this type really entertain you. If you are not a regular listener of this program, listen to them this evening.

The "Waker Uppers" who appear on KPND regularly each morning from 6:30 to 8:30, have been the recipients of many tokens of friendship and appreciation in the form of cakes, pies, candy, etc., but now the tokens change to wearing apparel. Uncle Bud is the proud possessor of a beautiful pair of "long-handled" scissors—received from an ardent admirer. Uncle Bud may not be able to put them to practical use—they are just a little small—but he has them just the same, and he will be glad to show them to you.

The Radio Gag Writer is a man who goes through LIFE with a pair of scissors.

"Pancho Villa Passes," a dramatic skit, has been presented from the Berger studio each Sunday afternoon for some time, is now changed to "Pancho Villa Has Passed"—well, that is a relief—that is, relief to Mel, who produced the skit.

"What is a woman's idea of Hades?" One thousand new hats and not a mirror in the house—Miles of Smiles.

Ladies and gentlemen, it is ALL REQUEST time. If you think this is not a popular program, just ask the telephone operators. Tune in KPND at 2:30 each week day and hear a real variety show.

"Everyone laughed when I sat down at the radio," but the laughter was occasioned because I turned in Miles of Smiles, 12:30 to 1:30 each day.

You probably hear many bobbles in the program production of KPND, but the big-time programs are not without their little "slips." Last night we heard, on the nation's most powerful station, a one and one-half minute silence between programs, so cheer up, MEL.

Why not wake up early and hear the U-need-a-car boys, on KPND 7:30 to 8:30 each morning. D-d-d-th-th-th-th-to-to-to-to-to-morrow, oh, turn me over. Yep, you're right, that is Elmer giving you that, special invitation to tune in.

He explained the federal agents have jurisdiction in the case because the gunmen last spring transported into Indiana a part of the $35,000 loot obtained from

WARD'S STORE TO ADD CATALOG DEPARTMENT

About 30,000 items of merchandise was, in effect, added to the stock of the Montgomery Ward retail store here when a "Catalog Order Department" opened in the store Monday morning, it was announced today by F. C. Nelson, store manager.

These 30,000 items, while not actually on the premises of the store, will all be available to customers through this special order department where Miss Triba, in charge of the department, will accept orders through the catalog and forward them, at the end of each day, to Wards Fort Worth house from which the merchandise will be shipped to either the order department or directly to the customer—address the following day.

CASE OF LOUIS KIRK CONTINUED BY JUDGE

AMARILLO, Oct. 12. (AP)—The trial of Louis J. Kirk, charged with slaying his wife, Florence, on an Amarillo street July 25, has been continued until the November term of district court. Judge E. C. Nelson said the case would be tried early in the term which begins on November 9.

The Amarillo bricklayer has been in county jail here since his arrest. Judge Nelson granted the continuance on motion by Riley Strickland, Kirk's counsel, who claimed certain necessary evidence is unavailable at this time.

What Amendment Proposes

Amendment No. 6—last on the November ballot—was passed for submission by the 44th legislature. It provided that no county have more than seven members in the lower house, and if adopted, a redistricting under any law—present or future—would have to conform to it.

"Since the total membership of the house is fixed in the constitution at 150," said Moffett, "it is certainly proper that no county out of the 254 counties in Texas should have a disproportionate representation, and a maximum of seven should be enough. In a state as large as Texas it would never be for the best interests of the state to permit the bunching of its lawmakers in a very few counties. It is more justifiable for Texas to recognize geography, as well as population, than any other state, because it is the largest state with the farthest-flung boundaries and has the greatest diversity of conditions and interests.

"Unless Amendment No. 6 is adopted by the people next month and written into our constitution, four or five of our larger counties will, within a few years, have a population preponderance enabling them to control and dictate the laws under which the people of all the other counties must live. Amendment No. 6 seeks to put a reasonable and necessary balance wheel in our governmental machinery, and it should be adopted."

Examples

At the present time representation in the Legislature is fixed by dividing the total population of the state by 150 (the number of representatives in the house) and allotting representatives to each county or counties, in accordance with the resulting population quotient. Here is an example of how that works:

Dallas county, with six members, has a representation exceeding the combined representation of the following 32 West Texas counties: Daliam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchin-

DRUNKS ARE DRIVING US BACK TO PROHIBITION

The man who flung his hat in the air and gave three cheers when the eighteenth amendment was repealed ought to be heading a campaign these days to rid the roads of drunken motorists.

Anyone who thinks that the American people will put up with this menace indefinitely is crazy. Traffic is dangerous enough even when all hands are stone sober.

Continue that situation long enough and you will find a new sentiment for prohibition, just as sure as night follows day.

Here's an example. In Ohio the other day some 30 young members of a church organization hired a wagon and a team of horses and went out for an old-fashioned "hay ride" along a country highway.

Up from behind came an automobile. There was plenty of room to pass, but the driver apparently never saw the wagon.

The driver of the auto admitted that he had had "two beers and two highballs" before starting out to drive. Police said bluntly that he was drunk.

Now if you would go around among the survivors of that accident, and among their families, you might find a surprising amount of sentiment in favor of a restoration of prohibition.

You could talk yourself blue in the face about the evils of bootlegging, about rum-runners and gangsters and the failure of enforcement, and all the rest. It is very doubtful that they would listen to you.

The traffic situation as a whole is bad enough, heaven knows, without being made more grievous by alcohol. Since the race contains a certain percentage of fools, we probably always will have drivers who cut in, pass on curves, and do the other things that cause accidents.

Unless we do something drastic, and do it soon, to keep drunks from behind steering wheels, we are very likely to see a new demand for prohibition—a demand that will amaze everyone who assumed that the question was settled for good when the eighteenth amendment was repealed.

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON.—The United States Supreme Court has been rather effectively kept out of the election campaign and if it finds itself now involved it has only itself to blame.

The justices aren't passing on any more New Deal legislation before election day. But their answer to petitions for a rehearing on the New York state minimum wage law will generally be taken as approximately equaling in importance the 5 to 4 decision against the law which the court handed down early in the summer.

The original decision had a pronounced influence on the two political conventions and probably on the campaign as well. Popular reaction was such as to bolster somewhat the administration as against the court and to cause Governor Landon to suggest a possible constitutional amendment—the inevitable effect being to blur what many politicians had figured would be a clean-cut issue.

Lately the politicians have again been figuring. New Dealers decided that if the court should grant the rehearing asked by New York, Illinois, and other states which have minimum wage laws, they would be able to cry out that even the supreme court itself had recognized that it wasn't infallible.

On the other hand, if the petition were denied, they would again be able to picture the five conservative justices as hard-jawed, biased reactionaries.

Republicans, in the first instance, felt they could make a point of saying the court had proved itself flexible but fair, and in the second contingency could point to Landon's suggesting a possible amendment.

New York and 11 other states have undertaken to continue enforcement of their minimum wage laws for women and children since the decision. They have taken the position, outlined in the petition for rehearing, that the court didn't really pass on the validity of the New York law, but had erroneously assumed that New York wasn't asking it to reconsider principles asserted in the Adkins decision in 1923.

New York, Illinois, and other states came back with the emphatic request for such reconsideration, claiming that the reasoning in the Adkins case had been offset by subsequent court decisions.

The petition tended to put Justice Owen J. Roberts in a hole. Although he was able to stand with—and make—the majority last summer against the law, he declared in the Nebbia case that "so far as the requirement of due process is concerned, ... a state is free to adopt whatever economic policy may reasonably be deemed to promote public welfare and to enforce that policy by legislation adapted to its purpose."

One table says the oldest of the justices has a life expectancy of more than four years and so it might be deduced that Roosevelt would have no chance to fill a court vacancy if re-elected.

On the other hand, since 179 no five years have ever passed without the occurrence of a vacancy. The last one was in 1932, when Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes resigned and was succeeded by Cardozo.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

Most of the gate tenders on the elevated railway in New York are ancient fellows who have held their posts for a quarter of a century or longer. White-haired and stooped, they nevertheless are indefatigable watchdogs of the city and would bark a sharp reprimand even to Jack Dempsey were he trying to slip through the gates.

The other evening about 7 o'clock two burly fellows sought to evade the 5c fare by stepping through the gate next to the turnstile, but the ancient mariner who was on watch whiplashed them in spirited fashion. As shamefaced as two juveniles caught playing hooky, the pair forked over the required admission.

Often those elevated platforms are confounding. . . that is, if you want to catch a downtown train, you're liable to get on an uptown one if you wander out through the wrong turnstile.

Waiting for the 2nd avenue "L," I observed a young man make this error and then prepare to spend another 5c to get back on the correct side. . . but the old man wouldn't let him spend his nickel. . . "Come with me, mister," he commanded. . . Climbing down from his stool he advanced over the required admission and unlocked the gate, sending the young man happily on his way downtown.

HOW'S your HEALTH

THE TREATMENT OF RUPTURE When patient is told he has a rupture, he is naturally eager to know whether it can be cured by a truss, or if not cured, whether he can get along without an operation. Also, he may want to know the risks involved in the surgical treatment of hernia, compared with those of allowing the condition to remain.

Except in young infants, the wearing of a truss is not likely to effect a cure of inguinal hernia. In children, a well fitted truss, or a series of trusses, worn day and night, as well as in the bath, may, in a year's time cure the condition.

In adults, a truss cannot cure an inguinal hernia but this must not be taken to mean that trusses are ineffective in retaining within the abdominal mass that would otherwise enter the inguinal canal.

Provided the hernia sufferer is not called on to do exacting physical work; that his skin can comfortably withstand the friction caused by the truss pads; that his truss is well fitted; and most of all that he is reconciled to the wearing of a truss, he may "get along" with it very well.

The direct inguinal hernia, which is usually present on both sides, and is more common in older persons, can be retained easily by means of a truss.

However, in considering the treatment of hernia, we must bear in mind its outstanding risk, which can be avoided only by having the rupture corrected surgically. This complication is strangulation. In strangulation that portion of the intestines which has entered the inguinal canal is compressed, or twisted, so that its lumen is blocked, and its blood circulation is interfered with. If the condition remains unrelieved for any length of time, local necrosis and peritonitis is likely to follow. The older the hernia, the more likely is this complication likely to develop.

For this reason, it is advisable that whenever the patient is in fit condition, inguinal hernia should be treated surgically. The sooner this is done the better. The operation is without much risk but the longer it is suffered, the more complicated becomes the task of correcting it surgically.

Of late there has been some discussion of a 17th century steel engraving. . . Jimmy Durante, a frog in his throat. . . Carolyn Edmundson—too pretty to be an artist—she should change places with the model. . . David Warfield, a three kingfisher, taking a rest. . . Libby Holman—she seems haunted by memories. . . Lee Tracy, Spencer Tracy and Pat O'Brien—three Irish mustketeers. . . Billy Rose, Barnum through a looking glass. . . Duke Ellington, the square of Sugar Hill. . . Ina Claire and Irene Purcell, blonde comedienettes both, and sassy.

One of the interesting issues you meet around New York is Ruth Millard, who in a charming sort of way is an ambassador of good will from toyland. . . Games and toys are her special province, and she knows hundreds and how to play them. She can tell you, too, whether Lynne Fontaine is good at "politics." Latest of the indoor national crazes, or whether Callie Howard likes to fancy himself an autocrat when he monopolizes banks and hotels in that sensational game dealing with the tower.

Important, too, is such information as whether the trend in anti-air warfare will run to curly black Scotties, or whether electric trains are calculated to catch the youngster's eye more readily than tool chests or hunting knives.

Ruth knows these fascinating things, which is more than you or I could ever hope to know. How do she do it? I don't know, but I've a suspicion that Santa Claus tells her. She's his secretary.

Talks to parents TOO MUCH SYMPATHY. By Brooke Peters Chereh Tommy was running and fell. His father and mother dropped what they were doing and ran to pick him up. "Poor Tommy, did you hurt yourself, darling? Mummy's so sorry!" Tommy was not really hurt at all, but to get all this attention and sympathy would have been worth a good deal of pain. He shed bitter tears over his imaginary hurts, and after this made no attempt to keep from stumbling and falling. Furthermore, when he did fall he lay and screamed until help came. Children seldom injure themselves badly when they fall. They are light and generally well padded, and beyond a bruise or a scrape are unlikely to sustain any real injury, unless, of course, they fall from a height. But the same parent who makes an unnecessary fuss about early tumbles may miss a trick later on. The child is so used to screaming over trifles that an important injury may be overlooked. Tommy has been permitted, even encouraged, to yell every time he stubs his toe. When he falls out of the apple tree no one can tell whether he is badly hurt or not. He raises the usual commotion, but when the noise quiets down and it is found that he can still walk and move his arms and legs as usual, the episode is passed over as "just another tumble."

TRANS-PACIFIC FLIGHT

CHAPTER XIX

Kay's faith in Ted was not shaken by the gossip she had heard the night she danced with Monte. After the shock of the words had passed she realized that she would have to make readjustments, and face such things calmly.

For Ted lived an international life. On the trans-Pacific route, because of the very nature of his job, he met countless people whose names made news. In ports like Honolulu and Manila he came in close contact with them, and the world was a whispering gallery.

A celebrity in Honolulu might suffer a toothache one night and the next morning, over the coffee cups, it would be discussed on five continents.

On a smaller scale, Kay's life was an international one. Because of her husband's fame, she too, was known from San Francisco to Tokyo.

But struggling against her own nature made her restless. She wanted to be going places, doing something all the time.

Ted met such moods with an air of indulgence that caused another quarrel between them, ending in tears and then reconciliation. But the recurrence of the conflict in their nature could have but one result. Kay began to suspect again that Ted had married her only to provide a home for Dickie and to afford himself a well-ordered life ashore.

She didn't go to the landing to see him come in when his ship arrived next. She had heard that Illah was aboard and she didn't want to face her.

The Mariner alighted on the waters of Ship Harbor toward dusk. At that moment Kay sat patiently at the telephone in her home, dialing one number after another. If Ted wanted to gay life in foreign ports she would give him one when he was ashore!

She could play his game, too, and she invited to their home that night all of the hangers-on about the airport—people who had no part in the enterprise, but lived in the aviation colony to share the excitement and glamour. It was a sort of aviation-country club crowd.

Since the party was impromptu and informal all the guests accepted the invitations in similar manner. It was like an open house. Some of them even brought their friends without consulting Kay.

Many in the crowd had read about Ted Graham's exploits, but had never met him. They had read, too, about the notorious dancer, Illah, who had come in on the ship at the party that night, hoped so, and whispered about it eagerly.

They all came, and they were on time. Toward 10 o'clock the three rooms which had been thrown open to guests were filled, and many people had begun to take possession of the porches and even the kitchen. Some of them invaded Dickie's nursery and woke him up. Some played pique-back with him, long past his hour for sleep.

"Ted was a little bewildered at the sight. He had come home late for dinner and found that the guests had already begun to arrive. The members of the army crowd were strangers to him. Nobody bothered to introduce him, but he supposed they were Kay's friends.

He was tired and sleepy, and, at last, retired to his den, but some of the men had already taken possession of it. They were shooting craps on the floor and didn't even look up when Ted came in. A woman hurried after him and caught his arm.

"Ted Graham!" she exclaimed breathlessly. "Do tell me about that fascinating creature you brought in with you today on the plane. We read about her in the papers. Is she really a Eurasian?"

Ted laughed. He felt certain that if Illah had been there the woman would have lifted her lorgnette and stared, as at a monster in the zoo.

"I've seen her dance," Ted said. "And she dances remarkably well."

"Then I'm sorry she didn't come to your party. I came all the way from San Francisco just to see her!" Pique was written on the wrinkled jowls of the dowager's face.

The whole evening, to Ted, was as grotesque as this one incident. The gaiety of the crowd was exaggerated. Some of the guests, disappointed because they couldn't get in to dance for them, soon departed. There was continuous talk about going on somewhere else.

Ted sought refuge from the brittle chatter at Kay's side, but she was in the center of an admiring throng and he couldn't seem to get in a word. She was wearing a slinky white evening gown that he had never liked to see her wear. When he came close to her she was listening attentively to Monte Blaine and did not even see Ted.

He went upstairs again and, finding his den empty, locked the door and went to bed. He was tired—dead tired. He had important work to do next day and in less than a minute was sound asleep.

She was wearing a slinky white evening gown that he had never liked to see her wear. When he came close to her she was listening attentively to Monte Blaine and did not even see Ted.

He went upstairs again and, finding his den empty, locked the door and went to bed. He was tired—dead tired. He had important work to do next day and in less than a minute was sound asleep.

Kay had seen him go upstairs and followed as soon as she was able to slip away. Finding the door locked, she knocked. There was no answer from within the room, which was dark, she knew. She tried the doorknob.

"Locked!" she thought angrily. "He's asleep. The idea—insulting me by going to sleep during my party. While there are guests in the house!"

Ted's apparent indifference enraged her. "Asleep!" she stormed inwardly. "But he wasn't too tired to go out with Illah and that Rosalind Kruger in Honolulu. All right!" She shook a small fist at the door, trembling with rage and disappointment and defeat. "All right, I'll show you. I'll go out with that crowd downstairs and stay as late as I please!"

She went downstairs again, joined in the fun and even more gayly. Kay's adventurous spirit had finally broken its bonds and Monte Blaine shared this mood. When it was proposed that they all go somewhere across the bay to continue the party, Kay was among the first to agree.

They went to one night club and then another. Gradually the crowd grew smaller. Couples began to depart, murmuring about the lateness of the hour. Ralph Bangs, who had been Doris' escort, had gone long before, but Doris was still in the crowd. Ralph had to go to Honolulu on the Mariner at 9 in the morning and Monte had promised to give him a call and wake him in time to reach the airport promptly.

At last there were only the three of them left—Kay and Doris and Monte. They decided to stop for breakfast at a beach hotel and they stood on the beach, watching the sea lions come to life on the island rocks. One grizzled old male thrust his nose to the skies and tried to enforce order on his tribe. His snort made Kay cry out with laughter.

But the young sea lions didn't pay him any heed. One by one, they waddled down to the edge of the rocks and plunged, bobbing up out of the water with weird snorts and grunts.

When they were tired of watching these antics, Kay, Doris and Monte went inside to order their toasted rolls, bacon and eggs and hot coffee. Where they sat, they could watch the sun rising up out of the blue Pacific.

Kay kept thinking about Ted, back there at home, sound asleep as though he didn't care what became of her or whether or not she was having a good time.

Suddenly the sun came up out of the Pacific like a great fiery ball. The gorgeous spectacle made Kay's spirits soar again. She felt exuberantly young.

"All this time," she said bitterly to Doris, "I've been sitting primly at home, trying to learn to keep house scientifically, working over budgets, and planning balanced meals and seeing to it that Dickie ate his spinach and got to bed promptly—and Ted's been having a good time! I was trying to build up a home, stone on stone, scientifically. But now I want to throw bricks!"

Monte arrived beside them to hear the last words. "Look out, gal!" he warned. "You'll take wings and fly if you don't watch out."

"I want to fly!" Kay said, almost tearfully. "I want to fly and fly—and fly over the ocean."

She concluded rebelliously, "Away from Ted!"

Pampa and Plainview poloists did much over the week-end to make Amarillo polo-minded when they played two exhibition games. The experienced Plainview team took both games after terrific struggles. More than 400 witnessed the game yesterday afternoon, won by Plainview 8 to 3.

Although the District 1 conference season opens this week, chief interest within the district will be centered at Lubbock where the West-erners of Coach Weldon Chapman meet the Capitol Hill Redskins of Jim Lockabaugh, who have already won and lost to District 1 teams.

After 10 days of practice on the blackboard because of heavy weather, the Redskins lost 27 to 7 to a big Amarillo team. On a wet field Friday night the Redskins defeated Pampa 27 to 0.

Lead also shows steady demand. Building material and hardware demand increasing—seasonal. Foodstuffs being hoarded by speculative interests—higher prices expected this winter. Cattle movements high due to fears of mounting feed prices. Coal industry active—seasonal. Iron production outlook bullish. Labor conditions easy except for Pacific coast. And, that all trade signs point to peak activity for year.

BONDS. Drought had something to do with delay in Northern Pacific refunding operations. Hail Printing Coils of 1947 business man's risk. New Orleans & Northeastern Ref. 4 1/2 of 1951 attracting attention. Investment accounts like Lexington Water Power 5 of 1968. Business man's risk: Empire Oil & Refining 1st 5 1/2 of 1942. Hygrade Food Products 6 of 1949 have speculative potentialities. Distillers-Seagram's to do $15,000,000 of financing.

PREFERRED STOCK. Atlantic Gulf & West Indies Co. Tr. 5 of 1959 held as speculation. Speculative buying coming into Cities Service Power & Light Deb 5 1/2 of 1949 and 1952. Bond traders assuming short term position in United Light & Railways (Del) Deb 5 1/2 of 1952. Business man's risk: Equitable Office Building Deb 5 of 1952. In view of prospects, holdings of General Public Utilities 6 1/2 of 1955 and 1956 being retained. All Missouri Pacific liens being retained.

MORE BONDS. So-called "international" French bonds being taken as a speculation. Paris said interest will be paid in gold. Favorable outlook for Maine Central helps position of General 4 1/2 of 1960. North American Light & Power Deb 5 1/2 of 1956 held for yield. New York Central Ref. & Imp 4 1/2 of 1913 an investment purchase. Outlook for American Ice Deb. 5 of 1953 uncertain. Milwaukee Gas Light 1st 4 1/2 of 1967 being switched into Cleveland Union Terminal 1 1/2 of 4 1/2, 5 1/2 and 5 1/2. Armour of Illinois to refund its 1st Mtge 4 1/2 of 1939—callable at 102 1/2. Long term holdings of Pacific Power & Light 1st 5 of 1955 being liquidated due to government competition fears—short-term holdings being retained. Union Pacific to refund its 4s and 5s of 2003 with 3 3/4.

COMMODITIES. Supply of present cotton crop will fall short of consumption over a million bales—thus reducing surplus as much. Traders see higher prices between now and January. Cottonseed oil demand strong. October normally month of crop scares from Argentina—in view of tight world supply old futures will prove sensitive. Barley prices will follow gains. Consuming interests continue only moderately active on buying side of corn market but country offerings remain light. Trade and dealer interests remain hesitant to enter rubber market for more than immediate needs awaiting clarification of foreign uncer-ainties. Butter prices easing on increased production reports but speculative interests taking on dips. Cocoa sentiment mixed—only manufacturers taking with consumption figures easing. Egg trade reports an undertone of strength. Continued unfavorable reports respecting distribution with resultant increased estimates of indicated crop-ryer brought further weakness in raw sugar prices and futures. Turpentine receipts high. Turpentine feels market will work higher before end of year. Uncertainties in foreign exchange markets coupled with threatened Reading strikes in hosiery mills act to retard silk market. Lead demand constant. Tin to move higher. Slow foreign demand for copper. Speculative move in platinum ended. Silver and gold movement waiting for a world currency stabilization move.

REPORTS ARE THAT: For fiscal year ending this month Deere will show $10 a common share. American Woolen equities being avoided pending plan to clear preferred dividend arrearages—amount to $59.25 a share. Electric Boat amply priced on current earnings. Cleveland bank liquidation of Interlake Iron nearing completion. Great Northern Railway Series 'G' 4 1/2 convertible bonds taken as common share speculative risk. Kennecott being given preference over Anaconda. For 1936 White Sewing Machine will net about $1.75 a preferred share—means deficit for common. A somewhat heavy capitalization retards large National Biscuit per share earnings. Bohn Aluminum being switched into Electric Auto-Lite. Chicago interests bullish on Continental Baking class A shares.

109 DEAD AND 400 MISSING AFTER STORM

DEATH LIST WILL GO MUCH HIGHER IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 12 (AP)—All available Philippine relief agencies went into action today to aid survivors of a typhoon which killed at least 109 people and left some 400 missing.

Incidents were that the storm was the most deadly to strike the Philippines, where typhoons seasonally bring death and widespread destruction from gales and attendant floods, rains and landslides.

Hardest hit was the city of Cebu, capital of Nueva Ecija province directly north of here. Eighty two bodies were recovered in Cebu, a city of 15,000 population.

President Manuel Quezon summoned the National Relief Commission into emergency session today.

Most of the missing were lumber workers at three mills in Bongabon, near Cabanatuan in Nueva Ecija. Three hundred mill workers were reported lost when the sudden torrential rains sent the Pampana river roaring over its banks.

TWO TEXANS HELD IN MISHAP IN NEW MEXICO

PT. SUMNER, N. M., Oct. 12 (AP)—Two Texans faced possible charges of manslaughter today after Mrs. Louise Wood, wife of Captain Otto Wood, of Lubbock, Texas, was killed and her husband seriously injured in an automobile collision west of here.

The two, named by Sheriff L. C. Barnhart as C. E. Fugitt, Idaho, Tex., and H. C. Grace, Amberst, Tex., were taken into custody late last night after the accident.

Their automobile, collided with a truck on the highway 15 miles west of here.

U. S. LENDING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Continued government lending in some fields "for an indefinite period" was forecast today by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

WILL CONTINUE ASSERTS JONES

At the same time, Jones at a press conference refused to comment on the possibility of extending the RFC's lending authority beyond its present expiration date, the end of January.

To Make 'Few Little Radio Talks' for President

Jones told reporters there was little demand for loans at the present time which, he said, signified the end of the "emergency." But looking at the long range prospects, he commented:

"The government must be prepared to continue loans to certain groups for an indefinite period."

The corporation chairman mentioned specifically loans on commodities, to railroads, and to aid in the general mortgage situation.

Jones summarized the activities of the corporation through the recovery program from its inception in February 1932 to September 30 last. He said its total authorizations and commitments had amounted to $11,307,600,013.

Of the corporation's total disbursements, $6,251,977,069 was expended for activities other than advances to government agencies and for relief, Jones said. Of this sum, $4,201,713,206, or about 67 per cent has been repaid, he added.

Jones said he plans to take an active part in the presidential campaign, having agreed to make a "few little radio talks." The first of these will be made next Tuesday night when he will speak on "the Roosevelt administration and its relationship to business."

Jones' physical appearance reflected recurring ill health as a consequence of an airplane crash in Texas some time ago and a subsequent attack of intestinal influenza.

"I'm still a little bit shaky on my pins but I'll be working ten to twelve hours a day," he said.

OVERVILLE MOTION

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12 (AP)—Federal Judge Edward Hamilton overruled today the new trial motion of Thomas H. Robinson Jr., who is serving a life sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary for the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll. The court allowed an appeal.

SOVIET THREAT SPURS REBELS TO NEW SPEED

Whip Hand In Seige On Madrid Held By Fascists

(By The Associated Press) A seige of cold, rainy weather and the prospects of Russian intervention on the side of the Madrid-propped insurgent armies to new speed today.

Fascist leaders, holding the whip hand in the campaign against the capital with a solid, arc-like front flanking it from the northeast to the southwest, aligned their forces for a thrust they hoped would carry them into the city in 10 days.

Workers' militiamen, however, resisted them actively on all fronts, trying to mould their lines into a massive, semi-circular defense inside the Fascist front and on a shorter radius.

Socialist artillery and airplanes maintained a steady bombardment of the San Martin de Valdeglesias sector, hampering insurgent's efforts to consolidate ranks, but with small success.

Government bombing planes bombarded their own forces in two attacks and a force of militiamen was surrounded by Fascist troops in a gorge, with small chance either to advance or retreat.

Driving wind and rain turned the whole battlefield into a mire but weighed heavier on the government troops who suffered under inferior equipment, despite requisitioned raincoats from Madrid stores.

A British government communique announced in London that the Basque government, which had agreed to liberate all Fascist women now held as hostages. It was understood they would be exchanged for Basque women held by the insurgents.

The captain of the Soviet steamer, Neva, bound for Alicante, Spain, with 2,500 tons of food and foodstuffs, invited Italian representatives to board the ship and see for themselves she carries no arms.

The invitation was a sequel to charges by Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, that Russian ships had carried arms to the Spanish government forces.

310 ARE DEAD AFTER PHILIPPINE TYPHOON

MANILA, Oct. 12 (AP)—One of the worst typhoons ever to strike the Philippines had caused at least 310 deaths and left hundreds unaccounted for as it spread destruction into additional areas tonight.

The latest complaint by the Manila Tribune showed most of the 310 known dead in Uueva Ecija province. Reports were far from complete in four other provinces of Luzon Island where the fury of the storm was greatest north of Manila.

Streams flooded out of banks by devastating wind and rain held scores of bodies in the debris of flimsy native huts, and the total number of fatalities will not be known until floods subside and communication is restored.

The typhoon tore into Iabela province today after lashing other provinces. The province was isolated as wires were torn down and roads flooded out.

Hundreds of miles south, the central islands of the archipelago were whipped by wind and great seas tossed small inter-island craft. The 500-ton vessel Bugbu of Cebu was disabled and abandoned by passengers and crew. A passing sailboat rescued some crew members. The fate and number of others of the crew and the passengers were unknown.

Davis said bonds were made out for charges of gaming or loitering, and no felony bonds were taken. In most instances the bonds were signed by the defendants themselves.

NO. 2 (Continued From Page 1) In the afternoon, plans call for athletic events at Harvester park. A football game between the different civic clubs, a lean and fat game between the town notables, or perhaps Mayor Bratton leading in a relay race may be part of the athletic events. W. V. Jarrett was named chairman of the athletic arrangements, assisted by Howard Buckingham, E. J. Dunigan, H. W. Waddell, L. N. McCullough, C. A. Clark and L. L. McCollin.

To close the celebration there will be a number of Armistice day dances, places and time and details are being arranged by Howard Buckingham as chairman and John I. Bradley, C. M. Carlock, Jake Garmat, Dan Williams, D. A. Bartlett and Mark Long as the committee.

"Turning the corner also means the government income from existing taxes, without new taxes, is going up.

"I repeat to you what I said in Pittsburgh a week and a half ago, that decrease in expenditures and increase in income mean within a year or two a balanced budget and the beginning of reduction in the national debt."

The President reserved his reference to the constitution for his final two sentences: "We have shown our determination in the past to act. You can prove that determination in the future by more action, sound action, action that is saving and will continue to save the constitutional representative form of government in which we rejoice.

He said the administration was "proud" of its cattle-buying program during the drought years, which Republican leaders had called a "policy of waste."

MANCHOUKUOAN TROOPS CLASH WITH JAPANESE

TOKYO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Two new clashes between Russian and Manchoukuoan troops on the northern Korean border brought a Japanese protest from the Tokyo government today.

Foreign Minister Machiro Arita instructed the Japanese embassy in Moscow to protest the incidents. The clashes were reported to have occurred near Chientao yesterday, resulting in the death of four Manchoukuoan soldiers and injury to five others.

(The Reuters (British) news agency reported the situation along the Korean border was tense, with opposing lines of soldiers only 400 yards apart.)

COLUMBUS DAY CELEBRATED BY BANK, SCHOOLS

America Discovered 444 Years Ago Today

Pampa noted Columbus Day, a legal holiday in this state, with closing of the bank and display of flags on several public buildings. Pupils in various schools were reminded of the anniversary of America's discovery by special room or assembly programs.

(By The Associated Press) At 2 o'clock in the morning just 444 years ago today a sailor named Rodrigo de Trina, standing watch in the bow of a little boat called the "Nina," yelled to his shipmates, "Land!"

Christopher, the eldest son of Domencia Colombo and Suzanne Pontanarossa, ran to the bow of the Santa Maria, one of the two sister ships of the Nina, and squinted his eyes westward. It was, indeed, land. Columbus had come upon the New World after a voyage of 70 days from continental Europe.

Today, the anniversary of the date on which Columbus named his discovery "San Salvador," is celebrated as Columbus day.

The "San Salvador" of that day was in the Bahamas. Columbus required 36 days to sail from the Canary Islands to the New World. The other day a German flying boat, mapping a proposed transatlantic commercial airplane route from Europe to America, flew from the Azores, 1,000 miles northwest of the Canaries, to Port Washington, Long Island, in 18 hours and 20 minutes.

Columbus day is observed as a public or legal holiday in 35 states of the union.

It is designated a day for celebration by proclamation of President Roosevelt.

The "San Salvador" of that day was in the Bahamas, which lie about 1,250 miles south of Long Island. Columbus required 36 days to sail from the Canary Islands to the new world. The other day a German flying boat, mapping a proposed transatlantic commercial airplane route from Europe to America, flew from the Azores, 1,000 miles northwest of the Canaries, to Port Washington, Long Island, in 18 hours and 20 minutes.

CLAYTON NOW PLEDGES HIS SUPPORT TO FDR

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 12 (AP)—William L. Clayton, one of the leading cotton merchants of the world and former chief of the new deal, pledged his support last night to President Roosevelt.

The Chattanooga and Houston, Tex., capitalist, who once backed the Liberty league with large contributions, had previously declared he would not vote in the national election.

In a statement to the Chattanooga Times, he declared he had changed his mind "because of the tenor of Governor Landon's recent speeches."

The present administration's reciprocal trade agreements were described as "steps to correct" effects of the depression.

"Governor Landon condemns this policy," he said, "and promises, if elected to scrap it. His position in this matter is an expression of such narrow unenlightened nationalism and provincialism that I am convinced his leadership would not greatly differ from that which his party inflicted on the country from 1920 to 1933."

We feel fortunate in getting these expressions about the coming battle from such authoritative sources. Our inquiring reporter could have gone out and asked the question point blank of persons in the street, but it seems to be of much greater service to our readers to have this vital question discussed by men who know their football, experts who can make predictions in which the fans will place full credence. Thank you, gentlemen.

LOCAL SAFETY MEASURES TO BE ADOPTED BY CITY OF BEAUMONT

The City of Beaumont will put into effect several of the safety measures now being used in Pampa, according to Mayor P. O. Renfro who was one of nearly 200 delegates who heard City Manager C. L. Stine of Pampa address the annual gathering of the Texas League of Municipalities in Tyler last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Stine and children returned last night.

Mr. Stine was the only speaker on safety and safety measures at the three-day convention attended by mayors, city managers and city secretaries. He told of the report and "spot" system being used in keeping data on accident. Every accident investigated by city officers is carded and filed with the city manager. A pin system on a city map is used to mark the point of the accident so that the city manager and commissioners can discuss means of remedying the hazard.

Pampa placed second in the national safety contest for cities under 25,000 population in 1933 and third last year.

In discussing speed, Mr. Stine proved to those present that the difference in time elapsed between a speed of 65 miles and a speed of 50 miles over a distance of 300 miles was only 28 minutes and that the per day was about 27 cents.

ECKERD WARNS AGAINST CARELESS USE OF FIREARMS DURING FALL

"While more than 3,000 persons are killed annually by careless handling of firearms, this year's death rate could be reduced to approximately a third by hunters using ordinary precautions with guns this fall," according to Tom Eckerd, chairman of the Home and Farm Accident Prevention committee of the Pampa Chapter of the Red Cross.

"Figures show 65 per cent of accidental deaths by firearms occur during autumn hunting season.

"Most accidental shootings are caused when hunters momentarily forget while carrying guns that they are made to kill," Eckerd said. "Hunters following each other under tree limbs or through underbrush is dangerous. The guns may be set off by a limb catching the trigger. Dragging a gun through a wire fence may fire it, and pulling a gun carelessly out of an automobile may shoot somebody. A gun should be carried with the muzzle pointed to the ground and never cocked until ready to fire. Never use a gun to club game out of brush. If shell misfires, wait at least a minute before clearing the chamber."

Although hunting is an outdoor sport, Eckerd pointed out that one-fourth of the accidental deaths from firearms during the hunting season occur in the home. "Hunters, tired after a day in the open, often neglect to remove shells from a gun and put them away. Serious accidents and death have resulted when children played with shells or tossed them in the fire. Guns rested against a wall have been knocked over and have gone off, wounding a member of the family. When not in use they should be kept under lock and key."

These safety hints, Eckerd explained, are being called to the attention of hunters as part of the Pampa chapter's program in the National Red Cross movement to reduce the terrifying toll of accidents in homes and on farms, which last year caused 31,500 deaths and 4,000,000 injuries. This program aims to inform householders throughout the year of seasonal dangers as well as all other common hazards about their premises in order that they may be corrected.

SLEEPS ON FLOOR DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Bernarr McFadden, magazine publisher, touring the southwest speaking for presidential candidate Alf Landon, slept on the floor of the "Roosevelt suite" in a hotel last night. McFadden, physical culture exponent, said the human body was not meant to rest in soft beds. He demanded the hotel's best accommodations, however, and was shown to the suite named for his candidate's opponent.

HOEPELS LOSE WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Representative John H. Hoepfel of California and his son, Charles J. Hoepfel, lost today in the Supreme court in their protest against prison sentences of four months to a year for conspiracy to sell a West Point appointment. The tribunal refused to review a decision of the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, affirming their conviction May 18, 1936, by the District of Columbia federal district court.

Wichita Falls was reported to be placing a tax on slot machines, and allowing them to operate. The city took in $7,000 in license fees last year. His uncle, the Duke de Veragua, was slain recently by government sympathizers in Spain.

COURT HOLDS MINIMUM WAGE LAW INVALID

Part Of Docket For Current Term Is Fashioned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Supreme court today stuck by its earlier decision that New York's minimum wage law for women was unconstitutional, and simultaneously, agreed to review an attack on a similar Washington State statute.

Fashioning part of the docket for its current term, during which decisions will be forthcoming on much new deal and other legislation, the high tribunal either agreed to review or refused to consider scores of cases brought to its bar.

The court left until later a decision as to whether it will decide on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act. It refused today to pass on a case attacking it, after hearing a government contention that in this particular case the constitutionality of the statute was not involved. Six other appeals involving the act are on file at the court.

At the same time, however, the justices agreed to review an attack by the Virginia Railway company on the provisions of the railway labor act authorizing collective bargaining between representatives of employees and railroads.

In some of the other more important appeals before it, the tribunal acted as follows.

Refused to reconsider its decision last May, holding unconstitutional the 1934 municipal bankruptcy act, intended to aid debt reductions through federal bankruptcy courts by cities, counties and other political subdivisions.

Refused to review a ruling by the Western Missouri Federal district court upholding the constitutionality of the 1935 Frazier-Lemke act granting a three year moratorium on farm mortgages foreclosures. The appeal court has not yet acted on the case. The legislation was enacted after the supreme court had held unconstitutional the 1934 Frazier-Lemke act, granting a five year moratorium.

Agreed to review contention by the government that a 50 per cent tax on silver profits, made prior to passage of the silver purchase act, was constitutional. The court of claims held the levy unconstitutional.

Agreed to review the government's contention that the 1934 arms embargo act, aimed against sale of munitions for use in the Paraguay-Bolivia Chaco war, was unconstitutional. The southern New York federal district court held the statute invalid.

Agreed to review a lower court ruling upholding the constitutionality of the 1935 Ashurst-Sumners act forbidding the transportation of prison made goods into states that bar their sale and requiring that such products be labeled prison-made.

Landon Stands For 'Real Liberalism'

AKRON, O., Oct. 12 (AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon told a crowd overflowing the armory here today that he stands for "a sane balanced liberalism."

"It is a real liberalism," the republican presidential nominee said, "a marked contrast to the so-called liberalism in evidence today."

Landon, driving quickly to the armory from his special train, spoke to a crowd that overflowed the 3,800 seating capacity and stood in the streets listening to the candidate through a loud speaking system.

"I stand for the encouragement of American industry that men may have real jobs at real wages," Landon said at this center of Ohio's rubber industry.

Saying that the people of Akron "are my kind of people," the governor said: "This reckless squandering of 25 billion dollars of our money in the past three and a half years, is not liberalism. The creation of the greatest and most expensive bureaucratic political machine in the history of this country is not liberalism."

21 KILLED IN BLAST FUQUOKA, Japan, Oct. 12 (AP)—Twenty-one persons were killed, 22 seriously injured and many were missing today in a gas explosion in a nearby coal mine.
