HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Stanton's business men and all residents of Martin county can be assured the Chamber of Commerce of Big Spring will cooperate with them in every possible way when it comes to opening a road from the Bankhead highway to Andrews.

That is the statement a group of Stanton men were given in a conference with the local Chamber of Commerce manager here Wednesday.

When you want to build a new road you've got several things to take into consideration. Of course, under ordinary circumstances the straightest route is the best. But as oft repeated in this column service to the most people must be considered.

Now, Big Spring wants a more direct outlet to the Andrews country, and on westward into New Mexico to the Hobbs, Lovington and Carlsbad sections.

If you routed a road due west from here to Andrews you'd traverse the northern part of Martin county. Stanton is in the extreme southeastern section of that county and it's the county seat and by far the largest town in the county.

Could you reasonably expect Stanton and the citizens of that county to join with any other county or city or group of citizens in opening a new highway across the northern end, completely cutting off their own county seat from the travel the new road would bring.

No. Then, it is our position that what Big Spring might lose, if anything, through not having a direct route to Andrews would be by far more than offset by what she would gain by pitching in with Stanton and Martin county to get a road opened from Stanton along the most direct practicable route from the Bankhead highway to Stanton and Andrews.

No air. If any statement made in this newspaper has been construed as favoring an attempt to cut Stanton off from the proposed link between Big Spring and Andrews well, you Stanton folks, just get it out of your heads right now. Being selfish, like Big Spring would be if she attempted such has cost a lot of towns a lot of money.

Suggestions for a name for the big pageant-show-carnival-celebration planned for Big Spring this spring or early summer under auspices of the City Federation are coming in to the CONTEST EDITOR of The Herald. These suggestions will be turned over to a judging committee and the person suggesting the name adopted will be awarded $25 in cash. Entries will be received until February 15. Send them in.

Martin Plans County Fair

STANTON, Jan. 30.—The board of directors of the Martin county chamber of commerce has appointed a committee to work out plans and a score card and to call a meeting for the purpose of electing fair directors. It is likely that this meeting will be held February 8. It is the plan of the chamber of commerce to sponsor the county fair and to exhibit at the state fair and other fairs next fall.

CONDITION OF BRADY'S MIND PLEA

Expert Takes Stand, Terms Defendant 'Unsound'

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—Using a witness the defense first had called, the prosecution in the John W. Brady murder trial began this afternoon an attack on lay testimony that the slayer of Miss Lehlia Highsmith was insane.

D. K. Woodward, Austin lawyer whom the Brady lawyers had summoned and declined to use, testified on direct examination by the state that he had seen no reason to believe Brady was insane and did not know the difference between right and wrong.

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The defense in the John W. Brady murder trial rested today "with the understanding" that two more witnesses would be put on when they appeared.

These witnesses, counsel said, were C. N. Avery, former Austin city commissioner, and D. K. Woodward. Both were out of town, but Avery was expected back around noon and Woodward later.

One of the three witnesses of the morning, one Dr. W. L. Brown of El Paso, was expert. He said he examined Brady eight or nine years ago and believed he was "mentally unsound" at that time.

Hunter Osborne, Brownsville newspaper reporter, working here at the time Brady stabbed Miss Lehlia Highsmith to death, testified he had interviewed F. D. McNaughton, a star prosecution witness, on the day after the killing and that McNaughton had told him Brady seemed "dazed." McNaughton had denied talking to Osborne.

Lucian Touchstone, Dallas lawyer told of seeing Brady on the night of the killing. He said the former civil appeals court judge was "tense" and appeared to have been drinking.

Mrs. Brady was put on the stand as soon as Cannon left.

She said she saw Brady's finger in splints—a deep cut in it—on the day after the killing. His face also was bruised, she testified.

There was no cross examination, and she was excused.

Moses then slowly said: "The defendant rests with the understanding that two more witnesses, C. N. Avery and D. K. Woodward will be put on."

Avery is a former Austin city commissioner, and Woodward a lawyer here. Both were out of town but expected back today.

The state, then said it was not ready to begin rebuttal, and a recess until 2 p. m. was taken.

COURTROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 30 (AP)—Crowds were storming this beguiled old citadel today as John W. Brady's trial for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith got under way again.

Spectators were packing all entrances to the courtroom, and it was easy to see this would be a big day from their standpoint.

Just before the session the prosecution called six new witnesses, to appear tomorrow. They were Alex Nehring, of Manor and Harvey Warren, Earl Walker, John Matthews, J. Reats Jr., and Charles Bothner, all of Austin.

At 9:30 a. m., 30 minutes after opening time, the session had not started. The defense reveals that probably its last expert witness, Dr. W. L. Brown of El Paso, was on hand.

Dr. Brown went on the stand at 9:40 a. m., the first witness of the day.

Lee Satterwhite 'Witness' For Prisons

AUSTIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—The House listened to the views of an "outsider," but formerly one of its leaders, today as former Speaker Lee Satterwhite for many years an interested student of prison problems, gave his ideas on penitentiary reformation and concentration.

Lee Simmons of Sherman, member of the prison board, appeared before the House also.

Simmons heard the senate continued to take testimony of members of the prison board, Fred Horton of Greenville occupying the "witness chair."

While the senate seemed to be nearing conclusion of its public hearing on the legislation, the house apparently was just starting, with only one of its five bills having been gone into. It was the

COTTON SAGS $2 PER BALE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30. (AP)—Denial by Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board of a report that the board contemplated purchasing cotton at prices higher than the market caused prices on the New Orleans Cotton Exchange to sag approximately $2 a bale to new low levels for the season.

The market had recovered most of an earlier loss on the report but the statement by Chairman Legge influenced considerable selling, and values receded rapidly.

All active positions made new lows for the day and for the season with March at 15.91, May at 16.17 and July at 16.38, or 39 to 46 points below yesterday's close.

Stanton Group Here In Joint Road Meeting

Representatives of the Stanton Chamber of Commerce and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce road committee met in joint session Thursday afternoon at J & W Fisher store.

The Rev. J. W. McReynolds, pastor of the First Methodist church at Stanton and Claude Holley, secretary of the Stanton Chamber of Commerce met with R. L. Cook, Joyce Fisher, H. I. Stahlman and C. T. Watson of the local commercial organization.

The meeting was just starting at an early hour Thursday afternoon but it was unofficially understood that plans for the Big Spring-Stanton and Andrews county highway will be discussed and possibly a working plan developed.

Memory Expert Speaks To Club

Demonstration of memory training by Bill Butler featured Thursday's program at the Kiwanis club luncheon.

The program was in charge of Raymond McDaniel. Announcements concerning the cemetery association benefit concert to be given at high school auditorium the evening of February 6 by the Southern Methodist University band under auspices of the Kiwanis club, were made.

Mr. Butler asked names of most of the men present as he opened his talk. Twenty minutes later he pointed them out by name, although they had changed chairs while Butler's back was turned. He stressed importance of remembering names, declaring that everyone appreciates the distinction of recognition.

Mr. Cowan, local insurance man, was introduced as a guest.

Dick Collins was named program chairman for next week. Chairmen for the three succeeding weeks, in the order named, will be Roy Carter, R. V. Middleton and Calvin Boykin.

Committee On Publicity To Meet

Members of the standing committee on publicity of the chamber of commerce will meet at 10 a. m. Friday in the chamber's offices to discuss important matters relative to the year's work.

Committeemen are Wendell Beddick, chairman, Dr. Wofford Hardy, George Gentry, H. L. Bonhannon, Dr. C. C. Carter, J. H. Rivers, Dr. J. R. Barcus.

Members of a publicity committee named by the local Real Estate Board are urged to join in the meeting.

Real Estate Board Meeting Tonight

Members of the Big Spring Real Estate Board will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening in the chamber of commerce offices. Reports of a meeting of the directors of the board held Tuesday evening will be given at that time.

Church Head Dies

NEA Chicago Bureau Bishop Charles P. Anderson, above, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, who died in Chicago Thursday.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Most Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States of America died today.

Death came at 8:42 a. m., today, the result of a heart attack nine days ago from which the bishop never rallied. He was 64 years old.

Bishop to the Chicago diocese for a quarter of a century, he had been raised to the primacy of his church only two months ago. His health had been apparently good, despite a weak heart, until the fatal attack Jan. 21, a few days after Bishop Anderson had returned from an eastern trip.

BURR STORE WILL OPEN HERE SOON

Department Store Concern Leases Ellington Building

Definite plans for another modern new department store for Big Spring were revealed today in an announcement by L. C. Burr & Co., Inc., of Chicago that it had signed a lease for the premises at 115-17 E. Second St., owned by Dr. E. O. Ellington.

The building will undergo extensive remodeling, and the new store is expected by the lessees to be open and ready for business about March 16, 1930.

Remodeling work will begin as soon as possible. The job will be let to a local contractor who will follow out the plans of the company's architectural department in Chicago.

When the remodeling is completed the new structure will be of the advanced type similar to that specified by L. C. Burr & Co. for all its department stores. Complete new equipment and fixtures of the most modern and improved type will be installed throughout.

The decorations promise to be novel and unusual. A modified modernistic note will prevail through the whole store. The woodwork of light walnut will be accented by background decorations of light gray with trimmings of green.

The exterior of the building will also be extensively remodeled to fit the individual requirements of the new store. When completed the building promises to be a decided asset to the beauty and fine appearance of Big Spring business section.

Each L. C. Burr & Co. store is operated as a separate unit and takes an active part in all local and civic activities, the announcement stated. The company's policy is to employ local people for management and personnel whenever possible, according to the announcement.

LOVE GIVEN OPINION BY R L BOBBITT

Party Can't Exclude For Backing Nominees Of Others

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP)—While political parties have the power to prescribe qualifications of their own members, they do not have authority to bar any person, either as candidates or voters, because such person has voted against a nominee of a party at an election previously held, Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt ruled today.

Asked By Love Senator Thomas E. Love of Dallas, candidate for governor subject to the democratic primary in July and bolter of the party presidential nominee in 1928, asked the attorney general for a ruling.

The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet here Saturday to consider Senator Love's application and decide whether it shall bar his name from the primary ballot.

Attorney General Bobbitt said his department had taken particular pains to rush the opinion out in order to deliver to before the executive committee met.

"We did not have as much time on it as we desired on that account," he said.

"While not passing upon the extent of the powers of party executive committees to determine who shall vote or otherwise participate in any party affairs, it is held that no party executive committee has power to bar any person from participating in a party primary, either as a candidate for office or as a voter, because such person has voted against a nominee of such party at election heretofore held after participating in the primary conventions and primary elections of such party," the ruling said.

Statutes of Texas provide that every political party in this state, through its state executive committee, shall have the power to prescribe the qualifications of its own members—and shall, in its own way, determine who shall be qualified to vote or otherwise participate in such political party; provided that no person shall ever be denied the right to participate in a primary in this state because of former political views or affiliations or because of membership in organizations other than

Ministers Ask Charity Cases Be Given Study

A more thorough investigation of charity applications and a more stringent policy for transient charity cases was favored by ministers of Big Spring who met at the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday afternoon to express their views on the problem.

Ministers were unanimous in their decision to render assistance of investigating charity cases when called upon. Some cases will be referred to the Salvation Army which was given $500 of the surplus Good-fellow Fund and others will be referred to the Red Cross of which Nell Hatch is secretary, it was decided.

It was the opinion of ministers attending the meeting that considerable charity money is wasted in Big Spring because of the fact that applications are not thoroughly investigated before assistance is granted. The ministers condemned the policy of assisting transient charity applicants excepting unusual cases. Transient charity should be handled by individuals rather than the charity organizations, according to the opinion expressed by ministers.

COSDEN HAS ECTOR WELL

Test Reported Flowing 1,000 Barrels Daily From 3,590 Feet

Cosden Oil Company's No. 8-1 University became the fourth producing well in the Jenkins area of Ector county when the well started flowing at intervals of 10-minutes and was reported to be averaging approximately 1,000 barrels daily from pay drilled between 3,568-70 feet, with gas at 3,572-74 feet and more oil pay at 3,589-90 feet.

The well is located 1,630 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 2, block 35, University land and is a south offset to Landreth Production Company's No. 8-1 University which was completed several days ago and is now pinched to 150 or 200 barrels daily.

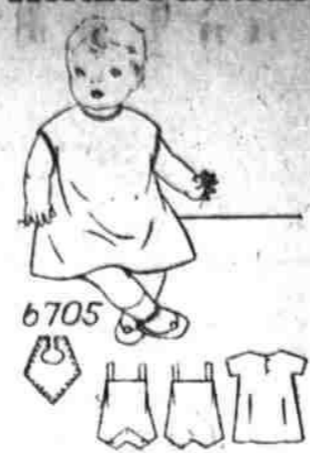

Cosden Oil Company's No. A-1 University, the most northerly well in the field, and 2,310 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 1, University land is expected to be the next completion in the Jenkins area. At last reports the well was drilling at 2,300 feet just above the point pipe will be set and cemented before drilling into the pay.

State To Inspect Big Spring Viaduct

An engineer of the state highway department will arrive in Big Spring within the next few days to inspect the Gregg street viaduct and if the structure is found to need regulations of the department the state will pay $25,000 to Ector county and officially designate the viaduct as a part of the highway system.

The state highway department has been at the state highway department in Austin, Tex., and is at present informing officials of the highway department.

High School Group Pays Herald Visit

The Commercial Club of Big Spring high school, under direction of Mrs. W. O. Low, instructor, spent an hour Wednesday afternoon in the plant of the Herald. It was one of a series of inspection trips being made through local industrial plants.

The students were shown processes that must be gone through each day in producing a newspaper. They watched the linotype operators, the make-up men, and the pressmen at their work.

After watching the placing of forms on the press and printing of the day's edition each visitor received a copy and also was given a "slab" of type bearing his own name.

Those in the party were Mrs. Low and the following students: Lowell Salisbury, Philip Slusser, James Rippes, Vera Moore, Jimmie Reeves, Ina Deason, Anna Pauline Jacobs, Dora McDonald, Lorena Read, Alene Bell, Irene Barnett, Nova Lynn Graves, Johnnie McElhannon, Reta Debenport, Freddie Sellers, O. C. Hart.

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength, get nervous, and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has restored to health and activity thousands who suffered just as you do—many of them right here in town. For instance, here is a letter from Mr. Nicholas Boynak, who says: "Indigestion was carrying me down at an alarming rate. One time it had me laid up in bed for six weeks. Tanlac has me eating, sleeping and feeling fine and I don't believe it has an equal."

Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer. It corrects the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. It restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

QUESTION of HONOR

by Ruth Cross

SYNOPSIS: Misunderstanding wrecks the romance of Scott Glenn and Anne Wilmot 24 hours after their marriage. Glenn finds a note planted by Anne's aunt, Mrs. Wilmot, and believing he is to be victimized by a designing wife, orders her out of his mountain cabin. Despite her humiliation Anne proves her love when she warns Glenn at the dam of the approach of an attacking party. Glenn rebuffs her and stamps her as a traitor. Accidentally wounded in the arm by Sheb, Anne faints from loss of blood, makes her way back to the cabin. Dolphine, the maid, dresses Anne's wounds, then goes to find medical aid. Leon Morse surprises Anne alone in her bedroom.

regain his feet, someone shot past him toward the dam in a long, easy lope. It was Sheb!

Close at Sheb's heels Glenn saw the old prospector stoop, pick up the charge, lighted fuse and all and fling it as far as he could send it. It just missed clearing the wall—struck at the farther end. For a moment, the sky was ablaze with flame. Then the ground, the great wall, the mountains, the whole earth seemed to reel and rock, to quiver and—finally to stand still again.

"The supply gates—shut the supply gates!" Glenn shouted.

rock which towered some 40 feet into the air, he heard the hoof beats of the other horse almost immediately behind him. A moment later, Burkhalter flung himself to the ground, buried up to Glenn. Even in the darkness, the latter could see that the giant's face was white as death. His own horse was first in the path of the flood.

Without a word, Glenn handed him one of the charges of dynamite, which he had managed somehow to keep clear of the water, indicated a spot at the farther end of the hill where it was to be placed. The other charge he planted himself. Both fuses were lighted, then the two men remounted and rode away quickly to a safe distance. They had just drawn up their horses to look back when the explosion came. The hill tottered,

Panic seized the men as water poured over the dynamited dam.

Chapter 28 SHEB'S HEROISM

Blind unreasoning fury to destroy, fermented by Morse's lieutenant, gripped the mountaineers as they poured out of the tunnel toward the dam to meet unexpected opposition.

The timely warning Anne had brought set Glenn and his cohorts into action and they watched the oncoming men from behind rude breastworks made by piles of cement bags.

But Glenn's embattled and determined force was hopelessly outnumbered and the young leader realized that only a miracle could save the dam from this furious onrush. He felt himself suddenly seized from both sides and from behind as the men hurled the barricade. He dropped his useless rifle, put his back against a stack of cement bags and closed first to fit with his assailants.

Glenn struck and parried with only one eye on his attackers; the other was fixed intently on the dark silhouette of the dam. He knew the exact spot where they would try to plant the dynamite—if they succeeded, the wall could never be rebuilt.

One of his men went down with a swift well-placed blow under the chin, but another came up to take his place. Suddenly a knife flashed in the darkness. Glenn seized the arm that drove it. Something snapped. There was a roar of pain, a volley of curses in Mexican.

For a breathing space, Glenn stood free of his harrying pack, but before he could stir, he heard Burkhalter's voice at his elbow, "Here you, clear out—you can leave him to me!"

Glenn turned just in time to brace himself. Burkhalter rushed at him, head down charging as a bull charges, caught him between the legs, bore him backward, his great bulk on top of him. Glenn struggled up, reeling and swaying.

A figure was moving now toward the dam, running swiftly, bent close to the ground. It was the Mexican, Tony. Glenn heaved desperately at Burkhalter, who was trying to pin him against the bags of cement, strained him back for a moment, but the giant was on him again like lightning.

The furtive figure had deposited its burden now, was stealing back as stealthily and more swiftly even than it had gone. A thin, malignant red flame leaked out into the darkness at the very heart of the dam. A cry of warning went up. All along the line, men turned to flee for their lives. Burkhalter loosed his hold at last on Glenn with an abruptness which sent the latter reeling backward. Before he could swayed drunkenly from side to side; then settled squarely across the path of the onrushing torrent—not a moment too soon.

While Glenn and Burkhalter watched, the flood, swollen now to twice its original width and depth, dashed itself frenziedly against the new barrier which Glenn had interposed. It hammered and pounded angrily at the obstacle, then something gave way—to the right of it. The torrent appeared to concentrate itself, fairly to leap into the air, then to pounce like a bird of prey upon the old washout.

Within five minutes, the washout of a few feet in width and a dozen feet or so in depth which Glenn and Anne had leaped less than two weeks ago was a deep and swiftly moving river.

Without more delay, Glenn turned his horse and galloped back swiftly to the dam. He was aware that Burkhalter was still close at his side.

When Glenn dismounted at the dam, the foreman with the aid of the catch owners were already hard at work trying to stop the snarling mouth of the hole by the dam—throwing in logs, diaphragms, scaffolding, bags of cement, rocks, machinery, anything they could lay hands on. His enemies had become his allies.

As Glenn jumped down from his horse and took charge of the operations, he noticed out of the corner of his eye that Burkhalter had dismounted also and was working shoulder to shoulder with the rest.

THE JOB OF REFORMATION

It is fairly obvious that America's prison system is not doing a very good job. Crime continues to increase. Investigators repeatedly assail our prisons as schools where hardened criminals teach the tricks of the trade to impressionable youngsters. If the reformation of the criminal is part of the prison's job, there will be no one to deny that the present system leaves a tremendous lot to be desired.

The most recent bit of evidence comes in a book, "Five Hundred Criminal Careers," by Sheldon Glueck and Eleanor Glueck of the Harvard University faculty.

In this book the Gluecks recount their studies of criminals in Massachusetts penal institutions. The figures they present are extremely interesting and valuable.

For instance, they find that in 70 per cent of the careers studied, the criminal's home life had gone to smash before he reached the age of 14. Only one-third of the men were of normal intelligence. There had been prior delinquency in 80 per cent of the families represented. And—most damning of all—of 510 men discharged from the Massachusetts Reformatory between 1911 and 1922, 80 per cent returned to lives of crime.

Those figures indicate the nature of the task that faces our prisons. They would seem to prove quite clearly that mere severity and harsh discipline will never suffice. As Dr. Richard C. Cabot of Harvard remarks:

"Why should this regime reform anybody? In my experience there are few tougher and more unyielding structures in the world than a bad habit. It does not change as the result of a few months of forced, unpaid and unpalatable labor."

Reform, Dr. Cabot believes requires one condition: "That someone should come to know and understand the man in so intimate and friendly a way that he comes to a better understanding of himself and to a truer comprehension of the world in which he lives."

An enormous amount of work, evidently, remains to be done.

THE CRUISER IS THE MAIN ISSUE

It is just a trifle disturbing to see, in the dispatches describing the London naval conference, so much emphasis on the prospective abolition of the battleship.

The English, in particular, seem to be all steamed up over this phase of it. Government officials and parliamentary leaders are making speeches about it constantly, and it is rapidly assuming a more important place on the program than the cruiser limitation proposition.

If some agreement can be reached under which the expensive battleship can be abolished it will be all to the good. Battleships cost fearful sums; besides, there are many naval experts who believe that the 30,000-ton fighting ship is out of date, anyway. Surely no one will object greatly if we can find a way to avoid spending half a billion dollars on this kind of craft in the next few years.

Yet the battleship question, at this particular time, is, after all, a side issue. The conference was called primarily to check competitive cruiser building. It was in this field that international rivalries were growing most threatening. The battleship question was bothering no one. Not one capital ship was being designed or laid down in any shipyard of the world.

Why, then, all the present bother about battleships? There is a suspicion in some quarters that the battleship business is nothing more than a smoke screen, put out so that the real point at issue—the cruiser problem—may be sidestepped. An empty gesture in battleships might easily conceal a failure in cruisers.

No one should be deceived. The conference was called to limit competitive cruiser building. If it fails to do that it fails in its one main purpose, no matter what else it may accomplish on the side.

For a little more than an hour Governor Moody addressed the legislators, giving an account of his stewardship and outlining needed legislation.

The effect on the legislators was varied, as might have been expected. Senator Eugene Miller of Weatherford was sure the governor's speech presaged his entry into the race for a third term.

Senator Julien Hyer of Fort Worth was sure that the speech, boiled down, meant simply, "I choose to run."

Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin pronounced it "just a swan song."

Senator Pink L. Parrish from the great open space of the South Plains, called it "one of the best messages I ever heard, and strictly to the point."

A politician gifted with any sort of acumen could manage to torture almost any meaning out of the Moody message as the foregoing comments will show.

Will Moody run again? The Associated Press, referring to his speech, said that "some predicted his long review of the accomplishments of his administration might presage an announcement for a third term."

Doubtless the governor gets quite a kick out of these comments. It is to be presumed that he knows whether he will seek a third term, or return to private life. But nobody else does.

Meantime the quality of gubernatorial aspirants is growing no better very rapidly. A dozen or more are in the field. Nearly all of them base their campaign against the Moody administration. Ex-Senator Mayfield favors state bonds to provide loans for farm purchase, but is against the statewide road bond issue. Mr. Hatcher seeks a return to democratic principles. Mr. Love's first thought is to get on the ticket. Mr. James Edmund Ferguson, nursing a dislocated shoulder, contemplates with mixed emotion the spectacle of Earle B. Mayfield carting off the Ferguson platform, plank by plank. Mr. Pink Parrish hopes to hear the Moody political lures and penates. Various other aspirants hold that "Me too!" attitude with growing discomfort.

It would simplify matters should the governor decide to run again. It would enable all the other candidates to jump on him and his administration. But it might be tough on Dan.

OUT OUR WAY

THE SOAK

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A prime example of the movie business' inexorable habit of "typing" its puppets is Robert Armstrong, who has pent about a third of his cinematic career in a roped arena for the sake of the purse and the gal.

Robert Armstrong for the quaint sport of pugilism. It is doubtful if he would be known to half the fans he now has. His whole picture career has been brightened by the overhanging lights of the fight stage.

It was James Gleason's play, "Is Zat So?" which brought Armstrong to the movies. Bob left college three months before graduation because a vaudeville sketch of his in Portland succeeded.

He was signed to take the act to New York, and that decided him to be an actor and let who would have the diploma. After war service, he joined a stock company with Jimmy Gleason was the comedian. Gleason wrote "Is Zat So?" and gave the fighter's role to Bob. The play went to New York and was a sensation.

A FORTUNE ON CELLULOID

It led to Cecil DeMille's signing him for movies—and his first role was that of the prize-fighter in "The Main Event." Since then he has fought in "Celebrity" and in "Be Yourself" the Fannie Brice talkie, and he will fight again in his next, "Dumbells in Ermine."

REVERSION "TO TYPE"

Armstrong, of course, has played other roles, yet there can be no doubt the movie-makers like him in the ring. The studio which cast him in "Dumbells in Ermine" changed his character in order to get him there.

The play "Weak Sisters," basis of the talkie, has for its central character an author. The studio makes him a prize-fighter—even though Armstrong, having written his first vaudeville sketch, might qualify as a literary person. The nearest he has come to literature in the movies, by the way, was newspaper-reporting in "Big News."

Big Spring Airport Bulletin Issued

Revised bulletin on the Big Spring Airport has just been issued by the United States Department of Commerce. A number of copies have been received by the Chamber of Commerce. They are designed for use of pilots.

The bulletin bears an outline map of the city, showing location of the airport with relation to it. Another map outlines the airport only, giving position of hangars, beacon, border and flood lights, obstructions and the dimensions of the field.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Do Chills Cause Colds?
 It has been aptly said that it isn't the engine drivers and firemen of trains that catch cold, but the passengers in the stuffy carriages.

A common fallacy is that drafts and chilling are the specific causes of colds. Chills may lead to colds, but colds are caused by germs. Chilling the body tends to lower its resistance.

Microorganisms are always to be found in the nose and throat. Ordinarily they are inactive, or if active, the body's resistance is adequate to keep them in check. When, however, the resistance is lowered, the germs may become aggressive, and disease follows.

Chilling lowers vitality by causing a contraction of the minute blood vessels, called capillaries, which cover the body surfaces, both inside and outside. There is usually a drop in body temperature.

It has been shown that during such periods there is an increase in the number of bacteria to be found on the tonsils, palate, and pharynx. Self or auto-infection follows.

Chilling affects people in various ways. It causes diarrhea in some; neuralgic or muscular pains in others. It may also lead to inflammation of the kidneys.

The dangers involved in sudden chilling can, to an extent, be minimized by training the body to quickly respond to temperature changes. Cold baths help in this direction. However, the best safeguard against chills and colds is good personal hygiene.

What has been said of chills is equally true of drafts. While in themselves they are incapable of producing colds, they may predispose to or aggravate colds, especially in infants, the aged, and the feeble.

NO WEST TEXAS City Designated Stop For Air Mail

No point on the Texas & Pacific railroad between Fort Worth and El Paso has been designated as a stop or junction point for an air mail line the local Chamber of Commerce has been informed by a department of commerce and the interdepartmental committee on airways.

Recent reports were that Midland had been made the point of contact for a line leading through San Antonio to the T & P air line and another which is planned to follow the T & P across Texas.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Even some of the Washington correspondents who always refused to buy rubbers because they didn't go well with spats own rubbers now. It would be hard to find a more thoroughly rubbered and galoshed group anywhere.

The movement began when a score or more reporters got their feet wet in covering the White House fire. It's pretty hard to do a real good job of covering a fire and investigating damage to the flooded interior without stepping into plenty of water.

Those who didn't rot shoe leather at the White House did so in most cases when water stood inches deep, on the main floor of the Capitol at the time the firemen had to pour in a few tons of water on a blaze there. That was the fire during which a newsreel operator put a photographers' flare in the hand of Congressman Rankin of Mississippi and told him to run with it, causing Rankin to make an indignant speech the next day.

The bad fire at Senator Key Pittman's home found most newspapermen prepared to cope with the heavy slush outside and the flood of water within, but a few more converts were made, even though this fire was too early for many of them to attend in person.

There is a new aspect to the old question: "Why shouldn't farmers with long whiskers ever butter their green corn?" That's what the Federal Farm Board would like to know. A whole lot of farmers, instead of eating their own butter, are consuming oleomargarine, not margarine and other substitutes costing a third to a half as much as butter. That's the reason way the farm board has publicly urged farmers to use their own butter and issuing resolutions of the Dairy Advisory Commodity Committee.

Butter is selling below cost of production and the board holds that farmers themselves are partly responsible because of their willingness to accept substitutes. By using their own products, it says, they could improve the price. Other factors in the depression are a comparatively open fall resulting in more than the usual amount of milk and a somewhat decreased consumption of butter generally.

In cheese-producing areas, the board has learned, cheese is eaten in large quantities and usually served two meals a day.

The last year has been an unusual one for the Senate and after a long special session running into the present regular session no one need be surprised to hear a senator say almost any old thing.

For instance, Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who expressed the deep conviction that the Capitol fire and the White House fire, coming so closely together, could be no mere coincidence.

And Senator Cole Blaise of South Carolina, who, when laughed at by the galleries as he roared about what he considered an obscene book, demanded that everyone go home, get down on their knees and hold family prayer.

Louisville's Colonels will open spring training at Mobile, Ala., March 2, a week later than last year.

BY BOBBY Broadway

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Jan. 29—A new night club has been opened in the Longacre district. It bears the appropriate title: "The Booby Hatch."

WHO WAS FIRST?

"Joe" is Manhattan's most audacious restaurateur. His places dot the humbler levels of the town, the Bowery and the noisy, populous, shirt-sleeved avenues that fringe the eastern and western water-fronts. On the Bowery, and lower Third avenue, there are at least a dozen "Joe's" restaurants and as many more "Original Joe's." Some day we confidently expect to encounter an "Original Original Joe."

WHO IS RIGHT?

Sydney Skolansky, New York's Baby Columnist, calls Broadway "The street that's a fake, a phoney. The street that's called 'the heart of the world' and has no heart."

And Bill Bolitho, author of "Twelve Against the Gods," says of Mazda Lane: "Everyone abuses Broadway, like rejected suitors of a cruel beauty. Not I. I adore the keen justice of life which never signs contracts. In Broadway, when you've ceased to please, you are out. There are no grounds for damages."

SOAP ENDORSERS

Now that the cigaret people have promised the Federal Trade Commission that they'll be good and not run any more phoney endorsements, members of the Endorsers' Union are scurrying around for new titles to tout.

Meantime, The Ten-Cent-Soap Sirens, or The Lather Ladies, as they are sometimes called, are doing a rushing business, their monickers and mugs appearing morning and evening in the advertising columns of the metropolitan press, above laudatory paragraphs.

Evelyn Laye, English musical star, leads the league the latest recruits numbering: Marion Davies, Bebe Daniels, Evelyn Brent, Joan Crawford, Janet Gaynor, Dot Mackall, Mary Eton, Helen Hayes, Marilyn Miller (eyebrows and all), Beatrice Lillie, Lenore Ulric and the ubiquitous Ann Pennington. Lydies must live!

NEW COMPLEXION COAXING STUDIO

Which recalls the fact that Lizzie Arden, the Big Grease and Goo Gal, Pimple Discourager Extraordinary and Blackhead Banisher Plenipotentiary to Park Avenue, has opened up a new complexion coaxing studio on the Avenue called Fifth.

Lizzie deposes and says that she refused $15,000,000 (earned money) for the "industry" she has built up around her name. Her personal net income from her business is 1,000,000 coconuts a year.

At a tea on Tuesday, in honor of the new Pimple Palace and Wart Warren society, royalty, artists and business folk flocked to view the masterpiece of the beauty shops, designed jointly by Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, wife of the music composer, and Nick Renshoff, scenic inspirer of the original Chauve-Souris. Among those who shoe-horned in were—hold fast:

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Prince Geo. of Russia, Grand Duchess Marie, Princess de la Tour d'Auvergne, Mrs. C. Oliver Icelin, Miss Julia Hoyt, Fanny Holst, Countess Mercat, Judge Jean Norris, Elisabeth Marbury and Yvonne Georli.

Now watch The Greasy-Girl's Guild get busy endorsing Lizzie's Layout!

MAYBE SHE'S RIGHT

Langreche LI says she never yet ate a piece of candy, done up in unroll, that was worth the trouble of unwrapping.

less from barring such persons from participating in the primaries otherwise it would not have been necessary to pass the bill in known as the Wirtz bill, which was vetoed by the governor."

Continuing, the opinion said: "It is not for this department to condone party irregularities or condemn those who saw fit to vote for presidential nominees of another party in the last election. This opinion is confined strictly to the one question, which is a law question, though on a political subject, as to whether party committees have the authority in question."

to Mitchell's body, which lay sprawled upon the rear seat. Jackson was shot as he sat at the wheel, a bullet entering his head. The door by his side was partly open, and his left leg was partly out, as though he had been about to step from the machine.

Police had slight clues to any of the crimes. The bombing followed receipt of letters demanding money under threats of death. In the case of Genaro, detectives said, he had so many enemies "it is hard to say which of them might have tried to kill him."

The taxicab murders were even more mysterious.

Mrs. Cline Entertains

Mrs. E. M. Cline was hostess to the Triangle Bridge club in regular session Wednesday afternoon in her home on Highland Park. Three tables of members and guests were entertained.

Using the single color red, a lovely Valentine decorative scheme was carried out in accurate detail in house decorations, menu of the delicious salad course and in bridge appointments. Lacy Valentines were used for tables, table covers and napkins, as well as in the quartet table appointments.

Red roses were given as plate favors.

Prizes wrappings were also in red. Mrs. Hilo Hatch won a maiden vanity set as high prize for club members, while high score prize for visitors was won by Mrs. Eck Lovelace, who received a box of stationery.

Those present were: Mesdames Wofford E. Hardy, Hilo Hatch, Omar Pittman, James Davis, Robert Currie, M. H. Bennett, J. Y. Robb, Eck Lovelace, C. W. Cunningham, E. E. Fahrnkamp, Paul Bartram of Asperment, Miss Jena Jordan and the hostess.

Editorial

The other day a clipping from a newspaper informed the world that a 14-year-old boy in Midland, Texas, had hanged himself. Why did he do it? Was it over some disappointment that his young mind magnified far beyond its true value? Or was it because, as in the case of hundreds of others, he was tired of life?

Tired of life—why he had not yet begun to live. He had only graduated from the class in which a young man becomes aware of the real joys of life. True he had begun for the first time to drink of the sorrows, but one must first cry that he may learn how to smile.

Tired of life in an age when everything moves onward with remarkable speed. How could he be tired? There is a fascination to be found in every walk of life. There is enjoyment to be obtained by simply watching the cars and the buildings, handiworks of man that his children should be proud of.

Tired of life? Why he was not yet living! The greatest enjoyment a man can know is the delight in his own accomplishment. Who can say that he did not get a thrill from a contact with the forces of nature in which he came out the victor? None. For the soul of man is the soul of the competitor, and he loves to win.

Many have done as the Midland boy did—taken their own lives for some unexplainable reason. Of course it is not within the power of any writer to understand the inner forces that go far in the establishing a personality but we can wonder, and do, why anyone should be tired of life.

A cure for it? We would suggest he become interested in some work while enterprise and learn to enjoy the battle against the invisible forces that are man's greatest enemies.

Campus Chatter

Sights at noon: they're buying ice cream cones and Eskimo pies again and taking them to the edge of the campus and eating them slowly often dividing them freely and sometimes staying over at Uncle Wait's until all of it is gone. A sailor cap is the latest vogue among the ever changing masculine styles—and someone has said that women go crazy over changes in fashions—derbies, toboggan caps, and sailor hats has been seen on one boy's head in less than a week and we'll tell the name of the well-dressed man, Harmon Morrison. They're all wondering who it is who walks down Funnels street every day so she can ride to the school with the boy friend, and one accused the writer of inventing yarns just to cover space, but it's true—of course we can't tell her name. She sits too close to us in class and she has really a ferocious temper. Those who saw a recent show will be expecting me to end by referring to her as the girl from Looshitaw, but I won't. She came from another place.

Pipes are much the fashion around the campus. Most of them prefer the long-stemmed, thin-bowled variety but some insist on disobeying the dictation of the majority and using a curved stem, a huge, black affair that sends forth terrible odors but satisfies the demand of the smoker for a cool, sweet pipe. The majority of them use Prince Albert and Granger smoking tobacco, quite a few adhere to Edgeworth, one affects the expensive Blue Bear, and another goes a step further by stuffing his pipe with imported English Briar Cut.

According to what the majority of the students wear the correct attire of the well-dressed man in Big Spring would be about this: no hat, hair parted in middle, blue or black tie with loud stripe, white shirt, blue suit or perhaps a dark brown, an initialed belt, no vest, varicolored socks, and black shoes. Spats are affected by one or two. Gray suits are also popular.

Few of the loud sweaters that the modern youngster supposedly adores are found in Big Spring High. Most of the boys wear neatly pressed suits that are for the most part tailor made, and if they do wear a sweater a solid color is also popular.

Radiator work, prices right. Tuisa Radiator, Fender-Body Co.—215 East 3rd.—adv.

The most popular. Only such "mistakes" as Gerald Liberty seek to obtain the spectacular in colors.

MANY HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS AND STUDENTS APPEAR IN SHOW

The play, "Aunt Lucia," sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association will be presented to the high school Thursday and Friday evenings. A special matinee for school students was to be given Thursday afternoon.

Various features of the show will employ a total of 150 persons in the cast of the play, the glee club, the flapper chorus, a special baby pageant, and girls' chorus.

Big Spring high school students will be interested to learn that the following are in the cast: Miss Dorothy Jordan as Betty, Miss Clara Pool as Mrs. Serrano, Miss Kitty Wings as Molly, Uncle Walt as the big butter and egg man, Mr. Blankenship as the president of the college, Frank Eiter as the fraternity president, E. P. Driver as the messenger boy, Olin Cox in the glee club with the following taking part in the role of flappers, George Brown as the athletic girl, Bill Stevens as the girl with the million dollar limbs, Frank Boyle as the bride of 1928, Bill Olsen as Hard-Hearted Hannah, and the following girls taking part in the chorus: Mildred Patterson, Janice Hellinger, Clara Brenner, Lucille Rix, Dorothy Vandergriff, Maxine Thomas, Rosemary Duff, Fannie Sue Read, Tommie Gooch, Zillah Mae Ford, Cora Ashley, Gene Duberly, Maurine Garret, Pauline Morrison, Lorene Read, Alline Bell, Lucille LaBett, Mae Olsen, Anna Pauline Jacobs, Leon Moffet, Margaret Bettie, Elda Mae Cochran, Evelyn Merril, Elsie Duff, Anita Davis, Gene Handley, Lennah Rose Black.

Eagles Invade Big Spring For Interesting Basketball Scrap

Last year's championship Eagles meet their closest rivals for the sectional crown Friday and Saturday night when they invade the gym of the Big Spring Steers, semi-finalists in last year's tournament.

The Eagles, under direction of Coach Fothergill, bring an experienced band to cope with the locals. Captain "Snoopy" Allen, of gridiron court, and track fame heads a team that is favored to win the district meet. Groseclose, last year's captain, Smith, a star forward of the 1929 quintet, Neely, a veteran guard, and Foster, have returned from the Eagles of last year. The loss of Salyers is supposed to have been compensated for by the flock of promising newcomers.

But the Steers are slight favorites to win due to their narrow victories over the Clyde Bulldogs, to whom the Eagles dropped a pair of decisions. However the recent loss of both ends of a double bill to Cisco has left the impression that the Big Spring club is not all it is cracked up to be.

Bell will probably start again at forward. The little speed merchant played a great game against Cisco while his running mates, Hutto and Pardue, were decidedly off form. The former so much that he saw little service in the last clash.

In case Edwards starts at center Pardue will fill in at forward but should Coach Stevens retain the lanky captain on the bench Bell and Hutto are almost certain to go in as forwards with Pardue center. Smith will guard with Flowers of Howie the logical choice for the other slot, and both almost certain to see action. Martin is sure to get in the game at forward while Gordon, forward, and Staphley, guard, may go in for a quarter or so.

How Chemistry Lab Is Not Run

Sloppy Smith and Bill Penn watching the crazy antics of some sidium when in water. A loud explosion. Bill Henley dropping flaming magnesium in an open bottle of oxygen. Cracking glass. Burma Bailey dropping a rack of test tubes. Loud expostulations from Mr. Boyle. Pleasings to be careful. The noise goes on however for he is now completely at their mercy. An awful stench penetrates the room. C. A. Johnson put some burning sulphur in a bottle of oxygen and failed to reach the window in time. Loud cries. Raleigh Mims while practicing bending glass has accidentally grabbed the hot end of a very hot piece. The piece is quickly dropped and Beam Morrison comes valiantly to the rescue but is beaten by Jack Rogers who grabs the glass with a towel. More loud cries. P. K. Penn has splattered his best suit with acid and in the meanwhile has contrived to get some in his mouth. He is finally quieted but with difficulty. Confusion. The bell has sounded and everyone is in great haste to disassemble apparatus. Everything is finally put away and the fledgling chemists struggle to their next classes.

What is left behind would dishearten any janitor living. Strewed about over the floor in different volume is broken glass, the remains of used matches and plinters, and other rubbish of various kinds.

Moral: There is none. Don't believe the junk they've been telling you. The lab at your high school is run like a machine and to look at it you'd think you were looking at a couple dozen Einsteins doing their daily dozen.

Radiator work, prices right. Tuisa Radiator, Fender-Body Co.—215 East 3rd.—adv.

Gerald Liberty, assistant sports editor of the Wheel, has resigned his position. He desires to spend more time at his studies was given as the reason.

Honeymooners

Marie Nixon has gone on other honeymoons—in the movies—but here you see the petite film star on a real one with a real husband that a casting director didn't select. She's Mrs. Edward Hillman now, and is pictured above with her new husband, a Colcogona, at Miami Beach, Fla.

DEBATERS DROP FOUR OF CLASHES

The debating teams of Colorado took a 3 to 2 decision from the local orators last Thursday afternoon in the local auditorium. The question debated was the state intercollegiate question: "Resolved that the Sterling plan for the building of highways should be adopted." Colorado upheld the negative side of the question in all five encounters while Big Spring urged the affirmative. Miss Jordan, Miss Davis, Rev. Hughes, Miss Cox and Rev. Heard acted as judges.

The only bright spot in the clash was the triumph of the girls team from Big Spring over the star pair from Colorado. Louise Hayes and Elsie Duff, the Big Spring orators, upholding the affirmative side but managed to win in spite of the reputation their opponents bore. Curtis Bishop, Steve Ford, J. H. Smith, Robert Curry, Phillip Sussler, Carter McWhirter, Jane Tinsley, and Elizabeth Franks participated in the other four clashes for Big Spring.

Eliminations to determine the champion of Big Spring High will be held in February.

THIRD TEAM TO COMPETE IN LAMESA

Big Spring will be represented in the Staked Plains tournament to be held at Lamesa February 7 and 8 by a team of youngsters who are falling short of making the first squad by inches. Inexperience will be the only handicap the Steer's third team will have to overcome before they are on a par with the average class B five.

The third team is light, inexperienced, yet possesses a remarkable ability to make goals, so pronounced in fact that a scrimmage between them and the heralded first string often ends in a fairly close score considering the experience of their opponents. Neel especially shows up well on shooting goals, while Hammock, Richburg, Puckett and Sanders specialize on defense play and Ratliffe, Reed, and Frank Martin on floor work.

Coach Brown, who is in charge of the squad, has announced that he will take the following with him to Lamesa: Cecil Reed, Virgil Sanders, Cecil Neel, Frank Martin, Claude Harper, Horace Hargrove, Ralph Hammock, Henry Richburg, Norville Puckett, Dick Ratliffe, Franklin Ort, and Bob Kidwell.

Scout Leaders' School Planned

Tentative opening date for a school in Leadership Training under direction of the local council Boy Scouts of America, assisted by Area Executive A. C. Williamson, has been fixed for February 29.

The school will continue six weeks, with one or two sessions each week, the executive alternating between Big Spring and Midland on succeeding nights, as a school will be held in the latter city during the same period.

Dr. Wofford Hardy is chairman of the leadership training committee of the local council.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of Fat

WHO'S WHO IN BSHS

I'm V. R. You probably have heard of me since I am known all over the country for my particularly sharp tongue. I make witty remarks very frequently. I am very hard to go with—for you see a girl of my sort can afford to be particular. Come again.

I'm M. T., a bubbling personality, a vivacious personage, and oh how affectionate. People don't generally like me until they get to know me better, and then, oh boy, how they love me. Just try it yourself.

I'm K. E. I'm another of these brilliant minds that can make a bright crack about anything or anybody. One of my latest was to tell my history teacher that the groceryman was out of squashes. Squashes, ha, ha, just come around, I'll tell them to you.

I'm B. B. I fell into desperate temporarily disgrace during football season but the fact still remains that I'm the most popular boy in school as well as the best football player; only they made a mistake and declared me ineligible. But just come over folks, I'll let you in on a secret. I'm a man in a million.

I'm Z. M. F., another of those girls who have something to be proud of. Witness the fact that I've been the singles champion of Big Spring High for the last two years and have also been the favorite of my class one year. I have a natural pose that is found very seldom among high school students. I'm no flapper but a lady.

I'm R. M. I think everyone is crazy about me and I guess they are. I intrude upon every girl's conversation, I hit every girl I meet. I am a great football player; also, I dress luxuriously. I can talk intelligently. Step up ladies and gentlemen, the show is free.

They've got me last but I'm not least. I'm J. E., the boy who makes the world go round. Few people can act as bright as I do without being very smart. I wear leather heels so I'll make lots of racket when I go into a class. I have lots of money, or at least I would if I didn't play poker. I flirt with every girl I see, for why not give 'em a break? Good-bye.

Personals

Cora Ashley of the staff was absent Monday morning due to illness.

Pauline Melton witnessed the Big Spring-Colorado game in Colorado last Tuesday night.

You Ought To Know—Some very serious accidents have happened during this last year. You may profit by these people's mistakes if you will only take heed. Harmon Morrison received some enormous splinters in his right hand while scratching his head. First aid had to be rendered to Clara Brenner when she alone solved a geometry problem. Sloppy Smith stuck his head in the pencil sharpener and stretched his pencil trying to see who Lennah Rose was walking down the hall with. Marie Vek got so nervous at an English test that she brushed back her hair and handed in her hair. Maxine Thomas powdered her typewriter and brushed off her face. Luther Glover threw away some words and swallowed his gun. (By two very promising young writers of the opposite sex.)

SPORTS ON PARADE

By STANLEY NORMAN

TITLE BOUT DELAYED

The basketball champion of Howard county will be decided here Tuesday, Feb. 11 rather than on Feb. 8 as was originally arranged. Big Spring has a return game carded with Abilene Feb. 8, to repay the Eagles for their trip to this city Saturday night and a special arrangement to delay the county championship game until the following Tuesday was made between local and Coahoma school officials.

EARLY PRACTICE

Coaches Stevens and Brown worked their charges Thursday morning due to the fact they "Aunt Ledges" the Parent-Teachers Association home talent stage production will be presented in a matinee performance this afternoon, Thursday night and Friday night. Two days without work at this particular stage of the season would be near ruinous, so genial "Cap" Gentry, the big ruler and paddle man of the high school, consented to a morning practice session.

PLANS PROGRESS

Preparations to entertain eight county championship basketball teams here Jan. 14 and 15, at which time winner of the western division of district No. 8 will be named, are progressing satisfactorily. Entrants to the semi-district championship tourney have not been designated, but county tourneys throughout the western division to be played next week-end, Feb. 7 and 8 will decide what cities will send teams to Big Spring for the district meet.

STEEERS FAVORED

Unless a dark horse appears on the horizon between now and the sectional tournament dates, Big Spring rules the favorite to cop this end of the district. County champions from Ector, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Kent and Fisher counties will come to Big Spring to compete against Big Spring or Coahoma, depending on which of the latter two teams wins the county flag.

WOLVES AGAIN

Colorado will undoubtedly represent Mitchell county, but the Wolves are not so tough this year as evidenced by two plasterings received from Big Spring already. The Mitchell county representative is a problem as Sweetwater was reported early in the season to have abandoned basketball as no indoor court was available. Snyder will probably uphold the standard of Scurry county. "Red" Moore's Scurry county boys may be just a bit troublesome as they gained a narrow victory over Abilene last week, but the Eagles have been taking punches on the chin rather regularly this winter, so the victory means little.

FORMER HOST

Roby, the city that entertained 14 teams in district No. 8 last year, is favored to represent Fisher county while Clairmont will probably win the Kent county championship.

AN OPPORTUNITY

A glance at a map of Texas will reveal that teams will travel considerable distance to the Big Spring tourney. It's essential that attractive trophies be offered winner and the runner-up. In the first place Big Spring will probably cop first place and the trophy case is in need of more attractive emblems of victory. In the second place it behoves the sporting element of Big Spring to provide the utmost in entertainment for the visitors who are coming from foreign territories, and to make the club want to return to Big Spring is not bad advertisement. The man who sits behind the big desk of this particular editorial department is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce publicity committee and it has been suggested that the commercial organization can spend a little money to good advantage for trophies. Of course, if some private citizen feels the urge to purchase a couple of mounted basketballs or a couple of cups, we imagine the offer will be accepted and more than appreciated.

Boston Crowd To Fill Train On Miami Trip

BOSTON, Jan. 30 (INS).—The special de luxe train, headed by Eddie Mack, retiring matchmaker of the Boston Garden, to the fistic carnival at Miami February 27 with Jack Sharkey of Boston and Phil Scott of England, playing the leading parts will be filled to capacity when it leaves Boston on February 22.

It is an eleven day trip with six days in Miami. The round trip fare with berth and meals on the train is $140. The train will be parked three blocks from the fight arena for sleeping accommodations and the dining car will be attached where meals will be served a la carte. The schedule follows:

Leave Boston from the south station in special de luxe train at 1:30 p. m. en route to Washington, D. C., via the New York, New Haven and Hartford and Pennsylvania railroads. Dinner provided in dining car. Leave Washington en route to Southern Pines, N. C., via the Board Air Line Railway, arriving at 9:30 a. m. Sunday where stop of two hours will be made to allow members to attend church. Southern Pines is one of the famous mid-South winter resorts.

Sunday, February 23rd.—The train will leave Southern Pines at 10 a. m., passing through South Carolina and Georgia into Florida en route to Miami. Luncheon and dinner provided in dining car.

Monday, February 24th.—Arrive at Miami at 8:30 a. m., the special train to be parked for occupancy. The parking location will be at the Seaboard Air Line Station within three blocks of the new arena built by the City of Miami where the fight will be held.

February 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, March 1st.—In Miami. Members of the party will occupy Pullman space on board the train for sleeping accommodations. Dining car will be parked with the train for the accommodation of the party serving meals a la carte. Members will pay for their meals while in Miami.

Saturday, March 1st.—The special train will leave Miami for the return trip to Boston from the Seaboard Station at 10:30 p. m.

Sunday, March 2nd.—Arrive in Jacksonville where stop of two hours will be made, providing opportunity to attend church. Breakfast provided in dining car. Leave Jacksonville at 10:00 a. m. en route through Georgia and the Carolinas. Luncheon and dinner provided in dining car.

Monday, March 3rd.—Arrive in Boston at 4:30 p. m., breakfast and luncheon provided in the dining car.

Frogs Battle A.M. Saturday

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29.—Coach Francis A. Schmidt of Texas Christian University, with his Horned Frogs definitely out of the race for conference honors, sends his Christian cagers against the Texas Aggies here Saturday night. Coach Schmidt is anxious to make it two straight over the Reidsmen, and if the Horned Frogs play the same brand of basketball that they played in College Station last week, he should be satisfied.

A. & M. started the present conference season using the orthodox five-man defense, but Coach Reid switched to a man-for-man in the first game with the Horned Frogs. As Coach Schmidt had been drilling his team against a man-for-man, in preparation for the Rice games, the change in tactics by the Aggies has made little difference in the functioning of the Frog offense.

Although the Frogs have no chance at the conference title, they are in a position to make it hard for the leading Longhorns. It is not an impossibility for them to defeat the Longhorns in both meetings of the two clubs. This would partially counteract the relatively unsuccessful season the Frogs have gone through this year.

The Horned Frogs have finished half of their conference games and stand with a record of three losses and two victories. Two of the games lost were to the Razorbacks.

Highway Bride Party Honoree

HIGHWAY, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Leroy Henry, a recent bride of the Highway community, was the honor guest at a miscellaneous shower last week in the home of Mrs. C. B. Harland. Mrs. Harland's daughter assisted with entertainment.

Those attending the delightful affair were: Mrs. Lowery Reynolds, Mrs. Luther Witt, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mrs. Gomer Trout, Mrs. George Hillard, Misses Willie and Mimi Sanders, Irene McCormick, Anne Martin, Claude E. Cio and Imogene Harland and the hostess.

SPORT SLANTS

ALAN GOULD
ASSOCIATED PRESS, SPORTS EDITOR

Additional light on the pugilistic past of baseball players is contributed by Bert Lowry. Writing from his present observation post on the Stockton (Cal.) Record, Lowry says:

Back in the days when I was sports editor of the Oakland Tribune there was a boy getting by in great shape in the four-round game here (before he got 10-round fights) and who fought several of the best boys of his class. He was Eddie Mensor, who played several seasons in the Pacific Coast League and then went up to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Your archivist may give a little dope on Mensor.

Boxer-ballplayer Mensor was good enough to stick with the Pirates for three seasons, 1912 to 1914, but his record indicates he may have been a harder hitter in the ring than on the diamond.

His best mark was 263 for 39 games in 1912, a fairly respectable average in those days, before the advent of the lively ball. Mensor was released to Columbus of the American Association in 1915 but the trail from there on is lost.

It seems that Art Shires' first fight, quite naturally, was in his home town of Italy, Texas. And, as Hoff in the St. Paul Dispatch relates it:

Art and his friends were storming down the street amusing themselves by shooting Roman candles at passers-by. One big, tough egg from a neighboring town announced publicly that any kid that pointed one of those things at him would be knocked silly.

"Of course," said Art, "I've never been a guy to go out of my way for a fight but I could always take care of myself, see—so I go up to this mug and fires the candle right at him. Well, the next day when we appeared before the mayor to answer charges, that guy looked like a freight train had hit him."

Of considerable interest are the defections of Schubert Dyeche, coach of the Montana State Bobcats, following the Eastern tour in which his Rocky Mountain basketball champions won four out of seven from some of the best teams in the country.

"Hyatt (of Pittsburgh) is a marvel," writes Dyeche. "He is more effective than Cat Thompson (Montana ace) and that is hard to admit. He is without question the greatest forward I have ever seen—or imagined. Loyola of Chicago was the greatest team we met on our trip. They are unbeatable by a team that cannot get the lipoff (Charley Murphy of Loyola (center) outjumped Frank Ward and was the best center we met. Stretch Murphy of Purdue is unsteady and this makes Purdue an in-and-out team. Butler has a great team but Loyola may beat them because Loyola plays a coldly scientific game—the professional type of basketball. Pitt has Hyatt, Butler has the men and the mechanics and, of course, we miss Brick Breeden."

The Bobcats, advised the expert Mr. F. H. Frawley from his observation post for The Associated Press in Denver, would like to take on the Eastern or Middle Western basketball champions in a post-season series. This is on the assumption Montana State repeats in the Rockies, where Brigham Young coached by "Ott" Romney, and the Utah Aggies may offer formidable opposition.

Former Buffalo Leads Sul Ross Against Canyon

CANYON, Jan. 31.—Bernice Graves, former Buffa's star athlete, will lead his basketball team against his Alma Mater Friday and Saturday of this week, when they come to Canyon for two games with Bruton's Buffs.

The Buffaloes took the boys from the Big Bend country into camp earlier in the season for two games. The first being 41 to 29 and the second 41 to 17. But the boys, who made the trip to Alpine are not looking on the Lobo games as set ups at all. In fact, about the only difference in the teams was the fact that the Buffs were in top form on basket shooting, while the Lobos were badly off.

The team work of the two teams was about on a par, and some good games are in store for the fans, who turn out to witness those two games in Canyon this week.

RANGER TRUCK GARDENER IS DOING HIS PART

HELPS SUFFERING PEOPLE BY TELLING HIS EXPERIENCE WITH ORGATONE

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone Iron to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last," declared W. N. Huddleston, a well-known truck gardener residing at 1220 Young St., Ranger, Texas, the other day.

"For thirty years," continued Mr. Huddleston, "my stomach was in such a terrible condition that everything I would eat bloated me up with gas till I was miserable most all the time. My appetite went back on me and I just had to force down the little I did eat and when I did eat I was constantly belching hot water. My nerves were in such wretched shape that I couldn't half sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run-down and felt so tired and worn out all the time that I was hardly fit for a thing."

"I got a bottle of Orgatone Iron and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything before me and I never have any trouble with gas or sour stomach now, my nerves are getting in fine shape and I sleep like a child. I have gained some in weight and am stronger and have more energy than before, and I can do any work in my garden with more satisfaction than in a long time, and I am doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone did for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Big Spring at the Cunningham & Phillips Drug Store.

STANTON, Jan. 30.—The little Avery boy, who was injured Monday afternoon when he leaped from a school truck before it stopped and was run over, is believed to be out of danger, although his injuries were painful. Several ribs were torn from the spinal.

Mrs. J. L. Hall made a business trip to Lorraine last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ochal Brown of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Putnam of Pecos were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown Sunday.

Miss Faye Smith, who is a teacher in the Pleasant Valley school, spent the week-end with home folk.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cox were called to Garden City last week to the bedside of Mr. Cox's mother, who is very ill from pneumonia.

Milton Moffett and Sterling Harding were week-end visitors with home folk, returning to Lubbock Monday, where they are students in Texas Technological college. They were accompanied to Lubbock by Mrs. J. E. Moffett and Mrs. V. Y. Sadler.

Mrs. Elvix Clements delightfully entertained the Stitch and Chat Club and a few guests in her home Wednesday afternoon, January 22.

Many new and beautiful pieces of fancy work were displayed and the afternoon was spent pleasantly stitching and chatting. The time was passed all too quickly but enjoyment was had by all.

Opponents Give Rail Testimony

ABILENE, Tex., Jan. 30 (AP)—Hearing on application of the Abilene and Eastern Railway for permission to construct a line from Abilene to Cross Plains neared its close before T. F. Sullivan, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

Following the predicate laid yesterday by J. L. Lancaster, Texas and Pacific attorneys today introduced four witnesses to offset claim of applicants that construction of the line would serve public necessity and convenience as well as being good business. They were R. L. Jolly, merchant of Eula, Callahan county; Tom Windham, ranchman of Oplin; Robert Estes, cattle buyer, Baird; and E. L. Boydston, merchant and cotton man of Baird.

Jolly testified that he believed a new station anywhere near Eula would divide that town's trade territory and perhaps cause a considerable migration of its people.

Windham, who owns 17.00 acres and runs 1,500 cattle near Baird, objected to the line because it would run through his ranch, and he said, cut his cattle off from water.

Boydston testified he believed the new line would hurt Clyde and Baird, Texas and Pacific points, "without amounting to anything down there but just mess up the country."

length and might stretch it just a little bit?"

Dayton Moses of the defense protested that the question was "insulting." Judge Moore overruled him, and Osborne answered the question in the negative. He said he reported nothing that didn't occur when he saw McNaughton.

Lucian Touchstone, Dallas lawyer, swore he saw Brady in a hotel lobby here early on the night of the killing and that the "tenseness" of the slayer's body particularly attracted him.

Brady, Touchstone went on, came in out of the rain with his hat off and appeared to have been drinking.

"He didn't notice me," "Lucian," Brooks asked on cross examination, "when did you get out of law school?"

"On February, 1929."

"Aren't there various degrees of intoxication?"

"Oh, yes."

Quarrel

Moses, big, bald, and bald, and Brooks, youthful, stern, started quarreling again. This time Brooks on cross examination wanted to ask Touchstone whether he thought Brady insane. Moses' objection was sustained.

George Cannon, San Antonio lawyer, next came to the stand. He said he saw Brady on that night when Miss Highsmith was stabbed and that the former judge "noticeably" had been drinking.

Cannon said "Judge Brady, my-administration bill providing for an Austin central site, and it was explained by Representative John F. Wallace of Tague.

In the meantime, while the two hours buckled down to preliminary legislation, there were murmurings over the report of Moore Lynn, state auditor and efficiency expert, sent to the legislature by Governor Moody yesterday. It provided interesting reading, and some of the legislators expressed astonishment at Lynn's revelations of alleged lax methods within departments.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, invited to appear before the senate to state his prison views, sent word that his physician advised him he had not sufficiently recovered from a recent injury to enter into an extended public discussion, and for this reason declined. Ferguson sustained a fractured collar bone recently when he fell out of bed.

W. H. Mead of Luling, until recently manager of the prison system, was the second witness called before the senate. He said the prison farms below Houston had "very good" soil, but the health conditions were "not so good."

Horton advised that farming activities, especially the cultivation of vegetables, be continued on present-owned lands, at least for the immediate future. Proximity of the legislature would be an advantage of a plant near Austin, Horton said.

Satterwhite advocated concentration of all activities on the seven farms in the lower Brazos bottom with establishment of a central headquarters on the Darrington farm. He would convert the Huntsville plant into a vocational reformatory for younger convicts, locate the tubercular prisoners in a suitable climate, and erect a special prison for criminal insane. He expressed opposition to even a partial industrialization of the system.

ness at present, saying he might later.

E. A. Berry, chief of the defense said this would be inconvenient for the witness since the latter lived "so far away."

"As far as we are concerned we are getting through this case rapidly," Berry said.

Brooks said he was sorry but he didn't think he could question Dr. Brown now and "properly conduct this case."

Berry arose to say that under his interpretation of the rule Brooks "can't wait to cross examine our witnesses until after we have rested."

"Of course," he added, "if he (Brooks) wants to cross examine them on our time and later, too, that's all right."

After a conference of attorneys with Judge J. D. Moore, Dr. Brown was excused without cross examination.

Meanwhile, the state called 21 new witnesses in addition to six earlier today.

They live in Austin.

Hunter Osborne, Brownsville newspaper reporter, formerly of Austin, the second witness, testified he interviewed F. R. McNaughton, state witness, on the day after the killing and that McNaughton said Brady appeared in a "dazed condition."

McNaughton also said, Osborne testified, that he stayed with Brady until the ambulance came for Miss Highsmith.

McNaughton had denied he had talked to Osborne.

Brooks got after Osborne on cross examination, asking him, "you were very anxious to get a story and would go to almost any self, Sam Dickens and a Dr. McClanahan" went to Cannon's hotel room and that Brady took a two-ounce drink and talked "rather incoherently."

Brady, Cannon went on, took a second "rather stiff drink," and Cannon had to "hurry" Brady, who was staggering out of the room because he (the witness) had friends waiting for him in the lobby.

He (Brady) realized that he was in the Austin hotel, didn't he?" Brooks asked on cross examination.

"Oh, yes."

"Well, he knew he wanted a drink—he said he wanted a drink and went up to get it, didn't he?" "Yes."

Approval Asked For Midway School Bonds

The bond issue order from Midway school district which recently voted $15,000 in bonds for construction of a new school building, was sent to Austin Thursday morning for approval of the attorney general's department.

600 Telephones Listed At Lamesa

LAMESA, Jan. 30. Over 600 telephones are listed in a new telephone directory just issued today. The new directory shows an increase of four pages and an increase of nearly 200 phones during 1929 for Lamesa.

Ruth Class Convenes

The Ruth Sunday school class of the First Baptist church met in the school room this afternoon for a study session. All party details were attractively carried out in a study scheme of green and gold. The party was planned to seal the peanut idea in all details.

Those present were: Mesdames H. L. Fulton, Bill Stevens, W. W. Pendleton, W. D. Tribble, C. H. Black, A. E. Leatherwood, J. P. Petty, Larson, Kellogg, R. Pyeatt, F. A. Hefflin, W. W. McCormick, De Davis, Joe Claire, C. L. McDaniel, B. D. Martin, George Gentry, J. A. Coffey.

Why Few Are Fat

Excess fat has been disappearing in late years. So fast that excess fat is the exception now. You see that in every circle.

That change is largely due to the discovery that excess fat is largely the result of a gland weakness. A gland whose secretion helps turn food to fuel. So modern physicians, in treating obesity, seek to combat this cause.

Their method is embodied in Marmol's prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now almost everyone has decided friends to show them the results.

Go do what they did—try Marmol's. All druggists supply it at $1 a box, and a book in each box tells you how and why it acts.
